

Mishap Odds: Trillion-To-One

A-Bomb Safety Underscored

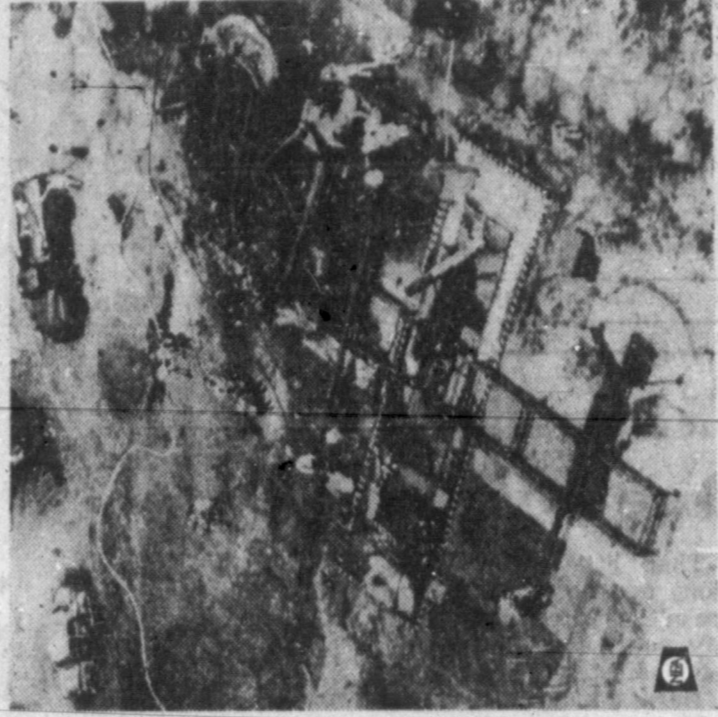

By JERRY BENNETT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The odds against an atomic bomb blowing up accidentally have been placed at a trillion to one by Pentagon weapons authorities.
They explain that the nuclear charge has never caused any of the seven reported mishaps involving either bombs or missiles. Instead, they blame the accidents on foul-ups in the weapon carriers.
Most recent accident occurred in June at McGuire AFB, N.J., when a Bomarc missile caught fire. A report that a nuclear accident had occurred temporarily panicked the surrounding community. An exploding bottle of helium gas is believed to have caused the blaze. Another mishap took place in Middletown, N.J., in 1958 when the TNT in eight Nike-Ajax missiles blew up and killed 10 people.

Four accidents have involved planes which crashed with nuclear weapons on board. In 1958, a plane accidentally dropped an atom bomb near Florence, S.C. blasting the TNT inward. Regular explosions produce an outward blast.

"Implosions" are accomplished by triggering with electricity several detonating caps which circle the TNT. All caps must be detonated at once to set off the nuclear charge.
Without simultaneous triggering, the TNT will explode outwardly and scatter the nuclear material rather than blow it up.
The prime means of preventing accidental detonations is a system of safety switches all of which must be closed before the weapon will go off. The number and location of these switches are classified. But DASA officials believe it would take a miracle for them to be closed either accidentally or by saboteurs.

In each case the chance of a nuclear charge going off was virtually impossible, say experts of DASA — the Defense Atomic Support Agency, which is in charge of all nuclear weapons design and testing. Reason is that an atomic blast can be caused only by a complicated electrical process. Here's how it works:
Nuclear bombs and warheads contain a lump of plutonium or uranium inside a sphere of TNT. The atomic material must be compressed to explode.
This compression is achieved by "Some switches may be in the weapon, and some may be in the machine that carries the weapon to its target. Some are closed before the weapon is dropped or launched. Others close only after the weapon is in its trajectory."

As a further precaution, batteries are disconnected when nuclear weapons are stored.
Storage areas are always surrounded by high fences and often patrolled by armed guards. Electronic alarms are hidden throughout these areas.
All personnel who work with nuclear weapons undergo strict security checks and thorough training. Psychiatrists watch each man closely during his training period for any signs that he is unreliable.
A man is never allowed to work on or near a nuclear weapon by himself. Access to an atomic device requires the presence of two or more persons so that they can watch each other.
DASA experts have been testing the safety of atomic weapons for 14 years. During that time they have dropped them from planes and burred them. In no instance were they able to blow up the nuclear material without electricity.
The biggest hazard connected with nuclear weapons is the chance of accidental explosion of the TNT. Dangers include the blast itself and the scattering of tiny bits of plutonium which can cause serious injury if breathed or swallowed. Fire can also release radioactive particles, but in smaller amounts.
DASA officials warn you to stay at least 1,500 feet away from the scene of a nuclear weapon accident until their experts decontaminate the area. DASA has 400 decontamination teams stationed throughout the country.

NEW JERSEY TRAGEDY — TNT in eight Nike-Ajax missiles blew up in 1958 and left this wreckage and 10 dead at Middletown, N. J. However, no nuclear charge was involved.

Yarborough OKs Aged Care Bill
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough Tuesday threw his weight behind a medical care bill for the aged.
Democratic presidential nominee Sen. John F. Kennedy before it was beaten in the Senate 51-44.
"America... is proud to have the finest physicians and hospital facilities in the history of man," Yarborough said on the Senate floor.
"But it is not proud of the fact that with all our great medical advances, we have not worked out a plan which... elderly Americans can afford medical care."
He said it is "entirely logical, reasonable and vital that we apply the principle of social security" to medical care for the aged.

GOP'S Dixie Campaign Billed As Biggest Ever

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The GOP is billing its 1960 campaign in the South as the biggest in the history of the Republican party.

But while the long range goal is to build a two-party system in the South, the 1960 goal remains as it was in 1952 and 1956: To carry a number of southern states for the national ticket and possibly gain a few congressional seats in traditionally Democratic territory.

To win southern electoral votes for GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon, more Republican speechmaking and organizational work than ever before, has been promised in the South. Nixon himself has promised to visit all of the southern states.

Next to Nixon and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, the most sought GOP orators for southern campaigning are Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Walter H. Judd of Minnesota, 1960 convention keynoter, and Meade Alcorn, Connecticut national committeeman.

As national Republican chairman, Alcorn read the 1956 election returns and set up "Operation Dixie" in 1957 to build a party organization in the South. President Eisenhower carried four of the 11 southern states in 1952 and five in 1956.

Although Eisenhower was helped by a nonpartisan appeal, the GOP now hopes that his success in the South has permanently broken the southern habit of voting solidly for Democratic candidates.

The Republican appeal to the South is based on the more conservative GOP philosophy than that offered by the national Democrats.

New Invitation By VFW To Jack

DETROIT (UPI) — The Veterans of Foreign Wars have invited Sen. John F. Kennedy to address their 61st national convention meeting here this week.

The Democratic presidential nominee backed out of an earlier address, scheduled for Tuesday, because of the Senate vote on the medical aid bill.

The VFW then turned down Kennedy's request to address the convention by telephone.

VFW officials learned late Tuesday night that Kennedy offered to address the convention today, and after an early-morning meeting re-extended the invitation.

National Commander Louis G. Feldmann telegraphed Kennedy that it was impossible to schedule a speech for today, but offered time Thursday or Friday.

that the conduct of foreign affairs probably will be an important issue in the campaign.

—Defended this country's decision to acknowledge that pilot Francis G. Powers was on a reconnaissance flight when his U-2 plane was shot down over Sverdlovsk, Russia. He said that if this government repudiated Powers, that would have made him out to be some kind of an adventurous flier who designed, built and flew the plane, which didn't make sense to him.

—Said that when the chips are down, the United States would invoke the Monroe Doctrine and take action to prevent foreign domination in Latin America. He did not spell out what kind of action.

—Said Nixon has participated actively in top level discussions with him throughout their administration but that the vice president has not made policy decisions. Eisenhower said no one participates in these decisions because no one can make a decision in the national executive area except the president.

—Asserted that relations between Cuba and this country have by no means reached the irretrievable stage. He said he would always be ready to participate in any kind of conference of heads of government that could achieve something useful, although he said he would not want to speculate that this type of a meeting is now in the works.

—Said the question of whether he should go to New York next month to address the United Nations Assembly is under discussion, as it has been every fall when the assembly convenes. He said whether he goes would hinge largely on whether there was a point he particularly would like to emphasize to the organization.

American governments.

The President said the doctrine was not supplanted by American hemisphere international treaties such as the OAS charter and the 1947 Rio Defense Pact.

On other international subjects, the President said:
—He strongly feels foreign affairs should not become a subject of partisan debate in the political campaigns.

—He still feels the 10-year sentence given U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers in his Soviet spy trial was too long. But he had no regrets that the administration openly acknowledged that Powers was on a reconnaissance mission when his plane was brought down deep inside Russia.

The President said that for the United States to have disowned Powers would have cast him in the role of an adventurer acting on his own and this would have been unthinkable.

fornia did about $1.2 million damage to timber, the Service estimated. These figures are preliminary because there have been no salvage operations.

The watershed damaged caused by fires this year has been estimated at about $15 million.

The Forest Service already has spent about $23 million this year in trying to control forest fires. An official said this seemed like a lot of money, compared with preliminary damage estimates. "But if we hadn't tried to control the fires, the damage would have been much greater."

approved by the House.

Kennedy said defeat of the Social Security approach to medical care for the elderly would be an indication that the Senate could not act at the politically charged pre-election session.

The lawmakers, he said, should "put these things over until January — and then do it right. I don't see any sense in cutting these bills down to nothing."

Powers' Parents Head Home; Wife Remains

MOSCOW (UPI) — The parents of U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers headed for home today, saddened at leaving their son behind to serve a 10-year espionage sentence in the Soviet Union.

Mrs. Oliver Powers said at the airport shortly before departing for the United States with her husband, daughter, Mrs. Jessica Hileman, and several friends. "We hope someday we might be able to come back and get our boy."

Mr. and Mrs. Powers issued a statement on the eve of their departure saying they were broken up over his conviction, but that their "hearts were less heavy" than when they came.

Medical Aid Push Due In '61

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Liberal Senate Democrats who lost their fight to provide medical care for old folks under the Social Security program vowed today: Wait until next year.

Democratic National Chairman Henry M. Jackson said if Sen. John F. Kennedy is elected president, "We'll bring the issue up early in the session as one of the first orders of business next year."

The Senate rejected 51-44 Tuesday the labor-backed Social Security proposal supported by Kennedy and the Democratic platform. A coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats defeated the plan. Only one Republican, Sen. Clifford P. Case, N.J., voted for the Social Security measure.

The chamber then went on to approve 91-2 a more moderate medical care program, written by the Senate Finance Committee, to increase federal public assistance grants to states willing to help the aged with their medical expenses.

The Senate earlier turned down 67-28 another proposal endorsed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee, to set up a program of federal-state grants to the elderly who asked for medical assistance.

Just before the final vote, the Senate made one major change in the committee bill. It voted to include the expenses of tubercular and mental patients in the medical costs covered.

This would add some $120 million to the government's estimated $290 million annual outlay for the program.

The Senate version, approved after three days of sharp debate, now goes to a Senate-House conference committee where conferees will try to iron out differences with a similar House-passed measure.

No Proof Of Mutiny By Mali Troops

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (UPI) — Gen. Roger Gheysen, commander of Belgian forces in the Congo, said today he had no definite proof that U. N. troops from West Africa's recently dissolved Mali Federation had mutinied.

"All we have heard to that effect came from civilian sources," said General Gheysen.

Mali troops were reported to have joined tribesmen fighting the government of this "independent" Congo province.

A Katanga government announcement said at least two persons — an African territorial agent and a policeman — had been killed in riots touched off by the mutiny of a Mali detachment at Albertville, 420 miles northeast of here.

The announcement said the mutineers were "fraternizing" with Baluba tribesmen hostile to the Katanga regime.

(In Brussels, the Belgian Defense Ministry said Belgian troops broke up a Baluba attack Tuesday on the Albertville railway station. However, it said no information had been received on the rumored Mali mutiny.)

General Gheysen confirmed that Belgian paratroopers fought off an attack by natives armed with spears and bows and arrows against Belgian infantry awaiting evacuation at the Albertville station Tuesday night.

Youth Held On Entering Charge

An 18-year-old youth is in Gray County jail today under $1,500 bond, after being charged with "entry of a private residence at night with intent to commit theft."

Johnny Lee Jefferson of Sand Springs, Okla., admitted in a statement signed before District Attorney Bill Waters and Police Capt. Denny Roan, that he had entered the home of Birdell Davis, 716 S. Somerville, last Sunday night "looking for something to steal."

He was found in the home by a member of the family who detained the youth until police arrived. Jefferson had been held in city jail until formal filing of charges yesterday.

Crash Victim Is Recovering

DENVER (UPI) — A young housewife, rescued by helicopter Tuesday after she lay paralyzed for 40 hours on a mountain plateau following a plane crash, was in satisfactory condition here today recovering from a broken back.

Mrs. Bonita Louise Shotts, 24, of St. Joseph, Mo., underwent four hours of surgery late Tuesday after she was flown here. A hospital spokesman said she was "doing as well as could be expected" but that it was too soon to tell if the paralysis had been cured.

Mrs. Shotts, whose rescue was made possible by her husband's 20 mile hike through mountainous terrain to find help, said she was "glad to be alive" before she was wheeled into the operating room.

Her husband, Dr. Ellis Lynn Shotts, and her father, Kenneth Mallette, of St. Joseph, were at her bedside today.

CUERO MAN ELECTED

FORT WORTH (UPI) — The Texas Turkey Federation Tuesday named Gus Cuero as its president, and elected J. W. Ratliff of Ranger and C. J. McIntyre of Kaufman as vice presidents.

Cage, McIntyre, Herb Chafin of Temple and W. B. Griffin of Santa Anna were re-elected directors.

Nixon Visits Detroit; Demo Stronghold

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon headed for Detroit today and a five-hour foray into the usually Democratic stronghold of organized labor.

The Republican presidential nominee was scheduled to speak before the 61st encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He planned to discuss foreign policy in his address at Detroit's Cobo Hall.

Nixon planned to "huddle" with Michigan GOP leaders after his VFW appearance and drop by at a Republican luncheon before returning to Washington late today.

His appearance at the VFW convention gave Nixon an opportunity which was passed up Tuesday by Sen. John F. Kennedy, D-Mass., the Democratic presidential nominee. Kennedy canceled a scheduled address to the VFW to remain in Washington for Senate votes on medical care.

Nixon told his fellow Republican senators Tuesday that there had been "a great improvement" in GOP election prospects since the party convention last month. He warned, however, "that there must be 'no complacency.'"

The MacRaes Follow 'Togetherness' Theme

By MARY KAY FLYNN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (HEA) — While Gordon and Sheila MacRae's four children decide for or against future theater appearances as a family, they will keep in practice with impromptu performances at home.

Sheila, as fond critic, wrote off the stage debut of her two daughters and two sons as play-stuff compared to the real-life drama that unfolds daily in the MacRae household.

All six appeared as a family team for the first time in Kansas City's Starlight theater presentation of "Annie Get Your Gun." The children scored in the musical as Sheila's (Annie) drawlin' and singin' brothers and sisters.

British-born Sheila, stunning in a tailored beige floor-length gown, shared tea with her interviewer in a pool-side parlor on a rainy afternoon during the family's premier week. Daughter Meredith, 16, a poised would-be singer, joined in.

Sheila was reviewing the day's occupations — including an early morning review by a group of neighborhood children who had persuaded seven-year-old Bruce MacRae to exhibit his mother — when Gar, 12, entered the room wearing only swim trunks.

His hair, woolly for his backwoods role, became shaggier as he shyly wiggled under and around a bath towel. After accepting a reprimand about his appearance with winning grins, he stated his mission:

"Please, Mom, can I ask to borrow the guns on the set to go skeet shooting?"

Gar's ambition wasn't limited to recreation, his mother explained. He had spent the morning hunting lost golf balls on the course across the street, getting ten cents for every ball returned.

Back to the interview. Sheila started to trace her theatrical career which began four years ago when she formed a night club act with her husband, singing star Gordon. Enter husky Bruce, likewise in swim trunks, who asked for brownies to take out to his friends.

"But how can you eat them out there in the rain, Bruce?" his mother stalled.

"They (the brownies) won't get wet — we're in a fort under the Trampoline," he explained.

Bruce, she explained, was tiring of the nightly stage appearances (despite the two dollars earned for each good performance) and was hoping the rain would mean he could watch TV instead of going to the theater.

The entire MacRae family, except 13-year-old Heather, had drifted into the room as Sheila told of helping the youngsters practice their lines for "Annie" and of her upcoming role in "Redhead."

Four regional winners will be chosen. They and their admiring wives will be transported to Miami Beach for a free vacation next February. At a "cook-off" there on the stage of the Americana Hotel, the champion will be named and receive an additional $1,000 cash prize, Mr. Noss said.

The championship is open to all males except professional chefs. Recipes for main dishes using potato chips should be mailed to the Men's National Cooking Championship, 12 East 41st Street, New York 17, New York, no later than January 1, 1961.

The written recipes will be judged for tastiness and imagination and the regional winners selected. The finalists will actually prepare the dishes when they put their skills against one another on the Americana stage next February 5.

"Numerous fringe benefits also will accrue to the champion, once he is selected," Mr. Noss predicted.

"For the rest of his life, no woman will dare tell him, 'Get out of my kitchen.' You just couldn't talk to a champion that way."

If the culinary king ever murmurs, "Dear, I think this needs a little more salt," solemn attention will have to be paid his opinion, it was pointed out.

"American women always have been generous about letting men hold the top chef positions in our best restaurants," Mr. Noss said, "and we know that they are going to be magnanimous about letting the amateur male cook have his moment of glory."

"However, just to make sure that here is no skulduggery in the scullery, leading women food experts will judge the written recipes and at the cook-off, also pick the male cooking champion of America himself."

Search Is On To Find And Crown Amateur Male Cooking Champion

A nationwide search to find and crown the amateur male cooking champion of the United States got under way today.

Men from all sections of the country who can prepare a main dish using potato chips as an ingredient were invited to compete by Harvey F. Noss, executive vice president of the Potato Chip Institute International, sponsors of the championship. All that's necessary to enter is to mail in such a recipe.

The teen-ager who's plagued with acne is getting lots of help and attention these days. This girl is using a new anti-blemish cream aimed to help relieve acned skin condition.

Inner And Outer Treatment Required For Sufferers Of Marring Acne Ills

BY ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Acne is no joke. The teen-ager who has it suffers acutely. Boy or girl, the problem of acned skin is one that can be damaging to the sturdiest ego.

Being told that you'll outgrow acne isn't true balm for putting up with it. And this statement isn't even accurate. For acne which goes untreated can scar the face permanently.

There are two ways of treating acne: the inner and the outer. The inner refers, of course, to lots of rest, a sound diet which eliminates fats and sweets, plenty of liquids, lots of fresh air and exercise.

The outer means the attention the teen-ager gives her skin. Here, she can get help from products designed exactly for this purpose. She should, of course, check with her doctor before she applies anything to her skin.

Once she has her doctor's approval, she can make use of a new anti-blemish cream developed by an old and respected beauty house. It's meant to be applied to immaculately clean skin which has been carefully washed with warm water and mild soap. Rinse the skin and pat, don't rub, it dry. Now, use a light but thorough covering of this soft cream over each blemish before retiring.

This cream dries while you're asleep and forms a masklike film which should be gently washed off with soap and water in the morning. Clean skin is, of course, absolutely essential in any case of acne. This means that you should wash your face three and possible four times a day.

Packaged in a gold-colored aluminum tube, this new anti-blemish cream is lightweight and compact so that you can take it with you whenever you travel.

Serve your family and energy-packed Honey Breakfast to prepare them to meet the demands for increased activity. To help them avoid the mid-morning weariness and irritability resulting from a too meager breakfast, try serving this substantial yet simple Breakfast of crisp waffles topped with honey, baked apples with honey filling, and the family's favorite beverage sweetened with honey.

A perfect taste-trio is iced tea served with honey and lemon juice.

Dear Abby... Air-Conditioned Hubby Lets Off Steam

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband works all day in an air-conditioned office. When he comes home he gripes his head off about what a tough day he's had. He should stay home and take care of an eight-room house with four kids under his feet and see how he likes it.

I wish you'd say something in your column about husbands who keep telling their wives what a cinch housework is. What's wrong with husbands anyway?

DEAR DESPERATE: Don't go to his wife. You would only hurt an innocent family and gain nothing. Don't tell your employer. He'd probably fire the man, which wouldn't help you either. SEE A LAWYER. He should be able to convince your "friend" that he has a responsibility to face up to.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is right for old people about 40 or 50 to come to your house as a guest and tell your mother to please turn that racket off when a member of the family who lives there has his record player on? I am 12 years old and that is my problem.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't give me a lecture. I know I did wrong but I am in trouble and need help. I am 19 and work in a large store. One of my supervisors started taking me out for coffee breaks and lunches and then it got serious. I knew he had a wife and family, but the attraction was too strong to fight. Now I am expecting his baby. He says I can't expect any help from financial or

Africans Seek Anthems

By TOM A. CULLEN
LONDON (NEA) — From Africa comes news that should gladden hearts of tune-smiths. Africa's newly-independent nations desperately need national anthems; they offer cash prizes for the best tunes.

Among those recently in search of national airs are the Congo Republic, the Mali Federation, Somaliland and Sierra Leone.

For Tin Pan Alley's benefit, the anthems need not be long — notwithstanding the 158 verses of the Greek national hymn, for example. Nor need they be particularly African.

Tom-tom effects are out in favor of simple words that stir up patriotic sentiments. (No emergent African nation has yet seen fit to follow the examples of Afghanistan, the Vatican and the United Arab Republic whose anthems are wordless.)

Speed also is essential. Independence cannot wait for poetic inspiration.

The national anthems adopted by Ghana and Nigeria are unlikely to make anyone's hit parade. They are either jingoistic or tend to extoll the nation's agriculture and its meteorology. Ghana is called a "bright star shining in the sky."

The Republic of Guinea, (formerly French Guinea), on the other hand, goes in for revolutionary songs praising Sekou Toure, its Marxist-trained premier. Sample: "Sekou Toure, O gift divine to Guinea, hail to you! Be blessed, thou benefactor of Guinea, apostle of the good cause, infant prodigy!"

Nigeria solved the problem by offering $2,800 for the catchiest tune and throwing the contest upon to comers from all nations. The winner was Mrs. Charles Kermot, a London piano teacher, whose "Nigeria, we hail thee" will swell from the throats of 35 million Nigerians after independence day.

Mrs. Kermot claims that it took her only ten minutes to compose the winning tune. She denies that it sounds like the boating song of a well-known girls' boarding school.

The fact that their national anthems were written by a Briton has incurred the ire of Nigerian students, who threaten to boycott the tune.

"No self-respecting nation permits foreigners to compose its national anthem," writes a professor from the University College at Ibadan, Nigeria. "It will make us the laughing stock of the African world."

Ghana offered an $8,400 prize for its national anthem, but restricted the contest to Ghanaian nationals. Winner was Philip Gbeho, a member of the musically-minded Ewe tribe, whose stirring entry begins, "Lift high the flag of Ghana."

"Ghanians are like the British," a student from Accra said. "As soon as the national anthem is played, everyone bolts for the door."

MIAMI (Sp) — Miami public schools will open Monday, Sept. 5, with classes for students of elementary grades moving into the new $295,000 school building.

Weldon Snodgrass, superintendent of the Miami Public School system, in announcing the belated schools opening, explained that, although the schools opening falls on Labor Day, the holiday will have to be ignored, since "we've had to delay opening and every day counts in the education of a student."

Castro Boasts Soviet, China Friendship

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro boasted today that his regime was "the most secure" of any in the Western Hemisphere — in part because Russia and Red China "are our friends."

Castro, in a two-hour long post-midnight address to an assembly of women's revolutionary groups, claimed to have more popular support now than at any time since his takeover from the Batista dictatorship.

He described recent counter-revolutionary outbreaks as the work of a few "war criminals" who have the support of the U.S. State Department, the Pentagon, and the Central Intelligence Agency.

The United States is the "enemy of humanity," he declared. "We will be friends of the Soviets and the People's Republic of (Red) China."

The statement brought a screaming ovation from the women that lasted five minutes.

Actress Charged In Bigamy Suit

ROME (UPI) — Lawyers for film star Sophia Loren and her producer husband Carlo Ponti Tuesday answered bigamy charges by contending their clients are not married at all.

Ponti is charged with bigamy because he married Miss Loren in a proxy ceremony in Mexico in 1957 while according to Italian law he was still married to his first wife. Miss Loren was charged as a party to bigamy.

Court sources said the couples' lawyers contended the proxy marriage was not valid because of a recent Mexican law which voided it.

Blood Clots

Rochester — Recent discoveries indicate the human blood is full of small clots which normally are absorbed. If they do not absorb, they may result in serious physical ailments.

Boy Swept To His Death In Whirlpool

FORT WORTH (UPI)—A 13-year-old boy jumped off a diving board into a whirlpool formed by water draining from a swimming pool Tuesday night and was sucked into a 15-inch pipe to his death.

His battered body was found almost a half-mile away where the pipe empties into a creek.

The victim was Guy Natoli, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Natoli. Both Guy and his twin brother, Gary, had gone to Sylvia Park to help clean the pool in return for a free swim.

A young pool attendant told police he saw Guy jump feet first from the board when the pool was about half full. When he didn't return to the surface, the attendant and Gary sounded the alarm.

There was no grate or other safety device over the drainage hole in the deep end of the pool. It is about a yard in diameter. Police and firemen were called to the scene. Acting on a hunch, Patrolman D. K. Hailey drove to a creek where the pool empties its water.

There he found the body of the youngster. He was beyond help, about whether or not a lifeguard. There were conflicting reports as to whether or not a lifeguard was on duty at the time.

FACTS TO PONDER

- It is estimated that three million Americans living today would have been dead if the nation's death rate had remained at its 1937 level.
- Between 1930 and 1958, the death rate was reduced 57 percent for infants under one year of age, 80 percent for children one to four years old, and 71 percent for children aged five to fourteen years.
- During the years from 1930 to 1934, one of every 157 mothers died in childbirth. From 1954 to 1958, the mortality rate declined to one in every 2,222.
- Today, many of the medical miracles performed for the ill are but the fulfillment of dreams, the accomplishment of ideas, and the realization of the research which occurred in the pharmaceutical industry yesterday.
- Modern drugs have helped reduce the incidence of complications of infectious conditions, have made possible surgery that could not have been undertaken in earlier years, and have made people happier and more socially effective than ever before.
- The greatest return from the dollar expenditure for medicine is a life saved, an illness prevented, or intense pain relieved.
- The most expensive drug in the world is the drug which was NOT available when and where it was needed to save just one life.

Voluntary Improvements

As Senator Estes Kefauver continues to win favor with the voters and with those who think it's great sport to mess up the American economy, a little booklet comes to our desk from the drug industry the findings of which we'd like to share with our readers.

The drug industry, as most of us know, has been one of the major targets of Mr. Kefauver's slashing attacks and smear efforts.

He has it that since the drug industry hasn't been subsidized by the taxpayers, it must be crooked. And since profits have obviously been made in the industry, it must follow, a la Karl Marx, that a "dollar of profit is an unpaid wage."

Hence, either the purchasers of drugs or the workers in the drug business have been swindled.

Mr. Kefauver and Karl Marx are both wrong and for the same reason.

The drug industry is a high level, free market endeavor, set into motion by private funds for the purpose of alleviating pain and death.

Has the drug industry made any kind of a contribution in this endeavor? Here are some facts.

It used to be that gastritis, duodenitis, enteritis and colitis brought death to 26 persons in every 100,000. Thanks to improved drugs this death rate has been reduced to only 4.7 out of the same number.

The death rate is down 82 per cent.

Influenza and pneumonia in 1930 claimed 102.5 lives out of every 100,000. In 1958 the same diseases cost only 33.1 lives. The death rate is down 68 per cent. (these figures exclude newly-born infants in both cases).

But children have not been neglected. In 1930 death rates among babies under one year cost 69 lives out of every thousand. In 1958 from the same age group only 29.8 babies failed to survive.

The death rate here is down 37 per cent.

An even more remarkable record is reached in children in age group 1-4 years. Per 1,000 such children in 1930, 5.6 were lost, in 1958 the same age group lost only 1.1, a death rate decline of 80 per cent.

Let's take a look at another field of medicine, that of tranquilizers. These famous drugs are reducing mental hospital population. The use of drugs to treat mental disorders has reduced the length of hospitalization for thousands of patients, and has saved an estimated $860 million in state mental hospital construction in a single three-year period.

The National Health Education Committee reports that in just one year the U.S. Treasury gained more than a billion dollars — and almost $6 billion was added to the national income — as a result of the decline in mortality rates since 1937.

Much of this achievement can be traced to the free enterprising drug industry, our unwillingness to be saddled with socialized medicine and the fact that Kefauver hasn't yet succeeded in throttling freedom in this field.

Not only is the drug industry moving headlong into these many instances of human death and human suffering, it is voluntarily contributing huge sums to research in the vital areas where newer and better treatments must be found.

In 1958, as an example, research scientists in private laboratories were called upon to test 114,600 new substances and their relationship to known diseases. That same year the drug industry contributed $170 million of its own profits to this research program.

And the charts show that each year going back to 1948 has found the entire industry spending more and more money in this basic effort to provide newer and better ways of defeating man's dread enemies in the field of disease.

Only in freedom will programs like this be attempted. And this is especially significant when we realize that in the 1958 research, when 114,600 substances were tested, only 40 out of that whole number became useful products.

The ratio of failure was 2,863 to 1.

This means that private funds were simply spent in vain, yet gladly spent in this great effort to make America and the world a better place for all of us.

And this is the program Kefauver wants to stop and to put under government control and supervision so that we taxpayers can pay for it.

Materialism Of Morality

Truth must always provide our goal.

Too many times we are tempted to put truth aside, because it is inconvenient to be reminded that we do not, ourselves, know all of truth.

A philosophy of life, to be a living thing, must be geared to the concept of eternal truth. Only such a philosophy can accommodate itself to reality.

Any philosophy which asserts a claim to a rigid acceptance of the finality of a given branch of knowledge must, obviously, suffer when something new is learned. Only a living philosophy, oriented to truth and to man's growing knowledge about truth, can provide the bedrock on which real understanding must be based.

There is one area of our philosophic development which has been slow in coming, but which is absolutely vital. Until recent times many philosophers tried to reason from metaphysical concepts rather than from material reality. They found it easier to find an ideal and a pattern for human behavior in the misty reaches of mysticism, rather than upon concrete physical fact.

This tendency toward the abstract probably stemmed from man's almost appalling ignorance of economics: Man knew little about human action in the market place and what little he did know he considered to be crass and non-essential. The important things, he thought, related to beauty, to poetry, to spiritual conjecture, to music and, finally, to the hereafter.

But a working knowledge of things as they are on this planet was not vouchsafed him in philosophies who decry materialism.

It is not too harsh to suggest that many a pro-socialist has claimed to find firm ground in opposition to socialism and to Karl Marx purely from the standpoint of Marx's supposed materialistic stance.

But a close reading of Marx reveals that he, too, was caught up in the cabalism of mysticism and abstraction. Marx obviously believed in the critique of "manifest destiny," "predestination" and the utterly unavoidable de-nouement which would ensue when the "Communist Party becomes the human race."

This strange and venomous man was so utterly contradictory and so totally mystical that he has even fooled many moderns into thinking that he was a materialist.

If one is ever going to cope with the mystique of socialism, he must do it from a completely realistic footing. And a realistic footing must rest upon material fact, and not upon hyperbole or metaphysical conjecture.

The pseudo-materialism of Marx can best be answered by an understanding of material things, not by an avoidance of such understanding. Marx was led astray, not by his material comprehension but by his failure to comprehend material things.

It is a matter of encouragement at this juncture in the develop-

The Doctor Says:

By Dr. HAROLD T. HYMAN

The family doctor threatens to be one of the lamented casualties of our mechanized, organizational world. Fighting a losing battle for retention of his individual identity in an age of interests focused on teams, groups, staffs, clinics, researchers and the like, the old-fashioned "Doc" soon may exist only as a fond memory in the fading minds of prattling grandparents.

If you are included in the dwindling numbers of those who've remained faithful to a surviving medical individualist, your heart will surely warm to the tribute paid his family physician, Dr. Samuel Hirschfeld, by the late Gene Fowler whose death was sorrowfully reported last July 4.

In a letter I've treasured for almost 14 years, Gene wrote:

"This particularly odious Friday the Thirteenth finds Sam's friends emptying the tomb that awaits his body. This morning, as I sat at coffee that had grown cold — as the world itself suddenly had become moon-cold and barren — an elderly woman spoke to me. She spoke a cliché that ordinarily would have fallen with a banal thud against the early silence.

"But from her 80-year-old lips, the question carried a curious dramatic impact. She said simply: 'Who will take his place?'

This question seemed eloquently to contain all that I was thinking. Who, indeed?"

"Who will there be to share the mental burdens that he carried for everyone? Who will we find to look deep inside us with such knowing eyes?"

"I think that Sam's eyes and Sam's smile could more than stand all the laments and pills of the great fraternity of you who give so much and are acclaimed so little.

"Why does the Grim Reaper snuff out the tallest, brightest talents in the cathedral of our hours? Who will take his place?"

And Ben Hekt, speaking at graveside, echoed Gene's sentiments with equal sincerity and eloquence when he said:

"It is a curious thing to stand here praising Sam. It is a curious thing to sit here loving Sam. For that was usually Sam's job — to praise and to love. For Sam was a man so rich he gave to all. And there lay his one flaw. He gave too much away. All the gaiety and genius and love and wisdom came pouring out of him as if there were no end to what a man could do for others.

"But there was an end. The passion to serve mankind that kept Sam moving without rest from patient to laboratory, that kept him answering calls of friends not half as sick as himself put an end to him. We all put an end to him — we whom he loved.

"He served us all — without stint or rest until he dropped in his tracks. And that was because he loved us more than he loved himself. It was this love that put an end to him.

"There may be many doctors left in the world as learned as Sam. But to us who knew him and sent for him in our bad hours, the champion is gone."

I hope you have a doctor about whom you feel as did Gene and Ben for our friend, Sam.

If you're that fortunate, maybe he'd like to know that Gene and Ben were speaking for you.

CRYPTOGRAPHIC INFORMATION OF MISSING PAIR FROM NSA MORE SERIOUS LOSS THAN YET REVEALED

WASHINGTON — The official findings are very bleak on those two mysteriously missing, mathematicians of the super-secret National Security Agency.

A preliminary Defense Department report to the Senate Armed Services Committee leaves no doubt the two close bachelor friends had defected to the Soviet, that they took valuable cryptographic information with them, and that their loss is far more serious than authorities have publicly admitted.

Senator Richard Russell (D., Ga.), chairman, who demanded an accounting of this extraordinary affair, expects to hear further regarding it from the Pentagon.

For the present, he does not contemplate an Armed Services Committee investigation. But that doesn't mean there may not be one, Russell is waiting to see what is additionally learned, and then will discuss the matter with his Committee.

Meanwhile, in private talks, Defense officials have disclosed the following publishable highlights of the initial report:

The two vanished NSA employees are "now deemed certain to be in Russia."

Soviet agents definitely contacted them in Mexico last December, and plans were then made for their defection.

The FBI had no connection with this case — until the two men disappeared. FBI assistance was then sought by Defense and intelligence authorities.

The National Security Agency does its own checking of employees. This scrutiny is supposed to be exhaustive and continuous, including lie detector tests. The two missing men took such tests and passed them with flying colors. On the basis of this and other factors that have been uncovered, the NSA security system obviously has a serious defect.

While the two bachelors did not hold important positions in the super-secret cryptographic agency, they are exceptionally gifted mathematicians, and one of them is rated a "genius." The other is listed as the "more dominant" of the two.

Their work did not relate to U.S. codes. They were occupied with Soviet and other foreign codes. They know a great deal about the machinery and procedures pertaining to such codes. Their knowledge and experience in this highly specialized field would be extremely valuable to the Reds.

BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN — Russia has opened a big new airport in Moscow to handle the steadily growing international jet traffic, including the latest U.S. airliners operated by foreign companies. The new airfield, originally military, has longer and wider runways and more modern equipment than the long-established Vnukovo Airport. The Soviet is also operating a helicopter service between the two airfields. . . . Poland has sent a special mission to Red China to "study methods for suppressing organized religion, particularly the Roman Catholic Church." . . . Iraq has established 150 scholarships for Iraq students in Communist countries, as follows: Poland, 55; Bulgaria, 35; Hungary, 20; Rumania, 15; Yugoslavia, 25.

SENATE EDICT — Those six long-pending appointments made by President Eisenhower, to the Justice Department, Federal Trade Commission, Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Communications Commission and Federal Power Commission, are definitely doomed in the Senate. Democratic leaders have served notice these nominations will be left hanging on the vine.

The same is likely to happen to judgeships in Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut, Michigan, Texas, Hawaii and Alaska. None have been acted on by the Senate Judiciary Committee, and there is no indication it intends to do anything about them before Congress quits.

So far, since convening in January 1959, the Senate has confirmed 546 postmaster appointments and 2,394 other civilian nominations.

Justifying their stand, Democratic chiefs are citing a precedent set by the late Senator Robert Taft (R., O.), in April 1952, he declared the GOP would not approve any more appointments by President Truman — and that's what happened.

Under Taft's edict not even postmasters were confirmed.

Still hanging fire in the Senate are 973 postmasters named by President Eisenhower in recent months.

LOOMING BATTLE — Mississippi's militantly independent Representatives William Colmer and John Bell Williams are being bluntly warned they face a showdown fight to hold their key committee positions in the next Congress.

This backstage notice is being served by leaders of the so-called "Liberal Study Group," which claims a membership of 120 representatives — a little less than one-half the Democrats now in the House. Foremost among these leaders are Representatives Chet Holifield, Calif., newly-elected chairman, Frank Thompson, N.J., and Stewart Udall, Ariz.

Fair Enough

Too Few Supporters For Act Of Bravery

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — The brutality of the national government toward the individual citizen in income tax troubles was accidentally emphasized in New York recently by a hard-working dairy farmer with four children and six cows who refused to pay income taxes for the support of foreign governments, or even file a report.

His name is Elmer Kirchner.

He served a few days in the loathsome house of detention for refusing to answer questions. Then he lost his nerve and was let out to return to his little patch. Meanwhile his wife, in advanced pregnancy, and the small children, hoed and weeded and milked to keep things going. The charge was "contempt of court," but federal courts have been using this vicious pretext as a rubber hose to beat victims into submission and, sometimes, to extort testimony. In this case, Kirchner was literally condemned to spend the rest of his life in prison merely for refusing to set down on paper information which is none of the government's business.

In such cases the victim of torture is told that he may walk out whenever he surrenders — his principle and manhood and answers questions which the government has absolutely no right to ask. The intimacies which the Internal Revenue Act demands of the citizen are an indecent violation of his privacy, dignity and self-respect. They are a degrading invasion of his citizenship. The Treasury and Congress pretend that these returns are sacred and inviolate, but that is a lie. In fact the law itself gives the lie to the guarantee of privacy.

All states which have income taxes have legal access to the federal returns. This means that thousands of verminous snoops nosing around state capitals for embarrassing information about innocent citizens may copy their tax returns. Congressional committees have requisitioned many of them and reproductions have been made for unlimited circulation. It is preposterous to suggest that any politician with sufficient worldly experience to qualify for the U.S. bench does not know this to be a fact. Knowing it to be a fact, a judge who condemns a victim to jail for refusing to expose his private affairs in this manner endorses a wrong which he ought to attack. After all, judges are not absolved from the minimal requirements of honor and decency.

Apparently Kirchner did not owe any tax at all. His exemptions apparently exceeded his income. But he stood on moral and constitutional ground in his refusal to reveal his private affairs and to pay taxes for the support of many foreign governments. The departments of Justice and the Treasury have never been willing to face these issues in court. Instead, they get judges to do their dirty work by committing rebellious patriots to disgusting pens in the company of unspeakable riffraff — torture by judicial order to facilitate unconstitutional, despicable conduct by government.

The power of judges to throw people into prison without the slightest pretense of a trial for "contempt of court" has grown more and more dangerous as the character of the judges has declined in pace with the quality of citizenship. We are spiritually and morally closer to Castro than many of us realize, and federal judges represent the standards of the local political machines which appoint them.

Contempt is the only criminal charge whose victims are not entitled to trial by jury. In actual fact, in most cases, the "court" is not involved at all except as it makes itself contemptible by lending itself to persecution. Kirchner did hold the Treasury in contempt, but the court made itself a stooge for the Internal Revenue. A judge issued an order to accommodate the Treasury, and this poor, muddy farmer was dragged far from his family into strange surroundings to face a politician sitting in a black robe. This robe has absolutely no legal or constitutional status.

Committee. Both Mississippians have denounced the National Democratic platform, and favor independent presidential elections.

Their irate party critics deem this bolting the Kennedy-Johnson ticket, and are threatening to vigorously challenge Colmer and Williams on retaining their prize committee posts in the next Congress.

It's an open secret the liberal group leaders have discussed this with Speaker Sam Rayburn and other "regular" House Democratic leaders.

Hankering

By HENRY McLEMORES

Some TV Spiels Geared To Imbecility

Advertising is looked upon second only to Holy Writ by the who write it, sell it and buy it but now and then I happen across advertising that distresses me.

Not very often, to be sure. The vast majority of advertising makes for brighter teeth, cleaner clothes, more exciting cigarettes, soft hands, fewer fies in the stomach and smoother jowls.

Without advertising we would know which gasoline made our cars smile instead of pout, who gave us social prestige, how to make our hair irresistible to almost every passer-by.

I'm all for these ads. They keep my nasal passages as dry as the Sahara, help me to get a mod wrap-around windshield for my money, guide me in the purchase of clothing that is resistant to most everything save a direct hit of a trip around the world, writing a sentence of 25 words.

Then along comes an advertisement that shouldn't have been run. One that can only bring worry-millions of Americans, and me, too, very worried.

It's a big one. A whole page, overlooking it. Big type.

Coldly, factually, the ad tells what can easily happen to an estate after death and taxes.

"An estate of $1,000,000 can shrink as much as $425,000 by the time it reaches the family of owner," the ad says.

It doesn't stop there, although that fact alone is enough to make most of us stay awake for three nights in a row.

The ad goes on to state we can happen to an estate of $5,000,000, and it makes gruesome reading. It is entirely possible for a family of a man who leaves five million bucks to lose $2,915,533 shrinkage, and have to leave behind a living on $2,084,467 that's left.

The ad is a blow to millionaires and multi-millionaires, I'll tell you that.

It'll kill their incentive, for one thing. I'll bet you that lots of them after reading the ad, will stop staying up at six in the morning gulping their breakfasts, and eating buses to get to work on time.

No use in killing themselves provide nest eggs for their families if the nest eggs are going to dwindle to almost nothing.

The facts in the ad are equally alarming to those of us who do quite have five million dollars. Probably more alarming.

What in the world will happen my estate (present estimate) $431,677? There won't be enough to take the lawyer to the Autom or make the next payment on combination clock-radio.

Even the comparatively wealthy folk, with $700 and $800, have cause for worry.

The Hanover Bank may not know it, but there are certain facts unsaid. Think of having $5,000 one day, and only a measly 000,000 the next.

Hoffa Donates To Block Demo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamsters' President James R. Hoffa said Tuesday he has personally contributed $1,000 in an effort to block re-election of Rep. Phil M. Landrum, D-Ga., co-author of the 1950 labor control law.

The truck union leader also disclosed that Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., the other co-author, has been marked for opposition by Michigan Teamsters.

Hoffa told United Press International that the union is supporting Quill Sammon, Landrum's opponent in Georgia's Sept. 14 Democratic primary election.

Asked if he had contributed anything, he replied: "You can bet on that $1,000."

Kennedy Slates Tour Tea Parties

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy plans to take his version of the Boston Tea Party to the nation during his presidential campaign.

The Democratic presidential candidate had outstanding success in his home state of Massachusetts in previous political campaigns by giving tea and coffee receptions for women voters.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, wife of Kennedy's running mate, and Kennedy's sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Kennedy, scheduled a new conference today to discuss a pilot series of "coffee klatches" for women voters.

Kennedy's wife, Jacqueline, does not plan to take part in the series of receptions. She is expecting the couple's second child this fall.

Molotov Named Envoy To IAEA

VIENNA (UPI)—Former Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov has been appointed representative of the Soviet Union to the International Atomic Energy Agency, it was officially announced.

A communique said agency director Sterling Cole had been notified of the appointment.

Molotov, who was purged as foreign minister in the Soviet anti-Stalinist drive in 1956, held the post of a Soviet envoy to Mongolia in recent years.

Molotov replaces Leonid Zamyatin who had been Soviet chief representative of the agency.

Prof. Vassily Emelyanov, a Soviet alternate, has been recalled from his post for other duties, the communique said.

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China is vigorously trying to woo Japan away from her ties with the West, particularly the United States. Already Peiping has offered some tempting bait.

Peiping still has not made any concrete economic or trade proposals—which would appeal largely to big business. It is trying to capture the imagination of the Japanese masses through two popular appeals: travel and cultural exchange.

The new trend, in sharp contrast to the days when Nobusuke Kishi was premier, has been interpreted here as an attempt to gain willing friends for China and capitalize on anti-American propaganda in recent months.

An agreement signed in Peiping last week between the Japanese and Communist Chinese cultural exchange associations received major billing over Radio Peiping. Red Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai even welcomed Japanese cultural delegate Kenzo Nakajima at a luncheon, a relatively rare tribute to a non-diplomatic official.

The exchange provides for a Japanese chorus to give performances and for exhibitions of Japanese arts, photography and calligraphy (artistic writing) in Red China.

Students Learn About Duties Of A Senator

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four young Texans who are strongly interested in governmental affairs have worked in the office of Sen. Ralph Yarborough D-Tex. this summer to get a firsthand picture of the national government. They are: Sam Houston Allred, 23, son of the late former Gov. James Allred and Mrs. Joe Betsy Allred of Wichita Falls; Victor Emanuel, 20, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Vic Emanuel of Houston; Nancy Carter, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carter of Fort Worth; Herman Adams, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Adams of Silsbee in Hardin county. Young Allred, who has attended Southern Methodist University, will enroll in the University of Texas Law School this fall. He campaigned for Yarborough in 1958. Adams is a sophomore pre-law student at the University of Texas. Miss Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carter, Tarrant County Democratic leaders, is a junior political science major at Wellesley College in Boston, Mass.

Emanuel's father is Vic Emanuel, news editor of Radio Station KXYZ, Houston. He is a major in science at Rice University and worked in the research and public information section of Yarborough's staff.

"All will return to the classrooms in mid-September with a better understanding of our system of government by consent of the governed," Yarborough said. "They have been hard workers

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The ability of the stock market to stage a slow but steady recovery this month indicates that adverse earnings and international factors have been pretty well discounted, according to the Alexander Hamilton Institute's investment bulletin. "The proof of whether the current stock market advance is the beginning of a sustained recovery, or another short term rally, will depend on improved third and fourth quarter earnings. "As yet," the institute says, "we see no confirmation of a definite trend."

According to a follow-up report on Mesabi Iron by Ira Haupt & Co., dividends of $5.00 a share next year are anticipated assuming a favorable Treasury ruling on the company's proposal to create a royalty trust. Also, it says, a sizeable stock split appears likely in order to provide for increased marketability and make the stock attractive for institutional buyers.

GET RID OF ROACHES — No-Roach liquid is the safe, quick way to rid your house or business of roaches. No-Roach is also effective against ants, waterbugs, spiders, silverfish and all crawling insects. It is available at supermarkets and drug stores.

Cockroach Population Reduced By No-Roach

It is estimated that the cockroach population in this state will reach an all-time high in the next few months. One reason is that the resistant roaches, a new breed, defy most roach control efforts. But now scientists have discovered a roach control formula that is: (a) Effective against all crawling insects, including the new resistant roaches. (b) Easy to use. (c) Safe to use around children and pets. (d) Stays effective for months with only one application.

Renegade Shark Will Hit Again, Expert Warns

SEA GIRL, N.J. (UPI) — An authority on marine life warned today that a "renegade shark" that attacked a man off the New Jersey coast probably would strike again. Capt. William B. Gray, director of the Miami, Fla., sequeam, said "once in a while there is a renegade shark that gets a taste of a human being. Then he'll keep on looking and when he finds a human being he'll attack him." Gray said he believed the shark that ripped the right leg of John Brodeur, 24, last Sunday had gone crazy and "probably would show up again." The marine life expert said it usually was just one shark that attacks a human being and then causes panic by continuing to swim near shore in its search for more human victims. New Jersey beaches continued to exercise caution after three sharks were sighted Tuesday. Long Branch police said bathers

Walter Rogers Reports Back In Washington For Bob-Tail Session

Since Congress was scheduled to meet on Monday the 15th, I wanted to be in Washington as near that time as possible, so Walter, Jr., and I motored to the capital in his car. I attended the Greenbelt Bowl Parade and football game at Child on Saturday the 13th and enjoyed it immensely. As a matter of fact, I got to kick off the football (the first time I had the pleasure of doing this for a number of years). I found out I was in practice, because the ball went sideways. This was no doubt due to the sharp-toed shoes, rather than my inability as a kicker. I had to leave the game before it was over in order to meet my son in Shamrock, from which point we headed toward Washington which, incidentally, is about 1,600 miles. We made it by Tuesday, but did not stop for any extracurricular activities on the way.

After arriving in the capital city we discovered that we probably wouldn't have had to come anyway, as there was not a majority of members present during all last week, the result being that we adjourned from day to day. This situation was undoubtedly due to the sharply divided opinion among the members as to whether or not the Congress should be re-convened. Many felt that an extended, bottled session would simply afford an opportunity to pass unneeded legislation. Hence, every effort is being made by these members to block anything not scheduled under the absolutely necessary list. I hope that we can adjourn at a very early date. The committees do not have time to properly consider important measures and it would be most unwise to try to pass any new legislation under such circumstances.

On the trip back to Washington we made some most interesting observations. The motel situation in our section of the country is much better than it is in the East and Middle West. Good motel accommodations are more numerous in our Southwestern area and the service is much better than in the Midwest and East. The bottleneck of the entire trip is at St. Louis, Missouri. If you are planning a motor trip east of St. Louis, be sure to try to arrive there in the middle of the day or late at night. Otherwise, you will get into traffic jams which will cause you to lose between two and three hours in covering 25 to 30 miles. Highway 66 is listed as having a bypass around St. Louis. This bypass is routed through a number of municipalities where the traffic is bumper to bumper. I fail to see how it could be much worse if you continued on regular 66. We came through the town of Cuba, Missouri. The good citizens of that town have erected a large sign which reads: "CUBA — NO CASTRO". This reminded me of how the rise of Hitler caused the name of a hotel at Raton, New Mexico to be changed from "The Swastika" to "The Yucca."

We saw another sign in Zanesville, Ohio, which read "VOTE FOR JAMES AGIN FOR SHERIFF". We wondered what James' last name might be until we saw another sign and realized that it was Agin. I would point out that we knew how to spell "again" but thought perhaps the candidate for sheriff didn't. There is quite a fuss about a "celestial sphere" proposed as a memorial to Theodore Roosevelt. It will cost approximately $900,000. Roosevelt's daughter, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, has indicated that she was horrified and called the expenditure of that amount of money "utter folly." She feels that Roosevelt Island in its raw state would be a much better memorial, with which I thoroughly agree. It will be remembered by some that an artistic monstrosity called the Old GAO Building was dedicated during the latter part of the 19th century. The story is that the building was built so that the entire inside would be a vast open space, with office arrangements along the walls. This was done so that there would be a fitting place in Washington to hold international balls and parties. The story is that when the manager escorted the President of the United States into this vast open space, he said: "Mr. President, this is the only fireproof

FINANCIAL REVIEW

By HENRY J. BECHTOLD UPI Financial Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—The Wellington Management Co. has come out with a new measure of corporate profits which it says presents more information for more recent periods in a manner more useful for financial analysis than other data currently available. Edmund A. Mennis, vice president of Investment Research, presented the new measure today in a paper before the annual meeting of the American Statistical Association at Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif. Mennis said the major reports on corporate profits now available from government and private sources are of limited use for financial analysis. Most of these reports, he declared, do not give sufficiently detailed information by industry or do not represent a consistent sample over a period of time, and therefore comparison of a particular company's performance with that of industries in these reports "is not possible."

The new Wellington sample, which the firm's research staff has been collecting and analyzing data since 1957, covers 110 companies in 24 industries. They are large, successful companies, selected because of their investment interest. Mennis noted that 100 of the 110 firms are listed on the New York Stock Exchange, the 10 not listed are bank stocks which trade in the over-the-counter market. At the end of 1959 the total market value of the listed stocks accounted for 52.3 per cent of the market value of all stocks listed on the exchange. Mennis said these companies also were selected because of the extensive knowledge Wellington's building in Washington, to which the President allegedly replied, "What a shame."

The same remarks might be applicable to the "celestial sphere." We enjoyed seeing a great number of folks from the Panhandle last week. They included J. H. Sears, Jack Bradley, Lee Benefiel, C. Palmer Norton, and J. W. Witherspoon, all of Hereford; Bob McLean from Dimmitt, Mr. and Mrs. A. Noncaster and their son, Jerry Painter from Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Steele, Marilyn and L. D. Steele, also from Pampa; Mrs. D. W. Barron and Bert Barron of Borger; Roy L. Taylor from Matador; and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lovell and their children Michael and Jessalyn of Dumas.
