RALPH THOMAS
winds up 30 years
Veteran Gray County Agent
to Be Retired

County Agricultural Agent Ralph Thomas will retire August 1, according to an announcement made today by W. W. Grisham, Jr., circuit extension agent of Amarillo.

Thomas has served Gray County since May 1, 1930, with the exception of four years he was on military leave during WWI and 21 months during the Korean Conflict. He was serving with the 1st Cavalry Division.

Foster Whaley, county agricultural agent for Armstrong County past seven years, has accepted county agent's post in Gray County, effective August 1, according to Grisham.

Whaley's appointment has been proved by the Gray County Commissioners Court, according to Judge William J. Craig. Whaley went to Armstrong County January 1, 1953, from Gray County where he was acting county agent. He also worked in the Carson County Agent's office as assistant agent-in-training prior to going to Gray County. He is a graduate of Texas A&M.

Thomas conducted the first terminating demonstrations on the High Plains of Gray County in the summer of 1930. Other demonstrations were conducted in the McLean area early next year, and over 5,000 acres of crop land was terminated under Thomas' supervision. His report shows that 37,500 acres were farmed on the contour by the end of 1937.

Thomas says that he always took time to do 4-H Club work from the time he arrived until the

Leftists Protest Ike Visit

Screaming Mobs In Tokyo Streets

TOKYO (UPI) — Tens of thousands of leftist demonstrators besieged Premier Nobusuke Kishi in the Parliament building for more than 12 hours today, attacked police with rocks and then marched on the American Embassy screaming against President Eisenhower's planned visit.

More than 1,000 policemen massed in front of the main gate of the embassy to block any attempt to smash into the embassy compound. The demonstrators didn't try. Instead they snake-danced past yelling anti-Eisenhower slogans.

The left-wing opponents of the U.S.-Japanese security treaty equipped with Communist party sound trucks shouted demands for Kishi's resignation and for President Eisenhower to cancel his June visit.

After passing the American embassy the huge throng began streaming toward Tokyo's main railway station many blocks away where they planned to disperse and board commuter trains that would take them back home. By then more than 100,000 had thronged.

Police said 10 police were injured, two seriously, in the first volley of stones from the fanatical Zengakuren students' federation. They feared more injuries before the rioters could be brought under control.

The students demanded Eisenhower cancel his trip to Japan. But government officials said there was no thought of asking him to cancel or postpone the trip.

Texas Tally 9.5 Million

By BRYCE MILLER
United Press International

With only three counties left to be counted, there's every indication today the 1960 census will turn up around 9.5 million persons in Texas and trigger a torrid fight in the state legislature next year.

Preliminary figures have been released on 251 of the state's 254 counties and according to a United Press International tabulation, the final count should show an increase in population of something like 1.8 million over the 1950 total of 7,711,194.

At Austin, state officials declined to comment on the census, but one thing was certain. The legislature will be compelled to redistrict during its next session. It will probably touch off the biggest battle of the session, except for taxes, with the rural bloc trying to keep the city boys from bringing control of the legislature.

The unofficial UPI tabulation showed 8,072,741 Texans counted with only populous Harris (Houston) County, and neighboring Galveston and Fort Bend Counties still out.

The combined total of the three missing counties in 1950 was 930,822. Added to the total of the others, it would make 9,023,563. Harris county is expected to increase some 400,000 pushing the total to 9,423,563. And that doesn't take into account expected increases in Galveston and Fort Bend, and the additional counts underway in many counties to help verify the preliminary totals.

Unofficially, it is estimated that Texas will gain two U.S. Congressmen. These will probably go to the cities, which have been gaining, and rural areas, for the most part, decreasing in population. Dallas-Fort Worth would get one.

Conroe Triple Auto Crash Fatal To Four

CONROE (UPI) — A head-on crash between three automobiles on a broad, unobstructed section of U. S. 75 south of Conroe Wednesday night killed four persons and seriously hurt three others.

An investigating officer said today that the road was clear; the view was open, there just was not any reason for it.

The victims were:

Thomas B. Westbrook, 55, a Houston cemetery developer and real estate broker, who was returning from a business trip to Conroe.

Mrs. Frances Rucker, 29, of Galena Park, a Houston suburb, who was riding in a car driven by her husband; her son, Matthew D. Rucker, 7-months, who was crushed in his mother's arms.

And Mrs. Carrie Taylor-Schaffer, 64, of Dickinson, Tex., an aunt of Mrs. Rucker, who was accompanying the family on a trip to visit relatives in Madisonville.

Rucker, 31, and his other two sons, Michael, 8, and Paul, 5, all died.

County Grand Jury Returns Eight Indictments Wednesday

The Gray County Grand Jury returned eight indictments Wednesday afternoon, three of them against the accused members of an oil field theft ring that was broken up here last week. Indictments on three charges each were Russell E. Glover, P. E. Collier and Geral Garrison.

District Attorney Bill Waterhouse said he thought the grand jury was now through with the ring, unless, of course, authorities bring more charges against the accused members.

The grand jury set bond at $3,000 for each man on each indictment.

The first indictment that was returned Wednesday was for the April 23 theft of 2½ inch pipe belonging to the Mobil Oil Co. This indictment was against G. L. Collier and Garrison.

Leon Wilson Malone, another accused member, was indicted on two other charges.

The grand jury set bond at $3,000 for each man on each indictment.

The first indictment that was returned Wednesday was for the April 23 theft of 2½ inch pipe belonging to the Mobil Oil Co. This indictment was against G. L. Collier and Garrison.

The trio was accused with stealing 2,850 feet of the pipe tubing valued at $855.

The second indictment also included Malone. It was for the May 3 theft of 3,064 feet of the same type of tubing which was valued at $319.20.

The tubing belonged to the Gulf Oil Corp.

A third indictment was against all four men, charging them with the May 2 theft of 6,165 feet of one-inch line pipe from Mrs. W. D. Kelley. This pipe was valued at $1,223.

District Attorney Bill Waterhouse said he thought the grand jury was now through with the ring, unless, of course, authorities bring more charges against the accused members.

The grand jury also returned five other indictments Wednesday. Lloyd Franklin Mays and Marion Henry Fuller were indicted for breaking and entering a truck March 30.

Dion Grissom and Arthur McKinney were indicted for house burglary. Glendon Gene Harvey (See JURY, Page 2)

President Says Pressure Caused Summit Failure Gives Backing To Probe Of Events

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower said today Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev may have scuttled the summit conference under "pressure by the Stalinists and the Chinese 'Reds.'

The President made the statement after a special breakfast for congressional leaders at which he threw his "wholehearted" support behind a Senate investigation of events leading up to the summit collapse.

In discussing possible pressure on Khrushchev, the President told Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), of the Senate Armed Services Committee. That is something we ought to think about.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson and Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which starts its closed-door hearings Friday, both said Eisenhower gave his full support to the inquiry.

The President said the course of the conduct of study (in Congress) met with his "wholehearted" approval and would receive his cooperation," Johnson said. "I think we all agree that we are in this together and we will treat mistakes as errors and the thing we're all interested in is America's solidarity."

Russell said the President went beyond his Wednesday night speech when he spoke of the need for continued businesslike negotiations with Russia and defended the U-2 flights over Russia as necessary to prevent surprise attack.

The breakfast conference began at 8 a.m. and lasted until 9:25 a.m. when Eisenhower walked out on the north portico of the executive mansion between Russell and Johnson.

Eisenhower obviously was talking about Khrushchev and said to Russell, "He may be under pressure by the Stalinists and the Chinese."

Sen. Mike Mansfield, Democratic whip, said the subject of "pressures" on Khrushchev did not come up at the breakfast table, but that Eisenhower made a frank report and expressed approval of the inquiry being made.

Fulbright said "the President agreed with him that it would be a mistake for the Republicans and Democrats to try and compete in denouncing the Russians and accusing each other of softness toward communism."

The senator said such a course would endanger future negotiations with the Russians by freezing the attitudes of leaders in both parties and making a moderate approach impossible.

The American Legion Auxiliary will sponsor its annual Poppy Day sales program here Saturday, sales chairman Mrs. Clay Coston has announced.

The poppies are worn in honor of the American soldiers who were killed or wounded in two world wars and the Korean conflict.

The poppies are made by disabled veterans at a hospital near San Angelo. Proceeds from the sale will go to either veterans or their families. See picture elsewhere on page.

General To Wait On Sidelines Available For Party Draft

ALBANY (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is taking a long shot chance Vice President Richard M. Nixon's bandwagon may be upset before the Republican national convention picks a candidate for president.

The 51-year-old governor said Wednesday he was available for a draft even though he did not expect one and that he had no intention of being an active candidate. He conceded Nixon virtually had the nomination locked up.

Supporters of Rockefeller pointed out that while his announcement was not surprising, it made certain his availability should Nixon stub his toe or there was a drastic change in Republican thinking before convention delegates meet in July.

The governor's "open door" position is backed by Republican leaders who will control 96 delegates to the convention. They have decided to go to Chicago.

"There is no reason why we should close and bolt the door in this rapidly changing world," one Rockefeller backer said. "It's a long shot, but you can never tell what will happen."

Reservations may be made by phoning the chamber office, 4-3811.

C-47 Strayed Due To Incorrect Data

By WILLIAM A. BRIDGES
United Press International

WIESBADEN, Germany (UPI) — The pilot of a U.S. C-47 that was forced down in East Germany last week said today inaccurate wind information from Copenhagen caused him to stray accidentally over the Iron Curtain.

The pilot, Capt. James Lundy, Findlay, Ohio, told a news conference that six Soviet MiG jet fighters forced the plane down by firing machinegun bursts.

Lundy flew the plane back to Wiesbaden Wednesday with four other crewmen and four passengers. They had been held by the Communists in East Germany since they were made to land in a cornfield Friday.

"We were told the winds were easterly and instead there were strong westerly winds," said Lundy, interviewed at U.S. Air Force European headquarters here.

The 42-year-old pilot was grounded by the Air Force pending an investigation.

"I expected this," said Lundy. "It's a routine in the Air Force in a case like this."

Asked about an Air Force statement that he had violated "pertinent flying direction," Lundy replied: "I don't know what that means. In my opinion everything was satisfactory."

Lundy said he had been preparing to contact Hamburg airport by radio when he was intercepted by Soviet jet fighters.

"We heard blasts of machinegun fire," Lundy said. "They could have hit us if they had wanted to. There was no doubt in my mind we were to land."

"The MiGs continued to fly overhead and after about five minutes the East German police came. They told us to put our billboards on the ground and raise our hands. We were all searched, except Mrs. McCash."

95 MPH Winds Rip North Texas

By United Press International

Winds up to 95 miles an hour combined with crackling electrical storms Wednesday night to unroot buildings, smash parked airplanes and disrupt power across North Texas. The U.S. Weather Bureau said thunderstorms would be limited mostly to East and South Texas today.

The hardest hit region was in the Dallas-Garland area. Two private aircraft, a Piper Super Cruiser and a Cessna 170 were demolished at the Garland Airport. Five other planes were damaged and another was picked up and blown onto a nearby busy highway 100 feet from where it was moored.

At least four tornado funnels were sighted, but apparently none touched the ground.

A light plane disappeared over Mineral Wells at the height of the storm and was still unheard from today.

Some light showers still fell early today in South Central Texas with considerable cloudiness reported over South Central and Southeast Texas but mostly fair in other sections. The low temperatures early today was 51 degrees at Wink.

The Weather Bureau said if expected some scattered showers in the southern portion of Texas today and along the coast through Friday.

The plane reported missing over Mineral Wells contacted the Federal Aviation Agency and asked landing instructions about 7:03 p.m. The FAA said its dispatcher got only the plane's registration number—1829C—then silence.

Shortly before the stoning began a brief scuffle broke out when a Communist Party loud-speaker truck blared out, "Let's go to the American embassy." The scuffle resulted because many thought the Communists were trying to break up the demonstration.

decreased from 10,000 to 7,481 in the same district.

Lufkin, the largest town in the district, jumped from 15,135 to 17,532 while Huntsville showed a similar gain from 9,820 to 12,037. Other towns showing gains were Nacogdoches (12,327-12,660), Palestine (12,563-13,938), Jacksonville (18,607-9,532), Conroe (17,298-9,169), Livingston (2,865-3,385), Athens (5,195-7,945), Malakoff (1,286-1,670), Trinidad (550-627), New Waverly (410-418), Camden (1,001-1,118), Cushing (479-627) and Garrison (699-946).

Rusk, Corrigan, Frankston, Elkhart, Alto, Wells, Navasota, Brownsboro, Crockett, Grapeland, Madisonville and Willis all showed declines.

The only major city to show a decline was Galveston, which in 1960 was the largest in the state. Galveston county, which includes Texas City, is expected to show an overall increase but the island entity itself dropped from 66,568 to 65,662.

Brazoria county, in the same area, zoomed from 46,549 to 75,729.

It appears the 1960 census will mark the largest gain ever. In 1950, there were 3,048,710 Texans.

It went to 3,896,542 in 1950; 4,663,228 in 1950; 5,824,715 in 1950; and 6,414,824 in 1940.

The trend away from the farm to the city is graphically displayed in a review of the counties with the major metropolitan areas.

Dallas county, second largest in the state, to 94,513, an increase of 329,714. Bexar County (San Antonio) jumped from 300,460 to 683,262; Tarrant (Fort Worth) from 361,253 to 537,283 and El Paso soared from 194,368 to 310,338.

The new proposal, called a "salt and pepper" plan by the board, will be filed with Davidson sometime this week, according to board president Franklin E. Spafford. He called it "in keeping with the court's oral opinion."

The plan provides that pupils and parents who want integrated schools will be provided with such classes beginning in September of 1961. Those not wishing integrated instruction may attend segregated schools.

Other work includes the assistance to farmers who have drilled irrigation wells the past few years in using water to best advantage, fertilizer use and cultivation of irrigated crops.

Thomas organized the Gray County Certified Seed Association in 1955 and has obtained newly developed varieties of wheat and oats for growers as available.

He received the National County Agricultural Agents Association Distinguished Service Award in 1947. Has been a member of the Alpha Zeta Chapter of Sigma Phi, National Honorary Extension Fraternity since 1940.

He has been superintendent of Agriculture and Horticulture Department of Tri-State Fair since 1954. Has held position as Assistant Superintendent Top O' Texas Junior Livestock Show at Pampa since 1946. He was chairman of the Agriculture Committee of the Chamber of Commerce the past year.

Thomas served with Army Air Force in India during WW II. He served with the Air Force in Japan and Korea during the Korean Conflict, and was awarded Bronze Star Medal for "meritorious service" in Korea. He was active in social Reserve Units from the early thirties until his retirement from the Air Force as Lt. Col. last year.

Thomas had held the office as president of the Pampa Lions Club, as well as Zone Chairman and Deputy District Governor. At recent convention he was elected District Governor Lions International, and will take office after the International Convention in Chicago in July. He will supervise the activities of 64 Lions Clubs in the Panhandle area of Texas the coming year.

Gray County's agent-elect, Whaley, served four years during WW II in the Army, 19 months overseas. He was awarded the Purple Heart and Bronze Star medal. He saw service in England, France, Luxembourg, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Belgium and Italy.

Armstrong County had been without an Agricultural Agent two years when Whaley accepted the position.

Agent Whaley met his wife, Mary Lois Spalding, while she was teaching school at Panhandle. They were married August 11, 1951. Mrs. Whaley also taught the Goodnight school system before it closed. She is a native of Sanger, Texas, and Whaley was reared at Saint Jo, Texas. They have two children, Christie Ann, age 5 and Wayne Jay, age 3. SUPPER DISH

Canadian-style bacon, and hot potato salad go well together. It's an easy supper combination.

Recipe Has Distinctive Touch Of Simple Meal Elegantly Prepared

Too often homemakers are guilty of making meals for their families which although hearty and nutritious lack eye-appeal. There's the feeling that prettily arranged dishes are time consuming and to be made only when guests come for dinner.

This recipe has the distinctive touch of a simple meal elegantly prepared. Yet it is so quick and easy to make. Potato chip petals surround the tasty flower centers of tomato halves topped with Canadian Bacon and eggs and covered with a rich cheese sauce.

Served with a cool green salad this tempting dinner will make any family meal a special event.

CHEESE CHIP MOUNDS
(Serves 4)

2 tomatoes, halved
4 eggs
2 cups cheese sauce

2 slices Canadian Bacon

4 eggs
2 cups cheese sauce

1/2 teaspoons lemon juice

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour

2 tablespoons baking powder

1/2 teaspoons salt

1/4 cup chopped walnuts

1/3 cup chopped glace cherries

1-3 cup chopped pitted dates

Crème shortening: add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs, yams, milk and lemon juice; beat well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together; add sifted ingredients, walnuts, cherries and dates to yam mixture. Mix only until ingredients are combined. Turn into greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan and bake in moderate oven 250 degrees F. for 1 hour and 15 minutes or until cake tastes done. Frost and garnish with additional cherries.

1/2 cup cream of chicken soup

1/2 cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon horseradish and two teaspoons finely chopped parsley. Mix well. This is good with either lot or cold ham.

Freshly-Baked Spiced Cake Calls For Pot Of Properly-Brewed Aromatic Tea

The very split second you open a kitchen door and a waft of freshly baked spiced cake, bread or cookies reaches your sense of smell, you think, "Boy! Could I use a cup of tea right now!" Then you come up in your mind, a few moments of relaxation, enjoying a nice hot cup of tea, a slice of freshly baked spiced sweet of some kind, and a few social moments with friends or neighbors.

All the secrets of how to win friends and influence people were not included in the book by the same title. A cup of tea, when properly brewed, can do almost as much for your ego and reputation as any of the formulas divulged in the book. Actually, there's no secret to making a good cup of tea. All it needs is (1) water that's boiling so rapidly it looks like a stormy sea, (2) enough tea (1 tea bag or 1 teaspoonful of tea per cup) and (3) a 3-5 minute brewing period to give the leaves plenty of time to release their flavor, and ability to relieve fatigue, give you a lift — or generally make you feel at peace with the world.

The recipe for the spicy tea is a bread we have to offer today has a secret ingredient. When you learn what it is, you may say to yourself . . . "What won't they think of next?" But — when you taste it, you'll say . . . "Whatever it is — I'm glad they thought of it!" The secret ingredient — caned yams!

LOUISIANA YAM BREAD

(Makes 1 9x5x3" loaf)

1-1/2 cup shortening

1-1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar

3 eggs, well-beaten

1 can (1 lb.) Louisiana yams, drained, mashed

3 tablespoons milk

1-1/2 teaspoons lemon juice

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour

2 tablespoons baking powder

1/2 teaspoons salt

1/4 cup chopped walnuts

1/3 cup chopped glace cherries

1-3 cup chopped pitted dates

Crème shortening: add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs, yams, milk and lemon juice; beat well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together; add sifted ingredients, walnuts, cherries and dates to yam mixture. Mix only until ingredients are combined. Turn into greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan and bake in moderate oven 250 degrees F. for 1 hour and 15 minutes or until cake tastes done. Frost and garnish with additional cherries.

What a thrill to open the package from Europe and find the impressively heavy candlesticks which far surpass your expectations.

Chicken Uncontended Choice For Dad's Day

Dad makes the decisions, particularly when it comes to plans for Sunday, June 19. If he heads for the links or lake, no reminders of uncut lawn daunt his joy. With glad Dad's Day wishes, he is sent on his way while Mother remains to fix his favorite meal. In many homes the uncontended choice will be chicken.

Choose the chicken for the Dad's Day feast with all the care given to the gift itself, because this bird must live up to expectations. For broiling or frying, look for tender grown chicken that has been bred and fed with loving care. Select tray-packed, cut-up chicken with a reliable brand name on the wrapper or wing tag to be sure of getting the kind Dad likes best.

Because many extras go with Dad's Day, such as a family gathering with gifts to open just before dinner, you might consider oven frying the chicken. This requires far less attention than the traditional frying-pan method. Simply place the floured chicken skin side down in melted butter in a shallow baking pan. After half an hour in a 400 degrees F. oven, turn the meat and in another half hour it is ready to serve!

Most men, and nearly everybody else too, like the flavor of stuffing with poultry. This is a treat that need not be postponed till roast chicken weather when you follow this recipe for Dad's Chicken Deluxe.

The accompanying gravy recipe is easily made from prepared soup and seasonings, and will make Dad reminisce about chicken dinners from the "good old days".

Rapist Dies In Chair At Huntsville

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Howard Draper Jr., 26, Negro, paid his life early today for the sadistic rape of a teen-age Dallas white girl while Negro women stood by and watched.

Draper was calm as he walked toward the electric chair at Huntsville State Prison. He half smiled.

When Warden H. E. Moore asked if he had any last words, he said:

"I have made my peace with the Lord. I am leaving with joy. I have accepted Christ as my Savior."

As the mask was being placed over his eyes, one of the witnesses identified as Rev. R. W. Wynn, pastor of the Faith Cumberland (Negro) Presbyterian Church in Dallas, called out "Trust in the Lord."

"I am," Draper replied.

He received the first of three charges at 12:05 a.m. At 12:15 a.m. he was pronounced dead. The two doctors who examined him said it was unusual that his heart kept beating for seven minutes.

Draper's mother, Tommie Lee Draper, and a cousin, Vernon Wright, both of Dallas, visited him in death row Wednesday. His mother tried to get the State Board of Pardons and Paroles to commute the sentence to life in a last hour appeal late Tuesday.

Henry Wade, Dallas district attorney, who prosecuted the case against Draper, said he wrote a letter to the board saying he thought death was justified because of the brutality and perversion involved.

The 10-year-old brother of the 17-year-old girl Draper raped saw the attack through a window and ran to a neighbor's house for help. Weldon Scarborough, 38, clubbed the Negro on the head with a shovel and held him until police arrived. It happened on Feb. 18, 1959.

Supercarrier To Be Checked

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — The Navy's giant supercarrier Saratoga was taken into the naval shipyard at nearby Portsmouth today to check for any damage the 60,000 ton vessel might have suffered in Wednesday's collision with a German ship off the North Carolina coast.

At Baltimore, Md., a Coast Guard marine inspection team went over the relatively tiny orange vessel that collided with the Saratoga — the 6,135 ton Bernd Leonhardt.

The Leonhardt suffered heavy structural damage in the side-swiping collision. No injuries were reported on either ship.

Capt. Allan Fleming of Milwaukee, Wis., skipper of the Saratoga, compared the collision between the vessels to a "truck and a compact car coming together."

"We felt fortunate there was no loss of life," said Fleming.

A Drink Is Not A Drink In Officialse

The Lighter Side
By DICK WEST

United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When a foreign aid official buys a drink for someone in this country, it's called "entertainment." When he buys a drink overseas, it's called "representation."

Things like this confuse our congressmen, whose job it is to keep track of how foreign aid funds are spent. I'm not certain I understand it either.

However, I would give William J. Crockett, a State Department budget official, credit for making a valiant effort to explain it.

Crockett was one of a number of administration officials who testified before a House appropriations subcommittee recently in behalf of the new foreign aid budget.

Quizzed About Money

As usual, the subcommittee spent a lot of time quizzing the witnesses about the money set aside to enable foreign aid officials to observe certain social amenities while on duty abroad.

In diplomatic circles, these funds are known as "representation allowances."

"The representation item abroad," he said, "may also include tokens of one kind of andomestically."

"Mr. Chairman," the witness replied, "representation is always used in the connotation of entertainment overseas, while entertainment is used in the connotation of domestic entertainment. We do not use representation domestically."

This subtle distinction apparently was lost on Passman who observed that "you have about the same amount of fun" either way.

Crockett, however, insisted that entertainment and representation were not the same thing.

"The representation item abroad," he said, "may also include tokens of one kind of an-

U.S. Rushes Medical Aid to Quake Area

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States today began flying in complete Army field hospitals and 420 doctors, nurses and enlisted medical personnel to help Chile's earthquake victims.

Twenty-four big transport planes were loaded and started leaving Ft. Bragg, N.C., and Andrews Air Force Base, Md., early this morning. The planes were from McGuire AFB, N.J., Charles AFB, S.C., and Dover AFB, Del.

Large supplies of medicine, including anti-tetanus and anti-gangrene serum and blood plasma, are included in the shipment.

The Defense Department said 52 doctors and 62 nurses were to leave in the first wave of planes, assisted by medical personnel totaling 331 men also were going to staff the two field hospitals.

The mercy airlift was the first major step in a Western Hemispheric program to aid the thousands of homeless and injured in Chile's disaster areas.

A State Department spokesman planes packed with hospital equipment reported that two Air Force planes packed with hospital equipment, tents, medical supplies and blankets from the Panama Canal Zone left Wednesday for Santiago, the capital of Chile.

WALL STREET CHATTER

NEW YORK (UPI) — The rally in defense-related issues as a result of the summit debate is coinciding with improved technical patterns for quite a number of other well-deflated stocks, according to Prentice-Hall, Inc.

The publishing firm says that if you want to go along with this trend, it's wise to confine new purchases at this time to 1) primarily "defense issues, like aircrafts and military electronics;

2) other strong growth areas like office machines, electrical equipment, drugs and glass; and 3) defensive situations like electric utilities, natural gas, soft drinks, food, finance and retail chains.

The compensation paid to me does not compensate me for the work involved," Skelton said. He added he had been doing the job "at a financial loss to myself and my law partners, but continued to take care of the office as a public service."

The saxophone was invented by Adolphe Sax, a Belgian.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute is convinced that while an indefinite period of adjustment lies ahead for the oil companies, with the probability of mergers for some of the weaker or strictly domestic producers, purchases of stocks in the major companies at current prices should prove safe and attractive holdings for the trying to save him, but he was dead when they reached him.

Bob DunbarAthletics Are Favorite Target

Why is it that everytime someone gets an urge to take off on public education he feels justified in using high school athletics as the whipping boy?

Almost every self-appointed expert in the field of public education who writes on the subject invariably loses sight of his original purpose and winds up in left field blasting away at schoolboy athletic programs.

The latest expert to mount his snowy white charger is Charles H. Boehm, superintendent of public instruction for the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Boehm offers an intelligent and frank appraisal of the sorry state of public education in the United States in the May 14 issue of Saturday Evening Post.

But like all the others, Boehm strays off on the shop-worn tangent and attempts to whitewash the shortcomings of our educational system by insinuating that:

$60,000 Well Spent

But fiscal examination of the two items renders his argument invalid. The expense of equipping a library is one which promises no return of income but the stadium lights are part of a physical plant, which operates on a self-amortizing basis. The shrewd school board saw the $60,000 returning to the till in time along with a tidy little profit or you can bet your last buck that school would also play night football by candlelight.

Professionals to be a former coach and thereby adding authority to his remarks, Boehm doesn't pass up a chance to make the reader believe that Johnny in the classroom is a very neglected boy because Johnny on the football field is a very overprivileged boy.

The use of tricky comparisons like "a student gets forty minutes of English instruction but two hours of football coaching" lend Union.

School Boards Lack Qualification

They would be better advised to examine the stupid situation which makes a seat on the Board of Education an elected position. Any auto mechanic, plumber, chimney sweep, doctor or lawyer can gain a seat on a school-board by the simple expedient of being the most popular man in his ward.

To hire professionally qualified superintendents to administer our schools and then let a group of unqualified men tie his hands makes as much sense as naming a taxi driver to represent the United States in the UN.

I attended a school board meeting once (not Pampa) and witnessed a big hassle between the superintendent and one of the the nation's fervor for athletics is partially responsible for the dilemma.

He cites the example of a new $1 million school recently opened in central Pennsylvania. The new building included an ample library but the superintendent was forced to ask that books be donated to stock its shelves since no money had been allocated for their purchase.

Boehm remarks that the same school thought an expenditure of $60,000 for football stadium lights was not unusual. (Fortunately Pampa is not open to such harsh criticism since the lighting equipment he couldn't have cost more than $600, much less $60,000.)

In cold black and white print that appears to be a solid argument for the author's inference that the school board in question was not wearing its thinking cap when it started throwing public attention off on the shop-worn tangent and attempting to whitewash the shortcomings of our educational system by insinuating that:

nothing to the author's case. The facts as everyone knows, are that English is taught nine months a year for 12 years while a boy may be exposed to football coaching three months a year for six years at most.

It is fair to condemn athletics because the football coach does a better job in his short time than the English teacher does in 12 years.

Heaven knows there is enough subject material available for the crusaders who want to make an issue, and rightfully so, of the sorry mess our so-called "Free" public educational system is in. Enough, I'm sure, that it isn't necessary for them to take snide swipes at one of the few fields in which the United States can say it has kept pace with the Soviet major league record.

The board member, an auto mechanic by trade, favored one particular text over the administrator's choice. He couldn't speak good English, let alone French, but his position was adamant.

I think he liked the one text because it had a green cover while the other one was bound in a plain black cover.

His final words in conceding defeat were, "You can do what you want to. It ain't no skin off my nose."

Yes sir, it's a great system we have men like that telling our administrators how to educate our children.

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Horses, handicappers and historians all took dead aim today on a race which could make the triple crown a four-cornered coronet.

It's the Jersey Derby, to be run Memorial Day at Garden State Park, near Camden, N.J. And it well could put the storied threesome for three-year-olds — the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont in the shade.

As a race it leaves nothing to be desired. For when they cut 'em loose a mile and an eighth all of the big ones are going to be shooting for the $100,000 jackpot. The field includes Venetian Way, surprise winner of the run for the roses; Bally Ache, the new moneybags of horse highway who bounded back to win the Preakness; the disappointing Tompion, who might break loose at any point now, and such challengers as Celtic Ash, Bourbon Prince and Encanto.

But that ain't all, as Willie Shoemaker must have remarked the day he pulled Gallant Man up short of the Derby finish.

They're gonna fight the Civil War over again in the infield, just as a starter, and treat the cancer customers to a flock of other side-lights. There will be a parade of 19th Century carriages, horsesless, ridden by persons in period dress; a balloon ascension; some folk dancing; a train train tour of the barns and displays of such varied articles as racing trophies and modern weapons.

The highlight, aside from the race itself, will be the mock battle in the infield in which the Confederate cavalry blows up the Union powder magazine and the Union sharpshooters halt the cavalry charge.

Representing the South is a group known as Living History, Inc., whose uniforms and equipment are authentic down to the last detail. It has guaranteed Confederate cannon as well as a cavalry troop which hasn't been seen in these Eastern precincts Culberson Chevrolet, B&B Phar-for Culberson, rapping out a double and a single to account for two of the team's five hit total.

Culberson edged Kempa Humble in a tight game 10-9 behind the four-hit pitching of Johnny Kuhn, and Mike Osborne started the game with a single in the bottom of the seventh, after the other nine runs were pushed over in the second.

Mike Osborne started on the mound for Culberson but fielding errors by his teammates kept him in trouble despite the fact he struck out 11 batters. Johnny Kuhn relieved him and got credit for the win.

Leading 5-3 going into its third, B&B cracked the game with Shelly by Ruff wide open as the B&B batters exploded for nine runs in the inning. Gary McCullough with three hits, one of them a two-run double, and Tommy McDonald and Rickey McClosky with three hits apiece paced the B&B batters.

Thomas Raps Two Homers As G-Sox Win 5th Straight

By United Press International

Jim Fridley, Victoria's new outfielder from Houston, belted a seventh-inning homer that sparked a two-run uprising and beat Rio Grande Valley, 3-2, in the Texas League Wednesday night.

In other games, Amarillo beat

Tulsa, 8-6, and San Antonio stopped Austin, 8-2.

Al Paschal rapped a solo homer in the first for Victoria. The Giants went ahead with two runs in the third, but Jim Proctor, winning on six hits, kept the Valley sewed up the rest of the way. Bobby Bohm was the loser.

The Amarillo-Tulsa game was a duel between power hitters Leroy Thomas of the Gold Sox and Harry Watts of the Oilers. Both hit a pair of homers...

Thomas sparked a five-run surge in the second with a two-run blow, and accounted for all three runs in the seventh that clinched the game. Watts knocked a solo homer in the fourth, and tried to get a rally underway with a two-run blow in the eighth. Artie Burnett homered for Tulsa in the second.

Layton Dueco slapped a four-base blow in the sixth for San Antonio with one aboard, but it won't go in the record books. Rain chased the players and the game was ruled complete after five innings.

Austin went ahead 1 in the second, but the Missions came back with two in the fourth, and three in the fifth that chased Senator starter Leslie Bass and wrapped up a seven-hit victory for Jack Curtis.

It will be the same teams tonight with Amarillo at Tulsa, San Antonio at Austin, and Valley at Victoria.

NEW YORK (UPI)—You know last season with an 18-1 record all in relief and Sherry did the "impossible" for the Dodgers by working in all four world series games the Dodgers won from the White Sox.

Or make it Larry Sherry for the Dodgers, Turk Lown or Gerry Staley for the White Sox, Ryne Duren for the Yankees or Don McMahon for the Braves, Stu Miller or Billy Loes for the Giants.

These are the bread-and-butter men and the workhorses for the pennant contenders, the relief pitchers. Once considered only a necessary evil, they're now among the game's glamor boys.

Ask almost any front office executive what his club needs right now and, for box-office purposes, he'll probably say, "another starting pitcher and a long-ball hitting outfielder."

Ask the manager, whether he's a winner or a loser, and the answer likely will be, "a reliever who can get the side out."

There have been some greats in recent times, like Joe Page of the Yankees, Hugh Casey of the Phillies, and Hoyt Wilhelm, when he was fluttering his knuckles.

But for those with short memories, Face added a new touch

"Baumann has been fine for us," says manager Al Lopez, with a pennant gleam in his eye—as if he didn't have Staley and Lown on his staff already.

Face, who appeared in 17 of his club's first 36 games this year, hasn't been as phenomenal as last season, but no one figured he would be. The little fork-baller, who dropped his first three decisions, nevertheless got his record up to 3-3 on May 22.

Sherry opened as a starting pitcher but he is back relieving again and in 14 of the first 32 Los Angeles games he was 5-3.

Pony League

Kist Beverage finally broke into the win column at Pony League Park last night as Bobby Price spaced three hits over five innings to turn back Hughes, 13-2.

In the first game, First National Bank measured the Lions Club 7-6 when the winning run crossed the plate in the bottom of the seventh on a passed ball. The Lions went into the final inning leading 6-2 but couldn't put down the Bankers rally.

Jim Arthur was the starting pitcher but was lifted for Jimmy Lollar in the fourth when the Bankers came up with two runs.

Lollar put out the fire then but ran into difficulty in the final frame and gave up four runs before Dee Wright was called in to relieve him. Wright threw one pitch, the ball bounced away from the catcher and the winning run was scored.

Eddie Langwell who picked up the pitching win when he crossed home plate.

Langwell relieved starting pitcher Gary Sikes in the third and held the Lions scoreless except for the Hughes sixth inning when they jumped on him for three runs.

The Quiet Thieves

There's an article in the May "Reader's Digest" which contains three key sentences that may be overlooked. We wish to give them emphasis and hereby suggest that you read the article, "The Quiet Thieves," by Irwin Ross.

"In Springfield, Mass., an executive of the Brooks Co., paper manufacturers, committed suicide after admitting that he had stolen $60,000 worth of unprinted paper."

"In New York City, a mail clerk with a large stockbrokers' firm was recently charged with stealing close to $200,000 by raising his take-home pay from $62 a week to $1,062. The extra thousand was in stamps."

The increase in theft relates to the increase in belief in a philosophy of "share-the-wealth." Not a few of the thieves report sharply to police who ultimately find them out: "Well, you ought to see how the boss steals!" Or words to that effect.

In short, it seems that thousands of Americans are so ignorant of economic truths that they feel that employers are crooked and villainous if they buy a product for X number of dollars and retail it with a markup up price.

According to the author, every kind of establishment is vulnerable. Here is a random sampling of employee theft:

"A well-known Italian restaurant in New York reported a loss of several thousand dollars in, of all things, olive oil and shrimp.

"In Buffalo, N.Y., the FBI broke up a ring at the ACF Industries, Inc., plant which stole some 100,000 pounds of lead. Workers would melt down the lead and cast it into shapes to fit around their bodies, thereby escaping detection.

"In Kankakee, Ill., police uncovered thefts of food, clothing and bed linens which cost the Weill State Hospital one million dollars over a four-year period."

"In the Port of New York, the Waterfront Commission announced last December that dockside thefts had victimized ship lines to the tune of $788,540 in a single year.

Protection Counts

We have staunchly maintained that protection of life, property and reputation is safer in the hands of free enterprise agencies than it is in the hands of a political and, hence, a monopolistic agency, such as government.

Our case seems to be advanced in a story appearing in the magazine "Medical Economics", for January of this year.

John R. Lindsey has an article in this publication entitled, "Malpractice Claim? or Blackmail?", which goes right to the heart of the issue.

It seems that many doctors and other professional people are not infrequently in fear of being sued for "malpractice." Consequently, they seek protection, and they seek it wisely when they turn to an insurance agency rather than to their government.

The Medical Protective Company of Fort Wayne, Indiana, is such a firm, and the center of the story by Mr. Lindsey is the adventures and comments of Stuart A. Deardorff, general agent for this insurance firm.

Everybody's Money

By MERYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

Within our time the seven roads to becoming a capitalist have complicated the choices of those with an urge to become financially independent.

The relative batting averages of new and old ways to acquire wealth disclose that savings in mutual savings banks, on the one hand, and in life insurance companies, on the other, has been set by formidable new-style competitors.

Never in the hundred-and-fifty years since the founding of the first savings bank in Ruthwell, Scotland, by Rev. Henry Duncan have so many alternate ways of getting ahead and ceasing to be a "proletarian" been available.

Sometimes executives of savings banks and life insurance companies root themselves and their associates by taking pride in absolute figures of growth reflecting increments in national wealth and in inflationary tendencies rather than a relatively increased hold on the popular imagination.

In short, it seems that thousands of Americans are so ignorant of economic truths that they feel that employers are crooked and villainous if they buy a product for X number of dollars and retail it with a markup up price.

And to steal from a person who does this clearly, in the minds of most of them, isn't theft at all, but just the practice of sharing the wealth.

Nor can they be altogether blamed.

For the government, national, state and local, has led in the promulgation of this doctrine. Indeed, the government takes what it will by force and is held to be both legally and morally justified.

And, with inescapable logic, the employer who is also a thief reasons that if it is right for a man in government to take what he wants, not belong to him, what makes him any different?

Until the virtues of private ownership of property are fully understood and the principles taught and practiced, this nation will continue to slip.

Likewise, in the nine-year period, savings credit unions grew by 34% per cent; savings and loan associations by 290 per cent; and commercial banks by 75 per cent. In addition, there was a rapid public acceptance of common stocks as a propulsive vehicle for long-term investment. As a phase of this broad popularization of tokens of corporate ownership, which Thomas N. Carver once described as the "present economic revolution in the United States", there was an increase in mutual funds of 520 per cent.

But percentage-wise, competitive approaches to personal and family capital accumulation climbed more rapidly. In addition to voluntary thrift, forced "savings" under the Social Security Act took some 40 per cent of total individual savings.

Such an obstacle course would suit my needs to a "T".

I would put it — ravine, swinging rope and all — between Mary's and my bedroom and Megan's sleeping quarters.

It would be a nuisance for most of the 24 hours of the day, but would be worth its weight in gold between the hours of 8 and 7:30 in the morning, which is the time our baby girl has chosen to make her bed in her playground.

At 5:30 on the nose her feet hit the floor, and she heads for us as fast as her 22-month-old legs will carry her, which is real swift. She rounds the corner into our room as she were stretching a single into a double, and from then on sleep rocks. But then the sun comes out.

I figure the obstacle course

would slow her down a good two hours — even more if she happened to slide into the ravine.

It used to take me a good hour to cover the obstacle course at Camp Wheeler when I was taking infant basic training, and then a score of other barriers to impede progress.

Such an obstacle course would suit my needs to a "T".

I would put it — ravine, swinging rope and all — between Mary's and my bedroom and Megan's sleeping quarters.

It would be a nuisance for most of the 24 hours of the day, but would be worth its weight in gold between the hours of 8 and 7:30 in the morning, which is the time our baby girl has chosen to make her bed in her playground.

At 5:30 on the nose her feet hit

the floor, and she heads for us as fast as her 22-month-old legs will carry her, which is real swift. She rounds the corner into our room as she were stretching a single into a double, and from then on sleep rocks. But then the sun comes out.

I figure the obstacle course

would slow her down a good two hours — even more if she happened to slide into the ravine.

It used to take me a good hour to cover the obstacle course at Camp Wheeler when I was taking infant basic training, and then a score of other barriers to impede progress.

Such an obstacle course would suit my needs to a "T".

Carefree Security In ManilaIf You Want To Find President Garcia,*Ask Window Washer Or Upstairs Maid

PRESIDENT Garcia at his desk.

By WARD CANALE —
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
MANILA (NEA) — If you want to see Carlos Garcia, the president of the Philippine Republic, you merely walk into the presidential palace and look around.

If you don't find him in his living room, dining room, porch or bedroom, you ask somebody.

Now it certainly would be unfair to shoot at a man whose security system consists of a window washer and an upstairs maid.

So despite charges in the local press of inequity, corruption and vast centralization of power, most observers here do not believe the Garcia government will fall by a new barrage from the press.

violence as one moderate puts it. "What does Garcia need protection for? We Filipinos can't keep our mouths shut. If somebody were planning a revolution, everybody in the nation would hear about it."

As it turns out in the inscrutable East, the best reasons for revolution here are also the best.

There is hardly a solid check, balance or opposition party to the Garcia government. No real anti-Garcia leader exists.

On the other hand, nobody stops the newspapers from charging, accusing, demanding, reporting or insinuating. Each morning brings a new headline.

Crimes and Torts

Long ago if your cousin got killed, you and your kinsfolk took up arms — like the feudists in Mark Twain's Huckleberry Finn — with blood in your eyes to get even, whether the killer meant to harm your cousin or not.

Later frontier justice gave way to courts and juries. They distinguished crimes — public offenses — from torts — invasions of private rights.

Suppose a man runs you down as you cross a street on a green light. He breaches your private right (a tort) to be free from physical harm.

But the policeman there might also haul him in for assault with a motor vehicle, a crime.

Such a driver may have to face both civil and criminal trials, paying you for his tort, while going to jail for his offense against society.

Recently, in another state, an unlicensed beauty operator put a strong chemical on her customer's face to get rid of wrinkles. The customer died. The trial court found the operator guilty of "criminal" negligence. But the state's Supreme Court reversed this verdict. It held that to be criminal negligence a more reckless act is called for than mere "civil" negligence, a tort.

For such a deed to be a crime "the negligence must be aggravated, culpable, gross, or reckless... a departure from the conduct of an ordinary prudent and careful man... as to be incompatible with a proper regard for human life..."

"The facts must be such that the fatal consequences of the negligent act could reasonably have been foreseen. It must appear that the death was not the result of misadventure, but the natural and probable result of a reckless or culpably negligent act."

Since punishment for a crime is more severe than a loss of money to a private person, the court also called for a higher standard of proof, proof "beyond a reasonable doubt," rather than merely a "preponderance of the evidence" — the standard of evidence in "tort" cases.

(This column prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

DANCER GRANTED ASYLUM

LONDON (UPI) — The British government confirmed last night that political asylum has been granted a Russian dancer who left a touring Russian troupe last week in Scotland. Anatoly Nakashidze, 28, was granted asylum after going to police in Edinburgh,

The government is reputed widely to be dipping into the till, stealing what belongs to people.

On the other hand, taxation is not oppressive in Manila. In fact, the city runs at a profit while the national government runs at a loss. And no attempt is made to enforce the tax laws in the provinces.

Close observers of the government say the high-level stealing is an organized business. Everybody seems to have a hand in it right down the line.

On the other hand, one recent appointment by Garcia has been a well-respected finance expert who has made a thorough investigation of several departments and has helped bring in about 1,000 indictments.

"Very true," says one radical. "They've all got theirs. It's all right to clean up after you've taken what you want."

Even the little, niggling problems that might make for sectional rivalries have built-in barricades against trouble.

Filipinos out to American investors

Even the little, niggling problems that might make for sectional rivalries have built-in barricades against trouble.

The answer to this charge comes not from the Philippine government, but rather from the U.S. where investment investigators and counsellors make every body — including the Filipinos — known that a business venture in the Republic requires considerable participation by local businessmen.

It also has been impossible for government critics to shout that the Filipinos are being exploited when the richest resources of the country have never been tapped.

But most important of all, an American diplomat presently working in Manila explained:

"The lesson of the U.S. is a tremendous deterrent in revolution in the Philippines and a force for democratic process."

"Our path from independence day has not been smooth or without corruption or trial. And the Filipinos know it. In fact, they often know more about our history than their own."

He cited a grade school essay he had seen in Quezon City a few days before. The subject: the cow. The child's explanation:

"The cow gives milk, but as for me give me liberty or give me death."

There are about 400 Boys' Clubs of America in operation.
