Exodus Of U. S. Citizens From Cuba Taking Place

All U.S. Property To Be Intervened

By MATTHEW T. KENNY
United Press International

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI) — A growing number of Americans were reported preparing to pull out of Cuba today in the face of probable seizure of all remaining U.S.-owned property and the possibility of increasing anti-Americanism.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro underscored the deteriorating situation with another wild-eyed denunciation of the United States for slashing Cuba's sugar quota Wednesday.

There has been a big exodus of American residents from Cuba in the past year, reducing from 6,000 to about 3,000 the number left here. But in the face of worsening relations, the exodus is being stepped up, with private companies getting their employees and families out of the country. The U.S. embassy is not urging Americans to leave.

In an angry post-midnight two-hour speech before the closing session of the metal workers union congress, Castro said the United States slashed the Cuban sugar quota in a "frenzy of hate."

This was his first public reaction to President Eisenhower's action. Castro declared that the "real fight" is just starting with the United States. He charged that Washington was trying to run Cuba and ruin its economy.

But Castro surprised some observers by failing to announce specific reprisals for the sugar cut. It was believed that he may wait until a scheduled television address Friday night, or a monstrosity protest rally Sunday afternoon.

Castro did not go into any details on what plans he has for seizing U.S.-owned property in Cuba. His cabinet gave him and President Osvaldo Dorticos authorization late Tuesday night to expropriate such property by decree.

Addressing himself to the United States government, the young revolutionary leader declared: "We will resist your aggressions. We now understand that the real fight is just beginning. How many years we may have to suffer your aggressions! But how heroic our people is and how geared to meet this long moving and heroic struggle!"

Castro appeared for his midday broadcast.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Negro spokesmen and southern student "sit-in" leaders demanded today that the Democratic Party write iron-clad civil rights guarantees into its 1960 platform and expel segregationists from party ranks.

They placed their demands before the 108-member Democratic platform committee as liberals on that group declared intentions to press for a plank supporting the southern sit-ins and calling for further federal action in the civil rights field.

The explosive issue was the main one before the committee in its third day of public hearings leading to actual drafting of the platform on which the Democratic national convention will act next Tuesday.

However, a variety of other issues was scheduled for presentation by witnesses ranging from Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, to a representative of the World Population Emergency Campaign Committee.

STEVENSON CAN WIN — Adlai Stevenson can win the Democratic Presidential nomination if strong grass roots sentiment for him can be translated into delegate strength, Oklahoma's Sen. A. S. Monroney said in San Francisco. In San Francisco to seek delegate support for Stevenson, he predicted a deadlock between Kennedy and Johnson, with the possibility of Stevenson winning on the seventh or eighth ballot.

California May Go For Kennedy

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California is expected to endorse Sen. John F. Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination by Sunday or earlier and to carry with him a majority of the state's 81-California Democratic convention votes, informants said today.

In this teeming convention city where a new wave of kingmakers arrives today, Brown was receiving calls and callers variously urging him to declare for the Massachusetts senator — and to hold off.

Brown, a favorite son candidate of the delegation, was expected to announce his support of front-running Kennedy as a personal choice, and release the delegation from voting for himself on the first ballot.

Although figures cast change quickly in the heat of the political race, the latest poll of the California delegation by a man in close touch with all the delegates showed 53 votes would be cast for Kennedy if Brown gives the Massachusetts senator his support.

Speaker Sam Rayburn arrives today to take charge of the campaign to win the nomination for his fellow Texan, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson. Other arrivals will be the uncommitted Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania, who may hold the key to the course of the convention, and Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, who declared for Kennedy a month ago, arrived Wednesday along with pro-Kennedy leaders of the New York Democratic organization and Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, leader of the campaign to draft Adlai E. Stevenson for a third nomination.

Monroney spent more than an hour with Brown at Sacramento Wednesday making his pitch for Stevenson and urging against an endorsement of Kennedy. Brown was reported to have given no commitment.

Johnson is scheduled to be in San Francisco late today to meet with a group of California Democrats.

cratic leaders, some already pledged or leaning to other candidates. He will move into Los Angeles Friday as the first of the major possibilities for the presidential nomination to appear on the convention scene.

To Be Finished This Winter

Celanese To Expand Plant

A multi-million dollar expansion program for the Celanese Corporation of America Pampa plant, to be finished late this winter, was announced today by the company.

The expansion program is another step in the continuing program for diversification in chemicals and plastics. J. H. Worth, president of the Celanese Chemical Company, said.

The planned facilities will have a capacity for producing more than 14 million pounds of 2-ethylhexyl acrylate, butyl acrylate and glacial acrylic acid annually. When the work is completed later this year, the plant's capacity for acrylate production will have been doubled.

Worth cited the manufacture of solution acrylic coatings as one of the newer major growth markets in the chemical field. These coatings eliminate the necessity for priming metal surfaces before a finish coat is applied.

The expansion program at Pampa will include facilities for producing glacial acrylic acid by a process developed at Celanese research laboratory at Clarkwood, Texas. The product will be used at Pampa for the manufacture of the higher acrylates by a new process based on the sole use of Celanese raw materials.

Celanese began producing acrylates at Pampa in November, 1957. Initial production was confined to the lower acrylates, but since then higher acrylates have been produced here in commercial quantities.

SENATOR JOHN C. STENNIS visited sister-in-law here yesterday

Southerner For Johnson

By LEE GRIMSLEY
Daily News Staff Writer

The junior senator from Mississippi, John C. Stennis, isn't afraid to endorse the man he wants to get the Democratic Party's presidential nomination this week.

"I'm for Lyndon B. Johnson," he says emphatically.

"Johnson is a very strong contender. He has a good chance of getting the nomination and an excellent chance of winning the election."

Senator Stennis stopped here yesterday to visit his sister-in-law, Mrs. S. D. Stennis, 419 N. Somerville. He was enroute to the Democratic convention at Los Angeles.

Stennis has deep convictions as to why he favors Johnson as the next President.

"During the coming years," he said, "the world situation, the cold war, and the general unrest will become more serious.

"Foreign policy matters are going to be more of a demand on the President than heretofore. In the new era of the future our home problems will even become greater."

"All of these things demand a man of tremendous action and drive — a man who operates from strength," Stennis said.

"Senator Johnson comes closer than anyone else to being able to cope with these problems."

Stennis said he didn't feel that the recent comments of former President Harry S. Truman made against Senator John Kennedy, another presidential hopeful, would hurt his chances of nomination, nor aid Johnson.

"I think Truman holds more influence in a national election than he does at a convention," Stennis said. "He has national prestige, but I don't believe he would be able to control the delegates at a convention like this.

"If Johnson wins it'll be on his own strength and not because of someone's opposition to another candidate."

Stennis was scheduled to arrive in Los Angeles today and assume duties as a member of the Democratic Party platform committee. He expects some trouble in the drafting of the platform.

"Anytime you draft a platform for a nationwide political party you're going to have trouble," Stennis said. "Some groups won't want to accept some things, and other groups won't accept other things.

"But I plan to concentrate on three main issues — agriculture, the military program and civil rights, including schools and protecting them from federal control."

Stennis has visited Pampa on numerous occasions in the past. Yesterday morning, in spite of the rain, he toured both banks and most of the downtown area.

"I'm sort of the third Senator from Texas," Stennis cracked. "I've always sort of considered it as my home, and I'll be my third Senator if it ever needs me.

Plenty Of Moisture

The total rainfall in Pampa since Sunday climbed to nearly two and one-half inches as of 11 a.m. today.

Another .74 inches was recorded at the Daily News since noon yesterday, bringing the week's total to 2.32.

Reports from outlying areas of Pampa residential districts ranged upward to nearly an inch.

Rain in the Amarillo area caused the closing of US Highway 385 between Vega and Hereford.

Traffic is currently being detoured over Highways 60 and 66.

Deadly Radium Still Lost

ODESSA, Tex. (UPI) — The Air Force may be asked today to fly helicopters over Texas and New Mexico towns and cities to try and locate a tiny, deadly radium pellet and maybe the thief believed to have stolen it.

It would be worse than trying to find a seed in a silo, but William Lovelace, manager of Frontier Perforators, Inc., of Odessa, which lost the radioactive substance, said it may be the only hope left to recover it.

Lovelace said if he asks the Air Force to conduct the search, he would suggest putting scintillators into the helicopters and having them fly at low levels and slow speeds over the towns. The scintillator, a device something like a Geiger Counter, detects radioactivity at a distance of some 500 feet.

The radium, a pellet about the size of an almond and worth $10,000, is encased in a 200-pound lead capsule, or was the last time it was seen. It turned up missing from a company truck that was taking it to Hobbs, N. M. from an oil well drilling site in Orla, Tex., a distance of 110 miles.

OPENS DRIVE — Rep. Charles Brown, of Missouri, campaign chief for Sen. Stuart Symington, has opened his drive to stop front-running Sen. John Kennedy from achieving the Democratic presidential nomination on the first or second ballot at the Democratic convention in Los Angeles. Brown said the Stevenson and Symington delegates hold the "key" to the presidential nomination.

Eisenhowers On Long Vacation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower flies to Newport, R.I., today to begin a seaside vacation which he will interrupt July 26 for a trip to Chicago to address the Republican national convention.

The President's vacation is of uncertain duration. After Congressional recesses in August, the President is expected to return to Newport as a base of operations, but return to Washington two or three days each week to deal with business here.

Union Labels To Candidates Today

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — This is the day on which organized labor will begin its effort to sew a union label on the Democratic Party's presidential platform.

First up for the unions will be Walter P. Reuther, head man of the United Automobile Workers and No. 2 in AFL-CIO. Reuther generally is regarded as labor's political Mr. Big. Reuther also is generally regarded as a dedicated Kennedy - for - President strategist.

That is a good break for Sen. John F. Kennedy, of Massachusetts. Reuther has become a key man in the Democratic Party by reason of his political know-how and his position in the labor movement. On the record is the political fact that in 1956 Reuther had the power to break the back of the opposition to the nomination of Adlai E. Stevenson. He accomplished that by demoting Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams from favorite son status to Stevenson.

To match Reuther's position in the Democratic Party, you must go back some years to the era of the late Sidney Hillman. Hillman rose from labor leadership in the garment industry to a position of veto power in a Democratic National Convention. That convention took place in 1944.

Democratic leaders then were less concerned with protection Hillman from charges that he was in political cahoots with American Communists than with denying that he possessed or used a veto power on the 1944 choice of a Democratic vice presidential nominee. Henry A. Wallace was dropped that year on grounds he would cost FDR a lot of votes.

Religious Sect Sealed Off Awaiting Nuclear Attack

BENSON, Ariz. (UPI) — About 100 members of a small religious sect remained hidden today in bomb shelters and cellars of their sealed homes, fearful of a Russian nuclear attack within two days.

The men, women and children went underground Monday night and refused to answer their telephones or open their doors to visitors or newsmen because: "We're afraid the Soviet Union is going to attack the United States by Saturday."

City Attorney Fred Talmadge procured a warrant to determine whether the children of the members of the Full Gospel Assembly were safe, and Wednesday night entered the home of Elder W. W. Hurt William, a member of the assembly.

"When we tried to get in they thought the alert had come and we were outsiders trying to take advantage of their shelters," Talmadge said.

"After we started to break in they realized who we were and let us in with apologies. These are good people. We weren't overly worried, but did want to make sure the children were okay. We plan no further action.

"They have a right to their beliefs."

Talmadge said Williams indicated the sect's conviction of a nuclear holocaust was divinely inspired. However, he said Williams told him the members would leave their hiding places Saturday if no attack had occurred.

The shelters and cellars of the sect's members were well stocked with food and water, were equipped and equipped with electricity, said Talmadge.

Seclusion of the members has left much of the north end of this small southern Arizona farm town looking like a ghost town.

Violence In Congo Republic

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (UPI) — Violence flared again today in the newly-independent Congo republic when prisoners at the Stanleyville central prison revolted, broke through the prison gates and raced through the town.

The prison break came on the heels of a mutiny by the once-called "Force Publique," the Congolese national army, which rebelled against Europeans and the six-day-old government.

The mutiny, which spread through the country, was marked by demands for better pay, combined with a system of promotions within the force and the discharge of Europeans holding commands.

Reports of the prison break reached police in Leopoldville, which is 91 miles southwest of Stanleyville, the capital of the eastern province.

Bi-Partisan Pair Clear Dem Delegate

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A bipartisan pair of passengers said today that Louisiana's national committeeman was stone sober and not drunk, as charged, when he arrived in Los Angeles aboard an airliner last Friday night.

One of Camille Gravel's fellow passengers, a Republican, even admitted that he, and not Gravel, was the mysterious Martin pilferer of Delta-American Flight 921.

Richard C. McChrystal, a Los Angeles chemical engineer, absolved Gravel of any complicity in the theft of the box of six primed martini in mid-flight.

The other passenger, Edward Sam Self of New Orleans — "I think I'm a Democrat," — also said Gravel had nothing to do with taking the martinis while the Stewardess was away.

Gravel's troubles started some time after he landed and had become separated from both Self and McChrystal at the airport.

Gravel, a prominent Alexandria, La. attorney, thought he was being met by a reception committee because, after all, he was the man responsible for bringing the Democratic national convention to Los Angeles as arrangements chairman.

The reception committee turned out to be the police, who whisked Gravel to jail, booked him as a drunk, and tossed him in the "tank" for three hours.

He was released on $21 bond and his trial is scheduled on July 19, shortly after the convention is scheduled to end.

Vacationers Spending More, Traveling Farther This Year

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—As heavy industry slows down for the vacation season, the tourist industry booms to the tune of $16.5 billion annually, a new record.

Tourists appear to have lots of money to spend and they are spending more than ever before for the summer trip, which, like the traditional summer rise in the stock market, is concentrated in July and August.

Renault, Inc., U. S. importer of Renault automobiles, surveyed the vacation business in all the continental states (Alaska and Hawaii excepted).

Not only are more Americans taking vacation trips this year than last, but also more of them are traveling by auto on longer trips, and spending 11 per cent more than they did last year, the survey showed.

Robert E. Valode, vice-president and general manager of Renault, gave the following breakdown of average vacation expenditures shown in his company's survey:

Tourists will spend $117 for transportation in 1969, against $106 in 1968, a rise of 10.5 per cent.

Housing on the trips will average $114 against $108, a rise of 5.6 per cent.

Food costs are put at $107, up 3.8 per cent from last year's $94.

Entertainment spending is placed at $65 against $63, up 3.2 per cent.

Miscellaneous spending—souvenirs, gifts, clothing and such things—shows a rise of 25.5 per cent from $47 in 1968 to $59 in 1969.

On the basis of these figures, each tourist will spend an average of $462, a rise of 11 per cent over the $416 spent last year. For all the vacationists that 11 per cent piles up to a total of $15.5 billion.

The survey found also that slightly more than 80 per cent of persons responding to the questionnaire sent out by the makers of Dauphines, will take vacation trips against 73 per cent last year.

And nearly 88 per cent will travel by car 1,725 miles. Last year 82 per cent traveled 1,880 miles by car on their vacation.

"The vacation trip by car is steadily gaining in popularity and therefore in importance to many segments of the economy," says Valode. "And it is by all odds the biggest revenue generator of all modes of vacation travel."

More than 75 per cent of vacation trips fall in the period July 1 to Sept. 1, with July slightly more popular than August, the Renault survey showed. Two weeks is the most popular length for the trip.

The South heads the list of vacation destinations on a full-year basis, followed by the Mid-West, the Pacific Coast, the Mid-Atlantic states, New England, the Southwest, and the Mountain states in that order. Florida is given as the most popular state with Michigan second, California third, Colorado fourth, and New York fifth.

Ten per cent of those surveyed said they'd tour outside the 48 leading with almost half, followed "continental" states—Canada leading with almost half, followed by Europe, Mexico, the Bahamas, Hawaii and Alaska.

17 Presumed Dead In Blimp

Search Team To Crash Site

BARNEGAT LIGHT, N.J. (UPI)—Frogmen were sped today to the wreckage of the giant Navy blimp ZPG-3W in a desperate effort to retrieve bodies of 17 men presumed dead in its gondola before heavy seas break up the crashed airship's remains.

The cause of the crash Wednesday during a mercy mission of the New Jersey coast remained a mystery. One of the three survivors denied any explosion occurred.

Navy authorities feared the gondola might break up within hours and the bodies of the trapped men might be claimed forever by the sea, along with clues to what brought the disaster.

Even as investigations were begun into the cause of collapse and sinking of the lighter-than-air ship, a long-time veteran of such flights charged the tragedy was "undoubtedly related to the questionable wisdom of building such large airships on the non-compartmented or blimp principle."

Retired Vice Adm. C. E. Rosendahl said in New York, "This is not just another airship accident to be swept under the rug with another condemnation of airships in general."

Rosendahl blamed the tragedy partly on "the Navy's continued blind refusal to properly evaluate, admit and benefit from the rigid airship lessons of the past and so build compartmented structural airships." He demanded a congressional or other "neutral" investigation.

The reliance class airship collapsed and went down 15 miles off the Jersey Coast, south of Barnegat Light on Long Beach Island. One man who escaped from the wreckage and was picked up died. There were three known survivors. Eight officers and 13 enlisted men had been aboard.

The eyewitness account of one of the survivors, aviation electrician JC Antonio Contreras of Geronomo, Tex., said:

"We were cruising at about 300 feet. I heard a loud noise, but it was not an explosion. We hit the water within seconds at about a 45-degree nosedown angle. No ditching alarm was sounded. I exited through an aft door."

Firm Denies Selling Oil Gear To Cuba

HOUSTON (UPI)—An oil industry spokesman denied reports Wednesday night that Houston manufacturers were selling oil field equipment and supplies to Cuba.

The denial came on the heels of a report that some 2,000 pounds of geophysical equipment used in oil exploration had been shipped to Cuba from Houston.

The spokesman confirmed that such a shipment had been made, but explained it was a 1,297 pound well-logging machine sold to Cuba on Oct. 23, 1956 by the Electro-Technical Laboratories of Houston.

The firm said the Cuban government sent the machine to Houston last May 19 for repairs and when it was completed, Transglobal Corp., an air freight firm, flew it back to Cuba on Tuesday night.

The spokesman pointed out the machinery was repaired in Cuba and repair work started before the seizure of U.S. and British-owned refineries. Since then, the spokesman said, Houston firms have not sold any seismograph equipment or any other instruments to the Cuban government.

Castro May Defy Cuban Sugar Cut

By DONAL MAY
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower's decree cutting Cuba's sugar quota threatened today to bring new seizures of American property by Fidel Castro's government.

It sent the United States shopping around the world for some 800,000 tons of raw sugar to meet domestic needs in the next six months.

It brought a sudden boon to other sugar producing nations.

And it raised doubts that Cuba, even with a change of heart in its "little cold war" against this country, could ever fully regain its preferential spot in the U.S. sugar market.

The President ordered the cut in Cuban sugar imports shortly after he told the news conference Wednesday that the United States would take any necessary steps to protect its interests if Russia established a submarine base in Cuba.

He said he did not regard it as "a likelihood" the Castro regime would grant the Russians such a base. But he conceded there was always that possibility.

Acting under authority given him last weekend by Congress, Eisenhower cut by 700,000 tons Cuba's quota to market sugar in this country for the rest of 1960.

Agriculture Department officials said the move also would deprive Cuba of a share in the Hawaiian and Puerto Rica quota deficits, amounting to another 150,000 tons.

Cuba's original quota for the year was 3,119,555 tons. Of this, all but 739,752 has either already been shipped here or has been certified for entry. So the cut left 3,372 still to be imported.

In a special statement, the President referred to Castro's barter deals to ship sugar to Russia at a time when experts said

Amarillo Cop Turns Burglar

AMARILLO (UPI)—Parker B. Hamilton, 21, wanted to make a good policeman. But he went about it the wrong way.

The rookie cop, father of two children, turned in so many reports of burglary investigations that his superior officers were not only impressed, they were downright suspicious.

The breaks were mostly reported while Hamilton, who joined the force in February, was riding alone. They all but stopped when he was given a riding partner. That made doubts heighten.

Today, Hamilton is suspended from the force. He was stripped of his badge Wednesday and charged with burglary and falsifying reports. It seems that most of the breaks he reported investigating were stores he had broken into himself.

A couple of weeks ago one of his reports told of finding a cleaning plant broken into. He said when he investigated, he surprised four teen-age thugs and was slugged on the head by them, and as he fell to the ground, he pulled his service revolver and fired four shots at them, but must have missed.

Police investigators learned that Hamilton had bumped his head on a window, and it gave him an idea to spice up his report. He made up the slugging story.

Hamilton specifically was charged with breaking and entering a large downtown department store where a number of locked doors were broken in and several locked desks ransacked.

Police officers said Hamilton seldom if ever took anything. He just wanted to show the department he was on the job.

night speaking stint at CTC Labor Federation headquarters in fine spirits. He showed no sign of the strain brought by weeks of cold war with the United States and recent stunning defections within the ranks of the Cuban foreign service.

Although he was fully prepared for the cut in the sugar quota, observers believed the size of slash came as a shock to him.

Eisenhower lopped off 856,000 tons from the amount of Cuban sugar that was to have been assigned for American domestic consumption during the remainder of this year. Experts estimated this would cost Cuba more than $70 million unless it could find other markets.

Castro, in an obvious appeal for world sympathy, condemned those who "in a frenzy of hate want to sink a people in hunger and ruin." He maintained that Cuba's "reason" made it stronger than the United States, with all its "physical strength."

Marriage Speaks Louder Than Love

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PARIS (NEA) — In France, love and marriage do NOT go together like a horse and carriage.

If that is not surprising enough, it may shock you to learn that the French woman generally is looking for marriage—not love.

Marriage is an ultimate goal, a career, a job, while love is . . . well, love.

Only one out of five French girls marries for love; three out of five find married love a bitter disappointment.

Aside from love, French girls marry for "happiness," children escape from parental authority, tradition, the title of "Madame" (Mrs.), protection, companionship, or any combination of these reasons.

This all came out in a Gallic version of the Kinsey report based on a poll conducted by the French Public Opinion Institute and published in the French women's magazine, "Elle."

Women in all walks of life between 15 and 55 years old each answered 60 questions put to them by the Institute.

It seems that most women in France pursue this marriage thing actively.

In the 20 to 30 age group, 6 1/2 million are married; another one-half million are divorced or widowed; and only 1 1/2 million still are looking. So the French woman certainly should know something about her chosen profession.

How much they know about love is another question.

More than 40 per cent of the women polled believed that a "one and only love" existed; 30 per cent of these claimed to have found it.

Most of these "believers" were under 25; those over that age tended to be less romantic.

More than 60 per cent found satisfaction in love, 17 per cent were disillusioned by it. Again, those under 25 found more satisfaction, those over, more disillusionment.

On what marriage provided, the women were sharply divided. Only 13 per cent found love and happiness; another 11 per cent, a good husband and handsome children; 27 per cent, satisfaction; 18 per cent, some good, some bad things; and 18 per cent, disillusionment.

The poll also shows that the French put the horse before the carriage, believing that love will follow marriage rather than expecting love to lead to marriage.

But times are changing this old world concept as French women now find themselves in other careers, top 816 million French women work at something besides marriage.

Yet in or out of the marriage field, the French women prove to be French. Seventy per cent said that sexual happiness was a vital factor in marriage. And it would seem again, the younger they were, the more they were satisfied.

But a comforting thought to women who are getting older; more than 40 per cent of the women married for more than 18 years said that their husbands loved them as much as they did in the first years of marriage.

ARREST GESTAPO CHIEF

MUNICH, Germany (UPI)—Erich Deppner, former Gestapo chief in The Hague, Holland, who was charged with the murder of 70 Russian prisoners of war in 1944, was arrested earlier this week by West German police.

Deppner, 51, also is suspected of killing 49 Dutch political prisoners during the war. Police said Tuesday he has been living here under an assumed name.

Man-Made Sun Tans Come Shining Through

By JERRY BENNETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Thirty rabbits may tell scientists whether bottled sun tan is as safe as the sun-made type.

For more than three months, Food and Drug Administration specialists have been smearing the animals with new lotions and creams that cause skin to brown without exposure to the sun.

Whether these highly popular cosmetics are harmful will be determined by the tests. Cosmetics, unlike drugs, do not require FDA examination before they are put on the market.

The rabbits passed all tests thus far with flying colors, no adverse reactions and healthy looking tans.

Now FDA scientists are making autopsies to discover whether body organs are harmed by the cosmetics before they give the tanning agents a stamp of approval.

FDA officials say they have received countless inquiries concerning the products' safety but no reports of any actual ill effects resulting from the cosmetics.

Each of the 12 man-made tan ners being tested contains dihydroxycetone, a body chemical produced when food is converted into energy. How this chemical tans the skin when applied externally remains a mystery.

Dr. John H. Draize, who's in charge of the experiments, says that rabbits were selected because of their sensitive skins. In the project's first phase, the animals were divided into five groups of six rabbits each.

They were placed in stocks with wooden collars to prevent them from licking their clipped backs after the tanning products were applied.

The amounts of cosmetic applied varied from group to group. One received a dose proportionate to the usual human applications.

Another group received twice the amount, a third, quadruple. Eight times the usual amount was applied to the fourth group to guarantee the products' safety regardless of use.

Rabbits in the fifth group had their top layers of skin taken off to test the product's effect on damaged skin.

Each rabbit, except those in the last group, received a daily application for three months. The animals with damaged skin were tested for only 20 days.

To find out if the tanning products caused harmful internal effects, scientists ran daily blood tests, injected the animals with special chemicals and analyzed their urine.

The only warning the FDA issued thus far is printed on the labels—a chemical sun tan does not protect you from natural sunburn.

Mass Jailing Draws Attack

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI) — A major South African newspaper openly attacked the government today for keeping 1,800 persons in jail for three months without charges or court appearances.

The Cape Times noted that it has been exactly 100 days since the white government proclaimed a state of emergency.

The government took the action when racial violence broke out after police at Sharpeville, near Johannesburg, shot and killed 67 demonstrating natives and wounded nearly 200 others.

The government jailed hundreds of persons considered opposed to its white supremacy policies and although it has begun lifting the state of emergency gradually none of the detained persons has been released.

"We shall probably never know why 1,800 citizens have been incarcerated for more than three months without charges being preferred and without access to a lawyer," the Cape Times said.

The newspaper even criticized the treatment of David Pratt, a wealthy white farmer arrested in connection with the attempted assassination of Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd. For a while South African police refused to let newspapers print his name.

"Why has he been locked up for three months and prevented from seeing a lawyer," the newspaper asked editorially.

Maid Turns Out To Be 'Butler'

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—The lady from a fashionable section of Dallas wanted to get her maid out of jail.

She called Detective W. S. Biggio of the Police Department's special services section Monday. "I want to get her out. She has worked for me for three years," the woman told Biggio.

"Lady, we have arrested your maid," the detective replied. "But 'she' turned out to be a man dressed in woman's clothing."

The woman is advertising for a new maid.

Russ Pleased With Shot

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet rocket fired into the Pacific missed the United States' distance mark, but Russian scientists nevertheless were pleased today with the missile's performance.
The rocket, launched Tuesday from a missile pad in Russia, soared 8,078 miles to a target in the Pacific Ocean about 1,000 miles southwest of Hawaii.
It was the longest Russian shot to date, breaking a mark set last January when a rocket was fired 7,000 miles into the Pacific.
But Tuesday's firing still fell nearly 1,000 miles short of a super Thor rocket which traveled 9,000

Soviet scientists had emphasized, however, that the rocket tests scheduled for this month would not attempt to break distance records, but instead would be designed to collect scientific information.

Succulent Shellfish In Deliciously Cool Salad

Take a succulent New England shellfish and a deliciously cool New England salad and you have a combination that's sure to life-wilded spirits on a hot summer day... even in Washington, D.C.

U.S. senators and representatives found little difficulty in conjuring up thoughts of cool sea breezes as they sat down to lunch recently. The main attractions at both House and Senate restaurants were scallops from the cold waters of the Atlantic Ocean and cranberries from the wind-swept bogs of Massachusetts' seacoast.

The lawmakers, taking a much break from a busy day in the final weeks before the summer recess, were the guests of Massachusetts Senators Leverett Saltonstall and John F. Kennedy and Representatives Joseph Martin and Hastings Keith.

Congressman Keith, whose district includes the world's scallop capital, New Bedford, and the large cranberry producing areas of southeastern Massachusetts, had fresh-from-the-sea scallops flown direct to the nation's capital for the occasion.
Right now both scallops and cranberries are plentiful. If you would like to try the same recipes your senator and representative enjoyed, here they are for 6 servings:

SAVORY NEW BEDFORD SCALLOPS
1 1/2 pounds sea scallops (fresh or frozen)
flour
6 tablespoons olive oil
2 cloves garlic, finely chopped salt, pepper
1/2 cup chopped parsley
Wash and dry scallops (defrost if frozen) and roll them in flour. Heat olive oil, add scallops and cook them very quickly, tossing them lightly in the hot oil. While they are cooking add the chopped garlic and mix it in well. Then salt and pepper to taste. Just before taking the pan from the stove, add the parsley and toss it around so that the scallops are generously coated with it. Serve with lemon wedges.

CRANBERRY MOLD INDIENNE
1 Pkg. apple-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 can (1 lb.) whole cranberry sauce
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
1/4 cup seedless raisins
1/4 cup finely chopped almonds
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon red paprika

Oriental Cookery Combines Shrimp, Rice In Happy Combination Of Togetherness

CHICAGO — Shrimp and rice have a long history of togetherness. Oriental cookery frequently combines the two — most famously in a pliant, Indian curry presents shrimp and rice in a pungent sauce. Spanish paella, Italian risotto and New Orleans jambalaya all represent the happy marriage of the shellfish and the grain.

For summer buffet dining, try shrimp and rice with vegetables in a colorful Oriental main dish salad. Thinly sliced celery, chopped onion and frozen green peas add a "bitey" texture to the dish.

Follow the ancient Oriental principle of vegetable cookery by treating peas gently and with respect. Use only four tablespoons of water for a 10 oz. package of frozen peas. Add 1/2 teaspoon of salt and 1/4 teaspoon of sugar to point up the dewy fresh flavor of the frosty vegetable. Bring to a fast boil and then simmer gently, 3 to 4 minutes, or until the peas are just done.

Chill vegetables, rice and shrimp while you prepare the dressing. The bland flavor of rice is a perfect vehicle for exotic seasonings. Soy sauce, used in Oriental cookery in place of salt, blends with celery powder, celery seed and sugar to lend the salad overtones of Far Eastern flavor.

Serve the chilled salad heaped on greens and garnished with sliced almonds. Individual shell dishes make perfect servers. Put out chopsticks for local color if you like, but be sure to supply forks for utility!

ORIENTAL SALAD
1 (10-ounce) package frozen peas, cooked
1 (4 3/8-ounce) package precooked (quick cook) rice, cooked
2 (4 1/2-ounce) cans shrimp, drained and split in half lengthwise
1 1/2 cups thinly sliced celery
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
3/4 cup salad oil
3 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 tablespoon soy sauce
2 teaspoons curry powder, or as desired

African Group Seeking United, Free Continent

By TOM A. GULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON (NEA) — The hurrying of African change goes through the lobbies of Parliament and the corridors of the British Colonial Office.

This city has become a mecca for politicians from the newly independent African states and agitators from African colonies fighting for freedom. Conspiracies, well as constitutions, are hatched here.

The central breeding ground is the basement offices of the Committee of African Organizations, host of the African Freedom groups.

Preaching the doctrine of Pan-Africanism — "Africa for Africans" — the CAO is the co-ordinating body for 25 African organizations. It is not a political party, say its chairman, Kwesi Armagh, of Ghana and secretary, John Longmore of Nigeria.

From its walls, a poster of Paul Robeson, the American Negro singer, grins out alongside those urging freedom for Algeria, a boycott of South African goods and a halt to French atom bomb tests in the Sahara. Mimeograph machines turn out propaganda leaflets eight hours a day.

Among the exiled African leaders who operate near the shadows of the CAO are Peter Kolbe, Kenya leader linked with the Mau Mau; Joshua Nkomo, president of the outlandish African Democratic Party in Southern Rhodesia and Kenyatta Chume, preacher for Nasaland's freedom.

Britain plays host to these exiles, as a Colonial Office spokesman explained, because "These men may be premiers, cabinet ministers or even opposition leaders one day."

Many of these prospective leaders as well as the CAO, would like to see all of Africa free and united as one nation along federal lines. The Ghana-Guinea union is being used as a "pilot study" of this plan. Chairman Armagh speaks of the "African personality" as a distinct political and cultural entity with a heritage common to Ghana and Kenya, Madagascar and the Chad.

Pan-Africa embraces the West Indies. "West Indians are as much African as the natives of the Congo."

Nor are the CAO's activities confined to British-speaking parts of Africa and the West Indies. Currently inciting rebellion in the French-speaking Cameroons and the Portuguese colonies of Angola and Mozambique, the CAO has issued a pamphlet called "The Rape of the Cameroons" which speaks of the "imperialist beast now at bay."

"Africa is not an extension of Europe," Armagh says heatedly. "Nor of the United States."

Longmore adds. "Africa was a great empire long before the Europeans began to crawl out of their forests and caves."

The CAO steers visiting African celebrities like Kenya's Tom Mboya around London, arranges press conferences, sees that they meet the right people including Labor party and trade union leaders. But its main activity is agitation and propaganda — protest meetings, defense funds, leaflets and press releases.

The British boycott of South African goods in protest against apartheid was conceived in the CAO's basement office. So was the recent campaign against French A-bomb tests in the Sahara.

The CAO draws its lieutenants from among the 10,000 Africans now studying at British universities and polytechnic schools. Many of these are "professional students" who have long since qualified or abandoned their studies for the delights of politics.

One of the CAO's immediate objectives is to get a larger and

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service bureau of the State Bar of Texas

Back in 1880 when there were no women lawyers in the United States the spirited and highly intelligent wife of a young Illinois lawyer suggested that he teach her to be an attorney.

This was a time when women were expected to stay home to attend their knitting. Nevertheless, James Bradwell had the courage to allow his wife to defy convention.

In 1869 she passed her examination and was certified for admission to the bar of the Supreme Court of Illinois. That court refused her application on the ground that she was married.

Undaunted by the adverse decision of the Illinois court, Mrs. Bradwell carried her case to the United States Supreme court. In 1873, after holding the case for a lengthy period without decision, the Supreme Court affirmed the Illinois court.

Mrs. Bradwell had lost her battle but she had won a war for the fair sex. The widespread interest engendered by her case became an opening wedge. Soon the barrier of prejudice was down and women were being admitted to the practice of law throughout the Nation.

After she had been refused admission to the bar Mrs. Bradwell operated a highly successful legal publication business and became the leader of numerous reform movements.

She was so busy in these ventures that she never sought admission to the bar again. When in 1890 this was brought to the attention of the Illinois Supreme Court, the court automatically made her a member of the bar. Not only did the court accord her this rare honor but its order of admission was made retroactively effective in 1869, the date of her original application.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Secret Defense Department Studies Show Military 'Death' Ray Feasible

By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A military "death" ray or "death" beam now seems feasible. That's the finding of new secret studies sponsored by the Department of Defense.

Work has already started on some of the basic problems, although practical "death" beams are probably 10 years away.

These killer rays would probably consist of billions of tiny atomic particles, possibly the hearts of small atoms or perhaps individual particles that go to make up atoms.

The rays may consist of X-rays like those your doctor uses to look inside your chest. They would be focused into narrow beams and shot out by some sort of powerful electronic gun.

These sound harmless, but they could kill missiles and men. They probably would be fired from a space station. They could be shot at intercontinental ballistic missiles. They would aim at causing changes in the atomic warhead that would make the missile harmless.

The small atomic particles would cause the atomic innards of the missile's warhead to heat up and deform or change chemically so it wouldn't explode.

Or maybe the billions of tiny particles in the beam would change its path a little in flight and thus be forced to land harmlessly in some isolated neighborhood.

First this whole idea seemed impossible. It looked like sending a beam of atomic particles would take so much power it would be impractical. But these particles can go hundreds of miles in space on very little power. For example, they travel the 93 million miles from the sun to earth.

With enough power, these beams could be shot from space stations at targets on earth. But primarily they would attend longrange missiles, satellites and space ships.

This "death" beam idea represents a radical new change in Defense Department thinking on how to defend against missiles. There is growing belief that shooting intercontinental ballistic missiles down is a chancy and dangerous business. And often utterly useless. A shot-down missile could still explode and cause great damage.

It now seems much easier, theoretically, just to make an enemy missile unworkable. And shooting down space ships is impractical. Even if you hit one, you wind up with a pile of debris floating around in space, causing radar interference and other problems.

So the thinking is now aimed at figuring out how to do the minimum necessary to destroy the military usefulness of a missile, satellite or space ship.

Right now, the researchers don't know what kind of ray or beam will be the most practical. There's considerable feeling though that X-rays could be the answer. X-rays don't travel very far here in the averaged room. But it's believed they would travel great distances out in space and might do considerable damage to the atomic innards of ICBMs.

One thing worries high Pentagon officials planning these daring new approaches: they find even top research men tend to think in terms of old earth-bound concepts. They find it difficult to think in the radically new terms that operating in space makes possible.

Says one scientific planner: "It's surprising how little damage will make an intercontinental missile fail in its mission. We don't have to destroy it. But people just can't get used to that simple logic."

possible. It looked like sending a beam of atomic particles would take so much power it would be impractical. But these particles can go hundreds of miles in space on very little power. For example, they travel the 93 million miles from the sun to earth.

Callas, Onassis Cruising Together

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI) — Soprano Maria Callas and Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis were on a slow boat to Venice today.

The couple boarded Onassis' private yacht Christina Tuesday with several other couples on a five day cruise to Venice and a schedule rendezvous with Sir Winston and Lady Churchill.

The Christina was named for the owner's ex-wife. She divorced him following a similar cruise with Miss Callas a year ago, when she was left ashore. Around the same time, the fiery American opera star separated from her Italian industrialist husband, Giovanni Battista Meneghini.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower Tuesday signed into law a bill authorizing the secretary of interior to lease 2,539,601 acres of public land in Texas for oil and gas exploration. Minerals involved are owned by the state, but are controlled by the interior department because they are in the public domain.

Let's Have a Jam Session

With summer fresh fruits on the way it's time now to plan for a jam session so that you may enjoy the summer goodness all through the winter. What is more delicious than homemade jam and how colorful it can be if the natural reds or golds are preserved.
To be sure of this use Fruit-Fresh, the ascorbic-acid mixture in your jam recipes and your results will be assured.

Frozen Strawberry Jam
1 quart strawberries, washed and hulled
4 cups sugar
2 tablespoons Fruit-Fresh (ascorbic-acid mixture)

Place strawberries in a large saucepan. Add sugar and Fruit-Fresh (ascorbic-acid mixture). Place over low heat and stir until sugar melts. Continue cooking 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat; turn into freezing container. Seal, label and freeze. Makes 1 1/2 pints jam.

Peach Cherry Conserve
4 lbs. peaches
1/2 cup maraschino cherry syrup
5 cups sugar
2 tablespoons Fruit-Fresh (ascorbic-acid mixture)

Peel peaches; chop fine. There should be 5 cups chopped. Put into large kettle; add cherry syrup, sugar, Fruit-Fresh (ascorbic-acid mixture), salt, lemon juice and orange juice. Cook until sugar is dissolved. Increase heat and boil rapidly until two thick drops run together when tested from a spoon. This takes about 45 minutes of cooking. Stir in cherries and nuts and bring to boiling point again. Remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes or overnight. Stir occasionally. Reheat to a boil, ladle into jars and top with paraffin. Makes about 2 pints conserve.

Uncooked Peach Jam
2 1/2 lbs. ripe fresh peaches (7-8)
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon Fruit-Fresh (ascorbic-acid mixture)
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 package powdered pectin
1 cup water

Remove skins and pits from peaches. Mash. Combine sugar and Fruit-Fresh (ascorbic-acid mixture); add to peaches with lemon juice and let stand 20 minutes. Cook pectin and water together to the boiling point. Then boil one minute. Add to peach mixture and stir two minutes. (Correct timing is important.) Ladle jam into sterilized glasses. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours. Cover with a layer of paraffin and store in refrigerator or freezer. Make 19 6-oz. glasses.

What's Necessary Luggage On Summer Vacation Becomes Complex Argument

By KAT SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprises Assn.
Staff Correspondent

Packing for the family vacation trip is sure to start a hot debate on what's "necessary" luggage. If the trip is by auto and the destination is a rented summer cottage, the debate is more complex.

Clothing is only a small part of things to be transported. Listen to the list lengthen: golf clubs, tennis rackets, beach things, fishing gear, favorite doll and bedtime companion, rock collection and so on.

Not to be overlooked when priorities are set on the limited luggage space is the equipment needed for cottage housekeeping. Don't wait until you're 500 miles from home to discover the terms of the rental lease.

Many require tenants to supply "linens." To some landlords this means simply sheets, towels, pillowcases and kitchen linen. To others it includes these, plus blankets, mattress pads, bath mats and so on.

To keep linens from grabbing too much space, use your ingenuity. Pack warm pajamas if nights are nippy. You'll need fewer blankets.

Use cotton flannel sheets. They are warm, fold flat, can be washed, dried and put back on the bed. With these you may not need heavier (and bulkier) blankets.

Just introduced this summer is a cotton flannel electric sheet designed for use over a regular top sheet and under a blanket, bedspread or coverlet.

Useful the year round, it's lightweight and compact when folded. It can deliver any degree of warm protection against chilly breeze or frosty air conditioning in hotel-motel rooms.

Disposable paper bathmats, mail-ordered and sent to your self at the vacation spot are a space-saving convenience. Paper

SAUSAGE LEADS
About one pound in ten of our year's meat supply is purchased in the form of sausage of some kind, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The term sausage is applied to any type of meat which is ground and flavored as well as the spiced fresh pork which comes in patties or links. Weiners, bologna, salami and the array of luncheon meats are classified as sausages.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What is wrong with a person who would rather than tell the truth? I thought she was the most wonderful girl in the world. Then I started to chide her in all sorts of lies. I found out she was a housemaid in a stenographer like she said. She told me her parents were dead — I found out they were alive. She said she was born in one place I learned she was born some place else.

When I catch her in a lie, she admits it and feels ashamed. I love this girl, Abby, and I'm considering marriage. But how can I marry her when I can't believe anything she says? Is lying a disease? It is curable?

UNDECIDED: Lying is not a "disease" — it is a symptom. People lie because they feel inferior, inadequate and insecure. You love Elsie, try to help her. Lying is curable — only if she will make a sincere effort to stop herself.

DEAR ABBY: I was married five weeks ago by my minister in his small chapel. I knew at the time that I was at least two months pregnant, but I didn't advertise the fact. I am telling everybody that we were married five months ago by a Justice of the Peace in a small town near here. (I made it up because of the abey coming.) I want to know if anyone wanted to call up the Justice of the Peace in that small town and ask him if he really married us, would they be able to find out he didn't?

WORRIED BRIDE: Possibly there is nothing confidential about public records. It would be up to the Justice of the Peace to reveal or conceal the information.

DEAR ABBY: My sister has two big, strong, healthy daughters, 16 and 20. They both live at home. The older one has a job. My sister's home is as beautiful as any magazine picture, but if you walked into the girls' bedroom you would get the shock of your life! It is as cluttered as a pigeon. Clothes are piled everywhere. Petticoats standing all around. Shoes all over the floor. Cosmetics and magazines enough to fill a store. I asked my sister why she permitted this and she said she was through talking her heart out. She says she shuts her door and pretends the room isn't there.

Don't you think she is wrong for making this "don't care" attitude? Shouldn't those girls be made to clean up their room? Don't you print my name, just your answer, as I have been told already it is none of my business.

Veteran Cardinal Hitting Star Establishes New All-Time Record

Stan Musial Gets 17th All-Star Bid

Lee Grimsley's Sportbeat

You'll have to go a long way to find a better host than Babe Curfman or a better pot of coffee than Mrs. Curfman brews.

And when you're around Curfman he keeps the conversation on one subject — football.

Yesterday when graduated end Charlie Warren was at his house discussing the upcoming football campaign at Texas Western, Curfman made one comment you seldom hear from a coach.

"Charlie was a real fine player," he said. "But he did it all himself. The coach has nothing to do with it."

Bowl Lanes Do Booming Business

Bowling popularity is definitely on the increase here, maybe enough to warrant a new bowling alley in the near future.

For the past few nights Garden Lanes and Harvester Bowl have been so crowded it's been hard to find a parking place there, much less an open alley. And there's only a handful of summer leagues in operation, which means there's a lot of open bowling going on.

Earlier this week, the Amarillo newspaper ran a large spread on a bowling tournament for youths, and listed all of the city's lanes where entrants could bowl.

From Castro To Harris Via Canada

Add sports notes: Baseball officials are looking for the Havana Sugar Kings of the International League to pull up stakes and move to America in the near future. Seems that some other IL owners are afraid that Fidel Castro might mess one of their clubs.

The unrest started last year when owners of the Buffalo and Rochester franchises swore that they wouldn't send a team to Havana unless Castro guaranteed the players' safety.

Yanks Pad Lead To Two

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

Did you catch Roger Maris and Bob Skinner in that sneak preview of the All-Star game?

You should have because it was a smash hit all the way around. Maris and Skinner will be on opposite sides in the All-Star game at Kansas City next Tuesday and they still may be on opposite sides come World Series time next fall.

Maris helped the Yankees widen their American League lead to two games when he hit his 27th homer Wednesday night in a 5-2 victory over the Orioles, while Skinner put the Pirates 5½ games ahead in the National League with an inside-the-park grand slam homer that routed the Reds, 5-2.

The homer by Maris, off loser Skinny Brown, moved him seven games ahead of Babe Ruth's record 1927 time-table. Cletis Boyer also homered against the Orioles, who were held to seven hits by Whitey Ford, now 5-5.

In the game between the Pirates and Reds, Cincinnati led 1-0 behind Bob Purkey until the eighth inning when Pittsburgh tied the score on a single and three walks. Facing reliever Bill Henry, Skinner then sent a sinking liner to left field which rolled all the way to the wall as Wally Post made a futile attempt at a shoestring catch. Rookie Tom Cheney was the winner. Gus Bell and Ed Bailey homered for the Reds.

The White Sox defeated the Indians, 7-5, the Senators downed the Red Sox, 4-0, and the Athletics beat the Tigers, 6-4, in

Palmer Best Bet In British Open

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UPI)—American champion Arnold Palmer shot a two-under-par 71 today to tie for a four-hole lead in the second round of the British Open golf tournament with a 36-hole total of 141.

A series of short putts that refused to drop kept the star from Ligonier, Pa., from matching his 70 of the opening round. He was still in strong contention in his bid to add this title to the U.S. Open and Masters crowns he has won this year.

Thomson, like Palmer a strong favorite, fired a two-under-par 69 today with generally sound putting to close ground.

Roberto de Vincenzo of Argentina and Mexico, the first-round leader with a six-under-par 67, was scheduled to tee off later today. Also scheduled for later starts were the only other Americans still in play — Bill Johnston of Provo, Utah, and Jack Isaacs, the civilian pro at Langley Air

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals broke still another record today when he was named to the National League All-Star squad for the 17th time, but the Pittsburgh Pirates dominated the team with eight members.

The 39-year-old Musial was breaking his own mark for the greatest number of All-Star selections. Ted Williams of Boston, who was named to the American League squad, this week for the 16th time, holds the AL mark.

Musial's selection this time appeared a heavy sentimental choice, for the once-fabulous "man" has only a .279 batting average with just four home runs.

The Cardinal star was among 22 pitchers and reserves named to the team by manager Walter Alston of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, who will manage the squad against the American League in the two games at Kansas City July 11 and at New York July 13.

The eight starters for each league were picked by ballot of the major-league players, and were announced last Sunday.

The Milwaukee Braves dominated that array by landing four starting berths, but the Braves received only one more place today and thus top honors went to the Pirates, as befits the league-leading team.

In addition to second baseman Bill Mazeroski and outfielder Bob Skinner, who were elected to start, the Pirates also received berths for pitchers Roy Face, Bob Friend and Vern Law, catcher Smokey Burgess, shortstop Dick Groat, and outfielder Bob Force Base, Va.

Palmer clipped one stroke off par with a 35 going out, racking up eight pars plus a birdie three on the sixth hole. He would have had a brilliant card except for those puts — a nine-footer that rimmed the cup on the second, a 12-footer that was inches short on the third, and a missed four-footer on the fifth.

Clemente.

The Braves and St. Louis Cardinals had five places each, 15 Dodgers four, Cincinnati and Boston three each, and Chicago and Philadelphia only one each.

The lone Cub selected was shortstop Ernie Banks, 15 league's top home run hitter with 25 who was elected to start. Passed by was outfielder Rich Ashburn, former league batting champion currently hitting .324.

The squad includes 13 holdovers from last year's squad, including Musial, Willie Mays of the Giants and Ed Mathews of the Braves each appearing for the eighth time, and Hank Aaron of the Braves, appearing for the seventh time.

Ten players will be appearing in the mid-season classics for the first time.

The squad:

Pitchers: Bob Buhl, Milwaukee; Elroy Face, Pittsburgh; Bob Friend, Pittsburgh; Bill Henry, Cincinnati; Larry Jackson, St. Louis; Vernon Law, Pittsburgh; Mike McCormick, San Francisco; Lindy McDaniel, St. Louis; John Podres, Los Angeles; Stan Williams, Los Angeles.

1st Triple Play Trips Rhubarb

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The major league's first triple play since 1908 kicked off a big rhubarb here Wednesday night over whether rookie umpire Ed Vargo failed to signal safe or out on the blow that stated the play.

Manager Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies, victims of the play, was tossed out of the game with the Milwaukee Braves for protesting on the play.

"He argued that Vargo failed to signal whether Braves' second sacker Chuck Cottier had caught or trapped a low liner by Bobby Gene Smith."

Mauch said as a result, pitcher Dick Farrell dashed to the plate, thinking the ball had hit the ground, and Cottier had trapped it. The Braves tossed the ball to third to make Farrell the third out.

Cottier, the Braves' flashy rookie infielder, said there was no doubt he caught the ball. It was first believed Mauch was protesting that Cottier had trapped it. Smith, coming for the second of three times with the bases loaded, sliced what looked like a one-hopper to Cottier, but the youngster made a shoetop catch and doubled Tony Taylor off first for two of the outs.

Philly's Vargo swung when the triple play ruling was made, and despite mediation efforts of plate umpire Jocko Conlan, Mauch berated Vargo.

Finally, after trying three times to walk away from the Philly manager, Vargo wheeled and gave him the thumb.

The triple play was the first ever made at the eight-year-old Milwaukee County Stadium. The Phils pulled off the 1908 triple play.

Balding's 64 Leads Open

TORONTO (UPI)—Pessimistic, cigar-chewing Al Balding, a hometown pro who hasn't won a tournament in three years, fretted today about his chances of winning the Canadian Open championship despite a course record of 64 that gave him the first-round lead.

The 36-year-old Balding toured the short St. George's course Wednesday in eight-under-par 30-24 to break the record of 65 set by Dutch Harrison when he won the Canadian Open 11 years ago with a 27.

Balding didn't have a five on his card as he sank nine birdies, one eagle and one bogey around the 6,816-yard, par 35-37-72 layout.

Just a year ago Balding shot a 66 to take a one-stroke lead in the Canadian Open at Montreal. But the next day he skied to a 75 and wound up tied for 30th place.

Giants Shave Victoria

Van Noy Belts Pace Victory

By United Press International
Jay Van Noy, general handy man for the Rio Grande Valley Giants as a player, coach and utility infielder, was indeed a handy man to have a round for the Texas League leaders in the post-midnight hours today.

For it was the 31-year-old Van Noy's second home run of the game in the top of the 10th with a mate aboard that gave the Giants a 9-7 victory and a split of a twin bill with the third-place Victoria Rosebuds. He also had homered in the first inning when the Giants jumped into a 4-0 lead. Victoria had won the first game 3-2, but had to go 11 innings for that one. And, the Rosebuds threatened to take the second, too, when Frank Kostro socked a bases-loaded homer in the seventh to knot the score at 7-7. But, Bob Bolin, who went the route, settled down to check the home club, the rest of the way and Van Noy settled the issue in the 10th.

Bolin had served up a home run ball to the Buds' Jim Fridley in the sixth, while Rafe Alomar and Larry Stubing had nicked Victoria's Jim Proctor for similar bluffs in the first and sixth innings.

In other activity, San Antonio sliced a half-game off the Giants' lead by walloping Austin 11-3, and fifth-inning home runs by Artie Burnett and Harry Keisler had pushed Tulsa past Amarillo 4-2.

"Tonight, the teams switch sites but keep the same pairings with the Victoria at the Valley, Tulsa at Amarillo and San Antonio at Austin.

capped horses of Neptune racing in towards the abandoned beach. It was cutting, raw and penetrating.

The thermometer was at 55 according to one optimist and the mist blowing over the seaside course mingled icily with the fine rain in blend of swirling misery.

The skies were as grey as the bleak houses forming the backdrop along the 18th hole. The British Open field of 74 survivors sloshed, splashed their way grimly over the course.

"Ah, it's a braw day," exhaled one-beaming Scot. "If the sun shines it's a bloody embarrassment."

Gene Sarazen, who has played in 14 British Opens and was huddled inside two sweaters, a jacket and a raincoat, had to go all the way back to the first in 1923 to remember such weather.

"I had a 75 on the first round," he remembered, "and the second day they kept all the ships in harbor, I shot an 85."

"The lucky 28's" Sarazen

grinned. He was referring to the 28 players Egypt's Cherif Said knocked out with one fell swoop this year. Under the British Open rules only the low numbered qualifiers. If more than a hundred are tied for the last qualifying spot, all those in the tie for the 100 spot are eliminated.

Thus, when there were 28 tied at 148 to make the even hundred, they went out and put the eagle eye on said as he made an assault on 146. He made it and the 28 were knocked out of the tournament.

There were screams of anguish. But the dispossessed were purring like kittens in the sanctuary of their rooms, while the tournament survivors shivered their way through the third round.

Even the birds were walking, but the hairy Scots ignored it as "wee bit chilly perhaps." They couldn't fool one contender from Durban, South Africa. "I think," he said as he finished happily, "There are what you call icicles hanging from my ears."

Old Timers Ready For Baseball Trust Debate

By ROY MCGHEE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Three old-timers are warming up for more innings against what they call "the baseball trust" when Congress reconvenes in August.

They are right-hander Joseph C. O'Mahoney, the Wyoming Democrat who has been the scourge of monopolists in other fields for years; Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-N.M.), and former Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.).

By a narrow margin, the Senate recently voted to recommit a bill authored by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) to bring organized baseball under the anti-trust law.

Under the bill, there would be a limitation on the "reserve clause" in player contracts. The clause indentures a player forever to the club that owns his contract.

The bill would give all clubs a chance at "drafting" players at least once a year. Proponents of the bill say this would open the way for expansion of the major leagues and the starting of new leagues.

Presidents Joe Cronin and Warren Giles of the American and National Leagues and Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick are solidly against the measure. They rest their position on the Supreme Court decision that baseball is a sport and not subject to anti-monopoly laws.

Hank Greenberg, vice president of the Chicago White Sox, predicted Tuesday there would be limited expansion of the present major leagues. But he said there were not enough players to expand much, and certainly not enough for a third league.

O'Mahoney has written every senator contending that the Greenberg argument is as weak as a pop fly. He cited recent census figures to show the increase in young men in the baseball-playing age bracket and city population growth to prove they could support more major leagues.

Johnson also wrote his ex-teammates in the Senate that there should be more major league teams.

Chavez performed yeoman service for Johnson and O'Mahoney by inserting their letters in the Congressional Record.

Legislation May Wipe It Out

What Happened To Connie?

By HARRY GRAYSON

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA)—The bottom seems to have fallen out of the proposed new Continental League.

There are numerous obstacles in the organization of a third major league — reparation for territory claimed, a source of players, a pension fund, etc.

But a man from Houston could be putting his finger on what has retarded the Rickeydinks to date.

"The founding fathers sought legislation instead of franchises," he says. "Buzzy Bavaasi told me that if they gave him a million dollars he would have the Continental League in business in two months."

Bavaasi, hustling vice president in charge of the Los Angeles Dodgers, undoubtedly would have started by purchasing higher-class minor league clubs.

"That wouldn't be difficult," stresses William O. DeWitt, who until he became president of the Detroit Tigers this year was in charge of the major league fund to save the minors. "Most minor league franchises today can be had by anyone willing to pay the cost of operating them. Now, days they are nothing more than licenses to lose money."

The Continental alignment calls for representation in New York, Toronto, Buffalo, Atlanta, Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Denver.

Branch Rickey, Bill Shea and Company could have acquired Atlanta free, gratis and for nothing. Earl Mann turned the rights there back to the Southern Association when he could no longer battle big league games televised into the once prized AA setup. The Dodgers look over to ball out the league. New Orleans chucked it, enabling Little Rock to resume operations with no initial investment.

Louisville could have been acquired a year ago for the asking. That is how Charleston, W. Va., got in the American Association. Omaha could have been picked up the same way when it was in this circuit. This could go on and on.

These clubs quietly obtained and for little or nothing on the dollar could have been Continental League feeders.

That is what Owner Walter F. O'Malley of the Dodgers was thinking about when he offered the Continental people the Montreal club and 10 players for $150,000.

The Age Of Decline

Never in history, so far as we know, has success been so hampered by inhibitions, inhibitions and plain facts, at least in the United States at this time. Never has failure been made so attractive and so alluring.

To the degree that a man succeeds today, to that degree will he be watched and waited for and stifled. If he begins to succeed modestly, he will have to hire more persons. When he hires more persons, he has to pay more taxes not paid by employers hiring only one or two people.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — A few weeks ago this column, which sometimes fasciates itself with unusual snippets of information, mentioned briefly that a dolphin under Navy scrutiny and test had issued a series of high-speed sounds which, when slowed down on a tape recorder, said plainly: "Come and get it."

And now, friends, comes the day when we may just as well hang up our endeavors and turn the world we have roiled over to the dolphins. My private belief is that they can't do any worse than we have and they might do much better.

The research, according to the Navy announcement, has established — that means proved — that dolphins talk to each other, can mimic human speech, help each other without hesitation in moments of distress or tragedy and have a sense of humor toward humans. In short, they think we are pretty funny, and taking a glance at Page One as it unrolls daily with versions of world-wide nonsense and desperation, I agree with them. We are. Or would be, if we weren't all so threatening.

The bottle-nosed dolphin is the one with the brains. Most people call him a porpoise and regard him as an agile, extremely graceful fish. He is not. He is a mammal which, several million years ago, had the good sense to look around him and estimate what was going to happen on land as time went by and forthwith ran to the ocean and jumped in.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Despite the failure of the market to make much headway during most of June, the prospects for an extension of the rally are still favorable, according to the International Statistical Bureau.

There is a strong possibility that many of the blue chips and those of leading industries will make a slightly better showing than during the recent advance, the bureau believes.
