RIBBON RAMBLINGS

By MILDRED YOUNG

In making out the guest list for Big Spring's centennial celebration, why not include Princess Margaret, younger daughter of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth? It is rumored that she may visit the United States this fall and with our neighbor, San Angelo, already in the market for a royal visit, our town might as well join in the fun. Especially, since Eleanor Roosevelt has suggested in her column, "My Day," that Margaret should include Texas on her list of places to visit.

Only last Saturday, the San Angelo Board of City Development directed a formal invitation by air mail to Princess Margaret to "sojourn" in San Angelo. It promised moreover, to see that she is entertained on West Texas ranches and that she gets to visit the Big Bend area and Hill country.

M. D. Fanning, secretary, advised her royal highness also that her countrymen, attached to the United Nations staff, could give her a briefing on West Texas inasmuch as they were guests in San Angelo during the stock show in early March. These included Gen. Sir Richard McCreery, Rear Admiral Lord Ashbourne, Air Vice Marshal G. E. Gibbs, Commander H. Firth and Group Captain I. C. Bird.

Mrs. Roosevelt states that the newspaper report of the princess' possible visit to this nation reminds her of a conversation she had with her in 1942. She and her sister had been brought up to London to meet Mrs. Roosevelt, who told them about some of her grand children who liked to do many of the things which Margaret told her she enjoyed, particularly riding on horseback. She suggested that some day they come to this country and visit it, not just New York and Washington, but some of our wide open spaces.

Mrs. Roosevelt continued by saying: "Our cities may be different from the cities in Great Britain or in Europe, but they are still cities. What we have to offer that is completely different is a sense of distance and space. I hope that if Princess Margaret comes she will go to Texas, to the Northwest, to some of our great national parks. I love all those that I have visited, and I have an especially soft spot in my heart for the Yosemite because that is the only one in which I have actually camped out and done a little climbing and riding. All of them, are beautiful and I really think that they are among the best things that we have to offer in entertaining visitors who come to our shores.

"Princess Margaret would have a good time in New York and in Washington. She could dance and hear good music and go to the theatre and meet nice young men even though she can do all of those things in London or in any of the capitals of Europe.

"We would welcome her, I am sure, for herself, for she is a charming young girl. We will welcome her, too, because many of us remember when her father and mother visited these shores before the war. Their interest and their dignified simplicity and charm created such a warm and friendly impression here that their visit undoubtedly helped to create the good feeling that existed during the ensuing war. For this reason their daughter will start with good will on her side, and her visit will be looked upon as a gesture of friendship to this country."

Town Hall Membership Drive Is On; 'Kick-Off' Breakfast Set Friday

Big Spring's Town Hall Association, assisted by M. C. Turner, assistant manager of the Southern Town Hall Association, Dixie Bureau, Dallas, took some definite steps toward the completion of the 1948-50 season plans at a meeting Tuesday night. Mrs. H. W. Smith presided during the session which was held in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Three representatives from each federated club of the city are to be on hand Friday at 7:45 a. m. for a "kick-off" breakfast scheduled for room one of the Settles Hotel. Approximately 40 guests are expected to attend the breakfast which will begin an intensive campaign to reach the goal of 500 dual memberships.

Town Hall officials are promising the public four programs for the coming season and five if the membership is large enough to allow for the additional program. Programs which have been chosen for next year include: The Wahl Quartet, Upton Close, The Deer River Singers, Dr. Franz J. Polgar and the Appalachian Singers and Dancers with Bascomb Lunsford. One of the numbers will be subject to change if the membership drive does not reach the desired total.

Upton Close, who has been called "America's outstanding speaker for the American Way of life" and "one of the best lecturers on the American platform today," will make up the lecture side of the 1949-50 program. His current subjects are: "Government is Your Business," "Are We Going Marxist?" "Japan Remade—And China," "Let's Choose A Foreign Policy!" and "What Are Communism and Socialism?"

Some people got mad from 1917 to 1926 when Upton Close, author of "Revolt of Asia," said European empires would end in Asia; said China and India and Burma and Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies would, for better or worse, achieve nationhood and self-rule.

Some people got mad beginning in 1915 when Upton Close, out of intimate contact with Pacific Asia predicted the great war of the Pacific—unless we would get wise to ourselves in dealing with military governments in Japan. In 1934 Close published "Challenge Behind the Face of Japan" in which he predicted the surprise blow that filled Pearl Harbor.

Some people got mad in 1922 and 1931 and 1937 when Upton Close wrote out of his first hand knowledge of conditions in Soviet Russia that we should leave Russia alone—and also should leave Leninist ideology strictly alone, but see that Marxist plotters leave us alone.

Close was the first radio commentator to cover the fate of the interviewed Russian Ambassador Litvinov, key man who arrived in San Francisco, December 6—in Washington, December 7.

Another probable program for the coming season will be the original Deep River Singers, who feature a program of songs that include everything from which colored singers and entertainers are noted—from the beloved Southern spirituals and folk songs to Gershwin. For 20 years this great male quartet has been tireless in its efforts to create inter-racial goodwill and understanding through the medium of songs that plaintively express the feelings of the Negro race, be it joy or sorrow. Their programs always include such favorites as "Workin' on de Railroad," "Shortin' Bread," "Old Man River," "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," and many other spirituals, work songs and plantation melodies. This quartet has been featured in long runs of "Porgy and Bess" and "Swing Midado." The Deep River Singers have appeared on several national radio networks. In addition to 38 extended tours of the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba, the Deep River Singers have given their programs in many leading theaters and restaurants all over the nation.

Called the "most perplexing personality on the platform," Dr. Franz J. Polgar is also a probable Town Hall choice. Dr. Polgar presents telephatically, amazing demonstrations in thought transference memory feats, exhibiting the photographic mind in a series of rapid fire tests, and power of suggestion using volunteer subjects from the audience. Polgar has given over 1,100 programs in the past three years before the outstanding forums, town halls, universities, women's and men's clubs, dinner clubs, conventions and miscellaneous groups.

The Wahl Quartet, another potential program, was formed in New York City by four very accomplished artists. Priscilla Barton, soprano; George Roberts, tenor; Nina Dunkel, harpist; and Ivor Gotlie, pianist. Unique among musical groups, this quartet has proved to be as superb in ability as it is unusual in make-up.

Although relatively new on the musical horizon, the Wahl Quartet is already acclaimed for its sensitive and beautiful tonal blending. The effect of the ensemble numbers is one of exquisite harmony of voices and strings. Presenting a musically excellent and highly entertaining program—this quartet is said to be well received on any concert series.

Featuring an interpretation of American music, the Appalachian Singers and Dancers with Bascomb Lunsford, is composed of some 20 people.

Four of the five numbers named will be presented by the local association according to present plans. All will be given, if ticket sales permit their presentation.

OBSERVE COVER CROP

Vets Class Meets At Frazier Farm

Members of the Veterans Vocational Agriculture class at the Howard County Junior college met Friday, June 10, at the farm of Mrs. Nell Frazier three miles west of Big Spring to observe a cover crop of abuzzi rye and hairy vetch ready for harvest. A. T. Jordan Soil Conservation Service, showed the class, taught by Bill Holbert work unit conservationist with the value of the crop as a soil management measure in Mrs. Frazier's coordinated soil conservation program cooperating with the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District. The crop protected the land from blowing and washing, Jordan pointed out, and improved the soil by adding organic matter and nitrogen. Homer Cowden, operator of Mrs. Frazier's farm, grazed the crop in the winter and spring. He will also harvest a seed crop of rye and vetch.

The class also made a tour of farms north of Big Spring. They saw how a terrace system on Paul Adam's farm at Fairview held all the water that fell from rains this spring. The terraces were built to district size of 15 inches settled height and 24 feet base width and had the ends closed so no water could run out of the field.

District supervisors approved soil conservation plans on 15 farms and ranches at an all day meeting at Stanton last week. The conservation plans included those of John Schafer, William Schafer, A. L. Wasson, Joe Carter, Temp Carter, Kyle Miller, L. N. Davis, Doris Blissard, W. J. Gibson, Clyde Berry, L. O. Free, C. S. Anderson, Harry Echols and Loyd Hastings. Applications for district assistance were approved on eight farms and ranches.

Leland Wallace, district cooperator in the R-Bar soil conservation group, has 4 acres of Madrid Clover which is furnishing considerable grazing for his livestock. Wallace said he planted the clover with a drill after inoculating it with the proper bacteria culture. Wallace will save the crop for seed next year.

Guy N. Moore, manager of the Big Spring State Hospital farm started grazing 15 acres of Madrid clover recently in connection with sudan.

A. L. Wasson, rancher-cooperator in the Coahoma soil conservation ranch group, is deferring a section of his range land. Wasson rested the section on his ranch northwest of Coahoma for a year and plans to keep livestock off for another 60 days. He deferred grazing on the pasture as a part of his range management plan to improve the condition and cover of grass on his range.

Arrangements were completed this week for Professor H. L. Heady and his range management class from Texas A & M, who are making a tour of cooperator ranches in the district. The class will observe range management measures on the ranches of Dick Simpson and Tom Good in the Veal-

Bing To Become Country Gentleman

HOLLYWOOD, June 15. (AP) — A Washington, D. C., radio commentator says Bing Crosby soon will become an eastern country gentleman, but the crooner's secretary here doesn't give much credence to the report.

Commentator Ray Henle broadcast last night that Crosby has purchased a farm near Rockville, Md., and will move there shortly to become a gentleman farmer. Henle said further that Bing has entered his sons in Georgetown Preparatory School near Rockville. But the groaner's secretary, Miss Betty Eastman, said that if her boss becomes a country gentleman, it more likely will be at Pebble Beach, Calif., where he recently completed a home. Bing also has a ranch at Eiko, Nev.

Crosby and his business associate brothers, Larry and Everett, are not here at present.

WILL LOOK AND LISTEN

FDR, Junior, Decides To Make Haste Slowly In Lower House

WASHINGTON, June 14. (AP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., has decided to be seen but not heard, for a while—in the best tradition of a congressional freshman.

The 34-year-old son of the late FDR, sworn in yesterday as the newest member of the House, said he intends to do little but look and listen for several weeks.

But the young lawmaker—who bowed over the New York Democratic organization, Tammany Hall, in his bid for the House seat left vacant by the death of Sol Bloom—found out quickly that he is more than just another new House member.

He was a marked man from the moment he raised his right hand at noon yesterday and took the oath of office.

Reporters and photographers gave him attention that few House freshmen have ever experienced. They found him reluctant to discuss legislation or talk about his future plans.

He did take pains to stress his party affiliation. Although he ran for the House without Democratic backing, he was welcomed by party leaders, and he reported to newsmen following a brief White House visit that he told Mr. Truman that "My only hope is to work as a member of the team of which he is captain and quarterback."

Within a week, the Democratic leadership expects to find a committee assignment for its newest recruit. He reportedly would like a post on the labor committee, but there is no vacancy on that group now. The only available spots are on less attractive committees.

"Roosevelt will be treated like any other freshman Democrat," a Democratic leader told reporters. "He will be shown no favoritism. Nobody will be moved off a committee to make room for him. He will rise or fall strictly on his own merits and not on his father's name."

That's the way Roosevelt wants it, his associates said.

Meanwhile, Republicans put the son of another presidential contender to work on their side. Chairman Brewster (R-Me.) of the Senate GOP Campaign Committee announced that the late Wendell Wilkie's son Philip has agreed to join his staff as an assistant. Young Wilkie, 29, is expected to be assigned to work with youth and minority groups. A member of the House in the Indiana state legislature, Wilkie has been active in national Republican affairs.

Parents Responsible For Safe Use Of Firearms By Youngsters

W. F. Hughes, 708 Settles, has due cause to be alarmed about irresponsible use of 22 targets. The other day a stray bullet slipped into the Hughes breakfast nook and punctured the coffee pot. It was difficult to say from whence came the shot, possibly from the road grounds area. One can only surmise the source, but in all probability youngsters were out on a hunt and fired at a target without thought of where the shot might end.

This is not an isolated instance, although other complaints reaching officers and Juvenile Officer Jess Slaughter are less dramatic. The call wasn't quite so close as in the case of the Hughes incident.

One stray shot is enough to cause alarm, however. But when there are repeated complaints, it is time something is done toward stopping this dangerous practice.

We know of no better way than parents checking on their children, to whom they have given small bore rifles for practice and hunting. First of all, there ought to be strict parental orders that hunting is never to be done in proximity to the city or dwellings. There ought to be careful instruction about the safe use of the arms; about how one is never to fire unless he is reasonably sure the line of fire is clear.

As a matter of genuine safety, it would be far better if adults would not allow juveniles to go hunting alone with anything more powerful than an air rifle. Until a lad is taught to have a healthy respect for arms that use live ammunition, he shouldn't be turned loose as a potential threat to himself and others.

Taxpayers Due Consideration In Investment Of Suspended Funds

Rep. Preston Smith, Lubbock, claims that the State of Texas is losing about four million dollars per year by failure to invest in government bonds state funds that are not immediately needed to meet expenditures.

Currently, according to a statement from the representative, such state funds are now deposited in banks, which in turn invest the money, frequently in government and other bonds. The return on deposits, he said, amounts to $190,000 per year. At the end of April the state had $194 million in cash funds and suspense accounts.

Contrast this with the $190 million reserve of the Texas Employment commission. This is largely invested in U. S. government bonds and interest exceeds $7 million a year.

Smith took issue with the president of the Dallas clearing house association for a statement the banking head reportedly made before a legislative committee to the effect that buying of U. S. bonds was a risk which the state ought not to take with its money. Like the representative from Lubbock, we don't follow that line of reasoning.

Enactment of a bill introduced by Smith would require funds suspense accounts and those not in immediate use to be invested in U. S. bonds has considerable merit. True, it would knock the deposits of these funds out of the difference between $120,000 and upwards of $4 per year. But the gain would accrue to the taxpayers, who after all are paying for the interest on the U. S. bonds. As between the depository and the taxpayer, it seems the taxpayer is due the inside track.

American Troops In Germany Become Captives Of Captured

BERLIN, (AP)—AMERICANS IN GERMANY have in some ways become the prisoners of the conquered.

They are suffering, to a degree at least, the fate of all occupation powers through history—the fate of becoming a captive of the people they captured.

But the Americans are being captured on a cultural and household level rather than on a military level, by German music, beer, and servants rather than by the theories of Clausewitz.

That was the impression gained by correspondents flown here by American Overseas Airlines on a tour of the war zones. It was confirmed by a number of Americans stationed here.

THE HARDENING OF THE POLITICAL lines between East and West has brought a softening of the attitude between the individual American and the individual German.

The difference that has taken place on the social level can perhaps best be shown by two parties I attended here three years apart.

At a farewell party in 1946 there were some frauleins present, two Russian officers but no German men. Some newly arrived American wives gave the frauleins the silent treatment all evening. The German orchestra leader taught the crowd to sing a German song, but most of the tunes the band played were American.

This week the correspondent group went to another party. The band played only two American tunes. The Americans sang and danced to German songs. No Russians attended the party, but there was a fraulein or two there and several German men. The American wives danced gaily with the German men.

LIVING ISN'T SO LUSH FOR AMERICANS in Germany today as it was three years ago. But they can still live more cheaply here than they can at home in terms of parties and servants.

One way in which the American victor is being captured here is by his conscience.

"Wives who come over look at the misery around them and it troubles them deeply," one man said. "They start doing things to help German children, and before long they are more active in charity work than they ever were in their own home towns."

Hoover Hits U. S. Substitution Of Security For Self-Reliance

THAT WAS A BOLD AND CHALLENGING speech which former President Herbert Hoover made at Ohio Wesleyan University during the week-end, when he took a vigorous dig at the brand of "new er" thinking which substitutes security for self-reliance.

Certainly the topic is timely, for there are few corners of the world where it isn't being discussed and in many cases experimented with.

Hoover said that while "security" eliminates the risks of life, it "also kills the joy that lies in competition, in individual adventure, new undertakings and new achievements. These contain moral and intellectual impulses more vital than even profits, for from them alone comes national progress."

THIS IS FROM A MAN WHOSE LIFE IS a romance of American success. He was orphaned at 10 and was self-supporting by 15. He rose to the top as a mining engineer. Fame came to him for his relief administration work in Europe during World War I, and finally he was elected to the presidency.

The United States hasn't embraced all the new ideas, said Mr. Hoover, adding:

"The reactionary notion of equal opportunity with the right of everyone to go as far as his ambitions and abilities will take him, provided he does not trespass on others, still holds in the American dream."

DOES IT STILL HOLD IN THE dreams of other "capitalistic" nations? Well, Britain for one is making a great experiment in Socialism.

She has had some four years of Socialism, going far in nationalization and even daring to socialize medicine. Another general election is due to be held by July of next year, and then the people will pass their verdict on the question of security versus self-reliance, as Mr. Hoover phrases it.

That verdict will be by a nation which achieved its "readiness through competition, in individual adventure, new undertakings and new achievements."

Broom Still Active After 47 Years

SPENCER, W. VA. (AP)—Americans lay proud claim to being the earth's most mechanically-minded people, but 76-year-old Lon Love says you can't prove that fact by him, just rebuffed for the 47th straight year as Spencer's street foreman. Love insists he'll continue to clean the city thoroughfares with a broom, just as he always has done.

Love is non-committal about reports of recent weeks that council now has definite plans to provide him with some such mechanical device. The members of the city governing body have volunteered to donate their annual salary of $80 each toward buying street cleaning equipment. Mayor Eddie Farmer says he will match the sum contributed by the council.

Meanwhile, Love continues to report for work each morning at 3 o'clock and stay on the job until around daylight. Police Chief Ernest Barnes, who formerly worked the night shift, says he could set his watch by the veteran city employee's appearance.

Love is considered the only living person to know the complete Spencer sewage system from memory. Many of the lines were installed years ago, and no blue-prints were made of their routes.

Tucker Indicted Just One Year After Sensational Merry-Go-Round Exposure

Chalk up another sensational expose for the Merry-go-round with the indictment of Preston Tucker last week. Ever since July 6, 1947, Drew Pearson has been prying into the operations of the notorious automobile promoter.

Tucker was indicted on June 10, 1949. Exactly one year before this, on June 10, 1948, Pearson made his most sensational charges against Tucker—among them that he had engaged in mail frauds in promoting his car, that he had gone far beyond the SEC bounds on selling stock to the public. One year later, Tucker was indicted.

WASHINGTON—White House insiders marvel at the way Secretary of State Acheson reports to President Truman on almost every detail of the Paris conference. The White House is almost as up-to-date on what the foreign ministers are talking about as Acheson's own assistants in Paris.

Acheson tells friends that he learned about White House reporting from Jimmie Byrnes; for it was Jimmie's failure to send detailed reports to the President that led to his first break with Truman. Acheson relates how, when Byrnes attended the Moscow conference as Secretary of State, he sent almost no reports to Truman. Thereby hangs part of the still-unfolded mystery of why the popular and sometimes impulsive Jimmie Byrnes suddenly resigned.

Acheson, who was acting Secretary of State while Byrnes was in Moscow in 1946, has told part of the story to close friends. During that time he saw the President five times a week, in addition to being summoned to other occasions, and was constantly embarrassed at not being able to report on what was happening at Moscow.

Several times Acheson cabled Byrnes asking for reports, but sometimes he never even got an acknowledgement. Dean figured that the messages went to Byrnes's devoted secretary, Miss Cassie Conroy, who probably reassured to herself that Byrnes was tired and shouldn't be bothered with reporting to Washington.

At one time, Byrnes cabled: "Tell Maud (Mrs. Byrnes) that my col is better." But he cabled little or no information to Truman.

SCOOT GOVERNMENT What got Truman particularly irked was that the final protocol signed at Moscow was broadcast by the Moscow radio long before Byrnes cabled it to the State Department. Therefore, the President, who had flown out to Independence, Mo., read the final results in the morning papers almost before he got a report from the State Department.

Truman was further irked when Byrnes, flying back from Moscow, sent a message to Bill Benton, assistant Secretary of State for public information, telling him to arrange for a radio broadcast in which Byrnes would report to the American people.

When Byrnes arrived, Acheson went to the airport to meet him and, while driving home, Jimmie casually mentioned his forthcoming broadcast. "What broadcast?" asked Acheson. Byrnes told him:

ARGUMENT IN LIMOUSINE Knowing that Truman was irked, Acheson hinted that it would be wise to report to the President before going on the air.

Truman, however, had gone down the Potomac on the yacht Williamsburg—perhaps as a deliberate rebuff to Byrnes. This made the Secretary of State highly indignant, and Acheson had a hard time explaining that this was Truman's only way of escaping a constant stream of callers. Truman, he explained, had been just as busy as Byrnes.

This led to a heated argument between Byrnes and Acheson while driving from the airport; but, in the end, the Secretary of State flew down the Potomac to see Truman, got stranded by bad weather, and became further annoyed when Acheson implied that he hadn't fully reported the Moscow proceedings. To settle the argument, Acheson had a complete set of the telegrams he sent to Byrnes, and the replies Byrnes had sent him, placed before Truman so he could judge for himself.

This incident was the first time the sparks flew between Truman and Byrnes.

Things calmed down later. But the real fact is that Jimmie's scanty reporting of the Moscow conference started the chain of circumstances that led to his sudden resignation.

TRUMAN'S SUSPICION There was always a suspicion in Truman's mind that Byrnes, older, far more experienced, and a candidate for the vice presidency at the 1944 Chicago convention that nominated Truman, looked down on him, constantly recalled that save for a twist of fate he would be in Truman's shoes.

With years of experience behind him—in the Senate, on the Supreme Court, as war mobilizer—Byrnes frequently acted on his own without clearing policies with Truman.

Not robust in health, he also pushed himself so hard that his doctor eventually told him he would have to resign or shorten his life. So Byrnes wrote the President a cordial letter explaining the circumstances, said there was no immediate hurry and suggested he might step out after the New York meeting of the United Nations in the winter of late 1946.

But while Byrnes was in New York conducting the UN meetings, he learned that Truman had sounded out Gen. George C. Marshall about becoming Secretary of State.

This confirmed an earlier report, officially denied by the White House, that Truman wanted to replace Byrnes with Gen. Marshall. This time Jimmie hit the ceiling and called Truman on the telephone. Truman also got irked and told his Secretary of State to go take a sedative.

This was too much for the warm-hearted, impulsive Jimmie. He sent a perfunctory telegram to the President. It read: "In view of your unsympathetic attitude, I resign immediately. Truman, also sore, took Byrnes at his word. He appointed Gen. Marshall almost immediately as Secretary of State.

NOTE—Acheson tells friends how Marshall, in contrast to Byrnes, always answered every telegram sent by the State Department or White House during international conferences.

'Captain Bligh' Visits Patients In Hospital

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Charles Laughton lumbered into a room marked "tumor board" and faced a dozen veterans, at least one of whom has a few weeks to live.

"I guess I came to the right place with this tumor," he smiled, holding his massive belly. The men and women laughed and he introduced himself "to each of them. To one wheelchair-bound woman named Jenny he recited the poem "Jenny Kistled Me" and then kissed her. This was the face that launched the nutty on the bounty.

Laughton took a book from under his arm and read a scene from "Midsummer Night's Dream." "Did you know Shakespeare was less than 30 years old when he wrote this?" he asked.

He did another scene from the play with one of the women patients. Then he had a six-foot ex-flier enact Lady MacBeth to his MacBeth.

For a finish, the actor recited two scenes from "Julius Caesar." For 25 minutes Sawtelle hospital rang with the words of Brutus, Cassius, Marc Antony and other Roman citizens.

As one of the veterans filed out of the room, he commented to a buddy, "That's the first time Shakespeare made any sense to me."

Laughton has long made a practice of reading the bard and the Bible to veterans, but this was the first time he allowed a member of the press along.

Parents Should Not Introduce Bugaboos Into Children's Lives

A toddler emerged from the doctor's office after what was to him a painful ordeal. Big tears rolled down his cheek and his chin quivered.

He sought the only refuge he knew—his mother's arms.

"Did that old doctor hurt you, Honey?" she asked.

How often have you done that sort of thing? That child and hundreds like him could have every reason to dread going to see a doctor until he reaches manhood.

The same thing has happened time and again at the dentist's office. It has even happened in the barbershop—and we wonder why Junior throws such a tantrum when we suggest that it's time to shear his locks.

There are few walks of life that involve chores that are sometimes distasteful to us but what we unthoughtfully hold them up as bugaboos to the youngsters.

For instance, cracks about the schools and school teachers sows a seed of scholastic discontent in youngsters' heads. It's a wonder that the next generation doesn't turn up bachelors and spinsters, thanks to the way most of us moan about the great institution of marriage. And this kidding may have an effect, despite the strength of natural instincts.

To a bawling child, Mother or Daddy says: "Shut up, or I'll tell that policeman on you." Or maybe when a young hopeful is guilty of misbehavior more vexing than wrong, we say: "All right, I'll just call the cops." It's no minor mystery why objects of these threats shy away from the sight of an officer or cheer when the movie robbers ill the cops. Gee, you'd think the corner policeman is public enemy No. 1 instead of the upholder of law and order.

The negative influence splashes over into our religious lives. We even hint that God would be in a pretty nasty frame of mind if He knew this and that—as if He depended upon the old folks to keep Him posted. And sometimes we get our kiddies all mixed up on who is the head man—God or the preacher.

Medicine is a favorite whipping post. "You're sick," we say to a recalcitrant offspring. "I guess we'll have to give you some castor oil." Any grown up knows taking castor oil should be reserved as an alternative to certain death!

The best of the lot, however, is talk of the Boogie man. Scarcely a one of us escapes an ill concealed fear of the dark. We got it when some thoughtless adult told us a monster was lurking in the dark. So we pass it on, and wonder why our out-spoken charges are afraid to go to the bathroom alone at night.

No great revolution in child psychology is expected to result from this piece. However, I do think we could spare our children some warped ideas and mental anguish later on by talking to them with common sense an adult is expected to possess. But maybe that's asking too much. —JOE PICKLE

Flat Refusal To Answer The $64 Question May Mean Term In Jail

WASHINGTON, (AP)—THE HOUSE Un-American Activities Committee has asked people "are you or have you been a Communist?"

1. Those who said flatly "I refuse to answer" were cited for contempt of Congress, tried, found guilty, and sentenced.

2. Those who said "I refuse to answer" and added "because it might incriminate me" had no trouble at all.

Those extra few words, "... because it might incriminate me," make a big difference in deciding whether a man is contemptuous.

Two years ago the committee, investigating Communism, called in 10 Hollywood writers and asked them the $64 question. When all of them flatly refused to answer, they were cited for contempt of Congress.

AND TWO OF THE 10—JOHN HOWARD Lawson and Dalton Trumbo—were tried in federal court, found guilty, and sentenced to a year in jail and a fine of 1,000.

They wanted to make a test case of it, so they were freed on bond while they appealed to the U. S. Court of Appeals. (Trial of the other eight cases has been held up pending the outcome of the appeals.) Monday the appellate court said the lower court decision was right.

Why hadn't the men answered the committee's question? They argued: The Constitution protects a man from being compelled to disclose his private beliefs; and, so, he can't be punished being silent about them.

Not in this kind of case, said the appellate court. Why? It ruled:

The right of free speech is not absolute. The country's welfare comes first. And if the country's welfare is involved, a man can be compelled to speak under penalty of being jailed if he doesn't.

THE COURT REASONED THAT THIS

Broadway—Mark Barron

Irving Berlin, Remembering War Days, Honors Salvation Army

NEW YORK—The other day a Broadway boy stopped to pay tribute to the Salvation Army, a gesture of remembrance he had for aid the Salvation Army has had given to soldiers of World War I.

This ex-soldier was Irving Berlin. He hadn't forgotten his days in the first World War when he had been a sergeant at Camp Upton, a sprawling military establishment on Long Island. So he stopped to greet a lady he hadn't seen since those days 32 years ago when he was wearing a hat and leggings and a blouse that didn't fit him.

"If I was drawing a uniform from Army supply today, I would probably get the same misfitting sizes," Berlin once told me on a visit to Camp Upton at the beginning of World War II. "Nothing fits anybody in the Army except lieutenant colonels and supply sergeants. I was just a sergeant, and couldn't get into supply."

In this little ceremony on Broadway the other day, Berlin stopped work on his new musical, "Miss Liberty," to hand documents to Lieut. Col. Helen Parviance of the Salvation Army, who was retiring after 41 years of active service. He handed her messages from such people as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Elsie Janis and Perry Brown, national commander of the American Legion. Then Berlin, a quiet-speaking and quiet-moving man, shyly added his own gift. It was an autographed copy of his song, "Oh, How I Hate To Get Up In The Morning," which woke up so many of his reluctant soldier mates in their training days at Camp Upton.

Berlin, after many years, was giving this song to the girl who had given him doughnuts in World War I and he told her that she might forget the song. But the soldiers would never forget the doughnuts which the Salvation Army brought up to moving troops when regular Army food rations could not get up. Col. Parviance decided on doughnuts in World War I when her Salvation Army unit was at country's welfare was involved in this case in the question of Communism because:

1. The fate of the world including this country's is at stake in the present struggle between Communism and Democracy.

2. Since the Un-American Activities Committee was investigating Communism, it has a right to ask the question.

But suppose the men, instead of saying only "I refuse to answer," had added "because it might incriminate me."

It's impossible to say what then might have happened in this particular case, or what might happen in some future case. But—

No action has ever been taken against anyone who appeared before the Un-American Activities Committee and refused to answer about Communism because it "might incriminate" him.

Under the Constitution a man can't be compelled to say anything about himself if it might incriminate him. Will this always be true?

MAYBE NOT IN SOME FUTURE CASE Congress and the courts may decide this constitutional protection doesn't apply to Communism.

So far, though, the little phrase "... because it might incriminate me," has been a good escape hatch for anyone not wanting to say whether he's a Communist. But there are a couple of things to remember about this appellate court decision:

1. It applied to a particular situation: What happened with the Un-American Activities Committee, it was investigating Communism.

2. The same court might not think a man guilty of contempt of Congress at all if—say—he refused to answer about Communism before some committee investigating farming, not Communism.

3. The question is not fully settled anyway. The convicted men will appeal to the Supreme Court for the final word.

Montiers-sur-Saulx in France, a point where mud and slush were gooey and where soldiers were wondering about the myth of "Sunny France."

She looked into the Salvation Army stores—this was on Oct. 19, 1917—and the only supplies left were sufficient to make doughnuts, if you left out the eggs. That was how Salvation Army doughnuts began. It was nice that Broadway's ambassador, Irving Berlin, could represent the soldiers the other day to say: "Thank you, Colonel Parviance."

The automobile enables families to get away from it all briefly, and for that reason it tops the list of desirable possessions.

Grandmother Is Drowned In Futile Rescue Attempt

NEWFOUNDLAND, Pa., June 15. (AP)—A 56-year-old grandmother drowned yesterday in a futile attempt to rescue her six-year-old grandson, Coroner Vernon Walsh reported.

The Wayne County coroner identified the victims as Mrs. Ethel Baisley of Newfoundland, Pa., and Lawrence Hadden, son of Mrs. Erna Hadden, Honesdale, Pa. Walsh said nobody saw the accident and theorized the youngster stepped into a deep pool while wading in the Paupack River and the grandmother drowned attempting to rescue him. He issued a verdict of accidental drowning.

Japanese Police Throw Out Strikers

TOKYO, June 15. (AP)—Two thousand Japanese police today controlled a steel manufacturing plant at Hiroshima after ejecting 2,500 sit-down strikers.

Rural police reports identified many of the strikers as Communists.

The plant had been earmarked for reparations but had been allowed to operate. It was ordered closed by the Hiroshima prefecture governor.

The area is under British occupation control.

FLORIDA'S FIRST LADY-TO-BE IS TIRED BY STRENUOUS PUBLICITY

LOS ANGELES, June 15. (AP)—Pretty Barbara Manning is taking a few days' rest from the strenuous publicity whirl as Florida's first lady-to-be.

Hollywood publicist handling the pre-nuptial press relations say the 24-year-old blonde is weary after much picture-taking and interviews by newsmen. She wants to be rested for the social activities presiding her marriage June 26 to Gov. Fuller Warren.

The governor said yesterday at Tallahassee that Barbara is such a good cook that "in furtherance of frontier frugality which this administration has so faithfully practiced" he is thinking of having her take over the kitchen in the executive mansion.

When Barbara heard this she said, "That's fine. I'll be happy to."

Warren seemed astonished when he learned that one of the Hollywood press agents had banned kitchen photos of Barbara. The press agent explained to newsmen: "A governor's wife or, for that matter, most women in the South don't work in the kitchen."

Declared Warren: "If I had been silly enough to fire a publicity man who would make such a ridiculous statement, I would fire him forthwith."

"I want to say further for the instruction of this dreamed-up Hollywood press agent that not only do most women in the South work in the kitchen, but many southern husbands toil with kitchen pots and pans."

Warren said he isn't able to hire any publicity men. The work is being handled by John C. Flynn, Jr., and Bob Rhodes, both of Monogram Studio. One of the studio's chief stockholders is Lou Wolfson, Jacksonville industrialist, who will be best man at the wedding.

One of the press agents had said previously that Warren requested him by long distance phone to handle Miss Manning's press relations.

Atlas To Cost $2,000-A-Copy

PASADENA, Calif., June 15. (AP)—Photographs of the heavens visible from the northern hemisphere to a distance of some 300 million light years are to be made into a $2,000-a-copy atlas by the Palomar Mountain Observatory.

"They will be compiled into an atlas by the California Institute of Technology and the National Geographic Society and will be made available to universities and other observatories at $2,000 a copy or about $1 a page.

The photographs will be made not by the 200-inch palomar telescope now under construction, but by its little brother, the 48-inch Schmidt photo telescope, in the next four years.

The Schmidt telescope with its wide angle lens can photograph a segment of the sky equal to the diameter of a dozen moons. The 200-inch telescope by comparison can record only a tiny spot of sky. It would take the big telescope from 1,000 to 1,500 years to do what the Schmidt photo telescope is expected to accomplish in four years.

Dr. Ira S. Bowen, director of Palomar and Mt. Wilson Observatories, said the survey is expected to record some 5,000 million stars and perhaps 10 million complete stellar systems.

It may be of immense value generations from now, when future scientists may determine changes in the universe and prove or disprove theories that it is expanding. It also may give clues to the source of atomic radiation, and to the structure of the solar system.

"Most of what we know about the universe, we have learned by accident," said Dr. Edwin P. Hubble, dean of the nation's astronomers. "We have seen only what we have trained our big telescopes on. We have trained them largely on what we could already see. The Schmidt will pick it all up and open up new fields of intensive study."

Annual Invite Received By Solons From Idaho

WASHINGTON, June 15. (AP)—An invitation for Congress to leave Washington's hot weather and get up shop in Idaho came today from Rep. Sanborn (R-Idaho).

Such proposals are made from year to year, but this time Sanborn says there is another good reason: Construction work in the Senate and House chambers this summer is going to force the lawmakers into cramped quarters.

Sanborn proposed either Sun Valley or Idaho's state capital of Boise for a summer lawmaking center.

The congressman, who has a master's degree in political science, summed up:

"It would be a fine thing if the whole Congress could spend a few weeks in the Northwest. There would be less chance of ragged tempers interfering with the calm deliberations which the public expects of Congress."

New Lions District Governor Elected

BRYAN, June 13. (AP)—C. N. Hellscher of Bryan is new governor of District 2-E-E of Lions International.

Hellscher, immediate past president of the Bryan Lions Club, was elected yesterday.

Brenham was given the 1950 convention.

Trucks Challenges Raschi For Honors

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Virgil (Fire) Trucks, Detroit's strong-armed righthander, is challenging New York's Vic Raschi for American League pitching honors.

Trucks is even outshining Hal Newhouser, his illustrious south-paw pitching mate. With the season only one-third gone, the 30-year-old Alabamian already has won nine games against three losses. Only Raschi, with 10, has won more. Newhouser has won seven.

Trucks gave further indication last night that he was out to make this his greatest year when he limited Philadelphia to one hit as the Tigers blanked the Athletics, 4-0. Only a fifth-inning single by Hank Majeski prevented him from hurling the season's first no-run, no-hit game. Elmer Valo, who walked in the second, was the only other Mackman to reach base. The Tigers led the game in the first inning, scoring three times against Carl Scheib. Paul Campbell's triple and Aron Robinson's two-run double were the big blows. The victory left the second-place Tigers three games behind the Yankees.

Raschi noted his 10th triumph against one defeat without much trouble as the Yankees shellacked the Chicago White Sox, 15-3. An eight-run third inning at the expense of loser Bill Wight, Allen Gettel and Marino Pieretti changed a tight pitching duel to a rout. The apparently revitalized Cleveland Indians vaulted from six to fourth place in the American League standings after soundly trouncing the Red Sox in Boston, 10-5. A six-run first against Joe Dobson, followed by a three-run second against Tex Hughson made it no contest.

Bob Feller, who had lost his last five starts, went all the way for the Indians to gain his second victory of the season, both at the Red Sox' expense.

Joe Gordon hit a grand slam home run in the first inning. The St. Louis Browns finally beat Washington, 7-2, after losing eight straight decisions to the Senators. Lefty Joe Ostrowski pitched six-hit ball to gain his first victory of the year. Mickey Haefner was the loser.

Brooklyn increased its National League lead to three games over the Cardinals with a 7-2 triumph over St. Louis. Firecracker Roy beat the Cardinals with a 10-hit effort for the Dodgers' eighth straight triumph.

The cards came up with a triple play—only the second in the majors this year. After Jackie Robinson had singled in two runs in the first inning for Brooklyn, Gil Hodges lined to Marty Marion, who threw to Red Schoendienst to catch Carl Furillo at second. A fast relay to Nippy Jones got Robinson off first for the triple killing.

Wally Westlake rapped a ninth-inning double to drive in the tying and winning runs in Pittsburgh's 4-3 victory over the Boston Braves. He previously had hit a homer, triple and single.

Larry Jansen registered his first shutout of the year as the New York Giants defeated the Reds in Cincinnati, 2-0. The slim righthander allowed four hits in winning his sixth game.

Walker Cooper, playing his first game for Cincinnati, went hitless in four trips to the plate against his former mates. The big catcher climaxed a dismal night by hitting into a double play to end the game.

The Philadelphia Phillies ruined Frankie Frisch's debut as manager of the Cubs. They walloped Chicago, 9-2, in the only afternoon clash in the majors. Andy Seminick paced the Phils 11-hit attack with a three-run homer, his 12th.

Looking 'Em Over

by Tommy Hart
By WACIL MCNAIR
(For Tommy Hart who is vacationing)
Texas now has so many baseball leagues that apparently the major news gathering agencies are unable to distinguish the old ones from the new ones. The Longhorn league, now in the midst of its third season, is just about ready to claim veteran classification, yet one of the wire services confused our loop with the new Rio Grande Valley circuit in a recent announcement.

Baseball playing facilities of Longhorn league cities are getting attention over the country. Howard Green, this league's founder, sends word down from Pueblo, Colo. that he heard San Angelo had the best baseball plant west of Fort Worth. If that is the case, Green observes, most of the Longhorn league parks would do credit to class B circuit. In fact, the former loop president believes Odessa has a better park than his class B Pueblo team right now. "Ensey would be cheated if he swapped plants with Pueblo," Green asserted.

Green also had a good word for Leon Brinkopf, the former Odessa third sacker who is with Des Moines this year. Although Brinkopf's batting average is below .250, many of his blows have been timely and he is generally considered the best defensive hot corner man in the Western league.

Professional baseball scouts are showing more interest in Texas than at any other time in more than a decade, now that the diamond sports has attained significant status in high schools. Ivory hunters from the major leagues and from several class AAA and AA clubs were as busy as bees around the high school grounds. At present the scouts confine most of their attention on the bigger tournaments as far as high school talent is concerned, but the time probably is near when visits to routine high school games will be part of their established schedule.

Bob Leach, the all-state Denison high school pitcher, may forego participation in all other sports in favor of baseball for the remainder of his high school eligibility. Leach is a lefty with three more years of high school ball in front of him. He also would be considered a promising football and basketball prospect if he cared to play those sports, according to the rumors from North Texas.

The Broncos now hold the most commanding position in the league standings they have ever enjoyed in mid-June. On June 15 last year the locals were in second place, a game behind the Midland Indians, while on the same date in 1947 the picture was reversed with the Hosses holding a one-game advantage over the Webb men.

The entire coaching staff of Big Spring High school may attend the annual grid clinic at Beaumont early in August. The school board has appropriated some expense money for that purpose.

Ed Waitkus Shot; Seriously Wounded

CHICAGO, June 15 (AP) — Eddie Waitkus, 29, Philadelphia Phillies star first baseman, was shot and seriously wounded early today in the hotel room of a 19-year-old girl.

The girl, tall and dark-haired, was identified by police as Ruth Ann Steinhagen of Chicago after she earlier had given a fictitious name and Boston address. Police Capt. John T. Warren said in a statement she admitted shooting the ball player after he accepted her invitation to come to her room at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

In her statement to police, Miss Steinhagen said she greeted Waitkus on arrival at her room on the 12th floor of the skyscraper hotel along Lake Michigan by saying: "I have a surprise for you."

Then, police said she told them she went to a closet, got a .22 caliber rifle and shot Waitkus. He was shot under the heart and did not regain consciousness at the Illinois Masonic Hospital for more than two hours. Three stitches were taken in the right side of his chest to close the entry wound. But it was reported his condition was too poor to permit probing for the pellet.

Taken to the hospital by police the girl did not answer when Waitkus asked her: "Why did you do it?"

Police Sgt. Albert Brunns said she told him later: "I'm sorry I shot him, but I don't know why." Capt. Warren quoted her as telling him: "I'm a fit case for a psychiatrist."

Waitkus, who is single, is playing his fourth year of major league baseball and his first with the Phillies. The Phillies, who came to Chicago yesterday for a series with the Chicago Cubs, are staying at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. Waitkus, left-handed batter and fielder was one of the most popular cub players during his three years with the team. His home is in Melrose, Mass., a Boston suburb.

Warren said Miss Steinhagen told him that after she shot Waitkus, she telephoned the hotel switchboard operator. She told Edward Purdy in the hotel house detective, "I just shot a man. There's a long story behind this, but I'm not going to talk about it." She was held in jail without charge.

Warren said the girl in her statement related: "I tried to stab him first, but he was too fast. I wanted to kill myself, too."

Warren said the six-foot tall girl told him she had given a bell boy a note to deliver to Waitkus after the Phillies checked into the hotel Tuesday. Warren said a note, signed "Ruth Ann Burns, Room 1297" was found in Waitkus' room. It read:

"Mr. Waitkus, it is extremely important that I see you as soon as possible. We're not acquainted, but I have something of importance to speak to you about. I think it would be to your advantage to let me explain it to you as I am leaving the hotel the day after tomorrow. I would appreciate it greatly if you could see me as soon as possible. I realize this is out of the ordinary but as I say it is extremely important."

Police said in her statement the girl said Waitkus first telephoned and she told him later: "I'm sorry I shot him, but I don't know why."

Purdy said he found Waitkus lying on his back on the floor of room 1297. A .22 caliber rifle was on the floor.

The Phillies' classy fielding first baseman began his baseball career with Moline, Ill., of the Three I League in 1939. He was with Tulsa of the Texas League in 1940 and 1941 and was brought to the Cubs in the latter part of 1941. He was sent to the Cubs farm at Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League in 1942 where he batted .336.

He was born in Cambridge, Mass.

Tossers Sparkle As Cayuses Win Twice

Rodriguez, Perez Baffle Roswell's Batting Power

The pitchers resumed control of operations at Steer park Tuesday night.

In fact the base hit market all but reverted itself as Manny Rodriguez and Pancho Perez, two of the sturdiest lads to climb the mound this year, led the Broncos to a pair of shut-out victories over Roswell.

The Cayuses captured the first game, 4-6, and the second 3-0. Vic Michalec and Marion Grant pitched well enough to win any ordinary ball game for Roswell but a six-hitter was no good in Steer park last night.

The victory gave the Broncos a 2-1 edge in the series with Roswell and increased their league lead by half a game. They now lead the Longhorn league pack by seven full games.

Rodriguez was nothing less than superb. His fancy assortment of curve balls completely baffled Roswell's heavy timber wielders and his slant's were fired with near perfect control. He didn't walk a man and the four Rocket hits were divided among as many innings.

Vic Michalec the Rocket lefty was on even terms with Rodriguez until the fifth when the Bronco-Coto led off with a one baser and Bert Hernandez followed with another. Michalec started to erase the trouble by forcing Rodriguez to sky to left and throwing a third strike by Felix Gomez. Ace Mendez spoiled the defensive effort by rapping a sizzling line drive over second base to send both runners across the plate.

The Broncos picked up two more in the sixth on successive hits by Pat Stacey and Potato Pascual and a Rocket error.

Perez, making his first start since joining the Broncos Monday, was in hot water only once. That was in the very first inning when the Rockets got two hits and the Broncos committed an error. Pancho himself started a neat doubleplay, however, that retired the side without damage. With the sacks jammed, Ray Hill bounced a slow one toward the mound. Perez pounced on it, fired to Al Valdes to force Earl Butler at the plate

Texas League Runs In Sevens

By the Associated Press
Just about everything besides the pitchers ran in sevens in Texas League baseball last night. And the pitchers ran to 17.

First-place Dallas and second-place Shreveport weren't in on the run of "naturals." Their game was postponed because of wet grounds in Shreveport.

Third-place Fort Worth scored seven runs in the eighth inning to give hurler Joe Landrum, his seventh victory of the season, 25-2, over Beaumont. The loss skidded the Exporters into seventh place.

Oklahoma City's hurler, Tommy Reia, notched his seventh victory of the season at the expense of the fourth-place San Antonio Missions, 9-3.

And the Tulsa Oilers exploded for seven runs in the first of the ninth to defeat the Houston Buffs, 11-5. The win moved Tulsa from seventh to sixth place.

Shreveport, trailing Dallas by a game and a half, can move into first place by sweeping a twin bill with the Eagles tonight. And Fort Worth is now only one game behind Shreveport.

Seventeen hurlers toiled on the mound in the three games. Fort Worth racked four Beaumont pitchers for 18 hits in the Cats' whopping victory. The Exporters committed five errors.

Oklahoma City pounded three San Antonio moundsmen for 14 safeties, including Ray Murray's homer in the second. Ed Levy homered for the Missions in the second frame. Tulsa and Houston each used four pitchers in the wild affair at Houston. Walter Cress was the winning hurler.

Tonight, Dallas plays a doubleheader at Shreveport. Fort Worth plays at Beaumont, Oklahoma City at San Antonio and Tulsa at Houston.

GOP And Dixie Demos Oppose Housing Measure

By FRANCIS M. LeMAY
 AP Staff

WASHINGTON, June 15. (AP)—A coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats, shouting for economy, lined up today against the big housing bill president Truman promised in his campaign. The long deadlock on the measure was broken yesterday. The House Rules Committee, which killed similar legislation last year, voted 8 to 4 to clear it for immediate House action. The House decision was set for next week.

Republican Leader Martin, of Massachusetts, called a meeting of all House GOP members for late this afternoon, to plan a line of action. The House GOP Policy Committee already has taken a stand against the bill. "The time is unfortunate," Martin told newsmen, "for any new legislation calling for huge government spending. It might mean new taxes and shove the nation into a depression."

"Only a very few people would be benefitted and many would be put in peril, because of the threat to our financial stability. The decline in business in the last few weeks makes it more imperative than ever that we watch our spending."

A Southern Democrat, Rep. Cox of Georgia, declared, "We are doing that which Russia so much desires. We are bankrupting the country."

The bill calls for a vast program of slum clearance, low-rent public housing and farm housing aids. Estimates of the cost run from $9 billion to $19 billion over a 40-year period.

Democratic Leader McCormack, of Massachusetts, said the bill probably will be put on the House floor for debate next Wednesday. He predicted its passage "without crippling amendments." Showdown voting probably will come Friday or Saturday of next week.

Seven Naval Reservists Die In Crash

SANTA MONICA, Calif., June 15. (AP)—Charred wreckage and a tall fin painted with yellow "X's" to designate it as an "old crash" are all that remain today of a Navy transport plane which carried seven men to their death Monday night.

The RD-4—Navy version of the DC-3—crashed into the Santa Monica mountains while trying to land here in a heavy fog on a flight from Moffett Field, San Francisco. The airmen were naval reservists from the Naval Air Station at Memphis, Tenn., on the West Coast on a training mission.

A heavy fog prevented aerial searchers from locating the still-smoking plane until yesterday afternoon. Rescuers reached the scene and removed the burned bodies with the aid of bulldozers and rope.

The Navy listed these men aboard the plane when it left Memphis:

- Lt. Marshall H. Jones, Memphis, engineering and maintenance manager for Chicago and Southern Air Lines.
- Lt. Robert Lafferty, New Orleans, first officer for C&S.
- Lt. Walter E. Paul, Little Rock, an attorney.
- Lt. J.G. Garner P. Strickland, Jr., Memphis, pilot of plane and roofing company executive.
- Aviation machinist, 3rd class, Thomas S. Daniel, Memphis, C&S mechanic.
- AM 1-C Warren E. Thomas, Memphis C&S inspector.
- AM 1-C R. H. Wiginton, Memphis, C&S instrument mechanic.

4-H'ers To Hear Exchange Visitor

COLLEGE STATION, June 15. (AP)—A 1948 exchange visitor to the Netherlands was to speak to Texas 4-H clubbers today. He is Roy Hranicky of Orange Grove, Jim Wells County.

Texas Speaker of the House Durwood Manford told the 4-H Club roundup yesterday that the Legislature has done five times more work this year than at any previous session.

He cited specifically:

- (1) The Gilmer-Aikin bill. He said it would place Texas among the top five states from the standpoint of education funds.
- (2) Underground water legislation.
- (3) Creation of a development council for youth.
- (4) Reorganization and trimming down of some state functions.

SHIVERS SEEKS TO POSTPONE SHOWDOWN

51st Senate And House Split On State Financing Problem

AUSTIN, June 15. (AP)—Presiding officers of the Senate and House of the 51st Legislature were miles apart today on proposed answers to the state financing problem.

Lt. Gov. Allan Shivers yesterday suggested again that the Legislature take care of state money needs for just one year, in effect postponing a showdown until next January. He wants new taxes only as a last resort.

House Speaker Durwood Manford also sees a tax bill as a last resort but he does not see how it can be avoided. He thinks an immediate study and decision on how to raise "substantial new revenues" will actually forestall necessity of a larger tax bill two years hence.

Shivers said: "I believe the economic conditions we will have in 1951 will cause the Legislature to be more conservative in expenditures. We can not now judge with sufficient accuracy the conditions and needs that we will have then. In my judgment it would be far better from a business standpoint to meet the need for additional tax revenue if and when it occurs rather than by guessing at it now."

Manford said: "It must be obvious from the facts before us that the state must be provided with substantial new revenues. If the expenses of government are to be maintained at the rate now being considered, the amount to be raised approximately $55 million per year. The need for money will be between $150 million and $200 million by the end of the 1949-51 biennium. I do not believe that there is yet time at this session in which to develop all the facts necessary to a long-range solution."

Manford said his figures were based on what the comptroller said they were now, and suggested appointment of a committee to study the whole problem and produce an answer for a special session soon.

Manford said the Legislature could adopt all three of Shivers' proposals "and still the state would face a $155 million need or more two years from now."

Shivers and Manford agreed approximately on just one point: Action on funds for new state hospitals and other buildings should be deferred. They should be financed by some sort of bond issue.

The Legislature has spent or is spending all the surplus and more than the comptroller estimates will be available during the next two years. It has committed the state to huge spending under the Gilmer-Aikin school bills, rural roads and other extended services that will be coming up again two years from now as necessary. "ains on state fiscal resources. It has to take the Shivers plan, Manford's plan, or some plan of its own before it can quit and go home."

House members were not expected to go for the one-year financing plan. A movement was taking shape yesterday to hold up action on conference committee reports on pending money bills until all are in. Then the House
