Good-Deed 'Goblins' To Roam City Tonight

By ED HAYES WILSON
Daily News Staff Writer
If you hear a gentle knock on your door tonight, rummage around in your pocket for a handful of loose change.

This won't be for "trick-or-treat" goodies for local youngsters, but it certainly will be for a purpose with foundation — to aid the UNICEF fund drive that will be going on tonight to aid needy children of foreign lands who, but for these pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters we, the people of Pampa and the nations donate tonight, might never live to reach adulthood.

The children of many foreign lands are undernourished, ill clothed, and in need of vaccines that might help fight off diseases that easily could send them to an early grave. These youngsters are dependent upon this one-night drive for much of their subsistence.

This, although a one-night trek by the youngsters of Pampa as representatives of the United Nations Children's Fund, is expected to establish a record for the city.

Some 800 youths from three years on up, will be tapping on doors and, if they're tall enough, they'll be punching door bells!

As the Rev. David Mills, pastor of the Lamar Christian Church and chairman of this campaign, said, "Some of the children may have had to resort to kicking on a door panel or two, but they'll be there."

This "Help the World" drive is not new. It began nationally eight years ago and the Pampa drive commenced with it. It was primarily established to help children, but, in a way he helps nations re-establish themselves, and, even with this assistance, the nations receiving the funds join in the effort by matching the total they receive. But, and this is the important point, the money is spent for one thing — to aid youngsters.

Mayor Ed Myatt joined in the push for this campaign with a proclamation that urges everyone to understand the importance of this occasion and to "solidly support this solicitation since it is for something dear to all our hearts — youngsters."

With the many, many tots to teenagers involved in this struggle through the city, will come the support of many civic, fraternal and social organizations and the student council of Pampa High School.

The headquarters, all decked out with UNICEF theme and Halloween decorations will be a hub-bub of excitement tonight when the youngsters begin to pour in with their collections. These funds will be contained in the orange and blue bags.

Eleven Persons Drowned

Freeze Follows Days Of Disastrous Floods

By United Press International
Texas' coldest weather since last winter settled across the state today in the wake of disastrous weekend floods that drowned eleven persons and caused millions of dollars damage.

Temperatures tumbled below the freezing mark across the Panhandle, Upper South Plains and near Junction in the Hill Country. Frost covered the ground as far south as San Angelo.

Dalhart, at the top of the state, had the night's coldest reported temperature—26 degrees. But Alpine, in the mountains of extreme Southwest Texas, came near that mark with 28.

A fast-moving norther swept across the entire state Sunday. Some areas in the Panhandle reported mixed snow and sleet when it arrived.

The Canadian cold front swept away clouds across the state and brought an end to torrential rains that touched off the flash floods in South and Central Texas.

Other overnight lows included El Paso 36; Presidio 39; Amarillo 28; Wichita Falls 41; Abilene 38; San Angelo 35; Dallas 43; Texarkana 44; Houston 49; Galveston 51; Corpus Christi 55 and Brownsville 54.

Extended forecasts for the next five days called for temperatures generally 2 to 6 degrees below normal. A warmup was expected at the middle of the week, followed by more cold weather.

Rainfall was expected to resume in northern portions of the state at the end of the week. South Texas was expected to have little or no rainfall during the week.

Nine of the eleven drownings occurred Friday night and early Saturday morning.

The latest victims of the floods were the only son and daughter of a Del Rio couple.

They have been missing since the family car was swept off a bridge near Brackettville late Saturday night. They were Pedro Ramirez Jr., 6, and his sister, Jolanda, 4, children of Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Ramirez.

A huge search party resumed a hunt for the children's bodies at dawn today. Two hundred men searched on foot, in boats and on horseback until late Sunday night with no luck.

A deputy sheriff said the Ramirez car stalled on a bridge 19 miles north of Brackettville. When the father got out to try to push it off, it was swept into the Nececes River.

Sheriff, Police Solve Break-Ins

The sheriff and police departments teamed on the weekend to solve 13 break-ins and attempted burglaries when they returned two men from jails at Roswell, N.M., and Amarillo.

Floyd Martin of Pampa and Marvin Erlon Smith, accused pair, have admitted to a series of break-ins and Sheriff Jordan said today, "They have committed several others which have been involved in."

The chain of burglaries the pair admitted to are these: Break-in at Shamrock Service Station, 400 W. Foster, July 18.

Nixon, Ike Confer On Strategy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon presided at a luncheon meeting with President Eisenhower at the White House today to plan a one-on-one punch at the Democrats.

Nixon, who will be joined by Eisenhower on the campaign trail, New York Wednesday, prepared to launch his final week campaign swing late today with a night to New Jersey for evening appearances at Ridgewood and Newark before flying on to Philadelphia to remain over night.

The Eisenhower-Nixon luncheon was scheduled for the White House about five hours before the president was to take off on the vital campaign swing. It will include a visit next Sunday to Alaska, the 50th state which the GOP nominee will have visited since his nomination at Chicago July 16.

Nixon spent most of the morning at a television studio recording speeches for use during the closing days of the red-hot campaign. When the vice president leaves late today, his schedule calls for no return to Washington until probably election eve, Nov. 7.

Paving Request Well Received

A request to the State Highway Department to pave an approximate eight mile strip of road from State Highway 70 to Lake McClellan has been favorably received.

O. Wedgworth, manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, said today.

Wedgworth, Gray County Judge Hill Craig and County Commissioner Archie Dwyer, presented the petition to highway officials at Austin Friday, and the officials noted that a traffic count would justify the road's paving.

Wedgworth noted that the paving will, if officially approved, come under the projects for 1962, since the 1961 projects are already arranged.

Following the speech the two are scheduled to fly to Wichita Falls for a campaign talk there.

Male Heir For Shah Of Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — The queen of Iran gave birth to a boy today, presenting the shah and a joyous nation with an heir to the Peacock Throne.

The birth occurred at 11:50 a.m. (3:20 a.m., EST).

It touched off a wild celebration among the Iranian people.

The shah told reporters that Queen Farah and the baby both were doing fine.

"I am very happy," he beamed. Throughout the country big guns boomed 41-salvo salutes. Giant crowds which had been assembling since the queen entered the hospital in labor this morning cheered so loudly the doctors had to ask for quiet.

The birth ended years of disappointment and frustration for Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and his subjects when two previous marriages had failed to produce a son.

New Polling Place

The center, a $150,000 project, will be constructed on a 10-acre tract between Harvester and Kentucky streets. The project is to be completed by March 1.

California Town Stunned By Death Of 22 In Air Tragedy

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Stunned relatives were arriving today to visit — or claim the bodies of — the California Polytechnic College football players injured or killed in the crash of a chartered airliner bringing them home from Saturday's game.

Twenty-two persons, including 17 players, were killed when their two-engine C46 crashed, broke apart and burst into flames moments after taking off in a thick fog Saturday night.

Twenty-six persons survived, but all had injuries ranging from minor to critical.

A Civil Aeronautics Board investigator indicated it would be at least several days before a report on the crash is issued.

Flames from the front section of the plane shot 300 feet high. Survivors from the tail section heroically did their best to rescue their teammates but they never had a chance. Some of the survivors were found wandering 300 feet away, stunned.

James Fahey, 24, Gilroy, Calif., one of the survivors, said he heard the left engine give out. "I ducked my head and saw flames shoot out," he said. "Then the bottom went over the top. The front hit and then the back seemed to snap off. With all the flames it seemed just like a paper kite on fire."

Fahey said he fastened his safety belt, jumped out and with Don Adams, a guard on the team, chartered a plane to get to Toledo.

Relatives of the players hurried to Toledo, some of them arriving by plane early this morning. President Julian McPhee of the college flew here from Washington, D.C., where he had been attempting to recruit professors for his faculty.

Coach Leroy Hughes, 54, known as the Sly Gray Fox because his teams had scored in all but two games during his 10 years as coach of the Mustangs, was pinned in the wreckage. Assistant coach Walter Williamson, himself injured, pulled Hughes out, his head gashed with a nasty wound.

Some of the young men were burned beyond recognition. In their game with Bowling Green that afternoon, they had lost, 50-6.

Balubas Terrorize Kasai Area

By WILLIAM ANDERSON
United Press International

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—United Nations reinforcements closed in on southern Kasai Province by air, land and water today to wipe out a murderous rampage by thousands of Baluba tribesmen.

A show of force by Ghanaian U.N. troops with armored cars stopped a drive on the Kasai town of Luisa during the weekend and led to the capture of four whites said to have been helping the rebels.

One was identified as a Capt. Roberts, said to be a British officer, and the others were reported to be three Belgian businessmen supplying the Balubas with arms. They were arrested by Liberian U.N. forces at Mwene Ditu, 70 miles northeast of Luisa. U.N. officials in Leopoldville said up to 5,000 Balubas had been terrorizing southern Kasai, killing and beating civilians, including priests and nuns, and burning at least three villages.

The Ghanaians brought them up short without firing a shot and were reported to have disarmed many of them, but the U.N. command was taking no chances.

Lt. Gen. Andarjit Rikhye, U.N. military advisor in the Congo, said some reinforcements were being flown to the area immediately while 1,000 more Ghanaian troops were en route by river boat and 700 Malaysian troops were working their way through by land.

"The United Nations command is determined to use all strength necessary to stop the spread of this civil war," Rikhye said.

Roberts and the three Belgians were flown to Luluaburg where they were being held until the United Nations decides what to do with them.

Marines End Cuba Visit

HAVANA (UPI)—The U.S. Navy attack transport Boxer sailed from Guantanamo Base early today carrying out the 1,450 U.S. Marines whose Saturday arrival for a liberty weekend raised Cuban cries of "provocation."

The Boxer with its escorting destroyers left the Guantanamo harbor at 7 a.m. to resume Caribbean maneuvers. A base spokesman said the Marines' weekend stay was "quiet and normal." It was their first shore leave in a month of maneuvers.

The Cuban government meanwhile started cracking down on the exodus of trained professionals and two foreign airlines announced plans to end flights to Cuba because of lack of business.

Fugitive Kidnaper Hits Again Today

LAREDO (UPI) — Curtis Lee Jones, 37, desperate Arkansas murderer — rapist, kidnaped two more persons early today and forced them to drive him from San Antonio to Laredo.

A. M. Garza, radio dispatcher for the sheriff's office in Laredo said the two hostages, a man and a woman, were found unharmed. One of the hostages said Jones said he was going to swim the Rio Grande and flee to Mexico.

A huge search by the Department of Public Safety and Texas Rangers was started in the Lower Rio Grande Valley for Jones.

Garza said Jones, an ex-convict, kidnaped Rosalinda Sosa, 30, and Carlos Gualdrama, 30, at their tavern 18 miles southwest of San Antonio about midnight. He forced the woman to drive her car—a 1958 white Chevrolet—to Laredo on U.S. 81.

Last week Jones kidnaped a pregnant housewife and her daughter.

He let the housewife, Mrs. Margaret Sears, 24, and her daughter Cynthia, go Wednesday night in San Antonio. Jones also is suspected of killing a man in Texarkana, Tex., since he got out of the Arkansas penitentiary on parole Sept. 10.

He was serving a life term in the Arkansas penitentiary for murder. Mrs. Sears said he told her, "Frankly, I never expect to get out of this alive."

Police searched the Olmos Park

section on the northwest side of San Antonio for days where he ran off and left Mrs. Sears in her automobile Wednesday night. San Antonio is more than 250 miles south of where he abducted Mrs. Sears and Cynthia and took the automobile in the Weatherford area Wednesday.

Jones kidnaped his cousin Jettie Harist, 21, in Fort Worth early Wednesday and raped her near Weatherford, which is east of Fort Worth.

He tried to choke her boy friend, J. V. Verrier, 34, to death with his necktie. Miss Harist leaped into his car and fled while he was finding out whether Verrier was dead. Verrier wasn't.

Needing a car to get away from searchers, Jones walked to Mrs. Sears' home and took hers.

Price Of Gold Drops To $36

LONDON (UPI)—The price of gold dropped today to $36 an ounce, 15 cents under Friday's price.

It was the second lowest figure since Oct. 20 when speculators started a rush that sent the price soaring to $40.60.

The new price still was $1 higher than the U.S. fixed price of $35 an ounce.

Canada Paves Way To Free Killing Suspect

VANCOUVER, B. C. (UPI) — Joseph Corbett Jr., 32, one of America's most wanted criminals, was scheduled to appear in court today on a charge of possessing an unlicensed firearm.

His court appearance was expected to initiate a series of legal steps by which Canadian authorities would declare Corbett an undesirable alien and clear the way for the fugitive's return to the United States.

Corbett, from Seattle, Wash., was arrested at gunpoint Saturday in his room in the Maxine apartment hotel in the seaside quarter of downtown Vancouver by a joint task force of local police and U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

"Okay I give up," he said weakly.

The arrest followed a five-year hunt which started at one side of North America, leapedfrogged to the other side and finally ended on the West Coast again.

Corbett escaped from jail in Chico, Calif., in 1955, while serving a five-year-to-life sentence for the gunshot slaying of an Air Force sergeant.

No clue to his whereabouts turned up until February when wealthy brewer Adolph Coors' abandoned car was found on a lonely road amid evidence of a bloody struggle.

A ransom note demanding $500,000 was received next day by the Coors family but ransom negotiations were not carried through by the kidnaper. In mid-September Coors' body was found on rugged terrain southwest of Denver.

Color, Action Of Indian Party Appeals To Tots

In full headdress and war paint, this tyke gives open-mouthed concentration to totem pole decorations.

By KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

How about an Indian powwow party for pint-sized braves and squaws who will be celebrating birthdays around Thanksgiving time?

This type of party has all the color that youngsters love.

And it's a party that's especially good for youngsters between four and six years old.

To try out the ideas for an Indian powwow, one young mother staged it for her five-year-old in their home (where the pictures for this story were taken). Here are her suggestions based on a real experience:

Draft a competent assistant to help you—one who does not have a youngster at the party. She'll be important help, even be able to get pictures of the goings-on. (One reason I like Saturday parties is that dad is on deck to assist and to photograph the event.) Limit the number of guests to no more than eight—six is better.

Limit the length of the party and state clearly on the invitations what time parents should reclaim their offspring. An hour and a half is about right.

Plan everything thoroughly and ahead of time.

For the powwow, you'll need a totem pole and ingredients for war paint and decorated headbands. Instead of paint use colored plastic tape for the same effect with no mess.

Invitations can be cut from tan construction paper in the form of tepees. Let the little chief help you fix up the invitations.

When the guests arrive have something for them to do immediately. Encourage parents not to stay; the kids will have more uninhibited fun.

Youngsters can be set to making a simple Indian headband.

To make the headband, cut strips of paper about one-and-a-half inches wide to form the band. Trim with feathers, pipe cleaners, scraps from the sewing basket, colored stickers or tape cut into diamond-shaped "jewels."

This activity warms up the party and soon they'll be ready to paint their faces for the big war dance. Strips and shapes cut from colored plastic tape can be stuck on and rearranged. Have a mirror handy so effects can be admired.

If you give prizes make awards for the funniest, fiercest, first one

Dear Abby... Should Be Limit To Sharing Hubby

DEAR ABBY: I have a very cute and vivacious friend (I don't really consider her a "friend," but if I wouldn't use my letter). Anyway, this "friend" makes a habit of cultivating women friends in the daytime so she can get next to their husbands at night. She has a husband of her own but he is like a lump of lead. She gives me this, "Let's all four of us get together for dinner," but before I know it, I am stuck with her husband and she is dancing with mine. I just found out she has done this with other couples.

My husband thinks she is "fun" and now I can't shake her. How can I break up this foursome without letting on to my husband that I am —

—JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: What's wrong with letting your husband know you are frankly jealous? It might delight him to learn you refuse to share him with another woman. Chill this "friend" in the daytime and cook her goose at night by being especially attentive to your own husband.

DEAR SCARED: Maybe this boy needs to get into a "little trouble" now in order to stay out of a lot of trouble later. If you are asked to sit there again, refuse, and don't be afraid to tell why.

DEAR ABBY: Our community has just engaged a new clergyman. He is 33 and a family man. His wife and children will follow as soon as we get their house fixed up.

This young clergyman carries a snapshot of his wife in his wallet, and has been showing it proudly to one and all. The snap must be about ten years old and it shows her in a very tight bathing suit leaning against a fence. I don't want this young man to start off on the wrong foot here because he seems so nice. Would I be out of line to tell him to get a new picture?

WANT TO HELP
DEAR WANTING: Find the most diplomatic words in your vocabulary and tell him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HEARTSICK KMRS. J.: Insisting that your husband give up his traveling job will solve nothing. If he is going to cheat, he'll cheat on his lunch hour. See a marriage counselor.

1 Drownings Extend Violence Toll To 28

United Press International — Even drownings in the flash floods that plagued Central and South Texas during the weekend took the toll of violent deaths soaring to 28. United Press International says for the period from 6 p.m. Saturday to midnight Sunday night at least 28 killed violently. In addition to the 11 drownings, persons died in traffic accidents and seven were killed in shootings. Among the latest drowning victims were the only son and daughter of a Del Rio couple. They had been missing since the city car was swept off a bridge at Brackettville late Saturday night. They were Pedro Ramirez, 6, and his sister, Jolanda, 4, children of Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Ramirez. More than 200 men searched on boats and on horseback Saturday and the party planned to resume the search at dawn today. Those drowned in the raging rivers during the search Sunday, Deputy Sheriff A. M. Baepny, of Verde County, said the Ramon car stalled on a bridge 10 miles north of Brackettville. The driver got out and was going to push it off when the flood waters swept it into Nueces River. He watched helplessly as his two children and the family were washed down the river. His wife was carried one mile by water before she managed to swim ashore. Sheriff Baepny said the children were presumed drowned. A car-train collision in Dallas at the deathcount ended Sunday night killed three Negro women. Police identified the victims as Jesse Jackson Sparks, 58; Emma Lewis and Lula Mae Lewis. Four members of the Carl T. Smith family of Odessa drowned Sunday night when their car was swept into Williams Creek near the community of Albert. The survivor was 12-year-old Ronnie Smith. And a single traffic accident at a college station killed four persons.

Canadian Boy Shot In Neck

CANADIAN (Sp) — Paul Stucker, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Stucker of Higgins was wounded critically Saturday night when a 22 rifle in the hands of his 10-year-old brother discharged accidentally. The boys were playing in a barn at the farm home of their grandfather, near Higgins. The bullet entered the left side of Paul's neck and came out of his right cheek. Brought to Hemphill County Hospital in Canadian for emergency treatment and transfusions, the boy was transferred to Newman Clinic in Shattuck, Okla., today. Corbett hired a red Pontiac from a firm in Winnipeg, Man., early in October. When FBI agents arrived here on Corbett's trail they gave police a description of the auto. Corbett's fate was sealed when Constable Jack Marshall remembered seeing the car parked near the Maxine. The landlady, Mrs. Mary Bell, said Corbett had registered under the name of Thom as C. Three Hurt In Crashes On Hobart

Two wrecks, approximately 30 minutes apart in which three people received hospital attention were investigated today by city police. The first involved the autos of Mrs. Robbie Lee Messinger, 1866 N. Dwight, and a Pampa Glass and Paint Co. vehicle driven by Zane W. Hall. Patrolman Bob Crouch said Mrs. Messinger was driving south about 8 a.m. on Hobart when Hall attempted to turn left off the street onto Harvester. Mrs. Messinger was x-rayed at Highland General Hospital to determine the extent of her injuries but the information was not available at press time. Following the investigation, Hall was cited for turning too sharply, Crouch said. The other crash, also on Hobart, involved the cars of Delores Casey Banks, 1248 S. Barnes, and Linda Kay Warden, 116 N. Sumner. Investigating Officer P. E. Bailey said that the first named driver was attempting to turn onto Decatur from Hobart at about 8:30 a.m. when the Warden car hit the rear of the Banks auto. Miss Warden, who with her brother Gregg Warden, was treated at the hospital for a head cut and lesser hurts, was cited for following too closely, Bailey said the boy was checked at the hospital but that he was "only shaken up."

Tower Scoffs At LBJ Claim

LAREDO, Tex. (UPI) — Republican senatorial candidate John G. Tower has ridiculed Sen. Lyndon Johnson's claims that the Republican Party has failed to speak for, work for and remember Texas. Tower, from Wichita Falls, told a baroque audience in Laredo Sunday to remember it was the Republican Party which "restored Texas tidelands that Harry Truman tried to steal. "More Texans have served in important cabinet administrative and advisory positions in the last several years than ever served in the Truman administration," he said.

Cuba Bans Flights To Coast Area

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fidel Castro's government has issued an order banning flights within 30 miles of the north coast of Cuba's westernmost province of Pinar del Rio and warned it may force down any plane crossing the "forbidden zone."

The order, covering a block of airspace over the Gulf of Mexico, was brought to light by U.S. military sources. It was issued Oct. 2, to apply "until further notice" and was received at the Pentagon here Oct. 10.

Questioned about the order the Navy, the U.S. agency most affected, said in effect that it had no intention of honoring the order because it sought to ban operations over international waters.

"Ships and planes of the Navy recently have traversed the affected area and a lot more will probably do so in the future," the Navy said, pointing out that the United States respects only the territorial waters of Cuba, which can extend only three miles from shore under international law.

Pinar del Rio province begins about 20 miles west of Havana and stretches along the Gulf of Mexico to within about 150 miles of Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula. Its closest point to the Florida keys is less than 200 miles.

featuring The Famed Royal Pampa Typewriter Sells, Maintains, Rents Office Machine Equipment

These are Royal Typewriters, of course, and are absolutely guaranteed by Bill Thompson, owner of the firm.

Prices for these items range from $49.95 for the portable Royalite to the electric Royals which range from $445 to $700. However, Pampa Typewriter Co. is featuring a portable typewriter with magic margin, bonus keys, tab set and other standard features for less than $100.

"We are proud of this machine. It's a solid portable and one which will give the purchaser many years of service," Thompson pointed out. The firm repairs and maintains typewriters, calculators, adding machines and other mechanical office equipment, all of which are on sale or for rental at the company location.

Thompson has been in Pampa for 15 years and has been in the business for 21 years. He was recently joined by Ralph Alexander another veteran of the business who has been in the city for the past six years.

"Ralph knows this business through and through. We're proud to have him in the firm," Thompson said.

Mrs. Florine Everson is in charge of the office. There are several plans offered for purchase of machines at Pampa Typewriter. The most popular is the three-year lease plan under which a person may lease a machine for three years and, at the end of that time, if one wishes to renew the lease one may, but if one desires to terminate the lease

Castro Halts Exodus of Cuban Nationals

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro's revolutionary government started cracking down on the exodus of Cubans today and two foreign airlines decided to quit because of lack of business.

The government was reported ready to nationalize travel agencies to tighten its control over the swarm of nationals fleeing to the United States and other foreign countries.

Tens of thousands already have left and, with the government whipping up fears of a U. S. supported invasion, the outgoing stream increased.

The revolutionary regime circulated a long list of names of bank executives, shareholders and executives of nationalized businesses and industries with instructions to airport and harbor officials not to let them leave the country.

The foreign counter-revolutionary Swan Island radio broadcast name on the list telling them to seek asylum in foreign embassies.

The Dutch KLM airlines and the Venezuelan national airline LAV served notice they would pull out this week. LAV closed its ticket office today. KLM told passengers booked on flights to Miami Tuesday to leave today as "there may be no more flights from Havana."

With all those stickers and buttons aboard about Read and Vote, the fact that Election Day is upon him is going to creep up on daddy in the person of Ronald Stephen Kuntz, 1, of Brooklyn, Ohio.

LESS THAN A PING PONG BALL—Engineers at the NASA Research Center at Langley Field, Va., gather vital information concerning the effect of heat on the Project Mercury satellite by testing this scale model which weighs less than a ping pong ball. The model is shown being readied for shock tunnel tests. Although the air blast lasts only 1/250th of a second, simulated temperatures of 10,000 degrees F. are reached. This is about the heat that would be encountered by a spacecraft re-entering earth's atmosphere at 20 times the speed of sound.

Any girl smart enough to doll up with hair ribbon has sense enough to know that it's wise to Read and Vote before she goes to the polls. Seventeen years to wait? Just time to get dressed, says Valerie.

While the model is experimental, designers believe the same fundamental concept will be practical for the first moon men. Tools that could be taken are laid out on the sand.

Upsets Dot Wide Open FL Chase

By JOE SARGIS
United Press International
In the American Football League, where the teams haven't time yet to build up reputations, "upsets" are plentiful and one of the eight clubs still are running for the title.

Both division races were tight Sunday when the Buffalo Bills upset the powerful Houston Oilers, 23-24, and the Dallas Texans defeated the Denver Broncos, 4-0.

As a result, Denver and the Los Angeles Chargers are tied for first place in the Western Division with 4-3 records, followed by the Oakland Raiders with 4-4 and Dallas with 3-4.

Houston, despite the defeat which left its record 5-2, topped the Eastern Division, followed by New York Titans with a 4-4 record and Buffalo with 3-4. Only the Boston Patriots, who have won two and lost five, appear to be of title contention.

This equality of competition in the wide-open football league is undoubtedly an important factor for the gradual increase in attendance. A crowd of 23,000 watched Sunday's game at Buffalo and 13,102 fans showed up at Denver.

This is still far short of the crowds for games in the established National Football League, where the well-heeled AFL owners are counting on business to keep improving as the ball games and the division races remain close.

Billy Atkins kicked field goals of 22, 45 and 15 yards for Buffalo and linebacker Archie Matsos earned a superb defensive performance in the victory over Houston. Atkins' last two field goals in the fourth quarter pulled the Bills from behind.

George Blanda passed for all-time Houston touchdowns — 8 yards to Charley Hennigan and 53 yards to Billy Cannon. Matsos intercepted two passes and set up a Buffalo touchdown running back a punt to the Houston 10-yard line.

Johnny Green, the Bills' new quarterback, threw 49 passes. One of these was a screen pass which Gray Carlson carried 70 yards for a first-period score and the other 10-yard TD strike to Bill Bruker in the second period.

Dallas, which had been tabbed as one of the league's disappointing teams, beat Denver on the margin of fullback Jack Spikes' third field goal of the third period. The kick gave Dallas a 17-7 lead.

The Broncos stormed back in the final quarter on a 35-yard touchdown pass from Frank Triullica to Bob McNamara, but when their last scoring threat failed when Gene Mingo missed a field goal attempt from the 29.

As a result, Denver and the Los Angeles Chargers are tied for first place in the Western Division with 4-3 records, followed by the Oakland Raiders with 4-4 and Dallas with 3-4.

Houston, despite the defeat which left its record 5-2, topped the Eastern Division, followed by New York Titans with a 4-4 record and Buffalo with 3-4. Only the Boston Patriots, who have won two and lost five, appear to be of title contention.

Weather Hurts Minor Leagues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—President George M. Trautman of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues today reported the minors lost 1,133,764 fans in 1960 mainly because of "severely adverse weather conditions" in most areas.

Overall 1960 attendance totaled 10,974,084, off from the 1959 paid attendance total of 12,117,88.

Trautman noted that for the second year in a row, the minors operated without the loss of a club or league, and there was only one franchise switch—Havana to Jersey City, resulting from anti-American conditions.

The minors operated with 152 clubs and 22 leagues in 1960 as compared with 150 clubs and 21 leagues for the 1959 season.

Trautman noted that 46 clubs this season showed an increase in attendance over the previous season, including some which replaced other cities and were assigned league or classification averages to surpass before inclusion among those that were up at the gate.

The Mexico City Tigers won the minor league grand sweepstakes attendance and Tacoma, Wash., Little Rock, Ark., Lancaster, Pa., Greensboro, N. C., Duluth-Superior, Miss. and Panama City, Fla. were winners in their classifications.

The derby winners were selected for showing the greatest percentage of increase in attendance over the previous season. Each club will get a trophy to be presented at the annual convention of the minors in Louisville, Ky.

Middies Meet Hapless Duke

By GARY KALE
United Press International
A three-ply issue may be at stake when Iowa and Minnesota clash Saturday — the national collegiate football championship, the Big Ten Conference and a possible trip to the Rose Bowl.

The top-ranked Hawkeyes and the No. 4 Gophers have come down to their most important game this season with identical 6-0 records.

Iowa holds a slim conference lead over Minnesota, having beaten league foes in four encounters. The Gophers have won all three of their circuit clashes.

Both prepped for this "turning" game by beating teams from Kansas during the weekend. Iowa, using a strong ground attack, toppled the University of Kansas 21-7, as quarterback Wilburn Hollis went over for two touchdowns. Fourth-string fullback Jerry Jones and quarterback Larry Johnson each scored twice in Minnesota's 48-7 pasting of Kansas State.

Navy and Missouri were the only other teams in the top 10 ratings to retain perfect status as Mississippi was held to a 6-6 tie by LSU and Syracuse and Baylor went down to defeat.

The fifth-ranked Middies nipped Notre Dame, 14-7, on Bullet Joe Bellino's two touchdowns and now take on Duke as they strive for the first unbeaten and untied season in Naval Academy football history.

Missouri, No. 6, won its seventh straight and moved a step closer to the Big Eight Conference crown by whipping Nebraska, 28-0. The Tigers could virtually clamp the lid on the title by defeating co-leader Colorado Saturday.

Second-ranked Mississippi, which narrowly beat Arkansas the previous weekend on Al Green's last-minute field goal, was happy to settle for a tie as Green's magic boot was effective from the 31-yard line in the final six seconds.

A fired-up Pittsburgh squad handed third-ranked Syracuse, last year's national football champion, a 10-0 setback to smash the Orangemen's 15-game winning streak.

Baylor not only dropped from the perfect plateau but also lost its Southwestern Conference lead when Texas Christian clipped the seventh-ranked Bears, 14-6, as Guy Gibbs passed for one touchdown and scored another.

Eighth-ranked Ohio State, still in the Big 10 race, set about improving its ranking by scoring a surprise 21-10 victory over a favored Michigan State squad. The Buckeyes meet Iowa on Nov. 12. Washington pulled another game out of the fire in the closing stages on Bob Hivner's 47-yard touchdown pass to Don McKay with less than three minutes remaining to edge Oregon, 7-6.

The ninth-ranked Huskies now face Big Five co-leader Southern California in a bid to represent the Pacific Coast in the Rose Bowl.

Class 3A Shines Again As Upsets Pit 4A Card

By United Press International
Last week, it was top-rated Jacksonville against Carthage with Jacksonville scoring a 19-6 triumph that seems certain to keep the Indians atop the ratings for another week.

That game—and a few others went according to the form chart, but a lot of others didn't, as such top 10-rated teams as Highland Park, Berger, Ahlens and Fort Worth Carter in AAAA and Phillips in AAA were victims of upsets.

Bay City, because of its speedy relay team backfield, will be a mild favorite over El Campo in this week's feature, but there appears little to choose between the two District II-AAA powers. Bay City has piled up a 246-54 record to El Campo's 247-36 mark in seven straight wins.

In AAAAA, however, the two big favorites — Baytown and Wichita Falls, ranked 1-2, may be in for a bit of strenuous exercise. Baytown takes on stout Galena Park (5-2-1) while Wichita Falls hits the road against Arlington (7-1) in critical district battles.

Borger, its perfect record shattered by Lubbock Monterey last week, makes a do-or-die stand this week against the Amarillo Sandies who kept their district record clean with a 16-7 victory over Amarillo Tascosa Saturday.

Kelso, a late season charmer, has caught the fancy of the racing world and with it a strong following for "Horse of the Year" honors.

Mrs. Richard C. Du Pont's 3-year-old gelding could make it unanimous if he is entered in the $100,000 Washington, D. C., International at Laurel, Md., Nov. 11 and succeeds in defeating Bald Eagle and Sword Dancer. Mrs. Du Pont is expected to announce her decision in a few days.

Kelso, who missed all three triple crown classics this year, won his sixth consecutive stakes race Saturday, the $109,700 Jockey Club Gold Cup Aqueduct, setting an American record of 3:19 2/5 for two miles.

If you think the Southwest Conference race is all fouled up now, wait and see what the situation will be should the Arkansas Razorbacks knock off Rice in Dallas game Saturday afternoon in Little Rock.

If the Hogs pull an upset and Texas Longhorns in their clash at Waco; the hoop-chase will resemble nothing if not the old Army term of SNAFU — loosely translated as Situation Normal, All Fouled Up.

The Owls, thanks to their methodical, crunching 20-6 win over Texas Tech last week end and the Texas Christian's 14-6 upset of previously undefeated Baylor, now stand alone at the top of the conference standings.

But should Arkansas — tied with Baylor for second place in the race — pull off their upset and the Bears upped Texas, come next Sunday morning there will be 6-7 sophomore quarterback Sonny Gibbs to make the Froggie offense and another only a half-game behind.

TCU, with still an outside chance to get a share of the crown with a 2-1-1 record, is idle this week. The second division clubs are playing though, with Southern Methodist hosting Texas AM in Dallas and Tech entertaining Tulane at Lubbock in an intersectional clash.

In other conference games last week, Arkansas struggled to a tough 7-3 win over the Aggies and Texas used two early touchdowns and a late field goal to hand Southern Methodist its sixth straight loss, 17-7.

Rice's unsung Owls used a terrific defense to completely stop the Red Raiders in their clash. The Raiders netted six yards offensively in the first half, and didn't even forge a first down until late in the third quarter.

TCU put together a 60-minute game for the first time this year to hand the Bears their first setback. But even then, it took giant Sunday morning there will be 6-7 sophomore quarterback Sonny Gibbs to make the Froggie offense and another only a half-game behind.

Gibbs led both Frog touchdown drives, throwing for one to end Buddy Iles and lunging across for the other despite a game leg.

Arkansas dropped behind A&M 3-0 early in the game, but then turned a fumble recovery and a 15-yard penalty into the only touchdown of the game to defeat the Aggies.

Southern Methodist played one of its best games of the year — scoring for the third time this season — but still couldn't cope with the Longhorns offensive machine as Texas won 17-7.

You might call the Green Bay Packers the "Pittsburgh Pirates" of pro football.

The Packers don't often overwhelm an opponent. They chip away, come from behind and have a knack of coming through with the big play.

In case you've forgotten, those were the tactics the Pirates used to win the baseball world championship.

The Packers, seeking their first National Football League crown since 1944, took over sole possession of first place in the Western Division Sunday when they rallied for a 19-13 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers — and right in the Pirates' ballpark, at that.

Paul Hornung chipped away with four field goals — two of 35 yards and others of 47 and 17 — to give Green Bay an early 12-0 lead before a crowd of 30,155. Bobby Layne, playing with a still sore thumb, put the Steelers ahead with touchdown passes of 37 yards to Tom Tracy and 48 yards to Buddy Dial.

But the Packers struck back for the winning touchdown with only 63 seconds remaining. They gained possession on their own 34 by jarring the Steelers for their fifth fumble of the afternoon. Quarterback Bart Starr set up the score by passing 15 and 14 yards to Boyd Dowler and fullback Jim Taylor plunged over from the one.

This was Green Bay's fourth victory in five games, with a big one coming up next Sunday against the defending champion Colts in Baltimore. The Colts moved up to second place by drubbing the winless Dallas Cowboys, 45-7, while the San Francisco Forty-Niners dropped the Chicago Bears into third place with a 25-7 upset victory.

The Cleveland Browns moved into a first-place tie with the Philadelphia Eagles in the Eastern Division by defeating the Washington Redskins, 31-10; and the St. Louis Cardinals knocked the New York Giants off the top rung with a surprise 20-13 triumph. The Los Angeles Rams scored their first victory in 14 games by beating the Detroit Lions, 48-35.

Semantic Turnabout The ability of moderns to misuse the English language, and thereby to confuse issues, appears to be growing rather than abating.

Likewise, the term "conservative" used to indicate a rather stuffy fellow who couldn't abide change at all, whereas today's conservative is actually in rebellion against much of what passes in the world of politics, and is seeking to reinstall the principles of the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights.

In careful analysis, it could probably be said that the conservative of modern men is more nearly a revolutionist than otherwise, since he does NOT want to keep what we have, but rather wishes to advance to the American revolution and its principles.

This reaching into the past for guidance to the future has led some liberals to call some conservatives "reactionary." But, on a precise basis, if we have any knowledge of history, we must point out that the modern liberal is really a reactionary, since the other fellow's funds via the tax dodge is one of the oldest forms of legalized cruelty known to man.

Still other words keep cropping up. Words like "progressive." To be a progressive means to support progress. But the connotation now exists that progress occurs only with government help and intervention.

The Elderkin tract says the U-2 flight over Russia was "intended to disrupt the Summit Conference" and insinuates that Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany contrived this coup because he was determined that the Western powers should not go into this thing "without full agreement among themselves."

The Society and the League faded into quietude for a time, but Lipschutz and the Society are devoted to their own Morgenthau plan. This revival of "fears" of another new Germany accords with all plans to help Russia dominate the Western world by suppressing West Germany.

West Germany was fortunate after the second war in having no colonies to drain her resources and divert her manhood from toil at home. She crawled out of the rubble, salvaged brick, lived in cellars and existed on a diet, which Eleanor Roosevelt approved, not much above bitter hunger.

The Marshall Plan was adopted by the Truman regime not out of generosity but to put blood into a brave military breed who were urgently needed to defend our world against Roosevelt's glorious ally, Soviet Russia.

Ownership is essential. It is a continuing process all the way through all manner and type of production and distribution. People are always exchanging what they have for something else they want. And almost all exchanges entail ownership.

But what we seem to have today is an unwillingness to think the whole thing through. We want to own property. And most of us are quite willing that others should be able to own a bit of property too, so long as they don't have "too much." How much is too much? This is an indistinct and undefinable term. It has no precise meaning.

Then, also, we are told that the person's ownership of anything shouldn't really be total. For into the minds of many of our contemporaries has crept the idea that although a man may have the total right to what he himself has produced, some other men, by means of majority action, magically acquire a right to what he has produced. This is an astonishing doctrine and as amorphous and vague as a summer mist.

Then, why don't they want to own it totally? They really do. That is, they want to own property totally themselves. But they also want to reserve the right to

Well-Fed W. Germany Is Feared By Some

There is a propaganda going now which depicts West Germany as a vulgar, gluttonous land whose people somehow ought to adopt laggard areas of the earth and by self-denial help those peoples in a struggle toward unspecified goals.

Harry Dexter White, the great Soviet spy who practically dominated the Treasury under Henry Morgenthau, is believed to have written this scheme which Cordell Hull, Roosevelt's secretary of state, described as "catastrophic."

For some months I have been receiving a propaganda pamphlet, largely frivolous, which nevertheless shows the fangs of a political dragon, called the Insider's Newsletter.

The Reds hope to dupe businessmen into opposing the tax (income). There's no other fair way to finance the high cost of defense and other phases of government.

So the mayor of the Bay city supposes that people who object to paying income taxes must be Reds. We presume this will be sustained when more Americans learn that Khrushchev and a national abolition of the Russian income tax of 13 per cent come next January.

There's a lot of syllogistic reasoning being used in place of logic these days. We'd suggest that Americans remind themselves that George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Samuel Adams, George Mason, Patrick Henry, John Hancock and scores of other anti-market place concepts.

Another such tract comes from Washington over the name "George W. Elderkin, professor emeritus, Princeton University," who does not appear in Who's Who for 1958-59.

The Elderkin tract says the U-2 flight over Russia was "intended to disrupt the Summit Conference" and insinuates that Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany contrived this coup because he was determined that the Western powers should not go into this thing "without full agreement among themselves."

CASTRO PROJECTING FULL SCALE ATOMIC PROGRAM WITH U.S.S.R. AID AND COMMUNIST SCIENTISTS WASHINGTON — As fantastic as it may sound, Premier Castro is trying to set up a full scale atomic energy program in Cuba with the help of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

These intelligence agencies have reported to the National Security Council that Castro already has begun recruiting Communist scientists in Russia, Czechoslovakia, Poland, and East Germany. Also that two Czech scientists are now in Havana and thirty more are en route from Prague.

Dr. Manuel Gran, Cuba's Ambassador to France, is being recalled to Havana to reorganize and head up Cuba's inactive Nuclear Energy Commission.

The commission has been little more than a paper organization since it was established in 1953. Its functions were limited to arranging for Cuban scientists to train in U.S. atomic installations propaganda budget published irregularly by a letterhead society organized by Isidore Lipschutz, whose machinations have been exposed in these essays in years past. It is called The Society for the Prevention of World War III.

Lipschutz came here as a refugee, but his personal conduct occasioned charges that delayed his obtaining citizenship. He spent enormously for his legal fees and was almost a record in that department of litigation. The source of his income is mysterious. He operates the non-sectarian Anti-Nazi League. A dozen members of Congress lent him their congressional franks to mail out smears upon reputable Americans.

The Society and the League faded into quietude for a time, but Lipschutz and the Society are devoted to their own Morgenthau plan. This revival of "fears" of another new Germany accords with all plans to help Russia dominate the Western world by suppressing West Germany.

West Germany was fortunate after the second war in having no colonies to drain her resources and divert her manhood from toil at home. She crawled out of the rubble, salvaged brick, lived in cellars and existed on a diet, which Eleanor Roosevelt approved, not much above bitter hunger.

Everybody's Money

MERYLE STANLEY RUKYSER

Persons with little faith have tended to equate the downward re-adjustment in stock prices in recent months with unwarranted long-term pessimism concerning the future of the American private enterprise system.

Obviously, the new industrial equipment in foreign countries including West Germany and Japan, makes the disparity between wage costs at home and abroad more serious than in the pre-war period. In an earlier epoch, American superiority in technology and in the level of home consumption provided a unique ability over here to convert high hourly wage rates into low unit costs of production.

It would be defeatist to assume that the only way out lies in cutting American wage rates, even if such a course were politically and socially feasible. But there are other more acceptable cost reducing techniques than reducing wage rates.

By way of illustration, a major daily in the Middle West, in agreeing with the union on a new labor contract, recently won a significant concession which has an important bearing on the larger issue of the competitive posture of U.S. industry vis-a-vis the rest of the world.

Both of these activities were carried on with U.S. help under a research agreement that was negotiated in 1956 before Castro came to power. After this agreement is still in effect, there has been no exchange of personnel or atomic materials in recent months because of the deterioration of U.S.-Cuban relations.

Another U.S.-Cuban nuclear power research agreement was signed in 1958. However, this pact never became effective because neither country exchanged notes ratifying the agreement.

INSIDE STORY — U.S. intelligence and atomic officials are finding Castro's secret atomic efforts both intriguing and baffling.

One group headed by AEC Chairman John McConne believes that Castro is setting up his atomic program for propaganda and subversive purposes and not to attempt to obtain atomic weapons.

They look for the Cuban dictator to use Soviet built nuclear reactors and research facilities as a showplace to attract scientists from other Latin American nations. They also believe that the Kremlin plans to use Castro's nuclear program as a base for atomic espionage operations in the Western Hemisphere.

Another group headed by CIA Director Allen Dulles believes that Castro wants to go even further if the Russians will agree. They picture Castro as "power mad" with plans to use his program as a front to try to obtain a few small "nuisance" A-weapons from Russia to threaten the U.S.

The Dulles group reached this startling conclusion from a study of captured documents that indicate Castro is trying to recruit Red scientists skilled in the handling of nuclear weapons as well as for basic atomic research.

Neither of the groups give Castro the capability of being able, even with Soviet help, to produce his own atomic weapons in the foreseeable future.

When the crowd of sovereign electors of the greatest nation on earth raised a spiritual ovation to Herbert Hoover at the World Series, my own emotions responded both ways from the middle. I, too, respect Mr. Hoover now, but there was a day in the Thirties when a mob at one of Connie Mack's World Series in Philadelphia kicked up a tumult of hatred which gave me insensate delight. It was that hatred which defeated Hoover in '32 and doomed our country to Roosevelt's war, then Truman's war and now their mutual cold war for the merest survival of the U.S.A. Hoover knew prohibition was rotten, but refused to say a word except that it was an experiment "noble in motive."

The memory of the ferocity frightens me in the afterglow of other observations of mobs. The people, whom Lincoln fawned upon knowing their mysterious nature, can be very dangerous to themselves and all that they think they hold dear.

On that occasion long ago Mr. Hoover had come up from Washington to see a ball game, but was not observed until about the seventh when his party quietly moved toward the tunnel to beat the rush to the street. Then, suddenly, the brute raised its native cry: "Boo-oo-oo!"

This commotion was dispelled by an error or a double, perhaps, as the bull in the ring is diverted by something seen in the corner of his eye.

I recall so many examples. I went down to a new stucco village on the Pontine Swamps near Rome, close to the beach of Anzio when Mussolini made an occasion to dedicate this marvel and accept homage. In Florida I had seen 50 similar flimsy towns, created by private enterprise and sucker money, opened for business with perfunctory fanfare. But this was an achievement of fascism and a historic event.

The Italians went crazy. Women, in black for husbands or sons already lost in Ethiopia, filed up a ramp to a platform where the Duke stood accepting their golden wedding rings which he dropped into a hamper as an aide substituted steel rings signifying strength and determination. Benito had big, soft brown eyes, a very magnetic fader, like Roosevelt, who could pull those Italos right up through their neck-bands.

Other women received sheaves of 100-lira notes, hot off the press and not worth a nickel a bushel now, for presenting bambino to Fascism.

The matter of timing is important lest we lose the benefit of the momentum of global economic primacy. Any thought that the elimination of obstacles by remedial action can be avoided by keynesian money manipulation, or by fancy centralized governmental economic planning in the direction of a "mixed economy", will merely delay correct correction and compound the U.S. disadvantages.

LITERARY MAN MAO (N.Y. Daily News) Red China's bookstores are releasing a new book by Mao Tse-tung, dictator of that wretched country. It's a collection of articles Mao wrote between 1945 and '49.

The gist of Mao's latest literary production is that war between the Communist and free worlds is inevitable, and should be welcomed by all true Reds, because "when we say that imperialism, (Mao's word for freedom) is ferocious, we mean that its nature will never change, that the imperialists will never lay down their cleavers."

Earth, Stars and Man (8) Evolution vs. Creation

WHY DOES THE GIRAFFE HAVE SUCH A LONG NECK?

BECAUSE HIS GRAND-PERE STRETCHED HIS NECK TO REACH THE LEAVES, NATURELLEMENT.

In 1802, 57 years before Charles Darwin wrote his historic Origin of Species, a Frenchman published a complete theory of evolution. Had it been believed, it might have caused the scientific revolution later associated with Darwin.

The man was Jean-Baptiste-Pierre-Antoine de Lamarck, Chevalier de Lamarck. While the French Revolution raged about him, Lamarck worked at improving the system of the Swedish classifier Linnaeus.

Lamarck was struck by the fact that there seemed to be a progression in animals, from the simplest organisms to man. It was obvious that the most complex forms must have developed over eons of time from simple bits of living matter. How? Why, by the inheritance of acquired characteristics.

As Lamarck saw it, environment forced an animal to use certain parts of its body and develop them. For instance, certain birds had developed long legs through stretching them in order to wade in water for fish. This characteristic was passed on to their descendants. On the other hand, if an organ was not used, it disappeared. As proof, everyone knew that fish which lived in caves became blind.

Lamarck's bitter opponent was Georges Cuvier, the leading scientist in France. Cuvier had such expert knowledge of animals that he could reconstruct one from a single bone. His opinion carried great weight.

by Don Oakley and John Lane

Cuvier was aware that fossils indicated that many animals had once existed but were now extinct. True, they resembled present-day ones, but there was no relationship. Using the chronology devised by Count Buffon, Cuvier thought he saw four separate creations in the 80,000 years of earth's history. Between each was a universal catastrophe which had wiped out all life. Man was the last creation and awaited the final catastrophe. There was no such thing as evolution.

Lamarck was vanquished and became a subject for ridicule and caricature. But he was to be heard from again, as late as the 20th century.

'Neck-And-Neck' Chase Is Seen By Politicians

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Both political camps viewed the 1960 presidential race as a neck-and-neck affair which could be won or lost in the remaining 18 days of the campaign.

Neither Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate, nor Sen. John F. Kennedy, his Democratic rival, was coasting as the all-out, stretch drive for votes began. Both have scheduled several stops next week in thinly populated territory but reserved most of their time for the pivotal states with large blocs of electoral votes.

There was Kennedy landslide talk among some Democrats but more cautious Kennedy supporters said the race still was close.

Although Republicans were gloomy about Nixon's chances of winning New York's prized electoral votes, they were still fighting to carry that most populous state. They were saying that the vice president could win the White House without New York.

Having made his first major campaign appearance and TV speech from Philadelphia Friday night, President Eisenhower will join Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, GOP vice presidential nominee, in another TV show from New York Wednesday night.

The President, who had been held back for the climax of the campaign, also will make a nationally televised appearance Tuesday night with Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson to discuss money policy. He will have another joint appearance with Nixon and Lodge Nov. 7, election eve.

One objective of Eisenhower's Philadelphia visit was to cut into an expected Democratic majority and strengthen Nixon's chances of winning a statewide majority in Pennsylvania.

Wichita Falls Papers Back Demo Slate

WICHITA FALLS (UPI) — The Wichita Falls Times and Record News has endorsed the national Democratic ticket of Sen. John F. Kennedy for president and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson for vice president.

The newspaper, which describes itself as "Democratic," said its decision was based on the belief that the two Democrats were "keenly aware of our shortcomings as a nation and the challenges which must be met both at home and abroad."

The newspaper supported Adlai E. Stevenson in both 1952 and 1956.

The first woman ever elected to the United States Senate was Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway of Jonesboro, Ark., in 1932.

Religious Issues Not Prominent In Reformation Sunday Sermons

United Press International Spot checks indicated that a substantial majority of the nation's Protestant ministers conducted their usual worship services on Reformation Sunday and made no reference to the religious issue in the presidential campaign.

Some Protestant clergymen did warn from the pulpit against election of a Roman Catholic as president. Others preached sermons to a UPI survey, most ministers against bigotry. But according to a UPI survey, most ministers ignored the political issue.

The last Sunday in October traditionally is observed by some Protestant bodies, notably Lutherans, as the anniversary of the occasion on which Martin Luther nailed his famous "95 theses" on the door of a church at Wittenberg, Germany. Luther's action was the spark which ignited the Protestant Reformation.

Some fundamentalist Protestant groups had urged ministers to use this year's observance as an occasion for telling their congregations that religious freedom would be jeopardized if the Roman Catholic church achieved political power in America.

Sponsors of the idea denied that it was intended as an eleventh-hour blow at the candidacy of Sen. John F. Kennedy, a Catholic. But that was the interpretation placed on it by the leaders of several major Protestant denominations, who urged their church-
