South Set To Stall Reconvened Congress If New Civil Rights Measure Introduced

Senate Back Monday, House Convenes 15th

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Political sparring got underway Saturday in advance of Monday's reconvening of the election year congress with the possibility of civil rights legislation posing the sharpest question mark.

A key Southern spokesman, Sen. Richard B. Russell, (D-Ga.), cautioned that any effort to push through new civil rights legislation would doom any other legislative action in the unusual post-convention session.

Girl Says Cleric Is Attacker

Warrant Issued For His Arrest

EDINBURG, Tex. (UPI) — Deputy Sheriff Heriberto Sanchez drove from Edinburg to San Antonio Saturday carrying a warrant for the arrest of the Rev. John F. Feit, 27, who is charged with assault with intent to rape a 20-year-old college coed.

Sheriff E. E. Vickers also was advised that any communications between his office and Father Feit, a Roman Catholic priest, would have to be made through Fred A. Semaan, a prominent San Antonio criminal attorney, Dist. Atty. Robert Lattimore said.

Semaan could not be reached for comment. Vickers sent Sanchez to San Antonio with the warrant after Father Feit failed to surrender Saturday at Edinburg, as he was expected to do. Father Feit was (See GIRL, Page 2)

Russ Accused Of Stirring Prejudice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States accused Russia Saturday of waging a "hysterical" campaign to inflame public prejudice before the spy trial of American U-2 pilot Francis G. Powers begins in Moscow Aug. 17.

The State Department also reported the Soviet Union has rejected a U.S. request that American attorneys be allowed to help prepare Powers' defense. U.S. officials have been refused permission to see Powers since he was captured May 1 when his reconnaissance plane was brought down 1,300 miles inside Russia.

Pampa Youth Revival To Open 7-Day Run Monday

Pampa's youth-sponsored revival will begin at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the First Methodist Church. The first six of the meetings will be held in the church sanctuary, with the final rally scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 14, in Harvester Stadium.

This week-long Christian endeavor is a project of 13 youth organizations of churches of Pampa, composed of persons who have made this project one of the city's most talked about efforts to promote Christianity in city history.

Publicity throughout the Pampa area, door-to-door calls on residents, and other modes of advertisement have assured the success of the mission, far in advance of opening services.

The Rev. Lewis N. Stuckey Jr., pastor of the Methodist Church of St. Jo, Texas, will be evangelist. The 23-year-old pastor, a graduate of Duke University, was chosen to conduct the services following an extensive study of young ministers who were available.

Jim Bateman, Presbyterian ministerial student of Plainview, will be director of music. Accompanists will be Nanette Flynt, organist, and Marilyn Smith and Jerry Baxter, pianists.

Some 100 youths joined in the pre-revival activities. Last week a prayer vigil was conducted nightly from 8:30 to 8 p.m. in the First Methodist Church. Earlier in the planning period four successful (See REVIVAL, Page 2)

On the other hand, the Eisenhower administration let it be known that it has abandoned as politically unwise any plans to pressure for new and stronger civil rights legislation in the upcoming session. The hands-off plan was said to have been urged by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential candidate.

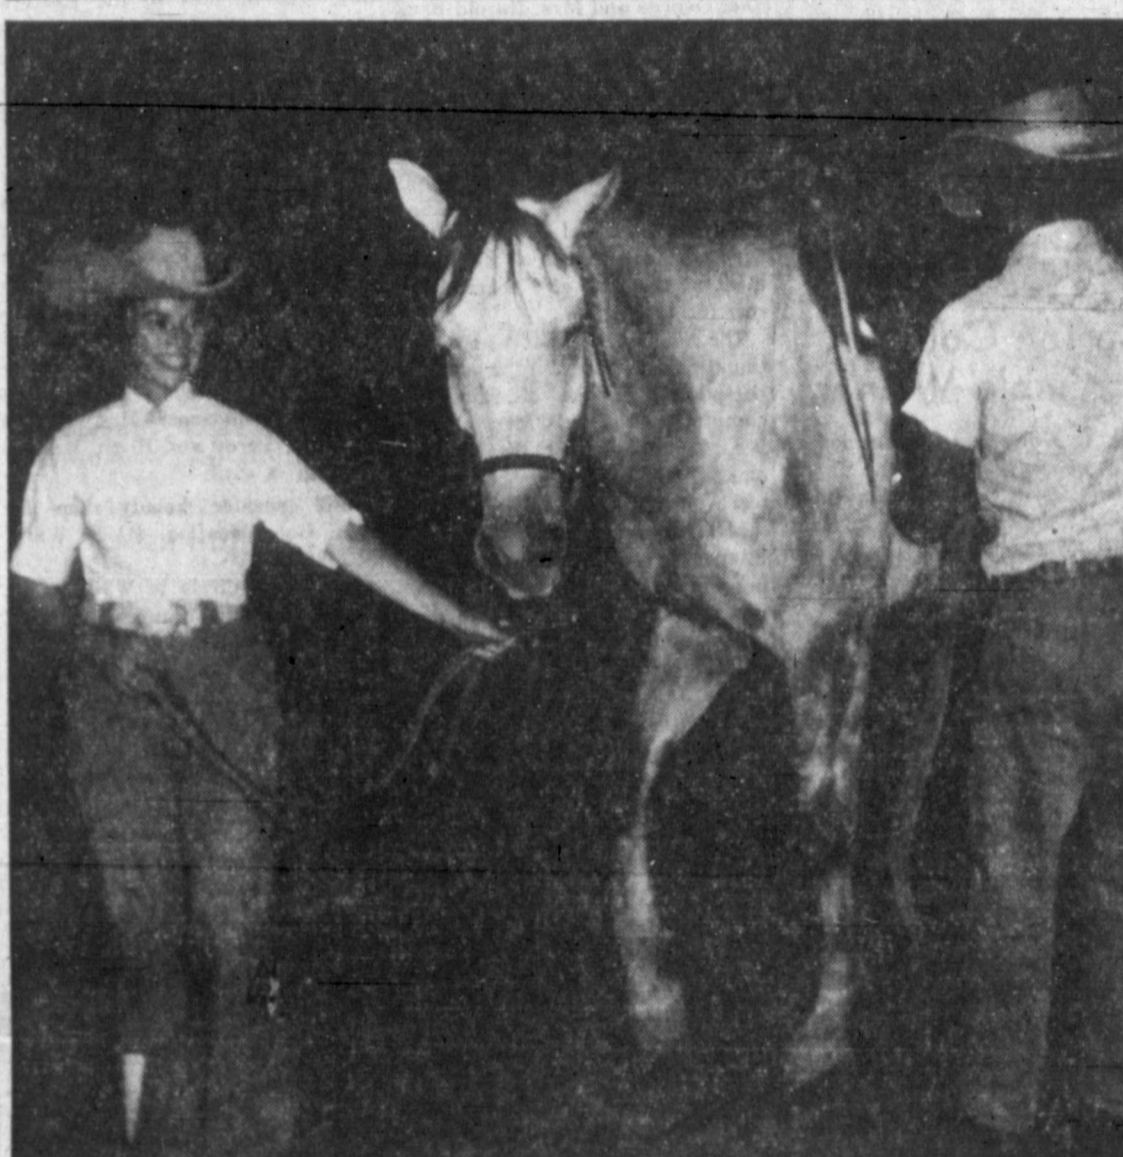

High officials said they believed that such a move might be construed as a cynical attempt to embarrass the Democrats politically. However, individual Republican congressmen have served notice they will prod the Democrats to act on civil rights in both the House and Senate.

Russell, however, said that a civil rights battle would "make it impossible to consider any other question" in the Senate where a filibuster can be waged. The Senate goes back to work at noon Monday; the House will return a week later.

Russell is racial rights strategy chief for Senate Southerners. He made his comment to United Press International as President Eisenhower announced at his Newport, R. I., vacation retreat that he would send the Senate a special message Monday on domestic and foreign policy.

At the same time, House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) called on House Republicans to forget politics and cooperate in passing five urgent bills—aid to education, higher minimum wages, medical care for the aged, housing, and a workable farm program. McCormack said in a statement that action could come swiftly if Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, broke a GOP deadlock against most of the measures in the House Rules Committee.

House Republican whip Leslie Arends (Ill.) countered by challenging the Democrats to pass "the pledges set forth in their 1960 platform." He said the platform calls for "a return to farm price supports at 90 per cent (See SOUTH, Page 2)

COWGIRL, QUEEN — Linda Merriott of Stamford won the saddle which is emblematic of the cowgirl queen of the Top O' Texas Rodeo. Compromise In Congo Aim Of Hammarskjold

By RALPH TEATSORTH United Press International

UNITED NATIONS N.Y. (UPI)—United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold returned to New York from the Congo Saturday for an emergency session of the Security Council at which he hinted that "war" in Africa might be averted through a Congo compromise.

Hammarskjold was reluctant to talk to newsmen who tried to interview him as he walked from a jet Swissair plane to the Idlewild International Airport terminal, but he did emphatically deny that he had any plans to resign, despite recent Soviet criticism of him.

"Why should I resign?" he asked. "I don't know why I should."

The hint of a possible compromise came in a report on the Congo that Hammarskjold sent to the Security Council as he flew from Leopoldville to reopen the Congo crisis before an emergency Security Council session at 7 p.m. EST Sunday.

Administration Abandons Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Eisenhower administration has abandoned as politically unwise plans to pressure for new and stronger civil rights legislation in the session of Congress beginning Monday, it was revealed Saturday.

High officials said they believed that in view of the partisan racial rights squabble expected to break out in both Senate and House, such a move might be construed as a cynical attempt to embarrass the Democrats.

European representatives on the council were reported preparing a resolution by which U.N. forces would enter Katanga, the province that broke away from Congo, peacefully on condition that Hammarskjold would sponsor negotiations for a Congo confederation.

He already was under attack by the Moscow press and radio for what the Russians said was condoning "Belgian aggression" in the Congo. Those attacks led to hints in the British press he and Bunche might resign but observers here seriously doubted he would quit under fire.

When asked what he would recommend to the Security Council, Hammarskjold told newsmen at the airport, "That you'll hear in the Security Council."

Hammarskjold was running into a certain diplomatic clash between east and west and the possibility of new Soviet personal attacks on himself and Dr. Ralph Bunche, the troubleshooter whose report on Katanga's determination to fight led Hammarskjold to cancel plans for U.N. forces to enter Katanga Saturday.

Another sparkling event which didn't seem to excite the spectators to applause was the cutting horse event. This resulted in a tie for first and third, with Pampa's own Rip Barrett, riding his nine-year-old mare, Bever's Betty, gaining a portion of the top spot with Buster Welch, who had the leg up on one of the nation's outstanding cutters, C. E. Boyd, of Sweetwater's, leggy Jesse Jack.

These two were tied for top honors going into the final night and the judges, after long deliberation, again couldn't separate them.

Matlock Rose (Isis) was second, and tied for third were James Kennedy (Joe's Last), and Red Myric (Laddie Buck).

Another entrant from Post snatched down a first, when Jimmie Moore made off with the saddle bronc riding laurels. His competition here was stiff, but the fans gained their thrill when Bill Johnson, of Vermijo, N. M., sailed over the fence from the back of a high bounding mount. But he quickly rose and walked away with apparently only his feelings scathed.

Another Pampaan entered into the picture in the "first" awards when Bud Coffee finished in a "dead heat" with Brock. Here again the judges studied long and hard, but the points to split the pair were not to be found.

The Gray County calf scramble was just what the name implies. Youths from this county flipped hither and yon with balky calves, before five of them finally managed to haul and pull their prizes into the charmed circle which signified the calves were theirs to keep.

Windup Of 16th Annual Rodeo Proves Exciting

By ED HAYES WILSON Daily News Staff Writer

Jim Brock, Lubbock's gift to the Top O' Texas Rodeo, did it again Saturday night — he took down the all-round cowboy honors for the second straight year, and did it without much pressure.

The coveted girls' honors, though, were a different thing. This saw two entrants tied at the end of their efforts; and a run-off separated them, but only by one-tenth of a second.

Linda Merriott, facing a bristling 18.1 posted by Amarillo's Virginia Watson, slashed her mount out of the chute and traversed the course in 18 seconds flat to take away the prize—a brilliantly decorated western saddle.

Not far back of this was Miss Merriott's sister, Patty, in third position.

The finals were, on the whole, a rousing affair. Throughout the program the fans were stirred by sparkling riding, to roping, and, for the most part, excellent bulldogging. It was, though, in the bull-riding that those who enjoy "blood" had a field day.

As one of the bull riders said, "Just not our night. These boogers are just too tough."

Those taking tumbles from the rough and rowdy bulls weren't to be marked off as "run of the mine." They were rolling up their best efforts, but the bulls were just having their "day" and there was no stopping them.

This event went to Ed Stewart, of Post, who edged Ronald Bass, of Texola, Okla.

Stewart well earned everything he received in the way of cash and individual awards.

Another sparkling event which didn't seem to excite the spectators to applause was the cutting horse event. To T Rodeo Success May Lure Celebrities

Pampa's Top O' Texas Rodeo may go "big time" next year.

This was the word Saturday night from Jake Osborne, president of the association, and E. O. Wedgworth, manager of the chamber of commerce and secretary of the association.

Osborne told The News, "We're going to seriously talk about bringing in some celebrated personages next year."

Wedgworth concurred in this, but noted, "It naturally, will have to be approved by the board of directors."

There was no name dropping in this revelation. The two officials said they couldn't say, nor do they have in mind at this time, who he brought in. However, the question of it being a "name" entertainer or two brought from the president, "That could well be."

"We have an outstanding show," said Osborne. "We think it has reached the place where it may be possible to bring in people to add special sparkle to the affair."

"We'll know more about it later," he concluded.

Hoffa, Bridges Support Is Spurned By Kennedy

By ALVIN SPIVAK United Press International

HAYANNIS PORT Mass (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, said Saturday he was happy to be without the support of labor leaders James R. Hoffa and Harry Bridges in his race for the White House.

Kennedy, in an implied dig at his Republican rival, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, spurned any idea of either seeking or accepting the endorsement of the scandal-ridden Teamsters Union or the red-tinted International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

Nixon was said to have talked with Jack Hall, leader of the Hawaiian longshoremen and other labor elements, in Honolulu Thursday night. The Union, headed by Bridges, was expelled from the CIO in 1949 as Communist-dominated.

Kennedy long has been at odds with Hoffa and his Teamsters Union.

"I think I can win those states (where Hoffa and Bridges are powerful) without Hall and the teamsters," Kennedy said. "If I can't win without them, then I'm not going to win with them."

"Let me say I am extremely glad neither Mr. Hall and his group nor (Teamster President James R. Hoffa) and his group are supporting me in this campaign," Kennedy said.

He said "There is no doubt that the tie in leadership of these two unions is very close." He said this was "effectively brought out" by the Senate Rackets Committee of which he was a member and (See HOFFA, Page 2)

Ike Set To Call For More Defense Funds

By FRANK ELEAZER United Press International

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)—President Eisenhower on Monday will send a message to congress in which he is expected to warn against Democratic budget-busting, but call for some new spending on defense.

The White House said Saturday the message will go to the Senate upon its reconvening at noon Monday. A copy for the House, which does not resume its work until the following Monday, will be filed with the clerk.

The announcement hinted that the President also may take his plea for legislative action "in the public interest" directly to the people, through a television broadcast. However, plans for this are not firm.

Eisenhower, who ends his golf-and-work vacation here Sunday, passed up a chance for an early morning 18 holes in perfect golf weather to go by boat to his naval base office and work with top assistants on a near-final draft of his message to the 86th Congress, which broke off its session before the national political conventions.

However, he included a golf round, the 23rd of his current stay here, on his afternoon schedule. Sunday he will attend early church services, possibly get in a final round of golf, and leave with his family for Washington by jet plane from Quonset Naval Air Station at 5 p.m. east.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President leaves Newport "feeling real fine." Rain or shine he has been out on the links almost every day since his arrival here July 7, with six days out for a trip to Chicago and Denver.

NIXON AND NIKITA IN MOSCOW: "If the Vice President hadn't stood up . . ."

Nixon's Happy Accident

EDITOR'S NOTE: Newspaper Enterprise political reporter Bruce Bissat has covered the ups and downs of Richard Nixon's career for eight years. He watched his campaign for the GOP presidential nomination develop in the carefully planned way the Vice President had outlined to him in the spring of 1959. But there were developments that no one could plan for. Here, based on exclusive talks with the GOP nominee and his staff, is the inside story of how planned strategy and happy accident were combined for victory.

By BRUCE BISSAT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CHICAGO (NEA)—On the morning of July 24, a year before the Republican convention, Vice President Nixon marched into Soviet Premier Khrushchev's quiet Kremlin office to pay a duty call. No one looked for anything beyond the routine.

What happened there is little known. The formalities quickly over. Khrushchev started Nixon by unleashing a terrific tirade against America. He set the combative tone for a now famous day and put the Vice President instantly on his mettle.

The events that followed were fully told. Nixon, squiring Khrushchev around our fair grounds in Moscow, fell into a running battle that became one of the great impromptu encounters of modern times.

The climax came when the two free swingers stood chest to chest in the kitchen of our model home exhibit and rained verbal blows at each other on a wide range of issues. Says a Nixon man today:

"If there was one hour in this whole campaign that was make or break for us, that was it. With a hundred American newsmen looking on, we'd have been finished if the Vice President hadn't stood up."

But he did stand up — and he gained mightily as a presidential prospect. Thus it was the accident of Khrushchev's sour midsummer mood, the product of many things, that gave Nixon, the careful planner, his unplanned great moment.

What counted was that he was ready for his break, as he was for other surprises which now and then altered his beautifully managed campaign. Let's look closely both at the well executed strategies and the surprises.

Many politicians and observers say Nixon had a breeze. The evidence suggests, however, that Nixon himself was cranking the wind machine. If his Democratic opponent, Sen. John F. Kennedy, campaigned for four years, then the Vice President has campaigned for eight.

He did it in many ways: by sticking to his job, winning broad responsibilities, building an image of himself as an experienced leader privy to high policy and equipped to deal with vital foreign affairs.

Most of all, he piled up huge credit with the party for untiring service through difficult national campaigns. Notes one professional:

"You don't carry water all those years without benefit. The Vice President built an enormous equity for himself. That's what Governor Rockefeller ran into when he went around the country last fall."

One well traveled Republican says flatly that two-thirds of the GOP rank and file were always for Nixon and an even bigger share of the professionals.

Supporting comment gleamed with party leaders in Chicago: "Politics is mostly a matter of friendships, and Nixon's got 'em by the hundreds and hundreds."

"He never had to build an organization of his own. Practically every place in the country, THE organizations were for him."

A veteran politician puts it down basically to brains and unrelenting effort: "I thought Governor Dewey was a hard worker, but this man is the hardest worker I've ever seen. If he pops awake at night, he's up and jotting things down."

"And he reads, reads, reads. He's got a library mind. He just flips a card, and out it comes. He's got one foot in the intelligentsia and the other in precinct politics."

A Nixon staff man adds: "The Vice President has the best political gyroscope in the business. It's tremendously sensitive."

This reporter sat with the Vice President in his historic Senate office last year — before his Soviet tour — and heard him lay down the broad lines of his strategy.

With the same kind of cool, unruffled detachment Kennedy exhibits in appraising politics, Nixon indicated his intent not to press too hard too soon. To him timing is the essence.

He talked candidly of traveled the delicate path — holding to the record built by President Eisenhower yet finding ways to strike out on his own. He said he'd be "clobbered" if he took any other course.

He spoke with calm confidence. Two months later, after the Russian visit, his fortunes were soaring. But six months earlier they had seemed at low ebb.

440 Gray Countians Receive SS Benefits

The Federal Social Security Act which became a law August 14, 1935, provided for grants to states who had plans approved for the administration of the three Public Assistance programs; Name: Old Age Assistance, Aid to the Needy Blind, Aid to Dependent Children. Various changes in the Act over the years included an assistance provision which provided for Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled.

Action by the Texas Legislature has provided all 4 assistance programs to the people of Texas. The Public Assistance Division of State Department of Public Welfare is set up to extend financial services to those aged and other needy individuals who are without sufficient resources to provide their basic needs of food, clothing, shelter, utilities, health, and incidentals — compatible with health and decency and who can meet certain legal requirements. A standard budget is used throughout the state to measure need and all income an individual might have is deducted from total needs. The Department can recognize in determining the amount of the individual grant.

In June 1960 a total of 254,781 checks were mailed to needy residents of the State in the four categories of public assistance. The checks mailed during this month totaled $13,915,415.00.

The State Department of Public Welfare maintains at least one office in every county in the State and in a vast majority of the counties the State Welfare Department is the only organized social agency set up to meet the financial needs of the needy as well as to extend other social services to the community.

The Department is obligated to make a review of each case every twelve months and make any indicated adjustment in the grant.

The number of needy individuals in Gray county receiving public assistance in the four categories in June 1960 totaled 440. In this month recipients of Public Assistance in county received a total of $23,909.90.

THE DAREDEVIL

VANDALIA, Ill. (UPI)—Mayor Cecil Smith said things had gone too far when word got round that he would jump from a 50-foot ladder into a tub of water to honor a visit by "Miss Illinois."

"What business would a 62-year-old man have trying to do a stunt like that?" the mayor snorted. But then he decided he couldn't disappoint the voters.

"If they put too much pressure on me to do it," he said, "I may have the firemen lay a ladder on the ground and I'll step from it into the tub."

Scientists Study Effects Of First A-Bomb Blasts

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following the second in a series of dispatches on the 15th anniversary of the A-bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

By AL AXELBANK
United Press International

HIROSHIMA (UPI) — "We want to help separate the facts from the fear of the unknown," said the American director of the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission (ABCC).

Dr. George B. Darling, who also is a professor of public health at Yale University, was referring to numerous statements about so-called "atomic diseases" which have not been scientifically proved.

The chief physician of Hiroshima's Atomic Bomb Hospital, Dr. Yukio Fujimoto, put it another way: "The so-called diseases of the atomic bomb are very questionable, but we study the diseases of all atomic survivors for the future."

The ABCC was established at the end of 1946 on a scenic hill overlooking the city of Hiyajima. It is operated under the U. S. National Academy of Sciences and receives financial support from the U. S. government.

"What the ABCC is doing is attempting to measure any delayed effects of radiation in terms of the survivors themselves," Darling said. He added that the "need" of the people of Hiroshima and Nagasaki "is to have the truth" and, he said, "they are entitled to it."

What is the truth? It is that the World War II atom bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki caused a "manifest" increase in leukemia (blood cancer) among those heavily exposed to the radiation.

"But," Darling said, "There are so few survivors who escaped heavy exposure."

Another fact about the bombs is that there is no lingering radiation in either Hiroshima or Nagasaki. This has been proven many times and was established even a few weeks after the bombs fell.

Fujimoto added Anemia as a disease directly attributable to radiation. He said that "questionable" diseases from radiation were lung cancer, liver disease and cataracts.

According to recent ABCC findings some 85 per cent of the casualties in Hiroshima and Nagasaki were caused by the intense heat and blast effect of the bombs. Another 15 per cent suffered from something new called ironizing radiation.

"The question is," Darling said, "are we going to get other forms of cancer in the same way (from radiation). Some studies indicate there may be further increases. We don't know for sure."

"Our principal concern now is if other forms of cancer may appear in greater than normal numbers in the people exposed to significant amounts of radiation."

Dr. Stuart Finch, chief of medicine at ABCC, and an associate professor of medicine at Yale, said "we are also interested in genetic changes, abnormal births, malfunctions and so on. So far all we have gotten is negative

Jack Dickey, a 23-year-old Quitaque rodeo entrant who is making his second showing in Pampa's noted event, said there wasn't much to it.

Dickey, who has been following the rodeo trail for four years, specializes in bull riding and bareback riding, but says that for other than prize money earned, this is the first time he has had "anything left on my hands."

Compact Car Sales Grow, Profits Less

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT (UPI)—Narrow profit margins on the new compact cars are resulting in more compact earnings for some of the major auto companies.

Earnings and sales reports released by General Motors, Ford and Chrysler recently all showed increased sales but reduced profits during periods when they were selling compact cars.

Chrysler reported its earnings for the first half of 1960 fell to $23.7 million, or $2.69 a share, from $58 million, or $6.65 a share, during the first six months of 1959, when the company was producing only larger cars.

The dip in earnings was recorded despite an increase in sales from $5.3 billion to $7.5 billion during the same periods.

Ford, which sold more compact cars than any other manufacturer in the first six months, reported a similar experience. Ford's earnings of $264.8 million in the first six months represented a drop of $21.1 million from the record of $285.9 million during the same period last year.

But Ford sold 68,153 more cars during the first six months this year than it did in the same period a year ago. The dollar value of Ford's sales dropped from $2,954,300,000 to $2,884,500,000, as 243,721 of the sales were accounted for by the lower priced compacts.

General Motors, which has been concentrating more on its standard size cars and letting its compact Corvair sell itself more than the other companies, showed increases in both its sales and earnings for the first six months of the year.

GM's sales for the first six months total $7.1 billion this year compared with $6.5 billion last year. Its income for the same period was $612 million, compared with $590 million.

But even GM followed the pattern of higher sales and lower earnings during the second quarter of the year.

Studebaker-Packard's sales and earnings were both down. The company reported its first half earnings of $3.36 million in the first half this year represented a drop of $8.71 million from earnings of $12.07 million in the first half of last year.

Studebaker-Packard produced compact cars almost exclusively in both years.

American Motors, the veteran compact car producer, showed a marked contrast to the other companies. Its earnings and sales both set records during the three months ended June 30.

Earnings of $17.11 million during the period were the highest for any three-month period ending June 30 in American Motors' history.

Sales of $316.41 million during the same period represented an all-time high for any three-month period in the company's history.

DEAR OLD DAD — NORTHVALE, N.J. (UPI) — Seventeen-year-old Robert B. Driscoll's troubles were just starting when he was fined for careless driving.

Driscoll's father, Gerald C. Driscoll, of Dumont, is chief of the state Traffic Safety Bureau. He took his son's license away.

Always Serious Rodeo Clowns

Make Situation Seem Funny

By VIRGINIA IRWIN
Daily News Staff Writer

One of the most popular persons at any rodeo is the clown. His peculiar costume and ridiculous antics will draw a laugh from almost everyone. And they should because this is a large portion of his job—taking up the slack during the performance.

But the major part of his job isn't funny, to him anyway. That is keeping the bulls and broncos off the riders after they've been thrown. Even his way of doing this brings laughs to the spectators. For some reason, when it is a clown rather than a cowboy in front of the bull, the situation becomes funny rather than thrilling. This, of course, releases the tension of the dangerous situation.

Boyce Hart of Guthrie, Tex., was the clown for the Top O' Texas Rodeo held last week. He was assisted by Johnny Davenport of Matador, Tex. Both men are ranch hands out of the rodeo season. Boyce works for the 6666 Ranch at Guthrie and Johnny for the Matador Ranch.

Johnny also competed in the saddle bronc contest during the rodeo. Boyce started clowning five years ago after he got hurt riding the bulls.

"Bull riding sort of grows on you," he said. "I kept saying I was going to quit, but I didn't. Then, when I got hurt, I did. However, I wanted to get back in the game, so I decided to start clowning."

Boyce is under contract with Morris Stephens, who furnishes stock and is arena director for several rodeos in the West and Southwest. He travels with the outfit which usually does 17-20 shows each summer.

He has appeared this year at Paducah, Haskell, Brownfield, Santa Rosa, N. M., Clarendon, Dumas, Claude and Pampa. From here he will travel to rodeos in Morton, Levelland, Rocksprings and Beaver, Okla.

When asked how he felt when he stepped between the bull and the rider, he said that he really couldn't explain.

"Everything happens so fast. It takes split second timing to decide how to handle a bull. Of course, being an ex-rider and one that was hurt, I've learned to really respect the bulls. My job is to step in and draw the bull's attention. I take the chance and try to lessen that of the rider."

"Bulls are like people. Some are all bluff; some are out for blood. Some you can figure out; some you can't. Of course, traveling with the same outfit and the same stock, I've learned each bull's usual pattern and the way it bucks. In fact, I can almost always tell when a rider is going to be thrown before he knows it himself."

"I know more about the bulls

220-Volt Shock Kills Laborer

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — A 38-year-old San Antonio man was shocked fatally Saturday when he came in contact with a pipe charged with 220 volts of electricity.

Esequiel Davila and three other men were crawling under a house preparatory to leveling it. Davila came into contact with the pipe that had a 220 volt line touching it.

A fellow worker was shaken up when he attempted to pull Davila away.

Davila was dead on arrival at a San Antonio hospital.

Editor Urges Hands Off In Congo Crisis

BORGER (UPI)— J. C. Phillips, editor of the Borger News-Herald and long-time foe of communism, warned last week that United Nations intervention in the Congo's mineral-rich Katanga province "could result in war."

Phillips disclosed that he has sent telegrams of protest to President Eisenhower, U. S. Sens. Lyndon Johnson and Ralph Yarborough, and Rep. Walter Rogers (D-Tex.) and radio commentator Fulton Lewis Jr.

In a statement on the Congo situation, Phillips said:

"We hope Katanga Premier Tshombe's statement that United Nations troops would not set foot in his province will prove correct and that the behavior of his people will justify the faith of Americans who would prefer that Katanga remain unmolested and permitted freedom to work out its own salvation either as an independent nation or, if they later prefer, as a part of the Congo. As pointed out by Tshombe, it would be wrong for the United Nations, which presumably is an organization for peace, to interfere in the relatively peaceful Katanga where they are not needed and where the presence of United Nations troops would result in war."

Tech Readies For SWC Debut

(Editor's Note — This is the first of a series of eight articles dealing with the prospects of southwest Conference football teams for the coming season. It will appear each Sunday in the Pampa Daily News.)

Texas Tech will launch its first championship football campaign under the Southwest Conference banner this fall as an improved team, but still not one of title candidates.

Depth will be the main bugaboo facing the Red Raiders as they make their long-awaited debut in the wild SWC campaign.

"We're improved in too many departments not to have a better team," Coach DeWitt Weaver says. "But we're a year or two away from SWC level."

However, Weaver does admit: "This could be our best team in five years."

There is one extremely bright star on the Red Raiders' horizon. This would be E. J. Holub, the nan-mountain center who has been nicknamed "The Beast" by his teammates.

Holub is a virtual shoo-in for all-America honors this fall. And well he should be. For two campaigns Holub has been one of the finest pivot men and linebackers in the history of the Southwest.

Here's what two of his most staunch fans say about him. Cotton Davidson, quarterback for the Dallas Texans — "The finest college linebacker I've ever seen. A vicious tackler with a real nose for football."

Milton Ham, TCU end — "Holub has a sixth sense; you can't block him from the blind side. When you hit him, he gives you a limp leg, and then makes the tackle."

If Holub makes the all-SWC team, he should get all-America laurels.

too. Because the league is abundant with tremendously qualified pivot men — Arvie Martin of TCU, and Roy Northrup of Texas A&M, — to name two. So competition will be keen.

However, depth will be the major issue with the Matadors this fall.

True, Tech will be able to field at least three men at each position, but the Raiders aren't as deep in experienced talent as Weaver would like.

Quarterback will be in capable hands with Glen Amerson, a starter and total offense leader in 1959, back for his senior campaign.

Also there's Johnny Lovelace, a 6-4, 212-pound sophomore from Farwell, who should be one of the greats of the future. The halfback and split back posts in the Tech alignment will be in capable hands again this year.

Dick Polson, a 185-pound junior speedster who was a starter last fall, will man the halfback post, while Dan Gurley, 170-pound senior from Fort Worth, will run as the split back.

Gurley gained 119 yards in 22 carries last year, while Polson accounted for 94 yards in 34 trips.

Fullback will be a question mark until Coolidge Hunt, the sophomore from Lubbock, proves himself.

Hunt currently has the starting job nailed down, even though his record as a freshman was far below the pace he set as a school-boy whiz.

Last year, the 195-pounder picked up only 271 yards on 56 carries for an average of 4.8 per trip.

Along the line, the Red Raiders probably will be out weighed all season.

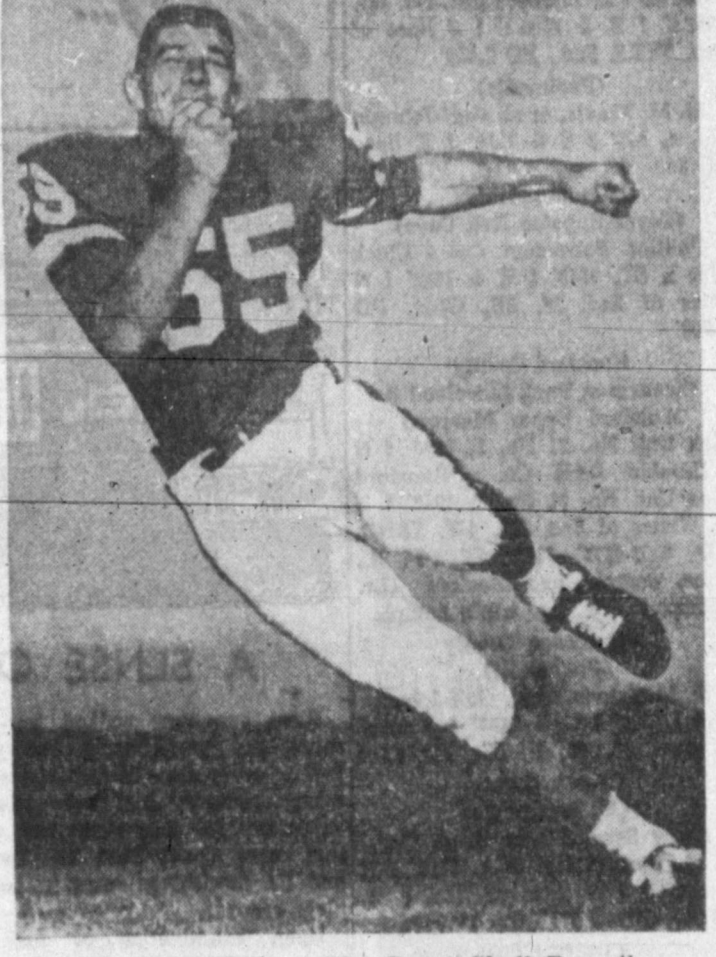

Holub, at 215 pounds, will be able to hold his own against any opponent.

But tackles Larry Mullins (195) and Tommy Pace (200) will be among the smallest in the conference.

Neither the guards nor ends will be of large stature.

Don Waygood (180) and Mike Seay (180) are listed as the leading wingmen, while Fred Weaver (195) and Jere Don Mohon (180) are listed as the starting guards.

A flock of sophomores, headed by Hunt, Lovelace and Golden Glover Pete Peterson, a 250-pound giant, will give the Matadors plenty of youth, however.

70 NFL Games To Be Telecast This Season

NEW YORK (UPI)—A record total of 70 regular-season National Football League games will be televised this year beginning Friday, Sept. 23, with a game between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Los Angeles Rams in Los Angeles.

The schedule runs through Dec. 18 and includes 66 Sunday telecasts, the Thanksgiving Day game between the Green Bay Packers and Detroit Lions and two Saturday games—a Dec. 10 game at San Francisco and a Dec. 17 at Los Angeles.

The Thanksgiving Day, Dec. 10 and Dec. 17 games will be televised nationally and the others will be televised on a regional basis. The NFL is continuing its policy of "blackout" a city where the game is played.

The complete TV schedule: Friday, Sept. 23—St. Louis at Los Angeles.

Sunday, Sept. 25 — New York at San Francisco, Washington at Baltimore, Chicago at Green Bay.

Sunday, Oct. 2 — New York at St. Louis, Chicago at Baltimore, Detroit at Green Bay, Los Angeles at San Francisco.

Sunday, Oct. 9 — New York at Pittsburgh, Baltimore at Green Bay, Los Angeles at Chicago, San Francisco at Detroit, Dallas at Washington, St. Louis at Philadelphia.

Sunday, Oct. 16 — St. Louis at Pittsburgh, Cleveland at Dallas, Washington at New York, Detroit at Philadelphia, Los Angeles at Baltimore, San Francisco at Chicago.

Sunday, Oct. 23 — Philadelphia at Cleveland, Pittsburgh at Washington, Baltimore at Detroit, Chicago at Los Angeles, San Francisco vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, Dallas at St. Louis.

Sunday, Oct. 30 — St. Louis at New York, Cleveland at Washington, Baltimore at Dallas, Chicago

Rosey 'Slims' Down — WINOOSKI, Vt. (UPI) — Rosey Grier, mammoth 6 foot, 5 inch tackle of the New York Football Giants, says he's sure he'll be down to his 280-pound playing weight when the National Football League season starts. Rosey's confident because he's taken off 10 pounds during "summer training" and already is down to 290 pounds.

Bears Get Alvarez — DENVER (UPI) — The Denver Bears have acquired Ossie Alvarez from Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League to replace Inman (Coot) Veal, who was recalled by the parent Detroit Tigers.

CHEW OF A KIND—Cleveland had a second member of the rapidly-vanishing bulging cheek fraternity when Rocky Bridges, right, joined Harvey Kuenn and the Indians. The former Detroit Tigers give the tobacco-chewing sign.

Piersall Likes Idea Of Switching Pilots

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Jim Piersall, sees Cleveland's switch of managers as a good break for him but insists he had nothing to do with Joe Gordon's dismissal.

"I'm glad to see Jimmy Dykes coming in as manager," said the controversial Cleveland center-fielder. "He's a man's man. He understands people."

"I never played for him but I have been on the golf course with him and know him well. I have never heard a player say anything against Dykes."

Piersall had much different feelings, however, about Gordon, who swapped jobs with Dykes and will replace him as manager of the Detroit Tigers.

"I do not feel I had anything to do with Joe Gordon being fired," Piersall declared. "I'm NOTHING, JUST NOTHING matches the enthusiasm and excitement-in-the-air that dominates the city during Rodeo Week. We are always just a little sorry to see the arena lights turned out after the final go-round; the cute little calves and the ferocious bulls sent on their way to another rodeo... and our pretty street decorations taken down. We can thank the Business and Professional Women for their efforts in distributing those red, white and blue bunting flags. We know Mable Ford as rodeo decorations chairman for the club, was a busy gal in those weeks preceding the rodeo... and we can also thank the merchants of the city for buying them to hang up proclaiming to all and sundry that a rodeo is in progress... the decorations add so much to the gaiety of the week and create a nice impression upon visitors to our city... we are always proud, too, to point out our official rodeo host and hostess, Jake and Ruth Osborne, to guests we take... they are an attractive addition to the rodeo... Ruth looked especially stunning in a green outfit the first night of the rodeo... and we know two proud lads, too, Johnny Robison and Bill Henry, who won prizes at rodeo-rings... also, spotted in the parade, Doug Hilbun and John Mann, who seemed to be having a ball... weren't the floats nice this year?... the Desk and Derrick Club, Kit Kat Klub and Girl Scouts really worked hard on their outstanding entries... and we can imagine the hours of planning and work that they must have put in on them... and we are sure you noticed the mad, mad colors of hair on models in one entry... theirs was really an outstanding, something-to-talk-about entry... just before we leave the subject of the rodeo this year, we must relate a conversation we overheard between two cowboys standing near a corral... one was hale and hearty, but the other had scratches all over his face, one arm in a sling and was favoring an injured leg... and, of all things, the injured cowboy was asking highway directions to someplace in Arizona, where he was to enter another rodeo... by and large, old Matt Dillon, Sheriff of Cochise, Tate and Ward Bond will seem mild by comparison this next week on TV to the real-life cowboys we watched this week at the Top of Texas Rodeo.

MOST OF THE LOCAL Boy Scouts who attended the Jamboree in Colorado returned home just in time for Rodeo Week... was it our imagination or did our neighborhood Boy Scouts seem to grow taller, develop lower-pitched voices during their one week away... from parents of Boy Scouts, we've heard so many nice compliments about Don Curry's coverage of Jamboree events via a correspondent's column in this news paper... it seems that at a very early age, males develop a mental block towards letter-writing, but Don's accurate and interesting accounts of events provided the "folks back home" with news that wasn't always contained in brief notes to parents from scouting sons... Don stayed home only long enough to have his clothes cleaned and ironed and was off again on Thursday to join a group of dauntless Explorer Scouts in Ealy, Minnesota, where they will leave for a canoe trip into wilderness waters of Canada... Don participated in the canoeing adventure last year as a Scout, but this year he is a member of the staff and will serve as an assistant-swamp-er... ah, adventuresome youth!!

WE PLAYED HOOKEY one evening this week... hookey from watering the lawn and pulling weeds from our flower garden... and took a long, twilight drive out toward Lefors... just on the right of the highway as you enter Lefors we spied the Recreation Park that the civic clubs of that town have been working on so hard all Spring and Summer... and it is quite a lovely spot that Lefors civic-minded citizens have created for the enjoyment of hometown picnickers... it will be an ideal place for family reunions... church picnics... and all outdoor gatherings... it was almost dusk, but we could see the sloping grassy area planted with lots of trees and placed with red-wood picnic tables, as well as stone benches... and the buff-brick outdoor stove is quite an addition... the park is also equipped with playground swings, which have been purchased through various fund-raising projects... also during the past few weeks, a park-naming contest has been in progress... and at the dedication on August 13 at 6 p.m... the name of the new park and the winner will be announced... former Lefors residents... as well as those who have friends in Lefors are invited to come and bring a picnic basket and stay for the park dedication... nice going, neighbors!!!

ON THE TOWN... There was certainly a gay group we spied having a picnic dinner Sunday afternoon in the park... we learned later that it was a group of Bonnie McCarley's friends and relatives who got together after church and surprised her with a birthday party... and the piece de resistance on the menu was the peach ice cream made by her son, Phil... Roy and Shirley Welch are lullabying a brand new baby daughter, Rollie Jean, who arrived July 20... her big sister, Cindy, is so proud of her new sister, but at this point Cindy thinks she sleeps too much... Rusty and Randy Reeve are having a grand old time in Tulsa, Oklahoma, this week visiting with their two sets of grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Reeve and Kathryn's parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Pigford... and it was a great, big, shiny-new bus with a big dome top, no less, that transported them to their Tulsa destination... Clyde and Elma Vanderburg entertained Clyde's brother and wife, Clarence and Nell Vanderburg of Hollis, Okla., this past weekend... the Hollis visitors were on their way to Lake City, Colo., to do a bit of trout fishing... friends of Tracy D. Cory had cards from him this week mailed from "his city," Tracy City, Tenn... for the past several weeks Tracy has been in Washington, D. C., attending a special genealogical course... he was one of only a select few in the United States who were invited to take the specialized course... his brief postcard communicate states that he is enroute home and has been enjoying the beautiful scenery of mountains and trees... but he is getting rather homesick for "dear old Texas plains"... he stopped over in Atlanta, Ga., for a genealogical conference and also to attend a Piano Seminar at Emory University.

BY NOW, lovely Linda Steele, who one year was awarded the title "Miss Pampa" for her beauty, graciousness and talent, is Mrs. Jarrel Brent Perry... she and Brent are on a wedding trip to New Orleans, La... wedding vows were repeated last night at eight o'clock in First Methodist Church... there were so many parties complimenting the lovely bride prior to her wedding... on Thursday, Mrs. Travis Lively, Mrs. Roberta Wood and Linda's active maid of honor, LaVada Naylor, entertained with a Bridesmaids' Luncheon in Mrs. Lively's home on 18th Street... attending the intimate luncheon were Martha and Sarah Gordon, who served as bridesmaids... Virginia Hopkins and Carolyn Prescott, bride's cousin, of Altus, Okla., who were candlelighters... Judith Prescott, also a cousin of Linda's and who lives in Altus, was inactive maid of honor... completing the luncheon guest list was Miss Naylor... so many social courtesies were extended the bride... Mrs. James Hopkins and Virginia entertained with a Recipe Shower on July 22... Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. W. W. Adcock, Miss Ann Adcock and Mrs. Duggan Smith gave a lingerie shower... then a dinner party for members of the wedding party was hosted by Mrs. Doyle Osborne and Janet Osborne in the Osborne home... and finally, when it seemed that all the parties that could possibly be given had been given, Pat Jones and Pat Dial came with a Spinster's Dinner in Pat Jones' home... included in some of the pre-nuptial organ selections played by Tom Atkin preceding the wedding ceremony were some of Linda's favorite melodies that she had played in piano recitals during her senior year... which to us seemed a sweet sentimental touch.

JUST BEFORE WE SIGN -30-, we read where Bing Crosby and Bob Hope are to make another "Road" picture together... wonder what the title of this one will be?... could it be "The Road To Senior Center"?... ouch!

Love, anyway, Peg

Miss Judy Chisum Becomes Bride Of Johnny Rue Costner

Wedding vows were repeated by Miss Judy Chisum and Johnny Rue Costner on August 5 at 7 p.m. in Central Baptist Church with the Rev. Thurman Uphaw, pastor, officiating for the double ring service.

Miss Chisum is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Chisum, 605 E. Browning. Mr. Costner's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Costner, 432 Hill. Vows were exchanged before a background of emerald palms flanked by seven branched candelabra. Baskets of yellow gladioli flanked the wedding party. Family pews were marked with white satin ribbons.

Given in marriage by her father with her mother and I avowal, the bride wore a gown of imported chantilly lace over white bridal satin. The bodice was molded with a scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves coming to points over her hands. The sleeves were fastened with tiny covered buttons from elbow to wrist. Irrescent sequins and seed pearls trimmed the neckline. Her floor-length bouffant skirt featured hand-

Miss Martin Honored With Kitchen Party

Miss Judy Kathleen Martin, bride-elect of N. Calvin Mayo, of Pampa, was honored recently with a kitchen shower in the home of Frank Crowley, of Borger.

The bride-elect's color scheme of pink and white was carried out in table decorations, with pink cake with white icing and pink rosebuds highlighting the refreshments which included pink punch, nuts, and assorted mints. The center piece was of pink-tipped white gladiolas and pink carnations.

An old-fashioned bouquet marked the table holding the bride's book. Co-hostesses were Sharon Crowley, Linda Lanham, Darla Borum, and Sonnie Stuebgen.

Among those attending or sending gifts were mothers of the bride-elect and her fiancé, and the Mrs. F. Q. Ward, Bob Ammons, Charles Mackey, Mark Fahle, Emil Stuebgen, B. H. Borum, Warren South, H. N. Mayo, J. D. Pitman, H. T. Thornhill, Grady Osborne, E. E. Parker, Al Morrison, Bill Payne, W. F. Brown, L. Willingham, J. L. Martin Jr., and John Lee, and Miss Dorothy Bryan.

cut lace scallops at the hemline. She wore brocaded satin shoes. Her chapel-length veil of illusion fell from a queens crown of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. It was edged with lace, seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a bouquet of white roses, and wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. She also wore something old, new, borrowed and blue, all gifts of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. E. L. Porter of Oklahoma City.

Miss Jean Pierce was maid of honor. She was dressed in a buttercup yellow gown of sheer organza over taffeta with full puff sleeves, full skirt and cummerbund at the waist. She wore a yellow hat and accessories and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and yellow chrysanthemums.

Candle lighters were Danny Chisum, bride's brother, and Howard Brown.

Wayne Lee Harrison, Lubbock, was best man, and Garry Meyers, Bill Kirkham, Donny Kirkham and Richard Muncie served as ushers.

Miss Christy Jo Hanlan of Oklahoma City, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a yellow organza over dotted Swiss frock. Her white basket was adorned with white satin ribbons.

Wedding music was provided by Miss Nannette Flynt, organist, and Jerry Baxter, vocalist.

The bride's mother chose a beige silk organza over taffeta dress for the occasion. Her accessories were bone-colored. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue linen sheath with white accessories. Both women wore white feathered carnation-corsages.

A reception was held after the wedding in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The table was laid with a white cloth covered by net which reached the floor and was gathered all the way around. Miss Nannette Flynt provided background music.

Assisting at the punch bowl was Mrs. J. T. Winborne, and serving cake was Mrs. Estel Brown. Mrs. Eddie Chisum, aunt of the bride, was at the guest register.

For a honeymoon to Colorado, the bride wore a pink arnel dress with full skirt and lace and rhinestone trim. She wore pink pearl shoes and accessories. Her corsage was of white rosebuds.

The couple will be at home after Aug. 10 at 509 1/2 E. Foster.

The bride attended Pampa High School and plans to continue her

Linda Steele Bride Of J. Brent Perry

With wedding vows solemnized on August 6 at eight o'clock in First Methodist Church, Miss Linda Kay Steele became the bride of Jarrel Brent Perry.

Miss Steele is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Leroy Steele, 1800 Grape. Mr. Perry's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. Perry of Dallas.

The Rev. W. W. Adcock was officiant for double-ring vows exchanged amid a setting of an altar arrangement of white chrysanthemums with jade palms and cathedral tapers and clustered tapers forming a background. The altar rail was lined with Huckleberry leaves and white tapers. Family pews were marked with white satin bows.

BRIDE

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father with the her mother and I avowal, the bride wore a formal gown of peau de soie designed with a basque bodice, low rounded neckline and elbow-length sleeves, both of which were outlined in re-embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls. A front panel of lace and seed pearls extended the full length of the bouffant skirt with back fullness ending in a chapel train. A veil of heirloom Brussels lace framed her face and cascaded softly in back. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Her bouquet was a white orchid framed with Lillies-of-the-Valley showered with satin ribbons embroidered with tiny pearls.

ATTENDANTS

Miss LaVada Naylor attended the bride as active maid of honor; Miss Judith Prescott of Altus, Okla., bride's cousin, served as inactive maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Martha and Sara Gordon. The feminine attendants wore dresses identically in frocks of Delf Blue silk organza fashioned with low necklines, tiny cap sleeves. Their bouffant skirts were accented with satin cummerbunds applied with lace and tiny seed pearls. They wore matching satin bow headpieces and carried roses and carnations.

Miss Carolyn Prescott of Altus, Okla., also a cousin of the bride and Miss Virginia Hopkins were candlelighters. They wore matching dresses of blue, embroidered organza fashioned with low back necklines and bouffant skirts. Matching satin bow headpieces complemented their dresses. Udo Specht served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsman and ushers were Jim Haynie of Lubbock, Michael Conway, Bob Day of Knox City, Richard Steele, bride's brother and Joe Cooke. Tom Atkin, at the organ, played a selection of pre-nuptial airs and Lohengrin's processional and recessional. Mrs. John Carl Prescott, aunt of the bride, sang Schubert's "Ave Maria" and Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Steele selected a dress of royal blue silk chiffon accented with silk lace with matching hat and accessories. Her flowers were small, white Cattleyan orchids in purse arrangement. The mother of the bridegroom,

Mrs. Perry, chose a Bone Lace dress complemented with deeper tones of beige in her hat and accessories. She wore a brown orchid.

RECEPTION

The reception was held in the bride's home, 1800 Grape. Guests were received in the entrance courtyard which was lighted with Capri lights outlining the planters.

The bride's table, in the courtyard, was centered with white Capri lights entwined with lemon leaves and white mums. Other serving tables, placed in the living and dining rooms were centered with silver, branched candelabra encircled at the base with colonial bouquets.

RUTH-MILLETT

If we women worried about all the things the women's magazines dream up month after month to depress us there wouldn't be enough psychiatrists in the country to accommodate us.

For years now the women's magazines have apparently felt they couldn't go to press without a depressing scare article to feed their readers.

One month they ask us if working mothers are responsible for juvenile delinquency. The next month if our husbands would marry us if they had it to do all over again.

The following issue may warn us that the honeymoon is fraught with psychological dangers. And so on and on.

But there are signs that the editors are running out of scare material—now that we've been frightened with just about everything they can think of.

Proof of this is that the cover of one of the women's magazines recently had this come-on for an article: "A Caution on Increasing Baldness in Women."

That, it would seem, is really scaring the bottom of the barrel.

Few women readers are going to worry about baldness, I'm sure, except when they glance at their husbands and the husbands of their friends and suddenly realize that "the boys" are beginning to look middle-aged, which is downright depressing—especially when the observation is made at a big party where members of the middle-aged crowd are noisily trying to prove to themselves that they are still young.

But when a woman looks in the mirror you can bet your bottom dollar she isn't worrying for fear she is getting bald. Chances are she is worrying about some fine new wrinkles, or trying to decide "Should I or shouldn't I dye my hair?" or critically deciding that she simply must go on a diet.

In spite of the "scare" article, I suspect women are going to let the men leave worrying about baldness to the men.

Men ought to have a few worries of their very own!

Mrs. Gary Dearen

Miss Nan Stanley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stanley, Tyler, became the bride of Gary Dearen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Deoren, Pampa, on July 2 in Louisiana. The bride was graduated from Tyler High School and Tyler Junior College and will be a senior elementary education major at Texas Tech this fall. The bridegroom was graduated from Pampa High School and Amarillo Junior College and is a senior business major at Texas Tech. The couple will make their home in Lubbock.

It's a terrible gyp for a woman to work hard for 20 or 30 years to make a good home, be a good wife, and bring up a family, looking forward to the day when she and her husband can begin to take it easy and enjoy life a bit, only to find that her husband is a stick-in-the-mud who isn't interested in doing anything to make his wife happy.

Yet this is the disappointment that is in store for many hard-working, conscientious wives—judging from letters that come to this column.

These disappointed wives all tell pretty much the same story.

With the children grown and gone from home, with the time and money for a good time, they find they are stuck with husbands who never want to go anywhere, do anything, and who won't bother to put themselves out to please their wives, or add a little fun and excitement to their lives.

"I didn't mind working hard and being tied down with the children growing up," these women say, "but I always figured that some day my husband and I would have a few years to enjoy life."

"But how do you enjoy life with a man who has no hobbies of his own, thinks yours are foolish, can't be bothered with making mutual friends, and never does anything you ask him to?"

There's no easy solution to that problem once a wife is faced with it. A man who is set in his ways is hard to change.

A couple who have had few interests in common through the years, except their children, aren't likely to build a close companionship in their old age.

So this column is for young wives. If you want to avoid a lonely old age—don't wait to start enjoying life until "the children are grown."

Find time to be companionable to your husband, to make friends, to travel, and to entertain while the two of you are still young.

It's much, much easier to stay companionable with a husband through the years than to try to find that companionship in your later years.

Miss Georgia Collins

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Collins, 312 N. Ward, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Georgia, to Gene Kelly Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy L. Mason, Denver City, Texas. The wedding is planned for Sept. 3 in the First Baptist Church.

TOASTFINGERS

½ loaf unsliced, day-old bread
½ cup butter, softened
2 tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce

Heat oven to 375 degrees F. (moderately hot). Cut crusts from bread. Cut into ¾-inch lengthwise slices, then into strips 4 x ¾ inch. Gradually add Worcestershire sauce to butter, stirring after each addition. Brush bread with sauce. Place on broiler pan. Bake 10-15 minutes or until brown. Makes approximately 24 sticks. Insert bread in the newest toaster and automation takes over. The bread is lowered automatically, toasted to the desired shade and then pops up extra high for easy lifting. The advance design does away with lever pushing. (Proctor-Silex Co., Philadelphia).

Miss Eloise Ann Carlile Repeats Vows With Gary Lynn Matlock

Miss Eloise Ann Carlile, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Carlile, west of city, became the bride of Gary Lynn Matlock, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Matlock, 2201 Wiliston, at 8:30 p.m. July 30 at the home of the bride.

The Rev. Richard Crews performed the double-ring ceremony before a large basket of white gladioli flanked by two smaller baskets.

BRIDE

Given away by her father, the bride wore a dress of white lace over net and taffeta. The princess style bodice featured a fitted waist coming to a point, scalloped neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves. The skirt was full. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a white velvet hat with rhinestone and lace flowers. She carried a bouquet of two gardenias with fringed mums on a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Wilma Carlile, bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore a white silk organza dress. The bodice was lined with pale blue. The dress was trimmed with white lace flowers centered with rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of medium blue carnations with pearl spray.

Dickie Watkins was best man. The bride's mother wore a champagne chiffon dress with a pale blue carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige lace and silk dress with a pale blue carnation corsage.

RECEPTION

A reception was held after the wedding at the home of the bride. The table was covered with a white lace cloth. The centerpiece was of white gladioli, blue pom pom chrysanthemums and white carnations. Mrs. Leo Simpson and Mrs. Delbert Simmons served the blue-tinted punch, and Mrs. Wesley

Lewis served the three-tiered white wedding cake. White mints tied with blue ribbons to symbolize the wedding bond were served.

Mrs. Billy Joe Green, sister of the bride was at the guest register. The couple is at home at 509½ E. Foster.

The bride is a graduate of Pampa High School and is now employed by the Sidwell Companies. The bridegroom graduated from Pampa High School and attended Texas Tech, Lubbock. He is now employed by Fox Rig Lumber Co.

PRE-WEDDING SOCIALS

The bride was honored at a shower July 27 with Mrs. Delbert Simmons, Mrs. Gary Hieshell and Miss Sandra Dodd as hostesses.

White carnation corsages with blue ribbons were presented the bride, her mother and the bride. (See Carlile-Matlock, Page 14)

Parent-Teachers Assn. Conducts First Fall Meet At Baker School

The Parent-Teachers Association of City Council, under the direction of Mrs. Carlton Nance, incoming president for the following year, had its first fall meeting Tuesday at the Baker School.

Mrs. Nance called the meeting to order and gave a short prayer entitled "A Parent's Prayer."

Following the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, Mrs. C. M. Goage, secretary, gave her report.

The treasurer, Mrs. Paul Turner, then gave her report. This preceded the introduction and recognition of all officers, committee chairman, presidents of local units and several school principals.

It was decided that each local unit donate the regular $10 for the exceptional child program. This was carried out last year by the majority of the local units.

Mrs. Jack Foster, chairman of the exceptional child committee made a short talk on the project and commended all units taking part last year.

A joint installation of all unit officers in May of next year also was discussed. Plans were made to have it at Robert E. Lee Junior High.

Mrs. Carlton announced that the state convention would be held in Austin Nov. 16-17, and that a bus will be chartered for members wishing to attend. Each unit will be responsible for sending two delegates on the bus.

It was also agreed to cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce in working on the reception for all teachers, which will be held in September.

The association also decided to send letters to members of the school board prior to each council meeting, inviting them to attend.

Meeting date for the association was set as the first Tuesday in every month at 9:30 a.m. They will be held in various schools.

Members of the council and other interested people were urged to attend the district convention at Wheeler, Oct. 11. All officers and members also were urged to attend the state convention at Austin.

The business meeting was followed by coffee and rolls, served by the Baker PTA unit.

The meeting was attended by 30 members, including visiting school principals.

Goodwill Home Demonstration Club Discusses Spring-Flowering Bulbs

"Spring-Flowering Bulbs," was the theme of the program at the Goodwill Home Demonstration Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Marvin Rowan, 1045 S. Wells.

"In selecting bulbs you should know the types, colors, and size and the place they grow best," Mrs. Leland Diamond, who presented the program, said.

"You should choose colors that harmonize with the rest of your garden."

Mrs. Diamond pointed out that the gardener should be certain that the bulbs were not diseased.

"Diseased bulbs look moldy, discolored or soft," Mrs. Diamond pointed out. "Buy your bulbs from a dealer who seals good bulbs."

Mrs. Diamond also pointed out that bulbs prefer well drained, sandy soil.

"They grow well when they get long hours of direct sunshine and plenty of moisture," Mrs. Diamond said.

Mrs. Diamond said bulbs should be planted not later than October.

Mrs. Ray Frazier, club president, conducted a short business meeting. Members answered the role call by giving the name of their favorite bulbs.

Mrs. Lee Jackson was the winner of the white elephant.

Others present at the meeting included Mmes. C. B. Hicks, A. P. Coombes, Donald Nerstrel and W. E. Austry.

The next meeting will be held at 9:30 a.m. Aug. 16 at the home of Mrs. Ray Frazier, 512 Doyle.

Annual Carson County Dress Revue Held Thursday In Panhandle Courthouse

GROOM (Spl) — The annual Carson County 4-H Club's dress revue was held Thursday in the courthouse at Panhandle.

Twenty-three girls took part in the activities, with Mrs. Virginia Branson, Armstrong County agent, and Miss Jimmy Lou Wainscott, Parmer County agent, judging the entrants.

Ellen Latta was in charge of registration and scoring.

Brenda Thornburg of White Deer, was first in the senior division, modeling a black, two-piece cotton dress with slate blue accessories. She will represent Carson County in the district Dress Revue at Amarillo.

Vivian Warminski, runnerup, will be alternate.

Other senior entries were Sherry Hearron and Carolyn Bell of Panhandle.

Ten girls modeled aprons, with Janie Beddingfield of Panhandle, the top scorer.

Blue ribbons were awarded Janice Britten, Sandra Katara and Tanja Weatherly.

Sue Bichsel of Panhandle, led a field of four in the skirt division. Carolyn Brooks of Groom, won a blue ribbon in this event.

Becky Osborne of White Deer, was first in simple skirt competition, with Gwen Dene Thornburg, also of White Deer victorious in advanced skirts and blouses.

Miss Thornburg also was top scorer in the junior division. Fern Phillips of White Deer, took first place in the junior dress division.

Each entrant was awarded an entry prize.

Mrs. Janie F. Fletcher, county agent, said this was the best dress revue she has held in Carson County. She said work of the clothing

4-H Club Meets With Mrs. Latta

GROOM (Spl) — The Juniorette 4-H Club met Monday in the home of Mrs. George Latta, with Sandra Katara, resident, presiding.

Janice Britten led the 4-H Recital, and roll call was answered with a rule for safety while swimming.

Ellen Latta gave out pamphlets on health, and a discussion followed on "Good Nutrition," stressing Texas Food Standards.

The recreation program included swimming and learning new songs.

Others present were Tanja Weatherly, Carolyn Brooks and Melva Asberry.

First meeting of the school year will be held in the school's home economics room on Monday, Sept. 12.

BEEFY
NEW YORK (UPI)—Beefy barbecue sauce is great for outdoor cooking. Combine the following ingredients and cook, stirring occasionally, over low heat about 15 minutes, or until slightly thickened: one 10½-ounce can of condensed beef broth, 2-3 cup of chili sauce 3 tablespoons of salad oil, 2 tablespoons of vinegar, 4 teaspoons of onion powder, 2 teaspoons each of brown sugar and chili powder, and ¼ teaspoon of garlic powder. Make about 2 cups of sauce, enough for 4 pounds of parboiled pork spare-ribs.

SMILE GIRLS—Of course, they can't smile because pledges aren't allowed to smile, and standing behind the photographer is a group of actives to remind them of this. These three Las Crecas Club pledges, left to right, Louise Richardson, Diana Pennington and Marilyn Brown are demonstrating three of the poses they must strike upon command of a member. Names of the positions are, left to right, rigormortis, kookaburr and the official seating position.

Returning To Status Of Human Beings, Pledges Agree That It's All Worthwhile

By VIRGINIA IRWIN
Daily News Staff Writer

There are a group of girls in Pampa who are rejoicing this week. They have again reached the status of human beings. For the past month or so, they have been the "lowest form of life on earth"—pledges!

A pledge is a girl who has been invited to join one of the high school social clubs, Las Crecas, Sub Deb or Kit Kat, and pledging is a period of torment which she must endure before being initiated.

To a member, the pledge is the lowest creature alive. She is something to be looked down upon. A pledge can never be physically higher than a member. She must bow to her masters' every wish.

A pledge must always speak when she sees a member and must say goodbye when they part company. At all other times, she must speak only when spoken to. And she better know the name, birthday, and address of every member.

It is very easy to recognize a pledge. She will be wearing a specific uniform with some identification of her club. And she will always be carrying a bucket containing, among many things, chewing gum, bubble gum and candy to be given upon request to any member.

A pledge must be in uniform and wearing no make-up at all times except for a very few special occasions such as going to church.

During the final week of pledging, known as "hell week," the program is intensified. Several little requirements are added such as wearing clothes backwards and inside-out and starching hair.

Pledges must be ready to "hit the ground face down when they hear "air raid" screamed and be willing to lie on their backs with arms and legs straight up no matter where they are when "rigor mortis" is sounded.

These are only a few things a pledge must do. Above all, she must always obey a member and must remember that everyone and everything is above her.

Anytime a pledge is caught out of line, she receives black marks. And the major way of having these marks removed is by working free (this involves such things as ironing, car washing, window washing, washing dishes, etc.) for her commander.

In some instances, pledging is actually a profit to the community. If you noticed that the streets were cleaner and the park was free from weeds, it was due to the energetic pledges (under the watchful eye of a member, of course).

Visiting shut-ins and hospital patients reflects the more humanitarian side of pledging.

Yes, it is a rigorous routine that pledges have to go through. But many girls make it each year, and most agree that it was worth it.

Dear Abby... Judge Person On Present Behavior
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Am I being narrow-minded? We have been invited to the home of a couple who are very good customers of my husband. I do not want to go because the woman (while married) once tried to make a date with my husband.

It happened six years ago when he was still single. He made the date but broke it because he realized how wrong it would be to date a married woman.

Should my husband's friends be my friends, regardless of their pasts?

TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED: Don't hold a woman's past foolishness against her. Judge her on her present behavior. We've all done a few stupid things in the past.

DEAR ABBY: When I have pictures taken of my children, my mother-in-law is the first one with her hand out. "How about mine?" she says. I have spent a lot of money on pictures of the kids for her (and she asks for the big colored ones), but when I go to her house I have to hunt in her drawers to find them. Don't you think, if a person asks for pictures, they should put them out where everybody can see them or else keep still?

BOILING MAD

DEAR BOILING: There is not always ample room to display all the family pictures. In the future have small ones made up for your mother-in-law. If she asks for the large, expensive kind—give her the negatives!

DEAR ABBY: In answering the telephone in one's own home is it proper to say, "Smith's residence"? Or is "Hello" sufficient? I have always said, "Hello", but lately I have had many calls (usually wrong numbers) when the

Dana Kay Martin Honored At Party

A "chuck wagon supper" featured a seventh birthday party Tuesday evening for Dana Kay Martin, held in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin Jr., 800 Bradley Drive.

Games were played and favors given the invited guests prior to the supper, which consisted of ranch style beans, potato chips hot dogs, cup cakes, and cherry drink.

Among those attending were David Pinson, Brenda Colson, Debbie Springer, Jackie and Andy Stephens, Thersa Newton, Becky Cockrell, Lynn and Alan Hogan, Viola and Cathy Parsley, Dennis Brewer, Carol and David Waggoner, Gale, Boswell, Joe Foster, Gary Gibson, Lynn Weeks, Marilyn, Ernie and Carla Murphy, and Joyce Wall.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Waggoner, maternal grandparents, were special guests.

PICNIC POTATO SALAD
8 diced, cooked medium potatoes (approximately 3 cups)
1/2 cup chopped celery
4 radishes, sliced
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup French dressing
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1/4 cup Mustard Sauce
1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Combine first 3 ingredients; sprinkle with salt, then with French dressing. Chill several hours in refrigerator, tossing ingredients occasionally. Lightly mix eggs with potato mixture. Combine mustard sauce and mayonnaise; toss gently with salad. Chill. Makes 4-6 servings.

Fabrics in the cotton family are a great boon to the home decorator because they are colorful, durable, and washable.
