Hope Voiced Arms Talks To Progress

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—U.N. diplomats expressed hope today that progress on disarmament between the United States and Russia would break the logjam that has stalled the General Assembly for more than three weeks.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson reported Wednesday night that he had attained "considerable" agreement with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on how the issue should be handled in the current assembly session. But Stevenson said differences still remained and more talks may be necessary. The two met for nearly two hours Wednesday night in the latest of a series of private conferences on the subject.

Most delegates felt disarmament was the key to "general agreement on what items should be discussed before the assembly adjourns on April 21. Once it was determined how disarmament negotiations should proceed, they believed, the other pieces would fall into place."

An idea of how the remainder of the session will go was expected to come out of the General Assembly meeting this afternoon. It will discuss the Steering Committee recommendations on the closing date and the agenda.

Hopes for increased action on some key matters were raised by Stevenson's statement on his meeting with Gromyko.

"We discussed two drafts of resolutions and found the area of agreement considerable but by no means complete," he said. "We may have further talks soon."

BOOTS AND BOYS — Rocky Nichols, right, shows boots he momentarily lost when he became stuck in the muddy depression in background to his two benefactors, Randy Diamond, left, and Johnny Carter. Boy Stuck In Mud Rescued By Friends

Two young Pampa boys were thankful today to The Pampa News, mud and Cub Scout training that helped them extricate a 5-year-old youngster from a muddy sinkhole in the northeast section of the city late yesterday.

The pair, Johnny Carter, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Carter, 1123 Kingmill, and Randy Diamond, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Diamond, 404 Lefors, performed their feat when they found Rocky Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Nichols, lodged up to his thighs in a muddy depression in a gully which fronts the Nichols home at 712 Doucette.

Diamond, a Pampa News route boy, was delivering his papers yesterday afternoon when he and Carter — who had gone along to keep Diamond company — spied young Nichols waving his arms.

The young carrier boy and his friend — schoolmates at Woodrow Wilson Elementary school — went closer and found Nichols mired in the mud, unable to move and barely able to speak after his experience.

Diamond ran to tell Mrs. Nichols while Carter slowly pulled Nichols out of the hole, and all three retired to Mrs. Nichols' home to retell the experience and wash away the mud which caked their clothes.

Mrs. Nichols said that her young son evidently became imbedded in an argument with a playmate and "went exploring."

"I thought he was at his friend's house," Mrs. Nichols said this morning. "Then, when I went to call him, I found he was gone. I guess he had been gone 30 minutes, but just as I started to look for him, Randy (Diamond) came running up and said, 'Hey, your boy's stuck in the mud!'"

By the time Mrs. Nichols reached the scene, her son had been freed.

The gully which young Nichols was "exploring" is an old wash which has been slowly filled in with loose dirt. With last week's snow moisture, the ground had become soggy and gave way under Nichols weight.

City Convention Group Launches Financial Drive

The annual campaign for funds in support of the Greater Pampa Highways Assn. swung into high gear today at a meeting of Chamber of Commerce Tourist Development and Conventions committees in City Hall.

Howard Buckingham Jr., chairman of the tourist committee, said purpose of the association is to promote more tourist and convention business for Pampa.

It was pointed out that 1961 has started out as one of Pampa's most active convention years in history.

JFK Wage Plan Faces House Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House plunged today into a minimum wage battle that promised to provide another cliff-hanging test of President Kennedy's legislative program.

As debate began, a conservative coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats held the upper hand. But the President's supporters said they would not admit defeat until the votes were counted.

As he did in his thin victories on House rules and the feed grain bill, Kennedy sent his aides and associates into the fight to help his congressional supporters.

While publicly refusing to concede they were behind, liberal Democrats were admitting privately they might have to give up Kennedy's request for broad new coverage of workers under the wage-hour law in order to get the $1.25 hourly wage floor sought by the administration.

Such a compromise was advanced Wednesday by Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., who conferred with Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg during the hectic day of backstage maneuvering.

Vinson's proposal would retain the administration's request for a 25-cent increase in the $1 minimum in two steps over 28 months. The conservative group was seeking a one-shot hike to $1.15.

The Vinson plan also would extend coverage to 1.4 million workers for firms with five or more establishments in two or more states. This was the coverage approach sought by the coalition.

Kennedy wanted new coverage for 4.3 million workers in single stores doing $1 million or more in business each year or chains whose individual units grossed $25,000 or more.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson approved earlier by the House and Senate. The Senate had voted to make the employer payroll tax effective immediately but the House passed a bill for a 29-1 vote, with only Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo dissenting.

After 73 days of work in the 87th session, lawmakers still haven't approved any kind of a tax bill. The appropriations bill the Senate sent to the House calls for spending $44.3 million more during the next two years from the depleted general revenue fund.

Sen. Ray Roberts of McKinney, sponsor of the measure, estimated it would take $77 million a year to now taxes to foot the bill.

Waco Jury Convicts Ex-Banker

WACO (UPI) — An all-male jury deliberated only 26 minutes Wednesday night before finding Lawrence C. Pope, 42, guilty of robbing the First State Bank of Thornton, Tex. Nov. 5 and U.S. Dist. Judge Ben H. Rice sentenced the former banker and publisher to 25 years imprisonment.

Pope showed no emotion as the verdict was read, but his wife slumped forward in her chair and wept.

The Giddings, Tex., man also faces state charges of robbery in the Nov. 12 holdup of the Schulenburg, Tex. bank.

Attorney Pat Maloney, who represented Pope, put only five witnesses on the stand before resting his case. He tried to show Pope was mentally ill when he held up the bank and forced the bank's president, vice-president and bookkeeper to pose for lewd photographs.

Mrs. Pope told the court that when her husband was fired from his job as president of the West National Bank at West, Tex., in August, 1960, he was "badly hurt" and became "touchy."

The bill, first of the administration's anti-recession measures, provides for a $1 billion extension of unemployment compensation payments to idle workers who have exhausted their regular benefits.

It went to the White House Wednesday when both the Senate and House gave speedy approval to a compromise version. The House vote was 361-31 and the Senate acted by voice vote.

The administration estimates that 3,125,000 people could draw the extra benefits during the next year or so. It said payments could start going to eligible unemployed within two weeks after enactment.

The bill would provide up to 13 weeks of extra payments to unemployed workers who have exhausted or will exhaust their regular benefits during the two-year period between last July 1 and June 30, 1962.

The additional benefits would be financed by raising from 3.1 to 3.5 per cent the payroll tax imposed on all employers covered by the unemployment insurance program. The additional tax would become effective next Jan. 1 and continue for two years.

The states finance and administer the regular unemployment compensation program. The federal government will advance the money for the extra benefits and will recoup the outlays from the tax on employers.

Expensive Jets Bought To Haul U.S. Personnel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional testimony disclosed today that the Air Force, without prior approval from Congress, signed a $12 million contract for six passenger jets to transport government leaders.

The C140s, short-hop jets, are being manufactured at the Lockheed plant in Marietta, Ga. They will replace propeller-driven C131s at the special air mission in Washington used for government flights.

The testimony was made public by a House appropriations subcommittee which questioned Air Force officials intensively about the contract at recent hearings behind closed doors.

One subcommittee member, Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss., demanded an investigation "in connection with the wrongdoings related to the Lockheed procurement situation and with Air Force personnel involved."

Ouster Proceeding Filed At Beaumont

BEAUMONT (UPI) — Removal suits were filed Wednesday calling for the ouster of constable G. B. Graham of Groves, Tex., constable O'Neil Provost of Port Arthur and Justice of the Peace Lloyd Blanchard of Port Arthur in the aftermath of legislative vice hearings.

Tax Collector - Assessor Jack Back warned motorists today that time for purchasing 1961 license tags is growing short.

Jobless Pay Bill Is Sent To President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy is expected to sign the jobless pay bill into law quickly so that unemployed workers can start drawing the extra benefits in about two weeks.

The bill, first of the administration's anti-recession measures, provides for a $1 billion extension of unemployment compensation payments to idle workers who have exhausted their regular benefits.

It went to the White House Wednesday when both the Senate and House gave speedy approval to a compromise version. The House vote was 361-31 and the Senate acted by voice vote.

The states finance and administer the regular unemployment compensation program. The federal government will advance the money for the extra benefits and will recoup the outlays from the tax on employers.

The final bill was a compromise of slightly different versions approved also took a hand in the flurry of secret huddles over the bill, meeting with Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Russia Abolishes Bans On Foreign Reporters

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today announced the abolition of censorship of foreign correspondents.

Press Chief M. A. Kharlamov announced that from now on foreign correspondents would be free to send dispatches by cable or telephone from any point at their convenience.

He added, however, that correspondents will be required to keep copies of their stories for examination at any time by the Press Department.

Kharlamov said whether to install teletypewriter machinery in correspondents' offices was another question and would be considered in due time.

Thailand Claims Vietnamese Reds Already In Laos

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Thailand charged today that 14 battalions of Communist North Vietnamese troops had invaded Laos. An American spokesman announced the United States was sending "about 15" helicopters to embattle pro-Western forces.

This announcement coincided with the second day of a meeting here by top military men of the eight SEATO nations to prepare strategy in the event the Laos crisis cannot be settled peacefully.

Thai Defense Minister Thanom Kittikachorn told newsmen that the Communist troops from North Viet Nam and Pathet Lao soldiers had attacked on two fronts and within 15 miles of the administrative capital of Vientiane.

He said that the government of Prince Boun Oum had rushed reinforcements to meet the attacks.

A U.S. embassy spokesman told United Press International that the helicopters would be serviced by U. S. Marines stationed at Udorn in northern Thailand, just a few miles from the Laotian border.

Informed sources said that the United States had presented a standby military plan to the seven SEATO partners at the top-level meeting. Tight security surrounded the talks, a prelude to the council of foreign ministers gathering here next week.

Miss Taylor Soon To Leave London

LONDON (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor, "recovered and in excellent condition" according to her doctors, will fly to Los Angeles Monday, it was announced today.

On the advice of her Hollywood physician, Dr. Rexford Kennamer, who was flying into London today to accompany her to California, she will leave for the airport directly from London Clinic where 19 days ago she nearly died.

He sidestepped all questions as to how the censorship had operated, how many people had been involved in it and so forth.

He made it clear that correspondents would continue to be held responsible for anything they wrote.

This dispatch, telephoned from the UPI's Moscow bureau to Helsinki, Finland, was the first to move uncensored out of Moscow under the new rules.

U.S. To Launch Miniature Lab Into Sky Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States in a few days will rocket a miniature laboratory on a far-ranging search for knowledge needed to chart flight paths for men "through the least hostile regions" of space.

The 28-pound probe will be launched at 24,300 miles an hour on a four-day flight which will carry it more than 100,000 miles into space and back to probable destruction by air friction in the earth's atmosphere.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said instruments aboard the probe are designed to gather the most definitive information yet obtained about radiation zones, charged atoms streaming from the sun, and magnetic fields of the earth and interplanetary space.

There were indications Soviet authorities are planning other measures to ease the work of foreign correspondents and expedite the flow of news.

Supplies Reaching Key Congo Port

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The United Nations said today supplies have been arriving at Matadi since the Congolese forced U.N. forces out of that gain supply port earlier this month.

At the same time, officials of the national transport system charged the United Nations has failed to give instructions for the forwarding of supplies and accused U. N. special representative Rajeshwar Dayal of "untruth" in saying 33 ships were held up outside the port.

Defense Division Slates Program For Rural Youth

The Daily News Austin Bureau
AUSTIN (Spl) — The Division of Defense and Disaster Relief of the Governor's Office has announced a new state-wide youth program designed to draw boys and girls into active participation in rural civil defense.

In cooperation with the Extension Service of A&M College, rural civil defense information kits are being made available to every county agent in the state. The kits will be used to make benefits of the program available to all state rural youth organizations.

The program, which will give organizations and individuals the opportunity to earn Youth Achievement Certificates, was developed nationally by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, with the assistance of national and state leaders and staff officials of 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers of America, Future Homemakers of America, and other groups.

"The purpose of the program is to help youth develop a civil defense awareness and show them how they may take part in their community and county efforts," explained James H. Garner, state civil defense coordinator. "The program is intended primarily for rural youth, but may be used effectively by urban young people."

Each kit contains rural civil defense texts and visuals, outlines for three discussion meetings, basic reference materials and a Leader's Guide. Many activities are suggested for adoption as group or individual projects. All are related to civil defense education and awareness, farm and family protection measures, or support of the community and national efforts.

State youth organizations who want their members to qualify for certificates are asked to make arrangements with their county and local units.

W. L. Shaffer, OCDM Rural Activities Director, stated that the kits are being delivered, through state civil defense offices, to more than 3,000 counties throughout the nation. He added that major rural youth organizations with more than 3,250,000 members cooperated in the development of the new program.

Further details and information regarding the program are available from local county agents.

Air Force Dogs Guard Nation's Missile Secrets

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — It was almost like any other close order drill. A sergeant barking orders, demanding — and getting — full attention, instant reaction and uniform movement.

Only the troops were dogs. Six German shepherd dogs — trained by the Air Force for sentry duty at this advanced Missile Age base — were lined up beside their handlers inside a screened pen. On command from the sergeant they sat, stayed, heeled to their handlers and lay down.

The dogs were among 22 used at this missile base to guard top secret areas. They patrol only at night.

With anybody else, they become 40 pounds of concentrated violence, capable of killing even the largest man if they are not pulled off.

"Once we've trained dogs," said Airman 2C Bill Joyce, 21, Seattle Wash., "they are never returned to civilian life. You can't rehabilitate them to be pets."

Dogs and handlers — all volunteers for the job — train together at an eight-week course at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. Then they are assigned to a home base where the training continues.

"That eight-week course is sort of like grade school," explained Joyce. "Then high school would be when we give the dogs intermediate obedience here."

"College is what you teach your own dog on your own time," Joyce added after putting his dog, Venus, through her repertoire of special tricks.

Venus would roll over, play dead, walk on her back legs, salute, shake hands, and even ride piggy-back on Joyce's shoulders.

Moments before she had ripped into another handler — protected by a 60-pound padded suit for the exercise — with frightening fury.

Maj. James L. LaForce, in charge of the dog training program here, said that even while on patrol, handlers keep the dogs on a leash until they want them to attack.

Although the dogs — bought from private citizens for $100-$150 when about a year old — are trained to be vicious with anyone else, they become closely attached to their handlers.

"Once we had a real bad time when one of the boys got sick on patrol," Joyce said. He passed out and the dog wouldn't leave his side.

"So we couldn't get to him. Finally someone thought of getting the padded suit we use in training. When we got that, the dog attacked it while we managed to get the boy out. The guy in the suit finally got a muzzle on the dog and put him on a leash."

"You don't have to tell me how mean these dogs can be with anyone other than the handler," added LaForce. "I recall once when a dog tangled with a mountain lion out here. It was the cat that broke off the light and ran."

Young Singers Told To Seek 'Hit' Slowly

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Ella Fitzgerald thinks young singers should work harder developing their talents and worry less about becoming immediate "hits" if they want to become fixtures in show business.

Ella, long the "first lady of songs" in popular music, gave her views recently while relaxing between shows at the Eden Roc Hotel here.

She looked back on more than 20 years of performing and winning countless honors and polls for her singing and said, "People do wrong when they tell a young singer he's going to get rich quickly."

"The singers who have stayed on and really become popular have had to scuffle for a lot of years before they made it. I'm grateful for where I am, but people forget the early time when I was starting out and was a nobody. It was rough."

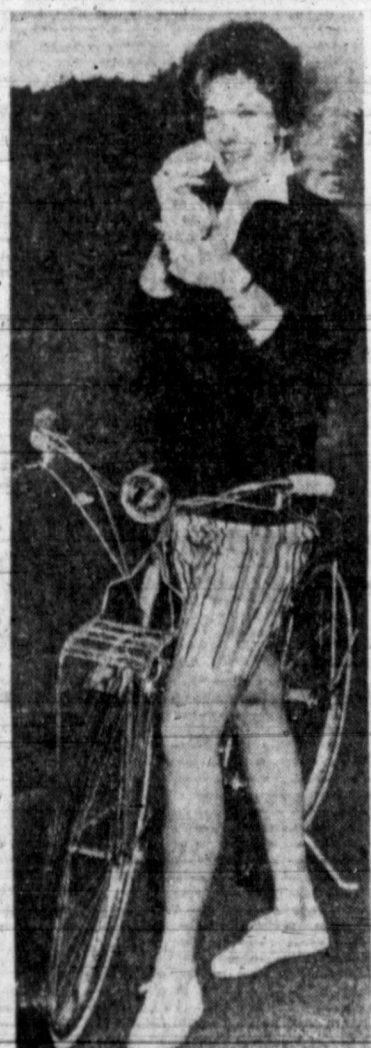

"There's no scarcity of talent nowadays. The big problem is finding it, developing it, and using it right. There are a lot of kids around now who sing real fine. Some of them just haven't gotten the breaks."

Ella said immediate success often hurts a young vocalist.

"There are a lot of singers," she said, "who make one record that really hits big. They get all kinds of offers, but the only thing they really know how to sing is that one song."

"They'll go into clubs and people will say, 'He doesn't have a ny talent,' or 'She's no good, she's only got one song.' That's b-a-d. People end up not wanting to hear them and the kids' ambition is squashed."

"Ella's career blossomed to new heights when she became associated with jazz impresario Norman Granz six years ago."

GOT FAREWELL KISS....

Football Player Tells Story Of Girl's Death

ODESSA, Tex. (UPI)—"She gave me a kiss to remember her by... I pulled the trigger and she was dead, just like that."

The bizarre story of the high school football player and his melancholy sweetheart unfolded piece by piece today in this West Texas town where both were known and well liked.

"Nice kids," a school official called them. "They came from fairly prominent families. This is the kind of thing that happens to someone else's kids. Not anything that could happen in our city... to our kids."

The motive for the killing? Authorities haven't found one yet that satisfies them.

"You don't take people out and kill 'em like rabbits," Sheriff L. B. Eddins of Kermit, Tex., who is spearheading the investigation, said today. It happened just across the county line in his jurisdiction, about 30 miles from Odessa.

"Even if you accept his story that he killed her because she asked him to, it's murder," he said. "You could hardly call it a mercy killing."

Elizabeth Jean Williams, 17, failed to show up for class Wednesday morning. She was a slender girl, five-foot-five and just under 100 pounds. Nice looking, with light brown hair and blue eyes. Rather serious most of the time, but when she laughed, it was infectious.

Her parents thought it was strange she didn't come to breakfast. They called the school to see if she had walked out without telling them goodbye.

Then they called the police. Juvenile officer James Brown located one boy he declined to (it was "Ike") that had a coke identity. It was later learned his name is "Ike." He had a coke Vientiane, the administrative capital, and the royal capital of Luang Prabang 200 miles to the north.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was preparing to leave Washington at midnight for a meeting in Bangkok next week with the foreign ministers of the seven other SEATO nations.

Kennedy already had ordered an increase in the supply of U. S. war material to the embattled pro-Western forces headed by Premier Boun Oum and Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

Western military observers in the Far East have been alarmed at a Soviet airlift which has poured arms into the Red rebels holding large areas of northern Laos.

Laotian King Savang Vathana has expressed a willingness to negotiate a peaceful settlement with the rebels and include some of them in a "neutral" government but the rebels have rejected his offers.

The United States supported his suggestion that a commission of neutral nations arrange a ceasefire for negotiations but the Communists have rejected this too.

The Reds have demanded a large international conference on Laos, including Communist China. The West believes this would only confuse the situation further.

Laos is one of the three former French Indo-Chinese states. Slightly larger than Minnesota, it forms sort of a buffer zone between the Communist and pro-Western areas of Southeast Asia.

The United States has poured hundreds of millions of dollars into the little kingdom in an effort to keep it in the Western camp but has been unable to resolve internal factional disputes inflamed by the Communists.

C-C Group Hears Solon

AUSTIN — Rep. W. S. (Bill) Heatley of Paducah was the principal speaker at a luncheon Tuesday of members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the West Texas delegation in the Legislature. Approximately 50 persons attended, about 35 chamber men and 15 lawmakers.

Heatley, author of two redistricting bills in the House, talked about the measures. He said West Texas might be entitled to a few more members of the House under the 1960 federal census but, for the most part, he would prefer to "leave things as they are."

"Under the law, Houston and Dallas should get more representation in the House," Heatley said. "The House membership is limited to 150 seats and if we do much redistricting we will lose some good men from the rural areas."

"Every new House member, an area gets has to be taken from another area and I'm afraid it will result in a lot of confusion. We probably will have to make many changes but I hope we can stick together and not eliminate any good men in the reshuffle."

Three Girls Get Pageant Awards At Mobile Event

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—Two girls fresh from first night victories and a newcomer walked away with trophies at the second night's judging of the fourth annual America's Junior Miss pageant here.

Robins-Kessler of New Haven, Conn., joined Alabama's entry, pretty Judy Skipper of Jackson, and Mary-Fran Luecke of St. Louis, Mo., in the winners' circle by winning in the sportswear category.

Judy, who won in formal attire Tuesday night, captured talent honors Wednesday with her rendition of "Darktown Strutters Ball", dancing her way into the prize in a red costume with matching top hat.

The perky Missouri lass took her second honors in the formal attire division. Mary-Fran was the first night winner in the sportswear section.

The three girls are joined by Victoria Kay Van Dyke of Phoenix, Ariz., who topped the talent division Tuesday with her wise cracking dummy in a ventriloquist's act.

The winners and tonight's chosen few will compete Friday night as the semi-finalists from whom the five finalists and the ultimate winner will be chosen.

House insisted on the Jan. 1 date. Employers would pay the tax on the first $3,000 of each worker's wages.

Chief objection to the bill came from lawmakers from states not afflicted with major unemployment. During House debate, some members protested it would drain tax money out of their states into other areas.

Scout officials announce this is the first lodge meeting for the 1961 officers.

Burglars Enter School, Nothing Reported Taken

Burglars, who apparently couldn't find what they were looking for, broke into Pampa Junior High School during the night.

Police Chief Jim Conner said entrance to the school was gained by knocking the glass out of an auditorium door.

Then they broke the glass out of a door and entered Principal Paul Payne's office. Next they forced a lock on the door of Supt. Knox Kinard's office and gained entrance there.

Chief Conner said nothing was disturbed in either of the offices and that everything was in "apple order" when the break-in was discovered this morning by a maintenance man.

Rotarians Told Of School Fund

Milton (Buff) Morris yesterday told Pampa Rotarians of the Opportunity Plan now in operation at West Texas State College to loan money to students so they might obtain a college education.

Started in 1954 with a capital of $500, it has grown to $70,000 and has loaned a total of $297,000 and had paid into it $223,000.

The Opportunity Plan operates on the basis of having the student budget his entire expenses for a semester and, once this amount is approved, a loan is made the student. Every source of outside income such as money earned, given by parents, etc. is paid into the plan so as to keep the student's balance owed as low as possible.

Then, on graduating from college, the student repays the total loan over a period of several years.

Pointing out that the fund is an entirely voluntary system, Morris said that it not only enabled students to attend college who would otherwise not have the means, but it taught self-reliance and responsibility in that there were no "hand outs" involved.

To date, 21 Pampa students have used the fund, Morris said.

Miss Jane Chaney, Pampa public school teacher and the first person to utilize the fund, gave a short talk about how it had enabled her to attend college.

Miss Mimi Bedford and Miss Cathleen Hill, both West Texas students, also gave brief talks on how the Opportunity Plan was helping them finance their way through college.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy sought today to alert the American people to the grave danger of a Soviet-backed rebel conquest of Laos.

The President was expected to stress at his 6 p.m. EST. news conference that stiff new measures must be taken to bolster the crumbling anti-Communist front in Laos.

MOON-STYLE HOT ROD—Once seen only on the covers of science-fiction magazines, drawings like this are being seriously studied by scientists today. Droopy-eyed vehicle is a design proposed by American Machine and Foundry Co. for getting around on the moon. Tank treads on extended legs would propel the machine over rough ground, while paddle-wheel-like ring around the spherical cabin would assist in areas of fine dust.

LUNAR LOCOMOTION—Reasoning that individual space suits for moon explorers may be impractical, both physically and psychologically, engineers at American Machine and Foundry Co. have come up with this idea. The machine could be moved by a variety of methods, including tank treads (shown), pneumatic rollers or paddle wheels. A man in capsule, connected to the machine by an "umbilical" cord, would be able to perform numerous work functions, yet be brought quickly back to the machine in case of trouble.

Scientists Working To Create Hottest, Coldest, Most Lethal Bit Of 'Nothing'

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI)—In an isolated canyon 30 miles northwest of here, scientists are working on a project to create the hottest, coldest, most lethal "nothingness" man has known on earth.

Lockheed Aircraft claims the project is the free world's most ambitious attempt to duplicate conditions of space—in a vacuum chamber 10 feet in diameter and 10 feet high.

Simulating an altitude of 475 miles, the chamber's vacuum will be the nearest man has come to producing the near-nothingness of space in a laboratory, according to Dr. Lewis Larmore, chief scientist at Lockheed's California Division.

Several kinds of pumps will reduce the chamber's pressure to one-billionth that of the air outside—a vacuum in which a ping pong ball will evaporate in a few minutes.

Yet, the vacuum in the chamber will be far from that existing in interplanetary space, Larmore said. To approach that, the pressure would have to be reduced at least another million times.

Actually, Larmore explained there is no known way to duplicate the vacuum of interplanetary space.

"We can't keep the steel walls of a chamber from evaporating," he said. "Gas and particles are loosed from the walls as fast as we can pump it out."

The project is being undertaken in connection with a planned half-airplane, half-spaceship to be used for servicing satellites in orbit. The study is known as SLOMAR—space logistics, maintenance and rescue.

During simulated missions in the chamber, spacecraft models and materials will be subjected to cold and heat ranging from minus 456 to plus 500 degrees Fahrenheit, as well as the erosion of radiation and meteoritic particles.

How long will spaceship materials hold up under such evaporation and erosion? How can working parts be made to operate in environments where ordinary lubricats simply evaporate? These are some of the questions Lockheed scientists seek to answer.

Batteries of quartz lamps and ordinary light bulbs will be used to simulate some of the radiations in space within the chamber.

Larmore said a flour-like material or perhaps fine ice particles would be shot into the chamber at speeds up to 25,000 miles an hour to simulate the dust and micrometeoritic swarms of space.

"For all practical purposes, the spacecraft will be hurtling through space itself," he said. The chamber, one of five to be built in Rye Canyon for high altitude and space research, is scheduled for first tests this summer.

CONTAINING A FIRE ON WATER—French-designed floating barrier protects ships and harbor installations against fuel fires. It's demonstrated at the Paris port of Gennevilliers on the Seine River. Fire-resistant cloth held up by buoys encloses fuel poured on the water, top, and fired, bottom. Barrier effectively contains the blaze which can be towed away from the busy harbor to some spot where it can burn itself out harmlessly.

Plane Test Fatal To 6

COLUSA, Calif. (UPI)—A six-man test crew was killed Wednesday when a four-engine Super Constellation crashed and burned in a rice field on a shakedown flight from McClellan Air Force Base near Sacramento.

An Air Force spokesman said there were no classified weapons on the plane and the cause of the crash was not known.

"There was no word from the plane at all—it just disappeared," he said. "It must have been sudden."

The dead were identified as Maj. Frederick P. Davison of Du Quoin, Ill., the pilot; Maj. Donald Pollack, Canton, Ohio, the co-pilot; M.Sgt. John J. Neusbaum of Pocatello, Idaho; M.Sgt. Thomas J. Bennett of Cayuga, Ind.; Franklin R. Swanson, Sacramento, Calif., a civilian employe of Lockheed Aircraft; and Roy N. Kurosawa, Sacramento, civilian crew member.

Include Your Name On Income Tax Return

By JERRY BENNETT
 WASHINGTON (NEA) — Don't forget to put your name on your income tax return!
 Think that's a foolish reminder? Well, Internal Revenue officials are flooded from Jan. 1 until long after the April 15 deadline with returns that don't have the taxpayers' names on them.
 Tax collectors say some persons forget to type or print their names at the top of the forms. Others forget to sign at the bottom. But the prize-winning, absent-minded Americans are those who neglect to do both.
 Nobody keeps an exact count of the nameless forms but the revenue service receives enough each year to cite "failure to identify yourself" as one of the most common errors we make when filling out our returns.
 Among those that do sign, may have illegible signatures. And taxpayers who supply only their first or last names are not uncommon.
 "I remember one case where the only identification on the form was a big X," one tax expert says. Internal Revenue officials view the majority of such cases as negligence rather than as attempts to evade taxes. For in many instances the nameless ones are due refunds.

 How does Uncle Sam handle such cases?
 First step is to check the current return forms with old records. An important clue is the name of Mr. X's employer.
 Tax collectors check their files until they locate an old return with that name. If the rest of the information on the old and new forms is the same, they know that they have identified Mr. X.
 Sometimes, however, no amount of record checking will do the trick. The next step in a case where the complete name is lacking is to run a story in the newspapers asking "Jane," "Sam" or "Smith" to make a complete identification.
 If this fails, tax collectors can do nothing but sit back and wait for the nameless ones to inquire why they didn't get their refunds.

Other major mistakes made in filing tax returns include:
 —Mailing the W-2 form reporting wages without the Internal Revenue form. Tax experts say that many people believe that the W-2 form is all that is needed.
 —Making out a separate Internal Revenue form for each W-2 form if you have more than one employer.
 —Failure to list names of dependents.
 —Mathematical errors in computing the tax. Last year a bout two million persons goofed in their arithmetic.

 Tax Information Chief Lawrence George, who is deluged each year with letters from befuddled taxpayers, says:
 "You may save time, trouble and money for yourself and your government if you make a practice of keeping good records, reading instructions for preparing your return and checking and double checking the return. Try these tips this year and prove to yourself their value."

Teacher Courses Measure Studied By House Group

Austin Bureau
 AUSTIN — A committee hearing on a House bill which would lower the number of hours in "Mickey Mouse" or education courses required to teach in Texas schools was adjourned late Monday after two hours of testimony. The hearing will be resumed at 2:30 p.m. next Monday before the House Education Committee.
 The bill, introduced by Rep. Henry Grover of Houston, would reduce from 24 to 12 the number of education hours required to teach in junior and senior high schools and require a minimum of 24 hours to teach in elementary schools.
 Junior and senior high school teachers also would be required to have a minimum of 24 hours in a major subject. The bill also specifies that elementary teachers, with the exception of instructors in vocational and industrial courses, shall have a bachelor's degree.
 Three witnesses in favor of the bill had been heard at 6:30 p.m. when the committee voted to postpone the hearing. Most committee members had other meetings to attend at 7:30.
 Grover explained provisions of the measure and called Sen. Hudson of Brownsville as his first witness. Hudson has a companion bill now in a Senate subcommittee.
 Hudson read excerpts from several of more than 100 letters he said he had received from constituents who favor the bill. Only one letter writer opposed the measure, he said.

Military Homes Program Rapped Before Senators

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Homebuilder Hall B. Hayes testified that he may take court action to "evict" Defense Department contractors if they move in to resume construction on homes at five military bases where his crews stopped work last summer.
 Hayes delivered a free-swinging attack on the government's Capehart housing program in testimony before the Senate preparedness subcommittee. He complained of "bungling" and discount "payola" which amounts to "legalized bribery."
 The program is designed to produce housing at military bases using private financing under mortgage-type contracts. Hayes had contracts totaling $55 million at Camp Lejeune, N.C. and four other bases when work stopped last May.
 Part of his testimony dealt with an agreement between the Federal Housing Administration and the Defense Department under which the Defense Department hopes to complete some 2,500 houses still incomplete under Hayes contracts. Hayes blamed the government — primarily the FHA — for cutting off funds and causing the work stoppages.
 He told the subcommittee that it would be better if congress appropriated funds to finance such housing immediately instead of relying on the Capehart program. Under that program, he said, a $12,000 home eventually costs the taxpayer about $40,000.
 He said the cost is inflated by unnecessary title searches, by a poor design, and by payment of "payola" discounts to banks in order to get loans on the projects.
 Hayes said he regards his organization as the only party legally entitled to go on the premises and suggested that any other party "would be a trespasser."
 He said he is considering a court action to get a ruling that one of his affiliate companies is, in effect, the lease holder on the government projects. From such a ruling, he said, it would "automatically follow" that his company has the right to "evict" anyone else.
 He made the statement in reply to questioning as to what court action might be taken to prevent work from starting again. The FHA-Defense Department agreement is designed to allow the Defense Department to complete the homes using other contractors.

Cowboy And Empty Saddle Humiliate Mississippians

PARCHMAN, Miss. (UPI) — There's an empty saddle and a humiliated horse in the old corral at the Mississippi state prison today.

Cowboy Dale Morris, 36, a Montana dude ranch hand, shattered the cowboy's code. He kissed his horse goodbye and ran off with the girl.

Morris, serving 12 years for manslaughter, approached Prison Supt. Fred Jones last month and told him he had a fine stallion over in Fort Smith, Ark., that the prison could use for breeding purposes.

Jones took Morris at his word. After all, the handsome cowboy was an expert on horses, a prison trusty and an all-around "good man" who was allowed such breaks in prison life as a 10-day trip by himself to Mississippi State University to study artificial breeding of animals.

He was also known as an expert on the ladies. In fact, police said that during three trials in Bay St. Louis, Miss., Morris accumulated a bankroll of about $3,000 from money mailed him by admiring women.

Jones wrote Gov. Ross Barnett telling him about the cowboy's offer of a registered stallion for prison use. He asked to send Morris with two guards to Arkansas to bring the stallion back. The governor said "Fine. Go ahead."

Morris and guards Epsi Jennings and Lamar Haggard went to Fort Smith and found the stallion.

Morris told Jennings and Haggard to take the horse and head back to Mississippi. He, said the cowboy, wanted to stick around Fort Smith a couple of hours and get married. Sure, the guards said.

"I would have done the same thing," the prison superintendent said Wednesday—11 days after Morris disappeared. "I can't help but feel that a woman is involved in this. Someone in Fort Smith, probably a woman, led the cowboy astray."

The governor, notified that his trust in Morris apparently was misplaced, sighed, "If you can't trust a trusty, who can you trust?"

Gas Cooperative Formed In Area By Farm Group

AMARILLO (UPI)—A group of some 750 Panhandle and South Plains farmers Wednesday formed what is believed to be the first cooperative association of rural natural gas users.

David Burgess of Tulsa, elected president of the group, said it was patterned after the REA. He said they banded together to start a cooperative gas company because the Pioneer Gas Co. announced a rate increase of some 10 per cent to irrigation farmers in West Texas south of the Canadian River.

"The purpose of the group is to secure fuel for irrigation motors at the lowest possible price," he said.

The organization is called the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association, and now has members in 11 counties. Burgess said members from some 20 to 30 more counties are expected to join.

Volumes On House Appropriation Bills Constitute 'Fine' Reading

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Of all the literature published by Congress, none is more stimulating than the volumes put out each year by the House defense appropriations subcommittee.

This might sound like faint praise, but I mean it to be complimentary.

These volumes contain the transcripts of the hearings conducted by the subcommittee on the annual military budgets. If a reader is willing to mush through several hundred pages of drifting syntax, he will usually find something to astonish him.

I have just been through the first volume of the current series and I found myself flabbergasted on page 456. That was where Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.) accused the Navy of "un-Navy" activities.

The thing that prompted this startling allegation was a directive stating that Navy men with more than four dependents should not be given overseas assignments except in unusual circumstances.

When Flood spied the directive, he immediately called on Vice Adm. W. R. Smedberg, the Navy personnel chief, for an explanation.

"What is this, birth control in the Navy?" he asked. "This is most un-Navy."

Smedberg said the policy was put into effect to reduce expenses in the transportation of Navy families. It was not intended as a deterrent otherwise, he said.

"I want to be consistent in my metaphors," Flood said. "Who gave birth to this order?"

The admiral replied that it "was in effect when I arrived" and that he had continued it "purely as a necessary money-saving method."

"What is magical about the figure four?" inquired Flood. "Did you just pick that out of left field? What genius said 'four'?"

"I cannot answer that," Smedberg said. "I imagine the man with the wife and three children

CBS Criticised For Permitting Movie Showing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. information chief Edward R. Murrow has criticized his former employer, the Columbia Broadcasting System, for permitting a controversial movie he once narrated about American migratory workers to be shown in Great Britain.

Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., told the Senate that Murrow, who originally narrated the film for domestic use, termed the CBS action "wholly irresponsible."

Murrow confirmed that he spoke with Holland and the senator's administrative assistant. He said Holland's statements were "roughly right" as reported.

CBS promptly issued a statement calling the show a news report which should be made available overseas just as any American newspaper or magazine.

Ham Is Part Of Our Easter Heritage

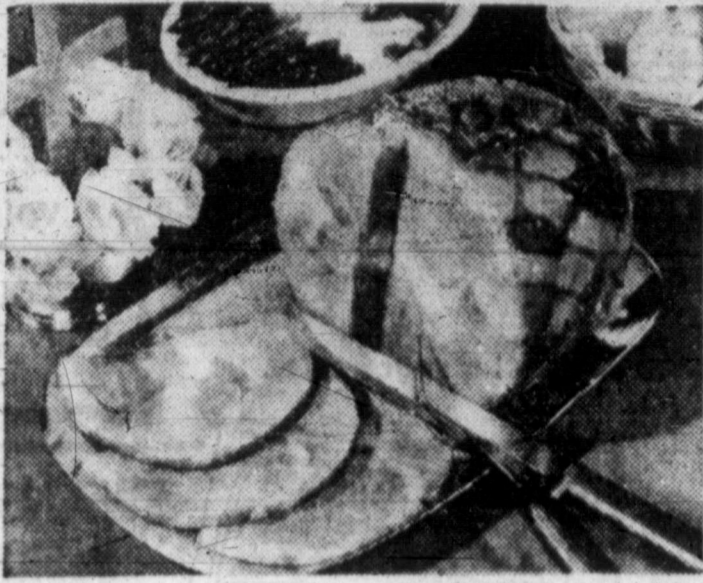

On its grandest scale, Easter is pageant and procession; on a smaller scale it is the delight in a child's face as he gathers his hourly of Easter eggs. We look forward to Easter in its entirety, from the morning's worship to the annual Easter dinner at home.

Because Easter is such a special day, a menu that leaves Mother free to take part in the family plans is best. We have inherited the custom of serving ham for Easter, and today's homemaker can choose a ham that is strictly up-to-date in that it is fully cooked. We can also be sure of getting delicious, brown sugar cured flavor or when we look for the two most trusted words in meat.

Today you can buy the size of ham that is just right for the number you'll have at the Easter table. Count on about one-half pound per serving and allow plenty for seconds. A popular style is the short shank ham, available either fully cooked or cook-before-eating. Just keep in mind that unless the words "fully cooked" are on the label, the ham needs oven baking. For dinner service, most people like the fully cooked type hot, so some oven time is needed for it, too. A ten pound fully cooked short shank ham will require about 2 1/2 hours in the oven before serving.

As perky as an Easter bonnet is this Daffodil Honey Glaze for Ham. Pineapple bits fashion a "daffodil" atop the ham, and the pineapple juice and honey are combined in a glaze sauce to give the ham a Springy note.

DAFFODIL HONEY GLAZE FOR HAM

Yield: 1 cup
8 to 10 pound fully cooked semi-boneless ham
1 pound 4 ounce can sliced pineapple
1 tablespoon cornstarch
3/4 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon honey
Drain pineapple. Mix cornstarch and cloves in a saucepan. Gradually add pineapple juice to cornstarch and cloves. Cook and stir over medium heat until clear and thick, about 7 minutes. Add honey. Spread glaze over hot or cold fully cooked ham. Color a few of the pineapple slices with green food coloring. Cut in shapes to form leaves. Cut some of the yellow slices to form petals of a daffodil. Arrange on top of glazed ham. Use remaining pineapple slices as a garnish around the ham.

Good Cooks Are Good Sauce Makers

Meat cookery and preparing meat sauces are particularly enjoyed by the men. A quick sauce for an unusual accompaniment with ham steaks is made with ready-to-use mince meat. Developed by the Borden Kitchen, it is easy to make. At the flip of the container lid, the mince meat is instantly ready for use. Then just cook a little chopped onion in butter. Stir in the mince meat, lemon juice and water. All those who partake will surely agree that here is a sauce par excellence.

Mince Meat Lemon Sauce
(Makes 2-1/4 cups)
4 tablespoons butter
1 cup chopped onion
1-1/8 cups ready-to-use Mince Meat

Melt butter in large skillet; add onion; cook until golden brown. Stir in mince meat, lemon juice and water. Cook just until mixture comes to a boil. Use for Hubby's Favorite Ham Steaks.

Hubby's Favorite Ham Steaks
(Makes 6 to 8 servings)
2 ham steaks, cut 1-inch thick
Mince Meat Lemon Sauce
Slash fat on the ham steaks. Place one steak in 9 x 13 x 2-inch baking dish; spread with one-half of sauce; top with second steak. Spread with remaining sauce. Bake in a slow oven (325°F.) basting occasionally with sauce for about 1 hour and 15 minutes or until steaks are tender.

Apple Butter Topping Glorifies Spice Cake

Whether glorifying a square of hot gingerbread or adding a fancy flourish to a piece of spice cake, Whipped Apple Butter Topping made with evaporated milk is delicious. To make this fluffy topping, chill 1/2 cup evaporated milk icy cold, and whip until it is stiff and will hold a peak. Official Recipe From 1961 Pie-Baking Champ

CHICAGO — With the recipe printed below, Sherry Ann Shirley of Bunker Hill, West Virginia, won the 29th National Cherry Pie Baking Championship, winning out over 49 other state champs at the annual National Cherry Pie Baking Contest held here in the Terrace Casino of Morrison Hotel.

Here's Dish That Has Meal Appeal

This is a Lenten main dish that appeals to everyone, children, epicures, and especially Mother. Fish Fillets Italiano meet all the requirements — taste superb, look pretty, and are easily made ready for the oven.

Herb-seasoned packaged stuffing saves time and takes the guess work out of proper flavoring, and the spaghetti sauce makes this dish far from ordinary yet completely satisfying.

FISH FILLETS ITALIANO
4 frozen or fresh fillets (flounder, sole or perch)
2 tablespoons butter
1-3 cup diced celery
1 teaspoon minced onion
1/4 cup hot water
1 cup packaged herb-seasoned stuffing
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) spaghetti sauce with mushrooms
Pepper to taste
If fillets are frozen, thaw and blot dry. In melted butter, saute celery and onion until soft. Add water, then stuffing crumbs and toss. Spread 1/4 of the stuffing on each fillet. Roll up and fasten with toothpicks. Place rolls in well-greased baking dish. Pour spaghetti sauce over each roll, and sprinkle with pepper, if desired. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 25 minutes.

ple from every state participated in the event.

Sherry Ann's winning recipe was as follows:
2 (20 oz.) cans frozen cherries, thawed and drained 60 minutes (4 cups drained cherries)
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons tapioca
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon almond
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon margarine
Combine all ingredients except margarine. Allow to stand while preparing pastry. Put cherry filling into pastry lined pie pan and dot with margarine. Wet edge of bottom pastry, place on top pastry and trim overhanging edges; flute edge with fingers. Cut cherry design out of pastry and place on top of pie. Put strip of aluminum foil around edge of dish. Bake at 425 degrees for 30 minutes. Remove foil and bake 10 more minutes.

If water-packed cherries are used, increase sugar to 1-3/4 cups.
CRUST
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup vegetable shortening
4-5 tablespoons cold water
Mix flour and salt. Cut in 1-3 cup of shortening until mixture has the consistency of cornmeal. Add remaining 1-3 cup of shortening and blend into size of large peas. Stir in water, two tablespoons at a time until dough forms a ball. Shape in bottom pastry, place on top pastry and trim overhanging edges; flute edge with fingers. Cut cherry design out of pastry and place on top of pie. Put strip of aluminum foil around edge of dish. Bake at 425 degrees for 30 minutes. Remove foil and bake 10 more minutes.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

Balance Is Not Only For Seals

If you are one of 30 million underweight Americans, look carefully to the seal, a champion at balancing. His talent is your cue: Achieve ideal weight, then balance the amount of food you eat with the amount of energy you spend. Underweights do not eat enough to achieve this ideal.

The solution seems simple: Eat more food. But often those who want to gain have small appetites and a limited capacity for food. Nutritionists offer these helps:

- Relax at mealtime. Some people find mellow music helps. Enjoy your meals. Don't think about the amount you should eat.
- Have set times for meals and eat regularly.
- Keep servings small at first, if your appetite is small. Don't put too much food on your plate. Gradually increase the amount you eat.
- Limit the size of snacks, and time them so they will not spoil your appetite for regular meals. Splurge only after the evening meal.
- Get plenty of rest to make the food you eat go further.
- Exercise to relieve tension, to sharpen your appreciation for food.
- Indulge, as often as you like, in an extra pat of butter, cream with your crackers, an extra tablespoon of salad oil, ice cream on your pie. Cook your morning cereal in milk.

Be a real champion in balance. Don't stop with balancing the amount of food you eat with the amount of energy you spend. Be sure to single out liberal amounts of nutrient-rich foods: Enriched or whole grain bread or cereal, milk or cheese, meat or an alternate, fruits and vegetables.

Crisp Little Onions

Add Zest To Soup

Crisp little green onions and evaporated milk combine for a delightful spring-time version of onion soup. To prepare: melt 3 tablespoons butter in a kettle, then add 2 cups sliced green onions (cut crosswise, green tops and all), and cook gently, stirring constantly, until onions are partially cooked. Add 3 bouillon cubes and 2 cups of water and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer until onions are tender, about 5 to 8 minutes. When ready to serve add 2 tall cans evaporated milk and salt and pepper to taste; bring to serving temperature. Very good and extra fancy when small slices of French bread — buttered, sprinkled with Parmesan cheese and toasted under the broiler — are floated in each serving. Makes 6 servings.

Life In Prison Meted To Texan In Murder Case

ADEL, Iowa (UPI)—A young Texas ex-convict was sentenced to life imprisonment late Wednesday for killing a teen-age youth during a cross-country robbery spree.

Earl Thompson, 26, Wichita Falls, Tex., had faced a possible sentence of death by hanging. Earlier, he changed his plea from innocent by reason of insanity to guilty.

District Judge Stanley Prall, who heard the case without a jury, imposed the sentence after Thompson told of the events leading up to the slaying.

Thompson, who had served two prison terms, said he stole a gun from his father, a security policeman at North Hollywood, Calif., last January. He had admitted to police that he used the gun to rob a liquor store six blocks from his father's home.

Later, Thompson said, he staged holdups at Sacramento, Calif.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Kansas City, Mo., and Madison, Wis.

Hayes said Williamson was brought into police headquarters and after long questioning was released. The scoutmaster was found dead several hours later in the basement of his ranch-style home—a shotgun at his side. In a suicide note to his wife he said that he was having financial difficulties.

Police refused to disclose the full contents of the suicide note but said it appeared that only "one person was involved" in the kidnaping.

GLAMOUR AND NAME ARE GONE—Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidential plane, the Sacred Cow, has lost its glamour and its name but the 16-year-old DC-4 is still on active duty. Known only as No. 7451, it operates out of Bolling Air Force Base in Washington, D.C., as a headquarters command staff plane. The interior has been modified very little and the president's chair and table are still in place. An elevator which was used for F.D.R.'s wheel chair has been sealed up for a number of years.

Death Of Kidnaped Boy, Suicide Of Scoutmaster Probed In Canada

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (UPI)—Police today sought to determine whether 10-year-old Tommy McNevin's scoutmaster kidnaped the boy and then left him tied to a tree to die of exposure.

Young Tommy was found by police Wednesday where his abductor had bound and abandoned him in a futile attempt to collect $25,000 in ransom.

The suspected scoutmaster, Warren Williamson, 41, committed suicide after being questioned by police about the kidnap-slaying.

"If it was somebody he knew, I was sure he would have to kill him to keep him quiet," Tommy's father, Donald McNevin, a well-to-do creamery owner, said today.

"I wish I were back making $50 a week rather than owning my own business," the distraught father said.

Tommy was kidnaped Monday after leaving home alone to play hockey with his friends. His father, a former alderman here, received a $25,000 ransom demand a short time later.

The same day, Williamson, an elder of the United Church of Canada of which the McNevins were members, called on McNevin and said he had been chosen by the kidnapers as "go-between" to deliver the ransom money.

Williamson said he had found a note on the visor of his automobile instructing him to get the ransom money and then rendezvous at a local drive-in restaurant.

The ransom note had demanded

"$25,000 in used fives, tens and twenties" and cautioned McNevin not to contact the police. "You will receive a call any time after 9 p.m. with further instructions," the note said. "Follow instructions and your son will be home shortly after midnight tomorrow."

MATURE PARENT

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The other day in answer to a mother troubled by her 13-year-old's rudeness, I suggested that she try to recover her original response of hurt and indignation and express it simply and immediately to the child.

It may not be easy. Today, many factors make it difficult for us to say "You have hurt me and I don't like it" to an insolent child. One of the factors is the indoctrination by the child-centered psychologists who have made it almost impossible for us to feel our own feelings any more.

We've been told so consistently to concern ourselves with the child's feelings that our own right to some has become vague. When the youngster we've asked to curtail her telephone conversation reports with a demand that we mind our own business, we are confused and helpless.

Instead of expressing our own feelings toward her rudeness, we start trying to "understand" the feelings in her that produced the rudeness. We think, "Maybe Joan has been frustrated by some social situation at school she has to discuss with her friend. . . maybe she's seeking support for anger, at some teacher. . . maybe she's worried about homework. What is the emotion in Joan that has driven her to snap off my head?"

Now Joan's reason for snapping off our heads is her affair, her responsibility. If we are always going to take the responsibility from her by trying to figure it out ourselves, Joan is never going to learn to make her own contribution to human relationship.

It is only when we can take responsibility for our feelings that Joan begins to take some for hers. Instead of expecting us to figure out her reason-for-her prolonged phone conversation, she will explain it herself. To our statement, "You might hurt me and I don't like it," she will answer, "I had to get Gloria's history notes because I missed the assignment. He may even add, 'I'm sorry I am rude, mother.'"

Dear Abby...

Your Daddy Just Might Be Right!

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 37 and my new boy friend is 57. He is a very nice man and I expect he is going to propose any time as he sort of talks that way. He is not the extravagant type but he has a peculiarity I want to ask you about. He carries his money in a roll of bills with a rubber band around it. My Daddy says this is a sure sign of a stingy man. I would like some advice.

DEAR CORA: If he just "carries it" and the rubber band never comes off and neither do any of the bills, your Daddy is right.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is very good natured, but he has one fault that drives me crazy. He is very untidy. I am not a fussy person about housekeeping, but it unnerves me to clean house and then have him come home and throw his coat on the couch, hang his tie on the doorknob, drop his shirt on the floor, drape his trousers on another doorknob, and throw his socks and underwear under the bed. He walks around the house barefoot, leaves newspapers all over the floor and anything he takes out of the refrigerator (milk or butter) just stands around. He throws himself (all 210 pounds of him) on my good bedspread and "relaxes." I've tried talking nicely to him (he calls this "nagging") and letting things pile up, but nothing works. Have you any suggestions?

GOING CRAZY
DEAR GOING: Accept him for what he is. A big, goo-i-natured slob.

DEAR ABBY: I am a ninth grader taking biology. I love biology. But I can't stand the smell of the room. I know the remains of frogs, earthworms and crayfish have to be preserved, but does it have to smell like that?

NAUSEATED: All biology labs smell like that. Ask your teacher if you may spray it with scented air purifier. (Aren't we lucky Darwin could stand it?)

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARCIE: Some folks, who can't add and subtract, quit school to get married and have no trouble multiplying.

1961 Easter Look Is To Dazzle And Please

NEW YORK (NEA) — Gay and brilliant colors will turn the Easter parade into a real dazzler for onlookers across the country this year.

Gone will be the traditional grays and blacks of years past. Walking in their place will be vibrant and sunny yellow; hot pink and clear green; vivid blue, raspberry and deep turquoise.

Coats in these many colors will display other fashion changes, too. The near-disappearance of the collar, for instance, the brief sleeves, the chunky buttons. These are essentially young coats but they are meant for chic women of every age.

Though many of these new coats follow sleek lines some of them show width. Designers are aware that some women like to tuck a suit beneath a coat. Or that others prefer a wide skirt in any season.

Both because of color and line (the latter clean and simple), these coat fashions tend themselves to imaginative accessorizing. Oh, there are sure to be patent leather pumps glittering in the

Security Problems Follow In Wake Of Spy Convictions

LONDON (UPI) — Britain has smashed a "professional Communist spy ring" which included an American man and woman, but new problems rose today to worry the men responsible for the security of the Western alliance.

With security questions likely to be raised in the House of Commons today, there are two questions that must be answered before Britain and NATO can be sure they have cut out every bit of the cancer of espionage.

—How much of the vital information stolen from the Portland naval base by the five spies convicted in the Old Bailey Wednesday actually got to Moscow? The general public probably never will know. A general overhauling of naval strategy, particularly the practical war planning against Russia's 450 submarines, may be indicated.

—Did any Soviet agents escape the net that scooped up the five spies who have been convicted? It is understood today that Britain's intelligence service has started a search for additional Communist agents. The U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation and Interpol, the international police agency, are also believed cooperating. It is thought that the five persons convicted Wednesday represented only about one-tenth of the members of the spy ring. Many of them already may have escaped from Britain.

One of the aspects of the case worrying intelligence officials was the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cohen—two of the five convicted defendants—who went under the alias of Kroger, were able to move from country to country while under suspicion of the FBI.

To help in the search for other spies, one of the five convicted spies, Henry F. Houghton, according to the London Daily Herald, was being questioned "at his request." He was shown photographs of other persons believed to have acted as couriers in a Russian spy network, the Herald said.

A shakeup in the British intelligence services was understood to be in progress and there were reports that an investigation was being prepared because of alleged weaknesses in British security services as revealed in the spy trial.

The Daily Mail said that "the spy ring operated for a minimum of five years without any of Britain's security agencies being aware of it." Houghton's ex-wife, Peggy, according to the Mail, reported in 1958 that he was engaged in spying activities but that her warning was ignored by naval authorities.

Mr. and Mrs. Cohen, formerly of New York City and known in this county as Peter John Kroger and Helen Kroger, each got 20 years in prison and were ordered to pay $1,400 each toward the costs of the trial.

Gordon Arnold Lonsdale, 37, the middle man and master mind of the conspiracy, received the stiffest sentence of all—25 years in prison—and was ordered to pay $2,800 in costs.

Houghton, 56, a former clerk at Portland, was ordered to pay $2,800 costs and was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Miss Thel Elizabeth Gee, 46, Houghton's fiancée and also a clerk at Portland, got 15 years in prison and was ordered to pay $2,800.

BEAR FACED — Rosemary Fenton, 24, teams up in Paris with a toy animal representing a koala bear which is native to Australia. Rosemary's also a native of Australia. In fact, she's "Miss Australia."

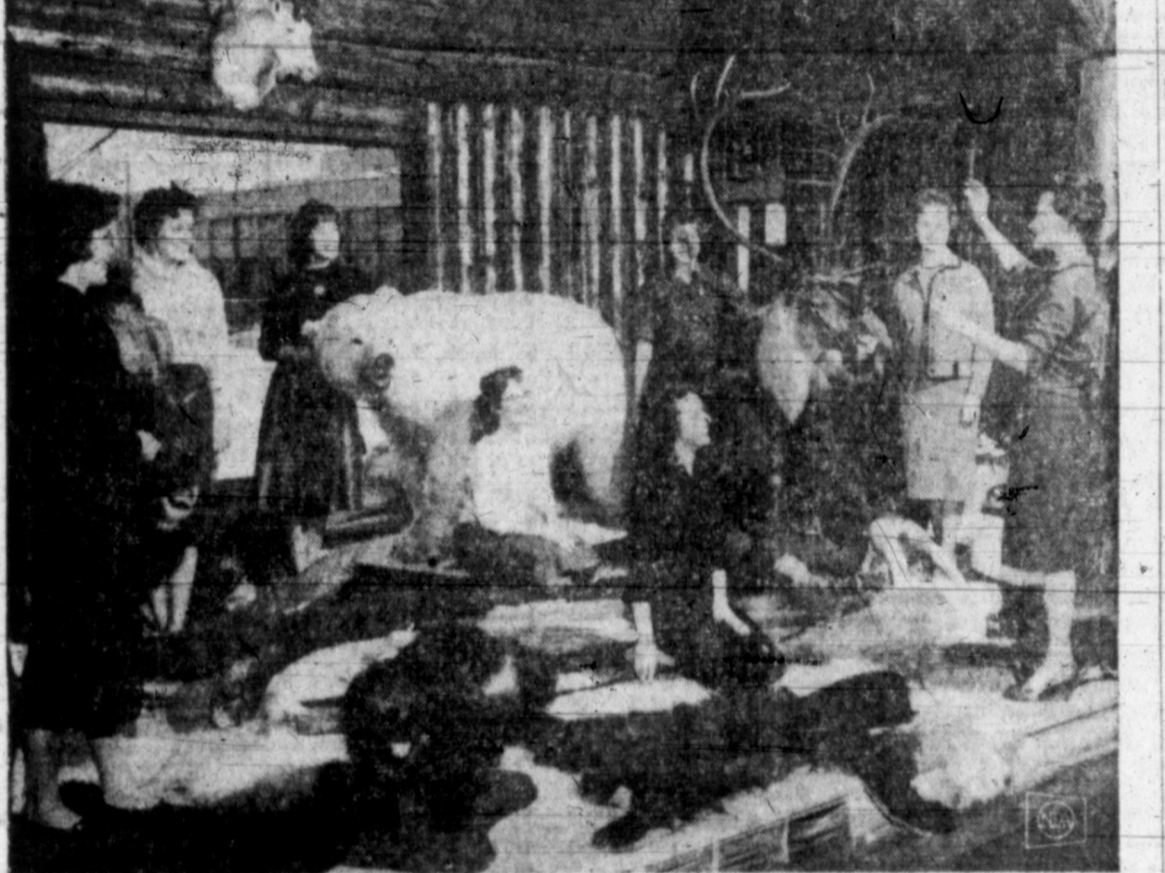

Lands under, lease for oil and a gas exploratory and development in the 32 producing states totaled about 383 million acres or 598,438 square mile in 1958.

How their telephones save Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sauer 2 1/2 hours a day

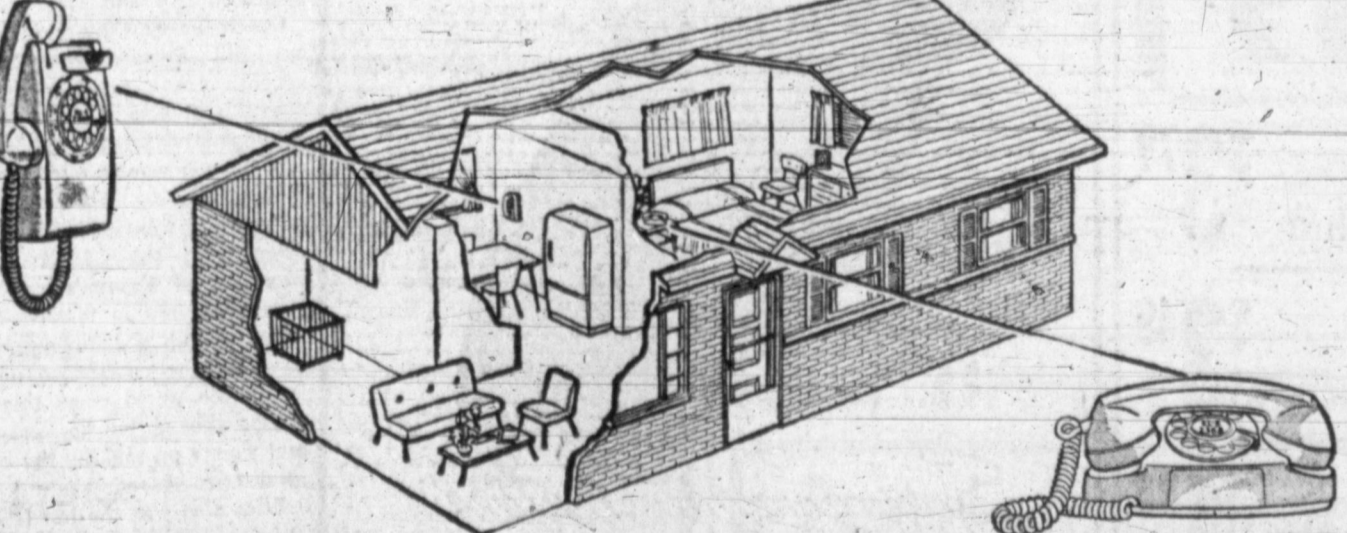

By DON DAVIS
Telephone News Writer

"I called a department store to order a place setting of china I saw advertised. It's for a friend who is getting married."

"As a photographer, I have calls at home in the evening. So I use our Princess phone in the bedroom where it's quiet."

The Sauers use their phones — a white Princess model in the bedroom and a green wall phone in the kitchen—about 50 times a week to help get things done.

The Sauers use their bedroom phone when they want quiet and privacy. This phone also gives Mrs. Sauer a sense of security when she's alone at night.

As she speaks of the Princess, Mrs. Sauer's eyes light up. "It's so small and lovely. And the way the dial lights up is great."

Why not take a tip from the Sauers? Enjoy the convenience, pleasure and security of extension telephones. Cost is low.

Lubbock Favored In Two-Day Tourney

PHS Netters Invade Monterey

Pampa's Harvester tennis team, after mopping up its third win in a row with a 3-0 victory over Clarendon here yesterday, will play today for the annual Monterey Invitational Tennis Tournament in Lubbock.

Coach Dean Evan's netters (3-1) were to find out their first hard opponents at an 8:30 a.m. draw tomorrow. Play begins at 9 a.m. tomorrow and ends Saturday afternoon.

Tom S. Lubbock, which has won the Odessa and Midland tourney titles, will be the favorite in the Monterey tournament, but may receive some stiff competition from the host Plainsmen.

Pampa's strongest bets are Jerry Thomas and Don Collins, two streaking sophomores who have yet to lose a match this season. Thomas turned in one of Pampa's three wins over Clarendon yesterday, 6-2, 6-1, while Collins com-

Clark, Gregory Pace Pampa To Easy Win

By ARTHUR MAYHEW
Daily News Sports Editor

ELK CITY, Okla. — Pampa's Harvesters, idled for 11 days as bad weather canceled game after game, showed little effects of the layoff here yesterday afternoon as they pounded out an easy 10-4 victory over the Elk City Elks in club play surrounding.

The victory — Pampa's second in a row — went to Mike Clark, the husky junior who went the first five innings, allowing two hits and five runs — neither earned. Jerry Glover took the last four, likewise giving up two hits and two runs but was hampered by a pair of RBI from sight in the 2nd and 4th.

After a strikeout, Clark plated the second run with an infield single. Frazier brought home another with an infield single that should have been an out but no one was covering first, and Stroud brought in Stewart and Storrs with a hard single to right with two away.

Elk City, now facing the right-handed slingshots of Glover, went down in order in the sixth, but made one last futile bid in the seventh with two runs on a walk, single and error with none away before Glover bore down and made runs — neither earned. Jerry Glover took the last four, likewise giving up two hits and two runs but was hampered by a pair of RBI from sight in the 2nd and 4th.

The silence was almost deafening. On the podium stood a tall, crew-cut blond man. His voice was strong, yet humble. His words seemed to touch everyone of the 275 players, coaches and fans who had come to hear Jimmy Bond speak at the Harvester basketball banquet.

In a way, it was a different Jimmy Bond who stood before the multitude and spoke on the two things dearest to his heart: God and basketball. Yet, it was the same man who, as a high school athlete back in 1933 and 1934, had led Pampa to its first state basketball championships. He was still doing his best, still setting the pace, still drawing the respect of the people around him as he had done not too long ago on the basketball court.

Keith Gregory, Harvester, third sacker, was the big gun at the plate as he pounded out two hits — one a solid double — knocked in four runs and scored one himself. Larry Stroud, after going 1-for-5, broke out of his hitting shackles to collect a pair of hits in his last two at bats to also spark a late Pampa rally.

Pampa leaped off to a quick 3-0 lead in the first inning before Elk City's Jim Randall settled down to make the game interesting.

The Harvesters opened the big first frame when Butch Frazier and Roy Don Stephens both walked. Frazier scored when Gerrel Owens reached first on an error and Stephens and Owens came in to plate the last two when Gregory slammed a screaming clothes-line double down the left field foul line that traveled to the fence.

Elk City came back in their half of the second inning to score twice on a walk, single and an error; and the game then settled into a pitcher's duel between Clark and Randall — then John Hancock — as Pampa went down in order in the second, third, and fourth frames and only five men reached the PHS plate in the fifth inning.

Meanwhile, Elk City threatened to tie the game up as they put two men on in the third before Clark blazed a fast ball called third strike past pinch-hitter Harry Miller. Clark then faced only four men in the fourth inning and retired the side in order in the fifth.

Pampa came on like gang busters in the sixth stanza, as 10 men came to the plate and before the smoke had cleared, five runs were across the plate and the game was sailed away.

The inning began innocently enough as Owens walked. However, Crossland singled to move Owens, to second and then Gregory and Mike Stewart walked, the final free pass forcing in Owens.

It was the first time Jimmy had come home in three years, although as he said, his heart would always be in Pampa. His parents no longer live here, having moved to Colorado several years ago, but no man could shake off the ties, the friendships he made while a student and athlete in Pampa High School.

His talk, short and to the point, was not the trite gab that permeates most banquet. Musty jokes were non-existent. Jimmy had not come all the way to Kansas City, Mo., where he is studying for his bachelor of divinity degree — to take up a half hour with empty words and off-repeated jokes.

It was an entertaining talk and one that ended much too soon. But it proved one thing: Jimmy Bond was a good basketball player — but he's an even better man.

Bond did relate one humorous story, concerning his courtship while a student at Pasadena College in California with the woman he later married.

"One night we were down at the beach. It was perfect. California, night; no smog and the weather was warm.

"We were standing barefoot in the sand and — with stars blinking brightly overhead — the waves were cresting toward the shore.

"I guess I was caught up in the moment, for poetically I said, 'Roll on, big waves, roll on.'

"Then, I felt my girl's grip tighten on my arm and I looked down into her eyes, now misty. Then, she said, 'Look honey, they're doing it.'"

Other notes off a soiled cuff: The 1953 Harvesters might well have been called the "Praying Harvesters." Bond has his own church (Nazarene) in Olathe, Kan. while Bill Webb, member of the '53 team and winner of the "Hustling Harvester" award that year, is a Baptist minister in Borger. Another Harvester star of 1953 and 1954, George Depepe who won the "Hustling" award in 1954, is studying for the ministry at Vanderbilt University.

Jimmy Bond's brother is the only Harvester ever to win the "Hustling Harvester" award twice. Marvin Bond, who preceded Jimmy to Pasadena College, won the award in 1951 and 1952.

Coach Terry Culey, in singling out Bill Potts, Robert E. Lee seventh grade coach, for his 5-0 record and district title said that "Bill wanted to play the Harvesters, but we wouldn't let him."

This year's "Hustling Harvester" award went appropriately to Allen Wise, the 6-3 forward who was one of Pampa's most consistent players in district action. Wise, though a letterman, didn't have all the confidence and ability in the world when this year's season started, but he worked hard and wound up making the coaches' all-district second team.

Wise also was the top free throw shooter in the district race and was one of Culey's most dependable performers by the season's end.

Several members of the '53 and '54 teams were present Tuesday night, including Buddy Cockrell, now a pro grinder with the New York Titans; E. J. Melvin, Buddy Sharp, Jimmy Enloe and Gayle Trolinger.

Others sent letters, including Gary Griffin, John Oden, Freddie Woods, George Depepe and Clifton McNeely, former PHS cage coach who has been named as new principal and athletic director at Bridgeport.

Leafs Grab NHL Win

By United Press International
The Toronto Maple Leafs held a 1-0 lead in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinal series with the Detroit Red Wings today all because manager-coach George (Punch) Imlach was back to his crystal ball gazing.

Imlach, accused of using witchcraft because of his success with the once-lowy Maple Leafs, hesitated Wednesday night before using captain George Armstrong in the series opener at Toronto which the Leafs won, 3-2, in two periods of overtime.

Armstrong, out of action since March 1, returned to the playoffs and scored the winning goal at 4:51 of the second overtime period.

Wild Night Looms As Old Rivals Vie In NIT Semifinal

NEW YORK (UPI) — Providence and Holy Cross carry their "family" feud into Madison Square Garden tonight to the accompaniment of blaring bands and boisterous fans, with the winning team assured a berth in the final round of the National Invitational Tournament.

New Keg Team Heads ABC List

DETROIT (UPI) — Team champions rarely repeat in an American Bowling Congress tournament, and after Wednesday night there will be a new regular division titleholder in this year's tourney.

Four members of the 1960 championship team, A. and A. Asphalt of Birmingham, Mich., appeared bowling under the Pfeiffer Beer banner Wednesday night and the team rolled a weak 2807.

Jack Born, Hank Gniwew and John Nickell rolled in the A. and A. championship lineup in Toledo last spring but were off their games as Born totaled 588, Gniwew 535 and Nickell 541. Monte Onzra, on the bench at Toledo, had a 569 series.

The two other A. and A. team members, Bob Brayman and Al Paigan, will bowl with other teams this year.

The Old Fitzgeralds of Chicago went into fifth place in Classic team standings with a six-game 4795 total. The team bowled 2841 after an opening 2955.

The Munsingwear of Chicago finished with a 5572, hitting 2851 Wednesday night after an opening block of 2721.

Two Classic Division teams opened play. The Richland Bowl of Fort Worth, Tex., started with 2771 and the Dyraty Motors of Cleveland had a 2842.

In the other semifinal match, Dayton will attempt to overcome the smart defensive tactics of St. Louis with its own combination of height and shooting ability.

If they were to be offered, ear plugs would probably be the biggest concession at the Garden when Providence and Holy Cross meet. Both schools travel fully equipped with bands and an organized horde of screaming fans who stop at nothing to give their team proper vocal support.

The two New England teams met a couple of weeks ago at Worcester, Mass., Holy Cross coming out on top, 77-72.

"It was the wildest demonstration I have seen at Holy Cross in many years," Providence coach Joe Mullane said Wednesday, as if warning New York fans what can be expected.

While Providence generally is acknowledged to have the more melodic band and Holy Cross gets the edge in crowd sound effects, the game itself is a toss-up and might very well develop into the best match of the tournament.

FALL INJURES JOCKEY
LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth's jockey, Harry Carr, suffered a broken collar bone as well as leg and head injuries Wednesday in the first of England's spring betting "double," the Lincolnshire Handicap at Carlisle Racetrack. Carr was injured when the 37-hour field scrambled around the first turn.

Suspension Record
NEW YORK (UPI) — Heliodoro Gustines was suspended more times during the 1960 New York season than any other jockey — four times.

MICKEY MANTLE... one-man gang

Critics Say Yes, Alston Not So Positive

LA's Youth Movement Ripens?

(EDITORS NOTE: This is the fourth of 18 dispatches on the 1961 prospects of the major league teams.)

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — This is the year a lot of the baseball experts expect the Los Angeles Dodgers' youth movement to pay off although manager Walter Alston isn't so sure.

There are too many "ifs" on the club to satisfy Alston. Not that he doesn't think the Dodgers can win, but to do it he pointed out that:

"Our kids are going to have to come through. Our pitchers are going to have to find the strike zone. Our catching has to improve. Our hitting has to improve. And the few veterans we have left like Gil Hodges and Duke Snider are going to have to do better."

If all that should jell, then Alston feels the Dodgers "have a real shot at it."

"It simply boils down to this," Alston said. "Of the contending clubs, the one which has all of its players live up to their potential will win. That's how we won in 1959 and how the Pirates won last year."

He named the Pirates, Braves, Cardinals and Giants in the contending group along with the Dodgers and also gave the Reds "an outside chance for they always play like champions against us."

Alston is experimenting with his youth.

He is trying Frank Howard, who can hit the ball as far as anyone, at first base and another outfielder, Tommy Davis, at third base. The Howard move appears doomed to failure, thus leaving the berth to Norm Larker, who lost out by two percentage points to Dick Groat of the Pirates in the 1960 National League batting championship race.

If Howard should surprise and make it at first, Larker would be put in the outfield. There's where Tommy Davis will wind up, too, if he doesn't make it at third.

Pitching is about the only department on the club which is set.

Don Drysdale (15-14), Johnny Podres (14-12), Roger Craig (8-3), Sandy Koufax (8-13) and Stan Williams (14-10) will be regular starters with Larry Sherry also getting a shot at starting roles if he is not needed for relief.

Sherry, the Dodgers' World Series relief ace of 1959, began last season as a starter but then was shifted back to the bullpen and wound up with a 14-10 record.

Ed Roebuck (8-2) will be one of the top relievers. That leaves three spots open and Alston is hoping to fill one of them with Ron Perranoski, a left-hander who had a combined record of 12-11 with Montreal and St. Paul last season. Alston pointed out the Dodgers needed a southpaw relief hurler and hopes the former Cub can fill the bill.

Big Don Newcombe may tick with the club for which he was a star for many years. Although he has lost the zip off his fast ball, he has been impressive thus far this spring. Last year Newcombe was 4-6 with the Reds and 2-3 with the Indians.

Ed Palmquist may win a relief berth and Jim Golden, who won 20 games with St. Paul last year, has a chance to break into the starting rotation.

John Roseboro, who slumped to 213 last season, and Norm Sherry will share the catching duties with Hodges, who can play first, third or the outfield, also available behind the plate if needed.

Golfing Masters Try Sunshine Open Field

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Professional golfers' master craftsmen launched an all-out assault on par today in the first round of the $25,000 Sunshine Open tournament at the Bayside Country Club.

Many in the 100-man field had an added impetus to play their best over the 6,632-yard, par-72 layout because of invitations to the aristocratic Masters tournament at Augusta, Ga. The Sunshine is the last big event before the Masters, which begins two weeks from today, and those invited to it will use this tournament as a final tuneup.

New Mick Looks Same

Hot-Hitting Mantle Sparks Yankee Win

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

The new Mickey Mantle looks suspiciously like the old Mickey Mantle.

And just in case there's any doubt about it, that's awfully bad news for American League pitchers.

You don't hear much talk any more around the Grapefruit Circuit about Mantle's "DiMaggio-like" leadership qualities — Remember two weeks ago how Mickey was going to develop into a quiet leader? — but you sure do hear about his Ruthian wallops.

Mantle unloaded a pair of 'em Wednesday and the second, coming in the ninth inning, produced a 14-11 victory for the New York Yankees over the Milwaukee Braves. Mantle, who belted his first homer of the game off Warren Spahn, drove in six runs in all and raised his spring batting average to .483. He's hit four homers.

Whitey Ford and Spahn were both hit hard during the game but elsewhere on the spring training circuit the front-line pitchers are rounding into shape.

Bob Friend and Elroy Face combined in a five-hitter to pitch the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates to a 10-1 win over the Chicago White Sox. Friend hurled seven innings, yielding the five hits and Chicago's run, and then Face pitched hitless and runless ball the last two innings.

Robin Roberts and Jim Bunning each turned in a strong performance in the Philadelphia Phillies' 7-1 win over the Detroit Tigers. Roberts allowed only one hit in three innings and now has pitched 10 consecutive scoreless innings in the first Detroit pitcher to go seven innings and three of the five runs he allowed were unearned.

Dick Ellsworth yielded one unearned run and three hits in seven innings as the Chicago Cubs shaded the Cleveland Indians, 2-1.

Johnny Antonelli continued his fine showing for the Indians, allowing one run and six hits in six innings.

Steve Barber and Jack Fisher combined in an eight-hitter to give the Baltimore Orioles a 9-4 win over the Cincinnati Reds and run their winning streak to five games.

Hawks Even NBA Series

By United Press International

The St. Louis Hawks are all even with the Los Angeles Lakers in the National Basketball Association's Western Division playoffs because they had the bench strength to offset another brilliant performance by Elgin Baylor.

Baylor, who has averaged 40 points a game in seven playoff games, tallied 35 Wednesday night but the Hawks nevertheless downed the Lakers, 121-106, to even the series at one victory each. The teams play again in Los Angeles on Friday and Saturday nights with the winner going on to meet the winner of the deadlocked Eastern Division series between the Boston Celtics and the Syracuse Nationals.

The Celtics, seeking their third straight NBA title, are favored to take a 2-1 lead in that series when they play Syracuse at Boston tonight.

The Hawks took command of Wednesday night's game when they opened up a 14-point margin in the last five minutes of the third period. Bob Pettit was the only St. Louis regular in action at the time but the Hawks' "bench foursome" of Woody Sauldsberry, Larry Foust, Al Ferrari and Si Green helped crack open the game.

Arcaro Guides Beau Prince To Rich Gulfstream Victory

By United Press International

Calumet Farms went to a lot of trouble in providing for Beau Prince Wednesday, and the 3-year-old son of Bull Lea came through in fine style for his owners by winning the $17,575 Fountain of Youth Spikes at Gulfstream Park.

Eddie Arcaro, who was brought in from New York for this race, showed good judgment in guiding Beau Prince from far back to a nose victory over Crozier. The favored Cary Back was third, three lengths off the pace. Beau Prince also was aided by special blinkers with a cup and his four white bandages were stripped down. He returned $11.50, $5.50 and $3.00 as he covered the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:43 1-5. Sam Boulmetis scored a triple at Aqueduct, including Coolha in the featured $4,500 allowance race. Coolha won by four lengths over Maggie James and Patricia J. was third.

AROUND THE WORLD

LOTS OF LONDON—Here's a quick-as-a-wink tour of London for armchair travelers, with many of the English capital's landmarks squeezed into one photograph. There is the traditional red double-decker bus, Waterloo Bridge, the Thames River with two naval vessels on it, and majestic St. Paul's Cathedral looming in the background.

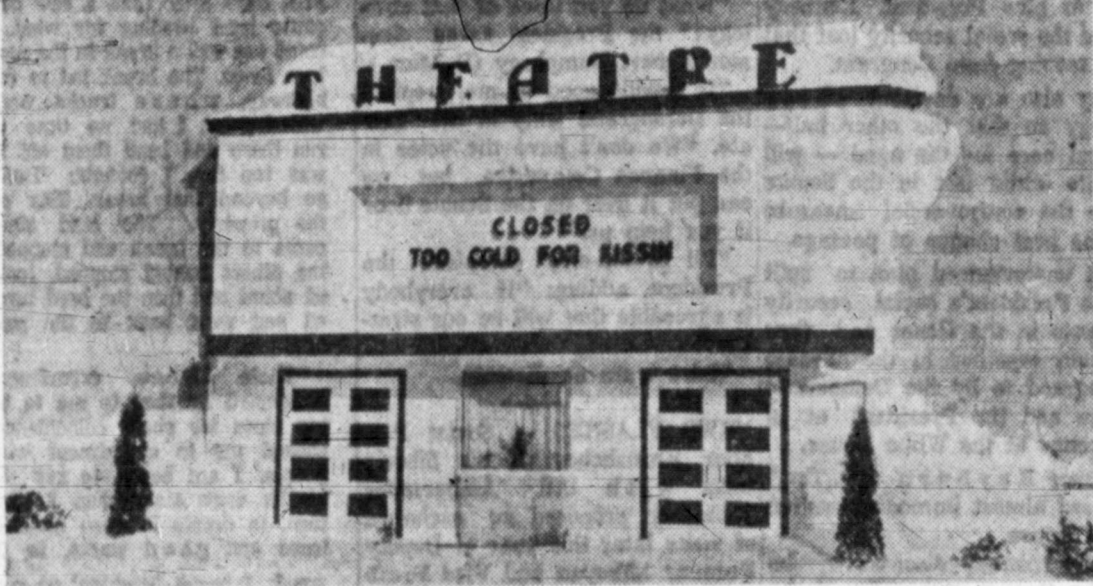

BULLDOZING—As he kneels to scoop up some snow with his face, Bozo, a bull on a farm near Lenhartsville, Pa., seems to be having the best time of his life. Zero-degree temperatures and big snowdrifts set the cows to forlorn shivering, but brought out this playful side of the big bull who enjoyed himself like a child.

THEN BACK TO WORK—During the recent short-lived airline strike, three stewardesses with National Airlines were "stranded" in Palm Beach, Fla. Left to right: Melanie Jones, Eldora Blodgett and Poppye Price made the best of a good situation by turning beachcombers for the few days.

LIFE IN THE ALPS—It's not always like this, but a telephone man found unexpected help in reaching the top of the pole by climbing a huge snowdrift near Champrousse, France. Heavy snowfalls raised havoc in the French Alps.

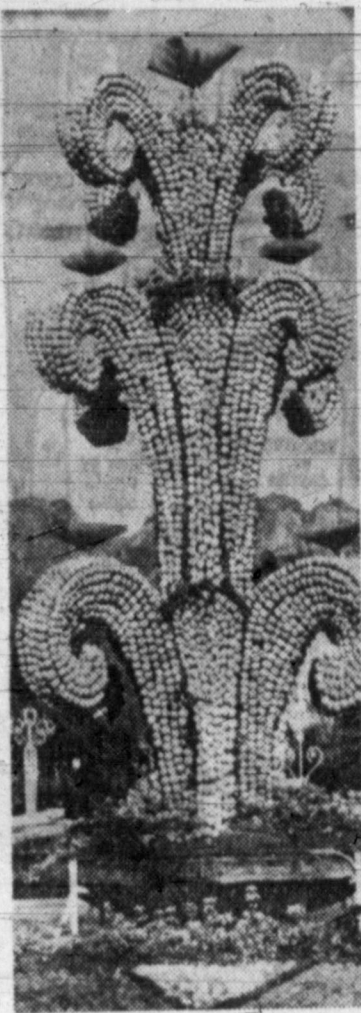

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE—The cold facts about the drive-in theater in Meadeville, Pa., speak for themselves in the top photo. But, on the same day (below), there was some warm-weather frolicking going on at Miami Beach, Fla., as students whooped it up.

MONKEY DO—Sporting a jungle look, model Jeanette MacConwell puts monkey on her back for an eye-catching shaggy coat in London, England. The monkey-fur garment was part of a half-million dollar exhibit of unusual designs in clothing and jewelry, and it more than held its own in attendants' interest.

UP IN SMOKE—Fire swept the 72-year-old Dominion United Church of Ottawa, Ont., Canada, while the mayor declared a state of emergency. Half the city's fire-fighting force sought to contain the blaze which gutted the landmark and a nearby art gallery. Their main efforts were directed at preventing the fire from spreading.

CITRUS SIGHT—A sight for sore eyes indeed—if the juice ever got loose—from the 100,000 lemons and oranges that went into the building of this structure in Menton, France. The 33-foot-high oddity is in the center of the Mediterranean town and it commemorates Menton's traditional Feast of Lemons, an annual event.

WIDE OPEN—After a journey across desert sands, near Cairo, U. A. R., a camel is expressing its opinion about something to Richard Garnarolli, who is wearing an Arab headdress. A native of Vevey, Switzerland, Richard earned a two-week trip to Egypt in an essay contest, and rode the big animal from the Pyramids to the Sphinx.

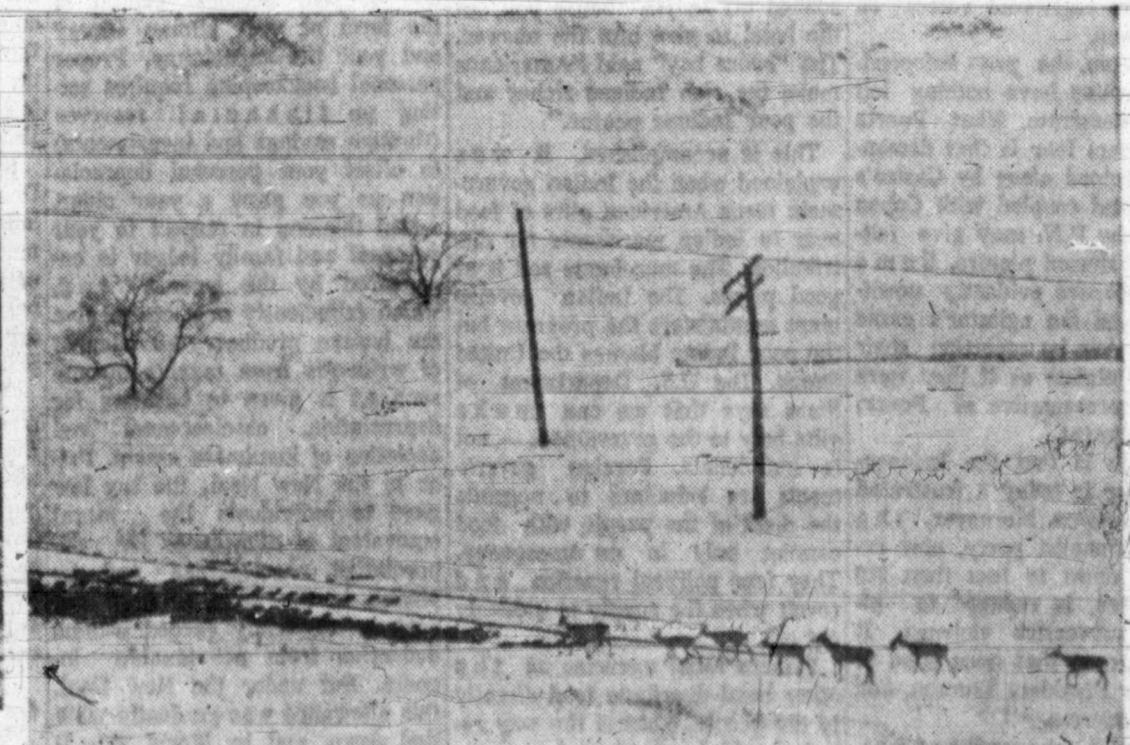

IN DEEP—In his first encounter with snow, Chico, a Chihuahua in Nashville, Tenn., found himself waist deep in it. The pooch had been gingerly following a low wall with which he is familiar, until he took one "false" step, with this sad result.

IN THE BAG—The old-time garbage can at right may be headed for the dumps and replaced by a disposable, wet-strength paper bag being tried by Mrs. Pat McCutcheon of Castlereagh, Northern Ireland. They are designed to be tied around a permanently mounted metal ring with cover.

THE ROAD AHEAD—With crude baskets, shovels and bare hands as their only tools, women join their men in building a road to link the main highway with a village near Baroda, in India's Bombay State. The government pays workers for the improvement project, part of a plan to raise living standards in India.

TRACKDOWN—Hunting for food in a snowy wilderness, some deer are following the path of the Long Island Rail Road tracks near Westhampton, N. Y. The tracks are covered by a thick blanket of snow. Wildlife in the area had been faced with a critical shortage of food as a result of the weather, and supplies were dropped from the air.

Group To Study Nationals Fuels Policy Operation

Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — A five-man committee to study proposals for a national fuels policy and the operation of the "area pricing rule" of the Federal Power Commission has been appointed by Gov. Price Daniel.

Daniel, acting in his capacity as chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, announced the appointments at a meeting of the executive committee of the commission held in the Driskill Hotel.

Named by the governor were: A. L. Porter Jr., Santa Fe, N.M., secretary and state geologist for the New Mexico Oil Conservation Commission, chairman; Genevieve Blatt, Harrisburg, Penn., secretary of Internal Affairs of Pennsylvania; Dr. Walter B. Jones, Tuscaloosa, Ala., Alabama University geologist; G. M. Anderson, Shreveport, La., and John Goldsum, Austin, administrative assistant to the governor.

The IOCC authorized Governor Daniel to appoint two special committees, one to study the effects of oil imports on the domestic market, and another to study depletion allowances. Committee members will be announced later.

The executive committee voted to change the date of the next full IOCC meeting from June 19-21 to June 1-3 to avoid a conflict with a conference of U.S. governors in Hawaii.

Among those present at the meeting here were Gov. George D. Clyde of Utah, Lt. Gov. Joe Bottom of South Dakota and Secretary of State Tom Adams of Florida. Other states represented at the meeting were Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Oklahoma.

The IOCC is composed of 33 states organized with the consent of Congress for the purpose of conserving oil and gas. The executive committee consists of the governor or his official representative from 11 of the member states.

The Legislature last week passed a resolution welcoming the committee members to Texas and commending the conservation achievements of the IOCC, of which AGADIR, MOROCCO—A COMEBACK—Hundreds of small prefabricated houses line a brand-new street in Agadir, Morocco, the resort city where thousands died and most of the buildings were destroyed in an earthquake of Biblical proportions last year. Reconstruction is proceeding rapidly but it will be some time before the city resumes its former activities.

LINK TO POTENTIAL betterment for untold thousands in Thailand is Oliver Gordon Young, 33, above. As consultant for U.S. International Cooperation Administration and the Thai government, his job will be to forge understanding with hill tribes, who need agricultural know-how to improve their lives. Born in China of a missionary family, Stateside-educated Young's family home is at Chiangmai, Thailand. Years spent in contact with tribes, both with his father and as a hunter, gives him unique advantages.

Jurist Draws His Own Name As 'Prospect'

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—The odds were staggering, something like 400,000 to 1, but District Judge Dallas A. Blankenship did it. He not only drew his own name as a prospective juror Wednesday, but also drew the name of C. A. Maxwell, the bailiff in the jury room. Blankenship excused himself, and told Maxwell not to worry about it either.
