

Prober Says Nixon Involved In Settlement Of Suit Against ITT

WASHINGTON (AP) — An investigator for columnist Jack Anderson has offered testimony to the Senate Judiciary Committee that President Nixon was involved in settlement of an antitrust suit against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Brit Hume, the 28-year-old Anderson aide, quoted an ITT lobbyist as saying former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell told her the President wanted the Justice Department to stop pursuing three antitrust suits against the giant conglomerate and make a reasonable settlement. Mitchell said almost immediately after Hume testified that "the President has never, repeat never, made any request to me directly or indirectly concerning the settlement of the ITT case and I took no part in that settlement."

Anderson and Hume were scheduled to continue their testimony today as the committee began its seventh day of hearings into the accusations by Anderson that Justice Department officials were guilty of improprieties in the ITT settlement.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he wants Dita D. Beard, the ITT lobbyist quoted by Hume, to testify before the committee hearings—probably in about a week. However, Eastland said he does not plan to send investigators to Denver where Mrs. Beard is hospitalized with a heart ailment.

Anderson has published a memorandum attributed to Mrs. Beard in which she suggested out-of-court settlement of the multibillion-dollar suits against ITT was linked with the corporation's $400,000 pledge to the Republican National Committee.

Anderson, quoting from the memo, described a meeting between Mitchell, Mrs. Beard and former Kentucky Gov. Louie B. Nunn at a small dinner party after last year's Kentucky Derby.

Hume told the committee Mrs. Beard gave him details of the meeting when he confronted her with the memo which she said was written to her boss, W.R. Merriam, head of ITT's Washington office.

"She said the attorney general berated her for the trouble she was causing him by the speeches on the floor of Congress," said Hume. "She had about a dozen speeches made for her telling how badly ITT was being treated."

Hume then said, "She told me the attorney general told her the White House had called him and told him to lay off ITT."

"I said this is what the President said?"

"She then softened it by saying the President wanted the attorney general to make a reasonable settlement," he said.

In relating what he described as a sometimes-tearful discussion, Hume testified that Mrs. Beard "said the lecture given her by the attorney general was rambling but at one point he said to her, 'What do you want?'" Hume told the committee that statement clearly meant "What did ITT want in the case?"

"She said she told him Hartford and part of Grinnell," he continued. "He said you can't have part of Grinnell."

Hume said Mrs. Beard told him she and the attorney general later made an agreement that was the same as the settlement reached and announced July 31.

The settlement permitted ITT to keep the Hartford Fire Insurance Co. but forced the company to divest itself of Canteen Corp., a large food-vending company, and the fire-protection-insurance division of Grinnell.

Earlier Hume said, ITT President Harold Geneen ordered that the company underwrite the convention when Mrs. Beard met with Geneen in San Diego last May. When told of a proposal to provide financial help for the convention, Geneen said, "We'll underwrite it," Hume quoted the lobbyist.

Geneen will testify Monday and one of Eastland's surprise witnesses, possibly a prominent New York lawyer, will take the stand Tuesday.

Eastland said he plans to call a long list of witnesses, covering just about everyone named in testimony so far.

Wholesale Prices Up By Nine-Tenths Of 1%

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices of food and a wide range of industrial products climbed an over-all nine-tenths of one per cent last month for the sharpest rise in a year, the government reported today.

Prices of farm products and processed foods, some of which are exempt from federal price controls, rose 1.9 per cent and prices of industrial raw materials and manufactured products went up five-tenths of one per cent, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The over-all February wholesale price rise, generally a signal of rising consumer prices later, was a little less—sevenths of one per cent—on an adjusted basis for expected seasonal price changes. On the seasonal basis, the increase was the largest since December.

The report also said that the unadjusted rise of nine-tenths of one per cent would have been seven-tenths if agricultural products not subject to federal controls were eliminated.

It said that of the 1.9 per cent climb for farm products and processed foods, one per cent of it was for uncontrolled agricultural products such as raw fruits and vegetables, eggs and livestock.

The report said that the average monthly rise in the Wholesale Price Index since President Nixon imposed the wage-price freeze last August was four-tenths of one per cent compared with a monthly average hike of three-tenths in the six months before the federal control program.

For the three months since Nixon's freeze gave way to the more relaxed control program, the monthly average rise was six-tenths of one per cent, the bureau said.

The February increase lifted the Wholesale Price Index for all commodities to 117.3 per cent of its 1967 average, four per cent above a year earlier.

The index figure means it cost wholesalers $117.30 last month on the average for goods worth $100 five years ago.

U.S. Black Political Meet Opens

GARY, Ind. (AP) — All week long position papers on Americans have been set up in Washington.

Drafted by black experts, or by state and regional meetings of black activists, they're the raw material for a National Black Agenda to be adopted this weekend in Gary.

If the hopes of its planners come true, the National Black Political Convention that convenes today will bring together 2,000 delegates to set the direction of black politics for the next decade.

Subjects on the agenda include the possible endorsement of a presidential candidate and organization of a black political party.

Judging from the working documents, black grievances will get a full airing at the Friday-through-Sunday meeting. Most seemed to follow the tone of one that read:

"Our cities are crime-haunted dying grounds. Huge sectors of our youth—and others—face permanent unemployment... neither the courts nor the prisons contribute to anything resembling justice or reform. The schools care unable—or unwilling—to educate our children... white have failed."

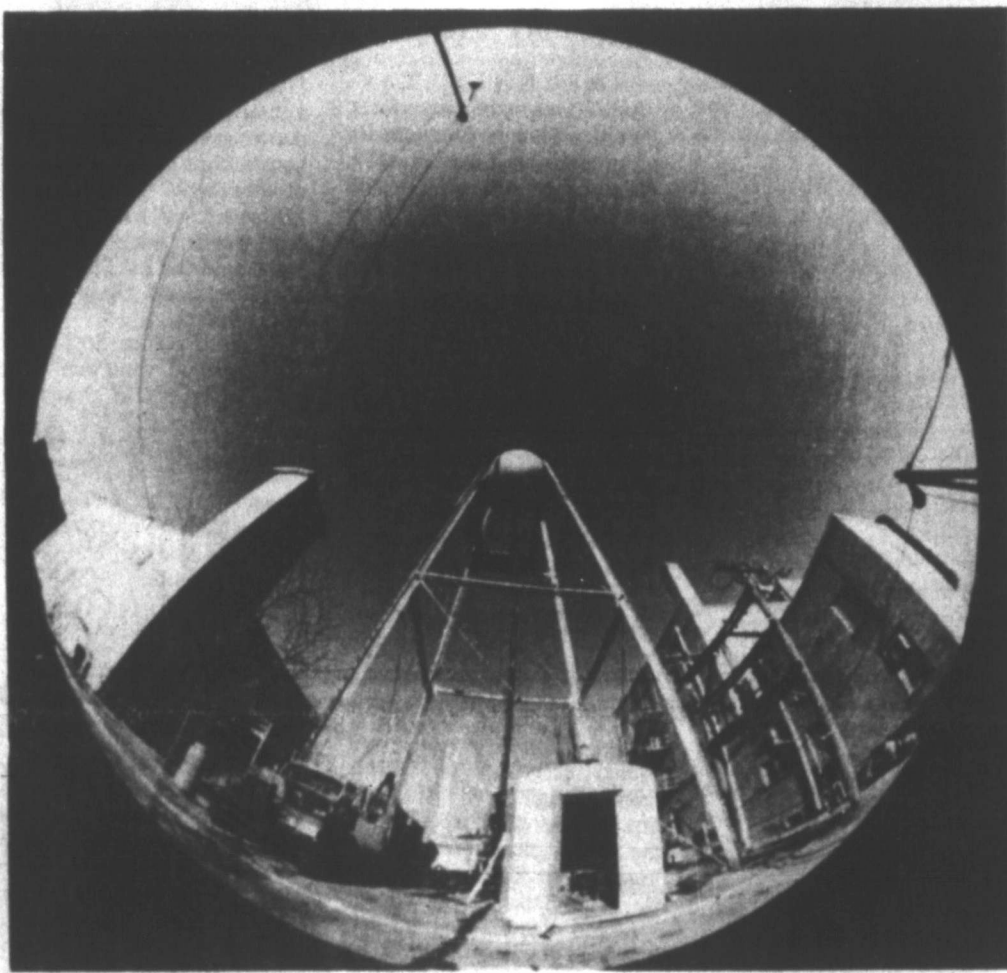

The men who organized the convention want it to be much more than a platform for publicizing grievances.

"This meeting of broadly diverse Africans in America must be the beginning, the initiation, of a realistic national black political movement which should result in the creation of some structure," wrote Imam Amiri Baraka, the former poet LeRoi Jones, now a black nationalist leader in Newark, N.J.

Even before the convention begins, I think it has already increased the level of black political activity," said Gary Mayor Richard Hatcher, one of three co-conveners. The others are Baraka and Rep. Charles Diggs, D-Mich., former chairman of the congressional black caucus.

"This has happened in states where there was no black statewide political activity. Some states were together... like in Indiana. We hadn't had any statewide black political activity before."

Airline Chiefs, Officials Work To Thwart Plots

CAN YOU BELIEVE WHAT YOU SEE?—What looks like something from outer space is really a picture of the water tower, located between the Pampa Fire Dept. building and the Pampa Hotel. At the present time, the old water tower is in the process of being dismantled. To get this unusual effect, the photographer used a fish-eye lens, a special camera lens that takes a picture encompassing an angle of view of 180 degrees.

President Takes Action To Insure Air Security

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

Top officials of the nation's 29 biggest airlines were called to Washington today to help thwart what President Nixon called "vicious extortion plots" against the carriers.

Nixon acted Thursday to require immediate implementation of new rules aimed at keeping dangerous individuals, weapons or bombs off scheduled airliners. The new procedures were slated to take effect three months from now.

The airline chiefs were summoned to meet with Secretary of Transportation John Volpe and the Federal Aviation Administration.

Retired Air Force Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, chief of the federal force of sky marshals, told newsmen at the White House not all the 29 airlines had taken a serious view of past federal directives aimed at frustrating hijackers and blackmailers.

In response to a question, Davis named Trans World Airlines as one that has adopted a realistic approach.

However, it was a $2-million blackmail attempt against TWA and the planting of two bombs aboard its jet liners—only one exploded—that prompted Nixon to aim for safety of air transport.

In New York, TWA's president, F.C. Wiser, said there has been "no contact with the extortionist since Tuesday evening and no ransom has been paid."

A short time after his announcement, a bomb scare emptied a restaurant and bar at Kennedy airport in New York. Flights were halted for about 20 minutes, but nothing was discovered.

The scare was only one of several involving planes and terminals at New York, Baltimore, San Juan, Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and Reno, Nev. No bombs were found at any of the sites.

Flights were delayed at many airports as the spate of threats continued and beefed-up security slowed departures and arrivals.

The FAA, meanwhile, said it will require new communications systems between air crews and the ground, and between cockpits and cabins aboard planes.

While claiming federal programs have drastically cut the number of successful hijackings, Nixon said in a statement:

"Our air-transportation system faces a new threat, in the form of vicious extortion plots like the ones which have been directed at air traffic across the country this week. We must not be intimidated by such lawlessness, rather we must and will meet this blackmail on the ground, as vigorously as we have met piracy in the air."

The President said he had "mobilized all appropriate security forces and resources of the federal government," including the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Nixon's order for more-stringent airline-security measures was described by aides as having the full force of law.

On Capitol Hill Thursday, the FAA told Congress there is no need to increase airline-ticket taxes to finance antibombing and antihijacking programs.

Such a request had been made when sky marshals were put aboard airplanes in 1970.

Hostages Freed, Three Jailed In Bank Robbery

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Two women were home safe, three men jailed and two other men being hunted early today in the wake of a bank robbery, kidnapping and cross-country auto chase.

A four-hour drama began at noon Thursday when four armed men held up University State Bank here and fled with two women bank employees as hostages.

After fleeing in a private car to a south side residence, the men held guns to the women's heads while they hijacked a Fort Worth police car that had pursued the robbers.

What followed was two and a half hours of terror for the hostages—Mrs. Della Green and Mrs. Joan McCullough—as the men drove the commandeered police car for about 40 miles around northern and eastern Fort Worth in an effort to escape.

The women and the robbers alternately talked to the Fort Worth central police dispatchers, the women begging for the police to be called away from the car and the robbers threatening to kill their hostages.

At about 1:45 p.m., one of the men left the car and about 45 minutes later the remaining three men released their hostages, giving them the police car.

An hour later police, Texas Rangers and Department of Public Safety officers found the three men hiding in a storm drain just off the Eastside Freeway where they had fled the car.

Arrested were Lovell Lewis, 21; O. C. Washington, 32 and Eddie Glenn Griffin, 25, all of Fort Worth.

An intense manhunt remained underway late Thursday for the fourth man and a fifth man police said was part of the robbery plot, but who fled the scene at the bank.

The robbers took an amount estimated at well over $15,000 from the bank. Most of the money was recovered with the captured men. Police said

UTU Strikes S. Pacific Rail System

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The United Transportation Union struck the Southern Pacific Railroad today in a dispute over elimination of switchmen's jobs. George Lechner, UTU vice president said.

The surprise strike at 6 a.m. left nearly 11,000 commuters stranded on the San Francisco Peninsula as picketing began throughout the Southern Pacific system from El Paso to Portland, Ore.

About 20,000 employees of Southern Pacific are represented by the UTU, Lechner said, including conductors, trainmen, engineers, brakemen and switchmen.

Lechner said the strike was called without notice to the carrier because southern Pacific had "eliminated switchmen's jobs contrary to a national agreement made Jan. 27."

About 20 of some 250 SP Switchmen's jobs have been eliminated and more were to be abolished, Lechner said. He said the railroad was assigning the switchmen's yard work in "herding" trains to brakemen as an additional brakeman's duty.

A Southern Pacific spokesman said only the first two commuter runs from San Jose to San Francisco were completed today, twenty others were on the schedule.

The strike is affecting all of SP's Pacific lines, which served Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah, California, Oregon and El Paso, Tex. SP said the Texas-Louisiana service and service on the Cotton Belt subsidiary into Missouri are not affected, a spokesman added.

Cargoes of perishable freight will be kept moving with supervisory personnel, the spokesman said.

Agency Bans Transportation Of Pesticides

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency ordered an immediate halt today to interstate shipment of pesticides registered for predator control and began a recall of existing stocks.

Included in the ban was thalium sulfate, a rodent poison often misused to control livestock predators.

The federal government last Feb. 8 barred the use of poisons for predator control on public land and in federal programs except in emergencies.

The action by William D. Ruckelshaus today, however, takes these poisons off the commercial market immediately while opening the action toward their permanent cancellation from the federal registration program. Ruckelshaus is administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

Borger Union Men Protest Labor Policy Of Phillips Co.

BORGER — Feelings are running high here as many union wage earners move toward a conflict with Phillips Petroleum Co. over its decision to use non-union labor.

Phillips selected an outside firm that follows an open shop policy to construct a new plastics plant for Phillips.

About 200 picketers showed up in downtown Borger yesterday morning to protest the policies of Fish Engineering and Construction Co. of Houston.

In a letter circulated to city merchants, the union men, acting with formal support from their organization, claimed the firm is planning to import transient laborers from Houston and to pay only minimum wages.

Those claims were dismissed by Dale Ellis, local project superintendent for Fish. He said the firm planned to use some local labor and that the wages would be competitive with union wages.

He said employees would work five nine-hour days each week, allowing five hours of overtime each week.

In support of Fish, local Phillips officials said the firm was awarded the contract because it was the low qualified bidder. They noted that in order to continue to provide jobs, Phillips must operate as economically as possible.

Union men, representing electricians, pipefitters, iron workers, boilermakers and other laborers, seemed to reject the contentions of either firm. They still felt that if they had to work for Fish, it would be below-scale wages and would affect their financial commitments.

The rally was held to influence Phillips to reconsider awarding the contract to Fish. Work on the plant is due to begin later this month and to be completed by March of 1973.

As of early today neither side seemed to be close to any agreement. There were rumors of the protest spreading to other parts of the Panhandle, but no definite indications could be seen in Pampa or other towns this morning.

Slow Mail Better Late Than Never

People often complain about the delays occurring in delivery of mail by the U.S. Post Office. But at least the postal officials can say they strongly believe in "better late than never."

The Pampa News received a letter today with an accompanying letter from Fred R. Potter, superintendent of mails at the Amarillo Post Office.

"The enclosed mail was lost due to deprecation and recovered by the Amarillo Police Department on March 3, 1972. We are indeed sorry for the delay and any inconvenience caused you."

The letter had been sent to the News from a motel chain in Colorado to pay for some advertising, with an enclosed check for the payment.

The date was March 22, 1968.

Investigation revealed that the Amarillo police had searched through a house that had caught on fire in Amarillo. While looking in the attic, they came across a sack of mail.

The above letter was one of the many letters in the sack.

And so, following its motto, "Neither rain nor snow... nor a recovered sack of old mail," the Post Office said that the letter finally reached its destination.

Company May Publish Hughes' Autobiography

NEW YORK (AP) — McGraw-Hill, Inc., says it might yet decide to publish the most notorious manuscript in its office—the Howard Hughes "autobiography" that federal and county grand juries have read as a Clifford Irving fake.

The Hughes Tool Co. says it is not yet satisfied that the full tale has been told regarding what the grand juries saw as an attempt to perpetrate one of the greatest literary hoaxes in history.

Those reactions came in the wake of the indictments Thursday of Irving, his wife Edith and researcher Richard Suskind on charges of conspiring in an intricate plot to obtain $750,000 for a bogus book.

Chiang Accepts Call To Serve His Fifth Term

TAIPEI (AP) — Chiang Kaishek accepted his party's call today to stay on as Nationalist China's president and confront the challenge posed by Communist China foreign policy gains.

His nomination by the Kuomintang for fifth six-year term assured him of re-election. The National Assembly, controlled by the Kuomintang, will select the president March 21.

Chiang, 84, was not present when members of the party's Central Committee stood and cheered his nomination. But the news was relayed to him by chief delegate Ku Cheng-Kang. About four hours later Chiang appeared before the committee looking relaxed and healthy. "It is a great pleasure for me to be nominated as the party candidate for the fifth president of the Republic of China," he said.

Chiang said on Feb. 20 he wanted the National Assembly to choose his successor. But this was regarded only as political good manners. Kuomintang organizations all along had been urging Chiang to continue in office "in accord with the will of the people."

Chiang was elected China's president in 1948 on the mainland. But a year later he was driven out by Mao Tse-tung's Communists and fled to the island of Taiwan, where he has maintained a temporary capital ever since.

Both the Communist Chinese and the Nationalist Chinese contend the mainland and Taiwan are part of the same nation but each insist its regime is the only legal Chinese government.

The Central Committee adopted a resolution Thursday calling on the National Assembly to give the president power to decide how many members should be added to the National Assembly, the Legislature and the Control Yuan, a watchdog body. Members elected in 1946, the year of China's last national election, would continue to hold their seats.

U.S. Senate Deliberating Bill On Major Voter-Registration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is considering the fate of a major national voter-registration bill intended to knock down voting barriers for millions but beset by arguments it would lead to widespread fraud.

The bill would set up the registration of all potential and eligible voters through a postcard system supervised by the U. S. Census Bureau.

A band of senators led by Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N. C., is attempting to refer the legislation to the Senate Judiciary Committee, where it would be considered likely to disappear-perhaps permanently.

In its present form, the bill was shaped by the Senate Post Office Committee, which has jurisdiction not over elections but rather the Census Bureau and the Postal Service.

That committee's chairman, Sen. Gale W.

McGee, D-Wyo., said the 47 million eligible Americans who did not vote in 1968 outnumber the 43 million who did vote for President Nixon.

It is a simple administrative procedure to help potential voters register, McGee said.

The vast majority of those not registered, he said, "are largely those on the bottom end of the social and economic ladder in this country."

And he said this bloc is not voting as effectively as it did in the 1960s, before many registration laws were enacted as voting barriers against Orientals, European immigrants and other minority groups.

Ervin told the Senate in debate Wednesday: "This is a highly dangerous bill. In the hands of an unscrupulous group it literally permits the stealing of the presidency of the United States."

Ervin said he could not understand why anyone would want to help "a lot of people who are not concerned enough about America to go out and register."

Sen. Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, said, "I'm afraid we're going to be registering a lot of tombstones."

And Ervin added, "There isn't a syllable in this bill to prevent the greatest kind of rascality in national elections."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said the real villain is that every American seeking the right to vote "has had to run a gauntlet of arbitrary, unfair and obsolete requirements..."

The bill is likely to undergo the tests of several votes on amendments.

In its present form it would have these effects:

—A voter-registration administration would be set up in the Census Bureau, which would prepare postcards for all households.

—The postcards would include a registration form which would be mailed to election authorities in the states.

—Residence requirements would be limited to 30 days before each national election.

—The postcard registration would apply to all national elections only—that is voting for president and vice president, members of the U.S. Senate and House.

President Nixon Commends Texan For Firm's Policy

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A Fort Worth businessman has been commended by President Nixon for his firm's unusual policy of employing men 65 years of age and older.

Recipient of the presidential note was A. M. Pate Jr., president and board chairman of the Texas Refinery Corp.

"I have had the pleasure of learning of the successful 'sixties' program which you initiated in your company," the President wrote Pate.

"I understand this program utilizes the trained services and experiences of men who have reached retirement in their own jobs and that their efforts have resulted in substantial earnings, as well as a feeling of useful participation, on the part of the men involved."

The President said Pate's efforts "to help our older persons do indeed deserve the appreciation of all our fellow Americans, and I commend you for your vision and energy which has developed and carried forward this effective program."

Texas Refinery Corp. employs more than 500 men between the ages of 60 and 80, the company said in a recent statement. The men work as salesmen selling the firm's specialized lubricants for industry, protective coatings.

In 1945, American troops liberated the Philippine capital of Manila from Japanese occupation during World War II.

Republican Leaders Ask Supporters To Help Congressional Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders have issued a call for a GOP-controlled Congress that would help a re-elected President Nixon enact his programs in spite of Democrats.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Republican leaders of the House and Senate urged 1,100 Republican supporters and officeholders Wednesday night to help GOP congressional candidates in this year's election.

Republicans have not controlled either house of Congress since the first two years of the Eisenhower administration in the early 1950s, and GOP House leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said he is fed up with the party's minority status.

"I'm sick and tired of coming to these dinners and representing myself as the minority leader," Ford said in what, for him, was a highly charged speech before Republicans paying $1,000 dollars a plate.

"Maybe there's a certain complacency about this," Ford said. "I'm kind of disgusted with the atmosphere that sometimes prevails. We want to try but we don't want to succeed."

Agnew said the Democratic-controlled Congress has often been a thorn in the side of the Nixon administration.

Much of the administration's "carefully prepared legislation is languishing in the Congress," Agnew told the black-tie audience. "There is a very real limit to what we can achieve without a majority" in Congress.

Agnew, Ford, Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and the other GOP speakers were careful to thank the audience for their support of President Nixon and the party.

Democrats presently control the House 254 to 178 with three vacancies and control the Senate 55 to 45. All House seats are up this year and 33 Senate seats are on the block.

Coffee and cotton are the leading exports of Uganda.

Body Pollution

A doctor of chiropractic warned that most Americans are poisoning their bodies with pills.

Dr. Roy M. Beller, President of the Texas State Chiropractic Association, said that "instituting programs of air and water pollution solves only half the problem."

Americans are poisoning themselves each day through direct intake of drugs and medications, he said, pointing out that drug-induced diseases have become a major health problem in modern society.

"Reckless or uninformed prescriptions by medical doctors and negligence by patients have created an entirely new breed of illness."

Gas Utilities In Five States Curtail Sale Of Natural Gas

NEW YORK (AP) — Fears of a severe natural gas shortage next winter are forcing an increasing number of gas utilities to turn away new customers, putting some home builders in a bind.

Some gas utilities in Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Washington, D.C., already have curtailed the sale of natural gas to new residential customers, always the last users to be cut back by utilities.

In these same areas, the home builder faces the dilemma of building a home that can cost more to construct and to heat or postponing construction until the gas shortage eases.

C.V. Perry, president of C.V. Perry & Co. Developers in Columbus, Ohio, estimates that all-electric homes cost 10 per cent more to build than gasheated houses because of the additional insulation required.

Once installed, electric heat can cost two to four times more than gas, according to gas company estimates.

Electric utilities acknowledge that electricity is more expensive in many areas than gas, but they maintain it is generally a more efficient method of heating.

In Ohio, Dayton Power & Light Co. and Toledo Edison Co.—both gas suppliers—received permission Feb. 17 to put a freeze on all new residential users.

There is no assurance that an adequate supply of natural gas will be available to meet the demands of consumers next winter, says Henry Eckhart, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Branches of the federal government, other state utilities commissions and gas companies all echo a concern that the United States could face a critical shortage of gas in the next two winters.

"By and large the present home owner probably isn't going to be affected by the gas shortage, but if we don't solve the problem the future homeowner certainly will be," a spokesman for the Independent Natural Gas Association said.

Screw Threads Unit Helps Hold Things Together

WASHINGTON (AP) — It may seem obscure, but the federal Interagency Screw Thread Committee fits right in.

In essence, it watches the development of all kinds of screwfastenings and advises the government on its findings.

Although it meets only twice a year, the committee helps hold things together. If it makes a mistake, as it did recently, it could create massive mischief.

Despite its seemingly obscure function, the panel, known around the Bureau of Standards as ISTC, is serious about its work.

There's one member of the committee from the Bureau of Standards, five from the Defense Department and 21 from industry.

There's no office, no secretary, and the costs are slim.

We Await China's Reaction to Law

By DON OAKLEY

Most commentary on President Nixon's visit to Peking has dealt almost exclusively with the impact of China's emergence into the active world community on such things as the international balance of power and American and Soviet foreign policy.

But power and policy, national or international, must exist within a framework of law, reminds Charles S. Rhyne, president of the World Peace Through Law Center, a voluntary association of members of the legal profession in 128 countries in Geneva, Switzerland.

Every nation has laws, says the past president of the American Bar Assn. A nation's system of laws distills and crystallizes its most significant attitudes, values and beliefs and is a rather reliable mirror reflecting the status of its civilization.

In China, the individual has traditionally been subordinated to the family and other social groups. In many of its aspects, this family system filled roles the West assigns to formal statute law.

Viewed in the light of China's long history, the centralization of government and control of the people under the Communists is very little different today than under any of its imperial dynasties, says Rhyne.

The traditional Chinese view is that law is an instrument to protect the political and social order, rather than a guardian of private rights and interests. That view prevails today under the Communists. There is much reliance upon moral persuasion and social sanction.

The law emphasis is upon the suppression of crimes rather than upon resolution of individual disputes. There is no code of criminal law or criminal procedure and no code of civil procedure.

As far as we can tell, says Rhyne, China's law system has gradually improved since 1949. There no longer seem to be mass trials where such enemies of the state as landlords were condemned to death and executed in public.

But as in Russia, whose system is also slowly improving, it is still a far cry from providing individual freedom under law. Lenin's definition of law as "a political instrument" clearly prevails.

On the international scene, China has not been isolated as many Americans believe. China has agreements and treaties with 77 other nations covering more than 100 subjects, from diplomatic relations to fisheries to navigation to trade. China has apparently kept all of these agreements.

China's recent entry into the United Nations, her acceptance of the U.N. Charter and the law contained in it and her membership in specialized U.N. agencies "all create law obligations which affect her relations with all nations," says Rhyne.

How China acts and reacts to those law obligations will have major impact on China's participation in the peace work of the family of nations.

For "the peace process," says Rhyne, "is a law process." But beyond governmental contacts, there are many meaningful relationships which the President's historic journey should open up—contacts between lawyers, judges, doctors, engineers, businessmen and others and between individuals of other nations and the Chinese people.

"If our future relationships with China and the whole world are built on the rule of law, and that rule prevails throughout the globe," says Rhyne, "then can any man, woman or child live or work or travel anywhere on the face of the earth in freedom, in dignity and in peace."

Paul Harvey News Small Business Hit By Paper Avalanche

By PAUL HARVEY

Publisher Margaret Phillips of the Tunica, Miss., Times-Democrat had an interesting front-page column the other day. It was blank. Just blank space except for this footnote: "After finishing all the government reports due this month, there was not time left to do my own work."

It's everybody's problem. Let's say you and your wife own a small store—groceries and sundries. You have two part-time employees. Sounds like a good life. Not any more.

You and your wife file individual income tax returns plus a joint return. That's three separate tedious documents.

Then, there are eight state estimated income tax forms to fill out—and our federal estimated income tax forms.

You will file quarterly four state withholding tax forms and four federal FICA and withholding tax forms. And the four federal forms must have three depositaries, used once a month.

At the year-end you must file federal and state reconciliations of withheld taxes plus W-2 forms issued to all employees, plus the federal employment tax form with four depositaries.

Then you file your state sales tax return.

And you fill out your county inventory tax form.

That's the beginning. Now come the applications to the State Department of Revenue for a schedule B license tax on soft drinks and tobacco.

From the ABC Board you apply for permits to sell beer and wine and at the same time file schedule B taxes on those products.

Quick Quiz

Q—What American short-story writer used the pen name of "O. Henry?"
A—William Sydney Porter.

Q—Which was the world's first national park?
A—Yellowstone National Park, established by the U.S. government in 1872.

Q—Who was the first man to bear the title "anti-Pope?"
A—St. Hippolytus in A.D. 217.

Q—In what modern African nation was the ancient city of Carthage located?
A—Tunisia.

Q—On what mountain was King Solomon's temple built?
A—On Mt. Moriah, in Jerusalem.

Q—What theater has the world's longest permanent chorus line?
A—Radio City Music Hall, New York City. The Rockettes, consisting of 36 girls, dance precision routines across the 144-foot-wide stage.

Q—On what occasion does a U.S. Vice President cast a vote in the Senate?
A—As president of the Senate he votes only to break a tie.

From another agency you apply for a seed sales license. Then a federal beer and wine sales license. You'll need another permit to sell shotgun shells and must fill out a separate tax form for said item.

Next the county government must have an application for a beer and wine permit. Then four returns must be filed with the State Employment Security Commission.

You're not finished doing "government work"; there's still no time to tend to your own business.

For statistical purposes, six times a year you may be required to supply sales records to the Census Bureau—and to the Department of Agriculture a monthly report on prices paid by farmers for certain commodities.

On your delivery truck there are 12 monthly reports on fuel use and you'll need a state gas stamp. You must file a highway use tax report.

By the way, most of these reports, forms and applications you also send in cash.

And you are subject to periodic audit and inspection by several state agencies and three federal agencies.

So one day, your back room filled with government men demanding that you produce and identify multitudinous back records, you say to your wife—this is enough.

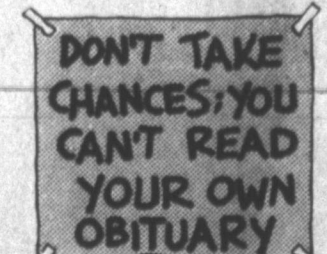

You put your grocery business up for sale, hope for a sucker, and go on welfare.

I've not exaggerated. Chairman Tom McIntyre of the Senate's subcommittee on government regulations estimates that this maze of paperwork costs businessmen, in accountants' fees or time lost from work, $36 billion a year and drives many out of business.

Just to print and warehouse all these forms costs government additional billions, which we all pay.

I don't know any panacea for this proliferation of paperwork but most of the forms are from the IRS and a fixed, total 25 per cent tax on everybody would eliminate all of those.

Hearbeat Heard Through Ear

Dear Dr. Lamb—I would like to know what it can be that makes me hear my heart beat through my right ear. This condition is almost driving me crazy, because it happens every time I am lying down trying to get to sleep. I have gone to the Eye, Ear & Throat Clinic, but they can't find anything wrong with my ears.

Dear Reader—It is perfectly normal. Many people can lie on their side and hear their heart beat. I suppose that a person who is more conscious and aware of his body is more apt to hear his heart beat and, of course, if the heart beats very forcefully this is a factor.

Actually, the force of the heart beat is much greater than most people realize. In the old-fashioned spring beds you could watch the bed move in relationship to the heart beat. There is even one device, the ballisto cardiogram, which has been designed to take advantage of the fact that the body vibrates with each heart beat. These instruments record the actual oscillations of the whole body that occurs with each beat. There are many variations of these including bars that are rested on the shin bones and devices that are placed on the chest. But they all attest to the fact that the mechanical force of the heart beat can cause the entire body to vibrate. I think the best thing I can tell you is just to stop worrying about it. It hasn't anything to do with your ears.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Could you tell me why nitroglycerin is prescribed five minutes before a meal? Also what is tincture of belladonna for?

Dear Reader—Nitroglycerin tablets are commonly used to relieve chest pain caused by heart disease (angina pectoris). They can also cause relaxation of the muscles in the esophagus. I would guess, however, that the reason the nitroglycerin is being given before meals is to prevent any pain or difficulty from the heart. Some people who have chest pain after eating because of the heart can be successfully treated this way. The tablet before the meal prevents the chest pain. In a similar fashion, nitroglycerin tablets are sometimes prescribed before exercise which ordinarily would produce chest pain.

Tincture of belladonna is an antispasmodic. It is sometimes used in digestive upsets and problems such as stomach ulcers or related disorders. It also has a soothing or sedative-like effect. It, too, is frequently used in treatment of heart disease. Thus, I would think that both of these medicines are being given for that reason, although it is not beyond the realm of possibility that they might be used for spasm of the esophagus.

Washington Word:

We Won't Permit Taiwan Take-over

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) —However ambiguous the Nixon-Chou communique on the point, this reporter has been assured by Pentagon, State Department and White House sources the United States will use military force, if necessary, to prevent invasion of Taiwan.

Military aid to Chiang Kai-shek will continue, U.S. private investment in Taiwan will be encouraged and guarantees provided for those investments.

The United States will reduce its forces only so far as Taiwan's safety permits. The decision was made and disclosed months ago—well before the Peking trip—as part of Nixon's low-profile foreign policy.

There are 8,900 U.S. military men and women on the island. Two-thirds are involved in over-all West Pacific defense operations and can work as well in other locations in the Far East. One-third are primarily concerned with Taiwan defense. As the Nationalist Chinese become proficient in certain military specialties, the need for the 2,700 will disappear.

Chou En-lai's insistence on putting down Taiwan is easily explained. It is a thorn in Peking's side. It offers the Chinese people an alternative to Communism. And that alternative has been doing remarkably well.

Investigators just back from the Far East tell this reporter that among the world's underdeveloped countries they've studied, Taiwan has accomplished the most in recent years to bring up the standard of living of the lower half of the population—and reduce the gap between the rich and the poor.

Real per capita income has been growing by 4.5 per cent a year and is now double what it was a decade ago. Now at about $320 per capita, it is roughly three times that on the mainland, and growing much more rapidly. Taiwan's per capita is expected to reach $1,000 by 1980.

Land reform has been effective. Nearly 80 per cent of the farmers on the island own their own land. Unemployment is low. Inflation has been held in check. Nine years of education are required and free.

Taiwan maintains one of the world's most effective aid programs. Dollarwise, the program is small, but it focuses on rice production, in which the Chinese and Taiwan have considerable expertise. Agricultural aid now goes to 30 nations in Africa, Latin America and Asia.

As on the mainland, the government is dominated by older men. But a 1971 study reported in the British scholarly journal, China Quarterly, says "a group of intelligent, well-educated and relatively young technical experts have moved into top leadership positions and are having a substantial impact on policy-making."

The study goes on to say that while Chiang's mainlanders dominate the political system, explicit and not insignificant steps are being taken to increase Taiwanese participation.

A U.S. study reports that while Taiwanese do not play an important role in the central government and hold only three cabinet portfolios, they do hold most of the elective and appointive positions at the provincial and local levels. "Taiwanese are mayors of all five cities, county magistrates of 15 of the 16 counties and occupants of most the seats in the Provincial Assembly."

Taiwan's foreign trade this year is expected to be greater than all of mainland China's. The near-future outlook is for a growth of 12.5 per cent a year.

Taiwan's gross national product is 12 times what it was in the early 1950s and in the past decade has averaged an increase of 9.8 per cent a year. This year, the GNP is expected to grow 10 per cent—industrial production 20.

Except for surplus commodity shipments, U.S. economic aid was terminated in July, 1965.

What the world has to eradicate is fear and ignorance.—Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovakian statesman.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

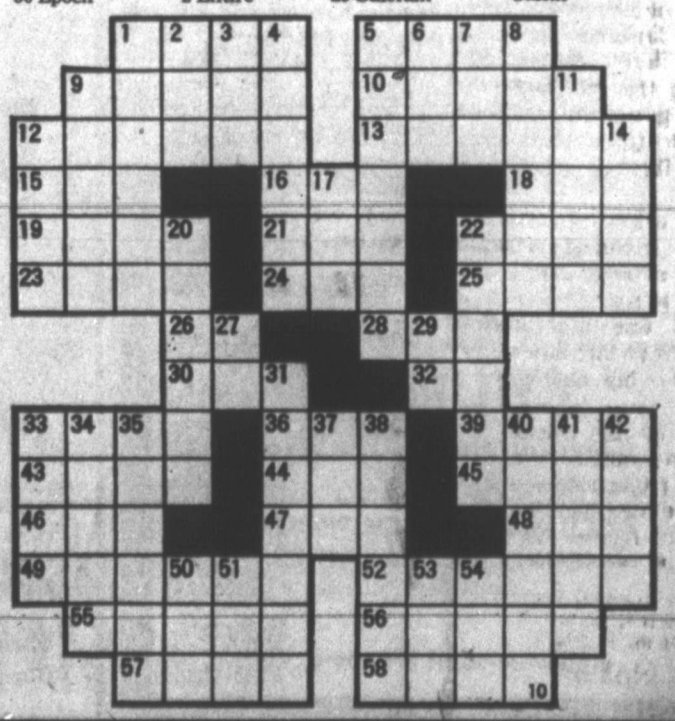

The Julian calendar, initiated in 46 B.C., assumed the year was 365 1/4 days long and gave every fourth year 366 days. The World Almanac recalls that the Venerable Bede, an Anglo-Saxon monk, announced in A.D. 730 that the Julian year was 11 minutes and 14 seconds too long, making a cumulative error of about a day every 128 years. However, nothing was done about it until 1582.

Susan Hayward Enjoys TV Stint

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD—(N E A)—A couple of the grand ladies of Hollywood's past were back in town—one for just a flying visit, the other maybe to resettle here.

The possible resettler is Susan Hayward, that beautiful creature who always astounded everybody because she could act so well despite being lovely to look at. It's a combination which rarely happens. She was here shooting a TV movie pilot recently aired. If picked up as a series it will be called, perhaps, "Fitzgerald and Pride." It's about a team of lawyers—Jim Stacy plays her partner—with Lee J. Cobb also involved.

Between takes, more or less, she was house shopping. She says she thinks it's about time for her to come home to Hollywood. She's been living in Florida for the last six years.

"I've gotten tired of it," she says. "Tired of the climate—it's too hot—and tired of not doing much besides playing and travelling."

"Besides, my two sons are grown up, out of college and married. One is a press agent here, the other a veterinarian in Jacksonville, Fla. Now that they're married, I'll let their wives take care of them from here on."

The other lady in town was Joan Bennett, but she just zipped in, did her part in a Warner Bros. television movie, and zipped out again. Home for Miss Bennett is Searsville, N.Y., and she's been living there, happily, for the last 11 years.

She says she spends a lot of time lecturing these days,

SUSAN HAYWARD

"If I were starting a career today, I'd be an archaeologist. All they want a young girl in movies to do today is take off her clothes."

"But I think the public is getting tired of that kind of movie. You can tell that because there are some good things being made now—'1776,' 'Butterflies Are Free' and that picture Ross Hunter is going to do, the musical version of 'Lost Horizon.'"

Susan said pretty much the same thing: "I think there are some good movies being made now—and a lot of very bad ones."

Then I asked them if they thought they would become movie stars, if they were starting their careers today.

"If I was starting now," said Susan, "I wouldn't. I'd be an archaeologist. All they want a young girl to do today is take off her clothes. Perhaps if I were 18 or 19 that wouldn't seem so bad—but I doubt it. I like to think that I'd refuse."

Joan felt basically the same.

"If I was starting out today," she said, "I think I'd stick to the stage."

They both say they're enjoying the work in the movie-TV area. Susan thinks she'd continue to enjoy it, if her pilot sells and becomes a series.

"I like the idea of a series," she says. "I like to keep busy. I find the pace of TV—we're doing 10 pages a day as opposed to the three pages we averaged on features—fine. I guess we wasted a lot of time in the old days. And my mind appears capable of learning that amount of dialogue, so I'm all for it."

It'll be nice having Susan Hayward around—and Joan Bennett is always welcome, too.

talking to women's groups, she says, "Mother, you wouldn't know what to do with yourself if you weren't working," and, of course, they're right." I asked both Susan and Joan what they thought about movies today. "I don't think very much of them," Joan said. "Why pay $5 to see something you can see on any street corner?"

Two Trained Dogs Sniff Out Bomb

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A San Antonio research scientist trained the two dogs that sniffed out a powerful bomb found aboard a jetliner at Kennedy airport in New York minutes before it was timed to go off, it was disclosed Thursday.

Ray Phillips, 32, of Southwest Research Institute here, said he trained the dogs last year in a program at the University of Mississippi.

Phillips said he knew nothing about training dogs when he began the nine-month program as its principal investigator.

A psychologist, he said the dogs were trained "according to learning principles."

"I had never trained a dog," he said. "I just took the principles of learning and applied them to the training of dogs."

He said the two dogs who found the bomb at New York Tuesday were a German Shepherd named Brandy and a Labrador Retriever named Sally, both females.

The animals were acquired by New York Police in December.

They were among eight dogs trained in the program to detect several types of explosives, Phillips said.

He said the main advantage of dogs in detecting bombs is that they are extremely fast.

BOYLE COLUMN

The Big Friendly Ear

NEW YORK (AP)—Hold still, mister. No, I won't let go of your lapels. All I want you to do is listen to my plan for getting rich.

Just listen—that's all. You see, that's the big trouble with the world today—nobody listens. Everybody wants to get into the act. Nobody wants to be the audience.

So, after noticing this for some years, I got my big idea. If nobody will lend anyone an ear, why not set up a corporation that will rent ears to people who need them to pour their tales of woe into?

So that's what I'm going to do. I have formed my own company called The Big Friendly Ear, Inc. Here is how it will work:

We'll rent thousands of small studios across the nation. In each studio will be a plain straight-backed chair facing a six-foot, mechanical, flesh-colored ear containing a four-foot mechanical human eye.

The idea couldn't be more simple. The customer simply puts a quarter in the slot, sits in the chair, looks the ear in the eye—and starts telling it his troubles.

The quarter will entitle the customer to 15 minutes of the Big Friendly Ear's full attention if he talks on any subject except sex. If he wants to talk about that, he will have to put in two quarters—for even a machine gets tired of listening to someone else's sex problems.

Basically, the Big Friendly Ear takes the place of a beloved friend, lover, spouse or bartender. Since it is padded, you can even get rid of your aggressive impulses by punching it.

You may think people won't pay to get a mechanical machine to listen to them. You are wrong. There are thousands of people walking America today who talk to anything—squirrels, elm trees, telephone poles, and the faces on billboards. They talk to themselves, too, but don't listen.

The quarter-a-ear fee charged by the machine is a real bargain. We deliberately are setting it low at the start because of the old saying that talk is cheap.

As the Big Friendly Ear becomes more complex through the manufacture of improved models, its fee will rise to $1 or more.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Adam Clayton Powell, the former Harlem congressman, is expected to leave Jackson Memorial Hospital by week's end.

Powell, 63, was airlifted from his Bimini retreat by a U.S. Coast Guard helicopter Monday after a four-month-old prostate operation developed complications and began bleeding, hospital officials said.

Business Mirror

NEW YORK (AP)—At this time last year the question was why business spending wasn't picking up, even though consumers were giving tentative signs that they were willing to expand their spending plans.

If consumers were getting ready to spend more, shouldn't business also spend in order to expand and meet the demand? It would seem so, and that is why some economists couldn't make sense out of the pattern.

This year the paradox is reversed. Consumer spending, though fairly strong, isn't showing the increase that many government and industry forecasters had looked for. It still could develop.

Business spending, however, is almost certain to be much stronger than a year ago, if the surveys are to be believed. One after another survey shows the same thing: Plans are big and growing bigger.

It is for this reason that some economists are holding to their projections of a $100-billion advance this year in the Gross National Product.

unswayed by the nervousness of those who are concerned about sluggish retail trade.

William Freund, vice president and chief economist of the New York Stock Exchange, expresses his view this way:

"Durable goods orders are higher; contract awards are rising; and (business) spending intentions, whether measured by the Department of Commerce or private agencies, all point strongly in an upward direction."

"In the annals of our economic history, there have been few times when the ground seemed to be quite so ripe for a broad-based and vigorous cyclical expansion as now."

You can't be more specific than that.

Hypochondriac's hubby needs a doctor, too

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My wife is a hypochondriac. She complains night and unfortunately, day. If one thing doesn't hurt her, something else does. She either can't sleep or she can't stay awake.

I have been sympathetic, but I am all worn out from listening to her. I can't get a good night's sleep, and the hours awake with her are a bore.

Her doctor said there is nothing wrong with her, but he keeps her well supplied with "tranquillizers" which are really just pills with nothing in them. [She complains about the "reaction" she gets from them, too.]

There is an Alcoholics Anonymous and a Gamblers Anonymous. Tell me, is there a Hypochondriacs Anonymous? THE REAL SUFFERER

DEAR SUFFERER: One who complains night and day about pains, imagined or real, can't sleep and can't stay awake, and has "reactions" from pills with nothing in them, is suffering in every sense of the word. Ask the doctor who said there was nothing wrong with her to recommend a doctor who treats "healthy" people with your wife's symptoms. And don't put it off, or you'll need treatment, too.

DEAR ABBY: I am a well-adjusted male homosexual who occasionally needs a female companion to accompany me to business and social functions. Conversely, I have female homosexual acquaintances who also need a male escort for certain occasions, and therefore we "help each other out."

The problem arises when I go out with the girl as a favor to her. Should I be expected to pick up the check for the entire evening?

I have had evenings which have cost me $30 and more. I hate to be a cheapskate, but I can't afford many of these outings. How do you suggest this be handled? PERPLEXED HOMOSEXUAL

DEAR PERPLEXED: Since you obviously are perfectly candid about why you "help each other out," level with each other in the matter of the finances. The one who needs the favor should pick up the check.

DEAR ABBY: We have a neighbor who is constantly painting his house. Also he has aluminum siding, he keeps painting the trim around the windows.

He uses a very small brush and keeps going round and round the house, and when he's finished he scrapes off the paint and starts to paint it all over again.

Another odd thing he does: When he paints the second story trim he leaves the can of paint on the ground, dips his little brush into the paint, climbs up the ladder and paints. And when he needs more paint he descends the ladder, dips his brush into the paint and climbs the ladder and paints some more.

I have watched him by the hour, completely fascinated. I wonder, is there something wrong with this man? PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Possibly not. Maybe he just enjoys the fresh air and exercise. Or likes to paint!

CONFIDENTIAL TO B. B.: From constantly rubbing up against a rich man, a poor man will get a hole in his sleeve.

Mrs. Graves, Students Attend Dance Convention

Mrs. Madeline Graves of Pampa was a featured ballet teacher at the recent Oklahoma Dance Masters Association convention. "Up, Up and Away," in Oklahoma City, Okla., and 11 of her dance students attended the event.

A graduate of Texas Christian University, with a BFA degree in ballet-theatre, Mrs. Graves has a studio in Pampa and is co-founder of the Panhandle's area ballet company, Ballet of the Golden Spread. She was lead dancer in many productions and featured dancer in the Fort Worth Opera Association's productions of "Faust," "La Traviata," and "Lucia di Lammermoor."

Mrs. Graves' students attending the classes in ballet, tap and jazz were Tamara Chambless, Anne Kadingo, Brenda Smith, Julie Jackson, Dana Kent, Kris Richardson, Marqueta Wampler, Linda Howard, Lee Ann Hall, Kim Chisum and Kim Simpson. Adults accompanying the group were Mrs. Kenneth Richardson, Mrs. Bill Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Chambless, and Mrs. Jane Kadingo.

Your Horoscope

By Jeanne Dixon

SATURDAY MARCH 11

Your birthday today: Responsibility and competence to carry it come naturally in the next several months. Recognition comes as you learn new skills. A chance to teach what you have mastered comes and should be made profitable for you. Today's natives tend to develop more than one style, conflicts between separate ways of existence, more than a single home with much commuting.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: For the weekend, select companions who are mature-minded instead of superficial. Formalities become an art form worth the practice.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Practical concerns crowd out personal expressions. There are so many valuable details to line up that it's a full day.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Remember to take care of your own natural interests. Cooperation comes over great distances. Proceed with courage and assurances of success.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Money and its management claim a great deal of your attention. Letting friends into the dealings isn't advisable for them or you.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Closer cooperation is necessary. The time has come when you must take into account the needs and wishes of those associated with you.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Any effort on your part changes things in larger proportion than your contribution. Choose a constructive direction for tipping the balance.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Select associates this weekend with care; focus on those who have adequate resources or make fluent use of what they have.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: An old promise may be deemed in a surprising way. Your knack for judging the emotional needs of others is at peak.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Your credit standing improves with discreet use. Make the most of a good day to build closer relations.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Your most remote friends move in closer, you briefly see another side to living, and enjoy your usual habits more when you get back to them.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Personal plans, which require travel or shopping, go smoothly. An early start offers a chance to switch directions before the day is over.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Patience with well-worn acquaintance, catering to sensitivity brings intangible rewards, perhaps a share of windfall.

Senior Center Corner

By Linnie Chandler

Sixty-six senior citizens met at the Lovett Library Thursday afternoon for their weekly meeting of games and fellowship.

Birthdays for the month of March were observed. Those receiving gifts were Mmes. Alice Frasier, Lucy Herliacher, Fern Hogsett, C.W. Lawrence and Ruby Stovall; and Messrs. J. P. Stephens, Matt Swain and P. I. Crumm.

Sponsoring Altrusans were hostesses and served sandwiches, coffee, cake and ice cream. Altrusans present were Mrs. Marie Fitzgerald, chairman; and Mmes. Louise Sewell, Georgia Johnson, Mary McDaniel, Lora Dunn, Marion Jameson, Olive Hills, Lillian Snow, J. Flanagan, Gertrude Barber, Marion Stroup, Glyndene Shelton, Lena Pearl Hobbs and Ruth Sewell.

Mrs. Audria Sanford was welcomed as a new member. Otis Stockman of New Jersey is in Pampa to take his mother, Mrs. Lydia Stockman home with him. We shall miss her very much.

Mrs. Pearl Slaton and friends visited Sherwood Shores a few days ago.

Mrs. Edith Lawrence plans to attend the Senior Play in Groom Friday night.

Mrs. Genia Noland and her guests attended a church dinner Sunday in White Deer.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Kuehl of Booker visited her mother, Mrs. Muriel Kingery, recently.

Henry Reese of Stinnett was released from Highland General Hospital Wednesday and spent the night with his sister, Mrs. Lillie Fulton, before returning home Thursday.

Mrs. Mabel Cullum has returned from a several weeks' visit with her son in Dallas.

Mrs. Claud Snell of Perryton visited Mrs. Fern Hogsett last week.

Mrs. Lela Southard was in Pampa for the funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Cooper.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Jameson are leaving this weekend for Tucson, Ariz., to visit friends and relatives.

SPRUCE DENIM Spruced-up denim is still a great look for a casual flare. Separates including tailored jackets, skirts and pants, even heavily lined coats can be switched around for the go-anywhere look.

Mobeetie OES Holds Meeting

MOBEETIE (Spl.)—The Mobeetie Eastern Star No. 554 met Tuesday night in the Masonic Lodge building. Mrs. Bessie Galmor, worthy matron, was in charge of the meeting.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Galmor, Mr. and Mrs. E.E. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Patterson, Beulah Grimes, Orville Greenhouse, and Melba Burch.

Dr. Bayless Is Guest Preacher

Dr. C. Gordon Bayless will be guest preacher at First Baptist Church the next three weeks. Pastor Dan B. Cameron will be away in revivals. Dr. Bayless has selected "What They Were Watching," for his sermon topic at 11 a.m. and "From Dishonor to Honor" for evening worship at 7. Morning worship is broadcast on Radio Station KPND and televised on Channel 13. The evening worship is televised only. George Warren, minister of education, has announced the Vacation Bible School dates: June 5-14 for First Baptist and June 5-9 for the Tulip House school. Warren reports that next week is the first of a four-weeks personalized visitation plan.

Deacons will have their regular meeting Monday, at 6:30 p.m. in the church dining hall. Tuesday is regular visitation with the ladies visiting at 9:30 a.m. and the men at 7 p.m. Wednesday evening's activities begin at 5:30 with the fellowship supper followed by prayer meeting at 6:15. Dr. Bayless will be in charge of prayer meeting.

'Jesus People' Invade Meeting; Accuse Methodists

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

When a band of casually dressed "Jesus people" overran a recent meeting of the United Methodist Council on Evangelism in San Francisco, some of them called themselves "Jews for Jesus."

Their carried signs accusing the church of anti-Semitism.

This is the latest wrinkle in the Jesus movement that has spread among youths across the country, and it involves some sensitive points both for Judaism and Christianity.

In the view of the young participants, it is a kind of re-emergence of olden messianic Judaism, holding firmly to Jewishness, but affirming the Jew, Jesus, as the Messiah.

A New York girl involved, Steffi Geiser, 21, says she had difficulty explaining her pro-Jesus position to her parents and in "trying to get them to understand I am not a Gentile," but "more Jewish" than before.

"The Jewish manifestations of the Jesus movement apparently have crept up in numerous places.

A recent issue of the evangelical weekly, Christianity Today, quotes a suburban Philadelphia rabbi as saying many Jewish youths were getting into the Jesus movement because of a "vacuum of identity" in many Jewish homes.

These young people have accepted this belief with a fervor that cannot be reasoned away," he says. "We must all share the blame."

Some church leaders have made similar comments about reasons for many Christian youths spurning the organized church, but joining the Jesus groups outside it. Dr. Robert Lifton, Yale University specialist in psycho-history, told a recent meeting of the Central Conference of American Rabbis concerning problems of Jewish youths that today they shift rapidly from one form of religious expression to another without permanent commitment to any one pattern.

After being immersed in the drug culture, a young person may turn to the Jesus movement, absorbing what he wants, and then move on to

Methodists To Get Rabbi

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco's innovative Glide Memorial United Methodist church will soon have a "rabbi in residence."

Rabbi Abraham L. Feinberg, a 72-year-old antiwar activist, author, singer and journalist, will work primarily with senior citizens said the Rev. Edward L. Peet. The rabbi has been a volunteer at the church.

"It's hard to say what he'll be doing," said the minister. "We just encouraged him to do his own thing."

The rabbi will be installed in simple ceremonies at each of two services next Sunday.

One of the three clergymen who visited North Vietnam in 1967 and met with Ho Chi Minh, he wrote a book about his trip, "Hanoi Diary."

Rabbi Feinberg studied opera and as a tenor was billed as "The Poet Prince of the Airwaves." During the Depression, he broadcast a nightly nationwide radio program using the name Anthony Frome.

Singers Set Local Concert

The Faith Chapel Singers will present a gospel singing concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Pampa Chapel of the Apostolic Faith, 711 E. Harvester.

The singing group is from Faith Chapel and Student Center adjacent to the campus of West Texas State University, Canyon. The Student Center, directed and coordinated by Rev. & Mrs. Marcus Adair, provides various activities and religious guidance for college students. The Chapel Singers have appeared on tour in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, New Mexico, and Arkansas.

The hour long concert under the direction of Dale Ditto will include a variety of songs from special arrangements of traditional hymns to contemporary songs by Ralph Carmichael. A girls trio, a male quartet, and an instrumental group will also be featured.

The public is invited to attend, according to Rev. Edwin Waterbury, Pastor.

Modern Search

MARYKNOLL, N.Y. (AP)—Contemporary man is showing renewed interest in religion because he is "disillusioned with all the havoc done by science," says Fordham University philosopher, Dr. John B. Chethimattam.

"He is looking for a different understanding of his own life, his own experience, a deeper meaning," the professor said at the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America here.

Hassidic Judaism or some other religious form, Dr. Lifton said.

"It is the speed of the change which is new," he added. "It is not new that all young people are searching and seeking for self-identity."

Philadelphia reportedly has a sizeable number of Jewish Jesus people, who meet at a large house called "The Hidden Matzoh" to sing, pray, cultivate their Jewish heritage and tell of their new love of Jesus.

The "Jews for Jesus" appellation was started in San Francisco, where evangelist Martin Rosen leads a group of them.

Most major Christian denominations have shut down agencies formerly specializing in converting Jews, recognizing Christianity's own Jewish foundations in a Jewish Jesus, Jewish apostles and other Jewish marks of the original church.

Both Roman Catholicism's Second Vatican Council and the World Council of Churches have emphasized this relationship, and some Christian theologians maintain that if Christianity is a validly saving faith for Gentiles, it rests on the saving validity of Judaism.

However, some nondenominational Christian groups continue to evangelize among Jews, including an independent organization called the American Board of Missions to the Jews, with branches in numerous cities.

The Moody Bible Institute in Chicago and the Bible Institute of Los Angeles also carry on evangelism among Jews. But most major denominations have dropped it as a special concern.

The Weekly Message of Inspiration

Rev. Dudley Bristow
Pastor-First Baptist Church
Lefors, Texas

"The Church's Biggest Problem: Stunted Christians."

"For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat" (Heb. 5:12).

Scripture Reading: Heb. 5:11-6:1.

From the outset of the war in Vietnam, questions were raised concerning the commitment of the South Vietnamese. There have been many times when the South Vietnamese have not seemed to care very deeply about whether victory was obtained or not. Returning veterans indicate that it is sometimes impossible to tell who the enemy really is. One man may be an ally in the daytime and an enemy at night.

Of greater concern is the fact that such characteristics are found in great numbers of people who are members of churches. The writer of Hebrews pauses in the midst of a discussion of the priesthood of Christ to direct a warning to those who claim Christ as Saviour and yet resemble an army that doesn't care. He addresses those whose actions fail to indicate a dedication necessary for victory in the name of Christ. The church's greatest foe has never been the forces of evil but rather the weakness and immaturity of its own membership.

Christians who shun Christlikeness and refuse responsibility are promoters of stagnation. The joy offered in the Christian life is dependent upon progress. There is no continuing excitement to be had by those who pack up for a summer expedition into a virgin wilderness, but who decide to mill around the base camp instead of setting out on the journey. The truth of the matter is that Christians who have never discovered that Christ intends life to be an exciting journey into new areas of service.

If you are a member of a New Testament, Bible Preaching Church, and have some problems with yourself spiritually it may be immaturity. God called us out of our immaturity and the crisis comes at the point of our obedience. We serve a Christ who became "obedient unto death"

Pampam Featured Soloist At WTSU Concert March 13

CANYON--Doug Laramore, Pampa junior, will be a featured trumpet soloist when the West Texas State University stage band presents its first concert of the year March 13. The 23-member ensemble, whose repertoire includes jazz, pop and rock compositions, will perform at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre. The concert is free. Programmed for the concert are "Scarborough Fair," arranged by Don Schamber; "Caroline and Her Magic Cello Enter the World of Jazz-Rock" and "Caroline Encounters Tom Swift and His Marvelous Jazz-Rock Machine," both by Joe Davis of the University of Oklahoma music faculty. Also, "Suite: Ducks," by Paul Lohorn and Jim Towater; "Ode to an East Boston Ferry" by Alf Clausen; "Mini-Skirts" by Frank Fisher; "Reflections" by Schamber and "Variations on a Theme" by Eric Satie.

Pampa Youth To Be In WT Opera Cast

CANYON--Greg Dennis, Pampa freshman, will be in the cast of the West Texas State University Opera Workshop production of Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman" to be presented April 19-22 in the Fine Arts Theatre.

The opera, replete with Tautonic symbolism, takes as its hero the life-byronic poet, E. T. A. Hoffman, combining three of his bizarre tales dealing with the forces of good and evil with the erratic essence of the author himself.

The opera is perhaps best known for its three Mephistophelian villains--an evil vendor of magic glasses, a sinister magician and a maniacal, violin-playing wizard.

Pampa Students On Dean's Roll At UT In Austin

Two Pampa students were listed on the honor roll for the fall semester of the College of Humanities at the University of Texas at Austin.

The students were John Brent Worley, 417 Jupiter, magna cum laude, and Sharland Elizabeth Gaston, 2519 Christine.

To be listed on the honor roll, a student must earn at least 52 grade points during the semester, passing all courses. Total grade points are calculated by multiplying the number of semester hours taken by the value of each grade (A equals 4 points).

National League West

PROSPECTUS: The Dodgers spent a long winter wondering what they had done to deserve finishing just one agonizing game behind San Francisco in 1971. They also did some other things, trading the human hot potato, Richie/Dick Allen, to White Sox and acquiring Frank Robinson from Baltimore. The Dodgers hope that Robinson will lead the league in intangibles and provide a spiritual lift. On the practical side Los Angeles is still spectacular but balanced all around and if Robinson and rookies Ron Cey and Tom Paciorek can light some fires they could win it. There are serious questions, however, about pitching.

PITCHING:The key is Bill Singer (10-17), who has struggled last two seasons. He must recover in the likely event that Al Downing (20-9) lets down after great comeback season. Don Sutton (17-12, 2.55 ERA) is a good prospect for 20-win year and Claude Osteen (14-11) and Tom John (13-16 with White Sox) should win as often as they lose. Bullpen is good. No cliché has been left unturned in talking about Hoyt Wilhelm (0-1), so suffice it to say he is 47 years old, has pitched in 1,054 major league games (a record).

INFIELD:Parker slipped to .274, 62 RBIs but is still exceptional at first. At 39, Maury Wills (.281) hasn't lost his batting eye. He has lost enough speed to be a liability at short, though, and may see more action at third. Cey (.328, 32 homers, 123 RBIs at Spokane) is also a third baseman, however, so conflicts are likely. Waiting for leftover playing time will be Bill Grabarkewitz (.225), sidelined with shoulder injury last year, veteran Jim Lefebvre (.245), Bill Russell (.227), Bob Valentine (.249) and Steve Garvey (.227).

OUTFIELD:Willie Davis (.309, 74 RBIs) in center has finally found secret of consistency. Robinson (28 homers, 99 RBIs with Orioles) is 36 but should be good for 130 games in right. And Manny Mota (.312) and Willie Crawford (.281) will fill in capably if Paciorek (105 RBIs at Spokane) can't cut it.

CATCHING:Duke Sims (.274) had only a disappointing 25 RBIs so Dodgers are looking for help. Chris Cannizzaro (.213 with Cubs) isn't it but Joe Ferguson (.216) may be.

Predicted Finish: Second in West.

Baseball Roundup

AP Press Writer
if major league baseball players go on strike, Joe Torre will be one of the country's highest-priced pickets.

Torre agreed to a two-year contract with the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday, ending his spring holdout a few hours after the Chicago White Sox had voted 31-0 to authorize a possible player strike.

The unanimous White Sox vote came following a 90-minute meeting with Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association.

The bone of contention is an acceptable increase for the current pension agreement which expires March 31. Miller, who is touring the spring training camps of all teams, asked for the vote following a Wednesday meeting with John Gaherin, chief negotiator for the owners. According to Miller, the owners scaled down a $372,000 increase offered in January to $250,000 at Wednesday's meeting.

The reduction, according to Miller, meant the owners were "deliberately trying to provoke a players strike. That's the only way you can explain that kind of negotiating behavior," Miller said.

Miller said the strike could take several forms. The players might refuse to work after March 31 or refuse to play in any Saturday afternoon or Monday night game scheduled for national television, according to the players' negotiator.

Cecil Uphaw, Atlanta player rep, who ended his holdout only a few days ago, said, "I will take no action until I hear from Marvin. I haven't heard of a strike, but I don't think any player wants to go that far."

"We'd rather have everybody's mind on baseball rather than thinking about the possibility of a players strike," said Harry Dalton, general manager of the California Angels. Billy Cowan, the Angels player spokesman, said "no one has really given it much thought. We're just sitting back, waiting to see what happens."

Buzzie Bavasi, president of the San Diego Padres, said he expected to have full details of the conflict when the National League owners meet in St. Petersburg March 22. "It's nice to know," said Bavasi, "that the players are in a position where they feel they can afford to strike."

Meanwhile, Torre, the National League's Most Valuable Player last season, finally agreed to terms with the Cardinals. The slugging third baseman, whose .363 batting average and 137 runs batted in led the league, accepted a two-year contract that reportedly calls for $130,000 in 1972 and $150,000 next season.

In Thursday's exhibition games, Pittsburgh edged the New York Mets 5-4, the Chicago Cubs downed Cleveland 5-3, Oakland topped San Francisco 5-1, Boston shaded the New York Yankees 2-1 and Minnesota routed the Chicago White Sox 10-1.

El Paso Is Site Of Weekend Track

By RICKEY WRIGHT News Staff Writer

The Pampa Track squad left this morning enroute for El Paso where they will participate in the Irvin Invitational meet.

Amarillo High will be the only school from the Pampa area attending. The remainder of the teams will be from around the El Paso Area.

According to Ed Lehnick, trackster mentor, the same meet was won last year by the Harvesters, "but it will be difficult to say what kinds of teams will be there this time as we have had previous contact with only one of the participating schools."

At the meet Lehnick expects about 14-15 schools. There will be only a division competition, though there will be a few sophomore relays.

No injuries were reported from the last meet where Pampa took the Top O' Texas Invitational hand over fist, so all are ready.

The Irving meet tomorrow will be similar to that of last week's as it is a one day meet with the Harvesters leaving today and returning to town Sunday.

Also in High School sports today the Harvesters baseball team will host the squad of sluggers from Anadaco, Oklahoma at 4 p.m. at Optimist Park.

Tomorrow the Harvesters will meet the same team in a double header beginning at 12:30.

Baseball head coach Deck Wolrd commented as "not being very familiar with the Sooner team, but has observed some improvement from the Harvesters during the last week of practice."

"We are coming along very nicely," Wolrd commented, "some of the boys formerly participating in basketball are a little unprepared," he went on to add.

The tentative lineup for today's match as in probable batting order is: Rick Musgrave at right field, Gary Haynes at third base, Dale Ammons at catcher, Jody Johnson at center field or Mike Edgar at shortstop. Fifth to bat is Al Ferguson at left field followed by either Bill Simon or Larry Knutson at first base, Marsh Gamblin at second base will swing seventh, A. J. Brewer or Roy Hendricks at center field and Jeff Hogan to pitch.

Hogan, a right hander, is 0-1 for the season.

"That line-up is subject to change as I see the batting line-up of the Oklahoma team," commented Wolrd.

The Harvesters stand 1-2 for the season.

In the double header tomorrow Jody Johnson will lead as pitcher and Larry Knutson will toss the following game. Johnson is right handed and Knutson is a south-paw.

Today in High School Competition the netters of Miss Bonnie Grantham will face the Hereford squad in Pampa.

With a weekend like this one, it is difficult not to be a Harvester fan in some spring sport.

The well-coiffed baseball player is coming to spring training with a little different look these days, Ed Hermann of the Chicago White Sox, above, and the formerly crew-cut Pete Rose of Cincinnati, both sported fashionably hairy looks when they arrived in Florida to get ready for the 1972 season.

John Muford of Mansfield, Mass., captains the Fordham bowling team.

ABA Roundup

By Associated Press
UNIONDALE, N.M. (AP) — New York's Rick Barry was on the sidelines with a sore foot.

Virginia's Charlie Scott was on the court, setting an American Basketball Association single-season scoring record. So you'd think Virginia, a second place club with a winning record, would not have too much trouble beating the Nets, a third place club with a losing record, right?

That's what Virginia Coach Al Bianchi thought, and that's why he was so upset when the Nets outplayed his Squires and posted a 113-99 victory Thursday night.

In the only other ABA game of the night, Memphis whipped Denver 113-102.

After trailing in the early going, the Nets pulled ahead 28-27 after 1:34 of the second quarter. They led by 54-42 at the half, pulled away to an 83-59* bulge in the third quarter and coasted home.

Bianchi was not pleased with the result.

"I told them at halftime that a fine was coming if they didn't win," Bianchi declared after the game.

"A big chunk" was the way Bianchi described the fine which he levied against each member of the Squires. That included Scott, whose 24 points gave him 2,524 for the season, four more than the ABA record set by Spencer Haywood of Denver in 1969-70.

"We had to play harder because we knew Rick was out."

Second Round of District 3-AAAA Golf To Start
The second round of District 3-AAAA golf will be held today at Amarillo's Public Golf Course at the Amarillo Air Force Base.

Tascosa is presently leading the district standings just ahead of second place Borger and Amarillo High. The Caprock Longhorns are holding on the third place slot while the Harvesters are trailing first by 15 strokes.

Bobby Mitchell Leads Citrus Golf Classic

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Bobby Mitchell gambled and won—this time—but pro golf's grim-eyed high rollers were in hot pursuit of the drawing Virginia today in the second round of the $150,000 Florida Citrus Open golf tournament.

under par with a gambling birdie on the 15th hole at the wind-swept Rio Pinal Country Club course, had an early first round 66 Thursday and it stood up for the lead all day.

But Lee Trevino was just two strokes back at 68 and warned: "The puts are starting to fall. I've got the right speed and I'm beginning to make some, just like I said I would."

Gary Player, the South African who always ranks as a major threat, was another stroke back in a group of a half dozen at 69. So was veteran Tommy Bolt.

Jack Nicklaus 59-year-old Sam Snead and Masters champion Charles Coody were in a big bunch at 70.

"Actually, it was a pretty good round of golf," said Nicklaus, the only two-time champion this year and the man who just took over Arnold Palmer's accustomed spot atop the all-time money winning list. "Everything considered I'm not too disappointed."

Palmer, the defending champion, matched par 72 but was far from discouraged.

"I still didn't hit the driver like I'd like to," he said. "And I didn't make one, single, solitary putt all day. But with a good round tomorrow I'd be

OAKLAND A'S

American League West

PROSPECTUS: The question is: Will the American League batters catch up to Vida Blue? Blue was virtually unhittable and unbeatable in 1971, finishing with a 24-8 record, 1.82 ERA, eight shutouts, 307 strikeouts. Also Cy Young Award winner and MVP. It's true though that Blue was 17-3 at All-Star break but only 7-5 after. But Blue is not the A's, altogether. Sal Bando, No. 2 MVP in the league, is at third. Slugger Reggie Jackson is right. The team is solid at every position and the acquisition of left-handed pitcher Kan Holtzman from the Cubs (for outfielder Rick Monday) should bolster pitching. If Blue can't, maybe Kenny can.

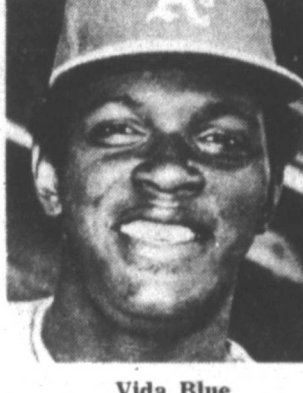

PITCHING:Besides Blue and Holtzman, the A's have potentially redoubtable starters in Jim (Caffish) Hunter, Diego Segui, John (Blue Moon) Odom and Chuck Dobson. But Dobson (15-5) underwent arm surgery in winter and Odom (10-12) still has some elbow misery. Look for more from Hunter (21-11, 2.96). Good relievers in Darold Knowles, Rollie Fingers, Bob Locker. Useful for a tired Holtzman.

INFIELD:First baseman Mike Epstein can hit the long ball (should improve on his 19 homers), second baseman Dick Green decided not to retire in 1971 and had one of his best seasons, especially in field. Bert Campaneris is one of best shortstops in game. Tough Bando at third.

OUTFIELD:Jackson, Angel Mangual (who has center all to himself with Monday gone) and Joe Rudi (.267) in left provides young outfielders who may have their best seasons all together. Tommy Davis, George Hendrick are strong backups.

CATCHING:Dave Duncan (.253) and Gene Tenace (.274) will share the catching. Off last season's track record, they seem to know how to handle the pitchers.

Predicted Finish: Second in West.

Hot Pants To Spark Ladies Golf Tourney

HOUSTON (AP) — Bud Erickson said the new format had not met with approval by all the touring proettes but they're willing to go along with what the sponsor wants.

Marlene Hagge, who won the (Burdine's) Invitational in January and a favorite in the Lady Eve tournament, isn't too concerned about the innovative format.

"If they're going to play for $85,000, they can do whatever they want to," said Mrs. Hagge, who ranks sixth on the all-time women's money list.

Mrs. Hagge said the weather would play a big part in the outcome of the meet here, being played over the 6,407 yard par 73 memorial park course. She said winds would cause trouble because of lack of protection.

A team headed by Debbie Austin and including New Orleans Saint running back Hoyle Granger, won Thursday's $2,000 pro-am with a 58 total.

As for hot pants, Erickson never promoted their use by the proettes but he didn't discourage them either.

2. Don't Rock the Boat!

(Second of a Series.)

By DAVID WOLF

(From "Foul! The Connie Hawkins Story," by David Wolf. Copyright © 1972 by David Wolf. Published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Inc., New York.)

When Connie Hawkins was a high school senior his reading material consisted of comic books and the sports section — on those days someone told him his picture was in it. He had an elementary school reading level and was so intimidated by the printed word it would be 10 years before he got a driver's license, because he felt he couldn't handle the written test.

But 250 colleges wrote to Hawkins that winter. A dozen flew him to their campuses. More than 50 sent adults to tell him personally how much they wanted him as a student at their institutions of higher learning.

Recruiters took Hawkins to dinner and slipped him cash or basketball tickets. Coaches from every section of the country — who smugly assured their local Rotary Clubs they were building character—told Connie they would pay him to enroll. Some promised him free clothing, plane trips, and a salary. Prominent businessmen were eager to show the teenager from Bedford-Stuyvesant how to break rules with impunity. A professional basketball team even offered to put Hawkins on its payroll while he was in college.

He had never been in an airplane. Now Seattle, Indiana, Illinois, Northwestern, Iowa, Colorado and Ohio State were just some of the schools that made him their guest.

"It was like the story of Cinderella and the pumpkin. My pumpkin turned into a Cadillac Eldorado," said Hawkins. Parties, fieldhouses, steak dinners — this was the picture painted by each school. There was no attempt to show him what life would be like if he actually enrolled. Hawk was never invited to sit in on a class. He never spoke with a grade adviser or guidance counselor.

Nathan Mazer, the head of the Boys High English Department, tried to help Hawk prepare for college. "If you are serious about college," he said, "you must have some credentials. First of all, you must know how to take a test. If you are willing, Connie, I'll help you after school. But you'll have to work. What do you say?"

Connie was surprised and a little worried. "O.K.," he said. Mazer was a short, bald man who spoke a little like a Sholem Aleichem rabbi. Connie liked and trusted him. The first day they worked together, Mazer gave a reading test and an

I.Q. test to the young man. 250 colleges wanted as a student. Connie's reading level was seventh grade. His I.Q. was 65: low-grade moron. Mazer had been teaching ghetto kids too long to put much stock in the actual scores. He knew the tests "cultural bias" — the questions related only to a middle-class youngster's frame of reference. "I'd seen the intelligence Connie had on a basketball court," he recalls. "Not just instinct, but actual deductive thought. I knew he was much brighter than those scores indicated."

By graduation Hawk's I.Q. score had been raised to a very respectable 113—an increase of 48 points. His reading level was graded at second month of the eleventh grade.

"I was so proud," Connie recalls. "The best part was that Mr. Mazer was happy with what I'd done. I felt I was ready for college then. I felt real confident."

The tragedy was that Hawk was now ready for high school.

Connie had visited Iowa in the spring, and it had been a good trip. He hadn't seen any classes, but "I liked how big and pretty the campus was, and how nice and genuine and country-like the people seemed. Everybody was smiling at me. And they introduced me to this guy, Mr. Davies, who owned a feed store. The coaches told me if I ever needed anything while I was there at school, Mr. Davies would take care of it."

Eventually, Connie picked Iowa. Iowa's deal was the best. "They seemed like nice people," Connie says, "and they offered me the most money."

The summer of 1960 was the happiest — and most disastrous — of Connie's life. His Iowa decision wasn't made public until early September, so the recruiters in a benefit game on Long Island. There were always Connie and Roger at the people in the schoolyards he'd give them who wanted to talk to Hawk a lift home or lend them his about playing in games, and car. Sometimes, after touring he learned that a few dollars name games, he'd take usually went along with such them out for hamburgers and Cokes, or even a dinner.

They entered a small room, possibly a law library, stag films at a friend's off Molinas's office. Inside apartment. was a short, stocky man Molinas was setting Hawk- with heavy eyebrows, wear- ins up. But not for sale to a ing a slightly rumpled sports college: He didn't care jacket. "Connie," said Mo- where Connie went, as long linas, "this is Joey, he's a as there was a betting fine client of mine. Why don't on the games. His plan was you two talk for a while." to have Hawkins start shav-

Connie had never heard of ing points at the start of his Joe Hacken. When Jack met sophomore year.

Early in the summer, Connie met the person whose car Roger Brown was borrowing. Hawk was with Billy Cannon and Eddie Churan on the courts at Manhattan Beach, when a tall man with dark receding hair walked over and extended a hand that was almost as large as Connie's. "Hawkins," he said, "I'm Jack Molinas."

Molinas stood 6'6" and was built like a ballplayer. He had been an All-American at Columbia and a star rookie in the NBA. But midway through the 1954 season he had been banned from the league for betting on games. Now he was a successful lawyer, player-coach of an Eastern League team, and at 28, still among the city's best schoolyard players.

But Molinas wasn't just a lawyer and an athlete. He was the key figure in a nationwide gambling operation feed store. The coaches told me if I ever needed anything while I was there at school, Mr. Davies would take care of it."

It's easy to get into trouble even before you leave the dock—just jump into a small boat. Jumping is a good way of hurting yourself and capsizing the boat. Climb in carefully and once you are aboard, load the boat carefully. You can't carry eight people in a boat designed for three. If everybody sits on one side, everybody will end up swimming. Too much weight forward or aft will make the boat hard to handle and dangerous.

Improvement Is Making A Change In White Sox

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The Chicago White Sox went from dead last to third place in their first season under Manager Chuck Tanner.

They sliced 23 games from their losing total of 106 games in 1970 and added it to their winning total of 79 games last season.

"If we could make that much more improvement this year, where would it put us?" asks Tanner.

It would give the Sox a 102-60 record and probably land them in first place in the American League West for the 1972 season. But improving another 23 games will not be that easy.

Under Tanner, the Sox have the desire. They also have the power with acquisition of Dick Allen to go along with Bill Melton, who led the American League with 33 home runs, and Carlos May, the league's

No. 7 hitter with a .294 average.

And they'll not be lacking on the mound with a staff which includes 22-game winning Wilbur Wood and Tom Bradley, a 15-game winner in his first season with Chicago.

In addition, they added Stan Bahnsen, a solid performer acquired from the New York Yankees, and for the fourth man there's Bart Johnson who made his mark last season by coming out of the bullpen throwing smoke.

But, alas, the Sox for a change could be in trouble defensively.

Their big problems down to the end of the 1971 season were up the middle defensively. They started out with Mike Andrews at second and rookie Bee Bee Richard at shortstop. Neither was at either position when the season ended.

In centerfield, everyone got a shot at the job. At one time or another Rich Reichardt, Ed

Stroud, Lee Maye, Pat Kelly and Jay Johnstone played the key outfield spot with Johnstone finishing the season there.

The Sox went into the winter deals determined to strengthen the middle but their big swap came in the acquisition of Allen, who prefers to be called Dick instead of Richie.

Although Allen agreed to a contract of $125,000, making him the highest paid player in Chicago history, he still hasn't been heard from at camp.

"I'm not worried, he'll show up," vowed Tanner. "And I know when he gets here he'll be in shape."

When Allen shows up he'll be stationed at first base with Melton at third. Once again, the Sox will have to go with the second-base combination of Richard and Andrews. Their hopes are Andrews has over-come a sore arm which prevented him from completing double plays and that Richard can do the job with a year of experience under him.

There's no change behind the plate and probably none is needed. Tom Egan and Ed Herrmann shared the chores last season and combined for more than 20 home runs and 70 runs batted in.

With Allen taking over first base, May goes to left field. That leaves Reichardt, Kelly, Johnstone, Walt Williams and Jim Lyttle, a pickup from the Yankees, battling for the two remaining jobs.

Wood will head the pitching rotation followed by Bradley and Bahnsen, a 14-game winner with the Yankees. If Johnson rounds out the rotation, Tanner will have to rebuild the bullpen.

Veteran Joe Horlen could become the relief ace followed by such young, strong arms as Terry Forster, Steve Kealey and Dave Lemonds. There're also experienced throwers as Vicente Romo, Lowell Palmer and Rich Robertson around.

College Poll

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Press Writer
The buzzer boomed and Adolph Rupp bounded off the bench, rushing to the side of his sweet Kentucky babes.

There was no sign of chronic bad legs.

"I was mighty proud of my boys," said the basketball monarch after his Kentucky Wildcats beat Tennessee 67-66 Thursday night for a share of the Southeastern Conference title and a berth in the NCAA playoffs.

Rupp was just a kid again, shaking countless hands and twitching animatedly through his grinning players.

"We knew Tennessee would be tough," said Rupp, tasting the joy of another SEC winner at the age of 70. "We had to scrap all the way."

Rupp's 27th conference title wasn't fashioned easily. Pre-season favorites, the Wildcats had to play catch-up to Tennessee in the last few weeks.

"They simply outgout us and deserved to win," said Tennessee Coach Ray Mears, whose squad wound up in a dead tie with Kentucky but lost the NCAA berth because of an earlier loss to the Wildcats.

While the SEC finally settled things for the NCAA's post-season tournament the Atlantic Coast Conference began its playoff Thursday for a tourney berth.

Two of the teams that were supposed to win the first round did—Maryland defeated Clemson 54-52 and Virginia beat Wake Forest 74-65. But Duke upset favored North Carolina State 73-60 to earn a semifinal berth.

Volleyball Team Defeats Bulldogs On Borger Courts

Pampa High School Volleyball is going and growing stronger with every game on the schedule. Last night the girls downed Borger in both the varsity and junior varsity brackets.

The A-team controlled the match 15-9 in the first two games to capture their victory. The B-team was a little slower getting started as they were down 15-2 before coming back for a 15-6 and 15-9 to win the three-game series.

The team will be hosting Palo Duro March 14. The Tuesday night games will start at 6:30 p.m. for the B-team and 8 p.m. for the varsity squad in Harvester Fieldhouse.

Why Refunds Are Delayed?

DALLAS—"Where is my refund?" is a question asked by thousands of North Texas taxpayers every year, District Director of Internal Revenue, Ellis Campbell, Jr., said today.

For many, the answer is that the refund is held up because the Post Office cannot deliver the check. People move without leaving a forwarding address, Campbell said.

Another reason is that the taxpayer's name or address is unreadable on the return. This can be avoided by using the pre-addressed label on the return filed. Taxpayers should peel the label off the outside of the tax forms package and place it on the return filed. Campbell said any necessary corrections should be made on the label itself.

Price Nominates Ten Area Youths To Vie For Academy Appointments

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa announced today the names of ten Texas Panhandle young men he has nominated to compete for appointment to two 18th District vacancies at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., and one vacancy at the United States Military Academy in West Point, N.Y.

Price remarked that he felt it was unfortunate that more young men have not indicated a first preference for the United States Merchant Marine Academy. No nominations were made for this academy this year due to a lack of interest.

No vacancies were available for the United States Air Force Academy from the 18th Congressional District this year, Price said. Each Congressman is allowed to have five (5) appointees in each service academy at one time (excluding the Merchant Marine Academy which is filled by competitive state-wide consideration).

Congressman Price reiterated that he believes a service academy education is one of the highest privileges any young man can experience. He also mentioned that those who are interested in being considered for a nomination to the class commencing in the summer of 1973 should contact his Washington office at 430 Cannon House Office Building.

Dismal Future Cast For Cancer Vaccine

HOUSTON (AP) — A National Cancer Institute official says the feasibility of developing a vaccine against any type of malignant disease in the near future is a dismal prospect at the present time.

Dr. Frank J. Rauscher Jr. addressed the opening session Wednesday of the annual symposium on fundamental cancer research sponsored by the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute.

He said it is not fair to promise the public a vaccine—or any other form of prevention or treatment—until the cancer scientists know they can fulfill such a pledge.

"Of course, I'm not a vaccine man—I just don't wave the flag," he said during a news conference following his talk.

He said much more very complex work at the highly specialized molecular level must be done before the exact relationship of viruses to human cancers can be understood and perhaps before a vaccine could be realistically discussed.

He said with the passage of the National Cancer Act of 1971 and President Nixon's personal interest in the war against malignant diseases, the entire scientific community is entering a new age of accountability.

"Our major goal, of course, is the prevention of cancer in man," he said.

He said steeper targets toward that achievement include a one-third reduction in the number of cancer cases by 1976.

This accomplishment alone would save at least 115,000 lives and an estimated $3.8 billion in economic earning power by the year 2000, he said.

He said one sure way to eliminate many cancer cases is by getting rid of the assorted environmental factors believed to cause or play a role in causing some 85 per cent of all cancers. These include hazardous chemicals, harmful drugs and cigarettes, he said.

Pampa Senior Will Present Recital At WT

CANYON—Bill Duggan, Pampa senior, and Marjane LaLanne of Marfa will be presented in a joint senior recital March 20 at West Texas State University.

With Duggan on trumpet and Miss LaLanne on saxophone and bassoon, the duo will perform at 4 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre.

Programmed for performance are Torelli's "Concerto," Vivaldi's "Sonata in E Minor for Bassoon," Hummel's "Concerto," Bach's "Andante et Allegro," Porphiro's "Concertino," Glaser-Rascher's "Variations on a Gavotte by Corelli" and Piker's "Dance and March."

Assisting in the recital will be pianists Mary Helen Demus, part-time instructor in music, and David Boothe, Amarillo junior.

Other accompanists include Pampa junior Doug Laramore, trumpet; Martha Davis, Midland senior, flute; David Smith, bassoon, Edinburg junior; Jack Nall, Amarillo senior, trombone; and Memphis sophomore Sandy McQueen, trombone.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Virgil Grissom's widow has agreed to a $350,000 out-of-court settlement of her $20 million suit against North American Rockwell Corp. and three subsidiaries, according to her attorney.

North American Rockwell was prime contractor on the Apollo 1 spacecraft in which Grissom, Edward H. White II and Roger B. Chaffee were killed when a flash fire erupted in the cabin during a launch pad test Jan. 27, 1967.

In a phone conversation Wednesday from Houston, Texas, attorney Ronald D. Krist said Betty Grissom had agreed to the settlement.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Barry Goldwater Jr., R-Calif., is engaged to marry 25-year-old Susan Lee Gherman, a business major at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The 33-year-old congressman, whose office announced the engagement Wednesday, is the son of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Miss Gherman is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Mort Gherman of Newport Beach, Calif.

No wedding date has been set.

Unemployed Man Shoots His Father

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The arrest of a 22-year-old man here Wednesday ended an ordeal for a family that was tied up for hours at gunpoint, police said.

Officers arrested the man at the local Texas Employment Commission office, where they said he shot and wounded his father and slashed two other persons with a hunting knife.

Police Sgt. Doug Houseton gave this account:

The man became angry because the TEC had not given him an unemployment check, and he tied up his parents and three brothers and sisters Tuesday night, guarding them with a pistol.

He drove to the TEC office early Wednesday with his family in a car, still bound with ropes.

Armed with a knife, a loaded revolver and 22 extra bullets, he jumped from the car and headed for the TEC office as employees began arriving.

He was quoted as saying he would kill his family and everyone at the TEC office if he did not get a paycheck.

The man's father and brother had worked themselves free and sped after him. The father was shot in the chest and the brother was shot in the arm by the man's hand. The brother and a TEC employee were slashed by the hunting knife as the man was subdued and taken into custody by police.

The injured men were not reported seriously hurt.

Saint Peter

They Walked With Christ

By DAVID POLING

In almost every political or religious movement, there comes a time when the first followers become weary and no longer sustain peak enthusiasm. During Jesus' public ministry, that moment arrived when people began to ask who He was. Some said He was Elijah, returned from the dead. But it was Peter the fisherman who said Jesus was the Christ, the Son of the Living God. This theological brainstorm came from an unsophisticated boatman—the one Jesus chose to be the rock which would be a foundation for the emerging Christian community.

Peter's personality joined those qualities that combined risk, discipline, force and understanding. Although his brusque impulsiveness would cause a heartbreaking betrayal of Jesus on Good Friday, he would later prove to be the man Christ designated to guide His young flock.

Peter exemplified three virtues that have been part of every Christian advance over the centuries:

- He was a layman. Jesus intentionally chose one who was not controlled or shaped by the Establishment.
- He was not tied to Israel. The world became his parish.
- He cared for other people more than himself. At first he employed force. But Christ's way became his message and the good news would reach across mountains and seas, firm on the Rock of faith.

Tower Designates Area Coordinator

AUSTIN—Sen. John Tower today designated an Amarillo grade school teacher as coordinator for 13 counties in the Amarillo area of the Senator's re-election campaign to the U.S. Senate.

Miss Sue Anne Wiens, second and third grade teacher at the Lawndale Elementary School in Amarillo, will coordinate campaign activities in Gray, Potter, Randall, Swisher, Childress, Carson, Wheeler, Hall, Collingsworth, Donley, Briscoe, Armstrong and Oldham counties.

A graduate of West Texas State University, Miss Wiens is active as a Sunday School teacher, youth sponsor, and Girl Scout planning board adviser at the Polk Street Methodist Church in Amarillo.

She served as vice chairman of the Republican party in Potter county in 1970 and 1971.

Man Can Live Without Food For Five Weeks

Man can live without food for as long as five weeks but only four or five days without water, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Walter Hagen, in 1922, was the first U.S. golfer to win the British Open Tournament.

Worry Clinic

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph.D., M.D.

Cornelia's experience is typical of the way women try to appease their conscience by calling me a "Sexologist." Public opinion is like a clock's pendulum! It swings back and forth between extremes. Now the pendulum has reached smut and rank pornography!

CASE T-523: Cornelia D., aged 28, is an active church leader.

"Dr. Crane," she told me over the telephone, "our pastor in Indianapolis has suggested that we bring in an outside speaker maybe once per month.

"So I suggested to our Women's Society that I hoped we could get you.

"But do you know their first reaction to my idea? They exclaimed, 'Why, that awful Sexologist! How can you ever suggest such a thing?'"

"But when I told them you had taught the Bible Class at the Methodist Temple in Chicago for 35 years and had addressed church groups of Presbyterians, Catholics, Jews, Baptists, Mormons, etc., they did a right-about-face.

"In fact, they decided we should invite you to speak Sunday morning on a Bible theme.

"But see if you couldn't stay over for an evening address on 'Sex and Marriage Problems.' Isn't this rather typical of women's reactions?"

Women's "No"

Experienced men have learned that a woman's "No" may not mean what it says!

Since I pioneered the scientific discussion of Marriage and Family Problems in this daily newspaper column, I have long been labeled a "Sexologist" and the "American Dr. Freud."

But my discussions have always been discreet medical and moral analyses, devoid of the modern lewd 4-letter words that are banded about so promiscuously.

Some of the earlier publishers (and especially their wives) even had my column dropped from their newspapers, saying I was too frank for a family newspaper.

What they often didn't know was that I had already received letters from their own teen-age grandchildren who were then pregnant, due to prudish adult reticence.

You readers also know that I employ such scientific euphemisms as "boudoir cheesecake" and "erotic calories" to avoid throwing lewd sex terms at Young America.

Paradoxical as it may seem, I am thus regarded as America's "Sexologist," while imitators with no psychological or medical doctorates, use much cruder terminology but are regarded as quite "proper" columnists!

It merely illustrates the old adage that a prophet pioneers better living customs but is stoned and maligned in the process.

Psychologist William James thus described this situation perfectly when he said any innovator of a worthwhile product, encounters this attack:

- (1) The leaders of the Status Quo deny it as worthless or shocking and impossible;
- (2) Then they concede it may have some slight merit but is entirely unneeded;
- (3) Finally, they eagerly claim, "We helped develop it."
