

CONGRESS AWAITS REPORT FROM THE

Western Germany Included in Marshall Plan Scope

PARIS (AP)—The European Recovery Conference voted unanimously today to include Western Germany in the scope of the Marshall Plan.

Portugal's foreign minister, Jose Caeiro da Mata, proposed before the second and final general session of the conference this afternoon that Generalissimo Franco's Spain be included.

The Marshall Plan union began taking shape today as delegates wound up preliminary speech-making phases of their conference.

The program will be financed by the U. S. Treasury. The Senate early Sunday voted a $5,300,000,000 program for the first year of operations.

The admission of Germany was one of four points for organized recovery with which the committee had to deal. The committee was a permanent international organization, and a list of recovery needs.

The committee did not discuss the possible inclusion of Spain, as far as could be learned.

Britain and France proposed the inclusion of Germany, which before the war was the industrial heart of Europe. The western zones of Germany are expected to be represented by the occupying authorities, assisted by German advisors. The Germans would have no votes, but they would take part in deliberations of the conference working committee. This means the Germans would have a voice in preparing the statutes for the new international organization and the articles of an all-for-one treaty, binding together the Marshall Plan nations.

A U. S. delegation headed by Harry Labrousse of the State Department will be available in Paris for consultation.

It was disclosed.

The long, technical labors of obscure experts in many lands came to life today under klieg lights and amid the haze of cigarette smoke.

Out of the mass of data the 14 foreign ministers and two ambassadors seem to have outlined four concrete projects:

1. A plan for a treaty on mutual economic aid and the use to be made of Marshall Plan funds.
2. The idea of an organization, which, as British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin described it, "cannot and will not cease when the pressure of present needs diminishes."

3. A set of reports showing what Europe wants of the Marshall Plan, based on American reports of what is available.

Delegates already have discounted the American statement that Italy would get no Marshall Plan aid if it goes Communist in next month's election.

They assumed that a Communist-led Italy, like other Communist-led states, would keep out of the plan. Italian Communist leaders have said as much.

'Foreign Situation' Will Be Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A troubled Congress awaits President Truman's report tomorrow on world conditions amid speculation of stepped-up Russian pressure on non-Communist Europe.

The Chief Executive kept his own counsel. He did not say what caused his sudden decision to address a joint session of the Senate and House at 11:30 a. m. (CST) tomorrow.

The White House simply announced that Mr. Truman will discuss the "foreign situation."

There was no advance indication of what—if any—steps he might suggest to cope with what Secretary of State Marshall has called a "great crisis" and a "fateful" hour in world affairs.

But without any hint of what the President has to tell them, lawmakers generally directed their thinking along these lines:

1. There may be new Soviet expansion plans—possibly directed at pushing past Finland toward the Scandinavian countries.
2. These may involve a Russian gesture toward defense pacts with Norway, Sweden and Denmark.
3. If any such moves should prove successful, they might swing the April 18 Italian election to the Communists.
4. After Italy, whatever the outcome there, the Soviets may turn their attention anew to Turkey.

Whether the President would even go into such matters remains unknown.

But from across the world and at home came some confirmation that events are moving along these lines.

The Swedish defense staff was said in Stockholm dispatches to have asked King Gustav V for measures to strengthen that country's defenses. The staff stressed "the increased danger of war."

And the State Department here served notice on the Italian people that they won't get a nickel under the Marshall Plan if that country goes Communist.

Furthermore, some Washington officials saw trouble ahead for Turkey in the word that Moscow is going to fill its long vacant ambassadorship in Ankara. That post has been empty since the Kremlin let up in its campaign of more than a year ago to win a voice in control of the Dardanelles and gain other concessions from Turkey.

However, some quarters regard the President's talk as merely a "summing up" of world conditions—without any fingerpointing at specific Russian actions.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee resumes hearings on a $275,000,000 Greek-Turkish military fund today. The issue also is before the House foreign affairs group, which has announced plans to write the military assistance project into a separate session of its Marshall Plan bill.

The $5,300,000,000 measure already passed by the Senate also appeared certain to bring a presidential plea for swift House action.

Anticipating such a request, the Foreign Affairs Committee called another night session in the hope of finishing its bill by tomorrow.

Acting Chairman Voyts (R-Ohio) told newsmen he is "hopeful" the committee will complete its work by the time the President is ready to speak.

In addition to foreign assistance measures, Mr. Truman also is widely expected to press again for Congressional action on universal military training.

The Senate Armed Services Committee postponed from today until Wednesday afternoon after the President's talk—the start of its UMT hearings.

However, few Congress members thought Mr. Truman would (See TRUMAN, Page 8)

'Local Option' Rent Control Bill Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans lined up to ram through the House today a "local option" rent control bill.

Assailed by Democratic opponents as a control measure "in name only," the bill would take the power to raise rents or lift ceilings away from Washington and give it to local boards nominated by the Governor.

Republicans contended that local problems are better understood by people in the various localities.

Foes of the bill claimed some boards are "stuffed" with real estate operators.

Rep. Monroy (D-Okla.) called for a vote on a move to strike out the "local option" provision and retain some form of veto power in the hands of the federal rent administrator.

Monroy said he had little hope that his maneuver would succeed.

The House expects to pass the bill before nightfall.

It would extend modified rent controls to April 3, 1949. The Senate has voted to continue controls to May 1, 1949. It rejected the "local option" idea.

Representatives of the two Houses will sit together later in an attempt to iron out their differences.

There now are 647 rent control areas, affecting about 13,000,000 homes and apartments, the houses of some 50,000,000 persons.

During yesterday's opening debate on the bill, Monroy told the House the local option provision "puts a blackjack over the heads of tenants."

Rep. Holtz (D-Calif.) shouted "This rent control!"

Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas (D-Calif.) said "This would remove the last fence against inflation."

Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.) said some local boards are packed with real estate men and the local option would permit tenants "to be gouged and held up."

Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich.) of the banking committee, which wrote the bill, conceded that "in some cases the local boards are stacked. But he said the fault lies with the Governors who picked the members. The boards were created last year to advise the federal rent administrator.

Draft 'Ike' Movement Is Latest Talk

By the Associated Press

New moves to put Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in the presidential race were underway today.

The question of the general's "availability remains very much alive," says Leonard V. Funder, Manchester, N. H., publisher.

It was Funder that Eisenhower wrote last January that he could not accept a nomination. Funder says in a letter to Look Magazine:

"The people still retain the power to have the last say. While the average voter usually has little voice in the selection of candidates, the popular regard for Eisenhower remains so strong that it can, if the people so will, make itself heard in the (Republican) Convention Hall at Philadelphia next June."

Eisenhower, who soon will take over as president of Columbia University, was silent on this and other draft-Eisenhower movements.

Senator Olin D. Johnston, South Carolina Democrat, proposed that Southern Democrats organize solidly behind Eisenhower for the presidential nomination.

Johnston contended Eisenhower is an independent, not a Republican. Johnston called the retired chief of staff the best drawing card anti-Truman Democrats could pick to win nationwide support.

Other political developments included:

Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, told an audience at Portland, Me., last night that the Russians menacing foreign policy is pro-Communist.

Taft said the administration's "friendship for communism," under Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, "strengthened Russia until today we find the Russians menacing the entire world."

Harold E. Stassen would like to discuss farm problems with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. Both are candidates for the Republican presidential nomination.

Stassen accepted an invitation to address the Golden Guernsey Co-Operative in Milwaukee. And he suggested that Dewey might like a joint conference with farm leaders.

Stassen came out against repeal of taxes on oleomargarine.

J. Lyter Donaldson, chairman of the Kentucky Democratic State Executive Committee, announced he has turned down a bid to join a Southern Democratic revolt against nomination of President Truman.

Soft Coal Walkout Expected to Spread

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The mushrooming soft coal walkout today appeared likely to engulf most of the industry within the next 24 hours.

Already 210,000 workers, more than half of the nation's soft coal miners, had laid down their tools in support of John L. Lewis' demand for $100 monthly pensions.

All 23,000 members of the United Mine Workers had quit their jobs in Illinois and large quotas had stopped work in 11 other states.

In Washington, U. S. mediation officials were hastily exploring ways to stop the walkout.

Even should President Truman seek another injunction against UMW President Lewis, there was some question whether the court could find anything to restrain Lewis' contract, signed by the industry last July 8, provided only that miners should work as long as they were "able and willing."

The Taft-Hartley Act provides machinery for keeping vital industries going in a national emergency but it would take some time to get its provision into action.

William J. Ardigo, secretary of the Williamson (West Virginia) Operators' Association, said he had no idea when the men would go back. Ardigo added:

"As long as the men are able but not willing, they won't work. Maybe when the workers are willing, the companies won't be willing and able."

The walkouts came after UMW President Lewis sent letters to his local last Friday telling them operators "have dishonored the 1947 wage agreement and defaulted under its provisions affecting the welfare board."

"This," Lewis continued, "proposes to go forward in requiring the coal operators to honor their agreement. Your ears will soon be assailed by their outcries and wails of anguish. To relieve themselves, they need only to comply with the provisions of the agreement which they solemnly executed in this office on July 8, 1947."

Lewis wants the money paid out of a welfare fund made up of 10-cents-a-ton royalty on coal paid by the operators. The proposed pension plan, he said, is "too expensive." The welfare fund now contains $30,000,000.

The current mine contract does not expire until June 30.

At Cincinnati, R. E. Howe, president Sunday night, and made off with the nation's stockpile of coal at 34 days' supply for industrial consumers, four days for domestic users.

Tax Repeal Move on Oleo Is Shelved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Agriculture Committee voted 16 to 10 today to shelve all legislation to repeal federal taxes on oleomargarine. (See editorial today.)

Chairman Hope (R-Kans.) said: "This bill legislation to repeal these taxes at this session of Congress."

What it means is that the committee won't send any repeal bills to the floor where House members could vote on them.

Some members favoring repeal indicated, however, they will try to get a bill to the floor by a discharge petition.

This would require signatures of 218 House members. Whether these signatures can be obtained is doubtful.

The oleo taxes are:

- On colored oleo at retail, 10 cents a pound; on the uncolored product at retail, one-fourth cent a pound;
- $600 a year license on manufacturers;
- $480 a year on colored oleo wholesalers; $200 a year on wholesalers of the uncolored product.

Under the petition method, a repeal bill could be brought to a House vote.

The Capitol Hill battle over the taxes has been in part a butter vs. oleo fight. Dairy interests oppose repeal of the oleo taxes.

140 Meat Packing Plants Are Closed

CHICAGO (AP)—Picket lines formed at the nation's meat packing plants today as 100,000 CIO employees were called out on strike despite a last-minute effort by President Truman to settle the wage dispute.

The work stoppage, affecting approximately 140 of the country's major and independent meat plants, is expected to cut in half the nation's meat supply.

The strike became effective at 12:01 a. m. local time, and immediately pickets were posted in several of the cities across the country, including Chicago, where 20,000 workers are involved.

All of the major packers and scores of independent companies were affected by the strike, ordered last night by the 27-man Executive Committee of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers of America.

However, about 150,000 other employees in the meat plants were expected to remain at work. They are members of the independent unions and of the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union which have settled their wage differences with the packers.

The committee, after receiving Mr. Truman's telegram urging the work stoppage be delayed while a special board of inquiry investigated the dispute, telegraphed the President "the strike must proceed."

"A delay of strike action at this time would obviously serve no fruitful purpose in promoting a solution of this wage issue," the committee told President Truman.

Mr. Truman had asked the union to continue negotiations until the board reported to him on April 1. Under the procedure proposed by the President the strike would have been delayed 80 days.

As the strike deadline arrived, pickets started their march before the plants—about 78 independent and 62 operated by the major companies, Swift, Armour, Wilson, Cudahy and Morrell. There was no untoward incident.

The strike stemmed from a dispute over a wage increase of 29 cents an hour. The packers offered a pay boost of nine cents an hour, which recently was (See PACKING, Page 8)

Texas Plants Are Picketed

FORT WORTH (AP)—CIO United Packinghouse Workers picketed packing plants here and in Dallas today but a strike at the third plant was called off.

Pickets took up positions outside the Armour and Company and Rattiff Pure Food Products plants here one minute after midnight. At the same time picketing began at the Swift and Company plant in Dallas.

A projected strike at the Hy-Grade Food Products Corporation plant in Vernon was called off after the management offered a wage increase. Steve Mauser, union field representative, announced last night.

The nation-wide strike of packinghouses involves about 2,200 persons in Fort Worth and Dallas. Two thousand union members are employed in the two plants here.

Mauser said the Hy-Grade Company had offered an increase considerably more than nine cents an hour. He said the exact amount would not be known until negotiations are complete.

The union official said refrigeration and maintenance workers would continue on the job here to prevent spoilage of meat products.

"We have been lucky lately that there has been very few burglaries," Chief of Police Louis L. Allen said today. "But some merchants have been getting careless about leaving doors and windows open or unlocked."

Several times lately, patrolling officers have found store windows open and doors unfastened. This is just an open invitation to some person to burglarize the store, Chief Allen said.

Liquor Store Burglarized

Thieves broke into Jim's Package Store, 318 E. Cuyler, sometime Sunday night and made off with 18 cases of whiskey.

Assistant Chief J. O. Dumas and Officer Henderson discovered the theft while on patrol about 5:30 a. m. yesterday. The glass on the back door had been broken, and the thieves had apparently reached in to open the door.

The two officers called the proprietor, James L. Youngberg, who immediately checked his loss. He reported 18 cases of whiskey stolen, but no money was taken.

Battleship Texas Funds Are Short

HOUSTON (AP)—The Battleship Texas Commission said $36,000 is still needed to construct a permanent berth for the historic old ship, now enroute to Galveston Bay.

"We have the battleship on our hands but insufficient funds to construct the berth near the San Jacinto Battlegrounds."

The battleship was turned over to Texas for use as a historical monument after being declared obsolete.

Military Men Are in Accord

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Forrestal said today that the high command on military tasks of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Forrestal took the joint chiefs of staff to Key West, Fla., last weekend for a show-down meeting on disagreements among the three services. These differences of opinion included such things, for instance, as whether Naval aircraft should carry out strategic bombing attacks in time of war or leave that to the Air Force.

The military men and Forrestal got back from Key West yesterday.

Forrestal announced the "general accord" in a statement. He said the details of the agreements reached will be made public only if President Truman approves.

Meanwhile, the White House disclosed that Forrestal held an unscheduled meeting with President Truman yesterday afternoon, shortly after returning from Key West. Charles G. Ross, the President's press secretary, told reporters about the conference but would not go into details.

Change-Over in Meters to Begin

Parking meters will be removed from Frost to Somerville today or early tomorrow to prepare for the change-over from one to two-hour meters on the side streets in the downtown area, the City Commission announced today.

The meter heads will be sent to the factory in Louisville, Ky., to have new clocks and dials installed. It will probably be a week or two before the new meters are returned.

The new two-hour meters will operate substantially the same way as the ones now in use: one penny will be good for twelve minutes; one nickel for one hour; but two nickels will be good for two hours.

Japanese Dictator Invented Iron Curtain 300 Years Ago

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Josef Stalin didn't invent the Iron Curtain.

He stole the idea, along with several others, from one of his predecessors in the dictator trade. The real inventor was another strong man, named Iyemitsu, who did the same things to Japan 300 years ago that Stalin is doing to Russia today.

Their methods are so much alike that if you transplanted a Russian from 1848 Moscow to 1648 Tokyo he would hardly notice the change. The net effect of which was to order that all communications with foreigners should be through the foreign ministry. It covered every type of conversation or communication.

The Japanese thought of that one a long time ago.

First, they banned virtually all foreigners from the country. Those remaining were confined to a small island off Nagasaki and never permitted to leave the mainland.

By decree, there was to be no conversation between a foreigner and a Japanese except through the official interpreters. The Japanese law said that "all such conversations are to be reported immediately to the local author-

Hail Storm Hits Austin

By the Associated Press

Austin bore the brunt today of Texas' capricious weather.

An early morning hail storm did an estimated $250,000 damage there, though it lasted only ten minutes.

The storm struck about 2:25 a. m. and in a few minutes the ground was white with marbled hail. Electric signs, windows, roofs and parked airplanes suffered.

Extensive damage was reported to airplanes at the municipal field. Elsewhere over the state the weather was comparatively mild. Most of West Texas was clear, though Amarillo and Pampa in the Panhandle had two below freezing temperatures.

In East and South Texas it was cloudy, with showers reported at Texarkana and Lufkin. Brownsville was the warmest spot with 70 degrees.

Fair weather with not much change in temperature was forecast for most of the state tonight and Wednesday.

O'Dowdy to Return to Local Ring

A rematch between Ace Freeman and The Mask came a little closer today as Promoter Vic Burnett announced that both wrestlers may be available for the feature attraction on next week's wrestling card.

A rematch between the two was ordered by local Wrestling Commissioner Glen Sheehan on Friday night on the disputed decision given The Mask. Both Freeman and The Mask won one fall. The Mask then pinned the Bronx grappler in three minutes to end the match. However, during the process of Referee Johnny Corlin counting Freeman out, he did not see The Mask using the ropes as an advantage in pinning the agile Freeman.

This week's card will mark the return to the local ring of Pat O'Dowdy of Big Spring, Tex. O'Dowdy, who has been absent from the local scene due to a leg injury, proved to be one of the roughest gladiators to appear in the local ring.

He will be teamed with Carl Gray in an Australian tag match against Gorilla Poggi and Salvador Flores.

Players Ask for Too Much Money Say Club Owners

DALLAS —(AP)—It's going to take some close figuring to keep a club within the baseball salary limit this year, say owners and business managers of the class B Big State League.

The limit is $4,000 per month for 17 players, which means an average of about $235. Yet says Joe Bratcher, general manager of the Greenville club, he has players asking $500 to $800 per month.

"I just don't aim to even talk to the fellow who wanted $800," said Bratcher, who pointed out that Greenville drew over 160,000 paid admissions last year and still didn't make money.

Other club owners and business managers said the players were asking more pay than ever before. Some said the demands were all out of reason.

The league held a meeting here yesterday called by President J. Walter Morris, at which time it was decided that each club might carry 21 players the first 21 days of the race but would have to cut to 17 thereafter. It also was decided to continue with six rookies per club instead of cutting to four. It was argued that adding more experienced men would mean that more money would have to be paid.

The league race opens April 21 and closes Sept. 7.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS —(AP)—When Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth and San Antonio schools got together and formed a conference of their own in the Texas Interscholastic League they received all kinds of criticism.

They went ahead, however, and in a number of cases the smaller cities snuffed at the idea that the big boys were getting holly-toily and scheduled games with them. But some held out and still are. Unfortunately, the name of the division became known as "the Big City Conference." That word "big" caused most of the trouble, they declare. The other schools thought Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and San Antonio were giving them the brush off.

But it isn't "Big City Conference" at all; it's really "city conference." That's what they named it to begin with and it never has officially carried the "big." But the leaders of the new conference apparently didn't tell the press about it.

Now, with that straightened out, maybe any objections to the town and middle-sized cities have to the new circuit will be removed. The new division of interscholastic league athletics will have its first sport season apart from the class AA schools this spring. Each city will determine its champions in track and field. They'll all go to Dallas May 14 for a state meet.

In baseball, there'll be a City Conference but with only Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth in it. San Antonio hasn't yet entered baseball. This year Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth each will decide a district champion. Next year, with San Antonio in the circuit, they'll determine a state champion.

But, mind you, let us not call it "state championship." Make it "state City Conference championship." And for heaven's sake don't say anything about it being "big."

Jackie Robinson, Baylor's great little guard, has what you'd call color in sports. Jackie is the perpetual motion man of the Southwest Conference champion Bears. He's always where the ball is.

He can cause the opposition to foul more than any player we ever saw. This season, for instance, he has more free throws than field goals.

Jackie knows just how to turn, how to move and how to handle the ball in order to make the fellow guarding him commit a personal foul. He must have studied it extensively.

But what gets the crowd's fancy is the innocent look he bears when an opponent has a personal call on him. You'd think Jackie had no idea whatever what had happened.

If it's any consolation to Amarillo High School, Rosy Adkison, coach of Crozier Tech High School whose team won the state class AA basketball championship, has this to say: "Amarillo was the best team we played down there at the state tournament."

Trouble was, Amarillo had to meet Crozier Tech in the first round.

Giant Scalping

Giants' first baseman and home-run king Johnny Mize is a willing subject for Chief White Mountain Lion's scalping technique before former Detroit Tiger and Pittsburgh Pirate, now an Indian, enjoys the lesson.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—The Philadelphia Athletics' roster was complete today with the exception of Ferris Fain, recovering from a knee injury.

SARASOTA, Fla.—(AP)—Manager Ben Chapman concentrated today on patching up the Philadelphia Phillies' weak spots which enabled the New York Yankees to collect a 10-5 win yesterday. The Phils tangle with the Boston Red Sox here today.

LAKELAND, Fla.—(AP)—Art Houtteman, promising young Detroit Tiger pitcher who was rapped for 11 hits in his first six innings of exhibition pitching, drew the starting assignment today against the Boston Braves. "He's been pitching in hard luck so far," Manager Steve O'Neill said. "This time he'll get plenty of time to warm up."

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—Veteran Spud Chandler is scheduled for his initial exhibition appearance of the spring today as the New York Yankees engage the St. Louis Cardinals for the third time.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—(AP)—The New York Yankees and the Pittsburgh Pirates hook up for the first time this season today. So far in ten games, the Giants have banged 10 homers while the Pirates have whacked four in six.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
CLEARWATER, Fla.—(AP)—Ben Chapman, who comes close to being the most quotable manager in baseball, is a firm adherent to Herb Pennock's theory that a pitcher's greatest handicap is fear of the ball. "The Phillies pitcher was holding forth on that subject yesterday and using, Del Ennis, who was taking batting practice, as an example. 'All a pitcher has to do to get it in there and he has the advantage,' Ben argued. 'A good hitter bats about 333. That's one base hit out of every three times he hits one—and yet those pitchers keep trying to miss the plate. Why, look at that one!' Ennis had pole a long drive over the fence, but his next one was a dribbler to the infield. 'You see,' Ben continued. 'He hit six; one was a home run; one you could call a basehit; the other four were outs. That's why I tell my pitchers never to be afraid of the batters. Still, last year before I'd go to get it in there, I'd start—and that I have to pick three relief pitchers.'"

LIVELY ENOUGH
Babe Ruth, who is touring the training camps and cutting up a few touches with old friends, was lurching with Phillies' officials yesterday when someone suggested that the Babe should be hitting "entire now, when the ball is liver than ever." "Live by ball," growled Ruth. "Why, I hit some just as far back in 1916 as I did when I was at my peak."

TRAVEL TALK
After a tour of the Southwest, George Strickler of the Green Bay Packers came up with the impression that the busiest footballer in the country next fall will be Byron Townsend of Ocala, Texas, Kan. "At Dallas," says George, "they assured me confidentially that Townsend is sewed up for SMU. At Houston they told me in strictest secrecy that he had signed up for Rice. At Norman I was guaranteed that he was already a member of Oklahoma's squad next fall. The Texas Sports Writers gave him an award at Houston the night Frank Leahy spoke there. All I can guarantee you is that young Mr. Townsend will not be with the Chicago Rockets next fall. Mr. Leahy is not in the habit of letting promising young 135-pounders go to the Rockets after they turn up at a banquet where he speaks."

Chicago Cards Don't Stay Idle

CHICAGO—(NEA)—Members of the Chicago Cardinals football club, who took care of opposing National League teams well during last season to win the National championship, follow that theme during the off-season. For instance, if you wish to build a home, Coach Eddy Parker is in the lumber business. A home that is ready for occupancy can be supplied by Halfback Vic Schwall. Halfback Babe Dimancheff will provide the paint. If it's furniture you want, see End Billy Dewell. For drapes, Guard Ray Apolakis is your man. End Mal Kutner, in the oil business, can furnish the heat.

Lefors Athletes Banquet Honorees

LEFORS—(Special)—The 1947-48 football-basketball banquet was held at the School Cafeteria Saturday night. The event was sponsored by the Pepper Club and the School Athletic Association. Frank Godson, Amarillo sports writer, was guest speaker. Miss Barbara McCullick, president of the Pepper Club, acted as master of ceremonies and extended the greeting to members of the Pirate squads on behalf of the Pepper Club and sponsors, Mrs. James Love and Miss Mavis Frost. Spontaneous responses were given by coaches Joe Champion and James Love; co-captains Joe Ogden and Harold Sma. Pirate Sweetheart, Jeanne Staley and other members of the teams. Decorations were in the Pirate colors of orange and black with a miniature basketball court and football field laid out on the head table. Place cards were photographs of the individual boys in football or basketball uniforms and girls in Pepper Club uniforms. Place cards for guest were drawings suited to each individual. Other numbers on the program were two numbers "Now Is the Hour," and "Manana" sung by the high school sextet, composed of Misses McCullick, Jo Alice Tubba, Louise Keeton, Jo Ann Wall, Rebecca Breining, Rachel McCool and a violin solo by Miss Frost. A dance was held afterwards in the gymnasium.

"Service is fine on this party line!"

Once upon a time (and it wasn't so long ago) there were some neighbors on a telephone party line. Everything was all right, except when anyone wanted to use the line it seemed someone else was always using it.

PLEASE, MY LITTLE GIRL'S SICK
One day Mrs. White, one of the neighbors on the line, had to call a doctor in a hurry. Someone was using the line. Mrs. White hesitated, then broke right in. . . .

"Please," she said, "my little girl's sick. May I have the line to call a doctor?"

"Oh, yes," said the others, and hung right up.

A short time later, Mrs. White called the person she had interrupted. "I'm sorry I had to interrupt," she said, "but it was an emergency."

"That's perfectly all right," said the neighbor, "and I have an idea about this party-line business. Most of our calls aren't too important. Why don't we all agree when any one of us has an important call that we will ask for the line?"
"That's a wonderful idea," said Mrs. White.
So they all agreed, and service on that party line has been fine ever since.

THE STORY: Terror-stricken Ann Bennett has looked herself in her room. She is convinced that someone in her own household is trying to murder her. Someone has wanted the sales of her new brown pants, evidently hoping they would fall over her head, as they did at Topkiss. The can of wax was left in her closet. The suspicious bridge over the ravine in the garden was in perfect condition on May 25, according to a letter from a Mr. Stark who had checked it, yet it collapsed on May 26, killing Luke the gardener. Ann is convinced the "accident" was meant to kill, not Luke, but Ann. Then there was the typewriter that crashed from a second floor, narrowly missing her. The crash that was engineered by two golf balls placed under the machine. Ann had refused to go to the country club with the others, pleading a headache. How strange! Luke, her husband, a heartily laughing man, her mother-in-law, her sister, Tommy, Laurie's neighbor, her housekeeper, and Gay, Luke's attractive young assistant.

HE had to move. She knew that. It was imperative that she unlock the door before anyone should come upstairs and find it locked. They would think it suspicious and she didn't dare risk suspicion.

She forced herself to her feet. Moving was painful. In fact, she made herself go to the door, put out her hand to the key. She could hear their voices in the downstairs hall. They were coming toward the stairs. She turned the key noiselessly in the lock, then turned, ran almost to the bed. That was when they would expect to find her, lying down, trying to cure her headache.

She tugged the covers away, crumpled them slightly, jerked one pillow sideways. Then she lay down. She closed her eyes, tried to relax her tensed muscles. And then Rush was there, standing beside the bed, looking down at her.

"Hello, darling," he said. "How's the headache? Any better?"

"A little, I think," she said.

He stooped to kiss her forehead,

straightened up, looked around the room.

"The best in here is enough to give you another," he said.

She had had chills and must have absentmindedly turned on the gas fire sometime during the long afternoon. Rush went to the fireplace, turned it off, went to the windows, threw them open wide.

"If you're cold we'll get you undressed and under the covers," he said. "But that gas . . . I think I had a chill," she said and her voice wavered a little.

"And you didn't eat," he said, still watching her. "I'll fix you a tray."

He left the room and her only feeling was one of overwhelming relief that she hadn't shown the fear.

RINDA came in but only for a minute. She seemed to understand that Ann wanted to be alone. Gay didn't come in, just stood there in the doorway.

"They picked me up at the station," Gay said. "I'm so sorry about your head, Ann. Laurie's fixing supper, she said you weren't to worry about a thing. And I'll help her." She smiled at Ann, her smile warm, and as quietly as she had come, Gay went away.

Rush came back with a tray. A tureen of thick steaming vegetable soup, buttered toast, fragrant hot tea. He helped her undress, got out a nightgown and bed jacket, propped her on pillows, watched her eat. Amazingly, it tasted wonderful. She ate greedily.

"Better now?" Rush asked, taking the tray.

She sighed a little, stretched her toes down in the bed. She did feel better.

Could she have been a little bit crazy this afternoon?

It could all be so easily explained. One of the maids must have left the can of wax in her

Observatory Discovers New Satellite to Planet Uranus

AUSTIN—(AP)—McDonald Observatory astronomers have discovered a new satellite to the planet Uranus.

At the same time, they announced the green areas of Mars may be low order plants such as mosses or lichens.

"The question of animal life is unsettled but it is extremely improbable that highly developed animals could exist in the rigorous climate of Mars in the absence of a detectable amount of oxygen," said Dr. Gerard P. Kuiper, director of the observatory.

McDonald Observatory is owned by the University of Texas and staffed by the University of Chicago.

Dr. Kuiper said observations during the last two weeks of February "amply confirmed" preliminary studies of Mars which have been in progress since October. The conclusion was that high order plants, such as those which produce seeds, and the ferns, do not exist.

These studies were aided by use of a newly-developed infrared spectrometer.

They came to a climax on Feb. 18 when Mars swung within 63,000,000 miles of the Earth—closest it will be until 1956.

"The McDonald studies have shown the presence of both carbon dioxide and small quantities of water, and green areas consistent with the presence of mosses and lichens," Dr. Kuiper said.

"They have also amplified the work at Mount Wilson Observatory where oxygen was found to be absent in the Mars atmosphere, because no traces of Martian ozone were found."

A special study was made of the transparency of the Mars atmosphere to violet and ultraviolet light.

"The observations confirmed photographs taken many years ago in California," Dr. Kuiper said. "The explanation proposed is that the Mars' atmosphere is always filled with an icy haze in which denser clouds form at night or even before sunset. Even these clouds are transparent to red light. This haze will filter out a good part of the dangerous ultraviolet radiations still left after the known carbon dioxide absorbs the extreme part of the ultraviolet."

Dr. Kuiper said the new satellite of Uranus was first found on a photographic plate taken Feb. 25. It was confirmed on additional plates taken March 1. It was invisible to the human eye even in the observatory's 82-inch telescope, but it showed up on plates exposed two or three minutes.

The new satellite is about 75,000 miles from Uranus. It probably is about 300 miles in diameter and encircles the planet about 30 hours.

World Health Organization Maps Big Job

GENEVA—(AP)—Medical and public health experts from 64 nations are expected to take part in the first world health assembly, convening here on June 24 to establish the World Health Organization as a permanent specialized agency of the United Nations.

The assembly will be asked to approve an ambitious program. It will assist medical relief and research work throughout the world. It will attack epidemic diseases on a worldwide scale. It will draw up international medical conventions and act as an adviser on public health problems to the United Nations.

Among the projects already begun by its interim commission is a mass tuberculosis immunization scheme in Poland. There, with the cooperation of the Polish government, 15,000,000 persons are to be vaccinated.

The commission's executive secretary, Dr. Brock Chisholm, describes the Polish project as a "colossal experiment to determine the effectiveness of tuberculosis vaccination."

A similar project is planned later for Czechoslovakia.

A world-wide campaign is to be carried out against venereal diseases, in collaboration with the International Children's Emergency Fund. The World Health Organization will provide medical guidance for the campaign, to be carried out mainly among chil-

WALL STREET
NEW YORK, March 15—(AP)—Altogether stocks were benefited today by large-scale rearmament prospects although many market leaders suffered from light liquidation.

The direction was uneven from the start; early gains were in part a point or so failed to maintain themselves in most cases and the main marks were well filled at close.

While aviation accounted for much of the day's so-called activity, the pace slowed to a crawl after midday. Transfers for the full stretch were in the vicinity of 700,000 shares.

Touching highs for 1948 before running into some opposition were Douglas Aircraft, Boeing United Aircraft, Sperry and Glenn Martin.

Better performers included Santa Fe, Southern Motor, Youngstown Sheet, Oliver Corp., Cerro de Pasco, Dow Chemical, Owens-Illinois, T. S. Gyman, International Business Machines, Texas Co., and Gulf Oil.

Texas Says Demos Can't Elect HST
BROWNSVILLE—(AP)—Col. R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman from Texas, said here that President Truman has created so much dissension and confusion in the Democratic Party that there is no hope the Democrats can elect him.

Creager stated that:

"The President has destroyed unity in the Democratic Party by vetoing two tax bills."

"He has demoralized the Democratic Party by his support of U. S. ownership of tidelands in an effort to take the title away from the states."

"By his advocacy of so-called social rights, the President has enraged and split the democracy of the South."

"He has brought division and dissension to his party by his advocacy of peacetime control over wages and prices."

"The Wallace issue represents the serious division in the Democratic Party."

Creager predicted that Taft would be the Republican presidential nominee "unless the entire national picture changes before the convention in July." He added he believed the next president of the U. S. will be a Republican.

Main issues in the presidential race, he said will be the "growing centralization of power" in Washington, tax reduction and the tidelands question.

Creager called President Truman's advocacy of peacetime control a step toward "a police state and totalitarian government."

Old Timer Uses Uranium Treatment
CHEYENNE—(AP)—Everybody but one old timer in the Red Desert country seems to be excited about a uranium ore discovery there.

A story told by a reliable source said the old timer has been using a poultice of water and the yellowish pellets of "ore" to take the "miry" oil out of his arm and shoulder for years.

The treatment has been quite successful, according to the story.

In the new 1948 Kaiser, Frazer, Kaiser Custom, and Frazer Manhattan you get all the features

HERE'S WHY Kaiser-Frazer can make this announcement while other new car prices spiral upward. Kaiser-Frazer controls its own supply of many basic raw materials . . . has its own engine plant, foundry and steel mill. Materials from these sources funnel into new and modern Willow Run—the largest automobile manufacturing plant in the world under one roof.

Unfinished steel goes in one end of this great plant and comes out a quality automobile, ready to be driven away. All this is accomplished in a matter of hours, and with the economy of Kaiser-Frazer straight-line production. This is an achievement of men who are injecting new methods and ideas into an old industry.

that others have attempted to copy since Kaiser-Frazer design was introduced in 1947.

So far no one has been able to more than approximate the graceful exterior body lines. No one has come near matching the roadability . . . the ride resulting from seats cradled between the front and rear wheels, such wide seats with both elbow and shoulder room. And none have the style features, the wide choice of colors and fabrics.

You get all this plus the many refinements made possible by years-ahead engineering and design. And, of course, all 1948 Kaiser or Frazer cars have the new Goodyear 24-pound pressure Super-Cushion tires that make bumps something you see but never feel.

Enjoy a ride today in America's newest new cars—the 1948 cars that have not gone up in price!

Walnuts toasted in butter or fortified margarine make a flavorful addition to chicken salad for a party luncheon. They are prepared by melting 2 tablespoons of butter or fortified margarine in a small skillet and adding 1 cup shelled walnut meats. They should be heated carefully and stirred until crisp. When cool they may be broken into coarse pieces and added to the salad mixture.

20th Century Club Has Program on Subject of 'Prayer'

Mrs. Raymond Harrah was hostess to members of the Twentieth Century Club at its regular meeting last Tuesday.

Mrs. C. E. High, president, directed the business. The Peace Committee composed of Mrs. Robert Sanford and Mrs. George Scott reported that 188 packages had been sent to Czechoslovakia and Poland during the past year and that acknowledgements had been received from the recipients of the gifts.

The American Home Committee gave ten dollars to be sent to the United Nations Appeal for Children. Mrs. J. W. Garman gave a copy of the booklet, "Is This Tomorrow?" to each member of the club who had not already received one.

Mrs. Garman was elected as delegate and Mrs. Guilford Branson as alternate to the convention in April.

In introducing the program for the day Mrs. Fred Neslage, leader, stated that the program was planned to stress the value of prayer in our daily lives. Mrs. Garman sang "Ave Maria" before the talk and "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the program. She was accompanied by Mrs. Frank Stallings at the piano.

A story, "Holy Bread," written by Lelia M. Waters, was given by Mrs. Paul Kasilshke. The whole theme of the story was epitomized by the reviewer from a statement in the preface, "When you pour the Christ spirit into the simplest act, that act cannot end with you. It goes on and on in an ever widening stream, touching lives of which you know nothing."

Mrs. Harrah gave an interpretation of the Lord's Prayer, pointing out that it is the most important of all Christian documents, that all Christian Churches use it and that it is perhaps the only common ground upon which they all meet. The speaker pointed out how the seven clauses of the prayer are put together in perfect order and sequence and she stated that they contain everything that is necessary for the nourishment of the soul.

The hostess served fruit iced day cake, coffee and mints to fifteen members.

Colorful Kitchens Is HD Club Topic.

The Hopkins Home Demonstration Club had a program on Colorful Kitchens at its regular meeting last Tuesday in the home of Mrs. M. D. Glah.

Preceding the formal program Mrs. P. F. Rice presided over the business meeting in which Mrs. R. W. Orr was elected delegate to the district meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration Association which will be held in Perryton April 30. The club also voted to give six cup towels and six dish cloths to the Gray County Council to be used by all the club activities.

Mrs. Glah, the recreation chairman, announced a St. Patrick's Day party to be held at 7:30 Friday evening in Community Hall. The party is for all members and their families.

Miss Ann Hastings, county home demonstration agent, gave a talk on color in the kitchen. She pointed out that unlike other rooms in the home which, of necessity, may have to follow the conventional style, the kitchen can abound in personality, imagination and wit. She stated that color does not detract from efficiency of the kitchen but it can add much to its attractiveness. She suggested that color can be added by using potted plants or fruit prints to be hung on the walls or in curtains, in wood work or on the floor coverings. She said that small areas can be used to best advantage by the use of more intense colors.

Miss Hastings advised the ladies to have some idea of the desired motif before starting out to decorate their kitchens. It is best she told them, to choose a motif that can be developed such as the Mexican. She further stressed the desirability of having the kitchen as cheerful as possible because it is often the center of family games and gatherings.

Mrs. Siler Hopkins gave a short demonstration on the drying of hose. It was announced that a training school for making dress foundations will be held at the home of Mrs. O. G. Smith April 1 and a training school for making dress forms will be held in the county agent's office April 5. Refreshments of pineapple ice box cake and coffee were served to eight members.

The next regular meeting will be held March 23 in the home of Mrs. Orr.

Say 'Hello World'

The Camp Fire Girls announce that their birthday anniversary project for this year is "Hello World, Let's Get Together."

The aim is to get acquainted with people. Here are some ways to do it, they suggest:

(1) A friendship group can get in touch with young people in other countries through church, school, local relief organizations, foreign-born neighbors. (2) Send a party kit to new friends—include party ideas, games, songs, recipes for typical party refreshments. (3) Take part in a local drive for overseas relief. (4) As a group see foreign language motion pictures, read and discuss books and articles. (5) Help to organize the showing of a timely film on the United Nations. (6) Investigate the opportunities for future summer voluntary work abroad such as with the American Friends' (Quakers) work camps or with the American Youth Hostel work tours. (7) Make use of the language you are learning in school. Meet a person who speaks the language, find a Pen Pal who writes it, listen to records and read newspapers in the language.

PIE CRUST PERFECTION

Cheers for pies in spring menus—and other seasons as well! And cheers for ideas that lend variety, too. Here are two, for example: to crust intended for apple pie, add about 1-2 cup grated cheese. And in crust to be used for peach pie, use bacon drippings for the shortening. Fine blenders, both!

Sunday School Class

The young adults of the First Presbyterian church have recently organized a new Sunday School Class which they have named the "Forum." Meetings will be held in the Manse at 9:45 each Sunday morning.

Officers of the class are Mrs. Leon Miller, president; Mrs. H. H. Hahn, vice president; Mrs. W. A. Bennink, secretary-treasurer. The class is making a study of the Presbyterian Church, its history and beliefs. Any interested young adult may become a member.

A representative of the class has announced that any prospective members are especially invited to attend a dinner and social Wednesday, March 24, at the church. An outstanding program will be presented by Charles Thomas on the play "A Family Portrait." All who plan to attend the dinner are asked to call Mrs. Leon Miller, (468-W) or Mrs. H. H. Hahn, (2247-W) on or before Mar. 22.

HINT ON STEWS

Here's an idea for a bit of original flavor in making good stews: when browning the meat for the stew add about 3-4 cup diced salt pork, then cook the pork right in with the stew. The salt pork adds fullness to the flavor.

A quick meal-in-one-soup results when a can of condensed vegetable soup and a pound of cubed bologna are simmered about 10 minutes with 4 cups boiling water. Add browned, cubed onion and green pepper, and favorite spices if you would make this truly your own dish.

Let's Kill the Antimargarine Law

The National Cooperative Milk Producers Association, which is opposing the bill that would repeal the tax on colored oleomargarine, said in a statement at a Washington hearing last week that it's "actually fun" to the housewife to put the coloring in oleo.

Rep. Bob Poage, of Texas, shouted that such remark "adds insult to injury."

It is not "actually fun" the way the oleomargarine industry has had to take "back seat" to the butter industry the past 50 years. It has taken that long for oleo to be recognized as a legitimate product—then only over the loud protests of the butter industry lobby. But the butter industry is beginning to look down its collective nose, with the repeated testimony by dieticians and other scientists that oleo has as much food value as butter.

The bill now before the Congress must be passed, if we in this country are going to continue to break down the discriminatory laws that plague oleo.

The strong butter lobby for years has been able to flout good judgment and common sense, by putting pressure on the Congress to maintain the law which makes it difficult for oleo to compete with butter. But now the law is changed. When butter went so high, many people turned to oleo. When they turned to oleo, they found a product that will keep longer, furnish comparable nourishment to the family and is less expensive. The tax is unfair—10 cents a pound on colored margarine.

Of course, we are interested in oleo. About 16 percent of the 1947 soybean crop went into butter substitute, and margarine makers used up 29 percent of the country's butter oil. And its importance in Southern and Midwestern farm economy should be loudly and clearly demonstrated at the hearings now going on.

Texas Protests New Mexico Truck Fees

AUSTIN —(AP)— Texas truck drivers are having few troubles in New Mexico, the State Highway Department said Monday.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer advised those required to pay fees there to do so under protest and seek refunds.

Payment of New Mexico fees has been required of certain trucks used in interstate operations, Greer was informed. He thought this out of line with a reciprocity agreement between the states.

"Our agreement with New Mexico provides for full reciprocity to be extended all vehicles used in operations between Texas and the various states," he said.

POLITICAL TAG

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— When Michigan Sen. Homer Ferguson's new investigating subcommittee starts digging into the 1946 Kansas City vote frauds, the real target is going to be Attorney General Tom Clark and his administration of the Department of Justice.

It was Sen. James P. Kem of Missouri who last year offered the original resolution to investigate the Justice Department. Kem charges Clark failed to order a thorough investigation of irregularities in the primary race between Roger Blaugher and Enoch Axtell, Democratic candidates for Congress. Axtell had President Truman's support.

But investigating Tom Clark will give Senator Ferguson a chance to even up an old score, too. Ever since the now-expiring Senate War Investigating Committee uncovered the Congressmen, Andy May and Garson Brothers scandals, Ferguson claims the Democrats have been trying to get something on him in Michigan.

The political pressure applied to get the May-Garson hearings quashed was terrific. The Republicans were in a hot political campaign in which they were later to take over leadership in Congress. May was a Democrat. The Democrats saw that any scandal involving a Democrat as important as Chairman May of the House Military Affairs Committee, would react unfavorably against the whole party.

"SOMETHING" ON FERGUSON
The story is that an effort was therefore made to get something

Commies Employ Cunning To Absorb Western Nations

By JOHN FISHER
Moscow-inspired pushes a re-ignoring American statesmen, as well as British and French diplomats, to reexamine Bizonia, Western Union, UN regional security combines and other defense possibilities.

But they are having trouble planning an effective dam against the Red flood because of the unique nature of Russian aggressiveness.

Old-fashioned economic blocs and military alliances are not the simple solutions. We confront not merely a traditional martial statement on expansion like Napoleon's France, Bismarck's Prussia or Tojo's Japan. We face total communism, the projected spirit of the Kremlin.

The dynamic idea is manifested in different incarnate forms. One moment communism is embodied in the foreign policy of the Soviet Union; the next it appears as local treason. One moment, Pan-Slavism, the next, the world program of the Cominform. One moment the deeds of Tito; the next, the movements of a perverted religion.

It is not easy to find the magic silver bullet to bring down this modern hydra-headed, hobgoblin. In each case different means are employed to advance communism and to demoralize the opposition. Trickery, terror or treason, whichever is more serviceable to the Politburo, is used ruthlessly every word and act covered by mendacious propaganda. Here are a few examples of Moscow's varied methods of persuasion.

I am informed by agents of the Polish government-in-exile of a scheme worked by Communists against patriotic Socialists in Poland. The Red Warsaw government appoints a Socialist as a factory manager with a Communist deputy manager. In time the deputy frames his boss, accusing him of stealing. This discredits the manager and the Socialist Party in which he belongs.

An anti-Communist Latvian policeman was made a prisoner of war by the Nazis and later recaptured by the Russian police. Brought before MVD officials he expected severe punishment. Instead, his examiner smilingly explained that his crime deserved a sentence of 25 years at hard labor. However, went on the inspector, Russia needs Baltic operatives. "You are offered the choice of a job or this," and the Russian drew his revolver.

ACCEPTED THEN FLED
The prisoner accepted with tongue in cheek. He was instructed to post himself in a displaced persons camp in the American zone in Germany. There he was to denounce any Communist activities as possible in order to eliminate potential Latvian leaders. Once in Bavaria the policeman gave himself up to Allied authorities.

In Bulgaria a businessman is given a 50 percent notice that he is to be nationalized. He is ordered by the local Marxist militia to hand over his firm's cash and to consider himself available for executive work. But the hitch is that only those screened as pro-Communists are eligible for work. The disgraced owner who continues to reject communism, thereafter is classed as "idle." As such he can be picked up by the police and sent off to toil in a labor battalion.

A small fry non-Communist politician in the Soviet zone in Germany is arrested frequently and accused of having a Nazi record or of not cooperating with the Communist-controlled SED party. After each third degree the man is compelled to sign a paper promising not to reveal the nature of the question.

BETRAY FRIENDS
When his nerves are on edge, he is told that he can avoid these periodic questionings if he will accept communism and prove his sincerity in his new belief by turning in weekly reports on his conversations and doings of his fellow party members and neighbors. As it is either becoming a stool pigeon or a slave in Siberia, many of the victims give in and betray their friends.

Lithuanians who have escaped to Atlanta —(AP)— When Dr. Louis D. Newton made it clear he would not be a Communist for a third term as president of the Southern Baptist Convention he was a following precedent set by his three immediate predecessors.

Newton, pastor of Atlanta's Druid Hills Church, said his predecessors served two terms. They were the late Dr. L. R. Scarborough, Edinburg, Tex., Dr. W. W. Hamilton, New Orleans, and Dr. Pat M. Neff, Waco, Tex. The next convention will be held May 19-23 in Memphis.

Dr. Newton Passes Up Third Term

UNFINISHED BUSINESS
The old Senate War Investigating Committee that made Harry S. Truman famous is due to expire before April 1, when its final reports are in. The new Ferguson subcommittee takes on where the old committee left off, inheriting some 50 investigations left over as unfinished business.

When the Truman committee was set up in 1941, it operated on a non-partisan policy. All its reports were unanimous. But when Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine became chairman in 1947, the committee took a definite political slant. Brewster was blocked on investigating conditions in Germany, however, and the Howards Hughes investigation backed on him. Brewster then appeared to lose interest and Ferguson took over.

The fact that the committee's work degenerated into something of a political mud-slinging contest has been held against both Brewster and Ferguson. Ferguson, however, says that the results of the serving and Hughes investigations were not just political. After disclosures in these cases, both the Army and the Air Forces reorganized procurement and inspection.

Senator Ferguson, of course is up for re-election this November. Anything he can uncover on Democrats before voting day won't hurt his chances in the slightest. He has announced that hearings will be held all through the congressional recess and the campaign. If anything can be revealed which will in any way embarrass the Democrats, it will of course be purely coincidental.

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— The Philadelphia Athletics flirted with a first place berth all last season and wound up fifth after their most successful campaign in years, but the A's might have finished even higher if they had been able to produce just one run occasionally. The Mackmen lost 29 games by a single run last season. They won 17 by that slim margin.

From 1795 to 1799 the executive power of France was held by "The Directory," a body of 5 men.

LOOKING AHEAD

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President's handling of the...
"American business doesn't make enough profit." Do you think that statement true or false? Many people haven't the vaguest idea. Some folks have been fed propaganda which seems to show at every turn that the main purpose of industry is to exploit the poor man. These persons are sidetracked into the wrong answer. Why should we ever forget that American business under our system of freedom of opportunity has itself done more than anything else to make the poor man rich? That is industry's goal!

There is one group, however that is well acquainted with the fact that business in general does not make the profit it ought to make to keep our system going ahead safely. This group is made up of communist and socialist agitators, as well as fellow-travelers. They know our system depends upon honest profit incentives. The communist program in this country is planned around the fact that the average American industry does not make enough profit. They are counting on that ON TAKING OVER.

There is no short range program. It is long range. The commies do not believe that our industrial enterprises, on their present profit margins, can survive a temporary depression. They would be dictators as strict believers in depression. They always count on taking over at the next "boom and bust." What we must not fall to see is that our American system, if not held back, has the ability to triumph over economic setbacks. We always come back stronger than before.

It is unfortunate that the general public sees industry as making exorbitant profits. Actually most people do not know that industry's profit level is as low as it is. Take a specific industry for example. According to surveys, many think the steel industry takes for profit as much as 25 cents out of every dollar of sales. This is wrong as can be seen. During the five recent "boom" years, just 3.5 cents out of each dollar taken in by the steel industry was profit. And much of this 3.5 cents was "flowed back under."

SLIM PROFITS
We look upon steel as being the leader in manufacturing industries. Steel is basic. It supplies the raw materials and semi-processed materials which are the chief need of manufacturing plants.

Our daily lives are conditioned by the place of steel in modern civilization. This is one reason why we should be interested in the decline of profits shown by the steel industry on a long term basis.

For the first half of the period 1909 to 1946, steel's profits on sales averaged 10.5 percent. For the last half of that period (1926-1946), profits on sales averaged 4.5 percent. During the twelve year period from 1921 to 1940, there were twelve years in which the return on investment stayed lower than per cent. In most of these twelve years, it was very much less. These figures are enough to show that our most basic industry is finding profits very slim indeed.

PROFITS MEANS JOBS
Why would the agitators like profits to be less? They would like to see the government "take over" any of our major industries. That would bring them a step nearer their own goal: "taking over" the very life of the country. Only a very large and efficient management industry could operate successfully under these conditions.

Steel, like other industries, requires constant reinvestment of funds. Moreover, a large portion of profits have to be returned to the business. In 1946, when net income was about 5.5 cents per dollar of sales, about 2.5 cents was paid back in the steel business. This left only 3 cents to be given to the owners and investors. It is easy to see that if industry is not allowed to make profits, our business cannot continue to make goods we need and offer jobs for all. Adequate profit is a blessing not a crime.

FUNNY BUSINESS

BY HERSHBERGER
There still was no trace of the man who is supposed to have left him the money.

Dawson and Providence Hospital officials said a man who identified himself as J. C. Turner, a Dallas lawyer, called there Thursday night to tell the handyman about his inheritance.

They quoted Turner as saying the $200,000 was left to Dawson by a Boup Switzer of Delaware, Texas, who died two weeks ago. Turner said the Texas was a patient in a hospital 13 years ago and Dawson, as orderly, took good care of him then.

But in Texas, there was no record of Switzer or Turner in Dallas or in Brown County, where Delaware is located. Turner told Dawson he was coming back to Texas and would send a copy of Switzer's will in 30 days.

news behind the news
By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — H. D. of Houston, Texas, asks for an estimate of the amount of money which will be spent by the major and bush-league parties in an attempt to capture the White House in next fall's election.

Besides the actual cash poured out by political organizations recognized under the Hatch Act, he suggests that a generous percentage of Marshall Plan funds should be regarded as partisan expenditures designed to win the vote of certain racial minorities.

Answer: I think that political spending next November will top all modern records. Even Senator Carl Hatch, author of the so-called "clean politics law," admits that an utter failure in checking extravagant uses of money to influence elections. No statute since the prohibition laws has been less enforced, as reformer Hatch should have known in the first instance.

BILL — The law fixes $3,000,000 as the maximum for each major party. Thus the Democrats and Republicans and the Wallace faction may spend an initial total of $9,000,000 under that provision alone.

Each congressional committee may spend the same amount. Assuming that the Wallace group can raise the maximum allowed under this item, that makes another $9,000,000 or a total of $18,000,000 as a pot opener.

However, there is no limitation on expenditures by state and local committees, although their advertising, hallyhooing, doorbell-ringing and baby-sitting influence the voting on national candidates. It is probable that their outlays will boost the overall amount to at least $30,000,000.

Each party has its own money on which there is no check or accounting. I would not be surprised if the total election bill for 1948 ran to at least $50,000,000. I am speaking here only of direct or indirect political expenditures.

BLOC — H. D. is possibly correct in his shrewd suspicion that some percentage of the Marshall Plan's millions should be considered as a political expenditure, together with whatever costs may result from our participation in the partition of Palestine.

There is a definite hope-and-belief-in-administration circles that numerous racial groups in this country will be grateful for their homelands—Germanians, Poles, French, Balkan peoples, Italians etc. in the aggregate they make a sizable voting bloc. But it is impossible to fix any definite figure here.

Marshall Plan expenditures may also have a political effect at home. They will provide profits for the suppliers of light and heavy goods, including the manufacturers and the workmen for whom they will provide employment. In short, they will have a politically inflationary effect, as everybody at the Capitol recognizes, and as some Republicans have charged.

SPURGE — The "ins" don't forget, also have another political kitty, whether they happen to be Republicans or Democrats. That consists of the normal federal budget, which will run to about $37,000,000,000 under the Republican economy program. Taking into account the federal WASHINGTON —(AP)— Richard Dawson held on to his job as hospital handyman today with no further word about a $200,000 fortune reported to have been left him in Texas.

Dawson and Providence Hospital officials said a man who identified himself as J. C. Turner, a Dallas lawyer, called there Thursday night to tell the handyman about his inheritance.

They quoted Turner as saying the $200,000 was left to Dawson by a Boup Switzer of Delaware, Texas, who died two weeks ago. Turner said the Texas was a patient in a hospital 13 years ago and Dawson, as orderly, took good care of him then.

But in Texas, there was no record of Switzer or Turner in Dallas or in Brown County, where Delaware is located. Turner told Dawson he was coming back to Texas and would send a copy of Switzer's will in 30 days.

Texas Today

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff
This story is 45 years old, a story of the first Battleship Texas, a story never penned in the vessel's log.

The Battleship Texas which the state hopes to berth permanently in Houston is the second to bear that name.

The first Battleship Texas was in the harbor at New Orleans March 1, 1900. The Mardi Gras was in full swing.

A man from Cincinnati, call him Jones, his wife and his beautiful sister-in-law came South to New Orleans for the festivities. They registered at the St. Charles Hotel. They were people of wealth.

The sister-in-law ventured into the lobby alone and a young man in uniform followed her with his eyes. After all, she was a fascinating creature. He sat down and according to the Associated Press account of what happened, wrote her a "polite and courteous note" asking if an introduction could be arranged.

In the note he said he was Captain Clark, the commander of the Battleship Texas.

The girl, "deeply surprised," took the note to her brother-in-law, Jones, who was delighted that the distinguished man could have been impressed with his wife's sister.

Jones promptly sought out the young man, was convinced he really was commander of the warship, and introduced the couple. The young man was absolutely bewitched, and the girl, too, was smitten at first sight.

The captain proposed a walk through the carnival crowds. The girl accepted. During the walk, the captain "made desperate love" proposed marriage and received a conditional acceptance.

Jones and his wife agreed it would be desirable to have such a high officer of the Navy in the family.

The next day, the two were married. Right after the ceremony, Jones hurried to get an undertaker and engaged a bride suite for the newweds. The captain, in a high good humor, told Jones and guests that evening at 7, on the battleship and that the ship would be specially illuminated in honor of the bride.

But just before 7 p. m. the captain rushed up to Jones and said a lieutenant on board the Texas had died and that the reception had to be called off.

The captain located an undertaker named Lynch and at the harbor, by means of considerable shouting, he commanded a big white hearse and undertaker took the tug out to the battleship. Jones boarded the Texas, yelling: "Is Colonel really dead?"

"The officers of the Texas, taking him for a lunatic, promptly hustled him ashore."

Back to the dock, the captain told Jones that Colonel was not yet dead.

A newspaper somehow learned of the Texas being boarded by the strange man. The story appeared the next morning. Poor Jones, who was a little more than the victim of a cruel deception.

On hearing the truth, the beautiful but unfortunate bride collapsed.

Jones "denounced the captain as a fraud" and had him jailed as a suspicious character.

The police learned the captain was from Mississippi. "The general impression is that he is insane."

In the captain's pocket, officers found an unused check. It was addressed to Secretary C. O. B. U. S. A., Washington.

It read: "Today wedded and happy. Texas illuminated for the bride."

Gracie Reports

Well, I see that an authority on child care at the Harvard Medical School says that babies are tougher than adults. Believe me, they have to be.

What full-grown adult could take it as well as a baby if a lot of giggling giants suddenly gathered around, jouncing him up and down, poking fingers at him, making weird faces and horribly unfunny remarks? Or held revolving concrete mixers at his ear to let him hear the noise, or make outlandish mouth sounds which, in their giant ignorance, they regarded as "human talk"?

I suppose the thing that really makes a baby tough is the realization that he's fallen in with a bunch of idiots, and it's up to him to keep his head.

And to top it all, think of those poor babies who actually have to sit up and take care of some alcoholically flavored baby sitters!

Escaped Python May Have Died in Cold

READING, Pa. —(AP)— The crash of a carnival truck which overturned near Reading was at first considered just a routine police matter.

Residents have learned, however, that the carcass of a 10-foot python had been found in the wreckage of the truck. And to make matters worse, it also was learned that another python had apparently escaped after the crash.

Police had a comforting word to offer. The big snake probably died somewhere near the scene because of the cold weather. Reading townspeople were hoping the police were right.

Winter Oil Shortage Caught All Experts by Surprise

By CLARKE BEACH
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The oil shortage this winter caught both government and industry experts by surprise.

They had thought that after the war there would be only a gradual increase in the civilian consumption of petroleum products—which had been reduced about one-third through rationing.

They thought they had several years, at least, to prepare for any greatly increased demand.

But in September the shortage suddenly loomed up dead ahead. Instead of slowly easing upward, demand for oil had shot up almost vertically. Now the country is using about 5,000,000 barrels a day—700,000 more than at wartime peak.

The experts had been thinking in terms of gasoline and automobiles. They reasoned, according to Sidney A. Swendrud, executive vice-president of the Gulf Oil Corp., that fewer automobiles would be in use and there would be a slump in gasoline demand.

But by 1947 there were 1,021,000 more passenger cars on the road than in 1941. There were 53.6 percent more trucks; 43.5 percent more buses. The petroleum industry estimates 33 percent more gasoline will be used in the first quarter of 1948 than in the same months of 1941.

What caught the oil men off guard? The enormous increase in the demand for petroleum products other than gasoline. Total demand for petroleum products jumped 53 percent in the 7-year period.

Derivatives of crude oil which once were considered by-products chiefly accounted for the rise. Biggest increase has been in the demand for "distillate" fuels—a ask now for the drastic step of reviving the wartime draft. Such action was suggested last week by James F. Byrnes, former secretary of state and still a good friend of the President.

Secretary of State Marshall, a few days before Byrnes spoke, told senators he is opposed to bringing selective service back to life.

The cabinet member's position, he reported, was that the armed services do not have the camps and equipment now to take care of large numbers of men.

Marshall remained firm, they said, in his belief that UMT would provide the answer to filling the ranks of the Army, Navy and Air Force where volunteers have left many vacant spaces.

The House UMT bill, however, has been bottled up for months in the powerful rules committee of the House which has no hint that it can be jarred loose this year.

Entomologist Warns Of Black Fly Threat

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—An entomologist has told the Texas Entomological Society an insect pest known as the "black fly" threatens the Rio Grande Valley citrus industry.

The entomologist, who declined to be named, is working now in Mexico on its control. He said the pest had been observed in Mexico within 200 miles of the border.

"It would be difficult to control its spread if it infests much farther north," he said.
