

Herter Says Khrushchev's Blasts At Ike Disgusting

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter declared Saturday that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev made his abusive personal attacks on President Eisenhower in an attempt to escape blame for shattering the Paris summit conference.

In an unusually harsh statement which had the President's approval, Herter said: "All America, I am sure, shares the disgust I feel at the ill-tempered attacks emanating from Mr. Khrushchev."

The statement categorized Khrushchev's attacks as "vilification." It said the Kremlin leader's action was a "degradation of the standards of international relations."

It was the first formal Washington response to the massive propaganda campaign against Eisenhower and the United States which Khrushchev launched soon after his return to Moscow from the ill-fated big four meeting. It apparently signified belief by U.S. officials that the United States is in for a long period of bitter assaults from Khrushchev.

Eisenhower, who was flying to a West Point class reunion when the statement was issued, undoubtedly saw the Herter declaration in advance, a state department aide said.

The White House Friday said flatly that Khrushchev had lied when he claimed the President had opposed German reunification during their Camp David talks last September. However, the White House took no note of Khrushchev's personally abusive remarks about the Chief Executive, Herter's mimeographed statement was handed to reporters at the end of a week which has witnessed mounting attacks on Eisenhower by Khrushchev. These culminated Friday in charges that the President was incompetent, irresponsible, "completely lacking in will power" to curb aggressive forces in the United States, and fit only to play golf or manage a Russian kindergarten.

Herter said it was "understandable" that Khrushchev "in seeking to divert himself of the responsibility known to all the world for the destruction of the Paris summit conference, should seek to confuse the issue in any way that he can."

Services Pending For Mrs. Crutcher

Funeral services are pending for Mrs. Edna Esta Crutcher of Leffors in a local hospital following a three-day illness.

Arrangements will be announced later by Duenkel Carmichael Funeral Home for the service to be conducted by the Rev. Luther Bertly of Leffors, pastor of Baptist Church.

Mrs. Crutcher had resided in Leffors since 1947 and was a member of the Baptist Church. She was born July 3, 1899 in Van Alstyne. She is survived by husband, E. D., seven sons, Preston, Allen, Harmon, Edgar, all of Leffors; Royce and Johnny, stationed with the army in Germany; Paschel of Pampa; four daughters, Mrs. Thelma Harris of Van Alstyne, Mrs. Helen Holloway of Owasso, Okla., Mrs. Wainell Coleman of Salt Lake City, Utah, Mrs. Omega Chisum of Pampa, two sisters, Mrs. Mabel Pole of Dennison, Mrs. Letha Miller of Buckler, Pa.

Boundary Act Key To Tidelands Win

AUSTIN (UPI)—The battle for Texas' tidelands was a battle based on history books, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said Saturday.

And history reveals that Texas once had dreams of expanding its boundary as far west as the port of San Francisco, in addition to its seaward claim of 10 and one-half miles into the sea, he added.

A boundary act passed by the Republic of Texas in 1836 laid claim to the Texas shore submerged lands that Texas won in the U.S. Supreme Court this week. The boundary was certified for a second time in 1848 in the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, ending the Mexican war with the United States.

"The boundary act was the key to our victory this week in the U.S. Supreme Court in the tidelands case," Wilson said, and the attorney general gives a lot of credit to the old histories and archives records that helped the state build its case.

The same histories, he said, tell of the dream of President Sam Houston that the Republic of Texas would extend westward from its modern boundaries to the West Coast.

In 1836, the republic passed a boundary act claiming the Rio Grande from its mouth in the Gulf of Mexico to its source in what is now the state of Colorado. The boundary line then moved north to Wyoming, and south along the Pacific Coast including the port of San Francisco.

"Houston dreamed of taking over San Francisco and the West Coast, and that was probably the reason they passed the Texas Boundary Act. In doing so they clearly spelled out the three Marine league boundary into the Gulf of Mexico."

"Therefore it was clear that Texas did own three leagues of tidelands at the time it entered the union," Wilson said, "and it followed that the state does retain this Gulfward boundary."

announced in plans for Eisenhower's stopover on Formosa as guest of President Chiang Kai-Shek.

Just before then, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived in Taipei for talks with Chiang two years ago. The Reds opened up with an 11,000-shell barrage that smashed a cease-fire.

U. S. Embassy sources said Eisenhower would deliver a major address from a balcony of the defense ministry in downtown Taipei, June 18.

They said there would be one private conference between Eisenhower and Chiang, who last met in Nanjing, China, in 1946.

Nationalist military officials ordered their forces to brace for Chinese Communist pressure designed to draw attention from Eisenhower's visit. Any such effort presumably would be aimed at the offshore islands, Formosa itself is well defended by the U.S. 7th fleet.

Sanity Hearing For Pampa Man

He Langley of Pampa will go before County Judge Bill Craig this week to determine whether he will remain in jail or be sent to the state hospital at Wichita Falls.

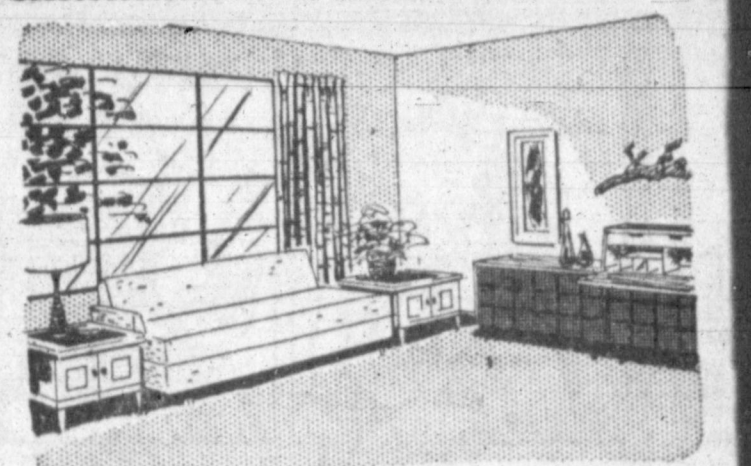

Langley was arrested by police early Friday morning after he tried to break into the house of Jim T. Lacy, 1114 N. Somerville.

Earlier he had escaped from Highland General Hospital. When he was caught, Langley was wearing only the bottom half of a suit of pajamas.

Fifty-two species of fur-bearing animals may be found in Great Smoky Mountains National Park.

YOU... and YOUR HOME by Jack Foster

A Young, Lighthearted Room

We are living in an age of youth. Look around you — at your contemporaries, at the rising generation, observe their independent attitudes toward living, their distinctive personal concern with beauty, with conversation, with art, with their homes — and you'll find that in everything that contributes to the living pattern of today the accent is on the young in heart.

If you are living in staid, stuffy rooms that reflect the attitudes of the past, it's time for a change. The trend today is toward light-hearted surroundings that sing with color.

What makes a person young in heart? We believe it is the happy faculty of being able to adapt to changing trends, to explore and accept — with discrimination, of course — the new; and the ability to accept challenge. These factors are also the basis for a room that is young in heart.

The room sketched above is a dicted a total vote of between 600,000 and 700,000. Some 1,500,000 votes were cast May 7.

Several counties in the state held no election Saturday because of the scarcity of runoff races and the expense involved.

Gov. Price Daniel, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson and Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey all won re-election in the first primary.

The Davidson-McDonald race probably will be decided in five key areas where runoff elections for seats in the state legislature aroused interest.

Bible School To Start Monday

LEFFORS (Sp) — Vacation Bible School begins at the Leffors Church of Christ Monday and will continue through Friday with classes daily for all ages between the hours of 9 and 11 a.m.

In addition to the school, C. M. Muse, preacher of Noonan, Church will conduct a meeting June 6-12, at 7:30 p.m. daily, and at 9:55 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Sunday, June 12. A picnic is planned for the end of the school and meeting on June 12, at Dansiger Park.

Services Pending For George Black

Interment rites are pending for George Morgan Black of Miami, according to Duenkel Carmichael Funeral Home.

Mr. Black died 2 p.m. Saturday in a local hospital.

Survivors include wife Effie; one son, Donald, both of Miami; three daughters, Mrs. Arlene Kraft of Baltimore, Md., Mrs. Lewis Turcott of Pampa, Mrs. Vera Shitz of Miami; one brother, Ernest of Eugene, Ore.

Arrangements will be announced later by the funeral home.

Locally Written Play At Carver

"The Preacher Prayed," a one-act comedy by Lula M. Mottley, was presented by members of the City Improvement Club at Carver High School Friday night. Mrs. Artie M. Moutrie, Mrs. L. E. Wortham, Mrs. John Morgan and Mrs. Charly O'Neal played leading roles in the comedy. The plot dealt with a minister who was poorly paid by his congregation.

Reading Club To Begin In Library

Vacation Reading Club is being organized for the summer months in Lovett Memorial Library for children in the first through sixth grades, according to Miss Helen Gould, librarian.

"Beginning Monday, when children are registered, they will be given a framework of a house. As each book is completed, an additional portion of the house will be given them. The reading of 12 books will complete the house."

"Of course, they may read more and as they do, they will be given accessories for the house: such as curtains or TV antenna; if they books will complete the house."

Vacation Reading Club will continue until Aug. 26, according to Miss Gould and will be concluded with a party for all those enrolled in the club.

Burglary Prevention Week

Carelessness Is Invitation To Rob

MEANS OF ENTRY — An open garage is often a means of entry to a house. Also any ladder left lying around in an open garage would be helpful to a burglar. Police say, "Keep the garage locked." (Daily News Photo)

INVITATION TO BURGLARS — A cluttered front porch, with a two-weeks supply of newspapers, mail and milk cartons, tells a burglar that a family is on vacation. Police suggest you have these deliveries stopped when on vacation. (Daily News Photo)

By LEE GRIMSLEY Daily News Staff Writer

Every year thousands of homeowners turn over the "keys" of their houses to burglars.

They do it unintentionally, of course. But the results are the same as if they had given the burglar an invitation to rob them.

So, for the second year in a row, Burglary Prevention Week will be observed throughout the state in an effort to make citizens more burglary conscious.

Mayor Ed Myatt has signed a proclamation designating this week as Burglar Prevention Week in Pampa.

Police Chief Jim Conner explained that the observance is being held in conjunction with a statewide program to educate the public on how individuals can help reduce burglary losses.

"People often leave their homes for an evening, weekend or a vacation without a thought given to the precautions recommended by the police department," Conner said.

"Windows are left open... keys left under the door mat or in the mailbox... a completely dark house or even worse, lights burning all day and night. All these are earmarks that tell a burglar 'this family is away'."

In 1959, although the average number of burglaries was down some two per cent from the previous year, burglaries cost citizens approximately $68 million. Only 54 per cent of this will ever be recovered.

More than 665,000 burglaries were committed throughout the nation that year — an average of about 77 every hour of every day.

"Many of these burglaries could have been prevented if the people had taken some simple precautions to protect their homes and property," Conner said.

Conner, along with other law enforcement officers in Texas, has helped compile a list of suggestions for homeowners. If they are followed, they would help cut the number of burglaries even further this year.

The suggestions include: 1 — Leave one or two lamps connected to an automatic timer to turn the lights on and off regularly each evening. This makes the residence look "lived in" and is a good protective measure.

2 — Close and lock all doors and windows, including back porch, porch and garage. Use pin tumblers or cylinder locks on all outside doors and safety latches on windows.

3 — Cancel milk and newspaper deliveries. An accumulation of milk bottles and newspapers on your steps is a sure sign no one is home.

4 — If you are going away for a weekend or longer, notify the police department as to the date you are leaving and when you will return. When leaving for a longer period, tell the police where you may be reached and a key for your house obtained.

5 — Have the post office stop mail deliveries to your home or have a neighbor collect it. Make sure no store deliveries will arrive during your absence.

6 — Have your phone disconnected. Burglars sometimes call to see if anyone is home.

7 — Have your lawn mowed and sidewalk swept by a neighbor at least once a week.

8 — Leave shades or blinds as you normally would when you are home — never close them completely.

9 — Tell one neighbor when you are leaving. Have him notify police if he sees anyone prowling around.

10 — Burglars have big ears, so never advertise your departure with an item in the newspaper. Your trip is still news when you return.

11 — Never leave ladders or tools where outsiders can get at them. To do so is the equivalent of giving the thief a key to your front door.

12 — Don't tell neighbors, friends and associates about the valuables you have lying around. In fact, don't leave them lying around — use a safety deposit box.

13 — If only out for a little while, be sure to close the garage doors. An empty garage with the doors open is a good sign that no one is home.

All these precautions are easy to follow and involve virtually no expenditure," Conner said. "But they may mean you'll be able to come home to everything you left there."

Kleiner's TV Notebook

Montgomery Finds More Freedom In Movie Work Than On Television

By DICK KLEINER Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Robert Montgomery, producer and director of the coming movie, "The Gallant Hours," returned to movie work because it offered him more freedom than TV.

"As an independent producer," Montgomery says, "I had complete freedom — freedom of cast, freedom of story, freedom of everything. In TV — and there's nothing wrong with this, mind you, and it's no crime, but it's just the conditions — you have to please the network, the sponsor, the ad agency."

"Obviously, that gives you less freedom for creative work."

Another reason why the new Montgomery prefers feature films is the time element. On his old Robert Montgomery Presents TV show, he was working on six shows at once, and he says that he had no time for any of them.

"But, on this movie," he says, "we spent a year and a half just for research."

And so he went back to the movies. "The Gallant Hours" is the first movie in 12 years to list his name in any capacity. At the moment, he doesn't plan to register TV — "TV offers no stimulus now" — but he admits that he and his partner, James Cagney, could do anything. So they could and may go into TV at some future date.

Television made announcers out of women. Now radio is tuning in on women announcers.

Joyce Gordon is one of the busiest girls in commercial radio and

ROBERT MONTGOMERY, right, and James Cagney talk strategy on their new movie, Bob's first motion picture venture in 12 years.

TV. On TV, she's known as "the girl with glasses" because she does her pitches while wearing glasses. She also announces an ABC radio show, works on NBC's Monitor and keeps busy in both fields.

"There are unlimited possibilities for women in broadcasting today," she says.

And she sees a time coming when women will do everything and anything in radio and TV that men do. For this, you can thank (or blame)

Jean Pierre Aumont — good and bad in being a Frenchman. It's good because — well, just because.

"But being French has hurt me on Broadway," he says. "I've never had an interesting part on Broadway. They always make the Frenchman the light, romanticist no good. And they say, 'Well, but how can you take a dramatic part with that accent?' All it would take is Americans don't have a strict monopoly on payola.

A leading French singer says it's practically government controlled in France. Since officialdom there runs both TV and radio, a big-name performer, declining to appear on television which pays next to nothing, is likely to find that his records are not played on radio.

Medical Care For Aged Bill Cut, May Get Nod

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A sharply trimmed program of medical care for the aged appears to be headed for approval by the House Ways & Means Committee. It would help only about 1,500,000 persons compared to the 12,000,000 who would benefit from rival plans.

The committee drafted the compromise plan Thursday and planned another round of voting today. It would offer federal grants to states willing to share the medical costs of persons over 65 who are not destitute enough to qualify for public relief.

The committee rejected more far-reaching plans proposed by the Eisenhower administration and organized labor.

These plans would cover most of the 16,000,000 persons over 65 through $1,200,000,000 in annual federal — state subsidies, as the administration proposed, or by means of new Social Security benefits, as proposed in the labor-backed program.

Other congressional news: Drug: Senate drug investigators called Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming and George P. Larrick, director of the Food and Drug Administration, to testify.

They faced questions about charges the FDA had failed to safeguard the public in approving new drugs.

Trip: A feud developed over a trip planned by Rep. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore.) to an East-West parliamentary meeting in Sweden.

Rep. William E. Miller of New York, chairman of the GOP congressional campaign committee, asked Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) to make clear that Porter's attendance was neither sponsored nor sanctioned by Congress.

Porter called the Miller request "preposterous, cynical nonsense."

Pay Raise: A petition to pry from the House Rules Committee a stalled bill to give 1,700,000

Pampa Girls Leave Tuesday For Austin To Take Part In Bluebonnet Girls State

GIRLS STATE BOUND — Zip Hall, left, and Sue Guthrie, Pampa High School students, will leave Tuesday for a 10-day session of the Bluebonnet Girls State Camp at Austin. (Daily News Photo)

Two Pampa High School students — Sue Guthrie and Zip Hall — will leave Tuesday to attend the 16th annual session of Bluebonnet Girls State at Austin.

Mrs. Marcheta Wright of Borger, Miss Hall's sister, left for the Austin camp today to serve as counselor. She was a 1955 graduate of Pampa High School, and will be returning to the camp for the seventh straight year.

While at the camp, the girls will be assigned to one of two mythical political parties, and will organize their own local, county and state governments. At the end of the 10-day session they will spend the day with their official state government counterpart, observing him in action.

Miss Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hall of 1123 E. Frederic, is a member of the Top O' Texas Riding Club, A-capella choir, girls' volleyball team, KKKat sorority, Junior Red Cross and the Latin Club.

Miss Guthrie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Guthrie of 725 N. Wall. She is a member of the Pampa High School student council, Spanish club, A-capella choir, and the Junior Red Cross.

MATTERS OF THE MILITARY

Friends Go Buddy For Navy Tour

David Donald Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bowers, Rt. 4, Pampa, and Donnie Dwayne Bagby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Bagby 825 E. Scott, enlisted May 31 in the Navy at the Main Navy Recruiting Station, Albuquerque, N.M.

David and Donnie enlisted with 35 other men. Both men applied for enlistment at the Navy Recruiting Station in Pampa.

Barton and Bagby will receive nine weeks' scheduled training at the Navy Recruit Training Center, San Diego, Calif., after which time they will be granted 14 days' recruit leave prior to reporting to their first duty assignments.

ON LEAVE — Lt. William Delbert Lemley, U.S. Air Force, is home on 45-day leave. He will be stationed in Iceland following termination of his vacation. He formerly was stationed at Everett, Washington. Lt. Lemley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Lemley of White Deer.

'Notorious' Oscar Wilde Shows Up in Two Movies

By TOM A. CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON (NEA) — British bulldogs were once trained to growl when Oscar Wilde's name was mentioned.

Music hall comedians joked about the long-haired playwright, the green carnations he wore in his buttonhole.

And only a few years ago, when a plaque was unveiled at Wilde's house in London, staunch opposition labeled him "notorious."

But today, 60 years after Wilde's death, two film versions of his life play to packed audiences in London. They will soon appear in the U.S.

And the only controversy that has resulted from their showing is a dispute between the two producing companies, one British, the other American.

The American version stars Robert Morley who bears a striking physical resemblance to Wilde. The British did not try for any physical similarity, casting Peter Finch as the playwright on trial for gross indecency. Finch is much younger than Wilde was at the time of the trial and lacks his mannerisms.

The British company, claiming copyright infringement, has tried to prevent the showing of the American version.

As for the controversial Wilde, no one in London seems to be batting an eyelash at the showing of either version.

Some credit the Woffenden report on vice relaxing film censorship taboos. Others say the rash of Tennessee Williams' plays and films here prepared the way for these film biographies.

But whatever the cause, Britain is no longer the "bulldog nation" of Oscar Wilde's day. Strip-tease clubs flourish in Soho, "Lolita" is published, and no one is picking the films about the playwright.

Everly Brothers Hold Top 20 Song Spot With Cathy's Clown

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Everly Brothers remained on top of United Press International's top 20 tunes list this week with their rollicking rendition of "Cathy's Clown."

In second was "Alley Oop," by the Hollywood Argyles. Jeannie Black's "He'll Have to Stay" was in the third spot and "Paper Roses" by Anita Bryant held down the fourth position.

Connie Francis' "Everybody's Somebody's Fool" was fifth on the list and Jimmy Jones' fast-moving "Good Timin'" was in sixth. Elvis Presley's "Stuck on You" found itself in seventh place.

Jack Scott's recording of "Burning Bridges" was in eighth and "Because They're Young" was the ninth place tune. In 10th position was Bobby Rydell's hit "Swingin' School."

(Figures in parenthesis indicate this week's position, last week's spot and number of weeks on survey.)

(1-7) Cathy's Clown. Everly Brothers, Warner Brothers.

(2-7) Alley Oop. Hollywood Argyles, Lute.

(3-5) He'll Have to Stay. Jeannie Black, Capitol.

Elvis Recording Is Icelandic Hit

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Spread of American Culture Department:

According to The Cash Box, the third best-selling record in Iceland is Elvis Presley's "Fame and Fortune." Elvis nosed out Helena Eyjolfsson, with her smash rendition of "Kom Heim, Vinur, Kom Heim."

Life is the source material for Alan King's humor. And, since life includes the four ladies at the next table, he talked with one ear cocked in their direction. His eavesdropping was rewarded.

"Did you hear that?" he whispered with the air of someone who had struck gold. "One of those women was talking about a friend whose husband dropped dead at 40 and left $67,000 in insurance."

And then she said, "Of course, I didn't know her intimately." Get that? She didn't know her intimately, but she knows how much insurance her husband left — to the penny.

This is the kind of true-life comedy Alan King loves. You'll find plenty of examples of it on his first album, "Alan King in Suburbia," on Secco.

"I wouldn't do my current material on the record," he says. "I'm not going to give away my present act for $3.98."

So he's recorded mostly his old suburban routines (which he hasn't done in public for three or four years) plus new songs which are integrated into a sort of miniature revue.

King says TV is to be thanked for popularizing recorded humor. Television has reduced the United States to one taste in comedy — "there's no sectional comedy any more" — and what's funny in New York is now laughed at in Arkansas, too. Hence, a recorded comedy album today is practical.

This is beginning to apply internationally, as well. King, a New York comedian and producer, was invited to England. He didn't want to go, figuring his humor was a strictly for Americans. But he went and was a big click.

"I discovered," he says, "that they have the same problems there — homes, taxes, in-laws, cars — that we have here."

ed by striking employes. The firm has issued an ultimatum for strikers to return to work or lose their jobs.

The RECORD SHOP

we have. If I could talk French, my stuff would go over in France, too. Humor is international."

There's one exception — sick comedies. King dismisses them with a one-liner thrust: "It's like listening to the fugs and dance at home the way they used to. Watching here's a voice of gloom who sees ballroom dancing dying out."

Vincent Lopez, a 20-year veteran on the bandstand of a New York hotel, plays mostly dance music.

"For a sample, try his new Columbia album, 'Lopez Playing.'" "People," he says, "don't really back the fugs and dance at home the way they used to. Watching the diners at the hotel, I've noticed that folks out for an evening on the town don't seem to respond to the dancing urge any more."

"I think that's because, at home, they'd apparently rather watch TV, play LP records or just sit back and admire their wall-to-wall carpeting."

How about the kids, with their rock and roll dancing?

"I wouldn't call that dancing," snorts Lopez.

DICK'S PICKS — Patti Page is back in her old waltz groove with her new one on Mercury, "One of Us." Others: "Music of Love" (Johnny Nash, ABC-Paramount); "Carnival" (The Ames Brothers, RCA); "Take This Hammer" (Lonnie Donegan, Atlantic); "Armen's Theme" (St. Zepher, Liberty); "I'm Confessin'" (The Clovers, UA); "Red - Headed Stranger" (Sonny Curtis, Coral); "Tonight" (The Little Dipper, University); "Awkward Stage" (Van Strickland, Palette).

Good sounding albums, particularly adapted to stereo: On UA, Al Caiola leads 12 guitars and a rhythm section through arrangements of swing tunes of the 30s, called "Guitars, Guitars, Guitars," a new label. Medallion, has four albums of beautiful sound, best of which are "The Sound of Strings" and "The Sound of Top Brass" — on RCA. Bob Thompson skillfully blends an orchestra — a chorus and some fine arrangements into a pleasant album called "Mama, Mama" on Capitol, a new sound in "Rockin' Violins," on which Eric Jupp and his orchestra combine a rock-and-roll beat with lush string instrumentation.

Two good new chamber music releases: On Kapp, The Paganini String Quartet plays Ravel's Quartet No. 1 in G Minor; on Epic, Music plays some works by the obscure 18th century composer, Albinoni.

Frley's facts and figures...

Stan Musial, who may quit before the end of the season, and Ted Williams both could drop sharply on the all-time batting average rolls if they continue at their present pace of production—or lack of it.

Williams, at the end of the 1958 season, stood sixth among the all-time hitters with a .319 lifetime average. He dropped to eighth with his .254 mark last year and could fade to 12th or as far as 15th this time around if he goes much below his current .300 average.

Musial, after the 1958 campaign, was 16th among the all-time hitters with a lifetime average of .340. His 1959 mark of .235 skidded him to 20th and his current .245 average threatens to drop him out of the top 25. . . . Williams will sweat out the season but Stan the Man may depart by the All-Star break. . . .

Ingemar Johansson, the Swedish iron man who defends the heavyweight championship against Floyd Patterson at the Polo Grounds on June 20, is the fourth man to march all the way to the big peak-busting title without being beaten. Ingo won 22 in a row as he prepares for his first defense.

John L. Sullivan, Jim Jeffries and Rocky Marciano pulled the same stunt. Yet, while John L. is recognized as the first of the "modern" champions, his name is conspicuously missing from the list of champions on the new perpetual Jack Dempsey trophy. . . .

The reason is that John L. was the last of the bare knucklers and didn't win the title under Marquis of Queensberry rules. . . .

There comes a time in every man's life when he has to prove to junior just who's boss. Lee Petty is having a rough time of it. Lee, oft-time champion of the stock car racing business, started son Dick—a couple of years back and now the 21-year-old chip off the old engine block is top man in NASCAR's grand national circuit point standings. . . . Who's second? Why, Pappa, of course.

Maxie Patkin, the baseball clown who has been seen in more ball parks than a dozen Bobo Newsoms, may have to curtail his traveling now. The poor man's "Slapsie Maxie" took a called third strike in the matrimonial league when he married Judith Oberndorf in their native Philadelphia. . . .

Walker Cupper Jimmy McHale, lady pro Barbara Romack and swing-and-sway man, Sammy Kaye are in for a rough afternoon in the Triangle Round Robin pro-amateur tournament at Knollwood, N.Y., on Wednesday. They will learn how tough this game can really be from the other member of their foursome. . . .

A total of 114 wheelchair athletes from Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Maine, Florida, Michigan, New York, New Jersey and Canada will compete next weekend in the fourth annual National Wheelchair games in New York. Events include track and field, swimming and archery.

Golf handicaps are a nebulous thing but the Guyan Golf and Country Club at Huntington, W.Va., has figured out a system certain to annihilate the sharpshooters. When a player falls to turn in a card, if his handicap is 13 or under, he is given a 72. If his handicap is 14 or more, he is credited with an 82. . . . You never saw so many score cards being turned in.

Mackay Leads U.S. Players At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UPI)—Barry Mackay of Dayton, Ohio, and Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., Saturday headed a list of 28 Americans who were accepted to compete in the 1960 Wimbledon tennis championships June 29-July 2.

A total of 296 players from 39 nations filled entries for this year's tournament, but only 178 were accepted by the British Lawn Tennis Association selection committee. Eighty others will battle it out in qualifying tournaments for 10 remaining berths.

The huge entry list was attributed to the fact that this year's Wimbledon show may be the last purely amateur world lawn tennis championship. Next year, the All-England Club may stage its first "open" tournament, accepting entries from professionals as well as amateurs.

Mackay, a semifinalist last year, will lead 18 Yanks in the men's singles. Miss Hard, who lost to Maria Esther Bueno of Brazil in the 1959 final, is the top player among eight U. S. women who will bid for this year's title. Mackay has suffered two upset defeats at the hands of Italian Davis cuppers in recent tuneups for Wimbledon. The husky U. S. Davis cup star bowed to Orlando Sirola in the quarter-finals of the French championships last week and was eliminated by Giuseppe Merlo in the Barcelona international tournament Friday.

Miss Hard, on the other hand, has won two major tournaments in recent weeks. She captured the French championship last week and won the northern lawn tennis crown at Manchester, England, Saturday.

In addition to Mackay, other prominent Yanks in the Wimbledon men's singles this year include Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis, Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, N. Y., 46-year-old Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., and former champion Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris.

Perryton HS Names New Cage Coach

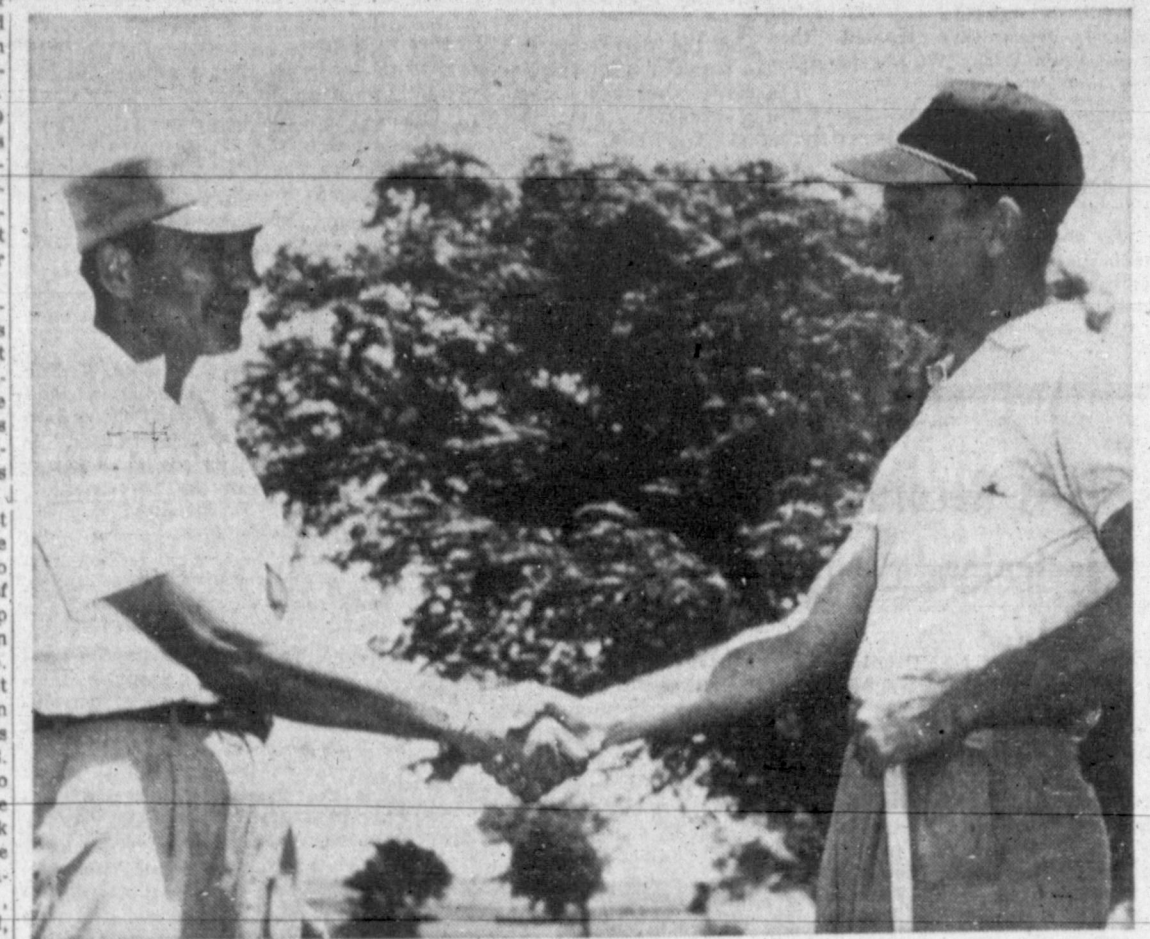

PERRYTON (Sp) — Roy Pennington, who served as head coach at Clayton, N.M. for the past two years, has been hired as Perryton high school basketball coach. He replaces Austell Burrus, who resigned recently to go into farming in Hutchinson county. Pennington, who grew up in Miami, Texas, is a graduate of North Texas State College. He coached successful teams at Darrouzett three years, Spearman three years before going to Clayton. He will also be an assistant coach on the Ranger football staff. Mr. and Mrs. Pennington will be moving to Perryton in the near future with their two daughters, Rozanne, 4, and Suzanne, 1.

Elder Keeps Country Club Golf Title In Overtime Play

Edges Max Hickey In Sudden Death

By BOB DUNBAR
Daily News Sports Editor

History repeated itself at the Pampa Country Club Saturday afternoon when Dr. Foster Elder defeated Max Hickey in a sudden-death playoff for the club championship after the two were deadlocked at the end of the regulation 18-hole play.

WELL DONE, CHAMP — Max Hickey congratulates Dr. Foster Elder after Elder defeated him for the Pampa Country Club championship Saturday. Elder fired a sensational second shot on the number one hole as the pair played the first hole in their sudden-death playoff to set up his winning birdie three.

The same two men battled for the club title in 1959 and required the sudden-death hole to determine the winner. Then, as Saturday, Elder won the crown at the 19th hole. Hickey blew his chance to dethrone Elder when he bogied the 18th hole after going one up on the defending champion at the 16th. Both golfers negotiated the 18 holes with identical medal scores of 72, one over par for the distance. After a brief break, Elder and Hickey teed off on the 403-yard one hole to start this sudden-death playoff. Elder drove 230 yards, a heavy slice bringing his ball to rest in the center of the fairway. Hickey outdrove Elder with a low screaming shot into the teeth of a stiff breeze, but the roll on his hooking shot got him into trouble. The ball came to a stop 250 yards from the tee on the left boundary of the fairway, with a row of trees angling his approach to the green. Elder then uncorked a second shot that has to rank with the best in the game. Using a two-iron, Elder hit his shot cleanly and watched it land low on the green and to the right of the pin. The ball rolled to within six feet of the hole before it stopped. The sensational shot placed more pressure on Hickey who was already in difficulty with his untoward lie. Hickey blasted his iron shot between the trees. The ball hit the apron high on the left side of the green and deflected off to the left about 25 feet from the green. His hit-and-run chip rolled about nine feet past the pin, putting him nicely in position for a par and a tie on the hole if Elder missed his birdie putt. Hickey stroked his putt true for the cup but fell short by about six inches, giving Elder the advantage of two putts if he needed them. But the repeating champion didn't need the extra-putt, canning his shot for a birdie three and the title. Hickey held an early lead in the 18-hole title match, going one up on the first hole when Elder took a bogie five. They halved the next holes before Elder evened things with a birdie on the par three, 215-yard number three hole. Elder took a one-up lead on the par 5, 555-yard fourth hole with his second straight birdie. Hickey evened the match up again on the fifth hole when he holed out with a beautiful 15-yard chip shot for a birdie three. The pattern for the next eight holes had Elder establishing a one-up lead, only to see Hickey come back and tie him up. Elder carried a one-up edge to the fourteenth hole which the pair halved. Then Hickey evened matters up on the fifteenth and went into the lead on the sixteenth with

Ingo Waits 2 Hours; Misses Meeting Ike

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N.Y. (UPI)—Heavyweight Champion Ingemar Johansson, an invited guest, was kept waiting more than two hours without being able to meet President Eisenhower Saturday night at a Republican fund-raising dinner in the Bear Mountain Inn because of a mix-up in arrangements. Johansson, drove 80 miles from his training camp at Goswonger, N.Y., at the request of a Republican politician in the 28th Congressional District. The President was still finishing his speech when Ingemar and his party arrived at the inn and apparently no one in authority would convey a message to the President that the heavyweight champion had arrived. The President left the banquet room and went to an upstairs dining room to attend a private dinner with his West Point classmates who were graduated with him in 1915. The U.S. Military Academy at West Point is only a few miles from Bear Mountain. A woman press secretary traveling with the presidential party said she knew of no arrangements for Johansson to meet the President and could do nothing about it. Johansson, cooling his heels in an outside reception tent, could not understand why no one could relay a message about his presence to the President. "I guess I should have brought my carrier pigeons with me," Johansson said. In Sweden, the champion raised racing pigeons as a boy. Johansson's fiancée, Birgit Lundgren, waited with him.

Ex-Coach Recalls '48 Berger Game

Friday's column here about the Pampa-Rogers football series brought a call from Aubra Nooncaster, former backfield coach for the Harvesters under head coach Tom Tipps, now at the University of Washington. The 1948 game in the series was listed as tie, 14-14, but Nooncaster told me the interesting story behind the game which actually went into the conference record books as a win for Berger. At that time, Pampa was in a conference with the Amarillo Sandies, Berger, Plainview, and Lubbock. Conference rules did not recognize tie ball games so a supplementary system was used to determine the winner in deadlocked contests. The team with the most number of penetrations inside the opposition's 20-yard line and the most number of first downs was declared the winner. Nooncaster recalls the game as a hard-fought affair which saw Pampa score its 14 points in the first half and then let down and watch the Bulldogs push across the two equalizing scores in the second half. With less than a minute of playing time remaining, the Harvesters stopped a Berger threat on the Pampa 15-yd. line. The penetration gave Berger three to Pampa's four but Berger led in first downs by one. When the ball was put into play by the Harvesters there was just enough time left for one play. The team decided to run out the clock with a quarterback sneak but fate stepped in and gave Berger the only break they could have gotten to win the ball game. Quarterback Lamar Lively took the snap from center but fumbled the ball. A Bulldog lineman recovered it, giving Berger another penetration to match Pampa's four. The one first down edge gave Berger the ballgame. In the confusion of the situation Pampa was declared the winner by the referee but a later check revealed Berger had the edge. Nooncaster said he was in the press box on the field phones and went down on the field at the end of the game to get the referee's decision for the radio and newsmen in the press box. He relayed the official's original decision and the news of Pampa's win was carried over radio until the correction was made some two hours later. The tie-breaking system was eventually discarded several years later when a new conference was formed. This was one time I found it highly interesting to be corrected by a reader since I had never heard of such an arrangement to break ties. It was apparently unique to the Southwest as far as I can determine. It is common practice in other areas of the country to let ties stand as such in conference races, but championship games may see a sudden death period played if a co-champion situation is to be avoided.

Bucs' Clemente Is Named NL's Player Of Month For May

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Roberto Clemente, who has been swinging one of the hottest bats in the circuit for the Pittsburgh Pirates, is the winner of the National League's player-of-the-month award for May. Clemente drew votes from 24 of the 40 baseball writers and broadcasters who cover the NL clubs regularly to win the first monthly poll of the 1960 season by a comfortable margin over runner-up Don Cardwell of the Chicago Cubs. Cardwell, who pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the St. Louis Cardinals May 15, received six votes, while southpaw pitcher Mike McCormick of the San Francisco Giants was third with four votes. Rookie outfielder Tony Curry of the Philadelphia Phillies had three votes, Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves two, and Vada Pinson of the Cincinnati Reds one. Elder carried a one-up edge to the fourteenth hole which the pair halved. Then Hickey evened matters up on the fifteenth and went into the lead on the sixteenth with

Mizell Plays A New Tune For The Pittsburgh Bounce

PHILADELPHIA (NEA)—The newest biggest question around the National League is: Why did the Cardinals trade Vinegar Bend Mizell to the Pirates for Julian Javier and a pitcher to be named later? Wilmer Mizell is a six-foot-three, 200-pound, 29-year-old left-hander who has never quite lived up to his tremendous potential; yet last season he won 13 games for a seventh-place club. "The way things stand now he is our fourth starting pitcher behind Vernon Law, Bob Friend and Harvey Haddix," says Danny Murtagh, manager of the Pittsburgh party, taking another chaw of tobacco. "We were in position to make a good deal for Mizell because St. Louis obviously required a second baseman," explains Joe L. Brown, the Buccaneers' young general manager. "And we had an accomplished one to give them in Javier. This six-foot-one, 175-pound, 22-year-old right-hander from the Dominican Republic has a grand chance to be a big infielder. He makes all the plays and was batting .288 for Columbus of the American Association. I doubt that there is a faster man in baseball" and that includes Vada Pinson.

Mazeroski reported almost as overvalued as Archie Moore is now. Outfielder Bob Skinner, now a stick-on swatter, injured his back early running into the fence in Milwaukee and wasn't too efficient thereafter. The Bucs couldn't win on the road, losing 29 of the last 40 there. They couldn't lick the Braves at anything including a pepper game. This trip, Friend and Mazeroski reported like a couple of guys who had spent the season in one of Vic Tanny's gymnasiums. The Bucs won 30 of 37 on the first road trip, compiled nine straight victories at Forbes Field, won five in a row from the Dodgers and Braves, smacked Studeville six straight and in seven of the first nine.

Remarkable secondary pitching came from Jim Umbricht, Bennie Daniels, Fred Green and Joe Gibbon, and Roy Face, the little and extraordinary fireman, extinguishing blazes as well as he did in 1959. Roberto Clemente, Skinner, Smoky Burgess, Hal Smith, Groat and more recently, Hank got on base and pounded in runs. The club is better fixed in reserves. "This edition of Pirates has a lot of spring," stresses Danny Murtagh, the fighting Irishman out of Chester, Pa. "Being behind four or five runs doesn't mean a thing. If you look around closely enough you'll find a lot of spirit. These fellows are sold on the fact that they can go."

Stakes Increased

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI)—The added value of the Garden State Stakes, world's richest horse race will be boosted from $100,000 to $125,000 for its 1961 running.

U.S. Open Golf Hopefuls Squawk About Qualifier

By STEVE SNIDER
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—The second of two qualifying tests for the U.S. Open golf championship will be played in 13 cities Monday and Tuesday to the accompaniment of the usual squawks. Some of the lesser hopefuls think it's a shame they have to play a total of 72 holes before they even get into the Open championship scheduled this year at Denver's Cherry Hills Country Club, June 16-18. "There simply is no other way to reduce the field more conveniently," says Joe Dey of the U. S. Golf Assn. "We made it as simple as possible by scheduling preliminary rounds in 58 cities leading up to the 13 sectional Monday and Tuesday. "But with a record entry of 2,472 you have to find some equitable way at arriving at a total of 150 who'll tee off at Cherry Hills. The double qualifying round was acceptable to the most people. On May 23, 24 a total of 442 golfers out of 2,500 starters were successful in preliminary trials in 58 cities. Those 442 amateurs and pros—plus another 48 top-notchers who didn't have to compete in local rounds—move on this week to 13 sections where a total of 129 places in the Denver starting field will be at stake. Another 21, including defending champion Billy Casper, automatically qualified to tee off at Denver on the basis of past records. On Monday, they'll be shooting in trials at Denver, Mamaroneck, N. Y., Cincinnati and Seattle. On Tuesday they go at San Francisco, Washington, Atlanta, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, Rochester, Oklahoma City and Fort Worth. "In a country as big as this, local and sectional rounds are the only answer," said Dey. "In Great Britain, they can bring the entire field together for a 36-hole test for the British Open immediately before the championship is played. That has been tried here and it resulted in quite an expense for players who didn't qualify."

Little LEAGUER

Cabot Keller and Shelby-Ruff captured victories in Little League baseball action Friday night. Cabot used a five-run outburst in the bottom of the sixth to speak past Dunan, 10-9, Dennis Butler also helped keep the winners "in the running with a solo homer in the fifth. Shelby-Ruff was never in trouble enroute to his 9-2 romp over Milliron, But Lin Eagle lost his bid for a shutout when Milliron came up with a pair of runs in the last frame. Tom Rose was the leading hitter for Shelby-Ruff with two doubles.

Keller only managed two base hits in its game, but managed to come out on the winning side of a 4-3 verdict. THE LINE SCORES: Duncan 020 700 9 5 4 Cabot 202 015 10 6 6 WP —Fritz; LP — Riggs. ### Between You 'N Me

By MURRAY

Steve Barber, the Class D-to-majors zomsonator, wouldn't be in Baltimore but for a heater in Paul Richards' car last winter... when the Orioles skipper, in Florida for the minor league meetings, took off one afternoon to see Barber pitch in the Rookie League... But it was chilly and Richards had the sniffles and he was about to scream until he found he could pull the year into a gap in the outfield, keep the motor running and heater on and watch Barber pitch... What he saw made him turn to Lee McPhail and say, "Bring that kid to camp..."

To Barber, Richards said right then, "With your stuff, if you can get the ball over, you'll make my club..."

Another Oriole surprise, first sacker Jim Gentile, was an almost Dodger for seven years and confesses, "The only time I got mad was last spring when they didn't trade me to the White Sox... after Buzzy Bavasi told me to call my wife and have her drive to Chicago... then he said that Ron Jackson, who figured in the deal, couldn't be waived out of the American League... but way later he told me, 'You broke curfew the last night of spring training. No one's getting away with that kind of breaking curfew to get out of the organization...' What really hurt was to sit home in California last fall and watch the White Sox and Dodgers in the World Series..."

Biggest boost Gentile got from coming to Baltimore was when after a dismal spring... with drooping spirits and expectations of still another season in the minors, Richards started him opening day and a grateful Gentile started to hit...

Gentile on rookie rookie Dave Nicholson: "If they measure 'em pound by pound, he's worth every cent of the $15 grand he got... the best physique and strongest arms I've seen in baseball... the kid's going to be a good ballplayer because he wants to learn..."

Nicholson in the batting cage is the only guy who'll distract skipper Richards from dugout chit-chatting.

Hector Brown, the veteran Oriole chucker, has been called "Skinny" almost all his life... and has the spare frame to go with it... but the name started, he notes, "because I was a fat baby and the folks back home in North Carolina thought it'd be cute to call me 'skinny'..."

Colavito Blasts 2 Home Runs To Beat Ex-Teammates, 7-4

Rocky Colavito ripped into his former Cleveland teammates as if it were a labor of love when he smashed a pair of homers against them Saturday to pace Detroit to a 7-4 victory in 10 innings.

Colavito's second homer of the game came with one on in the 10th-inning, with a 6-2 lead, he nods, "Sure..." Mantle has the bad wheels that are endangering his career, and constant press box sitters say they've seen pain in his face after he's missed a pitched ball and put pressure on his knees...

Don't know if this qualifies as bona fide sport, but in mid-June, the basketball St. Louis Hawks, who'll be working out at Kutner's resort in the Catskills, will also play the female cast of the musical "Gypsy" in a softball "contest."

Think wrestling isn't rough? The New York football Giants mixed a wrestling tour of the two Roseys—Grier and Brown—because they didn't want to risk injury to their vital tackles... In all his years

Rocky Colavito blasted two home runs Saturday to pace Detroit to a 7-4 victory over Cleveland.

Heat Gets Hogan At Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Ben Hogan's game collapsed in the heat Saturday and J. C. Goosse and Bill Collins rocketed into the lead with third round 30's in the $30,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament.

Collins, recent winner of the Houston and Hot Springs Opens, stroked a two-under-par 68. Goosse an unimpaired 31-year-old from Knoxville, Tenn., slipped to a one-over-par 71, but his two round total of 132 kept him on top.

Hogan and Bob Rosburg, co-leaders with Goosse Friday, faded badly over the sun-blasted Colonial Country Club. Both recorded 73's and were tied for third at 205 with Memphis Cary Midcoff who toured the course in a five-under-par 65.

Young Bob Shave, a 22-year-old pro from Willoughby, Ohio, was in second place all by himself at 204. Shave, a first day leader recovered from his 71 of Friday with a 68 Saturday.

Collins, from Crystal River, Fla. played in the threesome with Hogan and Rosburg and it appeared he had lost his touch when he bogeyed the first two holes. But birdies on the sixth and seventh gave him even par for the front nine while Hogan went two over and Rosburg three over.

The 31-year-old Collins played par golf through the first four holes of the back nine. On the 14th, he hit his second shot to within three feet of the pin and rammed down the putt for a birdie three.

Pony League

Kist Beverage shoved Hughes Insurance back into the Pony League cellar Friday night with an 8-3 win over the First National Bank.

Bobby Price scattered four hits over the seven-inning route to notch the win while striking out 13 Batters.

Bank drew first blood in the second inning, counting one run, but Kist came right back and blasted losing pitcher Gary Sikes for five big runs in the top of the third.

The Bankers cut the margin to 5-3 in their half of the third when Gary Larrimore tripled with one mate aboard. He scored on the same play when the ball was thrown wild past third in the attempt to cut him down.

Kist led the game in the top of the seventh, shelling Sikes from the mound in the process. Eddie Langwell relieved him with no outs in the inning and was tagged for two more runs after Sikes had been charged with one.

Cash's single and Price's double were the big blows in the Kist seventh. Cobb swatted a double in a previous trip to the plate to take hitting honors for the winners.

Larry Cruise To Play Basketball At N. Texas State

DENTON—Jimmy Coker of Corsicana and Larry Cruise of Howard County Junior College and Pampa have signed basketball letters of intent to enroll at North Texas State in September.

Coker, a 6-6, 190-pound center, averaged 15 points per game for Corsicana High School last season. He will be a member of the NTSC freshman team.

Cruise, a 6-3 guard who played high school ball at Pampa, had a 15-point average with Howard County, a team that gained the national junior college championship tournament. Cruise will join the varsity next season as a transfer.

Bally Ache In Belmont Stake Favored Role

NEW YORK (UPI)—A field of seven certain starters, with the possibility that two others may join them, shaped up for next Saturday's running of the $100,000 added Belmont Stake.

Turkland's Bally Ache, winner of the Preakness after finishing second in the Kentucky Derby, looks as favorite for the testing mile and one-half classic even though it once was doubted "Old Ironsides" could carry his speed much more than a mile.

Tomipon, the Kentucky Derby favorite which finished fifth in the first of the triple crown classics, and Sunny Bivy Farm's Venetian Way, the Kentucky Derby winner which failed in the Preakness and Jersey Derby since, will be back for another crack at Bally Ache.

So will Green Dunes Farm's Celtic Ash which raced against Bally Ache in both the Preakness and Jersey Derby to no avail.

Roadrunners Face Woodward In Okla.

The Pampa Roadrunners travel to Woodward, Okla., this afternoon looking for their sixth straight win in seven starts.

Managers New Secret and Henry Stephens will probably name Jimmy Walker for the mound chores as the Roadrunners try to repeat the 7-2 win they scored over Woodward here last week.

Walker was particularly effective in the clutches in that game. It marked the first time the little right hander had ever gone a full nine innings on the mound, his high school experience being of the seven-inning variety.

In the event Walker isn't ready today, left hander Graydon Lantz will probably get the nod. Lantz has only one start this year, Burger knocking him out of the box with a combination of heavy hitting and loose Pampa fielding in the Roadrunners' first win over the Braves, 16-8.

Catcher Terry Joe Haralson de-throned second baseman Ruben Strickland in the Roadrunner batting race when he shot his average up to .385 Thursday night against Burger, while Strickland fell off from .406 to .370, his round-tripper the only hit he collected in four trips to the plate.

Third baseman Bobby Seitz is right on Haralson's heels with a .381 mark while outfielders Dave Marlar and Bobby Stephens are batting at identical .318 clips.

Humphries-Blanton Say Nuptial Vows In Chapel

Dr. E. Douglas Carver officiated for the nuptial vows exchanged by Miss Helen Vinnie Humphries and Jerry David Blanton on May 21 at seven thirty in First Methodist Church Chapel.

Miss Humphries is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Humphries, northwest of the city. Mr. Blanton's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Blanton, southeast of Pampa.

Double-ring vows were repeated before a background of baskets of pink gladioli and greenery flanked by four candelabra.

Miss Jeanette Holman, organist, provided the traditional wedding music and served as accompanist for Miss Judy Pemberton as she sang "Because."

Misses Janet Osborne and Jan Blanton, sister of the bridegroom, wearing pink organza frocks over taffeta complemented with pink half-hats and pink carnation wristlets, lighted the candles at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" vow, the bride was gowned in Chantilly lace and tulle over white satin fashioned with a v-neckline edged with pearls and sequins; long tapered sleeves which came to points over the hands. The moulded bodice, which dipped to V at the waistline, flowed into a bouffant floor-length skirt of lace and tulle. Her veil of illusion was held secure to a Crown of pearlized orange blossoms entwined with lustrous pearls.

She carried a white Bible topped with gardenias encircled with white carnations showered with white-satin-ribbon streamers. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

Miss Pamela Goodlett, attended the bride as maid of honor wearing a pink frock designed with a lace bodice and a full, billowing skirt of organza. A pink half-hat complemented her frock and she carried a white fan trimmed with lace and pearls centered with an arrangement of pink carnations.

Jerry Kelly attended the bridegroom as best-man. Ushers were David Satterwhite of Breckenridge and John Lynn Goes, cousins of the bridegroom.

Miss Donna Sharp, as flower girl, wore a pink organza frock and carried a white lace flower basket. The mother of the bride, Mrs. Humphries chose a blue linen two-piece dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Blanton, selected a beige dress with Bone accessories and a pink carnation corsage for her son's wedding.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the parlor of the church, immediately following the exchange of vows. The bride's table was laid with a white lace over pink Damask cloth centered with an arrangement of pink carnations in a silver bowl with pink tapers in silver candleholders. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple encircled in orange blossoms. Heart-shaped ices floated in the pink punch. Baskets of pink gladioli flanked the fireplace.

Miss Jackie Beauchamp and Miss Dolores Rockwell presided at the cake and punch service. Miss Sharon Jordan was guest registrar. Background music was played by Miss Holman on the piano.

For a wedding trip, the bride traveled in a blue linen suit with white accessories and wore the white gardenia corsage from the center of her bouquet.

The bride was graduated from Pampa High School this year. The bridegroom was graduated from PHS in 1959 and is now employed by Eureka Well Servicing Co. They will "make" their home at 1008 W. Buckler.

BETROTHED

Miss Glenda Edna Anderson

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Anderson, 325 N. Roberto, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Glenda Edna, to Dean R. Winkomplek, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Winkomplek of Claude. The wedding is planned for August 18 in Central Baptist Church.

Miss Loftus To Model For Pan-Hellenic Party

Miss Maynette Loftus, junior student at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, will represent her sorority, Alpha Gamma Delta, as model at the Pan-Hellenic Party to be held this afternoon at three o'clock in Federation Clubhouse, Wolfin Village, Amarillo.

Miss Loftus will wear a black, pure silk sheath with white eyelet, puffed sleeves. Her costume will be complemented with black patent heels, matching bag and white gloves.

The party will honor girls who have graduated from high school and junior colleges this Spring and are planning to enroll in colleges and universities which have Greek letter sororities on campus.

Following a reducing diet is much easier during hot days. Most of us have less appetite and are refreshed only by eating slimming fruit and vegetable salads. However, beware of washing away necessary vitamins during summer months with too many iced drinks and too little food.

Robinson, bridegroom's grandmother; Mrs. W. A. Hall and Mrs. A. A. McElrath, aunts of the bride. Approximately 60 guests attended or sent gifts during the "Come and Go" hours of seven to nine p.m.

Release Of Formula Foods Available To Bring Girth And Weight Downwards

NEW YORK (UPI) — Good formulas for overweight adults, designed to appease hunger while bringing the individual steadily downward in girth and weight, are now for the first time available in New York and certain cities of the eastern seaboard.

The formulas, each in form of a powder to be added to water and substituted for meals, are described as "nutritionally adequate, pleasant tasting and encouragingly prompt in effectiveness."

Release of the formula foods, several of them made by pharmaceutical companies and one by a food company, followed closely upon publication by the Society of Actuaries of findings indicating that the "ideal weight" tables of the life insurance companies are from 20 to 30 pounds below the national average.

The charts heretofore used were in fact on an average considerably too liberal, according to Changing Times, the Kiplinger

The records of five million persons to whose estates life insurance payments had been made over a quarter of a century, were studied by the actuaries. Death rates of average, fat and slim persons was compared. Here are the results, as summarized in an article entitled "Weight Average, Start Dieting!" in the magazine section of the New York World Telegram and Sun.

For men 20 pounds above the national average (this would include many who felt themselves to be of exactly average weight for height and age under previous life insurance company recommendations), the death rate was 10 percent above average.

With 25 pounds overweight, the death rate suddenly increased to 25 percent above the national average.

With men 50 pounds overweight, the death rate was 75 percent above average.

Peg O' Pampa

THE MOST ASTOUNDING thing about this Spring (oops, nearly Summer) season is... we think... the glorious display of yucca in the fields... you really should take a Sunday afternoon drive today... and drive out just about anywhere around Pampa into the breaks and the oil fields... and you will see what we mean... friends of our report that the road to Berger is a wonderland of yucca on all sides... and not only that, but now is the time to see the beauty of the Plains when it is green from the rains we have had... soon enough the grass will be browning under hot, dry suns of Summer... but back to the yucca... seems as if this year every plant has at least two spikes of the creamy white flowers... and sometimes whole clumps... if you can't get out of town, drive by 601 North Cuyler and you will see a beautiful sample of what you would see field after field of outside the city!

ALONG GREEN grassy and green tree streets... the red roses are coming into their prime... and speaking of flowers, we saw Louise McCrery, pretty as a flower in a bright pink dress one sunny day last week... and that some morning we were out early, and noticed how cool and inviting was the yucca and trees at the "visions" at 1300 Williston... we have always liked that house and grounds around it... we always have an urge (unyielded to) up till now we must drive to run a paved road through some green-looking grass and even to trip down on it and say "amwite" but it always looks better than it feels!

The most complete revenge, is not to imitate the aggressor. — Marcus Aurelius

NOTES AND COMMENTS... well, notes anyhow... sometimes we refuse to comment on the grounds that our comments might tend to incriminate us... but usually we just blurt out a comment anyhow... a very nice party was given for June Gilbert last week... hostesses for the group of friends were Will Beck... I needa heckman... and Barbara Wagon... also honored was June's vivacious mother, Mrs. Maudie Ballew... who is visiting for the summer and the advent of a grandchild... she is, of course, from Australia... arrived by ship a week or two ago and is enjoying a first view of "the States"... Don and Marion George have joined the spray-on-the-face crowd with a handsome new boat, we understand... Marion is a marvelous swimmer, and she and Don and the boys, who swim and dive like fish, should have many pleasant weekends this summer.

WE KNOW WHAT young Stephen Waters, son of Bill and Elaine Waters, likes to eat: Cocoa Krispies cereal with fresh strawberries from his mommy's garden!... and yummy, it does sound good, doesn't it?

INCIDENTAL INTELLIGENCE... the Association of Iris Growers of America picks the "Five Iris of the Year" each year... and this year all of them are American Iris Society medal winners... one is "Cliffs of Dover"... a white beauty and "Happy Birthday"... a flamingo-pink "Lime-light"... a lemon yellow with a crinkly edge... and "Maytime"... a two-toned lilac-pink... and "Violet Harmony"... a ruffled violet... the Iris of the Year are available from iris growers who are members of the Association, often as a group for a special price... considering how beautifully the iris did here this spring, we are considering how we can grow some ourselves.

A SLINKY sleek Siamese kitten has just joined the household of John Lee and Anita Bell... their miniature dachshund has mixed feeling about this new addition... but they get along... have you driven down Hobart lately, hot and grimy in your auto, and seen with cheer or envy, according to your disposition, the splashes and fun of swimmers in the pool at the Inn?... we have, and also the boys who realize that summer is here, and they are really out of school when they first jump into the city pool... the Beaux Arts Studio Dance Recital was marvelous... and the members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha who sponsored it outdid themselves in outstanding scenery and props this year... we hear that Jeanne Willingham is going to study in California this summer... she should return refreshed and with lots of new ideas for next season.

The best instrument at the disposal of a Government wishing to persuade another Government, will always remain the spoken words of a decent man. — Jules Cambon NOTICED Jim Ward out on the diamond helping coach one of the Little League teams last week... our hats off to the men who devote their time to this sort of thing... Mary! Jones has collected her daughter, Pat, from Rice Institute this past week... seems to us that the collegians are quitting a little early this year... they used to be out two weeks after the public schools, which caused the high-school students to laugh, and classes would begin for college students about two weeks after public schools started in the Fall, causing the college students to laugh, in their turn... but not this year... teacher let all the mules out, as the old rhyme has it, at the same time.

WE TOOK A LOOK at the paintings now up in the Inn... Dr. Bill McCord has one called Vienna, which we liked... and some of the others equally interesting were Forever River, by Barbara Brandt... and Composition with Fish by Lenore Sloan... heard that many paintings have been sold as a result of being displayed there... Olive Hills has sold one... and Frances Appleby and Eleanor Anderwald... and speaking of the Inn... the new menus in the dining room have a brief history of Pampa and the Inn on the back... written by Evelyn Nace... hope visitors will find it as interesting as we did... and Helene Huff reports she had a very good time at the Omaha Writers' Conference, where she was interviewed on television, was on panel discussions and so forth... was, in short, royally received... our writers get around.

PLANNING the last we hear... Anna Lee Gordon was planning to go to New York this summer to view the exhibition of local artists' painting held beginning June fifth at the Burr Galleries... some of those being hung are the works of Ruth Huff... Ruth Smalley... Helene Huff... Ethel Elmer... Anna Lee Gordon... and Charlotte Edmondson... the list could go on and on, for there are so many talented people around here... Dard Fitz's summer classes begin June 13th... and he will offer water color in the morning... advanced portrait in the afternoon... and beginning portrait in the evening!... at the art room in Sam Houston school... sounds like fun.

MEMORIAL DAY note... about the only sign that we were having a national, important holiday, was the huge U.S. flag which was hung in splendor at the home of John Gikas... It was out at early eight a.m., and was a thrilling sight... it reminded us of the meaning of the weekend holiday, and we went about the day a little more thoughtfully... you should have seen it.

Miss Katherine Ann Williams

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Williams of Vernon, formerly of Pampa, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Katherine Ann to Curtis Don Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Foy Johnson of Lubbock. The wedding is planned for August in Paradise Street Church of Christ, Vernon. The bride-elect, a resident in Pampa for 11 years, was graduated in 1957 from Vernon High School and is a junior student in Texas Technological College majoring in Business Education. She is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. West, all of Skellytown. The prospective bridegroom was graduated from Tom S. Lubbock High School in 1957 and is a junior agriculture economics major in Texas Tech. The couple will make their home in Lubbock. (Photo, Koen

Girl Guide Captain Of South Africa Special Guest Of Girl Scout Troop 5

Mrs. Elizabeth van der Zeyde of South Africa, where Girl Guides became organized in 1910, was guest speaker at Girl Scout Troop Five Open Court of Honor and Court of Awards held recently in Girl Scout Little House, 716 E. Kingsmill.

Mrs. Zeyde, a captain in the Girl Guides of South Africa ("captain" is the equivalent for "leader" in the United States), is a temporary resident in the US with her husband, who is training in Phillips' Plant, Phillips, for a supervisor's job in a plant in South Africa similar to the one at Phillips.

Mrs. Zeyde, dressed in a dark blue Girl Guide uniform, began her speech by giving the history of ing the summer, there is too much foliage and it is very dangerous." Mrs. John Holt Jr., troop leader, presented Mrs. Zeyde with a Friendship pin from Troop Five as a remembrance of her visit to the troop.

Preceding the talk, Miss Patricia Collett presided as the flag was presented for honor by Girl Scouts Evelyn McPhillips, Rita Scholl, Natalie Skelly, and Sandra Airington. Secretary's report was given by Miss Colette; treasurer's report by Helen Moffitt; historian's report by Nancy Holt. Troop preamble and by-laws were read by Miss Judy Kito.

The meeting was then turned to Mrs. V. C. Moore and Mrs. Holt, troop leaders.

Mrs. Moore introduced Linda Moore, Natalie Skelly, Sandra Airington, Nancy Holt, Judy Kito and Barbara Holt as scouts who have attained the rank of First Class. Five year pins were presented to Mrs. Moore and Barbara Holt signifying five years service in Girl Scouts. A year star was given to other members of the troop for an added year of service.

After viewing work done during troop meetings, guests were invited to have refreshments of punch and cookies served from a table covered with a lace cloth centered with an arrangement of roses.

Special guests were Mr. van der Zeyde, Mr. and Mrs. Vadene Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Murrell Howard, all of Borger. Mrs. Fowler is vice president of Quivera Girl Scout Council; Mrs. Howard is chairman of District One and Mr. Howard is

Latest in Women's Shoe Fashions

RUTH MILLETT

A psychologist (a man, obviously) says that a sophisticated, mature woman will find one simple style that suits her and stick to it instead of quickly adopting every latest fashion whether it is especially becoming or not.

If he's right, a few of us women can qualify for being sophisticated, mature women. For whatever our age, most of us are push-overs for the latest fashion.

Oh, we may hold out for a little while and tell our friends that we just aren't going in for a fashion that at first glance leaves us cold. But the first time we go to a party and feel conspicuously dowdy because everyone but us is right in style, we are more than ready for a new look. We just can't bear to be different.

And then, too, being feminine we love change. One style may be more becoming to us than any other, but we tire of it quickly anyhow.

That is why we do our best to look sweet and girlish one season, sophisticated the next, and boyish the season after that.

We get as much of a kick out of trying to change our personalities by changing the style of our clothes and our hairdos as we do by pushing furniture around the living room for the simple reason that we are tired of looking at it, as it is.

And fortunately our men don't seem to mind. Oh, they set up a howl now and then when a fashion is too hideous (like the sack dress) but most of the time our quick changes seem to amuse them and they like to have us dressed in the latest fashion.

Maybe they don't want us to be "sensible" any more than we crave to be sensible. So there's probably no reason for us to worry about not being sophisticated, mature women who have sense enough to find a becoming fashion and stick with it.

Change is much dearer to the feminine heart — and a lot more fun, to boot.

Bunions, Blues, Bad Breath Create Big Business Costing Billions

Woman To Woman
By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — This is a story about billions of dollars American families spend in a year to chase bunions, blues and bad breath.

It is a story about the way little purchases for personal consumption items mount into the big dollar figures — practically without an awareness on the part of the consumer.

All told, we spend $10.4 billion a year on alcoholic beverages, the king on the list of personal consumption expenditures.

Next in line is tobacco products and smokers' accessories. The figure is $5.8 billion a year.

Greeting cards take the next big chunk out of the family budget nationwide, accounting for $341 million a year.

Fourth on the list is chewing gum — $304 million a year.

Headaches and other painful subjects gobble up the fifth spot on the personal consumption parade. We spend $294 million a year for preparations designed to dull head and other pains.

The common cold is in sixth position, financially speaking. We spend $264 million a year to send the cold and its symptoms flying head over heels.

Cleanliness, with a head start, takes the seventh position on the list of personal consumption items. We spend $146 million a year for shampoos.

The rest of our personal consumption expenditures, in descending order, is spent as follows:

—For laxatives and cathartics, $145 million.
—For ball point pens and pencils, $144 million.
—For face creams, $106 million.
—For hair spray fixatives, $82 million.
—For home permanent kits and refills, $79 million.

—For lipsticks, $76 million.
—For toilet water and cologne, $65 million.
—For mouth washes and gargles, $54 million.
—For stomach sweeteners — antacids — $51 million.
—For reducing preparations, $37 million.

The rest of the list includes such items as playing cards — $35 million; dog and cat medications, $14 million and wave set preparations — $5.5 million.

The list comes by way of Mary Lasker, chairman of the National Health Education Committee. Mrs. Lasker has gathered together these items to make a point about the "little" amount of money being spent for medical research.

Wesleyan Service Has Pledge Rites

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've been married to Red for eleven years. We have moved 89 times. He gets himself a job and pretty soon he is restless and wants to move again. I had a daughter by a previous marriage and when she was 16 she married just to get out of all this moving around. It didn't work out so now she is back with me and I am going to be a grandma.

I divorced Red last year and remarried him five days after the divorce became final. Now I am suing him for divorce again. My lawyer said I had so many grounds he didn't know which one to use.

Abby, maybe I am crazy, but with all Red's faults I think I just love the skunk. Maybe it isn't love, but I am so used to him, I am miserable without him. Should I try to live without him or take him back?

LOVE THE SKUNK
DEAR LOVE: I think you two miserable people need each other. You know you want me to tell you to take him back. So take him back — if you think it's nice to have a skunk around the house.

DEAR ABBY: I have been engaged for nearly a year and plan to be married in the fall. I have reason to believe that my fiancée is using narcotics. I am afraid if this is so, our marriage has failed before it has started. Please tell me where I can go for help?

NO NAME, PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: First, ask your fiancée whether your suspicions are correct. If they are, it is HE who needs help. Addiction to narcotics CAN be cured. There are two Federal Hospitals for drug addicts: one in Lexington, Ky., and the other in Fort Worth, Texas. Patients who want to enter voluntarily are welcome.

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a 44-year-old man who always holds his wife's 17-year-old niece on his lap? I am sending you his picture. Please send it back.

Thank you.

WOLF'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: I am returning your husband's picture. Now if you send me one of the 17-year-old niece, I could probably give you a better answer.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NEEDS TO KNOW": You have been misinformed. There is no law which compels unmarried mothers to give up their babies for adoption. See your Family Service Association.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Abby's best-selling book, "Dear Teen-ager", is on sale at all bookstores.

Mrs. Blackmore
Receives Honor

CANADIAN (SpI) — Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Eta Iota chapter, held its annual Mother's Day tea in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church recently.

Mrs. Dickie Barton, president, welcomed guests and recognized new pledges of the sorority. Mrs. E. H. Morris, educational director, presented a silver tea service, which is to be given each year to the "outstanding chapter member selected by ballot, to Mrs. Loren Blackmore, past president of the sorority.

Mrs. Bud Hoobler gave a review of the book, "The Family Nobody Wanted" by Helen Doss. Approximately 135 members and guests attended the affair. Members of the entertainment committee were Mmes. Dub Nouchin, Harry McEwen, James Snyder, J. D. Beasire, and Jake Keim.

Club Entertained By Mrs. J. C. Sims

PERRYTON (SpI) — Wednesday bridge club met in the home of Mrs. J. C. Sims for dessert and bridge. The white linen-covered tables were accented by vari-colored roses.

Mrs. Gilbert Mize won high for guests, and Mrs. Josh Hopkins took high for members.

Other members present were Mmes. Roy Sanford, Clifton Bell, Dean McCutcheon, and Giltner-Lester. Guests included Mmes. Jake Dunkle, Donald Ellis, Bob Close, Charlie Pyles, Pete Eastup, and Bill Hopkins.

Needle Club Has Salad Luncheon

GROOM (SpI) — Mrs. Frank Burgh entertained the Friendship Needle Club recently in her home.

Following a salad luncheon, needlework and visitation comprised the social hours.

Guests were Mrs. Jack Martin and daughter Sheila; Master Kirk Cline, Mrs. J. B. Shockley and Mrs. W. S. Jones.

Members attending were Mmes. Verna Whatley, Jodie Helm, Margie Emery, Alice Ward, Willie Ragdale, Eulice Monroe, Blanch Gray, Norene Culver, R. F. Fields, Hannah Keeter and J. C. Eschle.

Swimsuits are cut even below the waist at the back for summer. A belt holds them in place. But in front, the neckline is high and modest.

It was announced that the next meeting will be with Mrs. J. C. Eschle.

Business And Professional Women's Club To Convene In Houston State Meeting

Mrs. Louise Bushnell

HOUSTON — State convention speakers for the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club have been announced for the annual session scheduled for June 10, 11, 12th in Houston at the Rice Hotel.

Mrs. Louise Bushnell, pictured here, who is Director of Programs for the Women's Organization of the National Association of Manufacturers, will address the assembly on Friday evening, June 10th on the subject of "Where Liberty Dwells — There is My Country."

The New York guest speaker has an enviable record of educational and professional achievements. She was educated in New York City and holds a degree from the University of Lausanne, Switzerland, has taught French in Connecticut and New York, but she has gained her experience as a public speaker as a lecturer during World War II. She worked with the office of strategic services, both in Washington, D.C. and New York and for two years was Chief of the US Ordinance Information Service, District of New York.

Mrs. Bushnell is a recognized lecturer on the lay aspects of cancer for the American Cancer Society, Inc., of which she was an officer. She represented the Society in Public Relations, Education and the development of information programs on cancer. She shared in the planning and publicity of surveys and film promotions for this work. She looks forward to her special visit to Texas and greeting the 1200 B & P W club members, at the convention in Houston.

Sharing speaking honors with Mrs. Bushnell will be Dr. Minnie C. Miles of Tuscaloosa, Ala., who is third vice president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. She is a former president of the Alabama Federation and has completed a term as National Program Co-ordinator chairman. She is associate professor of management of the School of Commerce and Business Administration at the University of Alabama. Dr. Miles is a field consultant for George Fry Associates, a management consultant firm and the co-owner of the Colonial School of Dancing.

The "40th Birthday" for B & P W Clubs will actually form the decoration theme for the convention. Before the State Board for 1959-1960 gets into full swing this theme, however, they will have an early afternoon session to relax in the luxurious, glass-windowed boat, "Sam Houston" as it moves down the famous Houston ship channel to the historic San Jacinto battleground. Arranged through Edith Hanner, president of the Houston club and executive secretary to the Houston-Harris county Port Commission, the Port of Houston will provide the "Sam Houston". An informal luncheon will be served on the boat, beginning the three hour cruise. Mrs. O. P. White, member of the Pasadena Club, is in charge of this special courtesy to the Board.

The president's banquet will be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Rice Hotel and will honor Mrs. Hermine Tobolsky of Dallas. Workshop sessions are planned for Saturday morning and will be climaxed with special luncheon. Two workshop luncheons will be handled by Mrs. Ruth Fox, Dallas, of the Legislative Steering Committee and by Mrs. Lillian Hope, president-elect from Longview.

During the general session special recognition will be given clubs who have achieved outstanding records in health and safety, career advancement, national security, membership, and international relations.

Planning to attend the convention from Pampa will be delegates Jewell Dean Lewis, Nell Tinnin, Brenda Housley, and Vena Riley.

Agriculture Picture Brighter
 COLLEGE STATION (UPI) — The agricultural picture was brighter over much of Texas at midweek as general rains and scattered showers fell on many areas, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reported today.
 Only minor damage from violent weather was reported as hail and high winds hit isolated areas in West Texas.
 Cotton planting was almost complete except for dryland areas of far West Texas, and replanting in the southern Panhandle and High Plains. North Texas cotton was coming up to a good stand and blooms were appearing in South Central Texas fields. Early cotton insect control is keeping many farmers busy.
 Wheat harvest is progressing rapidly in the Rolling Plains and yields were generally good. Early reports from Stonewall county revealed yields of 30 bushels per acre. Harvest had not begun in the Panhandle.
 Harvest of a light East Texas strawberry crop was complete, but a bumper crop of plums and peaches was now going to market. Watermelon vines were beginning to bloom and tomatoes were fruiting well.
 Pastures and ranges were generally in good condition throughout the state. An exception was far West Texas where range feeding is increasing as livestock condition declines.
CRAZY MAN, CRAZY
 GREENVILLE, S. C. (UPI) — A burglar broke into the School for Veterans here, stole a patterned table radio, and an empty cash box, and left a note saying he would be back. It was signed, "the crazy man."

Smart Protection

The Wall Street Journal recently presented a report on the most interesting happening in the Chicago area. It seems that the forces of legalized protection are so incapable of doing the kind of job that people want done that the Pinkerton people have had to enlarge their services. And in this case, the increased protection is taking a most unusual turn.

Every day for a number of months, Pinkerton men will drive out onto the highway in a brand new 1960 automobile, which vehicle will be distinguished by the visible evidence of a Pinkerton shield emblem on the door.

A ten-mile stretch of the highway will be his beat. He will patrol the ten miles looking for truck drivers who violate either highway regulations or the regulations of the private companies which hire the drivers.

He'll make a check of all road spots along the ten-mile route, whenever he sees a truck stopped. This way he can find out if any of the drivers are stopping off anywhere for a "quick one." He can also find out if the truckers are carrying passengers, which is against all company rules, if they tend to speed, pass on curves, hog the road, or crowd up too closely to preceding vehicles.

A campaign is underway by some two dozen Midwest trucking companies which is aimed, candidly, at reducing insurance costs. There is a prodigious loss incurred by trucking firms from accident and theft. Indeed, the rates are so high now that insurance premiums in this area come to 4.11 per cent of all trucking revenues, up from 3.75 per cent ten years ago.

To give you an idea of what those percentage figures mean in dollars, the DeRosa Transportation Company spent more than $60,000 last year in premiums. In this case it ran to a per cent of their gross business. With 60 trucks operating in 1959, DeRosa experienced 40 accidents and a number of cases where cargo was stolen.

The new service from Pinkerton will cost DeRosa about $3 per month per truck. The low rate is made possible by the fact that some 315 truck operators are doing business in Illinois are joining to-

Private Insurance

We hear it said repeatedly, that social security was a NECESSARY measure.

Those who continually make this claim, assert with some emotional vigor that human beings are too stupid to look after themselves and that, therefore, the government OF NECESSITY had to get into the insurance business. Everyone needs insurance, they tell us, and because people are too stupid to look after themselves, a program of compulsory insurance was mandatory.

Leaving out of the discussion, for the moment, the question of whether social security is insurance or simply a disguised form of income tax, let us consider this proposition of necessity.

To begin with, the Institute of Life Insurance gives us some interesting figures. We are informed by this research organization that private life insurance is widely owned by persons who are already receiving social security payments. Seven out of every ten couples getting a take-off from the compulsively collected social security tax, have private policies averaging $1,814 with 10 percent of the couples carrying $5,000 or more.

Half of the single retired workers and half of the widows receiving government dole are also privately insured.

In mother-widowhood groups 99 out of 100 receive the year and nearly two out of three life insurance. Life insurance was owned by at least one member in almost four-fifths of the cases, averaging $2,590 and totalling $5,000 or more in 14 percent of the cases.

Apparently, as the figures stand, there are more people willing and able to look after themselves than the supporters of this NECESSITY idea like to admit. And one could over at the outset. That is the well afford to ask how much more private insurance could have been purchased and held in force, had these same people not been obliged to part with so much of their income by the force of law and a number of the social security acts, held in the social security act, invests the money received from the policy holder in all kinds of collection agencies.

Looking Sideways

by WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — It may not work for anyone else but us, but I have to confess that since taking up Andy Griffith's System For Making Things Happen By Doing Something Else Altogether Different, my life has changed. For months I wanted to talk to Richard Rodgers, the composer, and we never could fit our times. I made a date with lovely Mary Ure for Monday afternoon at 3 and, sure enough, Mr. Rodgers became available at exactly that time and that day. There are many other evidences. It is the greatest philosophical idea since, probably, Dr. Coze.

Naturally, when things begin to fall into place for you, you like to thank the man who gave you the idea. I went backstage at "Destry Rides Again" to thank Andy Griffith. You know Griffith — Mr. Bucolic of 1960. He just shuffled his feet when I thanked him, hung his head and said: "Stucks, it wasn't anything really."

Actually, it is something. It began with him one night when he tried to find a cab to go to work and none was in sight. He shrugged and decided to take the subway and was just starting down the subway stairs when three cabs appeared like magic and he had a choice.

"That was when it hit me," he said. "I saw the thing in its full light. Did you ever see your old car sink across the floor on its belly, real down flat? It thinks that you can't see it when it travels that way. Give me an idea: I started to sink away from things that weren't happening and they happened. Let's say you are waiting for someone to call you on the phone. Darned thing just won't ring. It just won't. No use to bite your nails and fret. Just chuck off your clothes and get into the bathtub. The second that water gets to your armpits — the phone will ring. And it will be the person you wanted to have call you."

"Any other proofs?" "Department stores," he said. "You go into one of those blam-ed big things and no one even looks at you. You are in a hurry and feel like a fool. No one comes near you. Just to keep from looking too silly, you say sort of casually, 'Well, I was just looking,' and, sure enough, five sales people come thundering at you. More than you could beat off with a stick. Now when I go into one of those stores and I'm in a hurry I look at the first sales person I see and say, 'Honey, don't jump. I'm just looking.' And she'll insist, sales book in hand, and jump on waiting on me."

"Does it work for parties?" "It does, but a little investment is required. It works like a charm. You know, some nights you just have to go to a party and no one has invited you to one. It eats at you. You remember a book you have been dying to read. You go out and buy it for $4.95, go back home, loosen your belt, undo your tie, plump a pillow on the sofa and start reading. The telephone begins to ring with 'ANDY, WHERE HAVE YOU BEEN?' Tried to reach you everywhere. We're giving a big party over here. Now, throw on your coat and come right over. I've had that happen four times in one night just by buying a book I was dying to read."

"Mostly about packages," he said. "Like she is expecting a package to be delivered and the delivery man just doesn't show up. The hours pass and she is frustrated. But not any more. She just leaves the house that day and there it is — wham. The man comes with the package exactly when he said he would. Right on the dot. To the minute. Of course, she isn't there to receive it. But that's not the point. The point is that she has made them come with it on time. She finds the note when she gets home: 'Tried to deliver parcel. Back tomorrow at noon.' Next day, she leaves the house in a doorway down the street and when she sees them show up she sprints back to our place and gets the package."

"How about buses that never come?" "Easiest thing of all," said Andy. "Just light a cigarette. You won't get two puffs before the way they show up. And the way to keep children indoors? Build a nice, expensive, fully equipped play space in the backyard. You can't pry them out of the house."

Try it. AGSMTHDSAD works great!

Government compels a citizen to make his social security payment, the government takes the money and pours it into one of a thousand different rat-holes and the money is gone forever. The only way the money can ever be recaptured is thru the use of more force, more guns and higher taxes.

On three counts it would seem that social security compulsory payments are UNNECESSARY. It works out that people are NOT stupid, that private insurance companies are BIG, and that money which is invested and thus provides jobs and a rising standard of living everywhere, is much superior to the government insurance racket.

The Allen-Scott Report

INCREASED DEFENSE BUDGET LIKELY AS AFTERMATH OF U-2, SOVIET CHILL

WASHINGTON — A $1 to $1.5 billion increase in the new defense budget is now strongly in prospect in the Senate as a consequence of the U-2 spy-plane incident and the collapse of the summit conference.

That has been definitely agreed on by leaders of the powerful Senate Appropriations and Armed Services Committees.

After several private discussions, they decided that the ominous intensification of the Soviet bloc's cold war against the U.S. makes it urgently necessary to expand the $39.4 billion military budget voted by the House last month.

A major item in these proposed additional funds is for the airborne alert of the Strategic Air Command — the key deterrent striking force of the West.

President Eisenhower recommended $5 billion for this purpose. General Thomas Power, SAC commander, asked Congress for upwards of $500 million. The House approved $200 million.

The Senate leaders intend to increase that, but are still considering how much.

Other "boosts being deliberated are: Additional nuclear submarines armed with the intermediate range POLARIS ballistic missile.

A five-year program to modernize the Army's weapons and equipment, particularly in armor and fire power.

More funds for the Army's NIKÉ-ZEUS anti-missile missile. Speed-up of development of the B-70 bomber, vigorously sought by the Air Force but not included in the President's budget.

ADVISING IKR — President Eisenhower got some unexpected advice in his meeting with the bipartisan leaders of Congress to report on what happened at the ill-fated summit conference.

In the course of his account, the President singled out Britain and France for warm praise in supporting the U.S. in the U-2 spy-plane furore.

"Don't forget Pakistan," broke in House Democratic Leader John McCormack, Mass. "Its officials also stood firmly behind us, and they did so in the face of vicious Russian threats. The Pakistan Prime Minister, after getting a violent warning from Moscow, announced he was looking into the plane matter, and then heartily acclaimed our country as a true and loyal ally and steadfast friend. It took a lot of courage to do that, and we should not forget it."

"You are absolutely right," spoke up Senator Styles Bridges, N.H., chairman of the Republican Policy Committee. "Pakistan stood solidly with us in this crisis, and we must keep that very much in mind."

These pointed comments are particularly important as Pakistan is seeking $50 million in additional economic aid, but the State Department is cool toward that.

Also during this White House meeting, the President was a bystander in a discussion among the Senate leaders over the advisability of setting up a special committee to keep a close check on the Central Intelligence Agency. This senatorial exchange followed his warning that "Any investigation of CIA must keep uppermost in mind that our Intelligence system could be compromised by disclosing too much about it."

"Perhaps it would be desirable," said Senator Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.), "to establish an overall committee, made up of members of the Foreign Relations, Armed Services and Appropriations Committees, to scrutinize the CIA."

Ike To Miss Visit Like A Broken Leg

What a pity! I could almost cry for Ike's sake. Think of what a lovely, lovely trip Ike is going to miss, now that Mr. Khrushchev has withdrawn his invitation for the President to visit him in Russia in June.

Can you imagine any more gracious home to visit than that of Mr. Khrushchev? Can you think of another man so endowed by nature to be a gracious, charming, warm, generous and hospitable host?

Now we will never be able to hear the friendly speech that Mr. Khrushchev most certainly would have delivered when Ike first stepped on Russian soil — a speech that, judging from his courtly manners, probably would have gone like this:

"Welcome to the greatest, mightiest country in the world, you war-mongering capitalist! You're frown out you, Mr. President, while you are here and I'll let those missiles on your mad dog country, and the rest of the free world."

"Tonight, Mr. President, in your honor, we are hanging you in effigy from a pole in front of the Kremlin. And, by the way, who are those dreadful little children who came off the plane with you? Your grandchildren? Nastily little brats, aren't they? Can't touch Russian children. But enough of this welcome. Come, let's get in the car and be off to the Kremlin."

"Some car, eh? Much better than any car you have in the United States. It should be though, considering that Russia invented the motor car."

How Mr. Eisenhower's heart would have sung as he rode through the streets, his host gaily shaking his fist in his (Ike's) face, and pointing out the American flags flying upside down and the bright signs denouncing America as the land of the capitalists.

And don't you know that Mr. Khrushchev's home is one that makes the guest feel as if he were wanted — a wanted fugitive?

Think of the jollity of the dining room, with first Mr. K, and then one after another of his fellow charmers, proposing death and destruction to the United States in toast after toast.

Oh, there can be little doubt that Mr. K is one of the world's most accomplished hosts. His manners are Chesterfieldian, his speeches mild and easy-going. God will exude from every pore, and his hearty smile is enough to warm the cockles of the heart of well, a cockle.

Think of the lovely gifts he would have bestowed on President Eisenhower. A lock of Fuch's hair when the traitor was a young physics student. A paperweight made of the bullet that was taken from Berlin blockade in effect.

Again, what a pity the trip has been called off.

President Eisenhower undoubtedly would have returned from Moscow refreshed and strengthened. Ten days with such a cordial friend could not have failed to have been beneficial.

Maybe Mr. K will ask Ike another time. He is always taking the initiative, you know.

Everybody's Money

By MERYLE STANLEY RUKESYER

A reader who believes he has already achieved the goals he had in mind when he took out a series of life insurance policies, as a young man writes to ask whether to discontinue his program.

"I have a life insurance problem," he writes. "I have $50,000 in straight life, of which $10,000 is U.S. Government insurance. I intend to keep the latter as it is cheap and will defray the bills with which my estate will be confronted. I am 63 and must earn and save for my less productive years. Would you approve of my taking the cash value out of these policies and investing the proceeds in mutual funds and in good stocks for a better return? My wife does not need this insurance, my children are self-supporting and my parents, who lived past 85, are no longer around."

As an advocate of life insurance as a keystone in every man's estate building, I do not glibly advise casting aside old policies. Sometimes they contain important vested rights, including a higher rate of guaranteed return than new policies and liberal optional settlement arrangements. Even in this case, where the insurable needs have tended to become almost non-existent, the insured should have a competent life insurance underwriter analyze his policies before he voluntarily relinquishes them.

One matter to be explored is whether he can use the existing policies to give himself an annuity income for life under the optional settlements, without the expense of writing a new and less favorable annuity contract.

While the income return on mutual funds and selected common stocks might be higher eventually than the insurance company interest earnings, the investor should bear in mind that the promise of a higher income entails broadened economic risks. An inexperienced person should think twice before going on a cafeteria, do-it-yourself, investing basis, instead of continuing to have his funds managed by experts working for the life insurance companies.

If the individual wants equities — common stocks — instead of fixed-dollar investments, he can proceed with the help of specialists through participating in the common trusts operated by banks and trust companies, in closed-end investment companies, and in mutual funds including the "no load" funds operated as a by-product of investment counsel firms.

Nowadays progressive life insurance companies are lessening the incentive to discontinue old policies through riders and other devices which enable policyholders to insure the growing cash surrender value of policies in addition to the face value of the death claim.

One group of companies, for an added premium, enables the insured to get back at time of death the sum total of regular premium payments made in addition to the face value of the policy. Another batch of companies enables policyholders, for an added premium, automatically to acquire additional increasing term policies equal to the cash surrender value of the permanent insurance policy whether it be ordinary life, 20-payment life or endowment. This new flexibility obviates the need for a young person, contemplating long-term contracts of life insurance, to undertake to guess his own life span. Obviously, if the individual was to be short-lived, the premium dollar would buy most coverage through term policies. On the other hand, the net insurance cost for the long-lived is less if permanent insurance is purchased.

THINK-A-THON

It's exciting to see an idea grow and take hold. The idea is as old as civilized history, but in modern preoccupation with other things, this column has been one of the few to encourage "pausing for reflection."

Robert Frost recently took up the theme, and through him it reached a seventh-grade teacher in Los Angeles. The teacher introduced it to her class — and now a room full of 12-year-olds sets aside part of each day for meditation.

They call it a "Think-a-thon," and its purpose is to train young minds for creative thinking. The thoughts emerging from their pauses range from whimsy to wisdom. Some are paste, some are pearls. But the exciting thing is that youngsters are learning to respect meditation!

Said one of the boys in this remarkable class: "We live in a time when new ideas are thought of every day. Many of these ideas are based on the great thoughts of the past, but we have to think them over and over again if we are to learn anything from them."

Has it ever been said better? This young teacher and class have started something! Who knows — pausing for reflection may be the discipline that starts a new day for mankind! Try it!

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Sunday, June 5, the 157th day of the year, with 209 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history: In 1723, Adam Smith, Scottish economist, was born.

In 1865, the hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," was sung for the first time, at a parish festival held in Hockbury, England.

In 1872, at the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia, Ulysses S. Grant and Henry Wilson were nominated for the presidency and vice presidency.

In 1876, visitors to the centennial exposition at Philadelphia tasted their first bananas.

In 1898, Madame Chiang Kai-shek was born.

Thought for today: Scottish economist Adam Smith said: "The real price of everything, what everything really costs to the man who wants to acquire it, is the toil and trouble of acquiring it."

where automobile insurance is mandatory, there are a few, nevertheless, uninsured drivers riding around. This discrepancy arises from failure of policyholders, who have filed certificates of insurance with the state, to continue to meet premium payments. When a company cancels insurance for non-payment, it notifies the state motor vehicle authorities, but in practice there is a time lag of weeks before steps are taken to revoke the license.

It would be in the public interest to expedite this disciplinary procedure.

(Mr. Rukesyer will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self-addressed envelopes should be sent in care of this newspaper. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

FREE TIME FOR CANDIDATES? (N.Y. Daily News)

A bill which at first glance looks praiseworthy, public-spirited and all that is being discussed before a Senate Commerce subcommittee. If enacted, it would require the three television networks to give eight hours of prime evening time during the Presidential campaign to the major parties' candidates.

Such a "great debate" would be interesting and desirable. But the proposal that Congress make it compulsory seems dangerous to us.

For one thing, it looks like a government grab of property without due process of law. For another, it looks like the proverbial camel's nose inserted in the tent, with the whole camel — meaning government dictation of TV and radio programs, followed by government supervision of newspaper contents, eventually inching himself into the tent and crowding poor old Miss American Liberty out.

We hope Congress will file and forget this proposal.
