"Now that summer romances are over, we'll have to settle down to the serious business of finding winter steadies!"

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It is not that government spending went to orbit during the Eisenhower administration because of the cold war cost of national security. No such thing.

Spending went into orbit because the adults of this generation demand from the federal government for themselves comforts, conveniences, subsidies, luxuries and security which the politicians dare not refuse them.

These adults are voters. What voter wants, voter gets. These adults do not give a hoot that the federal government is something for which the federal government cannot pay.

Deficit spending is the answer that. Pay the bills with borrowed money. The Roosevelt-Truman term pleased the voters and they in office 20 years, largely making deficit spending a bare element of public policy. All FDR's years were deficit years. HST, with Republican help, led the treasury in the black for 10 years.

Eisenhower has outspent every president individually and, probably collectively. But he has racked three surplus budget years so far and expects a fourth as of the 30, 1961. The national debt, however, has jumped under Eisenhower from $258 billion in 1952 to a projected $283 billion next year.

The most spectacular figure in the entire budget record of the United States or any other nation is the annual cost of paying interest on the national debt. This cost it will be $9.9 billion. The interest charge was $6.38 billion the year Eisenhower took office.

Eisenhower and the late Sen. Robert A. Taft met in September for a mid-campaign peace talk. Out of that came the candidate's agreement to some economy in government—$70 billion of spending in fiscal 1954, $60 billion in fiscal 1955 and a big tax reduction. Eisenhower did, reduce taxes.

He held the 1954 spending to $7.77 billion and 1955 spending to $6.47 billion. Thereafter, the spending trend turned upward. It hit $80 billion in fiscal 1959 and will do so again this year.

The voter-taxpayer should be interested in these facts: In fiscal 1954 when spending was held to $7.77 billion, major national security cost $46.90 billion. In the current fiscal year when spending will hit $80 billion, major national security cost $46.90 billion. In the current fiscal year the spending will hit $80 billion, major national security will be about $46 billion, a shade less than in 1954.

Federal spending for commerce and housing in 1954 was $817 million, not billion. This year it will be $3.79 BILLION. Here are some other comparisons of spending for those years:

Agriculture and agricultural resources, $2.55 billion and $5.44 billion.

Natural resources, $1.31 billion and $2.02 billion.

Labor and welfare, $2.48 billion and $4.48 billion.

Veterans services and benefits, $4.25 billion and $3.32 billion.

These are not major national security items of expenditure. These items represent the non-security areas of spending where a bare-knuckled president, politician or candidate could attempt to cut federal spending, begin to pay off the national debt and, maybe, come up with a tax cut. Small chance! Pressure groups defend these spending items. They would vote against the man who cut them.

Soviet Premier Has Accomplished Very Little During Visit To U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—S. Khrushchev will go home this week without having accomplished any of his major immediate objectives, but, according to Soviet sources, confident he will have his way eventually at the United Nations.

These next few days before he leaves Thursday, Khrushchev is expected to deliver a series of well-addressed, summing up impressions of the U.N. General Assembly advocating the programs for disarmament, Africa.

Soviet sources said that their premier is too well aware of the national facts of life to have let this session of the world body to vote his way on any of the following questions: 1. General and complete disarmament within four years. 2. Recognition by the U.N. of Communist China. 3. Removal of Secretary-General Hammarskjold and revision of U.N. charter. 4. Demarcation of the United States for the U2 and RB47 incidents.

EAST MEETS WEST
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actor John Crawford is a native of Colfax, Wash., but he slowly has been working his way east until now he seems to have made a specialty of portraying Englishmen in British films.

Crawford started his career in Hollywood, then moved to the stage in New York and finally moved to London to play a British-accented killer in his latest effort, "Hell Is a City."

ANNIVERSARY TODAY — As Levine's Department Store marks its 33rd anniversary in Pampa, these employees represent an aggregate service total of almost 100 years. They are, left to right with number of years in the Pampa store: Lucile Turner (19); Daphne Snuggs (11); Bessie Roberts (7); Virgie Thorp (13); Jimmy Baker (10); Joy Enloe (20); and Anna Balch (14). The Pampa store is the oldest store in the Levine chain, and is one of 76 stores serving six states and employing almost 2,000 persons. Both William Levine and Morris Levine, founders of the Levine Department Stores, are actively engaged in the leadership and management of the expanding organization.

RC Board Meets Today

Sam A. Begert, principal of Horace Mann School, was the special guest speaker at the board meeting of the Pampa Chapter of the American Red Cross in the Terrace Room of the Coronado Inn this morning.

Begert, speaking for the Pampa-Lefors United Fund, urged every board member to get busy and get their pledge cards into the United Fund office as soon as possible.

In other business, W. T. Seitz, first aid chairman, announced that the First Aid instructors will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Southwestern Public Service Office to plan their year's first aid program.

L. C. Davis, Junior Red Cross chairman, said that the principal and the teachers-sponsors would hold their Red Cross breakfast Oct. 24.

Also, the Pampa chapter will be host to a Re-training party at the Amarillo Air Force Base, Oct. 19, and board members were urged to attend. The Gray Ladies will furnish the entertainment and refreshments.

The group also voted to send the chapter chairman, A. J. Carubbi Jr., and Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary, to the state Red Cross convention Oct. 29-31 in Waco.

The program was under the direction of J. C. Roberts, fund chairman, who illustrated where local Red Cross dollars go in the national organization.

Reports were given by the standing committees. Carubbi presided over the meeting attended by 15 persons.

.41-Inch Rain Here

Rain lashed Pampa early this morning after thunderstorms hit and hail fell in the Panhandle last night.

Pampa did not come under the brunt of the storms, with only .41 of an inch being registered in the rain gauge atop the Pampa Daily News building.

Drerup Rites Set Thursday

Funeral services for MSgt. Earl H. Drerup will be held 10 a.m. Thursday in St. Mary's Catholic Church in White Deer, with the Rev. Fr. Arnold Carlson, C. M., officiating. Interment will be in St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery with full military honors accorded by Amarillo Air Force Base.

MSgt. Drerup was one of 77 persons killed Sept. 19 aboard a four-engine DC6B, carrying U.S. servicemen and civilians home to the U.S., when it crashed into the side of Mt. Barrigada of Guam.

Sgt. Drerup was stationed at Nellis Air Force Base in Las Vegas, Nev., but had been on detached service for six months as an instructor in Formosa.

He was born Nov. 20, 1917 in Nazareth.

Survivors are his wife, Patricia, of Las Vegas; one daughter, Suzanne; two sons, Charles and David; four sisters, Mrs. J. R. Carney of Groom, Mrs. John Bischof of Amarillo, Mrs. Phillip Miller of Plainview, Mrs. William Utsler of Dallas; one brother, Cornelius Drerup of Hereford.

Tower To Speak To Rotary, Lions

John Tower, Republican candidate for the United States Senate, will be principal speaker tomorrow noon for a joint meeting of the Pampa Rotary and Lions Clubs, which will be held in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Clayton Husted, Gray County GOP chairman, in announcing Tower's appearance, also noted that the senatorial candidate will not have time to visit Republican headquarters, 119 W. Foster, to meet supporters of the Republican Party.

Insurance

eliminated from the penalty plan unless an accident results, but his motion was tabled by Strain and Price.

Another Jackson motion, to amend the plan to provide that assessment would not be made for accidents involving as little as $25 damage, was also voted down by Strain and Price. Jackson wanted a minimum of $50 damage to determine whether a driver would pick up "points" against him on insurance rates.

Jackson said the merit rating plan is fraught with "obvious inequities" which he said would have to be removed "in order for this plan to succeed."

"The major inequities involve assignment of 'points' for minor traffic violations," he said. "When these are not connected with an accident, they should not penalize a driver with higher insurance rates."

He said minor violations are "not a proper gauge of drivers' ability for a three-year period."

Commission

made the suggestion that an ordinance be prepared permitting the rate increase of 1.8 mills, but shunted aside any idea of a flat 8 mills rate as suggested by Lyons in the last commission meeting and deleting the fuel cost adjustment which the commissioners all were in accord they would not accept.

Following this approval by all the commission, Wilks said he would like to point out that Pampa still has the lowest rate in the utility's service area, and that this city's street lighting surpasses that of other Panhandle cities.

At present Pampa has 887 street lights, plus thirty-six,000 mercury lights.

Commissioner Jack Vaughn, who seconded Wilks motion, said, "I'll go along with that although it is a good sized increase, even though they haven't had one in 20 years."

This gained a nodding support from Commissioner Leon Holmes. Mayor Ed Myatt had earlier indicated he would agree to the rate increase, but he was solidly against the fuel cost adjustment and further stressed that when the rate increase proposal was taken up at the opening of the meeting today.

The commission also set a Nov. 1 bid date for some 12 sewer and water line projects which will be under construction this winter or next spring.

This date was established after hearing a report from Wayland Merriman of Roberts, Merriman, Bowden and Isabel, consulting engineers.

Deadline for the completion of this project is Dec. 31, 1961.

In other action the commission approved a $2,849.86 bid for the paving of the 500 block of S. Gillespie street which was offered by Boswell and Co. of Pampa. This is

Legal Group To Meet In Dallas

Conferences on planning and zoning, personal injury litigation and labor law will be conducted by the Southwestern Legal Foundation in Dallas during November, according to Boyd Taylor, Pampa attorney.

Taylor, resident representative of the foundation, announced today that an institute on planning and zoning will be held November 3-5; personal injury litigation, Nov. 10-12, and labor law, Nov. 17-19. All programs will be held at the Southwestern Legal Center.

Highlights of the program will be a panel discussion on techniques of jury summation, and a mock trial interrogation of a personal injury case.

Subjects which will be surveyed at the labor law Institute include: Taft-Hartley Restrictions on Organizational and Recognition Picketing and Developments Since the 1959 Amendments; Secondary Boycott and Hot Cargo, and Collective Bargaining, and others.

$772.90 below the figure bid by Baker and Co. of Borger, and will hinge on property owners paying their share of the project funds.

Payment of bills totaling $14,332.02 also was approved. The funds are payable as follows: general fund, $9,288.93; water sewer fund, $5,061.39, and library fund, $170.00.

Held over for further discussion next week is a proposal for a 12-inch water line to be placed in an alley off Willow Road in the North Crest section. This idea, as suggested by Monroe Moore, city engineer, brought a flood of questions and it was decided to delay a positive decision to permit the commissioners to study the idea at greater length.

Professor Is To Be Speaker At ACS Meeting

The Panhandle Plains Section of the American Chemical Society will hold its October dinner meeting at 7:15 p.m. Friday in Amarillo at the YWCA.

Dr. Gregory R. Choppin, guest speaker, is associate professor in the Chemistry Department of Florida State University. His topic for this occasion is "Ion Exchange Studies of Lanthanide and Actinide Complexes".

Dr. Choppin was born in Texas in 1927 and graduated Maxima Cum Laude from Loyla University of the South, New Orleans, in 1949. His Ph. D. was received at the University of Texas in 1953.

From 1953 to 1956 he was at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory during which time research was conducted on the chemical and nuclear properties of the transuranium elements. In 1955 a team of 5 including Choppin announced the discovery of element 101, Mendelevium. In 1956 he accepted an academic appointment at Florida State University.

At present his research interests are in lanthanide and actinide complexes, physicochemical studies of ion exchange resins and nuclear reactions induced by heavy ions. Choppin has been the author or coauthor of some 30 scientific papers. In the early spring of 1961 Prentice-Hall is to publish a textbook, "Experimental Nuclear Chemistry."

STOP, I SAY!—Pamela Gramtham, 2½ years old and weighing 35 pounds, was doing all right with Rullah, a 170-pound Great Dane, after picking up his leash at a San Francisco dog show. Until Rullah heard his master's call, that is.

Crimps Assassination Chances

Security Cloaks Erection Of Inauguration Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ordinarily, Capitol architect J. George Stewart hardly even blows his nose without making a ceremony of it.

As the man in charge of construction at the Capitol, he takes pleasure in presiding at ground-breakings, flag-raising and ribbon-cuttings commemorating the start or finish of various projects.

During the Capitol building of the past couple of years, he has spaded up enough ceremonial dirt to qualify for the national plowing contest.

I was rather surprised, therefore, when I saw some workmen unceremoniously unloading some lumber in front of the Capitol steps. I was surprised, that is, after I learned what they were doing.

A few discreet inquiries elicited the information that they were beginning work on the platform for the 1961 presidential inauguration. At first, I couldn't believe that Stewart would let an occasion such as this go by without a plank-nailing ceremony of some sort.

When I got in touch with him by phone, however, he explained that for security reasons it is customary not to publicize the platform plans. The purpose of keeping the blueprints secret is to prevent any would-be assassins from pinpointing far in advance of the inauguration the exact spot where the new president will be standing next January.

I can only tell you that the platform will cost about $155,000 and will be used for about two hours. Let us hope that the new president, whoever he may be, will be worth it.

It may seem premature to be planning the inauguration when we have not yet elected the inauguree. But a girl doesn't wait for a proposal to start selecting her trousseau.

Bridegrooms and presidents we can always get. Platforms and trousseaux take time.

The west side of the Capitol is widely regarded as the ideal place for an inauguration. Therefore, inaugurations always are held on the east side.

This may strike some of our more impressionable citizens as a quaint way of doing things. I can only say in defense of the practice that the side of tradition is on the East Side.

The tradition dates back to the time when the East Side was regarded as the front. With the passage of the years, it became apparent that the West Side was a better front. But rather than downgrade the East Side, it was decided to let the Capitol have two fronts.

The west front has a natural inauguration platform with an impressive view of the mall, the Washington Monument and rear of General Grant's horse. The east front overlooks a parking lot.

In my opinion, the east front would have the advantage only were we inaugurating a Moslem. It faces Mecca.

Foreign News

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

It would be wrong to dismiss the first three weeks of the United Nations General Assembly as just an oratorical treadmill or so much sound and fury, signifying nothing. There have, in fact, been some rather notable developments.

An attempt to set up a score sheet to date must include these:

The admission of 17 new nations to the U.N., bringing its membership to 99. In the United Nations this is the "year of Africa." It also is the beginning of an era in which the small nations have it in their power to wield, by joint pressures, influence rivaling that of the big powers.

The head-on clash between Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld. This was certainly the most dramatic event of the opening weeks, and it marked an end-and-out attempt by the Soviets to remold the U.N. into an instrument of their own foreign policy.

Closely related to these events have been others which promise to influence not only U.N. policy but U.S. foreign policy, as well for years to come.

One of these was President Eisenhower's offer to channel U.S. aid to underdeveloped nations through the United Nations and to furnish the United Nations with new muscle through contributions of men, material and money.

In sharp contrast to Eisenhower's vote of confidence in Hammarskjöld was Khrushchev's unbridled attack on the secretary-general and his drive to extend the U.S.S.R.'s veto power.

The stands taken by the two men sharply underlined the fundamental differences with which they regard the U.N.

From this stemmed the uncomfortably close-up view given the new members of the pulls and tugs of the cold war, including attempts by both East and West to pin "colonial" tags on the other.

Khrushchev's tirades won little sympathy from the new nations. They had expected greater dignity in the world parliament.

But, similarly the United States, too, came in for criticism for its roughshod tactics opposing the five-nation neutral proposal for a resumption of face-to-face diplomacy between Khrushchev and Eisenhower.

Perhaps the greatest and most far-reaching development was the new awareness of small nations of their potential power.

Hammarskjöld underlined it when he said the United States and Russia could take care of themselves. The United Nations, he said, was the refuge of small nations.

Castro Will Attend Rebel Court Martials

SANTA CLARA, Cuba (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro was due here today to make a personal appearance at the court martial of 114 persons accused of active resistance to his regime. At least two and perhaps three of the defendants — 102 alleged guerrillas and 12 "collaborators" — said to have been captured in the Escambray Mountains — are expected to face Castro's firing squads. No date has been set for the trial of persons said to have been captured in last week's "invasion" of Oriente Province. Observers believed the government would give the death penalty to more of these than in the case of the scambay captives. The prosecution has indicated that it will seek the death penalty for seven of 22 persons facing trial on charges of implication in the August attack on Fort Jati-bonico in central Cuba. The rifles which killed about 600 Cubans last year cracked again.

Travelers arriving in the capital from central and eastern Cuba said they had been delayed Monday night in Matanzas Province for an hour during which gunfire could be heard. Some reports suggested there might have been an attack landing in the vicinity of the Bacunayagua bridge, 45 miles east of Havana. Others said several carloads of armed men attacked members of Castro's "militia" near Canasi in western Matanzas. The defendants in the military trial here who appear likely to receive the death penalty are Maj. Plinio Prieto and Sinesio Walsh, and Porfirio Ramiro Ruiz, a former president of the Federation of University Students.

SIDE-LOOKING-AIRBORNE-RADAR—That long pod slung under the Grumman Mohawk at Bethpage, N.Y., contains Side-Looking-Airborne-Radar (SLAR) gear. It provides a permanent radar map of terrain on either side of the flight path. The extra equipment doesn't affect performance of the medium-weight observation craft, makers say.

Eisenhower Campaigns for Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower has told the nation that Vice President Richard M. Nixon is the best trained man in the country to succeed him in the White House. In his first nationally televised campaign endeavor, Eisenhower also described as "incorrect to say the least" charges by Democratic candidate John F. Kennedy that the United States has lost prestige during the last eight years. The President said he tried to control his temper whenever he heard such allegations. Eisenhower said the Republican party could have done no better than nominate Nixon for president. He described their experience in both domestic and foreign affairs as "unequaled."

televised political program on which he answered questions by 10 women representing the Volunteers for Nixon-Lodge.

In the homey setting, Eisenhower stood in front of a fireplace with a coffee cup and a saucer on the mantel. The questioners sat in easy chairs and sofas in a semi-circle around the President.

Eisenhower was still answering a question when he ran out of time. The NBC network cut him off with apologies. The Volunteers organization, which paid for the broadcast, said the president had not heard the questions before air time.

The chief executive told the TV audience that Nixon "has been more deeply and widely trained for the office for which we now want to elect him than any man I can think of."

Traditional attitudes about jewelry have been discarded by American women in favor of a fresh outlook. For many chic women have discovered that costume jewelry and the real thing mix very well. And they have no inhibitions about wearing real pearls and a paste pin at the same time. Here are some examples. Precious jade, soft and glowing, is worn (left) with a tailored costume necklace in a soft, burnished finish. Precious earrings and bracelet (center) team up beautifully with costume jewelry in form of a jet necklace. Background for these stunning pieces is a simple gray dress. A favorite costume pin lends new fashion importance to (right) matinee-length cultured pearls. It will be easy for you to work out your own combinations.

Pampa Parish Council Of Catholic Women Hear Lecture On Communism Scholarship Again Chosen For Project

"Our greatest menace to western civilization is communism," Rev. Ronald Ramson, C. M., said in an address to the Pampa Parish Council of Catholic Women on Oct. 6th, in St. Vincent de Paul's school cafeteria.

Pinch-hitting for Lawyer A. J. Carubbi, Father Ramson repeated his first lecture of a series of lectures on the subject of Communism which he is currently conducting on each Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. and on the 2nd and 4th Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m.

"We must become better acquainted with Communism in order to understand it. And your first natural question will be, 'what is Communism?' Father Ramson said. 'Communism is not a political party; it is not an economical system, nor a religion. When it is in power, all parties are in jail.'"

"In 1917, the year of birth for Communism, it boasted a membership of 20,000 people. Now, only 43 years old, Communism has enrolled a frightening number of one billion people."

After giving a short history on Communism, Father Ramson touched briefly upon the predictions made by Lenin in relations to the fall of world-nations to Communist power. "By 1970, Communism will encircle the North America continent," and by the looks of things in South America, this prediction can come true, unless," Father Ramson stressed this point by holding up J. Edgar Hoover's book "Masters of Deceit," "unless we in America learn what we are fighting and how we can fight it."

He encouraged those persons present to attend his lecture series, "And bring along a friend." He stressed the importance of knowledge. "Read this book!"

In concluding the lecture, Father Ramson quoted Pope Pius XI in dealing with the reasons why Communism has grown so quickly. "Too few people have been able to understand it, and this need not be the case in America nor in this year of 1960. You can understand it and if you understand it, you can fight it."

Persons interested in pursuing the subject further are invited to contact Father Ramson personally at St. Vincent's rectory or make arrangements to attend the lectures by calling Mrs. R. M. Barrett, MO 4-2862.

Dear Abby... Why Should I Quit While She's Ahead

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I married a man never came home on time so I see his boss and found his boss was nicer than he can't explain how it happened but I got myself all involved with this man and now we are so ve neither of us can see get it over with. My husband's says if he tells his wife, it kill her. We have children so do they, but I can't live this any more. Isn't it more able to bring it all out in the and take the consequences? Must we hide our love the rest of our lives?

LIVING A LIE

Real And Fake Jewelry Mix With Imagination

NEW YORK (NEA) — There was once a time when no woman who considered herself really chic would dream of wearing costume jewelry. She wore only the real thing.

But that attitude changed long ago. American women are un-habituated about experimenting with fashion. They liked costume jewelry, came to regard it as an accessory and considered it in good taste.

Lately, they've discovered that real jewelry and the costume sort get along famously. They've found out that they can wear a string of fake pearls and a solid gold pin at the same time. And rate compliments. Or, heirloom earrings can team up beautifully with a necklace of sparkling crystal for evening.

The investiveness is up to you in mixing real and costume pieces. There's just one rule: the pieces should really get along well together.

Otherwise, there are no rules. You can mix colors, beads with metal, pearls with gold pins with necklaces for new and stunning fashion effects.

A precious gold necklace, for instance, might take on new luster when worn in company with colored costume beads.

The right attitude toward jewelry, real or costume, is to remember that its purpose is to add sparkle and interest to the dress or suit you wear.

49'ers Attend Cooking School

MIAMI (Spl) — The 49'ers Club held its regular meeting in the American Legion Hall recently in order to attend a cooking school being held there.

During the business session, plans were made for the annual Christmas party. Mrs. Dewayne Wells was welcomed into the club as a new member.

After the business session, the club attended the cooking school as their program for the day.

Award Given At B&PW Breakfast

One of the highlights of National Business Women's Week just concluded was the breakfast given Sunday morning in the Terrace Room of the Coronado Inn.

Invocation was offered by Mrs. Laura Belle Cornelius and welcomed to members and guests was extended by the president, Mrs. Wesley Lewis.

Mrs. Nell Tinnin, Business Woman of the Week for 1959, made the presentation of this year's award to Mrs. C. W. Crowson as Woman of the Week for 1960.

Miss Betty Lou Patchin, soloist, sang "Autumn Leaves" and "My Task" accompanied by Wanda Baird at the piano.

The morning's guest speaker was Mrs. Bonnie Hutchinson, who spoke on "Women At Work in the World."

Breakfast music was provided by Mrs. Hazel Franklin.

The Club Collect, led by Mrs. Faye Eaton, concluded the morning's affair.

Arrangements for National Business Women's Week, "Symbol of the Sixties... Women At Work" were under the direction of Mrs. Gladys Jaynes, general chairman. Each guest's place was marked with a phial of perfume.

TOO HONEST

DEAR TOO: Your husband is wrong. People who KNOW art are seldom deceived by people who don't, but pretend they do. There is no shame in not knowing — just in refusing to learn. Why not look into an art appreciation course?

DEAR ABBY: The problem I read in your column concerning middle-aged women using too much make-up is a common one. My mother had that problem. It was corrected, however, when she went to her eye doctor and discovered she needed bifocals.

Truman Vows Bluntness In Talks About Religion

By PAT CONWAY
 United Press International
 JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI)—Former President Truman moved today into an area with a heavy Baptist population and promised to be blunt with them about the religious issue in the presidential race.

Truman, a Baptist campaigning for the election of a Roman Catholic, in earlier statements had asked voters to disregard the religion of candidates in choosing their next president.

One of the key problems facing Truman in his two-day Texas tour is to try to derail a "Democrats for Nixon" movement led by former Gov. Allan Shivers, who bolted the party for the third straight time.

He didn't mince words at a $50-a-plate fund raising dinner in San Antonio Monday night.

"If you vote for Nixon, you ought to go to hell," he said.

Truman spent the night at the ranch of Democratic vice presidential nominee Lyndon Johnson in Johnson City. Early this morning, he was scheduled to conduct a workshop for campaign workers with House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, then go to Waco for an afternoon news conference and a dinner speech tonight.

Voters in the Waco region have been concerned with the fact that Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic standard bearer, is a Roman Catholic.

Truman said he planned to "talk turkey" at tonight's rally. "When I go over to Waco to talk to the Baptists about what they are supposed to do in this election, they can't do a thing to me," he said. "I have been a Baptist more than 60 years."

Truman soundly scorching the Eisenhower administration for "blocking all forms of progress" and said Vice President Richard Nixon is "cut from the same cloth."

He said Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's conduct at the United Nations only bears out an opinion he has had of the Russian boss for years.

"I never did like him," Truman said. "Nobody with any background would act like that."

The former President said pre-election polls which show the presidential race about even doesn't mean a thing.

"I don't think a damn thing about those polls, and I never did," he said. "The only one that means a thing is the one reported on the ninth day of November."

Truman told Texans not to be led into the Republican fold for the third straight time by promises that Nixon is interested in Texas.

"Nixon is interested in Texas all right," he said. "The same way the wolf was interested in little Red Riding Hood's grandmother."

In an obvious reference to Shivers, Truman said: "There are people who pretend to be your friends saying that you ought to vote Republican. They are even saying that although you vote the Democratic ticket all the rest of the way, you ought to vote Republican for president and vice president."

"That's absurd . . . to say that Republicans can be trusted with the most important office in the world and I think Texans are too smart to be deceived by the pretended friends and false leaders who are giving this advice."

Truman said the Republicans stand for "stagnation" and listed bills vetoed by President Eisenhower which he said proved his point.

"Mr. Eisenhower has vetoed three rivers and harbors bills to provide flood control and reclamation projects and the Democratic congress overrode one of those vetoes," he said. "His policy is 'no new starts.' He can't turn back the clock, but he's doing his best to stop it."

"He vetoed three bills to raise or maintain farm price supports; two bills to help chronically depressed areas to help themselves; a bill to give the rural electrification administration final control over its own loan program; two housing bills; and a bill to help communities build sewage plants to control water pollution."

Farm Massacre Believed To Be Murder, Suicide

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Bruno Schorn kept a tidy farm for his wife and son, and friends and relatives said the family couldn't have been happier.

That's why police were reluctant today to close the books on the case.

The smoking ruins of the farm Monday morning gave the first inkling that anything was wrong. Firemen faced a horrible sight when they arrived. Streams of blood ran through the barnyard where the cattle had been methodically slaughtered.

The farmhouse, three barns, two corncribs, a garage with a car in it and several outbuildings were burned to the ground. Inside the ruins of the once neat bungalow home were the charred bodies of Schorn, 60, his wife, Wanda, 55, and their 21-year-old son, Clyde.

Each had been shot in the head with a .22 caliber bullet. . . just as had the 11 cows and 16 sheep.

Dr. Robert Hausmann, Bexar County medical examiner, ruled Monday night that Schorn shot his wife and son to death, then set fire to the farm, and killed himself. But he said that because of the charred condition of Schorn's body, it could not be definitely determined he committed suicide.

"The angle of the bullet indicates he killed himself," Hausmann said.

A police spokesman said they weren't ruling out the possibility that all three were murdered, the livestock slaughtered and the farm set on fire to make it appear Schorn went berserk.

From all indications, the killing took place Sunday. Schorn and his son went bowing the night before and "had a good time."

Erhard Reiley, Mrs. Schorn's brother, said the only unusual thing he could think of was a draft notice Clyde recently received, but the youth didn't seem worried about it.

PICK MARCHING TUNE

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A marching tune by Greek composer Manos Hadzidakis has been chosen for "The Guns of Navarone," starring Gregory Peck, David Niven, Anthony Quinn, Gia Scala and Irene Papas.

The song chosen for its dramatic action is "Hymnetos," the name of one of three mountains which surround the Athens Valley.

Navy Flyer Returning To Spain

Veteran Navy flier Rupert Crabb leaves today for Rota, Spain, via Dallas and Jacksonville, Fla., for his U.S. Naval Air Station post and his family, a wife and 10-month-old daughter.

CPO. Crabb, with 21 years of service back of him has been in Pampa for the last three weeks on an emergency leave due to the illness of his mother, Mrs. Ellen Shipp, 2013 N. Russell, and has been residing with his sister and brother-in-law, Dr. M. McDaniel, 1801 Charles, during his leave.

Reviewing his current assignment last night, CPO. Crabb, who is one of the less than 700 enlisted Navy fliers remaining from the roster of thousands of World War II, said he believes the Spanish people, as individuals, like the Americans more than do other European citizens. But, as an afterthought he said, "I don't know about the government."

He did not elaborate.

This is CPO Crabb's first European assignment. He has been stationed in China and Japan, and other Far East posts, but, for him, the assignment in Spain, "way down on the southern coast near Gibraltar, is the nicest station to which he has been assigned."

His wife, the former Elizabeth Mahaffey of Dallas, is a librarian in the American school system in Spain, which is a follow up of her position as a librarian in her home town.

The baby girl, Beth Anne, more than likely will be bi-lingual when she returns to the United States late next summer since the Crabb's housekeeper who also serves as Beth Anne's nurse speaks but a smattering of English.

The veteran Navy man plans to leave the service in August 1961 when his tour of duty is completed. As to what he plans to do when he severs his military ties, he summed it up this way:

"Know where I can get a job?"

But he grinned, for he realizes that with his flying experience there must be a well paying position round or about awaiting him.
