Castro To Take Rest

By MARTIN P. HOUSEMAN
United Press International

HAVANA (UPI)—"Fidel is not seriously ill," said a shoe shine boy on Havana's Prado Promenade. "That's a lie spread by the counter-revolution."
At a Cubana Airlines office nearby, a ticket agent's voice dropped perceptibly as he said: "I believe our premier is gravely ill."
"Nothing will happen as long as Fidel is living, even if he has a prolonged illness," declared an elderly druggist, who has seen several governments rise and fall in Cuba. "But if Fidel dies, this revolution is finished."
Such were the comments heard in all parts of Havana since the announcement Monday that Fidel Castro, 32-year-old prime mover of the "new Cuba," was in need of complete rest due to the lingering effects of a pneumonic core. Residents were sharply divided on whether the ailment was moderate or more serious than officials would let on, or whether the premier even was ill at all.

But one thing all pro-revolution Cubans appeared to have in common was a deep concern over the mysterious circumstances in which Castro dropped out of sight one week ago. A good many admitted they were not happy at the prospects of Raul Castro, radical younger brother of the premier, coming to power for any length of time.

Raul, defense minister, is Fidel's chosen successor. He was expected to take formal charge of the cabinet sometime this week and even deliver his brother's regularly scheduled television address to the nation this Friday.

Ideologically, many Cubans consider him closer to Ernesto (Che) Guevara, Marxist-oriented head of Cuba's controlled economy, than to Fidel—particularly in his reputed fondness for the firing squad as a way to deal with his enemies.

"Raul won't be able to maintain the revolution, much less Che," is the way many people expressed it. They all voiced hope the premier would be back at the helm of government before much more than a month passes.

It was this same feeling that led opponents of the Castro brothers to express open joy at the possibility of Raul's ascendancy over Fidel, even should it lead to a bloody island-wide purge. For they believe that without Fidel, the revolution would blow apart.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOCKED

DALLAS (UPI) — A 50-year-old house moving employe was shocked fatally early today when he lost his balance while standing on a building being moved and grabbed a high voltage wire. Elmer Edgar Burns of nearby Seagoville was an employe of the Biggs House Moving Co.

Bloodhounds Used In Search For Killer

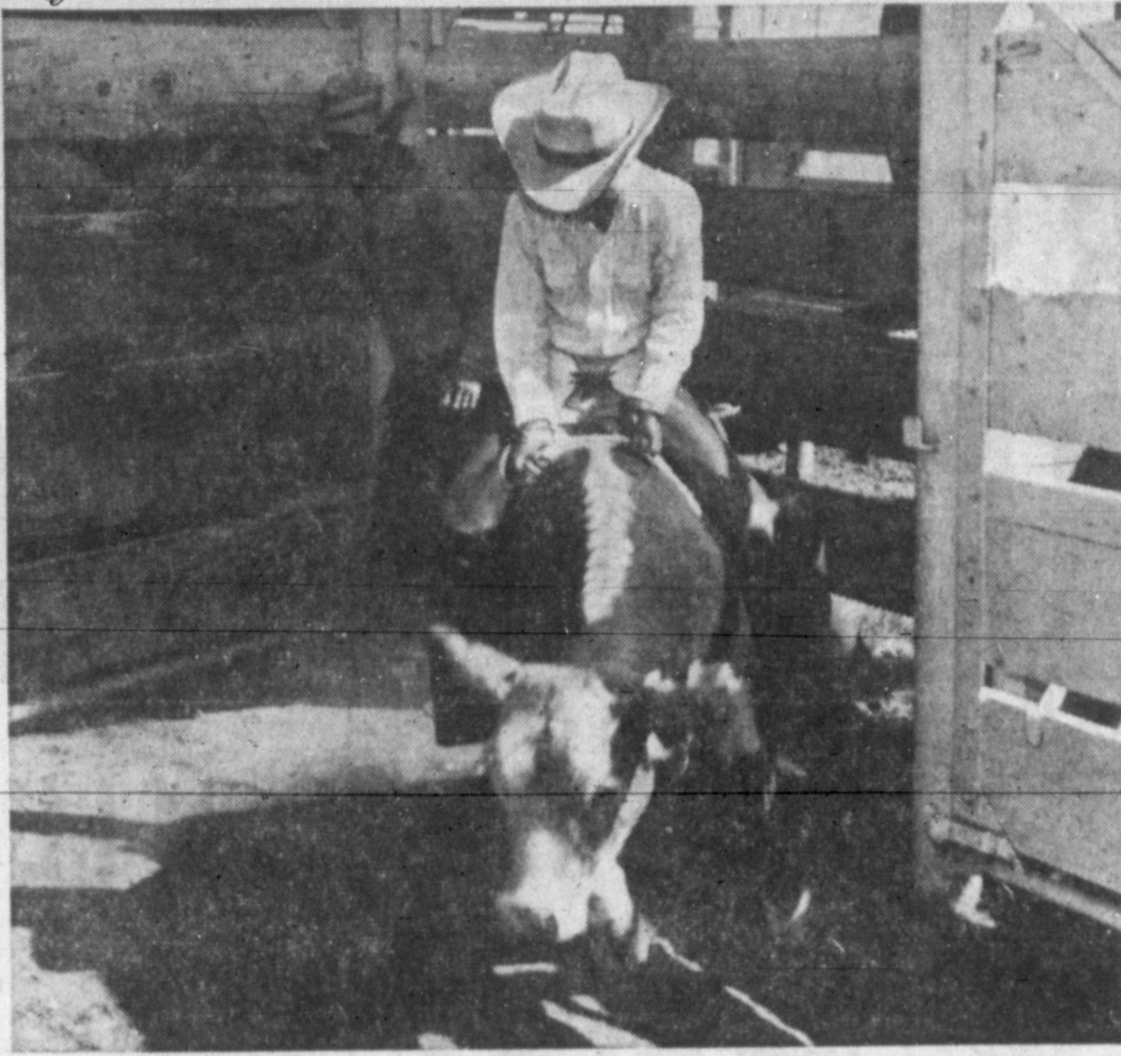

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Bloodhounds and weary lawmen combed rugged Raccoon Valley today for the accused killer of a deputy sheriff, in a chase that also claimed the life of one of the gunman's neighbors.

Clarence Raby, 27, is wanted in connection with the shooting of Union County Deputy Sheriff Ben Devault, 58, in an exchange of gunfire Monday as the officer sought to arrest him.

Raby was originally wanted in connection with the holdup murder of Frank Keith, 61, an Andersonville, Tenn., sport shop operation, following his escape from the Knox County jail July 10.

Early Monday he held up the B.S. Coppock family here and escaped with weapons, money and the Coppock family car. Union County Deputy Ben Devault, 58, recognized him and gave chase.

Raby deliberately wrecked the Coppock car to use as a road-block and commandeered a pickup

'Calf Scramble' To Be Nightly Rodeo Feature

Members of 4-H and FFA from the Pampa area will have a chance to win a calf for themselves during the Top O' Texas Rodeo this year. A special calf scramble will be held each night.

The following nights have been designated for boys from their respective counties: Tuesday, Wheeler County; Wednesday, Hemphill County; Thursday, Roberts County; Friday, Carson County; and Saturday, Gray County.

Boys participating in the scramble will be furnished a rope halter, and they will have equal opportunities to halter a calf and lead it across the finish line. Upon performing this chore, the calf will be long to the boy. Each winner must feed out the animal and bring him back to the Top O' Texas Stock Show in March where the animal will be sold at auction.

The following business men, ranchers, farmers and firms donated calves for the event: Richardson Feed and Grain Co., Shamrock Products, Ty Mills, Allison Implement Co., Allison Co-Op Gin Co., Allison Producers Co-Op, Allison Butane Equipment Co., Glen Elmore, Lee Kiker, Wheeler County Canadian First State Bank, Dale Hedgecoke, Miami Cattle Co., Canadian Vet Clinic, Red Deer Feed Store, Canadian Pharmacy, Campbell Ranch, Hemphill County; Ellis

Aides Call On Kennedy For Orders

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — Two governors who played a large part in John F. Kennedy's march to victory in the Democratic National Convention planned calls on him today to discuss their roles in his fall campaign for the presidency.

Govs. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan were scheduled to visit the Massachusetts senator at his summer home here.

Ribicoff was accompanied by Cape Cod Monday night by John M. Bailey, his state Democratic chairman and a key figure in Kennedy's primary and convention triumphs. Bailey also has been named as Kennedy's campaign liaison man with party organization leaders throughout the country.

Kennedy, who will fly back to Washington Sunday after concluding three weeks of work and rest at his home overlooking Nantucket Sound, put in one of his busiest days here Monday.

It was highlighted by his sharp personal attack on his Republican opponent, Richard M. Nixon, since Kennedy lashed out at the vice president in his speech accepting the nomination at Los Angeles July 15.

Kennedy tore into Nixon for disavowing the Eisenhower administration's farm program and (See AIDES, Page 4)

Two Employees Of Top Secret NSA Missing

By CHARLES CORDDRY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The search for two missing mathematicians employed by the Defense Department's ultra-secret National Security Agency was believed today centered in Mexico City.

Close-mouthed federal officials would give no indication how warm the trail was or what theories they had to explain why the bachelor Navy veterans dropped out of sight more than five weeks ago.

The Pentagon identified the men as Bernon F. Mitchell, 31, of Eureka, Calif., and William H. Martin, 29, of Ellensburg, Wash. Both lived in Laurel, Md., near the Ft. Meade headquarters of the security agency.

Both men were subjected to an intensive security check before they were hired, a Pentagon spokesman said. Both were cleared for access to certain secret material, he added.

A cloud of mystery hangs over the eight-year-old National Security Agency. It is known to perform highly specialized technical activities related to national security.

Mitchell and Martin left the agency June 24 ostensibly to visit their homes. They were due back between July 11 and July 18. When the Defense Department could not find them by last week end, it called in the FBI and Maryland police.

The department said airline records disclosed the pair booked passage to Mexico City June 25. "Indications are they went there," a spokesman said.

Mitchell's father, Emery Sr., an attorney, said in Eureka that he had been informed the men might have flown to Mexico City. But (See EMPLOYEES, Page 4)

Thrills Tonight At TOT Rodeo

Get out your ten-gallon hats, your spurs and your boots. Tonight is the first performance of the 16th annual Top O' Texas Rodeo and Quarter Horse Show.

Shows will be at 8 p.m. tonight through Saturday at the rodeo arena, east of town on Highway 60.

A special feature of tonight's show will be the entrance and introduction of the wagon train which traveled from Canadian to Pampa for the rodeo. The group, consisting of 11 covered wagons and 110 people left Canadian at 8 a.m. yesterday and spent the night out on the range. The train was to arrive in Pampa about noon today.

Morris Stephens of Quitaque will furnish stock for the show. Nat Flemming will be announcer and the Pampa High School Swing Band of Wichita Falls furnishing the music.

A rodeo dance will be held nightly at the National Guard Armory, adjacent to the rodeo grounds, with the Miller Brothers' Dance Band of Wichita Falls furnishing the music.

Prize money totaling $5,000 will be awarded winners in bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, steer riding, calf roping, double muggin, cutting horse, cowgirl barrel race and the calf scramble.

A 4x Beaver Stetson hat will go to the best all-around cowboy competing in the Top O' Texas Rodeo. The best all-around cowboy entered in three major events will receive

Plans For Revival Changed

The executive committee of the Pampa Revival had to make a quick change in plans today, and arranged for Lewis N. Stuckey Jr., a minister from St. Jo. to deliver the sermons.

Rev. Buckner Fanning of San Antonio, who was scheduled to speak during the revival, August 8 through 14, was forced to cancel his engagement last night under doctor's orders.

Stuckey, a 23-year-old minister, is considered to be one of the most impressive young preachers in the state.

He is the son of Dr. Lewis N. Stuckey Sr., retired pastor of the Tyler St. Methodist Church in Dallas.

Stuckey is a graduate of Duke University, where he was an honor student. He served as vice president of his freshman class, and held many other campus offices.

He also has served as international president of the Key Club International.

Rev. and Mrs. Stuckey will arrive here Sunday night to help make final arrangements for the revival.

Rev. Stuckey also will speak at the Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting next Tuesday, and the Kiwanis meeting on Friday of next week.

'Don't Play East Against West'

Congo Leaders Warned By UN

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld has warned Congo leaders against any attempt to speed the removal of Belgian troops by playing East against West, it was disclosed today.

Hammarskjöld voiced the warning in a speech Monday night before President Joseph Kasu Vubu and other government leaders.

The text was made public today. This morning 1,500 of the estimated 10,000 Belgian paratroopers sent to the Congo during the emergency began leaving for Brussels.

The Congo cabinet decreed in a meeting today that any Belgian businesses abandoned during the emergency must be reclaimed within eight days or be confiscated by the government and turned into public property. "At every step there are risks of division created by a false choice. You want to avoid division among the Congolese people."

"You know that the U. N. action in your favor has been approved by a unanimous vote of the Security Council. In this you can see an indication of your future route. A world divided over the Congo would weaken you. A world whose unity would be maintained to back you would give the Congo more strength and security. "In your effort to find the right path you can look to the U. N. flag as a symbol of a world united to help you with its voice and its counsel."

Ike Planning To Work For Ticket

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press International

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — The White House hinted today that President Eisenhower, preparing to do his part for the Nixon-Lodge ticket, may have some new campaign tools in his kit.

The President was understood to be working out for himself a fairly heavy campaign schedule in support of the GOP drive to put another Republican administration in the White House.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty declined to comment today on the extent of the President's participation, a matter reported to have been discussed at length in the President's strategy talk yesterday with Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

"I am sure that the President will participate in the campaign," Hagerty told newsmen today. "I am sure that some of his participation will be active, traditional political campaigning—but a great deal of it may not." A newsman wanted to know what other kind of campaigning there was but the active, traditional kind.

"You'll find out," said Hagerty, with a grin.

Newsmen recalled one classic example of the non-active, non-traditional political campaign, and wondered if they had better get their bags packed for more travel.

In 1929 President Roosevelt, who had not announced he would seek a precedent-breaking third term, took a "non-political" tour of the nation, inspecting defense plants. Of course he was running for election all the way.

New Doors For City Hall

The city hall will get new, plate glass doors at all outside entrances, the city commission decided today.

The commissioners voted to accept a bid from the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. The work will cost $5,436.50. The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. was the only firm to submit a bid for the project. The bid was opened and read at last week's meeting, but the commission decided to make a further study of it before reaching a decision.

Financial Review

By HENRY J. BECHTOLD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pipeline construction should approach a record $3.8 billion in 1961, thanks to Federal Power Commission tardiness.

The FPC has an estimated billion dollars in gas pipe/line expansion to act upon at present. And with adjournment scheduled for the entire month of August, many of the lines originally scheduled to be built this year will have to be carried over into 1961.

Pipe Line News, magazine for the industry, says that the FPC tardiness has accounted for pipe line construction in the first half of 1960 being down from 35 to 40 per cent from a year ago. Early estimates had indicated that this was to be a tremendous year for pipe line work.

However, the FPC began action this summer on long pending proposals which should bring about a large amount of pipe line construction in the second half of 1960, according to the magazine. Early in July alone the commission approved $75 million in Peoples Gulf Coast Natural Gas Pipeline Co., and Natural Gas Pipeline Co., of America involving 322 miles of lines.

Meanwhile, the magazine said, applications filed with the FPC thus far in 1960 to build new natural gas transmission facilities are pushing toward the $400 million mark. These, coupled with a heavy backlog of projects held without certificates by the FPC at the end of 1959 indicate a pattern on line laying work that will mean sharp increases in 1961 over any recent year, it added.

Pipe line construction fell 20 per cent in 1959, and it now appears that about 40 per cent of natural gas transmission construction predicted for this year may very well not be built until 1961.

The magazine points out that whether the current depressed rate of new construction in the industry matures to the $3.8 billion figure next year still depends upon action by the FPC on natural gas transmission facilities.

The commission, it says, is under congressional pressure to speed up its work but indications are that any quicker action on construction projects will have to wait for some form of legislation to relieve the FPC rate case backlog.

There are more than 3,000 producer rate cases pending FPC action, and processing these jams action of construction projects.

Even so the magazine says a trend toward consolidating hearings on construction by the commission may help push next year's dollar volume even closer to $4 billion, depending on how much cash is budgeted for 1961 extensions and improvements on crude oil and products pipe lines.

In all, at least a billion dollars worth of natural gas pipe line and other construction is expected to get the go-ahead from the FPC this season. About half of this is represented by cases on which the examiner has completed testimony, and which are set for oral argument before the full commission.

The magazine says the only questions as the cases come up for oral argument are the details, since all signs indicate that the FPC will give approval to the projects.

Couple Puzzled By Son's Death

WAUSAU, Wis. (UPI)—A couple first learned their son was dead when his body was delivered in a casket to their home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Becker had no advance warning the sheet metal casket was coming.

Inside the casket was the body of their 24-year-old son, Frank, a student at Albuquerque (N.M.) University.

The body had been shipped from Mexico City. It was accompanied by a Mexican death certificate which gave no information at all as to how the young man died.

The shocked and grieving parents tried to find out what happened.

They contacted Mexican authorities and the American Embassy in Mexico City, but were unable to learn the cause of death.

An embassy spokesman told United Press International that delivery of a body without the parents' prior knowledge would be unusual.

Becker went to Mexico from Albuquerque last month after the school term ended. His parents said they did not know why he made the trip. He had been staying near Mexico City, they said.

Russians Keep Close Tabs On Foreign Ships

By A. E. PEDERSEN JR.
United Press International

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI)—The Russians have no qualms about keeping close tabs on foreign ships churning over the Baltic Sea which borders on Russia's western shores.

They have protested against U.S. Air Force planes observing and allegedly "buzzing" Soviet ships on the high seas. But they do not hesitate to follow ships in the Baltic or in the Gulf of Finland which are home waters for the Soviet Navy.

When a six-vessel British naval detachment arrived here late this spring, officers reported that their ships had been followed from the Kiel Canal.

"There were always one or two Russian destroyers in sight", said one British officer.

"We had planned to do some exercises on the way, but the presence of the Russians ruled that out."

It generally can be assumed, whenever a naval visit is planned here, that the Soviet vessels will keep close tabs on the journey through the Baltic.

often can be seen over the open waters of the Gulf of Finland. These are made by Soviet planes which regularly patrol the open sea.

One Helsinki newspaper asserted recently that an "unknown" plane had flown over the Finnish coastline at Porkkala, the former Soviet naval base west of Helsinki which the Finns got back four and a half years ago.

The army said it had no knowledge of this.

Except for the alleged coastal buzzing, all these flights and trailing operations take place on or over open sea, and thus violate no law.

With the Soviet Estonian coast only some 75 miles away, the Finns are careful to avoid incidents.

Civilian airplanes, unless they have special permission, are required to stick close to the Finnish coast.

But even such coastal flights will give a view of Soviet naval vessels on the open sea, and the reason for the government order.

Arthur Murray Studios To Stop Using Bogus Offers, FT Learns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Arthur Murray Inc. has agreed to a government order barring it from making bogus offers to lure "the innocent" into signing up for dance lessons, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) announced today.

The FTC issued a complaint against the company, Kathryn and Arthur Murray and other officials last March, charging them with using a variety of deceptive sales techniques to attract "the innocent, unwary, and unsuspecting" into its studios.

Arthur Murray Inc. operates its own dance schools in New York City and Miami and licenses 450 studios under its name throughout the United States and abroad.

Among the advertising practices banned under the consent agreement announced today were telephone quizzes, crossword and zodiac puzzles and dizzy dance and "lucky buck" contests in which the winners were promised dance lessons as prizes.

The FTC charged that the contests were too simple to be bona fide. It said they were designed to attract customers who then were "coerced" into signing up for further instructions.

Boy With 'Mom' Tattoo Runs Away

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI) — Local police were searching today for John Robert Blum Jr., 18, who lost his temper in an argument with his mother.

Mrs. Blum told police she upbraided her son for buying a used car without consulting her. He became angrier when he couldn't start the vehicle.

She told police he then came into her bedroom, ripped the bed apart, tossed furniture and mattresses around, yanked out the phone cord and dragged her back along the ground when she ran for help.

Louis Blackwell Rites Tomorrow

Funeral services for Louis Edward Blackwell Jr., 5, will be held tomorrow 2 p.m. in White Deer Assembly of God Church with Robin Byars, Pastor of Skellytown Assembly of God Church, officiating.

The youngster died Sunday morning in John Sealy Hospital in Galveston from burns received on June 24.

He is survived by parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Blackwell of White Deer; one sister, Jacquetta; four brothers, Edward, Iley, Onael, Randell; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Black of Perryton, Mr. and Mrs. Iley Blackwell of Bogalusa, La.

Interment will be in White Deer Cemetery.

Joi Lansing Will Marry Manager

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actress Joi Lansing, 31, and her fiancé, Stan Todd, 37, took out a marriage license Monday.

Miss Lansing said Todd owns 25 per cent of her earnings as her manager, but she added: "After our wedding Friday, he'll own 125 per cent of me."

Scottish Rite Masons To Meet

Members of the Top O' Texas Scottish Rite Association will be hosts to their wives at a meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

Special guests at the affair will be Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Slaughter and Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank McDonald of El Paso. They are here to take part in various Masonic events.

BLAST BURNS FOUR

TEAGUE, Tex. (UPI) — David Collins, 18, of Shiloh, Tex., was critically burned Monday and three other men suffered less serious injuries when a pipeline exploded at a pumping station about a mile south of Teague. The other men, all construction workers, are G. A. McLean, 52, of Groesbeck and Ivan Thorne and Lloyd Kerzee, both of Mexico. The blast occurred when one of the men, thinking the line was empty, cut into it with an electric torch.

U.S. mushroom yields have increased from about one pound to two pounds per square foot of bed space in the last 25 years.

CONGO

Some members of the Congolese government were reported urging that troops from African nations not yet involved in the U.N. force be called in to get the Belgians out of Katanga.

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, clearly concerned about the explosive Katanga situation, delayed his departure for South Africa to await the return from Brussels of his political adviser, Hendrik Wieshoff.

Bible Class For Retarded Ended Friday

A vacation Bible school for the exceptional children of this area has just been completed. It was sponsored by the Ministerial Alliance and held last week at the First Methodist Church.

The Rev. David Mills, pastor of the Lamar Christian Church, was in attendance each day to assist with the program. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Exceptional Child Assn., as is Mrs. E. L. Harkins who served as superintendent of the school.

General co-ordinator for the school was Bob Black, pastor's assistant of the First Methodist Church.

Teachers on the staff included Mrs. Opheya Morris, Misses Jon Naylor, Janet Osborne, Carolyn Richardson, Karen Richardson, Nora Wells and Kay Harkins.

Chairman of handicrafts, Mrs. Jack Sloan, had on her committee Mrs. R. F. West Jr. and Mrs. Aubrey Walters. This committee made rhythm instruments for the pupils, and the rhythm band was a daily feature on the program. Material for this and other projects were donated by Clyde Organ, who was a guest Friday morning.

Refreshments were served each day by Mrs. Lee Eslick and Mrs. Merle Black.

Members of the Sub Deb Club kept the nursery and assisted elsewhere. Key Club members, Bill Don Eads, Don Sears, Raymond Nance and Stan Michno also assisted.

A sack lunch picnic was held Friday noon in City Park for the pupils, teachers and mothers.

EMPLOYEES

Martin's father, John H., said in Ellensburg that he had neither seen his son nor heard from him recently.

Informed sources said Mitchell and Martin had not notified the security agency they intended to leave the country. It is normal practice for employees of such agencies to give this notification.

The Defense Department, on the surface at least, appeared to be more excited about the case than the FBI.

SHOCKING BILL

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — David G. Falk, owner of a 20-unit apartment building, did a double take Monday when he saw his monthly electricity bill had jumped from $40 to $1,704.76.

Falk later learned to his relief that a misreading of his meter was responsible for the error.

REW SERVICES Wednesday

McLEAN (Sp) — Funeral services for Napoleon (Nep) Rew, who died at his home here yesterday, will be held at the First Baptist Church at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Rev. John Dyer, pastor of the Hobart Baptist Church in Pampa, and Rev. Jesse Leonard, pastor of the Baptist Church here, will officiate.

Burial will be at Hillcrest Cemetery.

Mr. Rew, a retired rancher, was born in Fanning County May 21, 1878.

He moved to Mobeetie in 1917 and from there to McLean in 1949. He has lived here every since.

Mr. Rew is survived by his wife, Mettie; one daughter, Mrs. E. N. Patton of McLean; a brother, John, of Wellington; two sisters, Mrs. Monty Blanton of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Tom Berry of Wellington 11 grand children and 21 great-grand children.

Two Cases Heard In County Court

Two cases — one on driving while intoxicated and another on swindling with a worthless check — were heard in County Court yesterday afternoon.

Lawrence Edward Taylor of Groom, charged with DWI by Highway Patrolman Stanley Schneider, entered a plea of guilty and was assessed a $125 fine and sentenced to three days in the county jail.

John H. Stowers of Trinidad, Colo., entered a plea of guilty to charges of swindling with a worthless check. He was fined $10 and court costs and made restitution.

He was convicted for passing a $9.57 worthless check on the Trinidad National Bank at the Adams Hotel here May 17.

A man will buy perfume for his wife's birthday if he can't get any one else to do it for him. But he'll often be reduced to tatters before he'll shop for himself.

It's not because he's lazy or doesn't care how he looks. It's because he has confidence in his wife's knowledge of fabrics and trusts her to know what styles look best on him. And, gals, that's a compliment.

Most of us enjoy the responsibility of turning out a well-dressed husband. It's nice to know you've had a hand in a satisfactorily finished product.

When your husband asks you to go along with him to buy a suit or topcoat, it simply means that he prefers your opinion to that of the clothing salesman.

Since we all know that shopping for HIM is as much part of married life as setting the dinner table, we might as well apply ourselves to learning to shop wisely.

The new label law, which provides that the name and percentage of the generic fiber used in the fabric of a garment be listed by the manufacturer, is helpful for shoppers who aren't too familiar with the many new synthetics.

In addition, informative material on new fabrics is constantly being released in newspapers and magazines.

We should learn as much as possible about the durability of fabrics where washing and dry cleaning are concerned.

And so, gals, in order to maintain our status as fashion mentor in the household, let's bone up on how to go about it efficiently.

Watch your heritage, girls, it could happen here! In Munich, Germany, a housework course is offered to single men. It includes cooking, cleaning, washing, and ironing — so they, in turn, can

"Are you going gift crazy?" asks one of my women readers who describes herself as being in moderate circumstances.

She goes on to say, "This past June I sat down and figured out what I had spent on wedding gifts, shower gifts, graduation gifts, and flowers—in one month—and I was appalled.

"We just can't afford to spend so much on gifts and yet they are definitely expected—and from those who aren't actually close friends, either.

"The trouble is, there isn't anything you can buy for a gift these days that is inexpensive. And brides in particular, seem to have no mercy on those they invite to their weddings and who are invited to showers given in their honor.

"You ask what pattern the bride has chosen in silver, china, and crystal—and almost invariably it is one of the more expensive patterns. . . far more expensive than most of her parents' friends can afford.

"If in addition to the wedding gift, you have to buy two or three shower presents you've really had it.

"It takes all the joy out of giving to have your budget shot to pieces by having to buy gifts for acquaintances, or to feel you have to give a more expensive gift than you can afford, or to have to buy several gifts for one bride.

"Isn't there any way to put the brakes on this gift giving binge we all seem to be on?"

It's a problem, all right. But since there is no indication that the situation is going to change, all the individual can do is give when he wants to give and only what he can afford to give, and let it go at that.

Dear Abby...
Mad Money Often
Is Glad Money
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 20-year-old girl who had to walk home. I didn't really "have to"—let's just say "I preferred to".

I went out with this fellow on the recommendation of a friend. She said he was "nice". Well, he took me to a drive-in movie and right away he started to get fresh. When the movie ended, I asked him please to take me home. He had other ideas.

To make a long story short, I got out of the car and started to walk—and my "nice" boy just drove off! I walked awhile and then hooked a ride with a truck driver, who was nice enough to take me right to my door.

My parents were furious. Dad said I took a foolish chance hooking a ride. Yet, I couldn't have walked five miles. What should I have done?

WALKED HOME
DEAR WALKED HOME: Every girl who dates should carry enough money for a taxi or a telephone call. (This is laughingly called "mad money"). If you haven't a father, mother, friend or relative to call for a ride home, then call the police. Young ladies shouldn't "hook rides with strangers. Neither should they walk unescorted at night.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widower, 71, and have known a woman for 16 years. She recently lost her husband, whom I had known all those years. She is 56.

I have been sick and she is willing to care for me in my home as a housekeeper. Would people talk? Remember, we are not children.

JUST A WIDOWER
DEAR JUST: People will talk only if they have reason to believe that you are romantically interested in each other and are living under the same roof without benefit of clergy. What people say doesn't usually bother us—unless it happens to be true.

DEAR ABBY At a neighborhood coffee klatch one of the girls asked me where I was married. I told her I was married in Tijuana, Mexico in 1954. She said right front of everybody, "You aren't legally married!" I could have slapped her face.

We were married in an office.

MATURE PARENT

It's Saturday morning, and as usual Mrs. S can't wait for her family to finish breakfast. As her husband sips his coffee, she says: "You're going to get at the basement this morning, aren't you, Hal? If those storm windows don't get put away, someone is going to break the panes."

When he doesn't answer, she gets up from the table, reminds her son of his incinerating chore and, on her way upstairs, interrupts her daughter's telephone conversation to say: "Are you going to talk all day or start clearing the table?"

Nobody moves. Mr. S continues to drink his coffee; his son and daughter continue their toast-munching and telephone chatter.

So as usual, Mrs. S turns her pressure on herself. In a frenzy of activity, she flings herself into her upstairs housework, pulling sheets off beds and turning mattresses as though she were driven by an unseen slavemaster.

She is so driven, Mrs. S's unseen slavemaster is her passion to re-proach. Whenever her family resists her pressure to go to work, she shows them up as lazy and irresponsible by overworking herself.

She remains absolutely unaware of what this passion does to her. "It is necessary to realize," writes psychoanalyst Erich Fromm, "that attitudes toward oneself and others, far from being contradictory, run parallel. But while hostility against others is often conscious, hostility against oneself is usually unconscious."

The Mrs. S's of this world need to digest these words. For while they are often fully aware of the rage they feel toward their dawdling, resisting families, they are never aware of the hate with which they treat themselves.

When their husbands and children ignore their reproachful pressure, these unhappy ladies do not relinquish the pressure. Instead, they switch it to themselves.

Nothing matters to them but the use of their overwork to make their families feel guilty and uneasy. They never see how their need to drive others parallels the need to drive themselves.

If they did, they'd have to recognize the physical and emotional exhaustion they incur. They don't want to recognize it. As selfishers affliction makes them happy. They love wearing themselves out.

Miss Buchanan Is
Feted With Party

WHITE DEER (Sp)—Miss Mary Buchanan, bride-elect of Don Adams, was complimented with a pre-nuptial shower Friday afternoon in First Methodist Church church parlour. Hostesses were Mmes. B. O. Bentley, Everett Butler, H. T. Dickens, Orville Franklin, Russ Howard, Harry Hughes, T. H. Kelley, Virgil Moore, L. C. O'Neal, Paul Powers, T. R. Swinford, Floyd Ulrich, and Everett Williams.

TV Grid Chart Announced

The American Broadcasting Company has published a list of collegiate football games it will telecast this fall. Here's the remainder of the television schedule:

Georgia vs. Alabama, Sept. 17; Michigan State vs. Pittsburgh, Sept. 24; Syracuse vs. Kansas, Oct. 1; Washington vs. Stanford, Oct. 8; Arkansas vs. Texas, Oct. 15; Notre Dame vs. Northwestern, Oct. 22; Louisiana State vs. Mississippi, Oct. 29; Denver vs. Air Force, Nov. 5; Ohio State vs. Iowa, Nov. 12; Stanford vs. California, Nov. 19; Texas A&M vs. Texas, Nov. 24; Army vs. Navy, Nov. 28; and Duke vs. UCLA, Dec. 3.

Local Radio Coverage Good

Locally there'll be all sorts of football coverage on the radio. And it starts Friday night with KHHH's exclusive broadcast of the Coaching School All-Star game at Dallas. On successive weekends, this station also will carry the Greenbelt Bowl game at Childress and the Panhandle Grid Classic at Amarillo.

KHHH has been designated the official Harvester outlet this season, and will broadcast all of Pampa's home and road games. Owner Hank Huntley said KHHH will carry a good portion of Southwest Conference games, and negotiations are underway to establish professional football broadcasts.

Warren Hasse, owner of KPND, plans to broadcast all of the world champion Baltimore Colts professional games this fall.

KPND also will broadcast college games, both inter-sectional and Southwest Conference affairs, and a lot of Army and Navy games. But so far, it is undecided what the high school grid lineup will be.

New Women's Bowling Loop

Here's two items which should be of interest to local bowlers. The Petroleum Industry Women's Bowling League is organizing a loop for winter league competition.

If you're interested in bowling in the league this winter, call Mrs. Leon Nachlinger, MO 4-4432.

The other item is the World Endurance Bowling Classic, sponsored by Maxie Kosof of Ogden, Utah. The endurance contest annually attracts bowlers from all 50 states.

Thanks To Pappas' Surge

Orioles Are Back In Contention

United Press International

The Baltimore Orioles are back in contention in the American League race — and they owe their latest resurgence to Milt Pappas, who loves to beat the defending champion White Sox.

Baltimore closed to within three games of first place Chicago Monday night as Pappas beat Al Lopez' crew for the third straight time this season, 2-1.

Pappas, who suffered a sore arm earlier in the season, has consistently strong arm and the White Sox, has an earned run average of 1.00 for his 27 innings work against Chicago this year.

Gene Woodling, who has batted .313 against Chicago pitching this season, delivered the winning run in the seventh inning when his pinch single scored Ron Hansen from second base. Hansen was credited with a double when Minnie Minozo misjudged his fly ball in left field.

Orioles Open Scoring

Baltimore opened the scoring with a run in the first inning on Jackie Brandt's single, a sacrifice and the first of Walt Dropo's two singles in the game. Chicago tied it in the third as Gene Freese, Al Smith and Nellie Fox singled for three of the six hits issued by Pappas over the first four innings.

The Baltimore right hander struck out nine and did not walk Woodeshick absorbed his fourth man as he won his ninth game of the season. He now has beaten

Chicago in six of seven career decisions.

The New York Yankees moved to within a half game of Chicago by edging the Detroit Tigers, 3-2. Jim Perry five-hit the Washington Senators as the Cleveland Indians won, 3-0, and the Kansas City Athletics took 10 innings to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 8-6, in other American League games.

National League Idle

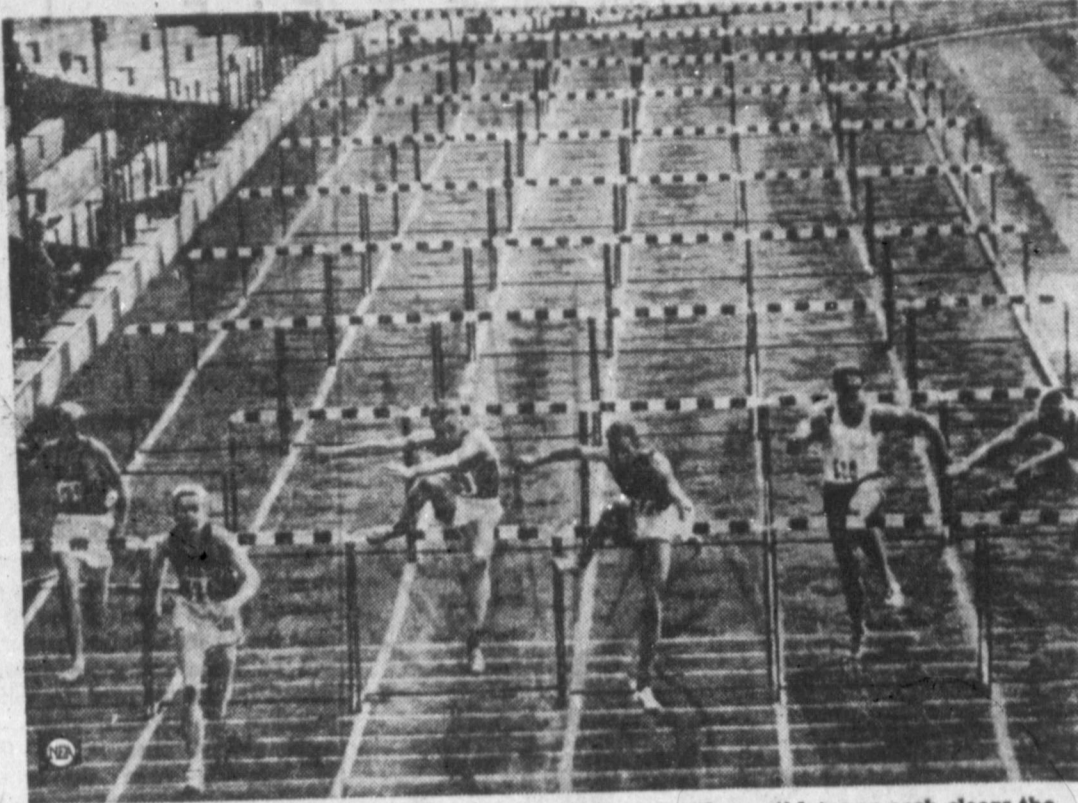

There were no games scheduled in the National League.

Southpaw Luis Arroyo allowed his first two hits in four appearances as the Yankees' new relief ace while preserving Ralph Terry's fifth victory. He took over in the seventh inning and hurled shutout ball the rest of the way.

The Yankees won the game with a two-run sixth off loser Pete Burnside, with Hector Lopez and John Blanchard contributing key singles. Al Kaline hit his 10th homer of the season for the Tigers and Eddie Yost equalled Pie Traynor's major league record for third basemen by appearing in his 1,864th game.

Jim Perry won his 12th game of the year and fourth straight over Washington, including his third shutout at the Senators' expense. Bubba Phillips drove in the first two Cleveland runs in the second inning with a single and Mike De La Hoz batted in the other with a sixth inning hit. Hal Woodeshick absorbed his fourth setback.

A pair of 10th inning doubles by

Golf Tournament Opens

Players were still on the course early this afternoon in the opening round of the Panhandle Women's Golf Association annual tournament at Pampa Country Club.

The flights began teeing off at 8 a.m. today, but the championship flight hopefuls didn't begin their matches until 10 a.m.

A total of 41 women golfers are entered in six different flights. There are five 18-hole flights and one 9-hole bracket.

Tomorrow there will be a putting, approaching and driving contest.

Trophies and gift certificates for the winners will be presented Thursday when the tournament ends.

Bid For Major Status May Explode On Connie

By GENE BLUEAU

United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Continental League's bid for recognition of baseball's third major league might explode today unless the newcomers can establish future plans solidly for the expansion committees of both the American and National leagues.

The two prime movers of Continental League, Branch Rickey, formerly the director of the St. Louis, Brooklyn and Pittsburgh teams in the National League, and Bill Shea, seeking more major league baseball for New York, meet with eight representatives from both leagues.

Speaking for the National League will be Walter O'Malley, Los Angeles, John Galbreath, Pittsburgh, Lou Perini, Milwaukee, and Bob Carpenter, Philadelphia, while Hank Greenberg, Chicago, George Medinger, Cleveland, Joseph Iglehart, Baltimore, and Del Webb, New York, will represent the American League.

The meeting was suggested by the major leagues, obviously to set its own time limit to begin operations or to clear the way for the major leagues to expand.

The American League long has been able to expand to 10 teams at any time and last month the National League voted to expand to 10 teams immediately, if the Continental League is not ready to start.

The Continental League has not yet complied with the 10 points outlined by the major leagues a year ago as necessary for recognition as a third major league.

Backs Sparkle In Grid Drills

DALLAS (UPI) — Both teams boast ample height for the positions, but apparent better strength on the outside may give the South its best chance in years to snap its losing trend in the Texas High School Coaching clinic's annual all-star basketball game Thursday night.

Such strong boys as Yale-bound Rick Kaminsky of Houston Belaire and sharp-shooting Bennie Lenox of Clear Creek more than offset their lack of height with finesse and long-range firing ability.

They have shown excellent teamwork while working with tall Joe Fisher of Beaumont South Park and Lynn Merritt of Robstown in the opening workouts.

North crew were George Scott of McAdoo and George Hargett of Linden-Kildare.

On the football front at Southern Methodist's Ownby Stadium, the North stressed offense while the South, already long on defense, did the same thing.

Tom Davies of Alamo Heights stood out as the major running threat of the power-conscious South, although Hix Green of San Antonio Jefferson and quarterback Gil Gonzales of Falfurrias and Lynard Hinojosa of Spring Branch also drew some praise from Coach C. E. Underwood of Fort Arthur.

Graham Dies In Crackup At Speed Record Attempt

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (UPI)—Utah speed racer Athol Graham will never realize his ambition to become the first American to drive 400 miles an hour.

Graham, 36-year-old Salt Lake City garageman, was killed Monday when his home-made car skidded and flipped over on Bonneville Salt Flats in western Utah.

Graham was the first of four racers scheduled to attempt to set a new world land speed record at Bonneville this summer. Others to follow are Dr. Nathan Ostich of Los Angeles, Donald Campbell of London, and Mickey Thompson of Los Angeles.

The Utah driver, operator of a garage in Salt Lake City, had hoped to surpass the world record of 394.19 miles per hour established by England's John Cobb in 1947.

The twisted wreckage of Graham's $2500 home-made racer was returned from the salt flats to Salt Lake City today. Although no official cause of the mishap was listed, observers blamed the accident on too much power and acceleration for the weight of the racer.

Graham's pretty wife, Zeldine, was at the finish line, waiting for her husband to complete his first run. She flew with him to the Mail from readers of this column is always welcome, and frequently illuminating in giving grassroot reactions to the passing show in the realm of money management.

These is an implication in numerous communications that this writer is privy to the book that foretells the future. Accordingly, not a few inquiries pertain to taking a flyer in the stock market. Such speculative predictions lie outside the realm of legitimate investment counsel and analysis.

Two days before Pearl Harbor, this writer visited the San Francisco sanctum of a highly colorful financier, the late A. P. Giannini, who founded the Bank of America, the nation's largest bank. "A. BENSON TO INJECT POLICY 'BOMBHELL' INTO CAMPAIGN; GOP HOLD ON 4 FARM STATES PERILED

CHICAGO — Agriculture Secretary Benson is planning a militant statement on farm policy just as the Presidential election campaign goes into high gear. The controversial farm chief is drafting his explosive document for publication in late September after he meets with his chief farm policy advisers in the isolated serenity of Camp David, the Presidential hideaway in Maryland's mountains.

The stage for this political bombshell was set during the Republican national convention in Chicago when Secretary Benson sent out invitations to his National Agriculture Advisory Commission, which for the past seven years has reflected much of the Secretary's farm policy thinking, to meet on Sept. 26 and 27.

In his message to this 18-member group, Benson make it clear that he felt "A strong obligation to present a summing up of my stewardship and to make major policy recommendations to the next administration, regardless of its political affiliation." It is this latter pronouncement that is causing a great deal of uneasiness among Vice President Nixon's campaign advisers.

Two groups — Other Nixon advisers, equally irked at Benson's plans, made it clear to farm state Convention delegates that the Vice President will seek, in every way possible to dissociate himself from Benson, who is considered a Farm Belt political liability. Illustrative of this strategy, they say, will be a swift move by the GOP Presidential nominee to set up his own advisory committee to draft a detailed farm program for the campaign.

The chairmanship of this group is being offered to former Representative Clifford Hope (R., Kan.), a strong backer of rigid farm price supports and foe of Benson. Secretary Benson will not be invited to join; in fact, Nixon already has made it clear to Senator Thurston Merton, GOP National Chairman, that he doesn't want Benson to campaign.

In face of this rebuff, Benson has shown no signs of bowing to Republican pleas, including Nixon's, that he keep quiet or absent himself during the campaign. The controversial Secretary is doing just the opposite. Benson, who begins today on a round-the-world "trade trip" has cut down his visits in order to be back in Washington shortly after Congress reconvenes next month.

Before departing, Benson notified GOP Congressional leaders that he was returning in time to play a major role in the battle over farm legislation that is shaping up in Congress. Senator John Kennedy, the Democratic Presidential nominee, plans to push a new farm bill in the fall session, and Benson plans to personally lead the fight against it.

This unannounced decision of Benson has so upset GOP farm legislators that a group of them, including Senators Milton Young (R., N.D.), Andrew F. Schoeppl (R., Kan.), Karl Mundt (R., S.D.), are planning to see President Eisenhower and suggest that he send Benson on a swing into Latin America, the only part of the world he has not visited, in order to keep him out of the campaign. This campaign "black-out" for Benson is necessary, they plan to tell the President, if the GOP hopes to hold on to Senate seats in South Dakota, Kansas, Iowa, and Colorado. To back up their contentions, the GOP Senators plan to cite a farm-belt survey that political troubleshooter Vic Johnson has prepared for the Senate GOP Campaign Committee. It shows that GOP sen-

Private Property, Duty To Family Being Derided

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

CHICAGO — Whatever else may be said of the two conventions, the most important truth is that suddenly, by an insane accord, the great, idealistic Republic of the United States has consented vaguely to the creation of an empire of feeble "free" states to oppose the Soviet Empire Democracy.

There is no excuse to hope that the majority of the citizen-voters object to this fate. Many Europeans still discern in the American and the Constitution a beautiful fulfillment of a spiritual ideal. But very few Americans now have the vision and the moral strength to understand this and to spurn the momentary bribes which the parties offer.

The Americans have convinced themselves that we fought both great wars as crusaders for freedom, even for God, against wicked enemies and at terrible risk of defeat and slavery. No honest, knowing mind can possible believe that in Woodrow Wilson we had the war we had the slightest excuse to throw our decisive strength against the German people after the British, French, Italians and Russians had snapped at and nipped them for three years like a pack of marauding dogs.

The British had violated our freedom of the seas by their naval blockade to deprive Germany of food for her soldiers and their families, and of weapons and explosives. But when Admiral Von Tirpitz proclaimed his total U-boat war to inflict the same denials on the enemies of Germany, President Wilson, goaded by Theodore Roosevelt, decided to make the world safe for a Democracy whose unofficial voice, the press, vilified "pacifists" as though peacefulness were morally loathsome. The American military effort was by no means contemptible, but the American political pretense was.

The world would have been enormously improved if the warlike, hygienic and efficient Germans had been allowed to clean up the filthy, uncivilized Balkans, teach their people agriculture and discipline, and create an empire down to Baghdad. This was not at all different in any moral particular from the British and French empires. But in 1917, as again in 1939, the Germans were "aggressors." Therefore, they deserved the righteous loathing of quarrelsome strangers from the New World, who not so long before, had hounded a few thousand undernourished, unoffending, inefficient wild men off their American plains, with frequent massacres of Comanche, Apache, Sioux and other unarmed Indians and their women and children.

The truth that in these world wars the United States did not desire any material profit understood by the American people, only complicates the lunacy of both offenses. And to say that the nation went to battle in the role of crusader ignores the nullifying fact that most of the warriors dragged their heels and joined up only after all subterfuge appeals had been exhausted.

It is a psychological problem for the ages. Here was a nation indulged by God with the most beautiful equipment of freedom ever enjoyed by a world power. We had abundance and room for millions of immigrants who would fly to our midst as soon as their wars were over. Wars had been inflicted on them by politicians who controlled political parties like our own Republican and Democratic sects. They did not want war and certainly not even the Germans wanted the second one although they were bewitched by promises of living room which they and the Japs both needed. But our protege, the Soviet Empire, now our rival, and half a continent of vacant land and couldn't even feed herself because her people were so stupid and her governing politicians so loutish and vicious.

For both occasions we adopted conscription. It has now been upon us so long that the conscript Americans of today were born into a condition which Americans of 1916 haughtily regarded as a degradation suffered only by illiterate serfs of the European continent. In neither of these conventions of 1960 was one syllable heard of the truth that Franklin D. Roosevelt, honored by strictly political process as a Hero of Humanity, was the spoiler who swindled the Americans of their liberties. His widow, lumbering bashfully into the limelight at Los Angeles, was acclaimed in a degrading aside as "the first lady of the world." Jack Kennedy, who studied Communist international finance under the prophet, Harold Laski, in London, stood unashamed for a photograph with Roosevelt's son, James, whose horrible personal excesses included a hitch as partner of Kennedy's father in a whiskey coup in Britain soon after his repeal.

Sports Car Enthusiasts Speak Foreign Language

As the owner of a foreign sports car, I have only two crosses bear. One is the way I look in a pl cap and Bermuda shorts. The other is the camaraderie sports car owners. I am all for camaraderie, up a certain point. I like the idea sports cars blinking their high sounding their horns, and giving friendly wave when they pass.

The first thing they want to know is what gear ratio you prefer to the back axle, or if you have ever thought of using a De Dion rear end. At first, I came clean when asked such mechanical riddles, and frankly admitted that I didn't know thing about my car, except I like the way it looked and rode.

I quit this when I could no longer bear the looks I got. You would have thought that any man who didn't know all about torsion bars, trailing arms, toe-in and camber torque and overhead cams, should be drawn and quartered. One man came right out and told me — when I confessed that I didn't have any idea what brak horsepower my car had — that shouldn't be allowed to drive it. He said my owning such a car was the same as a mule's owning chess set.

Soon after this I stopped admitting my ignorance and adopted a new and aggressive technique. I isn't any fund, but it gets me off the hook with sports car owners. When I find myself with a sports car owner, or a group of them, start asking them questions before they can start on me, using words and phrases I have memorized from motor magazines. "What do you fellows think 5.5 transmission gear ratios of 2.49 to 1 in low, 1.59 to 1 in second, and 1.00 to 1 in high? I ask, all as one breath.

And before they can answer, I go right on. "I'm only getting 120 British horsepower at 5,800 rpm, although my single camshaft is set high in the block, and I am using the same independent front suspension Dr. Fiedler used on the great old BMW in 1929." If anyone tries to interrupt, I wave him aside and continue. "I am having a bit of trouble with my air-cooler and air scoop, and wonder if I should do something about my pushrod overhead valves. And I'm not satisfied with my dry weight, either. Or my curb weight, for that matter. I may have to switch to dual choke Webbers."

A little more talk like this and sports car owners are afraid to talk to me. Spoken fast, it makes me sound like a man straight from the Porsche or Ferrari factories.

Don Ameche Acting Again

UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Don Ameche, credited by the nation's comedians with inventing the telephone, is making his first movie in 13 years.

For old times sake, or some other reason, the man who played Alexander Graham Bell again is portraying a character named Alexander.

Warner Brothers Studios, which is producing Ameche's new film, "A Fever in the Blood," refuses to divulge whether Don has any scenes with a telephone. Maybe it's a good thing.

Still handsome, and without a gray hair in his head, Ameche plays U.S. Senator Alexander Simon in a story of political intrigue.

Use Gray hDye
To age him for the role makeup men used gray dye at his temples. "Because the part is good and the picture is first-rate I decided to return to Hollywood," said Don, who now makes his home in New York City.

Don moved east in 1950 when New York was the center of television activity. It had been some three years since he starred in a nifty little picture titled "Slightly French" with Dorothy Lamour.

"I moved because what little was offered me in pictures didn't measure up to the things I wanted to do," he said.

"Meanwhile I've kept busy in television and the theatre. But I was never fortunate enough to be a part of a successful TV series. I tried three of them—'Holiday Hotel,' 'The Frances Langford, Don Ameche Show' and a quiz program, 'Take a Chance.'"

Splendidly tailored, and looking like a successful businessman—race horse breeder (which he is), Don ducked movie offers, waiting for a leading role.

"When the picture is completed I'll head back for New York," he said.

"As for show business, I've reached a point where I don't care much what I do, except that it must be something good."

Late Recognition
Franz Schubert, famous Austrian composer, never received much money for his efforts, nor did the public recognize his genius during his lifetime.

NEW ORDERS SLIP
WASHINGTON (UPI)—New orders for factory goods, barometer of future production, fell in June to the lowest level since January.

Manufacturer's sales slipped a shade below the May level, the Commerce Department reported Monday. Factory inventories grew by $200 million, the smallest monthly increase this year.

CRASH INJURES 25
COLUMBUS, Wis. (UPI) — A car hit a truck loaded with migratory farm workers Monday, injuring 25 persons.

Police said the injured were piled up on the highway "like cordwood." Three ambulances made seven trips to St. Mary's Hospital here to bring in 23 injured from the truck and two occupants of the car.

Guess Who Won Suit?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The $150,000 suit of Chung Tok Seto Soo Hoo against his uncle and nephews, She Wing Soo Hoo and Willie Soo Hoo and Walter Soo

Hoo, was ended happily. She Wing So Hoo, 60, and his sons won the case Monday when the judge ruled Chung Tok Seto Soo Hoo did not prove his claim that the defendants beat him during an argument over an antique gun.

Chung Tok Seto Soo Hoo, 23, looked the ruling bravely. He smiled and bowed before the judge. The venerable She Wing Soo Hoo, turned to a large group of well-wishers in court and said "You see? The court has ruled. Chung Tok did not produce evidence to prove his intentions." Chung Tok Seto Soo Hoo again and bowed. Whereupon, all retired to Court for a celebration — Soo could complain about the court's wisdom?
