City Election Called For

Plainview Okays Dam Costs

FIRST BALE — Ray Barnick of Mission, cotton farmer, is all smiles as he brings in the first 1960 bale of cotton in the United States. Barnick, escorted by Hidalgo county sheriff E. E. Vickers, right, delivered first bale to Harlingen police station to claim minimum prize of $1,500 plus what the bale brings at auction.

Plainview adopted a resolution calling for a city election on proposed distribution of charges and costs of construction of the Canadian River Dam and water distribution system Wednesday, thus becoming the last to do so of the five cities which will be paying the actual construction cost of the dam.

Pampa Climbs To 42nd Place In Population

Pampa climbed from 44th to 42nd in population among Texas cities, according to figures released Wednesday by the United States Census Bureau.

The Pampa population was listed as 24,303, as compared to 16,583 in 1950. The population of Gray County climbed to 31,114, an increase over the 1950 figure, which was 24,728. The county growth was its largest since the 1920-1930 decade when the population shot from 4,663 to 22,090.

Houston staked claim to being the largest city in the state, with a population of 932,680.

Other leading cities and their population included Dallas 672,029; San Antonio, 554,423; Fort Worth, 356,149; El Paso, 271,903; Austin, 184,530; Corpus Christi, 166,717; Amarillo, 137,083; Lubbock, 128,068; and Beaumont, 118,471.

Wichita Falls was the only other Texas city to go over the 100,000 mark. Its official population was listed as 101,040.

Dems Ask Nixon Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Perturbed Democratic school aid supporters challenged Vice President Richard M. Nixon today to help them salvage the federal school aid legislation which was wrecked by the House Rules Committee.

The conservative-dominated committee refused Wednesday to permit a conference to iron out differences between bills passed separately by the Senate and House.

The committee's 7-5 vote saw all four Republicans join three Southern Democrats in opposing the conference.

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr. (D-N.J.), author of the House bill, challenged Nixon to persuade Republicans on the rules committee to seek reconsideration and to switch votes.

Thompson called the solid GOP vote against the conference a "reputation of Nixon in no uncertain terms."

The vice president's press secretary told newsmen last week that Nixon was working with House GOP leaders to clear the way for a conference on the school legislation.

Thompson and other Democratic backers had counted on Rep. B. Carroll Reece (R-Tenn.) to vote for the conference because he had voted to clear the House bill when it was stalled in the rules committee earlier this year.

Nixon had no immediate comment on the situation. So far, it was learned, he had not intervened in an effort to win a committee reversal.

The Senate-House dispute over school legislation centers on aid for teachers' salaries and an anti-segregation amendment.

Rules Committee Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) pressed school aid supporters Wednesday for assurances that the anti-segregation amendment would be dropped if the conference was permitted.

Four likely members of the House conference contingent said they would favor eliminating it, but could give no ironclad assurances this would be done.

Butler said it was his "guess" that the national convention would ask for signed although no sworn statements from any delegates who refused to support the Democratic national ticket in 1952 or 1956.

He said these statements should commit any such delegates to support the nominees and platform of the 1960 convention.

"I won't sign any oath," was Byrd's comment.

Vacation Value Days Kicked Off

Vacation Value Days begin today, with 62 merchants participating, and will continue through Saturday.

Emphasis is being placed on extra value in the stores taking part during the three-day promotion.

The program, sponsored by the Merchants Activities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, is the first such program in Pampa.

Frank D. Smith is chairman of the committee.

Castro Opponents Join In Pact

MIAMI (UPI) — Five Cuban revolutionary groups, including three once linked with Fidel Castro's 28th of July movement in opposition to Fulgencio Batista, Wednesday announced signing of a cooperative pact opposing Castro.

The group, which calls itself the Democratic Revolutionary Front, (FRD) signed their pact in Mexico City. A statement by the group was released here.

U.N. diplomats were confident, however, it could go far in satisfying Argentine demands for Israel's return, thus leaving the way open for conciliation.

The resolution did not mention previous Argentine demands for Eichmann's return, thus leaving the way open for conciliation.

SEAMY SIDE — The District of Columbia procurement officer has sent 1,400 new pairs of policemen's pants back to the manufacturer with the following instructions: For modesty's sake, sew the seams in the seats with stronger thread.

The officer said the seams he had to give away even before the trousers were handed out to the officers.

ORBIT OVER RUSSIA — The U.S. fired a double satellite into high orbit over Russia from Cape Canaveral, Fla., to make Earth and space navigation more accurate. Drawing shows "piggyback" Naval Research Laboratory solar radiation measurement satellite as it is released from Transit 2-A satellite (bottom) by spring force following orbital injection. It then travels in its own orbit as an independent experiment.

Subsidized Medical Care Bill Sails Through House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today overwhelmingly approved legislation designed to provide subsidized medical care for about 500,000 to 1,000,000 needy persons over 65.

The vote was 380 to 23. The measure now goes to the Senate where a determined fight will be made to expand it to provide hospitalization and other medical care benefits for all elderly persons on the social security rolls.

The broader program is sought by organized labor. Some version of it is backed by every one of the three Democratic senators in the running for their party's presidential nomination.

The House-passed measure falls far short of the coverage proposed by organized labor and the alternate plan proposed by the Eisenhower administration.

Both of these plans would offer benefits to more than half of the 16,000,000 persons over 65.

The House Wednesday set the stage for a roll call vote by refusing to send the bill back to committee.

The bill was voted on under a no amendment procedure which barred consideration of any amendments.

The House bill would offer federal matching grants, effective July 1, 1961, to states which agreed to expand their public assistance programs to include medical care for older persons in lower income groups.

About 500,000 to 1,000,000 persons over 65—not eligible for public assistance but who can't afford to pay their medical bills—would be required to meet state qualifications of need.

The plan would cost the federal government an estimated 185 million dollars in the first year and states would pay up another 140 million dollars.

No Major Protest Following Signing

TOKYO (UPI) — The United States formally assumed responsibility for the defense of Japan Thursday but the act toppled from power the man who had worked hardest for it, Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi.

Minutes after U. S. Ambassador Douglas MacArthur and Japanese Foreign Minister Aichiro Fujiyama signed the revised treaty of mutual cooperation and security, Kishi announced he would resign.

The final signing and exchange of articles of ratification were arranged on an hour's notice to avoid a leftwing demonstration by fanatical Zengakuren students.

The ceremony went off smoothly but later 5,000 demonstrators held a memorial rally in downtown Tokyo for a coed who was killed in a riot last week. Then they marched on the Diet Building and from there moved to Kishi's residence where they started shouting anti-government slogans and doing a snake dance.

The 63-year-old prime minister did not say just when he would step out of office, thus making it clear he intended to play a decisive role in the choice of his successor.

Kishi's announcement touched off political infighting in his faction-ridden Liberal-Democratic Party.

Kishi had successfully controlled various party factions since he became premier Feb. 27, 1957, but the tremendous pressure that built up over the U.S.-Japan security treaty proved too much.

Violent opposition from left-wingers and Communists and sniping by political enemies within his own party led to his decision to resign.

Kishi had been under particularly heavy fire ever since he used his parliamentary majority to ram ratification of the treaty through the lower chamber of the Diet (Parliament) May 20. The opposition accused him of using "tyranny of the majority."

Loyalty Oath Miffs Byrd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) announced today he would defy Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler's demand that a personal loyalty pledge be signed by delegates before being awarded seats to the party's national convention.

Although he has been named a delegate to the convention, Byrd told a reporter that he had not yet decided whether to attend.

But Byrd made it plain he would fight a proposal made in a National Press Club speech Wednesday by Butler.

Butler said it was his "guess" that the national convention would ask for signed although no sworn statements from any delegates who refused to support the Democratic national ticket in 1952 or 1956.

He said these statements should commit any such delegates to support the nominees and platform of the 1960 convention.

Ike Concerned With Keeping Party From Being Drubbed

HONOLULU (UPI) — President Eisenhower is determined to do everything within his power to keep the Republican Party from being drubbed in this contentious political year for his failure to visit Japan during his just concluded trip to the Far East.

Eisenhower, resting and contemplating the results of his trip in seclusion on the windward side of this beautiful island, is convinced that much of the domestic criticism of the Japanese debacle is politically inspired and, he thinks, without justification.

Therefore, in his trip report to the American people next week, he will emphasize the success of his visits to the Philippines, Formosa and Korea, and chalk up much of the difficulty in Tokyo to the Kremlin's displeasure over the generally warm response his trips have received in other parts of the world.

The television and radio speech to be delivered from Washington next week after his return to the White House sometime this week, is rounding into shape here at the Kaneohe Marine Air Station where the Chief Executive has established a temporary White House beside the billowing Pacific. The President has finished a working draft in consultation with one of his top speech writers, Dr. Kevin McCann, and the speech should be nearly completed by the time Eisenhower flies to the mainland.

The President will have one strong accomplishment behind him when he goes before the nation. Wednesday he directed Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II to legalize the mutual security treaty between the United States and Japan.

Compromise On Eichmann Case Reported

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — A compromise solution to the Argentine-Israeli dispute over Nazi Col. Adolf Eichmann was reported near completion today.

The plan, worked out primarily among diplomats here, was believed to have Argentina's tentative approval.

It involved a bit of legal razzle-dazzle whereby Eichmann, currently in an Israeli prison after his abduction from Buenos Aires, would be "surrendered" to the Argentine Embassy at Tel Aviv.

Formal extradition then would take place within minutes, and the notorious Nazi, accused of direct responsibility in the deaths of six million Jews during World War II, would be "returned" to Israel for trial.

There was no immediate comment on the plan from either Argentine Ambassador Mario Amadeo or Israeli Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meir, opponents in a so far mild Security Council debate.

U.N. diplomats were confident, however, it could go far in satisfying Argentine demands for Israel's return, thus leaving the way open for conciliation.

The resolution did not mention previous Argentine demands for Eichmann's return, thus leaving the way open for conciliation.

Houston Is Larger Than Rhode Island

By United Press International Houston unofficially is larger than the state of Rhode Island today.

The Houston city council, in a move ostensibly to halt the "wild, rash" of land annexation by cities along the Houston ship channel, took in all of unincorporated Harris County Wednesday night.

The council emphasized that the move was only a "temporary stopgap" to protect the city's interests "until settlement can be reached to determine justifiable land additions for all concerned."

A Texas House investigating committee meanwhile was probing into annexation problems in the Beaumont-Port Arthur area.

The committee opened a four-day investigation Wednesday on the campus of Lamar Tech College at Beaumont. It is the first of four such investigations to be made.

The Houston annexation ordinance, passed in a special session of the city council, was approved by a 6-2 vote. Mayor Lewis Cutler and one council member opposed it.

Before it becomes official, the ordinance must be read a third time before the city council. But in all likelihood it will become official and the city thus will take control of 1,100 acres of new land—making it the largest city in the world in terms of land area alone.

The Houston move came in the aftermath of similar measures taken by Pasadena, on the ship channel, and Baytown, Nederland and Port Arthur.

Part of the land claimed by Houston has already been annexed by Pasadena, and a legal battle like the one currently being fought between Port Arthur and Port Acres may result.

Port Arthur's city council voted some months ago to annex Port Acres, which at that time was

Red China Raps Khrushchev's Change in Party Line

TOKYO (UPI) — Red China took issue with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev today by charging that capitalist governments are "vicious and unchangeable" and that the Communist world had no choice but to "organize strength to fight them."

The declaration, published in the official Peiping Peoples Daily and reported by the Communist New China news agency, served as an open rebuke to the comparatively moderate line proclaimed by Khrushchev in Bucharest Tuesday.

As is always the case when Communists get in an ideological battle, no names were used and Khrushchev thus was not singled out for criticism. But the split in views was clear.

4th Union Eyes Terms

CHICAGO (UPI) — General increase over the next 16 months. One-half of the increase will take effect July 1 and the other half March 16, 1961. The agreement will expire Nov. 1, 1961.

Theodore Short, spokesman for the railroad bargaining teams, said the wage boosts for the Trainmen would cost the carriers 30 million dollars a year.

Short said the wage boosts mean that "unless ways to cut the exorbitant cost of featherbedding waste are found, rates must be increased and jobs eliminated."

"In an industry where earnings have been going down steadily in recent years, it is obvious that any increase in wages at this time is going to hurt the general (See UNIONS, Page 4)

Farmer Grows First Bale For Fourth Year

HARLINGEN (UPI)—Ray Barnick, a 52-year-old cotton planter from Mission, Tex., is at least $2,500 richer today. For the fourth time in eight years, Barnick grew the nation's first bale of cotton.

The $2,500 is guaranteed by the Harlingen Chamber of Commerce, which in the years the prize has been offered never has had to award it to a grower outside the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Of the total, $1,500 is a bonus for the first bale brought to the gin and the $1,000 is a guarantee at auction. But the chamber of commerce has never had to pay off the auction guarantee either. Barnick's winning bale in 1954 set a record price of $4.25 a pound—or a total of $4,237.50 for the bale.

Besides winning the 1954 contest and this year's, Barnick won in 1952 and 1953.

His 1960 bale was ginned at Mission and rushed to Harlingen, 35 miles away, under police escort. It weighed 457 pounds, seven pounds above the minimum requirement. The variety of the Empire and Rex strain, graded out at 1 and 1-32 middling light spot.

Barnick's bale went to the gin Tuesday on the same date as last year's winning bale, which was grown by Jack Armstrong of Mission. Armstrong's farm is about five miles from Barnick's.

Pedro Herrera, another farmer trying for the prize money, brought a bale to the gin Tuesday but it weighed only 412 pounds—38 pounds under the minimum—and was disqualified.

Some 115 of Barnick's harvest hands had a part in picking the cotton that made up the winning bale. Picking was over about 70 acres. The bale was to be flown today to Helena, Mont., for certification by Gov. Price Daniel. Daniel is attending a conference at Glacier National Park.

Treason

The history of liberty often shows that a would-be tyrant like to accuse his opponents of treason. So to safeguard our liberty the constitution itself sets out the kind of proof we need to find some one guilty of treason.

For this reason America has had relatively few cases of treason. Not so in early English and Roman law. "Treasonous acts" covered many things in fact, anything that seemed to threaten the community safety.

In the fourteenth century the English tried to define treason. Since every subject owed allegiance to the King, trivial breaches of a private nature became "petty treason." But a subject disloyal enough as to attack or plot against the king himself was guilty of "high" treason.

The kings liked this. For one to imagine the king's death became treason subject to death.

The broadened treason widened further to include crimes against private persons. Later even the king himself was not exempt. In 1649 they indicted, convicted, and beheaded King Charles I for treason.

King Henry VIII made it high treason to slander Queen Anne or her children. Failure to take an oath not to slander the queen itself became treason.

Under Elizabeth I it became treason for anyone to hold a religion which did not conform to the crown's.

Conviction of treason was easy. In some cases you needed no witnesses. Trials were short and the accused could not have defense counsel.

In conflicts for power, the losing politicians often became "traitors" as they do in many countries to this day. Our early settlers lived in troubled times with the coming revolution creating new factions. For them treason was also a frequent accusation.

But after the revolution the founding fathers and the people had had enough.

They decided to limit "treason" and faced these problems: should the new executive put down rebellious and define treasons himself? Should the Congress during "troubled times" have power to define treason?

No. The new Constitution took

Scout Council Aquatic Camp Set July 17-23

The annual Aquatic Camp of the Adobe Walls Council of Boy Scouts will be held July 17-23 at Camp Kiowa near Canadian. The camp will consist of a week of work on the waterfront consisting of swimming, rowing, canoeing and work on life saving merit badges and scout-life-guard-rating.

The camp will be set up as a provisional troop which means that Scout troops and Explorer posts who have boys at the camp will not have to have their own leaders with the boys. The camp is open to any Boy Scout or Explorer who has passed his first class swimming test.

The fee of $15 covers the cost of all meals and materials needed for the camp.

Limited to 48 boys, registration is being conducted on a first-come first-serve basis. Boys interested should send his advance registration to the Council office immediately.

The camp will be directed by Roy Bassett, Perryton, district executive of the Kiowa District, a staff of older Scouts and Explorers.

Ida Jones Neal Service Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Jones Neal will be conducted at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Duenkel's Catholic Chapel with Dr. E. Douglas Carver, First Baptist Church pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Neal, born May 17, 1875 in Elmwood, Tenn., died at 6:35 p.m. last night in Highland General Hospital, where she had been a patient for four weeks.

The casket will not be opened during the service. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery beside her husband with E. A. Baldwin, Irvin Cole, DeLea Vicars, Jake P. Osborne, Ernest Baird and G. W. Greene as pallbearers.

Surplus Property At Pantex Plant Offered For Sale

According to an announcement by Lt. Col. Marvin J. Brudigam, commanding officer, property originally valued at approximately $250,000 is being offered for sale by Mason & Hanger-Silas Mason Co., Inc., operators of Pantex Ordnance Plant.

Items to be sold are no longer needed by the federal government and consist of six 300-H.P. and one 100 H.P. Erie Boilers, complete with drums, tubes and baffles, and accessory items such as compressors, pumps; deaerating tanks, Bailey Meter-control panels, etc.; surge tanks, blow down tanks Bailey Meter-control panels, etc.

Pantex Ordnance Plant is located 25 miles N. E. of Amarillo, Texas. The property to be sold may be inspected at the Plant, June 13th through July 26, 1960, and will be sold to the highest qualifying bidder.

Prospective bidders should contact Mr. J. LaMarca from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, to inspect the property and obtain bid forms. His telephone number is DRake 4-1651, Ext. 249.

Invitation to Bid No. 23 describes the items to be sold and contains complete instructions for submitting sealed bids, which will be publicly opened at 2:00 p.m., C.S.T., July 26, 1960. Awards will be made to the highest responsible bidder in line with the terms of the invitation.

All bids must be received prior to the time and date of opening. Successful bidders will be informed of the results of their bids at the earliest possible date.

The agreement includes freezing into the basic hourly rate cost-of-living adjustments totaling 17 cents an hour, which have been added to trainmen's paychecks since May, 1957. The cost-of-living escalator clause was eliminated.

The current hourly wage rates for the union ranges from $2.25 to $2.84 and their annual wages averages about $7,187, a railroad spokesman said.

Relative Of Two Pampans Killed

Mrs. Chris J. Lightholder, 61, of Lubbock, sister of Mrs. A. D. Fish, 1000 W. Buckler, and aunt of Mrs. C. F. McGinnis, 1487 E. Francis, died Wednesday when her car smashed into a Santa Fe passenger train at a crossing three miles south of New Deal.

The impact of the collision threw Mrs. Lightholder from her car into a telephone pole about 65 feet away. The car was dragged several feet down the track.

There were no injuries to passengers or trainmen.

Mrs. Lightholder's body is at Rix Funeral Home in Lubbock.

24 Farm Loans Paid In Full

Twenty-four out of 46 farm ownership loans made in Armstrong, Donley and Gray counties during the past 20 years have been paid in full.

The average age of these 24 paid loans was six years.

The 46 farm ownership loans were made to tenant farmers who wanted to own their own farms, owners of small farms who wanted to enlarge and owners who wanted to improve their farms. The loan funds were used for land purchase, new buildings of all types, building repair, water supply, fencing and land development.

All of these loans, which were made by the Farmers Home Administration office in Clarendon, were made on 40-year terms.

In his resignation statement Kishi said he had dedicated himself "without caring for your own personal honor" to bring prosperity to Japan.

The new treaty gives the United States the right to station forces here for at least the next 10 years and pledges the United States to defend Japan against attack. It gives the Japanese government near-veto powers over deployment of U.S. forces from bases in Japan and of the introduction of the weapons needed for modern war, such as nuclear bombs.

Negro Youths Plan 'Wade-In' Demonstrations At Beaches

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—Negro youths made plans today for "wade-in" demonstrations at southern public beaches patterned after their sit-in protests against segregated lunch counters.

Amos Brown, of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., said tactics for beach integration will vary greatly "depending on the local situation."

"While we expect to encounter many problems in the campaign, I am sure it will eventually be successful," Brown told a committee meeting at the annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Other college students attending the convention reported on their lunch counter sit-ins earlier this year and said they would expand the program when they return to school this fall.

"The time has come for segregation to die," said Calias Frown, vice chairman of the North Carolina college chapter. "It is a case of the ideas of young people against segregation, and the other is a simple matter of survival of the fittest."

Adult members of the group, meanwhile, disclosed a program of economic pressures against the headquarters of big business in an effort to speed up racial desegregation in the South.

"We must take steps to remove the mass behind which national outfits hide when they tell us that their local policies are governed by community customs or the desires of the local people," Henry Lee Moon, the NAACP's director of public relations, said.

"If such negotiations fail, we may well have to organize a massive withholding of patronage campaign accompanied by an intensive educational program," he said.

"But this does not mean we are going to embark on a reckless course of wholesale indiscriminate picketing and boycotting," Moon said. "American Negroes are a buying force of 18 million people, with the approximate economic power of the entire population of Canada."

Tire Theft Reported — Criminal activity in Pampa continued to be below normal Wednesday night as the police received only a report on the theft of a tire.

The tire, a 7-60x15 white sidewall, was taken from the Crow Humble service station, 300 N. Hobart. It was left outside in a tire rack overnight.

Burglars Use Key To Make Bank Haul

Lowell, Mass. (UPI)—Burglars walked in the front door of a bank during the night and stole $20,000 in what police reported today was an "inside job."

Police said the burglars opened the front door of the Wamsell branch of the Union National Bank with a key. They walked into a large room at the rear of the bank and removed the money from small safes used by tellers to store cash overnight.

Keys also were used to open the safes, police said. The main vault, presumably containing large sums, and four other tellers' safes were untouched.

The robbery was discovered by a policeman who tried the front door and found it open. He said the door was locked during a previous check at midnight.

Outdoor Cooks Learn Simple Techniques

Outdoor cooks who desert the patio for the great outdoors learn new techniques in campfire cookery. A camp-site breakfast, for example, calls for foods that are easy to tote. Unopened cans of luncheon meat, coffee, bread, fresh fruit or melon do not need refrigeration and are compact to carry. An insulated bag or cooler is ideal for transporting eggs and other more perishable items.

A good breakfast is important every day, but especially when outdoor activities are planned. A hike in the woods requires a breakfast that will stick to the ribs. High quality, complete meat protein is the answer. For this reason, canned pork and beef luncheon meat is mighty handy for campers. The meat is fully cooked when purchased so that a successful meal is not dependent on a camper's fire-building abilities. The choice of high quality food is made when topping the shopping list are cans

Easy-Do Sunday Night Supper

A knife-and-fork sandwich for luncheon or a Sunday night supper is summery in spirit, easy to do, delicious to eat. One of the best time-tested combinations calls for slices of turkey and ham as the filling, topped with a hot sauce of Swiss cheese accented with California Sauterne.

- To complete a family or a party menu, just add a tossed green salad, fruit for dessert, and glasses of the same Sauterne, well chilled, as the accompanying beverage.
- DELUXE TURKEY-HAM SANDWICH
(Serves 4)
- 8 slices buttered, freshly make toast
 - 4 portions sliced, cooked turkey
 - 4 portions sliced, boiled or baked ham
 - 1 (8 oz.) package process Swiss cheese, sliced
 - 1-3 cup California Sauterne or other white dinner wine
 - 1 tablespoon prepared mustard (the light yellow variety)
 - 1 tablespoon grated onion
 - Paprika

Using the toast, turkey and ham, make 4 turkey-and-ham sandwich. Arrange sandwiches in a single layer in a baking pan; cover and place in a low (300-degree F.) oven to warm while preparing the following sauce. Melt cheese in a double boiler; gradually stir in wine; add mustard and onion; heat piping hot. Cut heated sandwiches in halves; place 2 halves on each of 4 heated plates; pour some of the hot sauce over each sandwich. Dust with paprika and serve at once.

MEAT COOKERY Quiz

- What is the name of this meat cut?
A. Country Club or Rib Eye Steaks.
- Where do they come from and how are they identified?
A. Country club steaks are cut from the eye muscle of a blade rib roast of beef (the 6th and 7th ribs). The eye muscle is attached to the backbone and part of the rib section. The steaks are boneless.
- How are they prepared?
A. They are tender and may be broiled or panbroiled. If cut thin, they may be panfried.

Butter or Margarine
Coffee
PREM-EGGLETS
Yield: 4 servings
12 ounce can luncheon meat
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
4 eggs

Cut the luncheon meat into four 1/4 inch thick slices. Cut a square hole in the middle of each slice. Melt the butter in a skillet. Brown each large slice of luncheon meat on one side. Turn. Break one egg into the hole in each slice. Cover and cook until egg is cooked to desired doneness. Serve immediately with the small pieces of luncheon meat.

PREM "LOG" SANDWICHES
Yield: 6 servings
12-ounce-can luncheon meat
1 pound-can chili
6 frank buns

Remove top from can of chili. Heat chili in can over open fire. Cut meat into 6 equal slices by cutting it in half lengthwise and each half into thirds. Place one slice of luncheon meat in each frank bun to form log sandwiches. Wrap logs in foil and place on grill over fire. Heat buns and chili until hot. Unwrap sandwiches and spoon chili over logs. Serve immediately.

HERB FRENCH TOAST WITH CREAMED CHIPPED BEEF

Your brunch hostess with a flair for surprises serves Herb french toast with creamed chipped beef. Her method is simple. Season a French toast egg-milk mixture with caraway seeds, rosemary, and salt. Dip French bread strips (3 of equal size cut from each 1-inch bread slice) into the mixture and brown on both sides in a hot, well-greased skillet. Top with creamed chipped beef (may be made the night before and reheated) and serve immediately.

Distinctive Dressing Can Win Praise And Become 'Specialty Of The House'

Summer days are salad days and although a crisp, tossed salad is popular the year around, it really comes into its own when the weather gets warm.

Whether for happy, noisy outdoor eating in the back yard or for formal dining inside, you can make your summer salads a real "specialty of the house" this year by preparing your own distinctive dressing.

- Today's home mixers are equipped to make this job easy for you. Kitchen Aid electric food preparator, for instance, use an oil dropper attachment for precise mixing or mayonnaise. From there, it's a cinch to make your own thousand island, French, cheese, or other favorite dressing.
- This recipe, utilizing the Kitchen-Aid oil dropper, is certain to put up the salad appetites in your family:
- MAYONNAISE
(Makes about 1 1/2 Cups)
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon mustard
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons vinegar (about) or 3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup salad oil
- Put egg yolk, mustard, sugar, paprika, salt and half the vinegar or lemon juice in mixer bowl. Measure other ingredients. Attach bowl, beater, and oil dropper to mixer, close dropper, and pour in oil. Turn mixer speed control gradually to No. 3 and whip yolk mixture until light colored and thick, 1/2 to 1 minute.
- Turn speed control to No. 4 and turn on oil dropper. Permit all of the oil to rub slowly into the bowl in a fine stream, about 2 to 3 minutes, whipping continuously. Stop; scrape bowl.
- Add remainder of vinegar or lemon juice. Turn speed control to No. 4 and whip about 1 minute, or until thick, then stop the mixer. In total approximate mixing time of 5 minutes, you'll have home-made mayonnaise that will bring calls for more!
- If a thicker dressing is desired, 1/4 cup more oil may be used.

Simple But Elegant Bran Muffins Finish Off Easy-Fixing Breakfast

Brunch Muffins, simple bran muffins elegantly finished off with a filling of marmalade cream cheese, and coffee team up to complete the easy-fixing but festive repeat. Fill the muffins by cutting a wedge-shaped cone from the top and then spooning the cream cheese mixture into the hollow. Cap the muffin with its topknot to serve.

These muffins also accompany scrambled eggs and tomato wedges tastefully, should you wish to serve a later morning brunch.

BRUNCH MUFFINS
1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran
1/4 cup milk

Ye Olde Lemonade Stand Goes Modern With Instant Products, Electric Mixer

For years the summer drink stand has been a means of youngsters earning spending money and cooling the customer's fevered brow with cold beverages. It has gone modern with instant products and a batter-powered plastic mixer that's fitted to the junior soda jerks.

Today's special is a chocolate mild shake that's flavored with instant Dutch chocolate flavored mix and tempts the young fountain operators to drink up much of their profit. It's fun to make milk shakes with instant Dutch chocolate flavored mix in the junior-size blender. Mothers are pleased with the nourishing qualities of the instant Dutch chocolate flavored mix for it is enriched with Vitamins B1, B2 and D and also iron. It mixes instantly in hot or cold milk.

It's so simple to make a chocolate mild shake made in the junior battery-powered mixer. For one serving, measure 1/4 cup of milk and 2 tablespoons of instant Dutch chocolate flavored mix into the mixture. Turn on motor and mix for one minute.

Instant Dutch chocolate flavored mix is mighty good drinking when just stirred into a cold glass of milk. But for some special occasions besides this plain instant Dutch Cooler or Chocolate Milk Shake, here are two other suggestions—Spicy Cooler and Dutch Nectar.

SPICY COOLER
Yield: 1 1/2 oz. serving
1/2 cup apricot nectar
2 tablespoons Borden's Instant Dutch Chocolate Flavored Mix
1/2 cup cold milk
Four apricot nectar in serving glass; dissolve Borden's Instant Dutch Chocolate Flavored Mix in nectar. Stir in milk. Serve immediately.

DUTCH NECTAR
(Makes 1 1/2-oz. serving)
1/2 cup apricot nectar
2 tablespoons Borden's Instant Dutch Chocolate Flavored Mix
1/2 cup cold milk
Four apricot nectar in serving glass; dissolve Borden's Instant Dutch Chocolate Flavored Mix in nectar. Stir in milk. Serve immediately.

NOTE: Dash quinine water may be added, if desired.

If your cuticles are in bad condition, treat them to a gentle olive oil bath or a lanolin cream once or twice a week. Keep fingers free of hangnails; otherwise you may be tempted to bite or pull at them.

Potatoes Provide Tasty Meal At Drop Of Hat

Cool, clam and collected is the posed homemaker who is ready for the unexpected and remains a gracious, unflustered hostess even when last minute guests appear on the dinner scene without too much advance warning. This happens frequently at summer homes or weekend retreats, for hot weather seems to be vacation time for everyone but the homemaker.

A wisely chosen stock of convenience foods on the pantry shelf is a good starting point for the assured hostess who can turn out a meal in jig time. A special time and energy saver—instant whipped potato flakes—works like magic. These "flavor flakes" made from the highest grade of white mashing potatoes instantly become delicious whipped potatoes without any peeling, boiling or mashing.

For a main course that's a company dish at the drop of a hat, try our Potato Lobster Bake which features the two principal ingredients right off the pantry shelf— instant whipped potato flakes and canned lobster meat. And if you decide to have cold meat for supper, you'll like the Potato-Cheese stuff as an accompanying hot dish. Here, too instant whipped potato flakes star.

POTATO LOBSTER BAKE
(Makes about 4 servings)
2 tablespoons butter
1 1/3 cup finely chopped green pepper
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1/4 cup finely chopped celery
1 1/2 cups water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cold milk
1 envelope Borden's Instant Whipped Potato Flakes
1 tablespoon butter
1/4 cup finely chopped pimiento
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 (10-oz.) can lobster meat, drained

Melt butter in small skillet; add vegetables; saute until tender. Combine water and salt in medium-size saucepan; cover, bring to boil. Remove from heat. Add milk and lemon juice; reserve. Remove boiling water from heat. Add milk immediately, then Borden's Instant Whipped Potato Flakes and butter. Stir gently with fork or wire whip until liquid is absorbed. Whip briskly. Mix sauteed vegetables and the pimiento with potatoes. Arrange lobster meat in buttered 8-inch baking dish. Pour lemon juice over lobster; arrange potatoes around edge of dish. Bake in moderate oven (350 degree F.) for about 20 minutes, or until juice bubbles and potatoes have browned slightly.

POTATO-CHEESE FLUFF
(Makes 5-6 servings)
1 1/2 cups water
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1/4 cup cold milk
1 envelope Borden's Instant Whipped Potato Flakes
1 tablespoon butter
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan and Romano cheese
2 egg whites

Combine water and salt in medium-size saucepan; cover, bring to boil. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; reserve. Remove boiling water from heat. Add milk immediately, then Borden's Instant Whipped Potato Flakes and butter; stir gently with fork or wire whip until liquid is absorbed. Whip briskly.

Practicing Physician Proclaims Discovery To Slow Aging Cycle

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—A practicing physician who has been swimming against a medical tide for more than 20 years, makes bold to assert that the hormone of the thyroid gland judiciously administered mixed with vitamins "slows down the aging process."

But whether it does or doesn't, it prevents one of the most fateful events of that process, which is the depositing of cholesterol into the linings of the arteries, said Murray Israel, M.D. This "hardens" arteries. Heart "attacks" and cerebral "strokes" take place in hardened arteries. Israel has just published the profession, through the Vascular Research Foundation, the results of 16 years of prescribing thyroid hormone in large doses on a continuous basis. That is a radical departure from usual medical practice.

He worked with 714 patients ranging from under 20 to 90 years old, some of whom were moribund following several "attacks" or strokes. While under thyroid vitamins treatment, only 2 1/2 per cent died while 92 per cent were improved, measured both by physical signs and by how the patients felt.

There were none of the dread "side effects" which many medical minds associate with prolonged dosing with thyroid hormone. Nor was the body chemistry of any patient so stepped up, it "burned itself out" which can be the consequence of too much thyroid.

The thyroid is one of the endocrine glands which secrete hormones into the blood stream that (among other things) keep check on the chemical processes which energize the body and keep it in repair. These hormones are aided in their labors by vitamins and enzymes.

Thyroid hormone is particularly potent in oxygen-involving chemical processes which energize the body and keep it in repair. These hormones are aided in their labors by vitamins and enzymes. Thyroid hormone is particularly potent in oxygen-involving chemical processes which utilize and dispose of fatty alcohols of which cholesterol is the most notorious

MILKMAN VS POSTMAN
BLACKNELL, England (UPI)—A milkman had a postman hailed into court Tuesday because the postman's dog bit the milkman, since it is found deposited in the linings of all hardened arteries.

SEA OF GLASS—State farmers in Bucharest, Romania, district appear to cultivate rows of glass panes. They're inspecting tomato seedlings. The panes protect them from cool weather. It's the Rostia state farm.

115,243 Acres Of Texas Land Set As 'National Grasslands'

Recently, Under Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse signed administrative order redesignating the Land Utilization Projects as "National Grasslands."

Involved are 3.8 million acres in 11 states including 115,243 acres in Texas, 46,211 acres in Oklahoma and 133,103 acres in New Mexico. These areas will be administered by the Panhandle Forest Service, at Amarillo, under multiple use and sustained yield management plans.

They were purchased by the Federal Government in the depression years of the 1930s to take them out of cultivation and to assist in the development of grassland agriculture in the surrounding areas.

They were managed and developed by the Soil Conservation Service from 1938 through 1953 and since by the Forest Service. They are now given permanent status under Title III of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act to be managed under the same regulations and general policies as the national forests. Administration of oil, gas, and mineral leases and permits on these lands will continue to be handled by the Department of Interior.

"The National Grasslands," said Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Ervin L. Peterson, fit well into the structure of multiple use and sustained yield as practiced on National Forests where outdoor recreation, range, timber, water, wildlife, fish and other natural resources are managed and coordinated for best public use."

Peterson, who has administrative responsibility for managing the department's public lands, emphasized that this action is part of the department's program to promote the economic stability of Great Plains agriculture.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The earnings yield may be replacing the dividend yield as a generally accepted yardstick of stock values, according to Prentice-Hall Inc.

The earnings yield is the price-earnings multiple for a stock divided by 100 per cent.

Prentice-Hall says it can plausibly be argued that bond yields should be compared not with stock dividend yields — but with the appreciably higher earnings yield.

Good quality issues well down from their previous peaks, offering fair yields and recovery prospects, according to F. M. Webber, Jackson & Curtis, gas, Alton-Chalmers, Bethlehem Steel, Columbia Gas, Eastern Air Lines, First National Stores, Illinois Central, Lehigh Portland Cement, St. Regis Paper, Skelly Oil, Spencer Chemical, West Virginia Pulp & Paper and White Motor.

WANTS ATTENTION
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Thomas Mahoney, 27, a burglary parole violator, returned to city jail Tuesday and said he walked out Sunday with a group of visitors going into an elevator because "nobody paid any attention to me."

Eldon A. Grimm of Walston & Co. thinks the breadth-of-market action must improve if the market is going to enjoy anything like a general advance. He suggests switching Heinz and Ferro into Johns-Manville, Monsanto into Johns-Manville or Daystrom, and Kroger and Consolidation Coal into Bestwall-Gypsum.

Boats Still Big News Around Stock Market

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Boats still are big news in the stock market and from time to time shares of any company connected with that industry are given a fling.

Barron's in its current issue however, sounds a note of warning on that industry under the heading of a leading article, "Signs of a Squall? Pleasure boating may be headed for rough weather."

Boats are in the classification of stocks called "leisure time" issues. They still are big business over all, and are expected to weather qualls.

Barron's goes deeply into the field and lists many companies making boats, engines, and accessories. It quotes Peter B. Andrews, market analyst of "The Boating Industry" magazine.

"If money is scarce, people who can afford either a boat or a new car are more likely now to buy the boat and a motor for it... the two-boatt family is beginning to emerge."

J. Richard Elliott, Jr., author of Barron's article notes that the boating industry expects the market to expand to 53-million eager customers.

"On this he quotes R. A. Holman, specialist in boating stocks. He says "that the next ten years could see the greatest boom ever in boating with a possible doubling of the number of participants to nearly 50 million."

These rosy forecasts may all come true one day, says Elliott. "Between now and then, however," he adds, "there may be squalls and, by a number of signs and portents, one is blowing up right now."

"To begin with the industry's fabled growth for the present any way has come to a halt. Traditionally or at least since the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers, the industry's trade group, began keeping records in 1934—sales rose sharply from March to June, the period accounting for over half of yearly volume.

"This year, however, the seasonal pickup has failed to appear. After lagging behind 1959 in January—February, volume in both March and April dropped by 9 per cent from a year ago.

At the same time, cancellations amounted 48 per cent and new orders were down by one-eighth."

The Barron's article is the old story of industries that grow by leaps and bounds. The author sums it up:

"The most important fact about pleasure boating these days is that the winds of change are blowing hard. Which companies will be favored and which will become or-

Addison's Attorney Won't Defend Him On Theft Violation

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—An attorney for uranium promoter John Milton Addison "won't" want to defend Addison on charges of theft over $50 and violation of the state's securities act.

William Yelderman of Austin asked permission to withdraw from the case. He made his request in a letter to Criminal District Judge John F. Onion Jr. Onion has not acted on it.

Addison's trial, originally scheduled last Monday, has been postponed until Nov. 28 under an agreement between prosecution and defense.

Attorneys said they wanted to await the outcome of Addison's trial in Fort Worth federal court on charges of violating the federal securities act before going ahead with his trial here.

Worldwide Sympathy Extended To President

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

As President Eisenhower concluded his Asian tour this week, worldwide reaction—as to its results—appeared almost unanimous. It was, first of all, personal sympathy for the President who has impressed the world with a sincere desire for peace but who has, twice in little more than a month, suffered humiliating setbacks at the hands of the Communists.

Second, it was agreed that the leftist forces which forced cancellation of his visit to Tokyo, had inflicted a severe blow to U. S. prestige which the Communists now could be expected to exploit vigorously.

Merriman Smith, UPI White House reporter who has accompanied Eisenhower on his globe circling tour, reports it is likely that the President would attempt another trip during his remaining six months in office.

Thus with the blow-up of the summit conference in Paris and the Tokyo incident have gone glimmering the President's hope that to his success he would leave the heritage of a firm platform upon which world peace could be built.

Of the President's Asia tour, UPI President Frank H. Bartholomew wrote from Tokyo: "The most that can be said is that the interests of the Western world have not been benefited by the President's well-intentioned visit."

The Times of London said: "The cancellation of the Tokyo visit is the biggest blow to the prestige of an American president and the United States government since the war."

Men in the street reaction stories cannot be taken as indicative of the feelings of whole nations, since of necessity they cover only small segments of the population.

But a UPI poll of such reaction in more than a dozen European nations, reflected a general theme: A lawyer in Madrid and a clerk in Brussels believed the United States had lost the cold war initiative.

An airline clerk in Sweden and a policeman in Zurich believed America should follow a "tougher" line.

A Frenchman thought the United States should listen to advice from President De Gaulle.

A London store clerk thought "he is doing the best job possible." A West German barber in Frankfurt tempered it with: "America is doing a pretty good job as the leader although she makes her share of foolish mistakes."

Recent events have dealt Eisenhower a bitter personal blow which history may show could or could not have been prevented.

This much is certain: Both the blow-up at the summit and the liberality generated by Communist leadership at a time when the United States is preparing for a change in its own leadership through general elections.

Thus Eisenhower was the personal victim of a larger plan by world Communism to show mistrust and unrest at a time when the United States is in a period of transition.

The Almanac

By United-Press International

Today is Thursday, June 23, the 175th day of the year, with 191 more in 1960.

The moon is new.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:
In 1836, there was a surplus in the Treasury and 26 states divided up $28,101,044.91.

In 1867, Congress approved creation of a government printing office.

In 1868, journalist Christopher Latham Sholes received a patent for his typewriter.

In 1876, "American humorist" Irvin S. Cobb was born.

In 1894, the Duke of Windsor, later King Edward VIII of Great Britain and Ireland, was born.

A thought for today: Bishop Fulton John Sheen said: "Baloney is flattery so thick it cannot be true, and Blarney is flattery so thin we like it."

LYLES NAMED
AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Price Daniel yesterday appointed J. E. (Ed) Lyles of Mart, Tex., to the three-man Texas Employment Commission. Lyles, State Labor Commissioner since last year, succeeds the late R. F. Newman, who died of a heart attack Saturday, leaving an unexpired term until Nov. 21, 1961. R. B. (Dick) Lattig of Austin will fill Lyles' unexpired term as Labor Commissioner.

Subsidy Program To Help In Paying Medical Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A limited subsidy program to help 500,000 to one million needy persons pay their medical bills came up today for swift and overwhelming House approval.

The election-year measure fell far short of rival proposals backed by organized labor and the Eisenhower administration. These programs would provide benefits for most of the 16 million persons over 65.

The House bill would offer federal grants to any state that wanted to expand its public assistance program to include medical care benefits for elderly persons who can't afford medical attention but aren't poor enough to qualify for relief checks.

The measure was taken up under a rule that barred amendments to expand it.

Democrats were expected to fight in the Senate to widen the bill to include some version of the labor-backed plan to add medical care to Social Security benefits. The final version then would be worked out by Senate-House conferees.

Other congressional news:
Minimum Wage: The Senate Labor subcommittee was expected to approve today a bill to raise the federal minimum wage gradually from $1 to $1.25 an hour and extend coverage to an additional 5,123,000 workers. Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.) launched a drive to rally opposition. He said the legislation would drive out of business many small manufacturers, retailers, loggers and other companies.

Cuba: The House Agriculture Committee summoned Secretary of State Christian A. Herter to explain whether the administration wants Congress to ratify Fidel Castro by cutting Cuba's sugar marketing quota in the United States. President Eisenhower asked for power to change quotas of sugar-supply countries but promised not to use the authority to retaliate for Castro's anti-American activities. Key House Republicans said, however, the administration backed their fight to cut Cuba's quota.

Quotes In The News

By United Press International
BRUSSELS—Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion, stating his position that accused mass-murderer Adolf Eichmann had been persuaded by Israeli volunteers to leave his hiding place in Argentina and accompany them to Israel:
"We do not care to investigate how he was persuaded."

WASHINGTON—Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), replying to budget director Maurice Stans' charge that congressional Democrats were playing fast and loose with the administration budget surplus:
"We come to expect statements like this just before election campaigns."

BUCHAREST, Romania—Soviet Premier Khrushchev, expressing interest in the American presidential campaign:
"Our state, our people are... interested in the election of such a president and the formation of such a government as would remedy the mistakes made by the present government of the United States."

HOLLYWOOD—Movie actress Shirley MacLaine stating why she is a Democrat:
"I'm a Democrat mostly because the party believes in the same things I believe in."

FIRE TOO SMALL
NEW YORK (UPI)—The Fire Department's manpower squad No. 8, a special assignment group equipped with gas masks and hand extinguishers, had to call the Fire Department Tuesday when a fire broke out in the basement of their station house. The manpower boys weren't equipped to cope with the insignificant blaze.

Masculine Swim Wear In Knee-Length Adaptation Of Gay Nineties Fashion

This knee-length swim trunk is an adaptation of the Gay 90s style but infinitely smarter in its stripe motif, accented by web belt and brass buckle. Ideal for the water skier in nippy weather.

By TONY DRESSER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — If men's swim trunks become any more stylish, they may replace trousers. In fact, some of them are long enough to do just that.
This year's trunks range in length from form-fitting shorts to ankle-length "long johns." They feature stripes and plaids with brass buckles and web belts. Fabrics range from snug-fitting elasticized fabrics to cotton knits.
The increasing popularity of various water sports has had a definite influence on swimwear. Manufacturers, such as Janzlen, have given thought to maximum comfort in this summer's collection for ex-everyone from surfboarders to just plain beachcombers.

For the man who likes to dress "right" even in a swimsuit, here are some recommendations:
Your first glimpse of the knee-length suit may call to mind a dandy of the 90s, "cutting a fine figure" for a flounce-skirted bathing belle. But for water skiers, they provide extra warmth when the air is nippy and the water is cold.
Skin divers are urged to try the ankle-length models also for warmth and leg protection. This length is also fine for boating enthusiasts who seem to acquire leg bruises with shorter versions.
The mid-thigh "Hawaiian length" is the newest length from a fashion standpoint. They're "right" for surfing and beach strolling.
Although new fabrics and prints play an important part in swimwear fashions for this year, the biggest news seems to be the many different lengths that will be worn both for style and practicality.
But if you're the conservative type, don't despair. The classic tight-fitting short trunks are still around in abundance. They will always remain the choice of the active swimmer.
Along with the pencil pushers the man behind the wheel and the gas pump is buckling to the dictates of style these days. The Phillips Petroleum Co., for example, claims a recent change in uniform styles has given business a new lift. You can't hardly tell what'll make a buck for you these days. Sudden thought: If TV hadn't been invented, what would the average family have to fight about? ... Tip for the outdoor chef: Rub the outside of pots and pans with wet soap before cooking over an open fire. This will allow the soot to be wiped off with crumpled paper before the pots go into the dishwasher. Cut down your wife's complaints about the mess you make, too.
CHOCOLATE-CINNAMON TOAST

DEAR ABBY . . .

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What happens to people when they get behind the wheel of an automobile? I have seen drivers (both men and women) behave in the rudest, most inconsiderate manner. (From crowding other motorists off the street to deliberately pulling into a parking space that someone is obviously struggling to back into.) I've seen them blast their horns at pedestrians and other drivers and cuss them out in vulgar language. Does something "psychological" happen to people when they get in the driver's seat? I am sure these same people in other circumstances would be charming, considerate ladies and gentlemen.
CONSIDERATE WOMAN DRIVER
DEAR WOMAN DRIVER: You are mistaken. One who is basically considerate and kind does not suddenly become rude, selfish and uncivilized when he gets behind a wheel. He is merely being his ugly self because he thinks he will never see those he offends again.

receives a greeting card for his birthday, anniversary, graduation, Easter, going-away or get well, is it necessary to thank the sender? I say it is kind of silly.
If you write to the person who sent you the card what are you supposed to say? "Thanks for the card"? Then, by rights, the person who gets thanked will have to write back and say, "You're welcome." It is just too much trouble. I'd rather be left alone.
DEAR LAZY: Hold that attitude and you WILL be left alone. A card is an expression of thoughtfulness (not "card") is a common courtesy which, unfortunately, is becoming more uncommon every day.
DEAR ABBY: About that simple-minded young wife who hails until her husband falls asleep at night to pin up her hair, and then gets up early to comb it out so he won't see her in pincurls. I wonder if he gets up in the middle of the night to shave so his wife won't see him with a beard?

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
The other day I sat in on a session of the American Psychiatric Association's annual meeting and heard Dr. Karl Menninger call for an end to the "irrational ritual" of capital punishment.
"We do a lot of finger pointing at Adolf Hitler for disposing of unwanted people by putting them into gas chambers," he said, "but we put unwanted people into them one by one."
"We cannot offer the excuse offered by German apologists for Hitler's concentration camps. They pleaded ignorance of what went on in them. But we cannot plead ignorance of what goes on in the execution chambers of our penitentiaries."
He went on to assert that the continuing existence of the death penalty makes it increasingly difficult to interest good, dedicated young psychiatrists in prison work.
I believe it. Redemption through the conscious experience of suffering is one of the purposes of psychiatry.
In prisons people suffer. They are denied freedom of choice, of movement, meaningful sex relationship, friends and hope.
By helping a prisoner to become conscious of the suffering caused him by his acts of social aggression, a psychiatrist can lead him to renounce these acts.
"But, over psychiatrists who have been given the opportunity to make changes in a prisoner's nature there may burst at any moment an order for the patient's execution," Dr. Menninger said.
"So prison work is demoralizing to psychiatrists. Though they are needed not only for the individual prisoner's rehabilitation but to gain us more knowledge, I find it harder and harder to persuade my students to enter prison work."
I felt happy with this talk because it so bravely protested this nation's secretly increasing despair of mankind.
Yes, in this 1960 world of politics, of missile love and Cold War cat-and-mouse torture, Dr. Menninger was declaring hope for mankind.
And this is the true issue posed by capital punishment. We are for it or against it according to the hope we can feel in our own ability to change, to grow.
If we cannot grant a Caryl Chessman his potential for development, we will be unable to grant it to ourselves.
So for those who wanted him dead, I am sorry. This is not the year to say "No" to any potential human change. The survival of us all now depends upon just that.

Remedy For Pretty Hair In Humidity

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. In the high humidity of summer, things happen to your hair. It either goes limp or frizzes up. Sometimes it continues to do both at once.
Fortunately, there is something you can do to prevent it looking its worst on very hot days or at the seaside. The first is to have your hair cut a shorter length than you wear in the winter months. Have it styled simply so that you can set it yourself each night.
Next, equip yourself with some chiffon head scarves in pretty pastels. These come in helmet shapes now and either tie or snap on. They're intended to keep you pretty and in order in an open car, at the seaside or just on a generally breezy day.
If you need a soft body permanent, have one. But don't go about all summer clutching a can of hair spray as if it were your last hope. It isn't. And, along with the sun, it may help to dry out your hair.
Each day, use your hair brush vigorously. It won't brush out the curl and it will give you healthy, shining hair that trains easily.

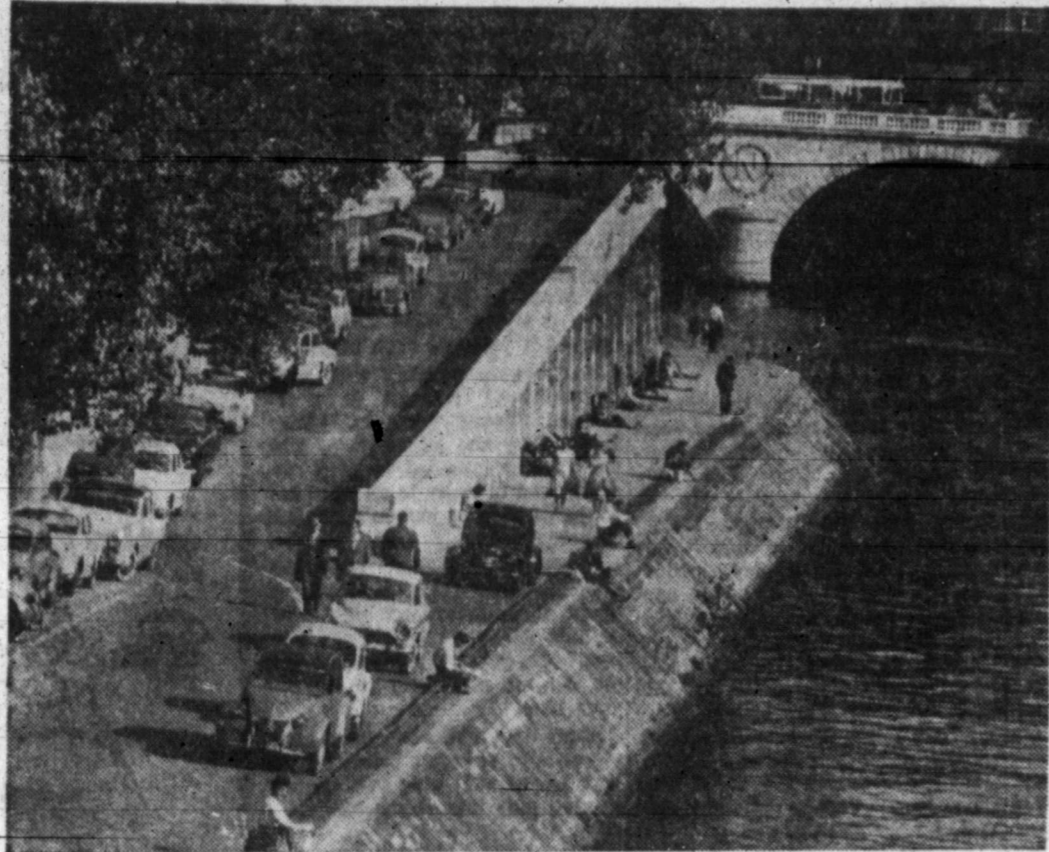

Some people are summer types and some are not. That is, some prefer hot weather and others would be happy to skip the whole thing.
If you're not a summer type, learn that the hot months still carry certain benefits. Sunshine, salt air or mountain air (on vacation) are good for you. So is swimming. And tennis, or golf.
Summer hands you beauty bonuses when the sun glides your skin the sand on the beach smooths out the bumps on your feet and being

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

DUBLIN, Ireland (UPI)—Sam Snead's mind and his ambitions were 5,000-miles away as he teed off today in the International Trophy and Canada Cup championships.

Slammin' Sam and Arnold Palmer are representing Uncle Sam in this "world series" of golf. There's an individual title as well as two-man total honors in this friendly fairway battle among 30 nations.

But the Slammer still is playing last week's U.S. Open back in Denver, U.S.A.—and plotting how he might win it yet.

"I thought I had it going for me for a while on that last day," he grunted disconsolately as he looked out across the clear blue waters of the Irish Sea. "But then up jumped the devil."

He could have added "again." For Sam has been second four times in the Open—the only big guy seven on the ninth hole which broke his back and it must become part of his unlucky legend in the Open.

"Sure it took the heart out of me," he nodded, raising his driver to his shoulder and sighting it like a rifle at a large rabbit bounding across the fairway. "That was the end for me."

But not, he insists grimly, the end of his hopes.

"I am declared, when the Open started at Denver, that at 45 this was his 'last big chance.'"

"It was just talk," he avowed. "I figured I might do it this time. I felt real good and I was playing right well."

He shrugged off the fact that Red Ray, at 45, was the oldest man ever to capture the Open. And that was back in 1920 before a horde of determined, able young men were lured into golf by the sizeable chunks of cash which the touring pros play for these days.

He has, Sam admitted, made a mistake in the manner in which he went about his quest for the Open in recent years.

"I haven't played enough," he said. "I've just tried to get ready in the last few weeks but you can't win against these kind of fields that way. Look at this year. I was all over the place at dinners and making all kinds of appearances. I should have been playing and practicing."

"Why," he added in self condemnation, "do you know I went into the Open with a sand wedge I hadn't ever used before?"

The old one, he grinned, was grooved too deeply and was "illegal."

"So what happened?" he turned bitter. "I came out of 11 bunkers but only twice was close enough to one-putt."

"It will, he promised, be different from here-on in the deepening twilight of his dreams.

SAM SNEAD

"I figure I've got two more good chances," says Sam, noted for his strength and his clean living habits. "I'm swinging as well as ever; but I'm finally smart enough to know what has to be done. Next year, and the next, I'm going to lay out a practice and playing schedule building right up to the Open. For two months before the Open I'm going to give it everything I've got. That will tell the story."

His nightmare still is fresh in his mind. So it will be interesting to see whether Sam follows his plan. And, if he does, don't sell him short at 49 or even at 50.

He had a horrendous triple boone he hasn't captured in more than 100 tournament triumphs—and one other time he kicked it away with an eight when a par on the last hole would have won it.

"I felt as if I might do it and I was turning it pretty good," he said. "After all, I was one shot ahead of Palmer—and he came on to win it."

In the flush of Palmer's amazing comeback—making up seven strokes in the final round to win the Open—it was overlooked that Slammin' Sam really took the pipe again.

Cotton Bowl May Get Title Rematch

DALLAS (UPI)—The Cotton Bowl in Dallas was being considered today as the site for the third heavyweight championship fight between Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson.

Mayor Robert L. Thornton sent a telegram Wednesday to William B. Fugazy in New York in reply to one from the promoter.

"The Cotton Bowl, located in the State Fair Grounds with a seating capacity of 75,000 seats, seems to be a natural, and our police department assures me that they can furnish complete protection and cooperation," Thornton said in the telegram.

Fugazy is head of Feature Sports, Inc., which promoted last Monday's title fight.

The Dallas mayor said he believes "the people of the Southwest, who don't often get the opportunity to see championship fights, would support the program enthusiastically."

Fugazy telegraphed Mayor Thornton asking about the Cotton Bowl, but said the city would guarantee complete cooperation and maximum police protection—a vital precaution which was not supplied by the New York Police Department at the Polo Grounds here Monday night.

Palmer's Loot Tops $76,000 In Golf

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer's victory in the U.S. Open has made him a virtual cliché to win up as the top golfing money-winner of the Year even though the PGA tournament trail has six more months to go.

Palmer picked up $14,400 for his first place finish in last Saturday's Open championship at Denver to boost his yearly total winnings to $66,600.

Dow Finsterwald is in second place with $34,100.

Ken Venturi is third with $30,200 followed by Jerry Barber in fourth place with $29,200 and Julius Boros fifth with $27,700.

Milliron Engineering pushed over five runs in the first two innings and made them stand up for a 5-1 win over Shelby Ruff in a well-played ball game last night.

Pony League

The Lions Club virtually wrapped up the Pony League pennant last night when it walloped the Cree Drilling nine, 23-8, in a wild-and-wooly affair marred by 17 errors.

Cree managed to score eight runs despite the fact it was held to just one hit by Lions twirler Dee Wright. Wright handed out nine free passes to go along with eight errors committed by his mates to give Cree an offense of a sort.

Wright was the big star both on the hill and at the plate in the one-sided win. He banged out five hits in six trips to the plate. Included in the rash of hits was a home-run over the left-field fence with two runners aboard and a double in the first. Wright drove in six runs with his five hits.

Jimmy Lollar's three-for-four and Clay Lively's three-for-five backed up Wright's offensive efforts.

Losing pitcher Mike Bridges ruined Wright's no-hit bid when he singled in the second. Bridges was tagged for 11 hits and 18 runs in the five and two-thirds innings he worked. His teammates gave him poor support afield, committing eight errors while he was on the mound.

The Lions now stand 10-3 with two games remaining while Cree is 9-4 with the same number of games to play. Any combination of one Lion win and one Cree loss will eliminate Cree from the race.

In the first contest last night Kist trimmed Hughes 5-1 behind the four-hit pitching of lefthander Bobby Price who fanned 13 and walked only one.

But it was catcher Max Taylor of the Hughes team who won the crowd's heart last night. Taylor was hit in the right arm by a Price fast ball in the first inning. The arm swelling badly from the painful blow. Only nine Hughes players were suited up and the gutsy youngster hung in rather than forfeit the game. He played the entire seven innings with his throwing arm swollen and paining.

Chennie meets Hughes in the lone game tonight at 5:30 p.m.

G-Sox Rip Puebla 11-7 In Pan-Am

By United Press International

Victoria snapped a five-game losing streak Wednesday night with a bang that was heard in two countries.

The Rosebuds, holding fourth place in the Texas League, mauled Veracruz, top club in the Mexican circuit, 22-6, in a wide-open slugfest that saw 44 hits. Victoria got 28 of them.

Amarillo ran up an early lead and held on to beat Puebla, 11-7. San Antonio beat Mexico City's Tigers, 5-2, but other Texas loop teams didn't fare so well. Valley's Giants dropped a 9-5 decision to the Mexico City Red Devils. Monterrey topped Tulsa, 10-6, in 10 innings, and Pozo Rica beat Austin, 10-6.

let the Sox coast home. Mike Waritsky went the route giving up nine hits, including five home runs that produced all but one of the Oilers' tallies.

Dave Gerard held the Tigers to four hits while his mates pounded out nine to help San Antonio move to within four games of league leading Valley. The Missions broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth with a pair, and added single runs in the sixth and eighth as clinchers.

Dick LeMay couldn't get started for Valley, and left the mound in the fourth trailing. Mexico City's Red Devils led. The Giants tried to get a rally underway, but All-America, Pacific Coast's outstanding player in 1949, unanimous election to the All-Time, All-West team in 1951, chosen "most Courageous Athlete" by Sportswriters Association in 1952, named "Redskins Player of the Year" in 1955 and 1958, and picked All-East quarterback for the Pro Bowl Game in 1956, 1957 and 1958.

ing out two hits at the plate himself.

Teddy Bird's fifth inning homerun with two on base won the game-winning blow for Klesse who led off 3-2 at the time.

Abbott's two hits paced the Hoover offense. Gary Johnson's double in the first inning drove in two runs to stake Molberg to an early lead.

LeBaron Joins Dallas Cowboys

Pirate Aces May Win 52 Together

DALLAS (UPI)—Eddie LeBaron, one of the greatest quarterbacks in professional football, has joined the Dallas Cowboys, General Manager Tex Schramm announced today.

The Cowboys, newest team in the National Football League, obtained the veteran signal-caller from the Washington Redskins in exchange for the Dallas entry's first and sixth draft choices next year.

The Cowboys and Redskins also announced another trade in which Ray Kucuta, veteran 33-year-old tackle, goes from Dallas to Washington in exchange for up-and-coming Frank Kuchta, 23, a 6-2, 230-pound former Notre Dame center with two years experience as a Redskin.

"Obtaining Kuchta relieves the problem possible at offensive center of veteran Charlie. One does not return to pro ball this fall," Schramm said.

LeBaron, who led NFL passers in 1958 and has been acclaimed as the greatest ball handler in Cowboys solid depth at the vital T-formation history, gives the Cowboys solid depth at the vital signal calling post. Already on the Cowboys' roster are former New York Giant quarterback Don Heinrich; outstanding rookie prospect Don Meredith of Southern Methodist, and John Tally, also a rookie, who just graduated from Northwestern.

Braves Get Dark For Utility Role

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Alvin Dark had the chance today to put his "intangibles" assets to work in making the Milwaukee Braves the fourth pennant winner he has played with in a 14-year career.

Dark, 37, was traded to the Philadelphia Phillies in exchange for third baseman Joe Morgan of the Foster of Milwaukee's Louisville farm club.

If the Boston Braves and Milwaukee Braves are counted as two different teams, Dark thus moves to his sixth National League club since he broke in with Boston in 1948. He was with the pennant-winning Braves in 1948 and with the championship New York Giants in 1951 and 1954.

Both Milwaukee Manager Charlie Dressen and General Manager John McHale said Dark would be used as a pinchhitter and utility man.

The Braves will cut one man from their roster to make room for Dark, who is expected to report today or Friday.

Odessa Golf Lures Top Pros, Amateurs For $15,000 Pot

ODESSA (UPI)—The 12th annual Odessa Pro-Am Golf Tournament, richest tournament in the history of the event, opened today with 97 teams competing for $15,000 in prize money and merchandise.

Some of the best known professional golfers and the nation's top amateurs were included in the field. A little luster was lost when Cary Middlecoff and Dutch Harrison failed to register after having accepted invitations.

Among the professionals are Byron Nelson, Doug Sanders, Bo Winger, Billy Maxwell, Ernie Vossler, Al Besseling, Jay Hebert, J. C. Gospie, Rex Baxter and Don January.

Some of the leading amateurs are Don Cherry of New York, Spec Goldman of Dallas, Bobby Malone and Jerry Johnson of Fort Worth, Charles Coody of Stamford, John Paul Cain of Lubbock, and Bobby French of Odessa.

Rob Friend and Vern Law are giving the Pittsburgh Pirates the National League's 1-2 pitching combination since Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer almost single handedly hurled the Cincinnati Reds to the flag in 1939.

The league has seen such brilliant duos as Mort Cooper and Johnny Beazley, Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen, and Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette in the last 20 years. But Friend and Law look like they'll surpass the exploits of 'em all. You have to go all the way back to that '39 season when Walters won 27 games and Derringer won 25 to find a pair with a pace to match the Pirate stars.

In fact, with 20 victories between them in 60 games, Friend and Law are traveling at exactly the pace that would give them 52 wins—the same number totaled by Walters and Derringer.

It was Friend's turn Wednesday night and the comeback right-hander fired an eight-hitter that gave the Pirates a 5-0 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals. This was Friend's fourth shutout and lifted his record to 9-3. Law, who won Tuesday night, stands 11-2, so the two have a combined 20-5 mark.

The victory enabled the Pirates to maintain their 3½-game first-place lead over the Milwaukee Braves, who whipped the San Francisco Giants, 7-4. The Philadelphia Phillies closed out a suspended Tuesday-night game with a 7-6 win and then beat the Chicago Cubs, 6-3, in their regularly-scheduled game in other National League action.

The New York Yankees increased their American League lead to 3½ games when they beat the Detroit Tigers, 7-4, for their sixth straight win. The Chicago White Sox downed the Baltimore Orioles, 5-1; the Cleveland Indians edged the Washington Senators, 1-0, and the Kansas City Athletics beat the Boston Red Sox, 2-1.

Dick Groat had four hits and Roberto Clemente doubled-home two key runs to lead the Pirates' 11-hit attack that tagged Larry Jackson with his seventh loss. The Pirates have won six of their last seven games and have a seven-game winning streak at home.

Lew Burdette, aided by Don McMahon's relief, raised his record to 8-2 behind a 13-hit attack that included a homer by Bill Brant and four doubles. Johnny An-tonelli was tagged for 10 hits in five innings to suffer his fifth defeat. It was the fourth straight loss for the Giants, who haven't won since their first game under Manager Tom Sheehan last Saturday.

Robin Roberts completed the final innings of the suspended game for the Phillies and then Chris Short pitched an eight-hitter for his fourth victory. Tony Curry and Tony Gonzalez hit homers for the Phillies, whose four-game winning streak is their longest since last July.

Kent Hadley, filling in for injured Bill Skowron, drove in three runs with two homers as the Yankees made it 13 wins in 14 games and 18 in 19. Art Ditmar won his sixth straight game although Ryne Duren relieved in the ninth. Roger Maris also homered for New York and Rocky Colavito and Al Kaline connected for Detroit.

Early Wynn pitched a two-hitter for his first win since May 20 and the 27th of his career. The White Sox scored all their runs off Bill Fischer in the third inning on doubles by Gene Freese and Minnie Miñoso, a walk, Nelson Fox's single—a sacrifice, and Luis Aparicio's sacrifice fly.

Ted Bowfield, acquired from Boston on June 14, won his second consecutive game for the Indians with a five-hitter. The Indians gave him the game's only run in the first inning when Jimmy Piersall tripled and scored on Harvey Kuenn's single.

Ray Herbert pitched a seven-hitter to win his third game for the Athletics and hand Frank Sullivan his seventh loss for Boston. Herbert scored the winning run himself when Andy Carey hit into a double play with the bases filled in the sixth inning.

Man's Basic Nature

It is self-evident that for maximum rewards to come to each of us in our life...

Fortunately, we are living in a time when many of the dark corridors are being lighted...

There is one area of the human enigma which seems to require repeated explanation...

It would, however, be fair to comment that if only the items marked three and four were in evidence...

Our agricultural program is now expected to cost the American people $6.1 billion in the current fiscal year...

The drug industry of this nation has come onto the center of the bureaucratic target...

The Drug Probe

businessman he would be if he attempted to get people to buy his products if they had not been thoroughly tested...

According to Mr. Keafauer and his tax-paid assistants, the drug industry has been gouging the public unmercifully in its pricing of drugs...

What of the second charge, that manufacturers are NOT active in research and experimentation?

When you consider that this isn't tax money, but hard-earned dollars, saved in spite of all forays against them, it oozes into a strategic sum...

Next, let it be known that in investing such sums in research, the drug firms do NOT expect to place their discoveries on the market immediately...

And what of price to individual buyer? The drugist is clearly with in his rights to charge anything he can get, and if he does so he is not taking advantage of the patient.

Considering again the drug manufacturer's position, what a poor lieve they couldn't produce these same drugs for themselves for less money? If they felt they could, they would do so.

Because of the drug industry's ability to operate in a comparatively free market, the American pharmaceutical companies in the past 25 years have brought out more "miracle" drugs, paid more taxes, hired more people, advanced the knowledge of medicine in more ways, and helped to bring relief to more people than ever happened before in the history of medicine...

Instead of seeking to pin a badge of infamy on the industry, Keafauer ought to be looking for ways and means of bestowing a handsome medal. The drug industry, while not perfect, has done a magnificent job under enormous handicaps. We are proud of it.

Keafauer should pull that cap down over his eyes in shame.

Looking Sideways

by WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK—I don't want to elbow the ladies out of the kitchen these nice, warm June days or whittle anything from their rightful lustre...

Actually, I have the sullen feeling that the cottage and cream cheese makers have played hoses with the strawberry growers...

Were men equipped with only the first two desires, it is possible that we could hold little hope for the human race...

But the fact is that the second two emotional compulsions do exist and are much in evidence.

In Mexico I am told precisely the same dessert is sold in much the same way and I have never seen a Mexican, French or Spanish hostess get pink all the way up to her ears and announce with some hauteur mingled with pleasure that, "We are having cour a la creme tonight."

Over here, of late, we have gone in for such faddish as heart-shaped little wicker baskets for the cream cheese—no more tables, even head-shaped napkins, heaven help us all to sanity.

Under Johnson's formula, the social security system would be used to provide 90 or more days' hospital or nursing home care, doctors' charges and medicine costs.

Private voice counts by Johnson have convinced him that his plan will be approved by both the Finance Committee and the Senate.

Following is an advance publication of the main highlight of this very important broadcast:

What to get so excited about, as Ethel Swerman would phrase it, all you have done is serve a common dessert without, in your case, unwashed tin horn or patient dog, old man and cart either.

Why, I know French women who, when asked by the home-coming husband, what's for dessert tonight, reply: "Coeur a la creme," and the poor husband shrugs and replies: "Autre fois, belac!"

COMMITTEE DRAFTING JOHN-SON MEDICAL CARE PROPOSAL FOR AGED; WOULD USE SOCIAL SECURITY SYSTEM

WASHINGTON — Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson isn't kidding about his announced intention to put through medical care for the aged under the social security system.

CRYSTAL BALL — Definitely dead for this Congress are — the proposal vigorously urged by President Eisenhower and Treasury Secretary Anderson to remove the 41-year-old 4 1/2 percent ceiling on long-term government securities, and the bill demanded by Senator Paul Douglas (D., Ill.), requiring merchants to itemize interest, service and other charges on installment contracts.

Under Johnson's formula, the social security system would be used to provide 90 or more days' hospital or nursing home care, doctors' charges and medicine costs.

Private voice counts by Johnson have convinced him that his plan will be approved by both the Finance Committee and the Senate.

Communists Use Lure Of Summits To Keep Free World Off Its Guard

Professor Robert Strausz-Hupe does well to point out in "Protracted Conflict" (Harper & Brothers, $3.95) that the Communists are winning in the battle for the world because they know they are in it while most of our western leaders and people do not yet realize that most important fact.

Cultural interchange, Summit Conferences and visits by Communist leaders are mainly for the purpose of convincing the West that there is no serious conflict, that there is no need to be alarmed and that peaceful co-existence is quite possible.

Such tactics have so paralyzed the will of the people and the governments of free countries that they are unable to act in the face of the demonstrated facts that the Communists continually carry the conflict into our territory.

At the time of the uprising in East Germany, the rebellion in Hungary or the suppression in Tibet, it was assumed all over the West that we could not, even indirectly, extend military aid to the patriots or even moral support in the way of breaking relations with the Communist countries.

Our agricultural program is now expected to cost the American people $6.1 billion in the current fiscal year or double the cost of this program just six years ago.

By next fall, it is expected that we shall have more than $10 billion worth of farm commodities on hand and will be spending at the rate of about $1.5 billion just to store these vast quantities of wheat, corn, cotton and other products.

Labor, welfare and veterans' benefit expenditures are expected to run a little less than $10 billion for the current fiscal year.

The last Congress authorized increased spending for veteran's services that are expected to amount to roughly a quarter of a billion dollars a year.

The last Congress authorized starts on 67 new river and harbor reclamation projects that will add hundreds of millions of expense to American taxpayers.

We would do well to heed the warning of Budget Director Stans: "I think we ought to face up to the fact that, if we ever accept the principle that the sum of all demands against the Treasury—Government agencies or by people across the country—constitutes a requirement that we must meet, then we will go broke, personally, if you tried to meet all the demands of the members of your family."

Interest on the national debt this year will run about $9.1 billion or more than the entire Federal budget just twenty years ago.

As Governor Ribicoff said recently: "There is no bag of money; it always comes from the people. Failure to realize this fact is the cause of our predicament."

When the Federal government steps in and finances some local project, the people of that community seem to feel they are getting something for nothing. They do not realize that an equal or larger sum will be extracted from them to finance similar projects in other communities.

Nothing is gained when the Federal government finances a project for the citizens of Atlanta, and the latter contribute their share of the cost of projects for the citizens of Minneapolis and other cities.

On the few occasions when we have shown a little strength and determination, such as refusing to surrender Quemoy, standing knock ourselves out prematurely like the prize fighter who loses his bout in the dressing room.

To my mind, it's this all-or-none attitude that destroys many of our most valuable men and women in the prime of their lives.

It's not their hypertension or their diastolic or their coronary thrombosis that's at the root of their premature disablement or death but the all-or-none drive that exacts the tragic penalty.

1990 Prices May Read: 'Economy Sedan — $27,760'

Just after I had finished reading a life insurance table of life expectancy, and was deliciously happy to learn that I had 30 more years to go, this was put on my desk:

"Iowa manufacturer, Fred Maytag, contends that if the inflationary trend of the past 3 years continues for 30 years, we can predict the following price tags: Gallon of gasoline, 95 cents; peck of potatoes, $3.15; pound of coffee, $16.41; haircut, $32; a small American sedan, $27,760."

In that, one paragraph listing prices I went from joy to despair, and the thought of living to the day when a haircut cost $32 made me start taking precautions to see to it that I didn't.

The first thing I did was to loosen the top stair of the staircase. One slip, and I will have had it from top to bottom. There are 21 steps in all, and somewhere along the line my entire set of vertebrae will go.

I then took everything out of the refrigerator and placed it in the warm sun. Potomac poisoning, here I come! I can hardly wait until tomorrow to have that dish of creamed chicken 'a la bacteria.

Next, I loosened the steering wheel of my car. I took a slow, tight spin, and am almost sure that the first curve I take at any sort of speed will see to it that I will never have to pay sixteen dollars for a pound of coffee.

Just to be doubly sure that disaster would overtake me before 30 years had passed, I wrote to a reptile farm and ordered a supply of young, mean, hissing, hard-to-get-along-with rattlesnakes — a dud pug-dog, I plan to keep them under the pillows of the living room sofa.

One of these end-it-all measures should work.

If none does, and I live to see the day that Mr. Maytag's predictions come true, I am going to be a sight to behold.

My hair will be down about my knees, in long gray strands. It will cover my face, and give me the appearance of an ancient oak tree, draped in Spanish moss.

I'll be as thin as a rail, so weak that I will only be able to hobble about. For with potatoes at $3 a peck, one needs little imagination to guess the prices of other foodstuffs. Ten bucks for a loaf of bread. Three for a "pat" of butter. A quart of milk will cost more than a cow does now, and the only men who will have enough to buy a steak will be — you guessed it, the barbers.

I have to have my cup of coffee in the morning, so all my earnings will go for that. My wife will be in rags, my child in old rags, just as that Papa can have his cup of coffee before breakfast.

Our family travel will be limited to what can be done in a two-door govt wagon, pulled by a billy goat. With a small car costing close to thirty thousand dollars, we won't even be able to own our own headlight, or a bumper.

I hope Mr. Maytag's prediction proves incorrect.

I would hate to live in a country where everything has been priced out of existence — including existence.

MOTOR VEHICLE TRAFFIC DEATH CALENDAR

Grid of monthly traffic death statistics for 1959, showing daily counts and monthly totals for each month from January to December.

THE DEADLY TRUTH—About traffic safety in Texas in 1959 was that only one day in the whole year was free of traffic deaths. In 1958, there were five "Deathless Days" in Texas, four in 1957, five in 1956, three in 1955. If more Texans will drive in such a way that their cars are never involved in a crash which takes a human life, then Texas can record more "Deathless Days." Will YOU drive so that the Fourth of July holiday can record a "Deathless Day" to the Texas traffic calendar? [Official 1959 Texas Traffic Death Calendar Compiled by Statistical Services, Texas Department of Public Safety and Reproduced by the Governor's Highway Safety Commission, Austin, Texas.]

Wool Incentive Payments Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department has set producer incentive payments to producers for their 1959 crop at 43.2 per cent of the dollar returns they received from sale of the fiber on the open market. This means that for every $100 worth of wool a producer sold on the open market, he would receive an additional $43.20 from the government. For the 1958 wool crop, producers received $70.30 in payments for each $100 of wool sold. The incentive payment program is designed to encourage domestic production of up to 300,000,000 pounds of shorn wool. Shorn wool production in the United States last year totaled 257,200,000 pounds. The incentive payments are made from funds obtained from tariff duties on imported wool.

Movie Scenes In Casket 'Horrifying, Like Being Dead,' Starlet Declares

By VERNON SCOTT, UPI Hollywood Correspondent. HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — After her last picture Myrna Fahey could well be considered "dead" in celluloid. During much of her role in "The House of Usher" Myrna, a black-haired coiffee, lay in a plush pink casket making like a defunct leading lady.

they will ever do for moviegoers. "The whole thing was horrifying," said Myrna, who is just barely old enough to vote. "You see I wasn't playing a corpse. The role called for me to go into a deep trance and Vincent Price, thinking I'm dead, puts me in the coffin. "So I had to be there staring at pink satin upholstery. It was terrible. "In one scene Vincent shuts the top of the casket on me. It was like being really dead. There I was in a casket all by myself. "Between takes they'd forget I was in there, then all of a sudden someone would remember and open the lid so I could breathe again. The rest of the cast thought it was funny, but not me. "And you'd be surprised how people take it for granted you're dead when you're lying in a casket. They didn't talk to me or pay any attention to me while those scenes were being shot. Myrna, who has appeared in 50 TV movies and only one other movie, shuddered as she recalled her macabre experiences. "I didn't have claustrophobia when the picture began, but I sure developed it in a hurry. If it wasn't for my sense of humor I would have had hysterics. "Instead, I ruined a couple of takes by giggling. "Once the casket sequence was completed the Irish doll relaxed and acted her little heart out in other scenes. But a few days later they tossed her back into it. This time in chains. "I thought I'd go crazy," Myrna recalled. "Fortunately, the script said I was supposed to go mad and claw my way out of the coffin. "This didn't take an acting on my part. I really fought my way out — and almost ripped the costume off my back. It was a long, pink shroud. "People think it's easy to play a corpse, but they're wrong. It was no fun holding my breath for minutes at a time. I'll never do it again."

Second Guessing TV Emmy Awards

By FRED DANZIG, United-Press International. NEW YORK (UPI) — I don't vote in the Emmy awards competition either, but like every other TV fan, I'm hot for second-guessing. Here goes: I thought Art Carney deserved the Emmy in the humor field, but not for his "V.I.P." revue, which was honored Monday night. I felt Carney's first special, "Small World," was the funniest in the series. Incidentally, Carney's writers didn't even get nominated in the comedy category, which was won by Jack Benny's chaperones. "Huckleberry Hound's" well-deserved Emmy in the children's programming category would have made a bigger hit in my house if the category had been labeled, "Family programming."

I guess TV is indulging in some status seeking when it gives Sir Laurence Olivier an Emmy for "Moon and Sixpence." I'm sure it's a popular, safe award. But I can't help feeling that in the balloting took place in England, they'd have settled on Lee J. Cobb for his glowing performance in "Project Immortality." I get no kick out of showering Emmys on Robert Stack ("The Untouchables") and Jane Fonda ("The Younger Generation"). Wyatt, who topped Loretta Young, Donna Reed, Richard Boone, Raymond Burr. Week after week, they all do the same formula acting in formula scripts. The rummers-up will get their turns, I predict. "But at least they've done away with Emmys for supporting actors."

MAN CLEARED. HOUSTON (UPI) — John Ferguson, 46, a Greyhound bus driver, won an acquittal Friday night of charges he was negligent in the deaths of three persons June 15, 1959. Ferguson's bus was involved in a collision with a car in which three persons died and three suffered critical injuries. A district court jury deliberated a little more than six hours before finding him innocent. Morgan, Verna Eilton and Cara Williams. A semi-documentary color film about the Navy's landing of Marines in Lebanon two years ago will be presented on NBC-TV Sunday, July 3. King Shunibol Adulyadej and Queen Sirikit of Thailand will be interviewed on ABC-TV's "Open Hearing" Sunday, July 3. Comedienne Joyce Jameson has a featured spot on CBS-TV's "Spine James Show," which begins a nine-week run on Monday, Aug. 1. "Hollywood Sings," a musical revue that co-starred Tammy Grimes and Eddie Albert, is being repeated on NBC-TV on Monday, Aug. 1.

SHE'S JUST DOTTIE—Dottie Wimberly gets a kick out of splashing around the Gulf of Mexico. She's by Padre Beach in the Rio-Grande Valley of Texas.

LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON. SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Gen. Carlos P. Romulo leaves today for Washington to his post as Philippine ambassador to the United States.

Hibernate or Not? Some of the northern bats fly south when winter begins; others hibernate inside the hollow trees, caves and buildings where they make their homes. The United States averages 175,000 forest fires annually.

RED AGRI VISIT. BROWNSVILLE (UPI) — Six Russian agriculture scientists will arrive Sunday for a three-day tour of the Rio Grande Valley's cotton areas. They will stay at the entomology research center in Brownsville.
