Both Candidates Invade Texas Today In Quest Of State's 24 Electoral Votes

Kennedy And Party Plan Amarillo Stop

By United Press International

Presidential candidates Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy return to Texas today for one final shot at the state's 24 electoral votes. Both men are scheduled to arrive at 3 p.m. in separate parts of the state.

Republican candidate Nixon comes to San Antonio in the afternoon, then moves to Houston for a night appearance at 8:45. The vice president will remain in Texas overnight, going to Fort Worth for an 8:30 a.m. talk Friday before pushing on to Casper, Wyo.

Ike Believes He Can Win Nixon Votes

NEW YORK, N.Y. (UPI)—President Eisenhower appeared convinced today that his big-city campaigning for Vice President Richard M. Nixon will pay off at the polls next Tuesday.

The President returned to Washington this morning to prepare for campaign sorties into Cleveland and Pittsburgh Friday to follow up his 12-hour barnstorming tour of New York with Nixon.

The Republican presidential nominee and the Chief Executive teamed up Wednesday in a bid to swing New York state's 45 electoral votes into the GOP column.

Hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers roared a welcome to Eisenhower, Nixon and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, during a tumultuous ticker tape parade up Broadway.

The President took a sharp jab at Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic contender for the White House.

Slain Texan Accused Of Spying For US

ROME (UPI)—Italian newspapers claimed Wednesday night that a retired U.S. Army colonel from Texas who was found strangled in a locked car was an American intelligence agent.

The U.S. Embassy in Rome said that it had no knowledge of any intelligence activities by the victim, Norman Donges, 53, of San Antonio, Tex.

All evening newspapers carried the story in banner headlines and referred to Donges as a "counter-espionage agent." None of the newspapers, however, quoted any sources to back up their reports.

The claim appeared to be based partly on Donges' World War II service with the Office of Strategic Services (OSS). He also served with NATO headquarters in Naples nine years ago.

Donges retired from the Army in June, 1957, and returned to Italy to study at the University of Perugia.

"All we know of him directly is that he registered with the Rome consulate in September, 1959, as a student to receive benefits of the GI Bill," an embassy spokesman said.

Record Absentee Vote In County

A record absentee ballot has been cast in Gray County, a day and one-half prior to the Friday midnight deadline, Charley Thut, county clerk, said today.

The clerk noted that 481 ballots had been cast, and that from 50 to 75 more were in the mails.

Bets Off In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP) — They won't quote you odds on the presidential election in this gambling city today. The big gambling houses took down their listings on the presidential race because Nevada Atty. Gen. Roger Foley found a 1919 statute making it illegal for gamblers to accept bets on a presidential election. He said he would enforce the law.

When the listings were taken off the boards Wednesday, however, they showed Democrat John Kennedy a 9-5 favorite—the longest odds he has had since opening as an underdog to Vice President Nixon.

Loan Plan Said Unconstitutional

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — The Fourth Court of Civil Appeals ruled Wednesday that the certificate plan for small loans is unconstitutional.

The opinion, written by Associate Justice Jack Pope, said the plan was enacted to circumvent the 10 per cent ceiling on small loan interest rates.

The plan makes a borrower purchase an investment certificate on the installment plan when he makes a loan. The certificate becomes part of the collateral to secure the loan. Some lenders got usurious rates out of borrowers with the plan, Pope said.

The Third Court of Civil Appeals in Austin ruled the plan unconstitutional in April, but two other civil courts have upheld the statute. Pope said this split in decisions makes it certain the plan will go before the State Supreme Court.

Wednesday's decision in the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals concerned the appeal of a Bexar county court-at-law decision in a suit against Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Harrell of San Antonio by the Colonial Finance Co.

The finance company won a jury judgment for unpaid balance of a loan, but the civil appeals court revised the judgment to remove $61.04 in interest as "usurious and void."

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States hurled a "scientist's dream" satellite into orbit for its 12th space success of 1960 early today.

The complicated, 90-pound Explorer VIII satellite is designed to investigate the mysteries of an unpredictable "atomic roof" known as the ionosphere—layers of ions that make long-range radio and television communication either possible or impossible on earth.

Its findings in a wide-swinging orbit may lead to improvements in radio equipment for earth stations. Scientists also hoped it would find a "window" through the ionosphere for communications into space free of interference.

The launching of the silvery satellite, shaped like a child's top, went like clockwork. The brainy little instrument roared aloft right on schedule atop a 76-foot Juno II rocket at 12:24 a.m. EST, and three minutes later the Army tracking station at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., picked up its "high-pitched, whining" signal.

Two hours later the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) announced in Washington that the satellite, one of the most complex space experiments tried this year, was in orbit.

Its task is a delight for scientists but a bewildering puzzle for the average television viewer who may wonder why his TV picture is brilliant one day and fuzzy the next.

Scientists explained that the ionosphere is made up of atoms of atmosphere stripped of their electron coats by ultra-violet rays from the sun. These ion masses form an electronic net which bounces long TV and radio waves back to earth but lets the short waves through.

But when the ions pick up speed for some reason they tend to absorb radio waves rather than bounce them back. Scientists hope to find out why these "absorption" changes happen.

Their armed Explorer VII with eight complex experiments to—effect — "punch holes" in the ionosphere to find its weak and strong points and the reasons why they change. It might prove a real radio breakthrough.

The satellite carries one radio transmitter operating on 108 megacycles. It is powered by mercury batteries with a life span of only two to three months so that the radio will not continue to chatter away after its usefulness is outlived.

NASA estimated the satellite was circling the earth once every 112 minutes — swinging in at its closest point about 215 miles out, and swinging out as far as 1,450 miles.

Finch Jury To Be Polled

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A poll of the jury hearing the second Finch-Tregoff murder trial appeared a certainty today if no verdict is reached by midafternoon.

Superior Judge Leroy Dawson told the 11 women and 1 man on the panel Wednesday he regarded the case as one "in which I think you should be able to reach a verdict."

The panel at day's end had weighed the fate of Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 43, and Carole Tregoff, 23, for 51 hours and 50 minutes with no sign of an outcome in the 19-week-old trial. The illicit lovers are accused of murdering Finch's wife, Barbara, 33, on July 18, 1959.

Dawson said earlier he would poll the jury today if there were no verdict, stating he would ask the tallies how they stood numerically without reference to guilt or innocence.

The panel was ushered into the Hall of Justice courtroom to hear Dawson answer five questions they had asked of him.

Looks Nice, But Won't Hold

A Pampa resident hurtled through the new plate glass door of the north entrance to City Hall yesterday, but escaped with minor cuts and scratches.

Leslie Morgan was walking up the steps from the police station to visit the tax office on the main floor of the building when he stumbled and plunged through the glass, splattering the surrounding area with pieces from minute to foot-long sizes.

Once Morgan realized he had escaped serious hurts he clambered to his feet, brushed himself off, and went on his way.

Red Chinese Airmen Sent In To Train Cubans

HAVANA (UPI)—Red China is sending airmen to Cuba, presumably to train pilots for the Russian-made jets expected soon to join Premier Fidel Castro's air force, it was reported today.

Informed sources said some Red airmen already have arrived. At the same time, it was reported the Castro regime is installing Communist-made anti-aircraft guns which have been shipped here from Red Czechoslovakia.

The guns were part of the recently received shipments of Iron Curtain arms, believed to include tanks and field artillery.

Unconfirmed reports say Cubans working under the supervision of Russian technicians have been assembling MIG jet fighters at a heavily guarded airbase in western Cuba.

"Invasion" jitters here eased Wednesday as the result of a series of statements changing the official line from "attack is imminent" to "if invasion comes."

DeGaulle Gives Up On U.N. Vote

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle has resigned France to certain defeat in this year's United Nations debate on Algeria, government sources disclosed today.

In a General Assembly vote the French expect to be opposed by the entire Communist bloc, most of the Afro-Asian bloc which recently has been vastly enlarged, and many of the "neutralist" countries.

Car-Truck Crash Kills Motorist

WICHITA FALLS (UPI)—Mrs. Lucille Mitchell, 50, never knew what hit her Wednesday when she backed out of a grocery driveway onto a four-lane highway and into the path of a loaded steel truck.

Bank Vault Keeps Secret Five Decades

WATSONVILLE, Calif. (UPI)—An unclaimed suitcase, which had gathered dust in a bank vault here for many years, contained the bodies of Siamese twin babies — possibly born and embalmed 52 years ago.

Authorities revealed Wednesday that the bodies were discovered, along with death and medical records, in the vault of the Pajaro Valley Bank Sunday.

The vault check was made as a result of a recent law which requires a report to the state controller on an inventory of items in the bank which have not been claimed for seven years.

Chemical Unit Will Meet Saturday

The Panhandle Plains Section of the American Chemical Society will hold its November meeting at the Colonial Cafeteria, 2726 Stanley, Woflin Village, Amarillo, at 7 p.m. Saturday.

At 8 p.m., Dr. Johan A. Bjorksten, President of the Bjorksten Research Foundation of Madison, Wis. and Houston, will talk on "Aging, The Neglected Field in Biological Research". While much progress has been made in control of infant mortality and infectious diseases, the life expectancy of a man at 60 remains within a couple of years of what it was in 1789. The reasons for this lack of progress in control of aging and its deleterious effects, are analyzed, recent progress discussed, and a proposed approach outlined.

Dr. Bjorksten has been a long-time student of this problem, and has published numerous papers dealing with his findings in this field. His major contributions to the solution of the aging problem lie in the discovery of an equilibrium between the tendencies toward cross-linking (immobilization) of protein molecules as opposed to the natural breaking down of these links. He feels that a concentrated program of research can produce agents that will prevent cross-linking or that will remobilize inactivated protein.

American Chemical Society members are urged to attend. The public is invited for the lecture.

Actress Sheds Seventh Husband

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—Actress Arline Judge, 48, claiming "too many celebrations" ruined her seventh marriage, was awarded a divorce Wednesday and $12,000 property settlement from inventor Edward T. Heard, 47.

Asked if she was through with marriage after seven divorces, Miss Judge said she would marry again if she met the right man. "Why not?" she said. "I don't like living alone. You gotta keep on trying."

IT'S THE LAW
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Suppose you receive objectionable materials in the mail. Can you call your postmaster and have him stop such mail?

Chances are he can't, at least right away, and without having the postal authorities start an action which may wind up in court. This may entail a knotty problem.

For example, the Post Office can deny mailing rights to anyone who promotes frauds or crimes through the mails, or whose use of it would endanger the nation. In 1873 Congress gave the post office the power to keep "Obscene" mail from going through.

The same is true for the customs department for matter from abroad. Yet neither the post office nor customs may hold up suspected material without first giving notice. At a hearing the "sender" may deny that (1) the material is obscene, or (2) that he mailed it.

Because the Constitution protects our free press, the law frowns upon "prior censorship." In the long run it is better first to try a wrongdoer for an offense after he has committed an act. Courts are slow to prevent someone from sending out mail solely upon a finding by administrators who may abuse their power.

So a court may review the post office's finding that a book is obscene. For example, the post office recently forbade a publisher to mail out a famous novel. But a federal court overruled the Post Office after the judge looked at the novel's whole treatment and theme. The court found the Post Office had been unfair in calling such passages obscene in view of the book's whole picture of life.

Nevertheless, call your post-master's attention to any obscene matter in your mail. The postal inspectors welcome this assistance, and numerous prosecutions are made.

FPC Charged With Protecting Consumer

The American Constitution, for all its blessings, presents two persistent and troublesome problems which almost seem to be inherent within the system it establishes. The first of these problems concerns the coordination of certain overlapping activities within the central government itself. The second involves that much debated matter of protecting a State's proper position within the Federal structure operated in Washington. The most crucial domestic questions ever faced by the people of the United States have revolved about these two central issues.

One of the less sensational aspects of this pair of problems involved the development and use of the nation's power sources. Three executive departments of the Federal government — War, Interior, and Agriculture — were concerned with the effective use of water power. Also, a dispute concerning jurisdiction over river and power lines had simmered for some time between the States and the central government. Then, soon after the country lurched into World War I, a serious coal shortage arose which hydroelectric resources could not meet because of the inefficient administration of water power grants.

In the early summer of 1920, Congress established the Water Power Commission, an agency composed of the Secretaries from involved. Supporters of this curative scheme believed that it would solve the regulatory problems without creating another agency. Alas, the business of government, even then, was not so easily disposed of. Aside from the serious question of delegating legislative powers to the executive branch, the three Departments were overwhelmed with the task and quickly lost enthusiasm upon discovering there would be no increase of appropriations to cover their new responsibilities. The Secretaries, it is said, found about five hours a year to devote to Commission meetings and soon gained a reputation for failure to protect the government from power interests.

Almost ten years to the day after formation of the Water Power Commission, Herbert Hoover signed the act of June 23, 1930, which created the Federal Power Commission. This act retained the regulatory duties of the old commission, but revolutionized its membership. Members would now be appointed by the President with consent of the Senate, and would supposedly provide the nation with a bipartisan and full time agency. The era of experimentation with cabinet rank members was over.

The Commission soon was exerting full regulatory power over electric and natural gas companies which operated in interstate commerce. These two broad areas of interest are still the Commission's major concerns. As was, and still is, the case with most independent agencies, the FPC supporters believed that: (1) the nation's power resources in large measure belonged to the people and must not be abused for private gain; (2) efficiency would have been impaired by an unlimited number of companies operating in a single community; and (3) only a central body could effectively determine what constituted the best private use of a public resource. Time and again this line of reasoning has led directly to a Federal interest in various activities which is crossing State boundaries more and more. This is not good.

In the realm of electric power, the FPC is charged with protecting the consumer from any unfair charges and seeks to ensure that each utility under its jurisdiction will be capable of meeting the needs of those customers involved. What is perhaps more important in the long run is that the Commission conducts broad surveys of the nation's electric potential in an effort to steer private and public companies toward the most farighted development programs. The FPC's licensing powers enable it to establish standards for power projects and installations. The same activities, more or less, are conducted with respect to natural gas.

Could the power problems of the nation have been solved in some other way than the establishment of another agency? Apparently, sincere efforts were made in this direction during the 1920s, but today the question is largely moot. Since the Federal government has in fact entered this field, it is fairly safe to assume that it will not withdraw. The important question facing us today is simply whether the FPC is doing its job. This can only be determined by the people, through their elected representatives in Congress, and any action which would impair the hand of the legislative branch is the major threat to be guarded against today. Federal interest should be confined to interstate operations, closely defined. It should not be allowed to violate State jurisdictions.

Achievement Award For Optimists

The Pampa Optimist Club has won the 1959-60 district achievement award, state Optimist officials announced today.
 The club, headed by Newt Secret, gained 15,000 points to edge the Tyler club by 50 points.
 Denton was third and Fort Worth finished fourth.
 Points are gained through work with boys, the club's prime aim, the annual Optimist Youth Achievement Week, district meeting attendance, and the like.
 The local club will receive the achievement banner in a meeting here at a date to be announced.

Chill Weekend Seen For Texas

By United Press International
 Typically autumn blue skies and cool temperatures were the situation all over Texas today and the U.S. Weather Bureau said a new cool front was on its way to bring chilly weather for the weekend.
 Temperatures were expected to range in the 70s in all sections of the state today with lows tonight from the mid-60s in South Central Texas to 38-48 in extreme Southwest Texas.
 A weak cool front that moved across the state Wednesday had swept into the Gulf of Mexico by early this morning. Weather Bureau meteorologists said the front had the effect of offsetting warmer than usual temperatures and bringing the mercury to the normal level this time of year.
 A new wave of crisp temperatures was expected to move into the state by Saturday but mildness was expected to prevail until then.
 Wednesday's high was 93 at Laredo and the overnight low was 32 at Alpine.

 "Only one individual is bewailing America's weakness. . . (he) is a political candidate and he's not here tonight," Eisenhower said. Loud boing erupted at the reference to Kennedy's contention that the nation should be stronger.
 Earlier, the President hailed Nixon and Lodge's experience and called them the best equipped team to lead the free world in resisting "powerful Communist imperialism."
 Eisenhower, echoing Nixon's charge that Kennedy lacks experience for the presidency, asserted:
 "With Vice President Nixon and Ambassador Lodge at the helm, I can have full confidence that the fate of my country is in strong and trustworthy hands."
 Opinions differed on how many persons jammed lower New York to watch Eisenhower, Nixon, Lodge and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller get pelted with 11 tons of confetti during a motorcade to Herald Square.
 Rockefeller estimated the crowd at two million and called it the biggest campaign turnout in the city's history. A high-ranking police officer and reporters who covered the parade felt the total was closer to one million—or slightly smaller than a similar reception for Kennedy last week.

Miss Hinton Skellytown Grid Queen

SKELLYTOWN (SPL) — Paullette Hinton was crowned football queen of the Skellytown Panthers in ceremonies preceding the recent game between the Skellytown and Panhandle teams.
 She was crowned with a football helmet by Eddie Slavens and presented a corsage of white mums.
 The royal court consisted of the queen, escorted by Eddie Slavens; and Kathy Allan, escorted by Al Garrett; Eva Jo Duncan, escorted by Larry Marlar; Reva Barnett, escorted by Junior Price; Karen Mathews, escorted by Eddie Kliebrink; Sheila Earnest, escorted by Roy Armstrong; and Nan Harmon, escorted by Mike Harlan.
 Other members of the team formed an honor guard for the coronation. Each of the attendants received a white and blue mum corsage.

Rotary Inducts 2 New Members

Sheriff Hugh Anderson of Hutchinson County yesterday told Pampa Rotarians that the rising crime rate in America should be the concern of all serious minded people.
 Pointing out that there was a 128 per cent increase in crime in the last 10 years, the speaker said that the rate of increase was currently four times faster than the growth in population.
 Fred Neslage introduced two new members, A. J. Carubbi and J. W. Lemmons, to the club and they were formally inducted by club president Dick Batson.
 The junior Rotarian for the month of November, Jimmy Storm, was also introduced to the club. Visitors and guests for the day were Rev. Leonard Blumquist, Lloyd Atkinson, Murray Castleberry, Jack Johnson, Al Leach, Allan Ritter, Earl Wade, Art Cox and Ed Morris.

Nobel Prizes To Americans

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — The Nobel prizes for physics and chemistry were awarded today to two American atomic scientists in California—Donald A. Glaser and Willard F. Libby.
 Libby, 51, a former member of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, was the chemistry winner. He devised the "atomic time clock"—a method of dating organic matter through radioactivity that has enabled scientists to tell the age of such things as the Dead Sea Scrolls.
 The two men were the first Americans to win Nobel prizes this year. Earlier awards—for medicine and literature—went to an Australian, an Englishman and a Frenchman.

 The instruments aboard the aluminum-skinned Explorer include a radio frequency impedance probe to measure concentration of electrons in the ionosphere; a single-grid trap and four multiple-grid-traps to find the number and areas; a Langmuir probe experiment to measure electron temperature; a photomultiplier to measure light energy and erosion effects of a micrometeorite striking the satellite; microphone to determine the speed and frequency of micrometeorite hits, and four thermistors to relay temperatures.
 The aluminum outer skin, rather than fiberglass used in earlier experiments, was designed to determine how much drag is caused by static electricity accumulating on the satellite itself.

 The three were selected in meeting of the organization Tuesday night in the Coronado Inn.

Pioneer Gas Declares Dividend

AMARILLO (SPL) — The board of directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, at a meeting Tuesday, declared a quarterly dividend of 22 cents per share on the outstanding common stock, payable Dec. 2, to stockholders of record Nov. 18.
 C. I. Wall, president, stated that the net income for the first nine months of 1960 amounted to $3,371,240, or $1 per share on 3,371,204 shares outstanding of Sept. 30. These earnings compare with $3,324,444 shares outstanding on September 30, 1959, adjusted for the two-for-one stock split in April, 1960.
 The nine months report to the stockholders will be mailed about Nov. 7.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is a lulu. I am married to a man who is insanely jealous. One of his best friends just told me that he is in love with me and has been from the moment he saw me. I have never given him any encouragement. This friend is around all the time and I am nervous and uncomfortable in his company. I can't tell him to stay away or my husband will wonder why. Don't tell me to talk to my husband or he would beat this man to a pulp. Please tell me what to do.

IN THE MIDDLE
DEAR JIN: Tell that loving character that he had better forget you as the object of his affections because you are not interested in him. If he continues to "make you nervous" — avoid him and let HIM tell your husband why.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I am just plain stupid, but you said in your column that people shouldn't shake a dust mop out the window. I would like you to tell me how else you can get a dust mop clean?

STUPID
DEAR STUPID: Place the mop upside down on a newspaper and vacuum the dust out with an electric sweeper. If you have no vacuum cleaner, use a whisk broom.

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter, 13, who is boy-crazy. I also have a 17-year-old son who isn't interested in anything but schoolwork. I wish she had some of his habits and he had some of hers.

I am more worried about the boy because he is at the age where he should be doing something besides studying. My daughter and son hardly ever see each other because she is out chasing the boys and he is home studying. Can you give me a solution to my problem? My husband is away a lot.

TRYING HARD
DEAR TRYING: You can't cure both ills with the same medicine. Each child has a slightly lopsided personality. Put the reins a little tighter on your daughter. Make her budget her time until she develops better study habits. Encourage your son to take part in school activities, but don't push him too hard. Serious-minded boys are usually late starters socially — but they catch up.

Seating children during large family dinners is an exasperating task. To entice them to sit at their own table, use balloons. Write each child's name with nail polish and fasten the balloon to the back of each chair.

A dog can teach any one of us a great deal about beauty. Sound funny? It's true. For dogs instinctively know the secret of complete relaxation. Most of them live to be 110 years by human standards. And unless indulgent owners insist on stuffing them, they keep a youthful look. Take a cue from Frisky (left) when you go for a walk with your dog. He likes the walk to be brisk and fun. So don't dawdle. Wear comfortable walking shoes and keep up with his fast pace. Any dog can show you how to relax (center). Watch him flop down, put his nose on his paws and presently close his eyes. It may be only a 10-minute nap but he benefits. Even at dinner (right), a dog can teach you a lesson. He eats just what he needs and no more. If he doesn't feel like eating his evening meal, he'll pass it up entirely. And he doesn't suffer. The only dogs who hurl themselves at the refrigerator with howls of anguish are those who have been taught by their owners that the white box is full of icy goodies. Left to his own devices, the average dog will keep his weight where it belongs. Instinct tells him just how much food he needs each day.

Doggy Tips On Beauty To Help With Relaxing

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise

Tension is so much a part of today's living that most of us have forgotten how to relax. We're like automatons, tightly wound up each morning and left to move busily about until the spring winds as we wearily fall into bed.
Even when we have a few minutes of spare time, we spend it mulling over problems or fidgeting with odds and ends about the house. We ignore the fact that even so short a period of complete relaxation can erase the tired lines from our faces and take years off our appearance.

When we work hard and become fatigued, we often make use of the old cliché about living a dog's life. But according to Bob Bartos, manager of a large research kennel, we've maligned the canines long enough. In fact, he tells us to watch our pets if we want to learn how to relax. And if we do, we'll get a bonus of good looks and vitality.

When a dog wakes up from a short snooze, he stretches his legs, neck, back and tummy, and then goes completely limp. Try it yourself. It stimulates circulation and draws in the abdomen.

The family pup can give us a few tips on eating habits, too. If given normal meals, he'll just eat what he needs for the amount of activity in his daily routine. If we followed his example, the battle of the bulge would be won in no time. And we'd be a lot healthier besides.

A dog knows enough to relax after dinner, and so should we. Better digestion and happier dispositions would result.

We can learn how to exercise from our dogs, too, Bartos says. Try the "roll on the back" routine that they do. Just lie on the floor and roll backwards and forwards and then from side to side. It will ease spinal tension and strengthen your back muscles at the same time.

Of course, your dog's daily walks should be made to work for you as well. Wear comfortable walking shoes and trot along at a brisk pace. You'll find that your legs and thighs will become firmer, and the fresh air will give your cheeks a rosy glow. Take advantage of these walks to get in your deep-breathing exercises while you're outdoors.

Modern dog food is supplied with all the necessary minerals and proteins, and as a result today's pups live longer than the dogs of 20 years ago. But certainly, with our present-day knowledge of how to put together a well-balanced meal, we have the same advantage.

It must be the secret of complete relaxation as well as proper diet that permits our canine friends to live to be the human equivalent of 110 years of age.

Festive Turkey Makes Headlines On Gala Day

A festive turkey with all the trimmings headlines the Thanksgiving feast. Turkey is the big story. It is traditionally served golden brown and juicy, bursting with delectable stuffing and resting proudly on the biggest platter available.

The brand name of the best known turkey in the USA assures the homemaker that her dinner will be one to remember. These turkeys are broad-breasted beauties, scientifically grown, cleaned, pinfeathered and quick frozen at the peak of quality. They may be purchased either ready-to-stuff or already-stuffed with a carefully seasoned, old-fashioned bread stuffing. There's a size turkey just right for each family. The ready-to-stuff birds range in weight from 4 to 24 pounds, and the already-stuffed turkeys weigh 6 to 14 pounds.

The frozen turkey which is purchased already stuffed should not be thawed before roasting. It is satisfactory, however, to store the turkey in the refrigerator overnight (12-18 hours) just prior to roasting. Homemakers who have a treasured stuffing recipe or a yen to try new flavor combinations will choose the ready-to-stuff frozen turkey. Time should be allowed for thawing this turkey ahead of roasting. Stuffing ingredients may be cut up and refrigerated the day before, but should not be combined or spooned into the turkey until just before the bird goes into the oven. After dinner the remaining turkey and stuffing should be refrigerated separately.

Frozen turkeys which have the drumsticks tucked into a slit at the base of the body cavity are a cinch to stuff. The drumsticks may be slipped in and out of the slit, thus eliminating the messy job of trussing. The Orange-Almond Stuffing recipe given below makes enough elegant stuffing for a 12 pound turkey.

- Consomme with Lemon
- Turkey with Orange-Almond Stuffing
- Scalloped Potatoes Asparagus Molded Perfection Salad
- Rolls Cranberry Sauce
- Mince Pie

Pickles Make Pretty, Tangy Garnishes With Tidbits To Perk Up Appetites

As a change from the usual garnishes used for salads and meats, let's take a look today at some of the edible garnishes you can fashion from pickles.

Seems as though we seldom think of pickles as the decorative foods they can be, although all of us know how well these sharp, tangy tidbits perk up appetites — make other foods taste better.

So, today let's see how easily pickles can be dressed up to decorate food platters for this fall's meals.

There are so many different varieties of pickles on the market now, you might wonder what flavor goes with what food. Well, there really is no set rule. Home economists at Bond's one of the largest pickle companies, suggest only that you choose tart pickles as a meat or fish garnish and serve sweet pickle sticks with salads.

For instance, pickles sliced into the shape of fans make most impressive decorations for baked ham. To make them, all you do is slice sour pickles into strips starting from the smaller end to within half an inch of the larger end. Then pull the strips out gently to form a fan. With a bit of parsley, the crisp, green pickle fans encircling the ham make a colorful, original platter.

A clever garnish for fruit or vegetable salads is this one.

Cut ends from whole sweet pickles and scoop out the center with an apple corer. Drain the cavities well. Season cottage cheese with salt and pepper, then pack the seeded cheese into the pickle cavities. Chill thoroughly and slice into thin circles, arranging three or four on each salad plate.

Very pretty and very different are olive pickle sticks used to garnish assorted cold meats or hamburgers. Just insert narrow strips of dill pickle sticks through one large, or two small pitted green, or ripe olives.

Now, these three pickle garnishes are simple enough for anyone to make. I know you'll agree. The important thing is they are most effective ways to enhance special party tables.

More Protein—Fewer Calories

Of interest to weight-watchers is the fact that pork, as it is produced and eaten today, contains fewer calories and a higher percentage of protein than previously thought. Newer type hogs and closer trimming of fat by meat packers and retailers account for the change.

Cheesewiches Go Well After Game

"Go team go!" Every football fan knows these fighting words, and every fan knows the fun of entertaining a crowd with a sandwich snack and milk drink either before or after the game.

Broiled Mushroom Cheesewiches are inexpensive treats and the kind of eating that students as well as alumni enjoy. They're cheesy good to serve at a fraternity or sorority open house, too.

To save time and work after the game, get ready before. Slice the tomatoes and toast the breads — white, rye, whole wheat, English muffin, hamburger bun, kaiser roll or whatever variety you choose. Make the mixture ahead, too. Then

Pugilists Open Year With Lefors

Pampa's powerful pugilists, better known as the Optimists' Boys Club boxing team, opens its 1960 season at 7:30 tonight against sluggers from Lefors.

All the matches will be held in the Boys Club building, 601 E. Craven. New bleachers have been installed during the off season and the new seating arrangement will house at least 700 fans comfortably.

Lefors will bring at least 10 boxers to Pampa, highlighted by Heavyweight Jay Chisum, a slugger who likes to mix it up, according to Ollie Wilhelm, Pampa boxing coach.

Pampa will match Gene Hugg against Chisum in the feature match of the night. Hugg is a 195-pounder who hasn't fought in several years but still Wilhelm believes that he will be a top contender by Golden Gloves time.

Wilhelm hopes to card at least 15 to 20 fights for tonight's program, depending on how many boys Lefors brings. Each bout will be a maximum three rounds and some will undoubtedly be much shorter.

Wilhelm will reserve the majority of his boxers for next week's matches against Perryton but assured that Lefors would provide good competition for his battlers.

Tickets will be 75 cents at the gate but Wilhelm reminded that the Optimist Club is selling a book of 10 tickets for $5 which entitles the holder to view 10 home team matches this season, a saving of $2.50 over the gate price.

These books may be acquired from any Optimist member or Wilhelm, who promised that they would be delivered.

Terry Culley trotted out his 1960-61 version of the Pampa Harvester basketball team Tuesday afternoon in an extended game-type scrimmage with Clarendon Junior College in the Harvester Gym.

Clarendon won, 83-72, but the score is unimportant at this early stage of the roundball season. Culley was quite happy with the way his boys played but said that Pampa made too many defensive mistakes to expect to win.

First Team Holds Own

"Our first team, composed of Bill Neslage, Larry Stroud, Allen Wise, Pat Carter and Lloyd Balch, played on even terms with Clarendon," Culley said. "However, our sophomores seemed a little unsure of themselves, which is only natural."

"The score was 42-40 at half, but we only scored eight points in the third quarter and Clarendon built up too much of a lead for us to overcome."

Culley used several sophomores extensively and singled out three as doing exceptional work: Gordon Balch, Wayne Kreis and Ronnie Chase. With only four seniors on the squad of 20 at present, Pampa fans can expect to see extensive action from these three and also from Randy Matson, the 6-5 soph who is playing football now.

White Returns Strong

SPORTS SHOTS — While we hope this doesn't start a mad rush to the hospital for Pampa bowlers, Sid White, bowling in the City League, rolled a 219 game and a 621 series this week after spending several days in the hospital.

Coach Eural Ramsey, Harvester backfield coach, probably will be a staunch advocate of face guards after last Monday. He was demonstrating a play at quarterback when Fullback Steve Dobbin came piling into him at top speed and chipped two of Ramsey's front teeth.

It's amazing how quickly Bud Wilkin became a mortal. With winning teams year after year, the Sooner boss could do no wrong. Now, after losing three games and tying one thus far, the Big Red wolves are gathering into packs and howling for blood. Nice profession, coaching.

Beaumont South Park, which has only beaten Port Arthur twice in umpteen years, is a big pusher to institute a 5A classification for such schools as Port Arthur (naturally), Wichita Falls, etc. They only want the 5A classification to apply to football, feeling they can hold their own in other sports.

Lefors will be going for the District 2-A title tomorrow night when they go to Memphis. The Pirates had rough sledding in pre-conference games but seem to have found themselves of late.

HOOKED — Clarence Horton of Pampa holds two bass, the largest weighing 5 and 3-4 pounds, which he hauled in at Burson Lakes, near Clarendon.

Texas Hopes To 'Kick' Baylor Out Of Running

By BRYCE MILLER
United Press International

There's nothing Dan Petty would like better than to boot Baylor out of a chance for a share in the Southwest Conference crown, and he could be just the boy to do it.

He's the third leading scorer for the University of Texas with 21 points. He's kicked four of five field goals and nine out of 12 attempted conversions. He pounded one through the uprights against Maryland, sailed another across that broke the ice against Oklahoma, and almost beat Arkansas with one in the final minute of play.

The Bruins are favored by two points (last week by Texas Christian) and sorely need this game to swing back on top of the league, almost did it again last year.

That was when Texas managed to recover a fumble deep Bear territory late in the game and punch over a touchdown for a 13-12 decision.

The game, like the Rice-Arkansas showdown at Little Rock, a sellout.

Ohio U. Widens Gap In Small College Race

NEW YORK (UPI)—For the second straight week front-running Ohio University increased its point total in the weekly small college football ratings by the United Press International Board of Coaches today—and lost ground to defending champion Bowling Green.

As the two titans from the Buckeye State fought toward a dramatic face-to-face showdown on Nov. 12, Ohio University clung to the No. 1 spot for the fourth straight week with 309 points in the balloting.

That was 28 points more than last week, and the Bobcats' 22 first-place votes was one more than a week ago. But Bowling Green, piling up a heavy second-place vote, boosted its point total from 248 to 293. The Falcons had six first-place votes, also one more than last week.

Ohio University boosted its record to 7-0 with a 24-0 win over Western Michigan and is expected to whip Marshall College this coming Saturday in a final tune-up for the big clash with Bowling Green.

Pampa Preps For Doubly Important Lubbock Tiff

By ARTHUR MAYHEW
Daily News Sports Editor

Pampa's Harvesters (0-7) went through a rugged, sometimes teething contact drill yesterday afternoon, but Coach Babe Curfman planned only light pre-game work this afternoon for their doubly important game with Tom S. Lubbock tomorrow night in Lubbock.

The game, set for 7:30 p.m. in Jones Stadium, will be important for two reasons:

(1) Pampa will be seeking a win, a facet of the game that has avoided them like a plague since last fall.

(2) Lubbock will need a victory in the worst way to remain in contention for the District 3-4A title. With only one loss, they are in second place, tied with Borger. Yesterday's two and a half hour session seemed to be highlighted by an added emphasis on blocking, both downfield and in the line, and somewhat sharper tackling than was exhibited in the Palo Duro game.

The spirit, despite the winless record and the Palo Duro runaway, was good and Billy Hughes demonstrated several times that he had been paying attention in "fundamental" discussions as several times he laid the wood to an offensive ball carrier; however, the tackling still left much to be desired if Pampa intends to hold Lubbock under 40 points Friday night.

And, Lubbock is fully capable of running up the score and will do so, just as Palo Duro did last weekend. With Fullback Gary Knowles, a 195-pounder, hitting inside and Halfback Max Gatlin, the Westerner's top ground gobbler, going wide, Lubbock will be another strong offensive team.

Pampa's depleted forces could be strengthened by the return of Quarterback Butch Crossland. He has been ill for three weeks, his last action being in the 19-0 loss to Monterey where his ball-handling fooled Monterey most of the night.

However, that old devil injury who has reared his head too many times this fall, has put the Harvesters' two starting guards on the disabled list, one perhaps for the remainder of the season.

Dickie Mills was injured midway in the second quarter of the Palo Duro game and may miss the rest of the year with a fractured elbow.

Charlie Giese, the other starting guard, injured his ankle last Friday night also but may see some limited action.

Curfman will start two sophomores, Carl Clark and Dee Wright at guards and can only hope for the best. Both saw action last week when Giese and Mills were hurt but are relatively inexperienced compared to the rest of the starting lineup.

Jackie Brumlow, defensive middle guard, pulled an ankle tendon Monday and Clark will replace him at the vital position should the tendon not mend.

The Harvesters will leave here at 8 a.m. Friday and will arrive in Lubbock around noon. They will stay in the Plainsman Hotel and return to Pampa Saturday morning.

Hawks Stop Piston '5'

By United Press International

For the St. Louis Hawks, it's what's up front that counts.

Once again, their big trio of Bob Pettit, Cliff Hagan, and Clyde Lovellette is the reason the Hawks are on top of the Western Division in the National Basketball Association.

They led St. Louis to a 132-117 victory over the Detroit Pistons Wednesday night, while in the opener of the doubleheader at Detroit the Los Angeles Lakers downed the New York Knickerbockers, 106-96.

Pettit scored 22 points and Hagan and Lovellette tossed in 23 and 15, respectively, in pacing the Hawks to their fourth success in five games. Gene Shue topped the losers with 18 points.

In a battle of the two cellar teams of the respective divisions, Elgin Baylor pulled the victory out for Los Angeles with a 30-point effort. Teammate Hot Rod Hundley had 20 points while Willie Naulls led the Knicks with 19.

SPCA Points At Horsemen

NEW YORK (UPI)—Officials of the New York National Horse Show were served with a subpoena Wednesday night charging that they are violating New York state law by allowing horses with docked tails to compete.

The subpoena was served by the Anti-Vivisection League during a benefit show for the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Docking (cutting short) a horse's tail entails cutting through flesh.

Joshua Berney Jr., president of the show, said the charge "is completely unjustified."

Weiss Moves Over

To Yank 'Elite' Corp Roy Hamey Ascends

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roy Hamey, who sought the job for 26 years, is slated to be named to succeed his long-time tutor, George Weiss, as general manager of the "new look" New York Yankees today.

Weiss, generally credited as the man most responsible for bringing the Yankees 10 pennants in his 13 years as general manager, was shifted to an advisory capacity Wednesday in the latest of a series of changes that started with the replacement of Casey Stengel by Ralph Houk as field manager.

The Yankees have called a press conference for noon, EST, today at which time Hamey's new appointment is expected to be announced.

Weiss, a member of the New York organization since 1932, was "prompted" to step aside be-

VERN LAW
... best pitcher

Cy Young Honor To Vern Law

BOSTON (UPI) — Vern Law, who was scouted by a United States senator and signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates with the help of Bing Crosby's magic voice, was voted the Cy Young Award today as the major-league pitcher of the year.

Law, who won 20 games during the National League season and added two victories over the New York Yankees in the World Series, was named on eight of the 14 ballots cast in the annual voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves, who pitched a no-hitter and achieved a record 11th 20-win season, was second in the voting with four votes. Ernie Broglio, a 21-game winner, and relief ace Lindy McDaniel, both of the St. Louis Cardinals, had one vote each and two writers abstained from voting.

Previous winners of the award, named for the Hall of Famer who won a record 311 major league games, were Don Newcombe in 1956, Spahn in 1957, Bob Turley in 1958 and Early Wynn in 1959. This marked the first year in which American League pitchers were shut out in the voting.

Law, a 6-foot, 2-inch, 200-pound right-hander from Meridian, Idaho, earned the nickname "The Predictable Pirate" as his steady pitching proved a key factor in the Pirates' first NL pennant since 1927. He started 35 games, pitched 272 innings, pitched 18 complete games and had a 3.08 earned run average to go with his 20-9 mark.

Essentially a control pitcher with a good sinker and changeup, Law's strikeouts out-numbered his walks, 120-40.

Pampa Keeps Pass Defense Lead

Borger, Sandies Hog 3-4A Stats

Amarillo's Sandies and Borger's Bulldogs meet tomorrow night in Amarillo and going by the official district statistics released today, the game should be a wide-open affair.

The contest also could decide the District 3-4A crownholder. Borger has lost one district game, 25-14, to Monterey while the Sandies' conference record is spotless (4-0). However, should Borger beat Amarillo and continue the rest of the way unbeaten, the Bulldogs will represent the district. Conference rules say that should two teams tie for the title, the one holding a win over the other advances to the playoffs.

Statistic-wise, Borger and Amarillo are 1-2 in total offense, 1-2 in rushing and Amarillo tops Borger in rushing defense but has played one less game than the Bulldogs.

Pampa (0-4) continues to lead in pass defense, allowing 121 yards in the four winless outings for a 32.7 yards-per-game average.

Individually for the Harvesters, Steve Dobbin is eighth in rushing (233 yards), Roy Don Stephens is tenth in passing and tenth in punting and Butch Crossland, out for the last two weeks, is fifth in punting.

Rebels, Reapers Tangle Tonight

Pampa's Reapers and Robert E. Lee's ninth grade Rebels butt heads at 7 p.m. today at Harvester Park in a game that will decide the city championship.

The game also will give the Reapers their last chance to avoid a victory-less season, as they are now 0-6. Lee (1-6) will be looking for its second win after a five game losing streak.

Indians Increase AHL Loop Margin

By United Press International

It's a little early in the season to be talking about a "runaway" but the Springfield Indians are already putting some daylight between themselves and the rest of the American Hockey League.

The defending Calder Cup champions, who coasted to the pennant last season, increased their league lead to six points when they trashed the Hershey Bears, 6-1, at Hershey Wednesday.

Starting linemen for Lee probably will be John Fite, center; Myron Aftergut, guard; Phil Woodring, left end; Frank Osborne or Gene Storrs, guard; Gerald Rascoe, tackle; Keith Reimer, strong end, and Mike Bridges, wide end. In the backfield for Lee, Coach Lester Ramsey probably will start Stewart; Ronnie Ober, wingback; Larry Gregory, halfback and Ricky Goodwin at fullback.

Redlegs Choose DeWitt For General Manager

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—William O. (Bill) DeWitt, another participant in baseball's end-of-season game of musical chairs, Wednesday took over as general manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

DeWitt resigned two weeks ago as president of the Detroit Tigers following an owners' squabble. He succeeds Gabe Paul who resigned as Redlegs general manager Oct. 25 to take over the same post with the Houston club of the National League.

"I'm happy to accept the invitation of Mr. Crosley (Powell Crosley Jr.) to become general manager, and I will do everything possible to justify the confidence he has shown in me," DeWitt said at a hastily called press conference Wednesday.

"I know it will be a difficult job following the excellent administration of the club by Gabe Paul."

Length of contract and salary were not disclosed. "They were not important," DeWitt said.

A St. Louis native, the 58-year-old DeWitt has held executive positions with the old St. Louis Browns — now the Baltimore Orioles — the St. Louis Cardinals, the New York Yankees and the Tigers. He served as administrator from 1956 to 1959 of the $500,000 minor league fund which aids minor league teams.

His year as president of the Tigers was a stormy one with two changes in managers and a series of front office squabbles. The Tigers finished in sixth place in the American League.

Let's Even The Odds

Common sense and common justice dictate that defending its right to stay in business is a legitimate expense for any enterprise. But the Internal Revenue Service has ruled that the cost of institutional advertising which might influence legislation is not deductible as operating expense.

Legislative measures have been introduced in Congress which would correct this situation, and would allow as deductible expense, money spent for advertising or opposing legislation which would affect the business of an individual or company. During its recent annual convention the Montana Press Association adopted a resolution to "...inform the congressmen and senators of Montana we would appreciate their support of the Boggs Bill which deals with the Internal Revenue's mistaken views, which the Resolutions Committee feels constitutes censorship by taxation, thus hindering business from expressing its views on proposed legislation."

Although the ruling applies to all businesses, investor-owned private electric utilities, which have been the main target of socialization advocates find themselves in an especially vulnerable position. Government-owned power projects can beat the drums for socialism with no penalty attached because they are exempt from federal income taxes. Private power companies, on the other hand, are penalized by taxation for every dollar they spend in combating efforts which would ultimately put them out of business, and in the process, take a long step toward destroying the free economic system on which the opportunity and freedom of every last one of us depends.

It's time to even the odds and the Montana Press Association and others taking such action should be congratulated. Let's give back to private citizens the right to defend without tax penalty, the foundation under our house of freedom.

Freedom Has High Value

What can be readily obtained is usually of little value. It takes major human effort to bring true appreciation. The most difficult condition for human beings to obtain is freedom, for it is rare and can only be discovered thru individual willingness to practice self-restraint.

GOP Funds Behind 1956

Political campaign contributions to the Republicans in the first eight months of 1960 ran almost $2.5 million behind contributions for the same period in 1956, the last previous Presidential election year, a Congressional Quarterly survey shows. Democrats, on the other hand, boosted their take by $561,000.

The survey, based on official reports of campaign collections and campaign spending filed with the Clerk of the House, shows that the GOP collected $7.4 million from January through August in 1956 but only a bit over $4.8 million in the same months in 1960. This sharp drop, attributed to the absence this year of the Eisenhower tour, still left the GOP with three times as much money as the Democrats, who took in $1.6 million, compared with $1.1 million in 1956.

Over-all, the survey shows, political committees in the two parties, together with labor political groups and miscellaneous organizations, collected $7,746,931 and spent $6,712,139 through Aug. 31 this year. In 1956, through the end of August, $9,685,368 was collected and $6,377,617 spent. On a percentage basis, GOP groups spent 57.1 per cent of the total this year, Democratic groups 24.4 per cent, labor groups 13 per cent and other organizations 5.5 per cent.

The Corrupt Practices Act of 1925 requires political committees that operate in more than one state to file reports every quarter of the year with the Clerk of the House, telling how much they collected and spent. Highlights for the period Jan. 1-Aug. 31, as tabulated by Congressional Quarterly:

Fifteen Republican political committees collected a total of $4,814,374 and spent $2,824,965. Biggest spender was the Republican National Committee, with receipts of $1,527,336 and expenditures of $1,455,368. Next was the National Republican Congressional Committee, which works to elect Republican Representatives, with collections of $896,933 and expenses of $665,987.

Eight Democratic groups collected a total of $1,666,138 and spent $1,637,311. Highest spender was the Democratic National Committee, which received $1,270,318 and spent $1,335,184. Next came the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, which collected $153,350 and spent $149,850.

Thirteen labor organizations collected $903,076 and spent $868,406. The AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) was on top with collections of $343,708 and expenditures of $433,731. Next was the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union (AFL-CIO), which received $142,384 and spent $110,961.

Fifteen miscellaneous organizations took in $363,343 and spent $371,457. Almost two-thirds of this was spent by two organizations alone; the conservative Americans for Constitutional Action received $97,248 and spent $131,805; and the Christian Nationalist Crusade received $120,080 and spent $112,513. The latter group is headed by Gerald L. K. Smith and says it is "dedicated to the preservation of the Christian and constitutional traditions of America."

Money reported spent in political campaigns is only part of the amount actually spent, because of loopholes in the Corrupt Practices Act. The biggest loophole is that only political committees which operate in more than one state are required by federal law to file campaign spending reports. This means that individual state committees can contribute as much as they want to a candidate without filing any record. Some states require spending reports to be filed, but usually such reports are not readily accessible to the public. Also, this makes "sneaky" groups working within a state particularly hard to track down.

Another loophole is that primary campaigns, which determine election in one-party states, do not come under the reporting requirements of the law. The law is also unclear on whether labor unions and business corporations can contribute to political campaigns. The law prohibits its direct contributions. But labor unions get around this prohibition by giving candidates the back money collected from members as "voluntary contributions." They also work through political education committees, such as the AFL-CIO's COPE. And corporations frequently put informal pressure on top executives to make personal contributions.

A bill to close the major loopholes, require far more thorough campaign spending reporting and set limitations on contributions and spending, sponsored by the late Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. of Missouri was passed by the Senate Jan. 25 of this year. The House took no action on the "clean-elections" bill.

Three Nations Back World Court Rule

A determined effort is being made to repeal the Connally Reservation to the Senate Resolution providing for the adherence of our country to the International Court of Justice. It is widely alleged that only six countries have made similar reservations.

Dan Smoot has made a careful study of this matter and I would like to give my readers a brief statement of some of the points he is emphasizing.

Only three nations—Haiti, Nicaragua and Paraguay—have accepted the jurisdiction of the World Court without reservation.

Twenty-one nations have filed acceptances with reservations somewhat less strict than those of the United States.

Six nations have accepted with reservations practically identical in language or in sense with those of the United States.

Four nations have filed acceptances, couched in different language but substantially as restrictive regarding World Court jurisdiction as the Connally Reservation.

Five nations have accompanied their acceptances with reservations more restrictive than those of the United States.

More than half of the number of U.N. have not accepted the World Court in any sense.

The reservations made by Great Britain, France, Australia, Canada, New Zealand are as strict or more strict than those our country has filed.

Let it be remembered that if the Connally Reservation is repealed we can be brought before the World Court on almost any issue, domestic or foreign. Let it be remembered also that there is no appeal from the decisions of this Court.

The World Court consists of fifteen judges—all elected by majority vote in the U.N. General Assembly and in the U.N. Security Council. The candidates are nominated by the U.N. Secretary General from names submitted to him by national groups in the Permanent Court of Arbitration at the Hague.

The Soviet Union may legally have three judges on the World Court. No other nation may have more than one. This is true because the Soviet Union has three votes in U.N. and all other nations only one each. This extremely lopsided situation came about by agreement between Stalin and Roosevelt. Stalin demanded a vote for each of the sixteen republics within the Soviet Union. Roosevelt countered with a demand for a vote by each of the 48 states in our country at that time. Stalin rejected this because it would give the United States three times as many votes as Soviet Russia. Roosevelt and Stalin compromised by giving the Soviet three times as many votes as the United States—that is, three for the Soviet Union and one for the United States.

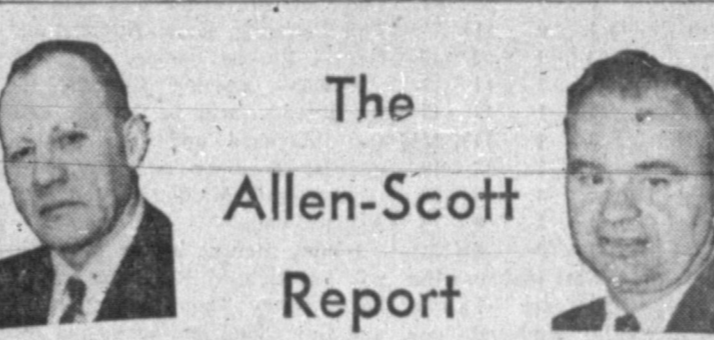

All 82 member nations of U.N., plus Liechtenstein, San Marino and Switzerland, are eligible to name their nationals to serve as judges on the Court even though they may not have accepted that Court in any sense. In other words the judges may be selected from the 82 member nations and three non-member nations although only forty of these nations adhere to the World Court. No Communist nation adheres to World Court to any extent whatsoever; yet 8 Communist nations possessing 10 votes participate in electing the World Court judges and 2 judges representing Communist nations—the Soviet Union and Poland—are now serving on the Court.

Nine of the fifteen World Court judges compose a quorum. Decisions are by majority vote—which means that as few as five judges (all of whom might conceivably be from Communist nations) could render decisions concerning our vital interests, such as giving Alaska back to Russia, stripping us of the Panama Canal, Puerto Rico or the Hawaiian Islands. Suppose, for instance, that U.N. should adopt a resolution providing for the taxing of the nationals of member nations and that heavy taxes should be levied upon our citizens. If we refused to pay, we might be hauled before the World Court and the decision might well be against us. Unless we found some means of resistance we might be taxed down to the level of Africa or Asia. Our only escape would be refusal to accept the authority of U.N. and if in the meantime it had grown strong with the military power it seeks, we might find that our existence as an independent nation had come to an end. I regard the Connally Reservation, which gives our country the right to decide what issues, both domestic and international may be submitted to the World Court for adjudication, as extremely important.

A complete explanation and discussion of the Connally Reservation and the World Court have been made in three recent issues of THE DAN SMOOT REPORT. You can obtain the complete review by sending 50 cents to The Dan Smoot Report, P.O. Box 9611, Dallas 14, Texas, and asking for copies of World Court and World Law, issues I, II, and III. RESUMPTION OF UNDERGROUND NUCLEAR TESTS TO BE ANNOUNCED AFTER NOV. 8; TESTS IN FEBRUARY
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is ordering a resumption of nuclear weapons tests in February.

The still-incomplete schedule calls for six or eight of these experimental "shots" of new nuclear warheads and other arms; they will be conducted underground, and will take place at the Nevada proving grounds.

Official announcement of the President's decision will be made shortly after the November 8 election.

Leaders of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee have been advised of this.

They have also been informed the President plans to discuss this momentous decision with his successor — the President-elect.

Last November, the President continued the ban but reserved the right to resume testing at any time. In the event that was decided on, he stated it would be announced officially in advance. That is what he now intends to do soon after the November 8 election.

FALLOUT — Navy and Intelligence authorities believe Russia now has three nuclear-powered missile-firing submarines. At present, all these secretly-built vessels are based in Western Russia.

The Atomic Commission already has tunnels and shafts available for underground weapons tests at the Nevada proving grounds. AEC Chairman McCone has told the President these experiments can easily be started by February.

McCone says there is no reliable information on Red China's nuclear weapons capabilities. Asked for his estimate on that by the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee, he replied, "I have no estimate on the matter. With the exception of France, I know of no other country that is making progress in this field. We can only assume Red China is working on this, but I have no knowledge whatsoever on the state of their development."

An agreement in the next several months on nuclear weapons control by the U.S., Britain and Russia at the protracted conference in Geneva. In the event of such an accord before the President leaves office on January 20, he is prepared to shelve the new tests.

The new President could cancel these "shots" after he takes office. The contemplated weapons experiments will not get underway until sometime in February, and the new President will have ample time to act on them.

Foremost among the new weapons programmed in these tests are:

An improved warhead for the Polaris, the intermediate range solid-fuel ballistic missile; and an atomic depth shell that can be fired from a relatively small caliber gun.

The strong belief in high quarters that Russia has been secretly testing was a decisive factor in the President's judgment to prepare for a new round of underground tests.

In 1814, the European powers, seeking to resolve the problems left in the wake of the Napoleonic wars, opened discussions at the Congress of Vienna.

In 1833, the world Woman's Christian Temperance Union was organized in Detroit.

In 1896, Idaho granted full suffrage to women.

In 1896, William McKinley and Garret Hobart were elected president and vice president respectively.

In 1935, a plebiscite in Greece brought about the recall of King George the Second to the throne.

To The Pampa Daily News:

President Eisenhower should not expect his fellow Texans to extend the policies of his administration for another four years, by voting for his protege, Richard Nixon, when the value of the products constituting our source of income is declining or curtailed. The trend of the prices we received for our agriculture and cattle is definitely down. Our oil production has been curtailed to eight days a month and the price of our natural gas has been frozen at a price below market values. All of this is happening to us while the cost of living is going up. Rather paradoxical, isn't it?

But they say there are other issues overshadowing our declining economy. Lets take a look at them.

The 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion. In 1924 the U.S. Treasury granted to the oil companies a 27 1/2 per cent depletion charge off against the gross income. This was helpful in stimulating wildcating. What the Treasury Department didn't know was that some of these oil companies were going to open vast oil reserves in foreign lands and use the 27 1/2 per cent to cheapen this foreign oil to the extent they could capture our foreign and domestic markets. This is one reason why we can only produce oil eight days per month and if this continues, it spells "Finis" for the small oil companies and the independent operators here and other oil producing states. And this isn't all.

The foreign producing oil companies having been granted other concessions, pay no income tax on their gross income may amount to as much as eight hundred million dollars per annum. Not only should this tax evasion be looked into and the loop holes plugged, but the 27 1/2 per cent charge off should be terminated on oil produced in Foreign lands.

Federal Aid to Schools. During the last ten years it has been necessary to double the amount of taxes on homes, farm and ranch lands, to build additional classrooms and man them with teachers. Our population growth for the next ten years will again require us to double our taxes to build more class rooms, hire more teachers, and raise their salaries. Can the homes, farm and ranch lands stand this tax increase? What is amiss if the Federal Government should divert some of the millions we are sending abroad to build class rooms and hire teachers to our local school districts to help build more class rooms, hire more teachers at a higher salary?

Religion. In 1923 the good people of Texas coined the phrase of the three "R's", Rum, Romanism and Ruin. They used this against the candidacy of Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic Nominee for the presidency. Smith was defeated and Mr. Hoover elected and ruin came to all of us in the depression that followed.

There are many conditions existing now that presaged the Hoover Depression; namely, the slump in the stock market, reduction in farm products and cattle, and the increase of unemployment. Even the promise of better times in 1961 has a familiar ring of the 1930's depression, "that prosperity is just around the corner."

Matsu, Quonoy and Cuba. Whether we do or don't makes little difference if we become involved in a nuclear war. The above issues will be of no importance for who wants to live any longer under stone age conditions, even if Barry Goldwater should be present to tell us how wonderful it is.

If Nixon is elected we do hope he will not cause us further embarrassment by visiting Russian Satellite Countries, there to be heckled and probably ordered out.

The Democratic Party is the author of much beneficial legislation. It gave us The Federal Reserve Bank, The Federal Farm Loan Bank, The Parcel Post Act, Rural Electrification, The Federal Housing Act, Social Security and the forty four week. The party seems to be one for all of the people, the little people, the party with a heart.

Fair Enough

We Have Given Up Our Freedom To Be - Free

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

If this country can retain its vague integrity for 50 years, perhaps a generation of calm, honest historians will look back on the era which began with Roosevelt's "recognition" of Soviet Russia in 1933 and put down a reasonably true record of an awful experience. The nation went through a similar but lesser spiritual and political turmoil in the Civil War and the heart-rending "Tragic era." That era now is absolutely taboo by means of a censorship which draws an iron curtain over frightful conditions created in the South by the northern government. An area of a few square blocks in the heart of New York still exerts a power which prevents honest discussion.

When, at the Republican conventions, the band plays, "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory of the Coming of the Lord," the galleries innocently believe that this clumsy chant by a dishonest female poet, fairly presents that ancient issue.

"He has loosed the fateful lightning of his terrible, swift sword; his truth is marching on!"

But the Lord did not endorse the conduct of the northern invaders of the homeland of the southern people who fought, not for slavery, but for their lives, their homes and other priceless considerations of the most gentle civilization that this country has created down to now. By our own Nuremberg precepts, Lincoln and his cabinet and many of his generals should have been put to death just as our Hitlerian Thad Stevens would have hanged Lee and Davis.

In our own time, including the time of the first war, the American people have lived almost continuously in a turmoil of disaster. We have not fully appreciated the horror of our own three wars and the long communist revolution in our very midst which was disguised as a reform — as revolutions almost always are.

Because, fortunately, the battlefields were elsewhere, we were spared the sight of agonies inflicted on other masses of people no more evil than ourselves. We inflicted much of that agony, chanting all the while an equivalent of "his truth goes marching on."

We slaughtered night after night in German cities. Other millions, by our ignorant president's consent, were swept out of their historic, native homes in the Baltic, Germany and Poland into the oblivion of darkest Russia. Glory, glory hallelujah!

But what really was his truth? The truth is that we fought to preserve the Soviet empire whose emperor only recently behaved so horribly in New York that even countries long accustomed to the bloody judgments of monsters were appalled by his brutish figures of speech, his personal violence and his inner ignorance of his truth.

Did his truth really go marching to Poland and Czechoslovakia as it had to Atlanta in step with the confused people of the United States?

Did the Lord sit on the long bench of the court of Nuremberg alongside the Russians who had been co-aggressors with Nazi Germany in the slaughter of the Poles?

The more we learn of science through war, the closer we step to chaos. In 1914, some young Germans and Frenchmen flew over the lines holding primitive bombs by hand, and dropped them by hand. War has now produced automatic bombs which fly and steer themselves with a power, we are told, to destroy the world.

In a quarter century passengers who flew in marvelous two-engine Condors have become nonchalant on jets which carry more than a hundred from coast to coast in six hours.

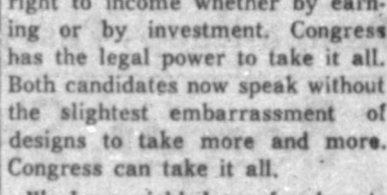

War has stimulated and subsidized miracles which man would not have wrought without war. War has paid off. The unemotional Chinese are willing to pay two hundred million lives to create an empire. They are not intimidated by suffering or by the spectacle of so much death. They are used to both. And they know how lives are created and take a biological view of the Phenomenon.

In the rush of our revolution, conducted without banners or declarations but always with mocking obeisance to the Constitution, we have repealed all our freedom while babbling an inane mockery tossed off by a silly bore — the four freedoms. Our income tax amendment totally repealed our right to income whether by earning or by investment. Congress has the legal power to take it all. Both candidates now speak without the slightest embarrassment of designs to take more and more. Congress can take it all.

We have yielded our freedom to be — free.

We have had military conscription for 20 years. It can be extended by congress to civilians for conscription labor, subject to deportation to other regions, even U. S. foreign lands, and to the dispersal of families.

VERN LAW
... best pitcher

Cy Young Honor To Vern Law

BOSTON (UPI) — Vern Law, who was scouted by a United States senator and signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates with the help of Bing Crosby's magic voice, was voted the Cy Young Award today as the major league pitcher of the year.

Law, who won 20 games during the National League season and added two victories over the New York Yankees in the World Series, was named on eight of the 14 ballots cast in the annual voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves, who pitched a no-hitter and achieved a record 11th 20-win season, was second in the voting with four votes. Ernie Broglio, a 21-game winner, and relief ace Lindy McDaniel, both of the St. Louis Cardinals, had one vote each and two writers abstained from voting.

Named for the Hall of Famer who won a record 511 major league games, were Don Newcombe in 1956, Spahn in 1957, Bob Turley in 1958 and Early Wynn in 1959. This marked the first year in which American League pitchers were shut out in the voting.

Law, a 6-foot, 2-inch, 200-pound right-hander from Meridian, Idaho, earned the nickname "The Predictable Pirate" as his steady pitching proved a key factor in the Pirates' first NL pennant since 1927. He started 35 games, pitched 272 innings, pitched 18 complete games and had a 3.08 earned run average to go with his 20-9 mark.

Essentially a control pitcher with a good sinker and changeup, Law's strikeouts outnumbered his walks, 120-40.

Carrier 'Offs' 'Junk' Mail, Draws Fine

DALLAS (UPI) — The McCulloch brothers got jobs with the Dallas Post Office as walking mailmen, but apparently didn't buy that bit about "neither rain or snow or sleet nor hail, etc."

Terril McCulloch, 23, was convicted last month by Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson of stealing cash out of letters and was fined $100 and given a six-month probation sentence.

Wednesday, Donald McCulloch, 27, was arrested for throwing part of his mail in a trash can rather than delivering it.

"He just threw away the bulky mail he didn't want to bother with," said postal inspector Ralph W. Thomas. "They were mainly third class circulars and advertising things."

Barbara Burns To Face Court
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Barbara Ann Burns, 22, faces another court appearance Monday on a narcotics charge.

The self-styled "ugly duckling" daughter of the late comedian Bob (Bazooka) Burns was arraigned Wednesday with three young men on a charge of possessing marijuana and was ordered to appear at a preliminary hearing.

She and the youths—William Bellah, 19, of Canoga Park, Michael McKaegan, 20, of Studio City and Arthur Vasquez, 27, of Los Angeles—were arrested Monday when a drive-in manager reported they appeared "glassy-eyed."

For Miss Burns it was another of a series of run-ins with the law on narcotics charges. At the time of her arrest she had just completed a three-month narcotics sentence at Amarillo State Hospital and was on probation.

Jailed Mayor Running Again

WARNER ROBINS, Ga. (UPI)—The mayor of Warner Robins, Ga., is serving a one-year sentence in a federal prison in Florida, but the city attorney ruled that he still is eligible to run for re-election in the Nov. 8 balloting.

Warner Robins Mayor Kemp A. Harrison's name was removed from the county voter registration lists Wednesday after he began serving his sentence on charges of obtaining a $20,000 bank loan with intent to defraud. The City Council put him on a "leave of absence" status.

City Attorney William Wisse ruled that neither Harrison's conviction nor his removal from the voter lists is enough to have his name withdrawn from the ballot.
