

Eisenhower Visit Canceled By Kishi

Minister Fears For His Safety

TOKYO (UPI) — Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's pro-Western government bowed to Communist-led violence today and canceled President Eisenhower's trip to Japan because it could not guarantee his safety.

The President accepted the decision with regret in Manila, where he wound up a three-day visit to the Philippines and sailed for Formosa on the next leg of his Far East journey.

Senate Will Act On Pact U.S. Answer To Japanese Rioters

By WARREN DUFFEE
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson announced today that the Senate will act on the U. S.-Japanese security treaty "at an early date" despite rioting in Tokyo which caused cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit.

Johnson made the statement after conferring with members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He said it was the "consensus" of the committee that the treaty should be acted upon.

The Democratic leader said he had also conferred with the State Department before deciding to go ahead with the ratification procedure as planned.

Asked when the treaty will reach the floor, Johnson replied that the big defense, appropriations bill, the federal employees pay increase bill and a motion to approve House action on suffrage in the District of Columbia are tentatively scheduled for action first.

"My best judgment is that we will proceed at an early date," Johnson said. His tentative schedule suggested that ratification of the treaty, while it could conceivably come today, will more probably come Friday or Saturday.

Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield told the Senate shortly after it convened "the unusual hour of 9:30 a. m. that the development was no reason why the Senate (See SENATE, Page 4)

Munn Named To Head UF Drive

Melvin Munn was named chairman of this year's United Fund drive at a meeting of the organization in the city hall this morning.

Hugh Burdette, president of the United Fund board, said definite dates for this year's campaign will be set in the near future.

Clinton Evans was named chairman of the budgets and mission committee. R. E. McKernan, F. E. Imel, C. P. Buckler and H. V. Wilks also will serve on the committee.

TRIP CALLED OFF — President Eisenhower and Mrs. Trinidad DeLeon Roxas, wife of former President Roxas of the Philippines, are shown enjoying a laugh at a state dinner in Eisenhower's honor hours before the news was flashed that Ike's trip to Japan had been called off. The President will continue his tour of other Far East countries, however.

President Accepts Decision With Regret

MANILA (UPI) — President Eisenhower's trip to Japan canceled said an emotional farewell to the Philippines tonight and sailed for Formosa amid cries of "mahihya" (long live) and the strains of "Auld Lang Syne."

Before he left aboard the USS St. Paul, flagship of the U.S. 7th Fleet, the President accepted with regret the decision of the pro-Western Japanese government to bow to Communist-led violence and call off his visit to Tokyo because it could not guarantee his safety.

As he departed, a grim new note was injected with a report from Taipei that fears were growing in Formosa that Communist China might launch a massive artillery bombardment against the offshore Quemoy islands to underscore the leaving victory by forcing him to bypass Japan.

To replace his planned trip to Tokyo, the President will advance the time of his visit to South Korea from June 22 to this Sunday, the day on which he was to have arrived in Japan.

He is still scheduled to stop at the U.S.-held island of Okinawa after he leaves Formosa, although American sources in Seoul said he might fly directly from Taipei to Korea.

Eisenhower wound up his last day in the Philippines with a major speech before an estimated 400,000 persons in Manila's Luneta Park, and then acted as host at a formal dinner for Philippine President Carlos P. Garcia.

In a communique issued jointly with Garcia, Eisenhower agreed that American military aid to the Philippines should help modernize this island republic's armed forces.

This was the second big switch in personal diplomacy plans that Eisenhower has been forced to make by external action. Last month he had to drop plans for a trip to Russia which would have been part of his current journey to the Far East.

Strikes Settled At Two Air-Space Industry Firms

Perryton Tornadoes Do Property Damage

PERRYTON — Tornadoes dropped to the ground yesterday damaging property on two farms near Perryton. No one was injured.

The first twister hit the Marvin Felix farm 13 miles Northwest of Perryton at about 5:40 p.m. doing approximately $5,000 or $6,000 damage, according to Bobby Jack Watson, Ochiltree County deputy sheriff.

Mrs. Felix and her 9-year-old son, Lyndal, had just returned home from hauling a load of wheat to town. They had gone into the house "when it suddenly became as dark as midnight."

The tornado toppled and carried away a large granary, two chicken houses, a hog pen and the TV tower on the Felix farm. A side of the brooder house was lifted and carried several hundred yards; and although scattered lumber was found all around the wall, all the glass in the wall remained unbroken.

What appeared to be two small tornadoes from the same storm line hit the Daniel Newman farm 7 miles North of Perryton at about 5:55 p.m., according to Watson. These apparently didn't completely touch the ground because no ground scar was left.

"The first one hit the south side of the farm and picked up a stock tank carrying it at least two miles," said Watson. "They hadn't found it when I left."

Newman had just turned into his driveway when he saw the twister pick up the tank. He said his first thought was to stop the tank before it reached the highway, but the dust was so thick he couldn't see. The next time he saw the tank, it was across the highway being carried across the fields, and he hasn't seen it since, said Watson.

His two sons, Billy and Joe, were driving tractors in from the fields when they saw the tornado hit. They also saw the second twister which demolished a 40-year-old barn located 50 yards west of the barn roof hanging perpendicular in the air, it then toppled and was swished away.

Both boys felt the suction of the tornado.

"I felt light on the tractor seat as if I was being sucked up; so I grabbed the steering wheel and hung on," said one of the boys.

One tree was destroyed by the winds.

No rain fell at the Newman farm, but Perryton received .14 of rain.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—New optimism swept the strike crippled air-space industry today when a Douglas auto-workers strike was quickly settled and machinists at Cape Canaveral, Fla., accepted a new Convairst offer.

Also, negotiations were scheduled to resume late today in San Francisco between machinists and Lockheed Missiles and Space Division for the first time since about 13,500 machinists went on strike midnight Tuesday. The union announced it "substantially reduced" the number of pickets after several picket line disturbances Wednesday at Sunnyvale, Calif.

A break in the 11-day International Assn. of Machinists (IAM) strike at all Convairst plants and missile base installations was hoped for momentarily by negotiators.

Representatives of the IAM and Convairst have been meeting nearly around the clock in San Diego, Calif.

Settlement of the Convairst dispute involving 25,000 workers probably would be the prelude to solution of the Lockheed strike and most likely would avert an IAM threatened strike Saturday, against Douglas, observers said.

A Convairst agreement probably would set the pattern for the industry.

About 22,000 United Auto Workers (UAW) members began returning to work at midnight at Douglas plants in Long Beach, Calif., where the DCA airlines are made, and the Tulsa, Okla., servicing plant. Picket lines were removed at the Douglas plants shortly after the voting late Wednesday night.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lola Fisher, star of the "My Fair Lady" company which just captivated Russia, disclosed today that she is captivated by a Soviet engineer who looks like Rock Hudson and proposes like Arthur Miller.

The 28-year-old blonde who played Eliza Doolittle for two months on the original Broadway circuit identified her Soviet suitor simply as "Radik from Leningrad," aged 22, dark, rugged.

She refused to say whether she was taking the romance seriously. In this case, she pointed out, what Lola wants Lola might not be able to get.

"I'm here and he's there and I don't know whether I'll ever get back," she said pensively. "But I want to go back very much—in another American musical if possible."

Lola said she was introduced to Radik by Rabbi Robert E. Goldberg of New Haven, Conn., who was visiting Russia. Goldberg is an old friend of playwright Arthur Miller and performed the religious marriage rites for Miller and actress Marilyn Monroe.

"The last thing Radik said to me was that he hoped he could come to America and maybe we could be married by Bob (Rabbi Goldberg), too," said Lola. "Of course a lot of people in Russia say they'd like to come to America, but you have the feeling they don't believe they'll ever get here."

Word 'Unsolved' Eases Five-Year Pain

Vindication Won By Widow, Son Of Dead Airlines Pilot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One word — "unsolved" — has ended five years of anguish for the widow of a dead airline pilot and her 10-year-old son.

Because a government agency said "unsolved" there will be no more ugly crank calls in the night. The boy no more will come home in tears because of taunts of playmates. The mother and child will not have to consider moving again to escape harassment.

Mrs. Jean Spong and her son, Michael, Wednesday came out from the shadow of erroneous accusation against her husband and his father when the government cleared him of responsibility for a five-year-old Trans-World Airlines crash that killed 16 persons. The Civil Aeronautics Board previously had blamed an error by the pilot, Capt. Ivan Spong, for the Feb. 19, 1955, crash near Albuquerque, N.M. Wednesday's revised report called the crash "unsolved."

"This will help my grief," said Mrs. Spong when she heard the "wonderful" news. The vindication, she said, may make her life less a torment.

"Perhaps now I can begin to get over the terrible loss of my husband," she said. "It will also be wonderful for my son, Michael."

When the CAB first blamed her husband for the crash, cranks telephoned her constantly, compelling her grief, Mrs. Spong recalled.

Once Michael came home from school sobbing, "the other kids say daddy's in hell because he killed people."

"Children can be so cruel," said Mrs. Spong. "They just don't understand, but it made a terrible impression on Michael. He was so confused by it all. He idolized his father and I tried to explain to him that his father wasn't at fault."

Mrs. Spong is not able to work because of heart disease and a lung condition. She and Michael live on social security and workmen's compensation payments.

The government's vindication was a victory for the Airline Pilots Assn., which had battled for five years to clear pilot Spong.

Attorney Hits Pipeline Tax

AUSTIN (UPI)—A Houston attorney for a group of firms challenging the Texas gas pipeline tax said today the attorney general's office admitted the firms were involved in interstate commerce.

The attorney, Leon Jaworski, began a lengthy argument today before Dist. Judge Jack Roberts in an attempt to have the tax declared unconstitutional because of the interstate aspect.

"There isn't a chance on earth for this tax to stand up and the attorney general has admitted it," Jaworski said. "And, oh how this cloak of protection is put on the producer every time."

He said that Atty. Gen. Will Wilson's brief filed earlier in the court test of the pipeline tax, admitted "in a generic sense, the severance beneficiary tax involves or relates to interstate commerce."

Wilson appeared in court personally to help defend the pipeline tax against the challenges of seven pipeline companies.

Foundation Board Calls Meet Today

The board of directors of the Top-O-Texas Foundation was scheduled to meet in the Chamber of Commerce's meeting room at city hall this afternoon.

Today's meeting was to have been held in place of the May meeting which was postponed.

HOT DAY, COOL WATER — Ronald Gattis, 9, of 421 W. Francis, gets set to put on a diving show at the kiddies pool in the park Monday. Watching at left is Paf Cable, 6, of 801 Mary Ellen. Chuck Estes, 5, of Oklahoma City had been wanting to go to the pool but, because of the rain, this week was the first chance he had. He's been visiting his godmother, Mrs. Glenn Ritchart, 1130 Christine. (Daily News Photo)

FAR-DARTING NOSE CONE—This is a Mark III nose cone, the usual payload of an Atlas missile, which is the only operational ICBM in the U.S. arsenal. A one-and-a-half-ton cone of this type was hurled 9,000 miles in 52½ minutes by an Atlas May 20. Traveling in a 1,000-mile-high trajectory, the cone spanned two oceans—the North and South Atlantic—and dropped into a third—the Indian Ocean, 500 miles northeast of the Prince Edward Islands. It was covered with a material which burns and vaporizes during re-entry into the earth's atmosphere, thus dissipating heat and keeping interior cool.

Explosion Rocks Nuclear Sub After Fire In Torpedo Room

By WILLIAM MIAO
United Press International

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (UPI) — The nuclear submarine Sargo was rocked by fire and explosion late Tuesday, but the Navy averted possible disaster by opening a hatch to the burning room and partially submerging the vessel.

The fire started in the after torpedo room. The area was flooded by submerging the stern of the submarine at an angle of about 30 degrees.

The Navy said two men were unaccounted for, but emphasized that they might not have been aboard the Sargo when the fire occurred.

It also said the vessel's atomic reactors were sealed off and there was "absolutely no danger of an explosion from the reactor compartment."

The fire started at a leaking high pressure line in the after torpedo room, as the submarine was taking on oxygen at a pier at 12:35 a.m. e.d.t.

Witnesses said flames shot 25 feet into the air, and six minutes later the Sargo was jolted by a

Rogers Brings No Gimmicks To New Show

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Westerns are coming up in the world's next season as a Princeton graduate will ride shotgun in a new shoot-em-up.

He's Wayne Rogers, who will star in "Stagecoach West" next October. Most unusual aspect of this new entry is that the series does not have a gimmick, — no trick guns, mirrored hats or special horses.

The hour-long horse opera concerns an ex-Confederate soldier who has turned his talents to pushing a stagecoach west, as the title subtly implies.

In "The Rebel" star Nick Adams plays a Confederate hero with a Brooklyn accent. William Bendix swashes and buckles in "Overland Trail" with a Bronx accent. Both are accepted as the real McCoy.

But a Princeton accent? Hmmmm.

"I can talk like a Confederate," Wayne said in a fat, back and collar green patois. "I was born in Alabama.

"After all, Jimmy Stewart, Henry Fonda and Jose Ferrer have played western characters and they graduated from Princeton. It didn't hurt their careers a bit."

"Jack Lemmon graduated from Harvard and nobody would suspect it."

Originally Rogers had planned to go on to Harvard law school after he was graduated from Princeton as a history major. But the rugged-looking blond decided practicing before the bar would not be as much fun as barroom brawls before TV cameras.

"Law didn't hold any kicks for me," he explained.

"At Princeton I belonged to the Triangle Club, a drama group that went on tour. My only objection to it was that I had to play a lot of feminine roles.

"Believe me, I was the biggest ugliest looking dame that ever walked on a stage anywhere.

"I didn't learn much about acting, but it was a lot of fun. Now I'll be getting paid for acting and I won't have to play any female roles."

Skin Diver Near Death From Bends

By RONALD H. NESSEN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Navy doctors kept a round-the-clock vigil beside a huge gray steel decompression tank today fighting to save the life of a paralyzed amateur skin diver stricken with the bends.

The victim, Floyd E. Goines, 26, an Okmulgee, Okla., police sergeant, lies inside a barrel-shaped chamber, beneath a white sheet and the harsh glare of lights.

Night and day, a Navy hospitalman sits beside him. From time to time the sweating medic listens to Goines' heartbeat. When a doctor comes to examine him, he must spend 10 minutes in a decompression process before reaching his patient in the chamber.

The medics at the Navy's Deep Sea Diving School can only give Goines sedation to ease his pain and wait. They will not know until 2 a.m. Thursday whether the tiny nitrogen bubbles clogging his blood stream have damaged permanently the 6-foot, 180-pound patient.

Goines was stricken with his painful, possibly deadly, divers' ailment, when he popped to the surface too quickly Monday from 85 feet down in Lake Ten-Killer in northwestern Oklahoma.

The Oklahoman, who was trying to build up his endurance after a similar attack six weeks ago, thought his breathing equipment had flooded when a whirlpool sucked him to the bottom of Ten-Killer. He shot to the surface coughing blood. He was semi-conscious.

The Air Force flew Goines here Tuesday for treatment in one of the only two decompression chambers in the country equipped to handle direct cases of such afflictions. He was in pain and his right side was paralyzed.

Ranger Makes Arrest For OBI Colleagues

The Texas Rangers came to the rescue of the state of Oklahoma Wednesday. It all started when Ranger Bill Henslee accompanied two Oklahoma Bureau of Investigation agents from Pampa to Amarillo to conduct a routine checkup Wednesday afternoon. It ended in Henslee arresting a suspect who was wanted in the Somer state. "We were driving along in the Oklahoma agents' car," Henslee recalled, "when this car passed us. I told them to follow it because I knew I recognized that license number from somewhere. The car pulled into a service station and I told them to drive

Water Use Plans Talked

AUSTIN (UPI) — Engineers from state water districts and authorities got down to work today on a master plan for the use of water in Texas for 15 years. First item for discussion by the group meeting with the State Board of Water Engineers was the formulation of basin plans. Gov. Price Daniel told the group Wednesday to submit area plans to the state by Nov. 1, and that he would present a state-wide water program to the Legislature next year. Representatives of 17 area water associations pledged their support in drawing up what will be the first comprehensive plan for use of the state water supply. The two-day meeting, which began with Daniel's speech, is the first time the various water authority leaders have met for planning purposes. Durwood Mansford, chairman of the State Board of Water Engineers, led today's discussion of preparing area master plans. He emphasized the need for determining total supply of surface water, subdivision of watershed areas, locating ground supplies and periodic review of basin plans.

Wilson Backs Pipeline Tax

AUSTIN (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Will Wilson promised to defend Texas Gas Pipeline tax in person today, when seven pipeline firms challenge whether the tax is constitutional. Wilson said he regarded the case "as another vital test of the doctrine of states' rights." "We take sharp issue with the contention of the contesting companies that the tax is unconstitutional as a burden upon interstate commerce because it was carefully drawn to treat interstate and intrastate gas in the same manner," Wilson said. Wilson said he saw no difference between the state's collecting a tax on natural gas leaving the state, "and the state of Michigan, for instance, collecting an occupation tax on manufacture of automobiles which leave their state to be sold to consumers elsewhere."

Thieves Take $25 From Business

Burglars broke into the Smokehouse Bar, 321 W. Foster, Wednesday night and took approximately $25 in change from a bowling machine and cash box. The burglary was discovered at 9 a.m. today when owner Margaret Avinger opened the establishment. The burglars cut out the bottom panel of the back door of the bar and crawled through. They replaced the panel when they left.

Youths On Gas Tank Cap Binge

Police Officer Preston Bailey is literally knee-deep in gas caps. He got a tip Wednesday that two youths, ages 13 and 14, had gone on a binge of taking gas caps from parked cars. So far he has recovered "about 140 of them." "We finally just lost count of them," Bailey said. "But there are about 140 gas caps." County Juvenile officer Bill Leonard warned both youths against any such further action and released them to their parents.

Mass Grave Found

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — The bodies of 20 to 25 peasants, apparently killed on the eve of this month's election, have been found in a mass grave in the Cochabamba valley, it was announced today. Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia, commander of the army, said the circumstances under which the men were killed were unknown.

Policemen Give Sigh Of Relief

TOKYO (UPI) — Tokyo's embattled policemen were relieved today when they learned President Eisenhower's visit had been postponed. The police, usually outnumbered by leftist students, ordered not to use firearms, and only rarely permitted to fire tear gas, have been coping with street fighting for nearly a month. "I must call my wife with the good news," one policeman said. They watched without interfering as the students they battled a few hours before they did a wild snake dance in the streets.

Former Bowers Citian Succumbs

Funeral services for Roy Combs, 84, who died at Elk City, Okla., Wednesday, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in Canute, Okla. Combs had lived in Bowers City, where he operated a service station, since 1926. His wife, Nellie, died there in 1951. Combs is survived by a daughter, a son and three grandsons.

Tired Of Being 'Dead'

STAFFORD, Tex. (UPI) — James Tucker, an 80-year-old Stafford farmer who so far has been reported dead three times, made it plain today he is alive and well. Tucker has been reported killed in three separate accidents. The first time it was a train wreck and the second and third were traffic accidents. When his Negro hired hand, Frank Jackson Thomas, was killed Wednesday in Houston, police identified Thomas as Tucker, because of papers found in the smashed pickup truck. They released Tucker's name to news media as the name of the dead man. A few hours later the Houston police got a telegram: "My husband is alive. (Signed) Mrs. James Tucker, Stafford, Texas." "I'm getting used to it by now," Tucker said of the false reports.

Minimum Pay Hike Approval Seen Coming

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate and House Labor Committees were expected today to approve similar bills to raise the federal minimum wage to $1.25 an hour and broaden coverage to millions of workers. Both versions would hike the present $1 an hour wage floor to $1.15 in the first year and add five cents in the next two years. The House committee's bill would start the increases in November and the Senate group's version would begin the change in January. Newly covered workers—four million in the House bill and about five million in the Senate plan—would get the present $1 an hour minimum and move up to the $1.25 rate in 12-month steps.

Other congressional news: Defense: The Senate began the first of a series of "meet early and stay late" sessions leading up to adjournment before the July political conventions. Attempts were expected to increase the more than 40-billion-dollar defense appropriation, which already was about one-billion higher than President Eisenhower's budget request. Loyalty: The Senate was expected to take final action on a bill to repeal the written, non-Communist loyalty oath for students seeking federal college aid. Appointments: United Press International learned the Senate would decline to act before the fall elections on a number of President Eisenhower's appointments to federal regulatory agencies. The nominees would fill three seats on the federal power commission.

Distinction Claimed By Shirley Temple

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One of the things I never expected to hear was Shirley Temple telling Richard Nixon what it's like to feel Nikita Khrushchev's stomach. I suppose conversations like that are fairly commonplace in Hollywood, and maybe even in Moscow, but around here they tend to make your ear lobes twitch. I don't blame Shirley for being proud of her distinction as the only American woman to lay hands on the Soviet premier's abdomen. It's something she can tell her grandchildren some day. I expect Khrushchev has already told his grandchildren. "Grandchildren," he probably said, "you are looking at the only Soviet premier who was ever touched on the tummy by Shirley Temple."

For all I know, this may be a status symbol in Russia. Nevertheless, to me it was a big unsetting to hear the spacious boy of Mr. K discussed by an erstwhile child movie star in the office of the U.S. vice president. I was glad that Shirley took the time later to explain the incident to some of us reporters. Otherwise, I might have wrongly accused my own ears of hearing false witness.

I went around to Nixon's Senate

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Despite the recent sharp market rally, the balance of 1960 could continue to be a disappointing period for those who have overdiversified their holdings, the Investors Advisory Institute indicated this week.

The institute said that while the Dow-Jones industrials didn't reach their peak until January 1960, the shares of many key industry groups had been experiencing price erosion for more than a year.

The institute blames the distortion on the fact that the D.J. industrial average is not truly representative of a broadly diversified portfolio—but is somewhat more influenced by the behavior of a smaller group of individual and often high-priced stocks that move on the basis of independent factors.

Reynolds & Co. says that with all due respect to the accomplishments of Barnes Engineering's management, the stock seems generously over-priced in relation to current earning power.

It meant he used to be a Shirley Temple fan. At any rate, she became convinced that Khrushchev cannot be regarded as the soft underbelly of Communism. "I was shocked because it was so firm," she said.

Reds Reveal New Gains Soviet Report On Unorthodox Gains

By RAY CROMLEY, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The Russians have found a way to mix chemicals, disease germs and radioactive materials into a deadly "single-package" war weapon. Soviet "medical" documents reveal. These new "mixtures" can be spread as fogs, as dusts, as sprays. They can be delivered by plane, by mortar, by missile. They can be "shot" by artillery shell or exploded into the air by land mine.

This new weapon—the reason Russia's Nikita Khrushchev is pushing talks on banning atomic weapons? Is he trying to tie our hands without atomic weapons while he holds a chemical-biological-radioactive dust age up his sleeve? These are the crucial questions that top U.S. military men are asking themselves.

Here then are the facts that the U.S. has:

In detailed reports for their own Soviet military brass, Nikita Khrushchev's scientists assert: "The combination of biological agents with various toxic and radioactive substances is now feasible."

These combinations cause "more severe infections" than any of the substances used alone. They produce "very high mortality."

They are almost impossible to defend against. The defender can't tell what he's being attacked with. The usual signs are jumbled by the "mixture."

Combining several different types of disease germs in one chemical-biological-radioactive package is especially effective. The resulting diseases frequently are almost impossible to diagnose quickly. The doctor doesn't know what to prescribe.

One disease germ or chemical can be used to weaken a man, making him more susceptible to deadlier germs in the mixture.

Some chemicals may cause a break in the clothing, skin or hide of a human or animal being attacked, making it possible for disease germs to puncture normally "impassable" barriers.

His scientists are working on botulinum toxin, the most poisonous material now known.

They're studying the usual mutagens and blood-types while working on gases which would make you apathetic, paralyzed, worried or afraid.

"The Pentagon men don't know how far the Russians are prepared to go. But they're suspicious because of the thorough Soviet defense preparations against germ, chemical and radiological warfare.

It is axiomatic that each side makes its most thorough defense against precisely that type of warfare it itself plans to employ.

The Soviet Civil Defense organization's priority task is to train the entire Soviet population in defense against chemical, biological and radiological attack. All civilians over 16 are expected to receive 20 hours of classroom instruction, outdoor decontamination training, administration of first aid and use of masks and protective equipment.

So the Pentagon officials say we shouldn't trade away our atomic punch. They advocate pushing ahead with enough chemical, biological and radiological research to deter the Russians from using such weapons in the same way that U.S. production of poison gases in World War II kept the Germans from using gas.

Quotes In The News

By United Press International

MIAMI BEACH — Exiled Cuban Judge Elio Alvarez asserting that there are no longer any guarantees for life and liberty in Cuba: "Ex-Dictator Fulgencio Batista killed men in the streets, (Premier Fidel) Castro kills them against the wall. It's the same thing. Either way the man is dead."

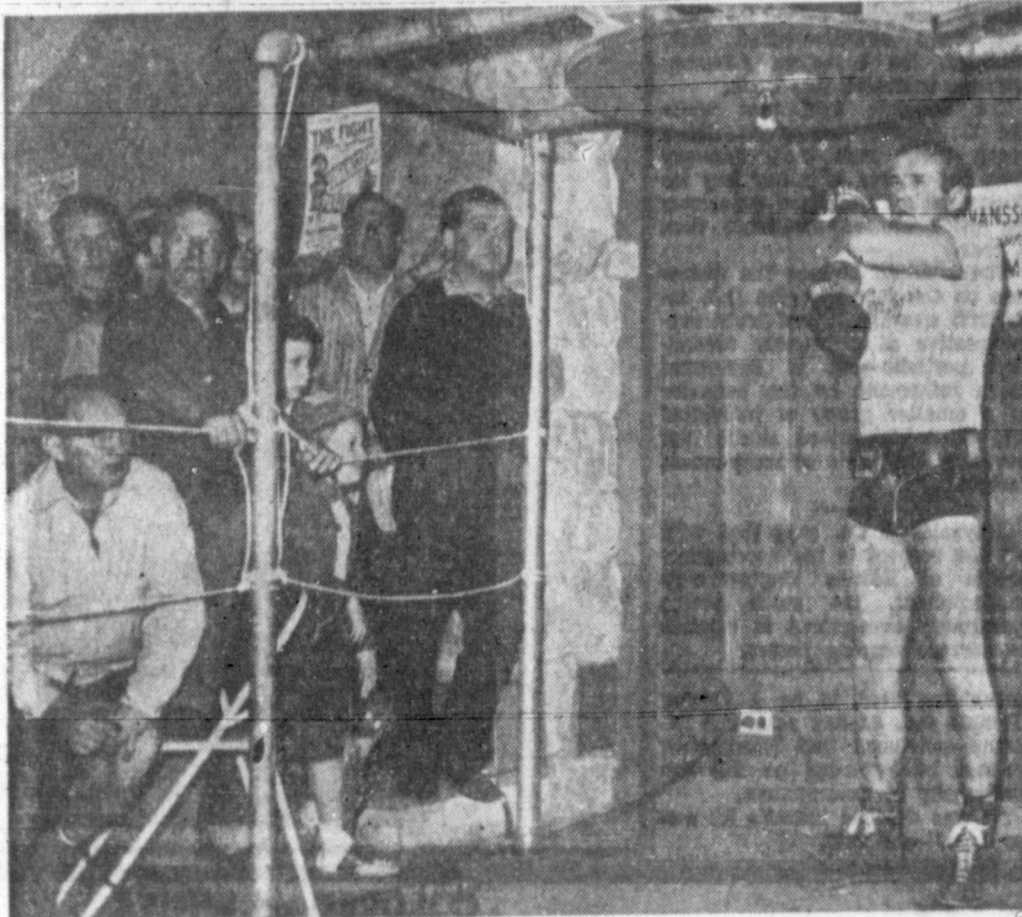

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Domestic Relations Judge Wayne Fogle, explaining why he decided to resign after eight years of hearing divorce and non-support cases: "You're always sorting out other people's problems — the same ones all the time."

DETROIT — Mrs. Edwin A. Fitz Patrick asked what her estranged husband thinks about her opposing him for renomination as a Democratic state representative: "I haven't talked to him about it."

AROUND THE WORLD

STAR ATTRACTION—No wonder, for he's heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson, shown training in Grossinger, N. Y. The champ keeps his eyes on the bag as visitors look him over at his training camp. Johansson is preparing for his title defense against Floyd Patterson, from whom he took the title in their first encounter.

JUST TOO YOUNG—Jim Jordan and Bill Baggett are holding a very active but only 24-hour-old female buffalo calf. It was born on the eve of the buffalo drive over the old Goodnight Trail from Clayton, N. M., to Dalhart, Tex., a distance of 50 miles. About 40 animals took part in the event.

ROLLS THE MOST—Louis J. Facko, 46, of Lorain, Ohio, had good reason to smile. He had just become the 16th man in history to achieve a perfect 300 game in the American Bowling Congress annual tournament. Facko has a 190 composite average in four leagues.

GUIDED MUSCLES—A mountain of them, is Detroit fireman Don Van Fleteren, as he shows the biceps that helped him win the title of Mr. Michigan of 1960. The 31-year-old American Hercules placed third in the Mr. America contest five years ago. He may win it next time around.

GIFT HORSE—You can bet that all those kids at a day school in Bethesda, Md., are dreaming of growing up to be the U. S. President. Then they, too, might get gifts like Galli, an Arabian stallion presented to President Eisenhower by the Tunisian government. Sherolyn Brite is riding the animal, which later appeared at a local horse show.

SHE'LL BE THERE—When the second annual Daytona Firecracker 250 late model stock car race is held at Daytona Beach, Fla., on Independence Day, Elaine Curl will be on hand as "Miss Firecracker 250." The pretty blonde formerly lived in Springfield, Ohio.

THE SUB WAY—The latest aid for skin-divers, this one-man submarine carries Philip Amero on a trial run in Miami, Fla. (top photo). Streamlined as a shark, the sub is designed to be towed by a boat. This permits the diver to cover more underwater area, more thoroughly. Amero shows on the bottom of tank how everything fits in cockpit (below).

BOUNCER—Taking a flier on a rebound-tumbler, four-year-old Tommy Stevens and some of his playmates are getting a good workout in Austin, Tex. They're in a special play area that seems to provide a lot of exercise for the lucky kids who use it.

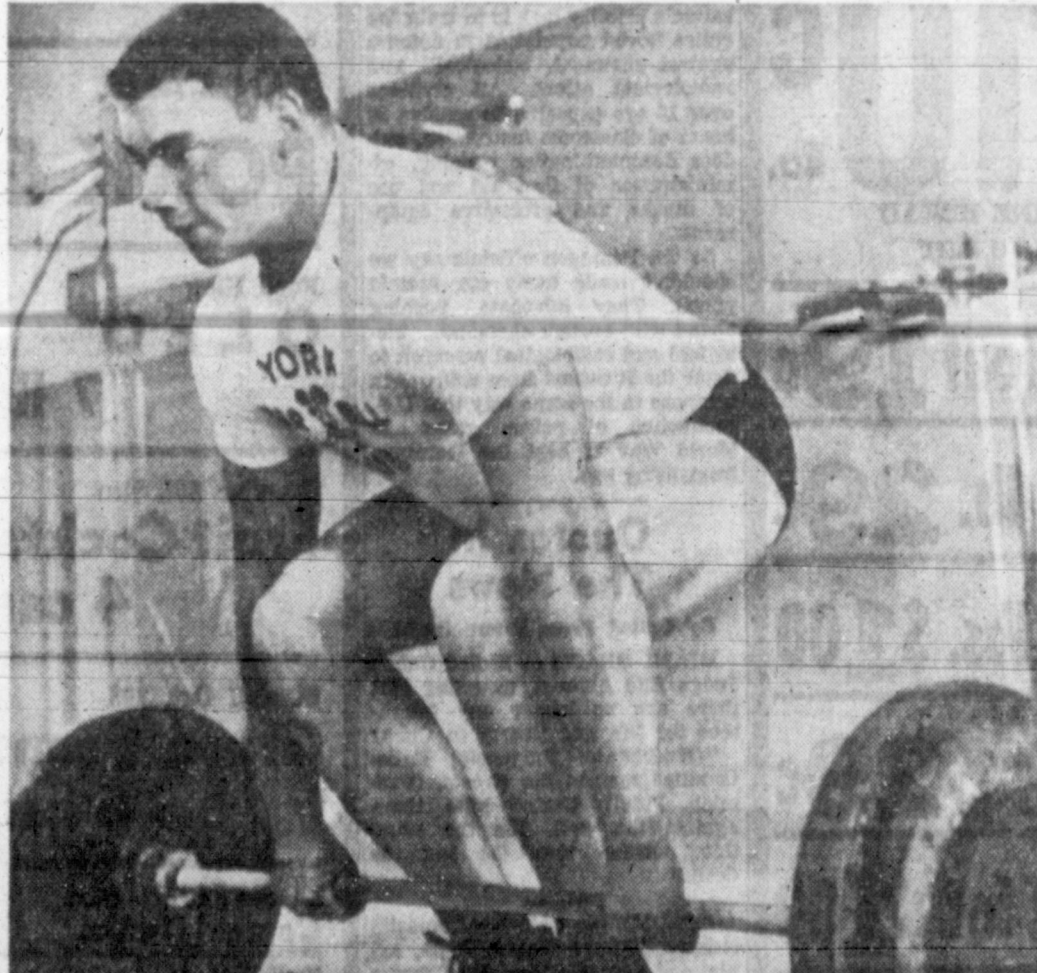

THE TAKE OFF—The Russians seem to have an orbiting space-woman in Lydia Ivanova, who floats in a spectacularly graceful way in Moscow. She's a candidate for the Soviet gymnastic team that will compete in the summer Olympics in Rome. If she can learn to stay suspended, she'll win it all.

SLIDING HOME—Woodie Held, Cleveland Indians' shortstop, starts a slide into home plate in the second inning as Lou Berberet, Detroit Tigers' catcher, leaves his feet to pull in the throw. Berberet was able to bring the ball down quickly enough to tag Held out in the mildly disputed play. Held had tried to score from first on Bubba Phillips' double. The game was held in Cleveland, Ohio.

HEADING FOR THE GROUND—The strength of a fighting bull is shown in Madrid, Spain, where it's thrown horse and picador in the preliminary stages of a bullfight. The horse was not gored, thanks to the protective padding it wears for its grim bullfight role as a lure to draw the bull's attack. The picador sinks his lance into the animal's back from the saddle.

FEELING FINE—Dave Davis, star shot-putter from San Fernando Valley College, is training for a clean-and-jerk during a workout in York, Pa. The 22-year-old, 255-pound athlete, hoisted a 250-pound barbell over his head to show how good he was feeling.

CHECKING IN—Even half-pints can take to the water with a full measure of fashion. This traditional tank suit is dressed up with tiny red and white checks and white buttocks. It's made of quick-to-dry fabric.

Hawaiian Luau Back In Your Own Backyard

Prior to 1700, the Luau was primarily a religious observance, and the Islanders traveled from distant islands by long canoe to take part. Eventually, as the Islanders ceased local battles and became more united, the Luau became more frequent, and it took only a milk excuse to have one.

Meat, to the Hawaiians usually meant pork or fowl, and despite the lack of variety in basic ingredients they managed to develop many dishes that were truly different, employing the fruits of the islands to add piquancy, along with the exotic herbs of the East. Not all kitchens can boast these herbs, but all are available to those who want to enjoy the American version of the Luau. Here are a few of the recipes that charm all palates.

HONOLULU LAMB

4 lbs. lean lamb
4 tbsp. oil
6 tbsp. soy sauce
1 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
1 large onion grated finely
3 tbsp. lemon juice
Cube lamb and marinate in mixture for one hour, turning occasionally and rubbing the marinade into the meat. Skewer the meat on metal skewers or bamboo sticks and broil over charcoal.

LOBSTER LUAU

3 one-lb. lobsters
2 tbsp. soy sauce
2 tsp. sherry
1 small onion finely chopped
2 tbsp. water
Split lobsters lengthwise, clean and spread some of the above sauce over each lobster. Place in 450 degree oven for five minutes, then reduce oven to 350 until lobsters are tender. Sprinkle each lobster with chopped cashew nuts and serve. Some prefer to place lobster under broiler rather than bake.

CHICKEN MOLOKAI

3 lb. chicken
6 coconut shell halves
3 tbsp. shredded coconut
1 cup Chinese beans or green peas
1 tsp. chopped parsley

1 pimiento chopped
1 tsp. soy sauce
1 tsp. chopped chives
Cut chicken in sections and simmer until tender. Prepare gravy from stock. To gravy add all ingredients above except coconut. Place portions in half-coconuts, cover with gravy, sprinkle with grated coconut.

The Hawaiians washed down their exotic foods at a Luau with fruit drinks that were as tangy and tasty as the rest of the meal. Here are a few of the concoctions from the magic isles.

PALI PUNCH

2 cups grape juice
3 tbsp. lime or lemon juice
1 tsp. sugar
ginger ale or sparkling water
Combine juices and sugar and divide among four tall, ice-filled glasses. Top off the glasses with water or ginger ale.

HULA PUNCH

2 1/2 cups canned, unsweetened guava juice
2 1/2 cups orange juice
1 1/2 cups lemon juice
4 cups water
1 1/2 cups shredded pineapple
2 cups sugar
grated rind of 1 orange and 1 lemon
Boil water and sugar 3 minutes. Cool this syrup, add fruit juices and pineapple. Chill and pour over crushed ice. Makes 12 glasses.

AVOCADO PUPU

3 oz. can deviled ham
1 ripe avocado
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. paprika
1/2 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. finely chopped onion
Place deviled ham in a bowl. Mash pared avocado with ham and blend in salt, paprika, lemon juice and onion. Serve on crackers.

KONA KAPER

1/2 lb. flaked crab meat
1/2 tsp. onion juice or grated

onion
salt and pepper
1/2 cup white sauce
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. curry powder
Mix all ingredients together, spread on thin bread slices. Cut in strips and place under broiler for 2 or 3 minutes. Serve hot.

HAWAIIAN KEBOBS

1 No. 2 can pineapple chunks, drained
1/2 cup pineapple syrup
2 tbsp. brown sugar
1/4 tsp. ginger
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
2 cups one-inch pork or ham cubes
Mix pineapple syrup with brown sugar, ginger and Worcestershire sauce. Alternate pineapple chunks and meat cubes on small skewers. Place in a low, flat pan and cover with syrup. Broil about 8 minutes, basting with sauce while broiling.

Perfect Dessert For Summer Day

Rhubarb or Strawberries perfect choice for a summer day dessert. Combine them in a rosy, easy-to-make pudding and add a gay touch and a refreshing flavor to your menu. Serve this dessert warm or cold, with or without topping; it is delicious both ways.

STRAWBERRY RHUBARB PUDDING

1 cup water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup Cream of Rice, quick-cooking rice cereal
1/4 cup sugar
3 cups rhubarb, cut in 1-inch lengths
1 cup strawberries, sliced
Bring water and salt to a boil in saucepan and sprinkle in cereal so that water does not stop boiling. Let cook over moderate heat until slightly thickened, stirring constantly, about 7 minutes. Add sugar, rhubarb and strawberries. Cover and bring to a boil, then let cook 4 minutes. Serve warm or cold with cream or low calorie whipped dessert topping.

CRISP SALAD — When summer sun makes you dread a steaming stove, the appearance of a dish is every bit as important as the taste. This salad, combining crisp green peas, pimiento, celery and onions, tossed in a tangy Italian or Garlic dressing, provides both pleasing color and texture contrast, and results in demands for more!

Chilled Salad Is Ideal For Patio Entertaining

Be it patio party, picnic or just plain family supper, nothing takes your mind off the heat better than a tart n' tasty chilled salad served up on fresh, crisp lettuce.

Often, however, a summer salad, no matter how nutritious, looks colorless and uninteresting, and does little to spark appetites dulled by the heat.

ITALIAN JADE SALAD

1 10-ounce package frozen green peas

1/4 cup water
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sliced green onions
1 cup sliced celery
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1/2 teaspoon ground tarragon
1/2 teaspoon celery seed
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1 1/2 cup dry white wine
1/2 cup Italian or garlic dressing
Place unthawed peas in saucepan with water, sugar and salt. Cover and bring quickly to a boil over high heat, separating peas with a fork, if necessary, to hasten thawing. Reduce heat and simmer 3-4 minutes. Turn peas immediately into a refrigerator container with ice cubes. Chill thoroughly and refrigerate until ready to use.

Round Hot Dog Is Rare Treat

When you serve this round hot dog, you'll leave friends saying: "What will they think of next?" The "Ring-a-Roy Hot Dog," a rare treat which is being introduced by the National Hot Dog Month Council.

RING-A-ROSY HOT DOGS:

Rings:
2 lb. hot dogs
2 packages hamburger bun
Rings:
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1/4 cup water
1 1/2 teaspoon celery seed
1 1/2 teaspoon mustard seed
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 1/2 teaspoons sugar
Dash tabasco
2 medium onions, chopped
6 firm, ripe tomatoes, cut up
1 green pepper, chopped
1 cucumber, chopped
Combine vinegar, water, and seasonings. Boil 12 minutes. Pour over chopped vegetables. Cool.
Slash hot dogs horizontally eight times being careful not to cut through bottom. Form into a ring and fasten with a tooth pick. Cook hot dogs on broiler or charcoal grill. Toast buns. Remove tooth picks and place franks on bun. Spoon generous serving of Ring sauce into hole in center. Serve immediately. Makes 16 sandwiches.

3-4 minutes. Turn peas immediately into a refrigerator container with ice cubes. Chill thoroughly and refrigerate until ready to use.

FROSTY FAVORITE

1 10-ounce package frozen green peas
1/4 cup water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
4 ounces cheddar cheese, cubed
1 cup cucumber chopped fine
1/2 teaspoon ground rosemary
1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
2 1/2 cup garlic or Italian dressing
Place unthawed peas in saucepan with water, sugar and salt. Cover and bring quickly to a boil over high heat, separating peas with a fork, if necessary, to hasten thawing. Reduce heat and simmer 3-4 minutes. Turn peas immediately into a refrigerator container with ice cubes. Chill thoroughly and refrigerate until ready to use.

SANDWICH FILLING

Deviled ham and hard cooked eggs are a grand filling for sandwiches. Combine 3 cans (3 ounces each) deviled ham and 2 hard cooked eggs, chopped fine. Add 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and 1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce.

FOR SMOOTHGRAVY

Avoid lumps when thickening gravy by adding flour to water in a jar and shaking. Then add it to meat stock or drippings.

USE THERMOMETER

The use of a roast meat thermometer assures that meat will be cooked to the doneness desired. The thermometer is placed in the center of the roast, but should not rest in fat or on bone.

When Living Is Easy, Hot Weather Meals Should Be Fun And Easy, Too

Summer is fun when the living is easy. Hot weather meals should be fun to fix... fun to eat. A handsome cheese-sausage salad tray is ideal summer fare, it's easy-to-prepare, refreshing and good eating.

Shrimp Aspic Ring and Creamy Gouda Salad Dressing go well with cheese and sausage and can be prepared bright and early in the morning before the heat of the day makes stirring about uncomfortable. If desired... the cheese may be sliced, wrapped in saran or aluminum foil and stored in the refrigerator until serving time.

Just before serving time arrange salad greens on a large tray and place slices of calorically-controlled American-made Baby Gouda, protein-rich Smoky Edam, piquant smoked Cheddar Roll, distinctive Port Salut and sausage around the salad ring and whisk the tray, along with rolls and an icy drink, to the porch, patio or cool spot in the yard to enjoy.

SHRIMP ASPIC RING

4 envelopes (4 tablespoons) unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
1 1/2 cups boiling water
3 (1 lb. 2 oz.) can tomato juice (2 1/2 cups)

Pour 1 1/2 cups of cooled gelatin mixture until partially set; fold in diced shrimp, onion and celery. Pour into mold or tray. Chill until firm. Chicken-N-Que Now Leads Backyard Barbecue In Family Popularity Poll

While the political barbecue, which attracted hundreds of people, has not completely passed from the scene, the small-scale, or family, barbecue has overtaken and outdistanced it as a popular diversion. There has been another important change, too. Formerly, beef, lamb and pork were the favored meats for barbecuing. Now, chicken leads the parade to such an extent that a barbecue is more often than not a Chick-N-Que.

There are good reasons why chicken has made this spectacular ascent in the barbecue world. People have discovered that a chicken can be more easily divided into serving pieces and more easily consumed outdoors than any other main dish. It requires no carving.

QUICK BARBECUE SAUCE
1/4 cup corn oil
1/4 cup vinegar or lemon juice
1/2 cup water
1 1/2 tablespoons salt
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon cayenne
Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Heat to boiling. Keep hot for basting chicken.
YIELD: Approximately 1 1/2 cups.
TOMATO BARBECUE SAUCE
1/2 cup corn oil
1/4 cup vinegar or lemon juice
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 tablespoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Heat to boiling. Keep hot for basting chicken.
YIELD: 2 cups.
Outdoor Grill Method: Place chicken, skin side up, on grate set 6 to 12 inches from heat. Brush chicken with barbecue sauce. Cook slowly until tender, turning and basting occasionally. Allow 1 to 1 1/2 hours total cooking time. To test for doneness, leg should twist easily out of thigh joint and pieces should be fork tender.

Barbecue sauces, though remarkably numerous, have the same basic point of departure. A good barbecue sauce begins with a combination of corn oil and vinegar or lemon juice. There are conservative and radical schools of spice, varying from plain salt and pepper to a fiery mixture of every hot condiment obtainable. But the chicken, ever an obliging bird, is amenable to all shades of SUB NOT DAMAGED — The FBI and Naval officials were investigating in Portsmouth, N.H., a new incident of sabotage aboard the nuclear submarine Nautilus. The sub itself was not damaged. The Navy declined to supply details but said "an investigation is in progress in which an enlisted man on the Nautilus may be implicated." A spokesman said it involved damage to a shipyard fire hose which was being used on board the sub for testing of evaporators.

Chemical Blasts Near A&M Threaten Area For Awhile

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — A roaring fire that set off a series of violent explosions at a small chemical plant threatened a wide area near the campus of Texas A&M College early today.

Fire Chief Cled Warren said the first explosion was "a terrible one but luckily nobody got hurt. Those flames must have shot hundreds of feet into the sky," Warren said. "How many more blasts there were I don't know but there were at least two others."

The chief said the main blaze was in the warehouse portion of the plant, where chemicals are shipped in and stored then mixed to produce insecticides and other agricultural products.

Warren said his men couldn't get close enough to pour either water or chemical foam on the billowing flames.

"We just had to let 'er burn out," he said, "and it took about three hours."

Police said residents who lived within a mile of the plant were warned to be ready to leave, and many of them were already evacuated. Literally thousands of persons were awakened choking and fighting for breath from the thick smoke and acrid fumes.

Police dispatcher Marvin Petty at Bryan, about five miles away, said people there who were sleeping with their windows open called complaining the "air was so poisonous" they couldn't sleep at the Pel-Far Corp., a company that manufactures and processes agricultural insecticides. Fred Medina, plant manager, said the $500,000 plant was a total loss.

Judge Tired Of Solving Problems

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Domestic Relations Judge Wayne Fogle was impartial as could be for eight years, handling 50,000 divorce and non-support cases. He also was bored silly.

"Monotonous routine," sighed Fogle Wednesday.

"You're always sorting out other people's problems — the same ones all the time."

Fogle's term has 4½ years to run, or up to 25,000 more cases. He just couldn't face it.

The judge handed in his resignation, effective Sept. 1.

Israelis Seek World Backing

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Israeli diplomats today sought world support for Israel's stand on the Adolf Eichmann case but hoped the issue could be settled out of the United Nations.

The U.N. Security Council meets next Wednesday to take up an Argentine complaint that Israel violated Argentine sovereignty when it seized the former Nazi colonel in Buenos Aires last month and brought him to Israel to face trial.

Eichmann, former head of Hitler's Jewish resettlement bureau is charged with ordering the murders of millions of Jews as the Nazi "final solution to the Jewish problem."

Argentina demanded "just reparation" for the Israeli action and planned to ask the council for Eichmann's return, an Israeli apology, and punishment for Eichmann's abductors.

Man With Rifle On Ike Route

MANILA (UPI) — A 22-year-old laborer with a hidden rifle was arrested by police outside the University of the Philippines amphitheater shortly before President Eisenhower arrived here today.

Police identified the man as Rufino Acostay and said he was being questioned.

Police said that at the time of his arrest the man was selling "Welcome Ike" banners near the spot where Eisenhower would have passed into the university. They said he had a .22-caliber rifle wrapped in paper.

Was Refused Patent

The knitting machine was invented in 1589 by an Englishman but, for years, the inventor was refused a patent by the Queen because it was feared the machine would throw hand knitters out of work.

Not A Whodunit, But Good Set Of Fingerprints Was Needed

TELEVISION IN REVIEW
By FRED DANZIG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—One good set of fingerprints and there'd have been no "U.S. Steel Hour" Wednesday night.

"The Impostor" was concerned with the real identity of a bearded amnesia out-patient in the Italy of 1951. Was he really Tonio, the long-lost husband of Alida, played by Ann Sheridan, who brought him back to the family villa? Or was he a former Nazi army officer who was married to a woman in Vienna?

Some of Miss Sheridan's relatives said Mr. X wasn't Tonio but they winked at the liaison since it made Miss Sheridan happy. Other relatives saw Tonio as another hair to contend with and they tried to send him packing.

As Tonio was about to return to Austria, Miss Sheridan played her trump. She introduced Tonio to his long-lost mistress and, boy, did Tonio ever remember—who, what, when where, why and whoopee. Since it was a TV play—by James Yaffe, based on a story by Michael Dyne—Tonio even returned to Miss Sheridan at the end. As he put it, Philomena—the mistress—gave him back his memory, but Alida gave him back his life.

clips from both locales highlighted the hour. Some over-extended interviews reduced the special's visual impact.

Dialing and Filing: "Happy" and "Tate," Perry Como's summer replacements on NBC-TV, are in black-and-white while the commercials are in living color. If figures. The commercials are more interesting.

Ella Maxwell, our dedicated party-goer, has a new rival. It's little Jay North. "I've Got a Secret," had Jay on hand for its eighth anniversary show on CBS-Sunday, Jay helped Ed Sullivan TV Wednesday night. Just last Sunday, Jay helped Ed Sullivan observe the 12th anniversary of the variety hour.

The Channel Swim: Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic will present at least two 90-minute CBS-TV specials next season—for the Ford-Motor-Co.—producer Robert Saudek reports. In addition, the Christmas musical that Bernstein presided over last December will be repeated.

It looks as though the Orson Welles production of "Julius Caesar" for the 1960-61 season, has sar," which CBS-TV commissioned for the 1960-61 season, has fizzled. Welles' proposed budget cooled the plan.

I took it as an interesting exercise in imagination, tried not to shudder too much over plot, staging and character inconsistencies, and found it an attention-holding production despite everything.

Miss Sheridan sometimes underplayed her role, which made it tougher to accept. Jean Pierra Aumont, as Tonio, a dull character, handled himself adequately during the CBS-TV hour.

Fading Of Tammany Leader Seen

NEW YORK (UPI)—The political prestige of Tammany leader Carmine G. De Sapio was at stake today in the Democratic State Committee's selection of 54 delegates — at a large for next month's national convention at Los Angeles.

The question of whether to include former U.S. Sen. Herbert H. Lehman among the delegates holds the key to whether De Sapio can retain as tight a grip on the party's leadership as he did before last week's series of primary defeats.

Lehman, a former senator and New York governor, would ordinarily be offered a seat on the delegation as a matter of course. However, he has joined with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and former Air Force Secretary Thomas K. Finletter in a movement intended to oust De Sapio from his leadership post.

They have also demanded his resignation as national committeeman.

Non-Signers

Two delegates to the Constitutional Convention refused to sign the Constitution. They were Edmund Jennings Randolph and George Mason, both delegates from Virginia.

The many splintered problems of Hong Kong and neighboring Red China were touched upon during Wednesday night's hip-hop ABC-TV documentary, "Listening Post—East."

Blast Tames Mystery Safe

WACO (UPI)—Waco's "great safe mystery" may be solved today.

The safe, thought to be pumped full of liquid explosives by burglars early Sunday, contains $15,000. It was originally in a supermarket.

Police hauled it out into the country Wednesday and stuck dynamite caps into the holes drilled in the safe by the burglars. When the caps exploded, whatever was inside failed to explode.

With that, police hauled the safe back to town and left it with a locksmith, Tommy Farrell.

Farrell was still working trying to open it late Wednesday night. Three men and a woman arrested as suspects in the supermarket burglary were released after questioning.

THE WACKIEST—Honolulu is the location and the best-up tub above is "The Wackiest Ship in the Army," from the film of the same name. Actor Jack Lemmon stars as the sharp navy skipper on a "sneak" mission to a Japan-held island during World War II. Ricky Nelson plays his biggest film role yet.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle a dispute of long standing? Every time my husband and I drive through Cairo, Illinois, we see a statue standing in the park just off the main highway.

My husband says it is a man cutting wood and I say it is a man killing a snake. He says, "Whoever heard of anybody putting up a statue of a man for killing a snake?" And I say, "Whoever heard of putting up a statue of a man for cutting wood?"

Are we both wrong? I don't have time to look up Cairo's history. I am busy making history myself as we have ten children. Thank you.

KATHLEEN B. DEAR KATHLEEN: Your husband is right. The statue is a very famous one, called THE HEWELL, and it is indeed a monument to a man-cutting-wood.

DEAR ABBY: Had to giggle at the old gal who was so hurt because she was referred to as an "old maid".

Many of my single friends are far happier than my married ones. At least they don't have to put up with some crocheted old growth after 8 hours at the office. Old maids are luckier than they think.

ONE, TOO. DEAR ABBY: I am 43 and have been married and divorced and have two children to support. Four years ago I met a married man (he is now 46) who told me his wife didn't understand him, but he'd never divorce her because of their three minor children.

I thought if he wasn't happy with her I might as well have him, so for two years I heckled his wife with mysterious phone calls and letters telling her her husband didn't love her and was stepping out. She finally divorced him last December.

We have been seeing each other constantly, but now that he is free he still won't marry me. I found out he is trying to get his ex-wife back. I would do anything to get this man to marry me, as he is well-to-do and I would not have to work. After being a wife to him every way but legally, can I sue him for not marrying me?

WANTS SECURITY DEAR WANTS: If you want to know your legal rights—see a lawyer. On second thought, why don't you just head for the rocks and join the rest of the snakes?

CONFIDENTIAL TO MR. AND MRS. "CHILDLESS": Deal only with a legitimate adoption agency. A shady transaction such as the one you are considering is illegal and could net you one big headache.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Prized Possession Of Delicate Crochet Require Tender Loving Care To Last

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you're fortunate enough to fall heir to delicate crocheted place mats and doilies, take pride in your possession.

Grandmothers who proudly bestow hand-crocheted mats on newly married granddaughters have told me their gifts are not always appreciated.

Now, I'll grant that young homemakers rarely use antimacassars, crocheted, or embroidered. But their general enthusiasm for informal early American furnishings suggests more suitable crocheted gifts.

Stiffly starched white crocheted place mats on a polished table are charming. They are also more lucrative than machine-made copies or printed plastic.

Doilies with stand-up fluted edges placed under fully starched lamps may not "send" the youthful housekeeper. But let her try that same doily under a low bowl filled with a "delicate bouquet" and see what a pretty frame it makes.

One reason I was slow about using mats given to me when I was first married was that I didn't know how to wash and starch them. For the benefit of others who might need similar advice, this is how an expert instructed me.

A homemade stretcher simplifies the finishing of laundered place mats. To make one take a piece of 3/4-inch plywood slightly larger than the mat.

Stretch a mat flat on the board and draw an outline, indicating with X's each loop of the mat. Drive one 1-inch rust-proof nail about 1/2 inch into board on each mat's edge and stretch it one time.

Drying of mats is speeded by an electric fan or by cutting out center of board, to allow for better circulation of air.

If you don't want to make the stretcher, draw an outline of mat on a piece of paper.

Before laundering remove stains. White mats or yellowed mats may be bleached. Wash by hand in warm suds without rubbing or wringing. Rinse several times, squeezing out excess water.

Most crocheted mats look their best if stiffly starched. To starch, prepare an extra heavy solution of glossy starch, mixing until smooth a half-cup starch and one cup of cold water. Add one quart of rapidly boiling water, stirring constantly. Cover hot starch and cool just enough to handle.

Dip and squeeze damp crocheted pieces into warm starch. Roll in a terry towel to remove excess.

To keep starched piece from sticking to paper pattern outline of stretcher, cover with waxed paper. If the paper pattern is used, place on well-padded surface, pin in place with rust-proof blocking pins.

If there are stand-up parts to a doily, lift, separate and shape parts around base of crushed tissue paper when almost dry, remove tissue paper and mold the piece around your fingers as desired.

If you iron to achieve a smooth shiny finish or to flatten the mat, sponge starched surface very lightly and press. Be careful not to catch point of iron in the crocheted stitches.

Unaccustomed to public speaking? Worst way to begin your talk is to apologize for your inexperience.

Polly's Quiz

Dear Polly: I have a walnut veneer dining room set. My living room is knotty pine. I'm wondering how my dining room set would look painted in the provincial fashion.—Mrs. D. P.

Dear Mrs. D. P.: Paint works wonders on old furniture. To improve the style, first remove any excess decorations such as applied "carving." Simplify as much as possible. New drawer pulls are often a great help.

Be sure the paint color is a real part of your color scheme. Black, deep olive green, mustard yellow and brick red are colors that often look well in a dining room. All pieces need not be painted alike.

Dear Polly: Is there a basic pattern for bedrooms?—Mrs. F. C.

Dear Mrs. F. C.: There is no basic pattern for any room. They are as different as the people who live in them. Be sure you have a comfortable bed, sufficient storage pieces, a comfortable chair, good light and from there on, make it personally yours.

Dear Polly: I'd like to paint my living room and dining room areas in red with contrasting white trim and dado. My furniture is Colonial American. Shall I choose a pattern? What colors for what sofa and two wing chairs? New type of drapery is right for this style? Could I use an Oriental rug? I don't care for braided or hooked rugs. Would you suggest an appropriate chandelier?—M. G.

Dear M. G.: Those large areas of red will give you and your family the jitters after one week. But here's how to have your red without

Bacon Offers An Endless Variety Of Preparation

Brands of bacon vary in flavor, proportion of fat to lean, thickness, width, and length of the slices. There's packaged sliced bacon, slab bacon, and Canadian-style bacon. But, regardless of your preference, if you would like to serve perfect bacon, easily done, follow these cooking tips from the May issue of American HOME.

To pan-fry bacon, place the desired number of bacon slices, just as they come from the package, in a large cold frying pan. Cook over low heat, separating the slices as they heat so they lie flat. Turn the slices often and pour off fat as it accumulates. Never let the fat smoke or the bacon flavor will be affected. Cook 5 to 8 minutes or until crisp but not brittle. Remove each slice as it browns and drain on paper towels.

To broil bacon, separate the slices carefully to avoid tearing them. Place them on broiler rack. Put them in a preheated broiler 3 to 3 1/2 inches from source of heat. Broil for about 3 minutes per side, turning only once. Watch carefully, as bacon cooks quickly when broiled.

To bake bacon, separate the slices. Place them on rack in shallow pan, having fat edge of each slice overlap the lean edge of the next slice. Bake in hot oven 12 to 15 minutes or until crisp. Bacon browns evenly and needs no turning or draining.

So- Simple

A BRIDE would never think of scrubbing the floor in her wedding dress... and a wise bride would never think of scrubbing aluminum ware without the help of new blue oval soap pads. Loaded with soap, they also have a rust arrester which saves the pad till all the soap is gone.

KITCHEN SHOWERS being welcome gifts of aluminum or stainless steel pans and electric appliances. Small kitchen gadgets are appropriate gifts, too, such as the new soap pad dispenser made of plastic which holds six soap pads and also contains a soap dish for the pad in use.

ANOTHER HANDY GADGET is that little red and yellow plastic mesh ball which cleans the most delicate china and silver without harm and also is wonderful for scraping carrots, potatoes and other vegetables.

Simple Dessert For The Younger Set

For a simple dessert for children make double your recipe for their morning cereal—Cream of Rice, quick-cooking rice cereal, Chiffi, cut into cubes, and place in serving dishes. Then top with one of the strained or junior fruits, with canned or quick-frozen fruit, or with sweetened fresh summer fruits—crushed strawberries, dried peaches, or whatever you like.

Most drip and dry materials benefit from a light touch-up with a warm iron. However, you can iron pleats into a permanently pleated acrilan skirt with a twist of the wrist. After laundering, snap the skirt tautly. This shakes the pleats into place. Then hang up to dry.

"High Style" Your 4th Of July Barbecued Chickens

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise
Food and Markets Editor

Most of the 1960 outdoor grills look bold and shiny. But don't overlook the convenience features. Select a unit that can stand out in the weather. Other important features are: a vented firebox, a cooking surface large enough, a grid that can be raised or lowered, easy refueling. On a grill with a rotisserie unit, the motor should carry the U.L. (Underwriters Laboratory) approval.

For barbecued chicken, set the grid 12 inches or more from the heat, cook slowly over coals burned to a grey ash. Start the fire about half an hour before cooking begins.

RUTH MILLETT

A young wife who is soon to travel across the country to meet her husband's parents writes:

"I am puzzled about how I should greet them when we meet for the first time. I don't want to throw myself at them and I don't want to appear cool."

Would calling my husband's mother "Mrs. —" be too stiff and formal? I want to put my best foot forward and I am having my doubts.

"I would simply die if they didn't accept me. I want so much to have harmony in the whole family even though we live far apart."

"You see I love my husband so very much."

Just give your husband's parents your biggest warmest smile and tell them how glad you are to get to know Joe's parents at last—and you needn't worry about how you will be received.

Ask them what they would like to have you call them. That question can be settled in a hurry.

The fact that you are deeply in love with your husband and eager to have his parents like you is the best insurance in the world that they will.

And what do you suppose your husband's mother is thinking right now? I'll bet it's something like this:

"I hope Joe's wife will like us."

She probably is cleaning house like crazy and planning meals and telling the neighbors that Joe is bringing his wife home and warming her own husband to be on his very best behavior.

In short this is just as big a moment for your mother-in-law as it is for you and her feelings are probably very much like your own.

Remember that and you can relax and be yourself and make it easy for your husband's parents to feel that they have a new daughter-in-law.

Fingers and fingernails often can tell a doctor much about the patient's general physical condition. Ridges running horizontally across a nail, nails that split and break easily, all may be warning signals that it is time to eat a better diet, get more sleep, fresh air and exercise.

maining sauce over the chickens; cover and place in refrigerator for at least 1 hour, preferably longer, basting occasionally with sauce and turning chickens in sauce. Meanwhile, prepare rice stuffing. Spoon stuffing into neck and body cavities. Pin openings closed with skewers. Hook wig tips onto back of chicken. With one prong on handle end of spit, insert spit through body cavities of chickens. Insert second prong. Center chicken, secure prongs and tie legs to spit with soft cord. Fit chicken-filled spit into motorized unit of grill; rotisserie for 1 1/2 to 2 hours or until leg joint moves easily, basting frequently with leftover sauce.

RICE STUFFING

(Makes enough for 3 broiler-fryers) One-quarter cup minced onion, 2 tablespoons corn oil, 1 cup uncooked rice, 1/4 cup reserved basting sauce, 2 to 3 cups hot water, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 cup minced celery, 1/4 cup chopped parsley, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon powdered thyme.

Saute onion in corn oil until lightly browned. Add rice and basting sauce and saute, stirring frequently, 5 minutes longer. Add hot water and salt. Cover and steam over low heat. Stir occasionally with a fork to prevent sticking. Add water as needed until rice is tender and fluffy and water is absorbed. Gently stir in celery, parsley, pepper and thyme.

Nurse Maid To 170,000 Scampering Mice Not Scared, But Is Allergic

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Damaris Bolte is one woman whose livelihood depends on her not being scared of mice. She has to take care of more than 170,000 of them. Damaris is in charge of the mouse maternity ward at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md. Here are raised all the mice that NIH scientists use in laboratory experiments.

The ward houses 80,000 mice that are used as breeders. They give birth each month to more than 90,000 offspring that are shipped to various research institutes after being weaned.

"Mice don't scare me at all," Damaris insists. "There's no reason to be afraid of them."

Her 19 women assistants feel the same way. Women are selected instead of men for mouse ward duty because they have nimble fingers.

"You have to be quick with your hands," Damaris explains. "In order to catch the mice, they can gallop around very fast in the jars where they are kept."

The mice have to be nabbed whenever it's time to clean their jars.

The 28-year-old Purdue University graduate explains that some women are skittish when they first come to work in the ward.

But most of them get over it," she says. "In fact, they often get to be very fond of the mice."

"Occasionally we get bitten. But it's only the baby mice that you have to look out for. They're jumpy. When our get to be adults, they are quite easy to handle."

Despite her affection for the tiny rodents, Damaris says they have one habit which she doesn't like. "Sometimes they will unexpectedly scamper up your sleeve. When that happens to me, I get out of my laboratory coat in a hurry."

Damaris is the daughter of Gen. Charles L. Bolte (Ret.), former Army vice chief of staff, and was born in Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

She has been fond of animals all of her life. "I just never outgrew it," she explains.

"I always had pet mice, rats, rabbits and guinea pigs. I also had quite a few hamsters that I used to sneak into boarding school."

Damaris, who has lived in Asia, Europe and most of the U.S., says that the only animals she was ever afraid of were the rats in China.

"When I lived there," she explains, "I was little and the rats were big. I do mean big!"

Damaris obtained her degree in animal husbandry, the science of raising animals, from Purdue in 1953. Until starting work at NIH last year she traveled in Europe, worked on a farm and operated dog kennels.

Her principal hobby is showing off pedigree pooches at dog shows. Some of the dogs belong to her, others to her friends. She owns four African barkless hounds known as basenjis and one mastiff.

At NIH, she keeps a jar of exotic-looking pet mice.

"Whenever I find a mouse that is especially cute, fancy or unusual I save it," she explains.

Her favorites are butterscotch colored with white stripes around their middles. Another group is black with white spots.

There is one important drawback, however, to Damaris' love for animals. She is allergic to them.

"I used to have to take allergy shots twice a week," she says. "Now I only have to take one every three weeks."

Whether or not she ever cures the allergy, doesn't particularly matter to her.

Damaris thoroughly enjoys being around animals.

In fact, her greatest dream is to own a farm and raise beef cattle.

Fidelity Group With Mrs. Hood

Mrs. N. L. Nicholl, president, presided, as a letter was read by Mrs. C. M. Brown from Texas Board of Christian Churches requesting that blankets be sent for relief in the Chilean disaster. Members approved the suggestion and plan to send blankets.

Mrs. Gene Pitmon conducted the lesson on "Christ" followed by a discussion period.

Meeting closed with CWP benediction.

It was announced that the next meeting on July 12 will be with Mrs. Floyd Pycatt.

Refreshments were served during the social hour by the hostess. Attending were Meses. N. L. Nicholl, H. E. Brown, C. M. Brown, David Mills, Dick Kennedy, Gene Pitmon and a guest, Miss Kristi Brown.

A mother who makes believe with her children often has the upper hand. If children hate to have their ears washed, get them to pretend their ears are rooms needing careful cleaning. They'll have more fun when it's bath-time. Of course, there is also a magic word to use. It's "march."

ABWA Planning Dinner Meeting

Mrs. C. C. Melton, president, presided at the initial meeting of American Business Women's Association held Friday 6:15 p.m. in Palm Room of City Hall.

News bulletins and chapter correspondence from national headquarters was read by Mrs. Frank Heare, corresponding secretary.

A nominating committee composed of Mrs. Harold E. DeVore, Miss Jeanne Casey, Miss Maxine Nabors were elected to prepare a slate of officers to be presented for election.

The Pampa Hotel was selected by members as the place for the meeting to be held July 12 at 6:30 p.m. It was announced that this will be a dinner meeting with a guest speaker.

Mrs. Francis A. Bradley was awarded the door prize. Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Attending in addition to those mentioned above were Meses. Charles Hallaway, Wayne A. Neff, A. L. Hill, Woodrow J. Finney, Herbert Trimble, Billy Wright.

Business Upswing Predicted During Latter Part Of 1960

FINANCIAL REVIEW
By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two business experts today looked for improvement generally in industry in the second half of 1960.

A. W. Zelomek, president and economist for the National Statistical Bureau finds "the American economy has more vitality at the present time than during any period of recent history."

He looks for general business to average moderately higher during the rest of the year based on gross national product, and adds that even total production will average slightly higher later in the year, "possibly exceeding slightly the 1959-60 peak."

John W. Rday of the Dun & Bradstreet Business Economics Department, says that while no spectacular gains are in prospect, business activity during the rest of 1960 is almost sure to rally from the slight setback in the early months, "and to move on to new high ground before the year is out."

Writing in the current Dun & Bradstreet Review, Rday draws the following conclusions:

—Industrial production will edge up gradually all summer, matching its January peak some time in the fall.

—Now that May and June output schedules have been revised upward, 1960 may turn out to be the second best auto year in history.

—Any increase in the production of consumer goods will probably wait until fall, but output of machinery and paperboard should start to rise soon.

—Only late in the year will business men increase inventories significantly — and give a healthy boost to industrial output.

—Rising production in late 1960 will not push unemployment below 5 per cent of the labor force.

—Retail sales will hit more monthly records as the year wears on.

—Despite continued high sales levels, profits in the second quarter were down.

—Only late in the year will business men increase inventories significantly — and give a healthy boost to industrial output.

—Retail sales will hit more monthly records as the year wears on.

ter will not keep up to the level of the first three months.

—Outlays for industrial building will be well up for the year as a whole.

In arriving at his conclusion on America's economic vitality, Zelomek says he does not ignore such restraining factors as a shrinking farm income, the somewhat large consumer debt structure (although not abnormal), and the fact that most of the postwar shortages have been made up.

He finds the vitality of the economy is the result of a healthy population growth, America's industrial creativeness, the revolution in income distribution, and the relative stability in prices and expanding consumer demand.

Zelomek holds that consumer spending will contribute to the better showing for the rest of the year.

Zelomek expects neither inflation nor deflation. He believes stability to firmness will characterize the price trend, assuming no worsening in the international situation.

The supply of money will be adequate to take care of needs, and will be a stimulating factor, he says.

On the stock market rise, Zelomek feels that the sharp upturn in prices, while it may obviate an immediate easing in margin requirements, is not expected to be sufficiently marked to warrant a reversal in the present monetary trend.

It is possible, as Western capitalists have speculated since the collapse of the summit, that Nikita Khrushchev is having trouble within the high command of his own Communist Party. Reports from behind the Iron Curtain indicate he may be having other troubles as well.

None of these would seem to indicate any imminent danger to his leadership.

Rather they contribute to a picture of a somewhat less than perfect state as seen by Marx and Lenin.

Dust storms sweeping as far west as Yugoslavia were harbingers of a vast crop failure in Kazakhstan, one of the 15 republics within the U.S.S.R. whose borders extend from the lower Volga to the frontiers of Red China.

It was to Kazakhstan that Khrushchev shipped millions of young citizens of the U.S.S.R. in an ambitious program to turn virgin lands into a large new breadbasket.

Khrushchev's own prestige was heavily involved in the Kazakhstani project which last year was hit by drought and in which last fall only two-fifths of the autumn plowing was completed.

Crop prospects in the Ukraine, still the U.S.S.R.'s chief breadbasket, also have been reported unsatisfactory.

Out of this must come some disenchantment with the Moscow planners.

The Polish government, a reasonably loyal satellite, has been forced to turn to the United States, that hated symbol of capitalism, for wheat to meet its food requirements.

Not even in the days of the czars could Russia have been called a unified nation. Nor can the 15 republics today be considered a single unit.

Even after 40 years of communism, strong nationalistic groups battle underground for independence.

One such exists in the Ukraine from which comes a steady stream of reports of underground sabotage directed against the Kremlin.

'Headshrinker' Takes Over To Make 'Violent Viking'

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (UPI)—Now that Ingemar Johansson has finished his training, Dr. Goetz Karlsson — the Swedish physician-psychologist — takes over today to make a really "violent Viking" out of the heavyweight champion for Monday night's big fight.

It is Karlsson's job to instill savagery into amiable Ingemar so that he'll again fire his right fist like a "Goteborg thunderbolt" at Floyd Patterson in the Polo Grounds and never let up until Floyd's knocked out.

When Karlsson, a blondish, fortyish six-footer, began his psychological walks and talks with Ingo five days before the first Johansson-Patterson fight last June, American sports writers smirked and said "nerd."

But they're not saying it today because they recall the destructive demonstration the unbeatn Swede gave on the night of June 26 when he went after Floyd in the third round like a berserk hammer-slayer, and while flooring him seven times—even struck him in the back of the head.

At no time in his training last year was Ingo savage, nor was he this year during his ten rounds of sparring during the past six weeks at Grossinger's. However, he did throw many more punches this time — including half-powered rights — at his spartrates.

At 27 and ready for his first title defense, Ingo is in superb condition, according to Dr. Alexander Schiff, who examined him here at camp Wednesday. Moreover, said Schiff, Ingo's low pulse of 48 beats per minute and his low blood pressure indicates that he has more stamina than champion Patterson, whose pulse was 60 and whose blood pressure was higher.

FIGHTING WORDS—Ingemar Johansson is interested in Harry Grayson's notes. The champion tells the newspaper Enterprise Assn. sports editor that the "sooner and lighter" will be still in his right hand if the rematch with Floyd Patterson goes into the 15th round of their title fight.

Roadrunners Face Borger Tonight At Optimist Park

The Pampa Roadrunners, losers in three of their last four ball games, entertain the Borger Braves at Optimist Park tonight in the fourth game of the series with Borger. Game time is 8:15 p.m.

Managers Newt Secrest and Henry Stephens have nominated left-hander Keith Yeager for pitching duty. The young southpaw was impressive in a three inning relief stint against Liberal last week.

The Roadrunners dropped a last inning decision to the Braves at Borger Sunday 5-4 when walks gave the host team the beginnings of eighth and ninth inning rallies.

Centerfielder Dave Marler took over the lead in the batting race among the regulars Sunday, climbing to 324 to pass Ruben Strickland's 308 mark. Pitcher Gary Heiskell still lays claim to the highest average, however, with a .567 average in 15 trips to the plate.

Right-hander Jimmy Walker continued to set the pace for the pitching staff with a fine 0.52 earned run average in three 19th appearances on the mound.

Secrest said Friday's game with Liberal has been postponed because of previous schedule commitments by the Braves.

The Roadrunners will take to the road again Sunday in an effort to break their losing streak away from home. All four Pampa leavers have been on the road and the Roadrunners will be out to change that when they meet Elk City, Okla.

Pony League

The Lions Club took a one-half game lead in the Pony League last night when it whitewashed First National Bank 17-0 behind the one-hit pitching of Dee Wright and the slugging of Jimmy Lollar. Chemie ripped Greg T-8 in the only game despite the fact—Cree bombed Chemie pitching for three home runs and two triples.

Wright struck out 11 Bangers in notching the Lions win and Lollar blasted 2 triples and a single to drive in three runs. Wright aided his own cause at the plate with a double in the seventh that played three runs. Gene Storr and Clay Lavey ripped three-buggers for the winners while Charles Wood found the range for a double and two singles to lead the Lions as usual.

Bank first baseman Gary Sikes got the only hit off Wright and drew two walks to account for three of the four times Bank was able to get a baserunner on the paths.

The Chemie-Cree game was a wild-and-wooly affair which saw Eugene Madrid lose the game when he failed to touch first base while making the circuit on a home-run. A run scoring ahead of him was nullified as well as Madrid's when the Chemie infielder needed the oversight.

Steve Moberg picked up the win for Chemie and doubled in two runs in the fourth. His hit together with a single by Kerry Roper were the only hits registered by the winners. Eight walks contributed to Madrid's downfall.

Mike Bridges and Johnny Ludecke clouded round trippers for Cree in the losing cause. Bridges in the second with one male aboard and Ludecke in the fifth with one. Cree can force a tie for first place tonight if it takes Hughes (6to camp in the preliminary game to night before the Pampa-Borger semi-pro game.

Palmer Is Top-Heavy Favorite To Win Open Golf Championship

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

DENVER (UPI)—They tee off in the "big one" today and the betting was that when the firing ends around sundown on Saturday the new 1960 U.S. Open golf champion will be brawny Arnold Palmer.

He's the 4 to 1 betting choice in the field of 150 golfers who are trying for the biggest title in their business. That betting favoritism is about as close as you can come to being an odds-on choice in a field of stars.

Rated next to the Master champion in the betting odds were former PGA king Dow Finsterwald, Gene Littler, who has been the hottest player on the tour for the past six weeks, and Ken Venturi. All were quoted at 6 to 1.

At 8 to 1 came one of the sentimental favorites, Ben Hogan. He was grouped at those odds with Art Wall, who seems to be back on his game after a siege of illness. Sam Snead, another sentimental choice who never has won this biggest of all golf titles, was quoted at 10 to 1.

The firing was to start at 11 a.m. e.d.t. and the last three golfers in the field were scheduled to tee off at 5:32 p.m. e.d.t.

First off the tee at the 7,004-yard par 35-36-71 Cherry Hills Country Club course in mile-high Denver will be Jack L. Koehnicker of Prairie View III, Rich. Stranahan of Alameda, Calif., and Don Bies of Seattle, Wash.

Eight former Open champions are in the field, which also includes a strong foreign contingent led by Gary Player, British Open champion from South Africa, and a better than usual amateur group led by 23-year-old Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, the U.S. Amateur king.

Practice rounds usually mean little, especially on a course such as Cherry Hills but if they mean anything at all Nicklaus rates a good chance to become the first amateur to win this one since Johnny Goodman did it 27 years ago. He was 14 under par for his last four practice rounds.

However, no one in the field could predict what kind of scores would be registered today. It will depend, for the most part, on the greens.

'Hard Sock In Jaw' Needed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An outraged member of a Senate subcommittee investigating boxing said today Congress should land a kyo punch on underworld elements by passing tough new laws to get rid of hoodlums who have infested the fight game.

As the committee recessed further hearings until August, Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) asserted that "a hard sock in the jaw" at the boxing profession is needed.

Wiley, who as a member of a Senate subcommittee that heard former middleweight champion Jake LaMotta admit throwing a fight to get a crack at the title in the late 1940s, told United Press International he would introduce crack-down federal legislation next week. It would be aimed at managers, promoters and matchmakers allied with racketeers.

Wednesday, a convict, flatly refused to answer questions on the ground that he feared for his life. The day before, LaMotta testified with a reported death threat hanging over his head.

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.), chairman of the inquiry, said the underworld had gone too far when it tried to reach into a congressional hearing room and wield power.

Subcommittee counsel Rand Dixon said the threats helped prove one salient point: "Boxing is rotten from top to bottom" and should be cleaned up.

The nervous convict, who swore he was threatened in his jail cell last month was Irving Michael Mischel, serving from 10 to 20 years for grand larceny, refused to tell Senate investigators anything about Frankie Carbo, the alleged "underworld czar" of boxing. The penitentiary inmate, identified as a former "underworld banker" in the fight game, cited the Fifth Amendment to avoid any self incrimination.

Old Foughts
Baptismal fruits of a thousand years ago were made of stone, lined with lead to prevent absorption, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

United Press International

That treadmill American League race reached the "Can you top this?" point today when the New York Yankees advanced into a first-place deadlock on the strength of a tie.

It was a long, hard road for the Yankees, who hadn't owned a share of the AL lead since the early days of the 1959 season and it ended on a slightly ridiculous note when the umpires finally threw up their hands at 2:32 a.m. e.d.t. Thursday morning and declared a 7-7 tie between New York and the Kansas City Athletics.

The Yankees had twice let the Athletics stage three-run rallies to tie, once in the 11th and once in the 12th, and then in 13th the rain came in sharp, slanting pellets. The ump's looked at the weary athletes and managers in both dugouts and mercifully said, "Let's all go home."

As a result, the Yankees' 29-21 season record tied them with the Cleveland Indians, who split a twin-night doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox, winning 10-2 and losing 13-5. Both the Yankees and Indians have 580 percentages and the Orioles are practically glued to their backs with a .579 mark.

The Chicago White Sox whipped the Washington Senators, 6-4, and the Boston Red Sox pulled out a 10-inning, 4-3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers in the other AL games.

The Pittsburgh Pirates increased their National League lead to three games with a 14-6 win over the San Francisco Giants; the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Cincinnati Reds, 6-0; the Los Angeles Dodgers routed the Philadelphia Phillies, 14-2, and the Chicago Cubs won, 8-5, after losing to the Milwaukee Braves, 5-4, in a twin-night doubleheader.

Yogi Berra and Gletus Boyer hit homers and Roger Maris had four hits for the Yankees while Jerry Lumpe and Pete Daley homered for the Athletics.

Jim Perry won his seventh game with the help of two homers by Johnny Romano and one by Woodie Held but the Orioles staged an eight-run, eighth-inning rally in the second game to split with the Indians.

Roy Stivers hit two two-run homers, the second to snap a 4-4 eighth-inning tie as the White Sox dealt Pedro Ramos his eighth loss. Gerry Staley picked up his seventh win by shutting out the Senators for the last three innings.

The Pirates blasted six San Francisco pitchers for 19 hits, including six doubles and two triples, to make it pay for Harvey Haddix to win his fourth game.

Ray Sadock pitched a three-hitter and Curt Flood drove in four runs with two homers for the Cardinals, who tagged Joe Nuxhall with his third defeat.

Duke Snider and Don Demeter homered to lead a 16-hit Los Angeles attack that enabled Sandy Koufax to snap his four-game losing streak with a five-hitter.

Al Spangier's single drove in the winning run for the Braves in the ninth inning of their opener but the Cubs came up with a six-run eighth inning rally in the second game to earn a split. Ed Matthews hit two homers and Frank Thomas, Wes Covington and Ed Bouchee one each during the long doubleheader.

ALOUETTES SIGN BACK
MONTREAL (UPI)—Halfback Dick Cohee, who scored 15 touchdowns for Reedley College, Calif., last season, has signed a contract to play pro football with the Montreal Alouettes next season.

Little LEAGUER

In Little League action last night Cabot downed Celanese 5-7. Shelby Ruff trimmed B&B 12-4, and Keller whipped Utility 8-4.

Eugene McCampbell picked up the win for Keller with Corky Dodd, and David Frasier rapping two hits in three trips to the plate to aid him. McCampbell notched a pair of base hits in his own behalf.

Lin Engle smacked a double and three singles to have a perfect night, at the plate while pitching Ruff to the win over B&B. Cummings' three hits and doubles by Kelley and Young paced the winners' offense that wasn't taken care of by Engle.

Engle required relief help from Kelley Taylor in the top of the sixth, however, to gain the win. B&B had an uprising in progress, scoring three runs and the bases still loaded with none out when Taylor arrived on the scene.

He promptly struck out the next two batters and got the other one to ground out to the first baseman. Jerry Wright relieved Joe Fritz in the fourth for Cabot when Celanese unloaded for all seven of its runs. He got credit for the win when his mates bounced back in their half of the fourth and blasted out six runs. Larry Cotton's two singles in three trips paced the winners' attack.

IMPORTANT NOTICE — All Little League teams and managers are requested to appear at Optimist Park Saturday morning for team pictures at the following hours. Northern League teams will be photographed from 9:10 a.m. They will be followed by the Eastern League teams from 10:11 a.m. and the Western League teams from 11:12 noon. It is important that all teams be at the park during the hours scheduled for their respective leagues. This will be the only time group pictures will be taken for publication in the Daily News.

Ortiz Hopes Poor Showing Lures Brown

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Carlos Ortiz, who successfully defended his world junior welterweight championship Wednesday night, hopes challenger Duilio Loji did him a favor by making him look bad in taking a 15-round decision.

"Loji made me look bad. So maybe Joe Brown the lightweight champion, will fight me now," Ortiz said after the fight.

"When you look too good, they won't give you a shot."

Ortiz solved a bobbing defense of the Italian Loji, holder of the European welterweight title, in his first journey past the 10-round distance.

Ranch Property Fire At Bastrop

BASTROP, Tex. (UPI) — Frustrated firemen had to stand back today and fight a fierce brush fire on its own terms, although the flames threatened to consume four ranch houses north of Bastrop.

The Central Texas blaze was one of several in the area started by carelessness while burning trash, and whipped by brisk winds. The tinder-dry brush fed the flames over several ranch properties in Central Texas.

At Austin, a brush fire was controlled late Wednesday night after threatening homes on the northwest edge of town. No damage to houses was reported in the blaze.

Tommy McCullough, Elgin fire chief who was directing operations at the Bastrop area fire, said firemen could not get into the thick cedar brush to fight the flames. He said they had to wait until the fire reached a road before the two Bastrop county trucks and one Elgin truck could move within firefighting distance.

'Paper Tiger' SEATO's Small Fangs Keeping Red Chinese Out Of Its Den

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

BANGKOK (NEA) — Communist aggression in Asia helps to forge an almost impossible collective Free World defense in Asia.

Without this help, tacticians here admit, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) could not be the remarkable success it is.

To the casual observer, it would seem that SEATO should not work at all. And to a treaty-nation diplomat on the highest level:

"I'm sure we'd all like to take credit for the success of our efforts. But we must give the Communists a large share of the credit."

To check off just a few obstacles to building a bulwark against threats from Red China:

1. The treaty provides for no standing army, navy, or air force.
2. Of the eight members, only Thailand and Pakistan, the others two are in Southeast Asia — Thailand and Pakistan. The others stretch across the rest of the globe — Philippine Islands, New Zealand, Australia, the United Kingdom, the United States and France. The language gap is almost as big as the distances involved.

3. SEATO itself was set up in 1954 after the French defeat at Dien Bien Phu when communists took over North Viet Nam. Neighboring nations like Laos, Cambodia and Burma were loathe to associate themselves with a piece of paper that smelled like the recent expelled or defeated colonialism. Into this geography of weak, disparate and vulnerable nations, SEATO crept like the proverbial paper tiger to be laughed at by the Communist world and scorned by political observers.

Curiously, however, Communist aggression against treaty nations slowed to a trickle. In the neighboring countries, lying under the protective umbrella of the treaty — whether they wanted it or not — outright pushes by the Reds changed to hit-and-run attacks.

"Why?" a SEATO military observer said sincerely. "I don't know why. It was quite obvious at that time that we could not muster any real force in less than two or three days.

"Treaty members were not nearly as well trained as they are today. And certainly nobody was going to use nuclear arms in jungle fighting where you couldn't see more than a few yards ahead of you."

Whatever their reasons, the Reds turned to other strategy. They moved on Tibet, and later, the borders of India. And, in face-to-face meetings with India's Prime Minister Nehru later, Red China apologized for nothing and settled nothing.

"For the uncommitted independents of Southeast Asia," SEATO people say, "it was a clear, well-taught lesson."

Burma's disdain for the treaty, for example, began to soften. Cambodia, in dispute with Thailand over a piece of property and a temple, did not call for military aid she might have received from Red China. Instead, Cambodia moved the case into the International Court of Justice in Geneva.

It was a move away from mainland China, if not a step toward accepting SEATO.

In the meantime, the treaty nations were sharpening their communications, cooperation and information to a well-honed edge.

"Today," SEATO Secretary-General Pote Sarasin says, "we can move quickly if we have to and account for ourselves well if called upon.

Luckily, we have not had to prove this. We are here so that we do not have to do this. If you take preventive medicine, who can say what might have happened if you hadn't taken it?"

How long SEATO forces could hold out if the Chinese army were to roll across the 17th parallel is

Filmland List Of 'Eligibles' Shows Drop

HOLLYWOOD
By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Now that May Britt and Jill St. John have been spoken for, movieland is somewhat depleted of marriageable young females.

Tuesday Weld and Beverly Aadland don't qualify, both being shy of the 18-year mark. Joan Collins is talking of marrying Warren Beatty. And Kim Novak is ready to take the plunge with director Richard Quine.

This leaves mighty slim pickings.

One perennial never-been-married beauty is searching for a husband, but can't find "Mr. Right." She is Lori Nelson, a honey blonde with eye-filling curves, sunny disposition and a successful acting career.

If she's all these things, why hasn't Lori been whisked away by some handsome actor with a supercharged sports car and a small ranchero in Palm Springs?

Doesn't Like Actors

"Because I don't like actors," Lori said, clearing the air immediately.

"I'm in a very difficult situation. I'm not interested in men in the movie and television industry, and most men outside of show business are flustered and too much impressed with dating an actress.

"I do have the natural instinct to be married and raise a family, but I'm not making much progress."

"The man I marry needn't be another matter. An unofficial estimate for gathering a full-scale air-sea-land defense together is "about a week." The small forces of the SEATO Asian continent members might not be able to hold out that long.

And who gets the full benefit of military help in two fronts — say East Berlin and North Viet Nam — would depend, according to Col. L. H. Starr of SEATO's military staff, on a weighing of the chances in both theaters.

But if the military side of SEATO is proving itself today by merely standing at the ready while the Communists blunder into action — another — perhaps more important — arm of the organization is charging through the jungles of Southeast Asia firing acetylene torches at every step.

"If the Communists aren't doing this kind of thing," one member of the army said, "they're damned fools. The only troops that can take this territory and hold it are school teachers."

FLAGS OF EIGHT SEATO nations fly in Bangkok as U.S. and Thailand paratroopers make a mass jump during a "Firm Link" exercise.

Fans To See Singer In 'Rawhide'

HOLLYWOOD
By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Singer Frankie Laine play a cowboy? Don't laugh.

The big-nosed, heavy set song belter has wanted to be a cowboy ever since he was a big-nosed heavy set kid in Chicago.

"I was too poor to buy a cowboy suit," Laine said. "But it's been my life-long ambition to play a Western hero. Now, finally, I've got my chance. I star in a segment of 'Rawhide.'"

Since his childhood in the Windy City Laine has done everything possible to prepare himself for the day when he would wear a ten-gallon hat and spurs.

For 12 years he owned a horse, "Silver Cloud," which he rode two or three times a week, until it died.

Many of his top songs were Western ditties including "Mule Train" and "Champion of the Wonder Horse." Failing to start a stampede, Frankie recorded the title song for TV's "Rawhide," figuring someone would connect him with the visual part of the show too.

If Laine lays an egg as a cowboy, he can continue to roll up a fortune with his voice. His record albums sell at an astonishing rate, and he opens at Las Vegas Dunes Hotel Aug. 4.

One has the feeling, however, he would chuck it all for the lead role in a Western series on television.

His eyes sparkled as he recounted his adventures during the filming of the "Rawhide" show — which won't be seen until next season.

"In one scene I come charging right up to the camera," he said, "and pull up short, causing the horse to fall to one side. They wanted a stunt man to do it. But I insisted."

"Well, the first time I tried it, we scattered the whole crew in all directions, and the horse almost fell. Boy it was exciting. The next time it was perfect. The next time it was a great shot."

Laine's wife, Nan Gray, who hadn't acted in almost 20 years, co-stars with Frankie in the segment. She lent an enthusiastic about oaters as is her famous husband.

MARKS OF HISTORY
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The following for sale ad appeared Wednesday in a local newspaper: "Antique steam locomotive. Built about 1875. Indian arrows, still embedded, indicate a rich, colorful history."

SHATTERING SCREAMS
HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Two elderly widows, Mrs. Ann L. Blasing, 64, and Mrs. Irene West, 65, frightened a burglar so much with their screams Wednesday he dived through a closed bedroom window to escape.

Killer Diseases
During the four years of World War II, 284,000 American lives were lost in combat, according to the American Heart Association, which states that 3,380,000 Americans died of heart and blood vessel diseases during the same four-year period.

U.S. Officials Ordered Out By Cubans

HAVANA (UPI)—A government radio station said today that two attaches of the U.S. embassy in Havana had been declared persona non grata and ordered to leave Cuba.

Radio Voz said the two Americans were surprised while conferring with Cuban "counter-revolutionaries." The radio is operated by the Ministry for the Recovery of Stolen Property.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said he could not immediately confirm or deny the report. The Cuban Foreign Ministry refused to comment, but said there had been no official announcement.

However, Radio Voz in a detailed news announcement said Edwin Sweet and William Friedman had been caught by intelligence agents while meeting with unidentified Cubans in a house in suburban Miramar.

A U.S. spokesman said Sweet and Friedman are assistant legal attaches at the embassy in Havana.

OTTAWA (UPI) — Cuban Ambassador Luis A. Barait announced today he has resigned because he can no longer defend Cuban policy "with a clear conscience."

rich," she laughed. "But I want him to be kind and gentle with a sense of humor. And he will have to love me very much. That's most important of all.

"He'll have to be emotionally mature and unselfish. That's where most actors fail.

Lori said she would be willing to give up her career for her husband if he insisted on it.
