

Pretty Swim Suits Designed For Darling Daughters

By GAIL DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — The gal who hasn't already equipped herself with at least one swimsuit for the beach and vacation days had better do it now.

She'll find that designers have done suits this year that will help her figure along. Nearly all have an inner bra. They offer little pleated skirts to take care of hip problems and longer leg lengths to conceal thighs that are not shapely.

Many of them have additional figure control woven into the fabric itself. Lastex is combined with many fabrics to lend shapeliness where it may not exist.

Some girls prefer their swimsuits in wool. Some bank on the fast-drying synthetics. Some demand a suit that will not fade or change color after hours in sun and salt water.

We show here two suits that will maintain color despite hours in pool or sea or on the beach. Nettie Rosenstein's strapless suit (left) in white has banding of black and white and overskirt matched to the trim. The over-skirt can be worn as a brief cape.

Sheath suit (right) is done in diamond jacquard weave, cap. Both of chromspun acetate which dries quickly and therefore feels good next to the skin.

TRY TUMS

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old boy is our problem. He won't do a thing unless he is paid for it. He worked last summer at a garage and we heard all over town what a good worker he was, but if we try to get him to mow the lawn or clean the basement or even his own room he will sneak out of the house before we can catch him. He is too big to spank and too young to throw out of the house bag and baggage (which is what his father thinks will cure him).

hat, I don't know how many neckties, several cigarette lighters and even his lodge pin. I think generosity is a nice trait, but shouldn't people realize that it's the drinks that make him big-hearted? Last Saturday night Lester was feeling good again and he gave away my plastic raincoat. It only cost 79 cents, but I liked to keep it in the car. Do I have the right to call the waitress he gave it to and ask her to return it?

Should we just put up with this kind of behavior until he is 18 and then let the Army train him?

LESTER'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Ask Lester to get the raincoat back or to replace it. But don't you go collecting things your husband gave away, drunk or sober. P.E. Nudge Lester, toward restraint on the giggle-water.

DEAR CORNERED: Your son needs some affection and understanding. Do you order him to do things, or do you ask him properly? I have yet to meet the normal 15-year-old boy who wouldn't respond to a little praise, a lot of love and a modest incentive.

DEAR WIFE: I can give "Mother of Two" at least 25 good reasons why I am not asking a girl to the Senior Prom this year, and they all have a picture of George Washington on them. Add them up:
Rent a tux $9.00
Tickets to prom per couple $7.00
Corsage $3.50
Gasoline and parking car (minimum) $2.00
Soft drinks at prom $1.00
Eat out afterwards $3.00
Dig?

DEAR ABBY: I wouldn't call Lester an alcoholic but he does like his drinks now and then, and every time he gets a few drinks in him he starts giving things away. He gave away a good straw

"NO MILLIONAIRE"
DEAR NO MILLIONAIRE: Dig my, how times have changed!

RUTH MILLETT
Summer is the season that school teachers look forward to and a lot of mothers of school age children dread.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FLABBERGASTED: Now that you know he lied about his name, you can justifiably assume he has lied about other things. Lose him.

Instead of doing most of the home and yard work herself, as she does when the children are in school, she should figure out a work plan that divides up the daily chores.

Abby's best-selling book, "Dear Teen-ager", is on sale at all book stores.

Children who have a certain amount of work to do in the morning are much less likely than idle children to keep pestering their mother with the bored complaint "What can I do?"

Anonymous Club With Mrs. Kelley
CANDIAN (Sp.) — The Anonymous Club met in the home of Mrs. Cap Kelley recently.

Meals can be simpler in the summer, too, and often turned into backyard picnics—with the whole family taking part in the preparations, chaperoned by mama al summer to parks, swimming pools, to friends' houses and so on, the children can be given the opportunity of amusing themselves the way all children used to do long summer days.

Guests present were Mmes. John Glenn, G. B. Mathers and Red Owens, and members Mmes. Wiley Wright, French Arrington, Frank McMordie, W. L. Campbell of Pampa, Jack Osborne of Pampa, E. S. F. Brainard and Frank Shaller.

Such projects are building tree houses, putting up lemonade stands, reading books, getting all the neighborhood children into such games as hide-and-seek, marbles, kite flying and so on.

Guest high for the afternoon of bridge was won by Mrs. Glenn and low by Mrs. Mathers. Members' high was tallied by Mrs. Osborne.

Mama need not entertain children all day. With a little guidance they will cook up all sorts of "fascinating projects."

In the bridge games Mrs. Ayers tallied high score, Mrs. Murphy second high and Miss Childers low.

But most important of all, perhaps, if she is going to have an easy, happy summer, mama has to learn to relax and enjoy her children.

What can you do with outmoded and unbecoming clothes: In the big cities you can sell them to thrift shops. This also takes care of "bargains" you never wore. But in smaller towns, the best thing to do is pack a box for a relative who can use the clothes. Anyway, don't keep clothes that don't do something for you under the delusion that they're too "good" to throw away.

When you want a quick facial pickup, splash your face with cold water. This is an inexpensive way to bring out the glow in your cheeks. And cold water also can make tired eyes perk up.

What Price Corruption In Korea?

SEOUL, Korea: "Somebody has to run the shop."

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

SEOUL (NEA) — It is understandably difficult to keep track of every million dollars you spend on this and that, here and there. Consequently, it is hard to find out exactly how much the corruption in the ousted Syngman Rhee government cost the U.S. taxpayer.

Estimates from both the Korean Interim government sources and U.S. aid officials put the cost of "keeping the rascals in" at "not much" or about five million dollars.

By simple arithmetic, this works out to about four cents per American per year for the past 15 years since Korea was liberated. And in a back-handed way, it was money well-spent.

The mechanics of stealing were quite simple. U.S. aid money to be used for building industry, agriculture and raising living standards was invested in Korean firms approved by the Korean government. It was only natural that the recipient of the contract pay off for getting the job.

Only a small amount of the graft from aid money went into personal bank accounts, investigators on the scene are finding out. Rhee himself is reputed to be only "comfortable" — and not from stealing.

Even Americans who have seen this cost-of-doing-business at work expect many former government men to be cleared of charges now on the books.

Most of the money was used to fill the Liberal Party campaign coffers. It is expensive — even in Korea where unemployment is severe — to rig elections and buy political power.

Now, this sort of thing is bad. If it had not worked out as well as it did for the U.S., it would have been downright immoral. But, in real life, to draw a few conclusions from a few expert opinions here, some of the things that corruption bought were:

1. Time. After more than 50 years of Japanese domination, Korea came out of World War II a nation of politically naive children.
2. Stability. Korea is not going to be self-sufficient or self-supporting in the foreseeable future. A top-ranking economist in Seoul explained. The nation has no immediate potential of exporting more than it imports.

"Somebody is going to have to pay the bills," he said. "And it looks like that somebody is going to be the U.S."

But in the past eight years, since the end of the Korean War, the economic situation has grown steadily brighter. Outright consumer goods are not imported in the bulk they had been. Agriculture and industry are beginning to hold their own.

U.S. aid in 1957 amounted to 380 million dollars. Today it is down to 225 million dollars.

3. A strong foothold in Asia against the Reds.

According to U.S. intelligence officers, the North Koreans are taking their orders directly from the Russians. Not only is industry following the Soviet pattern of starvation-for-steel, but the propaganda tactics follow the Kremlin line.

"We know what few Communists are able to slip around the demilitarized zone," a ROK intelligence officer said. "We know because the agents are given away by our people."

4. The skills of self-government. The interim government in Seoul, which is running the nation until a general election can be held, is made up at the top by men who have had government posts under Rhee.

"They are very able men," you hear from all quarters. "And if they are not elected when the time comes around, they will probably be elected at some future election."

Without 15 years of firm, certain government, there would have been no training ground for a civil service. Today, only 15 years from birth, Korean government personnel is evaluated by a U.S. political observer as:

"Excellent to good down through the first three civil service levels. This is amazing, when you consider the short time they've had."

5. A well-trained army, equal to the best anywhere.

These are the words of top U.N. military brass in Seoul. He added: "They've had enough time to find out why they're in uniform. That's a big step."

6. And as important as any other consideration: a general feeling among Koreans, summed up by a Korean newspaperman: "Nobody's pushing the temporary government. Nobody will push the new government when it's elected. Even after their uprising against the Rhee government, the Koreans have come out of it with unshaken faith in the law.

"They're not impatient with democracy. They know it can work."

Prolonged High Margin Has Brought Market Prices Down

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Over the years the stock market has often ignored high margins by rising to new highs and low margins by falling to new lows.

Margins are the amount one must deposit as a down payment in buying stocks or bonds. The rate is set by the Federal Reserve Bank which took over that power under the Security Act of 1934 on Oct. 15 of that year.

The first margin the Federal Reserve set was 55 per cent. At that level one had to put up $55 to buy $100 in stock. He borrowed the difference from his broker, who in turn got it from a bank. The amount one borrows is called call money and it commands a certain rate of interest which is higher than the rate the broker pays the bank.

Back in 1934, the market rose during the 55 per cent margin. Then it slipped after Nov. 1, 1937 when the FED lowered margins to 40 per cent, the lowest they have been since.

The 40 per cent rate held to Feb. 4, 1945 when it was boosted to 50 per cent. That rise brought a market decline, but prices firmed when on July 5, 1945, the rate was hiked to 75 per cent.

From Jan. 21, 1946 to Jan. 31, 1947, there were no margins at all. The rate was academically set at 50 per cent which simply meant that all deals were cash.

Despite the elimination of margins, the market moved narrowly for a time and then moved higher until it reached 212.50 in the industrial average on May 29.

Then the 100 per cent margin took hold and there was a drop to 163.12 on Oct. 9. Here support developed and the year's close was about 14 points higher. A few more points were added by the end of January when there was a cut to 75 per cent which followed a steady market.

Gains resumed after a cut to 50 per cent on March 30, 1949. The rise continued on 75 per cent margins which were effective from Jan. 17, 1951 to Feb. 19, 1953. Irregularity followed on 50 per cent margins which held to Jan. 5, 1955 when they were boosted to 60 per cent followed by further gains. At 70 per cent after April 25, 1955, the rise continued.

The FED cut the rate to 50 per cent on Jan. 16, 1958, about two months before the bottom of the recession of that period. Stocks declined despite the cut.

On Aug. 5, 1958, the rate was raised to 70 per cent and on Oct. 16 it was boosted to 90 per cent, the second highest on record since the Federal Reserve was handling margins. Despite these high rates the market set new highs.

The margin situation shows clearly the type of market of the present time. If the margins do not sway prices, the trading must be more investment than speculative. Wall Street experts point out. That factor is one of the mainstays in this market and it is the outstanding difference between this market and the one that started to crack up in late 1929.

Over the years, a prolonged high margin eventually has brought prices down but first reactions have seldom been what the novice might think—declines in stocks on high margins and rises in stocks on low margins. The market develops inertia and doesn't change its course until something more potent than margins stops it.

Market credit just now is the lowest in two years.

Ft. Worth Votes Teacher Pay Hike

FORT WORTH (UPI)—The Fort Worth School Board voted Wednesday night to raise the pay of the city's teachers $300 a year.

The board also approved a five-cent increase in the school district tax rate to help pay the cost of the general salary raise, which will cost about $1,001,700.

Board member Loyd Turner said he favored "facing up to the cost" of the teacher raises even though it would cost more than one million dollars.

Summer Program To Start Monday

The city summer recreation program will get underway Monday at Harvester Fieldhouse with approximately 700 children enrolled in the three two-week sessions.

The first session, to begin Monday, will continue until July 1; the second session July 4-13, and third, July 14-30 with Clifton McNeely as program coordinator. The children will meet in the fieldhouse from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. daily for a planned program of tennis, volleyball, arts and crafts, basketball, baseball, soft ball, and recreational games. At 11 a.m., the children will go to the City Pool for a 45-minute free swim. Only those children attending the morning recreational period will be entitled to the free swim period.

Mrs. Frieda Ross will be in charge of the arts and crafts activities; Dean Evans will direct boys' recreation with Mrs. Peggy McNeely in charge of the girls' sessions. W. B. Moore will be in charge of activities at Carver School.

Dispatches from Quemoy said Nationalist Chinese intelligence sources reported unusually large truck movements on the mainland opposite Quemoy. They said the trucks could be carrying ammunition for the bombardments or they could contain supplies for a Red Chinese sea assault.

The Nationalists themselves prepared to give Eisenhower the greatest welcome ever seen on the island.

As part of the anti-American precaution the cruiser Saint Paul, bearing Eisenhower, the carrier Yorktown, carrying the press party, and other ships in the task force sped through the South China Sea at 30 knots—34R statute miles an hour.

Eisenhower, disappointed by cancellation of his trip to Japan forced by Communist and other leftwing demonstrations, decided to expand his visit to Korea to take up some of the slack.

Instead of spending eight hours there on June 22 as originally planned he will go to Seoul from Okinawa Sunday—the day he was to have arrived in Tokyo—and stay overnight. Monday he will leave for Hawaii.

Vice Adm. Charles D. Griffin, 7th Fleet commander aboard the Yorktown, said a strange, hostile-acting submarine would be attacked immediately.

"We would attempt to destroy it and one of the first things I would do would be to order the Saint Paul to get out of there," Griffin said.

U.S. naval intelligence sources report the Chinese Communist navy has about 20 submarines, all relatively outmoded types made by the Russians. The Soviet navy, according to the reports, also have about 100 submarines operating in the Pacific area.

Griffin said there has not been any recent contact with Communist subs but the Navy was taking no chances with the President. Griffin has commanded the 7th Fleet four months.

Shelton, Dallas representative of National Fund Raising Services, Inc., outlined a proposed plan for the directors, and suggested July 25 as the starting date of the 10-week fund drive. The fee for conducting the fund was set at $10,000.

However, the board decided to confer further before retaining the Dallas company.

Bank Guard Walks Off With $103,000, Then Gives Self Up

NEEDHAM, Mass. (UPI)—A distraught bank guard confessed Thursday night he stole $103,000 from a vault and buried the cash in five graves—including those of his father and father-in-law. Eugene J. Hicks Jr., 32, of Boston, a father of three, surrendered to authorities a little more than 24 hours after he and the cash vanished from the local branch of the Norfolk County Trust Co. All but $70 was recovered.

KISHI

a.m. Sunday, 30 days from the moment it was ratified by the lower chamber.

The students, wearing black armbands of mourning for a 22-year-old coed killed in a battle between a mob and police Wednesday night, were working feverishly against time.

In Washington, Senate leaders held up final ratification there to see what developed in Tokyo. If ratification is completed here Sunday, the U.S. Senate is expected to act Tuesday.

The extreme leftist Zengakuron student organization, which has spearheaded the violent opposition to Kishi and the treaty, originally said it would not demonstrate today but at the last moment it announced a change of plans and said it would call out 20,000 students.

The leftist Sohyo Labor Confederation called out 30,000 of its members to join them but they had not showed up by mid-afternoon.

Many Japanese were remorseful that the demonstrations had washed out Eisenhower's visit.

Several approached Americans on the streets of Tokyo—some with tears in their eyes—and tried to explain that no insult was intended to Eisenhower or the United States.

"Please don't blame our government for this," was the tenor of the remarks. "It was the work of a violent Communist-backed minority."

Wheat Crop Offers Aid To Refugees

Farm families, elevator managers, ministers, bankers and others of the Texas Panhandle are working together for CROP during the 1960 wheat harvest.

Following the harvest local CROP officers will check these elevators and arrange for the movement of the grain to those in need overseas.

Many refugees from behind the iron or bamboo curtain are kept alive by bread from wheat contributed thru CROP.

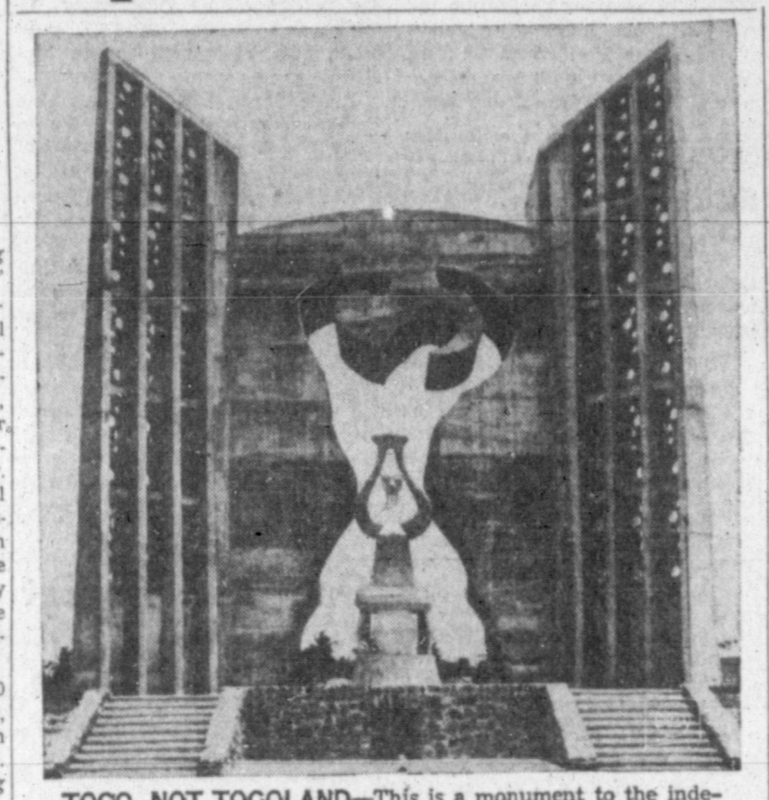

Those wishing to contribute wheat can do so at any grain elevator in their area.

Faith Healing Is All Right Up To A Certain Point

TOGO, NOT TOGOLAND—This is a monument to the independent African state of Togo located in its capital of Lome.

By LOUIS GASSELS United Press International. Four years ago, the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. appointed a special commission of distinguished theologians, pastors, doctors and psychiatrists.

The commission rejected both of the extreme attitudes which tend to dominate public discussion of non-medical healing.

It said that neither the Bible nor historical Christian experience provides any justification for the belief that faith will miraculously cure an illness if the victim or his friends pray hard enough.

On the other hand, the commission said, it is equally contrary to biblical teaching and to actual human experience to deny that spiritual healing does sometimes occur.

Between the extremes of indiscriminate acceptance and total rejection of faith healing, where can a biblical Christian stand?

The commission suggested that a "theology of healing" can be built around the following basic convictions:

1. "All healing is of God, whether it occurs through what we call natural law or according to laws which we do not yet know."

2. Medical science, which utilizes the understood principles of God's natural law to facilitate healing, is a providential blessing.

3. Christians should pray for the recovery of the sick, and they may properly ask health not only for others, but for themselves.

4. "Prayer is efficacious for healing. On the basis of pastoral and medical experience alike, there is no doubt that Christian faith has contributed in a salutary way to restorations of health."

5. "Healing does not always come to those who pray for it," however ardent their faith.

dence that God loves men more than they love themselves and that He knows what He is doing.

6. Faith is not a subscription to statements about God, nor a willingness to believe that He exists and can do anything He likes.

Here's The Way Payola Works, As One Man Understands It

By DICK WEST United Press International. WASHINGTON (UPI) — As I understand it, the House Commerce Committee thinks it's okay for a television cowboy to ride a gift horse on his program.

One purpose of the legislation is to make clear what sorts of donated products and services a broadcaster must identify on the air as being gratuities.

I am not certain that I follow the committee's thinking, but I have drawn up some examples to illustrate what I think it had in mind.

Let us suppose that the script for a TV mystery show, "The Hour of Harm," calls for the maid to find a body in the refrigerator.

For instance, there naturally will be a close-up shot when the maid finds the body. No announcement need be made if the refrigerator brand name can be seen by the viewers.

WHERE ART THOU?

Genesis 3:1-9

1. Now the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field which the Lord God made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?
2. And the woman said unto the serpent, We eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden.
3. But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die.
4. And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die:
5. For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as Gods, knowing good and evil.
6. And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and to a tree she desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her: and he did eat.
7. And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig leaves together, and made themselves aprons.
8. And they heard the voice of the LORD God walking in the garden in the cool of the day; and Adam and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord God amongst the trees of the garden.
9. And the Lord God called unto Adam, and said unto him, Where art thou?

It has always been sin that has kept man from God. It has always been sin that caused all sorrow, broken homes, sickness and death, or anything that would hinder man from enjoying life to its fullness. There are literally hundreds of people in Pampa that don't go to church. A lot of them lay it on the hypocrits in the churches, but to hide behind any thing you must be smaller than it is. So God says — Where art thou? Hiding behind a few leaves on a creek bank or lake or under the hood of an old automobile? Where art thou on Sunday morning — too lazy to get up and go to church to see that your children have the right start in life? Yes, it is essential to work for a living because it is the curse put on us when our parents sinned — Genesis:19.
19. In the sweat of thy face thou shalt eat bread till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken; for dust thou art, and unto the dust thou shalt return.
In the word of God, Proverbs 22:6 he says —
Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it.

Then if a child is not trained when he is young it is practically impossible to change him. We have laws that a child must go to school and get an education. We should have laws compelling parents to take their children to the church of their choice.

We will have to stand before God and give an account for the deeds we have done in our bodies whether they be good or evil. Today is the day of Salvation. If you have read this far — CONGRATULATIONS — it could help. May we see the whole family in church on Sunday. God bless you.

Wheat Marketing Cards Now Available At ASC Office Here

The Gray County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office has announced that wheat marketing cards may be obtained at any time now at the office.

Cards will be mailed upon request, but they must be mailed loose without an envelope because the cards are very flexible and cannot be placed in envelopes. Anyone who was not available when reporters checked excess wheat and did not sign the worksheet must sign it before the marketing card can be obtained.

The wheat marketing quota referendum to determine if marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1961 crop of wheat will be held July 21. Wheat allotment notices will be mailed before the referendum, and the office urges everyone to vote at the referendum.

Wheat loan rate for 1960 is $1.78 for farm stored wheat and 1.78 less applicable warehouse charges for warehouse stored wheat. If wheat is stored between June 4 and June 24, the net amount under the loan would be $1.66; or if stored between June 25 and July 18, it would be $1.67. This is the rate for number one wheat. If the wheat has a protein content of more than 12 percent, the loan rate will be more.

Cotton will be measured soon. If a farm is found to be overplanted, a period of 15 days will be allowed to plow up the excess down to the cotton allotment. The fee for checking disposition of excess cotton is $4 per farm plus $2 for each plot over one.

New regulations are in effect on the shape of cotton fields that can be counted when cotton is plowed. Adjustment credit can be given only for areas of regular shape with not more than four sides. One side or one end of the disposition area should be parallel with the rows or field boundary. This refers only to cotton plowed up to reduce acreage and means the plowed up spots should be squares or rectangular.

The County Office now has seven measuring wheels for sale to the highest bidder. Sealed bids will be accepted between now and July 21. Bids will be opened on July 22. These wheels were used in past years to measure allotment crops, but the office now uses steel tape for measuring. Any person not employed by the County Office is eligible to bid.

The Red Chinese, more obviously than the Soviets, usually attempt to make use of their nationalities in any infiltration campaign. These tactics range from an appeal to loyalties to the homeland to outright blackmail.

Economically, Red China has little to offer Latin America now. But its campaign is another good example of its expansionist aims and communism's drive in general to isolate the United States.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The political alternatives available to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller have become crystal clear.

He can attempt a Wilkie blitz of the 1960 Republican national convention or, Rockefeller can wait until 1964.

It is reasonable to believe that Rockefeller will wait if, for no other reason, than that he must have enlightened even a sailor. They swore solo and in concert against the background of the gallery chant:

"We Want Wilkie!"

The weakness of the party leaders in 1940 was that they were divided. There were Taft men, Stassen men, Dewey men and lesser men with lesser candidates. The leaders could have stopped Wilkie if they could have agreed among themselves on a single opponent. Republican leaders this year are agreed. They want to nominate Vice President Richard M. Nixon. That seems to be that, so

The leaders could have stopped Wilkie if they could have agreed among themselves on a single opponent. Republican leaders this year are agreed. They want to nominate Vice President Richard M. Nixon. That seems to be that, so far as Rockefeller's 1960 chances are concerned. The governor might organize a Rockefeller blitz but without much assurance that it would function.

Rockefeller's big chance for the presidential nomination is likely to come in 1964, and a very good chance it may be, or, maybe in 1968. That will depend, of course, on what happens to Nixon if he is nominated this year. If Nixon then were elected in November he surely would be renominated in 1964 if he lived.

If Rockefeller is to have any chance to be nominated in 1964, Nixon must be defeated in 1960. Rockefeller's first term as governor of New York ends Jan. 1, 1963. It must be assumed that he will run in 1962 for re-election. The perfect situation for Rockefeller would be to come up to 1964 as a second term governor in New York with a Democrat in the White House.

Soviet Russia is not alone in the Communist drive to infiltrate Latin America.

Red China is in on the act, too, through cultural exchanges and through a number of the approximate 100,000 Chinese who live in various Latin American countries.

As with the U.S.S.R., Cuba is the focal point of the Red Chinese drive.

Cuba has cooperated. Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung, like Nikita Khrushchev, has received an invitation to visit Fidel Castro's anti-American showase.

The Red Chinese campaign has been stepped up appreciably in the last 18 months. Artists, journalists, economists and actors from most of the Latin American countries have been invited to visit Red China.

Some 20 "friendship associations" between Red China and Latin American leftists have been set up to show films, hold art exhibitions and to distribute Chinese literature.

Radio Peiping has more than doubled its broadcasts beamed to Latin America in English, Spanish and Portuguese.

Athletics Humble Yankees; Pirates Stun Giants Again

Souchak Leads In Open With 68

Pirates Sweep 'Frisco Series

United Press International
 Maybe the law of averages just caught up with the New York Yankees but when is it going to catch up with Bud Daley?
 The Yankees needed only a victory over the Kansas City Athletics Thursday night to take over undisputed possession of first place in the American League for the first time since 1958 and the odds looked just right. They'd beaten the Athletics, often referred to as their "cousins," five straight times this year and 23 out of 28 times over a two season period.
 The catch was that they ran into the hottest pitcher in the major leagues — a 6 foot, 180 pound left-handed knuckleballer from Long Beach, Calif.

Daley spun his dancing knuckleball past the Yankee sluggers with almost effortless ease as he pitched the Athletics to a 9-1 victory behind an eight-hit attack that included homers by Dick Williams and Whitey Herzog. In the bargain, the Athletics whipped the White Sox, who carried a string of 14 consecutive victories over them into the game.
 The Yankees also permitted the Baltimore Orioles to reclaim first place by 1 1/2 games on the strength of a 3-2 win over the Cleveland Indians. The Chicago White Sox whipped the Washington Senators, 10-4, and the Detroit Tigers scored a 10-inning, 4-3 win over the Boston Red Sox in other American League action.

The Pittsburgh Pirates opened up a four-game lead in the National League with a 10-7 win over the San Francisco Giants. The St. Louis Cardinals downed the Cincinnati Reds, 6-5; the Milwaukee Braves outslugged the Chicago Cubs, 10-7, and the Los Angeles Dodgers topped the Philadelphia Phillies, 10-4.
 Ron Hansen's 11th inning homer lifted the Orioles into first place behind a strong seventh-inning performance by Jack Fisher. The Indians had sent the game into overtime when they scored two runs in the ninth inning on Johnny Romano's homer, Tip Francona's double and Chuck Tanner's single.

Gerry Staley scored his second victory in as many nights and his eighth of the year when the White Sox ripped the Clevelanders for five runs in the last two innings. Staley walked only one batter in an otherwise perfect three innings of relief pitching.
 Frank Bolling singled home the winning run for the Tigers in the 10th inning after the 49th homer of Ted Williams tied the count in the ninth for the Red Sox.
 Dick Groat, Bob Skinner and Don Hoak had three hits each to lead the 15-hit Pittsburgh assault that handed San Francisco's Jack Sanford his third loss. The Pirates completed a sweep of a three-game series and stretched the Giants' losing streak to four games.

Ernie Broglio, aided by Lindy McDaniel in the last 2-3 innings, won his fourth game as the New York Yankees today confirmed that the Detroit Tigers offered Rocky Colavito in a proposed deal for Mickey Mantle shortly before Wednesday night's trading deadline.
 They offered us Colavito but we weren't interested," Weiss said.

Although the Yankee GM declined further comment on the Detroit proposal, Bill DeWitt, president of the Tigers, revealed "we made them a mighty good offer for Mantle but they backed away from it."
 "As a matter of fact," DeWitt added, "we made the Yankees several propositions that would have included anywhere from three to nine players. They backed off all of them."

Colavito was traded by the Cleveland Indians to Detroit in exchange for Harvey Kuenn two months ago.
Gophers, USC Clash Tonight
 OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—Minnesota's Gophers and the Trojans of Southern California, the only unbeaten teams in the double-elimination NCAA College World Series, collide tonight.

The three-game third round in the rain-plagued tournament also featured an afternoon contest between defending champ Oklahoma State and Boston College and tonight's opening game between St. John's of New York and Arizona.

Jerry Walker weakened in the sixth frame Thursday night to lose his bid for a no-hitter, but still pitched a neat five-hitter as the Pampa Roadrunners blitzed Borger, 10-4.
 The victory was a costly one for the Roadrunners, however. First Baseman Bob Dunbar, also

From the time the Roadrunners unwound in the second, the outcome of the game was never in doubt.
 Ruben Strickland, Terry Joe Harrison, David Marlar, Travis Taylor, Bobby Stephens and Nutt each collected a pair of hits.
 Walker had a no-hitter going until the top of the sixth when Borger's Jerry Herrin lined a single. Homer Hill and Travis Wilson each connected for home runs which played the leading part in Borger scoring four times.
 Walker demonstrated near-perfect control in picking up his third win of the season against no losses. He fanned 10 Borger batters and issued only one free pass.

Middleweights Meet On TV
 NEW YORK (UPI)—Eduardo Lausse of Argentina and Marcel Pigou of France, two middleweight knockout specialists, meet tonight in a nationally televised 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.
 Left-hander Lausse, 31, is favored at 13-5 over 26-year-old Pigou, who is making his U.S. debut.
 Neither is rated among the top 10 contenders for the 160-pound crown. However, Lausse was ranked high back in 1954, '55 and '56 during his U.S. campaigns.

Stoker Still Holds Odessa Golf Lead
 ODESSA (UPI)—Ray Baker Jr., a young Odessa shotmaker who plays his collegiate golf at Baylor, still looked like the man to beat going into the second round of the annual West Texas Golf Tournament today.
 The weather has been getting hotter and hotter, but so have Stoker's scores.
 He won medalist honors in the qualifying round Wednesday with a three-under-par 62 over the 6,861-yard Odessa Country Club course. Then Thursday he trimmed two strokes off his qualifying score, shooting a 67 and outdistancing James Allred of Midland, 5 and 4, in the process.
 Stoker's father, Raymond Stoker Sr., was not so fortunate. The elder Stoker lost to Bob Clifton, another Odessa product, 1-0. Charles Coody of Stamford, who won the West Texas title last year at Fort Worth, is entered in the U.S. Open at Denver this week and could not compete.

 Bill Hightower of Midland shot the second low score Thursday with a 68, whipping Jerry Corby of Odessa, 3 and 2.
 Third and fourth rounds will be held Saturday and the championship, with the field narrowed to two men in each flight, will be a 36-hole affair scheduled for Sunday.
 Other results Thursday:
 B. B. Strahan, Odessa, 4 and 2; Jerry Johnson, Fort Worth, 3 and 2.
 Harold Clark, Midland, def. Nelson Reed, Odessa, 4 and 3.
 Bill Lupardus, Midland, def. Housley Brewer, Andrews, 1-up (19 holes).

Floyd Determined To Kayo Champion

By FLOYD PATTERSON
 Written For UPI
 NEWTOWN, Conn. (UPI)—I am determined to knock out Ingemar Johansson Monday night and become the first man ever to regain the heavyweight championship of the world.
 I am bigger and stronger than I've ever been before. I've trained hard and my body is ready for supreme effort. I am at a mental peak and I know I am ready for the fight of my life.
 These are not boasts but promises. The title means a lot to me, of course, but there's more to it than money and glory. I owe it to my wife, my family, my trainer Dan Florio, my handlers, the people from all over the world who've written encouragement and to boxing itself.
 They (who are they?) say old champs never come back. The record book supports this. But the argument is wrong when it is applied to me because I am only 28 years old and in the prime of my fighting life. The fact is no previous heavyweight champion ever came back but this does not bother me—and here's why:
 Ezzard Charles was 30 when he tried to win back the title from Joe Walcott in 1931. Jack Dempsey was 32 when he fought Gene Tunney in 1927. Max Baer was 33 when he met Joe Louis in 1935. Jim Jeffries was 35 when he lost to Jack Johnson in 1910 and Jim Corbett was 37 when he lost to Jeffries in 1903.
 That means I'm from five to 12 years younger than any of the five other ex-champs who tried—and failed—to win back the title.
 I don't under-rate Ingemar Johansson one bit. He beat me last year. But this is a new fight and this is a Floyd Patterson who has matured both mentally and physically. I've waited a year for this chance and I'm not going to throw it away.

JOYFUL LEADER — Big Mike Souchak lets the Denver National Open gallop knowing his feelings after he posted a three-under par 68 in Thursday's Opening round of the tournament.

Barber, Ransom Follow With 69s
 DENVER (UPI)—Mike Souchak, the man of steel with the velvet touch, led them all into the second round of the U.S. Open golf championship today.
 His three under par 68 in the first round Thursday gave him a one stroke lead over two veterans who long have known golfing heartbreak — Little Jerry Barber and weather-stained Henry Ransom of Texas.
 Noted for his long hitting, Souchak used it to advantage. But his putting was the payoff in the opening round over the 7,004 yard par 35-36-71 Cherry Hills Country Club layout in the snow-covered Rockies.
 Big Mike, the one-time Dike football star, put them away with his short game. He whipped those short irons up there with such impressive accuracy that he one-putted eight of the first nine greens. And only one of these putts was as long as 20 feet. And for the route he had only 28 putts.
 "It's been a long year," said the muscle man, who threw it away on the last round at Winged Foot Golf Club in Mamaroneck, N.Y., in 1959.
 There, paunchy Billy Casper, seeded only 124 putts to win this biggest of all golfing prizes.
 "They told me when I came here that this course wasn't built for long hitters like me," he added. "Well, let me tell you something; I was hitting 'em long. I was getting 'em close and they were doing in the cup. Give me a better formula."
 Nobody had one. Because Mike whacked himself out a 31 on the front nine and it was only one stroke off the record open nine of 30 which amateur Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia posted in the 1947 Open at St. Louis.
 There were other eye-opening developments in that sun-baked first round which drew 13,767 spectators, largest opening day crowd in Open history.
 Tommy Bolt, the 1954 winner at Tulsa whose famed temper already has him under an indefinite probation, shot an 80 and withdrew after firing two balls — and his driver — into the lake on the 18th. It cost him a $100 fine and possible future punitive action. He was put on probation by the Professional Golfers Assn. (PGA) for conduct "deleterious to golf." Actually it was for club-throwing.
 Sentimental favorites Ben Hogan and Sam Snead got off poorly. Hogan, seeking a record fifth win, carded a 73-75 and Sam Snead, second four times and at 48 "giving it one last big shot," carded a 35-72.
 The 4 to 1 favorite, Arnold Palmer, Masters champion and the year's leading money winner, got off slowly, too, with a one over par 36-36-72 which left him four shots off the pace.
 And young Doug Sanders, the man with the "telephone booth swing," could possibly have shared or taken the lead but in an unusual "fish" episode he blew to a double bogey on the final hole for a one under par 70. The fish, a bass, leaped as noisily as he teed off on the 18th hole that it upset him.
 Grouped with him, two shots back, came two foreign threats — British Open champion Gary Player and Aussie Bruce Crampton — along with Dick Stranahan of Alameda, Calif. singer Don Cherry; former champion Jack Fleck and Joe Taylor of Charleston, W.Va., and Houston La Clair, of Birmingham, Ala.
 Another seven were other shot snafus at 71 — even par. These included former winner Ed Furgol, U.S. Amateur champion Jack Nicklaus, former-PGA champion Dave Finsterland, Casper, Ken Yagari, Stan Dudas and Dave Riggs.
 Among the other name players, at 72 along with Snead and Palmer were such as PGA king Bob Roeburg, George Bayer, Art Wall and former winner Lloyd Mangrum. Those at 73 included Lionel Hebert, former champion Julius Boros, Doug Ford and Claude Harmon.

 Today he hates 'em.
 The 26-year-old pro today can blame a bass "which sounded as big as a whale" for his failure to take, or at least tie for the first round lead in the U.S. Open golf championship.
 He was teeing off on the 18th hole of the opening round when the bass leaped out of the water just in front of the tee and fell back with the sound of "people throwing beer cans into the water."
 Doug was so upset he put his drive in the water, subsequently took a double bogey six on the hole — and finished with a one under par 70 instead of a 68 which would have tied Mike Souchak for the lead.
 Maybe it's the first fish story in U.S. Open annals but at Cherry Creek Hills Country Club this golfing extravaganza is turning into a wild-life and animal husbandry test of nerves.
 Several players have complained about the Palomino horses which the police patrol rides around the edge of the course. Seems that whenever one Palomino sees another they start whinneying at each other and it plays havoc with putting concentration.
 Gene Littler went them all one better. He took a razing from a gallery of one — a jackass.
 Teeing off far out on the back side of the course, Gene was in the middle of his backswing when the jack began to pee-haw. Gene jerked his drive and then observed wryly:
 "Even he can tell I'm not swinging good."
 Animals, particularly dogs, usually are a problem around urban courses. During the 1956 Open at Rochester, N.Y., there was a great deal of difficulty with dogs from homes adjoining the course. One playful boxer kept grabbing tee shots on one hole and one player was so winded from chasing him that he wound up with a nine on the hole.
 During that same tournament Cary Middlecoff hit a shot into a bunch of rabbits. As if Middlecoff doesn't play slowly enough, proceedings had to be suspended until officials came along and gave him a free drop.
 When you're playing for a $14,440 first prize, as they are doing in the U.S. Open, a man might be expected to battle snakes, if not blue-eyed Bill Collins.
 Not blue-eyed Bill Collins. Bill was competing in the Colonial Invitation at Fort Worth when he faded his shot into a brush-filled ravine. Slowly he clambered down — and rapidly he came out. "There was a water moccasin coiled around his ball."
 One of the marshals borrowed a nine iron and went in like Frank Buck, but with the difference that he brought the snake out dead. Collins went back gingerly to "try his shot." But just at this juncture, Porky Oliver shouted:
 "Hey, Bill, don't you know those snakes usually travel in pairs."
 They haven't caught up to Bill yet.
 But fish? This thing in the Rockies gets rockier all the time.

Revolution In South Korean Republic Defied Every 'Ground Rule' Of Revolt

STUDENTS RIOT. "Here we were protesting and then, suddenly, the government toppled."

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

SEOUL (NEA)—"We have made a miracle. Go outside into the street and look at it."

These are the words of a university student in Seoul, summing up Korea in the wake of a revolution. What he says is paraphrased by everybody you talk to—diplomats, government officials, businessmen. And the miracle is revealed as follows:

The students who rose up in spontaneous anger to bring down the government of Syngman Rhee have gone back to their classrooms. Their job is study.

The hated police force is back on the job, working while the interim government decides who will be prosecuted, fired, promoted. The worst offenders are gone, but there has been no public cry for revenge.

The temporary government, under the acting presidency of Huh Chung, is working well within the bounds of the constitution. The immediate job is a constitutional amendment to call for new elections. Meanwhile, acting vice president John Chang and a committee are trying to submit a list of nominees to the public.

Nobody in the government today expects to be in office after this election.

—Meanwhile, reverence for the deposed Rhee is swelling again. He cannot possibly make a comeback. But he will never be called a traitor. Business is so very much as usual that nobody can see a counter-revolution even on the distant horizon.

"It could have gone the other way so easily," a top U.S. embassy observer said. "We all did a good bit of shaking in our boots about that."

And as the science of politics largely the study of what didn't happen, Seoul searchers are presently drawing up the lists of what-might-have-been-but-wasn't.

Korean students have traditionally been part of political uprisings, especially since 1910 when the country was annexed to Japan. But not until April 19, 1960, were they successful.

"It was phenomenal," a group of students said. "Here we were protesting and then, suddenly, the government toppled. We were dazed. Then we were exultant."

This kind of exultation, they admitted, can lead to a hunger for real political power. It can also lead to threats against new governments, such as: "Be careful. We're watching you. We'll be back."

Instead, as one young lad in the traditional black suit and cap put it: "I am going to be a chemistry teacher. I have no interest in being a cabinet minister. Politics is somebody else's job. I'll be content to vote when I'm old enough."

But if the 100 thousand students in Korea are restraining themselves from taking the job of political watchdog, they are not about to

Federal Worker Pay Hike Asked In Senate Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate was expected today to pass and send to the White House an election-year pay raise for about 1,570,000 federal workers. Some supporters thought they could override a predicted veto.

The 697 million dollar bill would give a 7 1/2 per cent pay hike to 1,035,000 white collar workers in the executive, judicial and congressional branches of the government and about 135,000 higher-salaried postal workers.

Another 400,000 postal workers in the first six pay categories would get increases averaging 8 to 8 1/2 per cent. All of the raises would begin July 1 or the first pay period afterward.

The House passed the bill Wednesday on a 377-40 vote, despite the prediction by Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck (Ind.) that President Eisenhower would veto the measure.

Other congressional news: Foreign Aid: Attempts were scheduled in the House to restore at least 250 million dollars to the trimmed foreign aid money bill.

forget what they have done. Plans are underway to raise money by popular subscription for a monument commemorating the 19th of April uprising.

That the police department is still working at all is a little miracle as well.

The uniformed force as it still runs today was set up by the Japanese to keep a resentful Korea in line.

"You can picture the kind of Korean who would 'take that job,'" an old merchant said. "And you know, of course, what kinds of methods would be used to keep the country from rising."

Unlike most other nations, the Korean police force was divorced from the people and obeyed orders throughout the country from a central office in Seoul. Abused and maimed, the quick and the dead were lessons to everybody, both under the Japanese and the Rhee government.

When the government fell, the police went into hiding. Students were left to direct traffic. Within days, however, it became clear that the constitution would be followed. Uniformed police reappeared and continue to work as reorganization took place.

"We could have had blood in the streets," a ROK Army liaison officer said. "The police shot students. There was no shooting back. Even the Liberal party has to be commended. It took them less than a week to see that there was no use fighting. They gave up."

It is this sentiment that accounts for some of the reverence that has come back to the old, exiled Syngman Rhee. He is, almost everybody tells you today, the father of Korea. He has served his nation well, if not — at old age — too wisely. Only a few hot heads seem to resent his departure for the U.S.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The long-awaited, easier money atmosphere is not having quite its anticipated effect on the stock market, according to Thomson & McKinnon.

The firm says that money rates are, in fact, coming down as result of a softening demand for funds, a condition which, if it persists, will carry its own warning.

If the recent stock trend is correct in forecasting a positive pick-up in business in the last half of 1960, T&M says, then corporations will begin soon to bolster inventories and speed up capital spending — otherwise the market has made a false move.

Business Reports, Inc. selects Crown Cork & Seal as an unusually attractive, growth commitment selling at less than 10 times estimated 1960 earnings.

Mass housing awards are running far ahead of 1959, and could be further stimulated by a housing bill now under congressional flickering, according to Bache & Co. Favorable developments in the field, it says, could benefit such reasonably priced issues as U.S. Plywood, Flintkote, Bestwall Gypsum, Fedders Corp., Johnson-Manville and American Standard.

U.S. mushroom yields have increased from about one pound to two pounds per square foot of bed space in the last 25 years.

TROOPS FIRE SNARK

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—Troops of the Strategic Air Command's 702nd Strategic Missile Wing fired an air-breathing Snark intercontinental missile down the Atlantic missile range Thursday. No distance figures were released.

TO DELIVER ADDRESS
NEW YORK (UPI)—German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss will deliver an address today at ceremonies commemorating a German uprising in the Soviet-occupied zone of Germany in 1953. The ceremony is being held under the auspices of the American Council on Germany, Inc., and the German consulate general.

Prestige Hurt By Cancelling Of Ike Visit

LONDON (UPI)—Newspapers in Western Europe today regarded the cancellation of President Eisenhower's trip to Japan as a heavy blow to American prestige, and many of them said it was due to U.S. bungling.

Communists around the world gloated, describing the cancellation as a "telling blow to U.S. aggressive plans" and as a "victory for the Japanese people."

Newspapers in Fidel Castro's Cuba carried headlines about the "popular victory in Japan" and the "triumph of the people."

People in Europe seemed more pleased by the fact that Eisenhower was not going to expose himself to Japan's hate-crazed mobs than concerned by the diplomatic implications of the change in his itinerary.

The Times of London said the mob outbreak in Japan appeared to be a consequence of "the U-2 incident and the American handling of it" in Switzerland, the Neue Zuercher Zeitung blamed the situation on U.S. diplomatic "inefficiency."

"London's Laborite Daily Herald commented that 'well-intentioned fooling gets you no further in politics than it does in golf.'"

Legally Blind, Caught For DWI

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—George Albert Kingston, 49, a carpenter who has been legally blind for some time, faced 18 months in prison today for driving while drunk.

Judge Miron Lovehanded down the sentence Thursday after Truett Childre of the state Commission for the Blind testified that "Kingston has 22 per cent vision in his best eye. He is legally blind."

Kingston committed the offense of which he was convicted last December. A motorist told police Kingston's car almost hit his head.

Kingston's lawyer, Richard Haynes, said "this trouble is that he insists on trying to function as a sighted man. He has struggled on at his trade."

The conviction was his seventh for drunk driving since 1946.

Talman Case Ruling Today

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—A municipal judge was expected to rule today on a motion for dismissal of a morals charge against actor William Talman and seven others.

Talman, accused with three other men and four women of romping in the nude at a "crazy" party, claimed sheriff's deputies illegally entered an apartment to raid the party March 18.

"I heard what sounded like a scuffle and someone protesting," Talman said Thursday in the second day of trial for him and the others.

"I heard Richard Riebold say, 'You can't come in here without a warrant,'" Talman testified. "The deputy said, 'I'm already in.'"

Talman said an officer came into the room, flashed a light in his face and quipped: "This is quite a difference from the 'Perry Mason' show, huh Bill?"

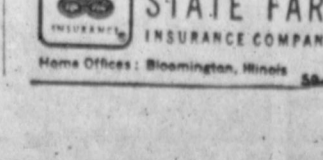

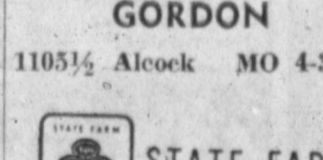

Talman, 45, portrayed the hard-luck district attorney on the courtroom TV series up to the time of his arrest. He was fired shortly afterwards.

U.S. Seeks Extradition For 'Mistake Killer' From Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—What is expected to be a long legal battle to get an accused hired killer back to Texas to stand trial for a seven-year old murder began in federal criminal district court today.

Texas authorities are asking Mexico to extradite Alfredo Cervantes Martinez to stand trial for the "mistake murder" of a University of Texas student, Jacob S. Floyd Jr., 22.

Oscar Trevino Rios, assistant Mexican attorney general, met with two Texas officials and U.S. Embassy officers Thursday. He said the Mexican federal government "is interested in respecting in all parts" treaties with foreign powers, such as the extradition treaty with the United States.

Sam Burris, district attorney of Jim Wells County, Tex., and Sheriff Halsey Wright met with Trevino Rios. They planned to stay for the extradition hearing in first federal criminal district court.

Floyd was shot in the driveway of his home at Alice, Texas, on Sept. 8, 1953. It was called a "mistake murder" because authorities believe the killer was trying to kill his father, Jacob S. Floyd Sr., an Alice attorney and bitter political foe of South Texas political boss George B. Parr.

Cervantes Martinez was accused as the triggerman in the slaying.

The district judge will have 40 days after the hearing to render a decision on whether the accused killer is subject to extradition.

His report will then be forwarded to the foreign relations office in Mexico City for a final decision.

Although Burris declined to comment, it was believed he submitted proof that Cervantes Martinez became a naturalized citizen of the United States while living in Texas.

Defense attorneys have announced they will contest the claim on grounds he is a Mexican citizen. It is expected to be the key point.

Another possible point is that Mexico seldom extradites a prisoner, when the penalty for the crime of which he is accused is greater in the country wanting to prosecute, than it is for the same crime in Mexico.

Cervantes Martinez could be sentenced to death in Texas. Maximum penalty in Mexico would be 40 years in prison.

'Ice Cream' War

FORT WORTH (UPI)—"It looks like the start of an ice cream war over territorial rights," said Asst. Dist. Atty. A. D. Downer Thursday. He was talking about Jimmy Lucas, an ice cream vendor charged with curbing the wagon of a rival vendor, Lyle D. Gray, and slugging Gray.
