Russia Cancels Visit Of Top AF Generals To U.S.

Blunt Rebuff Was Rather Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia, in a blunt rebuff to the United States over the spy plane incident, today abruptly canceled a scheduled U.S. good will trip by its top air force generals.

Marshal K. A. Vershinin, commander-in-chief of the Red air force who had been scheduled to arrive here Saturday with nine fellow officers, notified the U.S. Air Force he was calling off the visit because "unfavorable circumstances have been created."

Truman Makes Choice

Symington Gets Candidate Nod

CHICAGO (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman today endorsed Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I expect to support the Honorable Stuart Symington," Truman told a news conference here today.

"I am sure as I can be, if the Democrats nominate him, he will have no difficulty in carrying a tremendous majority of the electoral votes in the election in November."

"I shall do everything I possibly can to contribute what help I can to his nomination."

Truman, who came here today to address the Executives' Club of Chicago, thus confirmed repeated reports that he eventually would come out openly for Symington in an effort to stop the growing power of the move to the nomination of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Truman named his choice in a formal statement which he read to newsmen. He pointed out that Symington "has been unanimously endorsed by the Missouri delegation of which I am a member."

"I have been very careful not to make an announcement that would in any way embarrass Senator Symington," he said.

"The only reason I have waited until now to make the announcement is because I want to help him and not hurt him."

Jury To Decide Student's Fate

COLUMBUS, Miss. (UPI) — The case of a handsome young college student charged with strangling his next-door neighbor goes to a jury today following two weeks of sensational testimony.

The state is asking the death penalty for Jon Mattox, 20, who is accused of garroting Mrs. Gene Cain Tate. The attractive socialite was found dead with a coathanger around her neck Jan. 31 in the garage of her home.

The prosecution claimed the murder occurred following a two-year love affair between Mattox, a physics major at Mississippi State University, and Mrs. Tate, 31-year-old mother of four and wife of a prominent businessman.

Why U.S. Spies Are Necessary

Reds Use Planes, Ships And Many Agents To Play Dead

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a three-part report by Pentagon reporter Ray Cromley explaining some of the reasons the U.S. must play the secret game of spying. The final article will appear Sunday.

By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Indications are the Soviet Union is ahead of the U.S. in the life-and-death game of spying.

The Russians fly fast high-altitude planes over Alaska, Canada and U.S. air bases abroad. These planes have sharp camera. Red submarines regularly pa-trio U.S. and Latin American shores. They poke into harbors and coasts. They relay messages to and from Soviet agents.

Soviet reports describe these submarines as equipped with a variety of electronic detecting devices whose functions are not precisely described.

Red fishing boats patrol strategic waters through the world. Some are fitted with high-powered radios and transmitters. They carry "special" electronic equipment. Some Russian ships carry extremely powerful long-range radar.

But the backbone of Soviet espionage is the old-time spy, with radio and camera, hollow pencils, hollow shaving brushes and jewelry with hiding places for microfilm.

Communist agents have worked their secret way into high government positions in neutral and Western nations—perhaps even in the U.S. Some of these agents are "sleepers." They may not operate as spies—or do anything irregular—for five years, 10 years, 20 years. They wait for a crisis.

Other Red agents have been working their way into key industrial and scientific posts in free nations, obviously including the

Officials Drift To Summit

Herter Due In Paris Shortly

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

PARIS (UPI) — Key figures of the summit conference start drifting into Paris today to prepare for the first top-level East-West meeting in five years.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter was due at Orly Air Field at noon to begin the influx that will lead to the momentous conference Monday.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko are due Saturday. President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will arrive Sunday.

Khrushchev is arriving a day earlier than originally expected—the change of plan was announced Thursday—and some Allied diplomats feared it was a deliberate maneuver to establish a propaganda beachhead before Eisenhower's arrival.

If so, the Soviet leader could be expected to continue to exploit the incident of the American spy plane captured deep inside Russia.

Other diplomatic authorities said Khrushchev might be coming early to seek an intimate discussion with French President Charles de Gaulle at which he might probe for any cracks in the Western front developed by the plane affair.

If so, he was doomed to failure. French and British officials made it clear that the Western front was solid as ever in its positions on Berlin, Germany and disarmament — the three principal summit topics.

Commission Pays Bills In Late Session

The city commission yesterday approved bills totalling $23,981.28 and voted to pay J. R. Moore $150 crop damage for sewer line that will be run across his property.

The commission was supposed to meet Tuesday, but postponed it until yesterday afternoon because Commissioners Leon Holmes and Jack Vaughn were at a convention in Austin.

Neither commissioner got back to Pampa in time for yesterday's meeting, however.

The payment of bills will be made from the general fund ($15,106.45), water and sewer fund ($8,237.54) and the library fund ($147.40). An additional library bill of $254.40 was approved.

The city plans to lay 1,800 feet of sewer pipe across the Solomon tract which is leased by Moore. He filed for advance damage (See COMMISSION, Page 3)

President Of TU May Resign

GALVESTON (UPI) — Dr. Logan Wilson indicated today that he may submit his resignation as president of the University of Texas, to the school's board of regents, which is meeting here.

Rumors have been circulating for more than a month that Wilson plans to leave his university job.

He was asked before going into a closed meeting with the board at 9 a.m. today if he would have a statement on his rumored resignation.

"There probably will be one this afternoon," Dr. Wilson replied.

Norway Protests Against Landing Spy Planes There

OSLO (UPI) — Norway, one of America's staunchest NATO allies, formally protested today against an American plan to land a trans-Russia spy plane in Norway and demand an end to such incidents.

Foreign Minister Halvard Lange, who announced the protest in Parliament, rebuked Russia at the same time for threatening to obliterate American bases in Norway.

It was the first diplomatic action against the United States by Norway since Norway joined the North Atlantic alliance. It followed a Washington admission that spy flights had been carried out.

Lange said it had "been proved" that pilot Francis G. Powers, 30, of Albany, Ga., had planned to cross Russia and land at Bodoe airfield in Northern Norway on a flight from Pakistan.

He said he called in Mrs. Francis Willis, the U. S. ambassador, and lodged the protest with a demand that steps be taken to avoid repetition of such incidents.

Lange said Norway had from time to time allowed Allied planes to use Norwegian bases for landing after flights over the Arctic sea. But he said this was done only on condition that such flights never violated foreign territory or came near the borders of foreign states.

HEADS COUNCIL ON NATO
NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Under Secretary of State Robert D. Murphy, now president of Corning Glass International, has been elected president and chairman of the American Council on NATO, it was announced today.

Murphy succeeds General Dynamics Corp. Board Chairman Frank Pace Jr., as head of the council, a private group set up in 1953 to stimulate interest in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Witnesses said his dying words were "how is Bettina?" He was asking about the beautiful French model who has been his constant companion in recent years and who was beside him in the car. Aly was at the wheel.

Bettina and Aly's chauffeur, who was in the rear seat, were not seriously injured in the crash. Dressed in a smart green and brown gown, she was hospitalized for stitches in a head wound. Then after being told of Aly's death, she bravely returned to help the police investigation.

Aly, famous for his taste in women, racehorses, and powerful cars, was driving the Italian-made car along a road near the Longchamps race track, one of his favorite haunts as gentleman jockey and thoroughbred owner.

Just across the Seine River bridge, it met the sedan driven by Frenchman Hervé Bichaton. Witnesses said that Bichaton's car was on the wrong side of the road. Both drivers braked hard, but too late, and they collided head-on.

Aly was thrown forward onto the plastic steering wheel. His impact against his body is believed to have caused his death.

Bystanders carried Aly, still breathing, into a nearbyistro and stretched him out to await an ambulance.

BAD LUCK? BAH! — Glenda Finkelstein, Pampa High senior, was a bit hesitant about sitting under a ladder, what with Friday the 13th here. And when she was asked to hold a black cat, too, she almost balked. But Glenda consented and hasn't had any bad luck yet; which proves the idea is probably all wet anyway. The cat, Theofarastos, owned by Paul Schneider, wouldn't express her opinion. She just turned her head and purred. (Daily News Photo)

U.S. Radio Mirror Lost

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.
United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — American scientists fired a "radio mirror" balloon satellite into space today and then apparently lost it.

The 136-pound Project Echo Satellite rode into the skies on a 92-foot-tall Thor-Delta, the nation's newest space rocket.

For the first few minutes, the shot looked good as the missile climbed high into the black, morning sky. Then the tracking operations apparently went haywire.

Robert H. Gray, field project manager for the federal space agency's Goddard space flight center in Washington, said there were indications of a malfunction during the satellite's long coasting phase which was to have pushed it to an altitude of 1,000 miles.

Leonard Jaffe, project official for the launching, said "There is no indication of this thing being in orbit."

Jaffe said there was a remote possibility the satellite had gone into some other orbit than the 1,000-mile high circular path which had been planned.

Gray said any number of things could have happened — "It could have gone into an extremely different orbit — or it could have gone straight up or straight down and failed."

There were conflicts in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's reports on the progress of the shot. NASA first announced here that all three stages had fired successfully.

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI) — Lockheed today prepared a 25-million-dollar modification program for all Electra airliners to insure against crashes similar to two-air disasters that claimed 97 lives when the planes' wings snapped off at high speed.

But who will pay for the modifications — estimated at more than $18,000 million dollars for each of the 136 prop-jet planes now in service?

Lockheed did not talk about financing the modifications Thursday when it held a day-long meeting with representatives of the airlines, Airline Pilots Assn., government aviation agencies and technical people.

Asked today about who would pay for the changes, Lockheed had a flat "no comment."

At the session Lockheed said its $1 1/2 million-dollar test program of the Electra following the Tell City, Ind., and Buffalo, Tex., crashes showed the wings of both planes snapped.

The builder of the five-million-dollar airplane said the crashes could not have been caused by high speed alone, but had to be coupled with structural damage to the outboard engine housing.

Swiss Stunned By 'Backyard' Incident

By PETER UEBERSAX
United Press International

BERN, Switzerland (UPI) — A Swiss public which had been highly critical of the U.S. 112 spy plane incident was stunned and confused today by a Soviet espionage attempt against their neutral government.

Two Soviet diplomats, described only as "young secretaries" at the Russian embassy in Bern, were expelled from the country Wednesday night following their arrest for attempting to buy Swiss military secrets and information on U.S. rocket bases in West Germany.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — The securities markets probably will react fairly calmly toward the possibility of a change of government this November, according to Shearson, Hammill & Co.

The reason given for this is that the economic imperatives within our economy are such that the freedom of action of any new government would be severely limited. In other words, few important economic changes are apt to occur.

Shearson, Hammill points out that Democrats so far haven't offered any proposals for raising the money necessary to finance increased government spending and that additional taxes appear unlikely.

From a practical point of view, the firm says, both parties are obviously interested in achieving, and maintaining, the maximum orderly rate of growth of the economy.

Reynolds & Co. says that bank holding companies should have another profitable year and seem reasonably valued in relation to current earning power with further increases in dividend payouts a logical expectation. First America, First Bank Stock Corp. and Marine Midland seem particularly attractive in this group, Reynolds believes.

Kennedy Confident, But Still Has Work Cut Out

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass.) was confident today that he would win the Democratic presidential nomination and political leaders in both parties agreed that his bandwagon was rolling in high gear. But strategists in the camps of rival Democratic aspirants contended Kennedy could be stopped despite his smashing victory in the West Virginia primary which blunted the religious issue and knocked Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.) out of the race.

tant West Virginia convinced him he would win the nomination and "diminished substantially, if not eliminated" the religious issue, from the race.

He also belittled charges that his West Virginia showing was the result of lavish campaign spending on his behalf by his wealthy family and supporters. Kennedy's West Virginia triumph caused Republicans and one Democratic rival Sen. Wayne Morse (Ore.), to step up their fire at the Massachusetts lawmaker. Many Democratic leaders saw Kennedy's West Virginia victory as a big boost to his candidacy. In a joint statement, New York state Democratic Chairman Michael H. Pendergast and Carmine G. De Sapio, the state's national committeeman, said Kennedy had "proved himself to be a very strong and very able contender for the Democratic presidential nomination."

Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams said Kennedy's win made him "the front runner among those potential candidates who can attract support of the liberals in the Democratic Party."

Aides of Richard M. Nixon, only candidate for the GOP nomination, are reviewing the vice president's campaign plans to get them to his conviction that Kennedy will be his probable opponent.

GLENN SCOTT PI supervisor

Electronics Is Topic Of Talk To Kiwanis Club

Devices used to measure temperature in outer space, plus models of satellites and missiles, were featured in the talk given by Glenn Scott, public information supervisor for the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, today at Kiwanis Club.

In a talk entitled "Telephone Science in National Defense," Scott demonstrated electronic brains guided missiles, and made a satellite. He also told of an audience about electronic systems which will provide a new type telephone service and are the nerves of today's guided missiles.

Members of the group had the opportunity to see and examine models of the Titan, the country's largest intercontinental ballistic missile, and Nike Hercules, the guided super sonic anti-aircraft missile, and hear the story of Nike Zeus, an anti-missile missile now being developed in the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

The telephone speaker has appeared before almost 3,000 Texas audiences in the past few years giving demonstrations about the future of communications.

The U.S. subscribes to Russian technical and trade journals and translates them. But U.S. and Allied agents are a pitifully small handful compared with the Reds. They have less chance of getting into Russia. They find it much more difficult to move around.

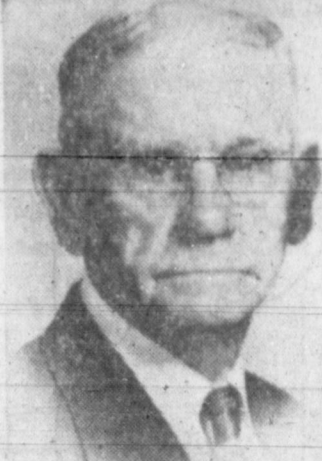

The Russians don't publish important maps freely. They censor their technical magazines thoroughly. They don't put out detailed pictures of their newest weapons. They sent Russian counterespies with Russian groups, that go abroad to make sure they don't say anything and also to spy.

And U.S. photo planes are few in number. So are the powerful radars needed to peer deeply into Russia.

To summarize: The Reds are ahead simply because they're doing more.

The U.S. is putting in too little, too late.

(Next a decision reached — a crash program to step up U.S. spying.)

CC Member Drive Plans Being Finished

Final plans are being made for the chamber of commerce's annual membership round-up next week, and Mayor Ed Myatt has issued a proclamation to designate it Chamber of Commerce Week in Pampa.

The chamber has lined up 21 teams of three men each to start the drive Monday.

A kickoff breakfast is planned for 7 a.m. Monday in the West Street Room of the Canadian Inn. Jack Lacy, general manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, will deliver the keynote address.

Team leaders will meet at 10 a.m. Wednesday and Friday in the chamber office to report their progress.

The contest will officially end at 5 p.m. Friday.

Members of the top three teams will receive cafeteria outfits as prizes.

Weed Control Urged By City

This is the time of year when weeds reach their peak growth and something has to be done to keep them cut down on vacant lots.

City Manager John Koots and Mayor Ed Myatt asked residents owning vacant lots to keep their weeds cut this summer.

They pointed out that if necessary the city could cut weeds and assess the owner the cost of the job.

Club Installs Three Members

The new members are Sherrill Lee, Gail Gilpatrick and Carolyn Lee Osborne.

The club members discussed making clothes as a summer project.

for a wheat crop which is growing on the land.

The commission agreed to pay Moore $150, based on the assumption that each acre will yield 40 bushels of wheat when harvested.

The commission also heard the third reading of ordinance No. 529 and the second reading of No. 531.

No. 529 concerns permission for pay television shows to be presented in Pampa, and No. 530 would change the zoning of a section of property in the Hillcrest Terrace addition from residential to semi-commercial.

The commission also approved bid dates for three projects.

REDS

U.S. They wait, too. If the Reds can't get a U.S. firm's secrets from the American firm itself, they sometimes learn them from an agent in an associated company in a foreign land.

What territory the Russian spies don't cover, their allies do. The Red Chinese are slowly but carefully building a world-wide network. It already includes Western Europe, Northwest Africa, parts of Latin America and Southeast Asia.

The Chinese sometimes fight over contacts with their Soviet contacts. Sometimes the Russians have spies with one group in a country, the Chinese Reds with a rival group.

And where the Russians and Chinese can't get their own people in, they wedge in Czechs, Poles, Red Vietnamese, Red Koreans.

Khrushchev achieves results by spending money like water. Estimates run to five to ten times what the U.S. is spending.

The Reds use extraordinary numbers of men. Communist spies are known to run in the thousands, perhaps as many as 10,000, throughout the world.

Reports by defectors indicate the Reds may have hundreds in the U.S. alone in any one year.

It's simple for Red agents to buy, or get free, much of the information they need. They go to U.S. and other free-world government printing offices. They subscribe to technical magazines and buy technical books. They purchase maps. They clip pictures of missiles out of newspapers.

Khrushchev's spy headquarters analyze this "free" information by "mathematical" equations the Reds use it to figure out a large number of U.S. and other Free World secrets.

Americans and other Free World men talk. The Reds don't. That makes it easy for Khrushchev's agents to "buy" information with a drink, a "friendly" cigarette or a smile.

The Reds have a well-worked-out and ruthless program for forcing Americans and other Free World men and women into their spy rings.

The methods: Sex, blackmail, money, pressure on men with relatives still behind the Iron Curtain. American travelers in Red countries report the wide use of attractive young women by the Communists in what appears to be almost routine method of attempting to recruit agents by entrapment. Usually the Reds take pictures with hidden cameras, using these pictures for blackmail. Not too long ago, a married American soldier attached to our Moscow embassy was compromised by his illicit relations with a Communist girl. The Reds then blackmailed him into giving information about his duties, his code training and the personal habits of other embassy personnel.

The Reds are known to spend millions of dollars a year learning the backgrounds of American men and women. Army, Navy and Air Force officers, manufacturers with defense contracts, scientists.

The Reds look for anything shady, but homosexuals rank high on their priority list. Once they find any trace of homosexuality in a man's background, they figure they can entrap or blackmail him into being a spy.

They trap women as well as men with sex.

Where does the U.S. lag behind? It's been announced that U.S. planes have flown regularly across Russia many times before. These conjectures have not been denied.

These are reports of extremely powered U.S. radar stations on the borders of Russia. Americans and our Allies are in close touch with many people in close contact with Red industry and Red scientists.

Other U.S. spy techniques are secret. It is suggested that the U.S. has some sort of a limited spy apparatus in Russia itself. Or if the U.S. doesn't, then Britain or some other of our Allies certainly do.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband's friend is in love with me. He never touched me or said anything suggestive to me, but I know sure as I am living, it is no secret that even my mother no friend has never married. I love my husband and children much, Abby, and I don't want anything to happen to my marriage. This man works with his husband, and my husband goes home for dinner very often. The children love him, and adore them. Is it wrong to be kind to people, Abby? How do I encourage him? When he looks at me, I see desire in his eyes. I am mistaken. A woman knows these things. Help me, please. I am a bundle of nerves over this. I never talked to my husband about it. He doesn't suspect a thing.

DEAR BUNDLE: Tell your husband that when he invites him and to the house for dinner, he should ask him to bring a lady and of his own. Or else you can take one.

DEAR ABBY: When I was being up my parents thought it was impolite for children to call their first names. As a result I was told that this was Aunt Joan and Uncle Bill. Years ago I learned that these people were not my real aunts and uncles at all—just good friends of my parents. It was terribly confusing, and I am raising children now, and I am so sure that they shouldn't call their first names, but I don't want to start that "Aunt memo to young men: If you want to make sure you are getting a good wife—get to know your girl's mother. Aunts are she is more like her mother than you might suppose. Don't rush her from school to marriage. Let her work a year in college to learn the value of a dollar and to give her an idea of what she'll be up against in the business world. Make it a point to find out if other girls like her. Girls who are generally disliked by other girls aren't usually much of a bargain.

Notice how she treats her parents. If she is high-handed with them you and inconsiderate of their feelings, how do you think she'll get on with you once the honeymoon is over? Find out what she wants out of life—and see how it jibes with her own dreams and aspirations. Perk up your ears if she talks about "hating housework." When you marry a girl you automatically turn her into a housewife, you know.

Does she like to make you jealous? If so, you had better watch her. When she gives you her word, can you count on it? Dependability is a mighty important trait in a wife. Are you happy just to be with her? You're going to spend a lot of time together, you know. Is she happy, gay, and full of life? Life can be mighty flat living with a person who takes little joy in living. Are you quite sure she wants to marry YOU—and doesn't just want to get married? Is her belief in you so strong that it has strengthened your belief in yourself?

Missionary Change Needed For Surge

By LOUIS CASELS
United Press International
Far-sighted church leaders have been warning for years that a radical change in missionary strategy is necessary if Christianity is to make headway against the tide of nationalism sweeping the undeveloped countries of the world.
They have said that foreign missionaries must move into the background and let native clergymen take over the main burden of preaching the gospel. Otherwise, the Christian faith will be stigmatized as a "white man's export."
What are American and European churches doing to adapt their mission programs to this new fact of international life? Precious little.
That jarring conclusion stands out from a massive study of theological education abroad, conducted for John D. Rockefeller Jr.'s

Scientific Fund by Yorks Allen Jr. Allen's 640-page report, entitled "A Seminary Survey," has just been published by Harper & Brothers.
It shows that seminaries for training native clergymen have not been given a high priority in mission programs. Quite the contrary.
Of the nearly 150 million dollars which American Protestants contribute annually to foreign missions, only about $2,500,000—less than two per cent—is being invested in support of theological schools in Asia, Africa and Latin America.
Of the 25,058 North American Protestant missionaries now in the field, only 433 again, less than two per cent, are engaged primarily in educating native-born candidates for the ministry. Britain, the only other Western country which sends out a large number of Protestant missionaries, is doing even less to train

Immortality Is Sermon Topic

Why spiritualization of thought is essential to the peace and progress of mankind will be explained at Christian Science services Sunday.
Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Mortality and Immortality" is the Golden Text from Romans (8:6): "To be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace."
From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this will be read (256:1-5): "Progress takes off human shackles. The finite must yield to the infinite. Advancing to a higher plane of action, thought rises from the material sense to the spiritual, from the scholastic to the inspirational, and from the mortal to the immortal."
One of the opening Bible passages to be read today (Ps. 37:37): "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace."

Temple Baptist Revival To Close

Sunday will be the final night of the revival at the Temple Baptist Church.
Rev. J. D. Hudson of Odessa is the visiting evangelist for the meetings.
The public is invited to attend the final services.

Escaper Shoots Self

RANGER, Tex. (UPI)—Joe Moore, 39, an escaped prisoner from Archer City, shot himself to death today as a policeman tried to stop him in a stolen pickup truck for a minor traffic violation.
Typically the policeman, city patrolman R. A. Patterson, had no idea he was stopping the object of a far-flung manhunt and said he only wanted to warn Moore to have the tail lights on the truck fixed at the first opportunity.
"I'm glad he shot himself instead of me," Patterson said.
Moore, sentenced to 12 years in prison Tuesday for robbing the Megargel post office, slugged an Archer County deputy sheriff and escaped Thursday night with the deputy's snub-nosed .38-caliber revolver.
He stole a truck left in Archer City by the Young County Drilling Co. of Olney, and drove about 80 miles south to Ranger. Archer City authorities, conducting a house to house search, thought he was still on foot until they learned of his death.
Patterson said he was standing in front of the police station, and saw the truck turn off of main street onto a side street. He said he jumped into a police car to warn the driver about no tail light.
"It looked as if he tried to stop several times, but as I pulled up behind him each time, he would start up again," Patterson said.
"He may have been trying to make up his mind whether to shoot at me or not. I don't think he knew what I was stopping him for, and I didn't know he was the escaped prisoner, or I damn sure would have used more caution."
Patterson said he didn't hear Moore shoot himself, because the windows in the patrol car were rolled up, and so were the windows of the truck.
"Suddenly the truck started weaving from side to side on the street, and finally stopped," the policeman said. "I went up to the side and saw this man slumped over the steering wheel. I thought he was drunk."

Harris To Speak At Baptist Church

Dr. Harlin Harris, Southern Baptist evangelist from Boulder, Colo., will be the guest speaker Sunday at the First Baptist Church.
He will speak in the absence of Dr. Douglas Carver, who is attending the Southern Baptist convention at Miami, Fla.
D. R. Harris is the former pastor of the Plainview Baptist Church, and has been a guest speaker at the church here on numerous occasions.
The vacation Bible school clinic will start at 9 a.m. Thursday, with workers at the annual summer program in attendance. The clinic will be used for planning the general and departmental programs.

SINGER STILL ALIVE

NEW YORK (UPI)—Lucrezia Bori, 72, one of the world's great opera singers, clung to life early today in Roosevelt Hospital where she has been in a coma since suffering a brain hemorrhage May 3. A hospital spokesman described her condition as "still very poor." Her secretary, Jennie Grazioli, said there was no hope for the Spanish-born diva.

Saviour Is Light, Zion Pastor Says

"Most people like to hear words from the law when they can feel that so-and-so is getting told off and receiving a needed lesson," says Rev. A. Bruns, pastor of the Zion Lutheran Church.
"But when it becomes clear that they are meant and not someone else, their attitude changes."
Rev. Bruns said this is the main reason Jesus went into detail in explaining the Ten Commandments.
"Those who have Christ as their savior are to serve as the light of the world," Rev. Bruns said.
"Scientists tell us there is only one real light in the sky—the sun. All other shining bodies receive their light from it."
"Therefore we who have accepted Christ are not by nature light, but we radiate His light," Rev. Bruns pointed out.
Rev. Bruns will speak on this topic at Sunday morning services at the Zion Lutheran Church.

Students Too Conservative, While Colleges Too Frivolous

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — There are, it turns out, two big troubles with higher education in the U.S. today. They are:

1. The students are too conservative.
 2. The colleges are too frivolous.
- The first expert testimony comes from Prof. Rose Golden of Cornell University. After 10 years of interviewing students in 11 universities and analyzing the answers, Prof. Golden has just published her findings in a book called "What College Students Think."
- Said the professor: "College kids today — unlike their fathers before them or their cousins in other countries — are 'playing it cool' and conservative.
- "Our college students are disenchanted with broad programs or ideologies to solve human problems, wary of getting worked up over issues, eager to remain uncommitted to causes."

good old fast young set of idealistic, hot-headed radicals who would stop at nothing in their high-powered cars or convictions.

And in their place are the administrations and faculties of too many American colleges, according to a charge by Robert M. Hutchins, president of the Fund for the Republic and former Chancellor of the University of Chicago.

Hutchins says in an article in McCall's magazine that colleges advertise for students by answering the same questions vacationers might ask of a pleasure resort — price? cleanliness? recreation? view? eligible, nice people?

Cut out the trivia and frivolity, he says to the schools, and there'll soon be room for all serious students. We don't need undergraduate courses in homemaking and embalming. "Our real needs are to discover how to make democracy work, how to survive in the nuclear age, and what to do with ourselves if we do survive."

HUTCHINS: Cut out the trivia.

BUTTERFIELD: "We've got to get the student involved."

Politically, they will not identify with a party label. Economically, they say they can see something in both sides of every doctrine.

In religion they say they are believers. But analysis of the survey finds, on the contrary, no real signs of campus religious revivals and a relative absence of commitment and identification with religion.

Career choice, too, is less a matter of giving meaning to everyday life or sharing the world's burdens. Instead, tabulations show, today's students are mostly interested in looking forward to a stable, secure future, using their special abilities, etc.

Lowest on the list of job prerequisites is "a chance to exercise leadership" — a role that usually costs considerable loneliness, competition, struggle.

Rear End Hit Saved Powers From Death

LONDON (UPI)—The Communist Daily Worker said today that American pilot Francis Powers owes his life to the fact that the plane exploded under its tail.

The newspaper, in a report from its Moscow correspondent Dennis Ogden, said the heavy jet engine behind Powers' cockpit shielded him from the full force of the explosion when the rocket hit.

Powers, 30-year-old civilian pilot from Albany, Ga., was shot down on a reconnaissance flight

Sideburns Just Don't Mix With Ring A Ding Bunch

By FRED DANZIG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Seeing Elvis Presley on TV after his celebrated Army hitch offered proof positive that old sideburns never die: They just fade into pompadours.

Thursday night's welcome home party for Elvis, held at a Miami Beach pad by Frank Sinatra, managed to sustain a relaxed, happy mood despite some choppy tape-editing.

The stage was stylishly simple. There were funny moments. Now and then, it goes unnecessarily loud and some dance numbers, conceived with fresh formats, managed to bog down in technical handicaps.

The heralded "summit meeting" between "The Pelvis" (Elvis) and "The Hip" (Sinatra) was a let-down.

I'm pro-Elvis even though I sometimes pass along jokes about the lad. But I don't ridicule his deep in Soviet territory May 1. The Soviet Union has said it will try him as a spy.

The Worker account of the rocket strike said Powers had trouble escaping from the Lockheed U-2 reconnaissance plane.

"Powers was flung forward under his instrument panel," it said. "This, together with the deformation of the fuselage, made it impossible for him to use his ejector seat."

It said the U-2 was hit at an altitude of 68,000 feet and the pilot struggled to free himself as it plunged downward. He did not succeed until it had fallen to 27,000 feet. He then forced open the cockpit and parachuted.

Soviet officials reported that Powers' first reaction was sheer pleasure at being alive, the Worker said.

"And he didn't know what hit him," it quoted the officials as saying. "Until he was told he had been brought down by a rocket, he believed that his engine had blown up through some technical defect."

vocal talent, which is considerable.

I can take Elvis with or without the sideburns, the guitar, that silly air-high hairdo and the wiggle. But I was sorry to see him lose his way on the ABC-TV special by attempting to play Sinatra's style. He's not ready for it — yet.

Elvis went the way of Peter Lawford, Sammy Davis Jr., and others in Sinatra's circle. He submerged his own personality (un-sophisticated in this case) to reach for the leader's jargon and sophisticated style.

In trying to rise to the hippie, finger-snapping, ring-a-ding-ding swing of the Sinatra crew, Elvis made himself appear ill at ease and only exposed his surprising (after all he's been through) lack of poise.

Elvis chose to sing two undistinguished songs that represent his latest record release and again, he didn't come off very well in this vital area. His voice failed to project and I suspect the sound balance was off. Or maybe the engineer is a Fabian fan. Anyhow, the rich tones and colorings that he can produce were smothered by the music accompanying Elvis.

He could have pre-recorded and done a lip-synchronized job, but chose not to, which is to his credit.

Presley's numbers didn't do much to show off his rhythmic, relentless feeling for up-tempo tunes to best advantage. Nor did they display the emotional depth, the natural shadings he can give to blues numbers or ballads.

There were others on the show, too. Sinatra, his voice not as responsive as it has been in past shows, was a gracious host. He let his guests dominate the tomfoolery. Nancy, his cute-looking daughter, did a good job with her minor key dancing and singing roles. Joey Bishop's prepared ad lib imparted some snap but the funniest spot, I thought, was Sammy Davis' imitation of Dean

Man-of-the-week: Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The place: Moscow.

The quote: "If the summit conference does not take place—well, we have existed 42 years without one. We can go on for another 100 years."

There was little chance the summit conference would not come off in Paris next Monday as scheduled. But Khrushchev's crack was another example of the Soviet premier's hug-and-slug type of diplomacy.

For more than a week, he has had a field day of propaganda over the shooting down of an American jet plane on a spy mission over Russia.

One minute, Khrushchev has rattled the threat of nuclear reprisals against the United States and its Allies should such incursions continue.

The next, he has uttered soothing words of hope for progress at the summit sessions.

There was no doubt that the U.S. reconnaissance mission that failed gave Khrushchev a golden opportunity to preen himself as a tough guy on the eve of the summit.

But to trained observers his words seemed designed to get the Martin. It was a devastating exposure and it won't hurt Dino one bit.

Peter Lawford knocked about in amiable fashion and kept smiling. This Sinatra-Lawford-Bishop-Davis act needed more time than it got Thursday night to build into something, I suppose.

Incidentally, they tell me Elvis was paid $125,000 for singing his songs Thursday night. What G.I. Bill is he enrolled under?

The Channel Swim: After eight years on TV as "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet," the situation comedy series get a new title, "The Adventures of the Nelson Family," effective Wednesday, June 1 on ABC-TV.

Returning in the fall, NBC-TV's Saturday-night-public-affairs program, "World Wide 60," will include reports on the Van Gogh, the letters of Vincent Van Gogh, "The Anatomy of Comedy," in its new series. Each third program will be cut to 30-minutes to give local stations the balance for public affairs programs of their own.

SERVICE STATION IN SPACE—When a vehicle runs out of gas on the Milky (express) Way, bud, it's the end of the ninth. Up until this idea came along, the filling station was way back on earth. The large vehicle shown in drawing above could change this by acting as a filling station in orbit. Spacehips operating on liquid oxygen would drop in, couple up and take on new fuel. This would enable them to take off from earth with heavier payloads. Called PROFAC (Propulsive Fluid Accumulator), the orbiting filling station would gather thin air at the top of the atmosphere, change it to a liquid and store it. As designed by Northrop Aircraft Corp., it would be 120 feet long and weigh 75,000 to 125,000 pounds.

Maxwell Leads At Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—The starved Billy Maxwell, who pocketed plenty of folding money on the tour each year but who hasn't won a crown in two years...

The chunky, unassuming 30-year-old Texan who plays out of Oceanside, Calif., fired a three-under-par 34-33-87 Thursday to nose out little Jerry Barber of Los Angeles...

Both had to turn in a sterling golf shot on the final hole to crowd in ahead of seven rivals who also managed to conquer Colonial Country Club's rugged 7,014-yard, river-lined par 35-27 layout.

Maxwell, who learned his short-handled game in the sand dunes of West Texas, needed that back-ground Thursday when his second shot caught a trap on the 18th...

Barber had just finished and had a fine 88 on the board thanks to a 60-foot chip-in from off the green on the final hole.

While Maxwell and Barber grabbed the headlines Thursday, defending champ Ben Hogan and pre-tourney favorite Arnold Palmer were sent out of the running.

Hogan was among the seven who shot 95, while Palmer, winner of near $50,000 this year—was...

Tulsa lost an 8-1 affair with the Mexico City Tigers, Poza Ricas at third place, two full games behind the league leading Rio Grande Valley Giants, which were stopped 9-4 by Puebla, Victoria beat the Mexico City Red Devils 4-3, sweeping its series with the Mexican League club.

In other games, Austin split a twinbill with Monterrey and Veracruz edged Amarillo 2-1 in 11 innings. Austin won the first game 4-0, but bowed 7-2 in the nightcap.

Jesse Rogers led the Missions' 5-hit attack with three blows that drove in four runs. San Antonio lopped four in the first, one each in the third, fourth and seventh, and three more in the eighth.

Poza Ricas got its first two runs on a fourth inning homer by Aldo Salvent and added its final in the ninth on a walk and a double by Ramon Rodriguez.

Victoria, two and a half games back in fourth place, broke open a tight pitching duel between Rosebud righthander Harvey Cohen and the Reds' Doug Gasaway with a seven run explosion in the eighth on five hits, three passes, a sacrifice fly and a squeeze bunt.

Shortstop Jack Caro's third inning homer staked the Rosebuds to a 1-0 lead.

Mexico City ruined Cohen's bid for a shutout with three runs in the ninth on hits by Al Pinkston, Humberto Guerrero and Manuel Diaz, and an error by Caro.

Valley got all of its runs in the fifth inning on Manuel Molo's grand slam homer after Charles Hiller singled, and Jay Van Noy and Ray Davastux both walked.

That was the only inning that Tony DiCochea, who went the distance for Puebla, lost control. The Parrots clubbed four Giant pitchers with 15 hits, including three homers for five runs—two of them by Oscar Rodriguez.

Coach Fred Koenig gave Tulsa a 1-0 lead with a first inning homer, but the Tigers' Albert James pitched a shutout ball the rest of the way for a five-hit win as Mexico City rallied for two runs in the fourth, five more in the fifth, and an insurance tally in the sixth. Catcher Dick Czekaj belted a three-run homer to spark the fifth inning uprising.

Leslie Bass pitched Austin's opening shutout. He scattered four hits over the distance, while outfielder Walter O'Neil led the

New Job For Louis In Fight Publicity

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Joe Louis celebrated his 46th birthday today, laughing at any ideas of bad luck on Friday the 13th.

"I've had good luck," he said, "and I don't think it's going to change today."

Louis, golf lover, self-styled stay-at-home and former heavy-weight boxing champion of the world, leaves for New York Sunday to work for the promoters of the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson June title fight.

Will Patterson, who has said Joe is his inspiration, make a successful comeback against the Swede with the thunderbolt punch?

"I don't think I can say," he said, "because I'm going to work for both fighters. But I'm sure it's going to be a good fight. Patterson learned something last time, and that Johansson has all the confidence in the world."

Louis quit working for the International Boxing Club over a year ago and his connection with the Patterson-Johansson scrap will be his first boxing activity since that time.

He'll help publicize the bout and visit the camps of both fighters.

Louis lives quietly in Los Angeles with his wife of 14 months, the former Miss Martha Jefferson. It's a far cry from the exciting life Louis led as heavy-weight champion.

NEW YORK—There just is no doubt about it, men, you are crazy to keep hacking away at that tired old job that can only make you rich. Be like me, broke but fascinated.

In less degree, among all democratic nations, "Nothing is more necessary to the culture of the higher sciences or of the more elevated departments of science than meditation; and nothing is less suited to meditation than the structure of democratic society."

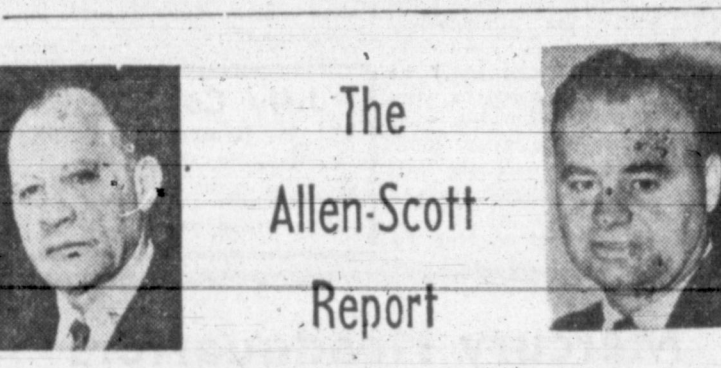

Since then, the number of patents issued per capita has declined by some 45 percent.

But the truly shocking nature of this decline is starkly revealed against a background which shows the increase in government school education.

And currently, with illiteracy being almost wiped out, patents continue to decline.

We will continue this subject below.

DRASTIC FOREIGN AID BUDGET SLASH PREDICTED IN HOUSE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's vigorous plea for his $4.1 billion foreign aid budget is falling on deaf ears — so far as the potent House Appropriations Committee is concerned.

Representative Otto Passman (D., La.), head of the subcommittee considering this budget, is flatly claiming the votes to slash it to around $2.5 billion.

Deep foreign aid cutting by the Appropriations Committee will mean a fight against tough odds to induce the House to increase these funds.

That will throw this crucial struggle into the Senate with the Administration decidedly on the defensive.

Several years ago, under similar circumstances, Passman was asked to confer with the President.

Passman intends to do the same thing when he again sees the President.

SIGNIFICANT HINT — Meanwhile, Assistant Secretary of State William Macomber has intimated to House leaders that the Administration could live with a foreign aid budget of around $3.5 billion.

Macomber, the liaison official between the Administration and Congress on this issue, dropped that significant hint during a frank talk. The House leaders had made it clear the President will not get the $4.1 billion he is seeking, and they questioned Macomber on what would be an acceptable compromise.

"I think the President would consider a foreign aid budget of $3.7 or $3.8 billion as not too bad," said Macomber.

"What about less than that?" asked a leading Democrat.

"Well, we could live with $3.6 or $3.5 billion," replied Macomber.

Allergy has become a household word. The whole family has "gotten into the act," as the saying goes.

The baby "breaks out" when fed cow's milk. Junior usually is covered with poison ivy. His sister gets an eruption from some cosmetic preparation.

In a way, the victim of an allergy is somewhat in the position of a bank whose guard, hired to defend his employees against armed robbery, suddenly goes berserk and begins firing on depositors.

(Editor's Note: Before leaving Washington, UPI State Department correspondent Stewart Hensley discussed with U.S. officials the possible effect of the U-2 plane incident on the summit conference. Now in Paris to cover the summit meeting, he has spoken with French and British officials on the subject. The following analysis presents his observations at this stage.)

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International
PARIS (UPI)—The incident of the U.S. spy plane in Russia may have improved rather than hurt prospects for progress at the Big Four summit conference beginning here Monday.

A "stalemate of terror," stemming from the knowledge on both sides of the Iron Curtain that no one can win an all-out nuclear war, has demonstrated its power to preserve peace.

The frank U.S. admission of intelligence flights over the Soviet Union, embarrassing as it might have been, has emphasized some of the stark facts of international life in the latter half of the 20th century.

A new note of realism has been injected publicly into East-West relations, which have proven capable of surviving a shock which might have touched off a war not too long ago.

Ten years ago, during the era of Josef Stalin, a disclosure of this nature would have sent jittery Europeans scurrying for bomb shelters. It would have produced war scare headlines around the world.

Now, less than a week after Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's sensational disclosure, the discussion in Europe centers on the political rather than the military implications of the incident.

Much of the debate here revolves around the wisdom of the United States in making such a frank confession of its espionage and intelligence activity.

Some French politicians believe the admission need not have been quite so complete.

President Eisenhower's news conference declaration Wednesday that he again would propose to Khrushchev at Paris his "open skies" plan was more than a counter-move by an embarrassed Chief Executive.

It has broad implications which the world's politicians and statesmen are going to have to deal with sooner than many of them think.

Simply put, the question boils down to the old gag, "How high is up?"

Khrushchev bitterly protests a picture-taking plane flying over Russia at a height of 10 miles.

But he has not protested the fact that the American "Tiros I" satellite crosses Russia day after day at a height of 400 miles taking pictures which may be as good as those the plane gets.

Most travelers and vacationers have never heard of No. 435 but a lot of shippers have. And so have a lot of truckers.

A recent speed survey showed that for American freight trains, a mile a minute is becoming commonplace. Many railroads are dropping money-losing passenger runs to go after the freight business, which on some lines accounts for more than 95 per cent of the gross revenue.

The QA&P's No. 435 is a case in point. Actually it's a joint project of three railroads—the Frisco from Birmingham through Memphis, Springfield, Mo., Tulsa and Oklahoma City to Quanah; the QA&P to Floydada, Tex., and the giant Santa Fe on to Los Angeles via Lubbock.

No. 435, which starts out on the QA&P's parent Frisco tracks, is loaded with high class merchandise which often includes new autos which almost universally used to move by highway transport.

The QA&P runs no passenger trains. But No. 435 is handled with passenger train speeds and while on the Frisco that line's streamliners often have to take siding for her.

I've just ridden No. 435's caboose from Tulsa, and made it faster than I could have by car, even via turnpike part of the way. My guide, Louis W. Menk, 38, vice president and general manager of the Frisco system, promised a soft ride. And I got it.

Menk, one of the youngest general managers of any major railroad system in the country, said No. 435 is one of the country's "hottest" trains.

Running time from Birmingham to Los Angeles is 59 hours—and is the answer to the three railroads to fast truck service. "She gives the airfreight boys a few headaches, too," said Menk.

The train, when new a year ago, was dubbed the "Sputnik" by train crews. This train's practically in orbit," said E. W. Brown, road foreman of engines who handled the controls of Frisco diesel No. 5040 for part of this trip.

FINE WEATHER FOR (ARMY) DUCKS—Three little flood refugees—June 4; David, 3, and Cathy Vencil, 2—find warmth in Army blankets and protection in an amphibious duck. A rescue team of soldiers pulled them and their parents from flood-threatened ground in aptly named Venice, Neb. They're representative of Spring-flood refugees by the thousands over the eastern third of the nation.

NO SLUG REJECTION

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)— Department store manager Zavan A. Kish, carrying a gift of a gold Persian coin, Monday dropped what he thought was a nickel into a newspaper-vending machine.

It took a trip to the newspaper office to get the rare coin back.
