Man-In-Space Capsule Firing Boosts Chance For Astronaut Flight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A man-in-space capsule was fired aloft and violently separated from its rocket yesterday, but there were performance flaws which may delay the forthcoming attempt to launch an astronaut.

Project Mercury director Robert R. Gilruth said a man "apparently" could have survived the flight, which was designed to test the escape mechanism under the most rugged conditions possible.

Angola Natives Who Butchered Whites Pursued

LISBON (UPI) — Civilian vigilantes Saturday chased a horde of Mau-Mau style terrorists who fled to a dense forest near the Congo border after butchering whites and blacks with machetes and wiping out at least one white community in Portuguese Angola.

Dispatches from Luanda, gleaming white capital of the Portuguese territory on the Atlantic coast of Africa, said plane loads of wounded and homeless men, women and children were being flown in from the remote reaches of the Sao Salvador and Maguela Do Zomba districts.

The number of casualties was not known in the 36-hour blood-letting that began Wednesday at dawn in raids on farms along a 300-mile arc near the Congo frontier.

Lisbon press dispatches reported 28 whites slaughtered on one farm community alone. At least one town, Nambuancongo, was evacuated.

The white community of Mbridge, also had been feared wiped out by the raiders wielding razor-sharp jungle machetes, home-made swords, knives and clubs.

But dispatches from the colony, relayed by the Portuguese Lusitania News Agency, said an air transport crew had sighted Mbridge and that whites and blacks were walking around in it, apparently unharmed.

C-C Membership Luncheon Guests To Hear Report

The March membership meeting of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday noon in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

The program will consist of a report on the recent U. S. Chamber of Commerce Aircade meeting in Tulsa, Okla.

Four Pampan — Calvin Whatley, Ott Shewmaker, Jerald Sims and Melvin Jayroe — attended the Tulsa meeting and will appear on the Tuesday program.

The luncheon is open to the public and reservations may be made at the Chamber of Commerce office in City Hall.

California Man Beaten To Death

HAWTHORNE, Calif. (UPI) — A 78-year-old man died Saturday from a "vicious, unmerciful" attack by a young hoodlum who apparently believed he informed on a juvenile auto theft ring, police said.

Dead was Jacob Bambach, a retired machinist. Lt. Francis Martin of the detective bureau said Bambach, beaten by a man who came to his home and asked to use the telephone, was subjected to "the most vicious, unmerciful attack I've ever seen."

Two Texas Youths Get Scholarships

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William A. Blakley (D-Tex.) announced Saturday that the State Department has awarded scholarships to two Texans to study Latin American literature at the University of Chile, in Santiago.

Recipients of the awards under the Fulbright Act are Miss Joan Meyer, Austin, and Lawrence Samuel Jr., of Victoria.

U.S. Warns Russian Emissary Reds May Cause Asian War

BIG SURPRISE — Al Goodnight of Lubbock, Tex., cleans snow from the windows of his car Friday after a two-inch snowfall surprised residents of the area. Up to five inches of snow was reported in some sections of the Texas Panhandle. Rain, high winds and tornadoes throughout Texas were the order of the day after two days of 80-degree weather.

GOP Urged To Present 'Dollar Happy' Offsets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said Saturday the Republican Party should offer "constructive alternatives to the dollar-happy programs" of the Kennedy administration.

Scott, former GOP national chairman, said "it's about time Republicans started acting like the party that gained the support of one half of the voters in the November election."

He told a four-state regional meeting of Young Republicans: "I cannot imagine that the 34 million Americans who voted for the Republican candidates expect us to spend the next four years alternately crying over spilled votes and pointing accusing fingers at those who supposedly contributed to defeat."

He said the GOP must "act boldly and articulately as the party representing almost exactly half the voters in the United States."

The Pennsylvania recalled that the GOP entered the 1960 presidential battle with only 40 percent of the voters registered as Republicans.

"Yet we came within an eyelash of victory," he said, "because we appealed to more of the independent minded voters than did the other party."

Earlier this week GOP national chairman Thurston B. Morton told the Republicans to start concentrating on big city areas and the big Negro vote. Democrats made heavy inroads in both last year.

In Los Angeles Saturday night, Lee Potter, Morton's chief assistant, told a Republican meeting that unless the party makes big gains in the 1962 congressional elections, it may "have to peddle" the GOP presidential nomination in 1964. Potter said it was most urgent for the party's welfare that it regain control of the House two years hence.

Congo Patrol Chasing Marauding Tribesmen

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — A strong U. N. patrol yesterday fanned out into the Kivu province jungle to drive away a band of "leopardmen" terrorizing the countryside with threats to kill all whites as enemies of their pagan religious sect.

The fanatic tribesmen, wearing leopard skins around their heads, have been operating in the area of Kasongo, where Lumumbist troops earlier beat priests and assaulted Belgian nuns.

More abuse of American missionaries was reported Saturday by Elaine Shepard, an American writer who flew out of Kivu to Leopoldville.

She said Americans among the 30 missionaries around Kindu in Kivu have been beaten and maltreated in recent weeks by Lumumbist Congolese.

But Miss Shepard said, Congolese authorities in Kivu, who have been refusing to let whites leave unless they depart if they wish.

All the Americans now are at the Relais Hotel in Kindu, she said, but many have chosen to return to their posts.

Samuel Vinton of Ebensburg, Pa., was reported to have been beaten by drunken soldiers, but Vinton and his wife, members of the world wide Grace Testimony mission, of Chicago, are staying.

A force of 400 U.N. Malayans troops is protecting Kindu now, but Congolese soldiers, loyal to slain ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba, outnumber them five to one and the Congolese have the town surrounded.

Other U.N. troops were ordered into the Kasongo area in the Kivu interior to prevent the strange "leopardmen" members of the Kitawala sect from carrying out their threat to wipe out the 30 white missionaries in the area.

The leopardmen are armed with bows and arrows; but thus far, according to a U.N. command spokesman, they have not used them on any whites.

Solons To Quiz Fliers Released By Soviet Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A special two-man blue ribbon subcommittee will question Air Force Captains Freeman B. Olmstead and John R. McKone next week about the downing of their RB-47 plane and their subsequent release from a Russian prison, informed sources disclosed yesterday.

The Defense Department has agreed to bring the fliers to Washington for the closed-door hearing, these sources said. Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, and Sen. Styles Bridges, N.H., the ranking Republican member, have been assigned to question them.

Bridges has been outspoken among top critics who have questioned the circumstances surrounding release of the two fliers on Jan. 25. He has insisted that a committee of Congress should question the fliers and then find out the "details of any agreements" with the Kremlin which led to their release.

Both the fliers were stationed at Forbes Air Force Base near Topeka, Kan., after their release which was dramatically announced at President Kennedy's first news conference. After a period of isolation, they told their story at a news conference about two weeks ago.

Subsequently, however, the White House confirmed a press report that delegates to a Moscow scientific conference last November helped to pave the way for freeing the fliers by telling their Russian hosts that release of the captains would be a good start towards repairing relations between the United States.

C-C Claims Tax Hike Not Needed

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI) — The Legislature could solve the state's financial dilemma without raising new taxes, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce said yesterday.

Funds to meet the state's needs could be provided by economies in state government and through non-tax sources of revenue, chamber President J. Carter King Jr. suggested.

President To Visit Estate In Virginia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy plans to take his three-year-old daughter, Caroline, to their estate near Middleburg, Va., Sunday morning.

The White House said Saturday that Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy drove to the estate, Glen Ora, Friday night with her sister, Lee, wife of Prince Stanislaus Radziwill.

$150,000 Youth Center Opening Set For April 16

Tentative date for the formal opening of Pampa's $150,000 Youth and Community Center has been set for Sunday, April 16, it was announced last night by Dr. Joe Donaldson, president of the Center's board of directors.

Announcement also came from Joe Tooley, board member and chairman of a committee to select a director, that Douglas Halley Jr. of Oklahoma City, Okla., has been hired to direct all activities at the youth center.

Tooley said the formal dedication and opening has been scheduled for 2:30 p.m. April 16 at the center, located on W. Crawford St., one block from Harvester St. in northwest Pampa.

The afternoon's program will include a short dedicatory address by Johnny Campbell, former Pampa High athlete, and University of Texas law school graduate. Campbell served as chairman of the fund drive for the center. The ceremonies will include activities by Pampa young people. A special high school band will play for the occasion and Pampa Boy Scouts will take part in the program.

At the outset, Tooley said, activities will be centered around the 35 by 70-ft. indoor swimming pool and the recreation room which will be equipped with ping pong tables and various game devices.

Director Halley, 26, is due to arrive in Pampa next weekend, Tooley said, and will immediately take over his new duties and assist in planning for the opening.

Halley's most recent post was as director of the Northeast Dallas Youth Center where he served for two years.

Tooley said Halley is an expert swimming and diving instructor, is qualified in all first aid phases, and has had experience in directing activities necessary for programs to be carried out for Pampa's youth.

One of the main attractions for the opening day, according to Tooley, will be swimming and diving events in the new indoor pool.

Director Halley will arrange this portion of the program after his arrival in Pampa next week.

Medding In Laos Could Cause Rift, Gromyko Told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk was reported to have warned Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko yesterday at a face-to-face luncheon meeting that Russian meddling in Laos may trigger a major war in Southeast Asia.

Rusk and Gromyko held their "brass tacks" conference at the State Department to highlight a day of Kennedy administration activity. It was the first meeting between the number two U.S. and Soviet foreign policy makers.

Rusk's aides said he hoped to persuade Gromyko that the Soviet Union should end its massive airlift of war supplies to the Communist-led rebels in Laos and talk the rebels into joining the Central Government in seeking a formula for a stable, independent country.

Officials said Rusk wanted to emphasize that if Russia continues interference in Laos, chances are slim of avoiding a spreading war in the entire area.

The civil war so far has been confined to relatively small localized fighting.

Disarmament, a permanent nuclear test ban and the Congo were other items of discussion as the two officials held their first meeting since the Kennedy administration took office in January.

In another development, Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, said Russia and the United States were closer to agreement on an August date for resuming disarmament talks than they were on a number of other East-West issues.

Stevenson, who attended the Rusk-Gromyko luncheon, said this after a White House meeting with President Kennedy. The President discussed foreign policy, national defense and disarmament with Stevenson, Rusk and other top advisers.

Stevenson said Laos was not discussed at Saturday morning's White House meeting. The U.S. approach to Gromyko on the tense Laos situation was worked out at (See WARNS Page 3)

Funeral services for William (Will) Tolbert Wilks, prominent Gray County pioneer, rancher and farmer, will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the First Christian Church with Dr. Richard W. Crews, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Wilks, born near Fayetteville, Ark. on May 28, 1875, died at 8:50 o'clock Friday afternoon in Highland General Hospital.

He came to Gray County in 1900 and was associated with the White Deer Land Co. in showing early settlers land that might be purchased. He later became engaged in farming and ranching.

On Dec. 16, 1906, he was married to Miss Mora Hughey, Mrs. Wilks passed away on Jan. 9, 1961.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilks made their home for a number of years on the corner of Ballard and Browning. Following the sale of the Browning and Ballard Street property to the Ideal Food Store, they moved to their home at 1717 Mary Ellen.

Mr. Wilks was a member of the First Christian Church.

He is survived by four sisters, Mrs. J. K. McKenzie of Miami, Mrs. J. E. Williams of Pampa, Mrs. Mary Byrd of Dawn, Mrs. Minnie Paddock of Fayetteville, Ark.; one brother, P. C. Wilks of Downey, Calif.; a number of nephews and nieces.

Active pallbearers will be Lee Fraser, Edward Vincent, Robert Vincent, Ray Duncan, Kirk Duncan, Jerald Sims, Jack Vincent, Warren Fatheree, Hobart Fatheree and John Williams.

Honorary pallbearers are J. E. Murfee, William T. Fraser, C. P. Buckler, Fred Hobart, Robert F. Gordon, Cliff Vincent, C. A. Tignor, A. H. Doucette, M. K. Brown, A. A. Schunemann, DeLea Vicars, and Chester Carr.

Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Duonel Carmichael Funeral Home.

State Legislature Near Action On Tax Program

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas lawmakers said they wanted more time to study the various sales taxes now pending in the House.

The House agreed to wait until March 27 to tackle a flexible tax measure by Rep. Charles Ballman of Borger. Ballman said the bill could be easily amended to take any kind of tax program the House would like to pass to retire the $63 million deficit.

Monday night, the Senate Education Committee will hear Sen. A. M. Aikin's bill to give public school teachers an $800 pay raise. Part of the recommendations of the Hale-Aikin Educational Study Committee, the pay raise was killed in the Senate last session.

Other legislative action during the week includes:

Insurance—The Senate Insurance Committee will have another go Tuesday on a third bill by Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo to drastically change the "merit rating" system of car insurance.

Jurisprudence—A proposed constitutional amendment by Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo to permit Texas voters to decide whether to abolish the Court of Criminal Appeals was expected to be brought up for floor action in the Senate on Tuesday.

Public Health—The House State Affairs Committee Monday night will study Sen. Grady Hazlewood's bill to subject imported milk to the same health standards imposed on domestic milk. The bill passed the Senate by a 29-2 vote last week.

Juvenile Crime—Rep. Franklin Spears of San Antonio will have a bill before the House Judiciary Committee Tuesday to permit the courts to try juveniles as adults for certain heinous crimes.

On Monday the legislators will work on a measure by Rep. Sam Collins of Newton to levy a 30 percent tax on the proceeds of profit-making private clubs and a 2 percent tax on non-profit clubs, and a bill by Rep. Don Gladden of Fort Worth to establish a graduated tax on gifts.

Lawmakers are also expected to get their first look at House and Senate versions of the state's $2.4 billion spending program.

Sen. Ray Roberts of McKinney, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said their money outline would be ready Monday or Tuesday.

Rep. James Cotten of Weatherford, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said their version should be ready for a vote "by the Tuesday or Wednesday before the Easter recess."

Last week the House got its first official glimpse of the controversial sales tax issue and postponed a showdown on a flexible tax bill to retire the state deficit.

Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity took before the House Revenue and Taxation Committee his 2 percent general sales tax. The leading proponents of the tax, "the Citizens for a Sales Tax," failed to show up for the hearing. They

Disaster Relief Grants Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government granted $13,185,000 in disaster relief to 10 states during the 1960 calendar year. President Kennedy reported to Congress today. Allocations included:

- Missouri—(Floods), $1,250,000;
- Arkansas—(Tornadoes and floods), $50,000;
- Texas—(Rains, hail, floods and tornadoes), $325,000;

HERE I STAND

I believe that the greatest service that any government, whether local, state, or national, can render is to be as little of a nuisance as possible. Government can not properly grant favors to any, either in the gathering of taxes, or in the use made of public funds. To do so results in taxation becoming legalized robbery.

I am 52 years old. I have spent my entire lifetime in the Texas Panhandle, and the last 16 years in Pampa. I worked for the Cree Companies 12 years after coming to Pampa in 1945. I am principal owner and manager of Southwell Supply Company; am a Certified Public Accountant, and for the past several years have very unwillingly made annual contributions (in the form of Income Taxes) to the national effort to tax the country into prosperity. The amounts contributed are approximately the same as I have spent for ordinary and necessary living expenses for myself and family.

My immediate family, all of whom live in Pampa, consists of one wife; one son, who is associated with me in business; one daughter-in-law; and one granddaughter who is two and a half years old and is what the man had in mind when he put the word "wonderful" in the dictionary.

If you feel that the above qualifies me to serve on the City Commission of the City of Pampa, and you are a qualified voter living East of Cuyler and Mary Elen and North of Foster (Ward 2), you may vote for me in the City Election April 4th.

Spain Says Moroccan Troops Took Oil Men

MADRID (UPI)—Spain charged Saturday that the kidnapers—of three American and seven other oil technicians were Moroccan Army troops who staged a Spanish Sahara border raid disguised to look like the work of nomad rebel bands.

A communique from the Foreign Ministry accused Morocco of "a flagrant violation of all international law, and of peace and good neighborliness."

Four days ago the 11 men were erroneously reported to have been found safe and sound in Morocco. Actually there has been no word from them since they were kidnaped eight days ago.

The Americans, employees of a California firm supplying oil equipment to the American-owned Union-Oil Co., which is prospecting in the Spanish Sahara, were identified by the U.S. Embassy here as:

Dale Miller, 26, of Bakersfield, Calif.; James Gilbert, 25, son of Mrs. Trudy Gilbert, of Littlefield, Tex.; and John C. Cosgriff, 26, Timber, Mont.

Reliable sources said Spain has followed the charge by rushing men.

paratroops units aboard six DC-3's from Sevilla to the Sahara territory, which is also claimed by Morocco. More troops have been ordered there from bases in the Canary Islands, they said.

Spain and Morocco also have conflicting claims to another adjacent territory—Ifni, a small enclave 80 miles south of Agadir, Morocco.

The government warned Morocco that it has taken "the necessary measures to repel, by all means at its disposal, any aggression which may take place," the communique said. Copies of the charge were filed with the United Nations, the United States, Britain, France, Portugal and the Arab countries.

In the communique Spain said "contingents of the army from Morocco, which pretended to be armed bands of the former liberation army" carried out the kidnaping to challenge Spain's control over the Sahara territory.

Reports reaching here soon after the kidnaping had said it was carried out by nomadic desert tribes.

Iva Myrtle Cary Dies In Dalhart; Funeral Pending

Funeral services are pending for Miss Iva Myrtle Cary, 62, a teacher in Dalhart Public Schools and a member of a pioneer Pampa family, who died Saturday morning while shopping in Dalhart. Arrangements will be announced later by Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Miss Cary was widely known throughout the southwest as a Latin scholar, educator and nurse. She was the author of "The Life of Ovid As Revealed By His Extant Works," published in 1931 and used as a reference work by Latin authorities.

She was born Sept. 13, 1898, near Junio in Henderson County, Tenn., the daughter of the late David W. Cary and Malissa J. Tracy Cary. She moved with her family to Lamar County in 1901 and to Pampa in 1904.

Her education was received in Pampa schools and at West Texas State Normal School at Canyon, where she was graduated from high school. She received her BA degree from the University of Texas; MA degree from Texas Technological College and a BS degree in nursing from the University of Wisconsin.

After many years of teaching at Pampa; Shamrock, Paducah, Slaton and Galveston, Miss Cary entered John Sealy School of Nursing of the University of Texas at Galveston and became a registered nurse. Following graduation, she served on the administration as an assistant supervisor of nursing instruction. During World War II, Miss Cary was co-ordinator of the nursing program for the U.S. government Student Nurse Corps at Santa Rosa Hospital and Incarnate Word College in San Antonio.

A cardiac condition forced her retirement from nursing and after recovery, she re-entered the educational field teaching science in the Berger Public Schools and was at the time of her death a teacher at Kella Hill School in Dalhart. Miss Cary was a member of the First Christian Church of Dalhart, Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority, The United Daughters of the Confederacy, and Order of the Eastern Star.

Miss Cary is survived by three brothers, Attorney Fred A. Cary of Pampa; Royal E. Cary of New Orleans, La.; J. Tracy Cary of Brownfield; one sister, Mrs. Ludy Cary Johnson of Lubbock; a nephew, Tracy D. Cary of Pampa; and a niece, Mrs. Mary E. Harris, also of Pampa.

Four Teachers Receive Grants

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department has awarded grants to four Texas teachers to enable them to participate in the teacher foreign exchange program, Sen. William A. Blakley (D-Tex.) announced Saturday.

Miss Joan Dillard, Lamar Junior High School, Austin, will attend the summer seminar at the Instituto Caro y Cuervo in Bogota, Colombia.

George M. Blanco, El Paso, an El Paso public school system teacher, also will study at Bogota.

Thursten W. Forham, Ft. Worth, a teacher at Paschal High School, will attend a seminar for history teachers at the University of Poona, India.

Also attending the summer session at Poona will be Kathryn S. Clark, Carthage, a teacher at Carthage High School.

Original manuscript of the diary of Samuel Pepps, in six volumes, is at Magdalen College, Cambridge, England.

Cubans Arrest Widow Of Executed Ex-Yank

HAVANA (UPI)—The pretty blonde widow of American adventurer William A. Morgan, who died before a firing squad March 11, believing she was safe, is under arrest after leaving diplomatic asylum, reliable sources said Saturday.

Olga Rodriguez Morgan, 23, was arrested by military police last Wednesday in Santa Clara, capital of Las Villas province only a short distance from the rebel-infested Escambray Mountains, informed quarters reported. She is now being held at military intelligence headquarters here and faces a 30 year prison term.

Mrs. Morgan, a Cuban, is the mother of two infant children by her adventurer husband, a former U.S. Army paratrooper from Toledo, Ohio, who was a one-time hero of Fidel Castro's revolution.

She had obtained sanctuary in the Brazilian Embassy after Morgan's arrest last year. He tried to telephone her there before he was shot as a traitor but was denied permission.

"They can only shoot me once," Morgan, 34, had cracked during the trial. "All I was worried about anyway was Olga's well-being."

But Mrs. Morgan, who had been sentenced in absentia to a 30-year prison sentence on the same charges on which her husband was convicted, refused to remain behind the protective walls of the embassy, informants said.

She boldly risked arrest and left her diplomatic asylum two weeks ago to seek personal help of revolutionary leaders who were once her husband's friends.

Authorities identified the victims of the tragedy, as 36-year-old Mrs. Pauline Hawkins and her children—Gallion, 13; Larry, 9; Teresa, 6; Danny, 3, and Timmy, 2. Officials said the mother apparently died trying to save the children.

Her husband, Edsel Hawkins, and his aged father, Howard, escaped from the blazing house, one of the oldest still standing in rural Stokes County, and attempted to put out the fire themselves.

When they saw their efforts were failing, the younger Hawkins ran a half mile to the nearest neighbor to summon help.

Do Public Schools Result In Atheism?

United Press International

Nearly a century ago, a Presbyterian theologian, the Rev. Dr. A. A. Hodge, predicted that the U.S. public school system would eventually become "the most efficient instrument for the propagation of a 'heaven which the world has ever known.'" "If every party in the state has the right of excluding from the public schools whatever he does not believe to be true," reasoned Hodge, "then he that believes most must give way to him that believes least, and he that believes least must give way to him that believes absolutely nothing, no matter in how small a minority the atheists and agnostics may be."

Dr. Hodge may have oversteered the case a bit. Few people today would accuse the public schools of deliberately "propagating atheism."

But neither are they propagating belief in God. The process of excluding religion from public education has been taking place inexorably, just as Dr. Hodge prophesied. In recent years, a succession of court rulings has made it virtually impossible for public schools even to acknowledge the existence of a Supreme Being.

The full implications of this fact are only beginning to dawn on millions of American parents, who have grown accustomed to depending on public schools to teach their children everything they need to know, from how to brush their teeth to how to drive a car.

These parents must now realize that they have only two alternatives if they want their children to learn about God.

The first alternative, is to arrange an adequate program of religious education for each child, outside of school hours.

Sending a child to Sunday School is not an adequate program of religious education. Any Sunday School teacher will testify that very little systematic religious instruction can be accomplished in a class which meets for one hour, a week, or less, and for which little or no homework is done.

If a child is to learn the basic concepts of a religious faith, Sunday School must be supplemented by a great deal of teaching and reading at home, or by a more extensive training program under church auspices, or ideally, by both.

In some communities, churches now provide so-called "released time" religious classes, conducted by professional teachers. The name comes from the fact that children are released from public school, at stated periods during the week, to attend these classes.

The Supreme Court has upheld the constitutionality of this arrangement, provided the classes are conducted off public school property. But only a relatively small fraction of America's public school children — fewer than 10 per cent — are now enrolled in such programs.

Churches offer a variety of other ways in which children may receive a religious education comparable in quality and intensity to the training they get in, for example, biology or home economics.

Weekend religious schools, with all-day programs, are available to many Jewish and Roman Catholic children who attend public schools. Protestant churches offer "Vacation Bible Schools" and summer camps at which children may receive systematic religious training during public school holidays.

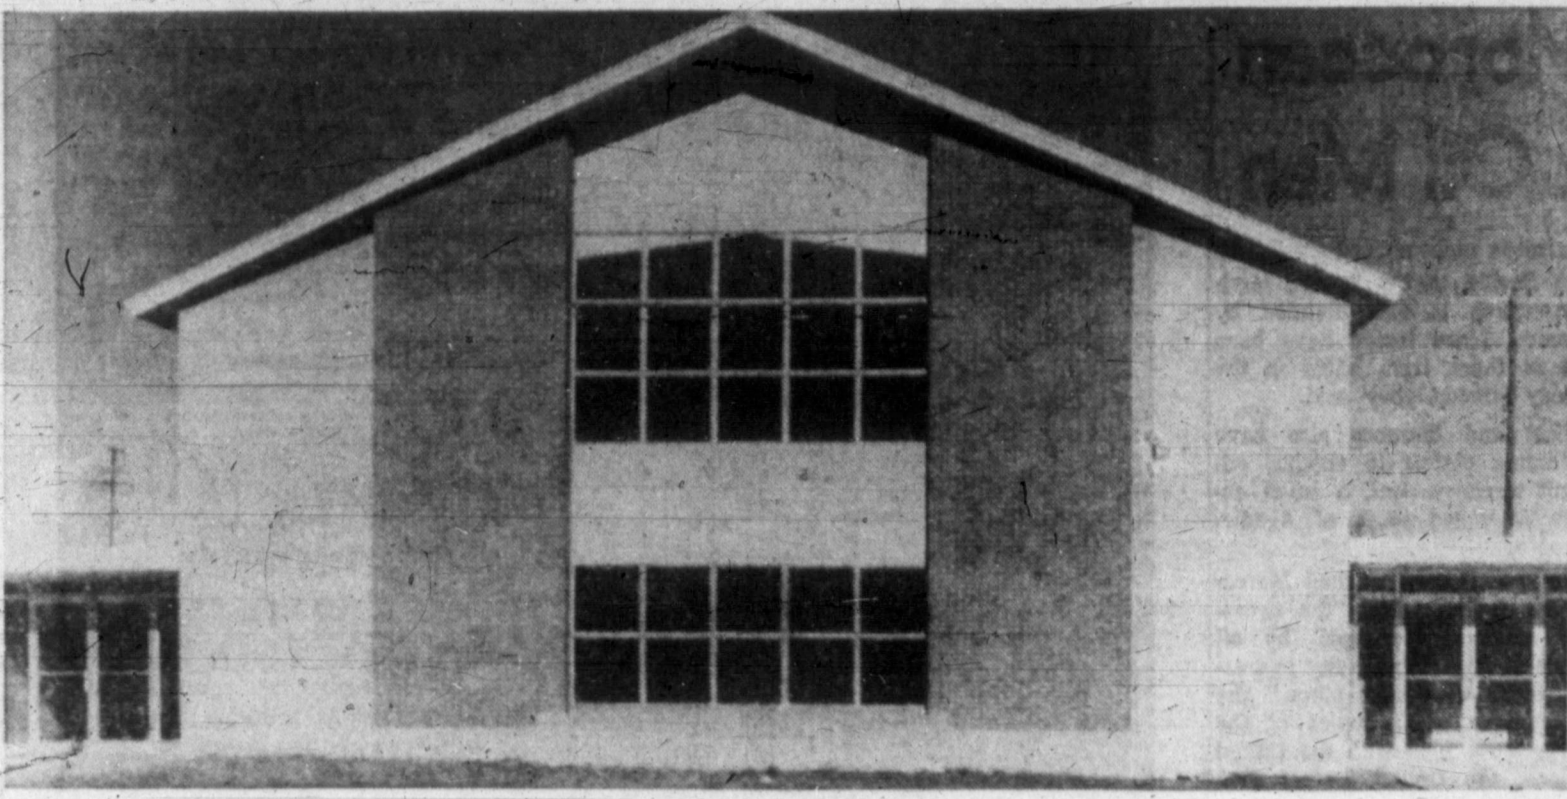

The second alternative open to parents is to pass up the public school's and send their children to church-sponsored private schools which are free to teach religious values and concepts along with reading, writing and arithmetic.

This is usually thought of as a "Catholic solution," and it is true that Catholic parents send more children (5.5 million) to private schools than any other group in the population.

But Catholics have never had monopoly on the idea. Episcopalians and Lutherans have always maintained fairly substantial systems of schools. And in the past few years, Baptists, Methodists and other Protestants have displayed a growing interest in the idea of establishing church-related schools which could educate children in an avowedly Christian atmosphere.

If this alternative catches on in a big way, America's educational system, based for the past century on the dominance of the free public school, may be in for far-reaching changes.

New $100,000 Church Dedicated In McLean

McLEAN (Sp) — The 60-member congregation of the First Baptist Church here will hold its second service today in a new $100,000 building.

The new church has a seating capacity for 550 persons.

The building program is the culmination of work done during the pastorate of Rev. Jesse Leonard, now holding a pastorate in Bonham, chairman of the building committee is Dr. Joe Suderman, with Doyle Brown as chairman of the building finance committee and Boyd Reeves is chairman of Deacons.

During the life of the First Baptist Church, in addition to the church buildings, it has constructed and owns a home for the minister, a day nursery that cost about $10,000 and remodeled the present sanctuary into a modern educational plant.

Special music for the dedication ceremony was furnished by Rev. Bob Callahan and a trio of singers from the Central Baptist Church in Pampa.

Officials of the church said several hundred former members living outside McLean, and former ministers and friends attended the dedicatory services.

Town Handicap First Baptist Pastor's Topic

Dr. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will be in the pulpit for both services today. "A Home Town Handicap" is the subject he will use for his Sunday morning worship sermon.

Joe Whitten, minister of music will direct the church choir in singing "Song of Praises," an anthem by Jones. Miss Eloise Lane organist, will play "Lamb of God" by Bizet for the morning offertory number.

At the 7:30 p.m. worship service, Dr. Carver will speak from the topic, "A Winning Witness." The church choir will sing a hymn anthem and Miss Lane will play "Andante Serioso" by Kotelbey for the offertory.

V. T. Alexander announced that the first meeting of the Royal Ambassadors will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday. Mr. Alexander has just recently assumed the leadership of the organization and is planning an active and interesting program for all junior age boys.

Women In The Churches

The Lutheran Nurses Guild reported a membership of 1,600 in 41 chapters at its annual meeting in New York. Two of the chapters are in Africa and 39 are in the U.S. Miss Phyllis Olson, of Minneapolis, is president of the Guild; Miss Bertha Lunde, of St. Paul, is treasurer; and Miss Alice C. Sanne, of Minneapolis, secretary.

The Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, in a recent resolution "noted with gratification" the adoption by the UN General Assembly of the World Food Bank Plan to relieve emergency famine situation which will be channeled through F.A.O. The church women then urged that Congress develop legislation making it possible for the United States to cooperate fully with this program. And they added, "We further urge Methodist women to familiarize themselves with this plan and with the 'Five Year Freedom from Hunger Campaign.' As one dramatic symbol of the United States full support of this Freedom from Hunger Campaign, it is recommended that plans be set in motion wherever possible through UN channels for the sending of U.S. surplus foods to help relieve the famine stricken people on the mainland of China."

When the United Nations commission on the status of women meets in Geneva this month, conditions of employment for women in many countries will be reviewed. Findings of the International Labor Organization indicate a gradual easing of restrictions formerly applied to women, both married and single, in their opportunities for gainful work, although many are still operative against married women. Especially for air hostesses, the report shows, discrimination continues on the basis of marital status. In the United States, it was found, about 40 per cent of the stewardesses leave their jobs each year, most of them to get married. The majority of the larger airlines require stewardesses to resign on marriage, or shortly thereafter. On the other hand, the widely prevalent shortage of teachers has virtually wiped out the regulations against married women in the educational field. Church women across the nation are keenly concerned with this changing status of women.

College Degree To Be Presented Pampa Minister

ABILENE — Rev. Woodrow Adcock, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Pampa, will be among those warded honorary degrees from McMurry College within the near future, it was announced this week.

Bestowal of the degrees will be divided up between spring commencement, summer commencement and at the time of the fall Willson Lectures in October.

The trustees approved a record $1,152,069 budget for 1951-52, okayed a new administration building or the college and voted to honor three churchmen and two laymen with honorary degrees during the remainder of 1951.

Others scheduled to receive honorary degrees are Roy Furr of Lubbock, of the gigantic Furr Food Stores; Bishop Paul Galloy of San Antonio, presiding bishop of the San Antonio-Northwest Texas Area of The Methodist Church; John Townsend of Las Cruces, N. M., member of the McMurry board of trustees; and the Rev. H. L. McAlester, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Hobbs, N. M.

The budget was an increase of $135,912 over 1950-51 and comes about as a result of increased enrollment. McMurry's enrollment was 1,119 this spring, an increase of 16.2 per cent over the spring of 1950. At least another 10 per cent increase is predicted for next fall. The fall enrollment for 1950 was 1,169.

The board, headed by Dr. J. M. Willson of Floydada, approved the new C. E. Maedgen Administration Building project, leaving final signing of contracts to its executive committee. Bids were received once, but a rebidding was necessary. New bids are to be received April 14. With the executive committee to meet April 17 in Lubbock to make a decision.

Witnesses Plan Rites

Daniel Katsanis, presiding minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced this week that Jehovah's Witnesses are preparing now for the annual celebration of "The Lord's Evening Meal." "This is the only celebration or holiday observed by Jehovah's Witnesses," said Mr. Katsanis.

In preparing for this event, observed on March 30 at 8:00 p.m. in the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, 944 South Dwight, Jehovah's Witnesses will be inviting their friends and neighbors to be in attendance with them.

This week's activities of Jehovah's Witnesses will not be altered due to this celebration. Jehovah's Witnesses will meet 7:30 p.m. Friday for the Ministry school. Sunday at 3 p.m. will be Bible discussion by R. Cagle on the question "Are Jehovah's Witnesses Christians?" Followed by the "Watchtower" Bible study class conducted by Mr. Katsanis.

Laymen To Head National Council

Dr. Richard W. Crews, minister of Pampa's First Christian Church, announced yesterday that J. Irwin Miller, an industrialist and a churchman from Columbus, Indiana, is the first layman to be elected president of the National Council of Churches.

Miller, board chairman of the Cummings Engine Company and the Irwin Bank and Trust Company, both of Columbus, and of the Union Star and Refining Company of Granite City, Ill., is a leading layman of the Disciples of Christ.

Miller also serves on the boards of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Indiana National Bank of Indianapolis and of Purity Stores, a 105-store chain of supermarkets of California.

He has served the Council since its formation in 1950 when he represented his denomination as an alternate delegate at the Council's Constituting Convention.

GUEST SPEAKER — The Rev. Hardy E. Stevens, pastor of the Cliffside Baptist Church, Amarillo will fill the pulpit Sunday in the absence of the Rev. John Dyer pastor of the Hobart Street Baptist Church. Rev. Dyer is in Anadarko, Okla., where he is speaking to an evangelistic campaign.

Topic Announced For Methodist Church Service

"The Company of Christ" will be the sermon topic discussed by the pastor, Woodrow Adcock, at the morning services for the First Methodist Church.

Special music for the 8:30 a.m. service will be furnished by the Carol and Wesley Choirs with their selection of "The Bellman's Song" by Shaw. At the 10:55 service the Sanctuary Singers with guest tenor soloist, Dr. N. J. Ellis, will sing the anthem, "The Sanctus" (St. Cecilia Mass) by Gounod.

Sunday evening fellowship will be held at 6:00 p.m. with a light supper for the entire family in Fellowship Hall. At 6:30 p.m. children, youth, and adults will separate for one hour of planned activities, according to interest and needs.

The church-wide mission study, "Stumbling Block," for adults will continue this evening at 6:30. The fourth and last session, sponsored by the Wesleyan Service Guild, will be a panel discussion with the following members of the panel: Mrs. Aubrey Jones, Mrs. Irl Smith, Misses Alma Wilson and Ila Pool.

The Sunday night service at 7:30 will be conducted by the pastor who will speak on the subject, "The Healing Touch." The special music for the evening will be furnished by the Intermediate-MYF Choir.

A membership class for adults is being taught by the pastor every Sunday morning at 9:45 in his study. These sessions will run through the month of March. The pastor will teach a membership class for Juniors March 20 through March 24 at 4 p.m. in the Chapel.

Passion Week Sermon Topic

The Rev. Russell G. West, pastor of the Church of The Brethren announced his topic today will be "Looking Toward Passion Week," at the 11 a.m. worship.

Sunday evening services will be at 7 o'clock conducted by the young people of the church. Four high school students, Karen Hubbard, Velda Rose, Mary Hubbard and Johnnie Hubbard will present reports on the recent youth conference.

Science Church To Emphasize Omnipotence

Man is sustained under all circumstances through an understanding of God's omnipotence. This theme will be emphasized today at Christian Science church services.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Matter" is the Golden Text from Psalms (73:26): "My flesh and my heart faileth; but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this passage will be read: "Consciousness constructs a better body when faith in matter has been conquered. Correct material belief by spiritual understanding, and Spirit will form you anew" (428:23-26).

Scriptural selections will include this additional citation from Psalms (56:4): "In God I will praise his word, in God I will put my trust; I will not fear what flesh can do unto me."

Topic For Sunday Sermon Given

"Not Bigger, But Better" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Jack Riley at the 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. worship services today in St. Paul Methodist Church.

Church school is scheduled for 9:45 a.m. There will be a Methodist Youth Fellowship meeting at 6 p.m. and evening worship is scheduled for 7 p.m.

MARRIES THIRD SISTER

Fastest COOK IN TOWN!

That's you — when Reddy's your helper.

What makes electric cooking fast? Well, on an electric range your cooking utensil rests right on the heating element. The heat is transferred, directly, into the pan and into the food — and the faster the heat gets to the food, the faster the cooking will be finished.

It's the same story on roasting or baking. The oven's insulated on all sides — and the heat stays in — keeps working.

That's a cost-cutter, too, because the heating elements are off many times while you are baking or roasting.

Fast, cool, clean. That's the kind of range you want.

That's the kind you get — when it's electric.

NOW - 5000 STAMPS

When you buy your new electric range now — as a Public Service customer, you will receive 5,000 Frontier or Gunn Bros. stamps — your choice. See your Reddy Kilowatt Dealer. See the range that's modern — of course, it's electric.

Cloudy Weather Fades Over West Section Of State

By United Press International

Cool temperatures and thick clouds blanketed the northwestern portion of Texas Saturday, while clearing skies and warmer weather returned spring to the remainder of the state.

The wide variance of conditions was a continuation of the odd weather reported in the state Friday when some six inches of snow fell in the Panhandle region around Amarillo while McAllen in the extreme southern portion recorded the nation's highest temperature — 92 degrees.

Forecasters said cloudiness would diminish in the northwestern area late Saturday and early Sunday, with the weather Sunday being partly cloudy with only minor temperature changes.

The remainder of the state would continue fair, forecasters said.

Temperatures at noon Saturday ranged between 38 degrees at Amarillo and 70 at Corpus Christi.

Financial Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The home furnishings business, like the economy, has found the going rough thus far in 1961.

But, again like the economy, things are expected to get better later this year. And the home furnishings manufacturers look forward to reaping in substantial benefits from the population explosion predicted for this decade.

Based on the anticipated increase in the number of U. S. households to more than 56 million by 1965 compared with last year's level of 51.8 million, the Latex Foam Rubber Council places the home-furnishings market potential at approximately $6.5 billion.

This estimate of additional household item buying is supported by a recent study conducted by the University of Houston which found that the average Houston home buyer spent $1,569 during the first year in his newly acquired home.

Forty per cent of this $1,569 was spent for furniture and about 27 per cent for kitchen appliances.

Business Bureaus Warn Of Home Front Gypster

NEW YORK (UPI) — Are you an economic ignoramus where home improvements are concerned?

Thousands of trusting home owners are. Last year, gypsters feeding on the trust and ignorance collected more than $500 million in payments for work that was not completed — or, in some cases, never started.

In lots of ways, the swindlers have found the innocent homeowner fair game in their gentle art of getting something — your money — for practically nothing.

Home improvement gripes last year headed the list of complaints registered with the Better Business Bureaus across the nation.

In most cases, the bureaus could only act as a kind of walling wall for the homeowners who had been taken on a fast ride to economic loss.

There's not much we can do in most cases," Thomas C. Roberts of the Association of Better Business Bureaus said in an interview. "Our warning about 'investigate before you sign' fall on too many deaf ears.

"The home improvement swindlers come out like flies in spring, baiting the homeowners with impossible deals, ads that don't mean what they say, and sweet-sounding sales pitches.

"Once you've signed on the dotted line, he's got you," Roberts said. "And this is where most homeowners make their initial costly mistake."

Sometimes, for example, the papers to be signed include a "completion certificate." Once you've put your name on it, you have certified that the work has been completed.

One of the sweetest deals — to your bank balance — is the model home scheme. The salesman usually says it won't cost much to patch up your house, making it look like something out of a builder's magazine.

He offers to do it and will give you a hefty discount if he can use your home as a model when trying to land other contracts in the neighborhood. What's more, he'll give you a commission on every other contract he completes after other customers have seen your "model home."

J. R. Hoffman, head of the real estate division at the National Better Business Bureau, said the "model pitch" is almost epidemic in proportion. The Bureau has just sent out an alert on the racket to chambers of commerce nationwide.

From the sound of the "model deal," there's a chance you might even get your home fixed up for nothing. "Usually, you get a cheap repair job — and pay through the nose," Hoffman warned.

Then there are the scare artists. They knock on the door and tell you the chimney is falling down or your house is a fire trap. For the minimum, the salesman will have the trouble fixed. Usually, the minor job becomes major and you pay the maximum.

Underquoting and overpricing are other tricks in the swindler's bag. They say they'll do the work for less than a reputable contractor. They do poor work, charge more and you're the loser.

Typical of the home improvement ads was one investigated by the Long Island Better Business Bureau recently. The firm offered aluminum siding for $295. The aluminum siding was a paint, or as a salesman for the firm put it — a "coating pigmented with aluminum."

What can you do to keep your home from becoming a paradise for the gyp artists? The Better Business Bureau suggests:

—Find out about the contractor before going ahead. Check on work that he has done. Once you've established his reliability, you can proceed with reasonable confidence.

—Read and understand everything before you sign it. If you don't understand, see your lawyer.

—When you have reservations about the reliability of a firm, check with the Better Business Bureau. There's no charge for the service.

—Never sign a completion certificate for the job before it is properly completed.

—Beware if the salesman or company tries to high-pressure you into signing a contract.

League Submits Report On Medical Care Plans

By FLETCHER ROBERTSON
The Daily News Austin Bureau
Daily News Austin
Bureau Correspondent

AUSTIN — Texas lawmakers are under a mandate from the people to approve some type of medical care service for public assistance recipients and probably will do something about it before the 37th session of the Legislature ends.

In November of 1958, the voters of Texas approved an amendment to the State Constitution authorizing the Legislature to establish a program of medical care for the 319,000 persons receiving public aid.

This group includes persons receiving old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind and aid to the permanently and totally disabled.

The 56th Legislature, meeting in 1959, took no action on the matter.

The Texas Research League has concluded an extensive survey of the medical needs of public assistance recipients and summarized its findings in a report submitted to the Department of Public Welfare. The report also discusses the advantages and disadvantages of the two basic approaches to the problem.

A medical care program of this type, the league said, could be financed by state and federal matching funds, or it could be financed by state funds alone if the Legislature should decide against acceptance of the regulations and controls which would accompany federal aid. Federal money available to Texas could amount to as much as $26 million annually, to obtain this allotment, the state would be required to put up almost $9 million annually. The report continued:

"The question before the Legislature is: How can the State of Texas meet the unmet medical needs of its 319,000 public assistance recipients in an effective manner without (1) undermining medical care services for the general population, (b) inflating medical care costs, and (c) wasting tax money?"

A medical-needs analysis made by the league's research team disclosed that only 3.5 per cent of the public assistance caseload, or 8,718 cases, have unmet medical needs which could respond to any new type of medical care program. In addition, the analysis showed that there are 12,733 cases which have unmet medical needs of such a nature that no new program would have any beneficial effect on them. For example, the report said, it is known that 9,400 of these cases had free medical care available, but refused to accept it.

"These figures seem low," the league went on, "in view of public statements made about widespread medical needs, especially among the aged. Yet the facts clearly show that most of the medical needs of public assistance recipients are already being met under existing programs.

"But this is the important consideration: the group that merits concern is those 8,718 cases who have medical needs not being met at present which would respond to a governmental program.

"Those public assistance cases with serious responsible needs reside in counties which have a larger-than-average proportion of welfare recipients in their total population. Most of these counties are located in rural areas of the state. Generally they provide no tax-supported medical care programs or have very limited programs of that type. Those cases with less intense needs (hearing aids, dentures, glasses) are scattered throughout the state.

"The greatest volume of responsible needs are found among old age assistance cases; however, the most intense medical needs are found among the adults in the aid to dependent children caseload."

The league said at least $42.2 million free medical care is being provided annually to public assistance recipients. The money comes from these sources: state and federal funds, $29.7 million; local units of government, $2.7 million; private sources (relatives, doctors, foundations, druggists, etc.), $10.5 million.

This is a minimum figure, the league pointed out, since many free services are given on a confidential basis and data cannot be obtained concerning them. The report continued:

"Repeatedly the research staff found in its case analysis and field interviews that individual medical needs were being met out of present available resources. To find a responsible medical need was the exception rather than the rule."

Discussing the most effective approach to meeting the needs of responsible cases, the league said: "The most effective program that could be established to meet the needs of public assistance recipients would be a state-administered, state-financed program that does not duplicate existing local public or private indigent medical care services, but fills the gap in such services. Such a program would be designed to meet medical needs on an individual basis as fully as necessary and those who administer it should be given wide latitude in determining who should be helped and how much care should be given in each case.

"This program would cost approximately $1.7 million the first year and $1.1 million the second year — all out of state appropriations. This amount would meet in an optimum manner every responsible medical need found in the Texas public assistance caseload.

"No federal funds would be accepted since federally provided medical care funds must be equally available to all public assistance recipients in every part of the state. This inflexible federal requirement would result in recipients feeling 'entitled' to a limited amount of free care each month, regardless of real need and regardless of the availability of local tax-supported medical care resources and services.

Eventually this would lead to spreading available medical care funds thinly across the public assistance caseload. Rather than meeting individual responsible medical needs in adequate fashion it would force the state to meet medical needs on a wholesale basis. Thus, most of this intense medical needs which now exist would still exist under such a system despite a much larger expenditure of funds.

"These are not the only problems that accepting federal funds could generate. If the State of Texas should be unable to establish firm control over the use of federal-state funds under a federally initiated program, these things could happen:

"It could undermine local public and private indigent medical care programs and thus become the first step in making all indigent care a state-federal responsibility. "It would discourage relatives of public assistance recipients who are financially able to provide medical care from doing so.

"It would, because of the size of the medical service buying power of the program, strain if not overwhelm existing medical services in some parts of Texas.

"It would encourage an immediate and increasing 'unnecessary' demand for medical services. As demand rises, medical costs can be expected to increase for both public assistance recipients and the general public.

"It would generate more pressures from other groups to receive 'free' medical care.

"It would provide for the immediate and rapid consumption of the supply of medical services, yet it does nothing to increase that supply.

"It would give undue attention to the medical needs of the old age assistance recipients and insufficient attention to the greatest area for intense needs — the adult aid to dependent children recipients.

"As has been pointed out, a state-financed medical care program aimed at meeting responsible needs of public assistance recipients would cost an estimated $1.7 million annually. A state-federal program, if all federal matching funds were accepted, would have $35 million immediately available. If only $1.7 million is needed, how could $35 million be spent?"

"The $1.7 million spent under a state-financed program would buy only new services. The program would not permit the transfer to it of existing medical care expenditures for public assistance recipients by local governments, or private persons, or from public assistance funds.

"In contrast, the $35 million expended under a state-federal program would buy little in the way of new services. The largest part of it would be consumed quickly by the transfer to it of the bulk of the $42.3 in medical care services now furnished public assistance recipients. This has been the experience of other states.

Muskrat Attacks Man Walking On Downtown Street

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI)—A fight off the animal by kicking at four times, knocking it off his feet, leaped from a brick wall until he could pull a brick loose leg. He then used the brick to kill the animal.

Harrill said he managed to dislodge a brick and hit the muskrat with it. "It kept snapping its teeth at me," Harrill said. "It was a real water scramble there for a while."

Police said many muskrats inhabit outlying creeks, but as far as was known, this was the first time one wandered so far from its home.

Formula Discovered For Storming Movies

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A pretty young Texas filly has discovered the ideal means for storming the movies—a wealthy Houston oil magnate.

Anne Morell is being sponsored by oil man William Burke to the tune of $500 a month until such time as she becomes a star.

No sugar daddy, Burke is financing the bright-eyed brunette as a business investment. He's that sure she will become a valuable property. And no matter how you look at the situation, Anne is considerably easier on the eyes than a forest of oil derricks.

Burke has a five-year contract with his shapely protegee which gives him 25 per cent of all her earnings.

The deal was made last spring, and thus far Anne hasn't made a dime in Hollywood.

"I'm really just getting started," Anne said. "I have an agent now, and I've spent the last six months taking dramatic lessons."

Anne's best qualifications for an acting career are her 38-22-35 1/2 measurements and a pair of sparkling black eyes. Her experience has been limited to beauty contests.

"I was Miss Flame of 1955, Miss Whirly Bird of 1957 and Miss Ruby Lips of 1959, plus seven other contests in Texas," she explained. "After a while I realized I couldn't make a career of beauty contests and decided to become an actress. But things weren't going too well until I went to a fortune teller in Dallas. "She told me about Mr. Burke, and then told Mr. Burke about me. I needed financing for an acting career, and Mr. Burke thought it would be a good investment. Our relationship is strictly business and impersonal. He has a real estate office here in Los Angeles and his main offices in Houston.

"He's not giving me anything at all. The $500 a month he pays me is a loan. He is my business manager, too. And as soon as I start work I will pay him back, but he will continue to finance me until I become a star. I'm confident I will, too."

Like most newcomers to Hollywood Anne is more interested in movies than television, and for the usual reasons—more money, more glamour.

"I would never have been able to come to Hollywood and have this opportunity without Mr. Burke's help," Anne said, with just the slightest trace of a Texas accent.

"Said Burke, 'I'm an oil man and don't know anything about show business. But I've talked to people who are in the business out here and they think Anne has a fine chance to become a star. So I'll continue to finance her until such time as she can make it on her own.'"

Warning Issued To Homeowners On Work Plan

Homeowners in the Pampa area were warned yesterday by the Solicitors Review Board of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, to be on guard against a vicious scheme that is prevalent today—the "Model Residing Job Racket."

Although this scheme may victimize homeowners regardless of their circumstances, it is particularly reprehensible, Wynn Veale, manager of the Pampa Retail Merchants Assn., stated, because it frequently works a severe hardship on those who can least afford to suffer any financial loss.

The Review Board statement emphasized that although the vast majority of firms engaged in home repair and maintenance work are reputable businessmen, a small, shady element in this field operates one of the costliest, as well as one of the slickest, rackets to which the public falls victim.

Promoters of this scheme are itinerants who usually approach a homeowner with the yarn that they are just coming into the neighborhood and would like to use their home as a model to demonstrate to others what a fine home siding job they do. It was stated that according to the National Better Business Bureau, with which the Chamber is affiliated, these promoters offer $50 or $100 as commission on every subsequent sale made in the area, and a bonus for every customer the victim recommends. The homeowner is led to believe that the cost of the job will thereby be liquidated in short order.

The Review Board reports that victims learn to their sorrow that everyone is given the same sales pitch, the price stipulated generally is higher than the prevailing costs for such work, the work is apt to be sub-standard, oral promises are not kept, and that the commissions and bonuses are a myth. Their obligation to pay, however, is set forth in a signed contract, which contains none of the salesman's misrepresentations.

Perpetrators of this scheme," Veale stated, "usually select homes which obviously require re-siding. Since the owners of such homes frequently are lacking in funds, they are obliged to take out loans, or mortgage their homes. Thus, the costs which may run as high as several thousand dollars victimize those who can least afford it."

Miss Rockefeller Wed In Gotham

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mary Clark Rockefeller, 22-year-old daughter of Gov. and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller, was married yesterday to a childhood playmate, William Justice Strawbridge Jr., a Philadelphia department store heir.

The lavish wedding took place at Riverside Church, built with Rockefellers' millions and recipient of many gifts from the family of the late John D. Rockefeller.

The coyote can run much faster than an ordinary dog and is more than a match for a dog of its own size and weight.

The late Clark Gable can currently be seen in his last picture, "The Misfits," at the Capri Theatre. His role as a robust itinerant cowboy was the most colorful and vibrant one of his career. He is co-starred with Marilyn Monroe and Montgomery Clift. Photographed for the most part on location at Reno, Nevada, the picture was directed by John Huston. Gable's role was an exciting one and one that he loved. He spoke of it many times, and his love for the character Gay Langland. Shortly after completing his role, on November 16, 1960, death claimed filmland's "King."

Famed Evangelist Billy Graham To Enter Video And Movie Field

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Billy Graham, the greatest religious showman of our time, began his climb to fame a dozen years ago in a Los Angeles tent, but now is on the threshold of becoming a TV and movie mogul.

Through his World Wide Pictures subsidiary the evangelist plans to produce feature-length pictures and inspirational video shows.

"Dick Ross, president of World Wide Pictures, said the first picture, "Decade of Decision," already is in the works—starring Billy with TV chatterbox Dave Garroway acting as narrator.

"Until now our films have been principally for showings in churches throughout the world," Ross said.

"Now Mr. Graham is desirous of making an impact on commercial television and movies to reach those people who do not go to church. We are now dealing with next year's teleshows. "Decade of Decision" may have the largest cast ever seen in any picture, Ross concluded. "The footage contains literally hundreds of thousands of people who have come to hear him speak in this country, in Europe and Asia. That's a pretty big cast."

Current plans do not call for Graham to star in future movies. However, he will act as host in both of next year's teleshows.

"Decade of Decision" may have the largest cast ever seen in any picture, Ross concluded. "The footage contains literally hundreds of thousands of people who have come to hear him speak in this country, in Europe and Asia. That's a pretty big cast."

Abilene League Not to Present Award For 1960

SHREVEPORT (SpI)—The Junior League of Abilene, Inc. announced here yesterday that no award was submitted to its children's playwriting competition this year which was suitable for the League's purpose and that therefore there will be no award. The announcement was made at the Children's Theatre Conference of 17-18 Region V held in Shreveport March 17-18. Region V is composed of Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma, and the competition was open to authors residing in these states.

In the future the League plans to extend the period between the announcement of the contest and the deadline for the receipt of plays. It realizes that the 8 months it allowed this year was not long enough. The next contest will be announced this fall with the deadline set for January 15th, 1963. The Abilene League has been most appreciative of the interest shown by playwrights in this area and earnestly hopes that they will have plays to submit for this competition.

FRIENDS COLLIDE, ONE DIES

SHREVEPORT, Tex. (UPI)—Thomas Henry Haynie, 27, was killed early Saturday when his pickup truck was struck by a car driven by James Edward Adams as the two men were driving to a cafe to meet a friend.

Farm Secretary States Benefits Of New Program On Air With Show

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said Saturday the administration's new crop control program would give farmers "more real influence over the economic consequences of their farming enterprises."

The program calls for farmers to select representatives to consult with the secretary of agriculture in formulating controls for production of farm products, crop by crop. Individual controls would be worked out for each commodity, subject to congressional veto, and all producers would have an opportunity to vote on the program.

"Only with producer acceptance by a substantial majority, would it go into effect," Freeman said.

Freeman anticipated charges that farmers would be "restricted" or "controlled." He said current low farm incomes limit "the freedom of farmers to enjoy the good things of life much more than a limit on the quantity of products he is entitled to market if he is to reap... a higher income."

He also pointed out that "there exists a very high degree of acceptance" of controls on production under current programs. This would not be true "if farmers felt themselves unduly restricted," he said.

Ginger Rogers To Go At Cities Service Center Honored

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Ginger Rogers is going on the air with "playing Elizabeth and Margaret Harcourt."

"I'll be a bachelor girl. In fact I'll be something that's even better, two bachelor girls."

Joining Ginger in the cast is old time actor Charlie Ruggles, who plays her uncle.

"As a matter of fact, we even look like we came from the same family," Glinger said with a laugh referring to Ruggles.

"I think the idea of the show is that the girls will be taken in to any romantic situation that the author puts them into," Glinger said.

When Miss Rogers speaks of romantic situations she's considering a mess of boy friends trying to figure out who's dating whom.

"There's a nice confusion that can happen between girls and their gentlemen," she explained, especially if they're twins.

Ginger has appeared in many movies and TV shows, but this series will be her first.

"I was reluctant to get into a series," she said, a sentiment held by many stars.

"I have had so many stories thrown at me and they were all like vanilla wafers," she said. "I just didn't want to be pedestrian."

"You just don't go into a situation just to be doing something. There has to be a reason to do anything."

Scanning the TV horizons for an idea, Miss Rogers finally was presented a story line which captured her imagination.

AROUND THE WORLD

SAIL HO!—A throwback to the past, the brigantine Albatros is under full sail as she heads toward the ocean from St. George, Bermuda. Originally a schooner-rigged vessel, the Albatros was the last Dutch pilot ship built. Now a floating school, it is on a long voyage with a crew and 14 students, and will eventually return to the home port of Mystic, Conn. It is part of the town's maritime exhibit. The present trip will take the Albatross across the Caribbean, through the Panama Canal to the Galapagos Islands.

MIGHTY PRETTY—A high cascade of yellow beige tulle adorned with sprigs of wheat and spring field flowers made its appearance in Chicago. The delicate and dressy hat must have been designed for the sole purpose of making a gal look utterly female.

ILL WIND—That's the one that doesn't blow somebody some good, so this wasn't it for the little girl getting a ride in a washtub in Amsterdam, The Netherlands. The streets there were flooded because heavy rains caused similar damage in many parts of the picturesque country.

MAMA LLAMA—This mother llama and her spindly-legged daughter are never far from each other in the San Francisco Zoo. The four-year-old mother and her three-week-old baby keep their girlish figures on a diet of alfalfa.

CAPITAL SHIP IDEA—Architects at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor have revived an old technique in making models of ship hulls for hydrodynamic studies. With forms like these, they mold wax models of ship hulls for testing in a 360-foot indoor tank of water. The men claim this old way is faster and, more important, cheaper.

HERE TO STAY—Trousers that never lose their crease and sportswear whose weight is measured in ounces make male fashion news for spring. Although moisture normally destroys a crease, damp weather serves to sharpen the permanent crease in these tropical wool slacks that weigh a mere eight ounces.

FENCE POLLS—Lined up along a fence near Usumbura, Ruanda Urundi, voters wait to cast their ballots in the first communal elections held in that country, which is close to the war-torn Congo Republic. Voting here lasts for about three weeks.

DISPLAY OF INTEREST—What boys wouldn't show interest when they catch sight of an electric train in a shop window? These wide-eyed lads in Topeka, Kan., are two sets of twins, born less than a year apart to the Richard Dants. Mike (left) and Terry are 3½, Kelly and Timmy, 2½, and all display the same eagerness. They are really much like their fathers in showing this interest in an electric train.

CARRYING ON—Able to carry 12 standard-size autos or 15 compact cars, this auto rack is now on an 85-foot railroad flatcar at Berwick, Pa. It can handle 12 utility buses when arranged in two instead of three decks.

THE REAL THING—When she visited actor Theodore Bikel backstage in New York where he is Mary Martin's leading man in "Sound of Music," Maria Trapp gave him an old Austrian pipe. The musical comedy is based on her life story and Bikel has the role of her husband. Miss Martin plays Frau Trapp.

CLASSROOM COW—First graders at a school in Chicago got this chance to learn about life on the farm. John Kagel, a 19-year-old farmer from Wayne, Ill., brought his cow, Cindy Lou, into the classroom so the youngsters could get a close-up of the animal. Kagel even milked the animal right before their startled eyes.

TO EACH HIS OWN—And in the case of young Richard Kingsmille of Burlingame, Calif., it's a three-year-old South American boa constrictor at the San Mateo County Junior Museum. The place is a shelter for animals and reptiles that people throughout the country have found near their homes or on trips.

SCRUB-UP TIME—Bathing baby is a community project for mothers bringing their youngsters to the Society for the Protection of Children health center in Hong Kong. The center also provides other health facilities, and free milk shipped by UNICEF.

Houk Stakes New Job, Future On Yankees' 1961 AL Showing

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—Manager Ralph Houk is staking his job on the New York Yankees winning the pennant and the odds-makers are going right along with him by staking their hard, cold cash.

Houk could have had a two-year contract when he was named successor to Casey Stengel last October, but he insisted on a one-year term instead because, as he put it, he wouldn't wish to be replaced on any job where he failed to produce.

Nothing is sure in baseball and that includes the Yankees, who are favored to win the American League pennant again this year even though their bench isn't nearly as strong as usual and their pitching staff isn't calculated to overwhelm the rest of the circuit.

There is a chance the Yanks could tumble if the pitching doesn't measure up and someone even suggested to Houk the club could even nose dive way down to fifth place.

"If we ever finished fifth I'd shoot myself," the new Yankee skipper said solemnly.

There is little danger of that happening though because in men like Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, Bill Skowron, Yogi Berra, Tony Kubek and Hector Lopez the Yankees can present an almost slump-proof lineup for the expanded 162-game grind.

"There seems to be a lot of concern about our pitching, but I don't share it," Houk said. "The pitching was good enough to win the pennant for us last year and with one or two of the youngsters we have in camp now it may be even better this year."

The four regular starters will be southpaw Whitey Ford (12-9) and right-handers Bob Turley (9-3), Art Ditmar (15-9) and Ralph

Terry (10-8). Two other right-handers, Jim Coates (13-3) and Bill Stafford, who was 1-7 with Richmond of the International League and 2-1 with the Yankees last year, also are candidates for starting berths.

Catching is the club's strongest department with Berra, Elston Howard, John Blanchard and Jesse Gonder. Houk says he will use Berra in the outfield more than in the past, so Yogi might wind up sharing the left field job with Lopez, Blanchard, who batted .242 in 53 games last season but showed to good advantage in the World Series against Pittsburgh, will get more of a chance behind the bat this year.

The Yankees have no problem in the infield. Skowron, who hit .309, drove in 91 runs and hit 28 homers, is set at first base, and World Series star Bobby Richardson will be back at second. Houk is well satisfied with Kubek at shortstop and Cletis Boyer at third. Each hit 14 homers last year and knows how to handle the bat.

The two power boys, Mantle and Maris, will play in the outfield every day, health permitting while Lopez and Berra probably will share the third outfield job. Rookie Leroy Thomas, who hit .300 at Richmond last season and .248 at Richmond, is getting a good look and has an outside chance of sticking.

So even with the winter loss of such players as Bobby Shantz, Bob Cerv, Duke Maas, Dale Long and Eli Grba, the Yankees will manage to struggle along.

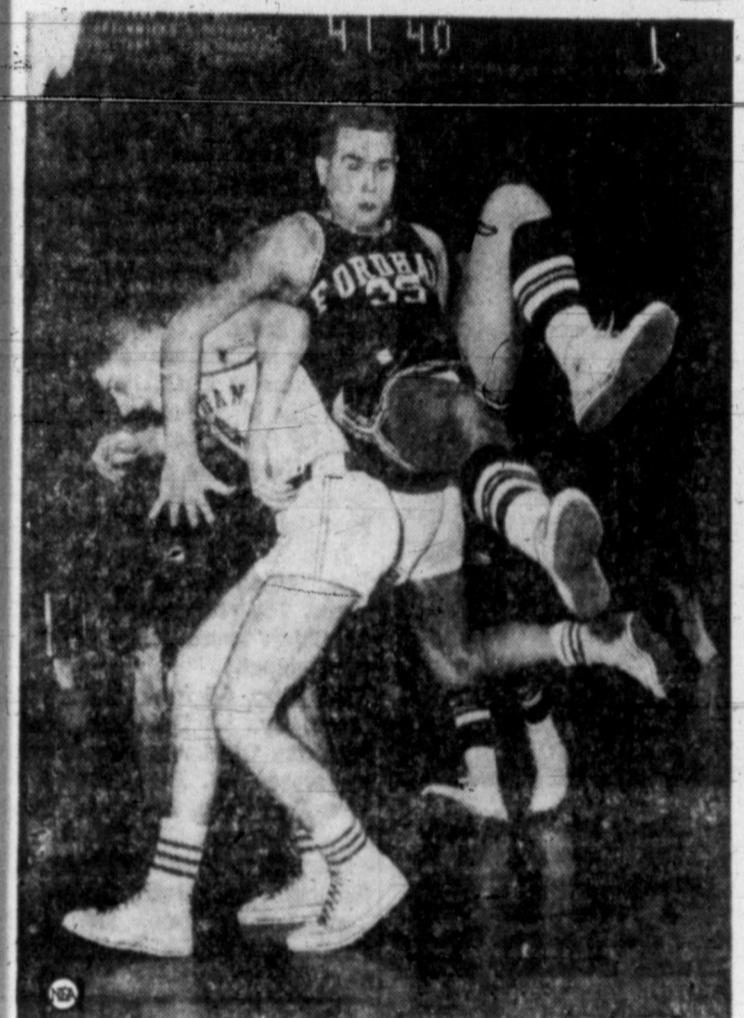

"It's usually bad business to bet against the Yankees and this year is no exception.

Pair Pace Four-Ball

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — Charles Lewis of Little Rock, Ark., and Glenn Fowler, Oklahoma City, Okla., fired four birdies on the back nine for a third round 68 Saturday that kept them in the lead of the Hollywood International Four-Ball Golf Tournament.

Lewis and Fowler failed to make a single best-ball birdie between them on the front nine, but recovered on the home stretch for a 94-hole total of 166 in the tourney, which ends Sunday over the Orange Brook.

'Dogs Top PHS Teers

Borger's Bulldogs overcame cold, drizzling rain and the Pampa Harvesters to win a dual golf match at the Pampa Country Club course Saturday afternoon.

The top Borger fivesome posted a 292-team total to PHS' 396 while Borger 'B' team triumphed, 420 to 459.

The visitors' winning "A" total was sparked by Gary Grimes' 72 while Bobby Howard and Leonard Hudson paced Pampa's linksters with identical 75s.

Results

Borger 'A' — Don Lackey (75); Jeff Levine (89); Jerry Keel (78); Gary Grimes (72); Marvin Harvey (78). Total: 392.

Pampa 'A' — Leonard Hudson (75); Johnny Hatcher (78); Bobby Howard (75); Chester Cummings (82); David Pattison (86). Total: 396.

Borger 'B' — Joe Burrows (84); C. W. Howell (80); Lewis Evans (81); Herman Ford (83); John Kennedy (92). Total: 420.

Pampa 'B' — Brian Prigmore (84); L. D. Steele (100); Gary Stanfield (89); David Walker (98); Freddie Howard (89). Total: 459.

Other Pampa scores: Roy Webb (91); Johnny Weatherly (95); Gary Bolick (85).

PHS Plays Elk City Tuesday

Harvesters Hit Trail

Pampa's Harvesters, rested after rain and snow canceled three games last weekend, planned to wrap up the non-conference portion of their 1961 schedule this week — if Old Man Weather doesn't throw another curve.

After dumping Elk City 6-4 in its opener March 11, Pampa saw a game with Dumas last Friday and a doubleheader with Hereford called off because of inclement weather.

With only a week left until District 3-4A play starts when the Harvesters invade Amarillo March 28, Coach Deck Woldt sees little chance of making up the needed practice games, although a makeup doubleheader might be scheduled this week.

Pampa opens its final week of non-district battling Tuesday when it pays a return visit to Elk City, Okla. The Harvesters then go to Hereford-Friday and come home Saturday for a doubleheader with Dumas.

After one game, the individual Harvester spotlight falls on Jerry Glover. Glover, a rifle armed sophomore, holds the win over Elk City and leads the PHS hitters with two hits in two trips, one a triple and the other a home run.

Elsewhere in the district this week, Amarillo (3-0) plays Dumas

Pan Am Team Takes Tennis

AUSTIN (UPI) — Sweeping everything but the number three singles match, Pan American College scored a 5-1 non-conference tennis victory over the University of Texas Saturday.

The host Longhorns' only point came when sophomore Jack Kamrath of Houston defeated Pan American's Jerry Wortbour, 7-5, 6-2.

Ags End Grid Drills

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — The "Maroons" came from behind late in the fourth period Saturday to down the "Whites," 12-7 in the annual Texas A&M intra-squad game ending spring football drills.

A spectacular catch by end Pat Latham of a pass thrown by Ronnie Brice put the "Maroons" on their opponents' 3 after a 29-yard gain, and two plays later Ronnie Ledbetter scored from the 2 to provide the margin of victory. The touchdown came with only 3:02 left.

BOSTON (UPI) — Center Bill Russell, key to the Boston Celtics' unprecedented fifth straight divisional title in the National Basketball Association Saturday was named the league's most valuable player by a national committee of basketball writers. Russell, six-foot, 10-inch pivot man of the Eastern Division champions, was named MVP on half of the ballots filed by a 24-man committee representing the United States Basketball Writers Association.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Donald Duddy Moore, coach of La Salle of Philadelphia, Saturday was named coach of the United States basketball team which will compete in the Maccabiah games at Tel Aviv, Israel, Aug. 29-Sept. 5.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — High scoring Charles Henke of Missouri and rebound star Tom Messerschery of St. Mary's Saturday were named to the West squad for the 10th annual Shrine East-West All-Star basketball game here March 28.

Cagers Advance In NIT Tourney

NEW YORK (UPI) — St. Louis defeated Colorado State U., 59-53, Saturday night to gain the semi-finals of the National Invitational Basketball Tournament. Providence whipped DePaul 73-67, and Temple routed Army, 79-66, in an afternoon doubleheader to reach the quarter-finals.

St. Louis will play the winner of next Tuesday's quarter-final game between Dayton and Temple in the semi-finals on Tuesday. The winner of Saturday night's second game between Holy Cross and Memphis State will meet the winner of Tuesday's Niagara-Providence game in the other semi-final.

Colorado State U. trailing since early in the game, finally tied the score at 41-all and after St. Louis moved ahead briefly they again tied it 45-all. But that proved to be the Aggies last gasp as Dave Harris netted a three-pointer following two free throws by Glen Mankowski to build up a five-point St. Louis cushion.

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — St. Bonaventure rallied behind the effortless point making of All America Tom Stith Saturday to defeat Princeton 85-67 in an NCAA eastern regional consolation game.

Stith turned his final college game into a personal triumph by leading the Bonnies to play in the last 10 minutes of play to turn the contest into a rout.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — Harold Hudgens scored 24 points Saturday night to pace Texas Tech to a 69-67 victory over Houston for third place in the NCAA Midwest regional basketball playoffs.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Manager Bill Rigney feels reasonably sure his Los Angeles Angels will score a lot of runs this season, but he wonders out loud, "Who's gonna get 'em out for us?"

The Angels' pitching thus far in spring training has been somewhat short of major league caliber. And this has started Rigney figuring out ways of juggling his grab-bag manpower — Casey Stengel style — so that the Angels will score enough runs to offset the pitching weakness.

Here's how Rigney sizes up his Angels after the first few weeks of training:

"We're not too bad off in a few respects. If we can keep the big guys healthy (Ted Kluszewski and Bob Cerv), we'll get some men on base. And it looks like our infielders know how to pick up the ball."

Pitching, though, is another matter. The seven best pitchers on the Angels' staff had a combined record of 30 victories and 45 defeats last season while working for clubs most of which figure to be better than the new Los Angeles entry. The only winning records belonged to Eli Grba (6-4) and Duke Maas (5-1), both with the New York Yankees.

What's more, Rig's pitchers have given up a total of 43 runs in their first five exhibition games — an average of 8.6 per game. That's what has started Rigney to thinking about the lineup juggling act which Stengel made use of frequently in the late stages of a pennant drive. This consists simply of pinch-hitting for a weak hitter every time there's a scoring opportunity, even as early as the third or fourth innings.

"It looks like we're going to have to play with 15 men a game," Rigney said. "We're going to have to take every advantage of any chance to score runs."

Three men Rigney would like to use as "wild cards" are Julio Becquer, Gene Leaks and Earl Averell Jr. Off their 1960 records, none looks like a candidate for the American League batting championship.

Rear-Engine Autos Ready For Sebring

SEBRING, Fla. (UPI) — Sixty-five sports cars will roar away next week in the Sebring 12-hour sports car endurance race, and for the first time all the favorites will have engines mounted in the rear.

The race, the first of eight on the 1961 international circuit counting points toward the world's car manufacturers championship, will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday when 65 drivers blaze away.

The Ferrari factory team from Modena, Italy, which won the 1960 car championship, appeared to be the most formidable in the 1961 field.

It will bring to Sebring next week two new rear-engine 3-liter cars, 12-cylinder models, driven by four experts.

Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., co-driver of a winning Ferrari in 1958 and 1959, and Count Wolfgang von Tripps of Germany will drive one of the rear-engine cars.

The other will be driven by Ritchie Ginther, Santa Monica, and Willie Mariette of Belgium and Willie Mariette of Belgium.

Braves Bump Reds

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI) — The Milwaukee Braves fought off a late counterattack by the Cincinnati Reds Saturday to win a 12-9 slugfest before a slim crowd of 1,850.

After building up a 12-0 lead, primarily on two home runs by Roy McMillan and one each by Eddie Mathews and rookie Joe Torre, the Braves had all they could do to hang on for the victory. The Reds fought back against Don Nottebart and Carl Willey with three homers of their own — one each by Frank Robinson, Jim Baumer and Wally Post.

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — The world champion Pittsburgh Pirates made it two out of two in their spring series with the Minnesota Twins Saturday with a 5-2 victory on a three-run sixth inning, against Chuck Stobbs.

Crash Kills Yale Netter

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (UPI) — A one-car accident near here Saturday killed one member of the Yale University varsity tennis team, and seriously injured two others.

The Highway Patrol identified the victim as Theodore C. Joiner, 22 of Lajolla, Calif. Injured were Sidney B. Wood III, of Milton, Mass., and New York City, and Stewart B. Ludlum Jr., 21, of Bronxville, N. Y.

The other will be driven by Ritchie Ginther, Santa Monica, and Willie Mariette of Belgium and Willie Mariette of Belgium.

Matson Brings PHS Lone Points In Shot

ODESSA — Pampa's Randy Matson was the only Harvester to scratch here Saturday as the husky sophomore placed second in the shot put to give Pampa its only four points in the two-day meet.

However, it took a record-breaking heavy by Robert Sandlin of Andrews to top Matson, as Sandlin hurled the shot 64 feet, 8¼ inches to break a two-year-old standard of 53 feet, 11¼ inches. Other new records set in the big high school field were by Kermit's James Russell in the high jump (6-3); Bob Penn of Midland in the pole vault with 13 feet; Mickey Matthews of Tascosa in the mile (4:27.9) and by Andrews mile relay quartet (3:18.1).

Amarillo Tascosa finished second to Abilene in team totals, 45½ to 381.3 as Tascosa was disqualified in the sprint medley relay which it won — for running out of its

Goalby Tops St. Petersburg

Birdie-Happy Kroll Stays Stroke Behind

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Bob Goalby rallied on the final nine holes Saturday to keep his one-stroke lead in the St. Petersburg men's open golf tournament, shooting a four-under-par 67 for a three-round 196.

Goalby, from Crystal River, Fla., who went into the lead at the end of 36 holes Friday, shot only par golf on the first nine holes, but scored a 31 on the last nine to finish 54 holes one stroke ahead of Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Goalby got off to a bad start, getting bogeys on the first and third holes and then birdying nos. 5 and 9. But he pulled himself together on the final nine holes, birdying four holes with puts of 8, 20, 4 and 4 feet.

This putting was also done with the ancient putter he bought recently at a Miami pawn show for $2 and used for the first time in the first round of this tournament Thursday.

Kroll, who moved up from third to second place, birdied five of the last seven holes. Four of them came on puts of more than 12 feet. He shot a 66 Saturday for a three round 197.

Gary Player of South Africa, who moved up from sixth to third place, finished Saturday with a 64, the best round of the day, for a 54-hole 198.

Wise Lands On Coaches 3-4A Squad

AMARILLO — A member of the state Class 4A football and a former Pampa cager were among the top players of the District 3-4A coaches all-conference team announced today.

Named to the first team were Steve Carter, the Palo Duro all star who led the Dons to the finals of the state tournament earlier this month, and Jerry McGuire of Lubbock Monterey, a former Pampa schoolboy.

Other members of the first team and schools were Harold Denny, the 6-7 Amarillo star; Lannie McBray, Tascosa; and Vernon Welch, Borger.

Center Allen Wise, the 6-3 Pampa senior who led District 3-4A in free throws, headed the second team and was flanked by Mike Webb, Lubbock; Tommy Aday, Plainview; Sonny Maxwell, Palo Duro and Jerry Holloway, Lubbock Monterey.

Of the first five, all but McGuire were first team selections on the coaches and sportswriters all-district team released last month. On that poll, Aday was on the first team.

Youth Grabs Cycle Victory

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Jody Nicholas, a 19-year-old Nashville, Tenn., schoolboy whose hobbies include violin playing and motorcycle racing, jockeyed his BSA to an easy victory Saturday in a 100-mile amateur race sponsored by the American Motorcycle Association.

Nicholas, a senior at Nashville's Peabody High School, outdistanced 50 other starters in the race over a two-mile course at the Daytona International Speedway. He turned the 30 laps in 1:26:1.06 for an average speed of 69.76 m.p.h.

'Go Soft' Policy Planned For Players

New Cage 'Fix' Scandal Looms

NEW YORK (UPI) — A broad hint was dropped Saturday that basketball players who cooperate with police in the new "point-shaving" scandal will win leniency — because officials were more anxious to nab the gamblers behind the "fixing."

"It's the fixers we're interested in," said a source close to the office of District Attorney Frank Hogan. "We would like to keep the kids and the schools out of it as much as possible."

Perhaps significantly, the D. A.'s office, was not disclosing the name of a fourth basketball player who was questioned late Friday night as Hogan's men pressed their investigation of what could be the biggest of the several fixing scandals that have struck college basketball.

So far only the names of two players questioned have come to light — Art Hicks and Henry (Hank) Gunter of Seton Hall, and both names were originally disclosed by the school and not the D. A.'s office.

The identity of a third player, from the University of Connecticut, still has not been made known.

Thus far no charges have been reported against any player and the only men under arrest are two New Yorkers accused of giving bribes — 28-year-old Aaron Wagman and 41-year-old Joseph Hacken.

The 1951 basketball scandals involved 32 players from seven schools. Five of these players eventually received jail sentences for their part in the "fixing" of games.

A disclosure by a source close to the D. A.'s office Saturday that players from "three New York City colleges and 15 or 20 schools in other parts of the country" may be drawn into the present scandal sent local colleges to checking their players.

A plea for "compassion" for the players involved has been made by Monsignor John J. Daugherty, president of Seton Hall. Speaking at a St. Patrick's Day dinner in West Orange, N.J., Friday night, Msgr. Daugherty declared, "These young men are not to be condemned; they are to be treated with compassion."

Stone Hall coach Richie Regan said that, if it were shown that any of his players had accepted bribes, "I'll stand behind them, even though they let me down and let the school down."

Hicks and Gunter were reported still closeted with New York police officials in a New York hotel, and it was understood they were cooperating with the investigation.

Wagman and Hacken were arraigned Friday, with bail of $25,000 being set on Hacken and $50,000 on Wagman.

Both men were involved in previous "fixing" incidents.

Wagman, whom the charges allege "conspired to bribe, and in fact did bribe" a University of Connecticut player, previously was sentenced to a five-year jail term for trying to bribe a University of Florida football player last year. He was free on bail pending an appeal in that case when he became involved in the new scandal. This time he is accused of giving the unidentified U-Conn player a $1,500 bribe to control the "point spread" the margin between the two teams, in the March 1 game at Hamilton, N. Y., which Connecticut lost to Colgate, 83-71.

Hacken is accused of offering $1,000 bribes — "that were received" — to several Seton Hall players to control the point spread in the Feb. 9 game at Madison Square Garden, which Seton Hall lost to Dayton, 112-77. Hacken was linked by authorities with an attempt to fix a fight in 1954 involving Joey Giardello and Bobby Jones.

Dallas Pro Gridders Announce Home Slate

DALLAS (UPI) — Both of this city's professional football teams — the American Football League's Texans and the National Football League's Cowboys — will open their 1961 seasons at home, their home playing date schedules showed Saturday.

Names of the competing teams won't be filled in for either club for a while yet, but the available dates have been worked out through the State Fair Athletic Committee, which controls the common playing site — the Cotton Bowl.

The Texans will open at home the weekend of Sept. 8-10 and said it had not been determined whether the game would be played on Friday or Saturday night or on Sunday, while the Cowboys open at home the following Sunday on Sept. 17.

The Cowboys will remain at home for two weeks, also getting the Sept. 24 date, return home for two weekends — Oct. 15-22, and back again Nov. 5, Nov. 19 and Dec. 3.

The Texans, in addition to the Sept. 8-10 weekend, will play home games on Sundays Oct. 1, Oct. 29, Nov. 12, Nov. 26, Dec. 10 and Dec. 17.

Neither team is home the weekend of Oct. 8, which happens to be the Sunday date in the World Series.

The Texans are at home after only one Southern Methodist game — Oct. 28 date with Texas Tech, while the Cowboys follow SMU's Sept. 23 game with Maryland, Nov. 4 game with Texas and Nov. 18 game with Arkansas as well as the Oct. 15 Texas-Oklahoma classic.

Evans Takes New Position

Dean Evans, Shocker basketball coach and Pampa High tennis mentor, has accepted the head basketball coaching job at Bridgeport, an AA school near Fort Worth, school officials announced today.

Evans was hired by Clifton McNeely, former head Harvester coach, who was recently named principal and athletic director at Bridgeport. Evans will begin his duties at the beginning of the 1961-62 school year.

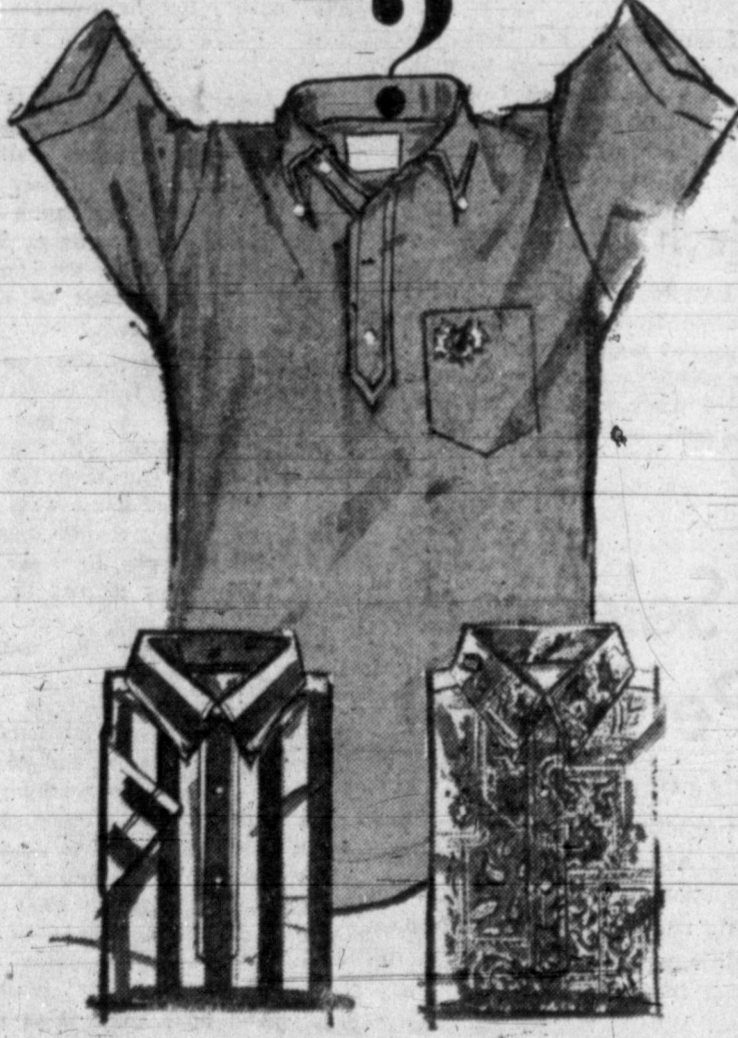

Evans compiled an 18-9 record in his first year as Shocker coach after moving up from Robert E. Lee Junior High where he guided his 1959 team to the Panhandle Junior High Conference title.

Evans, a graduate of Troup High School, attended Tyler Junior College and graduated from the University of Houston.

Tudor Way Wins Rich Gulfstream

HALLANDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Tudor Way, a long-legged gray horse from the Argentine, just galloped Saturday to win his first big stakes race, the $114,000 Gulfstream Park Handicap.

Tudor Way, heavy favorite of a crowd of 21,851, never gave his backers a moment's worry as he spurred into the lead on the final turn and coasted through the stretch for a two-length victory.

Derrick moved up fast in the home lane to grab place money from Don Poggio, another Argentine horse, by a neck. Calumet Farm's On-And-On finished fourth in the nine-horse field, another length back.

Tudor Way, one of the shortest-priced winners in Gulfstream Park's history, paid $2.70, $2.40 and $2.30 across the board.

Lefors Cager Earns Letter

OKLAHOMA CITY — Shades of Hub Reed and Arnold Short, Bud Koper, a 6-5½ freshman from Rocky, is being boomed as Oklahoma City University's next basketball great.

Koper became one of the highest freshman scorers in OCU's cage history. The blond bomber ripped the nets for 539 points. He hit 239 field goals. Koper also collected 61 of 77 free throw tries. He also led Coach Paul Hansen's frosh in rebounding.

John Kent, 6-4 from Borger, Tex., tallied 186 as runner-up to Koper. The remainder of the "Little Chiefs" were fairly equal in point output.

Bill Derr, 6-5 from Bowling Green, Ky., hit 118. Tim Horan, 6-11 from Oklahoma City McGuiness scored 163. Pat Hawkins, 6-1 from Fort Cobb, 126. Tom Heidebrecht, 6-6 from Dill City, 118.

Bill Hill, 5-11 from Oklahoma City Harding, 124. Harry Price, 6-3 from Lefors, Tex., 116. Larry Faulkner, 6-8 from Rush Springs, 85.

President's Farm Program Praised By Organizations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leaders of two of the nation's largest farm organizations and most Democratic congressmen have praised President Kennedy's plan to let farmers write their own ticket, but a Republican leader said it might be "the fruit of frustration."

Heads of the National Grange and the National Farmers Union both endorsed the plan.

But Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen said the plan was a "do it yourself kit-for-every-farm commodity. It looks a little to me like the fruit of frustration."

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said the proposals were "constructive." But he declined to go along with some of the recommendations "including give-away schemes and federal handouts."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., senior minority member of the Senate Agriculture Committee said Congress would "take a very long look" at the program. He said he personally endorsed parts of the plan.

Castro Force Seizes Priest

HAVANA (UPI) — The Armed Forces' Ministry has announced the capture of a Cuban Roman Catholic priest who served for four months as the "spiritual father" of rebel bands in the island's south-central Escambray Mountains.

All of the government's controlled newspapers headlined the announcement, which is expected to set off a new anti-church campaign by the Fidel Castro regime.

The semi-official newspaper Revolution featured the news under the headline: "Thug in cassock seized in the Escambray."

A communique identified the priest as the Rev. Francisco Lopez Blazquez. It said he was arrested in the city of Trinidad where he had arrived in an attempt "to escape" government militia.

The communique said Father Lopez, accompanied by an unidentified man who escaped, attacked a militiaman in Trinidad in an attempt to disarm him.

The militiaman was "gravely wounded" in the attack but the priest was captured when he remained paralyzed beside the wounded man, according to the announcement.

Cuban Embassy Group Resigns

THE HAGUE (UPI) — A struggle to overthrow the government of Fidel Castro got under way last week by Cuban Ambassador Ignacio Fiterre and five members of Cuban embassy here who resigned en masse.

Fiterre was once imprisoned with Castro in their struggle against former Cuban Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

On sidewalks outside the embassy demonstrators chanted the words "Away with Castro."

The mass resignation came in a cable to the Foreign Ministry in Havana. Fiterre and his staff said "we will struggle for a new Cuba, for Cuban freedom and Cuban dignity."

Bagley-Bailey Wedding Solemnized With Vows

Wedding vows of Miss Ruth Ann Bagley and Martin H. Bailey were solemnized in a ceremony held March 18 at seven o'clock in the First Methodist Church in White Deer. The Rev. Curtis Lee, pastor, assisted by the Rev. E. J. Keith of the First Baptist Church, were officiants for the double-ring nuptials performed in a setting of baskets of white gladioli, Emerald Palms and seven-branched candelabra.

Miss Bagley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Bagley Sr. of White Deer. Mr. Bailey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Bailey of DeLeon.

BRIDE

Given in marriage with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride was gowned in eggshell nylon lace over satin fashioned with an oval neckline and long, tapered sleeves which ended in petal points over the wrists. The fitted lace bodice extended into a bouffant, street-length skirt. Her dress was complemented with a matching lace hat trimmed with tulle and a single strand of beige pearls with matching earrings. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink Sweetheart roses and pink feathered carnations atop a Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. James K. Kirwood of Pampa, sister of the bride, attended as matron of honor wearing a pink sheer cotton designed with a Sabrina neckline and encircled at the waistline with a wide cummerbund. She wore a rose half-hat, matching gloves and carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Ray McDonald of Amarillo, college classmate of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were George Hinkley, John A. Howard, H. H. Hutley, Kenneth Osborn, Tom Patton, L. B. Robertson, Helen Knox, Mrs. Evert Revard was a guest.

Lighting the altar candles were Mrs. George Bagley Jr. of Fritch and Mrs. Bruce Evans of Pampa, who wore dresses fashioned as the matron of honor's complemented with white carnation wristlets.

Mrs. Don Adams of White, organist, provided the nuptial music, which included the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin and the Wedding March from "Midsummer Night's Dream."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bagley chose a navy blue sheath complemented with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Bailey, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue dress complemented with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlor. The bride's table was appointed with a pink taffeta cloth with an overskirt of white nylon net caught up with nosegays and satin bows. The cloth was made by Mrs. Wayne Jordan, who arranged the reception table. The centerpiece was an arrangement of pink carnations, pink stock and waxed flower in a crystal bowl flanked with pink tapers in crystal holders.

The tiered white wedding cake was decorated with pink roses and topped with a bridal couple. White napkins inscribed with "Martin and Ruth Ann" completed the table's crystal and silver appointments.

Mrs. Lewis Harper of Abilene, bridegroom's sister and Mrs. James Kirkwood, bride's sister, presided at the cake and punch service. Mrs. Roy McCallie was guest registrar. They were assisted by Mrs. George Bailey Jr., Mrs. Bruce Evans, Mrs. Virgil James, Mrs. Don Adams, Mrs. Paul Cantrell, Mrs. Roy McCallie, Mrs. Earl Alexander and Mrs. Finis Keeton.

For a wedding trip to Dallas, the bride traveled in a navy blue silk suit with blue organza-trim and blue accessories. She wore the pink roses corsage from the center of her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Bailey was graduated from White Deer High School in 1939, where she was active in the Annual school paper, chorus, FHA, FTA, class officer; president during senior and sophomore year. She is employed by Farmer's National Bank in White Deer.

Mr. Bailey was graduated from Gortman High School in 1951; from Tarleton State in Stephenville and from Texas Technological College. He has completed two years of military service and is employed by Wheeler-Evans Elevator Co. in White Deer.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Messrs. and Mrs. H. O. Bailey of DeLeon; Lewis Harper and Bob of Abilene; James K. Kirkwood; Bruce Evans, all of Pampa; George R. Bagley Jr. of Fritch; Eugene Wheeler and Miss Cinda Wheeler of Waigona, Okla.; Lee Roy Salley of Lawton, Okla.; Ray O. McDonald of Amarillo; Lt. and Mrs. John M. Roger; Owen W. Lafferty of Oklahoma City, Okla. and Mrs. Jack Bryan.

The couple plan to make their home in White Deer.

TO WED

Miss Travis Rasco

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Travis Rasco to Orlin Wayne Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bowman of Harmon, Okla., is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton T. Rasco, 2132 N. Dwight. The wedding is planned for April 15 at eight o'clock in the Church of the Brethren.

Top O' Texas Garden Club Is Planning Landscape For Pampa's Youth Center

Dr. Joe Donaldson, chairman of the board for the Youth Center, and Architect Eugene Hollar, met with members of the Top o' Texas Garden Club in the home of Mrs. John S. Hawley, 1200 N. Hamilton, on Tuesday at 1:30 for the purpose of planning the landscaping of grounds at the Youth Center.

The club is obtaining bids from various nurseries on shrubs and plants to be used around the grounds. The club plans to use various type of evergreen as well as red bud tree and locust trees.

Following the home meeting, members were taken on a tour of the new building and report they were delighted with the beautiful designing and spaciousness of the interior. "Pampans will receive a great benefit from this building and it is one of which all of us will be very proud," Mrs. Jamie Deal, garden club president, stated.

A brief business meeting was held following the tour, in which it was announced that the new planters are ready at the City Hall, one of which the Top o' Texas Garden Club will be responsible for planting.

The club plans to join the Pampa Garden Club in staging the annual Spring Flower Show. It was also announced that new rose bushes will soon be added to the Perryton Parkway project as well as some new flowering plants in the Highland General Hospital flower beds.

Mrs. R. M. Samples was welcomed as a new member.

Members attending were Mmes. Jamie Deal, J. S. Hawley, Fred

AH, SWEET mysteries of approaching spring! It seems like spring to us already... at least at the writing of this column... but we'll say approaching spring in case we're in for a cold blast one of these days. Sights of spring? A teeny bird building a nest in the neighbor's clothesline pole... young and old alike of Pampa's female population sprouting bright cottons downtown... all the children squealing and running around the neighborhood... our tendency as well as our friends to say "To heck with it all... let's get outside" the neighbors leaning over their fences to chat after a season of just waving and then ducking into the warmth of the homefires... the more industrious busy digging into flowerbeds... and more talk of gardening over the bridge tables... and the sudden appearance of sparkling gems on "third finger, left hand" among the young and romantic... yes, we think the "season" is about here the one we all look forward to more than any other.

SIGHTS OF DOWNTOWN Pampa Doris Wedgeworth bright and attractive in a red jacket with matching shoes... Myrtle Prigmore driving down the street in her blue automobile... Helen Wilson window shopping... Vera Andis in a charming reddish print dress... it was just a glimpse of Vera, but that's our impression of her dress... Plus myriads of others... all enjoying warm temperatures... and looking pleased with the world.

We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give. —Norman MacEwan.

HERE AND THERE Understand the Pampa Women's Golf Association was to organize this week for another year... spied pleasant Ann Roder starting out for a round of golf the other day... hear she is giving some encouragement to some of the beginners... also hear she is helping some of the gals master the bridge game... she's a busy person, but always so willing to help others... Another busy lady is Mary Johnson, who is helping with the Cancer Crusade... a very worthy cause... understand it is to get underway April 17... chic Louise McCrery has been full of plans for her new home... she and Jack should be about moved in by now... the grapevine says it is a lovely home... Jean Braly gets our vote as one of Pampa's most interesting and interested ladies... can't imagine life ever being dull for her... spied red-haired Jeanne Bell sporting the unusual "birdnest" hairdo... looks real nice... we wish we had the courage to try a new and unusual hair style and greatly admires those who do.

SO MANY OF the parents are singing the praises of the Junior Cotillion... sponsored by the women of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church... its aim is to teach the youngsters good social behavior, manners and dress... we think it is a wonderful thing... especially for the Junior High group to whom such things often cause so much worry and frustration... heard there are hopes it can be an annual thing... orchids to the women who have had the responsibility of it all... believe there was a gala ball on Thursday to wind it up for this year with invitations issued to all the parents.

THIS TIME OF YEAR one begins to hear the speculation on who is to be the "Woman of the Year" and the Beta Sigma Phi girls start coming up with all sorts of fabulous ideas on how to royally honor her... exciting it is! The Girl Scouts celebrated "their week" the fair they held this year was real nice... and the women running the cotton candy machine should receive a medal... with wisps of cotton candy flying around getting in their hair and their clothes... spied pretty Carolyn Cundith wondering around... and Margaret Wells with daughter Nora... Margaret has really given a lot of time and energy to Scouting for quite a few years... and received many rewarding experiences in the process, too... Laurels to all those who are so interested in our young people and who give so much of their time and talents... another busy person... and so wonderfully capable and efficient... who has worked in Girl Scouting for a long time, as well as in many other civic and charitable endeavors... is Adrienne Foster... It seems it is always the busy ones who have time to do more.

SHADES OF IRELAND the Irish... and the non-Irish were celebrating this week... noticed where A. J. Carrubbi was busy organizing a delegation to attend Shamrock's gala St. Pat's event... maybe we can elaborate more on who made the trek in next week's column... How many of you remembered to deck out in green Friday?

POTPOURRI one of Peg's spies reports there is a sweet and attractive newcomer to Pampa... Yvonne Eddins... who is busy these days with a new baby... believe husband Bob works for Celanese... Sounds like the city fared well under its youthful administrators when members of the Demolay took over city offices for a day... L. D. Steele was the honorable mayor... Raymond Nance served as City Manager and Tommy Patton took over the reins of Police Chief... my, what handsome young men!... Mary Ann and Leland McCloskey are enjoying their new home on Dogwood... it is just adorable!... going back to the Irish... Roy Dawson, a true blue Irishman, was home from the hospital in Amarillo in time to celebrate his birthday... and guess when it was why, St. Pat's Day of course!... the grapevine has it that blond Ruth Ramsey... who has been East in New York for several years, has heard the call of the Panhandle and is a nursing instructor now at St. Anthony's in Amarillo... welcome back, Ruth.

You can never expect too much of yourself in the matter of giving yourself to others. —Theodore S. Speers.

WE HEAR OF EXCITING PLANS that a couple of gals have in mind... the latter part of May Fidelia Yoder is packing her bags and taking off on an European tour... she plans to stop by Africa first and see her daughter... then she is to join a group of other musicians for the European tour... and we hear that the most difficult part of the trip is already over... she's already had all of her shots... Lacie Horrah is another one who has her mind pre-occupied with dreamy thoughts of a trip to Europe this spring... but, she will have more time to think about it when the Top of Texas Women's Federated Clubs' convention is over... imagine those foggy days we had the latter part of the week... made the John McCauslands just a mite homesick for their native England... speaking of John... certainly are pretty insurance offices which he, Bob Hudson, and Ed Myatt have set up out on West Francis... they were planning a bang-up Open House for yesterday... we wish them lots of luck... It's a hometown deal, as we understand it... heard that cute little Judy Milner really made a hit at Senior Center on Thursday afternoon when she entertained the group there and another cute little Judy with the last name of Reynolds wore her Brownie Scout uniform to school every day last week... in observance of Girl Scout Week... Judy is a neat little girl, but there were a few washing and ironing chores for her mother, Marge, so that Judy could keep her promise... if you want a surge of civic pride today... just take a drive by the new Youth Center, which is located just back of the Hobart Street Baptist Church... out in the 1100 Block on West Crawford... it is another monument of civic accomplishment... and it is so handsome... hasn't the bright yellow Forsythia looked positively stunning on these grey days we've been having... lifts your spirits just to catch a glimpse of them. See you next week.

JUNE VOWS Allegro Hostesses For St. Pat Party

Miss Janice Mae Wegner

A June Fifth ceremony is being planned for the wedding of Miss Janice Mae Wegner of Wheeler and James D. Ticer of Childress. Miss Wegner is the daughter of Mrs. Willie Mae Wegner of Wheeler and Gus Wegner of Tulia. Mr. Ticer is the son of Mrs. Gladys Ticer of Childress and the late C. C. Ticer.

Twentieth Century Allegro Study Club were hostesses for the Thursday afternoon meeting of Senior Citizens in the Center in Lovett Memorial Library.

Allegro hostesses were Mes. David Price, John S. Gentry, W. G. McComas, Jack Miller, Charles Walsh Jr. and Carl Hills.

Altru Club members assisting with serving were Mes. F. A. Hukill, Jay Flanagan and Vernon L. Hobbs.

Winning door prizes were Mrs. M. G. Williams, Mrs. Marie Taylor and Jerry Torvie.

Miss Judy Milner, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Milner, provided the afternoon's entertainment costumed in a St. Patrick's Day dress of white felt with applique Shamrocks outlined with green sequins. Miss Milner, a second grade student at B. M. Baker school, played a medley of Irish tunes on an accordion followed by a selection of sacred hymns on a chord organ.

Refreshments were served from a table appointed with an arrangement of white mums flanked with green tapers.

Red Cross Gray Ladies providing transportation of guests to and from the Center were Mes. Ola Isbell, Jeff Beard, O. F. Kriemeyer, and Libby Shotwell.

Sixty-eight Senior Citizens attended the meeting.

Dan True Discusses Safety And Tornadoes At B. M. Baker Meet

Dan True, weather reporter for an Amarillo TV station, was guest speaker at the B. M. Baker PTA meeting on Thursday afternoon in the school's auditorium. Mr. True spoke on safety in the schools and on tornadoes.

He stressed that children should be taught to watch for cars when crossing the streets and not to think that the cars will always stop for them.

In discussing tornadoes, Mr. True said that should a tornado form while children are in school that they will be as safe here as they are at home, "unless," he added, "you have a storm shelter."

He pointed out that tornadoes cannot be traced on radar as many people believe; that only thunder storms show up on radar.

A question and answer session followed his talk.

Important National Problems Form Topic For Twentieth Century Club

Mrs. R. W. Stowers was hostess to the Twentieth Century Club in her home, 2105 Charles, on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Jack P. Foster introduced the afternoon's guest speakers by relating some of the more interesting high lights of their lives in Pampa.

Melvin Jayroe, as the first of the speakers, spoke of the Chamber of Commerce's recent Aircade to Tulsa and discussed congressional action in this area, which is planned. He spoke briefly on Federal intervention in the schools and pointed out that "schools are in better shape than ever as far as schoolrooms, size of classes and teachers are concerned." He also touched briefly on the unemployment program and the depressed areas.

Jerry Sims discussed Health Care and Medical Aid to the aged. He pointed out that since the percentage spent on medical care was only 6 per cent of the family income and entertainment is at least that much, "we can pay for our own medical care." He discussed the minimum wage and questioned whether it is helpful or harmful.

A discussion period followed in which members asked questions of Mr. Jayroe and Mr. Sims.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Ronald Hubbard, president, Mrs. Albert Knox was welcomed as a new member.

It was announced that there will be no meeting on the next club date in order that all members may plan to attend all of the meetings of the Top of Texas District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs' convention to be held here Mar. 29-30.

Members present were Mmes. G. F. Branson, W. R. Campbell, F. M. Culbertson, Jack Foster, Raymond Harrah, L. M. Hicks, Ronald Hubbard, V. J. Jamieson, Lorene Locke, R. E. McKernan, Fred Neslage, W. J. Pung, Bill Roots, H. E. Stanfield, R. W. Stowers Albert Knox, and Tom Rose.

Garden Club Has Instruction In Landscaping Art

The Morning Unit of Pampa Garden Club met at 9:30 in Caldwell's Buffeteria for a workshop on landscaping conducted by Mrs. Loyse Caldwell.

Members attending were divided into groups of three and were provided with a miniature lot, which was covered with sand and equipped with a miniature home. They were also provided with small-scale greenery and other suitable materials and were instructed in the art of properly landscaping a home. Prizes were given to the group whose landscape was judged the best.

Mrs. E. B. McKee was welcomed as a guest. Members attending were Mrs. Thelma Bray, Carlos Grissom, Roy McKee, Joe B. Griffin, Loyse Caldwell, James McCune, W. E. Meltop, A. J. Mitchell, T. M. Brooks, V. N. Osborn, Coy Palmer, Hubert Phillips and Joe Weaver.

The Afternoon Unit of the club met at 2:30 in the Buffeteria for a workshop on landscaping in a repeat instruction by Mrs. Caldwell.

Members attending were Mrs. D. A. Caldwell, Albert Doucette, Lee Harrah, W. E. Hinton, Bob Miller, Waldon Moore, W. M. Purviance, Bert Robinson, W. L. Roun tree and Joe Shelton.

Music Teachers' Name Officers

New officers for the Pampa Music Teachers' Association were named at the monthly meeting held Monday in the City Club Room.

During the meeting conducted by Mrs. W. M. Cooper, the following officers were elected: Mrs. Dick Land, president; Tracy Cary, first vice president; Ramond Wilson, second vice president; W. M. Cooper, secretary; Bill Haley, treasurer.

The group also voted to present a recital on April 30 as a prelude to Music Week in which each teacher will be responsible for one number not to exceed six minutes in length. This recital is to be given by students from each teacher's class.

Bill Haley presented the program which concerned "The Relationship of Science To Art and Music." Following adjournment, luncheon was served to the group.

Circle Projects Talked At Meet

Lillie Mae Hurdley Circle of Hobart Street Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Edd Foran, 601 E. Harvester.

Mrs. I. H. Woodward read the prayer calendar and prayer for missionaries having birthdays was offered by Mrs. J. J. Alexander.

A report, given by Mrs. Foran, circle chairman, which included projects to be completed by the Hobart Street WMU listed: 1) a permanent food and clothing room in the church; 2) money to be given by each organization of the church to Buckner Orphanage to provide Easter eggs; 3) April 11 will be special visitation day for WMU circles preceding the revival which is to begin on April 16.

Mrs. J. B. Fife presented a portion of the mission study, "A Dreamer Cometh." Mrs. K. H. Woodward offered closing prayer.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

It was announced that Mrs. E. J. Moxley will be hostess for the Mar 21 meeting at 9:30 a.m. in her home, 113 S. Wells.

Beauty Of Age Topic For Civic Culture Club

"Mrs. Emmett Osborne presented a program on "Who Are the Aged?" at the Civic Culture Club meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. C. Scott.

In opening remarks, Mrs. Osborne said, "I say the "aged", not the "old" because in bureaucratic and sociological language "old" is not an obsolete word. Much poetry has been written to or about the "old" but I can't think of one written to the "aged." Robert Browning (when he was 52) wrote "Grow old along with me". The best is yet to be", which was, to say the least, optimistic."

Mrs. Osborne continued her discussion by listing outstanding individuals and their accomplishments: "Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will be 77 in October. Justice Learned Hand was 89 in January. Sir Winston Churchill, by all clinical estimates should have been in his grave long since. He will be 87 in November. He was on his way to 66 when he became Prime Minister, First Lord of the Treasury and Minister of Defense for five of the most grueling war years in British history. He nearly broke the nerves and health of numerous young secretaries. His biography shows that he has lived every moment of his life to the hilt."

"Charles De Gaulle, president of France, will be 71 in November and when France needed a leader, they called him from retirement."

Mrs. Osborne outlined the purpose of the Gerontology Division of the National Federation of Women's Club as: "To assume as responsible, responsive citizens an active part in solving the problems of the aging, which are daily becoming more acute and vital in our society."

"People should live life as though they had 100 years to live," the speaker said. "A grandmother, in her 80's who always planned ahead moved into a new apartment. The agent wanted a long lease and thought she would demure. But she took it without batting an eyelash. "Why not?" she said. I don't want to be moving around for the next 20 years."

"Acting as though life will continue for 100 years may not be all fantasy or wishful thinking. Many people have achieved it. Doctors predict that in the not-too-distant future, the average life span will be more than that."

Mrs. Osborne listed ten short rules, which bear on the basic needs of mature individuals and which she termed "Decalogue of Health for Senior Citizens: 1) A bland-balanced diet; 2) elimination of waste products; 3) rest; 4) recreation; 5) a sense of humor; 6) avoidance of consuming fires of anger, hate and jealousy; 7) companionship; 8) maintenance of a sense of pride in one's job; 9) participation in community affairs; 10) keep an open mind to grow in knowledge, experience and wisdom each day contributes to per-

Dear Abby...

Family Should Wrestle Where They Choose

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My three sons (6, 10 and 13) and I love to wrestle. We would like to use the dining room, which has a linoleum covering, for about 30 minutes every evening for this purpose. It's good exercise for me, and the boys love it.

To do this would require pushing the table and chairs against the bulkhead (wall) and replacing them when we are through. My wife says POSITIVELY NO! She insists we would be upsetting HER home even though we promised to put everything back in place afterward. The boys and I feel it is our home, too, and if we want to wrestle there we should be able to do it. What's your opinion, Abby?

CAREER MARINE DEAR ABBY: Before my husband sends this letter I would like to add my two cents. He forgot (?) to mention that we have a recreation room in the basement, equipped with shuffleboard, Ping-pong table, bowling game and target for darts. I believe that is the place where they should do their exercising. Our dining room is small, and it irks me to have it pulled apart every evening.

CAREER MARINE'S WIFE DEAR CAREER MARINE AND WIFE: Your basement sounds too cluttered for wrestling. Pop and

New Officers Are Named For Club

New officers for the Breakfast Opti-Mrs. Club were installed at a dinner meeting held Monday in Guthrie Cafe.

Mrs. Bill Jenkins, as installing officer, outlined the duties of the following officers, Mmes. Forrest Cloyd, president; Raymond Lenville, first vice president; Lindy Houck, second vice president; Bill Sims, secretary; Vincent Simon, treasurer; Jerry Coley, parliamentarian; Don Burns, scrapbook and reporter; Jimmy Bossay, Leon Holmes, Eugene Tollison, board of directors; Frank Shaw, telephone chairman, and Ray Blumer, program chairman.

Mrs. Newt Secrest, as the evening's guest speaker, discussed "What Is Optimism?"

Special guests were Mrs. Tom Flowers and Mrs. Oran Skinner. It was announced that the next meeting will be on April 10; the place to be announced later.

Circle Plans Fruit Basket

The Grayson Tension Circle of Highland Baptist Church met with Mrs. L. F. Karlin, 708 N. Nelson, for Bible Study.

The meeting opened with prayer by Mrs. R. Stroud. It was announced that cards will be sent to all members of the church and that names should be given by Mrs. Eunice Hunt.

Plans were also made to prepare a fruit basket at the next meeting of the circle when it meets in the home of Mrs. Hunt, 906 E. Browning on Mar. 24.

Bible study was presented by Mrs. Morris Belote concerning chapters 20-21 of Genesis. Seventy-six questions were asked and discussed.

Others attending were Mmes. Harry Muns, Ray Jackson, Challie Atchley, H. E. Winegart and J. I. Prévitt.

Mrs. Stroud dismissed the group with prayer.

the boys should be permitted to wrestle in the dining room, and if Mom is backed, she should go down to the basement and throw darts.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend and I, ages 16, would like your opinion on a problem that has been troubling us.

My parents say we should not "park" in front of our house because the neighbors will talk. I try to explain that we are not "parking." We only sit in his car and talk and listen to the radio. They say they would rather have us go somewhere else and do this. I say we are safer in front of our house than going out in the woods where something could happen to us. What is your opinion?

DEAR TROUBLED: You are wise to avoid "the woods" or other isolated places. Why not invite him into your home?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A KIND WIFE": If your husband had a broken leg, you would rush him to a doctor to have it set. Why then, when he has a broken personality, do you regard it "a kindness" to ignore it?

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Getting married? For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Norma Balch To Record With Boone

ABILENE (SpI) — Norma Balch, Abilene Christian College senior from Pampa, will soon be heard singing with recording star Pat Boone in an album of religious music.

Miss Balch is one of about 40 Abilene Christian A Capella Chorus members chosen to go on the two-week spring tour, during which the group will record with Boone. Recording sessions for the album have been scheduled in Hollywood March 28-29 while the Chorus is in California. The album will be released across the nation exclusively on the Dot Record label. It will contain 12 hymns and spiritual songs.

The tour will also include appearances by the Chorus in Arizona and New Mexico.

Miss Balch, an elementary education major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Balch. She graduated from Pampa High School in 1957.

Miss Balch is a second soprano in the Chorus.

Educational Awakening

We would like to call our readers' attention to a story on today's church page written by United Press International touching upon the secularization of education and the apparent revival of interest on the part of Protestant groups, in particular, in religiously oriented private education. The heading on the story is "Do Public Schools Result in Atheism?" The Pampa Daily News has been contending for many years that the results of government education should awaken people to the necessity and desirability of private (voluntary) schools. This story, we trust, is one of the first chapters in what could eventually mean a moral and spiritual awakening of parents as to the responsibilities they should exercise in providing their children with the best possible tools of learning.

Exchange Premium

All life is a matter of making exchanges. All exchanges are made in anticipation of having more satisfaction after the exchange than before. Profit is the difference between our individual value judgement of the thing we want in excess of our value judgement of the thing we give in exchange.

Sales Tax Fairest

A "fair tax" is a contradiction in terms. A tax is money extorted from a citizen with or without his consent on threat of jail or seizure of his property, or both. Tax money is used for every conceivable project, some of them directly competitive with the private interests of the taxpayer himself, and some of it used to hire federal attorneys who prosecute the taxpayer.

Under these circumstances, a tax never is "fair." But, some taxes may be more nearly justifiable than others. A tax placed upon use or consumption of wealth is the most nearly fair tax devised. The non-user is the non-payer; and each man pays in proportion to his use.

A gasoline tax whose proceeds go toward building and maintaining roads is an example of a more nearly fair tax than most others. And another example is the general sales tax.

A general sales tax has several advantages over other forms of taxation. First, it is an equal tax, based on how much wealth you use or consume. Second, it is an open tax which the taxpayer knows he is paying. If the tax becomes, in his opinion, oppressive, he can take steps to have it reduced or repealed.

But a hidden tax is something else. The consumer doesn't know he's paying it. There is no resistance because there is no recognition of the tax.

It is a political fiction that some sort of taxation "soaks the rich"

Editor:
Judging from the number of candidates filing for the U.S. Senate vacancy, the Democratic Party must be getting panicky over the possibility of John Tower, the Republican candidate for Senate, being elected. Tower's election would be one of the healthiest things that could happen to rectify the present political situation in Texas. It would be a big step forward in establishing a two party system, thereby giving hundreds of thousands of voters the opportunity to vote for the man who represents their judgment on so many issues vital to the survival of our constitutional form of government, states rights and even the survival of our republic. Under the present one party system, these thousands of voters are as much disenfranchised as the Negroes about whom there is so much wailing and shedding of political tears. This situation is getting progressively worse, through the absolute domination of the democratic party in Texas by Rayburn and Johnson, as witnessed by the reason for this costly, special election, the questionable majority vote for Kennedy and Johnson in spite of the nausea created by Johnson's actions in accepting the nomination for Vice President and the threads of the present administration.

In discussions with my friends and acquaintances of these problems concerning inflation, spending, taxation, ever increasing social security costs, communist infiltration of our government, schools and churches, the question is often asked, what can I, as an individual, do to reverse the present trends? The answer to this question is to replace those responsible for the formulation, support and execution of these anti-American, welfare state program of

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — There is a spate of stuff in the newspapers these days about medical care for the aged and socialized medicine and all kinds of governmental help for the ill and all I can say is, boys, get it, and come up with a cure for the common cold and I'll double my taxes gladly and thank you for the miracle.

If this piece today makes no sense it is because my head swims, my bones ache, my eyes are misted, my ears ring, my nose is swollen, my muscles twitch and I am the largest single user of facial tissues (facial death tissues) in the entire United States and, for all I know, the world. They are now being ordered in the economy size large pack in lots of a dozen boxes. Which brings to mind a small problem with these artificial paper inventions. One of the virtues adhering to them in the ads is that they are disposable and you are not carrying around a soiled and germ-laden handkerchief. Fine. Where, in the midtown of New York, so you dispose of them? My job is to cover the theater of New York. So you leave home with a bale of these useful tissues in all your pockets and go to Moore's for dinner and work your noisy way through an even dozen tissues between the soup and the coffee. Can you throw the used tissues on a restaurant floor?

Of course you can't. You can't hand them to a waiter and say: "Burn these, please." So you put the sodden wads back in your pockets and think, well, on the way to the theater in the next block I'll see a trash basket and throw them away. There isn't one in sight. You walk from 46th St. through the lobby of the Edison Hotel to 47th St. where the theater is, and you see one of those sand-packed ash urns they use in hotels. You are unwilling furtively to empty your pockets into one of them and foist the tissues on some poor devil whose job it is to clean these urns.

You get to the theater, having added another half-dozen used tissues while on the short journey, and there you are. An usher shows you to your side seat and then these things all over the floor? Scatter them out in the aisle to be trampled by annoyed patrons? The first act finishes and you want to sit there in the warmth of the theater and not go out. You don't want to smoke, you don't want to talk to anyone, you don't want to breathe pestilence on anyone. Now another eight have been added and your pockets are stuffed with sodden tissues. Finally, you go out into the covered lobby and look around for a waste receptacle and there isn't any. Just get through the second act and your pockets now are filled with used tissues. You get through the third act, leave as the curtain is just descending and flag a taxi before the rush gets started. He starts you toward home. You don't feel it a just thing to empty your pockets on the floor of the taxi and add to the debris already there, like cigarettes, torn envelopes, bits of wool and similar nurb and gurry. The words nurb and gurry go through your mind and you remember John Beale's definition: Nurb is the garbled wool, threads, dirt and dog hairs that collect into a knitted mass in trouser cuffs. Gurry is what is found in coat pockets, differing from nurb only in that bits of paper, match ends, tiny flakes of silver paper from cigarette packs and like debris is added. I don't know what the debris is on the floors of taxis and it isn't actually either nurb or gurry, but you can't remember any descriptive, embracing word for it.

Now you are at your apartment door, you let yourself in and forthwith run, not walk, to a waste-basket in the kitchen, properly lined with a waxed paper sack, and stand there emptying your suit of used tissues, pocket by pocket. You have not gained a thing all evening, instead of a soiled, used handkerchief you have soiled, used tissues. Finally, the pockets empty, you undress and hang up the suit and go to bed, still tormented by a cold and deciding that next time you will go out at intermission, walk into the street, make a pile of the tissues and set them afire.

You fall asleep wondering if there is a New York law forbidding bonfires of used tissues and whether you will be arrested. Meanwhile, doctors and scientists, sirs, please find a cure for the common cold. One can feel awfully common after the second day.

gressmen are elected to represent the people from their states and districts and they should be made aware of the thinking and wishes of these people. When they ignore these constituents and obey the wishes or threats of the party leaders, they should be retired. It is too late to retire Rayburn and Johnson for the present, so the next best move is to elect a conservative candidate — John Tower who will make every effort to return to sane fiscal and constitutional government.

Allen - Scott Reports:

Kennedy 'Birthday Dinners' Scheduled To Pay Off Democratic $1 Million Debt

ROBERT S. ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Democratic National Committee is invoking President Kennedy in a new role — as a mid-year Santa Claus to help pay off some $1 million still owing from last year's campaign.

For this purpose, a series of big fund-raising dinners will be staged on and around his May 29 birthday in a score of more than 30 cities.

The President himself has already agreed to address two of them: a $100-a-plate gathering in Washington on May 27, and a similar affair in Boston on May 29. A goal of 10,000 tickets has been set for them.

Vice President Johnson will probably address two of these fund-raising events, in cities still to be agreed on. At least one of them will be in Texas.

Former President Truman, Cabinet members and other administration notables will do the honors in other places. Definitely not among these fund raisers are Secretary of State Dean Rusk; Treasury Secretary C. Douglas-Dillon; registered Republican and Undersecretary of State in the Eisenhower Administration; and Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, also a Republican and former Ford pressman.

So far the other cities selected for these $100-a-plate dinners are: New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Kansas City, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Seattle.

National Chairman John Bailey is very emphatic, in talks with private leaders, on the urgent necessity of these fund-raising events succeeding. Unless they do, he sternly warns, the Democrats will go into next year's crucial state and congressional elections saddled with debt and fighting with one hand tied behind them.

TALE OF WOE — Bailey is also caustic about the failure of the loudly-touted inaugural gala to produce the money expected from it. Instead of $1.5 million, the steadily-shrinking total will be well under $1 million. The final amount is uncertain because bills are still coming in.

"From the difficulty we are encountering in paying off our 1960 debts and building up a reserve," complains Bailey, "you would never think we won the election. Everybody is so preoccupied with the New Frontier that little or no attention is being paid to party affairs. Meanwhile, time is passing and before we know it we'll be in the midst of the 1962 campaign without adequate means to wage it."

Similarly, Bailey is highly critical of party machinery in key states. He contends drastic reorganization, including the housecleaning of top leaders, is needed in a number of them.

"Nixon is telling Republicans they lost because we are better organized," says Bailey. "I only wish that were true. Unhappily, it isn't. I have carefully studied this myth of our great organizational strength, and it is largely unfounded. This is what the record shows in 10 states that actually decided the 1960 election.

"In only two did we bring out a Democratic vote equal to or greater than the Democratic registration. That was in my state of Connecticut and in Delaware. In the eight other states, the Democratic vote ranged from 44 per cent of the registration in Oklahoma to 81 per cent in Pennsylvania.

"The Republicans polled a higher vote than their registration in all but two of these ten states — Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

"On the basis of this indisputable record, it is very evident that while we did a fine registration job, we fell down badly in getting registered Democrats to vote for Democratic candidates. And now we seem to be doing the same thing in raising funds for the party's needs. The Democratic Administration is in, but not the money."

POLITICALS — Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles is handling all diplomatic appointments. He is in charge of screening them, and National Chairman Bailey has no voice in this juicy patronage field. Bailey is making no bones he isn't happy about that, but there is nothing he can do about it because President Kennedy has made it clear he wants it that way. Plans have been quietly shelved to ask Congress to raise cabinet and other executive salaries: $30,000 for cabinet members; $27,500 for undersecretaries; $23,000 for assistant secretaries and members of agencies. The White House decided against that because of the high unemployment rate. If business is better next year, the pay boost may be revived.

New York State Chairman Michael Prendergast is definitely on the way out. White House insiders are flatly predicting he will be replaced within a few weeks; possibly even next week at the first meeting of the new Democratic State Executive Committee. Prendergast has been in disfavor with the President since last fall's campaign. Representative David King (D., Utah) son of a one-time Democratic senator from the state, has definitely decided to run against Republican Senator Wallace Bennett when he seeks a third term next year.

Former Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., N.Y., is slated for a top position in the depressed area program if and when Congress enacts it. He and the President have discussed the matter several times, and FDR Jr. expressed keen interest in this field.

Nevada Attorney General Roger Foley is a strong possibility for one of the new federal judgeships that would be created in the legislation passed by the Senate and now pending in the House. Foley is the son of a retired federal district judge.

Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman, unlike his GOP predecessor, is assiduously courting congressional goodwill. The former Minnesota governor has personally called on every member of the Senate and House Agriculture Committees, and carefully sought their views and suggestions on farm legislation. After meeting him Senator Herman Tamme (D., Ga.) wrote friends, "Freeman will make a dynamic and dedicated Secretary of Agriculture. I have been greatly impressed by him."

Everybody's Money

By MERVIE STANLEY RUKYSER

Dr. Werner Von Braun, genius of the Space Agency, recently observed that in getting greater thrust for lifting missiles from the ground ultimate reliance might have to be placed on atomic-powered machines. This view throws important light on the relative position of the United States vis-a-vis the Soviet Union.

The Russian timetable in developing machines capable of enormous thrust stemmed in part from their tardiness in catching up to us in atomic and hydrogen bombs. With these sophisticated modern types of explosive bombs in inventory or in sight, the United States felt that we could get the desired bang without machines capable of thrusting into space enormous weights.

On the other hand, in the earlier period, when they were preoccupied with developing a superior thrust, the Russians were thinking in terms of lifting heavy weights in the form of conventional TNT bombs.

The disparity at present has military significance in connection with the disarmament question. If the Russians should get us to outlaw atomic and hydrogen bombs before we catch up on thrust, then the return to conventional TNT bombs might indeed give Russia a temporary military advantage.

Technologically, Russia gained prestige through boob appeal in launching the first Sputnik. If the United States had anticipated such a publicity stunt, it could have scored an earlier "First" by launching the first primitive Redstone missile some months ahead of Sputnik.

Like the Russians, the United States benefited in space and rocket devices from teams of German scientists, who had pioneered in this area.

During the 1920's and 30's, Mr. Von Braun and his German colleagues became interested in rockets and missiles as a means of exploring outer space. The knowledge of rocketry thus received was later adapted to military use, first by the German Army, later by the U.S. Army.

The manufacturer of the Redstone missile and later the elongated, longer range development known as the Jupiter was the Chrysler Corp. In October 1952 Chrysler received a contract from the Department of Defense to assist the Army with the design and production of Redstone missiles. A plant on the outskirts of Detroit, originally intended by the Navy for the production of jet engines, was converted for this purpose. The Chrysler engineers worked with segments of the Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala.

The first Redstone missile was built by the Army and fired in August 1953. By November 1953, Chrysler had built its first Redstone missile. It was launched in July 1956, and is referred to as the "father of American ballistic missiles."

The 40th Field Artillery Group, Battery A, made its first successful troop launching of a Redstone missile on May 16, 1958.

The contribution of Chrysler demonstrated how automotive experience could be adapted to fabrication and assembly operations for the Redstone missile. This writer recently inspected the facility and learned that over an eight-year period Redstone reliability on actual firing was over 90 per cent, and on Jupiter 100 per cent.

The Redstone does not depend on a permanent launching site, but can be carried by mobile units, which can improvise a launching site on short notice for the purpose of shooting the short range missile. The Jupiter C, with longer range, was first launched on January 3, 1956.

Chrysler spokesmen pointed out that with a volume of over $650,000,000, actual costs came within 1 per cent of estimates. The manufacturer has developed capital equipment and techniques for testing in advance in the factory the effectiveness of missiles and all their component parts. Thus a test can be made for $400,000 in the laboratory, instead of for $1,000,000 in the field.

The Redstone has a range of less than 300 miles, and Jupiter C of over 3,300 miles. The first U.S. Solar Space vehicle, launched by an Army-NASA Juno II (modified Jupiter), orbited around the sun in March 1959, and in May of that year the first successful U.S. space flight, carrying primates to an altitude of approximately 350 miles and a range of about 1,500 miles, employed the Jupiter.

While, like the Soviet Union, the Defense Department employs its own personnel, including scientists, this country, in its military efforts, is also able to draw upon the know-how and technological experience of private corporations.

Thus the much agitated question of industrial "bigness," which has

Italian Parks For Show Not For Play

By HENRY MELENESE

ROME, Italy — I am now being pointed out in Rome's parks as an unfit father, and Mary as a mother who doesn't care.

We draw disapproving glances, clucks of dismay, and Megan looks of pure pity.

It wouldn't surprise us to receive a stern letter from some sort of organization as the Rome Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Small Girls warning us to mend our ways or else.

This is because Rome children are taken to parks, not to play, but to promenade. Parks are looked upon as showcases in which children are put on display. They are dressed in their better than Sunday best, and are stiffened, starched, and shined.

The children walk around — unhappy, I am sure — like minnequins. They are allowed to hold a balloon by a string, but not to chase it when it floats away. To chase it would risk falling down, and falling down would get them dirty.

Megan and the other American children in the park look like abandoned waifs alongside the Italian kids. Their boots are rough and scuffed. Their jeans faded, and often patched and frayed.

The American Way

By M. V. EGGLESTON THE ENTERING WEDGE

The "Liberals" continue to clamor at Washington for Compulsory Federal Health Care For The Aged. This despite the fact that Voluntary Medical Care Plan (enacted in the dying moments of the 86th Congress) seems to be working very well.

This voluntary plan calls for Uncle Sam and the individual States to split the cost. It is up to each state to embrace the plan or not. However, West Virginia, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Oklahoma and New Mexico have already adopted this voluntary plan. Twelve more states are about to participate, and it is under consideration by five additional States.

Further, in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1960 nearly persons under the regular Old Age Assistance program, received payments for medical care ALONE totaling $283,285,000.

And still further, some 31 regular insurance companies now offer guaranteed renewal health policies for our senior citizens.

And even still further, some 132 million Americans, including 8 million who are 65 years or older, are now covered by health insurance.

In view of all the foregoing facts, why the continued clamor for compulsory health insurance for our oldsters? Why take the risk of instituting this entering wedge for "Socialized Medicine." You can bet your last dollar that is the ultimate, if not openly proclaimed, objective of our "liberal" friends(?)

been controversial in political and social areas, has been an important resource of this nation in its planning for survival.

Oil Groups Told Unity Will Help Solve Problems

DALLAS (Sp) — An urgent plea to the petroleum industry "to unite against the many problems road-blocking progress" has been voiced by Charles E. Webber, director of natural gas administration for Sun Oil Company.

In an address to the Natural Gasoline Association of America in Dallas, Texas, upon his retirement as the Association's president, Webber called on "producers, refiners, transporters, distributors and consumers to gain a common knowledge of each others' problems." He urged them to recognize that "an attack on one group in the petroleum industry is an attack on all of us."

Despite "handicaps which would have stifled a less energetic and hard working breed," the industry — and particularly natural gas processing operations — has grown substantially in recent years, Mr. Webber said.

"The future is promising, still ripe with challenge, handicapped only by the degree of restraint imposed on the free operations of the industry," he said.

Webber singled out excessive taxes on motor fuel for particular attention. Not only do such taxes burden the American motorist, but they "are actually imposed on natural gasoline regardless of its use," he said.

This additional tax burden makes it economically impossible for natural gasoline to compete with unfaxed raw materials sold to chemical companies and "shuts out natural gasoline from the growing petrochemical market," Mr. Webber said.

He said other major problems of the industry include:

The mandatory import control program, which is "causing extreme bitterness in the industry itself (and drawing the government further and further into the industry's affairs)."

Increasing attacks on depletion, which, if successful, "would adversely affect every segment of the industry — and other industries as well."

Federal regulation of natural gas prices, which continues to delay the industry's growth and its potential benefits for the consumer.

Mr. Webber's address concluded his two-year term as NGAA president. He holds that organization's Hanlon Award, presented in 1957 for his "stimulating and constructive leadership... outstanding contribution to the natural gasoline industry... and voluntary service in times of national crises."

Supervisor Named For Area Property By Cities Service

The acquisition by Cities Service Petroleum Company of certain U.S. and Canadian producing properties of Felmont Petroleum Corp. has been completed, according to Robert L. Kidd of Bartlesville, Okla., board chairman of Cities Service Petroleum Company.

The producing properties include 30,000 acres of leases producing approximately 4,500 barrels of oil and four million cubic feet of gas daily for Cities Service. Properties are being consolidated into the Cities Service production division.

Cities Service is establishing a district office at Owensboro, Ky., to handle the 75 producing leases located in eight western Kentucky and one southern Indiana counties. L. D. Todd of Madison, Kans., is district superintendent.

Newly-purchased properties in the Pampa district are being consolidated into an area to be supervised by J. P. Wilson out of Borger.

Leases in the Rodney field of Ontario Province, Canada, are to be supervised by W. F. Baxley at Rodney. These properties will provide the nucleus of a waterflood project to be initiated soon.

Twenty-six Felmont employees are being transferred to Cities Service.

Gasoline Group Picks Houstonian

Max R. Lents, vice president general manager of The Reef Corp., Houston, Thursday was elected president of the Natural Gasoline Assn. of America at its 40th annual convention in Dallas.

Vice presidents elected for 1961-1962 are: G. W. McCullough, vice president of Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville; K. G. Pearce, vice president of Tenneco Oil Co., Houston; Albert Taylor, executive assistant, American Petroleum Corp., Tulsa; and Dr. C. T. Wells, Jr., president, Goliad Corp., Houston.

Wise County In North Texas Gets Quadruple Producer

Jade Oil Co. and Christie, Mitchell and Mitchell have completed the first quadruple oil-gas well in North Texas, at the No. 1 Methuist Camp, in Wise County. Oil comes from the Atoka zone at 5,414-434 feet. One gas zone is in the Atoka from 5,270-80 feet, and two gas zones in the Strawn zone at 4,220-32 and 4,000-30 feet.

Meanwhile, in Victoria County Texas Gulf Coast area, Sunray Mid-Continent Oil Co. completed the world's second sextuple well at No. 20 McFadden-E, in the McFadden field.

Calculated open flow potential was 98,400,000 cubic feet a day, and tests averaged 126 b-d of oil from six zones ranging in depth from 2,835-285 feet.

Three strings of 2 1/2-inch tubing were run and used as casing. Inside the 2 1/2-inch casing, Sunray ran 1 1/2-inch tubing with 2 1/2-inch aluminum retrievable packers. Each string of tubing bundle was finished as a conventional dual completion.

Sunray's first sextuple well was completed in May, 1960, in neighboring Jackson County. Sunray also announced that it has completed the world's second 5-zone producer and the first dry land quintuple, in the McFadden field, Victoria County.

Gas flowed from 5,334-5 feet, oil from 5,277-80, gas and oil from 5,534-34, oil from 5,640-44 and oil from 6,360-64 feet.

Attorney Named By Cities Service

The appointment of W. B. Weaver of Midland as division attorney for Cities Service Petroleum Company in the State of Texas is being announced by Gentry Lee, vice president and general counsel of the company.

As division attorney, he will generally supervise litigation and legal affairs of the company for the State of Texas. He will continue to head-quarter at Midland.

Weaver has been on the Cities Service legal staff since 1948. Except for a short tour of duty at Bartlesville, he has been stationed at company offices in Texas. He has been senior staff attorney at Midland for the past five years.

Memorandum Report Is Filed On Recent Price Conference

The pre-hearing conference on area pricing by the Federal Power Commission convened in Midland recently with the announced purpose of determining the parties, the issues, and the scope of evidence for a later formal hearing on area pricing for the Permian Basin area of Texas and New Mexico.

Present were approximately 500 persons, including 350 representatives of producers who have contracts under suspension or review by the Commission, and approximately 125 intervenors, including Texas independent producers and royalty owners and other producer associations as well as representatives of consumer organizations, pipeline companies, distributors and others.

Early in the conference it developed that there was some division of opinion among the major producers as to the degree of cooperation and hope of success for such a hearing. FPC Chairman Kuykendall helped breach this gap by opening the conference with a statement calling area pricing "perhaps the last best hope of avoiding complete utility-type controls over producers." TIPRO's policy on this matter had been established by an Executive Committee meeting in Wichita Falls; the Association pledged to do everything possible to make area pricing work. On the last day of the conference all companies agreed on that policy.

The chief single issue of the conference was the nature and form of cost data to be introduced in the formal hearing. Just prior to the conference the Commission staff mailed out a voluminous and detailed questionnaire which they suggested for use to compile cost data. Producer representatives assailed the questionnaire as going back to the cost-of-service, utility-rate-base concept, which the Commission itself had abandoned in its decision of September 28, 1960. Generally, the major producers suggested an alternative or substitute form for their own reporting which did not include detailed cost-of-service items. Smaller producer representatives, including TIPRO, urged elimination of any questionnaire form or the use of an abbreviated data form for such producers.

Lipscomb County Leads Panhandle Area Wildcatting

February saw a host of new wildcat completions in the Texas Panhandle, with Lipscomb County taking the commanding lead formerly held by Ochiltree.

The total of exploratory tests either completed or showing a good promise during the past month were 19, up one from the month before. Five of these were in Lipscomb, the most northeasterly of the 26 counties in District 10.

The whole lot is new, what with a flock of completions reported also last month. Many of those on last month's list not completed are waiting for potential tests.

Completions accounted for eight of the 10 listed, one being a new pay. Long awaiting potential tests and finally having received them, two Potter County discoveries near the Canadian River 16 miles north of Amarillo confirmed that there is Red Cave pay south of the old Panhandle field.

Sun Oil Safety Mark Acclaimed

BEAUMONT (Sp) — The outstanding safety record of Sun Oil Company's Geophysical Department has received national recognition with the announcement by the National Safety Council that the company is the winner of the First Place Award for exploration in the Petroleum Section of the Council's 1960 Safety Contest.

Nerve center of Sun's exploration work, under Geophysical Department Manager L. G. Ellis, is the Geophysical Building at Amelia, Texas, near Beaumont where there are shop, lab and office facilities. The company also has 12 seismograph parties and one gravity meter party working in the United States.

Employees working at the Geophysical Building and on crews in the U. S. total 294. During 1960 they worked 599,121 hours without a disabling injury. This feat is even more notable when consideration is given to the conditions under which crews frequently work.

Sun's exploration activities take geophysical crews from swamps to deserts, from plains to mountainous terrain and from wide open spaces to dense forests. Location moves are frequent.

When working on the job, seismograph and gravity meter party employees are widely separated. Consequently, initiative and judgement of each crew member are relied on heavily. The National Safety Council's First Place Award testifies to these qualities as exemplified by Sun's geophysical crews.

FIRE KILLS BROTHER

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Marcus Black, 46, was burned to death Saturday when fire swept through his home in Fort Worth. Black's brother, Curtis Black, 65, escaped from the fire.

Shamrock Counts 1960 Good Year, Looks To Future

AMARILLO — Two major steps by Shamrock Oil and Gas Corp. during 1960 confirmed the company's confidence in the year as one of continued growth, and more growth is expected in 1961.

One step was addition of 32 service stations in the San Antonio area to the ever-expanding number in eight states. The new outlets were added through a deal with Sigmor Distributing Service, Inc., San Antonio, a 16-year old independent jobbing company headed by Tom E. Turner.

The other was an expansion move at the McKee Plants north of Amarillo, which added another catalytic cracking unit there. The new unit enabled the company to hike its cracking capacity at the refinery to about 26,000 barrels of crude oil a day.

Shamrock also contracted to furnish natural gas to Southwestern Public Service Co.'s new Nichols Station plant at the rate of 15 million cubic feet of gas a day. A new 20-inch pipeline was laid for the 50 miles between the McKee and Nichols locations.

The firm also constructed a 16-inch line for natural gas, a part of its gathering system in Ochiltree, Hansford and Hutchinson Counties, a 60-mile project.

From a modest beginning in 1929 with a few gas and oil holdings in the Texas Panhandle, the Shamrock emblem has grown to cast its shadow over portions of eight states — Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Wyoming, and Nebraska.

Shamrock's lease holdings are scattered over 11 states, including Meade, Clark, and Seward Counties in Kansas; Beaver, Cimarron, Greer, Texas, and Osage Counties in Oklahoma; and the leasehold oil and natural gas from the leased Shamrock McKee Plants are located about 60 miles north of Amarillo, near Dumas. Here are located the refinery and processing facilities that process the natural gas and refine the crude oil into the many Shamrock products.

Shamrock's drilling operations during the past few years have been centered mostly in the Texas Panhandle.

Completion of the first oil well near the city in 1925 turned Big Spring into a boom town. Reservoirs of oil were found a mile depths, ranging from 1,400 to 3,000 feet below the surface. The mineral deposits were formed when the high plains area was engulfed by the sea, far back in geologic history.

When the water finally retreated for the last time, marine deposits more than a mile thick were left in some places. Oil and gas accumulated in stratigraphic traps forced in these beds of marine sediment.

Dr. Ayres Speaks At Chemists Meet

Dr. Gilbert H. Ayres, graduate adviser and deputy chairman of the department of chemistry at the University of Texas, was the principal speaker at last night's meeting of the Panhandle Plains Section of the American Chemical Society in the Borger Hotel at Borger.

Dr. Ayres spoke at the conclusion of the society's monthly banquet. His subject was "Fundamentals of Spectrophotometric Analysis."

Midland Man Takes New Post In Hobbs

W. J. Parker, formerly of Midland, has joined Miller-Kennedy Sales & Services, Inc. of McPherson, Kansas and will act as their division manager at a new sales branch office, 420 West Taylor, Hobbs, New Mexico, according to F. E. "Dusty" Rhoads, general manager of Miller-Kennedy.

Dusty Rhoads and C. C. Simmonds, director of sales and services of the Cabot Corp. Machinery Division jointly announced the opening of the new sales office in Hobbs which will handle the Franks line of well servicing and drilling equipment.

API District Meeting Scheduled For Tulsa

TULSA, Okla. (Sp) — The preliminary program for the Mid-Continent District meeting of the American Petroleum Institute's Division of Production was announced yesterday. The meeting will be held in the Mayo Hotel in Tulsa on April 5-7.

Fourteen committees of the Mid-Continent district are scheduled to meet on Wednesday, April 5, which will also be devoted to preliminary registration. The following committees have scheduled meetings at various times during the day to cover: analysis of oilfield waters; tubing tension in pumping wells; drilling fluids; formation evaluation; supervisory development, straight-hole drilling, secondary recovery and pressure maintenance.

Supply Is Basis In Locating New Helium Centers

New helium plants most likely will be located in the field where the largest source of helium is available, and the largest known supply is in the Texas Panhandle-Kansas-Oklahoma area.

This was the recent answer of Paul Mullins, general manager of helium operations of the Bureau of Mines, in answer to a query as to where the 12 helium plants authorized by the last session of Congress would be located.

He explained there was one provision written into the helium conservation bill which delays the effective date of the bill to March 1, 1961.

Under terms of the bill, the secretary of interior can enter into long-term contracts, not to exceed 25 years, to help build commercial helium plants. At present the five existing plants are governmental facilities.

The bill provides authority for the lending of money and includes repayment provisions. Private plants will be able to sell on the commercial market or to the Department of Interior.

Mullins pointed out that nearly 50 per cent of the helium produced goes for use by the armed services in this country. The Atomic Energy Commission and commercial users take the remainder.

Big Springs Oil Replaces Source Of Town's Name

BIG SPRING, Tex. (UPI) — Years ago the "big spring" for which this west Texas city of 31,230 is named ran dry, but an abundance of oil has made up for the lack of water.

The entire Permian Basin oil region funnels crude petroleum into Big Spring for refining, which is a major industry.

Big Spring, which became a campsite on the Overland Trail to California in 1849, grew up mainly as a transportation crossroads. Ranchers gathered herds here in the 1870's before the long cattle drive to Abilene, Kan., the rail shipping point.

Two Men Join Tyson Smith Co.

William W. Chapman and John Erwing have joined the engineering staff of Tyson Smith Company, manufacturer of oilfield process equipment for the petroleum industry.

Erwing will serve as a Process Engineer for the firm, making his headquarters in Houston, while Chapman will work primarily in sales and service. Chapman will be located here in Pampa.

Erwing holds a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Houston and is currently working toward his Master's degree at that University. He has previously been associated with the Butler Manufacturing Co. and the Delta Tank Manufacturing Co. Mr. Erwing is a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Texaco Planning To Keep Capital Expenditure High

NEW YORK (Sp) — Texaco Inc. expects to maintain its capital and exploratory expenditures in 1961 above the 500-million mark, it was announced yesterday by Augustus C. Long, chairman of the board, and James W. Foley, president, in the company's annual report to stockholders.

Such expenditures totaled $21,102,902 in 1960, and were expected to approximate that amount in 1961, the report stated.

Stitches Required In Treating Cut Over JFK'S Eye

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The cut over President Kennedy's left eyebrow required five stitches Thursday, but the chief executive reported afterward that he was feeling fine.

According to Kennedy, early in the morning in the residential quarters of the White House he reached down to pick up something from the floor and hit his head on a piece of furniture.

He went to his office with only a small piece of adhesive tape across the cut and the White House announced "no stitches were necessary."

During luncheon, however, the White House physician, Dr. Janet G. Travell, took another look at the injury. When Kennedy went back to his office in the afternoon, a more substantial bandage covered the cut and he told newsmen that a doctor had taken five stitches in the wound.

Kennedy said the stitches would be removed in two or three days. The cut is just over his left eyebrow.

Gets New Contract

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Horst Buchholz has been signed to a multiple picture contract by producer-director Billy Wilder for two pictures with Joshua Logan on the basis of his performance in Logan's "Fanny."

Bank Is Wanted By Uvalde Group

AUSTIN (UPI)—The State Banking Department has received an application for a state bank at Uvalde, Commissioner J. M. Falkner announced.

The proposed American Bank of Commerce would have capital of $100,000, surplus of $100,000 and reserves of $50,000.

G. C. Hardwick of Odessa is projected president of the bank, Falkner said. No hearing date on the application was set.

Mending His Safety

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Bob Allred, 33, was able to fly a plane before he got his driver's license. He has logged more than 4,000 hours in every type of prop-driven plane.

Groom Children To Step Into Shoes

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. "The greatest inducement to growth in children is the privilege of being around exciting parents—parents who help kindle desire in children by enjoying themselves as 'whole' adults."

"It is no sign of health to expect providence, creature comfort, or special schooling to give the child an appetite for adult roles in life when, as the child can plainly see, these roles are not particularly enjoyable to the adults themselves."

Those two sentences from the new book, "The Importance of Being Imperfect" by John Robert Clarke, ought to make a lot of parents take a closer look at themselves and at their children.

When we buy junior a car in high school and get sis her first evening dress at age 14—are't we actually saying, "You don't need to wait to grow up to have adult privileges. You can have them right now—without adult responsibilities."

We're saying the same thing when we let them start going steady in junior high or racing around at night without letting us know where they are, when we fancy up their rooms with their own TV sets and their own telephone, when we say "How much do you need?" rather than "Here is what you can have" when we hand out money to them.

All and the while that we are making their lives carefree and

HD Club Has Grooming Topic

SKELLYTOWN (Spl) — Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. George Porter recently. Three visitors were welcomed, Mmes. Myrtle Bridwell, Bill Houghton and Bill Truitt. Club members voted to buy a Girl Scout yellow rose bush and set it out at the Skellytown library. Additions were made to the club's committees as five new members have joined the club this year.

Mrs. Floyd McCoy, assisted by Mrs. Leroy Snodgrass presented the program on "Good Grooming." Mrs. Gertrude Huckins won the recreation prize during the social hour.

Members worked on quilt blocks during the meeting. It was announced Mrs. Janie Fletcher, Carson County agent, will give the program at the next meeting.

Present in addition to those men-

Mrs. Pennington Is Club Hostess

LEFORS (Spl) — Mrs. Jimmy Pennington was hostess to the Opti-Mrs. monthly meeting in her home recently.

Mrs. Ben White was elected second vice president to be in charge of the boys work.

Mrs. John Duncan was elected tioned were Mmes. W. S. Berry, Elizabeth Tinsley, Roy Burgin, G. E. Huckins and Orville Wall.

first vice president in charge of membership.

The club was asked by Mrs. O. O. Bishop, park chairman, to furnish a bench with a back to it for elderly persons who go to the city park. The matter will be taken up with the Optimists.

Mrs. Philip Earhart was elected temporary scrapbook chairman and reporter, replacing Mrs. Wanda Clemmons.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Manuel Allison, Leonard Cain, A. W. Chisum, C. H. Earhart, Calvin Lacy, Ben White, Sidney Gilbreath, George Dunes, and James Gatlin, who was welcomed as a new member.
