Call To Resume A-Tests

Plants Called Off In 1958

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sentiment is increasing in official Washington for the United States to resume nuclear testing unless an East-West control agreement is reached quickly.

Advocates of test resumption are convinced that deteriorating relations with Russia make it imperative that this country abandon the voluntary ban under which it has suspended testing for the past two years.

Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission, latest to call for a test resumption, said Monday he "surmised" that Russia had been conducting secret underground experiments and that Soviet military tests have benefited "substantial-ly."

At a news conference, McCone said little doubt that the United States soon would resume underground nuclear blasting to test seismic instruments. He said construction necessary for these experiments has been continued and nearly completed.

McCone refused to say there has been no "decision" to resume tests. He would say only "there has been no announcement." He did not rule out the possibility of nuclear tests before the Nov. 8 election.

Latin Envoy Arrested As Smuggler

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Guatemalan diplomat and three others were held on a record million dollars bail today in the smash-up of an international narcotics smuggling ring that "defies the imagination in its magnitude."

Federal narcotics agents arrested the four men at gunpoint on a crowded Manhattan street Monday and confiscated pure heroin worth $20 million on the illicit market.

U.S. Attorney S. Hazard Gillespie said the heroin seizure was the largest single narcotics haul ever made in this country.

Mauricio Rosal, 58, Guatemalan envoy to Belgium and the Netherlands, was identified by federal agents as the smuggling ring's chief courier.

He was said to have flown in from France Sunday with more than 110 pounds of uncut heroin rescued from Middle East narcotics suppliers through underworld sources in Marseille. He apparently used his diplomatic immunity from customs search to smuggle the heroin.

Rosal and French mystery manienne Tarditi, 56, said to have smuggled in 50 pounds of heroin Saturday, rendezvoused in Manhattan Monday with Trans World Airlines purser Charles Carbonnais, 39, and Brooklyn neighborhoodman Nicholas Calamaro, 47.

Bomb Detecting Rocket Launched

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A 72-foot rocket was fired high over the Atlantic by the Federal Space Agency today to test the rocket and a special instrument for detecting nuclear explosions in space.

The rocket was launched from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration base at Wallops Island, Va., and NASA said it was expected to rise to an altitude of nearly 4,000 miles and travel 6,100 miles down range before ending its flight in the South Atlantic.

The rocket carried 78 pounds of instruments provided by the Air Force for measuring radiation in space.

Pampan Injured In Gas Explosion

An office building blew up early this morning at the H. H. Heiskell Machine Co., 917 W. Brown, sending the owner to Highland General Hospital with facial and hand burns and several broken ribs.

H. H. Heiskell, 74 years old today, told his son, Claude, who carried him from the wrecked building, that he had started to light a gas floor heater when the explosion occurred. It was believed that gas had accumulated under the floor during the summer months, although employees of the firm said the floor heater had been turned off for some time.

Heiskell is being held at the hospital for further observation and examination, a member of the family said.

The left wall of the office building was blown out, all the office equipment appeared to be in shambles, and the windows and doors were blown out.

The younger Heiskell said this morning that his father "had a golf date at 1 p.m. today and when I left the hospital he was giving Dr. Frank Kelly, the family physician, a hard time about letting him leave the hospital."

Damages could not be estimated, the owner's son said, until insurance investigators complete their investigation.

Lumumba Hold Over Parliament Loosened

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Patrice Lumumba, the last-talking beer salesman who became the first premier of the Congo, appeared today to have lost his magic hold over Parliament.

A wholesale defection by 29 of the 44 senators and deputies from Lumumba's own Eastern Province left the deposed premier with far less than the slim majority that put him into power.

The rebels issued a three-page statement to newsmen Monday night denouncing Lumumba as a Communist and accusing him of trying to set up a dictatorship by terror.

Their leader, Alphonse Songo, minister of communications in the Lumumba government and one of his top lieutenants, said Lumumba's Congolese National Movement party should be renamed the "Communist National Movement" because of the way the goateed African leader had relied on the Reds for support.

The defection was a severe blow. When Lumumba's fortunes have been at their lowest ebb in the past he has been able to rally at least the appearances of parliamentary support to give his "government" an aura of legality.

Lumumba's powerful persuasive oratory has been effectively bottled up since Army strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu seized power last month and set up a high commission to run the government.

Catholic Church In Cuba Takes Stand On Commies

By MATTHEW T. KENNY
United Press International

HAVANA (UPI) — Archbishop Enrique Perez Serrantes of Santiago, who saved Fidel Castro from execution in 1953, charged today that "devotes of Marx and Lenin" are trying to reap the fruits of Castro's revolution.

A circular written by the prelate, which is being distributed to Roman Catholic churches throughout the country, denied Castroite charges that the church is influenced by the U.S. Embassy or supporters of Spanish chief of state Francisco Franco.

The circular added, however, that if the church had to choose between the United States and Communism it would not hesitate to do so.

Distribution of the circular coincided with reports that anti-Castro elements of every stripe are uniting against Communist infiltration of Cuba, however much they may differ on other issues.

Friends reported today that Maj. Jose Pilot, former pro-Castro "coordinator" in San Cristobal, had joined anti-government guerrillas in the Organ Mountains after denouncing growing Red influence in Cuba.

Catholic authorities here expressed concern over the distribution of anti-church pamphlets, attributed to Jose Marti, the "George Washington" of Cuba. They expressed doubt that Marti wrote the pamphlet.

The CTC Union Federation issued a statement hailing the execution of Roberto Cruz Alfonso, convicted of trying to assassinate a pro-government radio commentator.

"The execution is evidence that the people have decided to carry out the (Castro) revolution," the statement said. "Noise bombs (set off by Castro's foes) and other provocations strengthen their determination to achieve it to no one's program."

U.S. Employees Get $13 Million For Suggestions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Like heroes in a Horatio Alger story, a group of government employees has found that hard work and loyalty to the boss is rewarded.

Some 189,000 federal workers saved the government $144 million last year "through worthwhile suggestions and top job performance," the Civil Service Commission announced today.

Uncle Sam rewarded these employees with cash prizes totaling $13 million.

The biggest award — $25,000 — was split by five Army scientists at the Diamond Ordnance Fuze Laboratories here who developed a patented means of reducing greatly the size of electronic circuits. The prize was the maximum allowed by law.

The miniaturizing process will permit scientists to pack five times as much electronic equipment in small spaces, such as the nose cones of rockets.

These and other standout performances by government workers "prove again that the federal employes incentive awards program is a success in finding more efficient ways to carry out the day-to-day operations of government," said Chairman Roger W. Jones of the Civil Service Commission.

The awards went to 113,000 government employes for suggestions and 76,000 for outstanding work in the 12 months that ended June 30.

Among the other top prize winners was Gardiner Davis Jr., an Army records administrator stationed in Heidelberg, Germany, who was awarded $2,000 for suggesting a major improvement in the service's system of filing and disposing of records. He saved the Army an estimated $219,000.

Silas H. Standridge, an equipment repairman at McClellan Air Force Base, Calif., was awarded $500 for proposing a way to use scrap material to fix aircraft fuel tanks. The idea saved the Air Force $90,000.

Speed Record

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Navy today claimed a new world record of 1,390.21 miles per hour for jet fighter planes. The record would be nearly 100 miles an hour greater than one submitted for recognition by Russia four months ago.

Navy Secretary William B. Franke said, "We have shown again that we are equal to any challenge—that we will be second to no one."

Macmillan To Meet With Nikita Today

Follow Up On Meeting Last Week

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev sought out Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan for a second summit session today.

Macmillan's first reply was that he was otherwise engaged at the lunch room time suggested by Khrushchev. But he agreed later to meet the Soviet leader at 2:30 p. m.

At the same time Macmillan turned down an invitation to a summit-style party Khrushchev is staging tonight at his Park Avenue headquarters.

British sources said Khrushchev sent word he would like to hold a noon conference with Macmillan today, following up last week's fruitless meeting and the prime minister's subsequent talks with President Eisenhower in Washington.

The British delegation first said the meeting was arranged for 1 p. m. A spokesman later announced that Macmillan had another engagement and suggested that the meeting with Khrushchev be set later today or Wednesday.

There was no immediate explanation of the British delegation's about-face. New York police had already begun security precautions for the meeting at Macmillan's Waldorf-Astoria suite when the British spokesman said it had been delayed.

Monday night Khrushchev ruled out neutralist pleading for immediate Big Two talks with President Eisenhower.

Khrushchev simultaneously set up his own version of the summit by inviting virtually all leaders of the United Nations to a massive party at the Soviet legation tonight. He also invited a secret list of American businessmen.

The diplomatic party has been Khrushchev's main stumping ground for neutralist support but tonight's reception will be the Soviet leader's first. His only other major social venture was a lunch last week for Communists, neutralists and a few Afro-Asian delegates.

Russ Won't Leave U.N.

Soviets Backtracking On Dag Condemnation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The Soviet Union began with backtracking today in its war with Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and a spokesman said there was no question of Russia leaving the United Nations if he does not resign.

The softened Soviet attitude toward Hammarskjold came in the face of repeated General Assembly defeats and thunderous support for the Swedish diplomat who told Premier Nikita Khrushchev Monday "I shall remain at my post."

A member of the Soviet delegation said the Russian attitude toward Hammarskjold will depend upon his future conduct. This was a far easier stand than Khrushchev's demands he resign because the communist bloc did not trust him.

The Soviet spokesman said the Kremlin leaders had made no decision whether to boycott him as they did to force the resignation of his predecessor, Norway's Trygve Lie.

The delegation members said Russia would support an Australian amendment to a five-power neutralist resolution to have it called for a new Big Four summit meeting instead of a meeting between Khrushchev and President Eisenhower, which both have rejected.

The Ukraine, which is actually a part of the Soviet Union, was assigned today to declare that the secretary-general had "soiled the honor" of the United Nations. This was far milder than previous Communist statements.

Khrushchev, smarting under Monday's outburst of applause for Hammarskjold, turned to the offensive on three other fronts:

—He spurned the five-power neutralist proposal for a meeting with Eisenhower unless the President condemns the U2 spy flight and the RB47 reconnaissance plane flight which the United States contends was on a peaceful mission and over international waters when shot down.

—His satellites stepped up their campaign to win a United Nations seat for Red China and throw out Nationalist China.

—The Communist bloc began to measure ways to oppose Hammarskjold. Observers said a Red boycott of the U.N. chief was more than likely.

Hammarskjold's thunderously applauded "I shall remain at my post" declaration Monday when Khrushchev again demanded he resign was taken as the signal for a Communist fight.

The Red boycott maneuver effectively forced the resignation of Hammarskjold's predecessor, Norway's Trygve Lie. Hammarskjold's term of office runs through 1962.

UF Workers Encounter Problems In Soliciting

The hardest part of getting donations for the Pampa-Lefors United Fund is having to go back to see a possible donor the second time.

This is the belief of J. C. Roberts, a man who should know, since he is a team captain under Gordon Lyons, head of the Commercial Division of the fund.

"There must be some way for us to reach the people we see the first time. Going back not only takes more time and delays the donation, but it puts the volunteer card worker at a disadvantage. He doesn't know just what to say, and to be frank, he's just a little leery about making the second and, sometimes, third call," said Roberts.

The drive to raise $68,746 for the seven agencies receiving funds from P-LUF is to continue through Oct. 31. However, if the goal is not reached by that date it will be continued.

Almost all clubs, fraternal orders and churches have joined in the movement. Dr. Ed Williams, chairman of United Fund Sunday, said today that a list of agency heads has been selected to make short addresses during the United Fund Choir Concert that will be held in the First Baptist Church from 3 to 4 p. m. Sunday.

The participating choirs from various churches of the city will be under the direction of Joe Whitten, minister of music, for the First Baptist Church.

Speakers have been asked to prepare 90-second talks on the program, purpose and activity of their agencies. Those who will speak are:

Kirk Duncan, president of the board of directors of the Salvation Army; A. I. Carubbi, president of the board of directors of the Gray County Chapter, American Red Cross; Ivy Duncan, president of the Pampa Milk Fund; Dr. T. De Witt Harvey, president of the Gray County Heart Association; Mrs.

Castro Believed Trying To Force Relations Break

WASHINGTON (UPI) — High American officials believe that Premier Fidel Castro is trying to force the United States to break diplomatic relations with Cuba.

That is the only logical explanation of the Cuban government's continued harassment of American nationals and the confiscation of U.S. business, they said today.

These officials think Castro and his advisers want the U.S. embassy shut down and American nationals evacuated so Washington will not have on-the-spot observers to report Cuba's increasing drift toward communism.

Some officials believe this is connected particularly with the forthcoming establishment in Havana of a Chinese Communist embassy and plans for more Red technicians to enter Cuba.

Traffic Commission In Session Monday

The Traffic Commission yesterday recommended that no parking be permitted on Duncan street beside Fairview Cemetery.

It also determined, after discussion with Police Chief Jim Conner, that motorists could continue forward at the intersection of Brown and Cuyler streets, when the green signal arrow indicates left turn only.

Mrs. Jack Hood, a member of the commission, said Chief Conner said that if a driver is unable to get out of the left turn lane, it would be better for him to continue on rather than hold up drivers who are in the lane to make left turns.

Still hanging fire is a decision on whether or not a signal light will be installed at West and Francis streets.

This has been kicked back and forth between the commission and the City Commission for some time. The request for the light came several weeks ago from First Baptist Church officials. The traffic unit sent the request to City Commission and that group in turn proposed a four-way stop and bucked the problem back to the traffic body where it still is to be acted upon.

Jack Miller was in charge of the meeting which was held in the Cihola room of the Coronado Inn. Miller acted in place of James Hart, chairman, who was unable to attend.

Other members of the commission attending were: Mrs. Hood, Monroe Moore, city engineer; Chief Conner, Claude Wilson, Donald Conley, F. E. Shelhamer, P. H. Parento and R. B. Cook.

Slowly, But Inexorably

W. L. Weldon found out yesterday that the wheels of justice may grind slowly, but that they grind on just the same when he appeared in 31st District Court.

Weldon had been indicted May 23, 1958, on the charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, second offense, but the case had not come up for hearing until yesterday.

While a petit jury panel was being selected, Weldon entered a plea of guilty and was given three years probation by District Judge Lewis Goodrich.

Dear Abby... Just Don't Answer When Doorbell Rings

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My neighborhood I wouldn't answer my door when pharmacist has now put in a magazine rack displaying what I would call sexy magazines. I changed supermarkets because when I shop I must take my children along and they become interested in the sex-mad magazines. It seems to be a growing disease.

Every place I go I see these half-nude pictures or big black headlines on magazines about "STOLEN LOVE" or "TEENAGE SEXPOTS". Isn't there an organized movement in action I can join to fight this? I want to raise decent, healthy-minded children.

DEAR MRS. D. M. B.: The Citizens for Decent Literature will be glad to send you a pamphlet, "How You Can Help Control Obscenity". It is free. This group will send speakers and movies free for the asking to clubs who want a constructive and worthwhile program. Their national office is 3901 Carew Tower, Cincinnati, 2, Ohio.

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who rings my bell for coffee about three mornings a week. She always manages to get on the subject of husbands cheating on their wives. She has said several times that all traveling men cheat on their wives. Now this woman knows my husband travels. I told her she had no right to make a statement like that but she is one of those fast talkers who thinks she knows everything. How do you answer a person like that?

DEAR ANNOYED: Answer her? butter.

Ingredients For Cake Theme For Installation

"Ingredients for a Missionary Cake" was the theme used by Mrs. Ed Miller in the installation service for new officers of First Baptist Church Women's Missionary Union held Wednesday in the church.

In adapting the making of a cake to the duties of officers, Mrs. Miller used the following ingredients and articles for making a "missionary cake": Mrs. Charles Miller, secretary, recipe file; Mrs. Earl Barnett, treasurer, cost of cake; Mrs. L. V. Hopp, salient chairman, measuring cup; Mmes. G. E. Groninger, R. L. McDonald, Mike Porter, C. L. McKinney, W. R. Morrison, Ethel Rogers, Paul Turner, J. Lunsford, Bob Williams, S. E. Waters, as circle chairman, mixing bowls; Mmes. O. A. Davis, Shirley Nichols, A. L. Prigmore, nominating committee, pantry; Mrs. Melyin Bailey, community missions, sugar; Mrs. Jack Parker and Mrs. W. B. Franklin, youth directors, eggs; Mrs. J. H. Hill, stewardship, baking powder; Mrs. Earl Dodson, reading and an acceptance speech as incoming president. Special prayer was offered by Mrs. C. L. McKinney. Guests were Dr. E. Douglas Carver, Mrs. S. T. Halpin, Mrs. R. W. Rial, Mrs. Wilburn J. Spain and Mrs. Miller. Mrs. Bob Tripplehorn, Mrs. J. A. Hopkins, and Mrs. Homer Taylor were hostesses for the social hour that followed the installation ceremony. Refreshments were served from a table appointed with a pale green cloth centered with an arrangement of holly berries. Mrs. McDonald presided at the silver coffee service.

Mrs. Owe Johnson as WMU president and Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer, as the president's assistant, were labeled "the very best quality."

Following the installation, Mrs. R. L. McDonald, outgoing president, made a short talk. Gifts were presented to Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Miller.

Citizenship Brunch Given By Committee

A Citizenship Brunch was sponsored by the Christian Social Relations Committee of St. Paul Methodist Church Women's Society of Christian Service on Friday morning in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Mrs. F. M. Culberson and Mrs. H. H. Hahn spoke on political platforms and political issues. Mrs. Jack O. Miller introduced the speakers.

The program began with a skit "A Grocery Bag of Political Issues" given by Mrs. Jack Riley and Mrs. W. M. Sargent.

Mrs. Hahn emphasized the constitutional background of the United States government; Mrs. Culber-

Missionary From Brazil Installs New Officers For Central Baptist WMU

The Woman's Missionary Union of Central Baptist Church met Monday evening, in the church fellowship hall for the annual installation banquet.

Invocation was led by Mrs. A. H. McPeak. Following a salad supper, Mrs. Hugh Sanders sang "My God and I" accompanied by Mrs. Robert Callahan at the piano.

Officers for the new year were installed by Mrs. Gerald Searight, missionary to Brazil. She used a theme of "lights" in which officers lighted a bulb on a world map after they were charged with their responsibilities.

Circle chairmen drew names for forming their new circles from glittering stars suspended in a beautiful arrangement around a background of clouds.

Officers for the new year are as follows: Mmes. Jack Cullison, president; L. R. Tyson, vice-president; Harold McCleery, corresponding secretary treasurer, and literature; Norris Hall, recording secretary; Charles Broxson, YWA director; T. R. Kelly, counselor; J. P. Adams, GA director with Mmes. Harold Dougherty, W. C. Bass, Gerald Beaty, Don Rosenbach, and Jay Thompson as counselors; Mrs. Hershel Sanders, Sunbeam director with Mrs. Bob Rat-

Mrs. Ben Ogden Mattie Fountain Guild, Hostesses

Mrs. Ben Ogden and Mrs. Mattie Fountain were co-hostesses in their home to Wesleyan Service Guild on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Irl Smith, WGS president, during the business meeting and introduced the study, "Into All The World Together."

Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson gave the devotional topic following a litany repeated in unison.

The study leader, Miss Inez Clubb, presented a film strip with narration "New Nations in the World Balance."

Members attending, not mentioned previously, were Mmes. Lee Harrah, Diamia Woods, L. B. Penick, J. M. Turner, Lillie Mae Fowler; Misses Ila Pool, Alva Wilson and Lillian Mullinax.

Ten-shun! Work Savers For Fall Broom Brigade

Cleaning basket on casters glides easily from guest closet. Cleaning aids are color-keyed to the room. Closet door is papered with oversize wicker pattern.

By KAY SHERWOOD, Staff Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

As the broom brigade shoulders its fall clean-up of summer soil, one fact is quickly established. The collections of aids cleaner living has grown readily but places to stow them are diminished to the vanishing point.

Assembling the mops, brooms, spongers for this, polishers for that, dust pan and cloths from their hideaways to the spot where they'll be used is tedious. Until cleaning closets return to builder's work, improvised storage ideas hold special interest for all homemakers.

One solution, is particularly useful because it would be simple for a handyman to improvise. And it can be adapted to apartment or home. In essence this interesting. In one, a plywood slab is bolted to an extension floor-to-ceiling pole with a swivel socket. On one side of the slab is a bright portrait of an Indian worked in felt, cutout and pasted to the wood.

The design was worked out first on graph paper, then enlarged to pattern size on brown wrapping paper. This gay side whirls around to show cleaning aids clipped to the board on the reverse side. The waxes and polishes and the like are in reed mail baskets hung up by their handles.

In the third solution, a slim horizontal drawer on wheels slides out from under a window seat. The drawer is faced with airy wood lath for ventilation; cleaning aids are racked horizontally.

This idea is suggested for use where storage space is so limited additional closets are needed. Floor-to-ceiling closets—built on each side of a window could be joined with a seat or shelf under which such a drawer would fit.

In any improvisation, it's more important than ever that cleaning aids be presentable. A huddle of soiled mops or worn-down brooms is an affront to the eye and a critical appraisal of the homemaker's pride in her home.

Pretty, flowery colors, such as geranium, marigold and cornflower blue, pristine white or copper dress up these aids. Synthetic yarns and bristles make them a cinch to keep spotless with soap and water.

It's a good idea to have a special file box for the washing instruction tags that come with clothing, curtains, draperies, blankets and slipcovers.

Kennedy Views Georgia After Pledged Vote Poll

By LYLE C. WILSON
 United Press International
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—The most anxious news from the South for Sen. John F. Kennedy probably is from Georgia.

Georgia is an anchor of the Solid South. It never has bolted a Democratic nominee for President. Only Arkansas shares with Georgia that distinction of party loyalty.

Georgia now seems to be moving away from the Democratic Party in a national sense. Many Georgians would tell you that the move is the other way—that the political party of their fathers has moved away from Georgia. The solid evidence of movement is last month's straw vote in Georgia on the question whether the state's presidential electors should be pledged to vote in the electoral college for the Democratic presidential ticket. An overwhelming vote for pledged electors was expected.

There was a straw vote majority of more than 20,000 for free electors. Except as it may detract from the aggregate of the electoral college vote for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket, this is no cause for unrestrained Republican applause. The vote is not at all evidence that Georgians love the Republican Party more, but only that Georgians love the national Democratic Party less.

All good citizens might rejoice in the outcome of the straw ballot as evidence that the South is moving, if slowly, toward a legitimate two-party system. The straw vote was not binding on the electors, who may or may not decide to cast free rather than pledged votes in the electoral college. If they cast free votes, it would not follow that they would go to the Republican Nixon-Lodge ticket. More likely, Georgia's electors would vote for some notable southern conservative, such as their own Sen. Richard B. Russell or Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia. If such maverick Georgia electoral votes and others similarly freed in the South prevented either major party ticket from obtaining an absolute majority of the electoral vote, the contest would go to the House of Representatives.

Southern conservatives would like that. In the House, each state would have a single vote, 26 votes being necessary to elect a President. Under such circumstances, southern states could — would — band together to prevent, if possible, any election at all until a deal had been made with the prospective new president and/or with northern Democrats. Such a deal would be to relieve the South of some of the northern liberal pressures now bearing on it.

Texas Makes Alaska A Fiscal Piker

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI)—Guatemalan fighter planes strafed a Cuban schooner suspected of trying to run guns into Guatemala and drove it away from the Caribbean coast, the government announced today.

The ship was said to have run aground, apparently in sinking condition, on Mexico's Cozumel Island.

An official announcement said the schooner La Cubana was attacked "not far from our coasts," but did not say exactly where or when. Cozumel is more than 300 miles north of Guatemala's brief Caribbean coast.

Planes Strafe Cuban Scooner

HOUSTON (UPI)—Alaska may have replaced Texas as the biggest state, but financially it's still a fiscal piker.

According to recently compiled figures, just about every taxing entity of consequence in Harris (Houston) County spends more than the $21 million budget for the state of Alaska.

For instance, the county budget for fiscal 1960 is $26,642,335, the city budget is $46,494,845, and the Houston Independent School District budget stands at $54.4 million.

Yankees Invade Pittsburgh

SPORTS

8 TUESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1960 53rd YEAR

Art's Gallery

By Art Mayhew

Major league baseball makes a flashy exit from the nation's sports scene tomorrow with the beginning of the World Series in Pittsburgh between New York's Yankees and the National League's Cinderella team, the Pirates.

Naturally, the betting favorite will be the Yankees. Bookies long ago learned they were barking up the wrong league when they bet against the Yankees. And, with seven World Series championships out of nine tries, who can blame them?

Pirates Hold Pitching Edge

The Bucs, who faltered a little at the tail end of the season, still managed to post 95 wins, an outstanding mark in a league where the second division teams knock off the front runners with regularity. With Vern Law, Bob Friend and Vinegar Bend Mizell, the NLers will hold a slight pitching edge. Defensively, the double-play combination of Bill Mazeroski and Dick Groat is much stronger than Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson of the Yankees.

However, the New Yorkers aren't all bad. They won 97 games—the last 15 in a row—to wrap up the AL pennant. And, all it will take will be a couple of "pops"

Five-Way Tie In SWC?

Whatever prestige was lost by the Southwest Conference in its opening round three weeks ago was regained in spades last weekend as Baylor, Rice and Texas A&M came through with inter-sectional victories while Texas and Arkansas came up with impressive showings in conference warfare.

The Bears, perhaps, did more for the SWC — and themselves — when they dumped LSU, 7-3. It was the first time the Tigers had been beaten in Baton Rouge since 1957 and was also the initial time a SWC team scored against LSU in five games.

Casper Captures Tee Title

HESPERIA, Calif. (UPI) — Bill Casper Jr., the relaxed unathletic looking Navy veteran, has a string of two successive pro golf tournament victories to his credit today and he will be shooting for a third in two weeks.

Casper, a rotund 5-foot 11-inch, 215-pounder, shot a 72 hole total of 275 — 13 under par — to win $2,000 first prize money Monday in the Hesperia Open. His rounds were 70-88-87-70.

He won the Portland Open a weekend ago and his pro earnings this year are $32,500.

"I'm going to make it three in a row at Costa Mesa," he said. He was referring to the Orange County Open which starts at the Mesa Verde Country Club South of Los Angeles Oct. 13. PGA officials skipped this weekend for a tournament because of the World Series.

The Yankees, on past performances, have proved that they can come back to grab all the apples. In 1958, they were down 1-3 in games won to Milwaukee—and they won three in a row for the world championship. The only other time that little jewel was done was in 1925 when Pittsburgh came back to beat Washington (who else?)

A Pirate fan, we still have to pick Casey's Clobberers to take the series, in say six games, because of Series savvy.

Pirate Official Sees No Repeat Of 1927

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — General manager Joe Brown of the Pittsburgh Pirates coldly informed the New York Yankees today that they can expect "no repetition" of the 1927 World Series.

That was a black year for Pittsburgh. Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig blasted several "homers" during batting practice before the World Series even began that year. The Pirates looked on in awe, never really recovered and lost the World Series in four straight games.

"If the Yankees think the same thing is going to happen now," Brown said, "they can forget it."

"Nobody awes this ball club," said the youthful-looking 42-year-old Pittsburgh GM, standing behind the batting cage during a Pirate workout. "That goes for the 'mighty' Yankees or anyone else."

"Our fellows don't even feel the American League is as good as the National League," Brown added. "The Pirates don't think anyone should beat them and what's more, they're convinced no one can."

World Series Opener Set For Wednesday

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

The Pittsburgh Pirates, however flushed by the fastest finish in their history, the Yankees, who won the last 15 games of their regular American League competition, were scheduled to take their first workout at Forbes Field in preparation for Wednesday's World Series opener.

The Yankees, who swept the Pirates in four straight games the last time the two teams met in a World Series back in 1927, named 18-game winner Art Ditmar to start the opener against Pittsburgh's 20-game ace, Vern Law.

Odds-makers quoted the first game at even money although the Yankees are rated 13 to 10 favorites for the Series, chiefly because of their superior power.

Danny Murtaugh, the stocky, little Pittsburgh manager who is appearing in his first World Series, didn't even wait for Stengel to announce his opening game lineup before making his public.

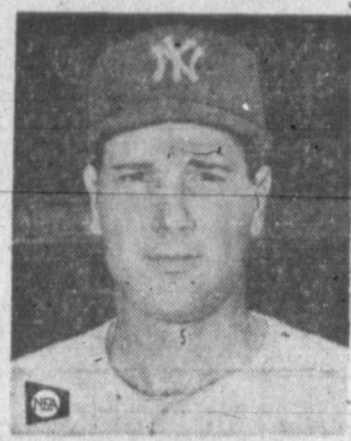

"I'm going to go with my left-handed lineup," said the Pirates' skipper, who already has announced that Bob Friend will pitch the second game, Wilmer Mizell the third and Harvey Haddix "probably" the fourth.

Murtaugh's left-handed lineup has three southpaw swingers—center fielder Bill Virdon, left fielder Bob Skinner and catcher Smokey Burgess. Virdon will lead off, shortstop Dick Groat will bat second, Skinner third and first baseman Dick Stuart fourth.

Oldsters Lead Colonel Win

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A pair of oldtimers and a young relief pitcher were hailed today as heroes of the Louisville Colonels that beat the odds and the highly-ranked Toronto-Maple Leafs to capture minor league baseball's biggest prize, the junior World Series title.

Catcher Stan Lopata and first baseman Frank Torre, farmed down from the parent Milwaukee Braves after years in the big time, led an extra base barrage that beat the Leafs, 5-1, Monday night and wrapped up the Series, four games to two.

Bobby Hendley pitched brilliant ball to win the final game, but it was Ken Mackenzie, a Yale graduate from Gore Bay, Ontario, who had saved two games and won another in against the Leafs to keep the Colonels in the running against Toronto, the International League pennant winner by 17 games.

Outstanding Texan Pair Spark AFL

DALLAS (UPI)—The Cotton Davidson-to-Abner Hynes passing tandem moved to the top spots in the American Football League's pass throwing and receiving departments today in the wake of the Dallas duo's showing against the New York Titans last Sunday.

Davidson completed 19 of 31 passes for 333 yards in the losing cause and the fleet Texan half-back caught six of them for 89 yards.

That gave Davidson a four-game total of 72-out of 133 for 926 yards, a completion percentage of .541 and an interception percentage of .030—all tops for the league—as he piled up 55 out of a possible 60 efficiency points by which the new pro circuit grades its passers.

Injury-idled Jack Kemp of Los Angeles slipped only one place out of the lead, however, with 47 efficiency points. He had hit 62 of 115 attempts for 701 yards. Al Dorow of New York had thrown the most touchdown passes—eight, with Davidson, Kemp and Denver's Frank Tripucka hitting for six each.

The Dallas-New York game—a 37-35 Titan victory—also enabled Titan end Don Maynard to move from fourth to second in pass receiving behind Haynes.

Haynes has caught 21 passes for 370 as last week's leader, Houston's Johnny Carson was idle and skidded to third.

Austin Gonsoulin of Denver pilfered an Oakland pass Sunday to boost his season total to seven interceptions, four more than anyone else.

Dave Rolle of Denver surged into second place in league rushing with a 99-yard performance against Oakland, but his 225-yard total was still 31 yards shy of idled Dave Smith of Houston, George Blanda's 40 points for Houston also stood up in the scoring department but Gene Mingo of Denver narrowed the lead margin to five points with a field goal and four conversions against Oakland.

Modern-Day Quarterback Rivals Outlaws For 'Meanness'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Five newcomers, including Navy and Purdue, moved into the top 10 behind ace-setting Syracuse today in the latest Press International major college football ratings.

Syracuse retained its No. 1 ranking in the second weekly balloting of the UPI board of coaches by totaling 16 first place votes and 322 points, while Mississippi remained second with 12 first place votes and 284 points.

The list of other contenders, however, was revamped sharply in the wake of a weekend of upsets.

Iowa, with 248 points, vaulted from eighth to third place, Illinois (188) held onto its No. 4 spot, and Ohio State (166) moved from seventh to fifth place.

Navy sailed all the way from 18th to 6th place, Purdue jumped from 24th to 7th, Missouri advanced from 20th to 8th, Minnesota went from 12th to 9th, and Arkansas moved from 17th to 10th.

A 15-14 victory over Washington earned Navy its startling advance, indirectly, plunged the Huskies from third to 15th place. Purdue jumped 17 notches on the strength of its 51-19 triumph over Notre Dame.

Northwestern, sixth last week, didn't collect a single vote this week; Georgia Tech, previously ranked ninth, had only one point, and Kansas skidded from fifth to 13th place following its 14-7 loss to Syracuse.

The revised rankings listed five Big Ten conference teams among the top 10—Iowa, Illinois, Ohio State, Purdue and Minnesota. However, another re-shuffle can be expected next week after fourth-ranked Illinois tangles with fifth-ranked Ohio State.

Sooners, Texas Clash In Big Dallas Contest

By BRYCE MILLER
United Press International

Bud Wilkinson will be glad to know Darrell Royal doesn't have a thing up his sleeve for this week's Cotton Bowl battle.

That's what the Texas coach said.

A surprise for Oklahoma when the Sooners come to Dallas? Did Royal hold anything back in the 17-0 victory over Texas Tech when Oklahoma scouts were in the stands?

"We show everything we've got in every ball game," Royal said. "Sometimes you might think we are holding back, but that's all we've got."

The Longhorns are given a five point edge over Oklahoma, but Royal thinks it's a toss up.

The conference spotlight will be shared with the Arkansas-Baylor scrap at Fayetteville, the game between two of the three remaining title contenders now that TCU has been given a back seat, for the present at least, in the championship chase.

Arkansas, which blanked the Frogs 7-0, is picked by four points over Baylor, the team that smacked down Louisiana State 7-3.

Professional oddsmakers installed TCU as an 11 point favorite over Texas Tech, and classed the rest of the conference clubs as underdogs. Houston is favored by 3 over Texas A&M, Florida by 1 over Rice, and Southern Methodist will be a 14 point underdog to Navy.

Arkansas goes back into rough work today and Coach Frank Broyles said his Razorbacks came out of the TCU game in fine physical shape. The team viewed the game film Monday and he said the "grades" received by individual players were highest of any game in recent years.

Baylor's third team scrimmaged with the redshirts Monday while the first two units took it easy with timing drills. Gerald Erwin, No. 3 quarterback, re-injured his shoulder in the contact work.

At College Station, the Aggies shunned the usual Monday light work and went full speed for their clash with Houston. Coach Jim Myers said not a man was injured in the 14-0 romp over Trinity, and the team regained two members of the squad who were out with injuries—fullback LeeRoy Caffey and halfback Randy Sims.

At Fort Worth, Coach Abe Martin said he was "highly disappointed" with the performance of ends Milton Ham and Buddy Iles against Arkansas, and demoted them both. He moved up Lynn Morrison and Dale Glasscock.

Southern Methodist worked on punts in a light workout. Three Mustangs returned from the injured list. They are Mike Hackney, Bobby Hunt and Doyce Walker.

Tech worked out in sweat clothes and heard a scouting report on TCU. The team was told Bob Lilly was "probably the best tackle in the nation" and the Frog line would give Raider passers as much trouble as the Texas forward wall did last weekend.

Coach DeWitt Weaver said the team came through the Texas game in fine physical shape, not an injury in the bunch.

KC Fires Bob Elliott

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Joe Gordon may be hired Wednesday as manager of the Kansas City Athletics, while former A's manager Bob Elliott is shopping around for a job.

Gordon was released from a one-year contract with the Detroit Tigers Monday, shortly before Elliott and his three-man coaching staff of Walker Cooper, Don Heffner and Fred Fitzsimmons were fired by Kansas City.

A's Vice-President and General Manager Parke Carroll said he intends to confer with Gordon about a contract in Pittsburgh Wednesday. Both Gordon and Carroll are in Pittsburgh for the World Series.

"Gordon is one of four or five men being considered as acceptable to manage at Kansas City," Carroll said. "We are happy that he is available to be hired and I am going to talk to him about managing our ball club."

Sens Rehire 'Cookie'

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Manager Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto, who moved the Washington Senators from the American League cellar to fifth place in 1960, has been rehired for next season with a "nice raise" in salary.

Calvin Griffith, Senators president who is here for the World Series, made the announcement Monday night. He said he was "delighted" to have Lavagetto back for 1961.

The Quebec Aces, newest team in the American Hockey League, will host charter member Cleveland when the circuit opens its silver anniversary season Tuesday night.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced Monday that the NFL draft will take place Dec. 26 in the city of the Eastern Conference champion. The NFL will draft for 26 rounds and no player will be signed until the draft is completed.

Swink May Quit Dallas

DALLAS (UPI)—Swivel-hipped Jim Swink, the fancy-dan Dallas Texan halfback, may pass up the rest of the season with the American Football League team to concentrate on passing at the Southwestern Medical School.

Swink, a former TCU All-American, was talked into playing pro ball by Lamar Hunt, the owner of the Texans. He was the starting left-halfback until the heavy academic demand heaped a tremendous load on his back.

He failed to make a single practice session last week and Abner Haynes took over the starting halfback slot.

The trim halfback turned down professional football when he graduated to study medicine.

Fullmer's Leg Postpones Bout

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Middleweight champion Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, hobbling on a sore and stiff right leg, today expressed his regrets that he would be unable to defend his title Saturday night against Sugar Ray Robinson.

Just as the Fullmer-Robinson fight was beginning to catch on with boxing fans it was postponed Monday until Dec. 3 because the champion suffered a painful leg injury in training.

The fight had been scheduled to kick off the fall season of Saturday night television (ABC) bouts. Instead a substitute TV bout was quickly arranged between two top lightweight contenders, Kenny Lane of Michigan and Len Matthews of Philadelphia.

But the Lane-Matthews bout will be held in the Olympic Auditorium instead of the plush Sports Arena where the Fullmer-Robinson fight had been expected to draw a gate of $150,000.

Ike's Average

President Eisenhower got less support from Congress in 1960 than in any year of his eight-year Administration.

At adjournment on Sept. 1 Congress had given final approval to only 56 of 183 specific Eisenhower legislative proposals 1960—a .306 batting average.

Major sources of the conflict between the President and Congress may be seen from a breakdown of congressional inaction and unfavorable action to the Administration requests. Mr. Eisenhower was shut out on all of 15 legislative requests for housing and education. The President also did poorly on his farm program; only two of 20 requests, both involving the Sugar Act, were approved. The Administration request for extension of the soil bank was rejected. Congress ignored long-standing Presidential requests for increases in postal rates and in aviation-fuel and gasoline taxes, and for lifting the 4 1/2 per cent interest rate ceiling on Government bonds.

The President's lack of success with Congress was due, in part, to Congress being controlled in an election year by Democrats. Other factors were the late start on the bulk of its business because of the eight weeks of civil rights debate in the first part of the session, the time pressure because of the July adjournment for the national convention, and the pre-election maneuvering during the August session.

Also, Mr. Eisenhower is a lame-duck President with no power, after he leaves office in January, to punish legislators who voted against his program.

Of the President's success with Congress, his foreign policy requests did best—Congress approved 22 of 41 requests, or 53.7 per cent. He also did comparatively well in his resources and public works requests—8 of 18 were approved, or 44.4 per cent.

In all, Congress acted at least partially, on 99 of the President's 183 requests. Following is the breakdown of the status of the 183 requests at the end of the 86th Congress:

—56 requests approved—30.6 per cent.

—2 passed both chambers and awaited compromise agreement—1.1 per cent.

—18 passed one chamber but not both—9.8 per cent.

—6 reported by a committee in either the House or Senate but not passed—3.3 per cent.

—17 considered at committee hearings but not reported—9.3 per cent.

—43 received no action at all—23.5 per cent.

—41 received unfavorable action through either by a committee or on the floor—22.4 per cent.

Higher Standards

A higher standard of living is important. But the meaning relates not only to more and better living from the standpoint of goods and services, but more and better living from the standpoint of higher aspirations, principles and goals.

Legalized Union 'Pushing'

Assuming the continuation of the human race to a point in the future, permitting of objective review of our century, we have no doubt that some future historian will simply marvel at the astonishing spectacle of human reliance upon force and violence.

We have since the beginning of the 20th century, had a few notable achievements in favor of a lessening of reliance upon force and violence. But certainly ever since the mid-1930s or thereabouts there has been a growing trend in the direction of reliance of violence. No where is it more apparent than in the union picture.

Here is surely a curiosity. The workers do not like to be "pushed around." Indeed, were we to approach almost any worker from coast to coast or from business to business, we suspect this worker would unhesitatingly growl that he didn't like the idea of anybody "pushing" him around.

Then why do we find so many union members permitting their names to be used in favor of abolishing a man's right to work unless that man joins in with the mob and pays dues to a gang of racketeers, head-smashers or mayhem experts.

These same men who permit their names to be used on any union roster will tell you privately they don't like to see other men pushed around. Still, they go on record in favor of pushing around, if only the pusher is their labor boss.

It's completely nonsensical. Compulsory unionism is nothing more or less than legalized and entrenched pushing. The right of the individual worker to hold down his job, to obtain the best wages he can get on the basis of his skills, to improve his job by his own efforts, or to find a better job without asking permission... all of these things have been eliminated through the union boss's route.

Yet these same men, robbed of their basic right to work and thus to earn their own way in life, insist they don't like to be pushed around.

An example of just how much pushing is involved in union membership is now up for review before the Supreme Court. This is the famous Loper case. It involves a small group of Georgia railroad employees who have protested that their union dues, forced out of them virtually at gun point, are being used to elect persons to political office regardless of the individual rights of the dues payers.

The case was argued last spring but the court called for a rehearing when it became evident that it was going to be really difficult for the judges to decide in favor of the union without looking awfully silly. So, no decision will be reached until after the November election. Meanwhile, the dues of these men and millions of others who profess they don't want to be "pushed" will be used to elect one or another office seeker, or will be spent to prevent the election of some other office seeker.

Of course the American Civil Liberties Union, out-and-out advocate of civil liberties, and itself supposedly four-square against "pushing," says it cannot see where anyone's rights are violated if he is compelled to join a union in order to have a job; if he is forced to pay dues through a check-off system; and if his dues are employed to elect a Democrat though the dues payer may despise the Democratic Party.

That's perfectly fair and void of "pushing." Of course, if an employer set up an organization, compelled you to pay dues to it and used your dues to elect someone else from some other party, we suspect that the cry from the Civil Liberties Union could be heard from one end of the nation to the other in outrage against such "pushing."

It's a real curious situation. Meanwhile, we can cross our fingers and trust that a benign providence will guide us safely toward that future date when objectivity will be vouchsafed to our descendants.

As things are going, there is just about enough "push" in unions to push the whole of civilization into the briny deep and ring down the curtain on human freedom and the evolving human species.

ARCHIE LEAVES APE

LONDON (UPI)—Archie Filmer whose hand was mauled three weeks ago when he tried to befriend a gorilla named "Guy," returned to the zoo Sunday to tell the ape all was forgiven. Zoo keepers ordered him to stay away from his own good.

"I'm all washed up with Guy now," Archie sighed. "I'm going to find another zoo and another gorilla."

Looking Sideways

NEW YORK—It isn't exactly the fairest thing to take a hard look at science and tag it as off-base, but it seems to me that a few lessons in modest self-effacement are needed in the two groups which comprise the archeologists and the anthropologists. They are too big for their britches.

A British archeologist and his wife have discovered a new sloped-head anthropoid and scientific measurement establishes that this humanoid lived about 600,000 years ago. This makes him the earliest of transitions between arrant ape and arrogant man. The attitude they all are taking is that man was a pretty dismal and appalling item 600,000 years ago and they tend to look down on this fellow, called Zinjanthropus.

All right, boys, let's quiet down. Man, today, can still be a dismal and appalling item and if it is a slope-forehead that gives you conceptions, let me take you into the New York subway some early morning about 8 o'clock. As for his being a primitive, how do you think any of us will seem to people 600,000 years hence? With all our gadgets and toys, gimmicks and transistors, jets and fin-tailed convertibles, in 600,000 years, if humanity survives that long, which I somehow doubt, we will seem absurd, brutal, remorseless greedy, murderous and vile. By then, if it does survive, man will have achieved a kind of sublime peace a perfect intercourse between nations and tribes. No hand will be raised in anger, no voice in spite. Our puny little inventions, however complex they seem to us today, will be as the work of the first man who rubbed sticks together to make fire.

Zinjanthropus, by all the evidence at the site of his discovery, was a teen-ager. The diggers found skeletons of sheep six feet tall, birds a dozen feet tall and pigs as large as rhinoceroses scattered all around the lad. He either went down fighting off this set of titans or they gathered after his death to look at him in wonder. In any case, if one of today's teen-agers remains as found 600,000 years hence the impediments around the bones will be plastic records, a six-transistor portable radio, a sweater nine sizes too large for the remains and flattie shoes, assuming all could last that long in time.

"He was an ugly brute," I can hear a scientist of that remote period telepath to his associates, standing there with the zip-ray shovels that melt earth away from a site. "He had some sort of metal wires woven across the front of his teeth. The originals must have been loosened in combat and the primitives put wires on to hold them tight. His hair follicles, here at the base of the skull, show a remarkable greenish-grey. By the shape of the jaw, I'd say the creature was aedonid. Funny to think we came from animals like this, isn't it?"

"Notice the peculiar frontal bulge of the forehead," another will say with obvious distaste and disgust. "He must have been a dreadful looking thing. The bulge was centered all there instead of a general and perfect circularity of the whole cranial structure, such as we have. What were these black shards of odd substance, here? They seem to have minute grooves in them, curcular grooves, apparently, since they are in arc shape in these broken pieces. Maybe some ritualistic object. And, look, they had four small toes and a large toe, imbedded, to walk on. How awful."

Let us, learned doctors, be thankful for such finds as good old Zinjanthropus, instead of standing there at the open pit where you found him and looking superior. They might, in another half million years or so, find you—just as disgusting.

As you are now, so once was he, so recently, cousin, before you die.

NIXON CAMPAIGN STRATEGIST ALERTED TO DEMOCRATIC REGISTRATION GAINS; PUSH NY DRIVE

WASHINGTON—Vice President Nixon's campaign strategists are making no bones about their concern over the results being produced by the massive Democratic drive to register voters.

They have warned the GOP presidential candidate that the vigorous Democratic registration campaign may be decisive in many of the large industrial states unless offset by new Republican campaign efforts.

Robert Finch, the Vice President's campaign director, hoisted the warning flag in front of the confident GOP candidate before Nixon left here for his third week of campaigning.

"In an election as close as this one seems to be, the registration effort of the magnitude the Democrats are carrying out shouldn't be discounted," Finch cautioned, the Vice President in briefing him during a week-end strategy meeting.

"There is no doubt that we are behind as far as our own registration drive goes. Our organization is nothing compared to the Democrats."

Asked by the Vice President for his frank opinion on what effect the Democratic registration campaign might have on the election, Finch replied:

"There is no doubt that it hurts us. It could well be that their drive will turn out decisive in some of the industrial states where the election now appears to be very close."

To counter this Democratic effort, Finch made two suggestions both swiftly endorsed by the Vice President.

Finch proposed that immediate steps be taken to increase GOP registration efforts in key states like New York, where voter rolls are still open. He also called for doubling the effort on election day to get out Republican voters in states where the Democrats have increased party registrations.

TARGET: NEW YORK—Finch warning of Democratic registration gains was fully confirmed by John Stiles, head of the Republican registration drive, when he made his report to the Vice President.

Stiles, who had just returned from a series of meetings with party leaders in New York suburban counties, said that there could be no attempt to match the mass registration effort of the Democrats.

"We don't have the money or the outside support that the Democrats are getting from labor," he stated. "We are concentrating on metropolitan suburbs with good Republican voting records in order to get the best results."

Stiles said that the number one target of his final registration drive is New York because of its 145 electoral votes and the closeness of the race in that state.

"We are concentrating our effort in Nassau, Westchester, and Suffolk counties, which in 1958 voted on the average better than 70 percent Republican," he reported.

"The plan is to storm the commuter trains with GOP workers to urge the travelers to register. Republican women will take up the brunt of the drive in the afternoon. We are deploying them at the numerous suburban train depots to pass out to the returning commuters leaflets listing local registration posts and their office hours."

A thought for today: American politician Adlai Stevenson said: "A wise man does not try to hurry history."

It's Up To You

Pressure Groups Live At Expense Of Others

How many Americans know that if all our workers had received the same pay increase as the steel workers received earlier this year, that the cost of living in our country would have risen about $270 per year for every man, woman and child? The steel workers benefit by the pay increase they secured just because other workers did not get it. If all workers had received increases in proportion none would have benefited, as the result rise in the cost of living would have absorbed the wage advances.

The inescapable conclusion is that the steel workers or a any group getting a large wage advance, profits at the expense of other groups who do not get the raise. In other words, it is taking wealth from some and giving it to others. It is the Robin Hood philosophy of robbing Peter to pay Paul.

If the American people would only see that the way to improve the standard of living for all is to distribute the increased production resulting from greater efficiency, to the whole public in the form of lower prices! In that manner, all the people benefit and not merely those who are able to force the largest wage increases.

That is the way our high standard of living has been achieved in this country and we could go on elevating it higher and higher.

On the contrary, when pressure groups strive to get as much as they can for themselves in the form of ever recurring wage increases, they put an end to the practice of lowering prices as markets expand and unit costs fall. Stated differently, instead of distributing the benefits to all the people, they are concentrated in the pockets of the strongest pressure groups and at the expense of their fellows.

The Doctor Says:

DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN

With the encouraging statement that "all that is needed are two hands," a trio of surgeons from the Johns Hopkins Hospital describe a simple method by which they have successfully revived 30 patients whose hearts suddenly ceased to beat.

Following experiments performed on more than 100 dogs, Drs. Kouwenhoven, Jude and Knickerbocker satisfied themselves that it was possible to massage the heart and restore its beat without opening the chest or resorting to electrical stimulation. The method they recommend can be applied "by anyone, anywhere."

And since it can do no harm, it may be worth your attention despite the fact that most of us will never be confronted with the urgent situation of what to do when a fellow human being suddenly collapses before our eyes.

Here's how you carry out closed-chest massage of the heart:

Turn the patient on his back, preferably against some firm support. Stand or kneel on the left side of the subject. Place the heel of your right hand on the lower portion of the breast bone (sternum). If your hand is correctly positioned, your palm will be over the right edge of the breast bone and your fingers will point outward in the direction of the armpit.

Cover the right wrist with the heel of the left hand. If correctly positioned, your middle finger will point upward in the direction of the Adam's apple.

Now, at a rate of 60 to 80 in the minute, press both hands down until you note that the sternum is depressed about an inch. If necessary, add the weight of your body to the pressure exerted by the hands.

Between compressions, lift both hands to permit the breast bone to resume its normal position. At each compression stroke, blood is forced out of the heart. At each lift of the hands, the heart is allowed to fill.

If help is at hand, request an assistant to begin mouth-to-nose respiration at a rate of 18 to 20 per minute.

Continue your efforts for at least an hour unless relieved by a physician or the arrival of an emergency unit. One of the Hopkins patients was revived after 65 minutes of closed-chest cardiac massage.

I do hope this turns out to be the most useless piece of information you ever received. On the other hand, think of what it might mean if only a single reader restored a single life as a result of remembering the work of this Hopkins Trio!

News Briefs

FLIGHTS WON'T START MOSCOW (UPI)—Elwood R. Quesada, head of the U.S. Federal Aviation Agency, said Monday he believes the much-discussed Moscow to New York direct air service will not become a reality until the Soviets release the two RB47 crewmen. Quesada is here on a three-week tour of Aeroflot (Soviet airlines) facilities in the Soviet union.

POSTPONE ROCKET SHOT WASHINGTON (UPI)—The national space agency has postponed the scheduled launching of a four-stage "Scout" rocket, designed to detect nuclear explosions in space, for the third time. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) attributed the postponement Monday to technical difficulties.

IMPOSE DEATH SENTENCE PARIS (UPI)—A French military tribunal Monday imposed the death sentence on Algerian Mohamed Azrar for the attempted assassination May 4 of French-Algerian National Assembly Deputy Robert Abdesselam.

American Negro Tells Off Castro

By FRANCIS L. MCCARTHY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — This is a message to Fidel Castro from an American Negro serving in the armed forces of his country.

It is a message prompted by a Sept. 24 dispatch by a United Press International writer on Castro's campaign to wed the American Negro to his revolutionary cause.

The dispatch brought this reply from Sgt. John Lee Jackson of the 82nd Airborne Division (Headquarters Detachment, Signal Battalion), Ft. Bragg, N. C.:

"I am a red-blooded American Negro serving in my country's Army, and I emphasize the word 'my'—Army. . .

"I can speak only as part of a racial group of which I am a minute part. . .

"I think I speak for my people. . .

"This country is my first home which I am prepared to give my life if need be. . .

"If Mr. Castro prefers communism he should limit it to his own people. If my country prefers not to accept this system, neither do I. . .

"Just because my (white) brothers and I fight does not mean we will welcome outside help to settle our internal problem. . .

"Let Mr. Castro understand his efforts are fruitless. If he thinks he can prevail upon the American Negro to accept his communistic ideas. . .

"Let Mr. Castro know the will and divinity of the American Negro. Our strong regard for our way of life and our country. . .

"Let Mr. Castro know and understand this is the voice and feeling of an American Negro who is dedicated to his country and its way of life. . .

"Give Mr. Castro this message from an American Negro."
