Chessman's 'Red Light' Bandit Alibi

FBI Nabs Fugitive In El Paso

EL PASO (UPI)—The FBI announced Saturday that its agents have captured Severio Terranova, 38, whom convict-author Caryl Chessman said might be the man for whose sex crimes Chessman went to the San Quentin Prison gas chamber.

FBI agents and El Paso police seized Terranova, 38, who was living as "Michael C. Russo," Friday without a struggle. He was not armed and was arrested on a warrant charging unlawful flight to escape prosecution for burglary in Azusa, Calif.

Chessman was executed last May 2 after the most famous fight to escape execution in U.S. history. He was executed for being a "redlight" bandit who preyed on parked couples by posing as a policeman in a car with a red light.

He denied during the 12 years that he delayed execution by a series of brilliant appeals that he was the "redlight" bandit. He said that Terranova "might" be Jack E. Smith, acting agent in charge of the El Paso FBI office, said Terranova had said nothing about being a redlight bandit, although he admitted his identity. Terranova was arraigned on a fugitive warrant before U.S. Commissioner Henry C. Clinton, who set his bond at $20,000. Deputy U. S. Marshall Louis D. Russell, who was custody Terranova to committed, refused to permit interviews or pictures.

An "alibi" citizen recognized Terranova from a picture on an FBI circular and telephoned the FBI. Terranova, it was learned, said he was surprised that he was recognized because he was wearing a mustache and did not think the FBI had pictures of him with a mustache.

The citizen who recognized Terranova despite the mustache asked not to be identified. Terranova has a wife in El Paso, blonde who is five feet, two inches tall and weighs about 100 pounds.

"I am dumbfounded by this whole thing," she said. "But I do not believe he could be involved in the redlight bandit case."

"Otherwise, I'm very tired and upset."

She refused to say whether she knew he was wanted or whether she met him in California or El Paso.

Terranova had served time for burglary, auto theft and larceny and is a parole violator, according to William G. Simon, chief of the FBI in Los Angeles.

Well-Rounded Beatnik Queen Says She'd Rather Be Square

HOUSTON (UPI)—This doubtlessly will cause some head shaking among the bearded, scraggly-haired and sundal-clad crowd, but shapely Sherry Riley has gone square and abdicated her throne as "Queen of the Beatniks."

And that, naturally, just goes to show what dire effects steady employment and some bucks in the jeans can have on a Beatnik. It all boils down to this: Miss Riley never should have taken that job in Dallas. But she did. For over a year she appeared nightly at the Club Intitude, one of Dallas' hottest espresso joints. There the green-eyed Miss Riley read her poetry, to the delight of recording, flute and clarinet. They changed the lights from blue to red to green to yellow to help with the mood.

For all this, Miss Riley was paid in good, old, hard American greenbacks. This in itself was enough to get her drummed out of the corps, because a real beatnik wouldn't be caught dead working.

But before Sherry's subjects could rise to throw her off the throne she abdicated—without a tear of farewell.

After settling a record of longevity for a beatnik poet, during her Club Intitude stay, Miss Riley quit and returned to Houston as a base of operations.

"I guess I just got tired of Dallas," she said. "I want to do something completely different."

Miss Riley said she's getting some of her poetry together for publication, probably this fall.

"It's about time," she surmised. "I like the oral tradition of poetry, but I feel I should take another step. I'm not desecrating jazz poetry, though. I'm just joining the universal school of poets."

She said her immediate plans will take her to Santa Fe and Tucson, N. M., for some research of Mayan, Aztec and other poets. She plans to work with a young Houston author, Charles Galien-Kamp, who wrote a book called "Maya."

"When we return, we're planning to do a huge poetry reading of all these she explained.

"Charles has translated some of these works into Spanish, and we will translate them again into English."

"If this reading goes well," she added, "then we'll try something in Hindi, maybe. I am very interested in Hindi these days."

Japs Off On Hate U.S. Binge

Fighting Reported In Osaka

TOKYO (UPI)—Thousands of Japanese leftists demonstrated against the American Japanese security treaty here and in Osaka Saturday. Fighting in Osaka injured 268 persons.

About 2,000 leftists snake-danced outside the U.S. embassy here with shouts of "We Hate America" and "Keep your dirty hands out of Asia." A heavy force of police and armored cars protected the embassy and there was no violence.

In Osaka, about 2,000 leftists clashed with police who moved in to break up their sit-down protest against the treaty in Otensai Park. The rally was attended by 10,000 members of the giant Communist-led Sohyo Labor Federation.

Violence broke out when police tried to remove those taking part in the sit-down.

Sohyo said that 192 of its members were injured in the fighting, 15 seriously. Police said 76 policemen were injured.

In Tokyo, the demonstrators—numbering only about 1,200 of the crowd of 80,000 the leftists had predicted would turn out—paraded for 15 minutes in front of the U.S. Embassy.

The leftist crowd then marched to the Diet (parliament) Building where it chanted demands that Socialist be named prime minister to replace Nobusuke Kishi who promised to resign two days ago.

Japanese authorities mustered 1,000 policemen and 30 armored cars to block streets leading to the U.S. Embassy compound and kept demonstrators against the U.S.-Japan Security Pact at a safe distance from the embassy building.

The small turn-out of demonstrators included Communists, Socialists and members of the leftist Zengakuren Student Federation. Although Zengakuren had announced plans to mobilize 10,000 demonstrators, fewer than 100 of its members showed up.

Asked what happened, one Japanese said: "Why demonstrate now?"

The demonstrators blamed the United States for the death of Michiko Kamba, Japanese girl demonstrator trampled to death during a demonstration last week. From the embassy the mob (See JAPS, Page 3)

Radio Free Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A powerful American owned radio station is broadcasting news to Cuba from a tiny island of disputed sovereignty in the Caribbean, it was learned Saturday.

The protest, disowned by the State Department and U.S. Information Agency, has brought angry blasts from Cuban Premier Fidel Castro who charged it is a State Department anti-Castro propaganda outlet.

The U. S. Information Agency until very recently was planning almost the same project to fill what the government feels is an urgent need to get straight news to Cuba. Most Cuban radio stations are now government-controlled. But the agency said it abandoned the idea because of "interference and licensing" problems.

The station is operated by a private American group, the Gibraltar Steamship Corp. of New York City, which owns no ships. It set up shop last month on two-mile-long Swan Island, 97 miles from the coast of Honduras and 300 miles southwest of Cuba.

It began making medium-wave broadcasts and almost immediately Cuba began blasting what it called a "U. S. government counter-revolutionary" station on the island.

On June 1 a State Department spokesman told a press conference "the only station that I know anything about on Swan Island is U.S. Weather Bureau station."

Horion H. Heath, commercial manager of the New York firm, told the press conference: "I am a radio broadcaster, not a politician, and I am not involved in this U.S. Weather Bureau station."

Committee chairman for the senate are: Dale Truitt, ushering; Jiggs Cook, fireworks; Melvin Jayne, secretary; Jake Osborne, ground preparations; John Keating, parking; Floyd Inel and A. A. Concession booths will be handled by members of the Band Boosters club.

The arena will seat 7,000, and a d there will be parking area for 15,000 more.

Fourth Fete Activities In Pampa Chosen

A patriotic pageant, band concert, two specialty acts and a 30-minute fireworks display will be the features of this year's Fourth of July celebration at the rodeo arena.

The Harvester Band will start the program with a concert at 7:30 p.m. At 8 p.m. Punch and Jubilee Jacobs, a man and woman clown act, with nine dogs and a monkey, will perform. They are from the Galveston Circus. A group from the Amarillo Boys Club will give an exhibition on the Trampoline.

The pageant at 8:30 p.m. will be based on Edward R. Murrow's old radio series, "I Can Hear It Now." At this time the new 50-star flag will be unveiled.

Climaxing the evening will be a large fireworks display provided by the Paramount Fireworks Co. of Tulsa. According to Bill Atkinson, coordinating chairman, there will be more large aerial pieces this year than last.

Committee chairman for the event are: Dale Truitt, ushering; Jiggs Cook, fireworks; Melvin Jayne, secretary; Jake Osborne, ground preparations; John Keating, parking; Floyd Inel and A. A. # Soviet Line Said Soft With U.S.A.

LONDON (UPI)—Red China Saturday widened its ideological dispute with "big brother" Russia, charging that the Soviet peaceful co-existence line is little more than an attempt to "white wash U.S. imperialism."

No names were mentioned, but speeches at a mass rally in Peking, transmitted by the Communist New China News Agency, made it clear that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was a chief target in the quarrel over who interprets Marx and Lenin best.

Observers in London said they believed Peking was starting a major campaign against the Russian line that there must be "no line" between Communism and Capitalism in an age of nuclear weapons. Peking indicated it felt the risks of nuclear war were exaggerated.

According to the news agency, Chou En-lai denounced "modern revisionists who claim that the true character of imperialism whose hands were smeared with blood were eras of peace."

"It is to whitewash the U.S. imperialism and help it to carry on aggression under the pretense of peace," he charged.

The ideological dispute broke out in the open early this month when the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda attacked opposition who rejected the Khrushchev idea that Communism will win the world by economic means and that there must be peaceful competition.

Hasse Buys Out Palmer

Partner's Interest In KPND Bought

Full ownership of Radio Station KPND today passed to Walter H. Hasse with the announcement that he had purchased the interest of his partner of eight years, C. O. Palmer. Hasse and Palmer bought the radio station in September, 1952, from Freedom Newspapers, Inc., owners of The Pampa Daily News.

Hasse said Palmer will continue to be associated with KPND until the license transfer is approved by the Federal Communications Commission.

The station has been in continuous operation since 1938 and will celebrate its 25th anniversary next April.

The Mutual Broadcasting System affiliate was founded by Gilmore Mann and Lindsay Nixon, who sold it, along with the Daily News, to the Freedom Newspapers Group.

Hasse said that the station policy will continue to be "one of service and entertainment to the area, with strong emphasis on news coverage, special events and good music."

No program changes will be made, Hasse said, although some programming policies will be altered.

Rival Tribes Stage Bloody Riot Over Congo Elections

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (UPI)—Rival tribal groups battled in the streets with stonethrowers and clubs Saturday over the election of a president for the Congo nation.

First reports said 11 Africans were injured, six seriously, in the street fighting between Upper and Lower Congoes. Police arrested at persons and officials ordered all bars closed and a curfew put into effect.

The fighting in scattered areas of the African quarters of Leopoldville broke out after hundreds of Upper Congo Bangala tribesmen gathered in the street outside their political headquarters to protest against the defeat of Jean Bolikango in Friday's election for president.

The Parliament overwhelming voted for Joseph Kasu Vubu, leader of the Lower Congo tribesmen.

Fifty Bangala marched to the downtown section of the city to demand an audience with newly-elected Premier Premier Patrice Lumumba. He refused to see any of them.

When they reported their failure to see Lumumba crowds began to gather and fighting broke out.

Units of the 20,000-man force Publique (Congo army) were turned out to quell the riots.

But political blocking continued unabated as the vast Congo territory prepared to end 80 years of colonial rule by Belgium and start peace.

Burglars Strike Next Door To PD

Burglars shattered two windows at a service station across the street from City Hall and made off with $33 Friday night.

They broke one rest room window at the Henderson-Wilson Service Station, 301 W. Kinross, but were unable to get it open.

Then they knocked out a window pane in the back door and crawled through, then opening.

After rifling the cash register, the culprits left through garage door which faced Kinross. Police discovered the burglary when they spotted the open door.

Amvoys' Visit Set Monday

THE AMARILLO Amvoys, a group of bankers, wholesalers and newspapermen, will be in Pampa Monday on one of their good-will excursions. They will be host to Chamber of Commerce directors and city and county officials at lunch at the Coronado Inn.

The group is making the trip to learn more about Pampa according to E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the chamber. Mayor Roy Myatt will speak at the luncheon on city operations and H. V. Wilks, president of the chamber will talk on chamber activities.

After lunch, the group will tour residential, commercial and industrial areas in and around town.

This is the third in a series of tours made by the Amvoys. The other tours visited were Plainview and Hereford. They plan to visit other towns later in the year.

The visit was arranged by Jack Pate, Amvoys chairman.

Oil Production Quota Shows 11,673 Barrel Hike In Week

AUSTIN (UPI) — Total average oil production in Texas last week increased by 11,673 barrels, the State Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

It said there were 155,993 wells in Texas as of June 25, producing an average of 2,656,360 barrels a day. Total oil production for the week was 11,673 barrels more than the week ending June 19, 1960. The commission reported that the increase was due to a 10-day increase in the monthly oil allowable bearing last week that the increase during the next month would make up for the slightly shorter producing schedule of a day set for the 31-day month of July. June had a producing day in the 30 day month.

Wildcat wells brought in two discoveries in the San Angelo and Midland districts; according to the commission. There were 64 dry holes to offset the four producers. Regular drilling applications were granted during the week for 256 wells, bringing the total for the year to 7,539 compared to 9,842 applications at the same time in 1959.

Divers Search For Bodies In Rio Air Crash

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Navy divers probed Guanabara Bay Saturday night for the bodies of 51 persons who plunged to their deaths in the crash of a Brazilian Real Airways Convair transport.

Bits of five bodies and some wreckage had been recovered by nightfall, 24 hours after the twin-engine plane crashed in bad weather. No identifications were possible.

At least six of the 51 persons aboard the ill-fated aircraft had foreign names and were presumed to be non-Brazilians. The plane crashed on a 600-mile flight from the federal capital at Brasilia to Rio. Seventeen of the 46 passengers — the five crew members were Brazilian — were aboard the plane when it left Brasilia. It took aboard another 28 passengers at Belo Horizonte, an intermediate stop.

The names of the apparent foreigners aboard the transport were listed by the airline as: Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Lee, George Pleister, Igor Polkator, Janet S. Laffer and Alex Sten Gostapson. Passengers on Brazilian commercial flights do not list their nationalities.

The crash occurred in the same general area where another Real Airlines transport collided in the air with a U.S. Navy DeS. Sixty-one persons were killed in that disaster. Only three American sailors — members of a Navy band — survived the collision.

Four Dead, 2 Near Death In Alabama Crash

TUSCUMBIA, Ala. (UPI) — A dump truck, a sports car and another automobile crashed together Saturday afternoon, leaving four persons dead and two seriously injured in a mass of twisted metal and tons of gravel.

The Highway Patrol said a sports car carrying Mr. and Mrs. Harry Howard Morris of Florence was struck from behind by an Illinois car and knocked into the path of a 2½-ton dump truck loaded with gravel. The truck rolled completely over the American-made sports vehicle and overturned on top of the other car. The accident occurred seven miles south of here on U.S. 43.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris were killed instantly. A Negro woman and a four-year-old Negro girl, both in the Illinois car, died en route to a Sheffield hospital several miles north of here. The injured, all riding in the Illinois car, were in serious condition. Two were not expected to live, according to the Highway Patrol.

The patrol said the truck and the cars met on a straight stretch of U.S. highway 43. There were no curves or hills where they met. Skies were cloudy but it was not raining.

The Highway Patrol could not immediately identify all the injured, nor determine cause of the crash.

Auto Deaths Predicted For 27 During 4th
AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas highways have not had a deathless Fourth of July since 1946, and safety experts fear that 27 persons will be killed in state traffic accidents next weekend.

Gov. Price Daniel has launched an "all-out campaign" to hold down the number of deaths over the three-day holiday period. Daniel said newspapers, radio and television stations and various citizens' organizations are providing widespread publicity for the safe driving campaign. Local traffic safety councils over the state are carrying out special localized efforts, he said.

The official Fourth of July holiday will last 72 hours from 12:01 a. m. Saturday, July 2, to 11:59 p. m. Monday, July 4. The Department of Public Safety, which will compile the state's fatality list, predicted 27 persons will be killed this year. That would be one less than the 28

California Paper Backs Sen. Johnson

WILMINGTON, Calif. (UPI) — The Wilmington Daily Press Journal, in a full two-column front page editorial, Saturday endorsed Sen. Lyndon Johnson for President with Sen. John Kennedy his running mate.

The state's oldest daily newspaper, the Press-Journal said: "A Johnson-Kennedy ticket alone would, we think, give the Democrats a chance against Vice President Nixon, backed as he will be by the popularity and panoply of the president."

"On the other hand, what possible combination could be as strong as Mr. Kennedy gets the nomination?"

The self-described Democratic paper called the Senate Majority leader "the man among Democrats" and said his southwestern background would not be detrimental to his election. "Indeed, President Eisenhower himself is a native Texan."

"Without rancor and without intending any more than a simple statement of fact, we say that if the Democrats do not nominate Senator Johnson, they will not only sacrifice a great man for no other reason than his heritage, but more than that they will sacrifice their only chance to win the presidency and this election."

Canadian Ready For Rodeo Week

Canadian is preparing for its Fourth of July Rodeo celebration to be held next Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

There will be seven contests at each rodeo show with a trophy awarded the best all-around cowboy and belt buckles given in each event.

Stock will be furnished by Tom Harlan.

Oklahoma Dems Favor Johnson

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Most of Oklahoma's delegates to the Democratic national convention favor Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson for President, but some delegation leaders want a quick switch if the Texan falters.

Gene McGill, state party chairman and head of the delegation, said Saturday, "I don't want to go down the drain with a loser, and neither do any other delegates from Oklahoma."

Sen. Robert S. Kerr leads the Johnson parade, and is confident that the Oklahoma favorite will be the winner. Oklahoma's 58 delegates will cast 29 votes as a unit for the nomination. Individual delegates will vote only in caucuses.

TO CLOSE MILLS
CHICAGO (UPI) — Inland Steel Co. will close most of its mills and lay off 17,000 of its 20,000 employees over the July 4th weekend because of "sluggish steel demands," an Inland official said Friday.

Caution Urged In Choosing Non-Local Repair Firms

The Solicitors Review Board of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce cautions homeowners in this area to exercise care in engaging contractors to perform home repair services.

The board stressed that although there are numerous reputable local contractors, others of unknown reliability solicit in this area and should be investigated before any contract is signed. The Review Board quoted the National Better Business Bureau, with which the chamber is affiliated, as reporting that more complaints were received by the bureau last year in the home-improvement field.

The text of the warning follows: "According to U.S. Department of Commerce estimates, there are about 500,000 contractors, builders and suppliers of property improvement products. There are approximately 200,000 now using the FHA property-improvement program."

"Roy, F. Cooke, assistant commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration, has stated that although most of these are reliable, there are some 'fly-by-night' operators who are not honest."

In order to safeguard the homeowner against these relatively few unethical operators in contracting for home improvement work, Cooke offers these suggestions:

1. Check carefully the contractor's reputation. Ask your banker, Chamber of Commerce or Better Business Bureau if there is any doubt in your mind.

2. Avoid all gimmicks. You want full dollar value on your improvements only. You cannot get something for nothing.

3. Buy standard merchandise. Avoid the "just as good" brands unknown to you.

4. Compare the price given, if you think it is high, with that of another known contractor.

5. Read your written contract and be sure you understand it before you sign it.

6. Never sign any blank papers or notes. Obtain a copy of all papers you sign.

7. Sign your completion certificate only after you are thoroughly satisfied with the completed property improvement.

8. Report any complaints of poor workmanship to your lending institution immediately.

9. Choose your contractor as you would your doctor.

10. Remember, no one can protect you against yourself.

Loss Of Cattle Charged In Suit

A damage suit was filed Thursday in District Court by Clyde Henry against Walter D. Bellamy and Groninger and King Inc. for $965, plus attorney fee and cost.

"We have now achieved 42.8 per cent of our 1960 goal of $710,000," reports Cree.

Sixty-seven counties in the state have exceeded 50 per cent of their goal to date.

National goal of the 1960 payroll campaign is to reach 16 million wage and salary earners.

moved on to the Diet (parliament) building less than half a mile away, where demonstrators shouted "we want a Socialist prime minister," before dispersing.

Earlier, some 5,000 pro-communist Koreans held a brief mass meeting in downtown Tokyo to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the outbreak of the Korean War. They cancelled a scheduled march on the American embassy.

In a move coinciding with the demonstrations, the opposition Socialist Party's executive committee decided Saturday to demand the immediate resignation of Kishi.

"For Prime Minister Kishi to continue his administrative duties while he has announced his intention to retire is a violation of political morality," the executive committee said. "He should resign immediately."

co-existence between East and West.

Khrushchev himself brought the issues into the open at a Communist meeting in Bucharest, Romania, earlier this week when he criticized Peiping's "hard" line that "war against capitalism" is inevitable.

Khrushchev insisted that Leninist doctrine must be interpreted to fit changing times. China's Mao Tse-Tung allows for no such free interpretation of the Communist bible.

To the Red Chinese, the Russian stand is the sin of "modern revisionism."

Said Li Chih-Min Saturday: "Modern Revisionists, frightened out of their wits by the imperialists' blackmail of nuclear war, exaggerated the consequences for the destructiveness of nuclear war and begged imperialism for peace at any cost, in fact helping the imperialists to undermine the militant spirit of the socialist countries."

The attack on "revisionism" left little doubt that Red Chinese theory has accepted the idea that nuclear warfare is too dangerous even to contemplate.

YOU... and YOUR HOME

by Jack Foster

Nature's Colors — Subtle and Vibrant

When you set out to create a beautiful home, you'll find that one of the most versatile elements at your command is color. You have but to look at the beauty of nature around you to experience the glory and splendor of color—in the summer sky, in a garden filled with gay flowers in bud and bloom, in a field of green or ripened grain, or along tree-lined city streets.

Often when we think of the colors of nature, we think only of gay vibrant colors. But nature also abounds in delicate, subtle tones: The shaded pastels of fieldstone, the rich and almost elusive sand and clay shades. These are commonly referred to as the organic colors.

Organics — natural and painted brick, flagstone and fieldstone — play a major role in today's architecture, both interior and exterior. The new decorating schemes hold to the organic feeling by using background colors of much the same tone.

Whatever type of room you're planning... Modern, Traditional, Provincial, our friendly decorators will be delighted to help you with your furnishing and decorating plans. So feel free to come in whenever you can. We are always happy to see you. No appointment necessary.

Crop Residues Can Be Used To Advantage With Tilling

Have you ever taken your shirt off on a hot summer day and tried to work all day outside without it? Probably not, because you realize what the results would be, but have you stopped to realize what the results would be to your crop-land when you cut the grain off your fields and then turn the stubble under? The same situations exist when this is carried out.

Crop residues can be properly used by tilling the soil in such a manner so as to leave the residue on the surface, or incorporate it into the top two to four inches. Crop residues allow more water to enter the soil, reduce the amount of water evaporation, help prevent the blowing or washing off of the soil and at the same time improve the soil structure.

A cover on top of the soil will protect it from the bad effects of hard rains or winds. The straw or stubble will break up the force of the raindrops and keep the wind from coming in direct contact with the soil. Without residues for protection, there is a tendency for the soil to pack from the force of the raindrops or for the soil particles to be moved by the force of the wind.

A good crop residue cover of approximately 1000 pounds per acre will do much to increase the water intake of the soil. With a cover to break up the raindrops, they will enter a more open soil. During heavy rains, two to four times as much water runs off a bare surface in comparison to one protected by crop residues.

Water evaporation is another factor that can be controlled by the use of crop residues. These residues will reduce the temperature of water to be retained over a longer period of time.

Wind erosion is always less on soils where residues are present, due to the fact that they reduce the velocity at ground level. A cover will keep the wind from coming in direct contact with the soil.

It is a recognized fact that the organic matter is the life and body of our soil. This organic matter must be replaced or it is not too long before our soils will become dead and unproductive. By leaving crop residues on the surface, vital organic matter is added to the top inches of our soils. This organic matter doesn't decay all at once, thereby giving soil benefits over a longer period of time.

When crop residues of a small grain and grain sorghums are grown, it is always best to plan to leave enough residue to protect the soil until the time for planting the next crop. The method of plowing determines how rapid their residues will decay. Where the residue is light it is best to use a chisel or sweeps. If they are heavier, then they can be plowed in such a manner that part of them will be incorporated in the topsoil.

Crop residues in the Gray County Soil Conservation District are one of the main problems of conservation. The personnel of the Soil Conservation Service at Pampa assisting the Gray County Soil Conservation District are always ready to assist you in the planning and proper utilization of your crop residues.

Uranium Promoter Nabbed In Dallas

DALLAS (UPI)—Stocky uranium promoter John Milton Addison was jailed Saturday in Dallas on a Golden, Colo., larceny warrant, and San Antonio authorities immediately issued a "hold" order blocking his release.

Addison and his attorney, William D. Groom of Denver, were taken into custody about 4:30 p.m. at a hotel where Addison was conducting a meeting with his backers.

At San Antonio, Criminal Dist. Judge John F. Olson Jr., ruled that a $500 bond Addison posted in Flagstaff, Ariz. for his release from a fugitive warrant issued at San Antonio was good only as long as Addison stayed in the state of Arizona.

Olson ruled Addison was subject to being re-arrested the minute he set foot in Texas. A spokesman for the Better County Sheriff's office in San Antonio said it plans to send deputies to Dallas Monday to return Addison to San Antonio.

Authorities at Golden said the warrant accused Addison and Groom of stealing property valued at $300. Neither the property nor the circumstances were disclosed. The theft was alleged to have occurred June 15 of this year.

Addison — who pledged earlier this year he would run for governor of Texas — faces trial next November on theft and securities fraud charges at San Antonio.

Union Autocracy

The union question is perennially fascinating. Here in America, a group of persons, arrogating to themselves powers and rights which even men in government have yet to claim for themselves, have gotten themselves so firmly entrenched in the scheme of things that it becomes almost a matter of sacrifice to comment negatively upon their habits and customs.

We like a few statements put out by the National Right to Work Committee in a recent publication. The statements are attributed to G. A. Briefs, professor emeritus of Georgetown University Graduate School.

"It is one of history's wry twists that unions, which have always gloried in protecting the workers against the autocracy of the 'masters' now, themselves well entrenched and backed by government, make every effort to enforce yellow-dog contracts in reverse and establish their own autocracy over their members."

This is a precise statement of the facts, is it not? Unions, posturing as great benevolent and nobly motivated organizations, have so shouldered their way into our economic affairs that they now exercise a type of racial dictatorship over their members and the businessmen with whom they have contracts. A few yellow-dog contracts in reverse are backed in this dictatorship by the government which was organized to see that such things never got started in this nation.

Yet, there is more than a curious irony about the whole thing. There is such a contradiction between intent and performance as to border on disarrangement. It will be said that the enormous fallacy which has allowed the American labor movement to assume such terrific proportions relates to our own feeble adoration of the "democratic process."

No one is going to argue convincingly that it is evil for little men to be able to express themselves, or to resist the coercion and violence of their oppressors. And the democratic process has gained favor on these grounds.

But the democratic process as a means for expression in which both majority and minority can let their thoughts and feelings be known in

Fair Enough

by Westbrook Pegler

WASHINGTON — There may be no intellectual, moral or political defense against a mighty obsession of The New York Times, The Herald Tribune and a few other publications to make a great American of Felix Frankfurter. This determination already has built a tinsel Taj Mahal of counterfeit renown for a flagrant old showman to which we now must add frantic salutes to a babble published under the title "Reminiscences."

These reminiscences were collected by Columbia University in a sly activity called its oral history project. George Sokolsky recently was so interviewed let his unique personal knowledge of incidents and persons in Petrograd in 1916 and 1917 be lost to history. Managed with honesty, such a "project" could preserve perishable treasure in oral records on tape. For example, Sokolsky knew Trotsky as a squawking loafer on the lower East Side and later in Moscow and was not impressed by any self-interest in the welfare of people. But the modern propagandist is slick, so the Frankfurters, Morgenthau and Eleanor Roosevelt may be interviewed to their own advantage and the opposition either ignored or taken over the jumps by sneering prosecutors of the current teevue type. How can posterity be sure that memories are not doctored? The records of Yalta were.

That a man of Frankfurter's trivial true value can command rejoicing on page one of the Sunday Times and the Herald Tribune is a useful exaggeration, nevertheless. Such extravagance raises in the knowing mind a devil's advocate who notes that Felix is a dull by himself. He has made a practice of name dropping and modest pretentiousness, always with the credulous cooperation of unsteady or desisting sycophants. A reviewer who writes that Frankfurter was "a private adviser of Franklin Roosevelt" need not specify what advice he gave and whether Roosevelt acted on it or whether it caused the enslavement of a million eastern Europeans under Soviet Russia. To say that he was "a conscience to the government" is to ignore the damned spot of Alger Hiss, whom Weenie furiously planted in the bureaucracy where, as Whitaker Chambers revealed, he became boss of an evil force called the apparatus. There ensued betrayal of the American ideal of patriotism with God only knows what injury to the United States. Surely Frankfurter knew the character of his nominee, for he went in the first to the witness stand in the Hiss trial to swear that Hiss was a man of fine repute. And Hiss was at Yalta he remembered.

Lee Pressman, another of Weenie's happy dogs, as Hugh Johnson called them, was the author of the Wagner Act, which repealed the very spirit of the Constitution by his own belated admission or oath, he was member of the Communist Party at the time. Whoever says, as Anthony Lewis did in the Times, that Frankfurter was "a trouble-shooter for Theodore Roosevelt" seems bound to balance that with the fact that Roosevelt later called Felix a liar for concealing pertinent information in his biased report to Woodrow Wilson on the Bisbee deportation. Wobblies, Austrians, Turks and Yiddish were at large in Bisbee so that the vigilantes acted in reasonable fear that their families would be massacred. The Wobblies were the immediate perpetrators of the latter-day Soviet communists. The Austrians and Yiddish were hard-core miners. Enemy agents who had settled in Bisbee in peacetime, Mexicans had latch-key status in the mountains and some were Villistas.

Frankfurter was not a lawyer in this Bisbee case. He was a confidential, trusted agent of Woodrow Wilson. Theodore Roosevelt properly shook him up for his pointed omission from his report of espionage-vailing information. I duly note that this volume stops short of Weenie's career on the supreme court in 1939. But reviewers of rapturous heart should not close their intelligence to his conduct on the court and, more important, in the mysterious, murky, infested bureaucracy of the New Deal, the war and the years since.

We take our stand with Captain Parker and his brave Minutemen on Lexington Green on April the 19th, 1775. "Stand firm boys, hold your ground. Don't fire unless fired upon; but if they mean to have war, let it begin here."

In this grave situation we can take comfort in the fact that whenever our country has shown firmness and refused to retreat that the Soviet government has called off its aggression for the time being. There is little doubt in our opinion that it would do so again if we resolutely refuse to surrender West Germany or Berlin. That is the most likely way to preserve the peace. To surrender or retreat is to invite further aggression, bringing upon us eventually the choice between fighting under much less favorable conditions and being blotted out.

THE OFFICIAL PARTY PUBLICATION "Literature and Life," in which these figures were reported, attacked the "tendency toward private

ROBERT S. ALLEN

ANDERSON SEEKING TO PLUG INCOME TAX LOOPHOLES BY IDENTIFYING TAXPAYER, UNREPORTED INCOME BY NUMBER. WASHINGTON — Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson wants to give every taxpayer a serial number. He is pressing Congress for legislation to do this in private talks with members of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee and House Ways and Means Committee. Anderson, seeking action before Congress adjourns, is requesting a method of taxpayer identification patterned after the social security system. His unannounced plan is designed to help the Internal Revenue Service collect billions in federal income taxes that are now going unreported every year. Anderson is also offering the plan as the Administration's alternative to the dividend tax-cutting holding plan being pushed in the Senate by a bloc of liberal Democrats headed by Senator Eugene McCarthy (D., Minn.). Like the McCarthy plan, the immediate target of the new Anderson proposal is an estimated $5 billion in dividend and interest income that is now escaping taxation because of the failure of individual taxpayers to report this income in their tax returns. Most recent Treasury study shows that $1 billion, or 30 percent, of the $3 billion of interest income earned in 1958 escaped taxation by not being reported; also that $1 billion of $9 billion paid out in dividends that same year went untaxed.

HOW IT WORKS — In his backstage talks with members of the Senate Finance Committee, Anderson said that he was requesting specific legislation to put his plan into operation in order to win Congressional backing for the tax innovation and to make it more effective. The President's chief fiscal officer pointed out that the government had sufficient authority to assign numbers now, but that additional legislation was needed to require banks and other financial institutions to report dividends and interest income to the Internal Revenue Service. Under his proposal, he reported, banks would be required to list the income on cards carrying the taxpayer's number. These cards would be forwarded to the nearest IRS office where they would be run through IBM machines that could indicate within seconds whether the income had been reported. Committee members, while showing great interest in the plan, decided that the proposal needed more study. They approved a motion by Senator Harry Byrd (D., Va.), chairman, to have their staff explore the Anderson plan along with that of Senator McCarthy.

The House Ways and Means Committee decided to follow the same cautious approach. It is congressional before Congress adjourns. NOTE: The chances are good that Secretary Anderson will remain in the Cabinet if Vice President Nixon is elected President next November. That's the report that aides of the Vice President are telling friends in the Senate.

SOVIET MILLIONAIRES — Russia is fast increasing its number of "ruble-millionaires." Latest statistics reveal that there are now more than 2,000 "ruble-millionaires" in Russia today. Before World War II there were less than five. This development of a privileged class of wealthy people in the Soviet Union is highlighted in a report prepared by the State Department from recent Communist publications. The official party publication "Literature and Life," in which these figures were reported, attacked the "tendency toward private property" among members of what it called the "Dacha class." The emergence of the rich goes back to the Stalin era, according to the report, when the directors of large state concerns and members of the so-called "Intelligentsia" were given high salaries. Later premiums and prizes such as the Lenin prize were introduced. Engineers, artists, doctors, and lawyers won prizes which amounted to as much as 100,000 rubles. Since Khrushchev became Premier, Army marshals, actors, and high party officials have joined the growing list of "ruble-millionaires," the report states. The list will grow even larger, the report concludes, if Khrushchev goes through with his plan to abolish the 13 percent tax on income next January.

MORE TROUBLES — U.S. Agriculture Department officials, from Secretary Benson on down, are deeply alarmed about the long-range impact of commodity control plans being discussed by the new European Common Market. Their fears have been set forth in a still-secret document prepared and circulated by the Trade Policy Division of the Foreign Agricultural Service. It warns that "The Common Market is directed at self-sufficiency in Agriculture and not at free trade," and "the potential trade restrictions could reduce imports of major U.S. farm commodities to nothing more than a trickle." Last year the U.S. exported more than $215 million in feed grains and $89 million in tobacco to the Common Market nations that comprise France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Looking Sideways

by WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — You can't work your bit in the show business for 35 years and not know the true worth of the word "showman." I've known a lot of showmen of varying degrees of attainment and fame — Ziegfeld, Belasco, George White, John Golden, Carroll, Dillingham, the two Shuberts (now three in the tradition, with young John going so well), and so on. Bill Fields was a showman and so was John Steele, the singer. But, to this day, I cannot send the word "showman" darting through my mind without thinking of Kenneth Doncourt, the Kid From The Monkey Farm. Up until just now, I don't think 20 people in the whole of show business would know who I was talking about when I said I thought a great showman was Kenneth Doncourt, the Kid From The Monkey Farm. Now, because he had to go blow the whistle on himself and Tell All, even the public will know that I mean Ken Murray.

Ken Murray, who has done everything in show business that there is to do save, possibly, playing "Stars and Stripes Forever" on musical bottles, has written a book. It is called "Life On A Pogo Stick." It is a fascinating, fabulous and colorful summation of the career of this protean man in an arm of life that has more pitfalls and less rainbows than any business I know. Someone called me up the other day and said, "Murray's in town." He didn't have to say Ken. I knew. I tracked him down and called him.

"All right, what are you up to?" I demanded brusquely. "Eight thousand irons sizzling in the fire and let's forget 7,999 of them," he said. "I'm pitching for a book. Mine. That's all that matters to me." "All right, Doncourt, let's go. I'll pitch with you. Apart from any personal feeling I may have in favor of this broad-shouldered cigar mangle, master jockey and singularly wise showman, I'd go for the book if I never knew him at all. It is a pungent book in which he walks gaily through the why. Don't think some of his life hasn't been wry. Some of it has even been wrenching. Like all true children of perfect form, he has had his bruises along with his blessings. He had a sell-out show in Hollywood for several years and, bolstered by that plus an ample grouch-bag filled with money, he came on to New York to prove he could do it here, too. The critics threw everything but baseball bats at him and not only cost him his momentary pride but a fancy radio came along in time and he rose high, wide and handsome, jostling and jaking his way through platoons of charcoal-clad Madison Ave. experts whose total and only real contact with the show business was seeing "Broadway Melody of 1928" at a tumble-down shack in New Haven."

Ken Murray is a rare man: he has been in vaudeville, theater, musicals and reviews, radio, TV, movies, and has even worked ministry or business, although at raffish moments he has introduced shadows of burlesque into his "Blackouts" shows. He has, heaven help him, even been a syndicated columnist. He not only worked all these but has total recall of every hour passed in each. A virtue of his is a total recall, but a greater virtue is that he has the grace to describe in detail the moments when he was hit in the face with a dead fish as readily as the moments when gold and triumph were his alone.

He had some rebellious moments with an old friend of mine, a horrid but awfully funny W. C. Fields. He has clowned with Hope and Der Bingle, has made Marie Wilson a household word, like soap. The biggest and best, the palest and frailest have worked with him, including two and one-third yards with an amiable boa constrictor. I forget the snake's name.

But I never forget Ken Murray's name. I never forget Kenneth Doncourt's for that matter. Because the truth, though he may blush for it, is that it is Kenneth Abner Doncourt. I love him, anyhow.

Fifteen years ago your power was undisputed and we could have made a permanent and lasting peace. Ten years ago we were still supreme and still could have done it without great difficulty. Five years ago it would have been more difficult but still possible. Today we are still much stronger in a military sense than Soviet Russia, but the margin on our side is much less than it was even five years ago. Worse still is the petering out of the will which seems to have rendered us incapable of resolute action.

"Whether the civilization we have known and cherished is to survive is hanging in the balance. Retreat on Berlin and West Germany might well decide the issue against us and usher in another long period of human slavery."

BOWLER INSCRIPTION — LONDON (UPI) — London airport manager G. J. H. Jeffis has had four bowler hats stolen from him in the past four years. He finally decided that was enough. Inside the hatband of his latest bowler is the inscription: "Like hell it's yours. Put it back."

Hankering

by HENRY McLEMORE

One of the attractions of traveling Route 301 from New York to Florida is that you are afforded a view of Ludowici, Georgia, the celebrated crossroads speed-trap. About twenty miles out of town, but if there is a more beautiful crossroads town to be found anywhere in the United States. Under a hot summer's sun, its scrub and asphalt is breathtaking and stifling.

It is here, as you know, that a town and all its officials live on fines received for traffic arrests. Thousands of cars pass the Ludowici light each month, and thousands of arrests are made. About twenty miles out of Ludowici, on my recent drive south, I stopped for a sandwich, and the courtman warned me of what was ahead.

"That article that magazine did on the Ludowici light hurt your business for a while," he said, "but they have changed the trap now and are back in business as usual."

The Nation's Press HOW THE SPENDING PYRAMIDS (Chicago Tribune) An omnibus appropriation bill embodying almost 4 billion dollars in spending for various federal agencies was passed by the House by the lopsided vote of 387 to 18. The bill provides 891 million dollars for the so-called civil functions of the army engineers and an additional 277 million for the reclamation bureau of the Department of the Interior.

This measure, usually known as the pork barrel bill, authorizes starting or continuing work on 388 rivers and harbors and water resources projects. Five new projects not budgeted by the President were included. Last year Mr. Eisenhower vetoed two successive pork barrel bills, but on the second he was overruled for the first time in his career.

A great many of these projects would never be initiated if they were not suggested and initiated, and we do not know why it is thought necessary to keep on providing make-work for the army engineers when the technological requirements of the space and nuclear era are enough to command the abilities of all qualified engineers. But, as usual, the real trouble lies not in the announced appropriation for the next 12 months but in the fine print which describes the ultimate cost. Therein it is disclosed that the total cost of these 388 projects is estimated at 15 billion dollars. So, mortgages are placed against budgets for years to come and the spending pipeline is kept filled. No wonder the prospect of tax relief keeps retreating into an ever more distant future.

RICK BUDGET (N. Y. Daily News) President Eisenhower's $11.5 billion budget for the next fiscal year (beginning July 1), and the Pentagon is pretty well satisfied with that sum. Nevertheless, some Democratic leaders in Congress are reported to have resolved to take $2 billion to $3 billion into defense, using the summit crumple as the excuse.

We doubt that many Americans object to spending every last dime actually needed for adequate defense.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A tear gas burglar-chasing system installed in Paul Swanson's new auto agency worked well on its first real test — but it proved to be rather expensive. The tear gas was released after burglars cut their way into the safe with a torch Thursday. The startled culprits apparently dropped the torch and ran—$10,000 in cash and checks was burned.

Driving Through Georgia, Look Out For Ludowici

by HENRY McLEMORE

Asked about the present set-up, "Well, it's not right at the light any more," the courtman said. "But when you make a right turn at the light, be sure to shift into the lowest gear you've got, and creep for a block. Go two miles an hour — one if you can. If you don't, a cop'll nail you."

When the red light changed to green at Ludowici, I shifted to first and, to be sure I was creeping, I held the brake on. There wasn't a soul in sight. The sun-baked highway was deserted.

"Ludowici has quit its highway robbery," I said to myself, and was just getting ready to gun my car when I looked to the right. There, fifteen or twenty yards off the road, hidden by a double row of some sort of hedge, was a police car, with a driver at the wheel and the motor running.

"I don't know anything about state and local government, but how the State of Georgia — my own state, incidentally — allows such a flagrant operation to exist is beyond me. The Governor must have the power to make the Ludowici cops cut down the hiding hedge. Or to raise the speed limit to a blistering eleven or twelve miles an hour on a near deserted highway."

Given a few more years of operation and Ludowici will cost Georgia more friends than "Gone With the Wind" made for the State.

BOHEAMWOOD, Eng. (UPI) — Police are looking for the burglar who has been playing reveller at 2:30 a.m. every day for the past week. "If he must blow, why not at 7:30 to wake us up for work?" asked one resident.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mayor George Christopher has proposed the Giants' Candlestick Park as the site of the Patterson-Johannson heavyweight title rematch. In a telegram to promoter Jack Fugazy, Christopher said the new stadium has a seating capacity of 40,000 and additional thousands could be handled in temporary bleachers.

Foreign Money

CONGRESS is about to give its blessing to a new foreign currency. In the fond hope that it will help to solve an increasingly embarrassing problem of our own devising. This is the large and growing accumulation of "soft" currencies for which the U.S. has no use. These are the bahts, dirhams, drachmas, kyats, hwan, pesetas, roubles, soles sources and other currencies acquired by the U.S. in payment for surplus commodities and dollar loans.

No one is sure just how much of this "money" is on hand, since it is spread through dozens of government accounts. As of the end of 1959, however, the U.S. stood to collect $3 billion "worth" of foreign currencies on loans outstanding, plus interest. And the I.O.U.s keep mounting. The only trouble with all this "wealth" is that, for the most part, the U.S. can't spend it. India, for example, already owes us the equivalent of $72 million in rupees, and has just agreed to borrow back more than $500 million of the rupees she will pay us for 14 million tons of wheat over the next four years. There's no prospect that these U.S. claims can be exchanged for goods or services in the foreseeable future.

In fact the Budget Bureau estimates that U.S. agencies will need $2.3 billion in foreign currencies to meet overseas costs in fiscal 1961, but that only $130 million of the U.S. board can be used. This is because more than 80 percent of the "needed" will occur in Canada, Britain, France, Germany, and Japan, where U.S. supplies of local currencies are negligible.

THE NEW aid agency, the International Development Association, is the brainchild of Sen. Mike Monroney (D-Okl.), who conceived it as a means of putting U.S.-owned foreign currencies to use. It is believed, could put them to work in the underdeveloped countries. Monroney's idea got nowhere until the Treasury decided that it could be used to entice other "hard" currency countries into shoudering that more of the growing burden of development assistance. But this CONGRESS insists that America's and that a large part of the "proceeds" be loaned back to the purchasers. At this rate, according to one estimate, the U.S. could wind up with the equivalent of $154 billion in I.O.U.s by the year 2,000. The only answer, says Harvard's Edward S. Mason, is to stop the "phony sales" of farm surpluses. Until this is done, "Uncle Sam's foreign money mine will continue to expand like a tub full of Asian steamed rice."

Foreign News

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor
From the Foreign Editor's note:

Internecine warfare:
London observers predict the ideological struggle between Moscow and Peking will get worse before it gets better. Red China's Mao Tse-Tung is not ready to bow to Nikita Khrushchev's dictate that Moscow will be the sole interpreter of Marx and Lenin and will look to the die-hards in the Kremlin and East Europe for support of the old idea that war between Socialism and Capitalism is inevitable. However, both sides will try to avoid a formal rift which would be in the interest of neither Moscow nor Peking. The deep-seated rift may account for some wild swings in Communist policy during coming months.

Bitter ashes:
All the hopes raised by the Algerian rebel agreement to come to Paris for talks with President Charles de Gaulle could turn to still more frustration and bitter disappointment. The rebels may break off any talks unless the question of cease-fire is extended to conditions of eventual "self-determination" in Algeria. De Gaulle, so far, is determined that talks with the rebels shall be limited to a cease-fire. Should he agree to an extension into political fields, he will likely face another Algerian settlers' uprising backed by former Minister Jacques Soustelle and other "French Algeria" diehards in metropolitan France.

Self-extinction?
The Belgian Congo will become independent on June 30, but that is no guarantee that the country will remain united. Tribal and other quarrels may emerge more fierce than ever between the 150 or so groups with dozens of languages and customs that make up the Belgian Congo and with the Belgians pulling out, now will lose the one thing that binds them together. Some of the Congolese are as different as Norwegians and Greeks and some live as far apart from each other, with poor communications. Many of the small minorities fear they face oblivion and are thinking of secession.

Sobey reflections:
Predictions in Japan are that the Japanese Socialists will not show little, if any, gains as result of the recent massive anti-government demonstrations. Political observers in Tokyo believe that Japanese will remember with extreme regret that these demonstrations caused cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit and could threaten the loss of Japan's Party now in power.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The recent rash of railroad mergers and talk of additional mergers to come reflect the determination of rail managements to meet the competitive challenge of other modes of transportation, according to Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis.

Some of the candidates for merger should be watched closely by investors as they may be strengthened financially, the firm points out. "Large economies of operation should result, but of equal importance the merged roads will be in a better position to compete for traffic."

Lucien O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co. looks upon rail issues as interesting speculations. Technically he adds, they are well liquidated, but psychologically they are as unpopular as the electronics are popular. Hooper says he likes the idea of buying unpopularity inasmuch as there is more merger potential in the rails now than at any other time since the early 1920s.

Standard & Poor's notes that at around 26, the shares of Delta Air Lines are selling well below their book value of $34 a share and some 35 per cent below their 1956 high when revenues were around half current levels. "These deflated shares offer interesting speculative possibilities," the statistical research firm reports.

The Fitch Survey likes the rapidly with which Carter Products firmly positioned itself in drugs and toiletries. Signs are that favorable operational trends will be extended as an outgrowth of increased research capacity, it adds.

Today is Sunday, June 26 the 174th day of the year, with 188 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The evening stars are Mercury, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1870, the first boardwalk was completed at Atlantic City, New Jersey.

In 1892, American novelist Pearl Buck was born.

In 1917, the first troops of the American Expeditionary Force reached France.

In 1945, the United Nations Charter was signed in San Francisco.

In 1948, U.S. forces in Germany started the "Berlin Airlift," and cargo flights were stepped up to at least 100 daily.

A thought for today: U.S. President Franklin D. Roosevelt said in 1940: "The Soviet Union, as everybody who has the courage to face the fact knows, is run by a dictatorship as absolute as any other dictatorship in the world."

By ALBERT W. McCOLLOUGH
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Amateur photographers interested in using their photographic abilities for something more than personal pleasure will find a wide field for service in their churches and Sunday Schools.

The number of photo projects that can be undertaken in this area can be expanded indefinitely, depending upon the imagination and ingenuity of the photographer and the people he works with.

In my own small suburban church at least four picture-taking programs have been carried out successfully in recent months. They included the photographing of:

—The Sunday School in action, to show the cramped quarters now available and stimulate interest in a campaign for a new Sunday School building.

—Service and reception marking the 10th anniversary of the minister's pastorate. Photos will be enlarged and the collection presented to the minister and his wife.

—A family night program, including a play presented by senior high school students. This was photographed to provide a record of this type of social activity in the church, and to record ideals for future program planners.

—General church and church school activities. This was a 16 mm movie made by the senior high young people's group and their advisers.

In all these efforts, the photographers were strictly amateurs, and none was seeking profits. Each lensman donated his time, talents and materials, except for the movie, for which film was brought in a cooperative group project.

Despite the non-professional, non-profit aspects, the results were highly satisfactory to everyone concerned.

Naturally, the picture taking was done by amateurs of more than minimum experience. The still picture projects were carried out by photo fans who do their own processing and darkroom work. This kept costs low.

French Vocalist Patachou Loves Americans

PATACHOU: All-American fan.

Patachou — her friends call her Pat — should be an expert in comparative audiences. She has sung in 19 countries in her eight years as an entertainer.

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Washington looked down on Phil Silvers from the height of the statue pedestal on the spot on Wall Street where Washington took the oath as first U.S. President.

'800' Club Works For 1,100 Pampa Boys

Membership Drive Now On

Pampa's two Optimist clubs are in the midst of an all-out drive to bring the '800' Club up to its full membership from the present 400 or so.

It's easy to become a member. All you have to do is pledge to pay $1 per month for the support of the Optimist Club boys program.

The money goes toward improving the club facilities—three baseball diamonds and a clubhouse, which also is used for staging boxing matches.

No money contributed to the '800' Club will be used to sponsor Little League or Pony League baseball teams.

The Little League program began in 1954 with eight teams—four in the Western League and four in the Eastern League.

Now there are 40 teams—18 Little League clubs, six Pony League and 16 farm clubs—which use the facilities.

The idea of the '800' Club dates back to Nov. 7, 1955, when the Optimists made an appeal to the public for funds to purchase 10 acres of land where the ball parks and clubhouse are now located.

Some $4,000 was obtained from the drive, and with what individual club members contributed, the land was paid for in 1957.

John Mayfield, a member of the Perryton Chamber of Commerce, told Optimists here on Feb. 22, 1957, how his town had paid for a community center with a '400' Club. This was a group of 400 citizens who contributed $1 per month to finance the building.

Soon after that the Optimists decided to form their own '800' Club. Approximately 1,100 boys are now using the facilities every day.

All three of the baseball parks are lighted. Only the two Little League parks have bleachers. Some of the money taken in through the club will be earmarked for bleachers at the Pony League park.

Also planned for the future is a full-time employee to keep the clubhouse open all day during the summer. There is a reading room with a television set, record player and complete library in the clubhouse.

The clubhouse is also equipped with bleachers and a regular size boxing ring.

Even though the clubhouse isn't open now, except during Little League and Pony League games and on Saturday mornings, all of the boys in the program use Optimist Park facilities daily.

A good example would be Johnny Luedecke, a 13-year-old Pony Leaguer. Johnny played for three years in the Little League and is a starting third baseman in his first season of Pony League play.

One day this week he was standing in the Little League park, by himself, hitting fungoes.

"I come out here just about every day," Johnny said. "We usually practice every day except on the days when we are supposed to play a game. But sometimes on those days we practice in the morning before the game."

"If we don't, I just come out here anyway."

At one time there were some 600 members supporting the '800' Club. The Optimists hope their current drive will bring the membership up to 800.

It's open to any adult in Pampa and the dues are only $1 per month.

Any Optimist, Little League or Pony League manager will be glad to sign you up.

LONELY SLUGGER—Johnny Luedecke, a 13-year-old Pony Leaguer, has discovered Optimist Park may be used any time. He spends many hours there during the summer hitting "fungoes." If there's no one else to play with, he retrieves the ball himself.

FRIEND OF THE BOY—That's the Optimist Club motto, and it prevails in this new, modern which is open relaxing in front of a television screen. But a full-time employee is needed to keep it open daily.

Dollar A Month Goes Long Way

PAUSE THAT REFRESHES—After a hard day on the field, Little Leaguers look forward to a cold drink which is available in the clubhouse. From left, Tommy McDonald, 10; Alvin Achord, 10; Jay Moore, 11; and Ricky Marson, 12, wait to be served.

Club House Open to All Boys

FAITHFUL FANS—The next goal for the Pony League park is bleachers. Now fans must sit on cars or stand up to watch the game, but they turn out for them, nonetheless. Here Jean Franklin and Mrs. Bill Lollar watch on a car while other women are standing.

ALL 'POOPED' OUT—The club room provides relaxation for tired boys. They can read, listen to records or just sit and blow bubbles, like 10-year-old James Johnson is doing. Don Douglas Lyle, 11, center, and Lanny Kyle prefer to read books.

Pampa Rebels Play At Childress Today After Walloping Hedley 28-4

By BOB DUNBAR
Daily News Sports Editor

HEDLEY—The Pampa Junior Legion Rebels walloped a hapless Hedley team here Saturday afternoon 28-4 behind the two-hit pitching of Duke Garren and Dickie Wills and the power hitting of Roy Don Stephens and Larry Stroud.

Stephens was on the basepaths five times in seven trips to the plate with a single, double, triple, an error, and a fielder's choice as the Rebels combed Hedley pitching for a total of sixteen hits.

Stroud unloaded a home-run in the third and followed with three singles and a walk in his next four trips to the plate.

Garren pitched the first five innings and allowed just one hit in his stint before giving way to Dickie Wills who gave the home team their second hit in his two innings on the hill.

In addition to his neat pitching trick, Garren ripped a double and a triple and drew three walks to join Stephens and Stroud in the hit parade.

Shortstop Butch Crossland chipped in with a double and two singles to go along with a free pass while scoring five runs for the Rebels to match Stroud who also crossed the plate five times.

The Rebels jumped out to an early 7-0 lead in the first inning when 11 men went to the plate and bopped out five hits to go along with two walks given up by Hedley's Joe Donnell.

They counted four more in the second, three in the third, and four in the fourth before Hedley was able to shut the scoring door in their faces for one inning.

The visitors came right back after the scoreless fifth and counted four in the sixth and six in the seventh to wind up the rout.

Hedley scored his first run in the fifth when Garren walked the first three men and then gave up a hit to first baseman Wiggins to score one run. After a force out at the plate, Garren retired the next two men on strikes to pitch out of the jam.

Two errors, a walk and a double combined to give the home team its second run in the sixth off Wills. Hedley scored its final two runs in the last inning largely because of charity. An infield error, and four walks issued by Wills forced over two runs for the home team to close out their scoring.

Keith Dodd, Rebel left fielder, also wore out the basepaths reaching safely four times on two singles and a pair of walks.

The Rebels go for their third win this afternoon when they travel to Childress for an afternoon game. Jerry Glover will handle the pitching chores for Pampa as the Rebels try to keep their hold on first place in the District 18 Eastern Division.

Thursday's loss to Borger by an 8-7 score does not count in the district total of 195.

Hebert and Hightower—who have been in front or shared the top spot since the meet opened Thursday—had their worst round Saturday, a four-under-par 68.

Even so, they remained favorites to win the $15,000 tourney Sunday. The teams will play a final round of 18 holes Sunday.

Two teams were tied for third place, two strokes behind. They were pro Billy Maxwell of Dallas and Red Roden of Odessa, along with pro Frank Wharton of Dallas and John Farquhar of Amarillo, each with 197.

Pirates Deal Cubs Ninth Loss in Row; Milwaukee Downs LA

Cleveland Derails Yank Express, 4-1

By United Press International

The Pittsburgh Pirates preserved their 3 1/2 game lead in the National League race Saturday when they hammered out 14 hits and handed the Chicago Cubs their ninth straight setback, 7-6. Pittsburgh's payoff run came in the seventh on a triple by Rocky Nelson and Smoky Burgess' sacrifice fly.

Ernie Banks kept the Cubs' hope alive when he singled in the ninth to put Chicago within one run of a tie but Elroy Face ended the game by striking out Ed Bouchee. Paul Giel, second of four Pirate pitchers, gained his first victory of the season while Bob Anderson suffered his fourth loss.

Bob Buhl, an old Dodger-killer from way back, was credited with Milwaukee's 4-2 triumph over Los Angeles even though he wasn't around at the finish. Rookie Ron Pishe relieved Buhl in the seventh and Warren Spahn locked up the victory in the ninth.

The victory was Buhl's eighth of the season and 23rd over the Dodgers during his career. Compared with only nine losses against them.

Billy O'Dell, supported by a 13-hit attack, pitched the San Francisco Giants to a 5-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. The Giants bunched four hits for three runs in the third inning and, chased loser Cal McLish with two more in the fourth.

O'Dell, now 3-7, yielded 10 hits, including a homer by Wally Post. McLish's record now is 3-5.

Southpaw Curt Simmons won his first game for the St. Louis Cardinals when Ken Boyer hit a ninth-inning homer to beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 1-0. Pitching against his former teammates, Simmons struck out six and allowed six hits over 8 2/3 innings. Lindy McDaniel relieved Simmons with one on in the ninth and got Pancho Herrera to fly out, ending the game. Boyer's homer, his 19th of the season, came on loser Jim Owens' first pitch in the ninth.

The Baltimore Orioles climbed to within three percentage points of the American League lead Saturday when they crushed the Kansas City Athletics, 4-2, with a 15-hit attack that included home runs by Gus Triandos, Brooks Robinson and rookie Dave Nicholson.

The Orioles did most of their damage against knuckleballer Bud Daley, who gave up six runs before departing after three innings. The loss for Daley was only his third against 10 victories.

Dick Stigman's four-hit pitching plus homers by Vic Power and Harvey Kuenn led the Cleveland Indians to a 4-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

Stigman struck out 10 and walked only two while recording his third victory against four losses. Both Cleveland homers came off Ralph Terry, who was

Sneed, Palmer Hold 3-Stroke Ireland Lead

PORTMARNOCK Ireland (UPI)—Slammin' Sammy Sneed blazed around Portmarnock's seaside academy with a five-under-par 67 Saturday for a three-shot lead in the International Trophy and Canada Cup golf championships.

Sneed's brilliant third round 83-4 picked up struggling Arnold Palmer and gave the United States a three stroke edge on 29 rival nations.

The 45-year old Sneed, playing like a boy in the winds which whipped in off the Irish Sea, posted his third sub-par round for a ten-under-par 54-hole total of 206 which put him three strokes ahead of Belgium's Flory Van Donck with only Sunday's 18 hole final round remaining.

That round, well cheered by a gallery of 15,000 golf-fanatical Rebels, also picked up Palmer, the U. S. Open champion who rocketed to a 39-36-70 and a 215 total.

Thus Slammin' Sam's 67 after previous rounds of 71 and 68 on the 7,093-yard, par 72 course maintained the United States' lead of three strokes.

Meanwhile, South Africa moved into the challenger's spot with a 43 total in the two-man total Canada Cup race as veteran Bobby Locke shot a 69 and little known player a 71. Player thus moved into a tie at 211 with Australian Peter Thomson, who also was a five shot off Sneed's leading pace with a 69.

First National Bank trimmed Kist 10-6 in Pony League action Friday night with Herman Waite and Mike Schale combining to provide the offensive power.

Both slammed home runs and added a pair of hits to account for six of the winners' eight hits. Schale wore out a parade of Kist hurlers, his other two hits being doubles while Waite combed them for a pair of singles to go along with his bases-empty home run blast.

Gary Larrimore picked up the win for the Bankers but needed relief aid from Gary Sikes who twirled the last three innings.

The losing pitcher for Kist was Jim Brown who worked four innings and gave up five runs on seven hits and three walks.

Bobby Price-relieved Brown and was followed by three more Kist hurlers in the effort to stem the Bank offense.

Tommy Henley, Ben Woodington, and Jessie Washington were the last three Kist pitchers to charge the hill. Price's double and single and Washington's double featured the loser's attack.

The Lions Club holds a one-game edge over Cree Drilling as the Pony League season enters its last week. Tuesday night's schedule shows Lions and Bank trailing in the 5:30 p.m. opener. Cree will try to keep its slim hopes alive with a win over Kist in the 7:30 nightcap.

Houston Golfer Is NCAA Titlist

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—Defending champion Dick Crawford of Houston, University of Texas, overcame a six hole deficit Saturday afternoon to win the NCAA golf tournament two-up over challenger Steve Smith of Stanford. Crawford finished with a one-under-par 70 on the afternoon 18 to finish the 36-hole finals with a score of 143. Smith, who toured the hilly Broadmoor course in par during the morning round, took 75 whacks on the last 18 holes. He finished with a 148.

Crawford, who remained cool throughout the morning round at the Stanford shot-maker pulled ahead, had to birdie three of the last five holes to retain his championship. He was behind from the 9th hole of the day until the 22nd when he pulled even with Smith, who eliminated national amateur champion Jack Nicklaus in the third round.

Crawford went ahead on the 25th hole with a six-foot birdie putt, while Smith missed a four-foot putt.

The Stanford golfer took a tumble on the last ole, a par four. His tee shot landed behind a tree and was unplayable. Smith, who had to pitch the ball onto the fairway for an open shot, took a bogey losing all to Crawford, who played it safe and went for par.

Thomas moved out ahead of teammate Joe Arenivar, hitting .304 on the basis of official Texas League averages through Wednesday night's games.

The top five hitting cycle is rounded out by league leader Valley's Manuel Mota at .352, Charlie Miller of the Valley, who dropped from the previous week's leadership to .332, and Victoria's Kal Segrist at .342.

San Antonio's long-range hitter, Duke Ducente, although hitting only .287, continued to dominate the home run department with 24 and runs batted in with 61.

Mota had knocked across 28 runs and 27 homers, although he has played in only 27 of 47 scheduled games. Amarillo's 70 games, had batted in 56 runs.

With 98, Hiller paced the league in doubles with 29. Dalton Thomas of Austin led in triples with seven, and Tulsa's Jim Beauchamp had 12 stolen bases for the 83 mark and Valley's Bobby Bob Amarillo, although at the bottom was 8-4.

Atevinar held leadership in hits leadership in that category. He topped the standings, was tied for the club batting leadership with San Antonio at .284.

Valley's Ron Herbel continued to head up the league's pitchers with eight victories and no defeats. San Antonio's Jack Curtis was the winningest hurler with nine victories and four defeats. Jim Proctor of Victoria had an average of 1.84 earned runs per inning.

They were forced into the pit by engine trouble and lost 11 laps to the leaders before their Maserati swung back onto the course.

Belgian drivers Juan Frere and Olivier Gendebien took the lead after Gregory and Daigh went to the pits and held it steadily through the next hours.

At the end of the fourth hour, their leading Ferrari had covered 32 laps, one more than a similar car driven by Willie Mairesse of Belgium and Paul Ginther of Hollywood, Calif. In third place was a Ferrari driven by Ricardo Rodriguez of Mexico and Jean Pilette of France.

Don January Tied For Lead In Odessa Golf

ODESSA, Tex. (UPI)—Pro Don January of Dallas and Dick Jennings of Lubbock fired a blistering 61 Saturday to jump from 29th place to a tie for the leadership of the 12th annual Odessa Pro-Am Golf Tournament.

The performance by January and Jennings boosted them into a deadlock with early pace-setters Jay Hebert of Lafayette, La., and Bill Hightower of Midland going with pro Frank Wharton of Dallas and John Farquhar of Amarillo, each with 197.

Hebert and Hightower—who have been in front or shared the top spot since the meet opened Thursday—had their worst round Saturday, a four-under-par 68.

Even so, they remained favorites to win the $15,000 tourney Sunday. The teams will play a final round of 18 holes Sunday.

Two teams were tied for third place, two strokes behind. They were pro Billy Maxwell of Dallas and Red Roden of Odessa, along with pro Frank Wharton of Dallas and John Farquhar of Amarillo, each with 197.

Ferraris Set Pace In Le Mans Race

By ROBERT AHER
United Press International

LE MANS France (UPI)—Ferraris held the first three spots after the first four hours of the Le Mans 24-hour Grand Prix auto race Saturday with one of the top American drivers, Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., already forced to the sidelines.

Hill, who was driving a Ferrari with Wolfgang Von Trips of Germany was forced out of the race in the 23rd lap when his car developed engine trouble.

Two other top U. S. hopes—Briggs Cunningham of Green Farms, Conn., and William E. Kimberley of New Milford, Conn.—drove on one of the four cars entered by Cunningham, were forced out in the 32nd lap when their Chevrolet Corvette developed trouble.

Masten Gregory of Aberdeen, Kansas, and Chuck Daigh of Los Angeles also ran into trouble after leading through the first hour of one of the world's most dangerous race. They were forced into the pit by engine trouble and lost 11 laps to the leaders before their Maserati swung back onto the course.

Belgian drivers Juan Frere and Olivier Gendebien took the lead after Gregory and Daigh went to the pits and held it steadily through the next hours.

At the end of the fourth hour, their leading Ferrari had covered 32 laps, one more than a similar car driven by Willie Mairesse of Belgium and Paul Ginther of Hollywood, Calif. In third place was a Ferrari driven by Ricardo Rodriguez of Mexico and Jean Pilette of France.

First National Bank trimmed Kist 10-6 in Pony League action Friday night with Herman Waite and Mike Schale combining to provide the offensive power.

Both slammed home runs and added a pair of hits to account for six of the winners' eight hits. Schale wore out a parade of Kist hurlers, his other two hits being doubles while Waite combed them for a pair of singles to go along with his bases-empty home run blast.

Gary Larrimore picked up the win for the Bankers but needed relief aid from Gary Sikes who twirled the last three innings.

The losing pitcher for Kist was Jim Brown who worked four innings and gave up five runs on seven hits and three walks.

Bobby Price-relieved Brown and was followed by three more Kist hurlers in the effort to stem the Bank offense.

Tommy Henley, Ben Woodington, and Jessie Washington were the last three Kist pitchers to charge the hill. Price's double and single and Washington's double featured the loser's attack.

The Lions Club holds a one-game edge over Cree Drilling as the Pony League season enters its last week. Tuesday night's schedule shows Lions and Bank trailing in the 5:30 p.m. opener. Cree will try to keep its slim hopes alive with a win over Kist in the 7:30 nightcap.

Roadrunners Face Sayre After 11-3 Loss To Liberal

LIBERAL, Kan. — The Pampa Roadrunners lost their fifth ball game in 13 starts here Friday night when they took an 11-3 drubbing from the Liberal BeeJays.

The Roadrunners will be gunning for revenge for one of the five losses this afternoon when they tackle Sayre, Okla., at Optimist Park.

Manager Henry Stephens said righthander Gary Heiskell will get the nod for mound duty against the visitors who hold a 9-0 shutout over the local semi-pros.

Once again, the Roadrunners' hardluck lefthander, Kippy Williams, failed to go the distance after hurling near perfect ball in the early innings.

The young southpaw's other two defeats both followed the pattern of Friday night's loss, Woodward and Berger tagging him in the late innings when he tired.

In Williams' defense it must be remembered this season marks the first time he has been called to pitch beyond the seven-inning high school distance.

Liberal jumped on him for three runs in the sixth inning to shell him from the mound and break open a tight 2-1 ball game.

Ivan Wooten relieved Williams and put out the fire in the sixth but found himself the target of the BeeJays' heavy artillery in the seventh. The Roadrunners' ace, Jimmy Walker, came on and spiked the home team's guns in the final inning and one-third, striking out two of the four men to face him.

Centerfielder Dave Marler's double and single and doubles by rightfielder Travis Taylor and catcher Terry Joe Haralson featured Pampa's six-hit attack.

Marler also turned in a sparkling defensive play when he robbed Liberal second baseman Phil Hipps of a home-run in the sixth. Hipps bombed a shot for the centerfield fence but the fleetfooted Roadrunner outfielder raced back and appeared the ball with a dazzling one hand stab just as the ball appeared to be dropping over the fence.

Pampa had the satisfaction of knocking starter Jack Rumble from the mound with a late ninth inning uprising. With one down, first baseman Gary Heiskell laced a single to left field and moved to third on Taylor's double. Haralson chased them both home with his back-to-back double and Dave Busby was called in to put down the rally. He struck out the remaining two Roadrunners, Haralson stealing third base in the meantime.

Americans Dull In Wimbledon Wins

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — America's Barry Mackay and Earl (Butch) Buchholz joined a general parade of favorites into the men's singles quarter-finals of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships Saturday but did little to boost their stock with dull performances.

Second-seeded Darlene Hard completed a rain-interrupted victory over a surprisingly good Russian girl to gain the women's quarter-finals, but two other U.S. girls and one American man were eliminated.

Mackay did not have to show much — and didn't — in romping to a 6-2, 6-2, 8-6 victory in his fourth-round match against bearded Joergen Ulrich of Denmark, one of two brothers known as easy-going players. Ulrich gave him a tussle only in the third set and then helped his own downfall.

Buchholz turned in a workmanlike but lackluster job in defeating Albert Gaertner of South Africa, 6-2, 6-7, 7-5. Gaertner is unranked in his home land, but bothered Buchholz in the second set and had a 4-1 lead in the third until rain interrupted for 40 minutes. Then the Missouri star ran off the match.

By contrast, Australian stars Neale Fraser and Rod Laver sparked in their triumphs.

Southpaw Fraser, top-seeded and the better favorite for the title, showed his top form in whizzing through fellow Aussie, Don Candy, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2, while the third-seeded Laver dropped one set but was almost as impressive in whipping speedy Pierre Darmon of France, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1, 8-6.

Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., the only American to reach the third round, failed in his bid for a quarter-final berth when he took a 6-4, 6-1, 6-2 thumping from fifth-seeded Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy, one of Europe's top players.

Californian In French Amateur Golf Title Play

CHANTILLY, France (UPI) — Johnny Dawson, 57-year-old California real estate broker, won a pair of easy matches Saturday and advanced to the French Amateur Golf Tournament final, where he will meet perennial champion Henri de Lamaze of France Sunday.

Dawson, who said he entered the tournament "just to see how far I could get," first defeated 20-year-old Martin Christmas of England, 4 and 3, and then whipped Emanuel Urresti, a stateless Spanish Basque who attended college in Florida, 5 and 4.

De Lamaze, who has won the French amateur crown six straight years and 10 times since World War II, also won two matches on the 6,476-yard Morfontaine Course that was damp from overnight rains.

De Lamaze scored a 5 and 4 triumph over D. W. Frame of England in the morning and defeated his countryman, Marius Bardana, 2 and 1, in the afternoon.

WAS TUESDAY REALLY the longest day of the year... or did the swarm of mosquitoes that have invaded our city only make it seem that way? ... they are unwelcome visitors indeed... and we wish the wind that blew them our way would return and blow them back home again!!! ... they're the biggest and most vicious ones we've ever been bitten by.

LIFE IS BACK TO NORM for dear old Dad this Sunday after his one mad, brief fling into the spotlight last Sunday... it's very true that the grass grew an inch or two taller... the hinges on the pantry door screeched a bit louder... and the paint touch-up job needed on the yard furniture became a bit more apparent during his one day off... but those are all things that can be done today... a lot of Country Club dads enjoyed the day by participating in a Scotch Foursome golf tournament arranged in their honor last Sunday at the Club... coming in warm and hungry after a round on the pretty greens and welcomed by a charmingly appointed and deliciously prepared buffet were Bob Triplehorn... Clinton Evans... George Hofsess... and Joe Cree just to name a few... settling for the buffet only and excluding the arduous pleasure of the golfing event were the Dr. Julian Keys... the Tom Roses... and the Charles Cooks with the Z. B. Deers of Amarillo, who were over for the day... Fred and Dorothy Neslage, with friends, were out for the buffet... Dorothy shared the day's honors with Fred by celebrating a birthday on Father's Day... which was very clever of her, we think... earlier in the day, we spied the charming family of the Bob Echols waiting for the Coronado Inn Buffet to open after church... Bob was taking his family and parents, the B. L. Echols, who were visiting here from St. Louis, to luncheon at the Inn... and having either a late breakfast or early luncheon were the Carlton Nances, who dropped by the Inn Coffee Shop for a bite to eat... lucky Moms could enjoy the day with Dad without being loaded down with dishes to do after dining.

SOMEHOW WE FELT heartened after reading this item... "afraid you're getting old because stair-climbing leaves you breathless? Nonsense, says Helena Rubinstein, the beauty authority, you're just forgetting to breathe! People tend to hold their breath while mounting a staircase... If you consciously think of inhaling and exhaling as you climb, you'll be far less tired when you reach the top"... we must remember this the next time we go to a party in the City Club Room.

MOMENT OF TRUTH... the first time you try on last year's swim suit after a winter of sedentary pleasures.

SOMETIMES THIS COLUMN and social events don't come out even as to time... with a Thursday deadline and a Saturday night party, we're either too late or too early... be that as it may, we know that the Fiesta Party given last night in the Country Club was a gay, colorful affair... we know because we know how talented the hosts, the Bob Currys, the Tom Bralys and the Dr. Frank Kelleys are at entertaining... guests were transported from this nice Texas Town to down South of the Border with a Fiesta theme carried out in mood, music and food... oleh!

THERE'S A CHARMING GUEST in the home of Roy and Fern Dawson on Dogwood... she's Fern's and Mina Board's mother, Pearl Andrews of Wichita, Kansas, who tips the calendar scale at age 80... she returned home via a "flying machine," with Mina, who had been visiting with her last week-end in Wichita... it was Mrs. Andrews' first airplane ride and now she feels that there is no other way to travel.

EVER SO BEAUTIFUL was the Mimosa tree with its delicate pink blossoms that bloom so briefly on the front lawn of Bill and Naomi Williamson's home, 2201 Beech... and somehow we are so proud of a little clump of Bells-Of-Ireland which are blooming just beneath our Japanese Red-Bud Bush... makes our lawn sort of international, don't you think?... that certainly is a beautiful boat which Kirk Duncon "acquired" on Father's Day... and he has a perfect place to launch it in the swimming pool in his backyard... the television block-out that prevented most of us from seeing Patterson kay-o Ingemor in the fifth (gee, we sound almost like a sports writer) didn't prevent a group of local sport fans from seeing the fight... Don Hestor, Gene Harper, Neal Toler, Paul Hubbard, Paul Murphy, Bill Griffin, Fred Lamnack and Ray Wilson piled into cars and traveled to Amarillo to see the movie-screen version of the battle... speaking of sports, which we just did... Bob Dunbar, News sports editor, recently broke his leg in a softball game, while trying to slide into second base... and after all of that trouble he was declared OUT... there just isn't any justice... how come, we wonder, no cowboy shows came in for Emmy Awards Tuesday night?... around our house, we were under the impression that that is all there is on TV these days... we were surprised to learn that all these other good shows were being televised.

WHAT WON'T THEY THINK OF NEXT?... cosmetologists, that is... now it is entirely possible to get a golden tan from your corner drug store... a tan that won't wash off... a clear, liquid Vitamin D is being bottled to be applied externally that will produce a golden tan, any shade you desire, in a matter of a few hours... a boon for those who don't have the time or inclination to get it the hard way... but it makes you stop and think... now everytime we see a beautiful golden tan, we think "does she?... or doesn't she?"

NOW WE KNOW... that blue panel truck around town, labeled "Pampa's Choraleers" which we inquired about last Sunday, is the truck that F. M. Bridges, Pampa Junior High music teacher, fixed up for the seventh, eighth and ninth grades boys' choir to use as they travel about filling singing engagements... thanks to AC for letting us know.

A NICE PERSON is leaving Pampa to make her home in California... Miss Minnie Allen, who has taught school for 25 years; the last 17 as a teacher in Woodrow Wilson, is leaving the early part of July to make her home and teach in La Puente, Calif... Nell Ralston, former Pampa teacher, is coming back for a visit and they will return to California together... a group of friends got together Wednesday morning and gave a coffee for Minnie in Pearl Spough's home, 720 E. Browning... someone had prepared the cleverest guest book illustrated with a Texas cow-girl, valise in hand, leaving the Big State of Texas with all of its many resources and going to the smaller state, California... reluctant to say a final "good-bye" after the coffee, the honoree and hostesses Pearl Spough, Oleta Marlin, Aline Coker, Gail Heaton, and Mrs. J. B. White went out to Caldwell's Buffetaria for lunch... that's all the news we can dig this week... your word-gardner,

Mrs. Robert Clay Warren (Photo, Smith Studio)

Miss Mary Louise Buchanan

Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Buchanan of White Deer announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Louise, to Donald Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin G. Adams of Skellytown. The wedding is planned for August 20 in Methodist Church in White Deer.

RUTH MILLETT

What can the wife of a retired man do to help him adjust to the problem of an overwhaling amount of leisure time and to keep him from driving her crazy with his boredom, restlessness and feelings of uselessness? One wife whose husband, although retired, is busy and happy and making good use of his leisure has these tips to offer: "Encourage him in any kind of hobby that catches his fancy. If it is a hobby that can eventually work into part-time employment—so much the better. "By encouraging him I mean make it easy for him to have a place to putter. If he wants to turn his garage into a workshop—let him go ahead. If he needs the guest bedroom for a study or a hobby room, help him fix it up. If he makes clutter around the house, don't worry about what the neighbors will think of your housekeeping. "It's his home, too, and now it has to serve as his place of work as well as his home. "Be willing to change your house-keeping routine to fit in with your retired husband's plans. "If he wants you to go fishing on the day you planned to wash windows or clean house, shut the door behind you without a qualm and take off with him. "Encourage your husband to take part in community work, politics, etc., where he will find companionship with other men. "Find some hobbies of your own so that you can putter happily while your husband is busy with his enthusiasms. "Above all, realize that the two of you have reached the age where you can tailor your lives to suit yourselves. "Never mind what anyone else thinks of the kind of life you lead. If it suits the two of you, that's all that matters." An apron with big pockets is handy for house cleaning chores. You can carry dust cloths and store small things in the pockets until you pass by their rightful "home."

Married Women Swell Part-Time Workers' Roster

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new report from the Womens Bureau of the United States Department of Labor shows that the typical woman part-time worker is married and between 35 and 44 years of age.

Many of the part-timers are employed as teachers, nurses, dietitians, librarians, and social workers.

Still others work part-time as occupational and physical therapists, medical technologists, dental hygienists, writers, entertainers, designers, and photographers.

The majority of women part-time workers still are found in such traditional occupations as sales clerks, waitresses and beauty operators.

Women account for about 60 percent of all persons who have part-time positions, the Bureau reported.

The department identifies part-time workers as those who work fewer than 35 hours a week.

Women work part-time for various reasons, the bureau report noted.

The student combines school and work to help meet expenses and gain experience. The housewife may work to supplement the family income, broaden her interests outside the home and keep intact her work skills.

The maturing woman, if she's retired, probably is working to supplement her income, the bureau reported.

Mrs. Bill G. Herron

brother of the bride, and Tommy Herron, brother of the groom. They also lighted the candles.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of white lace and bridal satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a scalloped scoop neckline embroidered with seed pearls and had long tapered sleeves terminating in petal points. Her finger-tip veil fell from a crown of tulle and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and carnations atop a white lace-covered Bible.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Banks chose a sheath of blue linen with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. The bride's table was laid with a net cloth over blue satin and featured a centerpiece of white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Bill Rodgers, sister of the groom, registered the guests and at the refreshment table were Misses Bobby Turner and Gayle Day and Misses Doyle Brown, James Thacker, and Troy Corbin.

Mrs. Herron is a graduate of McLean High School and attended Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene. She is currently employed by Marie Foundations. The bridegroom attended McLean High School and for the past two years has been employed by Marie Foundations. He plans to enter Wayland Baptist College in the fall of a ministerial student. Until then the couple will be at home in McLean.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Dean McCollom and Mr. and Mrs. Bill

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How do you approach the subject of "money" with your husband? We have been married for over a year and I don't know how much he makes or even how much rent we pay. I never see any of the bills. He tells me not to open them. He takes all the bills and pays them. I get an allowance for spending money and it is more than enough, so I save a little. The other day he asked me to sign a paper stating he was taking out a $1,000 loan. I don't know what he needs a loan for. We are supposed to have money in the bank. When I ask questions about finances he tells me not to worry. But I worry, anyway. Don't you think a wife should know something about the financial situation in a marriage?

IN THE DARK
DEAR IN: A wife should certainly know what comes in, what goes out, and why and when. The husband for wanting to spare you from the "money worries," but tell him one way to keep your marriage off the rocks is not to hide too many things under the rug.

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who likes to run in and out of my house several times a day. She's cheerful and chatty and is the big-hearted type. She's the first one there if I need help with the housework or someone to look after my children for a few hours.

Well, I have one thing against her. She will clean out my candy dish, nut or fruit bowl and think nothing of it. Once she had the nerve to tell me what kind of candy she liked and where I could buy it. I hate to hurt her feelings, but how can I tell her in a nice way that this gets my goat?

CLEANED OUT
DEAR CLEANED: Bowls of nuts, candy and fruits are tokens of hospitality and are meant to be eaten. A good friend is hard to find. Don't complain — and don't put out any more than you want to disappear.

DEAR ABBY: I have been writing to you for some time. I am a single woman and I am looking for a husband. I am 35 years old and I have a good job. I am a graduate of a college and I am a member of a church. I am a very nice person and I am looking for a man who is a graduate of a college and who is a member of a church. I am a very nice person and I am looking for a man who is a graduate of a college and who is a member of a church.

Patricia Ann Williams, Roger Roland Say Marriage Vows In Home Ceremony

Miss Patricia Ann Williams and Roger Roland were united in marriage with vows repeated on June 11 at 8:30 p.m. in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elta Mae Williams, 407 E. Elm. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Granvil Roland, 512 Elm.

The single-ring service was performed by the Rev. E. F. Nelson dering what is wrong with my 16-year-old daughter's behavior. She messes with everything she can get her hands on. At the table she pours the salt, pepper and sugar on the table and mixes it all together and makes "designs". She bends wire hangers out of shape. When she's talking on the phone she writes all over everything and scratches the paint off the wall. She seems to do all this unconsciously — not maliciously. I have watched her in amazement. She wasn't as destructive at the age of 3 as she is now.

She is very pretty and popular and makes A's and B's at school. I can't understand this streak in her. Have you heard of cases like this, Abby?

JUST WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: Yes, frequently. It's nothing to be alarmed about. She'll probably pass through this stage quickly.

CONFIDENTIAL TO RICKY:
Forget her. An unforgiving sweetheart makes a poor wife.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Abby's best-selling book, "Dear Teen-Ager", is on sale at all bookstores.

A complete facial in one minute! Nobody but Lilly Dache could come up with anything quite so revolutionary.

Last July when I was in New York covering the couture showings I visited Lilly's salon and watched her personally pat a creamy preparation over ONE-HALF the face of a woman around sixty. The other half she left as it was for comparison.

The result: a tired side (and a fresh, youthful one).

A FAT TUBE of creamy goo does the magic. You simply smooth it over your face and throat clear to the collarbone.

One minute later you tissue it away. There is no need for pre-cleaning or post-toning.

The astonishing reaction is that facial contours are firmed and lifted. Fatigue lines melt away and puffy spots go. Your face is completely clean without being dry. Plus this, the preparation leaves what Lilly refers to as a "mantle" which while purifying the pores, guards against blackheads.

Unlike any quick pick-up on record to date, this does not do a pepping job which disintegrates in a short time allowing your face to "fall apart" as Lilly puts it.

YOU'LL NOTICE how new-girl you look immediately. If you stay with this minute-facial regularly you'll find the show-through glow of youth staying with you day in, day out.

There is no danger connected with it whether to eyes or tissues.

For scoffers of the world, I can only say "try it yourself on the half-face test."

TAN FACTS
NEW YORK (UPI) — Many segments of contemporary American society endow a deep tan, especially out of season, with an aura of virility, leisure and wealth.

But history shows that older cultures regarded tanning and weathering of the skin by sunlight as the stigma of the lower classes. Centuries ago, the pale translucent complexion was most desired.

"Care Of Children In Hospital" Guide Prepared To Help Hurdle Obstacles

"On Raising Children"
By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — A child's first stay in a hospital can be anxiety-producing and a completely incomprehensible, painful experience.
Or — it can be one with relief of pain and development of new powers to cope with reality and fears.
It can be the child's first contact with attitudes of consistency, kindness, and understanding — or just the opposite.
To help children hurdle the emotional obstacles involved in hospitalization, the American Academy of Pediatrics has published a manual about "Care of Children in Hospital."

The guide-book is for nurses, hospital attendants, physicians, parents of the patient — and all else having a role in assisting the child to get well.
The academy's Committee on Hospital Care wrote the book with an eye to helping sick children get proper treatment when in a hospital.
"Since creating a state of well-being is the purpose of hospital care," the committee says, "a child leaving the hospital emotionally injured is a serious failure of professional responsibility."
The pediatricians start their advice with the admittance office where separation from the mother is the most disturbing part.

Nation's Railroads Making Comeback

By ELMER C. WALZER UPI Financial Editor NEW YORK (UPI)—Railroads of America are on the comeback run—comeback from years of difficulty that started when man applied gasoline engines to wagons for a new mode of transportation.

The real start of this new lease on life for one of our oldest industries goes back several years, but the results of progress are just coming to light in a rash of news on proposed mergers that would round-out the programs.

Our new railroad empire will be different from the old one — as different as the screech of the diesel horn is from the blast of the old steam whistle. This will be a highly efficient, automated, electronically guided service, involving mechanized maintenance, and new car designs.

Progress made, so far in the railroad comeback has been given a helping hand by about everybody but the roads' competitors. So far the merger plans haven't received opposition from the Justice Department or merger-averse legislators.

Railroads have been shaking down their operations to eliminate inefficient operations. They seek to trim off losing services, upgrade their methods of operation, revise work rules to eliminate featherbedding (old rules which among other things hold that a day's work constitutes a 150-mile trip now negotiated in less than two hours), from stronger units through mergers, and enter other methods of transportation.

Recently laws have been modified somewhat to aid the roads. They are being given some loans and some tax aid. Rate adjustments come a bit faster than they once did, and the Interstate Commerce Commission is said to look with favor on mergers.

Railroad merger fever is highest in the East where recently Chesapeake & Ohio has sought to acquire Baltimore & Ohio. Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard Air Line are working out merger details.

Not long ago, Norfolk & Western took over Virginian Railway. Several mergers are in process in the Middle West and West. All of these mergers present big problems because of the complicated financial structure of the railroads. Also, there are deterrents — labor unions fearing fewer jobs, communities fearing loss of railroad service, and the difficulty of getting final approval from government agencies and stockholders.

When mergers finally are worked out, the experts look for three railroad systems to dominate the East.

Supreme Court Agrees To Decide On FPC Maneuvering

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court has agreed to decide whether state courts can overturn "common law" grounds decisions of the Federal Power Commission.

This right is now reserved exclusively for the federal courts. The high bench will hear oral arguments at its new term next fall.

The commission currently has on file about 10,000 independent producer contracts which could be affected. Hence the case is tremendously important to the gas industry.

The issue already is being tested in scores of actions in state and federal courts, and according to industry sources, hundreds more may be filed "for the record" before the court acts.

The suits are a direct challenge of the FPC's powers under the 1938 Natural Gas Act as altered by the Supreme Court's famous June 7, 1954 Phillips decision making all interstate gas prices subject to FPC utility-type approval.

In the test case the Delaware Supreme Court claimed "common law" jurisdiction on grounds the FPC had misused its authority under the gas act to approve an allegedly illegal rate increase as part of a basic contract.

It did so in holding that Cities Service Gas Co., a pipeline distributor, was entitled to refunds from three producers—Pan American Petroleum Co. (formerly Stanolind), Texaco, and Columbian Fuel Corp.

Cities Service began its suits six years ago. They reached the Supreme Court on appeal this spring when the producers challenged the Delaware court's right to interfere with the FPC's administration of the Gas Act.

The complex question raised by Cities Service was this: Can the FPC approve a contract rate increase when the increase was based on a Kansas minimum price fixing order which later was voided by the U.S. Supreme Court?

Before paying the higher price, Cities Service said it stipulated that it would file suits to recover the difference between the two rates if the Kansas statute were invalidated—as it was in 1958 by the Supreme Court.

The company asserted the producers accepted this condition by letter and cashed company remittances, yet claimed the increase was a part of their "basic contracts" rather than a stipulation under the Phillips decree.

It said the FPC accepted the contracts but inferentially recognized Cities Service's right to refunds if and when the Kansas law was nullified.

This created the no-man's land into which the Delaware court stepped.

To Criminals They Are Ubiquitous

Texas Rangers Are Small, But Highly Trained Group

By LEE GRIMSLEY
Daily News Staff Writer

When the Texas Rangers were organized back in 1823 to fight Indians they rode across the plains on horses.

In more recent years a Ranger could be identified by his car — it usually had a trailer with a horse behind it.

But today the Rangers rely strictly on automobiles for transportation. Most of the horse trailers are stored at the regional office in Lubbock.

"When the criminals mobilized and went scientific, we had to mobilize and become scientific," says Texas Ranger Bill Henslee, who is stationed here.

"First the state quit furnishing the Rangers horses. Then a few years ago they quit furnishing food for the privately owned horses.

"Now the only time we ever use horses is when some cattle or something are missing on a big ranch and the rancher furnishes us with horses," Henslee said.

But the Grangers have undergone other drastic changes since they were formed, too.

In 1823 there were hundreds of Rangers strung across the state fighting Indians. Now there are only 52 of them patrolling Texas' 254 counties.

In 1935, when the Rangers were put under the jurisdiction of the Department of Public Safety, the state was divided into six areas. A company of Rangers, usually eight or nine, was assigned to each area.

In all there are now six Ranger captains, six sergeants and 40 privates.

Henslee was the first Ranger ever to be assigned to Pampa when he came here Oct. 1, 1958. Pampa is in a 60-county region which is headed by Ranger Capt. Raymond Waters, former sheriff of Wheeler County. The office for the area is at Lubbock.

Prior to becoming a Ranger, Henslee spent 10 years in the Highway Patrol, another division of the Department of Public Safety.

According to Henslee, the regional office at Lubbock is modern in every respect.

"It has a polygraph (lie detector) machine, lab chemist and a complete photo section," Henslee said. "In the past you had to go clear to Austin for these services.

"But the Lubbock office is open to any local police officer or sheriff who wants to use it."

Although Rangers aren't required to wear a uniform, most of them dress in the same manner.

Henslee's work clothes usually consist of a western outfit.

"Actually, we have a policy of dressing to suit the occasion," Henslee said. "If we have to appear in court or something like that we'll always wear a business suit.

"Otherwise we try and dress like the officers in the area where we work. If they wear suits, we wear suits; and if they wear khakis, we try to wear khakis."

However, in most cases they are required by the DPS to wear western hats and boots. At times this can lead to embarrassing happenings.

Last January Henslee and Deputy Sheriff Buck Haggard went to California, Oregon and Utah to round-up some prisoners. For the occasion they wore suits, ties, boots and Stetsons.

"Every time we got out of the car people would stop and stare at us," Henslee recalled.

"It kinda made you feel like you had just stepped out of a side-show."
