

Refugees Crowd Evacuation Centers In Western Flood Area

By United Press International

Some of the worst floods in memory lapped at doorsteps in six Western states today, crowding evacuation centers with 6,000 refugees, isolating cities and threatening contamination of water supplies.

More rain fell today atop the fast-melting 100-inch snow pack in many flood areas.

A sheet of water nearly 3½ miles wide closed in on Blackfoot, Idaho. Greybull, Wyo., was saved from inundation Tuesday night by airborne dynamites who blew up two ice jams after the town's 2,300 residents had fled.

A thousand persons were homeless at Pocatello, Idaho, and old timers called the flood on the Portneuf River the worst in their memory.

New storms brought renewed flood threats to water-logged California, still scraping away silt left by 14 inches of rain in a week.

Freezing rain from Minnesota to Ohio left highways hazardous. Up to 6 inches of snow fell in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. Dixie got the heat wave which moved east from the southern plains and high temperature records were set.

All highways south of Pocatello, Idaho, were blocked by high water. Rail traffic between Pocatello and Butte, Mont., was halted. Only one road between Idaho and Utah remained open.

The situation at Blackfoot, Idaho, was called "critical" by Civil Defense Director Col. James Keel. Some 15 families left homes in the area. An earthen dam gave way and flooded Sugar City, Idaho, Tuesday.

Drinking water supplies were contaminated at Pocatello. Lava Hot Springs, Bancroft, McCammon Soda Springs and Inkom, Idaho, The Military Air Transport Service began flying 50,000 pounds of sandbags to Pocatello, where 2,000 National Guardsmen battled the Portneuf River, which lapped at window level of one-story buildings in the city. The Union Pacific's City of Portland passenger train with 100 persons aboard was halted outside Pocatello.

The governors of Idaho and Nevada asked President Kennedy to declare sections of their states disaster areas.

Heavy rain washed Nevada and authorities feared the worst was yet to come at flooded Battle Mountain, where the Reese River flowed 5 feet deep through the streets. Two hundred persons were evacuated.

Los Angeles County asked to be declared a disaster area from the week-long deluge which claimed 20 lives and caused $1.5 million in property damage. A new storm closed in on the area.

A violent wind storm severed power lines, blacking out 650 homes in Cleveland, Ohio, Tuesday.

Six inches of snow fell in six hours at Sault Ste. Marie and Escanaba, Mich. and Park Falls, Wis., had 5 inches in six hours.

The heat broke records at Memphis, Tenn., where the thermometer registered 81 degrees Tuesday; at St. Louis, Mo., where it was 83; Nashville, Tenn., also 83; Cairo, Ill., 74; Birmingham Ala., 82; and Montgomery, Ala., with 85.

Allies Begin Talks That May Result In Spring Summit Meet

BULLETIN

LONDON (UPI) — The United States and Britain proposed to the Soviet Union today that a summit meeting be put off until progress has been made with disarmament negotiations.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration, while keeping its guard up, intends to give Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev every opportunity to draw closer to the West as his troubles with Red China increase.

Officials said today that was a major consideration behind President Kennedy's strategy in handling Khrushchev's proposal for opening the 18-nation Geneva disarmament conference next month at the summit level.

Kennedy today sent Moscow a gentle rejection of his proposal, contending that it would be premature to meet at the top level until some progress had been made.

He did, however, hold out the possibility of a summit meeting later this year if some headway is made on blunting some of the sharper East-West issues.

Administration officials said some progress toward a disarmament agreement and a continued easing of the Berlin situation might well be considered sufficient to warrant a summit conference with Khrushchev some time this summer or early fall.

Officials acknowledged it was uncertain whether the new cordiality which has marked Soviet-American exchanges in recent weeks could survive a U.S. resumption of nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

Kennedy has said he will decide by the end of this month whether such tests are necessary and most officials believe he will give the go-ahead sign. His aides said he would make his decision purely on the basis of security needs and without regard to any improvement in the East-West atmosphere.

Britain, France and the United States coordinated their strategy on answering Khrushchev's summit proposal at a meeting late Tuesday in the office of Secretary of State Dean Rusk. British Ambassador Sir David Ormsby-Gore and French Ambassador Herve Alphand attended the 90-minute session.

Administration officials are divided in their assessment as to

Communist Cuba Blasted By Venezuela President

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Venezuelans heard President Romulo Betancourt denounce "Communist Cuba" Tuesday night and threaten inter-American action against Latin "dictators."

Special significance was attached to the meeting because of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's charge that none of his Latin foes would dare hold a rally like the mass meeting Castro addressed in Havana last week. A noise bomb exploded at the rally here but did no damage.

A vast crowd, including straw-hatted peasants trucked in from the provinces, jammed Silencio Square — traditional center of Communist activity here — to hear Betancourt who also proclaimed that he was independent of the United States. Every radio and TV station in the country carried the speech.

Combat-ready troops rested on their arms in side streets off the square and hundreds of members of Betancourt's "order brigades" infiltrated the crowd. Opposition efforts to interfere with the meeting were minor and ineffective.

A noise bomb planted in a fountain in the center of the square showered bystanders with water, causing momentary alarm but no casualties. "A woman 'pirate broadcaster' cut in on the frequency of Radio Nacional long enough to scream 'down with Betancourt!' but the interruption was brief."

Betancourt declared that the

Whatley Named Salvation Army Advisory Head

Calvin Whatley was elected president of the Pampa Salvation Army Advisory Board at the board's annual meeting yesterday in the Pampa Hotel. He succeeds J. Kirk Duncan in the post.

Special certificates of appreciation were presented by Envoy H. C. Seago to local organizations and individuals in recognition of "effectively assisting" the Salvation Army in its disaster relief program following Hurricane Carla. Recipient organizations were Pampa Warehouse and Transfer, The Pampa News, the City of Pampa, the Sky Divers, the First National Bank, Texas Furniture Co., KHHH and KPND radio, and J. Kirk Duncan.

In acknowledgement for their faithful service to the local Army unit, Envoy Seago presented orchids to Farrell Day, secretary, Sgt. Erma Foley, Corp. Sgt. Maj. Effie Strickland and Martha and Mary Strickland who are going into officers' training college in 1964. Martha and Mary Strickland also entertained the group with a vocal rendition.

Duncan reported to the board the activities of the building committee in trying to secure a building to move in for use as a recreation hall and Sunday school rooms.

Ugly Weather Causes Another Delay In Glenn's Effort To Circle Globe

BE MY VALENTINE? — Shy looking Steve Flowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Flowers, 1001 Mary Ellen, approaches pet Glenda Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Webb, 428 N. Wells, to ask the ancient question, "Will You Be My Valentine?" The youngsters are pupils at Horace Mann Elementary School.

Plans Announced For Plant Reconstruction

Rebuilding of the Dorchester Corporation's Cargray gasoline plant, 10 miles west of Pampa, almost totally damaged by explosions and fire Monday afternoon, will start at once.

J. G. Eckel, president of the corporation, said in Amarillo today that workmen should have the explosion area clear within 30 days and plant operations would start up again.

Today was mainly a waiting one, with workmen watching the blaze burn itself out.

Plant officials said between 30 and 40 tanks in the storage and lead blending area were destroyed. The fire still burning today was in a 5,000-gallon gasoline tank in the northeast corner of the plant.

Salvage operations and reconstructing of equipment will start as soon as the plant cools off which should be sometime tomorrow, Eckel said.

More explosions that were reported yesterday at the plant turned out to be false alarms, officials said today. There have been no further explosions today.

Highway patrolmen who had been directing traffic at the scene and blocking the curious from going into the fire area and blast area were withdrawn today.

Eckel said only Dorchester employees and officials are allowed in the area. He said the danger of additional explosions had passed, although there remained a remote possibility of an explosion when tanks and underground pipe lines cool off.

Members of the seven families living in houses adjoining the plant today were taking out clothing and essentials.

The homes which housed 30 people were not damaged by the fire, but officials said they would not move back into their homes for several days because of the gasoline lines that run under them.

E. E. Foose, leading foreman, the only man injured in the blast was reported in good condition today in Highland General Hospital.

Houston Police Hold Suspect In Torso Slayings

HOUSTON (UPI) — A young man was arrested Tuesday night for questioning about a torso slaying that authorities believe was the work of a perverted maniac who may have butchered at least three other victims since 1959.

Houston police said they picked up a suspect in a downtown cafe at the request of the Texas Rangers. He was not charged with any crime, police said, and would not be questioned until today.

United Press International learned the suspect is free on $5,000 bond on charges that he strangled a woman in Texas in 1959.

The torso of a woman, cut in half, was found in two boxes by fishermen near Cleveland, Tex., on Feb. 3. The head, limbs and entrails were missing. The hacked torso was bloodless, and had been washed. There was no way to identify the body.

In January, parts of a butchered male body were found in Florida and Georgia. In 1960, a New Mexico man's body was mutilated in the same way. An identically mutilated corpse was discovered at El Paso, Tex., in 1959.

Law officers from Georgia and Florida planned to meet with Texas authorities today at Houston to compare notes. The Texas Rangers last week asked for public cooperation in tracking down the killer.

The close similarity of method in all four crimes has convinced authorities they are the work of a single person, a psychotic sexual deviate who apparently wants his slayings publicized. In all four instances, unidentifiable parts of

Orbit Try Postponed On Day-To-Day Basis Because Of High Seas

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Bad weather in the "splash-down" area at sea forced postponement of John Glenn's orbital flight into space today and a new storm made it appear unlikely he could take off before Friday.

It was the eighth postponement of the 40-year-old astronaut's round-the-world flight since it was first scheduled in December. The latest delay was caused by high waves in the western Atlantic where Glenn's Friendship-7 spacecraft would come down.

The pilot, the rocket, and the space cabin were ready to go and the final pre-launch countdown started at 12:30 a.m. today. But shortly after 2 a.m., space agency officials said conditions for safe recovery were "unsatisfactory."

The Mercury man-in-orbit project was geared for day-to-day postponements, and if the weather permitted it would have been possible to attempt the flight again between 7:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. EST Thursday.

But a new storm center moving off Cape Hatteras, N.C., was expected to whip up rough seas in the Bermuda area Thursday morning.

The space agency said at 9:30 a.m. that no new launch time had been determined. It promised another statement at 5 p.m.

The weather forecast was gloomy. In addition to strong winds and high waves at sea the outlook was for fog or low hanging clouds at this launch site until mid-morning Thursday.

Lt. Col. John H. Powers, spokesman for the astronaut program, said that "unless something very unusual develops" it will be about 5 p.m. today before a decision is made whether to reschedule the orbit attempt for Thursday, or later.

He said long range weather forecasts are that "this kind of situation" will continue for the next several days.

Glenn's physician, Dr. William K. Douglas, awakened the astronaut and told him of the new delay. He and his backup astronaut, M. Scott Carpenter, joined space agency officials for breakfast.

This was Glenn's reaction to the news: "Well, we knew the weather was forecast to be marginal, so I'm not too surprised. All we can do now is watch the weather. Everything else, including me, is go. I am going back to bed and get some rest."

A project spokesman said the astronaut probably would undergo another in a long series of physical examinations today in preparation for the new firing schedule.

The spokesman also said that the countdown would remain at the beginning of its final phase for four or five days if necessary. This would be the maximum that 24 Navy ships scattered over the recovery areas could remain at sea without new fuel and supplies.

Because of these stormy conditions, chances for a firing today had been pegged at only about 50-50. After the postponement, officials said the forecast for the following 24 hours was for "continued marginal weather in the emergency landing areas from Bermuda to the Canary Islands."

Courtesy Club Ballot Deadline Arrives At Midnight Tomorrow

The official ballot for voting in Pampa's "Friendliest, Most Courteous" employee award election appears on this page today and will be published in The News for the last time tomorrow.

The deadline for voting is 12 midnight tomorrow (Feb. 15). Any ballots received in envelopes postmarked before midnight tomorrow will be counted.

So you have today and tomorrow to vote as many times as you wish for your favorite employee.

You can also cast your ballots in boxes in the lobbies of Pampa's two banks and at the Chamber of Commerce office in City Hall.

Thousands of votes have been flooding The News office in the closing days of the election campaign. Tabulators face a huge task in counting them.

The man and woman selected as Pampa's "Friendliest, Most Courteous" employees each will receive $50 in cash. Even more important they will receive attractively framed Courtesy certificates.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Time and again in a year-and-a-half of turbulence and crisis there have been hopeful predictions that now at last peace gradually was being restored to the Congo.

And time and again these hopes have crumbled, washed away in bloodshed, the ambitions of rival leaders and a conflict of interest extending far beyond the borders of the Congo.

The present marks another period of hope.
Chief contributing factor is the new era of good will existing between President Moise Tshombe of secessionist Katanga Province and the United Nations forces he once denounced.

Elisabethville dispatches scarcely concealing the astonishment of their authors report that Tshombe and Ghurka Col. S. Maitra — now are blood-brothers as result of an impromptu ceremony on Indian Independence Day. They also report that Tshombe now counts U. N. military commander K. A. S. Raj "Among my friends."

In contrast, is the background of recent events in which Maitra's Ghurka troops used their knives enthusiastically on Katanga throats.

The new spirit of cooperation has not ended the Katanga secession, but it has led to the cautious belief that Tshombe is trying to carry out his agreement of last December to rid himself of his foreign troops and to recognize the authority of the central government under an arrangement which still would leave him considerable autonomy.

The case of Tshombe has been a curious one.
His cause roused great sympathy in Belgium, France and Great Britain whose citizens are heavily invested in the Union Miniere du Haut-Katanga, the combine which controls Katanga's great mineral wealth.

As illustrated by his newfound friendship for the Indian Tshombe's own attitude has vacillated. Outside Elisabethville and under U. N. pressure he has made promises which he renounced when he returned to the surrounding influences of his own province. There, the European influence was profoundly opposed to U. N. intervention and many of Tshombe's white "mercenaries" actually were unpaid volunteers.

Katanga dispatches suggest that most of Tshombe's paid mercenaries now have departed, escorted out or just drifted away.

U.S. Broke Tradition In Powers Spy Case

Second in a series
By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It is traditional for nations to deny that they engage in espionage, and to persist in this bland denial even when their spies are caught red-handed.

The United States broke with this tradition by admitting in May 1960 that Francis Gary Powers was indeed on a picture-taking spy mission over the Soviet Union when he fell into Russian hands.

Russia, however, is still maintaining the tradition of total hypocrisy.

Hours after the rest of the world knew about the exchange of Powers and Col. Rudolf L. Abel, Soviet authorities were piously insisting to Moscow newsmen that they had never heard of Abel.

They should have. He served for nine years as head of the biggest Russian spy ring yet uncovered in the United States.

The FBI, which is responsible for combatting espionage activities in the United States, says that Russia has been sending spies to this country in a steady stream for 30 years.

Many of them operate under the cloak of diplomatic privilege, as members of embassy staffs or United Nations delegations. Since 1950, 19 Soviet diplomatic officials have been booted out of the United States as "persona non grata" because they were caught spying or trying to bribe Americans into giving them information. A former Soviet intelligence officer who defected to the West has estimated that from 70 to 80 percent of the Soviet officials in the United States have some kind of intelligence assignment.

Officials of embassies and U. N. delegations from Communist satellite countries also are used by Soviet intelligence. The FBI has evidence that some satellite diplomats are selected and trained by Soviet intelligence.

Soviet intelligence agents pick up a vast amount of information about America from freely available public sources. They subscribe, for example, to local newspapers published near military bases. They are avid attenders of conventions.

Ochiltree County Junior Livestock Show Set Feb. 16

PERRYTON (SpI)—Final plans are being made for the Ochiltree County Junior Livestock Show and Sale to be held Friday, Feb. 16, at the county fairgrounds.

A large entry list of 4-H and FFA exhibitors is expected in all three divisions — sheep, swine and steers.

Douglas Smith, county agricultural agent, lists 22 lamb exhibitors, 11 calf exhibitors and 3 swine exhibitors. Several of those exhibiting will show more than one animal in a division and some will show more than one type of animal.

The show and sale are sponsored by the agriculture committee of the Ochiltree Chamber of Commerce.

Scoffs At Story Of St. Patrick And The Snakes

CHICAGO (UPI)—Take it from an Orangeman... it was a cold day in Ireland — and not St. Patrick — that saw the last of the snakes in the Emerald Isle.

Dr. Alfred E. Emerson — his family came from the Orange stronghold of Belfast — never did buy the story that St. Patrick chased the snakes out of Ireland. But he wasn't about to say so... not in Chicago, anyway, where the mayor's name is Daley and the town turns green come March 17.

A zoogeographer at the University of Chicago, Emerson is an expert in the science of reconstructing where animals originated and how they came to be where they are today.

"And any old zoogeographer knows the snakes got out of Ireland during the Ice Age—at least 1,000 years before St. Patrick," he said.

The facts are, he said, that the Ice Age froze out Ireland's snakes and England's, too, "for that matter." Because England remained connected to the European mainland for a short time following the Ice Age, Emerson said, "The snakes managed to get back to England, but not to Ireland, which already was an island."

Emerson said he wasn't sure he'd gotten through to Mayor Richard J. Daley with his theory on St. Patrick and the snakes that weren't there.

"I understand the mayor has not cancelled the St. Patrick's Day parade," he said.

The Irish consulate remained unimpressed, too.

G. O'Clairgh, acting counsel general, tossed off the matter as "common knowledge."

"The legend crediting St. Patrick with ridding Ireland of snakes did not arise till about 1700," he said. "As you can see, it is of comparatively recent origin."

Accompanying the Perryton students on the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Haywood, Mr. and Mrs. John Huston, Fred Huston, Mrs. Fred Tarbox, Cloy Webb, George Mather, B. D. Walker and Tom Knighton.

$1.5 Billion Is Requested For Aid To Military

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department has asked Congress to authorize $1,590,883,000 in military construction projects, an increase of $768 million over the similar request last year.

The sharp increase was due in part to a new request for $311,451,000 to build 16,500 housing units for military families at home and abroad. Such advance authority was not required under the Capehart military housing program which ended last year.

Another big increase of $133,317,000 was in requests for defense agencies, including intelligence and supply agencies, which did not exist until last year.

Textbooks To Be Sneakers' Topic At Friday Meet

A number of Pampans are expected to go to Amarillo Friday night to hear two noted speakers on textbook selection at 7:30 p.m. in Amarillo's Municipal auditorium.

The speakers will be Mrs. Harry Arch Alexander of Granada, Miss., chairman of the National Defense Committee of the Mississippi Daughters of the American Revolution, and M. G. Lowman of Cincinnati, Ohio, winner of the coveted 1959 Patriotic Service Medal of the American Coalition of New York.

Lowman will speak on the subject, "Education: A Pro-Communist Propaganda Transmission Belt."

Lowman is an outstanding authority on Communist activities in the fields of religion and education.

Mrs. Alexander headed the committee which in 1959 began a long appraisal of textbooks used in Mississippi schools. This move resulted in passage of a state law requiring that lay members be represented on textbook selection committees.

Lowman assisted the Mississippi state group with supporting evidence to back up some of their contentions about textbook material.

The speakers are being sponsored in Amarillo by the Amarillo Conservative Club. The club has been gathering material and information which will be presented at a hearing of the Texas House Textbook Committee in Amarillo on Feb. 26.

New Business Group To Press Parking Problem

A new business organization to be known as the Downtown Merchants and Property Owners Association was formed at a meeting yesterday in the First National Bank.

Charles Cook, general manager of the Texas Furniture Co., was elected chairman.

Other officers elected at the meeting included: Lucian Young, White's Auto Store manager, vice chairman, and Joe Tooley, manager of Richards Drugstore, secretary. Principal item of business discussed at the first session was Pampa's downtown parking problem.

Some 20 merchants attended the session and agreed to press a campaign to urge downtown business houses and their employees to park automobiles out of the mid-town parking meter areas. The move is being taken to provide more parking spaces for potential customers, officials of the association stated.

whether Khrushchev may be growing more anxious for some accommodation with the Western powers on the disarmament issue and other thorny problems.

They are generally agreed that the Soviet Union faces one of its most critical periods since World War II. Khrushchev is generally regarded as being in a difficult position because of problems on three fronts:

—The growing ideological split with Red China, which opposes Khrushchev's "peaceful coexistence" theory of negotiation with the West.

—Economic problems within the Soviet Union, particularly difficulties in agricultural production which are affecting supplies of both food and industrial raw materials.

—Continued dissension within the Politburo over the degree of flexibility to be employed in dealing with the West.

Some U.S. officials believe circumstances are impelling Khrushchev to seek compromises with the West in an effort to bolster his position with demonstrable diplomatic achievements.

Others believe that the greater his difficulties the less chance there is that he will be able to make any concessions which could win agreements with the West.

Pampa Receives Light Rainfall

By United Press-International
Light rain fell over Pampa and the Panhandle and West Texas today as cooler air moved across Texas.

The front was a mild one, however, and the Weather Bureau said temperatures will remain generally mild in the northwest and "quite warm" for the season, particularly in South Texas.

Skies were generally fair over North Central Texas and southward into the country east of the Pecos. It was mostly cloudy elsewhere.

The Weather Bureau said clouds will break up in south and East Texas during the afternoon and thicken in the north and west.

Light rain was reported this morning at El Paso and Amarillo. The Weather Bureau called for widely scattered showers to continue during the day in the northwest, and shift into south central and southeast Texas Thursday with thundershowers in the south-west.

Low temperatures during the night ranged from 38 degrees at Dalhart to 66 at Corpus Christi. Pampa's low was 42.

Boy Bike Rider Struck By Auto

An eleven-year-old Pampa youngster escaped serious injury this morning when the bicycle he was riding was struck by an automobile.

The boy, Danny Roy Fite, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Fite, 729 N. Somerville, received a bruised knee when he was knocked from his bicycle at the intersection of Frost and Finch streets.

Police said they received a report from Mrs. J. A. Reeves, 522 N. Frost, that the automobile she was driving had struck the boy.

Officers said Mrs. Reeves told them she was driving south on Frost St. and didn't see the boy when approaching the intersection. Officers who are still investigating the accident said no citations were issued at the scene.

Financial Review

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—When the Seattle World's Fair staff figured how many persons would visit their 74-acre layout starting next April 21 they came up with a total close to what the 1960 census takers said was the population of New York City.

They estimated a paid attendance of 7.5 million would flock to the fair site overlooking Puget Sound. Fair President Joseph E. Gandy, here to tell about it, said today he wouldn't be surprised if the figure were "substantially exceeded."

"Some people even have mentioned 10 million, but that might be high," said Gandy modestly. "Anyway, I feel strongly that it will be over the .75 million mark."

Moving, housing and feeding visitors in that quantity, even when some are going out to make room for others, is too big a job to leave it the ordinary chances of travel reservation, nor could the fair afford to have any hint that the visitor, cash in hand, might have difficulty finding a place to stay.

Hence, Gandy said, it has set up a separate organization to handle the housing as smoothly as possible.

It is known as Expo Lodging. "Since people obviously are going to want to get to the fair," said Gandy, "we figured we would aim for all available lodging within an hour's travel time of the fair grounds. That meant not only Seattle, but all the way from Everett on the north to Tacoma on the south.

"We've got figures on every hotel and motel; every apartment house that can take transient guests; ships; private homes and trailer parks.

"We can house an extra 45,000 persons a night over what Seattle ordinarily could take.

"Anyone who's planning a trip can simply write to Expo Lodging, Seattle, Wash., telling what price they want to pay. Everything Expo deals with will be written down; the prices of lodging, food, all in a pamphlet giving ranges one can pay. We plan to do everything we can to insure that the visitor has a place to stay so he can get comfortably to the fair and not be charged more than he can afford."

46 Horses Die In Stable Fire

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—At least 46 horses, many of them show animals, were killed and others were horribly burned in a midnight fire that destroyed a large barn at the fairgrounds here.

"We ran the horses out into the park," said Ronnie Phillips, 19, one of several youths who were able to save some of the animals. "We didn't have time to put them up. The place was going up too fast."

Phillips said some of the horses in the flames were "wild" and some of the youths were kicked. No one was seriously injured.

Phillips said it was necessary to break a padlock on a gate to get into the barn after he and two companions saw the flames.

Scientists Study Evidence Of Rise In Oceans' Floor

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI)—One of the largest physical features of the planet Earth lies beneath the Pacific Ocean, extending 8,000 miles from New Zealand to the coast of Mexico, according to scientists at Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

Charts of the land mass, known as the East Pacific Rise, were made during recent explorations and are being studied by the scientists.

Findings show that the crest of the rise is two miles above the floor of the Pacific Ocean, but the highest point still is under one and one-half miles of water.

Scientists believe the rise is a fairly recent feature of the Earth's crust, as measured in geological terms. They also believe it is like such ancient Central Pacific rises as the one on which the Hawaiian Islands formed themselves.

The findings showed the area is the site of many minor earthquakes and heat flows through the crest at a rate as much as eight times faster than in the deep ocean floor or on land.

Areas known as fracture zones run almost due east and west in the rise and contain most of the extinct or active volcanoes in the Eastern Pacific. The fractures line up almost exactly with the great volcanoes of Mexico.

The scientists also learned that the earth's crust thins out beneath the crust of the rise, and is only two miles thick. In most typical ocean basins, the crust is three miles thick, they said.

Sixty years of work went into television before it entered American living rooms after World War II.

Russian Education Aims Pointed Out By Speaker

Lt. Mischa Markoroff, personnel officer from SAC in Amarillo, was guest speaker at the Sam Houston PTA meeting held Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium.

Following an introduction by Mrs. W. R. Tucker, safety, and civil defense chairman, Lt. Markoroff, who is of Russian descent and can speak Russian fluently, discussed "The New Soviet Man."

The speaker brought out that "the communists believe in their educational system. They realize that through it, they can, to a great extent, gain the ends they want."

"Kruschchev has been telling us a lot lately about the 'new Soviet man,' the prototype of the man of the future. As two examples of this man, he points to Major Gagarin and more lately to Major Tetov. These, he says, are shining examples. Is this a fact or myth?"

Mrs. Newman Has Ross Group Meet

Ross Group of the First Christian Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Glenn Newman, south of the city, for a program on "South America" presented by Mrs. John Gill.

Mrs. Don Patchin, group leader, opened the meeting with prayer followed by a devotion given by Mrs. Walon Bailey.

Members of the group brought cookies to be sent to the Juliette Fowler Home in Dallas and pillow cases to be sent to the Jarvis Home at Hawkins.

If we are going to answer this, we are going to have to look into the Soviet education system, which is the seven-year school, the 10 year school and the boarding school."

The seven-year school is primarily for the farm children; the 10-year draws its pupils from the Soviet white-collar workers. The boarding school draws students from all over."

"All children begin their education in the Soviet Union, at the age of seven. At this period and early age, the forming of the new Soviet man begins. It goes along with the idea 'give me the boy and I care not who has the man.'"

"Their idea is the development of the group and not the individual. This is a very clever attempt to get them ready and to develop them for this communistic society they have been trying for years to set up."

"Our educators," the speaker continued, "have visited their country and seen their system and they tell us many things. They say they are well-mannered and instructed in some areas. They will know all about our latest race riot in the United States; all about the failure of a missile shot and narcotics, and all things that put us in a bad light. But they will not know that Russia has been testing 'H' bombs and other things unless their parents have heard it on the radio."

"In 1956," Lt. Markoroff stated, "Mr. K. announced that it was his plan to establish boarding schools through the Union and all the children would attend them. Why does he want these boarding schools? He wants to free the Soviet woman, freedom from bringing up the children which he calls 'a chore' and then he will have more laborers working for the Soviet Union. Prada, the Soviet paper, tell us that some reasons for this type of school are that they want to develop voluntary obedience to the communist doctrine; a love for the 'Mother Land' and love for the cause of communism and hatred for all the enemies of communism."

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Benton, a nominating committee composed of Mmes. C. W. Stowell, Clifford Braly and Jack Skelly were appointed to select a slate of officers for the next unit year.

Pledge to the flag was led by Den I Pack 27. Mrs. Nolan Cole gave the devotion. Mrs. Neal Hughes baked the cake which was won as a door prize by Miss Larsh, third grade teacher.

Mrs. Kenneth Royce was named to fill the vacancy in the office of secretary.

Musgrave Group

With Mrs. Hall

The Musgrave Group of the First Christian Church met recently with Mrs. Vernon Hall.

Following invocation by Mrs. C. W. Moot, Mrs. Ola McAfee presided at the business meeting. Devotion was given by Mrs. John Zuerker.

Mrs. John Gill presented a mission study lesson on "South America."

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Attending were Mmes. C. D. Kessinger, Lester Mason, Myron Warden, Glen Nichols, W. M. Cooper, Keith Davis, O. N. Frasher, H. C. Groninger, Rosalie Wedge, John Gill R. E. Converse, M. Sargent, Bessie Schaffer.

One member, Mrs. W. E. Noblitt was reported ill in the Highland General Hospital.

CUSHION TOGETHERNESS

If you don't want cushions all over the place, buy a brass cushion caddy. They come with a stack of four pillows covered with gay vinyl. Turned upside down, with a cushion on top, the caddy becomes a decorative stool.

Wesleyan Guild Has Latin America Topic

Wesleyan Service Guild met recently in the church parlor for a study of "The Latin American Countries." Mrs. Irl Smith gave devotion concerning the study.

Responsive reading was lead by Miss Lou Ella Patterson.

Miss Laura Penick, as program director, was assisted in presenting study by Mmes. Kathy McMillan, Ben Ogden, Lalar Wilkerson, Malcom Denson. Mrs. Ethel Johnson concluded the program with prayer.

Rachael Jones presented a biographic review of Martha Hyde Watts, first woman missionary to Brazil sent by the Methodist Church.

It was announced that the next guild meeting will be held Feb. 19 in the home of Mrs. Irl Smith, 1008 N. Somerville.

Hawaiian Theme For Art Club Luncheon

WHITE DEER (Sp) — White Deer Art Club met recently with Mrs. J. C. Freeman as hostess. Mrs. Freeman, who has recently returned from Hawaii, used a Hawaiian theme in decorations, prizes and refreshments.

Games of 42 were enjoyed by the group with high prize going to Mrs. Harry Edenhorough.

Officers for the year were elected with Mrs. W. J. Stubblefield elected president and Mrs. George Coffee, secretary and treasurer.

Guests were Mmes. May Coffee, E. C. Shuman and Horace Brooks. Members attending were Mmes. Stubblefield, R. A. Thompson, E. F. Tubb, E. J. Williams, Coffee, V. D. Crumpacker, Byron Hodges and Julia Powers.

Dear Abby....

Talking In Sleep Just Doesn't Count!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Is a person responsible for what he says in his sleep? My husband talks in his sleep. A few times he has mentioned women's names, but when I say anything to him he says he doesn't remember dreaming about any women. He says he is not responsible for anything he says in his sleep. Is he right? I don't believe he is unfaithful to me because he always comes right home after work, is a good husband and seems crazy about me. Thanks.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: If your husband behaves well when he is awake, don't worry about what he says in his sleep.

DEAR ABBY: In 1959 I sent a necktie to an elderly uncle for Christmas. I had this tie around the house for some time (still in its original plain white box and tissue), and had forgotten where it came from. It looked like an old man's tie and my husband wouldn't wear it.

Well, for Christmas, 1960, this old uncle sent the tie to my husband saying it was the same tie he had given him for Christmas in 1958. I guess it must have LOOK-ED like my uncle because I thoughtlessly sent it back to him for Christmas, 1961! I know it was a foolish mistake, but we send about 100 gifts every year and I honestly forgot the history of this tie. We haven't heard from this uncle and I wonder if we shouldn't write and apologize? He must think we're crazy.

THOUGHTLESS

DEAR THOUGHTLESS: I hope you and your uncle have a sense of humor. If I were you I would send him a box of matches and tell him to burn up the tie to put it out of circulation.

DEAR ABBY: A few boys came over unexpectedly last night. It was about nine o'clock and I had on my flannel pajamas and a woolen bathrobe, so I didn't see anything wrong with appearing before them in what I was wearing. They only stayed about an hour and we just sat around and talked. After they left my mother gave me the dickens. She said no respectable girl would entertain boys in her night-clothes. Abby, I was wearing ten times as much as I would have been had I been on a swimming party with them. Will you please help me explain this to my mother?

FIFTEEN AND RESPECTABLE

DEAR FIFTEEN: It's not how well covered you were, but what with. A young lady should not receive callers while she's dressed for bed. You should have quickly changed to a skirt and sweater.

How is the world treating you? Unload your problems on Abby, care of this paper.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

First Methodist Circles Have Continuing Study

Circles of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met recently for the third session of current study, "Under Orders" or "The Churches and Public Affairs."

Announcement in each circle was made of the WSCS annual meeting to be held Mar. 20-21 in Lubbock. All members are urged to attend some portion of the meeting, if unable to go for the entire session.

Mrs. J. L. Colville, WSCS president, requested that members, who can help serve on Kiwanis luncheon committees, to let their circle chairman know if they are available regularly or can be "fill-ins."

An offering was taken for the Wesley Community House in Amarillo for supplies.

Mrs. W. L. Roundtree presided during the meeting of CIRCLE

TWO. Mrs. Paul Bowers gave the devotion concerning "The Good Shepherd" and "Christian Unity." The study was led by Mrs. Kermit Lawson in the home of Mrs. J. C. McWilliams. Thirteen members were present. The next circle meeting will be on Feb. 21 in the home of Mrs. Gene Groom, 1945 Evergreen.

CIRCLE THREE met with Mrs. Glenn Radcliff with Mrs. Carl Shafer, president in charge of the business meeting. Mrs. Elmer Radcliff opened the program with devotion and presented the study of "Under Orders." Mrs. John C. Bird was welcomed as a guest by the 10 members present. The next meeting will be Feb. 21 with Mrs. Charles Brauchle, 1206 N. Russell.

CIRCLE FOUR met with Mrs. Carl Williams. Mrs. Charles Duenkel Jr. presided. Mrs. Melvin

Stevens led the study, assisted by Mrs. Aubrey Steele and Ca. Hudson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, who is on the World Council of Churches committee. Mr. Hudson brought an informative talk on "Churches and Public Affairs." Mrs. B. West, Mrs. Harry Williams, Mr. Frank Vitano, Mr. and Mrs. Ca. Hudson were guests. Nine members were present. It was announced that a hostess will be selected for the Feb. 21 meeting.

CIRCLE FIVE met with Mr. H. F. Barnhart with Mrs. R. V. Lane, chairman, presiding. Mr. Lane reported that their group has paid 100 per cent on pledge. Mission study was conducted by Mrs. Kermit Lawson. Mrs. H. Ayers, 1212 W. 21, was welcomed as a new member. Fifteen members were present. It was announced that the Feb. 21 meeting will be with Mrs. Lawson, 222 Beech with Mrs. Lane as co-hostess.

CIRCLE SEVEN met in the church parlor with Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson as hostess. Mrs. Hutchinson gave the devotion followed by study led by Mrs. E. Kirchner, assisted by Mmes. Hutchinson, A. F. Johnston, J. V. Shelton, C. E. Boswell, S. C. Evans and W. E. Abernathy, chairman, who also presided at the business session. Fifteen members were present. The next circle meeting will be on Feb. 21 with Mrs. Price Doster Sr., 230 Duncan with Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor as co-hostess.

Take It From Kathy

by kathy peterson

Dear Kathy: My lips are so large that they are actually ugly. Wearing lipstick just makes them stand out more, but a girl of 17 looks silly if she doesn't wear it. I've tried filling in just part of my lips but that looks funny. Have you any suggestions at all that will help me?—J. R. N.

Dear J. R. N.: It isn't possible to just pick a lip shape and paint it on but you can narrow your lips a little if you are careful. A make-up base applied first will cut down the color contrast between your lips and skin. This helps the disguise.

When you apply lipstick (preferably with a brush) stay just a fraction inside your natural lip line. It will not show unless your nose is an inch from the mirror.

Teen-agers: Please send your personal problems to Kathy Peterson in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Take Easy Way

Other Jobs Await

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Women feel guilty if things are made too easy for them. That is why many of the cake mixes on the market have a woman add eggs to the mix — instead of just water. Beating the eggs and putting them into the mix gives a woman the feeling that she is doing something to the cake, herself.

Apparently we women haven't completely outgrown the notion that our value depends on how hard we have to work. Great-grandma used to "work her fingers to the bone," "stand over a hot stove all day" and sigh sadly that "a woman's work is never done." Those old sayings gave great-grandma comfort — for they were reassuring to her ego.

So, apparently, every time a job is made too simple for a housewife she begins to feel uneasy and guilty. It's silly that she should be made for every job that is made easy for today's housewife she takes on another job.

Today's housewife doesn't work her fingers to the bone making quilts, canning, embroidering children's clothes — and all those things that great-grandma used to do.

But she fills her days just as completely with other jobs — chauffeur, doing community work, sharing her husband's leisure time activities, "Keeping up" with her husband intellectually.

So instead of feeling guilty when some routine job is made easier for her — she ought to tell herself, "without all the short cuts available to me I never could do all the things it is necessary for a housewife to do in today's world. I'm not being lazy when I take advantage of every timesaver available. It's the only way I can get done everything expected of me."

That's not rationalizing. For most housewives it is the plain, simple truth. The more housewives are freed from the kitchen — the more is expected of them outside it. So why the guilty feelings?

Women puzzle you, men? Read Ruth Millett's booklet, "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, in care of The Pampa Daily News, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Walker Taken Off Rally In Madison Square

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker was knocked off the program of a forthcoming Madison Square Garden rally as a result of objections by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and John G. Tower, R-Tex., it was learned today.

At the same time, Tower took the leadership in pressing the State Department to approve a visa for Katanga President Moise Tshombe to visit this country and be honored at the same March 7 rally.

Walker's invitation to appear at the rally sponsored by Young Americans for Freedom was withdrawn Monday. The organization announced that it had advised the former general his appearance might be taken as an endorsement of his candidacy for governor of Texas.

Goldwater then was reported to have told the group later he would not participate if Walker was retained. Tower apparently shared this feeling but did not take as blunt a position.

A spokesman for Tower said the question of Walker's appearance was raised with both senators, who are to deliver major addresses at the rally, before the former Army troop commander jumped into the Texas gubernatorial race.

Tower, it was said, suggested that if Walker got into politics, he would become a partisan and that it might be well to ask him to withdraw from the rally.

A final effort to convince Walker he might be "too busy" as a candidate to attend the rally was tried by the youth organization, Tower's office reported, but he replied he could still find time to be on hand. The withdrawal of the invitation followed.

Goldwater was out of the city today. His office said only that it was a "good assumption" that Goldwater have given the youth group its choice between Walker and the senator. Goldwater is chairman of the Senate GOP Campaign Committee.

Says Congressional Record Is Getting Out Of Control

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Congressional Record, which purports to publish verbatim proceedings and debates of the House and Senate, is as much a part of the national capital scene as the Washington Monument.

Only the monument isn't getting bigger every year. The Record is growing lustily, and Rep. Paul C. Jones, a peppery Democrat from the bootheel country of southeastern Missouri, views it with alarm.

The problem, as Jones sees it, is that the Congressional Record is getting so it tells you more of what is being said and done outside of Congress than in it.

Coupling the steady increase in the size of the record with the fact that its production cost has just gone up from $81 to $90 a page, Jones says: "We are spending more money to put out more useless information than ever before."

Last year, it cost more than $2.5 million to print and distribute the 20,244 pages of the "Record" proper and 8,435 pages of appendix that flowed down Capitol Hill to the government printing office. That is an increase of 6,000 pages of Record and 1,000 pages of appendix in 10 years.

This year, Jones believes, the Record again will increase in cost and decrease in usefulness unless reforms are adopted.

But Jones has few supporters, even among the most vocal economy advocates in the House. He began his campaign some years ago, and says his following is no larger now than when he began.

This is the Ford Fairlane's new Challenger "260" V-8.

There's no other V-8 like it. It's the latest in a series of Ford V-8 triumphs that started back in 1932 when Ford introduced the world's first popular-priced V-8. Today—30 years and 30 million V-8's later—the Challenger "260" adds new fuel to the hottest performance record in V-8 history. It gives you all the time-tested toughness of iron—with a lightness and compactness iron never had before. A muscular 164 hp, this new Challenger "260" V-8 is all snap, sparkle and smoothness. It runs on regular, yet gives you better gas mileage than any standard-size 6-cylinder car. Price it and you're in for a surprise—a Fairlane V-8 carries a smaller price tag than some compact Sixes. And, of course, a Fairlane gives you big-car room and fine-car quality you'll find in no other car anywhere near Fairlane's amazing low price. There's never been a buy like Fairlane because there's never been a car like Fairlane; that's why this all-new car from Ford is now out-selling every other "new-size" car!

Raiders, Aggies Ponies All Tied

By United Press International
Texas Tech fell flat on its face for the second consecutive time at home, and suddenly the Southwest Conference basketball title chase is in a three-way tie.

Southern Methodist whipped the Red Raiders, 68-63, Tuesday night while Texas A&M downed Texas, 34-28, at College Station. SMU, Tech and A&M have identical 6-3 records.

In other conference games, Rice kept its championship hopes alive by smothering Arkansas, 63-55, and Texas Christian crushed Baylor, 80-66, in a battle between also-rans.

SMU fought off a desperate closing rally by the Red Raiders, outscored from the field, hit 26 of 29 free throws. Four crucial charity tosses by SMU guard Jim Thompson in the final two minutes blunted a Tech drive. The Red Raiders had narrowed SMU's lead to 59-56 up to that point.

Jan. Loudermilk, the conference's leading scorer, led the Mustangs with 19 points, although he was hampered with four fouls most of the contest. Tech also lost last week to TCU at home.

The brilliant marksmanship of Carroll Broussard fired up a sluggish Texas A&M team. Broussard poured in 25 points, 15 on free throws. He also led the Cadets in rebounding with 10.

Both teams were cold and played ragged ball. Texas hit 32.0 per cent of its field shots. A&M could make only 30.4 per cent.

Texas A&M built up a 26-20 halftime lead to the delight of the hometown crowd of 8,500.

Ron Weeks was the only Longhorn who could find the basket with consistency. He had 13 points. Texas now stands 4-4 in the conference.

Rice overcame a 33-29 Arkansas halftime lead with pinpoint shooting from the field. The Owls hit 23 of 47 attempts for a 48.9 per cent.

Arkansas forward Jerry Carlton was the game's high-scoring with 20 points. Larry Phillips and Mike Maroney had 13 for Rice.

Rice is now 5-4. Arkansas is 4-5. Texas Christian grabbed a big lead at the outset and held on to thrash hapless Baylor. Guard Phil Reynolds spearheaded the winners with 21 points. Herbert Barritt, sophomore forward, paced Baylor with 17.

TCU is now 3-5 in league play. Baylor has won once in nine outings.

Saturday, Rice plays SMU at Dallas. Arkansas travels to Lubbock to play Tech. TCU moves to College Station to face A&M, and Baylor hosts Texas at Waco.

Blue Devils Vault To Head Of Class

By United Press International
That's a pretty nifty 1-2 scoring punch Duke has come up with—no Maris and Mantle you understand, but enough to boost the Blue Devils to the top of the Atlantic Coast Basketball Conference.

Art Heyman and Jeff Mullins, the two Duke sharpshooters, are the highest scoring combinations in the ACC, with Heyman averaging 26.6 points per game and Mullins 21.2.

Both were in fine form Wednesday night when they scored 41 points between them to lead Duke to a 79-53 victory over Maryland at College Park, Md., and move the Blue Devils into the conference lead.

Mullins hit for 22 points and Heyman 19 as Duke rolled to its ninth triumph in 11 league starts and its 16th win in 19 games this season. The seven-time A.C. Blue Devils spurred to a 36-24 lead at half-time and increased their margin to 27 points midway in the second half.

Tom Wynne's two free throws with 75 seconds remaining in the second overtime period paced St. Joseph's to an 80-79 victory over Gettysburg. Wynne was individual high scorer with 37 points, and Ron Warner, who sank 22 free throws in 22 attempts, led Gettysburg with 34.

Nick Werhman, the nation's second highest scorer, registered 34 points for Seton Hall in an 83-56 romp against Long Island University, while Bill Fry's 30-foot one-hander with eight seconds left gave Bucknell a 69-68 squeaker over Penn State at Lewisburg, Pa. Furman, rallying through most of the game, limited South Carolina's Art Whisnant to one field goal in the second half and beat the Gamecocks, 67-59, at Greenville, S.C. Jerry Smith was high man for Furman with 29 points while Whisnant, who scored 17 points in the first half, led South Carolina with 19.

In other games, Marquette defeated Detroit, 73-66; Connecticut beat Massachusetts, 72-56; Rhode Island downed Providence, 71-61; Bowling Green defeated Kent State, 82-70; Rice stopped Arkansas, 63-55; Texas Christian mauled Baylor, 80-66; Texas A&M beat Texas, 54-48; Southern Methodist topped Texas Tech, 68-63, and Texas Western rolled over Eastern New Mexico, 79-46.

Royals Down Warriors In NBA Contest

By United Press International
It takes to stop the Philadelphia Warriors these days are a few record-breaking performances.

The Cincinnati Royals came up with most of the records Tuesday night while blasting Philadelphia, 133-132, despite a 65-point scoring effort by Wilt Chamberlain. The Warriors, who were intent on catching the first place Boston Celtics in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association, had won five straight and 14 of their last 16.

More than half a dozen Cincinnati Garden records were rewritten, including the all-time game high of 152 points and the Royals' 36 field goals and 83 points in the first half.

Four of the Cincinnati starters were suffering from injuries but the Royals went on to an early lead which they never relinquished. Cincinnati was topped by Oscar Robertson's 42 points.

Chamberlain with 30 free throw attempts established a league mark although he only connected on 17.

In the only other game played Tuesday night, Boston trounced the Chicago Packers, 138-117, at Providence, R.I. Tommy Heinsohn paced the Celtics with 30 points while Walt Bellamy had 36 for Chicago.

LIONS SIGN THREE
DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Lions today announced the signing of two free agents and one draft choice.

Rucker, Wickline, a 215-pound linebacker from Marshall University, agreed to terms for 1962 as did halfback Juan Vasquez of New Mexico Western and end Albie Smith of Xavier. Wickline was Detroit's 17th draft choice.

Familiar Champs In Cage Playoffs

By United Press International
Three defending Texas school-boy basketball champions have won their way back into the state playoffs. The successful three are South San Antonio, Buna and James Bowie. Class B titlist Frankston failed to get outside its own district.

South San Antonio won the District 14-AAA crown last week. The San Antonians have been in the state finals in Class AAA three of the last four years.

Buna, which has claimed a state title five of the last seven years, and has won its last 110 district games, racked up the 24-AAA crown last week.

James Bowie also staked claim to another possible trip to Austin for the March 1-3 tournament. Bowie, winners of the 15-A crown, took their second Class A state championship last year.

Frankston, last year's Class B champ, lost out in district 55-B to Cayuga.

Two of last year's finalists are back in the running, too. Clear Creek and Brownsboro have won their districts.

Dimmitt, loser to Buna last year, is locked in a 1-AA playoff with Tula as the clubs tied for the regular season lead.

Only a sprinkling of the 193 district champions (16 each in AAAA and AAA, 32 each in AA and A and 97 in B) have been determined, but all must be certified by midnight Saturday.

Those already in the playoffs include: AAAA—Wichita Falls, Houston Davis, Beaumont-French, San Antonio Edison and San Antonio Brackenridge.

AAA—Richardson, Killen, Silsbee, Clear Creek and South San Antonio.

AA—Denver City, Fort Stockton, Perryton, Anson, Linden-Kildare, Canton, Gladewater, Humble, Madisonville, Dayton, Buna West Columbia and Sweeney.

A—White Deer, Idalou, Sanderson, James Bowie, Lindale, Brownsboro, Lorena, Thorndale and Hitchcock.

B—Whittarral, Roosevelt, Ropesville, Quitaque, Hedley, Throckmorton, Callisburg, Leonard, North Fannin, Alba-Golden, Cayuga, Bullard, Carlisle, Huntington, Centerville and Salado.

Indoor Swim Meet Slated For Feb. 24

An indoor swimming meet will be held in the Youth Center swimming pool Feb. 24 in cooperation with the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce.

The meet will be open to all boys and girls in Pampa and membership in the Youth and Community center will not be necessary to participate.

Shockers In Smashing B Team Victory, 61-43

By DICK RABE
Daily News Sports Editor

Pampa's Fighting Harvesters bombarded the Amarillo Sandies with everything except the scoreboard clock Tuesday night and went on to administer a crushing 74-59 District 3-AAAA basketball victory in the Harvester fieldhouse before a rousing cheering crowd.

The Harvesters, playing their final game of the year at home, thus broke a two-game losing streak and wracked up their fourth district win of the year against nine setbacks. The victory also catapulted the local crew out of the loop cellar and sent the Sandies down to the bottom of the heap with their tenth loss of the year. Amarillo has won three.

The victory was sweet revenge for the Harvesters who went down to a heartbreaking defeat at the hands of the Sandies earlier in the year, in Amarillo, 72-68. But on this night, Coach Terry Culley's band of cagers weren't to be denied and looked like an invincible team out there on the hardwoods.

From the outset, the Harvesters took command of the situation and never trailed throughout the game. At the end of the first quarter, it was 18-12. At the half, the Harvesters had widened their margin to 39-22. By the end of the third quarter, the Sandies looked as if they were ready to throw in the towel, basketball and everything else as they trailed 57-34, giving the local crew a comfortable 23 point lead, a position they have not faced too many times during the course of the season.

In the fourth quarter, Culley sprinkled his lineup with reserves and ended up clearing the bench. When the final buzzer sounded, only one starter, Wayne Kries was still in there among the starting five.

Nine Harvesters got in on the merry scoring go round with Kries leading the way with 21 points. The dazzling little sharpshooter fired in eight field goals and five straight from the free throw line to lead the attack.

Randy Matson, who was third in loop scoring going into the game, wracked up 14 on the boards with six field goals and two from the charity line. Matson also broke his point total in loop play of last year by upping his district total to 226 points with one game yet to play. Matson had equaled his mark of 212 points scored last season going into the game.

Bob Neslage, playing in his next to the last game for the Harvesters, poured in 12 points via five field goals and two free throws to also hit in the double figures for the Harvesters.

Both Matson and Neslage were tremendous on defense, grabbing off enemy rebounds right and left.

Rounding out the massacre were Gordon Balch with nine, Lloyd Balch with eight, Gary Sikes with four and Keith Swanson, Mike Stewart and Harold Burgess with two each.

The only two Harvesters who failed to get into the scoring rampage were C. E. Cantrell and Jim Storey, who saw limited action in the final go round.

Gordon Balch was one of the hottest men from the line with five charity tosses out of six attempts.

The Harvesters set a blistering pace from the free throw line with 18 out of 21 for an .848 average.

Liston Might Sign To Meet Patterson

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Sonny Liston is expected to sign later this week for his long-sought crack at Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title.

The fight will be held in June at one of four proposed sites—New York, Los Angeles, Philadelphia or Chicago.

Patterson already has accepted Liston as his next challenger and has authorized Championship Sports, Inc., to sign the 27-year-old Philadelphia kayo artist for the $10 million bout, it was learned by United Press International Tuesday night from an official source.

Championship Sports promoted Patterson's last title defense against Ingemar Johansson at Miami last March.

Liston, who has scored 23 knockouts while winning 33 of 34 professional fights, has been seeking a title bout with Patterson for more than two years. However, the champion had insisted that Sonny first divest himself of his old managers, who reputedly had underworld connections, before he would give him a title shot.

Negotiations for the fight also were stymied when Liston twice was arrested for minor misdemeanors last year.

Liston, though, broke with his old managers and then placed himself in the care of a Catholic priest for rehabilitation. Both of these moves apparently convinced Patterson that Sonny merited a title bout.

Tucson Open Play Starts Thursday

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—The $20,000 Tucson Open, shorn of some of the big names but still packing a big punch, gets under way Thursday on the short, well groomed El Rio Country Club course.

Davey Hill of Denver, Colo., who broke into the big-time winning ranks here with a playoff victory last year, is back to defend his crown.

The big names missing are Arnold Palmer, who won at Phoenix and Palm Springs; Doug Sanders, third leading money winner of 1961; former Open champion Dr. Cary Middlecoff and former PGA king Jay Hebert.

But on hand are the current PGA champion, Jerry Barber; National Open king Gene Littler; former Masters champion Art Wall; Lionel Hebert, Mike Souchak and Australia's Bruce Crampton, among others.

Briscoe Winner Over Miami Five

Miami made a gallant bid for the district title Tuesday night but fell short though, losing to Briscoe, 51-50.

Both teams went into the game with 9-1 records in district play. Jim Flowers had 16 points for the Shockers.

vin, who is vying with Matson for the loop scoring title, poured in 14 points to capture scoring laurels for the losers. Hilton had 12 and Jim Hill 11 to aid the Sandies cause.

The Harvesters have one remaining district encounter for 1962, that against Plainview Thursday night at 8 p.m. in Plainview.

The Shockers also got in on the merriment at the fieldhouse with a 61-43 drubbing of the Amarillo B team in the opener.

Coach Roy Kieval's crew led at the end of the first quarter, 19-6 and at the half, 33-23. At the end of the third period, the locals had widened the margin to 50-31. The Shockers iced it away with 11 more in the final go round to give them their eighth loop win of the year against five losses. On the year, the Shockers are 19-6.

The win also kept the Shockers two games behind leading Monterey which is 10-3 thus far.

Kenny Hebert led the Shockers from the floor with 19 points while Donnie Ayres had 14 and Larry Clifton had 12 points.

Lovett led Amarillo with 18 points.

In other games Tuesday night, Tascosa eased past Palo Duro, 47-46 and Monterey clinched a tie for the district title with a convincing 68-48 victory over Plainview. Monday night Berger downed Lubbock, 57-56. The Plainsmen need only one more victory, in their final game with Lubbock, to sew up the title.

Amarillo Team Leaves For State Meet

Amarillo's eight man boxing team left today for Ft. Worth to compete in the state Golden Gloves tournament starting Thursday night.

Four boys from Plainview, two from Amarillo and one each from Pampa and Levelland will compose the team which will take part in the five day tourney.

Included in the group is Glen Ward of Pampa who will be fighting in the light-heavyweight division.

The tourney will continue through Tuesday night.

Bartzen Turns Pro At Colonial Club

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of Dallas, four-time National Clay Court singles champion and former Davis Cup team member, Tuesday turned professional by joining the staff of Colonial Country Club.

He will serve as tennis director and resident pro.

Bartzen, 34, will assume his post about March 15. He will teach and work with club members and their families, and direct all tennis activities.

In 1959 and 1960, Bartzen was ranked No. 2 in American tennis circles. He won the National Intercollegiate singles in 1944 and the NCAA doubles in 1948.

He has represented the United States in 13 Davis Cup matches since 1952 and won them all.

MINERS WIN
EL PASO (UPI)—The Texas Western Miners won their 14th basketball game of the season Thursday night by whipping Eastern New Mexico, 79-48, in a non-conference game.

The Miners, who have lost only five times, were ahead 41-21 at the half. It was ENMU's 15th loss in 20 games.

Bobby Joe Hill of Texas Western led the scoring with 18 points, Darrell Fouser was high for the losers with 12.

India's General Elections Will Last Ten Days

EDITORS NOTE: India's third general elections, largest in the free world, will be spread over a 10-day period beginning Feb. 16. The following dispatch outlines the issues at stake and the mechanics of polling a 210-million-member electorate.

By PATRICK J. KILLEN
NEW DELHI (UPI)—India begins a massive 10 days of voting on Friday to choose a national parliament and state legislatures in the world's biggest election. Issues range from Communist China to local banditry, but there is general agreement that Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru will score another easy victory.

Election officials estimate that 126 million Indians—60 per cent of the nation's 210 million electorate—will vote from the time the polls open Friday in the thatched hut regions of West Bengal until they close in the smoggy suburbs of Bombay Feb. 25.

India sets a record for free elections each time it chooses a new parliament. In 1957, 92 million persons voted. In 1952, the first elections as a republic, the figure was 88 million. (In the 1960 presidential elections in the United States 68,838,065 votes were cast.)

Nehru's Congress party is the undisputed favorite to retain control of parliament and all of the 15 state legislatures.

But for one of his top aides, the election is a fight for political life. V. K. Krishna Menon, controversial defense minister and frequent U.N. spokesman, has been criticized at home and abroad for leaning too far left in his neutralism.

His opponent in the north Bombay constituency is Acharya J. B. Kripilani, who charges that Menon "represents Communist China and not India."

Kripilani, a Gandhi follower and two-time election winner in other districts, has made his campaign issue, "Gandhism vs. Marxism."

Menon, with powerful Congress support, was a 6-4 favorite at the close of the campaign, but the 73-year-old Kripilani had strong allies.

Running as an independent, he had the support of all the opposition parties except the Communists. Menon won the seat five years ago against a badly split opposition.

A resounding victory for Menon would give a boost to India's left-wing Socialists and to the defense minister's personal prestige. A narrow victory or a defeat, on the other hand, would show a repudiation of both.

Nehru has said that although he has no special liking for Menon, he supports his candidacy because he is his top foreign policy aide.

But other Congress party members disagree. More than 150 quit the party to campaign for Menon's opponent.

Bandits have entered the campaign in the central Indian state of Madhya Pradesh. Armed gangs, known as dacoits, are attempting to get out the vote against the state officials who "have cracked down on them the hardest."

The voting must go on for 10 days because of the sheer numbers involved. The electorate, less than half of India's 438 million population, consists of all registered Indians, male and female, 21 or over. Illiteracy is no bar. If a voter cannot read, he just searches his ballot for the symbol of his political party.

It took four months to complete the first election in 1952, and 19 or 20 days in 1957.

Voting will be staggered in most states, with outlying areas where transportation is scarce voting first and cities last. The voters in rural West Bengal will be the only ones participating Friday. A majority of the states begin next Monday.

No ballots will be counted until the voting ends, and full results will not be known until Feb. 28 or March 1. Election officials hope to have some results—probably New Delhi's parliamentary constituencies—by late evening of day polling finishes.

The number of candidates is staggering—1,979 for the 494 seats in the lower house, and 12,625 for the 2,855 state assembly seats at stake. Both figures are about 25 per cent higher than the 1957 elections.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The drug group, after a fairly long period of correction and consolidation, seems about ready for another and more favorable pattern of market action, states Thomson & McKinnon.

Recent research developments in a couple of leading drug corporations will go a long way in protecting the drug industry from politically inspired investigations into pricing and advertising policies, the firm said.

Purcell & Co. says that the recent weakness in bank stocks has brought these issues back to more realistic price levels where they represent once again worthwhile commitments for investors seeking to upgrade their portfolios. "Once considered primarily as income issues, the bank stocks are now receiving increased attention for their solid record of growth and stability," Purcell declares.

According to Standard & Poor's, prevailing stock values are beginning to tempt idle investment funds. "In view of excellent business supports and the adjustments accomplished in the recent technical correction, a constructive attitude toward the market is warranted."

The bull market in oils continues, paced by the leading producers who stand to benefit from two recent developments, according to Canadian oil reports. First of all, the Alberta Oil and Gas Conservation Board has initiated a production formula whereby the prolific pools will be allowed to increase production at the expense of marginal pools. Second is the spread of buy-out fever into Canada where rumors have been flying fast and furious around every possibility.

'Pistol Pete' Is Grand Champion At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—A 945-pound Hereford steer named Pistol Pete won the grand championship of the San Antonio Live-stock Exposition Monday for Lyle Lewter, a 17-year-old Lubbock farm boy.

It was the first time in the history of the stock show anyone had won two grand championships. Lewter took top honors in 1960 with his Hereford steer Prince.

Reserve champion honors went to a steer nobody wanted: Lucky Boy, an 845-pounder owned by Elmer L. Geeslin of Hamilton, Tex.

"The steer was the last of 25 steers offered for sale at the Granite Hills Ranch near Llano, Tex., about a year ago," Geeslin said. "Nobody wanted it, so I made a deal and named it Lucky Boy."

Lewter is a member of the 4-H club at Lubbock's Monterey High School. His father is a cattle feeder.

Breed grand championships were awarded to: Angus, Harvey Harter of Carlock, Ill.; crossbreed, Brahma, Calvin Albert of Poth, Tex.; Shorthorn, Dick Britton of Bryan, Tex.

The Statistic Racket

For some little time we've been meaning to mention a dandy article appearing in the November, 1961 Fortune magazine. Daniel Seligman wrote it and it's called, "We're Drowning in Phony Statistics."

For many years we have had occasion to squirm at repeated instances of politicians summoning to their aid great masses of statistics, all of which seemed to fit their particular dilemma with much too easy a manner. But we never pursued our squirmishness to the point of seeking to amass a few statistics ourselves, in an effort to defray the validity of the other fellow's statistics. On occasion we'd offer something. But we never did it systematically.

Comes now Seligman, who does a job. In a well-written tabulation, Seligman goes to show that according to hosts of "authorities" the amount of waste, loss, damage thru fire or theft, accident and all the woes to which flesh is heir, aggregates about $13,813,824,000 annually, which is one fourth of the Gross National Product. This is ridiculous for nearly all of the GNP is accounted for elsewhere. The only figure Seligman doesn't expose as being phony is the GNP itself, which is undoubtedly the phonest of the lot.

We'll give you a sample of this approach to the statistical cul de sac. "Ninety per cent of the major racketeers would be out of business by the end of the year." If the ordinary citizen, the businessman, the union official, and the public authority stood up to be counted and refused to be corrupted," So said Attorney General Robert R. Kennedy. Mighty impressive. But what does it mean? Actually, it means nothing.

There is no general agreement on "major racketeer." No one knows what it means to "stand up to be counted." In essence, the statement says that if most people weren't corruptible there wouldn't be so much corruption. But elections are won or lost on stuff like this.

Seligman divides the field into two general classifications: The meaningless statistic and the unknowable statistic.

Here are some meaningless statistics: "While music is a great art, it is also a $2 billion a year industry." Examination of this figure and this statement fails to elicit a single criterion by means of which it can be determined where the music "industry" begins or ends, who is in it, or where the $2 billion figure comes from. Yet the figure appeared recently in a respectable magazine. President Kennedy in 1961 said that "25" million Americans live in "substandard homes." But he failed to reveal what standards he had in mind and what constituted substandard. Nor is it possible to discover where the 25 million figure came from, unless it came right out of the head of one of his speechwriters.

Mayor Robert Wagner of New York came up with a dandy. In his annual report to the city council he said, "Over-all cleanliness of the streets has risen to 85 per cent in 1960," and this was "up from 56 per cent in 1955." He explained that this figure was obtained by personal inspection of 4,493 city blocks. But he could not provide the criteria as to what he meant by "clean." And certainly the 85 and 56 per cent figures are wholly without meaning.

Then there is the "unknowable" statistic. "The American girl kisses an average of 79 men before getting married." All we can say is, oh yeah!

Esquire magazine once reported: "There are 200,000 stray cats in New York City." So far as can be determined, this is a pure stab in the back alleys. No one has ever counted the stray cats.

Another article revealed that there were nine million rats in New York City. Clinton A. Garvin, who is rodent and insect consultant, to that city's health department, reveals that there was once a rat count in certain areas. But it was far from conclusive. Garvin says: "Counting rats is very hard work. You can count a rat on the eighth floor of a building, and then another on the seventh floor, and then another when you get to the sixth floor, but after that, you may just be seeing the same rat three times."

All of which is part and parcel of the phony statistic racket, fostered by government, by politicians and by persons who wish to sound both learned and impressive, who, upon examination, have nothing whatever to offer.

Double Advantage

Tools not only free our hands from many tedious tasks they free minds for further discoveries and explorations.

12 Basic Economic Rules

Here are some simple questions and answers relating to basic economic understanding. They may serve as a guide to your own comprehension of this subject.

1. Do people spend their dollars for a commodity when, in their opinion, the commodity is equal in value to the price asked?

Answer: No. People spend their dollars when they would RATHER HAVE the commodity than the dollars. A commodity priced at $10 which a customer feels is only worth $10 to him, will not inspire his purchase. He must feel that he would be BETTER OFF after he makes the exchange.

2. In what community would there be a serious lack of rental properties?

Answer: In that community which practiced rent control. New York City is an example. It still has rent control. It has the largest shortage of rental properties in this country.

3. In what community would there be a surplus of rental property?

Answer: In that community which received the greatest amount of government financial assistance in the building of that kind of property. Government "aid" dislocates the market and creates spurious values.

4. What nation would have the soundest currency?

Answer: That nation which had, the least political control of its money or currency. Governments invariably manipulate credit and currency for political reasons. It is sound, politically, to have a "soft" and flexible currency. It is unsound economically to have a "soft" money.

5. Does a high tariff protect business?

Answer: No. It protects labor unions by legally injuring the import business. Products which can be manufactured extra-nationally because of low wage rates in other countries, at a low price, are banned. Higher priced products made nationally, are kept at a high price because of the high wages which the tariff protects.

6. Will a wage rate hike increase purchasing power?

Answer: No. It necessarily may throw marginal workers out of jobs, reduce total payrolls and lower purchasing power.

7. Do businessmen and industrialists cause inflation by raising prices?

Answer: No. Inflation is caused by an increase in currency or credit. Harmful inflation is caused when the increase in currency or credit is brought on by the government for political reasons. When business grows, this is not called inflation. It is called a boom.

8. How do labor unions affect the economy?

Answer: They affect it in sev-

It's Up To You

by HOWARD KERSHNER L. H. D.

Under free enterprise the main use of capital is to create more and better jobs so that more people can earn good wages and support themselves and their families.

Under welfare statism less capital is used to create well-paying jobs and more capital is channeled into immediate consumption resulting in fewer jobs, lower incomes, fewer people able to support themselves and more and more people becoming partially or wholly dependent upon the state.

Moreover, under welfare statism the people lose initiative, see little reason to be thrifty and depend more and more upon the efforts of others for their livelihood. Hence production in all phases declines.

That is why the standard of living is highest where there is the most freedom and lowest where there is the most welfare statism.

Foreign aid since World War II has been six times the value of all the buildings and endowment funds of all colleges and universities in the United States. The American administrators of this aid for the most part have been Socialists and the aid has gone mainly to Socialist governments. The net effect has been to tighten the hold of these Socialist rulers upon their people. Furthermore, it all plays into the hands of the Communist plan to destroy America through undermining and weakening the dollar.

Three witches are bubbling the brew that will destroy America. They are:

1. Deficit spending, one of the main causes of inflation.

2. Wage increases in excess of the increases of productivity. This causes higher and higher prices, resulting in loss of markets and unemployment. It is one phase of inflation.

3. Foreign payments in excess of receipts from abroad resulting in heavy debit balances and loss of gold. Also loss of confidence in the dollar.

These three witches have been having their way for a long time. They will destroy us unless we put an end to the spell they are casting over America.

For every dollar Russia pays in support of U.N., the United States pays $9. The United States has paid over 73 per cent of the cost of the Congo operation while Russia has contributed nothing.

Since we finance Congo, why don't we direct the effort against the Communists and in favor of the pro-Western elements?

Several ways. They cause unemployment by forcing up wages beyond market values thus compelling lay-offs. They sometimes force small businesses out of business thus helping to enlarge the larger industries. They help to push prices up.

9. Can managers of business fix prices?

Answer: No. Customers fix prices. Any business which seeks to fix prices upward will create customer resistance to such an extent that it will be unlikely to benefit by such action. Businessmen may put price tags on their commodities. But customers may decline to buy. When the customer agrees to buy, he fixes the price.

10. Can government fix prices?

Answer: No. Government, by force, can compel the purchase of certain goods or services; or it can compel a subsidy to support certain goods or services which have been priced too high. Government fixes people, not prices.

11. Is money wealth?

Answer: No. Money is a medium of exchange, a transfer agent by means of which wealth may pass from hand to hand conveniently. Wealth consists of the things people want. People do not really want money although they can exchange it for something they really want.

12. Isn't central planning of the economy a good thing because it is efficient?

Answer: It is hopelessly inefficient. Central planning presumes that the planners know what other people want and will buy. But even the people who are to do the buying do not know this. Diversified planning by private persons is far more efficient. It makes allowances for the changing choices of people. In the event an error in judgment occurs, the person making the error is penalized. An error in central planning, and errors always occur, penalizes all the customers while the planners escape penalty or blame.

Cheaper, Better Overseas Communications Seen Under President's Proposed Satellite System

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The development of a communications satellite system under President Kennedy's plan should make overseas communications, including individual phone calls, a lot cheaper.

The proposed system will mean faster service to almost any point on the globe.

It may also "lead to the substitution of satellites for the undersea cables on which we now depend for transoceanic telephone communications."

These are the vast communication changes predicted in the unpublished economic study sent to the House Space Committee by the National Aeronautics & Space Administration.

Prepared by NASA to support the President's plan to create a privately owned but tightly regulated corporation to operate the system, the study states that "with the development of communications satellites, it will be possible to provide services at lower costs per channel than we now experience with undersea cables or could obtain under any other plan."

It holds out glimmering hope that "we will be able to expand the communication system to a capacity well beyond that which is now economically possible with cables alone."

The study reveals that NASA scientists now believe "it is possible, in the not-too-distant future, to establish continuous communications between the U.S. and Europe by using a single satellite."

Similarly, the orbiting of another satellite over the Pacific would permit "the establishment of communications between the American continent and Japan, Australia, and the Far East."

"A third satellite," according to the study, "would round out the coverage for messages between the Far East and European and American nations."

To establish this type of system, the satellites would have to be placed into an orbit 22,300 miles above the earth.

Previous NASA studies held that from 40 to 400 randomly distributed satellites would be required if they were orbited at altitudes ranging from 1,000 to 5,000 miles.

PREPARING THE WAY — Another NASA report reveals that the U.S. is already preparing the way for experimental work with other nations designed to eventually make the communication systems worldwide.

Agreements on communication satellite experiments have been worked out with Great Britain, France and Germany. Negotiations are under way with the Soviet Union.

Edson In Capitol

By Peter Edson NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Katanga President Moise Tshombe wants to come to the United States to tell his side of the Congo story, in an obvious effort to offset the U.N. and Washington visits of the Congolese central government's Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Tshombe's first scheduled appearance is to accept an award from the Young Americans for Freedom at their Madison Square Garden rally in New York March 7. The award will be given to Tshombe and his people "for their continued defense of self-determination, life, property and freedom, long cherished by the American people."

No other engagements have been definitely booked for the Katanga leader and a political upset might cancel the tour. As this is written there is a hassle over whether Tshombe has a U.S. visa on his passport and can get one. As yet, he has no invitation from the U.S. government or the U.N.

Transfer of the Congo dispute to the United States may not make its settlement in Africa any easier. But the issue is being whipped up here by several American citizens' committees and their public relations firms.

Republic of the Congo — the Adoula government — now runs an information service from the office of Milburn McCarty Associates in New York.

This office was opened after it was disclosed that the Katanga government was operating an information service in New York to lobby for President Tshombe. Michael Struelens, a Belgian who headed the office, was summoned to Washington to testify, but nothing came of it.

The Young Americans for Freedom rally which hopes to honor Tshombe is being run by its rally chairman, Donald Shaffo, from the public relations office of Marvin Liebman in New York. It is also headquarters for the American Committee for Aid to Katanga Freedom Fighters. This is an organization that collected money for a couple of full-page newspaper ads appealing for funds to support Tshombe.

This drew reply in another full-page ad supporting U.S. government policy in backing the Adoula government. It blasted President Tshombe and five Katanga "myths." It was signed by 73 prominent citizens including Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Eric Johnston, Walter Reuther and 20 U.S. university professors who are now teaching African history and current political developments. Who paid for the ad is not known.

The United States government is backing Premier Adoula as the democratically elected leader of the Congolese parliament in which all provinces are represented except Katanga.

Adoula's primary purpose in coming to the United States is to present his case to the United Nations, according to American government officials. His visit to Washington is described as incidental. Adoula is described as a Congo nationalist, on the side of the West. He told off the Russians at the recent Lagos, Nigeria, conference of 20 African nations. After his visit to Washington, it will be difficult for the Communists to invite him to Moscow.

Premier Adoula is given credit for handling the Congo Communist threat in such a way that Antoine Gizenga, heir to the murdered Patrice Lumumba, has been all but obliterated from the political scene, with no apparent successor.

Adoula is also credited with having emerged as the bigger man after his recent conferences with Tshombe. But Katanga has not yet been brought into the Congolese federation, and that is the biggest threat ahead for Adoula's government.

Tshombe, on the other hand, is described by U.S. officials as governing Katanga more by fiat than by democracy. He controls one tribal area of 500,000 people out of Katanga's two million and the whole Congo's 14 million. He is supported by taxes collected on exports of Belgian mining companies in which Tshombe holds stock. Since his income has been held up by the Belgians, he has talked of nationalizing the mines.

The fact that President Tshombe is planning to come to the United States a month after the Adoula visit does not augur well for achieving settlement of the Congo dispute.

Resin vs. Rosin

Resin is a yellowish gummy substance exuded from plants, especially pine or fir trees. When resin is distilled, a hard, amber-colored substance is obtained and this is called rosin.

Pegler Says:

Secretary's Memoirs Aid In Clearing Some Facts

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Ever since President Roosevelt died in his little Georgia place away from it all, including his spouse, editors have been bothered by letters inquiring whether he was shot, stabbed or otherwise put to death by external malice. Indeed, some uneasy specimens have wanted assurance that he was, in fact, erst.

This latter minority shares the uncompromising doubt of a similar circle of skeptics who can't believe that Adolf Hitler died in his bunker in Berlin according to the common superstition of knowing mankind. But as to Roosevelt, the fact is that a doctor was on hand and a legal certificate was issued, whereas in Berlin municipal functions were in abeyance. A solemn referendum according to the democratic ideal might quiet the legal doubt. But who of those, who might have terminated our own beloved ruler had a feasible chance or motive to do so? Stalin's empire owed its existence to Roosevelt's benevolence. And the American Republicans were all too manfully and doing too well in war industries, many with impromptu rank of Admiral and General to the great enjoyment of their wives.

Doubter that I am in most secular mysteries, I must say that I accepted the report as truth when the flash came over the UP apparatus in the local room of the Tucson Citizen.

I met strangers on the streets that day who rolled their heads and murmured, "I can't believe it."

I must confess now that my colleagues on the press detail at Warm Springs failed badly in this historic matter. It was not until John T. Flynn phoned me a couple of years later that I began to explore a mystery. Mr. Flynn asked tersely if I had a copy of a new book of memoirs, the one by Grace Tully, a pretty lady, who had been a secretary of some degree to our late Mahatma.

I had.

Mr. Flynn then referred me to a particular page and line and said "Who is that lady?" The lady's name was Mrs. Winthrop Rutherford. She was enormously respectable, reasonably rich and a widow with mature children of her own and some established and genteel stepchildren by her late husband. In her late teens in the happy Washington social whirl of the First War, she had been a belle with Wallis Warfield, now Duchess of Windsor. She had never before been named in print in any story of Roosevelt's life and death, but now Miss Tully remarked casually that this lady had been present in the little room at Warm Springs with Roosevelt and Mrs. Elizabeth Shumator, the portrait artist, when our leader was stricken in his brain.

So I began to inquire and I may say that I fell into the common error of New York reporters in failing to consult the phone book. But somewhat later I did think me and Mrs. Shumator was cordial and entertaining. Neither of us could guess why history had failed to note the presence of Mrs. Rutherford at FDR's side at that instant in history. But she said that Mike Reilly, of the White House Secret Service detail, hustled both of them and their gear out of the cottage and into Mrs. Rutherford's new Packard and on.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

There are no morning or evening stars.

On this day in history: In 1886, the West Coast citrus industry was born as the first trainload of oranges left Los Angeles for eastern markets.

In 1909, President Theodore Roosevelt enacted into law an act creating the Department of Commerce and Labor.

In 1933, $50 million was rushed to Detroit to bolster banking assets as Michigan's governor declared an eight day bank holiday.

In 1945, thousands of Allied planes staged a devastating air raid on Dresden, Germany.

A thought for the day: Theodore Roosevelt said: "The first requisite of a good citizen in this republic of ours is that he shall be able and willing to pull his own weight."
