"Fair sister, such services make a man love and desire to return to his home and to see his goodwife and to be distant with others. Wherefore I counsel you to make such cheer to your husband at all his comings and stayings, and also to be peaceable with him."
"For remember the rustic proverb which saith: there are three things which drive the Goodman from his home, to wit — a leaking roof, a smoky chimney and a scolding woman."
"Therefore, fair sister, I beseech you to keep yourself in the love and good favor of your husband. Be gentle unto him and amiable and debonair."

Too Many Downbeat Movies, Says Actor

By JOE FINNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Gene Raymond, an actor whose experience includes pictures, TV and plays, says film producers are turning out too many downbeat movies.
"I think that with very few exceptions they're making films that people tell me are depressing," Raymond said. "The pictures are desolate slices of life with dope addicts and such."

It used to be that you came out of a movie stimulated and rid of your own problems. Now you're just taking on somebody else's.
Raymond, touring in a stage play, "The Best Man," also criticized legitimate productions which seem to spend much of their time on the seamy side of life.
"Named me a Tennessee Williams play that has a palatable theme," he asked. "I guess he couldn't write any other kind."
Although he made close to 50 pictures, the last two years ago, Raymond prefers stage work.
"The only place where theater is not rewarding is in the money department," he said. "But, if I had my choice of a good movie or a good play I'd take the latter."
Raymond has been married to singer Jeannette MacDonald for many years, but the two have appeared together only once in movies.
"We've never found anything that really needed us together," Gene said. "There have been a great many suggestions but nobody has come up with anything we liked."
The fact that Miss MacDonald is a singer and Gene a dramatic actor causes a script problem.
"She feels that there should be Raymond said. "But, I don't sing so we have trouble finding the right vehicle."

Trail Date Asked In LBJ Status

DALLAS (UPI)—The U.S. Supreme Court has been asked today to order a federal judge to set up a trial on a suit seeking to prevent Lyndon Johnson from seeking election as vice president and senator from Texas at the same time.
The suit was filed by Michael E. Schwille, Dallas, a 25-year-old student at North Texas State College at Denton.
Under a special law passed by the Texas Legislature, Johnson's name will appear on the Texas general election ballots this November as candidates for both state and national offices.
Schwille contends the law denies him his constitutional rights as a voter since Johnson obviously cannot hold two offices at the same time.
Federal Judge Ben Rice granted a defense motion recently, refusing to appoint a three-judge federal court to hear the case on grounds that "no substantial federal question (or) constitutional question" was involved.

Donovan and William F. Billings Tuesday mailed a petition to the Supreme Court asking for a writ of mandamus which would force Rice to reverse his decision and order him to appoint the three-judge court to hear the case.

Safe Burglary Leads Checked In Oklahoma

Texas Ranger Bill Henslee is at the Oklahoma Crime Bureau in Oklahoma City today checking leads and clues obtained from the safe burglary at a grocery store in McLean Monday.

Henslee also told the Daily News in a telephone interview today that he was checking on a number of suspects while he is in Oklahoma. However, he pointed out, no arrests have been made.

Henslee left Pampa yesterday afternoon for Elk City, Okla., where he talked with law enforcement authorities about the McLean safe job. He then went to Oklahoma City, and may remain there through tomorrow to complete his investigation.

"I haven't had a chance to compile my notes yet," Henslee told the Daily News. "And they're awfully busy here, so it may be tomorrow before I have anything definite."

The safe cracking at Puckett's Food Store in McLean is one of many along the Texas-Oklahoma boundary Henslee is investigating. Someone broke into the grocery store between 1:30 and 3:50 a.m. Monday and peeled the safe. They made off with approximately $2,400 in cash and some $1,500 in checks.

The store had been checked by a night watchman at 1:30 a.m. He returned at 3:50 a.m. to find the front door ajar and the safe burglarized.

Henslee, Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan, Deputy Buck Haggard and Constable J. D. Fish tracked safe crackers a short distance, but lost the trail on a paved street.

Police Hold Indianan For Questioning

Police are attempting to ascertain today whether a 21-year-old Indiana man, arrested yesterday, is an escapee from an Indiana state hospital.

Police Chief Jim Conner said he sent a message to Indiana authorities in an attempt to determine whether Richard Lee Coffey, who gives his hometown as Lincoln City, Ind., is wanted in that state.

Coffey was arrested between 5:30 and 6 p.m. yesterday, at the intersection of Wilks and N. Hobart by Lt. A. B. Turner and Patrolman Truman Guthrie.

Coffey was attempting to obtain a ride from passing motorists when the two officers stopped for a routine check.

Turner said Coffey "first pretended to be an amnesia victim," but then "decided to talk."

Turner said he told them he had been in the Evansville State Hospital for more than three years. But he had gone home on a 30-day leave of absence, and was granted an additional 30-day leave. Both leaves of absence have expired, Coffey said.

"When we first talked to him, he couldn't remember anything," Turner said. "But then he said he remembered being in Dodge City Sunday, but didn't know how he had gotten there. He also said he didn't think he'd ever been in Dodge City before."

The two officers then took Coffey into custody, and he is being held in city jail for investigation until Indiana authorities can be contacted.

Congressional Talks To Resume

Lucian Young and Joe Donaldson will be featured speakers at the Congressional Action Breakfast at 7 a.m. tomorrow in the Coronado Inn. This is the first in the new series of breakfasts sponsored by the Legislative and National Affairs Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce. The breakfasts were discontinued when Congress adjourned for the national conventions.

Young will discuss the wage and hour bills now before Congress, and Donaldson will talk about the bills concerning social security. A brief resume of other issues confronting Congress will also be presented.

Reservations may be made until 5 p.m. today at the chamber of commerce. The public is invited.

POWERS

the young American if he had been tortured.

"No," Powers replied. "I was treated very nicely."

Powers appeared to be in good health and not have lost weight. He had a fresh haircut and wore a dark blue suit. At one point during his questioning, he complained that the lights were giving him a headache and they were lowered.

His pretty wife, Barbara, 25, of Milledgeville, Ga., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Powers of Pound, Va., sat in a box in the rear of the huge courtroom in the Hall of Unions, formerly a music chamber for the czars. There were 2,000 seats in the room.

When he first stepped into the prisoner's box, Powers peered through the lights toward where his wife and parents were seated and gazed steadily in their direction. His wife lowered her head into her hands in grief.

The guilty plea was entered less than two hours after the trial began. It was expected, since the Soviet had announced previously Powers would plead guilty. He faces a possible death sentence or imprisonment for seven to fifteen years if convicted.

After the 4,000 word indictment accusing the United States and Powers of espionage had been read, the presiding judge, Viktor Borisoglebsky, head of the three-man military court, spoke.

"Is the charge preferred against you clear to you? Accused Powers, do you plead guilty?" he said.

"Yes, I plead guilty," the pilot replied.

In his questioning, Rudenko pressed him on the point and Powers insisted he was acting under orders.

"Do you deny that you violated Soviet air space?" Rudenko said.

"No I do not deny it. I had instructions to do this and I did it."

Rudenko asked Powers if he knew beforehand it was a "spy flight."

"I don't think I doubted it," Powers replied.

The pilot testified he had gone up to 68,000 feet as his fuel load lightened and it was at this altitude that he was "hit." He said his aircraft was functioning normally except he was having some difficulty with his automatic pilot.

The pilot said he turned on the "equipment" at designated points as instructed by a Col. Shelton who accompanied him on the first leg of the U-2 flight from Adana, Turkey, to Peshawar in Pakistan where he took off into Russia.

"You could have switched a switch to release an atomic bomb," said Rudenko.

"It could be done, but this is not that type of airplane," Powers replied. "It had no means of having or carrying a bomb."

Powers testified he carried 7,500 rubles and gold coins from different countries to use for "bribery...if captured." He said the Colonel Shelton gave him the poisoned needle "but it was left up to me whether to use it or not."

He said he had instructions to blow up the plane, but he did not know exactly how this worked.

The first session was recessed for lunch after four hours. Waiting in the front row to testify

Scout Swim Meet Slated

The Boy Scouts will hold a swimming meet from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday at the White Deer swimming pool. All troops in the Santa Fe district are eligible to participate.

Events in the first section of the meet will be free style, breast stroke, side stroke and back stroke. Each troop will be allowed one representative in each of these contests.

The next section will include the same events, but it will be the form of a medley relay. Each troop may enter a team of four.

There will also be competition in under water swimming and diving. A penny scramble will be held for non-swimmers, and an ice scramble for the swimmers will end the activities.

Camping Trip Set By Scouts

Members of Boy Scout Troop 108, sponsored by Pampa Moose Lodge, will leave Friday on a two-day camping trip to Camp Kiowa near Lake Marvin.

They will be accompanied by Scoutmaster W. J. Green, assistant scoutmasters Gary Kellison, Dale Brown, and Chairman Bobby Helms.

Those who will make the trip are: Sam Bryan, Douglas Hilburn, Ennis Penland, Pat Strickland, A. L. Brummitt, David Drake, Ernest Fraizer, Phil Grant, Wayne Melton, Thomas Shipman, Mike Stidwell, Clifton Westbrook, Wayne Niles and David Hulsey.

Education Director Speaks At Kiwanis

Steven McGrady, special education director with the Pampa school district, was guest speaker at a recent Top O' Texas Kiwanis Club meeting.

He stressed the importance and necessity for special education classes. He also stated that by the beginning of the new term there may be enough students to form a junior high class.

Plans were also completed for the go-cart races that the club is sponsoring Sept. 11 at the Pampa Go-cart Track. Children of all ages are eligible, with their parents signature, to participate.

Guests of the evening included Ott Shewmaker, the Rev. J. Channel, M. K. Brown and Jeff Bearden.

Oklahoma Sheriff Recovers Vehicle

The sheriff's office at Seiling, Okla., this morning recovered a government-owned pickup stolen here Monday.

The pickup, a 1954 Ford owned by the U.S. soil conservation service, presumably was taken Monday night. Pampa police received notification of the theft yesterday morning.

Police Chief Jim Conner said the vehicle had been abandoned. Oklahoma authorities didn't mention whether it had been damaged or was in operating condition.

were witnesses including four young men in rural garb, apparently the farmers who captured Powers when he parachuted. There were also five military witnesses and two scientists.

Russian spies in this country and elsewhere.

In other highlights of his news conference the President:

Said he knows of no mistakes made by this country that contributed to the current pro-Russian and anti-American political picture in Cuba. He said he has no reason to apologize for anything we have done in Cuba.

Challenged the Democratic Congress again to enact the broad legislative program he submitted to the pre-election session. He said he has no intention of paring his long list of legislative requests down to a few must bills. He recalled that Congress in one two-week period last year passed 436 bills and he sees no reason why they shouldn't act now on some of his.

Declared that no matter what Congress does in its bob-tailed session, he has no intention to call the lawmakers back for a further try at his program. He would call a special session, he said, only in event of some great, new national emergency.

Pointedly said that despite the campaigns and the November elections, he will be President until Jan. 20 and will bear the responsibility for America's decisions in that period. In the meantime, he said, he won't be actively campaigning too much, although he now has one avowed political speech on his schedule and will make more.

Warned Republicans against any possible complacency they might feel as the result of a new national poll which showed Nixon pulling ahead of his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, by 50 to 44 per cent.

School Traffic Guards Needed

Two school traffic guards are still needed to work during the coming school year. Police Chief Jim Conner said today.

Positions open are at the Horace Mann and Travis schools.

"We would prefer someone in that area," Conner said, "but we would hire someone else who has reliable transportation."

There is no maximum age limit for the job, although it is required that the applicant be in good health.

Anyone desiring the jobs should apply at the police department, Conner said.

Pampan To Get Master's Degree

John Crockett Alexander of Pampa, is one of 215 graduate students who have applied for master's degrees at North Texas State College this summer.

Commencement exercises are scheduled for 8 p.m. Aug. 23 in Fouts Field.

Alexander, son of Mrs. Hallie Alexander, 1420 East Francis St., is a candidate for the master degree in secondary education.

Dear Abby...

's Not All Gold

.... That Glitters

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We know a lady who was married to a man for 36 years. She divorced him and married another man. She stayed married to Husband Number Two for 10 years, and then divorced him and turned around and married Husband Number One again. Now she is going around telling everybody that next year they will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. I say in order to be eligible for a golden wedding anniversary you must have spent the whole 50 years with the same husband. Am I wrong or are we just talking about small-town people with big mouths?

DOCTOR DOESN'T WANT ME TO TALK ABOUT IT AS IT IS BAD FOR MY NERVES! Would I be out of order to demand these facts before proposing marriage?

SUITOR: Tell her your doctor doesn't want you buying a cat in the bag as it could be bad for YOUR nerves. Demand the facts.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SHORT ON LONG ISLAND": If what you say is true, it would appear that your husband has more than a financial obligation to his secretary. No mere employee can be this fireproof.

DEAR FRIENDS: Only couples who have been married TO EACH OTHER for 50 consecutive years are eligible to celebrate a golden wedding anniversary. If she wants to call it her "golden" anniversary, she can't stop her, but it's not so gold. It's more like reclaimed iron.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's manners are fine except for two things. When we are walking down the street he walks me on the outside and he walks near the building and I walk near the street. So, when we go to a restaurant, he slides in first and I have to sit the outside. Should I come right in and tell him that this bothers me, or should I be happy these are his only faults and keep my mouth shut?

DEAR SONIA: Let him know in a tactful and pleasant way that if weren't for these minor "oversights", he would be a perfect husband. Tell him only once. If it doesn't register—skip it.

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a woman who is only 33 and has had three husbands. I have never been married. I want to marry her but every time I ask her to tell me the circumstances of her three marriage failures she says, "MY

by MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

It had been a long, hot day. Mrs. C was preparing to wash the supper lettuce when Buddy came running in from the yard. Not too gentle she shoved him away from the kitchen sink with an impatient "wait!" His older sister cried out: "Don't, Mama! He wants a drink. He was trying to get a drink!"

Flushing, Mrs. C dropped the lettuce and walking over to Buddy's champion, slapped her across the face.

"Don't tell me what to do!" she said furiously. "Now get out of here and mind your own business. The idea of telling me what to do..."

For Mrs. C is a lady of quick temper. It is a weakness which rich her relatives and husband are well acquainted. Indeed Mrs. herself is aware that she's more prone to indulge in sudden flashes of anger than other people.

Yet nobody—neither she, her relatives nor her husband—have posed this fact to her children. On the contrary, everyone takes care to conceal it from them.

So when her quick temper explodes at the children, it appears to them not as a weakness but as a justifiable dissatisfaction with them. Today, for example, it has been her slapped daughter with the precision that her punishment is the consequence of fault within her instead of weakness within her mother.

Parents who feel obliged to conceal the fact that they suffer from human failings inevitably create problems for children.

Just as a motorist will get lost if he trusts an untruthful road map, so children can get very confused if we deny them the truth about our weaknesses.

The motorist must have an accurate judgment on the route he wants to take and children need the truth about us to make accurate judgments of themselves.

Our impatience and overprotectiveness, they cannot take these weaknesses into account in judging their own behavior. They can only conclude that we are remarkably virtuous people and they are very good ones.

As many of us have done, they grow up with false self-accusing views of their own characters. It may take many years before they discover that these views are the result of parents' concealment of weakness.

Junior's Nemesis New Professional Hair Tool

Before the advent of the beauty shop and the marcelle iron—before the pin curl and the permanent wave—even from the time of Godey's Lady's Book in the 1800's, every young lady was admonished by Grandma or Mamma to "brush your hair 100 times". This ritual was recognized as the one prerequisite for beautiful, long and shining tresses. . . and, it was back in the era of the Gibson Girl that women in America really came to realize that their hair was their "crowning glory."

The techniques of hair care have come a long way since those days. Whether they frequent the chic beauty salons or use the fine products developed by manufacturers for home use, American women are keenly interested in new devices and methods for beautifying the hair and spend millions of dollars annually for this purpose.

With all the changes in hair care, there's one beauty tool Grandma knew was essential to hair beauty that still maintains its honored place—on every dressing table. The hair brush!

But what a change has taken place in its use. Where once it was considered an implement to simply "brush the hair," it has become the professional hairdresser's most important single tool in creating the beautiful coils of today. Nearly all hairdressers use the hair brush like an artist uses a paint brush to create a beautiful picture. And women generally are learning the art of dressing the hair with a brush instead of a comb. This modern beauty tool is a far cry from the brush which used to be the nemesis of little Junior. Where it once was flat and long handled, it is now curved to fit the shape of the head with a shorter handle scientifically designed for maximum brushing. The modern hair brush not only gives the hair the very important brushing that it needs, but also dresses it in the flattering styles of the moment.

Thus, a new hair brush now being introduced by a leading manufacturer is exciting news to women everywhere.

This double-duty hair brush is made with alternating rows of natural boar bristles and synthetic bristles. Natural boar bristles have been used for many years. They improve the hair's health and condition because they hold moisture and condition because they hold moisture and spread natural oils so necessary for hair luster. The synthetic bristles stimulate the scalp, comb the hair, and support the natural bristles, as the latter are softer and tend to "slide" over the hair when used exclusively in a brush. Besides combining the two—synthetic and natural bristles to obtain maximum benefits—this manufacturer has perfected a new method of rounding the ends of the nylon bristles thus protecting your hair from the danger of tearing or shredding.

This small, modern, professional-type hair brush is designed with a "roll wave" shape making it easy to follow the proper procedure for brushing. Here is the proper method for brushing, as described by the professional hairdressers and authorities on hair care: Begin by brushing hair tightly back from the face. Brush upward, away from the face as this starts the flow of blood. (Especially important to the girl with a complexion problem.) Then brush at the base of the neck, always up and away from the face as this starts forward, bending from the waist. Brush briskly from the nape of the neck to the very ends of the hair. Give a slight twist of the very ends of the hair. Give a slight twist of the wrist as you brush. The "roll wave" shape helps you here to obtain a rolling, vibrating motion that clutches the hair and gently tugs the scalp to arouse and stimulate circulation. The upward, outward movement raises the hair enabling bristles to massage and cleanse the scalp. It is important to bring the brush all the way out to the very tips of the hair. Do this a minimum of 100 strokes if possible. . . even more if you have the time. Results of a daily hair brushing will be as regarding your complexion as to your hair and scalp; as both are benefited by this daily stimulation.

The double-duty, professional-type brush in white nylon with matching comb retails at a sensible $4.95 with other sets in marbled beige, blue and white, at $3.95. National distribution of the double-duty brush will commence August 1.

Polly's Quiz

By POLLY CRAMER

Dear Polly: Help, please! This is my second SOS. The first one was ignored. This is what I now have, so tell me, please, what I should add. My living room walls are a sandy beige, the sofa is in orange, green, brown and gray floral on beige and one chair is orange. What colors for carpet and draperies?

The kitchen-dining area has natural pine walls and cabinets, a three-tone brown floor, aqua counter tops and brown range top and oven. What for curtains? I'm considering lowered panels over the lower half and curtains at the top.—Mrs. W. R. H.

Dear Mrs. W. R. H.: Please forgive me for not answering your first letter. I didn't ignore it intentionally. Only letters of the most general interest can be answered in this column.

A brown carpet should look well with your present living room furniture. Draperies could be done in narrow beige, brown and deep green stripes.

I'd like to see yellow and aqua plaid curtains in the kitchen. Have lots of yellow and cooper in the accessories. If you use shutter panels over the lower halves of the

Dear Polly: Do suggest some plain and restful shades for my living room and dining room walls. Furnishings are all mahogany reproductions and antiques. Sofa is beige with pink and blue floral design. Drapes and rugs are solid beige. One chair is dull blue brocade and the other beige.

I don't want pink walls because that's all you see around here. I'd like to give more color and beauty to my furnishings.—Mrs. E. G. B.

Dear Mrs. E. G. B.: You do have a problem. The present color scheme sounds dull. But the walls could be a pretty Wedgewood blue. The beige curtains will perk up when you've added a narrow brush fringe in blue, pink and green.

White napkins inscribed in pink "Paula and Don" completed the table appointments.

Mrs. Ruthford and Mrs. McMullen presided at the punch service.

Approximately 100 guests attended or sent gifts.

U.S. Still In 'Underseas Infancy' Despite Success Of Polaris Shots

NEW YORK (NEA) — In the wake of the successful launching of Polaris missiles from a submerged U.S. submarine come stern warnings from ocean study experts.

No one else apparently has solved this submerged-firing problem yet. But it is just a matter of time until a potential enemy has it.

Meanwhile our lack of knowledge about the sea leaves us prey to this kind of attack.

We are still largely in the dark in overall anti-submarine warfare—especially in detection and hunting of undersea craft.

Lack of understanding of the ocean masses beyond our shores is still forcing us to spend too much money on too many submarines.

We are restricted to large, nuclear-powered craft which cost upward of 100 million dollars.

And, should we survive to live in peace, plenty and overpopulation, we are still unable to tap readily the vast material and food resources of the ocean and its floor.

Use of the sea itself as a fuel for undersea vessels is under serious, costly examination in several government-endowed laboratories.

And certain sea animals and fish are being watched very closely for their ability to swim many miles at high speeds while gaining weight.

"Consider the dolphin," Weiss said. "An interesting animal which may have the answer to everything—speed, form and know-how for human survival."

Meanwhile, if we are going to move our striking power more and more to the ocean depths, we are going to need smaller submarines capable of faster speeds. A one or two-man boat, for example, that can make 50 knots over 3,000 miles is not impossible, the experts say.

"We're certainly going to need this flexibility if we're interested in prospecting the ocean floor for the vital minerals we know are there," according to ocean engineer, Leo Weiss. "If we have peace and plenty, we'll need the food supply that lives in the water."

"It is no longer science fiction to plan for actual farming of the sea or the ocean floor. But at this moment, our total exploration of all the possibilities is like a swimmer who has just put his foot tentatively into the surf."

Despite most big military spending aimed skyward, considerable ocean work is being done.

Broadside experimentation in undersea detection continues—from places like Trident laboratories to the Seventh Fleet's Hunter-Killer Group in the South China Sea.

Potential food supplies are under continual evaluation and survey. Experts know, for example, what essential foods could be strained out of the oceans in emergency.

FBI Charges Woman Tried To Kill Spouse

SHERMAN, Tex. (UPI) — The FBI filed charges of conspiracy to commit murder Tuesday against Mrs. Ernest W. Baxter, 36, and two Negroes she is accused of hiring to plant a bomb in her husband's car.

Baxter is a staff sergeant at Perrin Air Force Base near Sherman. The FBI stepped into the case because the bomb was planted in his car on the air base.

The bomb was planted last May 27, but it failed to go off. Baxter heard something dragging on the ground, and stopped his car. He found 10 sticks of dynamite bundled together with four electronic blasting caps.

Mrs. Baxter was a former civil service employee at the base. The two Negroes, Lee Francis Pevey, 33, Sherman, and Dean McDonald, 37, Colbert, Okla., worked in the base tire shop.

McDonald and Pevey are being held in jail at Sherman awaiting trial. Mrs. Baxter is currently undergoing psychiatric examinations at Lackland AFB in San Antonio. The U.S. Marshal's office in San Antonio is holding a warrant for her arrest until she is discharged from the base hospital.

Congo Troops Roam Streets, Check Passes

By GEORGE SIBERA
United Press International
LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Armed Congolese police swept through United Nations headquarters, hotels and private homes Tuesday, checking credentials and arresting Europeans whose papers were not in order.

On orders from Premier Patrice Lumumba, the police began "looking for Belgian spies" before dawn this morning.

Later, they crashed unceremoniously into U.N. headquarters and arrested several U. N. employees who had forgotten to bring their required pink passes with them.

A whole section of the European quarter of the city was cordoned off by the police, who parked their trucks to block key points in the streets.

The police entered hotel rooms and demanded that everyone produce his credentials. Other police stopped Europeans in the streets. Dozens of persons were taken, protesting, to police headquarters for further interrogation.

Persons wearing U. N. armbands were questioned closely. Those who could not produce a card signed by U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold were arrested, even though some merely had forgotten to transfer the card when changing suits.

The police even stopped jeeps carrying U. N. troops and demanded their identity cards. The police told the troops that "hundreds of Belgian paratroopers are hiding under the identity of the U.N."

The sweeping police action was the latest in a growing series of angry incidents between the Congolese government and the U.N. forces.

The situation reached a climax when a diplomatic blowup between Hammarskjold and Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba raised the possibility that Lumumba might renew his threat to seek military help from the Soviet Union or from Afro-Asian nations.

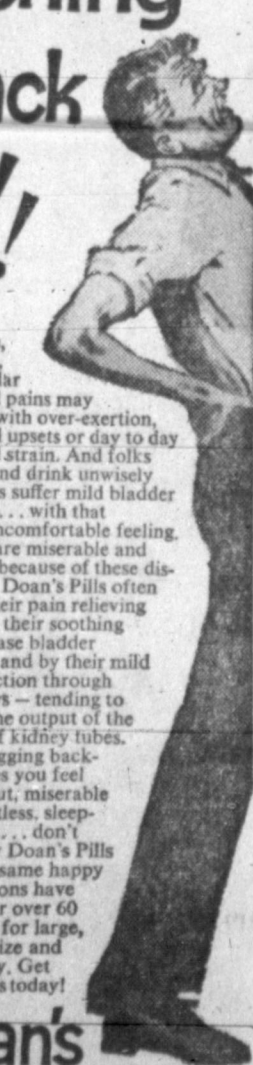

"A U.N. girl secretary attached to the press briefing center was arrested. After protests, a U.N. security officer was allowed to accompany her to police headquarters, where she finally was released after interrogation.

The police sweep lasted more than two hours, while hundreds of Africans on their way to work stopped to laugh and jeer at Europeans being hustled into trucks and sped off to police headquarters.

It was impossible to estimate how many persons had been detained. Dozens were arrested but later were released when vouched for at police headquarters by U.N. officials.

'Grog Shop Poll' Of TV Viewing Finds Watchers Are In Minority

By DOC QUIGG
United Press International
BLACK ROSE BAR (Hot Sandwiches), Third Ave., N.Y. (UPI) — Funny thing happened to me on the way to work Tuesday night. I stopped in here and there were two television sets blaring, one at each end of the place, and well... before I knew it, it was morning. But you know, most of us didn't pay much attention to TV. We just sat and talked among ourselves. I counted many were three or four people, on an average, watching each set during most of the programs.

This poll is not overly comprehensive. It reflects the attitude of one bar part of one night. Maybe it was the kind of night it was — a sort of tale of the tape, re-runs from last winter, all over. Cole Porter wrote its theme (in the song about getting someone under his skin) with the line about the voice "that repeats and repeats in my ear."

As we sat there, a captive audience awash in sound, yet un-listening, I recalled a speech this week at a Syracuse University broadcasting seminar by Louis Hausman, director of the television information office of the National Association of Broadcasters.

He discussed, in part, the implication of forcing the public to view "what is good for them." As an example he took the recent political conventions: "Many people, as all of you know, didn't like being forced to this choice." The same point could be made about the upcoming presidential candidate debate, to be carried on all TV and radio networks simultaneously. These people say it is undemocratic limiting of choice to deny audiences access to other programs.

The other point of view is that "what is happening is so important to the workings of a democracy that — whether it likes it or not — the audience should have no choice... they say that a society has a right, even a duty, to force its members to do things for their own good.

"This group argues that just as we have minimum educational requirements — children being forced to go to school until a certain age — why isn't this type of imposition completely justifiable?"

The latter course, he said, poses many questions, including just how far this thing should be pushed; where do you draw the line; who draws it?

And sitting there, thinking of what's good for us, and of repeats, I also began thinking of that 10-story balloon we've got in the sky that repeats and repeats its orbital round. Echo I, the news dispatches said, is "the forerunner of a new model of communication by which messages and eventually TV broadcasts will be relayed across oceans by way of satellites."

Indeed, scientists envision the time when communications satellites will fly so thick and fast that they will be to the earth like string wound many-layered around a ball. When that day comes, the war of words and ideas will debouch onto a new battlefield.

The international debates, the electronically contrived summery, will make the approaching presidential debate seem like a Sunday school session. Who then will speak for the rectitude of man? What subliminal advertising of evil men will ride the sky?

What rigging of international shows will go on? And who will tell whom what he has no choice but to view?

Perhaps, in that far time, there will still be one freedom of choice — to switch off the TV set and get out the parchesi set, or run a repeat reading of the final book of the Bible.

Ike-Nikita Camp David Parley Differed From Most — They Worked; Formosans Give Lavish Dinners

TAIPEI (UPI) — Do the little summit conferences between two chiefs of state produce results? The Nationalist Chinese on Formosa might well say no.

What happens when rulers meet? Do they actually roll up their sleeves and grapple with the great problems of the globe? Or do they merely sip tea, reminisce and exchange notes on the weather and scenery?

The answer depends to a large extent on the relationship between the two nations.

When President Eisenhower met Premier Khrushchev in Camp David, they wasted little time on the weather and grappled with such flinty problems as Berlin.

But meetings between two such powerful leaders are the exception in this new era of personal diplomacy. Buried in the newspapers are reports of an endless but expensive round of talks between friendly leaders. For what?

Governments call them "good-will" visits because their primary purpose is not to solve problems but to express mutual admiration and a sort of undying admiration society at a little summit.

Few, if any, definitive problems usually are discussed. That is the business for the professional diplomats.

Formosa has spent millions of dollars entertaining state guests but with few concrete results.

The Nationalist Chinese government laid out lavish state banquets and costly tours for King Hussein of Jordan and the Shah of Iran. But Formosa has practically no trade or other relations with those Middle Eastern States.

Newsmen asked one state visitor from the Middle East how the Chinese residents were getting along in his country.

"Very fine," the ruler replied. "We have one Chinese. He runs a restaurant and I understand he's doing a very good business."

President Chiang Kai-shek spent hours in private talks with President Syngman Rhee of South Korea and Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes only to read later of their downfall in popular uprisings.

Like many states, Formosa put its invitations to friendly leaders in high gear this year, entertaining within six months President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam, President Carlos P. Garcia of the Philippines and President Dwight D. Eisenhower of the United States.

The first two nations are tightening the screws on local Chinese residents. And to the Nationalists, a Chinese is a Chinese until he dies no matter where he lives or what his citizenship papers say.

Posthumous Murder Trial To Be Sought

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Charles Mays, a Fort Worth attorney, hopes to put a dead woman on trial for murder.

Mrs. Ethel Mae (Kitty) Simpson was killed last week when her car crashed into a tree in East Texas. Two years ago, she was tried for the murder of her husband, and was found innocent.

But Mays said he wants to put her on trial posthumously in civil court to show that she did kill her husband at Angleton, Tex., on July 2, 1958, and was a murderer she has no right to his insurance money.

He said a prior decision in criminal court should have no bearing on a civil court case.

Mays said he represents Simpson's former wife, Mrs. James E. Trainer of Fort Worth.

James W. Simpson was shot to death at a Gulf Coast fishing camp. Mrs. Simpson said after the shooting that a Negro raped her and then killed her husband. But she later admitted she shot him.

The insurance money she collected after her trial in Houston was signed over to attorneys for defending her.

The policies totaled $13,000, and Mrs. Trainer hopes to collect that amount from the woman's estate, contending it should go to her nine-year-old daughter.

A hearing has been set in November.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Who buys on time? Nearly half the families in the United States.

What do they buy on installment plans? Automobiles, furniture, household appliances and other goods and services.

Consumer installment credit also makes loans available for repair and modernization of homes, and includes personal loans for family and individual needs. It does not include single-payment loans or charge accounts.

Although installment credit dates back several thousand years, modern consumer bank installment credit is only celebrating its 50th anniversary this year.

Various forms of deferred payments appeared in the United States during the 1800s—in the selling of furniture, sewing machines, pianos and books.

The idea of banks lending money to individuals on the basis of character and income, to be repaid in monthly installments, did not exist until the early 1900s.

In 1910, Arthur J. Morris opened his first bank, Fidelity Savings and Trust Co., to provide character-and-income loans to be repaid in regular installments at a reasonable rate of interest.

Today most of the country's banks, as well as other financial institutions and retail establishments, provide consumer installment credit. Many of the largest companies, as well as small businesses, depend, to a large extent, upon installment credit in the selling of their products and services.

Consumer installment credit to $39,482,000,000 at the start of 1960. The average amount of installment credit outstanding in 1959 was $195 per capita.

Banks provide the largest share of installment credit—currently about $15 billion. Sales finance companies, retail outlets, consumer finance firms and credit unions follow in that order.

The auto industry depends heavily upon installment credit. It is estimated the 29 million of the 43.4 million individually-owned passenger cars in the United States were bought on credit.

This year along some 10 million new and used cars are expected to be purchased on credit—4.4 million new cars and 5.6 million used autos.

Automobile loans represent the largest single type of installment credit, followed by personal loans, other consumer goods and home repair and modernization.

Families in the middle-income group are the main users of installment credit—particularly those in the $8,000 to $7,000 income bracket.

1,698 Countians Receive Benefits

Gray County residents were receiving monthly payments totaling $1,237,992 from Social Security benefits at the end of 1959, the Amarillo Social Security office announced.

This covers 1,698 persons under old age, survivors and disability insurance, Hal Gelson, manager, said.

This federal coverage, which is in its 25th year, benefits some 17,000 persons in the entire Panhandle, with the pay out totaling some $11,880,000 yearly, the report noted.

Nationally, Gelson said, some $10 billion dollars are paid to nearly 14 million persons.

ASKS MEMORIAL FUNDS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, has called for Senate action on his bill proposing $200,000 for construction of a USS Arizona memorial at Pearl Harbor.

Fong, in a letter to the Senate Armed Services Committee Monday, said Hawaii had appropriated $50,000 for the memorial, and approximately $250,000 was raised through private subscriptions. He said another $200,000 was needed to prevent the battleship from "visibly eroding from the ravages of time and water."

The Arizona was sunk during the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941.

Wrestlers—A Strange Breed

In some respects, Sonny Myers is similar to other 31-year-old men. He owns a home in St. Jo, Mo., a car, and has a wife and two kids. He also runs an amusement park there.

But here the similarity ends. Sonny Myers also is a professional wrestler, and earns the better part of his income that way.

To some people (including this writer) it would be a shock to talk to Myers.

He wears the latest design in sport shirts and slacks, and speaks with the grammatical accuracy of an English professor.

"I spend about eight months each year wrestling," Sonny said. "I've got two boys at home (aged two and six) and I try to go back every two or three weeks to the most to see them."

On an average, Myers will wrestle four times a week.

"That's the best way to stay in condition," he said. "If you don't wrestle often, you have to go to the gym to workout. And I think it's much easier to stay in condition by fighting in the ring than through workouts."

For some reason, Myers informed, professional wrestlers won't practice together.

"Wrestlers won't go to the gym with each other," Myers said. "Jack O'Reilly is one of the finest wrestlers I've ever seen. And I admire Bob Geigel and Dory Funk. I'd like to study their techniques."

"But, I guess if any wrestler asked me to go to the gym with him and practice, I'd tell him no. I really don't know why either."

Case Of An Over-Zealous Fan

Myers, who began pro wrestling 10 years ago, first gained national recognition at Angelton in 1952. That's when a fan stabbed him as he left the ring.

Sonny recalls the incident vividly. "I was walking from the ring to the dressing room when these two men jumped me," he said.

"One of them hit me over the head with a chair and the other one stabbed me. I was cut 17 inches across the stomach, and doctors had to take 258 stitches to close the wound."

"The man who did it got eight years in Huntsville, too."

Naturally, one of the first questions a person will ask a wrestler is: "How much of the match is fake and how much is for real?"

"It's all real," Myers replied without hesitation. "If a fan would just let a professional wrestler apply one of his holds to them, he'd find out."

"We've learned the leverage points of the body — where you can apply pressure and do the most damage. Regardless of the size of your opponent, you can hurt him with some holds."

Myers' favorite hold is a sleeper. He can take a certain point of a person's neck, apply pressure and put him to sleep.

"A normal person will stay asleep three or four minutes," Myers said. "But it's a dangerous hold to use. If there's anything wrong with a person's heart, it could kill him in an instant. I wouldn't think of going up to someone on the street and applying it to him. But you know a wrestler is going to be in top physical condition."

Then Sonny switched back to the subject of wrestling being for real. "We're in this for the livelihood," he said. "It's comparable to professional baseball or football."

"If you win, you get top billings and more money. If not, you won't. In baseball, if you're a winner you get to the top; if not, you don't."

Japanese Are Sports Crazy

Myers just recently returned from a tour of Japan, in which he wrestled in many of the leading cities and travelled some 45,000 miles.

The occasion was the World League International Tournament, a 13-week event which was sponsored by the Japanese government. Wrestlers from 21 countries appeared in it.

In Japan, Myers learned many of the chopping strokes the Oriental wrestlers favor and now uses them.

"These wrestlers have tough hands," Myers said. "They'll often break them to the extent that their hands are nothing but solid masses of calcium. And the flat part of them are just big calluses."

"I saw one wrestler who was an Imperial Marine during World War II stack five bricks on top of each other and pulverize them with one blow of his hand."

During his 13-week stay in the Orient, Myers learned a lot about the customs of the Japanese.

"It was fantastic," he said. "They are the most sports-minded people in the world."

"Baseball is their favorite sport. Kids start playing catch and training when they're only three or four years old. And every time they have a rest period at school or work, you can find them playing baseball."

"Sometimes I'd have to get up at three or four o'clock in the morning to catch a train and what do you think I'd see? Kids, out in the streets playing baseball."

"Baseball is their No. 1 sport, and wrestling is No. 2."

"The crowds they have for matches is fantastic," Myers said. "One night we drew 75,000 and four people were trampled to death in the mob."

Booster Club Has 1st Meet

Women To Attend Monthly Sessions

A revolutionary idea was adopted at the first meeting of the Harvester Quarterback Club last night.

For the first time, women will become members of the club, and will be invited to attend meetings once a month.

The idea behind the move, according to president Sharon Haralson, is to help build more interest in the club this fall. And, too, several members said they had heard numerous women comment they would like to learn more about football.

About 20 people were on hand for the first meeting at the high school cafeteria.

They also decided to honor the Harvesters with a watermelon feast at Central Park, starting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Players and their fathers will be introduced at the gathering.

Charlie Robinson and Clay Crossland were put in charge of getting the water melons and arranging the feast.

It also was decided that the first district game — with Tascosa here Sept. 30 — would be designated as father's night, and the fathers of the players would sit on the field.

Moyer Cinches Try At Welter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handsome young Denny Moyer of Portland, Ore., gets a shot at the welterweight crown next year, if he can still make the weight, because of his upset non-title victory over champion Benny (Kid) Paret at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night.

Harry Markson, Garden managing director, said today, "Moyer can meet the winner of the Paret-Federico Thompson title fight, scheduled for the Garden Oct. 15, if he wants to."

It would be 21-year-old Moyer's second shot at the 147-pound crown. He tried to win it from Don Jordan on July 10, 1959, but lost the decision.

Tuesday night bronze-haired Denny won a split verdict over champion Paret of Cuba before an estimated 4,000 in the non-televized 10-rounder. Moyer was aided by a seventh-round foul. Paret was penalized that session, his best, for two low blows.

Paret's title was not at stake because each scaled over the welterweight limit: Moyer, 152½ pounds; Paret, 151.

Before the fight, Moyer said it would be his last appearance as a welterweight because he no longer could pare down to 147 pounds. But after his unexpected victory, he and Manager Sid Flaherty agreed he would try to make the limit if he could get a title shot.

Paret, favored at 3½ to 1, said: "The round taken from me cost me the fight. But Moyer is very good and very hard to fight because he ties you up at close quarters. I'll be glad to give him a title shot after I beat Thompson."

Little League Lefors Champs Honored By Fete

LEFORS (Sp)—With only four losses in the entire season of summer baseball, the Yankee team, coached by Chester Dunn, wound up their season with a picnic in the park Monday night.

Members of the winning team were David Dunn, Johnny Dunn, Danny Rosson, Danny Robbins, Darrell Trusty, Ronny Ellis, Billy McBee, James Todd, Phillip Allison, Michael Allison, Glen Hix, Dennis Dunn and Denny Rosson.

In second place in the league was another Yankee team coached by Leonard Cain. This team also plans a picnic soon. On the Yankee team were Jimmy Degray, Larry Pruitt, Colonel Miller, Danny Hill, Keith Jernigan, Danny Martin, Dickie Sims, Ricky Cates, Harold Wilson, Bill Beck and Butch Jernigan.

In third place was the Indians coached by James Shew, and in fourth place were the Athletics coached by Leslie Smith.

Edward Lehnick, head football coach, and director of the summer recreation program, reports also that twenty students completed the swimming classes offered for both beginner and advanced swimmers.

Stout, Stokes Seek Starting Berths In Panhandle Classic

AMARILLO — Benny Stout, the Harvesters' all-state tackle who has already turned in two sparkling all-star performances this summer, is seeking a starting berth and further recognition in the Panhandle Grid Classic here Saturday.

Stout is making a strong bid for a starting post on the City Slickers, a team made up of area stars from Conference AAAA and AAA schoolboy stars.

Pampa guard Harold Stokes, who will be playing in his first all-star contest of the summer also is scheduled to see a lot of duty Saturday night, and could nail down a starting berth.

The Sodbusters suffered a setback during yesterday's workouts at the Price College field when a siege of injuries and mild cases of flu hit the gridmen.

Bill Gilliland, a rugged fullback and middle guard from Floydada, came down with a case of flu during yesterday's workout.

The Sodbusters also lost the services of Wellington tackle Larry White, who injured his knee. White has returned home, and won't play in Saturday night's game.

Although the Sodbusters spent most of yesterday concentrating on defense, they also got in some offensive licks with the single wing offense, which they plan to spring against the City Slickers Saturday.

Jackie Burns of Jerry Deer alternated with Canyon's Wally Richardson at the key tailback slot.

Exploratory Expansion Meeting Scheduled By American League

BOSTON (UPI) — The American League executive committee holds a "preliminary and exploratory" meeting on expansion in New York Aug. 30, it was announced here by President Joe Cronin.

"It is most unlikely that any definite expansion moves can be determined and announced at that time," Cronin said.

He might have been referring to conflict within the league's high command. Dan Topping, co-owner of the New York Yankees, is threatening to block the addition of a National League team in New York unless the American League gets into Los Angeles.

At a Chicago meeting of American and National League representatives it was understood that each league would establish two new teams, moving into four franchises of the stillborn Continental League.

The National League would set up teams in New York and Toronto, Ont., and the American League would move into Houston and Minneapolis-St. Paul. This does not meet the Topping test because New York would be invaded by the senior circuit but the American League would not get a crack at Los Angeles.

In any case, Cronin said, the Aug. 30 meeting would hear a report from its realignment committee.

Gold Sox Throttle Tulsa; Gain Ground In TL Race

By United Press International

Amarillo throttled Tulsa twice, 7-5 and 6-3, Tuesday night in the Texas League. It was the same type of treatment the Oilers gave the Gold Sox the night before.

Dick Wingle swatted a two-run homer in the bottom of the seventh in the abbreviated opener to break a deadlock and put the game on ice for Mike Warnitsky who went the route. Joe Miller also homered for the Sox and Fred Whitfield hit one for Tulsa.

In the second game, Dave Burton held the Oilers to four hits over the distance while his mates pounded out seven, lumping three runs each into the first and sixth innings.

In other games, Valley beat Victoria 6-2 and Austin stopped San Antonio 5-4 in 10 innings after the Missions evened things up in the bottom of the ninth on Dan Murphy's circuit clout. Bill Hamilton got the victory for six innings of relief work.

Ron Herbel held Victoria to six hits, including a homer by Lamar

Swim Marks Will Topple, Says Kiputh

ROME (UPI) — The grand old man of American swimming predicted today that every men's Olympic record will be broken when the Olympic swimming events get underway next week.

Bob Kiputh, longtime swimming coach at Yale and mentor of some of America's finest swim stars, said he felt practically all listed world records would also go by the board.

He made his predictions as American, Russian and Japanese swimmers plunged into another stiff day of training for the games. Only the Australians of the world's major swimming powers have not arrived in Rome.

Swimming has so far held the center of the stage at the Olympics with most of the major track and field stars not yet arrived.

Today Kiputh, here in a semi-official capacity as an observer at the swimming events, said he thought the competition would be a three way Australian-American-Japanese battle.

The Russians, he said, stand little chance except perhaps in the men's breaststroke event.

Kiputh picked Australia's John Konrads as a likely winner in the 1500 meters freestyle "provided he reaches his best form in time" and said Mike Troy of the United States appeared a good tip for the butterfly event.

Two plane loads of Americans arrived Tuesday to send the U.S. contingent in the Olympic village over the 250 mark. Only the basket ball team and the track team have still to arrive.

Fourth In A Series Of Olympic Recollections

There Is Element Of Luck In Sports -- Richards

Fourth of a series by the two-time gold medal pole vaulting parson detailing Olympic Heights and the coming Games.

By REV. BOB RICHARDS
As told to Murray Olderman

NEW YORK (NEA) — I dislike to recognize that, there is an element of luck in sports.

My theology says no, but practical observation contradicts it.

Don Bragg's pole wavers after he clears then it knocks the crossbar off, and he doesn't make the 1956 Olympic Games team. Joey Ray, of another generation, hits a hole in the track and loses out in the 1500 meters. Jamaica's Herb McKenley in Helsinki in 1952, loses the 400 by a fungle and the 100 by a nose.

In the Olympic Games, upsets are the rule. The world record holder is suspect because he has beaten so often. Go back to the Games in Melbourne in '56. There were a dozen and a half men there who held the existing world mark in their track and field specialties. Only five won their events.

Fortune Gordien was on the books with a discus toss of 194 feet, 6 inches, but his teammate, Al Oerter, on the first throw hit 184 feet 10½ inches. Gordien was all tied up in knots knowing he had to beat it. Olympic pressure is colossal when you consider that you're in front of 100,000 people going whooshhh and whashhh with your every movement.

Just the week before the Games, Jack Davis of Southern California ran the 110-meter hurdles in 13.3, but at the big moment Lee Calhoun beat him out of the blocks and held on to win in a virtual blanket finish. They were both timed in 13.5.

The best miler in the world at the time was Australia's John Landy, but he had tendon trouble.

Ron Delany of Ireland wasn't supposed to have a chance but whipped past a superb field. The best decathlon performer in the world was Rafer Johnson, but he had knee trouble, Milt Campbell, better equipped I feel than any decathlon man who ever lived, won the two-day test.

Remember Lindy Lemigino? He was an unheralded American sprinter in Helsinki. Our ace was Art Bragg, who'd been winning all along the path to the Olympics. But for 10.4 seconds that day, Lindy attained the perfection of a lifetime and beat the world to the tape.

How about Harrison Dillard for surprises. A dozen years ago there wasn't a hurdler in the world close to him. But at the Olympic Trial finals of 1948 he missed step coming to a hurdle, knocked it over and five-aftee-that-and-was-off the team — that is, until he barely qualified in the 100 meters.

Yet in London, he flashed through the sprint to beat Barney Ewell and the world's fastest human, Mel Patton.

Dillard was more fortunate than boys like Chuck Fonville and Dave Sime. Fonville was the world shot-put champ who didn't make the Olympics because of a bad back. Sime cancelled out of the sprints in 1956 with a muscle pull.

That's why I say our way of picking the team is barbaric, luck riding on a one-day performance after perhaps four years of preparation. I believe there should be a series of six meets, spread through six months, in all parts of the country, with points awarded cumulatively until our best performers emerge.

And still, which is one of the suspenses of the Olympics, there's no guarantee they'll win that elusive gold medal.

Pirates Need .537 Pace For Clincher

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

A mere .537 pace in their remaining 41 games should be enough to clinch the Pittsburgh Pirates' first National League pennant in 33 years.

The "count down" that will eliminate the Milwaukee Braves, St. Louis Cardinals and Los Angeles Dodgers from the race is on today as a result of the Pirates' 11-2 and 4-3 sweep of the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday which vaulted them into a 7½ game lead.

Only 22 victories in their last 41 games, a .537 pace, would give the Pirates 92 wins for the season. That would mean the Braves would have to take 32 of their last 44 games to win, the Cardinals would have to win 30 of their last 40 and the Dodgers would have to cop 33 of 45. That's a .696 pace for the Braves, .750 for the Cardinals and .733 for the Dodgers.

There'll be no such "count down" in the American League for a long while, however, where Whitey Ford's 1-0 win over the Baltimore Orioles held the New York Yankees' half game lead. The Orioles fell to third but the Chicago White Sox remained hot on the Yankees' trail with their 3-2 win over the Detroit Tigers.

The Braves shaded the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1, the San Francisco Giants dealt the Cardinals a near-mortal blow with a 7-3 triumph and the Dodgers beat the Chicago Cubs, 7-5, in 11 innings in other NL games. The Cleveland Indians scored a 10-inning 4-3 decision over the Kansas City Athletics and the Washington Senators beat the Boston Red Sox, 8-5, in other AL action.

Bob Friend coasted to his 13th victory behind a first-rate Pittsburgh attack that included a homer by Bob Skinner, a triple by Roberto Clemente and doubles by Skinner and Bill Mazeroski among 15 hits. The Pirates won the nightcap when Dick Groat, Skinner and Rocky Nelson bunted safely with nops out in the eighth and then Robin Roberts broke a 3-3 tie by walking Clemente to force in the decisive run. Elroy Face, who pitched the last two innings, won his seventh game for the Pirates.

Ford, working at his own request with two days of rest, pitched a three-hitter for the Yankees who scored the game's only run in the fourth inning on a hit batsman, and singles by Yogi Berra and Johnny Blanchard. Ford allowed only one Baltimore baserunner to reach second base and struck out six in winning his ninth game while rookie Chuck Estrada was the hard luck loser for the Orioles.

Frank Baumann pitched a seven-hitter for the White Sox who scored two unearned runs in the eighth inning on a wild throw by catcher Harry Chiti. Al Kaline doubled home one run and scored the other for Detroit.

Warren Spahn and Hank Aaron combined their talents to win a squeaker for the Braves. Spahn pitched an eight-hitter and struck out five to win his 14th game of the season and the 281st of his career while Aaron homered to tie the game in the fourth and singled home the winning run in the eighth.

Unbeaten rookie Juan Marichal won his fourth game as the Giants thanks to batterymate Hobie Landrih who drove in three runs and scored two with three

Portugal Hopes to Sit Out African Trouble

ANGOLA borders on the seething, newborn Republic of Congo. It is Portugal's biggest African holding; some 481,000 square miles. Governed by a governor general with extensive powers, Angola has been a Portuguese possession since 1575.

MOZAMBIQUE, 297,000 square miles, borders on troubled Nyasaland, Has Union of South Africa, Rhodesia and Tanganyika as other neighbors.

PORTUGUESE GUINEA, 14,000 square miles, has newly independent Mali Federation and former French Guinea on its borders.

ISLANDS of Principe and San Tome, off Africa's west coast, form a Portuguese province, operating under a governor.

PORTUGAL SITS TIGHT — Portugal, first European nation to colonize in Africa, will be the last to leave the dark continent if she has anything to say about it. Her nearly 800,000 square miles of territory in Africa are of immense value to Portugal. Portuguese officials, who regard their holdings as provinces rather than colonies, consider that Africa is fast becoming the weak spot in the West's defenses. At stake for Portugal should Africa go Red: extensive agricultural and mineral holdings, including diamonds and gold. Though Portuguese areas are generally calm to date, trouble could well spread across borders, which often are, in effect, mere lines on a map. Example: recent "invasion" of natives from Tanganyika into Mozambique in unsuccessful effort to break up a tribal meeting. Broadcasts and other gimmicks used by propagandists harass the Portuguese from sources outside the various borders. So far, these efforts have failed to dissuade Portugal from her avowed intent to sit tight in Africa.

Wage Scale Hike Plan Faces Worker Cut Try

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Legislation to hike the federal minimum wage, unscathed in its first two Senate tests, today faced an effort to knock out most of the proposed benefits for five million additional workers.

The bill, sponsored by Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy, would boost the pay floor from $1.00 to $1.25 an hour for the 23 million workers now covered by the wage-hour law. It also would extend coverage to about five million new workers, mostly in large retail chain stores.

The Senate was pledged to vote by mid-afternoon on an amendment by Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., that would strip from the controversial election-year measure the heart of the benefit package for the new workers.

Another Holland proposal to bar any Labor Department control over the wage rates and working conditions of migratory farm workers who cross state lines was rejected Tuesday 56-42.

An amendment by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, (R-Ky.) to spell out in the law that the government has no power over wages paid to workers employed on farms in their home states was defeated 80-18.

Other congressional news: House: Rep. H. R. Gross went ahead with his plan to cut off the House session again today despite some grumbling from fellow Republicans. The Iowa lawmaker is peeved because Democratic leaders reconvened the post-convention House session Monday but scheduled no business until next week. He forced the House to adjourn shortly after the opening prayer Monday and again Tuesday by objecting that a quorum was not present.

Humphrey: Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey told the Senate "deep-seated frictions" have developed in recent years between Red China and Russia. "It is a fair assumption that those cleavages will increase rather than lessen," the Minnesota Democrat said in a prepared speech. But, he cautioned, it would be "wishful thinking to conclude that the two Communist giants are going to split any day."

TAIPEI (UPI)—Do the little summit conferences between two chiefs of state produce results? The Nationalist Chinese on Formosa might well say no.

What happens when rulers meet? Do they actually roll up their sleeves and grapple with the great problems of the globe? OR do they merely sip tea, reminiscence and exchange notes on the weather and scenery?

The answer depends to a large extent on the relationship between the two nations.

When President Eisenhower met Premier Khrushchev in Camp David, they wasted little time on the weather and grappled with such flinty problems as Berlin.

But meetings between two such powerful leaders are the exception in this new era of personal diplomacy. Buried in the newspapers are reports of an endless but expensive round of talks between friendly leaders. For what? Governments call them goodwill visits because their primary purpose is not to solve problems but to express undying friendship—a sort of mutual admiration society at a little summit.

Few, if any, definitive problems usually are discussed. That is the business of the professional diplomats.

Formosa has spent millions of dollars entertaining state guests but with few concrete results.

The Nationalist Chinese government laid out lavish state banquets and costly tours for King Hussein of Jordan and the Shah of Iran. But Formosa has prac-

'MISERABLE MONUMENT'—This 25-foot cement replica of an artillery shell stands on the beleaguered Nationalist Chinese island of Quemoy. It is a monument to the 44 miserable days from Aug. 23 through Oct. 6, 1958 when the Communist Chinese poured 444,433 artillery shells into the 13.5-mile island.

Texas 'Sit-In' Lawyer, Girl Killed By Train

MARSHALL, Tex. (UPI)—A well-known Negro attorney and two Negro students who played part in Marshall's sit-down demonstration's last March didn't see the switch engine Tuesday until too late.

The engine smashed into the side of their car at a crossing just out of town. Romeo Williams, the lawyer, and Mattie Mae Etta Johnson, 19, Quitman, Tex., were killed. Bernice Halley of Ogdens, Utah, was hospitalized in critical condition.

Williams planned to defend the two girls in a trial set for this week. Both were among a group of students convicted in Marshall city court for their part in a series of sit-down demonstrations, which at one time was broken up by firemen using high pressure water hoses. Their cases were on appeal in Harrison County Court.

Police said Williams was thrown from the car and under the wheels of the Texas and Pacific Railroad engine, and the two girls were pinned in the wreckage which was carried 225 feet from the point of impact.
