Tidal Waves Kill Five In Hilo, Hawaii

By CHARLES BERNARD
United Press International

HONOLULU (UPI)—A series of seismic waves generated by the Chile earthquake raked the Hawaiian Islands early today and police reported at least five deaths and "many injuries" in the coastal city of Hilo, Hawaii.

Hilo police said they expected to find more bodies as rescuers inspected the rubble on the Hilo waterfront. First word of the casualties came from evacuees from the stricken area.

One resident said he looked out his window and saw people running and screaming—the waves racing after them with a deafening roar.

Autos and buildings were floating down the street like so many corks.

Police said the destruction was worse than the 1946 tidal wave which took 159 lives.

Deputy Police Chief George Martin of Hilo asked Civil Defense and National Guard assistance "which we need badly for rescue and salvage."

"Lots of people are buried in the wreckage," he said.

The heaviest wave was the third in the series which struck Hilo about 1 a.m. Water smashed into buildings lining Kamehameha Avenue and washed inland for a distance of more than three blocks.

All islands were warned of the wave hours in advance. Alert sirens signaling evacuation were sounded Sunday night on all islands.

Civil Defense headquarters said these warnings probably saved many lives. However, many Hilo residents apparently ignored warnings to stay away from beach areas and were caught.

The waves were also much higher than predicted.

"One witness at the scene, Hilo photographer Richard Otaki, said he saw "quite a few people pinned underneath the wreckage."

"I saw them picking up some bodies. They pulled out the bodies—I saw two of them—and brought them over to another house and put them on the porch," he said.

The city was without power at 2:30 a.m. Power was knocked out earlier and then restored, only to go out again in the wake of new waves.

In Honolulu harbor, there were 13 ships including the SS President Cleveland. When the alert was sounded, the liner got away from port. Other boats in the harbor doubted their lines.

On hearing the Hilo report, Gov. William F. Quinn went on the radio to plead with people throughout the state to stay away from the beaches.

All doctors on the big island of Hawaii have been asked to report to Puamoa hospital. Hilo Memorial Hospital was reported to be without power.

A number of people were reported trapped among the wreckage of several small hotels bordering the Hilo waterfront.

But, Said Better On TV Than Ike

Presidential Pros Called Amateurish

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Of all the candidates for the presidency, not one could be classed as a polished TV performer. That's the word from John J. Sughrue, senior NBC news director, who has been following the Democratic and Republican possibilities around.

He thinks Vice President Richard Nixon and ex-candidate Sen. Hubert Humphrey have the best potential to develop into good TV speakers. And the poorest at present? New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller gets Sughrue's booby prize.

Here's now he assesses the TV speaking abilities of the most frequently mentioned men:

HUMPHREY—Would be fine, except he speaks fast. Sughrue calls it "a machine delivery." But he knows how to change the pitch of his voice, leaving most of the others do not. He has some bad mannerisms, which detract from the effectiveness of what he is saying.

JOHNSON—Speaks a monotone, a tone below conversational pitch. Gives him too formal a quality. He does not seem to get personally involved in the issues he is discussing. Sughrue says this gives him an unemotional, too-casual flavor.

KENNEDY—"He sounds like an eager boy just out of Eastern college." He speaks in a flat monotone, a tone above conversational pitch. He starts that way, finishes that way, giving him no variety, no leeway to stress a point he wishes to make. Sughrue also thinks his hand movements are bad.

NIXON—Another monotone speaker. "There is an obvious effort to be sincere," Sughrue thinks. Nixon's speech organization is the best of the lot, but that the quality of his voice is the poorest.

STEVENSON—A tendency to speak above the heads of the audience is his biggest drawback. And Sughrue says his efforts at humor are forced.

SYMINGTON—"Everything is delivered with an air of foreboding"—he seems to be saying "you had better listen to me—or else."

SUGHRUE says this annoys an audience.

ROCKEFELLER—"An amateur," says Sughrue. He's obviously nervous when speaking, with a nervous smile to mask it. Sughrue thinks he is most in need of professional training.

All the candidates, Sughrue says, desperately need training. He thinks an hour a week for a month or two would be all that was needed to make Humphrey, Nixon and Johnson into first-class TV performers. The others would take longer, but they are all good raw material.

One final optimistic note: Sughrue says that, no matter which candidate is our next president, he'll be a better TV performer than President Eisenhower.

vice from amateurs. Sughrue says he's been with Kennedy when his brother and wife both gave him speaking "tips." He says a TV speaker should either go to a pro for help, or do it his own way, but that amateur advice is always wrong.

Chile Counts 205 Dead, 100 Missing

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—Torrential rains hit earthquake devastated Chile today, flooding stricken areas and crippling rescue operations in town where 30 foot tidal waves wrought havoc in the wake of the temblors.

Official reports listed at least 205 persons dead and more than 100 missing but authorities feared the toll would rise. More than 1,000 persons were injured. At least 200 were in critical condition.

The Interior Ministry said the devastation stretched 500 miles from Concepcion to Ancud over an area of thousands of square miles containing 1,500,000 persons. Property damage was in the untold millions.

The rains inflicted new hardships on persons who have been sleeping in the open in fear of new quakes, and hampered United States, Argentine and Peruvian efforts to assist the Chilean armed forces in rescue and relief operations.

Chile's copper mines escaped destruction but the steady series of earthquakes wiped out hydroelectric dams, homes, factories, ports, steel mills and other industries.

The heaviest tidal wave damage was at the new port of Bahía Mansa where 30-foot waves wrecked port installations. Valparaiso, the chief port, escaped tidal damage. The heaviest flooding from swollen rivers was at Valdivia where water filled the streets.

The epicenter of the quake was the island of Ancud, 600 miles south of Santiago and it was from there the tidal waves roiled toward the mainland. Heavy tidal waves struck as far as Hawaii today, inflicting major damage in Hilo.

The Interior Ministry announced all coastal towns between the 36th and 44th parallels had suffered varying degrees of damage.

The sector, extending downward from roughly the center of the 2,500 mile long Chilean land strip, includes the cities of Talcahuano, which is the Pacific outlet for Concepcion, Coronel, Lebu, Valdivia, Corral, Maulin, Puerto Montt, Ancud, Castro and Achso.

Ancud apparently took the brunt of the tidal wave which was triggered by an around-the-clock seizure of earth tremors that began Saturday. At least 100 residents of the Chile island port were missing after huge waves engulfed two outlying town sections and wrecked 60 buildings in the downtown section.

Most coastal town residents, warned by a threatening rise in tides, took to higher ground before the waves swept in, officials said.

Breakers 30 feet high hit Talcahuano, according to Chilean Naval Chief Adm. Manuel Quintana. At least two large ships were reported to have been hurled ashore.

The quakes which rippled across the whole of Chile from the Andes to the coast—more than 120 were recorded Sunday alone—ranged from very slight to an intensity of eight on a seismograph scale of 10.

Probe Looms In Wake Of Paris Debacle

By WILLIAM THEIS
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congressional investigations of events leading up to the summit conference collapse appeared certain today in the wake of a new Democratic slap at the administration.

The Democratic Advisory Council, in a statement endorsed by three presidential possibilities, accused the Eisenhower administration Sunday night of a "series of blunders" which allowed Russia to wreck the summit talks.

"With the handling of the U.S. spy plane incident shaping up as a major campaign issue, new demands arose in Congress for investigations of American foreign policy.

These were the major developments during the weekend.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said Congress should investigate the U-2 plane incident and his group was the proper forum for the inquiry. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson agreed.

Rep. Edna F. Kelly (D-N.Y.) said she would urge her House Foreign Affairs subcommittee to undertake an immediate inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the summit collapse.

Chairman Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) said his Senate subcommittee on national policy machinery would open hearings Tuesday on coordination between the State and Defense Departments. Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) said it would be a good place to deal with the U-2 incident.

Johnson proposed in Oklahoma City that President Eisenhower launch a crash program to provide a reconnaissance satellite with a TV camera regardless of the cost. He said information gathered by the satellite should be shared with all United Nations members.

Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. said Russia's hard-line line against the United States posed "greater concern" but he had no immediate plans to shake up the nation's defenses. Gates, returning from Paris, also said he took full responsibility for the world-wide U.S. defense community. (See PROBE, Page 3)

U.S., Soviets Working On Death Ray

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Scientists in both the United States and Russia are working on a neutron "death ray" bomb that could destroy an enemy troop concentration without contaminating friendly forces, it was reported today.

The magazine U.S. News & World Report said in a copyrighted article that the U.S. neutron bomb project was so hush-hush that even the code name has been labeled "top secret."

The report said a neutron bomb, when developed for combat, would revolutionize nuclear war. It would kill men with streams of poison radiation, while leaving machines and buildings undamaged.

The magazine said there have been substantial hints that the Soviet Union also was trying to perfect such a device.

It could be fired into enemy concentrations in a combat warhead which would control and concentrate radiation to virtually eliminate fallout. But the article said the "death ray" radiation would be "greater than those produced by today's 'conventional' nuclear bombs."

Ike To Report On Summit Collapse

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower will report to the nation on all radio and TV networks Wednesday night on the collapse of the summit conference and the free world's future aims and goals, the White House announced today.

The speech will originate from the President's White House office. It will be carried from 7 to 7:30 p.m. e.s.t. on the CBS and ABC networks.

The NBC network will carry a delayed telecast of the report at 9 p.m. e.s.t.

The delayed telecast was arranged "specifically at the request of the White House" so as to provide two telecasts of the address and give people across the country a chance, if they miss the first, to see the second.

Asked to provide a title for the speech, Press Secretary James Hagerty said it will be "a report to the American people on the events at Paris and the future aims and goals of the United States and, indeed, of its allies in the free world."

Shortly before details of the speech were announced, Eisenhower conferred with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter on the post-summit situation and the report to the nation.

Hagerty went out of his way to repudiate a published report that the stock of British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has fallen in Washington as a result of the summit collapse.

Theft Ring Cracked On A Tip

Sheriff Rufe Jordan left this morning for Oklahoma, and deputies left to crack a major oil field equipment theft ring broken Friday to the Oklahoma State Patrol's regional office at Muskogee.

Deputy Sheriff Shirley Nickols left in charge of the office, but he was in Oklahoma.

Nickols said the four gang members who were apprehended—Russell Glover, GERAL Garrison, Nelson and Percy Collier, were given the detector tests.

More about the operation could be determined.

Sheriff's office finished with the investigation of the four men and charges early Sunday morning.

Nickols said the total value of the equipment stolen in the ring was $100,000.

A informant tipped off the sheriff's office on the operation of the ring a week-long investigation of the arrest of the four gang members.

Glover, owner of a small oil field engaged in hauling with being a leader.

Over a two months the ring had huge quantities of oil field equipment, and sold part of the items in Oklahoma.

Nickols said the operation undoubtedly had been planned, but required more than anything.

"It takes a little to go out in broad daylight and load a truck with equipment," he said. "They were working early in the morning and going until dark."

Ceylon 'Mediator' In UN Spy Plane Probe

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press International

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Ceylon was reported working behind the scenes today to prevent a major Security Council blowdown between the United States and the Soviet Union over U.S. spy plane flights.

Such a resolution, if it avoided direct condemnation of the United States for the U-2 spy plane downed in Russia, might stand a chance of gaining the necessary seven votes of the 11-member council without a veto by any of the five permanent members.

The council starts debate this afternoon on charges by the Soviet Union that United States spy planes over Russia constituted aggression.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, who flew from Paris to present the case himself, was expected to lead off the debate and probably introduce a draft resolution calling for condemnation of the United States.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was expected to give his first rebuttal immediately afterward. It was doubtful that any of the other delegations would speak on the issue today.

Scramble For Delegates By Demo Rivals

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The contest for the Democratic presidential nomination moved into a new arena today with Sen. John F. Kennedy and his rivals ready to scramble for delegates still uncommitted or still to be chosen.

The Oregon vote last Friday was the last of the major presidential primary contests this year before the Democratic national convention opens at Los Angeles seven weeks from today.

Twenty of the 50 states still must choose delegates, although the delegations from two of these—Indiana and Maryland—already are committed to Kennedy for at least one ballot by their presidential preference votes.

Kennedy's victory in Oregon was his seventh without a defeat, although he had major contests in only four states. He started the campaign as the man to beat and the primaries served to stretch his lead over such actual or prospective rivals as Sen. Stuart Symington, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson and Adlai E. Stevenson.

After two defeats apiece by Kennedy, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and Wayne L. Morse both bowed out as candidates for the presidential nomination.

The United Press International count of committed and known first ballot preferences now shows Kennedy with 203½ convention votes, Johnson with 98½ and Symington with 61½. A candidate needs 761 votes to win the Democratic nomination.

These figures do not tell the whole story because sentiment has jelled in some states which have not yet chosen delegates. In state conventions next month, for example, Texas will provide 61 votes for Johnson and Connecticut 21 for Kennedy.

LA Feels Brunt Of Big Tides

LONG BEACH Calif (UPI)—Surging tides caused by earthquakes and tidal waves in Chile today ripped loose moorings and scattered some 60 yachts in anchorages of Long Beach—Los Angeles harbor.

The Coast Guard said a strong current was going in with each surge that brought harbor waters up several feet before falling back. The surging began at dawn.

Small finger piers of main anchorages were pulled loose with some of the craft that drifted back and forth in the channels. Coast Guard crews and boat owners were gathering up lines and securing the drifting boats. There are several thousand small boats and yachts anchored in the harbor.

No injuries were reported although some small pleasure craft foundered. Larger boats suffered some splintering and superstructures of some sailing vessels were sheared off by low bridges as they swung in and out of the channel with the tides.

DEAR ABBY....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband holds a position of trust that he is unworthy of. He has been stealing from the company. I couldn't believe it until I was faced with the proof.

I discussed it with him and he promised to stop. But his promises mean nothing because I have proof that he has been at it again. The more he gets away with, the more he wants.

We have three children, Abby, and if he is caught he will lose his job and he might even be sent to prison. I love him and want to help him, but I can't go on living with a thief and taking a chance on his bringing disgrace to me and the children. If you can't help me, Abby, please tell me who can. I am sick at heart.

MOTHER OF THREE
DEAR MOTHER: If you have never asked a clergyman for help ask him now. If you don't belong to a church, go to one. I doubt if any clergyman would refuse to help you. Beyond that, your husband might need a doctor. Stick with him and give him the strength, support and incentive to overcome his weakness. It can be done.

DEAR ABBY: My secret ambition has always been to earn a college diploma. I started college once, but stayed only four months because my father took sick and I had to return home to get a job and take care of the family. I am 33. Abby, if I take courses three evenings a week, I figure it will take me eight years to earn the credits required to graduate. I wonder if it's sensible. If I go, in eight years I will be 41.

WANTS A COLLEGE DIPLOMA
DEAR WANTS: And how old will you be in eight years if you DON'T go?

DEAR ABBY: After going steady with Russ for three years I married him. I was only 13 at the time. We've been married for five miserable years and have two children. I realize now that I was too young to know my own mind when I married. Now I finally feel the man I should have married.

His name is Frank and, Abby, we were meant for each other. He's married, too, and his situation is exactly like mine. He married too young and all he and his wife do is fight. He says he is happy only when he is with me. Frank and I have been seeing each other on the sly. Is it wrong to continue these meetings? Nobody knows and nobody is hurt. We are very much in love and suffer terribly when we are apart. Why should we suffer the rest of our lives just because we didn't meet until after we were married?

DYING BY INCHES
DEAR DYING: You married Russ for better or for worse. If you spent as much time and energy trying to make Russ happy as you apparently do making Frank happy, things would be much better at home. Knock off that out-of-bounds monkey business before things get worse. If you think you are "suffering" now — wait until your luck runs out.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MITZIE:
Truth serum is not 100 per cent reliable and I doubt if it is available to the public. If I were you I'd bounce the bum. He's not worth the salt in your tears.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'Power Shift' Rumors In Kremlin Appear Doubtful

EDITOR'S NOTE: What is the internal situation in Russia? What part, if any, did it play in the wrecking of the summit conference? UPI Washington staff members interviewed numerous experts on Soviet affairs. Their views are included in the following dispatch.

By DONALD MAY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — His important "power shift" taken place in the Kremlin? Soviet experts are inclined to doubt it.

But they do feel that significant reshuffles at home may have laid at least some part in the Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's wrecking of the summit.

What were these pressures and how important are they? The answer will be found in time and by the patient study of government and private scholars of the Soviet scene.

Here are some of the theories: On April 25 in the Soviet Union, Khrushchev made a brilliant speech in which he renewed his threat to oust the West from Berlin.

Some experts believe this marked the point at which Khrushchev decided to torpedo the summit. He had, they note, just about promised the East Germans he would win them important Berlin concessions.

But in Washington Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov, busily engaged in sounding out the State Department, foreign diplomats and even newsmen, found the omens for this gloomy.

In the month before the summit, Western leaders — U.S. officials and French President Charles de Gaulle — made it clear in tough statements of their own there would be no yielding in Berlin and no split among the Allies.

boarded his plane for Paris, one notable figure was conspicuously missing among the dignitaries, he was Anastas I. Mikoyan, first deputy premier, and a veteran of more than 30 years in the Kremlin.

Mikoyan has been seen at official functions since May 7. He was reported "on vacation." Mikoyan has been identified as a supporter of Khrushchev against the Stalinists, who opposed the premier's avowed intention of easing tensions with the West and his personal diplomacy of hobnobbing with Western leaders.

But even if Mikoyan has been purged — which is still not certain — observers aren't sure it means a Stalinist victory.

On Jan. 14 Khrushchev announced a drastic cut in armed forces manpower — from 3,600,000 to 2,400,000 men by 1961 — and a corresponding shift to rocket strength.

The move is said to have caused deep unrest among the officer corps, 250,000 of whom are being reduced to factory jobs or being sent to the dust bowl in Kazakhstan, which Russia is trying to reclaim.

The usually reliable Institute for Study of the U.S.S.R. in Munich reports a rumored shake-up in the Soviet military high command just before the U-2 incident and connects it with demobilization unrest.

There also have been reports that while Khrushchev and the study of the U.S.S.R. in Munich reports a rumored shake-up in the Soviet military high command just before the U-2 incident and connects it with demobilization unrest.

Thunderstorms have been widely scattered over the western and northern portions of North Central Texas in the hill country west of Austin and over nearly all of South Texas during the night and early morning.

top military apparently knew Russia had been unable for years to shoot down U-2 flights, the news came as a great shock to many high officers, who then demanded a major hardening of policy toward the United States.

Most Soviet experts here can find no reason to suppose that Khrushchev's summit tactics were an effort to divert attention of the Russian people away from domestic problems such as shortages of consumer goods.

Recent visitors to Russia say there are more goods in the stores. Since Stalin, production of consumer goods has increased by an average of three per cent a year.

In general, the 1958-1965 industrial seven-year plan is working out well, American experts say. But a situation of local unrest may exist over agriculture, Russia's greatest domestic problem.

Russian newspapers have carried stories of serious drought in the Ukraine and the Crimea, with particularly bad conditions around Stalingrad and Rostov-on-Don.

Experts here doubt that the Chinese Communists, long opposed to the Kremlin's "soft" policy toward the West, have a very great influence on Khrushchev. But they might, observers feel, have some influence on dissenters in Russia, who in turn could influence the Soviet premier.

Two head-on collisions involving five cars in Dallas Sunday left two persons dead and six injured.

A three-car collision in West Dallas killed Donald Morrell Smith, 25, a driver of one of the cars. Police said Smith apparently got confused when he turned south on Loop 12. He came out on the wrong lane and crashed into a truck driven by Willie Wells Thompson, 30. The impact drove the truck into the path of a third car carrying Mitchell Gonzalez and Fred Flores.

Six Jets Forced Down U.S. Transport

By JOSEPH B. FLEMING
United Press International

BERLIN (UPI) — A West Berlin newspaper reported today the unarmed U.S. transport plane that landed in East Germany Friday was forced down by six Soviet jet fighters.

The newspaper B. J. quoted an eyewitness as saying that two of the Soviet fighters fired two bursts at the American plane, probably as warnings to land.

A U.S. spokesman said the pilots still have not answered a request for release of the aircraft and the nine Americans aboard. Officials were encouraged, however, by the fact that the Communists had not charged that the plane was on an espionage flight and that the Russians, rather than the East Germans, were handling the matter.

Nevertheless, a warning printed by the Communist newspaper Neues Deutschland that East Germany would not tolerate any "violation of its sovereignty" indicated the plane and its occupants might be held a long while.

In a 45-minute maneuver the fighters forced the U.S. Army C-47 lower and lower until it was forced to land in a grain field, the eyewitness reported.

The newspaper reported the aircraft was not damaged either by the Soviet shots or the landing.

After the C-47 landed three East German policemen arrived and held the nine Americans until a Soviet helicopter arrived. An hour later three Soviet armored cars rolled into the grain field.

Pampan Charged For Beer Sale To Minor Person

Billy D. Vance of Pampa pleaded guilty to charges of selling beer to a minor and was fined $100 and costs in county court this morning.

In other court action, Dwight Robert Webb, 24, who lives in the Hillson Hotel here, and Glendon Gene Harvey, 18, of Lefors, were each fined $10 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail after pleading guilty to charges of their under $50.

Henry Irving, a Pampa Negro, entered a plea of not guilty to charges of swindling with a worthless check, and his bond was set at $500.

Vance was charged for selling beer to teenagers last Friday in a complaint signed by Liquor Control Board agent B. A. Tippit. Webb was arrested by police over the weekend and confessed to stealing a barrel of gasoline and a pump from the Hi-Tex Ditching Co., 1421 N. Hobart last Wednesday.

Harvey was charged with stealing a pair of fender skirts from a car owned by Ted Harg of Pampa April 30.

Irving allegedly gave a bad check for $29.26 at Fred's Garage, 121 E. Atchison, April 9. He was trying to arrange the $500 bond this afternoon.

Mumps Delay Arrest

DALLAS (UPI) — A Dallas woman, charged with thrubbing eye water in another woman's face, remained out of jail today because she has the mumps.

Mumps delayed the 28-year-old woman's arrest for 10 days because police who hadn't had time to take her into custody. Police said they "ran her off" when she came to the station because they didn't want to expose jail prisoners to the mumps.

Finally, E. D. Heatt, a detective who has already had the mumps, charged her with dousing another woman with eye water on May 5.

But since she still had the mumps, police didn't want to put her in jail. They agreed she could go home on bond until she gets over them.

Storm Front Remains In Panhandle

By United Press International
Scattered or isolated thunderstorms remained in the Texas weather pattern again today as a low pressure center over the Panhandle continued to pull warm, moist unstable air across the state.

Thunderstorms have been widely scattered over the western and northern portions of North Central Texas in the hill country west of Austin and over nearly all of South Texas during the night and early morning.

Most rainfall amounts have been light, but Perrin Air Force Base near Sherman recorded .80 inch between midnight and dawn.

Thunderstorms swept along the eastern South Plains and lower Pecos Valley as well as along the Red River earlier Sunday night and in some places dumped hailstones the size of golfballs.

Paducah in Cottle County reported such hail around 6 p.m. Sunday and Childress, was drenched with .61 inches of rain a bit earlier. Wichita Falls reported .22 inches.

Two Dead, Six Injured In Wrecks

DALLAS (UPI) — Two head-on collisions involving five cars in Dallas Sunday left two persons dead and six injured.

A three-car collision in West Dallas killed Donald Morrell Smith, 25, a driver of one of the cars. Police said Smith apparently got confused when he turned south on Loop 12. He came out on the wrong lane and crashed into a truck driven by Willie Wells Thompson, 30. The impact drove the truck into the path of a third car carrying Mitchell Gonzalez and Fred Flores.

Forrest G. Bacon, a passenger in Smith's car, was critically injured. Gonzalez and Flores escaped injury. Thompson was seriously injured. His wife was in less serious condition.

The second collision killed Mrs. Lida Jane Corey, 69, a passenger in a car driven by her husband Fred Corey. Mrs. Corey died at 4:30 a.m., today, about eight hours after the crash.

Corey, an unidentified youth driving the other car and Robert Lee Duncan, a passenger in the youth's car, were injured. Police said they will charge the youth with aggravated assault with a motor vehicle and driving while intoxicated.

Florida Set To Choose A Governor

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Florida Democrats will decide in a runoff primary Tuesday whether their nominee to succeed Gov. Leroy Collins shall be a firm segregationist or a moderate on the racial issue.

They also will elect a national convention slate pledged to Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla.) as a "favorite son" candidate for president.

State Sen. Doyle E. Carlton Jr., wealthy rancher and son of former governor, opposes veteran state Legislator Farris Bryant for the party's nomination as governor. The voting for governor is a run-off. Neither Carlton or Bryant got a majority of the votes in a 10-man field in the first primary and the run-off is required by law.

The winner of the governor's run-off will oppose Republican George Peterson of Fort Lauderdale in the general election in November. Democratic nomination to state office always has been equal to election in Florida.

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press International NEW YORK (UPI) — Bally Ache's Preakness was regarded today as largely a matter of farce. "The Highwaysman", who also came riding, well might have been the poetic commercial for this one because there were those who figured that: 1. Bally Ache "stole" the race. 2. The new syndicate which owns the colt pulled off a neat theft by getting him just before his important race. 3. Former owner Leonard Fruchman had his pocket picked of the handsome Woodlawn Vase awarded the winning owner. 4. Kentucky Derby winner Venetian Way, according to his trainer, was "robbed" by Willie Hartack's ride. 5. And racing was robbed out of a triple crown winner for the 12th straight year. Considering the first of these sporting indictments, it can be accepted that the front running pain in the other three year olds' tumblers did a neat job on the head end. He set his own pace without challenge until it was too late and the result was the third slowest race in the last decade. His jack rabbit gambol down the stretch merely accentuated the lack of early contention. Vic Sovinski, disappointed trainer for Venetian Way, emphasized:

Bucs Pad Lead; Nip Giants 8-7

By MILTON RICHMAN United Press International A bench is made to sit on but Danny Murtaugh wants to stand up and cheer for the one that's winning ball games

"We didn't have much of a game of the top Jackie Brandt's two-run homer highlighted a four-run first inning rally and the Orioles chased Bell with three more runs in the second. Woodie Held homered for Cleveland in the second and Vic Power hit a grand-slam in the third but Jack Fisher took over for Skinny Brown and stopped the Indians. Rain caused postponement of a scheduled second game. Jim Bunning of the Tigers won his first game of the season by holding the Red Sox to six hits in the opener. Hank Aguirre was the winner in the nightcap although Pete Burnside had to come to his aid in the eighth. Yogi Berra hit two home runs and Bob Cerv and Roger Maris over the "A's." Cerv hit his homer with two on in the fourth to spark a four-run rally that gave New York an 8-0 lead. Jerry Lumpe hit two homers for Kansas City.

'Fastest Field' Ready To Go Memorial Day

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The Speedway's fastest field, led by three veteran drivers and a new sensation in rookie Jim Hurtubise, was set today for the 800-mile Memorial Day auto race. Four days of hectic time trials, including last-minute dramas, ended late Sunday when a 33-car starting field was completed despite sporadic downpours of rain which threatened to extend the preliminaries. When it was all over, Hurtubise owned the one-and-four-lap qualifying records which were smashed three times in the trials and just missed breaking the long-sought 150-mile an hour barrier by 16-100ths of a second. The California comet, the first qualifier Sunday, wrecked all trial speed marks for the famous gasline field when he roared around the two and one-half mile oval at a clip of 149.056 for the 10-mile distance. He hung up another new mark when he was clocked at 149.601 on his third trip around the course. Pole-sitter Eddie Sachs of Center Valley, Pa., set the old marks four laps respectively on the opening day of qualifications. Sachs, Jim Rathmann and defending "500" champion Roger Ward comprise the first row which will lead the field for the flying start May 30. Hurtubise, 27, Lennox, Calif., was one of only four rookies to make the field. Bud Tingelstad, Dayton, Ohio, also made it Sunday at 142.854, and previous rookie qualifiers were Lloyd Ruby of Houston, Texas, and Wayne Weiler, of Phoenix, Ariz. The field checked in with an average of 144.070, erasing the previous record of 143.445 two years ago. The average would have been still higher had it not been for rains which cut into the qualifying time.

Bally Ache Boosted As Best Bet At Belmont

By RAY AYRES United Press International

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — Bally Ache, impressive winner of the $175,000 Preakness Stakes Saturday after being decisively beaten in the Kentucky Derby two weeks earlier, will surely win the Belmont Stakes, his handlers now are thoroughly convinced. "There should be no doubt in anyone's mind that he can run over a distance," said Joseph Arnold who bought Bally Ache for $120,000 a week ago. But before Bally Ache gets to Belmont Park and a spot at the testing mile and one-half classic, he will be sent to Garden State Park on Tuesday to run in the $100,000 added Jersey Derby there on Memorial Day. That will make five weekends in a row on which Bally Ache has raced but "old pros" seems to thrive on a rigorous campaign. Bally Ache suffered no ill effects from his runaway triumph in the Preakness in which Kentucky Derby winner Venetian Way was up the track, fifth in the six-horse field. "Dreams of sweeping the Triple Crown with Venetian Way crumbled when the colt, powerhouse winner of the Kentucky Derby only 34 days previous, showed little in the Preakness. Trainer Vic Sovinski blamed the defeat on jockey Bill Hartack who in turn claimed that he and Venetian Way have parted company and a new rider will be up on the Sunny Farm runner when he next starts. That also probably will be the Jersey Stakes with Venetian Way this time cast in the role of underdog. Celtic Ash, T. V. Lark, Bourbon Prince, Keeneland, Count Amber, and Tompion, the beaten Kentucky Derby favorite who lost a shoe in the rose run, also are expected to start. Tompion given a brief rest at owner C. V. Whitney's farm following the Kentucky Derby, shipped into Garden State Park on Saturday. Plans for Victoria Park were definite. The Canadian-born colt will be shipped to Belmont Park where he undoubtedly will run in the Belmont Stakes.

The Pampa Roadrunners couldn't make their second home appearance here Thursday night with Burden furnishing the opposition. Woodward, Okla., moves in for a Sunday afternoon contest. Both games will be played at Optimist Park, the night game slated to get under way at 8:15 p.m.

THE LINE SCORE: Pampa 000 000 000 0 6 5 Sayre 002 070 00x 9 9 0 Batteries: Sayre — Burden, and McAlpin; Pampa — Heiskell, (LP) Williams (5) and Conaway, Haralson (3).

Tests Started On Ailing Davenport

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Doctors at Milwaukee Hospital are scheduled to start tests today to find out what's ailing San Francisco Giants third baseman Jim Davenport. The 26-year-old infielder has been in the hospital since last Thursday when he complained of nausea and vomited blood. The loss of Davenport, who was the Giants' second best hitter with a .298 average, came at an especially critical time. Since he became ill the club has lost two contests in a three-game series with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Davenport's absence has been seen as a contributing cause to the Giants dropping from a tie for the National League lead to 1 1/2 games behind the Pirates. Dr. Irwin Schuit, who frequently cares for members of the Milwaukee Braves, is handling Davenport's case. Thus far his treatment has consisted of rest and a liquid diet for the St. Louis, Ala., boy. Preliminary diagnosis has indicated his trouble could be gastritis or an ulcer.

Too Many Trades, Yanks Play Like A's

By STEVE SNIDER United Press International NEW YORK (UPI) — The Yankees insist they'll go right on trading with the Kansas City Athletics. But after 16 player deals with the "A's" since that club moved from Philadelphia in 1955, an odd thing has happened. The Yankees, instead of improving, are beginning to play like the second division Athletics. And the "A's" are no better off than they were before they began collecting Yankee castoffs. Only Bill Veck of the Chicago White Sox sees anything funny about the constant shuttle of personnel between New York and Kansas City but Veck's sense of humor doesn't always conform to normal baseball standards. "Actually, the more recent trades give Yankee-haters good grounds for insisting Kansas City has become a "Yankee farm club." The Yankees originally sent Bob Cerv and Ralph Terry to the Athletics because they weren't good enough at the time to make the Yankee club. Terry learned

Globetrotters Abroad

LONDON (UPI) — The Harlem Globetrotters arrived in London from New York Sunday to begin their 11th tour of Europe. Accompanying "basketball" jammers, clowning were a troupe of comedians, trick cyclists, acrobats and their opponents, the U.S. All-Stars.

Editor's Note:

In the Stygian gloom of Harvester Stadium Friday night my 20/20 eyes read Buddy Rawls' jersey number 15 as Dwan Urbanczyk's 35 with the unhappy result that Dwan got credit for Buddy's sparkling 80-yd. touchdown return with a Futures kickoff. There can be no excuse for an error like that, but, honestly, in the "candle light setting" the game was played in I was lucky to come that close. Althow, my apologies to Buddy Rawls for the goof. That changes his total offense for the night to 91 yds in eight trips for an 11.4 average and makes Urbanczyk's slate read 81 yards in 12 tries for a 6.8 yd. average.

Houston Pro Wins Snead Golf Festival

By FRED FERRIS United Press International WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va., (UPI) — "I went for broke and it paid off." That's the way young Dave Snead today described how he won his first major golf victory, a $2,000 first-prize Sunday in the Sam Snead Golf Festival. The 26-year-old Houston, Tex., professional refused to wince in the stretch, firing a scorching six-under-par 64 on the final round to pull away from two challengers. He finished with a 72-hole total of 265, 15 under par, and seven strokes ahead of another non-winner, Milton (Babe) Lichardus of Groesinger, N.Y., the runner-up with a wuv. And far behind at the finish was the annual favorite, Sammy Snead. He was nine strokes off the pace in fourth place with a 274, one of his worst showings in this $20,000 tournament on his income courses which he has won five times. He had a final 68, Marr, playing in his 16th tour.

Beauty Giving Way To Brains All Over Florida

FINANCIAL REVIEW
By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Beauty and brains mix freely in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, says Gilbert P. Edwards, president of the Investment Corp. of Florida.

He made that statement in New York the other day and business men listened particularly to his reference to brains. His reference to beauty was to the climate and beaches and not to the ladies.

He finds this section of Florida changing to a year-round residential area and not just a winter resort as it was in the past. Many retired persons are included in the brain department he referred to.

But there are others as well falling into two classes—men who have started their own businesses there because they like the climate; and a group of young or middle-aged business men who make Fort Lauderdale their permanent home base.

Formerly these executives may have lived in New York, Connecticut, Illinois or Utah. Some still keep their businesses in other states and fly back and forth in their own airplanes.

One thing that Edwards points out is that if your business can be centered in his area of Florida, there's a big field from which to draw your corporate directors.

Edwards came to Florida, 13 years ago and entered the real estate business. The chairman of the board of his company, Harry P. Greep, formerly worked as comptroller of a Chicago newspaper. Then, there's director Howard Morley, former managing director of Thames Board Mill, Ltd., of England, and one time general manager of the book and bond division of International Paper Co. He's an expert on labor relations and plant development.

Another director—G. Harold Warner—like Morley, is retired. He formerly was treasurer, then auditor-general of the state of Pennsylvania. He's a financial expert, specializing in taxation.

John Wrather, only 56, represents the Independent Oil Producers of the National Petroleum Council.

Martin Hauser, is a director of the Minot Corporation and Litchfield Creamery Co. of Illinois.

Newell B. Wallace is vice president of Albert Krum, Inc., and Loveland Inc. (Michigan) as well as a director of Chemical Fund, the U.S. Sugar Corp., and Grow Solvents Co.

Alan P. Hart, retired, is a former president of Metalline Chemical Co.

Dr. James J. Carney Jr., is professor and chairman of the department of finance of the University of Miami as well as a director of Maule Industries.

Other officers of the Investment Corp. of Florida are Phillip Morgan (secretary), one-time internal revenue agent, and Christopher Hengeveld, Jr., (treasurer), former treasurer of the American Stock Exchange in 1939, (then the New York Curb Exchange) and "Tren" wire—president and treasurer (1948-1958).

Edwards reports the corporation prospering in real estate and now diversifying. The company recently acquired International Automotive Air Conditioning, Inc., now operated as a wholly owned subsidiary. Investment Corp. of Florida became a publicly owned corporation last year.

Edwards sees a great picture for the company—so do his directors. One of the retired directors remarked: "Whether I'm scrutinizing a new business or a parcel of real estate I feel I've got a new lease of life."

MAIL RATES APPROVED

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federal judge has ruled that two leading nudist magazines have as much right to second class mailing rates as the "Ladies Home Journal" and "House and Garden."

Judge Luther W. Youngdahl said the ideas of nudism "do not have the public acceptance given the ideas and way of life" of the women's magazines. But he said they are still entitled to equal treatment by the Post Office.

The two nudist publications are "Sunshine and Health" and "Sun Magazine."

Movement Of Continents Theory Talked

By MAC SEBREE
United Press International

TULSA (UPI)—The changing face of the earth, long a subject of investigation by geologists in and out of the oil industry, has given rise to some interesting new thoughts about the movement of continents.

The annual research committee symposium of the Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists, held at the annual meeting of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists at Atlantic City recently, explored this in detail.

Ever since geologists first recognized the remarkable similarity between the two sides of the Atlantic Ocean, they have been wondering if this is due to a large ancient continent having been pulled apart or broken up into our present continents.

The land areas of the world today may be a jig-saw puzzle on a grand scale, and the possibility that North and South America moved westward into the Pacific basin, opening the Atlantic Ocean behind, is being seriously considered.

At a similar symposium held 25 years ago, most geologists doubted the idea because they couldn't conceive of any mechanism for moving so much land. Geologists today are far from unanimous in their acceptance of the continental drift theory, but many new factors have entered the picture.

One factor is the report of magnetism in rocks. Many particles of clay and sand being carried by rivers and deposited in deltas and on ocean floors are minute magnets, which, on falling to the ocean floor point north, as does the needle on a compass.

Prof. S. K. Runcorn of the University of Durham, England, reported that rocks deposited before about 60 million years ago did not point north. The older the rocks, the more they deviate from north. Either this bears out the theory or the North Pole itself has moved since early times.

Further, the magnetic orientation in rocks of the same age on different continents does not agree on a single pole position. According to Dr. E. R. Deutsch of Canada's Imperial Oil Co., this indicates that the continents must have moved and turned differently.

Obviously, large scale movements of the continents would have had an effect on their climate. Areas now temperate might once have been tropical. Evidence of this is found in the rock record of the past.

Prof. T. Y. H. Ma of the National Taiwan University, Formosa, and A. G. Fischer of Princeton University noted that ancient coral reefs presumably grew best near the Equator, as they do today. Therefore, how can one explain ancient reefs in Arctic regions?

Most explanations of the mechanism of continental movements have involved "drifting" continents of lightweight granitic rock have moved through "seas" of heavy basaltic rock, such as underlies the ocean.

Another theory, by Prof. S. W. Carey of the University of Tasmania, Australia, is that the earth has expanded and that areas between some of the continents are rifts or cracks formed during the expansion.

Understanding the broad geologic questions help the oilmen in their more localized and never-ending search for petroleum in the cracks of the earth.

Youths Cause Home Damage

An old nemesis is cropping up on the police department complaint list.

A group of youngsters Thursday night used a two-by-four board to batter in the back door of a new home that is being built at 2411 Christine.

Police Chief Jim Conner said the door, which cost at least $20, probably will have to be replaced.

"I wish parents would start watching their children and make certain that they don't go around constructions after the work is left," Conner said. "Especially in residential areas. This can get to be an expensive thing."

"We haven't had any of this for several months. At least we haven't had any complaints," Conner said that in most cases of this sort sheet rock and windows were destroyed and bricks were scattered all over the neighborhood.

"In a year's time," he said, "this can amount to a large bill." "And malicious destruction of property like that can get to be serious. There's a state law against it."

"Let Us Help Plan a Reasonable, Exciting Vacation for Your Family!"

Q. What's he doing?
A. Cleaning his engine.

To stretch your mileage,
Engineers say, "Clean up your engine."
Skelly says:

"Why not do it every day ... just by driving"

Does your car gulp gasoline? Does it give you less gas mileage than it did when it was new? Does it have its old-time pep—or has it grown tired and sluggish as the miles built up?

To stretch your gasoline mileage and cut your gasoline costs, follow the advice of engineers who say, "Clean up your engine." Get rid of those power-stealing, gas-eating carbon and lead deposits in your engine.

With Skelly Keotane Gasoline, it's easy to clean up your engine. In fact, you can do it every day—at no extra cost—just by driving.

How Keotane Works:

With many gasolines, the more you drive the dirtier your engine gets. Carbon and lead deposits build up—bake on—stick tight. But Keotane "unglues" carbon and lead by dissolving gluey engine gum. Carbon and lead go out the exhaust. Mileage and power go up. Gasoline costs go down. The more you drive with Keotane, the more you clean your engine.

Tests prove that a Keotane-Clean engine can deliver 12.7% more mileage.

14.6% more horsepower output and the performance effect of 3.1 extra octane points.

Extra Mileage At No Extra Cost:

With a Keotane-Clean engine, you can expect around 40 extra miles in a tankful—at no extra cost.

Only Skelly has Keotane. Skelly's use of Keotane is covered by U. S. Patent No. 2,878,109.

Use Keotane In "Compact" Cars?

Because engineers estimate that the cleaning benefits of Keotane add up to 6.1c extra value per gallon—at no extra cost—we believe Keotane to be the most economical gasoline for any car—including the new "compact" cars.

Give Keotane A Fair Trial

Try Keotane in your car. But, for peak results, use it at least 3,000 miles. Once you know the difference Keotane can make, we believe you will never want to use any other brand of gasoline.

See your Skelly dealer. Switch to Skelly Keotane Gasoline. Clean up your engine—and keep it clean—just by driving.

Drive Your Carburetor Clean With New Skelly Regular Gasoline:

Dirty deposits in your carburetor throat, as in untouched photo at left, disrupt the flow of air your engine needs for smooth idling. You waste gasoline. And when you take your foot off the accelerator, your engine may die because these dirty deposits have choked off its idling air supply.

But new detergent-action Skelly Regular Gasoline with KT-3 dissolves carburetor deposits as you drive (see untouched photo at right). By saving you an $8.50 to $15 carburetor cleaning job, this can be worth 2c extra value per gallon—at no extra cost—over a year's driving. And that's in addition to the fuel you can save by keeping your carburetor clean!

Keotane Cleans Carburetors, Too: The place where many people first notice Keotane's cleaning effect is in the carburetor. As Keotane dissolves gum, you may notice your engine idling faster and want to have your carburetor re-set to take advantage of its new gas-saving efficiency.

My mother says station-to-station calls SAVE 1/3

These little girls playing grownup show they're as bargain-conscious as their mothers. They're repeating what many smart people now know about Long Distance.

LONG DISTANCE station-to-station calls (to a distant number rather than to a particular person) save you more than one third.

You have three choices. You can: (1) pocket the savings, (2) make three calls for the price of two, or (3) talk longer for less.

Call this easy, economical way now. And call by number . . . it's twice as fast.

Indians Protest Treatment Of Monkeys For Research

NEW DELHI (UPI)—If this sounds like a lot of monkey business, it is!

During 1959, a total of 155,614 monkeys were exported from India, most of them to the United States and Britain. Sales amounted to $1,200,000.

The monkeys—small Rhesus varieties weighing four to six pounds—are used for medical research and in the production of polio and yellow fever serums.

Although monkey exports seldom raise Indian eyebrows these days, in 1955 the simians were the center of a nationwide storm. The trouble started when indignat Hindus claimed a number of Indian monkeys died in London as the result of inhumane treatment.

Orthodox Hindus regard monkeys in much the same manner as they do sacred cows. No Hindu dares hurt the monkeys and Moslems wisely leave them alone.

The London incident created a furor in India. Orthodox Hindus demanded that monkey exports be banned. The matter was debated in Parliament and Prime Minister Nehru ordered an investigation.

American and British research organizations were able to convince the Indian government that exports should continue. Diplomats personally assured Nehru the monkeys would be treated well and that the Indian religious sentiments would be respected.

The result was that monkey exports continued but a number of restrictions were imposed. They included the provision that the monkeys were to be used only for medical research and in making serums.

The government also moved in on the monkey trapper. Trappers were told to obtain licenses and were ordered to bag their monkeys in a humane way.

Although the captured simian is doomed in the interest of science, He leads the good life until the end. One monkey exporter, H.S. Ray, of the Vita Company Ltd., keeps his monkeys happy and relaxed with music from a cage-side radio.

Under law, the monkey must be flown to his final destination. Proper feeding is required at the airport. At his destination the monkey is met by an Indian representative who must be satisfied that all requirements have been met.

HEED MRS. R'S SUGGESTION

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eighteen Florida women and a 14-year-old boy met here Friday to tour Russia as the result of a suggestion by the wife of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The tour leader, Mrs. Jean Sprain-Wilson, women's editor of the Miami Daily News, said she got the group together to make the nine-day tour because Nina Khrushchev, while visiting this country last fall, suggested a representative group of American women visit the Soviet Union.

met during the journey. Lest there be any doubt of the Indian's concern for his monkeys, an official of the Indian Embassy in Washington sought clarification on the origin of monkeys used in space research. The National Health Institute assured the diplomat Indian monkeys would not be space pioneers.

Strawberries Frozen Lose Vitamin C

AUSTIN (UPI)—Fresh strawberries retain up to twice as much vitamin C as frozen ones, the Texas Business Review pointed out Saturday.

Fred O. Boecker Jr., in an article on strawberry production in Texas, said there is more vitamin C in strawberries than lemons, oranges or grapefruit.

"But if strawberries are preserved or frozen, they may lose from one-sixth to one-half their vitamin C content," he said.

"In spite of this loss, strawberries become an important market outlet when frozen for the frozen food and preserve industries."

Boecker, an assistant at the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas, said that early spring production of strawberries is the most important in the state.

Texas is one of three states which grow early spring strawberries, and last year was credited with 6.7 per cent of the total production.

"Growers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley began harvesting the berries in March and continued large harvests in April," Boecker said. "A small harvest remained for May."

"The major portion of the East Texas crop was placed on the market during the latter part of April and continued in May," he said.

Surveys by the U. S. Department of Agriculture show that best prices are paid for early strawberries—with the first berries bringing 35 cents a pound while the price drops to 28 cents a few weeks later.

The USDA also predicted an increase in the 1960 crop in Texas, since 700 acres of strawberries will be harvested compared to 600 in 1959. Average annual production of strawberries since 1949 was some 1.5 million pounds, but this year's crop is estimated at 1.8 million pounds.

"The Texas strawberry industry has made large advances in producing a high quality fruit," the business article concluded, "and the present outlook for the industry seems to be quite encouraging."
