DOWN TO THE SEA IN HELICOPTERS — The U.S. Coast Guard has selected the S-62 helicopter as its new search and rescue aircraft. The boat-hulled, turbine-powered vehicle, built by Sikorsky, is the world's first amphibious helicopter. In photograph above, a crew chief stands on a platform which extends out over the water to snag a life raft with his hook and pull the survivor in. With the helicopter able to land on the water, the rescue is five times as fast as old method of hauling survivor into the air by a hoist.

Sixteen Inches Of Snow Clogs Northeastern U.S.

Five Lives Are Lost; New Flood Condition Seen

A surprise storm clogged the northeast with up to 16 inches of snow today, snarling traffic, chewing up power lines and claiming at least five lives.

The worst floods in memory subsided in Nevada, Idaho and Wyoming but heavy rains threatened new inundations in mud-washed California, where up to 15 inches of rain fell earlier.

The central plains got rain and there were thunderstorms in parts of Oklahoma and Texas.

The storm in the northeast, triggered by a weather disturbance off the New Jersey coast, dropped from 8 to 16 inches of snow on Connecticut, Tannersville, N.Y., 40 miles southwest of Albany, had 14 inches of snow. The New York City suburb of White Plains measured 11 inches and police asked motorists to avoid unnecessary trips. Worcester, Mass., had 8 inches of snow in six hours Wednesday. High winds and ice slashed power lines, cutting off electricity in many areas of western New York between Buffalo and the Pennsylvania line Wednesday. Winds up to 35 miles an hour lashed the Connecticut coast. Michigan and Wisconsin continued digging out from under up to 13 inches of snow which fell Wednesday, closing schools and crippling air travel at Detroit.

Up to three inches of rain was forecast for Southern California and the northern part of the state had more than an inch. Fifty-mile winds lashed the northern California coast. Red Bluff measured an inch of rain in six hours, as did San Francisco.

In Sonoma County the Russian River, which fell 5 feet after cresting at 36½ feet Wednesday was expected to climb to 40½ feet today, causing flooding in the town of Guerneville.

A pair of Pacific cool fronts moving across Texas touched off highly-beneficial rains again today but failed to do much toward breaking up the mild, unseasonable temperature pattern.

Joint Questioning Of Powers Seen In Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. calling Powers up to their committees.

Neither Senate committee has indicated any intention of questioning Powers in person. Many members feel nothing would be gained that could not be learned from briefings by the Central Intelligence Agents and other government officials.

But some members have said the U2 pilot should be called if the official briefings do not provide all the information Congress wants.

Contract Awarded For Construction Of Sanford Dam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interior Department today, announced award of a $17,868,160 Bureau of Reclamation contract for constructing Sanford Dam, on the Canadian River project in Texas.

The contract marks the start of a project which will supply municipal water to 11 cities with a total population of 375,000 in the Texas Panhandle.

The contract was awarded to H. B. Zachry Co., San Antonio, Tex., on the lowest of nine bids received. The second low bid of $21,175,735 was made by Conwest Corp., Parkville, Mo.

Principal features of the 6,390-foot-long Sanford Dam are an earthenfill dam embankment, and concrete structures, including spill way, flood control outlet works, and river-outlet works.

The dam will rise about 200 feet above the bed of the Canadian River. The dam will collect water to be used in Amarillo, Borger, Brownfield, Lamesa, Levelland, Lubbock, O'Donnell, Pampa, Plainview, Slaton and Tahoka.

The dam is scheduled for completion in the early summer of 1965, with initial storage to begin in December, 1964. Water deliveries to the cities are scheduled to begin in the summer of 1965.

U.S. Successfully Fires 'Minuteman'

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States fired a Minuteman "instant ICBM" in a successful military test today.

The 56-foot rocket, rushed back onto the schedule after the federal space agency postponed the space voyage of astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., thundered from a buried launching tube and 15 minutes later the nose cone landed in the target area 3,900 miles away.

The solid-fueled Minuteman streaked toward space and took its nose cone, loaded with hundreds of pounds of test instruments, to a target in the South Atlantic.

Teamsters Union Asked To Attend AFL-CIO Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamsters Union officials said today they have been invited to send delegates next month to a legislative conference here sponsored by the AFL-CIO Building Trades Department.

Harold J. Gibbons, executive vice president of the exiled Teamsters, said this was an "illustration of the support we have" inside the labor federation.

The Teamsters were kicked out of the AFL-CIO in 1957 on charges of corrupt domination. This led to a directive from George Meany, AFL-CIO president, barring any dealings between AFL-CIO affiliates and the Teamsters on the national level.

Gibbons said the 300 locals in the Teamsters engaged in building and highway construction work have been invited to send representatives to the conference, opening March 5. The meeting usually is attended by 2,500 to 3,000 AFL-CIO building tradesmen who spend part of their time lobbying for labor-backed legislation on Capitol Hill.

The building trades have traditionally had close ties with the Teamsters because of the truck union's importance in strikes or organizing campaigns. Nearly all materials arrive on construction job sites by truck.

A report circulated by the Western Conference of Teamsters said the invitation from the AFL-CIO department was "another affront to Meany." It said this continued a relationship with the building trades that could hardly be closer even if the Teamsters were readmitted to the AFL-CIO.

Meany, who has made it plain he will not favor Teamsters' re-entry as long as James R. Hoffa heads the outcast union, was not available for comment on the Teamsters' statements.

After Kennedy's statement, both Russell and Sparkman said they would leave the question of

OUTLOOK 'NOT GOOD' TOMORROW

Orbit Try Is Foiled Again By Weather Conditions

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Bad weather forced still another postponement of John Glenn's space flight today and forecasters said the outlook for Friday is "not good."

Today's was the ninth in a series of delays since December which has plagued America's attempt to put a man in orbit.

The 40-year-old Glenn was told shortly after 1:05 a.m. that his leap into space would have to be delayed again—at least until 7:30 a.m. Friday.

But at mid-morning the weather prospects were still gloomy. Ernest Amman, forecaster for the Mercury man-in-space program, reported that weather conditions in the morning probably will be "not what we would call good conditions at all."

If the countdown is resumed for a launch at 7:30 a.m. Friday "it must be with the realization," Amman said, "that we might lose it later on, due to weather."

He indicated that if the shot is not made Friday, it may have to be put off for several days.

"It appears to us that Saturday is very much of a lost cause," the weatherman said. "If we don't go Friday, the area around the cape most likely will be experiencing high winds the following day."

Amman went on to say that February in this part of the world is "rock bottom" as far as desirable launching weather goes and that "March is not much of an improvement."

On the average, he said, satisfactory weather occurs only about one day in every three during this period.

When Glenn was awakened to be told of the delay he had breakfast, then went back to bed. His comment was:

"Everything is still go but the weather. When we get the weather we will go."

Laborer Is Named As Missing Researcher

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI) — A $1.90 an hour factory laborer at a paint plant here was identified Wednesday as Dr. Carl Vernon Holmberg, Syracuse University research chemist who vanished from his home six years ago.

Authorities said the man arrived in Rockford early in 1956, hitchhiking in from Elgin, Ill. He called himself Verne Hansen and he carried a briefcase with the initials V.H.

After a series of odd jobs he obtained employment as a laborer at a woodworking company and in five years worked up to shipping clerk. Two years ago he obtained employment as a pigment grinder at the paint factory.

In the interim he married Mrs. Mabel Ostling, a woman with a daughter by a previous marriage. On his marriage license application, dated Nov. 28, 1959, he listed his birthplace as Sand Point, Idaho. It said he was born Aug. 21, 1916, to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gunnard Hansen.

The Hansens' married life was troubled, Hansen read a lot—only education books, no cheap fiction," his wife said. "He was very happy but he did drink an awful lot." He encouraged Mrs. Hansen's daughter to read.

Finally the couple separated and Hansen moved into a hotel. On Feb. 4 Hansen was arrested for drunk driving and fined $100. He spent six days in jail in lieu of paying his fine and his fingerprints were taken.

Police forwarded the Hansen fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation for a routine check.

Pampa Youths Held In Thefts

Two 18-year-old Pampa youths were being held in Gray County jail this afternoon on two counts each of theft over $5 in connection with a series of break-ins in Pampa during the past five or six weeks.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan said the pair, Jimmy D. Hale and Jimmy Jones, are charged with the theft of ten used radiators, a half dozen tires and a quantity of tools. Total value of the stolen goods was estimated at $160.

Hale was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Jimmy Bowers and D. L. Day in Pampa and Jones was apprehended in Perryton. He was returned to Pampa today by Deputy Bowers.

Sheriff Jordan said the charges against Hale and Jones will be presented to the grand jury which convenes tomorrow morning.

Congo Mission Officer Is Shot; Suspect Arrested

LEOPOLDVILLE, — The Congo (UPI) — A U.S. Army officer was shot and fatally wounded while reading in bed Wednesday night by a bullet fired through a window of his home. Police arrested a Congolese suspect.

The victim was identified as Lt. Col. Hulen D. Stogner, 39, of El Paso, Tex., where his wife and six children live. He was assistant army attache at the U.S. Embassy.

His El Paso address, is 3012 Titanic Drive.

Officials said Stogner's assailant evidently stood on a ledge and fired through wooden shutters into the bedroom.

An embassy secretary, Miss Elizabeth Tryng, found Stogner with a bullet wound in his neck. She telephoned the United Nations Hospital which rushed an ambulance but he died at the hospital two hours later.

Officials said the shooting occurred about 9:20 p.m. (3:20 p.m. EST).

Congolese troops immediately cordoned off the park area in which Stogner's home was situated and about midnight arrested a suspect.

Informed sources said the man under arrest worked as a chauffeur for the embassy.

An entire battalion of Congolese surrounded the park and carried out orders not to let anyone leave the area.

Today Leopoldville police went from house to house in the park collecting testimony.

Floyd F. Watson Files For School Board Position

Floyd F. Watson filed this morning as a candidate for the School Board of the Pampa Independent School District. Watson, who resides at 2320 Aspen, is executive vice-president of the First National Bank.

Two vacancies in the school board will be filled in an election April 7 and Watson is the second man to file for the positions now held by Elmer D. Wilson and Warren Fatheree. Wilson filed for re-election yesterday and Fatheree is running for the state legislature in the Republican primaries.

The deadline for candidates filing for the school board is March 7.

Veteran Communist Takes Cuban Post

United Press International The selection of a veteran Communist to succeed Fidel Castro as head of Cuba's monolithic Land Reform Institute (INRA) appeared today to be a step toward the "collective leadership" advocated by Castro in recent speeches.

The selection of Carlos R. Rodriguez, publisher of the Havana Communist organ Hoy, for the post of INRA president emphasized his growing importance in the Communist lineup in Cuba.

One unanswered question about the change of command at INRA concerned the future of Capt. Antonio Nunez Jimenez, who as executive director of the institute had been its working boss.

No mention was made of Nunez—or of Castro—in the brief cabinet communiqué announcing the appointment of Rodriguez to the INRA presidency. On some occasions recently, Eduardo Santos Rios has been mentioned as INRA's executive director, but nothing has been said officially about Nunez being replaced.

Rodriguez already was a member of the Cuban equivalent of Russia's Presidium (Politburo), and last year he displaced Argentine-born Bernesto (Che) Guevara as the Castro regime's "economic czar."

Soviet Fighter Planes 'Buzz' U.S. Transport Flying Berlin Corridor

BERLIN (UPI) — Soviet MIG-17 fighter planes today flew within 7,500 feet of a U.S. Air Force Globemaster transport flying to Berlin in a new Soviet harassment of Western Allied air traffic.

Informed sources said four Soviet fighters were within 20 feet of the Globemaster for several minutes.

The incident took place as the Soviets sought to limit Allied traffic through the three-20-mile-wide corridors into Berlin. The Russians had demanded that military transports fly the so-called "American corridor."

Rejecting the Russian demands, the Allied planes continued to fly into Berlin through the air space the Soviets tried to reserve for themselves.

In Moscow today the United States, Britain, and France formally protested to the Soviet Union against Russian interference with Western flights in the corridors connecting the isolated city with West Germany.

As the Globemaster incident was reported here, an Allied spokesman called the Russian moves illegal and said "Soviet authorities will continue to be held responsible for the safety of these flights."

In defiance of the Soviet attempt to keep portions of the air corridors for their exclusive use, American, British and French military transports flew in the

Mothers Will 'March' In MD Campaign

A mothers' March for Muscular Dystrophy is scheduled for Pampa March 15, it was announced today by A. J. Carrubi, campaign chairman of the Panhandle Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Carrubi said the monthly meeting of the association will be held in the county courtroom of the Gray County Courthouse tonight.

Plans for the house-to-house canvass for funds will be discussed. Carrubi also stated that the solicitation will be aided by the Pampa fire department, National Guard, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Evening Optimist Club, and other organizations wishing to participate.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association, Inc., Carrubi said, devotes itself to the scientific conquest of neuro-muscular diseases, especially muscular dystrophy, a mysterious disease which primarily strikes children.

Starting Today Deer, Horses Pigs And Cows Will 'Fly'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Starting today deer, horses, dogs, pigs and cows will fly.

If not, they will fall. Nothing new in the laws of nature, just in the way the National Automobile Underwriters Association will look at such critters when they come into contact with a moving car.

Until today, unless the animal jumped in the air and landed on the car, it could be called a "collision" and the motorist's $100 deductible clause was applicable in most cases where damage resulted. Only if the animal had its feet off the ground would the adjuster label it a "falling or flying" object to make the damage claim payable in full.

But effective today, all damage due to animals or birds, whether flying or not will be payable under comprehensive insurance—in theory making even a pig a "falling or flying" object.

Final Courtesy Ballot Today

Today is the last time the official ballot will be printed in The News Election campaign to decide Pampa's "Friendliest, Most Courteous" man and woman employees.

The deadline is midnight. Any ballots received in the mail with a postmark prior to midnight, Feb. 15, will be counted.

So, hurry. You have only a few hours left to vote for your favorite. You'll find the ballot on Page 3 today.

TRAFFIC NORMAL — A U.S. Globemaster transport plane makes a routine landing at Templehof Airport in Berlin. Working Mother Problem Talked By Congressmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressmen find themselves embroiled in a dispute over working mothers.

The question was this: Would the federal government be striking a blow against juvenile delinquency or a blow against family life, if it provided funds for day care centers for children of working parents?

The issue erupted before the House Ways Means Committee yesterday as it concluded hearings on President Kennedy's welfare reform program.

The administration bill would provide federal grants of up to $10 million a year to help finance day care centers for children whose parents are "working or seeking work, or otherwise absent from the home or unable for other reasons to provide parental supervision."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Raymond J. Gallagher, secretary of the National Conference of Catholic Charities, assailed this as "un-American." He urged the committee to revamp the bill to restrict use of federally subsidized day care centers to mothers on relief rolls who are working or seeking work as part of a rehabilitation program.

He said the administration's proposal was so broad it would "bring under government care millions of additional children."

Except under those conditions, Msgr. Gallagher made it clear that he felt that a mother's place was in the home and the government should do nothing to encourage her to take a job with so many fathers unemployed.

A different view was expressed by Dr. Ellen Winston on behalf of the American Public Welfare Association.

"Working mothers have taken their place as a prominent and indispensable part of the social and economic scene of this country," she said.

"When the children of working mothers can be properly cared for during the working day, the likelihood of harmful effects is greatly reduced," she said. "In most communities, however, the existing facilities for the day care of children are inadequate in capacity and, too often, below desirable standards."

Patrick A. Tompkins, commissioner of public welfare for Massachusetts, also endorsed the administration proposal.

Economists Take New Look At U.S. Business Prospect

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Government economists have adopted a wait-and-see attitude toward the business outlook following disappointing reports on jobs and incomes in January.

The reports were not terribly bad in themselves. But in comparison to the rosy developments of late 1961, they looked a little pale.

The Labor Department said the factory workweek dropped in January, for the second consecutive month, to 40 hours. It was 40.4 hours in December and 40.6 in November. The department blamed the new drop on "a sharp cutback in overtime work in the automobile industry as well as more moderate declines" elsewhere.

The experts were especially interested in factory hours because in the past they have been an advance tipoff to business recessions and upswings. "We'll be watching this one closely in February," one official commented. "Remember, two months don't make a trend."

Soviets Decide To End Pirating

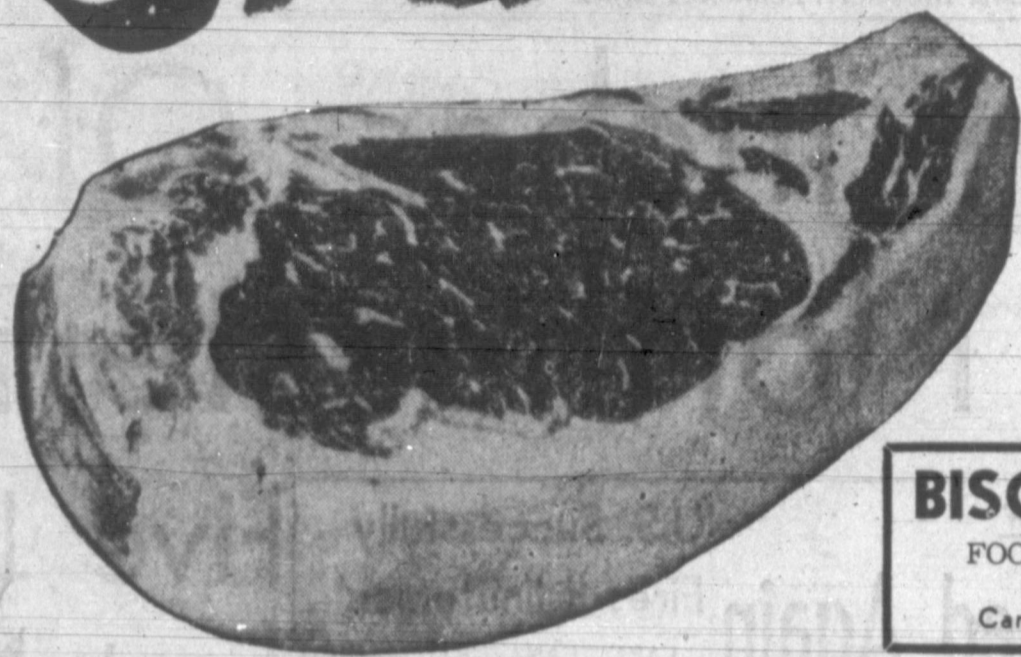

MOSCOW (UPI) — An American businessman reported yesterday that the Soviet Union will send a delegation to the United States soon to buy licenses on U.S. patents for the first time in history.

The businessman, Arnold L. Feldman, president of the National Patent Development Corp. of New York, told newsmen this would be "the first concrete step to end pirating of U.S. patents" by the Russians.

Feldman said the Soviet Union would use the patents on a royalty basis. He said the two governments were working out details of the delegation's trip.

1962 CHEVROLET JOBMASTER TRUCKS

built better...work longer!

When Chevrolet builds a truck, it builds a quality truck. This policy makes sense. Chevrolet trucks work a long time... cost less than many other makes to operate and maintain over the years... consistently bring a higher trade-in price... and, as a result, are bought by more people. We invite you to come in and examine this quality closely and to take a 1962 demonstrator out for a good long test drive. Note the cab comfort, the good visibility, the smooth ride, the solid of its quality. Compare Chevrolet truck features with those of other makes. Then decide which are your wisest investment. We're sure it will be Chevrolet's.

- Note how this Chevrolet cab roof is made of two sheets of metal, instead of one, with a layer of felt in between as insulation against cold, heat and noise.
- A Chevrolet truck tailgate is sturdier because it has double-wall construction and strong steel chains in tough rubber casing to support it.
- Quality independent front suspension rights road shock more effectively than other types—provides more protection for the truck, load and driver.
- The standard 235-cu.-in. 6-cylinder Chevrolet truck engine has worked more miles than any other. There are nine more engines to choose from.

Last Of Fires At Cargray Plant To 'Burn Out' Tonight

Today was mainly a waiting one at the Dorchester Corporation's Cargray gasoline plant, 10 miles west of Pampa.

Workers are watching the fire burn itself out and officials of the plant, which was almost totally damaged by explosions and fire Monday afternoon, said today the only blaze remaining is "from a 5,000 barrel gasoline tank which should be 'burned out' by tonight."

J. G. Eckel, president of the corporation, said today salvage operations and reconstruction of equipment will start as soon as the plant cools off.

"Within 30 days the plant should get back into at least partial operations, and within 3 months workmen should have the plant into full scale operations," Eckel said today.

Officials said the total damage to the plant which was first estimated over $3 million would probably not exceed $2 million.

Eckel said today chances of any more explosions had diminished.

The seven families living in the houses adjoining the plant would start returning to their homes in several days, officials said.

Major damage to the plant was confined to the northeast section where 30 to 40 tanks in the lead blending and storage area were destroyed.

Candidate Denounced For Asking God's Aid

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head man of AFL-CIO in Michigan ridiculed George Romney for seeking divine guidance before becoming a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. Romney fasted and prayed before announcing his candidacy. Romney is a Mormon, a missionary in his youth. The head man of the Michigan AFL-CIO is August Scholle, president of Big Labor's council in that state.

"According to his interpretation," Scholle said of Romney, "he is God's chosen man. I don't think he has any more direct contact with God than any other candidate."

However that may be, Romney will need all the help he can get if he wins the Republican gubernatorial nomination and must go up against Scholle and Big Labor in a Michigan election. Against Romney's guidance from a Higher Power the AFL-CIO can oppose powers with which Scholle surely does have direct contact, union members and money. The political and other activities of Big Labor in Michigan are financed by a 6-cents-per-month levy on AFL-CIO members. It has raised from $300,000 to $500,000 a year, depending on employment and union membership.

Discussing this fund some years ago—a year when the take was expected to be about $300,000—Scholle said only about $60,000 could be cited as political expenditures. His phrase was "for educational expenditures in the political field."

Even so, the end political result of this head tax on union members arouses the envy of Republican fund raisers, perhaps causing them to wish they would levy a head tax of even a nickel a month on somebody.

Scholle said everything AFL-CIO does in the political arena is both legally and morally right. He emphasized that any union member opposing the political purposes for which the money is to be used may specify that his contribution shall go elsewhere.

The political effectiveness of God's guidance sought by George Romney remains to be demonstrated. Big Labor's money has proven itself in politics. The Republicans accuse Big Labor of having politically kidnaped the state of Michigan. The man in charge of Big Labor politics in Michigan is August Scholle.

Scholle's big job in Michigan this year probably will be to prevent Romney being elected governor. Romney would be bad news for the union leaders. He believes institutions can become too big and too powerful. Romney would break up General Motors into two or more smaller companies.

He would take some of the big out of Big Labor by making the unions subject to the Sherman antitrust act.

'Big Shot' Tony Cries When Cops Finally Get Him

CHICAGO (UPI) — "They won't be seeing Crazy Tony for a long, long time," the detective said.

For more than a year police had sought Crazy Tony— Joe David Gonzales, 19, a swaggering, undersized duck-tailed hoodlum who liked to light his cigars with $10 bills and once boasted, "I'll take a lot of cops with me when I go."

The 5-foot, 6-inch, 140-pound Gonzales was wanted for questioning about 50 robberies and the April 5, 1961 holdup slaying of Michael Ferrecki, 69.

In the West Side area near Chicago's famed Hull House settlement where Crazy Tony grew up the older people feared him. The young looked upon him as a hero, police said.

Detective Adolph Neruda, who spent weeks looking for Gonzales, told of signs scrawled on tenement walls reading "Viva Tony." His girl friends told officers "Tony is cute."

Teen-age youths copied his haircuts, his dark glasses, his wild sports clothes. They told of his $70 tips to taxi drivers.

Last March 31 Crazy Tony robbed a jewelry store of $5000. Detective Cap. Francis J. Flanagan said. On the proceeds of that and other robberies he took an extended trip to Mexico, Texas and California. He returned from El Paso, Tex., two weeks ago.

Monday night his former girl friend Linda Byrax 19 was out riding with three other youths. Gonzales curbed their car and forced the girl to go with him. The three youths called police. Gonzales pistol-whipped the girl and threatened to kill her companions.

A few blocks away police intercepted Gonzales' car. Armed with a gun and a knife, he covered behind the girl and cried, "Don't hurt me, don't hurt me." He had 30 cents.

Tuesday, Crazy Tony admitted 15 robberies and shooting of six persons "but I never killed anybody. You can't send me to the chair."

A few hours later, he admitted he killed Ferrecki.

Wall Street In Review

Wall Street Chatter
NEW YORK (UPI) — James Dines of A. M. Kidder & Co. expects a minor market peak somewhere around the 730 level in the industrial average within the next two weeks, followed by churning lateral movement at best through the rest of February.

Technical indicators say that the average will at best remain neutral between 690-735 for the foreseeable future, but for the long-term they still point toward an eventual target of over 800, the analyst adds.

For its part, Reynolds & Co. is still optimistic on the immediate outlook for the stock market, but not carried away. "In other words, traders can be aggressive, but commitments should represent only a part of available funds," it says.

The stock market, having experienced a worthwhile recovery, may encounter slower going in the period immediately ahead, but we continue to view the outlook with considerable confidence, says Standard & Poor's. At this stage, it says laggard cyclical issues are believed to offer the best short-term possibilities for capital gain.

In a special research report, Bache & Co. suggests upgrading portfolios through the elimination of issues of doubtful quality, even though the stocks involved may be selling well below their highs and perhaps even below their purchase prices. In place of such stocks, it recommends commitments in investment-grade issues.

Ox Joints Give Menu Diversity

"Rich flavored ox joints provide menu diversity for budget-wise homemakers. They'll add a bit of the unusual to a supper, and you'll achieve that pleasant feeling of being thrifty.

Although perhaps ox joints are more commonly found in soup, try braising them for a hearty main dish. Mushrooms, onion slices, peppercorns, bay leaf and thyme cooked with them give the ox joints a gourmet flair.

The meat should be slowly cooked for 3 to 4 hours, states meat cookery authority Reba Staggs, until the meat almost falls from the bone. The well-flavored cooking liquid can be thickened for gravy, if you wish.

BRAISED OX JOINTS

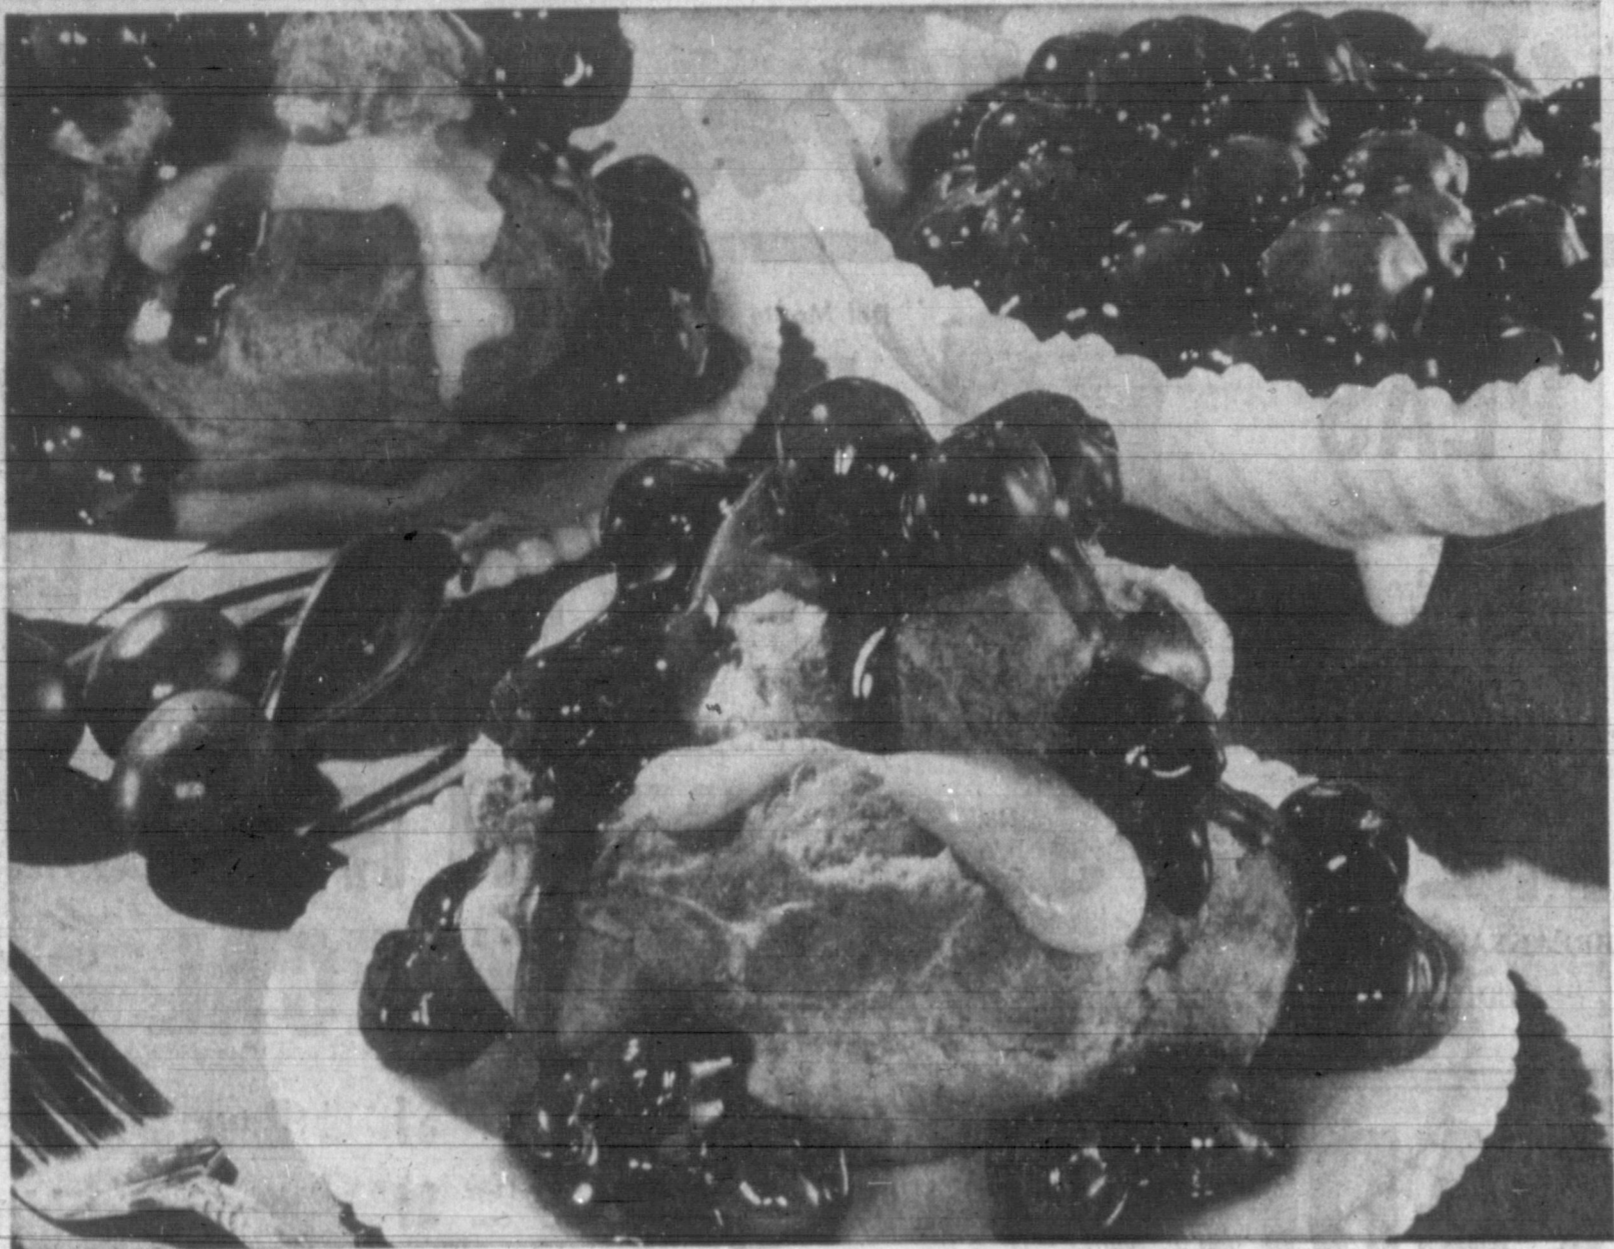

- 3 pounds ox joints
- 1/4 cup flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 can (4 ounces) button mushrooms
- 1 bay leaf
- 4 whole peppercorns
- 1 onion, sliced
- 1/4 teaspoon thyme
- Water

Four for Gravy

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge ox joints in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid. Add bay leaf, peppercorns, onion, thyme and mushrooms. Add enough water to mushroom liquid to make 1 1/2 cups. Pour mixture over ox joints. Cover tightly and simmer 3 to 4 hours or until tender. Remove ox joints. Discard bay leaf and peppercorns. Thicken cooking liquid with flour for gravy, if desired. 6 servings.

WAX CAREFULLY

Waxed living room floors are pretty, but make sure they aren't so slippery that they become dangerous. Many household accidents are caused from highly waxed floors.

Feature Cherry Puffs at Ladies' Dessert Party

Butter 'N Margarine Both Have Calories

Q—I am trying to lose weight. Friends tell me I should use margarine instead of butter, because butter contains more calories than margarine. Is that true?

A—Not true. Butter and margarine contains the same amount of calories, according to The American Dietetic Assn.

Q—Isn't water fatening?

A—No. Water does not contain any calories. But it is vitally important to body health and people on a weight reduction diet need it

Delightful Way To Enhance Bridge Party Serve Beautiful Creamed-Filled Puffs

Would you like to have a party that's easy-to-give, simple, and yet something really special?

How about a dessert party?

As much as other people. However, if you reduce your daily intake of table salt, your body will retain less water. But remember, the amount of water retained in your body in no way changes the fat content of your body.

It's a delightful way to "pay back" obligations, or to enhance a bridge club meeting, or welcome neighborhood newcomers. The dessert party can be either an after-lunch or after-supper affair, but it is designed for un-hurried small talk and a cozy, relaxed atmosphere.

Set your buffet graciously and appropriately around the feature of your menu—a beautiful cream-filled and flaky puff—topped with lots of big, juicy red cherries. And you'd better make enough for seconds, because cherry puffs are sure to make a big hit with the ladies.

- 1/2 cup butter
 - 1 cup boiling water
 - 1 cup sifted enriched flour
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 4 eggs
 - 1 4-ounce package vanilla pudding mix
 - 1 1/2 cups milk
 - 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
 - 1/4 teaspoon almond flavoring
 - 1 No. 2 can Cherry Pie Filling
- Melt butter in boiling water. Add flour and salt, all at once, and stir vigorously. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture forms a ball. Remove from heat; cool slightly. Add eggs, one at a time, beating vigorously after each addition. Drop by large tablespoons onto a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 45 to 50 minutes. Split puffs and allow to cool. Make pudding as directed on package, using only 1 1/2 cups of milk. Cool. Fold in whipped cream and flavoring. Spoon into puffs. Spoon Cherry Pie Filling over puffs and serve at once. Makes 8 large puffs.

Put-Together Breakfast Wins Research Support

You even can have breakfast part by part in the continental manner—juice, toast, and coffee when you get up, more hearty fare later. Such a put-together

Drinking Of Milk Fallacy Disputed

—Isn't it true that everyone should drink at least a quart of milk a day?

A—Although milk is a good food and an excellent source of necessary calcium, "the frequently used slogan a quart of milk a day is a bad one which should not be repeated," Dr. E. W. McHenry, professor of nutrition, University of Toronto, stated in his "Foods Without Fads." He continued, "Young children can be given too much milk. When that happens, children are unlikely to eat suitable amounts of other needed foods. A child of 5 to 6 cannot hold a quart of milk and other necessary foods."

Q—How much milk should my family drink every day?

A—In its pamphlet "Food For Fitness," the Institute of Home Economics of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, recommends:

- 8-ounce cups whole fluid milk
- Children 3 to 4
- Teen-agers 4 or more
- Adults 2 or more
- Pregnant Women 4 or more
- Nursing Mothers 6 or more breakfast has won support through the research of leading nutrition scientist, Dr. Helen Clark. Her studies at Purdue University refute a popular belief that all the parts of protein—the amino acids—have to be present at one meal. She found that amino acids work as efficiently whether parts come assembled or knocked down for assembly in your body any 4- to 16-hour period.

Dr. Clark fed groups of animals a nutrient-rich diet that barely met their need for calories. Missing was only one part: the nutrient amino acid, lysine. This was added to the diet of one group at mealtime. It was furnished, by itself, at 4- to 16-hour intervals to the other groups. All the animals thrived. Total food for the day was what counted in promoting growth.

This research bolsters a trend in America toward breakfast in parts—one part on arising; a second at coffee break. Because food for the day is what counts—and not balancing-meals—the research opens up opportunities for more flexibility in meal planning. And it underscores the wisdom of fitting all the nutrients together on a daily basis by following this foodway:

- Selecting minimum servings from the four food groups—
- 4 servings of enriched or whole grain bread or other cereal food
- 2 servings of milk or cheese
- 4 servings of fruits and vegetables
- 4 ounces of meat, fish, poultry, nuts, dry peas or beans
- Adding more of these or other foods as needed for energy, nutrients, ideal weight, and satisfying meals.
- Assembling any do-it-yourself project takes know-how. What you eat every day is no exception.

TRY MUSHROOM PACKET
Chicken livers, fresh mushrooms and butter will cook flavorfully together in a foil package over a wood charcoal briquet fire. These can be served over scrambled eggs or toast for a change-of-pace breakfast or light lunch.

GLISTENING pitted tart red cherries make an inviting topping for cherry torte in honor of George Washington.

George Washington, His Father, Too Would Love This Pretty Cherry Torte

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Easy and luscious, bright with creamy fillings, here's a special torte for any gala event. Made with a pancake mix which replaces flour and baking powder in the batter.

WASHINGTON CHERRY TORTE
(Makes 8 to 10 servings)

CAKE:
1/2 teaspoon salt
5 eggs
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1 1/2 cups pancake mix

FILLING:
One 3 1/2-ounce package vanilla pudding and pie filling mix
2 cups milk

TOPPING:
One 1-pound, 4-ounce can pitted tart red cherries.
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
Few drops red food coloring
Heat oven to moderate, (350 degrees F.). Grease bottoms of three 8-inch round cake pans; line with waxed paper; grease again and flour. Add salt to eggs; beat until thick and slightly lemon colored (about 4 minutes). Add sugar, a little at a time, beating well after each addition. Add almond extract and pancake mix; sift lightly until smooth.

Divide batter evenly into three pans. Bake in preheated oven (350 degrees F.) about 15 minutes. Invert on wire rack; cool 15 minutes. Remove from pans; peel off paper.

For filling, combine pudding mix and milk. Cook according to package directions. Cool. For topping, combine all ingredients in saucepan. Cook until thickened. Cool.

Assemble cake on serving plate with filling between layers; cover top of cake with thickened cherries. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

Delicious Appetizer Before Meal 'Must'

Pineapple Chunks are a "must" in every household. They can be used in many types of desserts. And, too, for a light finale to a heavy meal, serve them chilled and top with maraschino cherries.

For delicious appetizers, drain Chunks and wrap with bacon. Fasten with a toothpick and broil until bacon is crisp. Serve hot to watch your guests come back for more. Remember to save the drained juice for use in sauces, desserts, and fruit drinks. Pineapple Chunks add delicious flavor to meat on skewers. Arrange them alternately until heated through. For afternoon teas or showers, roll them in freshly grated coconut for a unique refreshment. Place them on waxed paper to dry slightly before arranging them on serving dish. Don't forget that your family likes special treats, too. Prepare your favorite bran muffins and fill muffin pans about half full of batter. Press a Chunk into each one. Bake as usual and expect votes for seconds from your family.

Woman Food Experts Name Technician As Country's Best Amateur Male Cook

"Confetti Crab Chip Pie," a crab and potato chip dish created by a former Air Force Captain, has been selected by a panel of women food experts for top honors in the Men's National Cooking Championship.

The 1982 crown in the championship, sponsored by the Potato Chip Institute, was awarded Daniel Constant of Culver City, Calif., now an instrument technician with Douglas Aircraft Co.

Here is his recipe:

CONFETTI CRAB CHIP PIE
Potato Chip Crust
1 1/2 cups finely crushed potato chips (about 6 cups, uncrushed)
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
1 teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons dehydrated minced green onions

Combine ingredients, mix well, press firmly on sides and bottom of six individual pie tins, reserving 1-3 cup of mixture for topping. Bake shells 10 minutes at 375 degrees F. Cool. Fill with following mixture:

Confetti Crab Filling
2 7-oz. packages frozen crab meat, thawed and flaked
1 2-oz. jar sliced pimientos, drained
1/2 cup minced ripe olives
1 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup minced onion
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup cultured sour cream
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper

Cook green pepper and onion in melted butter until soft but not brown. Blend in flour and seasonings, gradually add milk and cream. Cook, stirring, until mixture begins to thicken, then add pimientos, olives, and crab. Continue cooking and stirring until thick. Spoon into pie shells, sprinkle with reserved potato chip mixture (1 tablespoon per pie). Bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees F. Serves 6.

Grilled Bread Is Real Taste Treat also can spread the bread with cheese butter by mashing butter and blue cheese together.

A tasty bread, along with franks and green salad, can make a meal. A seasoned and buttered bread is also superb with a favorite beef or lamb meal cooked over wood charcoal briquets.

When you cook over wood charcoal briquets' outdoor or in, count on French bread as an asset to the meal. It is a perfect accompaniment to many meat and vegetable dishes.

As a simple start, slice a loaf of French bread not quite through at one-inch intervals. Into each slice pour melted butter in which garlic has been crushed, or browned butter seasoned with celery salt. Wrap the loaf in foil and heat on a grill.

For French bread with difference, dip thick separate slices into seasoned melted butter, dunking thoroughly. Then toast the slices over the charcoal, turning often.

But you always invent your own options. To make tomato butter, melt soft butter with chopped tomatoes and a bit of basil. You

Liver Nutritional Treasure Chest That Should Be Included Weekly In Menu

Liver is such a nutritional treasure chest that it deserves to be considered in the diet on a weekly basis. We feel this recipe will rate well with your family. The liver is sauteed briefly in garlic butter, then served with a savory wine sauce. Both liver and sauce take just minutes to prepare, so plan to serve this dish when your time is especially limited.

To make the liver doubly delicious, chill the remainder of the California Sauterne used in cooking, and serve it in your prettiest glasses.

LIVER SAUTE
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 clove garlic
1 pound baby beef or calves' liver
Salt and pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 1/3 cup California Sauterne or other white dinner wine
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
Heat butter with garlic a few minutes; then discard garlic. Cut liver into strips 1 to 1 1/2 inches wide. Season with salt and pepper.

Pineapple Chunks Make Beans Fancy

Ordinary pork and beans take on a glamour air with the addition of pineapple chunks. Your family will say "pass those fancy beans."

PORK AND BEANS WITH PINEAPPLE
1 can (1 lb. 15oz.) Van Camp's Pork and Beans
1-3 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
3 slices Stokely's Finest Pineapple Slices
Combine Pork and Beans, brown sugar and ground ginger. Place in a one quart casserole dish. Arrange the Pineapple Slices attractively on top of Pork and Beans.
Heat, uncovered, in 350 degrees F. oven for 40 to 45 minutes. Makes 6 to 7 servings.

Cook quickly in heated butter, about a minute on each side. When done remove from pan to hot platter. To drippings remaining in pan add Worcestershire sauce and wine. Bring to a boil and pour over liver. Sprinkle parsley over top and serve at once.

Guests at a large tea or reception aren't expected to stay more than half an hour or so.

Charcoal Cooked Vegetables Gain Flavor This Way

Almost any frozen vegetable can be wrapped in foil and cooked on the charcoal grill. Place the block of vegetables on a length of aluminum foil. Add three or more tablespoons of butter. Fold the foil into an envelope or package. Place on cooking rack over wood charcoal briquets for 30 minutes to an hour, testing for doneness.

This waterless method of cooking is used the year 'round by charcoal fans. Flavor and nutritive values are retained. These suggestions add zest:

Strips of hickory smoked bacon can be used in place of butter. Powdered onion soup can be sprinkled in with the vegetable.

Herbs such as fresh mint or basil or dill, finely cut, give a quaint appeal to frozen peas, potatoes or carrots.

Thin slivers of salt pork benefit such vegetables as spinach and lima beans.

★ Polly's Quiz ★

By Polly Cramer

A good many young couples, now married for six or seven years, have wearied of the very modern furniture they bought when they were first married. At the time, it seemed the thing to do.

Now, they have discovered that they want more warmth and softness, so they are making the swing around to Early American wherever the shift proves financially feasible.

If this description fits you, take hope. The clean simplicity of good modern design has a lot in common with Early American antiques.

Begin to scout around for antique accessories. Skillfully introduced into a contemporary room, they will bring with them warmth and personality.

Dear Polly: For the first time in years, I am completely redoing my living room. The sofa will be dark brown or that royal blue and green striped effect. While I like modern, may I mix Early American end tables with a modern sectional? I have a platform rocker and large chair. I am inclined toward brown but fear that it may prove drab. Please brighten me up.—Mrs. P. R.

Dear Mrs. P. R.: The simple lines of modern will be quite compatible with Early American. Do get the green-and-blue sofa. White walls, a deep green rug and draperies to match should provide a handsome background for the sofa. Recover the rocker with white plastic fabric and slip cover the large chair with a quilted chintz in blue, green, white and gold.

Dear Polly: Would it be good if be good taste to use a wing-back couch and chairs with lined oak tables if we stick to plain fabrics rather than colonial prints?—Mrs. D. M.

Dear Mrs. D. M.: Be brave and go ahead. Even use a print if you like. But avoid the use of too many itsy-bitsy patterns, any time and any place.

Dear Polly: My bedroom walls are white and the draperies are light green. Bedroom suite is gray. What color would be a nice change for walls and woodwork?—Mrs. M. R.

Dear Mrs. M. R.: Try wallpaper for a change. It has never been lovelier. Consider a white ground with sprawling flower design in golden yellow, gray and green. Woodwork could be green for a different effect. Ceiling, too.

Dear Reader: A heavy volume of mail doesn't permit Mrs. Cramer to answer her letters and post cards individually. But she will comment in her column on decorating problems of general

After a tub bath, finish off by letting the water out of the tub and rinsing off with shower spray.

Lavish Benefits Of Bath And Shower Surpass Elaborate Beauty Treatment

ALICIA HART

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The aficionados of the bath and the fans of the shower are about evenly divided. Those women who love a hot, relaxing bath will assure you that it works wonders in the way of draining off tension.

But shower fans will be quick to answer that you don't get really clean in a bath because the water is not changed as you bathe.

Until now, there's been nary a compromise. But a very obvious one lies in this system: have a hot, soapy bath with your favorite water softener or bath oil. When you feel sufficiently relaxed, remain seated while you let the water out of the tub. Then turn on the shower and, seated or standing, let the fine spray of water rinse you thoroughly.

At night, let the water be gentle and warm. Let it spray over your back in a soothing stream for several minutes. But in the morning, the water should be cool to wake you up mentally and physically.

Quite often, the simplest things pay off big beauty dividends. A walk every day. Fresh air. Simple stretching and bending exercises. And your bathtub. All of these can lavish benefits upon you that even an elaborate salon cannot surpass.

To Avoid Complications Wives Need Wills, Too

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NE WYORK (UPI) — Where there's a will there's a weight swinging against disunity in favor of peace in the family after you're gone.

Chances are, however, that you, being a typical female, consider wills the most morbid of topics. Perhaps you even cling to the old superstition that making a will when not at death's door is inviting tragedy.

But did you know that every woman should have a will, drawn preferably when she's in the pink.

That's advice straight from Catherine B. Cleary, a lawyer and vice president of the First Wisconsin Trust Co., in Milwaukee.

Miss Cleary, former assistant United States treasurer, was interviewed while in New York for the 43rd annual mid-winter trust conference.

As trust officer of a bank she knows what can happen when a spouse or parent dies without leaving clear-cut, legal directions.

Applies To Single Women

For example, your furs and jewels might have to be sold to pay taxes that could have been avoided. The lion's share of your cash holdings might go to a relative you didn't mean to notice in the will you didn't get around to making.

Miss Cleary says the advice on a will for females applies of the single as well as the married. She said many women still feel, however, that they don't need a will.

Married women argue that their husbands have all the money right now. So if the wife passes on, she has little to leave.

"What most women don't realize is that most husbands leave almost all their property to their wives," Miss Cleary said.

"If both should die together in an accident, the husband's wealth goes to his wife. But if the wife also is killed and she leaves no will, their children may suffer needlessly, financially."

Do you know what happens if you—as wife and mother—die without leaving a will.

"First," Miss Cleary said, "the state steps in. It divides your property according to state law. Its disposition may disagree entirely with your wishes."

May Be Hardship

"It may work considerable hardship on those you want to safeguard most. Distant relatives whom you scarcely know may get property intended for your children. Also, legal fees and papers may unnecessarily eat up much of your estate before it is ever divided."

"Thus, your wealth can be dissipated in short order."

Miss Cleary, former president of the National Association of Bank Women, said a woman's will is perhaps the most important document she will ever sign. She calls it "the blueprint for your family's future."

"The will states exactly how to divide your wealth among your heirs when you are gone," she said. "It deserves the most careful thought and planning."

She suggested the following:

—Hire a lawyer to draw up your will. Wills, very technical legal documents, require the services of an expert. If you do it yourself, one technical error may cause a court to refuse to recognize your will after you are gone.

—Pick your executor with care. Banks with trust departments are particularly well qualified to serve as executors.

—Keep your will up to date. Review it at least every second year. Births, deaths and other changes can make it obsolete overnight.

Pre-Fab' Beauty Moguls Anticipate Record Year

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — "I want a shampoo and a set," the lady at the beauty shop, said, taking her hair off. I'll be back for it this afternoon.

This unlikely little scene, played more times daily in New York than you can count, will shortly open in neighborhood beauty shops throughout the nation.

The wig industry — like the whole U.S. pre-fab beauty industry — expects a record year.

On the basis of advance orders and rocketing growth over the past two years, wig makers predict a $20 million market for 1962 (double last year's business, tenfold bigger than 1960). Why?

"Because the American woman is learning," says an industry leader, Richard Hartwich, "that she can lead an active life and not have to worry about how her hair looks. Somebody else will grow it for her, style it, clean it, and set it without taking a minute out of her day."

All she has to do is pay—from just under $100 to over $300—and hair freedom is hers. The idea, as old as Cleopatra, has caught on so fast in the past three years that Hartwich is now distributing snap-on coiffures through nationwide neighborhood beauty shops.

But permanent permanents are only a small part of the pre-fab beauty boom scheduled for this year.

In 1962, the Better Vision Bureau estimates, we're going to spend well over $500 million on eye care. But how much of it will go for correction and how much for cosmetic eye styling?

"The trend this year is still to the upstart eye," reports a spokesman for a top glass-and-frame firm, Bausch & Lomb.

"And when you're finished with this one, I want a shampoo for the one underneath!"

"But this year's eye will be narrower than last year's."

"We'll be bringing out about nine new frame models covering the usual price range: $18 to $50. You've got to give women a selection to match their shoes and handbags."

The contact lens industry brings the scene into even sharper focus. A market of nine million contact lens wearers is predicted for 1962 — most of them women eager to pay $150 to $300 for the privilege of going without spectacles.

Moreover, an industry observer points out, with almost every color in the spectrum available in contact lenses today, color-coordinated eyes are no longer a luxury. But getting women to buy a whole wardrobe of eye colors is another matter.

"We generally try to sell an extra pair," he said, "the way a furrier might sell a second mink coat."

From the Girdle and Bra Association, too, comes word of another bumper year just past ($79 million — $40 million over the year before). And another whopping increase expected next year.

Mostly because, a GBA spokesman says, constantly changing fashion silhouettes require a constant rearrangement of the human frame.

Pre-fab beauty, long part of dentistry and plastic surgery, is expected to take a big step this year. With the development of epoxy resins, crown caps—or Hollywood teeth as the consumer calls them—may be easier and cheaper to install, possibly doubling the annual 1.4 million usually installed.

The Hollywood nose, actually 2,000 years old, has shown a steady rise in popularity since 1945. According to one insurance firm specializing in covering doctors sued for malpractice, nose surgeons can be found in towns as small as 25,000.

Dear Abby...

Don't Walk... Run To Nearest Doctor

By BIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I could write a book about what I've been through these past three years, but what good would it do? We've been married 29 years. I am, and have always been, 100 per cent loyal to my husband and I know he has been the same to me. Yet he has accused me of infidelities with the janitor, the plumber or any other man who comes to the house on business. When we walk down the street I have to keep my eyes on the ground or else I am "flirting" with every man I pass. I have to take a bath with the lights out because my "shadow" might be seen from the outside. I am so nervous I am ready for an institution. Should I see a doctor?

NERVOUS WRECK
DEAR NERVOUS: By all means see a doctor and take your husband with you. From your description of him, he needs a doctor worse than you. His behavior is far from normal. Make an appointment for TWO without delay.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem boy named Gilbert. I like him very much but I know he doesn't care a thing about me. He comes over and we make out, but he tells me not to take it to heart because he only kisses me because he needs the practice for the real thing when the right girl comes along. I try to stay away from him but I can't do it because I really like him a lot. Can you help me?

HELPLESS
DEAR HELPLESS: No one can help a girl who refuses to help herself. Your only hope is to gather your willpower and refuse to have anything more to do with him. Practice makes perfect, but this kind of "practice" is making a fool of you.

DEAR ABBY: Two months ago we buried a very close relative. We received many baskets and bouquets of flowers. The cards were left on the flowers, so I picked them up and gave them to

Importance Of Home Illustrated By Speaker

Jay Channell, minister of the Harvesters and Mary Ellen Church of Christ, was guest speaker at the recent meeting of Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority held in the City Club Room.

Following an introduction by Mrs. George Massie, Mr. Channell discussed "Strengthening Our Homes Through Spiritual Values."

"Few things interest us more than the home," Mr. Channell stated. "To succeed in our life is an all-absorbing goal. It is an obvious fact that countless people owe their personal success to their home. Fathers and mothers should be at their best at home because a child's life is like an absorbing sponge, partaking of the total environment of the home."

"It has been said," Mr. Channell continued, "in the economic field that 'So goes steel, so goes the nation,' but I prefer to measure the strength of the nation in these terms: 'So goes our home, so goes the nation.'"

"The home is the oldest institution on earth; before there was a city government, the home existed; before a college or university, the home existed. Strengthening the home through spiritual value is not accomplished through accident, but by a sincere and concentrated effort of the parents."

"The need for spiritual values in our homes may be emphasized by the following facts: 1) one-half of our youth of today are growing to adulthood with no religious instructions; 2) one out of every three marriages results in divorce; 3) a major crime is perpetrated every 17 seconds; 4) $20,000 is spent on alcoholic drinks; 5,000,000 alcoholics in our nation; 1,200,000 died annually from alcoholism or related dis-

Preparing A $92.5 Billion Budget Turns Out To Be Pretty Tough

EDITORS NOTE: The job of preparing a budget is difficult. But preparing a national budget of $92.5 billion is a herculean operation. In the following dispatch, UPI reporter Edward Cowan tells how U. S. Budget Director David E. Bell manages the task and still tries to work in a vacation.

By EDWARD COWAN
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Just as other leading lights of the Kennedy administration were plunging into the swirl of a new session of Congress, tall, boyish David E. Bell breathed a sigh of relief and took a short vacation.

No slacker, Bell was entitled to a respite — which lasted all of five working days — because he had just finished the herculean task of assembling President Kennedy's first top-to-bottom budget for running the government.

That task had occupied Bell's Mays and evenings, including most weekends, for three months. It had steeped him in the affairs of virtually every agency in the executive branch of government. It had led him through a staggering maze of statistics and dollar signs.

Such is the annual ordeal of the director of the budget — a $22,300-a-year job Bell has held since he joined the exodus from Harvard at the start of the Kennedy administration.

Compiling the budget, which goes to Congress every January, is mostly an autumnal labor. Preparatory work is done earlier in the year, but the real grind begins after Labor Day.

Yet from January to September it is no wait for the budget boss. Working days — including every Saturday for Bell — are crammed with staff meetings, White House conferences, testimony before congressional committees, speeches out of town and seeing "visitors" — old friends, reporters, agency heads, congressmen, officials of foreign governments and non-governmental experts.

Thus, the days are as busy a tangle for the budget director — even out of season. Happily, Bell said in an interview, things are different at night. A little different anyway. The taxing regimen of after-dinner conferences, which Bell detests, is over.

"You can do that for a while, but only for a while," he said. "I try to get out by 7 p.m., now, although I usually take work home with me." If night work is inescapable, Bell prefers to do it at home in the company of his wife, his daughter, Susan, 17, (just admitted to Radcliffe College) and his son, Peter, 13, an eighth grader.

As a matter of fact, Bell worked at home — and slept late — during his five days off at the end of January. The Bells moved into a new house in November in Tulip Hill, an elegant suburb in Maryland. With the budget behind him, Bell caught up on painting and carpentering — "not in any fancy way, in a strictly all-thumbs way."

He returned to his office next door to the White House a day ahead of schedule. He had to give up that last day of planned leisure to testify before a House committee considering President Kennedy's plan to create a Department of Urban Affairs and Housing.

What does that have to do with the budget? Not much. But Bell has a second hat. He is the President's chief troubleshooter on management of the government. It is also his duty to coordinate the position of the various agencies on proposed legislation, seek accord where possible and present irreconcilable differences to the President for resolution.

As Kennedy's chief administrative officer, Bell's current assignments include managing a study of government contracting for research and development, deciding what lands in Hawaii the government can relinquish and supervising the Civil Service pay-reform study.

At the request of the House Appropriations Committee he is directing a study of government activities in meteorology.

He already has begun to think about next year's budget and expects to "get rolling" on it next month with preparations for long-range projections to show Kennedy in June. Meanwhile, he has staff aides studying such problems as deriving more reliable statistics and producing them earlier.

Between numerous appearances before congressional committees — which expect him to know the answers about what goes on everywhere in the executive branch — Bell tries to squeeze in some work on improving his own agency, the Bureau of the Budget, or helping to crank efficiency into administration of foreign aid.

Amidst all this, he steals time to think about that face of his job which continues to plague and fascinate him most: how to allocate public funds among competing, worthwhile and unlike uses.

"We try to inch forward in our unerring conceptual framework," he said lapsing into professional jargon.

A man in a job whose pressures never abate, the word vacation has no real meaning for Bell. He squeezed in a week last August after a breakneck six months in office. What about a real vacation? "I have no plans," he said with just a trace of a chuckle.

Killer Given His 14th Stay

AUSTIN (UPI)— Gov. Price Daniel yesterday granted convicted killer Howard Stickney of Houston his 14th stay of execution.

Recommended by the State Board of Pardons and Patrols, the stay moves Stickney's execution date from Feb. 20, to April 10.

Harris County Dist. Atty. Frank Briscoe asked for the stay Tuesday. He said he did so only to avoid having Stickney returned to Houston from the Huntsville prison for another formal sentencing.

A 13th stay was granted Jan. 18 in Washington by the U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. Douglas issued an indefinite stay to permit the full court sufficient time to study a new appeal.

Briscoe said it was apparent the Supreme Court would not have time to act on the appeal by Feb. 20. He asked for a 60-day stay. Stickney has been under a death sentence since Jan. 29, 1959 for the murder of Mrs. Shirley Elaine Barnes on May 24, 1958 on a Galveston beach. He has also been charged with the murder of her husband, Clifford, but has not been tried.

SPY SOBEL APPEALS
NEW YORK (UPI)—Convicted spy Morton Sobell, serving a 30-year sentence for espionage, today sought freedom or a new trial.

Through his attorneys, Sobell contended he should not have received a wartime sentence because there was no war at the time of his sentence.

Sobell 21 was convicted in 1951 with Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who were executed in 1953. Federal Judge John F. X. McGoey reserved decision.

A 'Smith' Finally Makes FBI's Ten Most Wanted List

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A man named Smith finally made the FBI's list of 10 most wanted criminals today.

He is Lyndal Ray Smith, a California bandit who escaped from San Quentin prison nearly two years ago. The FBI said the wanted man is the first of 184 fugitives listed since March 1950 with the true name of Smith.

Smith is probably armed and must be considered very dangerous, the FBI warned. He has been sought by police since Feb. 21, 1960, when he and another inmate overpowered a guard in a prison camp office and escaped, Smith's last known whereabouts was in Utah.

The fugitive is a dishonorably discharged soldier who has been found emotionally unstable. His criminal record dates back over 20 years. His Army record showed four summary, one special and one general court-martial over a four year period.

On his right forearm, there is a flying eagle carrying a dagger-pierced heart and ribbon with the inscription, "Death Before Dishonor." On his left forearm is a tattoo of blue and red crossed rifles and a shield with the initials "USA" and the date "1939."

He is 37 and a native of Drakesboro, Ky. He is 5 feet, 11 1/2 inches tall and weighs 145 pounds. He has brown eyes, dark brown hair and a medium complexion.

Texas Citrus Crop Hard Hit

AUSTIN (UPI)— Freezing weather in January, destroyed more than half of the Texas citrus fruit crop, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said today.

Its Feb. 1 estimate of state citrus production of 4.7 million boxes was down 54 per cent from the Jan. 1 estimate of 102 million boxes.

The USDA said heaviest losses were in grapefruit and Valencia oranges. Grapefruit production was reduced 62 per cent and oranges 41 per cent.

Around-the-clock work by processors salvaged a limited quantity of the fruit, the report added.

An accurate appraisal of tree damage and loss cannot be made until new growth puts out, the USDA said. But all trees were completely defoliated, and bark splitting was heavy, particularly in the eastern half of the valley.

THE FUND RAISERS

MONMOUTH, Ill. (UPI)—Mayor Allan Walters has suggested that the YMCA's Sombrero Club find another way to raise $1,000 to refurbish a clubroom for teen-agers.

Club members had proposed that they "kidnap" Walters and hold him for "ransom" until donations were received.

54th YEAR THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1962 13

O'Toole Signs Cincy Contract

By United Press International
 Ted Kluszewski, the mountain of muscle who has manhandled opposing pitching for 15 major league seasons, says he is ready to quit baseball—unless any of three clubs will take him on as a pinchhitter at a salary to which he has become accustomed.

Speaking on a television interview in Cincinnati Wednesday, Kluszewski quipped: "I'm an ex-hallplayer. I'm going to stay home and enjoy life."

Big Klu later qualified this remark by saying: "I would give a second thought to this for three teams if I got a good offer as a pinchhitter."

He did not identify the three teams, however.

Kluszewski, 37, was let go by the Los Angeles Angels at the close of last season. He played in 107 games for the new American League entry, batted .243, and hit 15 home runs.

Those 15 homers brought his lifetime total to 279, most of them hit while he played for the Cincinnati Reds. Kluszewski has said he would like to hit 300 homers before he retires.

While Kluszewski appeared to be nearing the end of his career, one of his former Pittsburgh Pirates teammates, outfielder Bob Skinner, told his boss he couldn't wait for the 1962 season to start.

In returning his signed contract for the next season, Skinner revealed that he has given up smoking, gone on a special diet that has added 20 pounds to his frame and he has worked out all winter in a gymnasium in San Diego, Calif.

"I feel the best I have in years," Skinner told General Manager Joe L. Brown of the Pirates by telephone. "I'm rarin' to go."

Skinner, troubled by an allergy for the last two seasons, hit only 3 homers and batted in only 42 runs in 1961 for his poorest major league campaign since 1956.

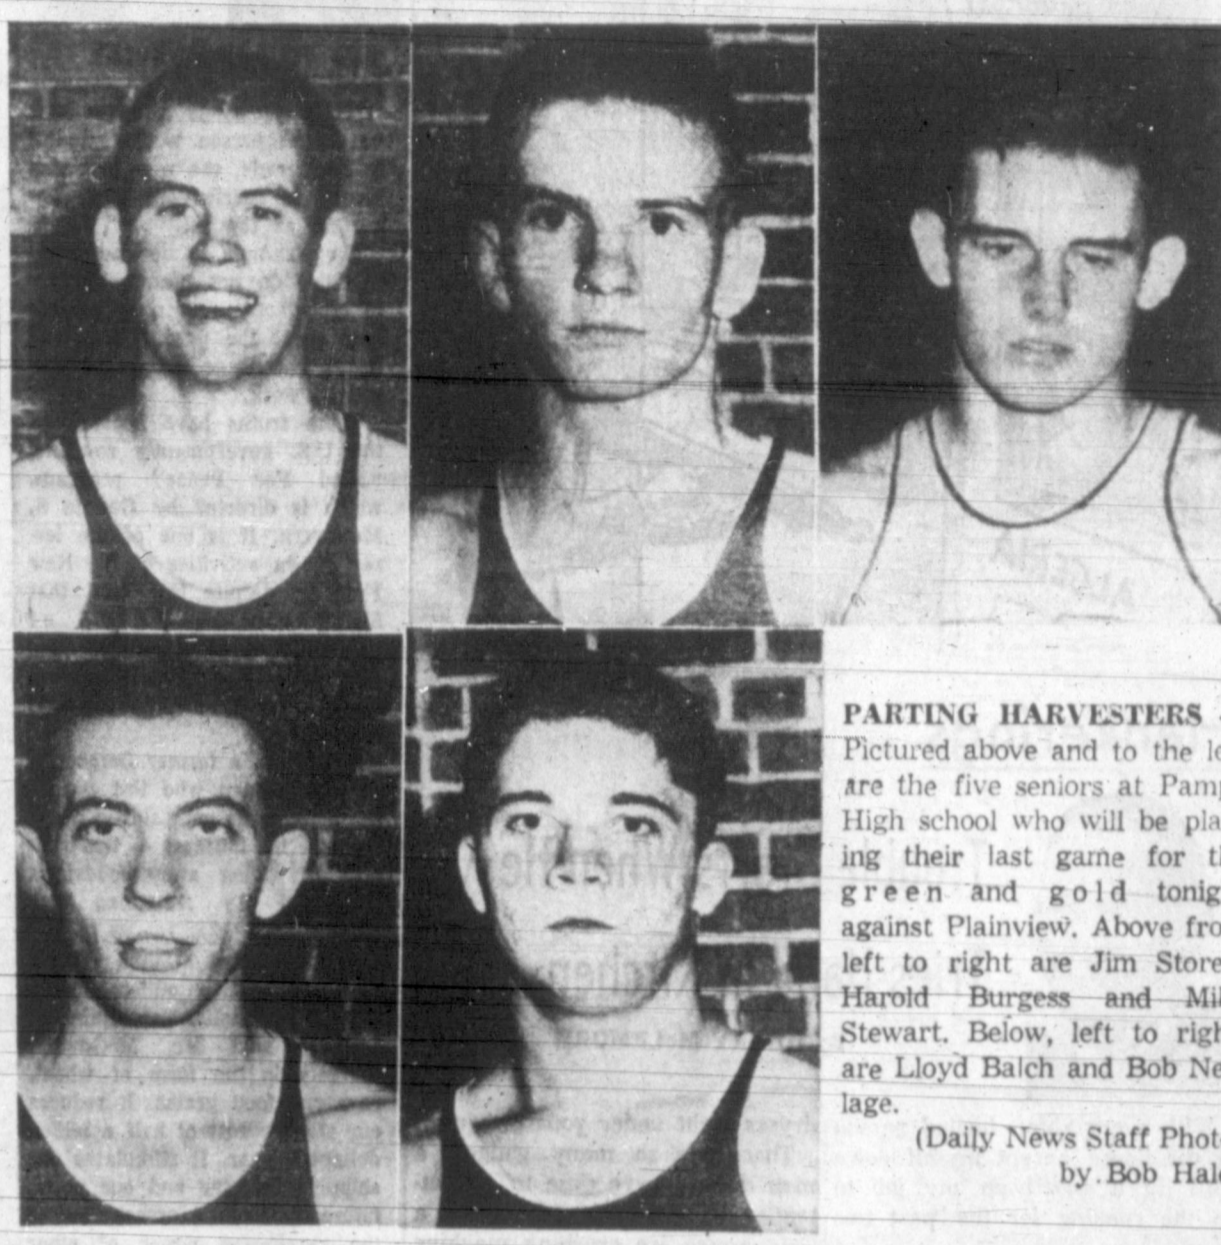

Skinner, incidentally, was the 40th and last, pirate player to reach a salary agreement.

Jim O'Toole, Cincinnati's 25-year-old left-handed pitcher who lost two World Series games to the New York Yankees, signed Wednesday at an estimated $24,000 salary. O'Toole had a 19-9 record last season, winning 11 of his last 12 decisions.

Elsewhere on the major league front:

The Chicago White Sox signed infielder Sam Esposito, pitchers Russ Kemmerer and Alan Brice, and outfielder Ken Berry, bringing 32 of their 39 players to terms.

A rookie battery of pitcher Dennis Ribant and catcher Bob Uecker signed with the Milwaukee Braves, while the Washington Senators signed outfielder Joe Hicks and pitchers Joe Schaffnooth and Carl Bouldin. Both clubs now have 28 players under contract.

Five Seniors Will Play For Last Time Tonight

Pampa's Fighting Harvesters, fresh from their decisive 74-59 conquest of Amarillo, wind up the 1962 District 3-AAAA cage season tonight when they journey south to Plainview to meet the Bulldogs in the Plainview gym at 8 p.m.

The Harvesters, who looked like they could have given Ohio State a run for their money Tuesday night will be seeking their fifth win in loop play. They have lost nine. The Bulldogs are 6-7 in district action.

For the year, the Harvesters are 18-12.

The game tonight shapes up as one of the most exciting scoring duels of the year, with the Harvesters Randy Matson, one of the prime candidates for all-district honors battling it out with Jackie Swanner the loop leader in scoring.

Matson, who has poured in 438 points in two years in district play, is third in district scoring and will be out to maintain his blistering pace in this final encounter of the year for both teams.

Randy had 18 points against the Bulldogs the last time these two teams met, but the Harvesters saw a last minute rally fall short as the boys from Plainview won a squeaker, 50-49. The Harvesters led through the first three quarters, but saw their slim lead slither away in the final round as the local crew suffered another of its many heartbreaking losses on the year.

The old case of nostalgia will be present again when the Harvesters take to the hardwoods against the Bulldogs with five seniors seeing action for the final time for the green and gold. Starters Lloyd Balch and Bob Neslage and reserves Mike Stewart, Harold Burgess and Jim Storey will be playing their final 32 minutes or a portion thereof for the last time for the charges of Coach Terry Culley.

Balch and Neslage both shone in the Sandies game, with Balch hitting for eight points and Neslage pouring in 13. Both boys have also shone their mettle on defense all year long with their brilliant rebounding and backboard skill.

Stewart has been one of the best hustlers on the club all year long in a reserve capacity while Burgess and Storey have seen limited action.

Matson and Wayne Kreis, who led the Harvesters in scoring against the Sandies with 21 points will be the key figures in the local crews attack. Matson had 14 to establish a personal season high total for the 6-6 junior.

Swanner, who maintained his loop scoring lead with 27 points against the Monterey Plainsmen Tuesday afternoon has soared to the fore in the last few games to take the individual scoring lead. Plainview dropped a 68-48 decision to the Plainsmen Tuesday.

The starting five for the Harvesters will find Kries and Gordon Balch at the guard positions, Lloyd Balch and Neslage at the forward slots and Matson holding down the post position.

For the first time this year in district play, Coach Culley cleared the bench against the Sandies as the Harvesters scored at will in their devastating scoring attack against the Amarillo school. The Shockers will also be out to improve their loop mark in the opener.

The Shockers, who walloped the Amarillo B team 61-43, boast of an 8-5 record in district and a 19-6 mark overall. Leading the way for Coach Roy Kieval's crew will be Larry Clifton, Ricky Stewart, Donnie Ayres, Kenny Hebert and Mike Bridges.

Hebert led the Shockers in their last game with 19 points.

Nicklaus Might Be Drawing Card

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The absence of Arnold Palmer and Gary Player will take away some of the glitter from the $30,000 New Orleans Open, but defending champion Doug Sanders and young Jack Nicklaus are expected to help fill the void.

Nicklaus, who has Palmer's knack for power and precision, might turn out to be the big drawing card in the Feb. 22 tourney — particularly since he made such a good showing in the Phoenix Open which Palmer won by 12 strokes.

Sanders, who finished behind Player and Palmer in the dollar-chase last year, stayed out of the Phoenix hassle and should be rested and well-practiced for his appearance here. The straight-driving California pro has a game that is well-adapted to the 6,600 yard city park layout.

Dow Finsterwald, who holds the tourney record with a blazing 27 for 72 holes in 1960, also is worth watching. His brainy play can outdo a lot of brawn over the four-day haul.

Lakers Have Division Title Almost Cinched

By United Press International
 The Los Angeles Lakers today have the National Basketball Association's Western Division championship all but mathematically won — and the Cincinnati Royals seem to be making sure the Lakers don't lose it.

The Lakers Wednesday night continued on to defeat the defending Western Division champ, St. Louis, 130-107, at the Los Angeles Sports Arena. And the Royals despite Oscar Robertson's new NBA season assist record, lost to the Chicago Packers, 125-121.

Now any combination of six Los Angeles victories and Cincy defeats cinches the championship for the Lakers.

In other NBA action Wednesday night, Boston ran into a hot Richie Guerin and Guerin's 51 points sparked New York over the Celtics, 125-112. But Philadelphia couldn't move up on the Celts, losing to the Detroit Pistons, 119-110.

Jerry West scored 28 points in the first half for Los Angeles and although added but two more in the second half led the Lakers with 30. Bob Pettit's 34 points couldn't prevent the Hawks from losing their ninth game in 10 to Los Angeles this season.

Chicago was snow-bound in Boston and arrived in Detroit to meet the Royals in part of a double-header almost two hours late. Rookie Walt Bellamy's 38 points paced the Chicago team.

Robertson's 12 assists gave him a season total of 725. Bob Cousy's former record of 715 was set in 11 more games than the 84 the Big O has played in this season. Oscar also put in 27 points, one less than teammate Jack Twyman.

Guerin's performance gave him a season high of 1,727 points. Boston, bothered by injuries the past weeks, played without guard

Sam Jones and rallied to close a 21-point gap to one-point. But New York again moved out. Cousy's 26 paced the Celtics.

Detroit held Philadelphia without a basket for six minutes in the final period in scoring its victory, ralling 106-99, the Pistons tied the score 107-107 and then take the lead for good on Johnny Egan's basket.

Wilt Chamberlain led the Warriors with 42. Don Ohl scored 26 for the Pistons.

Only one game is scheduled in the NBA tonight, Syracuse playing at Chicago.

Sheppard Leads PGA Seniors Golf

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI)—Charlie Sheppard of Pittsfield, Mass., went into the second round of the PGA Seniors golf championship today hoping that a month or so in age won't be his undoing.

Sheppard, 55, shot a six-under-par 66. Tuesday when the 55-and-up age bracket opened first round play. And it was good enough to keep him in the lead after the 50-54 age group finished its second round Wednesday.

Sheppard, just barely designated for the older age group, where scores are always higher, led the first round field by a single stroke over Jimmy Demaret of Houston Tex., and John Barnum of Belmont, Mich., members of the younger set who turned in 67s in first-round play Wednesday.

It was Barnum, however, who came the closest to matching Sheppard's 66. The long ball hitter was six under par on the final hole Wednesday and needed a par four for a 66.

But he knocked his second shot into a trap and took a bogey five, sending him back into the category of Demaret and putting them both into a second place tie going into the second round.

Grouped just behind at 68 were Tom Mahan Sr., Beverly, Mass.; Perry Del Vecchio, Greensburg, Pa.; and Sam Bernardi, Winnetka, Ill.

After the older division completes second-round play today, the younger bracket takes over for its second round Friday.

At that point, the field will be sliced to the low 125 scores for the third round on Saturday and the final round Sunday.

Westminster Rated As College Giant Killer

By United Press International
 Little Westminster College of Pennsylvania can take a place among the giant killers of basketball today while powerful Duquesne looks for a small corner in which to hide.

In one of the most startling upsets of the college season, Westminster upended neighboring Duquesne, 63-61, Wednesday night. The Dukes are ranked ninth in the United Press International major college ratings and are prime contenders for a choice post-season playoff berth.

Westminster does rate among the nation's best small colleges and was placed third in the latest UPI balloting in this category. But what chance has a tiny terror against a mighty monster?

Only the scorebook gave Westminster an even chance and the Titans took advantage of their one ally to defeat Duquesne for the first time since 1951.

Exceptionally accurate sharpshooting, in which the Titans missed only four shots from the floor in the first half, gave them a 32-22 lead at intermission. Playing a calculated, cool game, Westminster moved the ball slowly and upset the Dukes with its precision teamwork.

Duquesne came back to trail by only two at 49-47 midway in the second half, but Westminster refused to fold despite the shouting of the partisan Duquesne crowd.

Five Titans scored in double figures, paced by the 15 points of Warren Sallade, and Duquesne sophomore Willie Somerset led all marksmen with 21 points. Westminster now has a 15-2 season mark while the Dukes suffered their fourth loss against 16 victories.

North Carolina State kept its hopes alive in the Atlantic Coast Conference title race Wednesday night by romping over arch-rival North Carolina, 83-57. It was the first State victory over the Tar Heels in nearly three years.

The triumph boosted State's third-place record in the ACC to 7-3 and the Wolfpack is in good position to gain ground Thursday when first-place Duke (9-2) travels to runner-up Wake Forest (8-2).

John Pungler led North Carolina State against the Tar Heels with 20 points and Jim Hudock had 14 for North Carolina.

Xavier of Ohio avenged an early season loss by outlasting Louisville, 79-67, in a fiercely-contested match. The host Musketeers jumped off to a 16-7 lead but the Cardinals retaliated with a streak of their own that carried them to a 37-28 advantage.

Louisville led at halftime, 41-35, but was unable to match Xavier's final spurt. Jadie Frazier of the Cardinals led all scorers with 21 points.

In a doubleheader at the Philadelphia Palestra, LaSalle topped Canisius, 73-63, and Temple coasted to a 79-60 decision over Pennsylvania.

Small college teams also made news in Washington D.C., where American University tripped Mount St. Mary's, 70-64. It was the first loss for the Mounts against a Mason-Dixon Conference rival in 30 games.

Rosburg Rated Favorite In Tucson Open Golf Tourney

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—The big little $20,000 Tucson Open golf tournament gets under way today — and when it is over on Sunday, the pitch-and-putt championship of the Western winter tour of the Professional Golf Association will have been decided.

Dave Hill of Denver, Colo., is the defending champion. But Davey hasn't been any ball of fire on the tour so far this year and there are a half dozen other who rate ahead of him. And most of the shot makers figure it will take a man who is good with the approaches and strong with his putting to win.

"It's all a matter of pitch and putt," said Joe Campbell, the expatriate basketball star who has been winning money at the rate of nearly $1,000 a week.

This El Rio course is listed as 6,434 yards long—compared with the average championship course of nearly 7,000 yards. But there are so many ways to cut off the yardage that 6,100 yards would be closer.

Some of the pros believe that Bob Rosburg should be a winner here. An expert with his short irons, Rosburg also is rated one of the most deadly putters in the game. Both Rosburg and Hill

Groom Is Slating Benefit Contests

Two benefit basketball games have been scheduled for next Monday night at the Groom School gym, beginning at 7 o'clock. Proceeds will be used for purchasing new track equipment for the school.

Competing against the high school boys team will be a group composed of ex-students from GHS. Competing against the high school girls team will be a group of ladies composed of ex-students from GHS.

Amarillo Team One Of Top Groups In Gloves Tourney

Amarillo's eight men boxing team, rated as one of the strongest in the state Golden-Gloves tournament, prepares to defend that statement tonight when they compete in the first night of action in the five day tourney in Fort Worth's Will Rogers Coliseum.

Amarillo was runner-up last year in the tourney to Corpus Christi.

Boxers from 14 different regions began weighing in at noon today at the Fort Worth YMCA. A meeting of all coaches and directors was also held at the Worth hotel. Pairings were made after the news had gone to press.

The lone Pampa entry, Glen Ward, fighting in the light-heavyweight division, has had four years experience under his belt and proved his mettle as a capable competitor, with two victories in the final night of fighting in the regional tourney in Amarillo.

Others competing for the Amarillo team, will be Eddie Gonzales

Plainview, flyweight; Leandro Martinez, Plainview, featherweight; Jimmy Tijerina, Plainview, bantamweight; Ronnie Morgan, Dees', lightweight; Manny Perez, Amarillo, welterweight; Carson Watt, Levelland, middleweight; Gary Welsh, Plainview, heavyweight and Ward, Pampa, light-heavyweight.

The bouts, will continue Friday Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday.

AAU Nixes Federation

HIGH POINT, N. C. (UPI)—The AAU has rejected what it called an indirect invitation to help organize a "new federation" that would govern basketball track and field and gymnastics in the United States.

National AAU President Louis J. Fisher said Wednesday he was disappointed that the NCAA would not come to terms during a reconciliation meeting earlier this week in Chicago. The meeting was called by Olympic Committee head K. L. (Tug) Wilson.

Fisher said "In rejecting everything except complete surrender by the AAU, the NCAA removed any doubt as to its real intention. They want to dominate and control all amateur athletics in which the United States participates, domestically and internationally. This power play cannot be permitted."

 INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Jim Hurtubise of North Tonawanda, N.Y., holder of the Indianapolis Speedway's one and four-lap qualifying records, has been entered in this year's 500-mile Memorial Day auto race.

Hurtubise led the field for the first 35 laps last year before mechanical troubles forced him out. He set the qualifying records of 149.61 m.p.h. for one lap, and 148.056 m.p.h. for four laps in 1960.

Odd Red Out?

Behind the latest rumblings in Moscow there are signs that Premier Khrushchev is preparing to settle accounts with rebellious little Albania. As seen by East European diplomats, the Soviet leader is feverishly plotting the overthrow of the pro-Stalinist regime of Enver Hoxha who has the backing of Red China's Mao Tse-tung.

It will not be an open act of aggression, one diplomat predicted, but an "internal revolution" engineered with the aid of Marshal Tito's Yugoslav agents. (Belgrade dispatches say a group of Albanian spies were arrested and brought to trial in Yugoslavia. One alleged spy was killed.)

The anti-Hoxha coup, according to a summary of the accounting by Newspaper Enterprise Assn. analyst Leon Dennen, is believed planned for late February or early March—just before the meeting of the Central Committee of the Chinese Communist Party.

It will thus present Mao with an "accomplished fact," deprive him of his anti-Russian and anti-Yugoslav Balkan base and serve as a warning to other Red chiefs, not to flirt with Red China's leader in his dispute with Khrushchev.

There is no doubt that in his attempt to subvert Albania Premier Khrushchev is risking an open break with Mao Tse-tung. He is also endangering what is left of the unity of international communism.

OUR WESTERN HERITAGE (Editor's Note: Dr. Robert Morris, President of the University of Dallas, was formerly chief counsel of the Senate's Subcommittee on Internal Security.)

I was at a convention recently and heard one of the distinguished speakers say that she found it thrilling that western civilization was now a minority force in the councils of the world.

This was not a new thought nor was it the first time I heard it expressed. But I find it most depressing that so many important people are accepting this tragic state of reality with resignation.

Western civilization has brought in its train more blessings to struggling man than any historical force since the beginning of time. It represents the glory of Greece, the grandeur of Rome, the magnificent contribution of Christianity and of the Hebraic tradition, and the technological revolution of enlightened man that has swept poverty, disease and the ills that plague mankind into virtual oblivion.

Yet in the prevailing councils of the world in which our leaders seem to participate with alacrity, there is a sustained campaign to vitiate the influence of western civilization today.

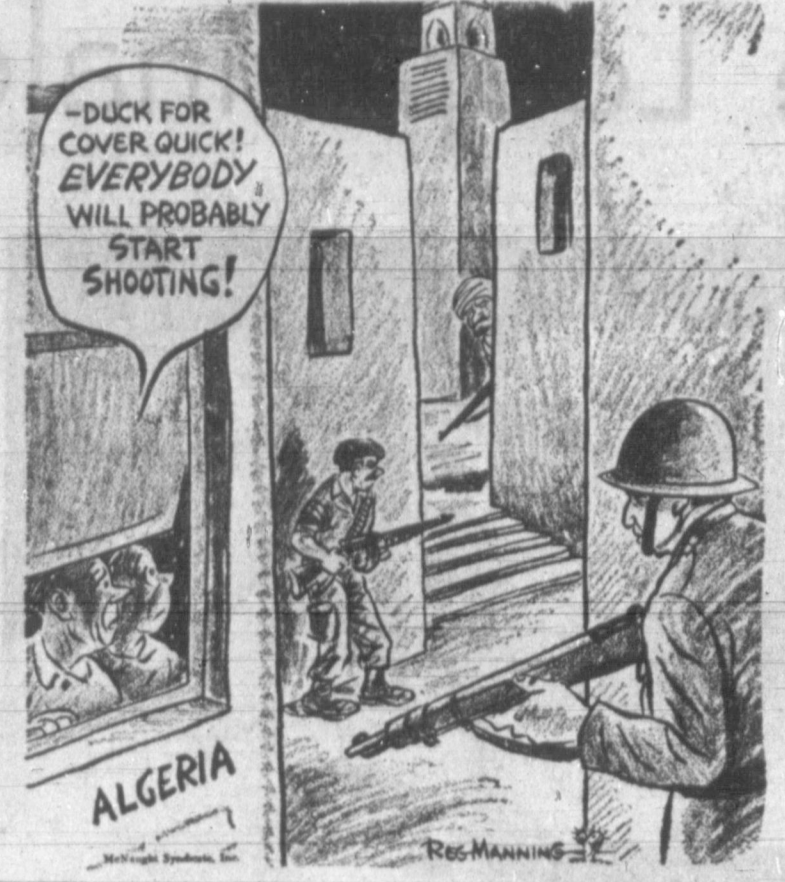

Yet today western civilization is being represented as an evil, partisan force and expressly barred from the vacuum being created by the twentieth-century revolution that has overtaken our generation.

The driving force that is sparking the retreat of western civilization emanates from the United States, in large measure. The Walter Lippmanns, from their eminent and influential towers, tell us that we should retreat in Africa, retreat in Southeast Asia, retreat in Cuba, and from the other swirling frontiers of the world.

Only to a further eclipse of our wonderful civilization. For into the vacuum are rushing the vanguard of the forces of twentieth-century slavery. They represent the very antithesis of freedom, of spiritual purpose and even of humanitarian accomplishment.

In the Communist Mafia, Hoxha is only a small-time hood anoying to the Red syndicate. Since his mischief is now largely directed against Khrushchev's gang, Hoxha is, in fact, a blessing to innocent citizens.

Trouble Starts When He Tries Hand In Kitchen

By HENRY McLEMORE

With every able-bodied person in the house except myself down with flu it has been my job to do the cooking for the past two days.

Everyone has gone steadily downhill since I became chef, and the doctor has hinted that unless a change is made all concerned might soon be beyond medical care.

I can't understand this at all. Cooking isn't new to me. I took domestic science training in high school, and well do I remember the day when I was honored by having one of my pies given to the track team to replace a lost discus.

There are no end of cook books around the house, ranging from one on casserole cooking for lumberjacks to one on what to do with leftover leftovers. And I follow their directions as relentlessly as ever did a bloodhound follow a loose jaibird.

The more I think about it, the more I believe I have an answer to the awful food I have dished out in the past 48 hours. The fault is with my kitchen, not me.

THE FOOD FOR FOLLY PROGRAM

While charity is a virtue that no decent person would attempt to downgrade, the way in which charity is carried out is as important as the act.

For example, American communities do not permit beggars to crowd city streets, no matter how great the need. Cities and states encourage people to find gainful work.

These truths have bearing on the U.S. government's so-called "Food For Peace" program, which is directed by George S. McGovern. It is one of the lesser known activities of the New Frontier, despite the fact that SIXTY BILLION POUNDS of surplus food is committed this year to Asia, Africa, Latin America and lands behind the Iron Curtain.

McGovern, a former Democratic congressman who lost out at the polls, is an enthusiastic pitchman for his business—the business of giving away foodstuffs purchased by American taxpayers.

"It helps the United States find constructive outlets for a nine billion dollar stockpile of food," said Mr. McGovern, "largely in the form of wheat, corn and food grains. It reduces our storage cost of half a billion dollars a year. It stimulates our shipping industry and our ports, future markets overseas, raises the purchasing power of other countries and strengthens United States foreign policy objectives."

As the farmer says, "That ain't hay," if only it were a full and balanced presentation of the truth. But it is not.

First of all, charity, to be meaningful, must be an individual act, or a deed carried out in cooperative fashion by religious and other groups. But to require taxpayers to help pay for the Good For Peace program obviously renders it a compulsory, not a charitable scheme.

Perhaps it would be all right for the U.S. government to make a huge gift of food overseas—if the gift cleaned out the storage warehouses once and for all. But that's not the Kennedy administration's notion—not by any means.

Sensational Scandals To Make Headlines In Senate's Stockpile Probe Next Month

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy's call for a full-scale Senate investigation on the nation's stockpile of strategic materials is like an iceberg—there's a lot more under the surface than on top.

Scheduled to begin next month, the investigation by Senator Stuart Symington, D., Mo., is going to make big black-surface headlines by exposing a dozen major scandals in the "buying" and "selling" of stockpile items.

These exposes will highlight the "potential sources of excessive and unconscionable profits" in the stockpiling program that President Kennedy hinted at in his press conference statement calling for the congressional probe.

Under the surface, the inquiry is being floated to help support the removal from the strategic materials list dozens of items in the stockpile that are in excessive supply according to reliable congressional sources.

These legislators point out that this is one of the unannounced goals of the intergovernmental committee the President set up on the day he made his stockpile announcement.

Headed by Edward P. McDermott, acting director of the Office of Emergency Planning, the committee includes the secretaries of Defense, State, Commerce and Labor. Its members are under instructions from the President to study the nation's needs in the event of an emergency.

One of the committee's first tasks is to examine a series of stockpile reports stating that a number of items, including certain grades of rubber, machine tools, and materials for jet engines, should be taken off the strategic list. These items are listed as being stockpiled in excess of national needs.

Who Benefits — If these materials are reclassified as non-strategic, exporters will then be free to sell them to the Communist bloc nations, the Soviet Union, and Yugoslavia.

1961 Agricultural Act passed by Congress. President Kennedy is recommending that this provision be dropped in the new farm program that he sent to Congress.

Members of a special House subcommittee, probing U.S. exports of strategic materials to Communist-bloc countries, are closely watching the McDermott committee to see whether it recommends changes in the law.

THE KREMLIN STOPOVER????—Attorney General Robert Kennedy may still make that stopover in Moscow.

A high-ranking Justice Department aide reports that the Attorney General discussed this possibility with Secretary of State Rusk in a trans-Pacific telephone call from Japan.

The Kremlin reportedly renewed the suggestion that young Kennedy stop over in Moscow after he had departed for his around-the-world trip.

If President Kennedy agrees to the stopover, it will be announced from the White House. He fixed an earlier Kremlin proposal, which was first reported in this column on January 18.

Today is Thursday, Feb. 15, the 46th day of the year with 319 to follow in 1962.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

There are no morning or evening stars.

On this day in history:

- 1820, Susan B. Anthony, pioneer crusader for women's rights, was born.
- 1898, the U. S. battleship "Maine" was blown up in Nevada harbor, inflaming American public opinion.
- 1933, President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt narrowly escaped assassination in Miami when a fanatic fired several bullets at him.
- 1942, Singapore fell seven days after the island fortress was invaded and 70 days after the Japanese invasion of Malay.

A thought for the day: English author G. K. Chesterton said: "The world will never starve for wonders; but only for want of wonder."

Victoria Regina playing poker? Not only did the Queen of England play poker but also, because she found the principles of the game interesting, it had a brief vogue in British court circles in the 1870s. But it seems that the Queen's spouse of poker was not enough. It took the American Expeditionary Force in World War I to popularize it in Europe.

Americans Have Learned Some Espionage Lessons The Hard Way

By LOUIS CASSELS
 Last of a series
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has carried on "intelligence activities" — a polite term for espionage — since the days of George Washington. One of this country's early spies was a school teacher named Nathan Hale who was caught and hung by the British during the Revolutionary War. For a long time, however, Americans viewed espionage as a distasteful military necessity which should be kept to a minimum or even suspended entirely during peacetime. This attitude was expressed by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson when he disbanded the "black chamber" of code-cracking experts which the State Department had built up during World War I. Stimson said it would be unthinkable to break other nation's diplomatic codes during peacetime. "Gentlemen," he explained, "don't read other people's mail." Pearl Harbor put an end to that kind of thinking. Since the "day that will live in infamy," few Americans have questioned the need for reading other people's mail, cracking their codes, eavesdropping on their conversations, or doing a host of other "ungentlemanly" things which enable intelligence agents to keep a sharp watch on any potential enemy that might spring a surprise attack. Another lesson which Americans learned from Pearl Harbor was the importance of having a central clearing house for intelligence, where all the bits and pieces of data filtering in from many sources could be fitted together into a picture and brought directly to the attention of the highest officials. Hindsight showed that such an agency might well have foreseen the Pearl Harbor attack from the information that was in U. S. hands. America's first national spy agency was the Office of Strategic Services which functioned during World War II under the leadership of Maj. Gen. William B. (Wild-Bill) Donovan. After the war, OSS was disbanded. But in 1946, President Truman set up a "central intelligence group" to coordinate the foreign intelligence activities of all the armed forces and other federal agencies. A year later, the armed services

Love Blooms In Britain On Valentine Day

LONDON (UPI)—Love flooded the British Isles yesterday—especially the post office. An estimated record number of about 28 million Valentines were purchased by Britons this year—about three of every four bought by women. Something has happened to the British romantic climate in the past 12 months. A year ago funny Valentines were in vogue: "Roses are red, violets are blue, I love someone but who could love you?" But this year true love seems back in command. "Pick me for your Valentine: I'll be forever true; of all on earth there's none who's worth as much to me as you." "I don't know what's happened since last year," one card dealer said, "but mush is back in style."

unification act of 1947 created the Central Intelligence Agency as a permanent organization, independent of the Defense Department and responsible directly to the President and the National Security Council. The CIA is a unique government agency, which operates secretly, with few of the restraints that apply to other federal agencies. Congress, for example, doesn't even know how much of the taxpayers' money it is appropriating for CIA. Its funds—estimated by some congressmen at upwards of $400 million a year—are distributed through the federal budget under various innocuous headings. The director of the CIA can hire and fire without regard to civil service rules. Even the size of the CIA staff is secret. Estimates range up to 40,000 persons. That the CIA is a vast operation is clear, however, simply from the size of its new headquarters, a $47 million building which sprawls over nine acres in Langley, Va., across the Potomac River from Washington. Because of its hush-hush nature, the CIA is perpetually surrounded by rumors, speculations and controversy. It gets credit—and blame—for things it didn't do. Some of its greatest triumphs—and worst blunders—go undetected. In forming judgments about what the CIA does, and how well it does it, Americans are compelled to rely on such fragmentary scraps of information as occasionally come to light. It was not until Francis Gary Powers fell into Russian hands, for example, that Americans learned that the CIA had been sending high-altitude photo reconnaissance planes over the Soviet Union for four years.
