Aide Seeks End To Death Rumor

Lumumba Still Missing; Some Say He's Dead

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
United Press International

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (UPI)—Missing Premier Patrice Lumumba's private secretary sought to dispel rumors the pro-Soviet Congolese leader had been slain by displaying a document dated Saturday and bearing Lumumba's signature.

Newsmen compared the signature with previously signed documents and said the signature appeared authentic, but there still was no indication as to the whereabouts of the goateed former beer salesman, deserted by the Army here and by his Russian friends who fled the country during the day.

The secretary, Leon Illongo, displayed a communique from Lumumba to the United Nations dated Friday protesting U. N. refusal to allow pro-Lumumba troops to leave Stanleyville. A postscript to the communique was dated today and bore a separate signature.

The Russians, defeated here by Congolese army strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu and in the United Nations by America-led opposition to attempts to infiltrate the Congo, asked for and received U.N. troop protection as they rode to the airport and flew off.

They left as the man who brought them here, Lumumba, was revealed to have disappeared from his U.N.-guarded home Friday night. His disappearance touched off a wave of rumors that his enemies had killed him.

But 1,100 of his still-loyal army forces were invading secessionist Katanga province and in Stanleyville to the north his word remained law.

A new threat rose in the spread of smallpox. The World Health Organization in Geneva reported Friday night that there had been many outbreaks of the dread disease, but all had been localized. Western embassies said they

Cubans Limit Travel Of U. S. Ambassador

HAVANA (UPI)—Cuba imposed severe travel restrictions on U. S. Ambassador Phillip Bonsal Saturday and announced it had arrested or expelled seven North Americans—two of them U. S. embassy employes on charges of wiretapping on the Chinese Communist New China News Agency.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa said Bonsal would be restricted to a small area around the embassy as well as Premier Fidel Castro in New York for the United Nations General Assembly. He said it was in retaliation for the U. S. action in restricting Castro to Manhattan Island.

Castro's departure time was secret. The government newspaper El Mundo said he was going Sunday, but gave no details. Most newspapers played up the fact he was going to address the General Assembly on Wednesday. (It was not known if Castro would use a military plane or one of the Cubana airline planes. If he flies to New York on a Cubana plane it presumably would be seized by authorities. Two Cubana airplanes in New York were seized after a Miami advertising firm slapped a lien on the airline Thursday for non-payment of a $237,600 debt.)

Events of the past two days gave the controlled Cuban press more screaming headlines — the Bonsal confinement, arrest of the North American wiretappers, the armed militia occupation and seizure of three U. S. banks and the seizure Friday of the Cuban tobacco industry.

Red Planes Endanger Other Craft

BERLIN (UPI)—Soviet jet fighters, ignoring one near-collision, swarmed across the three Allied air corridors over East Germany Saturday regardless of danger to Western aircraft going to and from West Berlin.

The jets, in tactics reminiscent of Communist attempts at thwarting the Allied airlift during the 1948-49 Berlin blockade, menaced the West's flights.

The Red jet flights, which have increased in the past few days in the 20-mile wide corridors, caused pilots to be on their mettle for fear of colliding with the Communist fighters.

The harassing coincided with charges by the Soviet Union that the West was using the corridors to fly "militarists" into the city. The Allies feared the charge might be setting the stage for deliberate interference with the airlines.

Cecil Drake, first officer of a British plane which narrowly escaped a mid-air collision Friday in the Frankfurt-Berlin corridor, said that if the flights continue, "it will not be a happy situation." He said "their flights have increased and it puts you on edge."

He said the Soviet fighter shot across the front of his plane and made a U-turn around it.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt has warned the Communists that they should "not play with fire" by "laying their hands" on the air traffic to his city. Other spokesmen for Western nations also have warned the Communists that their governments will not tolerate interference in the corridors.

In another incident, eight East German refugees sped past a Communist border checkpoint here Saturday to gain asylum. They said they had fled in a truck from the Soviet zone city of Ullitz on the Polish border 115 miles southeast of here.

Soviet Union Now Knows How U.S. Uses Secret Means To Break Difficult Case

By VINCENT J. BURKE
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The defection to Russia of two National Security Agency employes who had "top secret" clearance left intelligence authorities grappling

Saturday for solutions to two big problems. Congressional investigators who questioned top military intelligence officials behind closed doors said the questions are:

'K' Visit Not For Candidate Evaluation

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon Saturday night charged Sen. John F. Kennedy with using Soviet Premier Khrushchev's visit for political purposes, and said he felt both candidates should stop talking about it until President Eisenhower has spoken for the nation.

Nixon told a news conference "no comments" about the Soviet Premier's statements or activities at the forthcoming United Nations session until Eisenhower has indicated "what line" he believes most constructive for U.S. foreign policy.

But in his speech prepared for delivery at Macalester College here Saturday night, Nixon asked whether Kennedy was employing "calculated distortion, accidental error, lack of understanding or scare tactics" in a recent comment on the Khrushchev visit.

Will Be Permitted To Engage In Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.J. (UPI)—The United States opened an emergency session of the United Nations General Assembly on the Congo Saturday night with a bid to bring 14 more African countries into debate.

In a surprise move, U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth moved to suspend the rules and take up the membership application of 15 countries which had been recommended previously by the Security Council.

This comprised 14 African countries—including the strife-torn Republic of the Congo itself—and newly-independent Cyprus.

Under normal procedure, the 15 applicants would have been considered early in the regular session of the General Assembly starting next Tuesday.

"The fate of the Congo is of extraordinary and vital importance to the rest of Africa and the United States believes those most directly concerned should be permitted to participate in the debate," Wadsworth said.

The assembly agreed to make the applications the first item on its agenda.

In addition to the Congo, the Federation of Mali, which has split into independent countries of Senegal and Sudan since its application was recommended by the council, presented special problems.

The African countries involved were Cameroon, Togo, Mali, Malagasy, Somalia, the Republic of the (Belgian) Congo, the Republic of the (French) Congo, Dahomey, Niger, the Republic of the Upper Volta, the Republic of the Ivory Coast, Chad, Gabon and the Central African Republic.

Just before the assembly met, the U.N. delegate-designate of the now missing ousted leftist Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba called for a round-table of the Congo's leaders to work out the country's political salvation.

Thomas Kanza, who contends he is the only legal Congolese representative here, suggested summoning the feuding Congo leaders into talks similar to the Brussels conference where conditions for the country's independence were drawn up.

As Congolese army strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu forced Russian and Czech diplomatic missions to close up shop and fly out of the Congo, the United States turned a Soviet veto in the Security Council to its own advantage and forced the night time war-or-peace.

The Russian position was further undermined by the disappearance of its champion, Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba and an official announcement that moderate Premier Joseph Mo-

Texas Not Enfolded By Democrats

DALLAS (UPI)—Texas Democrats meet in state convention Tuesday faced with a threat by a few conservatives to heckle the party's national platform and perhaps an attempt to free presidential electors.

The ground rules on platform heckling have already been issued by Gov. Price Daniel. It will be permitted as long as hecklers point out that the Republican platform has "objectionable parts."

A move to free presidential electors and perhaps force the presidential election into the U.S. House of Representatives will meet vigorous party opposition. It is not expected to gain much support.

Democratic voters would be disfranchised if electors refused to cast their vote as dictated by popular ballot, Daniel said, indicating he would lead a fight to have disloyal electors removed by the convention.

Houston, Fort Worth and Marshall conservatives have already passed resolutions repudiating the goal has been established on that basis," said Munn.

United Fund Has Single Objective

The Pampa-Lefors United Fund campaign has as its objective one thing—to raise the $68,746 goal of the organization this year, Melvin Munn, chairman of the campaign, said Saturday.

"We are not a welfare agency. It is our duty to conduct a campaign to raise funds for the seven agencies in this combined effort. We have been informed of the needs of each agency, and the goal has been established on that basis," said Munn.

He thus was clearing a matter that has perplexed people in the past. Some were misinformed, since they believed the United Fund was a special unit that did welfare work, over and above the projects of specific organizations established to handle such matters.

The seven agencies receiving funds from the UF are:

Boy Scouts of America, Girl Scouts of America, the Heart Fund, Milk Fund, Red Cross, Pampa Welfare Index and Salvation Army.

"These organizations prepare an audit of the previous year's operations and develop a budget for the coming year. These proposed budgets are turned over to the Budget and Admissions Committee of the United Fund for screening. The panel tries to meet the requests of the organizations whenever possible.

"Once the agencies' requests have been acted upon, the sums are totaled and two per cent is added to cover uncollected or incomplete pledges, plus a small operating cost. This brings about the total monies the United Fund sets as its goal," Munn pointed out.

The UF has one employee, Mrs. Emmett Gee, who works on a part-time basis except during the drive. Her salary, plus operating and campaign funds, represent four per cent of the monies solicited.

"The agencies receive 96 per cent of all monies derived by the United Fund," said Munn.

Although the campaign will not get under way until Sept. 30, three units already have begun activities. The newly formed speakers bureau which is headed by Brantly Hudson, will campaign in plants and offices, with special speakers assigned to various points to bring the story of the United Fund to

Key Diplomats Reaching NYC

By CLAIRE COX
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Key diplomats began arriving by ship and airplane Saturday for the United Nations "summit meeting" next week.

The largest gathering of top government officials in U.N. history was expected to be on hand for the opening of the 15th annual General Assembly meeting on Tuesday.

First to arrive was Erik Louw, South African external affairs minister, who traveled from England on the liner Mauretania to head his country's delegation to the assembly.

The second was Britain's foreign secretary, the Earl of Home who flew to New York aboard a British Overseas Airways plane.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev started the ball rolling toward a summit session by announcing he would lead his delegation to the assembly session to spearhead the Communist war of words against the United States.

Heads of the Soviet satellite states said they, too, would be here. Other government leaders followed suit.

Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro, Yugoslavia's President Tito and the United Arab Republic's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser were among the more controversial figures who planned to be here.

The presence of so many leaders involved in international controversies presented the New York police force with the biggest security problem in the city's history.

The entire force of about 24,000 men — equal to two army divisions — was put on around-the-clock alert. Special detachments of highly-trained policemen were assigned to guard Khrushchev, Castro and some of the others.

Cordons of police were ordered to stations outside the Russian headquarters on Park Avenue, where Khrushchev will stay. The personal bodyguards of the visiting statesmen were forbidden to carry weapons of their own and Castro was ordered to stay on Manhattan Island during his visit.

The State Department first confined Khrushchev to Manhattan, but later decided to allow him to travel to the Soviet estate at Glen Cove, on Long Island, on weekends, if he chose.

Every police precaution was

Unions See Inequity In Tax Assessments

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas state AFL-CIO made public a study of state taxes Saturday, and charged that to even suggest adding a general sales tax to individual burdens if an "outrage."

"Our present disproportionate tax burden has the poorer paying more than the richer, and we submit this is not the equitable tax distribution demanded by our constitution," it said.

The report was submitted to the governor's state finance advisory committee by Fred H. Schmidt, secretary-treasurer of the state labor organization.

Schmidt, also a member of the commission, concluded that "to suggest adding a general sales tax or other such regressive taxes to this disproportionate tax structure outrages the sensibilities of anyone dedicated to fair and just tax legislation."

He said a Texan making only $1.80 an hour pays almost 3 per cent of his income in state taxes. The average personal tax burden, however, is 2.82 per cent of income, according to the survey.

Schmidt also said a revised computation of total state taxes as compared to personal income shows the average tax burden has decreased about two-tenths of 1 per cent. He attributed this to the fact that personal income has risen at a rate greater than taxes have increased.

Scouts Plan 'Open Houses'

Roger Farrow of Pampa will serve as chairman of a school open house program sponsored by the Santa Fe District of the Boy Scouts of America.

The primary purpose of this program is to invite boys not currently active in scouting to attend meetings at various schools and to become acquainted with scouting objectives.

John Gentry will conduct the first of these meetings, to be held Monday at 7:15 p.m. in Baker Elementary School. A brief outline of the Cub scouting and Boy Scouting programs will be presented.

Assisting Farrow with the meetings will be Wayne Irving, Gene Etheridge, W. A. Morgan, Parks Brumbly, Leann White, Bob Rasmussen and Gentry.

All boys eight and older are invited to attend these meetings with their parents and join in the scouting program.

Other meetings will be held as follows: Sam Houston School, Sept. 21; Lamar School, Sept. 22; Mann and Carver Schools, Sept. 23; Travis School, Sept. 26; Wilson School, Sept. 27; Lee Jr. High, Oct. 3; Pampa Jr. High, Oct. 6.

AF Academy Applicants Being Sought

Lt. Col. Frank J. Storm, area liaison officer for the U.S. Air Force Academy, said last week has received a number of requests for information on obtaining an appointment to the academy.

Due to this interest, Lt. Col. Storm suggests that the following information will be helpful to interested persons.

Catalogues and descriptive information may be obtained from the registrar, U.S. Air Force Academy, Colo.

If a prospective candidate desires to take the competitive examination for appointment, he should immediately contact Congressman Walter Rogers or Senators Johnson or Yarborough for permission to take the examination.

Additionally, and most important, since nominations to the academy are made in January and Civil Service Commission examinations are conducted in July and November of each year, applicants

Jet, Rocket Age Becomes Age Of Noise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This is the age of jets and rockets—and noise.

The world never again will be the relatively quiet vale it was when the worst peace-disturbers it had to contend with were pneumatic drills, political campaigns, police sirens, hi-fi, and Hollywood mufflers.

Scientists say it is impossible to make quiet jet engines or booster rockets. You can't even cut down their noise by very much without seriously impairing their performance.

Dr. Richard H. Bolt, associate director for research of the National Science Foundation, defines noise as "unwanted sound." Nobody wants jet or rocket sound.

It is a waste of energy. At the worst it is a danger to both people and machines. At the least it is a nerve-straining nuisance.

It has created costly complications for both jet transportation and the government's man-in-space program. It has aroused whole communities to angry protest. By drowning out speech sounds, it could cause disastrous misunderstanding of orders.

Sound is measured in decibels, the scientific unit of relative noise intensity. Each increase of six decibels corresponds to a doubling of the noise pressure level. Thus a rise from 40 to 100 decibels represents nearly a 10 million-fold increase.

Dr. Ira H. Abbott, chief of advanced research for the National Aeronautics & Space Administration (NASA), has worked out the following scale of noise levels:

Background noise in residential area, about 50 decibels; room air conditioner, about 70; passenger compartment of modern airliners, 90 to 100; large jet and rocket engines, 150 to 170 respectively.

Normal conversations begins to get difficult at 70 decibels, according to Abbott. Sustained exposure to 90 decibels causes some temporary dulling of the ear. Above 130 decibels, "we begin to get a definite risk of human deafness." And at about 140 decibels airplanes themselves suffer structural damage.

The intense noise of large rockets, Abbott says, is "especially serious for man-carrying vehicles such as Mercury."

National planning of aviation facilities and flying lanes, can help minimize the jet nuisance, Bolt believes, but no solution is likely "that will be 100 per cent agreeable to all interests."

So "everyone must give and take, accepting some restrictions on aircraft operations, some reallocation of land, some willingness to put up with more noise than might otherwise seem fair."

must contact their representative far in advance and compete, actually, in the year preceding entrance to the academy.

Oilmen Play Big Role In Supplying Fuel For Body

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Oilmen provide not only the fuel for our cars but also play a big part in supplying the fuel for our bodies.

This fact hits home when consumers think of the giant role chemicals play in the production of food. Most petroleum companies are deeply involved in the production of chemicals for the growing and preserving of food.

The big "cranberry scare" of 1959 illustrated not only how important chemicals are to food but also the never ending task of protecting consumers from the potentially harmful chemicals used in food.

A century ago, nine U. S. farm workers could raise only enough food for themselves and one city dweller, the current issue of Shell News, Shell Oil Co., notes. Today, one farm worker can produce enough for himself and 20 city dwellers.

This increase in food production has been made possible by advances in farm machinery, agronomy, genetics, bacteriology, medicine and last but not least, chemistry.

Chemicals are used on farms in three ways: As fertilizers, growth regulators and as pesticides. The oil industry is a leading producer of such chemicals, which also are used in a variety of ways in food processing and packaging.

Shell, for example, markets in all branches of food chemistry. The firm makes six types of insecticides, two soil fumigants, two herbicides, and various fertilizers.

About 400 million acres of crop land are now under cultivation in the U. S. If fertilizers were not used, about 25 per cent more land, or 100 million additional acres, would be required to maintain the present level of production.

Hundreds of pesticides have been developed to keep in check thousands of different types of flying or crawling enemies that attack seeds, roots, foliage and fruits.

Without pesticides, the National Academy of Science estimates it would be impossible to commercially produce apples, peaches, potatoes, citrus fruits and tomatoes, and the yield of other crops would be drastically reduced.

The first legislation covering use of chemicals in food processing was the Federal Food and Drug Law in 1906. An amendment, passed in 1954, protects consumers from any harmful residues of pesticide chemicals used in connection with the food.

The big "cranberry scare" arose from the use of a weed killer — aminotriazole — on the cranberries. Federal authorities found that under certain conditions the residue from the weed killer might cause cancer in rodents. So the cranberries were banned from the market.

The action was placed under attack by farmers because it wasn't proved that the minute amount of residue could harm humans unless they consumed cranberries at a rate of 15,000 pounds daily for years. However, the incident pointed up the safeguards available in the use of such chemicals.

Since prehistoric times, when man started preserving meat with salt, chemicals have been important to food. Some are petroleum based and many are the direct concern of the oilman.

"Buffalo Bill" Cody fought his famous "duel to the death" with a Cheyenne warrior named Yellow Hand or Yellow Hair.

Personnel Group Slates Oct. 12 Meet

The Panhandle Personnel Association will conduct its eighth annual Industrial Relations Conference Oct. 12 in the Amarillo Little Theater building, 2019 Civic Circle.

Theme for the conference will be "Automation's Challenge for Supervision."

John Diebold, author of the book "Automation," will be principal speaker. His topic will be "Automation and Public Policy."

Two other speakers on the program are Dr. W. Lionel Miller, a member of Diebold's firm of John Diebold and Associates, Inc., and Louis J. Droeger, a West Coast leader in the field of automation management consulting.

Dr. Miller's topic will be "Meeting the Demand for Automation Specialists," and Droeger will speak on "Automation and Personnel Management and Industrial Relations."

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. in the lobby of the building and the program will start at 10 a.m.

Advance registrations may be made by contacting Wayne Allen, personnel manager, the Borden Co., Amarillo.

Kennedy Gets Tough Over GOP Promises

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press International
RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI)—Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy said Saturday night the United States under the Republican administration had a magnificent record of talking tough in international affairs without halting the advance of world

Communism or strengthening the spread of freedom.
Kennedy, after a long day of touring North Carolina by plane, spoke in the Coliseum here as he stepped up his attacks on his Republican opponent, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.
Kennedy assailed Republican farm policy in earlier speeches at Greenville, and Greensboro, but his aerial campaign cavalcade of five planes had to bypass a scheduled speaking date in Asheville because of bad weather. Kennedy flew on to Charlotte and telephoned a message of greetings back to the Asheville audience.
In Raleigh, Kennedy concerned himself largely with foreign affairs against the background of the forthcoming visit to the United Nations General Assembly by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Brother, Sister Have Reunion

David T. Quarles of McLean was recently reunited with a sister he hadn't seen for over 40 years. The sister, Mrs. Ada Weeks was located in Bullard, Tex.

Quarles became separated from his sister in 1919 when both moved from Frankston, Tex., and lost contact. His daughter, Mrs. Ivan Gilbert, 1128 N. Starkweather, stated that her father had searched and wrote letters all over the country the past 40 years in an effort to locate Mrs. Weeks.

Mrs. Weeks had also been trying to locate her brother, and each had given up hope of ever meeting. She was finally located through the Bullard Chamber of Commerce. Quarles and Mrs. Gilbert recently spent a week with Mrs. Weeks while they brought each other up to date on family history.

Tests For NROTC Due In December

Vice Adm. W. R. Smedberg, III, Chief of Naval Personnel, announced today that the 15th annual national competitive examination for the Regular Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps will be given to eligible high school seniors and graduates on Dec. 10. Application forms are now available and must be mailed by Nov. 18.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a regular commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice having an NROTC unit. All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives an annual retainer of $600 for four years. During the summers the student goes on training cruises as a midshipman. After completing the usual four year college course, he is commissioned in the regular Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty as a prospective career officer. For those who apply and qualify, immediate assignment to flight training will open new careers in naval aviation.

High school seniors and graduates who have reached their 17th birthday and have not reached their 21st birthday on July 1, 1961 may apply for the NROTC aptitude test. Those who make a qualifying score will be given a physical examination early in 1961. From the number of qualified men remaining in competition, at least 1,600 will be selected to begin their naval careers next September.

The NROTC college training program is also open to enlisted men on active duty with the Navy and Marines. A separate quota is established for applicants within the services.

Application forms are available at high schools, Navy Recruiting Stations or from the Chief of Naval Personnel, Department of the Washington 25, D.C.

Latest Khrushchev Trip May End Up In Peiping

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (NEA) — Nikita Khrushchev's trip to the United Nations is likely to be the first lap of a long journey that, in addition to Castro's Cuba, may ultimately take him to Red China.

According to reports reaching U.N. diplomats, Moscow has proposed a congress where Khrushchev will confront Mao Tseung in a last-ditch effort to iron out their political differences. The meeting, presumably would be in Peiping.

This is believed to explain why the Soviet Premier comes to the U.N. accompanied by a galaxy of lesser Red chieftains.

Will the smaller Communist states serve as judges in the dispute between the two Red giants—Russia and China?

Even on this issue Mao and Khrushchev are at loggerheads. The Russians are reportedly anxious to limit the congress to chiefs from Communist-dominated countries. The Chinese want to include all Communist parties from the West, Africa, Asia and Latin America.

Thus, while Khrushchev wants a summit where his satellites will be in a majority Mao apparently seeks a revival of the old Communist International, disbanded by Moscow during the last war, where he would be the dominant influence. Should Khrushchev finally turn up in Peiping it will bear out the prediction made by a pro-Mao French Communist after the collapse of the Summit Conference in Paris. The French Red told me: "If you read in the next weeks that Khrushchev has made a hurried trip to consult with his friend, Mao Tse-tung, you will know whose voice is now strongest in the ranks of world communism."

Experts on communism who now have had a chance to sift the accumulated information about the Soviet-Chinese rift are no longer marly over Khrushchev's vague formula for peaceful coexistence convinced that the quarrel is primarily with the West. They believe it revolves around Russia's failure to give the Chinese greater economic and industrial aid.

The Chinese demand that the Communist world conserve its economic surplus for its own development. This is seen as a challenge to Moscow's aid programs to what Mao regards as "reactionary" governments in Asia, Africa and Latin America. China, of course, would prefer to divert this aid to her own development.

However, it is unlikely that Khrushchev will heed Mao's demand to use Russia's surplus production exclusively within the boundaries of the Communist bloc.

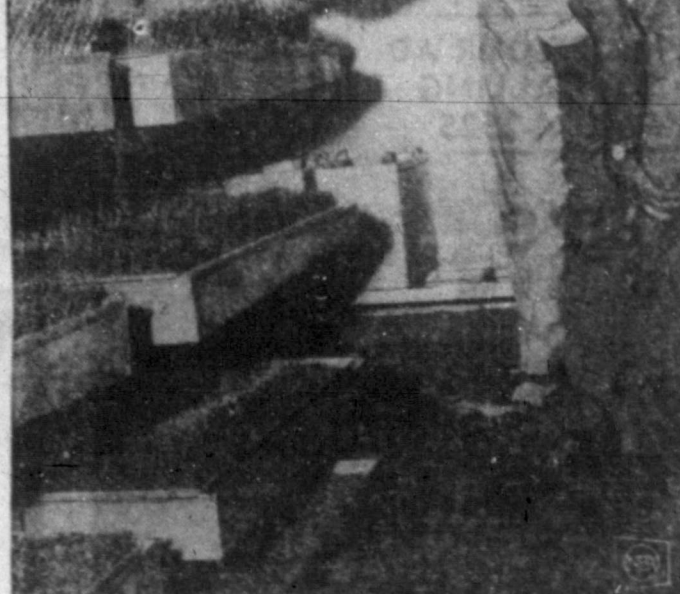

Such a move would in fact surrender Moscow's influence in the uncommitted nations and cause irreparable damage to the prestige of local Communists and their fifth columns.

Outwardly the Soviet premier, as the self-appointed leader of world communism, must exert every effort to maintain the "unity of the Red camp." He seeks to avoid an open break with Mao—but he also hopes to outwit him.

Thus, Khrushchev is vocal in his demand for the admission of Red China into the U.N. Yet unofficially he strives to destroy Mao's influence in the uncommitted nations and steer the Cuban and African nationalist revolutions on a pro-Russian course.

Khrushchev also has the backing of the East European satellites. East European leaders must side with the Soviet premier in his dispute with Mao simply because their power depends entirely on the Red Army.

The secret political conflict between Red China and Russia (which I first reported in 1957) is now out in the open. Khrushchev, champion of "peaceful coexistence," finds it difficult to co-exist with his Chinese ally.

OATS—WITHOUT SUNLIGHT OR SOIL—Brothers Don, left, and Gene Hayes examine their indoor "oats factory" in Du Quoin, Ill. Insulated, air-conditioned, humidity-controlled stainless steel building has an irrigation system with chemical additives. All this means that the oats can be grown without soil—six-inch oats in six days. Fluorescent lighting, on constantly, promotes growth and green color. The Hayes brothers feed the oats to trotters and pacers they own for a "summer" diet all winter long. Result: exceptionally healthy horses.

Commie Offensive May Come From U.N. Dais

LONDON (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev undoubtedly will launch another disarmament offensive laced with propaganda from the rostrum of the United Nations General Assembly in New York next week.

He is sure to call for complete nuclear disarmament. He made a similar plea before the United Nations last fall. Western diplomats said it was "interesting" if not new, and deserved study.

But when the West sat down to talk it over at Geneva, it got nowhere. The Soviet delegation wanted the 10-nation arms-cut conference that met in the Swiss city to adopt Khrushchev's plan as it stood. Then, before the West could put a counter-plan on the table, the Soviet delegation walked out in a cloud of propaganda charges.

That incident has been typical of the history of East-West disarmament efforts for more than 14 years, filled with frustrations or outright failures. There has been no appreciable progress because of the difference in approach to the problem by the West and the Soviet Union.

Moscow dislikes the idea of effective fool-proof international controls on Soviet territory, although of late it has accepted the principle of such controls. But Russia's aim is nuclear disarmament first, controls of a sort preferably later.

The West wants comprehensive disarmament by successive stages, each of which preserves a satisfactory military balance between conventional and nuclear weapons. All measures of disarmament under this plan must be observed and verified by an appropriate international organization.

The differences go back to 1946 when U.S. elder statesman Bernard Baruch first offered a plan for international control of atomic energy. The Soviet Union rejected it.

In subsequent years, Moscow's opposition to effective international controls has remained the chief stumbling block to any appreciable progress.

As world crises have ebbed and flowed and varying personalities dominated the scene in either the Western or Communist camp, hopes for some real progress in disarmament have risen and fallen.

When the Korean War broke out in 1950, both sides hardened their positions—with the Soviet Union under Josef Stalin backing the North Koreans and the Communist Chinese and the United States, and the rest of the West pouring in help to the South Koreans and strengthening their overall defenses.

But when Dwight Eisenhower succeeded Harry Truman as President of the United States, he pledged American readiness to reduce armaments drastically when he made his first inaugural address on Jan. 20, 1953.

United States used its influence to get the Western powers to call off their invasion. But the world teetered on the brink of war, and disarmament took a back seat.

Almost at the same time, the Hungarians rebelled against their Communist masters. But when Soviet tanks and men intervened, the rebellion was crushed by force. The world talked, but did nothing.

The U.N. subcommittee on disarmament made still another try in London in May, 1957, but collapsed once more in September of that year when the Russians walked out. That ended the subcommittee.

Then, in September 1959, Khrushchev—who the year before had taken over formal control in the Soviet Union as premier—visited the United States and made his first appearance before the U.N. General Assembly.

He proposed complete disarmament in four years. This idea resulted in a 10-nation commission being set up—five from the West, five from the Communist bloc. The United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy sat for the West; the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria sat for the Reds.

At the summit in Geneva in July 1955, Eisenhower offered an "open skies" plan for control of arms through mutual aerial inspection. By this time, Nikolai Bulganin had become the Soviet Union's premier and, with Soviet Communist Party First Secretary Nikita Khrushchev at his side, he opposed the idea.

A fresh round of disarmament talks of the U.N. subcommittee in London again ended in failure in May 1956, again largely over Soviet resistance to the Western proposed control arrangements.

In October of that year came the Suez invasion and the Hungarian revolt. The British, French and Israelis invaded the Sinai Desert and Suez Canal Zone of Egypt. Russia rattled its rockets and threatened intervention. The

Alcohol Mixed Up With Current Events

WASHINGTON (UPI) — They notifying my wife that I might be working late at the laboratory.

In accordance with a pre-arranged procedure, Dr. Zhivago ordered a "Kennedy Bandwagon" and I ordered a "Nixon Snowball." The waiter, who seemed to have some hearing difficulty, asked us to repeat the order. Then he disappeared. I thought I caught a glimpse of him whispering to the manager.

Eventually, the waiter returned with a tray, holding it, I noted, at arm's length. Dr. Zhivago and I lifted the test tubes to our quivering lips and took a tentative sip. Observing that his eyes were rolling rather more than usual, I asked him how his formula tasted.

"A little too much blasting powder," he replied.

We completed this stage of the experiment and beckoned to the waiter, who had been watching us from behind a potted palm. This time I ordered a "Kennedy Bandwagon" and Dr. Zhivago switched to a "Nixon Snowball."

When all the evidence was in, we cast our ballots. It was a tie. Dr. Zhivago favored the Kennedy concoction while I leaned toward the Nixon postum.

Dr. Zhivago, a bachelor, proposed that we invite the aforementioned brunette to join us for a tie-breaking round, but I demurred. After all, I have but one liver to devote to political science.

To assist me in the experiment, I enlisted the services of a friend of mine, an unfrocked alchemist whom I could trust to render an impartial judgment. For purposes of this narrative, I shall call him "Dr. Zhivago."

At the appointed hour, we repaired to the bistro in question and, at Dr. Zhivago's suggestion, seated ourselves at a table overlooking an unescorted brunette. But first, I took the precaution of

A MESSAGE FROM "YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD" PHARMACY

ARE PRESCRIPTION PRICES HIGH? With so many publicity seekers saying so, we don't blame you for wondering if this is true.

HOW DO WE PRICE PRESCRIPTIONS? To the cost of ingredients, we add a charge for overhead, compounding time and a fair profit. Because we also supply you with other medicines and many healthaids, only part of the overhead expense of conducting a pharmacy is charged to the prescription department.

DR. PAUL OLSEN — Eminent Statistiar reported on April 11th, 1960 that after charging only the proportionate overhead expense of the prescription department, only about 8c of each prescription dollar's selling price remains as net profit, before taxes in the average pharmacy.

IS THAT TOO MUCH? About 80c net for us on a $10, or 16c net on a $2 prescription, from which we pay our taxes and keep the rest. We're not complaining. We do enough total volume to satisfy us. But, don't you think pharmacists deserve much credit for keeping prices so low? You can help us to always keep them that low, if you also get your other medicines and health-aids from us.

Fallout Shelter Program Could Help In Reducing Chance Of War And Russian Missile Blackmail

By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA)—There's a chance the fallout shelters you and I build in our basements and back yards will give pause to the Communists.

If enough of us build them, it may cut down the chances of war, reduce Russia's missile-blackmail attempts.

That seems to be the prevailing opinion of strategy analysts in the Pentagon and State Department. The opinion is not universal; there's some strong disagreement.

But the leading view seems to be that if Nikita Khrushchev knows that an H-bomb Pearl Harbor would mean instant missile retaliation AND leave most Americans able to keep a war going, there might be no war.

Here's the way these strategists reason:

More and more the emphasis is on destroying skilled workmen. That theory says if two countries fight, and in one, more skilled workmen survive than in the other, that country will come back faster and survive in the broken-back war that follows or become economically and militarily superior in the "peace" that results.

Based on the lessons learned in World War II with Germany, Khrushchev might be willing to start a war knowing we'd retaliate with heavy damage on the Soviet—if he figured that in the exchange we would be left weaker than Russia.

Some estimate a saturation war—without fallout protection—could mean as many as 160 million U.S. fatalities and most of U.S. industry out of commission.

Retaliatory U.S. raids on Russia would not be nearly so devastating. Soviet population and industry are much more dispersed. The Reds are giving a strong push to civil defense training. Russian building since World War II has emphasized civil defense features. Rural houses are normally excellent fallout shelters with thick sod walls and very small windows.

The Russians learned in World War II that they could take heavy civilian and industrial losses and recover. They came to believe that a highly-centralized, urban economy such as Germany's could not.

Khrushchev might well feel a sneak H-bomb war would be worth that gamble if he could destroy in the first found three-fourths of our population and major industry, lose no more than half Russia's population and industry—while nullifying Europe as a threat.

Or maybe exchange a third of Russia's population for a half of ours. (The Red Chinese seem to have an even stronger philosophy but since they don't have bombs and missiles they don't count—yet.)

But such H-bomb devastation of the U.S. is impractical if there's fallout protection. Killing enough civilians by H-bomb blasts alone would require so many bombs of such magnitude and accuracy as to be impossible.

Khrushchev also counts on missile-blackmail. He knows the U.S. reverence for human life. There's evidence he believes that if the toll of American lives in an all-out war seems likely to be extremely high, the U.S. would be very reluctant to get into a war.

Thus Khrushchev makes missile threats vis-a-vis Cuba and increases his blustering in other parts of the world.

If Khrushchev knew no sneak attacks would wipe out tens of millions of American lives, these Pentagon men reason, he'd tame down some.

And U.S. military men would worry a little less that Khrushchev would blunder his way into World War III.

16 Accidents During August

The Highway Patrol investigated 16 rural accidents in Grayling to Sgt. E. G. Albers, patrol County during August, according to a report in this area.

Although there were no fatalities, 13 persons were injured, and property damage totaled $22,005. So far this year the county has had one fatality, 88 injured and property damage amounting to $92,237.00.

Sgt. Albers pointed out that with school children using highways at this time of year, motorists should drive with more caution.

'Peanut Hearing Aid'

AMARILLO, Tex. The makers of the world's first electrical hearing aid are manufacturing a "Peanut Hearing Aid," a tiny device worn entirely in the ear. This device is not for the really deaf, but for those who have a little trouble with their hearing and have said, "When they make a hearing aid I can put in my ear I'll wear one."

This "Peanut Hearing Aid" is worn entirely in the ear. Not a gadget but a real hearing aid, complete with volume control.

"For free demonstration of this tiny device come to our regular monthly hearing aid clinic at Hotel Adams, Pampa, Texas, Monday, Sept. 19, 1960, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m."

Manager Goes 'Psycho' Keeping Patrons Out

One of the most amazing turns in local entertainment history has occurred at the Capri Theater where Paul West, manager is keeping people out of his house-out, that is, after the start of each and every performance of Alfred Hitchcock's "Psycho," the suspense thriller starring Janet Leigh, Vera Miles, Anthony Perkins and John Gavin, showing here through Wednesday.

Not daring to go against the wishes of such a master of murder and mayhem as Hitchcock, who had decreed that no one—not even the manager's mother-in-law—will be admitted after the start of each showing of "Psycho," West has helped foster a revolution in the movie-going habits of residents of Pampa and the surrounding areas. It has been found local patrons actually appreciate being dictated to as to when they can and when they can't enter the theater, and the showmanager explained that "it's probably because they know we have their best interests at heart."

"This policy of no one admitted after the start of the picture," West said, is not just a gimmick; it has been designed to insure maximum enjoyment of the picture by the audience. Once the picture has started, every patron inside can be confident no one is going to come plowing down the aisle to get to an empty seat or get up and leave just at the most important moment in the film."

Many film makers have long argued a movie should be seen exactly as one reads a book—from the beginning right through to the end, and in the case of "Psycho," which has some of the most unusual elements ever put on the screen, enforcement of this rule is absolutely imperative. The Pampa theater manager said he couldn't begin to estimate the number of patrons who came to him after yesterday's showings of the picture to personally thank him for having insisted they see it from the beginning. West feels the "Psycho" performance policy has proved a point and will have far-reaching influence on future attendance habits of patrons.

Heaviest known metal is uranium, West said, is not just a gimmick; it has been designed to insure maximum enjoyment of the picture by the audience. Once the picture has started, every patron inside can be confident no one is going to come plowing down the aisle to get to an empty seat or get up and leave just at the most important moment in the film."

Is Kindergarten Just Costly Baby Sitting?

By LOUIS CASSELLS United Press International

Kindergarten, a valuable educational experience for five year olds—or a costly baby-sitting service? Americans have been debating that question for more than a century, and the argument is still going strong in many communities.

The kindergarten was imported from Germany. (Its origin is commemorated in its name which comes from a German phrase meaning "children's garden.") The first kindergarten in the United States was a private institution established at Watertown, Wis., in 1856. In 1873, St. Louis, Mo., became the first community to include kindergarten classes in its public school program.

Today, according to a recently-completed survey by the U.S. Office of Education, about 70 percent of America's cities and towns maintain public kindergartens.

This statistic has been received rather gloomily by both sides of the great kindergarten debate. Educators who think highly of kindergarten as a developmental experience for all children are discouraged to see that nearly a third of the nation's communities are still withholding public financial support.

Moore Gets A Boot Out Of 'Little Toot'

By DOC QUIGG United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Garry Moore has a red rocking chair, a gift, in his office. On it is painted: "Uncle Gary, sittin', starin', 'n' rockin'." On the left rocker is fastened a pedometer. Some time back it broke at 4,247 miles. At home he has another rocking chair, a Christmas gift, in front of the television set. He sits in it to watch, which is not very often, because he is an up-and-doing man who uses TV mostly to view actual events rather than set entertainment.

In the dock on Long Island Sound he has this summer's prize acquisition, an 18-foot true miniature tugboat named "Little Toot." He bought it from a lobster-boat maker at Northeast Harbor, Maine, who had whipped it up for his own use and amusement. Even the smallest harbor tugs around here are 60 footers, and the ones that work ocean liners are mostly over 100 feet. Moore's latest sport on the sound is to go tugboat hunting, charging up to while they whistle back and a real tug tooting his whistle while they whistle back and break up laughing.

"On Sundays when I tow sailboats out to the starting line for races, I sometimes have 1 to 10 boats in tow — it's a wonderfully ridiculous sight," Moore said. "The Moran towing gang has invited me to come on out and work ocean liners with them." While he isn't busy pre-empting the cap of Tugboat Annie, Moore is preparing for the coming TV season. "The Garry Moore Show" gets underway on CBS next September. "I've Got A Secret" keeps rolling along. And on Oct. 24 Moore will host a CBS special which will be a sort of wedding

Presley On Top Again

By DOC QUIGG United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI) — Elvis Presley swayed into the No. 1 spot of the United Press International top 20 record survey today with his rock-a-ballad rendition of "It's Now or Never."

The Presley waxing, which previously held the top spot, replaced Chubby Checker's recording of "The Twist," which was the first spot tune for the past two weeks. Checker's song, however, fell into third place while Larry Verne's novelty hit, "Mister Custer," hopped from fourth place to the runner-up position after only three weeks on the survey. Connie Francis' "My Heart Has a Mind Of Its Own" also was on the move, going from seventh to fourth place, while the Ventures' recording of "Walk-Don't Run" dropped into fifth place from the No. 3 rating a week ago. The top 20 were: (Numbers in brackets indicate position this week, rating last week) (1-2) It's Now or Never. Elvis Presley, RCA Victor (2-4) Mister Custer. Larry Verne. Era (3-1) The Twist. Chubby Checkers. Parkway (4-7) My Heart Has a Mind Of Its Own. Connie Francis. MGM (5-3) Walk-Don't Run. The Ventures. Dolton (6-11) A Million To One. Jimmy Charles. Premo (7-3) Volare. Bobby Rydell. No Sign-Up For Reserve This Fall

Evelyn Mason, manager of the Gray County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, announced Saturday that there will not be a Soil Bank Conservation Reserve sign up for new contracts this fall.

Acres will not be taken in the soil bank to start the 1961 year. Persons waiting to see about the soil bank are advised to make other plans for their land. However, all contracts now in the soil bank will remain in effect until they expire.

Check Transactions Are Being Automated

By HENRY J. BECHTOLD UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—When you see some strange looking numbers at the bottom of your checks it means your bank has taken its first step toward automation. This automation has been suggested by the Federal Reserve Board and the American Bankers Association, and has been prompted by the ever increasing number of check transactions throughout the nation. Prior to World War II there were about three billion checks written annually. This figure is expected to reach 14 billion in 1960, and 20 billion by 1965. Couple this expansion with the fact that each check is handled an average of 17 times after being issued, not including the millions of deposit tickets and other documents flowing through bank pipelines, and it becomes very obvious that the banks have to turn to automation or be snowed under by a paper blizzard. Along with the soaring check volume comes the increased danger of incorrect handling or posting, since most of today's sorting is done by hand. The ABA, after years of study, has decided that electronics—with its accuracy, speed and a h e r safeguards — is the logical choice to solve the banks' dilemma. The MICR system is rather simple. New electronic equipment reads the MICR code on a check to sort, post and process it in other necessary banking steps. Within a reasonably short time it is expected to result in pure electronic banking. Getting into a MICR program is not without its problems, however. Benefits of this automation will come about only as the banking industry fills its pipelines with coded documents.

Gray L. Smith In Tank Tests

The Hickory Pit Tavern, 711 S. Gray, was visited by burglars sometime early Saturday morning, to mark the second time in six weeks the tavern has been burgled. Capt. Denny Roan and Patrolman Robert Couch, investigating officers, said entry was made by removing a glass pane from a window. The cigarette machine was pried open and an unestimated amount of money was taken, the officers said.

HOUSE SEATS THAT COULD CHANGE IN 1960 — Civic Affairs Associates, a Washington political research organization, has made an analysis which shows that there are 161 congressional districts in 42 states where party representation could change this year. Newsmap lists the districts in each state which could change. Light sections are the areas covered by these districts. The organization points out that several September primaries could affect these findings.

Russ Diplomats Hint 'K' Wants To Make Up

LONDON (UPI)—Soviet diplomats hinted today that Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev wants a reconciliation with President Eisenhower. They raised the possibility that Khrushchev will make an indirect approach to set up a private meeting with Eisenhower during the United Nations General Assembly.

This correspondent asked whether Khrushchev now felt he had gone too far in his personal attacks on Eisenhower at the summit conference in Paris last spring.

"Mr. Khrushchev was very angry at the time," was the reply, implying that the Soviet premier now was ready to take another look at the situation.

There were hints there might be another intriguing aspect of Khrushchev's visit to the United Nations—that he may make overtures for personal meetings with presidential candidates Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

That apparently would depend on whether things go well after he arrives in New York on Monday. In any event, he is expected to avoid any action that could be interpreted as an attempt to influence the course of the U.S. presidential elections this fall.

Meetings with Nixon and Kennedy would have to overcome some obstacles of geography. Khrushchev's movements have been restricted to Manhattan Island by the U.S. State Department. But there appears to be some desire on the part of the Russian to get first-hand impressions of the two men who are running for the presidency.

Recalling that Khrushchev referred to Eisenhower in strong language in Paris ("a thief caught red-handed in his theft"), the question was asked how the overture for a reconciliation would be put to the American president.

"There are various ways in which it could be done," was the reply.

The implication was that the Russians were not overly concerned about the method to be used and might even already have worked out the procedure.

The Soviet leader made a significant move when he recently specifically exonerated Eisenhower from responsibility for the U2 plane incident which he used to torpedo the summit conference in Paris.

The President intimated in Washington recently that among the conditions for a meeting would be the release of the two American fliers of the downed RB47 plane, held captive in Russia.

The sources here were non-committal on this point. They merely said there was a strong feeling inside Russia that the Americans should stand trial.

Gulf Employees Contest Winner

Martin Stubbe, 1718 Hamilton, has been judged one of the winners in the Gulf employees political contest. Stubbe, a representative of Gulf's Pampa production division, was awarded a Voit Sports Treasure Chest for his outstanding answer to the question "I would like to see — nominated for president because: "Some 5,000 employees from throughout the U.S. competed in the contest.

Pampan Joins In Navy Fete

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF. (FTNC)—Richard J. Folley, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Folley, 927 E. Campbell, serving aboard the radar picket ship USS Chevalier, attended the third annual Pacific Festival held in San Francisco, Calif., Sept. 9 to 18.

The Pacific Festival is designed to foster mutual understanding and cultural relations among the peoples of the Pacific. More than 40 nations were represented at the celebration this year.

U.S. Navy participation in the event included a fleet review staged by more than 20 ships of the U.S. First Fleet, "open houses" aboard various ships which provided thousands of civilians an opportunity to get a first hand look at their Navy, and numerous civic functions at which Navy men were guests of honor.

Reason for Worms

Probably the reason for so many earthworms appearing on the ground after a rain is that their tunnels are flooded and they come up for air.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eldon A. Grimm of Wallston & Co. feels that 1960 is almost certain to be a very big "tax loss" switching year.

Starting immediately, he says, large numbers of holders of depressed issues will switch into other stocks which are way down in order to establish "tax losses" and save large sums on income tax payments.

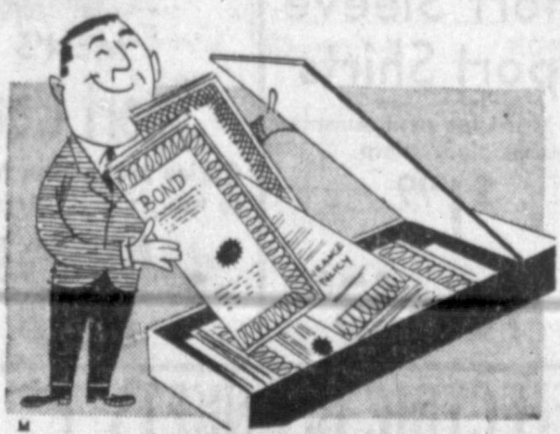

Grimm says there already seems to have been tax switching in many groups — such as textiles, steels, rails, rubbers, money shares, auto parts and builders, farm implements, machinery shares, auto parts and building materials.

Bache & Co. reports that El Paso Natural Gas is in the process of building a substantial base formation. It also thinks the shares of Interstate Department Stores look "cheap".

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. "firmly believes" there will be no breakthrough of the 1960 lows that have been tested three times already this year.

Business Reports, Inc., recommends first Charter Financial for the young investor seeking long term growth, Kratter Corp. for the middle-aged seeking high-income security, and Allied Mills, Inc. for the retired or soon-to-be retired.

PERSONAL INCOME RISES
NEW YORK (UPI)—Personal income rose a per cent last year to $3,166 per capita, the National Industrial Conference Board reported Thursday.

Telles' Aerials, Ruling Big Factors

Ysleta Dumps Harvesters

By ED HAYES WILSON Daily News Sportswriter

SET THE STAGE — This is the play that set the stage for Pampa's first touchdown. The ball carrier Roy Don Stephens, Harvester quarterback, is about to be dropped by Jim Combs, (21) Ysleta halfback, on the visitors one yard line, from where Steve Dobbins rammied it through for six points on the next play.

A shower of passes drowned the hopes of Pampa High School's Harvesters Friday night, sending them to their second loss, 25-12, to big, brawny Ysleta of El Paso.

Touted as a versatile ball club, the men of Coach Red Coats displayed splendid running when it was necessary, but leaned heavily on the tosses of Andy Telles, the Indian's sparkling quarterback, to get the big job done.

Pampa had its chances despite a questionable decision by the referee that cost the Harvesters at least six points. Three times Harvester receivers were in the clear, end zone bound, only to drop the perfect shots of Quarterback Roy Don Stephens and left Halfback Sherrill Miller.

Coach Coats earlier planned to start Stan Davenport at quarterback, but shortly before game time he handed the assignment to Telles, a senior and co-captain of the Indians.

His decision couldn't have been more perfect; Telles had the Harvesters in a dither throughout the evening with pin point passes and brilliant faking.

Telles passed for two touchdowns, hit his first five passes, the third to Bill Edens, the tall right end, for a TD and had nine bulls eyes in 15 attempts with one interception.

Davenport, supposedly the better tosser, hit one of three when he came to Telles relief in the latter stages of the contest.

Stephens, on the other hand, completed three of nine aerials, but deserved a much better fate.

Probably the big difference in Stephens and Telles was the fine protection the Indians gave the field. Guard Art Howard apparently had one task: protect Telles, and he gave an exhibition that the estimated 1,800 spectators haven't seen in years.

Telles could take his time, wait for his man to clear, and fire away. Stephens, though, was forced to make the majority of the attempts under extreme pressure.

Ysleta broke in front when Telles zoomed his third aerial of the night into the waiting arms of Edens, who scampered unmolested into the end zone. It was good for 49 yards and Bob Kerr, left end, kicked the extra point.

The Indians added another six points when Armando Dominguez, shifty right halfback, went off end from the Harvester four, to climax a sustained drive from the Ysleta 20, where the ball was put in play following an into the end zone punt by Stephens.

The Harvesters tallied shortly thereafter when Steve Dobbins blasted one yard up the middle to end a drive that began on the PHS 31, where Billy Cooper had placed the ball following a 17-yard kickoff return.

The third Indian tally came on a march on his 29 after the Harvesters had kicked off. Telles mixed passes with the running of Dominguez and Albert Mata to station the ball in the shadows of the PHS goal line. Telles then passed incomplete and called time out with four seconds remaining on the scoreboard clock before the half.

Hard, Fraser Net Titlists

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Blonde Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., salvaged some tennis glory for the United States Saturday by unexpectedly capturing the national women's singles title from Maria Bueno of Brazil, although the men's championship went again to Australia's Neale Fraser.

Darlene, who "despised" tennis and preferred baseball until 16, scored an upset victory over slender and usually dynamic seniorita Bueno, 6-3, 10-12, 6-4, before an applauding gallery of 4,000 at the West Side club's stadium in the postponed finals of the national tennis championships.

Blonde Fraser defeated his fellow Aussie, Rod Laver, in the first showpiece final in the tournament's history, 6-4, 6-4, 10-8.

Perryton Bowling

The 1960-61 season is now under way for Perryton women bowlers. There are 32 teams bowling in three leagues.

Bowlerettes League: bowling Thursday nights at 6:30, with 60 members bowling on 113 teams. Officers are Raye Trapp, president; Marie Wade, vice-president; Jo Ann Jones, secretary - treasurer and Phyllis Richardson, sgt.-at-arms.

Panhandlers League: bowling on Tuesday night at 6:30, with 50 members bowling on 10 teams. Officers are Carolyn Strawn, president; Ruby Lee Malaney, vice-president; Pat Williams, secretary-treasurer and Peggy Bolerjack, sgt.-at-arms.

Daylighters League: bowling Wednesday mornings at 9, with 50 members bowling on 10 teams. Officers are Nell Rodermund, president; Jolene Herndon, vice-president; Lela Posey, secretary-treasurer and Melva Miller, sgt.-at-arms.

Officers of the Perryton Women's Bowling Association are: Dee Miller, president; Jewel Symons, vice-president; Pat Williams, secretary; Ruth Bowman, treasurer and Mae Williams, sgt.-at-arms.

Perryton WBA members have recently completed a Scotch doubles tournament; the proceeds to help finance the annual Awards Banquet. Winners and their scores of the three separate shifts are: Nora Snow and Pat Williams, 498; Peggy Hodges and Freda Hale, 453; Pat Williams and Irma Harrison, 438.

Since one of the objects of the Perryton Women's Bowling Association is to maintain and increase the interest in the bowling game, any woman in Perryton or the surrounding territory, who is interested in organized bowling may contact any of the above named city or league officers for further information — Mrs. Raye Trapp ROYAL'S ACE — Rugged, Jack Twyman, a 6-6 forward, will lead the Cincinnati Royals against the St. Louis Hawks at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 4, in a pro basketball game at Lubbock Coliseum. Twyman averaged 32.1 points per game last season to gain runner-up honors in the NBA scoring race.

Georgia Tech Snares Wildcats, 26 To 13

ATLANTA (UPI) — Halfback Chick Granning and quarterback Stan Gann put "Go" in Georgia Tech's offense Saturday as the Yellow Jackets rolled to a 23-13 victory over the Kentucky Wildcats before 41,000 fans.

Granning was the big man scorewise as he tallied all three of Tech's touchdowns. But Gann, a stumpy sophomore, with a big advance buildup was the man who made the Jacket attack go as he brought the famed Tech's razzle-dazzle out of a decade of retirement.

Granning went across twice in the second period as Tech built up a 16-0 half time lead. He raced over from seven yards out midway through the period, then scored in the closing seconds of the half on a perfectly-placed 11-yard pass from Gann.

Granning added Tech's final touchdown in the opening minutes of the fourth period when he capped an 81-yard drive by crashing across from the five.

Halfback Tommy Wells, Tech's place-kicking specialist, got the others on conversions after touchdowns.

Sophomore quarterback Jerry Woolum made a desperate effort to get Kentucky back into the game in the second half. Taking to the air with a barrage that netted 190 yards on 14 of 24 passes.

Both Wildcat touchdowns came late in the fourth period. The first was scored by fullback Jim Poynter on a five-yard pass from Woolum and the second on a six-yard end run by halfback Charlie Sturgeon after Woolum passes had moved Kentucky into scoring position.

Halfback Clark Maysfield kicked the conversion after the first Kentucky touchdown, but Woolum's attempt to pass for two points after the game was only minutes old when he took a pitch from quarterback Harry Dietz and passed 34 yards to halfback John Pritchard at the Boston College, 30, Pritchard going the rest of the way untouched.

er the second was broken up. Gann, playing his first varsity game, was the heart of the Tech offense in the first half as he completed five of seven passes for 71 yards and gained 42 more on seven rushes. But with Tech safely in the lead, coach Bobby Dodd didn't risk his new star in the second half and Gann was in on only two plays.

Army Drubs Buffalo

WEST POINT, N. Y. (UPI)—Army sent speedy backs Dick Eckert and Glen Adams rambling on touchdown punt returns of 75 and 71 yards respectively Saturday to highlight an easy 37-0 opening game rout of the University of Buffalo before a crowd of 13,250 at Michie Stadium.

Eckert, a sterling sophomore from Carlisle, Pa., flashed for his touchdown in the first period and Adams, a hard-running senior from El Paso, Texas, almost matched it for distance with his sprint in the third period.

The remainder of the Cadet touchdowns were earned the hard way with fullback Al Ruzhazt pounding over from the four and Jim Connors, from the two, plus a 16-yard pass from Tom Blanda to George Kirschenbauer. Blanda converted a 13-yard field goal just as the half ended.

Beman Victor In Amateur Golf Finals

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Young Deane Beman, relentless in the clutches, applied pressure all the way Saturday to defeat Bob Gardner, Elmsford, N.Y., 6 and 4 and win the National Amateur Golf championship in his fifth try at the title.

Beman, three under par on the morning 18 holes with some sensational putting for a 68, reached the luncheon break three up and his margin never dropped below that figure in the afternoon.

On the 14 holes played, in 83 degree heat and 63 humidity in the hot afternoon sun, he shaved two more strokes from par to finish five under for 32 holes and seven under for 160 holes during the tournament.

Beman, 22, who won the British Amateur title in 1959 and played also on the U.S. Walker Cup team, never gave Gardner a chance in the afternoon. The 39-year-old Gardner, twice the amateur champion of California and Metropolitan New York champion in 1958 and this year, won only one hole in the afternoon, the 22rd when he dropped a 12 foot putt for a birdie.

The third Indian tally came on a march on his 29 after the Harvesters had kicked off. Telles mixed passes with the running of Dominguez and Albert Mata to station the ball in the shadows of the PHS goal line. Telles then passed incomplete and called time out with four seconds remaining on the scoreboard clock before the half.

Quartet Extends Skeins

Shamrock, White Deer, Miami and Perryton continued their winning ways in area grid action Friday night, but other teams didn't fare too well.

Shamrock in continuing its string rambled past Canadian, 24-0; White Deer gouged Lefors, 36-6; Miami smeared Mobeetie, 58-6; and Perryton notched its second win without defeat, shutting out Canyon, 26-0.

Groom, loser of its first two starts, rapped McLean, 28-6, and Wheeler dropped its third game in as many starts, 54-8, to Erick, Okla.

Shamrock, in dumping the pre-season choice Wildcats, turned in an excellent performance. However, it remained for White Deer's Dickie Hanna to turn up with by far the most brilliant performance of the night.

Maryland Easy 31-6 Winner Of W. Virginia Tilt

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Maryland crushed an outmanned West Virginia team 31-6 Saturday, handing the Mountaineers their sixth straight defeat over two seasons and getting the career of new head coach Gene Corum off to a shaky start.

Maryland Quarterbacks Dick Novak and Dale Betty did all their passing in the first half, completing 7 of 11 for 100 yards, then stuck to the ground when rain came down steadily in the second half.

An estimated crowd of 18,000 saw the Terrapins grind out yardage relentlessly against the heavier, but sophomore studded, Mountaineer line.

Maryland scored twice in the fourth quarter to turn what until then had been only a one-sided game into a rout. Fullback Pat Drass dove over from the 1-yard line in the opening minutes of the last period and Betty went over from 2 yards out with only 1:13 on the clock.

The Terrapins notched two touchdowns in the opening period after blunting West Virginia's initial drive, and added a field goal in the second quarter for the remainder of their scoring.

Maryland 14 3 0 14-31
West Virginia 0 0 0 0-6

Scoring:
Md. — Collins, 19 pass from Novak (kick failed).
Md. — Smith, 1, run (Rock pass from Novak).
Md. — Scott, 30, field goal.
WVU — Benke, 3, run (Kosanovich pass from Evans).
Md. — Drass, 2, run (Scott kick).
Md. — Betty, 2, run (Scott kick).

Games Failure Blame Pinned To Brundage

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press International

ROME (UPI)—The usual Olympic post mortems are being conducted today and if there is any blame for the wave of unexpected Yankee "defeats" it should be laid at the proper doorstep.

Don't blame the strictly amateur guys and gals because of the possibility they did a bit of night-owning. And don't hammer at the coaches on the theory they should have acted like secret police from an Iron Curtain country and kept a bed check on their charges.

Put the blame, Name, on a man named Avery Brundage, who as head of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) lets the rest of the world get away with out-and-out professionalism.

There can be no question but what Uncle Sam's nephews and nieces were the greatest "amateur" team at the Olympic Games.

For a group with no state subsidies and a team which conforms strictly to the outmoded Brundage interpretation of amateurism, the kids from west of Brooklyn did a magnificent job.

The record proves that Brundage and the rest of the Olympic brass hats for year have ignored the outrageous violation of the strict amateur code by Communist nations, which use the Olympic games as a propaganda tool.

The Iron Curtain countries in particular use the games to insultate that their political system makes for a better everything, including the athletes, even though they violate every code of the amateur and Olympic principle.

IOC officials have documented proof of Communist countries which give direct cash subsidies to their athletes in state-sponsored programs, and it is no secret that such countries as Australia and many European nations permit their amateurs to be sponsored by sports manufacturers or capitalize on their abilities by writing or appearing on radio or television.

Germany's Armin Hary won the Olympic 100-meter sprint after signing a contract to appear in the movies.

Yet Bob Mathias, our greatest decathlon star, was declared a professional for making a movie. Lee Calhoun was in the amateur soup for appearing on a television show. Wes Santee was ruled off for taking "too much" expense money.

The kids who appear in the Olympic games are frightened to even discuss what they might like to do eventually—in the future—as professionals.

"They'll throw the book at us if we even talk about it," said Louisville's Cassius Clay just before he won the Olympic light heavyweight boxing championship. "We won't talk about that," said weight-lifter Jim Bradford when asked whether he might wrestle professionally.

NFL Opens Play Next Weekend Prosperity Is Seen Despite AFL

By NORMAN MILLE R United Press International

The National Football League opens its 41st season next weekend at a peak of prosperity despite competition from another league for the first time since 1949.

With a new franchise at Dallas, the weak-sister Cardinals shifted from Chicago to St. Louis, increased revenue from television, and advance ticket sales booming in nearly every league city, the NFL bigwigs aren't greatly concerned about the "threat" from the new American League.

Dallas is one of the four cities where the NFL and AFL will be competing for the box office dollar this season. The others are New York, Los Angeles and the San Francisco - Oakland area, where the NFL has done good business ever since the demise of the All America Conference 11 years ago.

Pete Rozelle, the 34-year-old Californian who was elected to succeed the late Bert Bell as commissioner last winter, is confident that the NFL will break its attendance record for the ninth consecutive season. Last year a total of 3,314,515 fans paid their way into NFL games.

Although the AFL appeared to have a jump on the older league in advance ticket sales at Dallas, Rozelle did not feel the new loop could make inroads in the other three cities.

"Three of the four cities where we will compete with the AFL (New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco) have always been our heaviest drawing cities," Rozelle said. "I anticipate continued large crowds there and this is borne out by the large numbers of season tickets that are being sold."

The league schedule opens Friday night, Sept. 23, at mammoth Los Angeles Coliseum, where the Los Angeles Rams meet the transplanted St. Louis Cardinals. On the following night, the new Dallas Cowboys entertain the Pittsburgh Steelers in the Cotton Bowl.

On Sunday, the world champion Baltimore Colts are at home against the Washington Redskins, the San Francisco Forty-Niners

Venezuelan Import Question In Dispute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Mobilizer Leo Hoegh must soon face a sharp dispute between oil importers and domestic refiners over imports of cheap Venezuelan crude to make asphalt.

Crux of the controversy is whether import controls should be relaxed to admit 60,000 barrels a day of high-quality asphalt-content crude to end an East Coast highway building shortage which opponents claim does not exist.

Four importers — California Standard, Indiana Standard, Cities Service, and Atlantic Refining — petitioned Hoegh in July to exempt the imports but deduct them from total permissible imports.

Before taking action, Hoegh invited comment from interested parties and set Aug. 31 as the deadline. There was such a surfeit of protests or letters of approval that the mobilizer extended the time limit through Sept. 19, after which his decision will come.

Opponents, including more than 25 refiners, told Hoegh the exemption would breach the rules on import curbs. They also made clear their fear that it would lead to other "exceptions."

Supporting the importers were more than 35 asphalt buyers or users who argued that demands of the highway program require high-grade asphalt such as the Venezuelan crude affords.

The importers submitted data purporting to show that domestic and Canadian sources could fill 40,000 barrels a day of the deficit but that the cost would range from $4 to $5 a ton more. They said that even with this increase in cost there would still be a 60,000 barrel deficit in peak months, along with a 10,000 barrel deficit in the Eastern U.S. Gulf area.

They said that demand during peak months is 100,000 barrels a day and that the present deficit would double in the next decade.

The National Petroleum Association reported that Texaco agreed to the exemption but objected to deducting the crude from total imports. It also said one buyer — Byerlyte — agreed that more asphaltic crude was needed but urged that quotas be given to non-refiners.

Among companies or organizations filing protests were Socony Mobil, Sinclair, Ohio, Shell, Gulf, Tidewater, Phillips, Sun, Ohio Standard, Hunt Oil, the Independ-

States Cut Income Tax, Hike Others

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
WASHINGTON (UPI) — More states cut income taxes than increased them this year, but hikes in other taxes extinguished the joy for most of the citizens affected, a survey shows.

The Federation of Tax Administrators checked the work of 21 legislatures and found that only Rhode Island actually increased State income tax rates. However, at least four other states, including some where income taxes were eased, increased other major state taxes in an effort to finance the rapidly-rising cost of government at every level.

For example, Mississippi and Kentucky cut income tax rates. But Mississippi permitted local governments to increase sales taxes from 3 to 4 per cent, and Kentucky made its change as part of a revision that included a new 3 per cent sales tax — with food on the tax list.

Other income tax reductions,

Supervisor Election Set

A meeting will be held Oct. 4 in the McLean High School auditorium to elect a Soil Conservation District supervisor for Zone 2 of Gray County. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m.

All persons, both husbands and wives who own land in Zone 2, live in a county all or part of which is in the district, and are 21 years old are eligible to vote.

The present supervisor of the Gray County Soil Conservation District is James W. Cliett. Zone 2 of Gray County includes the following territory:

Beginning on the South County line at the Southwest corner of the Rockwall County School land of Gray County. (Being same as SE corner of Subdivision No. 1); thence North along Section line to Northwest corner of Section 50 of H&GNRR Co. Block B2; thence 9 miles east along Section line to Southeast corner of Section 18 of A. W. Wallace Block H; thence South 1/4 mile the southwest corner of Section 12 of J. B. Stubblefield subdivision; thence east along section line to County line in south line of section 11 of H&GNRR Co. Block 25; thence south along county line to southeast corner of country; thence west along county line to place of beginning.

through increased exemptions and other tax law changes, were made in the income taxes of Hawaii, New York and South Carolina.

Two more states joined the growing list of states which withhold income taxes. With the addition of Georgia and Louisiana the states on the withholding system numbered 20. It was noted that withholding systems usually increase tax revenues without increasing rates.

Other new or increased taxes included:

Vermont—two per cent excise tax on motor vehicles, with a maximum of $150.

Alaska—Motor fuel taxes raised from 5 to 7 cents per gallon for highway vehicles and 2 to 3 cents for commercial fishing boats.

Rhode Island—Gasoline and fuel taxes up from 6 to 7 cents; cigarette tax increased from 5 to 6 cents per pack.

Virginia — Taxed tobacco (3 cents a pack on cigarettes and 1.35 cents each on cigars costing more than 20 cents) for the first time, becoming the 47th state to do so; taxed alcoholic beverages 10 per cent, and raised the beer-tax from $3.10 to $4 a barrel and increased the gasoline taxes from 6 to 7 cents a gallon.

Nevada—Raised its permit tax from 2 to 3 per cent.

Illinois—Reduced its cigarette tax from 4 to 3 cents per pack when it paid off a state Korean War bonus, and Kentucky dropped the Cigarette tax from 3 to 2.5 cents per pack. But the Kentucky cut had another snapper—cigarettes were put under the new general sales tax.

Smokeless powder was invented in 1884 and had replaced gunpowder for use in firing shells by the early 1900s.

Peg O' Pampa

A PENNY FOR OUR THOUGHTS is a fair price today... but we are hoping that the value will go up as we go down the column... it isn't that our thoughts are valueless... it's just that we have so many that they are flooding our mental-market and shooting the price way down... but we'll try to pick out little gold nuggets of wisdom and get back on the gold standard.

YOU KNOW WHAT is the matter, don't you?... all summer long we knew that school would start in September and that our club and PTA activities would get back into full swing with the first brush of brisk air... that there would be new fall wardrobes to plan for the family... that the yard furniture would have to be taken into storage... and that we must begin again the weekly trips to dancing, scouting, and piano lessons... it's been the same routine now for more than several years... but somehow we are never ready... one of these years, we are hoping to abandon our grass-hopper ways and make more like the ant, whose actions are more eloquent than words.

To set a lofty example is the richest bequest a man can leave behind him. - Samuel Smiles.

WE'VE HEARD NOTHING but raves about the cole slaw, which Betty Reid prepared and served at Twentieth Century Allegro's Husbands' Night Party given Tuesday evening on the pagoda-patio of the Reid home (remember their home was included in Parent Education Club's Beautiful Homes Tour last Spring?)... we are hoping to persuade Betty to share the recipe with us so that we can pass it along to you... all we know is that it is prepared a day or two in advance of serving and is de-licious... Allegro members and husbands dined by torch light on the patio... but, we understand, that there was just a little difficulty in keeping the torches lit... just a little windier here on the high plains than in the Orient, we imagine... for those art-minded and artistic friends of ours, we are sure they will be interested in hearing that Emilio Caballero is starting art classes the latter part of September in Robert E. Lee Junior High art room... Ruth Nensiel can give you the enrollment dates and time... we've heard Dr. Caballero speak several times and we like the philosophy of living that he seems to weave into his art and instruction... we always knew Nina Spoonmore was a busy, busy gal, but now she has no more time on her hands... especially since a "house-breaker" entered her home Sunday and made off with three watches... it would seem to Peg, the sage philosopher, that something else besides procrastination is the thief of time, from campus correspondence we learned that Marilyn Steele, after a busy summer of conducting charm and speech classes in Miami, has returned to North Texas State Campus and enrolled for her sophomore year... she is a political science major and such a pretty one!!... and may we doff our bonnet to Delta Delta Delta at Texas Tech for their excellent choice... they've invited Gay Vanderburg, daughter of the Fred Vanderburg's, to be a member and she has pledged.

THIS WEEK WILL BE an excellent time to forage through your recipe file and dig out all of those nutritious casserole dishes that are designed for busy, busy days... for, as no doubt your social calendar shows, it will be a week chock full of activities to keep you away from the kitchen stove and since you can't let your family starve, it will be well to have the recipes at fingertips... tomorrow noon Twentieth Century Cotillion begins anew its Fashion Luncheon that were so popular and well-attended last Spring... the luncheon will be in Coronado Inn... models will be wearing those lovely, luscious autumn clothes that we've been devouring with our eyes in slick magazines... Katy Key will add her vivaciousness to the occasion by narrating the show... Betty Ellis, who did such a wonderful job with the staging of the luncheons last season, is in charge of them again this season... and there has been a busy gal... she's been sort of commuting between here and Amarillo these days... for in addition to preparing for the Fashion Show, her husband, Neeley Joe, opened last Wednesday in the leading role of Amarillo Little Theater's production of "The Boy Friend," which will run through Tuesday of this week... Friday night was Pompa Night for this production and if our espionage system is working properly, we should have a few details for you on that before we sign... 30... for this week... another good reason for a casserole cache is Twentieth Century Club's Presidents' Coffee planned for Thursday... also in the Inn... if you thought we TOLD ALL LAST WEEK... just wait until the Coffee... Twentieth Century Forum has a few more surprises up its pretty sleeves!

IT TAKES NO LITTLE imagination to picture what a lively place the Joe Tooley residence has been this week... Lola Harper (Dorothy's mother) and the Tooleys have had such interesting guests... Mrs. Harper's son, Herb (and Dorothy's brother, of course) and his fiancée, Patty Brill, have been visiting here from Hollywood, Calif... Herb plays trombone in NBC-TV's 40-member orchestra... and Patty is a former child movie star, who grew up to become a TV actress... Patty can be seen locally on The Donna Reid Show this week playing the part of a tea hostess... a date we are looking forward to, and we are sure you will, too, when you hear it... is the Pampa High School A Cappella Choir and Drama Department's presentation of that record breaking musical "Oklahoma"... Hugh Sanders, Choir director, and Helen Schaffer, speech teacher, have production plans underway for its presentation on Oct. 21... and again on Oct. 22, if ticket sales warrant... Jerry Boxter is to be Curley and Betty Lou McWilliams is cast as Laurey... Beryl Nash and Ann Hutchins are to accompany the choir and Mary Alice Coombes has been handed the assignment of student assistant... other members of the cast, who will be bringing to life the famed characters of "Oklahoma," are Kristi Brown... Tom McPeak... Sue Collins... Jerry Nichols... Verena Hunter... Rudy Hulleander... Bill Don Eads... Jack Carlson... James Shelton... Jon and Sarah Naylor... bravo!, we say, for such ambitious plans.

A BUSHEL BASKET often hides a light, we have heard... if you will but look... sometimes it takes Peg a while to hear of things but we do eventually and you know what happens to things we hear!... we are thinking now of the honor that was conferred upon the Rev. Dick Crews by his Alma Mater, Texas Christian University... because of distinguished service and achievement in the field of Christian ministry, the university conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity upon him this past Spring... and he can assume the title of Doctor now at anytime he wishes... our congratulations to Dr. Crews.

ESPIONAGE-SYSTEM-AT-WORK - Report of Agent No. 3: Dear Peg, Knowing how you love to use names in your column, if you are thinking of using names of Pampons attending the performance of Dr. N. J. Ellis in Amarillo's Little Theater presentation of "The Boy Friend" on "Pampa Night" Friday... forget it... the theatre was filled with them... but you will be interested in hearing of the warm ovation given Dr. Ellis and the cast following final curtain, when over 300 Pampons attending stood and enthusiastically applauded the evening's delightful performance... it was wonderful we understand that local folk are attending on other nights, too, other than the especially set aside "Pampa Night" there is no performance today, but Pampons can still "catch" the musical through Tuesday night. Signed, Agent No. 3.

Miss Roundtree Becomes Bride Of J. L. Knowlton

The wedding vows of Miss Carol Sue Roundtree and Jimmy Lloyd Knowlton were solemnized by Jay W. Channell, minister, in an eight o'clock service held last night in Harvester-Mary Ellen Church of Christ.

Miss Roundtree is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Roundtree, 411 N. Purviance. Mr. Knowlton's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd M. Knowlton of San Antonio. The double-ring vows were repeated before a white satin draped altar flanked with Grecian urns and a background of Jade Palms. The rostrum was also draped with white satin with alternately placed bouquets of white mums. White votive cups in two tree candelabras lighted the wedding scene. Pews of honor were marked with small foliage banks accented with white tapers.

BRIDE

Escorted down a white, cloth-covered aisle and given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride was gowned in white slipper satin designed with a low, circlet neckline outlined with Alencon lace, which extended in a front panel to the waistline and was sprinkled with sequins and seed pearls. Long, tapered sleeves were closed at the wrist with tiny satin buttons. The elongated torso, outlined with cording, was enjoined to a bouffant white satin skirt, which terminated in a chapel sweep. Her elbow-length veil of silk Illusion cascaded from a tiara encrusted with sequins and seed pearls. She carried white orchids arranged with stephanotis and polished Ivy Leaf garland.

AAUW Planning Membership Tea

The American Association of University Women will have its annual membership tea Tuesday, Sept. 20, at 8 p.m. in the Lovett Memorial Library auditorium. The affair is to honor all new and prospective members of the organization, and any woman who is interested is welcome.

Highlighting the evening will be a book review by Mrs. Kenneth Walters. Mrs. Walters has chosen On the Shoulders of Giants by Eleanor Chappell, which is the biography of Bea Wright, an outstanding woman. Hostesses will be Mrs. E. L. Norman, Mrs. M. K. Griffith, Mrs. Stephen McGrady, Miss Peggy Turner, and Miss Janice Cole.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the American Association of University Women or in securing further information may call Miss Yvonne Goss, membership chairman, at MO 4-7113.

Mrs. B. E. Moore of Amarillo served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathie Knowlton of San Antonio, bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Ronnie Rice, Miss Jane Sessums of Lubbock, Miss Karla Cox.

The feminine attendants were dressed identically in Romance Blue satin fashioned with an Empire bodice with low necklines and tiny cap sleeves. Their bouffant skirts were accented with a back bow interest. They wore matching Crowns of velvet petals with nose veils of French Illusion. They carried a cascade of white feathered mums.

Richard Franks of Gatesville served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were David Knowlton of San Antonio, bridegroom's brother, Billy Sam Hale of Eldorado, Mack Shurbet of Lubbock, and Winnard Kathmann of Mason.

Seating the wedding guests were Koy Neeley of Lubbock, Henry Strosser of San Antonio, Jim and John Shewmaker. Mrs. Danny King, organist, accompanied the bridal party with Lohengrin's Processional and Wagner's Recessional. Miss Mary Jane Campbell sang, "Whither Thou Goest," "I Love Thee," and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Roundtree chose an imported silk lace over taffeta sheath in a blue shade with matching blue accessories. A pink orchid complemented her costume. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Knowlton, chose an imported silk lace over taffeta dress in a chocolate brown shade with aqua satin trim and matching aqua accessories. She wore a beige orchid corsage.

A reception was held in the social rooms of Harvester-Mary Ellen Church of Christ immediately following the ceremony.

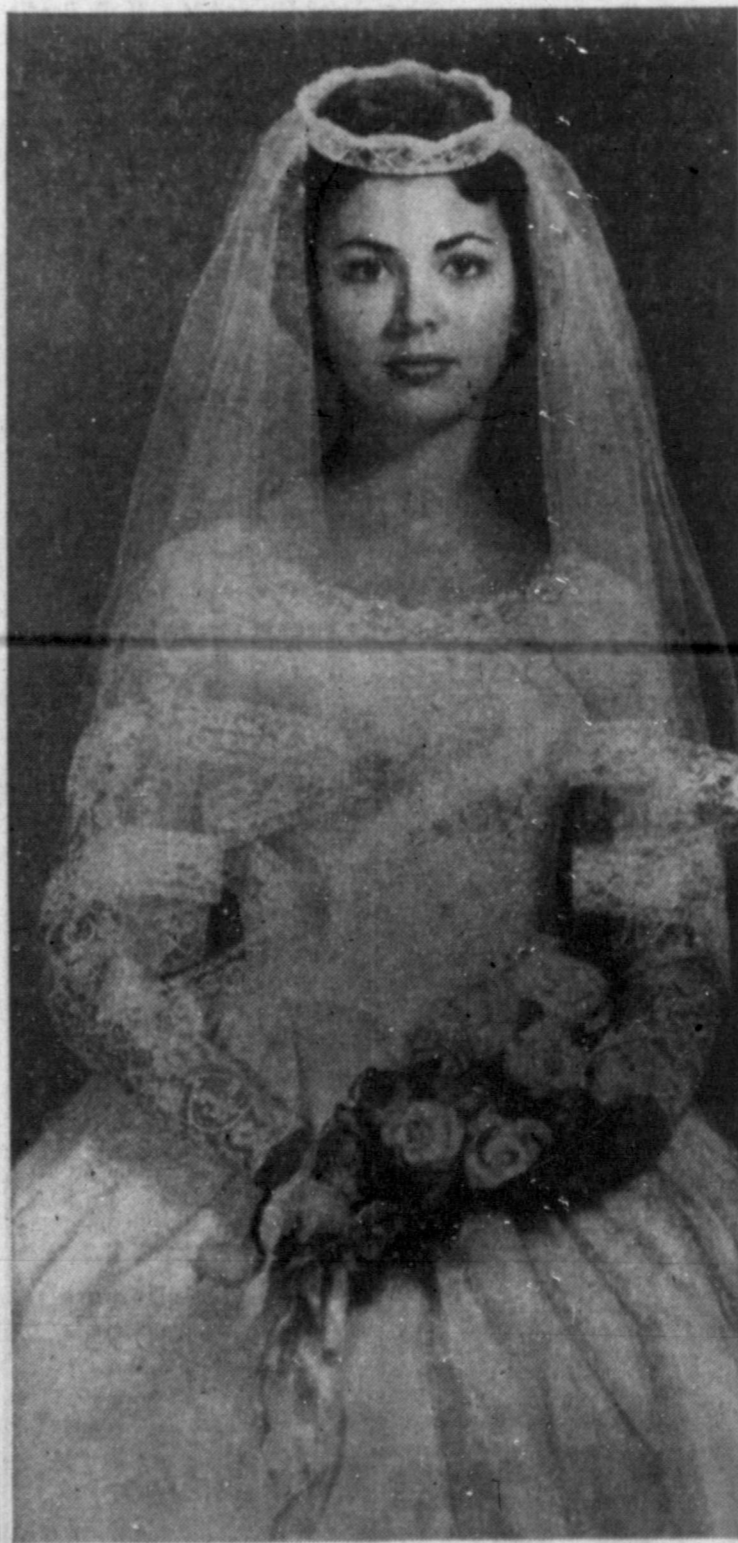

The bride's table was skirted with white satin and tulle centered with a silver epergne arranged with mums, pompons and blue tapers. The four-tiered cake was placed in a circlet of blue net with silver appointments completing the setting.

Mrs. Jerry Kotara, Mr. Buster Brown and Mrs. Billy Sam Hale presided alternately at the punch service. Mrs. R. E. Milam of San Antonio served from the tiered cake. Miss Shirley Turner of Abilene was guest registrar.

Other members of the house-party were Misses Tim Tohe Atkinson of Kennedy, Tommy Hunter of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Lewis Spreen of San Antonio. For a wedding trip to Estes Park, Colo., where the S. E. Knowlton's have a summer home, the bride traveled in a cherry velvet suit complemented with black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Knowlton was graduated from Pampa High School and attended Texas Technological College, Lubbock. Mr. Knowlton was graduated from Texas Tech. The couple will make their home in San Antonio, where the bridegroom owns and operates a dairy farm.

Candlelight Service Unites Pitts-Ammons

An eight o'clock wedding service united in marriage Miss Dorothy Nell Pitts and Darryl C. Ammons last night in Hobart Street Baptist Church. The Rev. W. F. Vanderburg, associated with Wayland Baptist College, was officiant for the double-ring ceremony, which was performed beneath an arch of green palms surrounded by white candles flanked on each side with white tapers in candelabras, baskets of white gladioli and Asters. Candles marked the pews of honor.

Miss Pitts is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. John Slater of Panhandle. Mr. Ammons is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ammons, 1608 W. Bond.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Jack Martin of Panhandle. Mrs. Doris Wilkins, also of Panhandle, sang "O, Perfect Love," "Whither Thou Goest." For the benediction, the bride and bridegroom sang "Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us."

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her uncle, John Slater, the bride was gowned in floor-length Chantilly lace over white taffeta with a Sweetheart neckline edged with iridescent sequins and seed pearls and long, tapered sleeves, which ended in petal points over the hands. The voluminous skirt featured a back interest of lace tiers cascading into a chapel sweep. Her fingertip veil was held secure to a chapeau trimmed with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of orchids showered with white satin streamers.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Dianne Ammons, bridegroom's sister, served as maid of honor wearing a street-length blue silk organza dress complemented with a head piece of blue flowers and tulle. She carried a colonial arrangement of blue and white carnations.

Butch Palmer served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Meredith Meaker, and Jerry Don Oliphant.

Sheryl Sutton, bride's cousin, and Steven Evans, bride's nephew, were ringbearers. Miss Sutton wore a frock of blue silk organza and a blue and white carnation wristlet. Steve wore white coat and dark trousers.

Miss Donna La Nell Graham, bridegroom's cousin, escorted by

Mrs. Darryl C. Ammons ... Dorothy Nell Pitts

Keith Oliphant, attended as flower girl and was dressed as the other feminine attendants.

For her niece's wedding, Mrs. Slater chose a grape-sheath dress with mauve accessories and an orchid corsage. The mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Ammons, selected a pink lace dress with lilac accessories and an orchid corsage.

RECEPTION

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in Fellowship Hall of the Church. The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth. The wedding cake and appointments carried out the bride's chosen colors of blue and white. Mrs. Clint Evans, bride's sister and Mrs. Doris Wilkins presided at the cake and punch service. Mrs. Harold Sutton, bride's cousin, was guest registrar.

For a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, the bride wore a plum, sheer wool dressmaker's suit with black accessories and a white orchid corsage. After Sept. 25, the couple will make their home at 1519 Ripley. The bride was graduated from Buckner high school, Dallas, in 1948; and was graduated from Decatur Baptist College, Decatur, in 1950, where she majored in physical education and voice.

The bridegroom was graduated from Pampa High School in 1948 and from Decatur Baptist College in 1950, where he majored in general education and music and was a member of the Decatur College basketball team.

Chapel Setting Scene For Tatum-Mims Vows

Miss Lynn Tatum became the bride of Gary Mims with double-ring vows repeated Sept. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in First Methodist Chapel with the Rev. W. W. Adcock, pastor, officiating.

Baskets of white gladioli, tiered candelabra, palms with Huckleberry entwining the communion rail formed the wedding scene.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Tatum, 1631 Dogwood. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henington of Mineola.

Tom Atkin, at the organ, provided traditional wedding music and served as accompanist for Miss Bettie Tatum, bride's sister, as she sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I avowal," the bride was gowned in white Pimamist fashioned with a square, scalloped neckline and brief sleeves. The embroidery scalloped insets were repeated again in tiers on the molded bodice, which was enjoined to a street-length skirt fashioned with knife pleats. Her shoulder-length veil of white tulle was held secure to a circlet of orange blossoms

PTA Goals Outlined By Speaker At Horace Mann Meeting Thursday

"PTA is an adventure. The type of adventure it becomes is up to us. It may be rewarding, or dull, but where else in Pampa, do we have the opportunity to work with, to help, and to study with 6,000 students?"

This was the answer Mrs. Carlton Nance, PTA City Council president, gave to the question posed by her discussion topic, "What Is PTA?" at Horace Mann PTA meeting held Thursday in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Nance explained that the objectives of PTA are five in number: to promote, to raise, to secure; to bring and develop.

"We want to promote the welfare of every child in the home, school, church and community. We want to give every child a chance to achieve a life of satisfaction to himself and usefulness to others."

"We want to raise standards of home life. The home is the basic unit of our society."

"We must secure adequate laws for the care and protection of our children and youth. To join with others to bring practical community action to combat delinquency," Mrs. Nance advised.

"We want to bring into closer relationship, the home and the school. We need self-education to establish good home-school relationships."

"We need to develop between educators and the general public, such efforts as will secure for each child the highest advantages. Individual freedom, rights, responsibilities and dignity are indispensable in any community," the speaker said.

"The adventure is before us. Join in and make it worthwhile for you and your children. PTA is quality and quantity," Mrs. Nance concluded.

The meeting opened with devotional by Sam Begert.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Edwin Southard, unit president, Mrs. James Futch, membership chairman, reported a membership of 296.

The door prize, a cake baked by Mrs. Howard Holt, was won by Mrs. Arnold Karbo.

Room count was won by the first grade room, first and by the second grade room, second.

Refreshments were served during the social hour by Mmes. Leon Daugherty, J. D. Skaggs and Ray Frazier. Guests were greeted at the door by Mmes. Howard Holt, Wayne Phillips and Richard Ellis.

and pearls. She carried a white orchid arranged atop a white Bible showered with white satin streamers tied in Lovers' Knots.

ATTENDANTS

El Progresso's Basic Purposes Told At Meet

El Progresso Study Club began its new club year with a one o'clock luncheon Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ann Heskey, 1129 N. Somerville.

Luncheon tables were decorated with Peace Roses in white finger vases on pink linen cloths. Place cards were also decorated with Peace Roses and green leaves to carry out the club's colors of pink and green.

"A Finger In Every Pie" is the course title of El Progresso's year of study.

To lay the ground-work for the club's taking up the new course of study, Mrs. John Gill, president, addressed a few remarks relative to the background purposes. "The motto of this club is 'No Footsteps Backward.' This is a good rule on which to base our lives as well as our club. We can be sure that when this phrase was chosen, it did not refer to social prestige or pride. It was intended to help members grow as individuals."

"We know that to have a worthwhile club, we must have members who are willing to grow and to continue building on the foundation started by our charter members. The charter members, and those who have been in this club through the years, have left us a well-built and interesting structure."

"Doors and windows are necessary for our structure. Through the door, we walk onto a level based on friendship and a common desire, knowledge. Through open windows we see humanity pass. The problems of the sick should be met with intelligent feeling instead of superstition. Social disorders are visible and need determined and dedicated workers. Community problems should be met and corrected by informed citizens. However, the information need to meet problems does not just jump in the window. It must be gathered, comprehended and distributed. Through open windows we see ways to put into practice what we learn."

"It takes only one half-hearted effort to throw our structure out of balance. It takes only one member using outdated material to make a rough spot. When another member rests on last year's reading, the rough spot gets larger. Some buildings are built with rough surfaces, but our foundation was laid in smooth straight lines and should not be marred by lazy work."

"In order to go constantly forward," Mrs. Gill continued, "we must never read tomorrow what should have been read today. We should never be satisfied to read and then to wonder. We should work until we comprehend and go on from there."

"Someone said," Mrs. Gill quoted, "The man who was educated yesterday and stops today, is not educated for tomorrow." We cannot leave tomorrow to others. Those who follow us will have to build on what we leave and follow the path we start. If we leave rough spots their task will be difficult. If we slip back, their steps will be harder.

"If we as individuals," speaker said in concluding remarks, "and as club members, are to live up to the purpose of this club and its motto, we must always look forward. It is the foundation on which we build to gain a better club and a more rewarding life."

It was announced that the Sept. 27 meeting will be with Mrs. J. G. Morrison, 2101 Christine, when Mrs. Morrison will show slides and narrate her summer trip to Europe.

Members present at the initial meeting were Mmes. D. V. Burton, J. F. Curtis, V. J. Drew, W. R. Ewing, Elmer Fisher, John Gill, Veri Hagaman, George Hrdlicka, J. G. Lyons, Bob McCoy, Carlton Knox, Kinard, Charles Lanehart, J. G. Lyons, Bob McCoy, Carlton Nance, George Walstad, Harold Wright, J. G. Morrison and Jess Clay.

Rho Eta Chapter With Mrs. Meers

Mrs. H. L. Meers was hostess to a meeting of Rho Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority on Tuesday evening at 8 p.m.

During the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Meers, Mrs. Ray Jordan read a letter from International regarding pledging for the fall season. Members present voted to have rush activities in the Fall instead of in the Spring.

Mrs. Jordan also announced that the Ritual of Jewels would be held Sept. 20 in the City Club Room and urged all members to be present.

Mrs. Charles Duenkel Jr. and Mrs. Mack White presented a program on "Introductions and Invitations" during which members participated in giving proper introductions. Illustrations of formal and informal invitations were read.

Mrs. Ann Williams and Mrs. Douye Massie were introduced and welcomed as transferees to Pampa.

Hostesses during the social hour were Mmes. Mack White, Charles Duenkel Jr. and Bill Tarpley.

Members attending not previously mentioned were Mmes. Delmar

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McWaters

Episcopal Group Entertains With Morning Coffee

The Women of St. Matthews Episcopal Church entertained recently with a Coffee in the home of Mrs. Billie Davis, on north Duncan.

Refreshments, during the social hour, were served from a gold, cloth-covered table appointed with white chrysanthemums by hostesses, Mmes. Jack Reeve, Al Knox, E. Roy Smith and W. L. Gablemann.

During the business meeting, Mrs. C. R. Howard, president, introduced the organization officers as Mmes. Carl Thomas and Billie Davis, vice presidents; Donald Beaman, secretary; Al Knox, treasurer.

Department chairmen were introduced as Mmes. Henry Rose, James Dailey, Robert Smith, J. Foster Elder, Ethel Kiser, James Morris, Gerald Shutts, John Frederick and William E. West.

Others attending were Mmes. Fred Alexander, Charles Bruce, Jack Curtis, Bill Dingus, W. E. Ellis, W. T. Fain, Donald J. George, Jerry Hamilton, Howard E. Johnson, Herbert Lotz, S. J. Meador, W. A. Watson, and Miss Ruth Huff.

The meeting closed with a devotional given by Mrs. Felix Vendrell.

Mirror Ceremony Installs New Officers For 20-30 Club Year

LEFORS (Spl) — New officers for the 20-30 Club were installed recently at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. Tony Bivins.

A large mirror arranged with garden flowers and candles was used in the installation ceremony, which opened with Mrs. Edward Lehnick, program chairman, asking "Mirror, mirror, on the wall, will you help us to install?" The voice in the mirror, that of Mrs. Bivins, answered, "Yes I will help you to install."

Mrs. Joe Archer, outgoing president, gave a farewell talk and then requested the mirror's aid in installing the following officers: Mmes. Wayne Sims, president; Tony Bivins, vice president; Gene Fort, secretary-reporter; Leonard Cain, treasurer.

Committee chairmen appointed

To shop from the rack is an art. To tell successfully whether a dress you see on the hanger will look well on you, you must have either a naturally clever eye or a lot of training. So don't refuse to try on a dress suggested by a saleswoman. She has seen the dress on others. You haven't.

are Mmes. Ed Lehnick, Joe Archer, Ernest Foshee, program; Calvin Lacy, Ray Dickerson, social; Leonard Cain, Jimmy Stanton, Billy Cox and Jimmy Pennington, finance; Tony Bivins and R. E. McDonald, membership committee.

Following discussion, rules of membership in the club were agreed on as follows; one must attend the club three times as a guest; have name submitted to membership committee signed by three club members then passed upon by the entire membership; membership shall be limited to 20.

Club year books, which had been handpainted by Mrs. Forshee and Mrs. Archer, were distributed to members. Three members received attendance pins, Mmes. Gene Fort, Dale Imel and Eddy Clemmons.

It was announced that the next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Gene Fort with a program on cosmetology presented by Mrs. Calvin Lacy.

Our sons had a quarrel; her son was to blame.
Our friendship is over, things can't be the same.
How else can I treat her when all's said and done?
A mother should always stand up for her son...
And then I observe, more with shame than alarm,
The two youngsters strolling along arm in arm.

Read any good mail recently? We have and we want to share it with you.

When we heard that Joan Rogers, who is teaching fifth grade in Yokota Dependents School, Yokota Air Force Base, Japan, was writing such colorfully vivid letters to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Rogers, 2239 N. Russell, we hid ourselves out to their home and blatantly asked if we might read their mail, too.

Joan will be remembered by her many friends in Pampa as the little girl who attended Horace Mann for her elementary education; then as a student in Pampa Junior High School. As a young lady, she was graduated from Pampa High School in 1954 and went on to North Texas State College to graduate with a degree in elementary education. She taught two years in Houston Schools. Then to combine her teaching ability with a longing to travel to foreign places, she applied to teach the children of air force personnel in foreign lands. This summer she was accepted for the position in Japan, which is where we pick up her interesting story.

Because all of the interesting events written in her letters home cannot be contained in a single column, we will run a series of them beginning today and continuing through Wednesday.

Yokota, Japan
19 August, 1960

Dear Folks,

I seem to have so much to tell you that I hardly know where to begin. I guess I'll start back in San Francisco and come up to the present. First of all, our flight from Amarillo to San Francisco was awfully rough.

Mary Ann (also a teacher from Houston and friend was Joan's traveling companion) and I took motion sickness pills all the time. I guess we arrived in S.F. about 8 p.m. and took a cab into S.F. He (the cab-driver) drove on those six-lane freeways about 70mph like a wild man. We stayed in the Sheraton Palace finally because our reservations turned out to be a real bad place. Our room in the Sheraton was real nice. We had dinner that night in the Garden Court, beautiful and expensive.

The next morning, we took a Grayline tour of the city. It is built on steep hills and the streets seem to go straight up and down. We almost fell face forward every time we started down. We saw Oakland Bay Bridge, Golden Gate Bridge, Fisherman's Wharf, all of the city.

Then later that day we took a Greyhound Bus to Travis FB. We checked our luggage, had dinner and met some of the other teachers. It was time to go. We boarded our plane, Overseas National Airways, DC-7, and left the ground at 8 p.m. I really had a funny feeling to know that I was actually going.

We passed over San Francisco and saw huge waves crashing against the shore, which is very rocky. Then we were over NOTHING but water. The sun was going down then and you could see the ocean all round like a ball with a rim of red around the water. We landed in Honolulu eight hours later and after a two hour layover, we were on our way to Wake Island.

It took 7 1/2 hours to reach Wake Island and during the flight it was dark right up until we reached it. We were served lunch at 11:30 a.m. in the morning (Honolulu time). This was strange because it was night outside. As a matter of fact we only saw the ocean during our flight to Tachikawa, then it was light.

Between Wake and Hawaii, we crossed the International dateline and we lost a day, because it had been Tuesday and suddenly it was Thursday. The pilot made an announcement saying, the navigators (we had four pilots and three hostesses) had been computing and in approximately 4 1/2 min., we would cross the International Dateline, and we could look out the windows. He said he might not be able to see it, but he thought we would feel it. Just then he made the plane dip... and we felt it!

It was the strangest thing going into Wake, because the island is so small, 8 1/2 miles by 2 1/2 miles, that we never even saw land until the plane was sitting on it. For the longest time, we felt as if we were diving straight into the ocean. We stayed there 45 minutes and drank a Coke. We left Wake at 9:15 in the morning and about 10:30 we were served supper! We were all so confused by this time, we didn't care. We only ate anyway because we needed something to do... no one was hungry.

Finally, after all of this time, we saw Japan... everyone on the plane cheered, they were so glad after the 25 hrs. flight.

The land was so beautiful from the air. I can't describe it... all laid out in a perfect pattern... so green and very hilly.

We landed at Tachikawa and were herded immediately to exchange all our American money, except pennies, for military paper currency (mpc's). We were then assigned our schools and mine is Yokota Dependents School, Yokota Air Force Base, which is a SAC Command. Mary Ann, my friend, got Narimsu in Tokyo and we were heartsick until we found out I am only 1 1/2 hours away and we call each other without charge. I've already talked to her several times.

I had met a couple of girls on the plane and we are together; also, I'm only 30 minutes away from Johnson AFB, where another friend from Austin is assigned.

The people from Yokota met us and presented us with red rose corsages. We piled in a little bus and 20 minutes later were at our base.

We live in a vacated bachelor officer quarters (BOQ); the rooms are very small, but there is a chance we will get larger ones. However, the girls on our floor are awfully nice and I really like them.

We eat all our meals at the Officers' Club... good, good food. Breakfast is about 20 cents; lunch, 30 cents and dinner 85 cents. It is a beautiful place. The tables are covered with white cloths and they (Japanese waiters and waitresses) come take your order and serve you. For dinner you must dress in heels and dinner is served by candlelight. There are dance bands on Wednesday and weekends.

There are several things it's very difficult to get accustomed to here. Motorists drive on the wrong side of the street and I almost got run over twice because when crossing a street I would look to my left for an oncoming car, while it was approaching from the right and vice versa for crossing from the other side. Another thing... all change, nickles, dimes, everything except pennies, is paper. I can't believe I'm spending money!

The Japanese people are wonderful. They are so very nice and kind. I already have a maid. Four of us share her and she works all day long. The first day after we got here, I left my room looking terrible... hadn't unpacked anything... stuff all over the room. When I got back, my bed was made, clothes hung up, floor mopped and swept, rug cleaned, waste basket emptied... things all put away, undies washed and some of clothes pressed. It was wonderful! She even folded the girl's next door's hose in the neatest little folded-up manner you ever saw. She doesn't speak very good English and it's really fun to talk to her.

Our school is not as nice as I've been accustomed to, but I didn't expect that. Everyone is so nice. They've arranged a sight-seeing trip to Tokyo tomorrow and Thursday we have another trip planned to a Japanese hotel for a Japanese dinner and entertainment by Geisha girls.

Out of all these girls here, most are from Detroit, Maine, New Hampshire etc. and they really get a kick out of me.

We will have five fifth grade sections and I'm the only girl... the men have been very helpful.

We went to the PX today and had more fun shopping around. Things are so cheap. They sell genuine pearl rings for less than ten dollars; Cashmere coats, tailor-made, sell for $35 to $40 and silk dresses are $7 to $10. I want real soon, all your measurements, length, sleeve, shoulders, include everything so I can be prepared.

I have finally told you everything I know, so I'll quit and write again after our trip. Be sure to write soon. I love you all very much and give that Fiddle dog a big ole hug and kiss for me.

Love, Joan

(Tomorrow: An American goes shopping in Tokyo)

Everyone likes an occasional change. But refrain from experimenting with make-up just before going out. You may find it doesn't become you at all and that you can't remove it. Try new make-up at home when there is enough time to remove what you don't like.

Impressive Ceremony Initiates Six New Members Into Altrusa Club Of Pampa

Six new members were initiated into membership of Altrusa Club of Pampa at a noon luncheon held Monday in the Pine Room of Pampa Hotel. The impressive ceremony was conducted by Mrs. B. M. Behrman, Altrusa Information chairman for new members Mmes. W. F. Yeager, Howard Johnson, Thelma Bray, Bonnie McCarley, Fidelia Yoder and Miss Rosemary Lawlor. Mrs. Loleta Byars, another new member, was unable to be present but will be installed at a later time, according to Mrs. Behrman.

In welcoming the new members into the club, Mrs. Clyde Vanderberg, president, expressed the pleasure of having them as members and said, "You are not joining Altrusa Club, you are becoming an Altrusan. We are not a social club, but we are a service club. We will welcome the pleasure of working with you."

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Vanderberg, plans were approved for a Tri-City Banquet, which will include the Amrillo and Borger Altrusa Clubs, and will be held in Coronado Inn on April 10 at which time Mrs. Jo Ella Terrell Butler of Wichita Falls, district governor-elect will be the honored guest and speaker. Announcement was made of the two Altrusans attending the Governor's Conference on Aging in Austin on Sept. 7-8. Mrs. Jack P. Foster, Altrusa district vice governor, represented Altrusa International and Mrs. W. A. Spoonmore was an official delegate from Gray County.

In the Altrusa Information Quiz, conducted by Mrs. Behrman, Mrs. Lorene Locke answered the question correctly "How many awards has the national club magazine received? By answering that it had received 17.

Mrs. Vera Lard, Altrusa Vocational Chairman, introduced Miss Glenda Gorman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Gorman, 822 E. Craven, as the Girl of the Month for September. Miss Gorman, PHS senior, is co-editor of the Harvester Annual for this year; president of Quill and Scroll; vice president of Spanish II; and appeared in the cast of the Junior Class play. Miss Rosemary Lawlor was winner of the door prize.

Luncheon and program arrangements were under the direction of Mrs. Behrman and her committee, Mmes. Vera Lard, Irene Smith and Lorene Locke.

Mrs. Roy Kay was in charge of room and table decorations which featured a "Back To School" scheme with tables covered in white with blue streamers running the length. Bouquets of white mums and gladioli in paper sacks, with sandwiches and apples forming a focal point, were placed alternately down the table. The speakers table held a floral arrangement of autumn flowers with a slate on which was written "School Days" and "An Apple for the Teacher." At each guests place was a shiny, red apple.

The old idea of the 'classic' sweater set has been turned into something new for fall. A third piece has been added to the set:

Miss Martha Skelly

Martha Skelly Named Girl Scout District Director

Miss Martha Skelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Skelly, 916 N. Somerville, has been appointed district director for the Quivira Girl Scout Council. She has assumed her duties of working with the camping committees and public relations committees in Hutchinson, Armstrong and Carbon Counties.

Miss Skelly began her scouting career as a Brownie and has continued all the way through senior scouting to her present status as that of a professional Girl Scout worker. As a member of Mariner Troop 22, she participated in numerous national, regional and local events, including the 1956 Roundup.

Miss Skelly was graduated from Pampa High School in 1956. She attended Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., where she was graduated with a major in elementary education this Spring.

While in college, Miss Skelly was leader of a Brownie Troop. For the past three summers, she has been a counselor at Camp Mary White, Mayhill, N.M.

Shopping Pampa

with ELEANORE

Sometimes they consult Mrs. Ruth Rice. As past two weeks I have felt the need of a bicycle to see all of the fine things that are in the stores of Pampa merchants. Get another cup of coffee and see what I found around town this week.

Helen Wells, at HI-LAND CHILDREN'S SHOP has a new shipment of the finest girls' coats you can find anywhere. They are the new "Duo" Coat, by Little California Coat Company, and were designed to fit a definite need of the average girl. The "Duo" Coat combines the elegance of a dress coat, the utility of a car coat, the washability of a car coat and the water repellance and wind resistance of rainwear. And as if that weren't enough, the coat fabric is in Dan River "Wrinkl-shed" cotton, treated with Dupont ZELAN, for wrinkle resistance. There are three stunning designs... one with ruffled sleeves to fit the narrow shouldered girl, or any-size for that matter, one designed with roll-up sleeves that lengthen with the growing arms of your daughter, and one with a double-breasted effect in front and yoke behind. These are full-length coats that are in beautiful colors of ice blue, red, willow green, and beige, and their design is such that the easy flare of the bottom is graceful over any number of the can-can petticoats all the girls wear. The linings are fabulous: Malden "Capri" fleece, all orlon acrylic, warm as toast, light as a feather, moth and mildew proof. All girls love the fur-like feel of the fleece. Incidentally these coats have the fleece-lined hood that folds back to form the pretty collar. See the size range, too: 3 to 6x, 4 to 14, and subteen. The subteen has cute wide-stripe fleece lining the girls will love. How can you get more in a girls' coat? HI-LAND CHILDREN'S SHOP, 1619 N. Hobart.

Right out of Gourmet Magazine or House Beautiful food section, is the comment you will make about the lavish buffet served at the CORONADO INN on Sundays from 11:30 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. Chef George Mason brings to Pampa the art of garnishing and serving fine foods with an expert flair. No one ever came to Pampa with a better knowledge of fine food. He has come to the Coronado Inn with experience in the finer establishments across the nation. The Sunday buffet is served in the Starlite Room, with the artist's attention to detail and painstaking care. You have never seen a more beautiful table, with George himself serving the three meats featured each time, with appropriate vegetables. There must be at least ten different and mouth-watering salads for you to choose from, with a fine dessert to top it off. You will not be able to resist "seconds" of everything, $1.75 for all you can eat, $1.00 for the children. More and more Pampans are enjoying the Sunday Buffet. Remember, too, that if you have a bridge party coming up, the Inn arranges delightful bridge luncheons for you in the private Cibola, Quivira, and Emerald rooms. Or if you prefer a dessert-bridge party that can be arranged, also. See the manager, Mr. Kines,

And the new styles for supports of any kind, Tom Beard is the one to see. He will call at the hospital or at your home or you may go to Richard Drug for a careful, expert fitting in a private fitting room. He can also repair and check any surgical appliances, as they keep a stock of supplies and spare parts. You will also find Surgical Elastic Hosiery in four weights, two-way stretch nylon or cotton fabric, carefully fitted to each individual condition. Tom wants to call your attention, too, to the supports designed for the very thin patient, fitted to avoid extra stress on hip bones. Don't forget that you may request home or hospital calls if necessary. Richard Drug also has for rent hospital beds, crutches, wheelchairs, walkers and so on. And before I left, Tom said, "Remember readers that the hay fever season is still with us," and he has the portable "Purifon" air filter, which will relieve your hay fever. It also removes smoke, odors, grease, pollen dust, and so forth, from any room. It's better than an exhaust fan in the kitchen—it can remove grease from the air before it streaks walls and ceilings. Just plug in portable "Purifon", flick a switch and "Purifon" the air. RICHARD DRUG, 111 N. Cuyler, MO 5-5747.

This is the season to begin thinking about moving your activities from the patio outdoors to the family room or living room inside. Naturally you begin to regret the passing of the green of summer. Roy Kay, at CLAYTON FLORAL COMPANY says, "Don't leave the green you enjoy outside, bring it inside with a new foliage plant." He has some beautiful ones in pots or in planters; a size to fit that bare spot in your room. You can enjoy a green plant all winter. At Clayton's you can also find stunning dried flower and polyethylene flower arrangements. I loved the ones created of the contemporary "bubble blossoms" or "beauty berries" on natural wood stems, in colors of white, gold, bronze, orange or yellow. They are arranged in pretty footed glass dishes and will fit in with any traditional or contemporary decor. If you have some special color or type of flower in mind choose from Clayton's wide variety of plastic flowers. You know, an expert touch on an arrangement of these flowers can really make a difference. Buy yours at Clayton's and take advantage of their services. You can bring in your own cherished bowl that is lying unused in the cupboard, or choose from their selection; they have everything from brass to glass. I love the Fall season, and Fall in a flower shop is so very pretty. Drop by and see what I mean. CLAYTON FLORAL COMPANY, 410 E. Foster, MO 4-3334.

At RICHARD DRUG I went upstairs to see the prescription department and to meet Tom Beard, registered pharmacist. He showed me the unique "lazy-susan" shelving they have designed for supplies and drugs so that they can quickly and accurately fill your prescriptions. Then we talked about a special service that is available at Richard Drug: that of fitting surgical supports and garments. Tom is the only one in Pampa trained and experienced in the fitting of trusses, abdominal supports, maternity supports and so forth. If you need orthopedic supports for men, women, or children, or if you need post-operative

Beautiful Hair

Jackie Tynes and Edna Prescott are in agreement at BOB-ETTE BEAUTY SALON that beautiful hair does more for you than just make you look attractive. If you know that your hair looks just right you have pride in yourself; and you even feel better. And this goes doubly true for children and young people. If a sense of pride in oneself and in ones looks can be fostered when young, a girl will carry this throughout life. Even the littles girls are so proud of a real trip to the beauty shop and a pretty curl in their hair, and psychologically it builds self-confidence. The operators at Bob-ETTE love to work with youngsters, sub-teens and the High School set on their hair and make-

Canadian Clubs Meet For Bridge

CANADIAN (SpI) — The 40-50 Club met with Mrs. Warren Harrington recently for its first meeting of the fall season.

Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. George Carver. Members present were Mmes. John Wilkinson; Harry Rathjen and Tom Hill.

Mrs. Walyn Gibson Is Hostess To Sharp Group Of Christian Church

The History of Disciples of Christ was the topic presented by Mrs. Walyn Gibson for the Sharp Group of First Christian Church meeting held in her home on Monday evening.

Following the program, Mrs. Bob Swanson and Mrs. Walton Bailey presented a program on "The Need For New Churches." Group discussion followed.

During the business meeting, which opened with prayer by Mrs. O. H. Odom, Mrs. Bob Swanson, leader, reminded members of the Teachers' Banquet to be held in the church on Thursday evening.

Mrs. John Gill announced that a coffee will be given at 9:30 Sept. 21 in the church with Sharp Group members as hostess. All women of the church are invited to attend.

Mrs. Gibson reminded members of the Leadership Training classes being held in the church each Sunday evening from 7 to 7:50 p.m. instructed by Rev. Richard Crews, Walyn Gibson and H. L. Ledrick.

Toys, which members had made for the church nursery and to be sent to children in the Congo, were displayed.

Plans were completed for Husband's Night to be held Sept. 23, when the Group will entertain their husbands with a hayride and winter roast.

Refreshments were served during the social hour to Mmes. G. W. Vance, Walton Bailey, Charles Beard, John Gill, R. E. Converse, Bob Swanson, Tom Rogers, Cecil Deis, Lloyd Laramore, Burl Gramham Jr., O. H. Odom, Charles Lanehart, Murray Castleberry, K. L. Green, Walyn Gibson and Ford Herring.

Mrs. Swanson announced that the next meeting of the Group will be in the church on Oct. 19 at 7:30 p.m. with Mmes. E. B. Jackson and Pearl Thurman as hostesses.

Gloves for fall are decorated or simple, elbow length or short. Rhinestones, bows, buttons, and bands are used as decorations. The top colors are wine, gold, brown.

To make your teeth sparkle, brush them occasionally with baking soda. Just moisten your toothbrush with water, then scoop up the soda on the brush and clean your teeth in the usual manner.

Strickland Family Meets For Reunion

The Strickland Family Reunion was held Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Baggerman, south of the city. The families of Mrs. H. L. Stokes, C. L. Strickland of Tulsa and Calvin Strickland of Point met for a covered-dish luncheon served at the noon hour.

Tables were set up around the lawn to seat the 88 guests attending.

Those present were Messrs. and Mrs. H. L. Stokes, Clayton Stokes, Larry, Billy, Keith, Johnny Glenn; Albert Stokes, Ronnie; Dail Strickland and Susan; Leon Stokes, Gary, Karen, Kay, and Anna Haymes; Jerrell Richardson, Ricky Lynn; Eddie Couts, Charlet John Perry, Billy, Linda, Marilyn, Joe and Clinton; Vernon Baggerman, Earnest, Peggy and Roger Dale; Mrs. Iona Wooten, Evelyn Haymes, Ann Summer all of Pampa.

Also, Messrs. and Mmes. H. M. Stokes of Canyon; C. L. Strickland, Kathy and Mike of Tulsa; Doil Stokes, Carol and Mike of Hurst; Alvin Stokes, Alvin II, Patti and Brenda of Borger; Damon Strickland of Coffeyville, Kan.; Jack Coon of Clinton, Okla.; Curtis Whatley, Debbie, Sharlene and Darrell Don Peters of Amarillo; Mr. Calvin Strickland of Point; Mr. Johnnie Baggerman of Amarillo; Pat Henry of Floydada.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan Guest Speaker For American Business Women's Meet

Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan was guest speaker at the dinner-meeting of American Business Women's Association meeting held Tuesday 6:30 p.m. in White Way Restaurant.

Speaking on the topic "Invasion From Within", Mr. Jordan's timely program was presented in three phases: 1) The Cold War; 2) Communism; 3) Organized Crime.

Mrs. C. C. Melton, president, presided at the business meeting as final plans were discussed for the club's Hand of Friendship Tea to be held this afternoon at 2:30 in Pam Cel Hall.

Mrs. Ida Sallee gave a brief outline of an educational project, which the Pampa Chapter will participate in during the year as one of its projects.

Mrs. Doris Jean Madin, a transferee from Borger Chapter was welcomed as a new member of the Pampa Chapter.

Mr. Clemon Herd was awarded the door prize.

Guests were Miss Romona Smith and Mrs. L. H. Kirkendall.

Other members attending, addition to those mentioned above were Mmes. Charles L. Holloway, Wayne A. Neff, A. L. Hill, Frank Heare, Woodrow J. Finney, Kenneth O. Butler, Rex R. Barton, Francis A. Bradley, Harold E. DeVore, James M. Quary, R. R. Lewter, McRay Wright, Ann Pitcock; Misses Jeanne Casey, Maxin Nabors and Novis Parker.

It was announced that the next meeting will be held Oct. 11 at 6:30 p.m. in White Way Restaurant.

A good main dish for campsite cookery is creamed chipped beef. The makings are easily portable, too, when smoothable, blendable evaporated milk plus canned condensed mushroom soup makes the sauce. To serve six, frizzle a four ounce package of dried chipped beef along with 2 tablespoons chopped onion in 2 tablespoons butter melted in a large skillet. Then stir in 2 cans of mushroom soup and a large can of evaporated milk (1-2-3) cups and heat to serving temperature.

Dear Abby...

Better To Throw Out Than To Throw In

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I just love my mother-in-law to pieces but please tell me if it is right of her to try to force us to eat the minute we get in her house when we just got up from our dinner table?

We try to explain that we just finished a big meal but she goes right out in the kitchen and fixes sandwiches, pickles, cookies, cheese, coffee and left-overs. If we don't eat, she gets mad and says, "Look what YOU wasted! If you don't eat we'll have to throw it out!"

Maybe she thinks we don't have enough to eat at our home. I was taught when a person says, "No, thank you" it was rude to insist. We go home so stuffed we can't sleep at night. My husband says we have to eat to keep peace. What is your opinion?

OVERFED

DEAR OVERFED: If you eat to "keep the peace", your mother-in-law will think you were hungry and you'll be faced with this problem repeatedly. Her heart is bigger than your stomachs, but where your health is involved, it's better to throw it OUT than to throw it IN.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with this man for two years and everything he buys me is jewelry and mostly rhinestones. When I am with him he wants to know why I don't have any of it on. My problem is, I don't know where you are supposed to wear rhinestones and what with. Can you help me?

A COUNTRY GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Rhinestones should be worn after five. And for very dressy occasions. And sparingly.

DEAR ABBY: I am an average man, married to an average (I think) wife. My pet grip is whenever we go somewhere I can get dressed in half an hour, but it takes the wife two hours. How come?

SPEED

DEAR SPEED: Maybe it's because women have to slow up for the curves.

CONFIDENTIAL TO AFRAID OF THE FUTURE: There are

sight requisites for contented living:

Health enough to make work a pleasure.

Wealth enough to support your needs.

Strength to battle with difficulties and overcome them.

Grace enough to confess your sins and forsake them.

Patience enough to toil until some good is accomplished.

Charity enough to see some good in your neighbor.

Faith enough to make real the things of God.

Hope enough to remove all anxious fear concerning the future.

Senior Citizens of the community met Thursday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. in Lovett Memorial Library with members of Business and Professional Women's Club as hostesses.

Representing the club were Mmes. W. A. York, Ola McAfee, Helen Knox, Jimmie Jordan, Mack Harmon, Myrtle Leigh and Margaret Nash.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. E. P. Marlin and N. H. Shireman.

Table games and refreshments comprised the afternoon's entertainment.

Providing transportation of guests were Gray Ladies, Mmes. Charles Duenkel, Elmer Tinnins, Jess Beard, A. D. Hills and Stanley Brandt.

Assisting with hostess duties were Altrusans, Mrs. F. A. Hukill, Altrusa Club Senior Center Chairman and Jay Flanagan.

It was announced that Altrusa Club will be hostess for the next meeting of Senior Center on Thursday at 2:30 in the library at which time Altrusa will be observing the fourth anniversary of organization

Mrs. Dodson Has 49ers Club Meet

MIAMI (Sp) — 49ers Club met in the home of Mrs. Bailey Dodson recently with Mrs. Burl Bengé as co-hostess.

The business session was conducted by president, Mrs. Charles Clark.

Mrs. Billy Hines was welcomed as a new member.

A quiz on herbs and spices found in most kitchens was conducted by Mrs. Donald Jenkins. Mrs. Ramon Cowan and Mrs. S. E. Mayo Jr. were the prize-winners.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mmes. Lawton Hoffer, Jim Bean, Dale Richardson, S. E. Mayo Jr., Ramon Cowan, Donald Philpott, Bill Edwards, Eldon Flowers, Billy Hines, Charles Clark, Frederick Gordon III, Burl Bengé, Donald Jenkins, and Bailey Dodson.

Anything Goes

In Patty Shell

Patty shells freshly baked from expertly prepared pastry are the answer to every homemaker's dream. Now homemakers can keep on hand a supply of frozen patty shell pastry and be prepared for glamorous entertaining any hour of the day or any day of the week.

In about 30 minutes from freezer to table you can produce these delectable containers which will enhance individual servings of any food, hot or cold, from scrambled eggs to ice cream. For Sunday brunch on the terrace or midnite suppers for two patty shells transform a meal into an event.

A company famous for high quality products is now marketing these patty shells packed six to a box, frozen, and prepared for the oven.

The patty shells were developed from the French recipe for the "pastry of one thousand leaves". They consist of over one thousand tissue-thin layers of uncooked pastry that expand to several times their height on contact with the oven's heat, turning golden and unbelievably fragile in the baking. Frozen patty shells may be baked early and re-crisped at serving time.

Members of the Center, Special arrangements are being made for the meeting.

Mrs. Leon Perkins, Recent Bride, Honored With Post-Nuptial Shower

LEFORS (Sp)—Mrs. Leon Perkins was honored with a bridal shower in Civic Center, on Thursday night.

Hostesses were Mmes. Charlie Lisenbee, Ralph Carruth, C. H. Keeton, H. D. Cox, Ann Glover, D. L. Kindle, Dale Brumley, L. C. Ford, Herb Klein, Claud Lamb, John Roberts, Earl Lane, Tom Gee, W. B. Griffith, Freddie Cullon, Alfred Cates, R. C. Ogden, Horace Blair, Arnold Bogle, Alvin Cates, and Denzil Poston.

Miss Glenna Gee registered the guests, at a table which carried out the color scheme orchid and white. A single orchid iris was arranged in a white vase on a white-covered table.

The honoree was presented a corsage of kitchen gadgets attractively arranged with 2 white tulle and orchid ribbons. She was seated at a gift-laden table with Mrs. Avery Perkins, mother of the bridegroom. They were assisted in opening gifts by Mrs. Lamb and Mrs. Kindle.

White lace over orchid covered the serving table which was centered with an arrangement of fresh-cut garden flowers in a crystal bowl, flanked by tapers of white entwined in orchid ribbon in double crystal holders. Table appointments were sterling. Pastel dishes and orchid napkins completed the setting.

The white cake, decorated in orchid hearts and inscribed, "Anne and Leon," was served by Mrs. Alfred Cates. Mrs. Dale Brumley served orchid punch from a crystal service.

Guests were Mmes. J. B. Martin, W. K. Davis, Burl Davis, Roy

Nobles, Charlie Tutor, O. R. Henry, W. G. Hughes, Alton Flinchum, Charles Roberts, R. T. Jinks, R. L. Steele, D. R. Fulton, Bud Means, Ed Brock, Pat Brewer, and Naomi Martin. Forty persons sent gifts who were unable to attend.

Family Centers HD Club Topic

Mrs. Odis Skinner, 735 N. Nelson, was hostess to Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon in her home.

Mrs. Shelby Hood, president, presided at the meeting which opened with the club prayer and roll call answered with a "School Day Timesaver."

It was announced that Mmes. Skinner and B. J. Kennedy will attend the HDC parliamentary school.

Miss Lou Ella Patterson, Gray County home demonstration agent, presented a program on "Family Business Centers." She advised that "equipment and supplies need not be expensive. A desk may be provided from a made-over wash-stand, dresser, kitchen cabinet; or chest of drawers with lower drawer pulled out for writing surface; two orange crates may be converted for a filing cabinet."

"Essential supplies are pen and ink, stamps, pencils, account book, calendar, writing paper and check book. A small muffin, tin placed in a shallow drawer, provides good storage for small equipment, such as paper clips, stamps, etc. Valuable papers should be kept in a safety deposit box; lesser important papers and records should be kept in a handy spot," she said.

Mrs. L. M. Bryant was welcomed as a guest.

Refreshments were served by the hostess during the social hour.

Members attending were Mmes. Shelby Hood, Ben Dickerson, Boyd Brown, Lester Reynolds, O. G. Smith, J. L. Carlton, O. A. Wagner, B. J. Kennedy and daughter.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Earl Taylor, 400 S. Stark-weather on Sept. 23 at 2:30 p.m.

Modern methods of precutting natural stone in lightweight, easy-to-handle pieces have made a wide variety of decorative types practical for home use. The color range is wide and beautiful for either fireplaces or room dividers.

Members present were Mmes: Don Kickman, H. E. Grant Jr., Wendell Altmiller, Bennie Shackelford, John Hart, Stephen McGrady, Gene Baird, J. E. Gunn; Misses Stella Kaiser, Geraldine Rampy, Jane Cheyne, Janice Cole, Peggy Turner and Florita Young.

Prevention Best Immunization Against Strange National Disease: Home Fires

Woman to Woman By PATRICIA McCORMACK United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Would you pass up the chance to immunize yourself against a strange disease that killed 11,300 persons last year?

Many people do—and as a result, the ailment will kill more than 10,000 again in 1960.

The disease—carelessness and forgetfulness—causes three out of four home fires. By the time you have read this far, a new home fire has started. By the end of the day, 800 home fires will have broken out.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters wants the nation's homemakers to practice better fire prevention. You do this by warring on carelessness and forgetfulness.

The immunization procedure: Get rid of fire hazards. For example:

—Throw out old newspapers and magazines, oily rags, broken furniture, old clothing and rubbish in are fire feeders.

—Keep oil mops in a metal container or in a safe, well-ventilated place where they cannot catch fire by spontaneous combustion. Discard oil-soaked polishing rags after using.

—Keep paint and varnish in tightly closed containers. Never use gasoline, benzene and other flammable fluids for cleaning.

—Keep gasoline for lawnmowers or outboard motors in metal containers in th egarage or an out-building.

The board also suggests that you practice fire prevention by keeping your broiler free from grease. Many kitchen fires start in broilers where grease has accumulated. And if there's a window near the stove, be sure the curtains can't blow over the burners.

Whole families have been incinerated because of carelessness in the use of portable oil or gas heaters. They should be turned off at night. Pile blankets on the bed to keep warm.

When such burners are operating during the day, place them so they cannot tip over and curtains or drapes cannot blow against them. And keep a window partly open while the heater's operating.

"Too many deaths occur each year when such heaters are operated in closed rooms where carbon monoxide accumulates and snuffs out lives," the board said.

Now—about matches and smoking.

Sermon Tonight: "What Will You Do If You Are Left Behind When Jesus Comes?"

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI) — James Jackson, Esq., a strange breed of American citizens, is back from a visit to Cuba and proud of his conduct there.

American citizen Jackson committed himself and Jackson, Jackson's mission in Cuba was to address a national assembly of whom he spoke to a common Party, PSP is the Communist party of the Republic of Cuba. Jackson is a member of the secretary of the Communist party of the United States.

New York's Communist newspaper, The Worker, devoted two pages to Jackson and his observations in Cuba.

"You can be sure, comrades," Jackson said in concluding his speech, "That the Communist party of the United States will fulfill its obligations of international solidarity with the Cuban revolution, overcoming all difficulties that may be raised against us, come what may. Long live Fidel Castro!"

If that means anything at all it means this: That Jackson was committing himself and his fellow Communists to assist Castro in such anti-American operations as Castro may be able to devise. Fine points of law, and some not so fine, protect American citizen Jackson in his subversive promises and in their publication. Not fine at all, but blunt and obvious, are the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and press under protection of which Jackson performs.

District Legion Convention Sept. 24-25

BORGER (Sp) — Legionnaires and Auxiliary members from the 18th Congressional District will assemble here for the 18th District American Legion Convention on Saturday and Sunday, September 24-25, Jack Curnutt, commander of the Borger Post, has announced. Registration will open at 12 noon Saturday at the American Legion Hall. The post commanders and adjutants conference will begin at 4 p.m., followed by a movie on "Communism U.S.A." at 6:30 p.m. in the club, followed by the annual convention dance at 9 p.m. in the Legion ballroom for all registered delegates and guests. Activities will get under way Sunday.

RECEIVES GRANT

AUSTIN (UPI)—Dr. J. D. Gavenda, a physics professor at the University of Texas, has received a $11,800 grant from the National Science Foundation for a two-year study of the electronic properties of metals.

The joint session of the American Legion and Auxiliary will convene at 9 a.m. in the Legion Hall. Borger Mayor Jerry Keith will give the address of welcome. Speakers will include Department Commander Pete E. Turner of Midland, Department Adjutant G. Ward Moody of Austin, and General William L. "Jerry" Lee, who will address the joint session.

Chastain Named 'Lion Of Year'

LEFORS (Sp)—The Lefors Lions Club recently had 100 per cent attendance at a directors' breakfast in Boyd Beck's yard. Another directors' breakfast was held in the civic center, Monday, present for the breakfast were B. J. Thacker, Walter Elliott, Bill Teel, R. E. McDonald, John Archer, Jerry Jacobs, Warren Wall, Alex Swann, David Robinson, Jeff Stubblefield and Ray Chastain. With Aubrey Carlton and Jerry Jacobs chefs. Trap shoot days and regular Lions meeting nights are to be listed on the 1961 community calendar compiled each year by the firemen.

The annual broom sale is to be held Monday, Oct. 10. A contest is being held between two sides in this project, with the losing side to cook barbecue chicken for the winners. Chastain was selected as "Lion of the Year," by secret ballot conducted by Gene Fort, and was presented a plaque inscribed, "Most Active Lion, 1959-60," at the night meeting of the group. Runnersup for the award were Boyd Beck, Jerry Jacobs and Jack Thacker, who were awarded certificates of merit. On August 22, the Lions sponsored a ladies night, and included the school faculty among their guests at a picnic in the park. James Blair was elected as Lion Cub of the Month of September. This is a new project to choose an outstanding school boy and let him receive all the privileges of the Lions for that month. A 12-gauge pump shot gun is to be raffled off at $1 per ticket. It will be given away on Nov. 13, the last day of the Thanksgiving trap shoot, which is to be held Nov. 12-13.

Named for Him

New Hampshire's Mount Whittier was named for John Greenleaf Whittier, the famed poet, who wrote many poems depicting the beauty and grandeur of the area.
