Soviets Shoot Down U.S. Aircraft

CLOSE SCRAPE—Two young men were injured in this car yesterday afternoon near Kingsmill when it collided with a heavy truck on Highway 60. Miraculously, neither of the men was killed, although one is in critical condition today at Highland General Hospital where efforts to establish his identity have been to no avail. Wife Of Solon Dies At Rally

By United Press International
The wife of a state representative collapsed and died Wednesday night at an Amarillo high school just before she was scheduled to make a speech in behalf of her husband.
Mrs. Ted Springer, 40, wife of State Rep. Ted Springer of Amarillo, was one of several speakers at a political rally sponsored by the Amarillo chapter of the League of Women Voters. Her husband was making a speech at another place.
As Saturday's primary election drew nearer, Gov. Price Daniel assured newsmen in Tyler that he doesn't plan to use a sales or income tax in efforts to cure the state's financial ills.
But he declined to reveal exactly what his "five secret plans" for state financing were.
The Tyler Morning Telegraph, in a front-page editorial, has called on Daniel to make public the details of the five "secret plans."
But Daniel, campaigning for a third term, said he would advocate further reductions of foreign oil imports, preservation of the oil depletion allowance, legislation to free independent gas producers from federal regulation and restoration of tax sources to the state which have been taken away by the federal government.
He said that some of the most vital battles in the next two years would be on the federal level. Daniel said that, as a strong advocate of state rights, "I will continue to fight these battles."
Campaigning in Victoria, Jack Cox, Daniel's opponent, charged that a "penny-wise, pound-foolish" policy toward the state parks system is the result of a "hand-to-mouth financial existence" in Daniel's administration.
"We spend less on our 54 state parks than the tiny state of Rhode Island spends for its three," the Breckenridge oilman charged.

2 Hurt In Crash One Victim Unidentified

An unidentified youth lies in semi-consciousness at Highland General Hospital today following a violent auto-truck crash about one mile east of Kingsmill yesterday afternoon.
The youth has not been able to speak coherently to police or the hospital staff. Dr. Joe Donaldson said the man has mumbled a name which sounds like "Jack Forner."
Texas Highway Patrol officers are presently attempting to establish the injured man's identity. It was not immediately learned whether he had any personal papers in his clothing which furnished a lead to his identity.
The driver of the car, Kenneth Dale Gaston, 22, of 1222 S. Baylor Perryton, is reported in good condition. Dr. Donaldson said the Perryton youth was "much improved" this morning.
Highway Patrol officers said Gaston's car was traveling east on Highway 60 when it crossed the center line into the path of a west-bound truck, owned by Crow-Gulde Cement Co. of Amarillo.
The truck driver, Walter G. Worsham of Amarillo, told officers the Gaston car crossed the center line as it was negotiating a slight curve about one-half mile east of Kingsmill.

House Defies Ike Order On Big Spending

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House has defied President Eisenhower's warning against big spending by approving a program nearly five times larger than he recommended to help areas with chronic unemployment.
The so-called 251 million dollar area redevelopment bill was passed 301-184, Wednesday night, in a 10-hour House session, long past the end of the day. Opponents threw the parliamentary rule book at the bill in their effort to block it.
Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.), who helped engineer House passage, called on the Senate today to endorse the bill "to show the President this is a congressional expression of opinion two sessions in a row."
The President vetoed a similar proposal in 1958 as too expensive. House Republican Leader Charles R. Halleck (Ind.) said the present bill probably was headed for the same fate.
The Senate passed an area redevelopment bill with a $389,500,000 price tag last year. It now has the option of taking the House version or requesting a conference committee to seek a compromise.
The House acted under a rarely used rule Wednesday night to put over the bill just one day after receiving a message from the President citing the measure as an election-year temptation to overspend and overreach.
The bill proposes a program of federal loans and grants to create jobs in areas with long-term unemployment. It has strong support in the economically depressed mining communities of West Virginia, Kentucky and Pennsylvania.
The measure cleared the House under the "calendar Wednesday" procedure which required that action be completed in one day.
Opponents—largely conservative Republicans and Southern Democrats—stified early action on the bill by a long series of time-consuming quorum and roll calls that kept congressional office bells jangling for nearly five hours.
But once the bill got to the voting stage it couldn't be stopped.

Party Meets Discussed

Some 56 persons attended the Congressional Action breakfast held this morning at the Coronado Inn by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.
Attorney William Jarrel Smith spoke on the importance of the precinct convention and how it fits into the national convention picture. A question and answer session followed Smith's discussion.
Don Beaman, chairman of the legislative national affairs committee of the chamber, arranged the program.
The chamber's next breakfast meeting will be held May 19 at the Coronado Inn. The general public is invited to attend these meetings and needs only make advance reservations at the chamber of commerce office.

News Puts Chill On Summit Preparations

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's announcement that Russia has shot down an American plane and his rocket-rattling attack on the United States chilled summit preparations here today.
Khrushchev's remarks before the Supreme Soviet even raised some speculation concerning President Eisenhower's scheduled visit to Russia in June.
White House Press Secretary James O. Hargety declined comment when asked whether the impending Khrushchev speech might lead to reexamination of plans for the summit meeting or Eisenhower's trip to Russia.

The State Department had no immediate comment on Khrushchev's announcement or his charge that sending a plane into Russia meant there was "little hope" for the summit meeting, set to get under way in Paris May 16.
Khrushchev's remarks were relayed to President Eisenhower, attending a National Security Council meeting at an underground site outside of Washington in connection with civil defense Operation Alert 1960. The chief executive undoubtedly discussed it with his top level chiefs.

Officials privately were inclined to try to discount the long-range impact of Khrushchev's bare-knuckled speech.
But they acknowledged that the Khrushchev talk might well put an end to the seven months of better feeling what Khrushchev called "The Spirit of Camp David"—which has existed between Khrushchev and Eisenhower since their meeting in 1959.
Some State Department officials, in an initial private reaction to the development, tried to dismiss the speech as pre-summit maneuvering to be expected from the Premier just before the Big Four meeting.

But they said that his declaration that there is "little hope" for progress at the summit was a sharp about-face from Khrushchev's previous declarations that some achievements might be recorded.
Some officials said they thought he was laying the groundwork for blaming the West if the summit meeting fails to produce any of the results for which the "fest of the world" is looking.

Tornadoes Dance Across State; 27 Injured In Texas, Oklahoma

By United Press International
A brood of ugly tornadoes, whipped along by boiling, black thunderclouds and silhouetted by brilliant flashes of lightning, danced across North Central Texas Wednesday night, skipped into Oklahoma and finally dissolved over Arkansas early today.

At Hillsfield, north of Saginaw, a tornado picked up a home occupied by the L. W. Allen family and hurled it into the home of B. E. Hammond, demolishing them both. Allen, his wife and their three children were all injured, and two had to be hospitalized overnight.

One of the children was picked up and suspended in the air while Mrs. Allen tried to grab him, but couldn't. "It was like a gravity ride at a carnival," she said. Their house disintegrated, and they found themselves hurled into an open field.

The twister first hop-scotched into a concession area on Lake Worth and destroyed the one building where Jerry Starnes and his pet dog ran for cover. Starnes was injured by falling debris, and his dog was killed.
Fratley, his wife, his son, Bryan, 6, twin sons, David and Dale, 13, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Velma Johnson, 52, ran to their barn made of steel sheets bolted to concrete. They thought it the safest place for them.
But all of a sudden, the barn was whisked away.

Care For Aged Bill Due Demo Changes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Democratic Congress appeared likely today to reject the big budget-boosing program of medical care for the aged proposed by the Eisenhower administration.
Key Democrats predicted Congress would wind up approving a self-financing Democratic plan that would include higher taxes to pay for at least some of the benefits.
Many congressional Democrats conceded privately that the administration had pretty well neutralized the election-year issue of medical care for the elderly by finally coming up with its own plan that would cost federal and state treasuries $1,200,000,000 a year.
Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming was called back before the House Ways & Means Committee today for further questioning about the plan at a closed-door session.
A pool of state governors by United Press features a list brought varied reaction. Some Republican governors praised the proposal while some Democrats opposed it. Several governors raised the question of where the states would get funds for their share of the costs.
The administration's plan offered a wide variety of medical benefits ranging from hospitaliza-

Commission Pays Bills At Meet Today

City commission met this morning in a session highlighted by the paying of bills and discussions on which action was delayed until later meetings.
The regular Tuesday meeting was postponed this week due to the absence of a majority of members. The only absentee today was Commissioner Leon Holmes, who is in the hospital.
Second reading of Ordinance 539 was approved. The bill extends to Video Theaters, Inc., a franchise for two years in which to install closed circuit television in Pampa.
Discussed, but tabled for the time, was the matter of sewer bond funds. Also discussed was a downtown loading zone area.
Commissioners approved a payment of $22,844.35 to Bellamy Construction Co. for sewer construction work and also approved the engineer's bill for $1,059.95 on the new sewer project.
A transfer of funds from the general to the library fund for operating expenses of $10,878 was also approved by the commission. This is a budgeted item.

Lack Of Water For Firefighters

LAMESA, Tex. (UPI)—Fire was reported sweeping through the Flower Grove Consolidated School in northern Martin County, 14 miles south of Lamesa, today with a lack of water facilities hampering efforts of firemen from four area towns.
First reports from the scene said two units from Lamesa and one each from Andrews, Stanton, Big Spring and Webb Air Force Base at Big Spring were fighting the blaze.
The fire broke out in the hours around dawn before any students arrived at the school.

Hollywood Marriages Flounder En Masse

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Hollywood marriages, never known for their durability, floundered at a dizzy rate in the first five days of the not-so-merry month of May.
Two of the longest married couples—Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz of the "I Love Lucy" TV series, now defunct, testified in Superior Court Wednesday that Arnaz had a "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" personality which caused him to engage in temper outbursts.
The red-haired comedienne and Arnaz, 43, were equal shar-holders. (See HOLLYWOOD, Page 4)

No Details Are Given By Premier

By HENRY SHAPIRO United Press International
MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today that Soviet forces early Sunday shot down an American plane which he claimed was sent over the Soviet Union to "impress and frighten" Russia on the eve of the summit conference. He said this meant there now was "little hope" for success at the summit.
In a voice filled with bitterness, Khrushchev accused the United States of aggressive actions along the border and warned: "They are playing with fire and they could also suffer retaliatory blows." He boasted then of Soviet rocket strength.
Khrushchev looked directly at U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union, Llewellyn Thompson, during his speech before the Supreme Soviet. Members of parliament sat in silence, then jumped to their feet and roared: "Down with the aggressor! This is the banditry!"
Khrushchev did not identify the type of plane and did not disclose

U.S. Orders Investigation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower today ordered an investigation and prompt report on the circumstances surrounding the fate of a U.S. plane, which Russia claimed to have shot down last weekend.
There was no immediate direct comment from the President, either on the announcement about the plane or Khrushchev's barbed remarks about the United States.

Soviet Hierarchy Reshuffled Today

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet premier is Anastas Mikoyan, whose position was not changed.
It was the biggest reshuffle of high Soviet posts since June, 1957, when an anti-party group was purged.
The reshuffle, in which there were some expected demotions, took Frol Kozlov out of his government post as a first deputy premier and catapulted him into a streamlined party secretaryship of seven—merely the repository of ultimate power in the Soviet Union.
Kozlov, 51, visited the United States last year.
Tass news agency made the announcement only a few hours before Khrushchev was scheduled to go before the Supreme Soviet — to deliver what was billed in advance as a "stupendous" pre-summit speech.
In the Soviet Union the Communist Party is more powerful than the government. Khrushchev's principal power comes from the fact that he is the party's first secretary. He took on the added title of premier so he could sit in at international councils as his country's government leader too.
Today's announcement said four persons had been dropped from the 10-member secretariat of the party's Central Committee—Alexei Kirichenko, Averkai Aristov, Pyotr Pospelov and Nikolai Ignatov — while Kozlov was added to it.
Two persons were dropped from the Presidium of the party's Central Committee—Kirichenko and Nikolai I. Belyayev—and three added—Alexei Kosygin, Nikolai Podgorniy and Dimitri Polyanski.
Kosygin also was given Kozlov's government job of first deputy premier. The other first deputy

Eisenhower Hopes To Leave Legacy To His Successor

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The May 16 summit conference is far more than a mere diplomatic date for President Eisenhower. It is in some respects the President's final big opportunity to work for world accord and thus, perhaps, the highest moment of his presidential career. Few persons outside the Cabinet itself are better equipped to discuss Eisenhower's mission than the author of the following dispatch. He is the dean of White House correspondents and a constant companion on all the President's world travels.)

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower is going to the Paris summit meeting at the high tide of his quest for peace and from the meeting he hopes to bring a legacy to his successor in the White House — a legacy of improved relations among nations that has a chance of lasting.

From his friends and his closest associates in government, it is possible for United Press International to show an intimate picture of the Chief Executive as he approaches his last major international conference.

Contrary to the beliefs of some of his severest critics, Eisenhower is going to Paris with some new proposals aimed primarily at his chief international adversary, Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev. These plans are in the stage of refinement and may not be known even to the President's Western partners, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle, until the May 16 meeting begins.

This does not mean that Eisenhower will act independently of Macmillan and de Gaulle at the Paris meeting. Far from it. He regards them as staunch allies and he will keep them posted. His preparations for the conference, however, are such that they may not be in shape for detailed discussion until he flies to Paris.

Characteristically, Eisenhower is NOT approaching the Paris meeting as his "last chance" at international negotiation. He regards the summit meeting as another stage in a long series of efforts to create an atmosphere among world leaders that will permit their foreign secretaries and other experts to work out detailed arrangements for reduction of tensions between nations.

The President, however, is determined to work until his last hour in the White House for constant improvement in international relations, and if a single trip outside the country, even late in his term, would further his basic purpose, he would be more than willing to make the effort.

If his successor wanted it, Eisenhower might be willing to set up some sort of introductory contact between the new president and the world leaders with whom he will be dealing during his term of office.

As Eisenhower prepares for Paris and looks back on nearly eight years of international affairs, it is safe to say he is far from satisfied with the results.

He is pleased with the progress that has been made and dissatisfied with the fact there has not been here.

He has higher hopes for the coming summit meeting than were justified by the last similar conference at Geneva in 1955. The Geneva Big Four meeting was a disappointment to him. The follow-up through the foreign ministers was unsuccessful essentially because of Russian intransigence.

He now believes Khrushchev shows signs of wanting to negotiate some of the major East-West differences.

Whatever the President's new plans, he knows there is little chance they will bear fruit while he still is in office. Real progress in foreign affairs takes time. He'd be happy to achieve—as a down payment on peace—a workable agreement with Russia for halting nuclear weapons tests.

The President, now 69 years old and near the end of a long public career, knows too well how world leaders can declare war. He'd like to see the day when the premiers, prime ministers and presidents declare peace. He does not expect this in his time, but he believes the more men know and talk with each other, the less likely they are to start shooting. And in the main, that is why he's going to Paris.

U.S. Charges Cuban Plane Affair Staged

MIAMI (UPI)—Seven weeks ago four prominent Cubans waited tensely beside a highway as a plane from Havana for a plane that would fly to the United States mainland.

One of the Cubans was Lazaro Damazo Montesinos, a former lieutenant colonel who had been in charge of the prison of Castillo de Principe in Havana under the regime of ousted Cuban President Fulgencio Batista. The others were his daughter and her husband, Maj. Santiago Rodriguez, and another Cuban who wanted to flee his native country. A small, fast plane roared in from the east and settled on the highway. The four would-be refugees rushed for it, and as they did so, hidden soldiers opened fire with machine guns.

The soldiers arrested the four Cubans and the two United States citizens who had brought the plane in from Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The government of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro seized on the incident to launch a propaganda attack against the United States. Cuban officials said it proved a U.S. conspiracy of aggression.

Wednesday, the U.S. government answered the Cuban charge. A federal grand jury here indicted the two U.S. fliers and a Cuban citizen and charged the whole affair was cooked up in Havana to supply the Castro government with anti-U.S. propaganda.

The grand jury indicted one of the fliers, William J. Shergalis, 33, of North Hollywood, Fla., as "an agent of a foreign principal, namely the government of Cuba."

It indicted the other flier, Howard L. (Swede) Rundquist, 35, of Miami, apparently was a spy in the case.

Britain Has Wedding Fever

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press International

LONDON (UPI)—Wedding fever gripped Britain today and thousands gathered around the royal palaces and Westminster Abbey in a massive tribute from the common man to critics of the marriage of Princess Margaret to commoner, Antony Armstrong-Jones.

Scotland Yard tightened its arrangements to control the crowd that will join the wedding procession route to Westminster Abbey Friday morning, Wednesday night some 30,000 broke through police lines to mob the automobile carrying the princess and her fiancé to Buckingham Palace.

Police now estimate that more than 100,000 people, absolute capacity will pack the three-quarters of a mile from Clarence House and Buckingham Palace to the Abbey when Queen Elizabeth and her procession and Princess Margaret in her glass coach travel along flower-decorated streets to the wedding.

The ceremony will start at 11:30 a.m. (6:30 a.m. e.d.t.).

Despite a relentless campaign of innuendo almost since the engagement was announced 10 weeks ago the crowds that cheered the princess and her fiance Wednesday night were the biggest to gather around Buckingham Palace since the coronation seven years ago.

They cheered wildly a vote of confidence in her choice that brought smiles back to the lips of the little princess who has been saddened by the insidious gossiping about her choice of husband.

Armstrong-Jones, guest of honor for the first time at a royal function—a pre-wedding ball in the white and gold ballroom of Buckingham Palace—seemed overwhelmed and overjoyed by the reception.

Pointing out the hazards of the oil industry with reference to exploration and development, Cox stated that the deduction represented merely a consumption of capital and explained that it would be a great injustice for the oil industry, or any other business, to have to pay a tax on income that represented diminishing capital.

Philip Gist, high school senior, was introduced to the club as the junior Rotarian for the month of May.

Visitors and guests for the day were Charles Norton, Bob Tarbey, W. G. Bailey, Doug Perkins, Horace Watkins, Loyal Thompson, George Robbins, Tom Mills, Ed Morris and Bob Brumme.

Rotarians Hear Depletion Subject

Art Cox, president of the Amarillo Oil Co., spoke to Pampa Rotarians yesterday on the reasons and justification for maintaining the present rate of depletion allowed the oil and gas industry for tax purposes.

The government of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro seized on the incident to launch a propaganda attack against the United States. Cuban officials said it proved a U.S. conspiracy of aggression.

Wednesday, the U.S. government answered the Cuban charge. A federal grand jury here indicted the two U.S. fliers and a Cuban citizen and charged the whole affair was cooked up in Havana to supply the Castro government with anti-U.S. propaganda.

The grand jury indicted one of the fliers, William J. Shergalis, 33, of North Hollywood, Fla., as "an agent of a foreign principal, namely the government of Cuba."

It indicted the other flier, Howard L. (Swede) Rundquist, 35, of Miami, apparently was a spy in the case.

Kozloff Boost Places Him Next To Niki

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. officials today viewed the promotion of Frol Kozloff in the Soviet hierarchy as a step toward making him Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's eventual successor.

Kozloff, who has been first deputy premier, would be in an excellent position as secretary of the Communist Party's Central Committee to succeed Khrushchev should the premier die or have to retire for any reason.

American officials said Khrushchev might have placed Kozloff in the key committee post to keep a firm hand on other members of the Soviet secretariat. Khrushchev is known to have complete trust in Kozloff.

The U.S. officials said the Soviet shake-up appeared to be an effort by Khrushchev to tighten his control of the government and inject more vigor into the party leadership.

It was noted that the changes in the Kremlin high command came at a time when Khrushchev's position has deteriorated somewhat within the Soviet Union.

U.S. officials emphasized that there is no real threat to Khrushchev's leadership. But they said he must be unhappy about a growing split between the people and the Communist Party.

Unlike the days of terror under Stalin, the Soviet populace does not appear to be paying any great attention now to official Communist propaganda.

Khrushchev's room for maneuvering in the international field also has been narrowed to a degree and this is believed to have affected his domestic position to some extent.

U.S. officials said they don't mean anything.

"We want our military and defense people to know that they shall not permit any such interference across our territory."

rency based on a revision of the gold standard, with the new ruble worth 10 of the old.

Khrushchev commented that if a Soviet plane had approached American territory it might be the beginning of war.

"We have no bombs on duty but we have rockets which are more accurate and more reliable than your bombs," he said.

Khrushchev said he also was considering a "most serious warning" to the countries which provide territories for the disposal of American forces—a reference to NATO and SEATO bases ringing the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev said he had been authorized by the cabinet to make the announcement. He began by saying success at the summit now appeared dim. Then he dropped his surprise announcement.

He said some Soviet leaders argued whether to warn the United States about the "latest provocation."

It was argued that we were agreed to meet President Eisenhower at the summit and this aggressive action was bad preparation for such a meeting," he said.

Boa Constrictor Loose In City

WICHITA FALLS (UPI)—A nine-foot boa constrictor was on the loose in Wichita Falls today. The 40-pound reptile got loose from a wildlife exhibit set up as a promotion stunt at a used-car lot Tuesday night.

Police said it would be dangerous only to small children. Boa constrictors are not poisonous, though a bite from one could lead to rabies or blood poisoning.

Costly Tax Bill

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (UPI)—Jefferson County Treasurer Walter Randall paid a delinquent taxpayer's 12-cent tax bill himself Wednesday.

The county already had spent $2 for bookkeeping and 8 cents for postage trying to collect. The taxpayer finally sent in a check for 8 cents, promising the second installment later. But the check wasn't signed.

"Enough is enough," grumbled Randall. He dug into his pocket and handed over a dime and two pennies.

Excitingly Sauced Dish Makes Company Food

His own good cooking put him through college; now his teacher's salary has food lover Henry Jeffrey of Chicago spicing economical menus with imagination as he cooks. Research professor at the University of Illinois Medical School, Jeffrey finds getting dinner for wife Anna and their friends a creative relaxation from his lab and teaching hour.

Vegetables beautifully prepared distinguish his meals. Created with a lavish hand for unusual ingredients, they do so much for low-cost main courses they're a true economy. Today's medley of fresh cauliflower and frozen green peas, excitingly sauced, makes company food of budget 'burgers. Or try it with pan fried chicken.

A golden curry sauce over ivory cauliflower and jade green peas is excitingly moistened with fresh coconut milk, much-spiced. There's also a short-cut, any-season version almost equally delicious; in which skim milk and grated coconut give the tropical flavor.

All curry powder blends various other spices with the pungent leaves of the Asiatic curry shrub. It can be mild or fiery depending on the blend. Prof. Jeffrey takes no chances, but uses seven other spices to support the curry powder in the original recipe. You'll find omitting the ground coriander and cardamom seeds won't spoil the sauce. But overcooking the vegetables will! Count your cooking minutes to keep the nut-like richness of the cauliflower, the green-tinted sweetness of the just-tender frozen peas, in the vegetable curry you bring to table.

EXOTIC CURRY OF CAULIFLOWER AND PEAS

- (Four to six servings)
- 1 medium cauliflower
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons ground turmeric
- 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon ground coriander
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cardamom seeds
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup coconut milk (or use skim or whole milk)
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen green peas

Wash cauliflower well, remove green stalks, and separate into florets. Cook, covered, in 1 inch boiling, salted water for 5 minutes. Remove from heat and drain, reserving any cooking liquid. Meanwhile, melt butter and blend in spices (use low heat, for spices sizzle easily). Add milk, a little at a time, stirring after each addition. Sauce becomes quite gelatinous; add a little of the reserved cooking liquid, if necessary to thin. Add pre-cooked cauliflower and frozen peas, blend well with sauce, cover, cook until vegetables are tender, about 5 minutes. Serve at once.

SIMPLIFIED VERSION

- 1 medium cauliflower
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons ground turmeric
- 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- 1 1/2-2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup skim milk
- 1 cup moist shredded coconut
- 1 package frozen green peas

Wash cauliflower well, remove green stalks, and separate into florets. Cook, covered, in 1-inch boiling salted water for 5 minutes. Remove from heat and drain. Meanwhile scald milk, pour over shredded coconut, and let stand. Melt butter and blend in spices (use low heat as they scorch easily). Add coconut and milk mixture. Blend well, add pre-cooked cauliflower and frozen peas. Mix well, cover, and cook until vegetables are tender, about 5 minutes. Serve at once.

DOUBLE RING SANDWICHES

Honor the sentimental lovelorn at the anniversary fete. To fashion each of these two-high tights, with a cookie cutter, cut 2 (2-inch) rounds from an enriched or whole wheat bread slice. Remove a circle from the center of one round to form a 1/4-inch-wide "ring." Butter the round and spread with a filling of egg salad and chopped, cooked bacon. Top the round with the bread "ring" and spot a slice of stuffed olive in the sandwich center.

Tasty Beef-Potato Casserole Will Win New Friends And Influence Appetites

A company dinner that always wins friends and influences appetites features prime ribs of beef with whipped potatoes. It's been in style for a long time as a favorite dinner for special occasions and is likely to go on through the year for this combination appeals to all tastes.

A new touch to this perennially favorite menu is the use of instant whipped potatoes. They can be done in just instants before you are ready to serve the roast beef. There is no peeling, boiling or mashing necessary. Just add the "flavor flakes" to salted boiling water to which milk and butter have been added and then whip. That's all it takes to make flavorful lump-free whipped potatoes the modern way.

Special Way To Fix Pork Steaks

Pork Steaks Italiano, prepared with slices of cheese, are a very special treat suggested by Reba Siska, meat expert and home economist.

PORK STEAKS ITALIANO

- 4 pork blade steaks, cut 3/4 inch thick
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon Italian seasoning
- 1/4 teaspoon basil
- 1 cup water
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 4 green pepper rings, cut 1/2 inch thick
- 4 slices Mozzarella cheese
- Brown steaks in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add salt, pepper, Italian seasoning, basil, water and tomato sauce. Cover tightly and simmer 40 minutes. Add green pepper rings and Mozzarella cheese. Cover tightly and simmer for 30 minutes or until done. 4 servings.

Orange Sauce Adds Spice To Ham

A whole ham is good for the large family or a large dinner party. But you can use a thick baked slice of ham with a savory sauce -- bake it at a moderate temperature and have the same juicy sweetness and the delicious flavor of a whole baked ham.

HAM STEAK IN ORANGE SAUCE

- 1 slice ham (1-inch thick)
 - 1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet
 - 1 can (3 oz.) sliced broiled mushrooms
 - 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 - 2-3 cup orange juice
 - 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1/2 teaspoon ginger
 - 1 tablespoon brown sugar
 - 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
- Brush both sides of ham slice with kitchen bouquet. Brown on both sides in well-greased skillet over moderate heat. Place ham in shallow baking dish. Drain mushrooms, pouring mushroom broth into skillet. Blend together and add remaining ingredients. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly until sauce thickens. Add and stir in mushrooms. Pour over ham in baking dish. Bake, covered in preheated 350 degree oven, for 1 hour. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Homebaker's find instant whipped potato flakes in a 5 1/2 ounce package which contains two foil envelopes. Each envelope is pre-measured to make four servings of whipped potatoes.

BEEF-POTATO CASSEROLE

(Makes 4 servings)

- 2 tablespoons butter
 - 1 medium-size onion, sliced
 - 1 (10-1/2 oz.) can condensed cream of mushroom soup
 - 1/2 cup water
 - 1 to 2 teaspoons brown gravy seasoning
 - 4 to 6 slices of leftover roast beef
 - 1 1/2 cups water
 - 1/4 cup milk
 - 2 tablespoons butter
 - 1 envelope Borden's Instant Whipped Potato Flakes
- Melt 2 tablespoons butter in large skillet; add onion slices; saute until tender. Turn off heat. Add 1/2 cup of the condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1/4 cup water and the brown gravy seasoning; add beef slices; heat mixture thoroughly, stirring occasionally. Bring 1 1/2 cups water to boil in medium size saucepan. Add milk immediately, then 2 tablespoons butter, the remaining 1/4 cup condensed cream of mushroom soup, and the Borden's Instant Whipped Potato Flakes. Stir with fork or wire whisk until milk is absorbed, then beat until potatoes are light and fluffy. Arrange layers of potatoes and beef mixture in 1 1/2 quart casserole; heat in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until sauce bubbles, 15 to 20 minutes.

EASY MENU PLANNING

When planning any meal, first decide on the meat course. Starchy food, such as potatoes or rice, and green or yellow vegetables, cooked or in salad, may then be chosen to complete the well-balanced menu.

Snack Time Becomes Popular Indoor Sport

Entertaining has become one of the most popular indoor sports, as Americans enjoy more leisure time and a higher income. It has become the hallmark of the hostess to offer her guests something to eat, whether they drop in unannounced, or whether they arrive for a long-prearranged date.

Research kitchens of brand manufacturers are constantly at work creating ideas you can use. The food columns of newspapers are invaluable guides to what is new, what is interesting, what is good.

Often, it is at cocktail time that a hostess really has the opportunity to show her talents. There is no count of the number of pretzels and potato chips served at small parties, but today's hostess usually depends more on canapes from her own larder than on "easy" nibbles.

You probably have your own favorite brands. And that's another advantage of "knowing your brand" -- you can depend on the maker to maintain consistent quality. The manufacturer's reputation is at stake every time you buy his product -- it has to please you if you're going to be a steady customer for his product.

COCKTAIL CABBAGE AFLAME

- Big, pretty red cabbage
 - Canned cooked shrimp
 - Olive oil
 - Bottled lemon juice
 - Garlic
 - Curry powder
 - Sour cream
- Cut the stem end of the cabbage so it will sit firmly on the plate. Turn back the outside leaves like petals of a great rose. Scoop a round hole out of the top, just large enough to hold a can of stereo. Drain shrimp -- and cover with French dressing made by combining four parts olive oil with one part lemon juice. Season with salt, pepper and crushed garlic. Let shrimp absorb flavoring for several hours. Make a dip of 1/2 teaspoon curry powder to one cup sour cream. At serving time, drain shrimp, spear with toothpicks and stick picks into cabbage. Light the stereo, and invite guests to h the shrimp over the flame.

ORIENTAL TIDBITS

- Can of water chestnuts
- Bacon
- Drain chestnuts; cut in half they are large. Cut strips of bacon in half. Wrap each around a water chestnut and skewer with a toothpick. Broil until bacon is crisp and turning once. Serve piping hot.

Ike Described As A Working 'Lame Duck'

By MERRIMAN SMITH UPI White House Reporter

President Eisenhower approached the Paris summit meeting in a manner most unlike a 'Lame Duck' president...

Instead of sitting out the remainder of his term in the solitude and comfort of the White House, Eisenhower is working on foreign policy like a man just beginning his White House career.

He has changed greatly since taking office. His military command concept of running the White House has undergone extensive alteration.

After his first summit conference at Geneva in 1955, Eisenhower was quite disappointed at the inability of the foreign ministers to put the so-called 'Spirit of Geneva' into operation.

He began to explore his ideas with the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Eisenhower thought that by traveling from country to country and by exchanging visits with other state heads, he might produce an improved climate of international relations.

Dulles was opposed to the idea at first, but eventually he came around to the belief that Eisenhower's World War II record and his far-reaching popularity might well be used to promote better friendship for the United States at a time when the image of America was becoming ugly in some important world areas.

Eisenhower has made three major foreign tours since the late summer of 1959. For a man 69 years old, he should be thoroughly exhausted. But to the amazement of many of those close to him, he seems in better health than he's enjoyed in years.

Summit Goal: End Of 15-Year Deadlock

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG United Press International PARIS (UPI) — The summit leaders hope at their Paris meeting to crack through a 15-year-old East-West deadlock on disarmament.

most since the end of World War II — how to devise a control system that prevents cheating. Without such guarantees the West feels it would have no security. There would be no certainty that if the United States and its Allies throw away all their planes, rockets and H-bombs, the Russians might not cheat and keep some of theirs.

to provide the answer. After complete stalemate on disarmament since 1947 the Soviets and the Western Allies went to the Geneva talks with two rival disarmament plans. The Western plan provided for gradual, balanced and carefully policed disarmament without any definite time limit.

One hopeful sign, which became clear early in the Geneva talks, was that both sides are aware that, although the problem is the same as 13 years ago, the danger is infinitely more deadly. It involves not only conventional armies and weapons, but nuclear weapons and inter-continental rockets of mass destruction.

Retraction Due

The American Medical Association has just announced the development of voluntary sickness insurance plans in this country as they exist today. The first plans, initiated in the early 1930's, were very different from contemporary voluntary sickness insurance plans. The Association's support of voluntary health insurance, as that term is now generally understood, has been consistent.

The heart of the AMA's position is found in these words: "When the AMA opposes any legislative health measure, it does so because its members believe that it would lead to poorer — not better — health care for the people of this country." Dr. Orr could have added that "legions of other individuals and groups, who have no connection with the profession of medicine, feel that is true of the bill in question."

The AMA is entitled to the retraction it demands.

The Price Of Gold

We are in full agreement with price and determine value. It cannot, indeed, the very reason for the present uproar against the pegged price of gold is because it is a wholly false price. There is no gold in the world, and the government has not controlled either the price or the value of gold. It has merely inhibited the production and distribution of gold.

It's Up To You

Value is not determined by law or fiat. Only people in the market place, vying forever back and forth, can determine their own value. It is not to say that by doing this, Congress can determine that the dollar so constituted would be worth.

Second that gold should be revalued BY THE GOVERNMENT, at some new price, which varies according to locale from $75 to $125 per ounce.

Everybody's Money

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKESYER

My recently completed coast-to-coast lecture tour disclosed confusion in the grassroots as to the sanctions behind the American economic system. The American Way is by no means a device solely for rewarding or giving special privilege to businessmen.

No technique for making and exchanging things depends on human perfection. In another free national economy, Britain, the same type of misunderstanding was disclosed by a member of the London Stock Exchange. The broker pointed out that the London market clings to the ancient practice of keeping strangers out. When it was mentioned that the New York Stock Exchange, as a public relations policy, invites outsiders to visit the gallery and attend lectures on the economic services of the Stock Exchange, the cynical London member observed: "Good heavens, what can anyone say favorable about a stock broker?"

Business and finance are more than private rackets which provide spending money for practitioners. The new postwar trend in free Europe, Japan, Hong Kong and elsewhere is to rediscover the productivity and creativity in the competitive market economy, as contrasted with governmental economic planning.

It enables unregimented men and women to register their preferences and free choices, and gives information which enables those in business to readjust quickly to mandates from the voice of the master, the customer.

In times of high-level business activity and full employment, there is wide public acceptance of the institutions of a free society. Accordingly, in the election of 1960, politicians seeking to downgrade the competitive system will do so at their own peril.

The system provides not only high levels of material well-being — more and better things for average families — but it also throws off spiritual dividends in the form of optimism, individual free choice in the selection of goods and services, vocations, and ideas and spiritual practices.

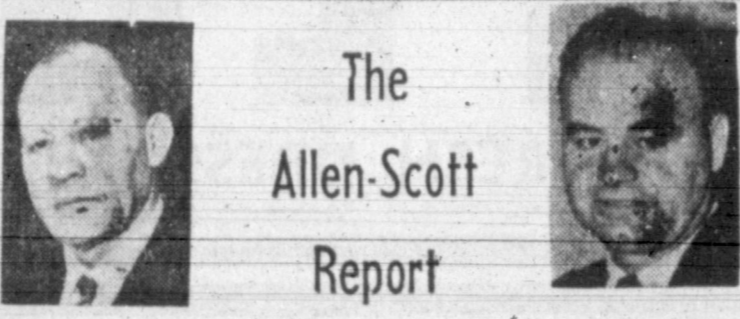

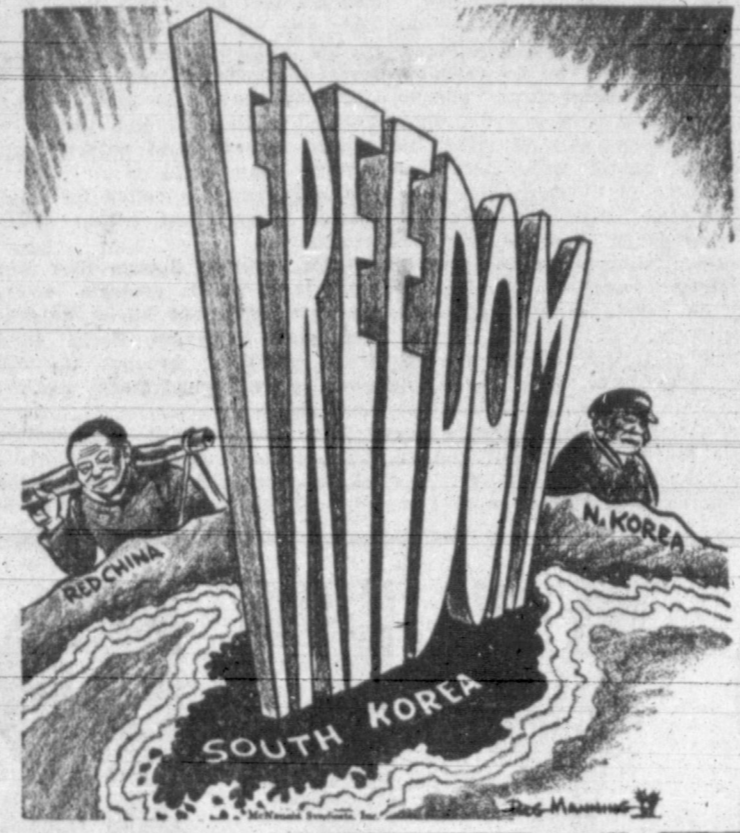

The businessman is not the "end-all" and the "be-all" of the competitive system, but an instrument which facilitates operations. While perfection is to be sought as an ideal, the system is able to function through trial and error, and demonstrates vitality in correcting mistakes.

U.S. Needs To Export More Ideals, Less Goods

While America points to her traditional ideals, she emphasizes the materialism of communism, the latter denials God and glories in its materialism.

It is true that Jesus promised that material things would be added to those who seek first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness. The meaning here is that we should deal with first things first, not the least of which are the immutable principles of the moral law which are embedded in the foundation of this Republic and which alone can meet and down the false propaganda of Soviet materialism.

The Allen-Scott Report

Indiana Democratic leaders are busily leading the stage to oust Butler as National Committeeman, at a meeting of the 22-member State Committee on May 14 in Indianapolis.

Alexander Campbell, former Assistant U.S. Attorney General, is the choice of the anti-Butler forces to succeed him.

Two potent reasons are behind these anticipatory "I quit" pronouncements: Butler has no choice in giving up the National Chairmanship. It's a case of his either leaving voluntarily or being replaced. The long-battled National Chairman knows he is through regardless of who is nominated at Los Angeles. All the candidates have made that very usually, the tempo of growth is compared with that of the economically backward powers, such as the Soviet Union. The comparison resembles criticizing the mature father on the ground that his son is growing faster.

With the historic American growth tempo somewhat under 3 per cent, the critics are demanding a 5 per cent annual increment. They use the mirage of an imaginary, stepped-up national rate of growth as a justification for much greater overall spending by government.

In the spirit of political blue sky, they argue that the way to balance the budget is to expand total activity and, hence, get larger tax revenues.

It is highly significant that not one of Oregon's Democratic congressmen is supporting him. Representative Edith Green is backing Senator Kennedy. Representative Charles Porter is backing Senator Humphrey, and Representative Al Ullman is carefully staying on the sidelines.

KEEP SMILING! It makes your wife wonder what you've been up to.

Asking a girl to marry you by the Light of the Hammer and Sickle may be more realistic, but asking it by the light of the silvery moon was more romantic.

Looking Sideways

by WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK—Miss Isabel Janasy, Oak Crest Place, Nutley, New Jersey, Dear Isabel Janasy:

You are a sophomore in Nutley High School and you have selected bullfighting as a theme for a term assignment. You have been kind enough to write to me and ask for the dates of various articles I wrote on bullfighting which were printed in the Newark Evening News. In lieu of dates, you would like copies of these columns. Finally, you ask permission to make direct quote.

The direct quote part is easy. Of course you may. The difficulty comes now. As shocking as it may be, few of us in this business of doing a piece of six days a week, 52 weeks a year, have any sense of real organization.

Most importantly, I am an amateur aficionado. The closest I ever got to the ground standing was in the little wooden training ring on the ranch at Aguas Calientes where the biggest, bravest and most beguiling fighting bulls are bred and raised. I love bullfighting for the courage on both sides, the beauty of the spectacle, the color, I admire bullfighters, and most especially matadors. Fortune has been good to me. I have known and still know some of the best. They seem to me the pinnacle of bravery, the essence of grace in action. They are neither arrogant nor shy. They are men. Some have the common frailties of men, some are more to be admired than others, but I have never met a matador who is not a gentleman.

According to McKinney, 11 of the 22 State Committeemen already are definitely lined up for Campbell. Of the others, nine are listed as "leaning" toward Butler, and two against both him and Campbell. They don't want anyone from their faction.

Butler's partisans think so little of his prospects that they want him to quit and back State Senator Marshall Kizer, co-chairman of Senator Kennedy's campaign in Indiana. Kizer would like to be National Committeeman, but is uncertain whether a boost from Butler would help or hurt him.

Even if ousted as National Committeeman, Butler would continue in that office until after the Los Angeles convention. But it would be one more political and personal setback.

LATEST COAT-TAIL — Senator Wayne Morse is preparing to give a new twist to his so-far-little-noticed campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Clutching on to Stevenson's coat-tails is apparently Morse's latest strategy to make headway in the May 17 Maryland primary and the May 20 Oregon primary. In the former, Morse is definitely getting nowhere, and in the latter, a backstage indication is that he is losing ground.

It is highly significant that not one of Oregon's Democratic congressmen is supporting him. Representative Edith Green is backing Senator Kennedy. Representative Charles Porter is backing Senator Humphrey, and Representative Al Ullman is carefully staying on the sidelines.

At a labor gathering in Baltimore, with an attendance of about 100, Morse admitted he had "little chance" of winning in Maryland. He attributed this to the "political powerhouse" organized against him by Kennedy. However, Morse said he hopes to win from 35 to 45 per cent of the Maryland vote, which he claimed would be a "striking moral victory."

Fiddler was scared of a showdown up in the bleachers at the new plant together with rationed materials whose source was officially investigated by a senatorial committee. The verdict of the committee, couched in Chinese double-talk, seemed to be that Bugey Segal, soon to be made erst by a rifleman, could do no wrong if he tried. Mr. Webb seems merely to have performed the homely role of the supervising toiler in putting together materials provided by the actual entrepreneurs.

Greenspun is out of Brooklyn and a strange affair on his own part. He studied law under the communist Vito Marcantonio, and paid a token fine of $10,000 in Los Angeles for conspiring to violate the Neutrality Act by shipping surplus materials of war from Los Angeles to Mexico for Israel. In the tangled trail of that exploit he acquired $1,300,000 in Mexico but from what source and for what consideration the federal court in his trial-for-gun-running did not effectively inquire nor whether he paid income tax on same, either. It seemed that up to then he had not brought the money over the line into the U.S.A.

Greenspun is now a recognized empenence of the Nevada political terrain, and, of late, an arbitrary arbiter of "integration" problems created in New York. Payola was bound to affect "integration" eventually and operators of gambling halls, hotels and pools are willing and able to pay lavishly for certificates of compliance provided they are not required to put "integration" into actual effect. Mr. Greenspun's role in this seems to be merely that of No. 1 bleeding heart of the community. He deplores discrimination in print and on the air.

The $250,000 loan to Greenspun was a legitimate deal with the Tower Bank of St. Louis with the Sun as the borrower of record and stock in the paper as collateral. The Bank put up the money but the pension fund guaranteed payment and the debt has been repaid.

Support Of Ministers To Be Sought

LONDON (UPI)—Britain moved today to blend varying shades of commonwealth opinion into firm support for the Western Big Three when they meet Russia at the summit May 16.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd flew back to London Tuesday night from the NATO council session in Istanbul to address the 11-nation commonwealth prime ministers conference, which opened here Tuesday.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan launched the meeting Tuesday into a broad two-day cold war debate. Informed sources said that so far it had reflected a feeling of "reasonable optimism" about the outlook for reducing East-West tensions.

Conference sources said Macmillan and Lloyd were anxious to win solid commonwealth backing for the Western insistence that no agreements be signed with the Russians without guarantees against cheating.

The explosive South Africa situation was sidestepped.

state, but where the state itself is not the principal party to the suit, without first gaining consent to sue. There are numerous situations in which an individual officer may be sued with regard to the duties and functions of his office, and in which the state is not directly or substantially a part in interest.

Suppose you do obtain legislative permission to sue the state. What happens then?

If suit is brought against the State of Texas, and the action is successfully prosecuted, you will be awarded a judgment against the state. Then, it's back to the Legislature for more legislation to appropriate the necessary money with which the state may pay off the judgment.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

POLICEMAN INDICTED

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Raymond Nelson, a Forest Hill policeman, was indicted by a Tarrant County grand jury Tuesday on charges he beat up a sign painter who went to the Forest Hill police station to visit the radio dispatcher. The indictment said Nelson beat the sign painter, Joe Williams, until he lost consciousness. Nelson had argued with Williams earlier.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

"The King Can Do No Wrong"
How could anybody ever say "The king can do wrong"? (When we know of kings who did do wrong.)

The idea looks simple: As absolute law maker, the king could hold himself above his own law. He was under no law and could therefore do no legal wrong.

Anyway, when King George lost the thirteen colonies, the American states took over the doctrine of Sovereign Immunity. Nobody can sue a government agency without the state's permission, when the agency is doing government work (Of course if the agency is doing "proprietary functions" like running street cars or making electricity, it may often be sued much like any other business.)

Thus suppose for lack of due care a private bakery truck should harm your child who had done nothing to bring on the accident. Well then, most likely you could sue the bakery in the child's behalf and collect damages.

But not with government agencies unless the legislature gives you lawful permission.

Thus in the old days, if an army jeep harmed your child, you could collect only if Congress passed a special bill awarding damages.

Recently this doctrine has been attacked. Why shouldn't the government pay like any other organization?

So during the last war the federal government in response to public opinion passed a "tort liability" law. It gives the people much more power to sue than before the last war. And the courts much more often than Congress now set the damages in many kinds of cases.

In Texas, the Legislature by a proper action may permit certain general types of suits to be brought against the state, under various conditions and restrictions. Then, if a specific situation arises which is not covered by the general rules, the legislators are authorized to pass a special measure to permit suit to be brought.

Therefore, any person seeking to enforce a claim against the State of Texas through the courts must petition the Legislature for the necessary permission, unless his claim falls within some general category or type previously recognized by our lawmakers. During each session, the Legislature passes legislation allowing suits to be brought against the state in a variety of cases.

Sometimes, however, suits may be brought against individuals holding office under the State of Texas and acting as agents of the Band Members To Sell 'Mums' May 14 To Aid Multiple Sclerosis Campaign

A fund-raising campaign for multiple sclerosis will get underway May 14 with Harvesters Band members selling chrysanthemums on Pampa streets.

The campaign will be nationwide and last two weeks. Officials said 80 per cent of the money raised in the drive will remain in the Panhandle Chapter of the foundation, while 40 per cent will go to national headquarters.

Five persons in Pampa are known to have the crippling disease. Officials said the disease is nothing to be ashamed of, and anyone with symptoms of it should immediately contact their doctor.

They said symptoms are paralysis, seeing double, inability to talk clearly, staggering and falling, tremors of hands and lack of bladder or bowel control.

They pointed out that each symptom by itself does not necessarily mean MS, but if any three or more appear at the same time or successively, medical service should be sought.

MS is not a killing disease, but attacks the central nervous system. It is progressive, getting worse each year, often causing paralysis.

MS VICTIMS — Paul Franklin, left, Jerry-Torvie, standing, and Mrs. Lloyd Kuntz discuss the kick-off of the fund raising campaign for multiple sclerosis. Starting date of the two-week drive is May 14. Sixty per cent of the money raised stays in the area, while 40 per cent goes to the national foundation for research. (Daily News Photo)

Another ally of the United States is being torn by a bitter political debate. Fortunately, this one so far is non-violent and bears no resemblance to the bloody upheaval which toppled the Syngman Rhee regime in Korea nor to anti-government student rioting in Turkey.

It concerns the U.S.-Japan security treaty which Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi signed last Jan. 19 in Washington but which still must be ratified by the Japanese Parliament. His opponents hope to hold off ratification until after President Eisenhower's scheduled visit in June and then to make it the subject of giant protest demonstrations.

The debate has raged for weeks, and Kishi still hopes to have the treaty ratified well in advance of the Eisenhower visit.

If the going gets too rough, he might even take it to the people in a snap election.

Opposition to the treaty springs from at least three sources. There remains in Japan a considerable reservoir of anti-U.S. feeling. There also is nostalgia for the "good old days" when Japan had considerable trade with what now is Red China. And there is the internal political angle wherein Kishi's opponents both inside and outside his own party hope to embarrass him by the point they could throw his office up for grabs among themselves.

Lending aid and comfort to the treaty's opponents are the propaganda machines of both Red China and the Soviet Union. The treaty consisting of a preamble and 10 short articles replaces the Japan-U.S. security treaty signed in San Francisco in September, 1951. That treaty undeniably was one-sided and gave the United States unlimited military privileges in return for a peace treaty.

The new treaty gives Japan joint responsibility for its own defense. It gives the United States rights to military bases in Japan but it also gives Japan the right to "prior consultation" on the movement of U.S. forces and the weapons they can use.

Kishi and Eisenhower have agreed that the "prior consultation" clause gives Japan a virtual veto over the movement of Japan-based U.S. forces.

It almost certainly means Japan would prohibit any introduction of modern nuclear weapons in Japan. It also makes it questionable whether Japan would agree to the dispatch of U.S. forces to the defense of the Nationalist Chinese offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

In Kishi's own party there is some feeling that the treaty should be delayed in the interests of better relations with Red China and Russia, ignoring the political price such better relations would entail.

There is no belief that its opponents can defeat the treaty, but between now and ratification the going for Kishi is likely to be rough.

Seaman Found Dead In Bayou

HOUSTON (UPI) — Police found the body of James Albert Simmons 51, a part-time seaman and handyman, floating in Buffalo Bayou Wednesday night.

The propeller of a passing boat caused the body to rise to the surface. Police identified Simmons from fingerprints and photographs on file in their identification bureau. They estimated the body had been in the Bayou 18 to 24 hours.

An autopsy has been ordered to determine the cause of death.

Wage Offer Rejected

WACO (UPI) — Union employees rejected a wage offer late Wednesday night and threw up pickets early today around the ideal wood products factory owned by William Cameron and Co.

The strike — first since a 90-day walkout in 1962 — affected some 550 workers. The plant manufactures mostly doors and window frames.

Members of the Millmen Union, Local 224, voted down a company offer of a new two-year contract with a six cent pay raise this year and four cents next year shortly before the old two-year contract expired at midnight.

The union wants a 10 cent pay raise immediately for workers earning $1.29 per hour and 12½ cents for all other workers, plus periodic pay hikes of 7½ cents per hour.

Mothers And Daughters Are Honored At First Christian Church Banquet

Christian Women's Fellowship of First Christian Church entertained with its annual Mother and Daughter banquet on Thursday evening in the church.

Miss Pearl Spough presented a film "Ingila of the Congo," the story of an African boy who became a Christian teacher for his own people.

A devotional "A Creed For Mothers" was given by Dorothy Barritt.

Miss Pamela Webb, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Jim Webb, sang a solo "April Showers."

Dining tables were decorated under the direction of the Cherryhomes Group. The tables were centered with Spring bouquets of spirea, lilacs, and tulips arranged around paper lace umbrellas. The Cherryhomes Group served a variety of salads with pie, coffee, and tea. Approximately 80 guests attended.

The business session for the CWF was held on Wednesday morning preceding the banquet that evening with Mrs. John Gill, president, presiding.

She reminded members of the United Church Women's Fellowship...

Miss Lantz Gives AC Club Program

LEFORS (Sp) — Miss Norma Lantz recently presented a program on "Segregation" for A. C. and Civic Club in the civic center.

She gave biographies of famous Negroes, which was followed by a round table discussion on segregation.

Mrs. Babe Hall, president, opened the meeting by reading the club collect.

The state convention was announced for the month of May in Austin.

The club reported on helping with the cancer crusade.

Has your husband reached retirement age? And do you complain to your women friends about how hard it is to get anything done with a man hanging around the house all day?

Then maybe you had better read this letter. It is from a 75-year-old retired husband and it should help a lot of wives to catch a glimpse of what a man's retirement is like — from HIS point of view.

He says, "I am a retiree who is scared that a 32-year-old happy marriage is falling apart because of my retirement."

"I know that my being around the house is rough on both of us but I have no club to turn to and I am not a pub hanger-outer and there are few places in this small southern city where an old man can go for a pleasant few hours of relaxation and companionship."

"Though I am close to my 75th birthday I am still being urged to find some kind of work — no matter what kind — just work, as long as I breathe. We are not rich but we could get along comfortably on what we have."

"As I see it my wife and I should be going places together, just for the joy of doing" such as J. V. Guthrie, Tom Florence, R. N. Cypert, O. C. Mills, C. H. Earhart, B. J. Spradlin, Clara Blythe, Leonard Cain, Roy Howard, J. D. Halley, W. E. Dumas, Ira Rogers, Jake Leggett, Frank Cookesey, Robert McGill, Wendell Akin, A. L. Michael, Joe McCartney, Bill Rippeo, Buster Sublett, Delores Harrington, and Mrs. Marie Morrison.

WMU Entertains Girls' Auxiliary

LEFORS (Sp) — All circles of Baptist Women's Missionary Union met in the church Tuesday morning for missionary program.

Mrs. Ann Teel directed the program in the form of interviews on the theme "Our Baptist Work in Europe." Mrs. L. M. Berry led the opening song, "The Woman's Hymn."

Mrs. R. N. Cypert, president, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Tom Florence read the prayer calendar, and prayer for the missionaries was led by Mrs. D. W. Spoke, Association WMU president, visiting from Borger.

The Intermediate and Junior Girls' Auxiliary were entertained at twelve o'clock with a luncheon in the church annex. Rev. L. M. Berry led prayer for the luncheon.

Present were Mmes. James Lancaster, W. B. Miller, L. M. Berry, J. V. Guthrie, Tom Florence, R. N. Cypert, O. C. Mills, C. H. Earhart, B. J. Spradlin, Clara Blythe, Leonard Cain, Roy Howard, J. D. Lefors HD Club Elects Nominee

LEFORS (Sp) — Mrs. James Gatlin was named state delegate nominee of Lefors Home Demonstration Club at a called meeting held recently in the home of Mrs. O. O. Bishop, club president. Home Demonstration Clubs are electing delegate nominees to attend the state meeting of home demonstration clubs to be held in Brownsville in September. Delegates will finally be elected by Gray County Home Demonstration Council.

Plans were discussed for the Mother's Day Dinner to be held in civic center on May 8. The dinner is being given as a money-making project by the club.

Mrs. B. J. Thacker and Mrs. B. J. Leininger were selected to represent the club at a City Council meeting in May for the purpose of getting the city to pass an ordinance to have all dogs in the city vaccinated against rabies.

Mrs. A. T. Cobb, education-expansion chairman, announced that a tea will be held May 6, 9:30 a.m. in County Ag building.

Mmes. present for the meeting were Mmes. O. O. Bishop, B. J. Diehl, James Gatlin, A. M. Dickerson, C. C. Wells, A. J. Rollings, A. T. Cobb, J. D. Redus, C. W. Teeters, R. H. Bradford, B. J. Leininger, B. J. Thacker, Charles Roberts and B. D. Vaughn.

Adjudicator Feted By Piano Teachers

A group of local piano teachers met in the home of Mrs. Fidelia Yoder, 1215 Williston for an informal reception in honor of Miss Patricia Pierce of Springfield, Mo., who has been in Pampa as adjudicator for National Piano auditions just completed.

The serving table was centered with a bouquet of purple and yellow iris flanked with yellow spiral tapers in crystal holders.

Attending the evening of informal conversation and listening to records were Miss Rosemary Lawlor; Mmes. Lois Fagan, W. M. Cooper, E. B. Allemen, W. D. Waters, Mrs. Herman Jones, who has been assisting with auditions as monitor; Messrs. Tracy Cary and Bill Haley.

Piano auditions, which have been in progress here for five days in First Methodist Church, closed Monday with 95 students of eight area teachers being heard by Miss Pierce.

Piano students earned the following types of Guild certificates: International (for preparing 15-20 piece programs); National (10 pieces); State (7-9 pieces); District (4-6 pieces) or Local for 2-3 pieces. Pins, according to type, will also be presented to each participating student.

Vice President's Girl Friday Takes Riots Or Travel In Feminine Stride

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Taking dictation from Vice President Nixon can be strenuous exercise for Girl Friday Rose Mary Woods.

The exertion is due to a space shortage in the Capitol that prevents Nixon and his secretary from sharing adjoining offices. The Republican presidential candidate's office is on the third floor. The one occupied by Miss Woods is in the building's first basement.

Thus, taking a letter requires her to race up two flights of stairs to the first floor where she catches an elevator to her boss' office.

"Some days I make the trip as many as 15 times," she explains. "On other days I might go only twice. Not long ago, none of the elevators was running so I had to take the stairs all the way. There are 106 steps."

But Miss Woods wouldn't change her job for anything. When she arrived in Washington 17 years ago, the idea of being right hand to a presidential contender had never entered her wildest daydreams. She didn't even intend to stay here long.

The redhead from Sebring, Ohio, came to the capital to visit her sister soon after finishing high school. World War II was going on and there was a need for government secretaries. With no particular career in mind, Rose Mary decided to remain here for a while and work for the wartime Office of Censorship.

Following the war she worked in three more secretarial positions. The last, a job with the House committee that drew up the Marshall Plan, was the turning point of her life.

Nixon, a committee member, was impressed with her work. Upon being elected to the Senate in 1951, he asked her to be his personal secretary.

Her acceptance proved to be tremendously rewarding. She has made two trips around the world, traveled back and forth across the U.S. more than 100 times and met almost all of the important world figures. "I never expected anything so interesting, busy and challenging as this job has been," she declares.

Miss Woods works seven days a week. On weekdays she usually arrives at the office about 8:15 a.m. She makes it a point to be there

Rose Mary Woods

45 minutes earlier, however, if a Nixon staff meeting is scheduled. Staff meetings have to be held at 9:30," she explains. "From 9 until 6 everyone is too busy to get together."

Going-home time ranges anywhere from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. "I leave the office by 9," she explains. "I feel as though I'm going home early."

"The boss doesn't require me to stay so late. He'll tell me that I ought to go home earlier. But in a job like this, you never get caught up. There are nights when the boss himself, stays here until 11 or 12 working on speeches."

On Sundays Miss Woods arrives at the office about noon and works until 5:30. "It seems as if you can get more work done on Sunday afternoons than on any other day," she says.

Miss Woods cites the 1952 presidential campaign and Nixon's 1953 round-the-world trip as her most thrilling Girl Friday experiences. Also, she will never forget the 1958 Venezuela riot in which Nixon and his party were attacked.

"I was in the last car," she says. "Two of our windows were broken. I received two cuts, one near an eye and another on my wrist. I didn't realize how scared I was until it was over."

Matthews-James Say Nuptial Vows

GROOM (Sp) — Miss Juanita Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howell Matthews of Lubbock, became the bride of Edgar Lee James of Groom on April 9 in a ceremony performed in Asbury Methodist Church, Lubbock, with the Rev. D. D. Creecy, officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, J. A. Matthews Jr. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice and long, tapering sleeves. The bouffant skirt featured an overskirt of lace with a white satin front panel extending to the scalloped hemline. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a crown of sequins and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations on a white Bible.

Miss Barbara Holley of San Antonio attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Feral

Braves Hand LA 4th Straight Loss

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

The Dodgers are all shook up today because an old pal and old nemesis returned to haunt them.

Toss in a couple of clutch hits by Del Crandall and it all added up to a triumphant return to Los Angeles for Milwaukee Brave Manager Charlie Dressen and a fourth straight defeat for the stumbling world champions Wednesday night.

Manager Walt Alton sought to end the Dodgers' losing streak by shaking up his lineup and starting Don Drysdale on the mound but Dressen countered with Bob Buhl, and the hatched-faced right hander from Saginaw, Mich., bested the Los Angeles ace, 2-1, with a glittering three-hitter.

Battery mate Crandall supplied all the offense Buhl needed with a run-producing single in the second inning and a homer that snapped a 1-1 tie in the ninth. Buhl, a long-time Dodger nemesis, whipped them five times last season and now has a 21-4 career record against them.

Buhl was typically wild with six walks but he struck out five batters and the Braves threw up a tight defense behind him that left seven Dodger runners on base. The victory, the Braves' fifth in six games, moved them to within two games of the first-place Pittsburgh Pirates in what is now a tightly-bunched National League field.

The Chicago Cubs handed the Pirates their second straight loss, 5-1. The Cincinnati Reds shaded the San Francisco Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-3, in the other National League games.

The New York Yankees took over first place in the American League when they topped the Detroit Tigers, 4-2, and the Baltimore Orioles downed the Chicago White Sox, 6-4. The Washington Senators beat the Cleveland Indians, 7-4, and the Kansas City A's defeated the Boston Red Sox, 3-2.

Alton's new lineup had Gil Hodges at third base and Bob Aspromonte at shortstop but the Dodgers were helpless against Buhl except in the fourth inning when a walk, Duke Snider's double and an infield out produced their run. Drysdale's record is now 3-3.

Dick Ellsworth, 20-year-old bonus left-hander, pitched a five-hitter for the Cubs, who dealt Bob Friend his first loss with an eight-hit attack that included Frank Thomas' third homer in two days. Ellsworth struck out four and walked none in facing only 31 batters.

Cal McLish, acquired in one of Frank Lane's controversial winter deals, won his first game for the Reds and snapped Willie Mays' 16-game hitting streak in the process. Shortstop Roy McMillan delivered the game-winning blow when his single snapped a 2-2 tie in the sixth. Jack Sanford suffered the loss for San Francisco. Joe Cunningham's two-run single snapped a 3-3 tie in the eighth inning and enabled St. Louis' Marshall Bridges to win his second game. Carl Sawatski had singled to tie the score after an error by shortstop Joe Koppe started the Redbird rally.

The Yankees, who were in seventh place on this date last year, moved into the AL lead behind a five-hitter by rookie Bill Short. Elton Howard's two-run homer in the sixth inning was the blow that wrecked Frank Lary, who entered the game with a 21-7 lifetime mark against New York. Roger Maris led the eight-hit Yankee attack with two doubles and a single.

Right-fielder Al Smith's error let in the tying run and Brooks Robinson's two-run single followed as the Orioles overcame a 4-2 White Sox lead. Early Wynn's 22-game win streak last season, was kayoed for the fourth straight time but relief pitcher Frank Baumann took the loss. Hoyt Wilhelm, whose dancing knuckler caused Gus Triandos to make a league-record-tying four passed balls, was the winner with relief help from Jerry Walker.

Jim Lemon homered with one aboard in the seventh to give the Senators their fourth one-run victory in their last eight games. Lemon, who also knocked in two runs with a double, shared game slugging honors with Cleveland rookie Walt Bond who drove in four runs with two homers. Relief pitcher Marty Kutyna's 1.23 innings to shutout relief gave ex-Pirate Dick Hall his second win as a Kansas City pitcher. Bill Tuttle had three hits and Whitey Herzog and Norm Siebern two each for the Athletics.

Abilene One Of Top Teams In State Track

AUSTIN (UPI) — Abilene and Dallas Highland Park show the most strength going into the Class 4-A state high school track and field meet Saturday.

Two Dallas sprinters may scramble for first place in the 100-yard dash — Curt Newbury of Highland Park and Billy Foster of Sunset, with best times this year of 9.5 and 9.6 seconds, respectively.

Foster is also a broad jumper, and has the state's top effort with a leap of 23 feet 6 inches. He will be favored ahead of a Sunset team mate Jerry Moffett who has the second best jump in the state of 22-11 1/4.

John Roderick of Highland Park, a sophomore with great potential, is the man to beat in the 120-yard high hurdles. Roderick will be hard pressed by James Copper of Fort Neches, with both sporting a best time of 14.2 seconds this season.

Roderick also has the best regional winning time in the 180-yard low hurdles, a 19.1 second effort. With the same clocking this season is Thomas Burns of Pasadena.

Oddsmen favorite in the 220-yard dash is Bill Hill of Garland, who has a 29.5 second time — best in the state this season. Newbury of Highland Park has a 29.9 to put him in the role of leading contender.

Jimmy Langham of Dallas Jefferson is tops in the 440-yard dash in his class with a 48.4, but he will get strong competition from Ralph Miller of Fort Worth Carter-Riverside who finished third in last year's state meet.

Abilene Larry Rhoda has a good chance at a new state schoolboy record in the 880-yard dash. He ran fourth last year, but has improved fast and owns a 1:32.9 timing this season — best of the year and almost three seconds under the state mark.

David DeBoer of Houston Belaire will be back to defend his 1959 championship in the mile run, but Midland's Phil Barrett has a better time this year.

The 440-yard relay in Class 4-A should be a duel between quartets from Dallas Highland Park and Big Spring. Newbury anchors the Dallas entry, which has a 42.5 timing in its regional meet and could be a threat to state and national records of 43 flat. Midland is a solid choice for the one-mile relay title, if it can again match a 3:17.4 timing at the Andrews Relays. No other class 4-A mile team has been under 3:20, although Abilene edged Midland for regional honors.

The state pole vault record is in danger from two entries in

Boudreau New Chicago Cub Field Boss

By GENE BLUDEAU
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI) — Lou Boudreau, a Chicago Cubs radio announcer for the past two seasons, today took over as the Cub's manager with "some very definite ideas of my own" for improvement.

Boudreau, 42, was named Cub's manager Wednesday in an "inter-family" switch which moved former Manager Charlie Grimm, 61, into Boudreau's job as sportscaster.

The "trade" was jointly announced by Cub General Manager John Holland and Ward Quaal, vice-president of radio station WGN. Boudreau will finish off Grimm's one-year contract as manager of the Cubs, and Grimm will take over the balance of Boudreau's pact with WGN, the announcement said.

Boudreau, who will be managing a major league team for the fourth time in a career that included capture of the American League's Most Valuable Player award in 1948 and its batting crown in 1944, last no time in outlining his plans.

"I've had a good opportunity to watch the Cubs from an off-the-field perspective for the past two seasons and I've got some very definite ideas of my own on how to help the club," Boudreau said. First off, Boudreau said, the pitchers have not been wisely used.

"They are arm-weary. The first thing I'm going to start work on is the pitching," he said. "They are going to have to learn to pitch themselves out of trouble. They're not going to have the solace of looking toward the bullpen and see reliable Don Elston getting ready to take over," he said.

Boudreau said he won't need to be filled-in on details by the old manager. "I've got a book on the National League clubs," he said. "I have my own ideas and the club is going to have to follow them."

Sports Writers Eye Change In 'Coach' Voting

AUSTIN (UPI) — One of the chief topics for discussion at the annual spring meeting of the Texas Sports Writers Association Saturday will be a proposal to move up balloting on "coach of the year" in basketball, baseball and track.

Bill Holmes, president of the association, said some writers feel the voting should be held in late spring or summer.

"Under the present system, there have been some complaints about voting on these sports several months after their seasons have been completed," Holmes said.

The meeting will begin Saturday morning at Moore-Hill Hall, the athletic dormitory on the University of Texas campus.

Class 4-A, Warren Bratloff of Galena Park and Steve Guynes of Grand Prairie. Both have topped the current 13 foot 5 1/2 inch state record.

Abilene brings a good one-two punch to the high jump in Jeri Franklin and Bob Beck, both who have gone 6-3 this year and will be favored.

Las Vegas Golf Draws Top 21 Rickey, AFL Throw Scare Into Old Pros

By HAL WOOD
United Press International

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Twenty-one of the world's greatest golfers teed off in a howling wind today in the first round of the $45,000 Tournament of Champions—with most of them keeping their weather eye on Arnold Palmer.

Palmer, winner of five tournaments since the first of the year, has been installed as a 5-1 favorite—compared with 4-1 for defending champion Mike Souchak.

However, it will take a phenomenal "wind player" to do any scoring on the 7,000-yard Desert Inn Country Club course.

"If it keeps blowing like this a two-over-par score of 290 will win it," said Gene Littler, a three time champion.

The wind reached peaks of 50 miles an hour during the pre-celibrity tournament Wednesday—and the weather man said the same would be on tap for today, along with some rain.

Bill Casper, the National Open champion, teamed with comedian Phil Harris and two other amateurs, Dr. William Fuqua, Dallas, Tex., and Chuck Hensley, Las Vegas, to win the $10,000 celebrity tournament. And the wind didn't bother Casper at all as he carded a four-under-par 32 on the front nine on his own ball. The team had a best ball of 10-under-par 52.

No one, perhaps Rickey least of all, wants the Continental League to be an out-law, outside the jurisdiction of Commissioner Ford Frick.

"We must, however, be prepared for any eventuality," says Rickey.

Woodling may or may not have been joking about the Continental League—but the mere thought of such a move should horrify any major league executive who recalls the dizzy days of the Mexican League jumpers shortly after World War II.

The Mexican League actually grabbed few from the big leagues. Sal Maglie, then a virtually unknown Giant; Vern Stephens of the St. Louis Browns; Max Lanier and Lou Klein of the Cardinals were among the leaders in the jump southward.

But there was panic in the parks in those days. Any agent of Mexican League sponsor Jorge Pasquel was tailed by baseball's "cloak and dagger" men and not permitted to hold private conversations with star players.

Phil Rizzuto, then a Yankee star, admitted he was close to jumping at one time but it never came off.

The Mexican League had only money to offer. Some of the early jumpers had terrifying tales of living and playing conditions south of the border, though you'll never hear Maglie knock it.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Whitney's Tompion, gaining support by the minute, rule-heavy favorite for Saturday's lucky Derby today as traitor paraded to the secretary's of to name their horses for the of the Triple Crown classics.

BULLETIN

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The 86th running of Kentucky Derby drew a field of 14 Churchill Downs Saturday a race that shaped up as a three horse battle.

A field of 16 is expected to enter for the race 48 hours for one of the young hope blazes to fame and glory America's most famous horse race.

Edgell Farm's Bally A, winner of the Flamingo Stakes and the Florida Derby, and Blue Farm's Venetian Way, considered the only two with chances against Tompion.

The Whitney cut made a maddening impression upon Tuckians when the son of Fool ran the Kentucky Derby in 1959. He was one-quarter of a mile and one-quarter of a second faster than the only other Kentucky Derby winner to run faster.

Bill Casper, the National Open champion, teamed with comedian Phil Harris and two other amateurs, Dr. William Fuqua, Dallas, Tex., and Chuck Hensley, Las Vegas, to win the $10,000 celebrity tournament. And the wind didn't bother Casper at all as he carded a four-under-par 32 on the front nine on his own ball. The team had a best ball of 10-under-par 52.

Bally Ache has the best chance against Tompion because the latter as he came never knows when he is lipped. A year ago he "got licked" five $100,000 races but this year Bally Ache is winning the ones.

The natives saw Bally Ache his front running best on open day at Churchill Downs last Sunday. They were impressed with what they saw on a muddy track and may swing to Bally Ache the betting if the track should off.

Venetian Way is held in regard on his potential rather than anything starting he done this year thus far. He challenged Bally Ache in the Florida Derby, got to front near the end of the race but then fell back by a narrow margin.

Now, with more racing on his saddle, Venetian Way is expected to be tougher.

Center Inks Cowboy Pac

DALLAS (UPI) — James O'Hara, a 230-pound little All-American center for Wayne State College, Detroit, Mich., signed with Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, the club announced today.

O'Hara, a Detroit native, played defensive linebacker for Wayne State and held down the job starting center for three years. For two years straight he was Wayne's most valuable lineman.

BRIEFS

Celtics Sign Sanders

BOSTON (UPI) — Tom Sanders, 6-4 captain of New York University's basketball squad last season, became the Boston Celtics' first player to sign a 1960-61 contract. He was the No. 1 draft choice of the National Basketball Association champions.

MONTREAL (UPI) — Ray Clea, former Wake Forest and Canadian professional football star, has signed as an assistant coach with the Montreal Alouettes, General Manager Perry Moss announced Wednesday. Clea played guard with the Alouettes from 1951 to 1957.

Skins Trade Renfro

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Redskins Wednesday traded tackle Will Renfro and an undisclosed high draft choice for 1961 to the Pittsburgh Steelers for linebacker Dick Lase.

"That's where I learned to pitch," says Sal with his usual dignity. "They gave me a chance to work and I learned on the job."

Gold Sox Hang On To Win

By United Press International
Gordon Richardson, lanky young Tulsa southpaw, blanked Victoria on three hits Wednesday night to keep the Oilers in a deadlock with Valley for the Texas League lead.

Tulsa beat the Rosebuds 3-0 on four hits in a five inning game called because of rain, while the Giants edged Austin 2-1 and the Amarillo Gold Sox spurted from behind to beat San Antonio's Mission 3-1 despite a ninth inning four-base blow.

Bobby Bolin was the Valley's winner, but needed help in the seventh from Vic Davis to nail down the eighth-inning victory. The Giants' 10 hits included a solo homer by first baseman Larry Stubeck, Charles Gorn, who went the distance, suffered the loss.

San Antonio, in fourth place behind Victoria, exploded for four runs in the first and added another in the fifth on a homer by

Today's Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — They're saying around the Yankees today that Roger Maris could be the man to make them forget Mickey Mantle.

Whether he is, or not, the man from the cold country is so hot that he's giving the club a warm feeling of satisfaction. He's hitting a nifty .434 as the leading Yankee batsman and holding his tongue to boot.

Which already has put Mantle in the shade — at bat and afield — and makes Maris the best prospect the Yanks ever obtained from their Kansas City "farm club."

They've made a bundle, too. To be exact, the Yanks have consummated 15 trades with the A's which involve a total of 59 players. And at the moment, Maris looks to be far and away the finest.

The only note of caution in the official family is the warning that Maris, a 25-year-old originally out of Hibbing, Minn., always opens the season like a four-alarm fire. Last season in mid-May he was front and center in the league — a rare feat for anyone in the latter-day of the A's — when he came down with appendicitis and the batting magic vanished.

There is a feeling among the Yankee clan that Maris, a quiet man with steady eyes who heretofore has been quick to voice his mind, is a brooder. They mean the type which, if reprimanded, simply backs off and throws up its hands. Not that he lacks fight. It's simply that he purportedly adopts a go-to-blazes attitude.

There has been no indication of it this season.

When he received his contract from the Yankees last winter, it wasn't up to what he considered a fitting remuneration. Minutes later he was advising the world that he wanted more of a payoff. General Manager George Weiss of the Yankees, a Nero type who doesn't like to see his gladiators quoted in print, advised Maris in no uncertain terms that Yankee players kept their thoughts private — and that Maris would be expected to do the same in the future.

Houston Takes 2nd Place In Amer. Assn.

Louisville moved into first place in the American Association Wednesday night with a 5-4 victory over the front-running Denver Bears, who slipped into third place.

In other games, Houston defeated Indianapolis, 5-1; Dallas-Fort Worth downed St. Paul, 7-6; and Minneapolis edged Charleston, 6-2.

Homers by Bob Taylor, in the first with one on, and John Demerit, in the sixth with one on, were credited with moving the Colonels into first place position. Louisville opened with two runs in the first inning, an advantage Denver could not overcome, despite an eighth inning rally which brought in three runs.

Houston scored its win in the 11th inning when Tribe pitcher Glen Crabel walked winning pitcher Ed Donnelly and Houston second baseman Jerry Kindall clouded a double off the scoreboard. The Indians tied the game at 4-4 in the bottom of the ninth on a two-run double by rightfielder Bart Dupon.

Pitcher Billy Muffett settled down after a shaky start and scattered 10 hits to register his second win in three appearances for Minneapolis. Muffett fanned six and walked none. The Millers scored four runs in the fourth inning on two hits and four walks.

Third baseman Ray Jabloniski hit a bases-loaded single to send the winning run across in the ninth inning to give Dallas-Fort Worth its win over St. Paul. There were none out at the time. In the sixth inning, catcher Roberto Herrera scored a bases-empty homer for the Rangers. Six errors by St. Paul helped the Dallas-Fort Worth effort.

In games today, Minneapolis is at Charleston, St. Paul versus Dallas-Fort Worth at Fort Worth, Houston at Indianapolis, Denver at Louisville.

Not Ready to Surrender

The unappetizing spectre of a general sales tax was hovering over the heads of the generally unawakened or unaring Texas citizenship this week as one major candidate actually based his campaign on a program calling for a three-year "broad-based tax" to ease the state's troubles.
Last week the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, which certainly ought to know better, came within a gnat's hair of endorsing a sales tax. Only a strong speech by the Governor, who, attending the convention, prevented the amazing action.

tradesman who must do his own book-keeping, is the one who really has it tougher under the sales tax. He must keep a record of all his sales and fork up the three per cent at regular intervals. The cost of the accounting is terrific, and many firms find themselves getting into hot water with the state simply through negligence.
Families or persons living off a fixed income, such as old folks on pensions or social security, are the hardest hit. They have no way to increase their earnings, yet must pay an extra three per cent on everything they buy, from the rent to their bread.
There is a terrific lobby, armed with every legal trick and endowed with millions of dollars, that sits with the state legislators and urges them onward toward the goal of getting a "broad-based bill" actually on the books. But for the fighting spirit of Governor Price Daniel this lobby would have succeeded last year. Only he can prevent it this coming session and he can't win without the militant support of citizen groups throughout the state.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The devious paths of world diplomacy culminating at the summit conference in Paris May 16 form a vital chapter in history. The era space rockets and Khrushchev, of Russia's rise, atomic power, A veteran reporter of all these threads of history ties them together in the following dispatch on how the summit came about and what it may bring. The author is the senior Western correspondent in Moscow.)
By HENRY SHAFER
United Press International
PARIS (UPI) - Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev goes to the summit conference as a Communist styled "messenger of peace" and a Soviet nominee for the Nobel Peace Prize.
The conference represents a personal victory for the 56-year-old ruler of all the Russians who first launched his campaign for a meeting of "heavyweights" on Nov. 6, 1958.

Flushed with the achievements of Soviet economy and the success of the first Sputnik, Khrushchev then placed two specific proposals before a special session of the Supreme Soviet held on the 40th anniversary of the Russian Revolution. His audience included all the crowned heads of international Communism including Chinese Party Chief Mao Tse-tung.
Khrushchev asked for a bilateral conference with the United States on disarmament and for a meeting of world leaders.
By March, 1958, the Kremlin had made four appeals for top-level meetings to be followed by two additional calls to the summit.
-On July 19, 1958, after the crisis precipitated by the Iraqi revolution and the landing of Anglo-American forces in Lebanon and Jordan.
-And on November 27, 1958, when Khrushchev threatened unilateral abrogation of Western rights to Berlin within six months.
The Western powers rejected the Soviet proposed summit meet-

Wedding Day Of Princess Described

By MARGARET SAVILLE
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — At about 7 o'clock Friday morning, Princess Margaret's wedding day, a gray-haired little Scotswoman will slip quietly into the Princess' pink-walled bedroom at Clarence House, cross the room and pull back the heavy silk curtains to let in the morning light.

"Ruby" — Mrs. Robina Gordon, wife of a Buckingham Palace footman — has been Princess Margaret's personal maid since the Princess was an infant, and in later years her confidante and loyal friend.

There will be no lolling about in bed on this morning even though Ruby's entrance is an hour earlier than usual. So the tray with a pot of tea and a plain biscuit will be brought immediately to the bedside table. A few quick sips and a nibble and the Princess will be hustled to her bath.

In just four hours the Princess will set forth in the royal glass coach for Westminster Abbey, so she'll have no time to waste. After the bath and preliminary make-up, the Princess will don a dressing gown and go down to the next floor for breakfast with the Queen Mother as she has always done on special occasions.

By this time a walling of bagpipes will be coming up from the garden as a piper marches back and forth along the gravel path below the bedroom window.

While the Princess and her mother are breakfasting, it will be about time for the arrival of Margaret's hair dresser, French-born Rene Moulard. He has created a special wedding coiffure, to best set off the glittering tiara the bride will wear, and to carry the veil.

When the coiffure is complete it will be time for make-up. Special care will be taken to provide make-up that will stand the closest scrutiny both in and out of doors. The Princess always makes up her face herself, with Ruby's help.

Then it will be time for the wedding dress from Norman Hartnell, the designer. Arriving to help the Princess at this crucial point will be Hartnell's chief fitters, Madame Isabel and Madame Emmeline.

Once the dress is on, Hartnell himself will be on hand to give the bride a final inspection. When he is satisfied that it is sitting just right, the next thing will be the jewelry and, finally, the tiara and the veil.

Now, in all likelihood, the Queen Mother will give the Princess a last inspection. She herself will be dressed and must leave within a few moments for Buckingham Palace, from where she will ride to the abbey with her elder daughter, Queen Elizabeth.

DRAWS PRISON TERM

DALLAS (UPI) — U. S. Dist. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson Tuesday sentenced John E. McKiddy, 29, to 18 months in prison for illegal possession of a sawed-off .410 shotgun. The charge grew out of a gang fight in which a friend of McKiddy's used the shotgun to shoot and wound a teenager. Possession of sawed-off shotguns is prohibited by the Federal Firearms Act.

Small Business Can Farm Out Operations To Experts

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Small business is finding it can operate as efficiently as big business through a process of farming out its complicated operations to expert specialists.

Those specialists are called factors, a term that got its start back in the 15th and 16th centuries when Spain, England, and France were exploring and colonizing the new world.

Factoring in recent years has been held mostly to the textile industry. Now it has spread out to 40 or so different industries, including boots and shoes, furniture, draperies, lamps and home furnishings, kitchen utensils, plastics, sporting goods, and garden tools, also stereophonic hi-fi sets and aluminum screens and storm windows.

Current annual volume of factoring is more than $5 billion, back in 1944 it was only $1.5 billion. And, according to Walter M. Kelly, president of Commercial Factors Corp., it is growing rapidly.

Factors handle such chores for small business as new product development, packaging, advertising, market research, credit investigation, and the financing of the day-to-day operations of business.

"In many cases," says Kelly, "the outside specialist can do the job more efficiently and at lower cost."

"This is particularly true of problems involving credit and financing. When it comes to business financing, manufacturers and wholesalers in dozens of lines are beginning to realize that it pays to use the services of outside experts."

Kelly's firm is a subsidiary of the great finance firm of C.I.T.

ALWAYS GOING FORWARD—Two-faced car is used by a Brooklyn, N.Y., auto body repair shop. Two front halves were welded together. There are two dashboards and two steering wheels, only one of which is usable. Brothers Mel, left, and Nat Tamarkin own the car. Mrs. Nat looks out the window.

Financial Corp., one of the big units in consumer credit.

Kelly points out that many otherwise sophisticated and well-informed business men have "only the foggiest notion of how factoring works."

"Many of the failures of small businesses result from improper accounting methods, financing, and collections," it is pointed out.

With the help of outside services, the chances of survival for the small business man are much greater than under the old form

WOMAN SENTENCED

DALLAS (UPI) — Mrs. Clara Jean Harris, 34, faced two years of do-it-yourself bookkeeping, it is held.

Business failures still are a big item in the economy, in the first quarter, according to Dun & Bradstreet, there were 3,730 failures with liabilities of $84,800,000. In the corresponding period of 1959, they totaled 3,697 with liabilities of $197,200,000.

in prison today for embezzling $6,500 from the Grand Prairie State Bank. In another case in U.S. Dist. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson's court, Marvin C. Hough, 28, received a probation 18-month sentence and a $100 fine for embezzling $400 from the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank. Hough, a shipping clerk for the bank, was charged with taking the money from a stack of mutilated currency.

MILITARY VISITING U.S.

MOSCOW (UPI) — Chief Marshal K. A. Vershinin, commander of the air forces of the Soviet army, will arrive in Washington May 14 to take part in American Armed Forces Week, it was reported Tuesday.

The Tass news agency said Vershinin will be accompanied by six generals, who will stay with him on a tour of the United States.
