German-Held Rail Junction Is Threatened As Reds Drive On

13 Additional Settlements Are Occupied

Advance On Don Continues Against Stronger Resistance

By HENRY C. CASSIDY MOSCOW, Jan. 11. (AP)—The Red army has seized 13 more settlements in the North Caucasus, where the German-held railroad junction of Georgievsk was threatened with encirclement, and has broken a German salient thrust into Russian positions on the central front far to the north, the mid-day communique said today.

The advance down the lower Don continued despite desperate German efforts to block it some 60 miles northeast of Rostov, the key Nazi supply center in southern Russia, it was reported. Another German-held community was gathered into the Russian lines in the lower Don area.

Bitter fighting preceded the temporary success of the Germans on the central front. The communique acknowledged that a wedge had been driven into the Red army's positions, but said a heavy Russian counter-attack forced the Germans back to their original positions.

The German high command said yesterday that a German shock troop division on the central front had captured 75 Russian strong points and destroyed their garrisons.

In the North Caucasus, the capture of 13 more settlements by the Russians appeared to make the German position at Georgievsk still more precarious.

The Russians said they had captured Georgievskaya, four miles south of Georgievsk, and other small towns forming a semi-circle around the railroad junction. Vast stores of German mines, ammunition and other equipment fell into Russian hands, it was said.

The Germans, who had advanced down the Rostov-Baku railway last summer in quest of the oil of Grozny and Baku, already had withdrawn 75 miles from Mozdok to Georgievsk and they apparently faced a new withdrawal along the railway leading to the northwest.

Particularly fierce fighting was reported at a river position where the Germans had concentrated a large number of their six-barrel mortars and tanks.

The lower Don offensive was reported rolling forward over mounting German resistance. Only on the central front west of Moscow did the Russians report a check to their offensives. In one sector, the mid-day communique reported, the Germans succeeded in driving a wedge into the Red army positions, but the situation was said to have been restored by a determined Russian counterattack.

Routine Work For Solons

AUSTIN, Jan. 11. (AP)—House and senate chambers in the state capitol buzzed with activity today as the 48th Texas legislature prepared for the start of its general session tomorrow.

Governor Coke R. Stevenson sounded a possible keynote of the session with a prediction that it would be "prosaic."

It was his opinion, given at a press conference, that the legislature mostly would confine its activity to day-by-day attention to routine matters.

"There seems to be nothing that needs a great deal of attention," he commented.

The executive was putting the finishing touches to his message to the legislators to be delivered either Wednesday or Thursday.

The governor has reiterated the opinion that economy should be the main topic of the session.

Many representatives and senators were of the opinion the 48th session would not exceed 120 days.

OIL MAN DIES

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 31 (AP)—W. R. Francisco, executive vice president of the Deep Rock Oil Corp., died today at his office of heart disease. Associates said he had not been in ill health.

First Flight—The Constellation, Lockheed's new giant super-transport, soared away at Burbank, Calif., Jan. 9 on its maiden flight.

Summers Off To Austin As Legislator

BURKE T. SUMMERS was off to Austin Monday afternoon as far as available records show, the first Howard county resident to represent his district in the Texas legislature in 40 years.

On the basis of unofficial returns, Summers captured the 91st district post in the special election Saturday, holding a plurality of 186 votes.

His lead over Cecil Barnes, second man in the field of four, had been trimmed by late returns, but the ballots still out were conceded to be too few to change the standing.

There were three small boxes still unreported in Tom Green county, but their strength was said to be only a few dozen; and Knott in Howard county, still unreported.

War Program Weaknesses Hit In Committee Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. (AP)—Charges of "general maladministration" of the war production program, "haphazard" handling of manpower, and failure to use small industry in the war effort were laid before congress today by the special house committee on national defense migration.

"Unless this country enjoys an unusual measure of good sense, good management and good luck, both the period of war immediately ahead and the period of peace to follow will be marked by many difficult and trying days," the committee said in its final report.

Declaring that "we cannot afford the luxury of self-congratulation" on 1942's production levels, the committee said:

"Not only have our Allies suffered severely for lack of lend-lease supplies we have been unable to deliver, but even the equipment of our own forces is very uneven."

The committee, which began its work two and one-half years ago with a study of the problems of wandering workers—"okies"—and turned later to those which developed with war's demands on manpower, recommended:

- 1. Creation of an office of war mobilization—as it did in a previous report—to serve as an economic high command for the coordination of production resources.
2. Complete reorganization of the national employment service, with greatly increased appropriations, under a framework designed to supply the manpower needs of both industry and agriculture.
3. Federal regulation of employment agencies and "labor contractors" to prevent abuses of migrant workers against the possibility that there will be 4,000,000 persons moving from state to state in search of work after the war.
4. Revision of social security to provide general public assistance, along with enactment of uniform settlement laws to remove barriers between the states.

German Junction Points Hit Again By Allied Bombers

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 11. (AP)—Allied bombers have struck again at possible junction points for Marshal Rommel's Libyan forces and the Axis army of Tunisia, raiding Gabes, the village of Kebili west of that port, and Kalrouan, an African air force spokesman announced today.

The highlight of the day's air activity was a one-man bombing attack by Maj. Phillip George Cochran of Erie, Pa., who leads a P-40 Warhawk fighter group.

Alone and carrying one large bomb, he swept over the roof tops of the town in the middle of the German military headquarters for the area. He reported the headquarters destroyed.

On returning from the target he was attacked by a Focke-Wulf 190. Although his plane was shot up, he held off the German fighter and returned safely to his base.

The Tunisian raids followed the first sweep by American bombers from the west against the Tripoli area in the aerial effort to smash Rommel's retreating troops before he can escape the British eighth army and join hands with German and Italian forces in the French protectorate on the Mediterranean narrows.

Martin Marauders carried out the main raid on the day. They attacked railroad yards and oil storage tanks at Gabes with an escort of P-38 Lockheed Lightning fighters.

About the same time Bostons escorted by Warhawks struck at a German military camp at Kebili, on the salt lake 65 miles west of Gabes.

Mitchell bombers attacked the rail junction four times north of the port of Hammamet, itself 40 miles southeast of Tunis, and were reported to have scored direct hits.

The Marauders and Lightnings went by fly through heavy anti-aircraft fire to reach their objectives at Gabes, which authorities described as a main supply base for Rommel's forces in Tripolitania, and at the same time were heavily challenged by Messerschmitts 109's.

Observers reported the Bostons led the Kebili camp affair. All the Bostons and the Mitchells, as well as their fighter escorts, returned safely.

The first American bomber blow from the west at Axis nerve centers at Tripoli was reported yesterday.

Ratliff Made Ensign, To Go To Arizona

Ensign Joe Ratliff, USNR, is to leave this week for the University of Arizona for an indoctrination course.

He passed his final physical at Dallas during the weekend and was sworn in. Back here to clean up his duties as teacher of the aviation pre-flight course in high school, he was sporting his new uniform.

Ensign Ratliff has been connected with the local school system for several years, having resigned last year to teach in a naval training school. It was while he was in this work at New Orleans when he applied for commission. Since September he has been instructing something like 75 young men and women in the new aviation course.

Enemy Plane Losses Soar To 138 Total

Other Ships Hit As M'Arthur Airmen Chase Convoy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Jan. 11. (AP)—Allied airmen boosted to 138 the Japanese planes shot down or crippled in four days of blasting action as they pursued the remnants of a battered Japanese convoy fleeing from New Guinea yesterday and scored bomb hits on two more ships, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The announcement put an emphatic period to previous reports which described the losses inflicted on the Japanese in their efforts to land reinforcements in northeastern New Guinea as one of the most remarkable Allied aerial exploits of the war in the southwest Pacific.

The only discordant note in the sweeping Allied successes was the disclosure that Brig. Gen. Kenneth N. Walker of Glendale, Calif., had failed to return from an aerial attack on Rabaul, New Britain, on Jan. 8, when he led a formation of flying fortresses and Liberators which damaged 50,000 tons of enemy shipping and shot down nine Japanese fighters.

How many men the Japanese actually succeeded in landing in their efforts to reinforce their garrison at Lae before their convoy turned tail and steamed away from New Guinea Saturday night was not disclosed, but it was evident that whatever success the enemy achieved in this respect had been won at the cost of serious losses to his air strength in this theater.

Indicating how hard the Japanese had been hit, Allied headquarters reported that American and Australian airmen had met only weak opposition as they pursued what was left of the enemy convoy across the Solomon sea to New Britain yesterday.

At least three transports—including a heavily-loaded 14,000-ton troopship which went down with all hands—were definitely reported sunk during the first two days of the engagement, while other vessels were damaged by bomb hits.

In addition, Allied headquarters reported yesterday that one transport had been hit six times and left burning in Lae harbor, that another had been hit three times and that a third had been set afire after being beached.

Sea Casualty List Large

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. (AP)—The perilous task of sailing merchant ships in the submarine-infested Atlantic has taken the lives of at least 4,000 and perhaps more than 6,000 men since Pearl Harbor.

The announced destruction of six cargo vessels in the western Atlantic last week caused the loss of more seamen than had been reported in any previous week in several months, when the ship toll was higher.

Seventy-three men were killed and 87 were listed as missing as the result of six announced sinkings last week. These raised the casualty list for the 57 Allied and neutral merchantmen reported sunk in the western Atlantic over the 6,400 mark.

Mitchell bombers attacked the rail junction four times north of the port of Hammamet, itself 40 miles southeast of Tunis, and were reported to have scored direct hits.

The Marauders and Lightnings went by fly through heavy anti-aircraft fire to reach their objectives at Gabes, which authorities described as a main supply base for Rommel's forces in Tripolitania, and at the same time were heavily challenged by Messerschmitts 109's.

Observers reported the Bostons led the Kebili camp affair. All the Bostons and the Mitchells, as well as their fighter escorts, returned safely.

The first American bomber blow from the west at Axis nerve centers at Tripoli was reported yesterday.

Essen Bombarded Heavily By RAF

LONDON, Jan. 11. (AP)—Essen, site of the great Krupp armament works, lay smoking today under the effects of a devastating bombardment by the RAF, which unloaded a great weight of bombs—including two-ton "blockbusters"—on the city Saturday night in the fifth raid on the Ruhr in seven nights.

Pilots returning from the assault, which was carried out under excellent weather conditions, said they had left vast fires raging in the Essen industrial area, some of them visible for 100 miles.

The number of planes which took part in the raid was not officially disclosed, but the acknowledgment that seven were lost might be taken as an indication that upwards of 140 or 150 participated.

Budget Of 109 Billions Is Presented Before Congress

By IRVING PERLMETER WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. (AP)—President Roosevelt laid before congress today a $100,000,000,000 war budget to speed the day of victory, and to help raise this record sum he asked for $16,000,000,000 in additional taxes or compulsory savings.

Altogether, Mr. Roosevelt estimated government spending in the fiscal year beginning July 1 at $109,000,000,000, and he said in a message to the lawmakers, "this budget represents the maximum program for waging war."

The new tax program he suggested included a $25,000 limit on the income of anyone after payment of taxes, regardless of the source of his income.

The budget, which estimates spending for the 12 months beginning July 1, not only dwarfed anything in the history books, it represented more than the annual money expenditures of all the other belligerents on both sides of the war, put together.

It was nearly three times what Germany is spending, four times England, and 14 times Japan.

In the current fiscal year, America's war cost was estimated by Mr. Roosevelt at about $77,000,000,000. Add to that beginning of the current year, 30, 1944, will be $196,000,000,000—just $1,000,000,000 short of all the money spent by the treasury from the day George Washington was inaugurated in 1789 until the Japs attacked about a year ago.

"Some persons may believe that such a program is fantastic," commented the commander-in-chief. "If the nation's manpower and resources are fully harnessed, I am confident that the objective of this program can be reached, but it requires a complete recognition of the necessities of total war by all—management, labor, farmers, consumers, and public servants—regardless of party."

He did not translate his financial estimates into planes and tanks and ships—to do so, he said, would merely help the enemy.

But he gave this breakdown of the general war program (in billions of dollars):

Table with columns: 1943-44, 1944-45, Fiscal Year, Year. Rows include: Munitions (planes, ships, guns, etc.), Payrolls, travel, etc., Industry, construction, Camp other construction, Lend-lease, food, miscellaneous, TOTALS.

Emphasizing that his figures meant weapons, not coins, and that the axis could not be swamped by money, the president cautioned:

"Victory cannot be bought with any amount of money, however, large; victory is achieved by the blood of soldiers, the sweat of workers, men and women, and the sacrifices of all peoples."

To farmers he assigned the task of feeding the United Nations, for "food is a primary weapon of war," and he budgeted $537,000,000 for federal farm aids calculated, among other things, to divert agricultural acres from luxury foods to nutrition essentials.

Besides taxes and war bonds ahead for the civilian, the president said, "unnecessary costs and frills should be eliminated. Total war demands simplification of American life. x x x We fill out coupons, carry coupons, answer questionnaires, x x x We regulate prices, wages, salaries and rent; we limit consumer credit; we allocate scarce materials; and we ration scarce consumer goods—all to the end of providing the materials of war and distributing the sacrifices generally."

Mr. Roosevelt said both he and Budget Director Harold D. Smith preferred to lay down a more explicit tax program, but the necessity of consulting congress limited them to the mere statement in the budget message:

"I believe that we should strive to collect not less than $16,000,000,000 of additional funds by taxation, savings, or both, during the fiscal year 1944."

This sum, he said, would be on top of the $33,081,245,000 net revenues expected by the treasury from existing laws, and with these would provide enough to pay for half of the anticipated expenditures.

In a press conference, however, the president said one of his personal objectives was a $25,000 limit after taxes—which means, he said, a practical limit of $67,200—on all incomes.

He indicated the belief that the present voluntary system of buying war bonds may have to be supplemented by some compulsory savings scheme, favored putting taxes, as far as possible, on a pay-as-you-go basis, opposed a general sales tax in its usual form, and reiterated requests for mandatory joint returns for husbands and wives, and abolition of tax-exempt securities.

The public debt, now $112,000,000,000, will rise, the president said, to about $125,000,000,000 by June 30, 1944, requiring a revision of the present $125,000,000,000 statutory limit.

"Such a debt," he commented, "can and will be repaid. The nation is soundly solvent."

It also means, he added, that "taxes probably will never revert to their pre-war level."

More so than in last week's "state of the union" message to congress, the president appealed for political unity in today's message.

Mr. Roosevelt made it clear that his goal in preparing his

Nation Near Its Limit In Output Of War Goods

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. (AP)—The United States is rapidly approaching the limit of its capacity to produce the guns, ships and planes essential to victory, President Roosevelt disclosed today in submitting to congress a budget for the 12 months beginning next July 1.

That this ultimate production level will be sufficient to bear out official hopes for victory in 1944 has already been made clear by the chief executive, yet, he said, it will fall somewhat short of giving the army and navy all the weapons their leaders consider necessary to fulfill pressing strategic requirements.

In short, Mr. Roosevelt told a press conference to which he explained provisions of his new budget, the army and navy high commands initially submitted requests for weapons on the basis of strategic needs alone and those had to be modified and dovetailed into the overall production prospects which are limited by factors of manpower, plant capacity, raw materials and the like.

The president declined to detail, for military secrecy reasons, the various army and navy requests which had to be shaved down. An illustration, however, may be found in the recent joint statement by the armed services and War Production Board that ordnance manufacture would be curtailed in order to produce more ships and planes.

The budget estimates munitions expenditures at $66,000,000,000; military and civilian pay, subsistence, and travel expenses at $21,000,000,000; industrial construction at $2,000,000,000; other war construction at $8,000,000,000 and the other items, including agricultural lend-lease, at $5,000,000,000. Total $102,000,000,000.

For the present fiscal year which ends next June 30, munitions expenditures were put at $43,000,000,000; pay and the like at $15,000,000,000; industrial construction at $6,000,000,000; other war construction at $2,000,000,000 and the other items, including agricultural lend-lease, at $2,000,000,000. Total $68,000,000,000.

At this time, he said, no one can tell exactly how much our capacity may have increased by the end of 1943 and some upward revision may be possible then. He said he supposed the war would still be going on then. He had said last Friday that he held some hope of victory in 1944.

budget was to buy all the output of the nation's factories and farms, leaving enough for essential civilian needs. He noted that "further efforts are necessary" to utilize even the small plants and businesses of the nation in the war effort.

Left for the ordinary civilian, the president figured, will be "an average of about $500 worth of goods and services during the year—an average reduction of almost 25 per cent in civilian consumption below the record level of the calendar year 1941."

"During the calendar year 1943," the president continued, "approximately 6,000,000 people will be needed above present requirements for the armed services and war production. This number can be obtained by transferring from less essential work, and by drawing into the working force people who have not recently sought employment. Vigorous action is required to mobilize and train our reserve of women and young people, to accelerate the transfer of workers to essential industries, and to reduce harmful turnover and migration of workers in essential industries."

The armed services alone will need 8,700,000 by the end of this year, and his budget reflected arms to equip all of them.

In this list of things that civilians will or will not have, however, the president also made the statement that money is what they will have most in the next year. He calculated the national income at $135-

Rutledge Named To Supreme Court, Brown To OPA Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. (AP)—President Roosevelt sent to the senate today the nominations of Wiley B. Rutledge, associate justice of the United States court of appeals for the District of Columbia, to be an associate justice of the supreme court, and of Prentiss M. Brown, former Michigan senator, to be price administrator.

The chief executive also nominated Edward J. Flynn, chairman of the democratic national committee, to be minister to Australia, succeeding Nelson Johnson, who is retiring from the diplomatic service.

Josh Lee, former senator from Oklahoma, was nominated to membership on the civil aeronautics board.

The 45-year-old Rutledge, former dean of the law school at the University of Iowa, will take the place vacated on the supreme court bench when James F. Byrnes was appointed economic stabilization director.

Brown will replace Leon Henderson. Flynn, in addition to serving as minister to Australia, will be the personal representative of the president with the rank of ambassador in the Southwest Pacific area. He has called a meeting of the democratic national committee for next Monday to act on his resignation and choose a successor—Postmaster General Walker, who previously was national chairman, is expected by some persons to get the job.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Jan. 11. (AP)—Wiley Blount Rutledge, Jr., nominated today as associate justice of the United States supreme court, is known to his friends as a man whose home is open alike to a janitor or the governor of a state—or perhaps even a president.

Earnest believer in a democracy that changes with the times, the 45-year-old jurist, who has been on the District of Columbia court of appeals since 1935, likes to fish and walk and mow his own lawn.

While he was dean of the State University of Iowa law school he lived in a modest rented house and wore inexpensive ready-made clothes. His wide range of friends included laborers, writers, government artists and musicians, while students never found him too busy to help them.

Kentucky-born son of Southern Baptist preacher, Rutledge has lived in Tennessee, Wisconsin, Indiana, New Mexico, Colorado, Missouri and Iowa. Although he spent four years here as dean, Iowa claims him now and his legal address is still 122 East Church street, Iowa City.

Professionally a jurist, his friends and former students mark him as first of all a humanist, whose often-asked question—"of what good is the law if it does not serve human needs?"—led him into intensive studies of the social and economic aspects of his profession.

THE COOPERS' NIGHT OUT — Movie Actor Gary Cooper dances with his wife at a night club in New York City.

Downtown Stroller

As near as we could make out in the gloom of early morning it was Miss WINNIE DELL RHOTON whom we passed en route to work. These mornings you could pass up your best friend and never recognize him in the dark.

Caught a ride with Mrs. JOE BIRDWELL, who was on her way home from the bus station where she had a 30 minute visit with a cousin and called Mrs. BIRDWELL this morning to meet her at the bus station during the wait over. It was great fun seeing her again and getting in some visiting, Mrs. BIRDWELL said.

Had a chat with Mrs. L. D. PERKINS this morning and she claimed we both passed each other downtown, in such a hurry, that she didn't recognize us till we were a block away. Going to have to start observing that speed limit while walking we guess.

After listening to Mrs. J. E. HOGAN, district chairman of the drive to recruit more student nurses from this area, we could almost see ourselves as a Florence Nightingale. It would be a wonderful opportunity right now for a girl without any definite profession, to take advantage of, we think. It would be not only doing something for yourself, which is important, but doing something for your country, which is more important.

Looks like congratulations are in order for BURKE SUMMERS who apparently has won the race for legislative representative from this district. Nice going!

Unrest Growing In Rumania layed)—(AP)—Advices from Rumania said today that unrest in that country had reached such a stage that the Antonescu government had been forced to create four new divisions of internal security troops.

These reports asserted that popular mistrust of the Rumanian government, arising from reverses in Russia, was the reason for the unrest.

A usually reliable Balkan source, who may not be identified more fully, meanwhile said that the German high command had presented to Gen. Michov, Bulgarian minister now in Berlin, with a comprehensive plan of action in event of an Allied debarcation on or near Bulgarian territory.

Women Riders Don't Want Woman Driver

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 11. (AP)—Because some women passengers didn't have enough confidence in her driving to ride with her, Elsie Smith, 22, Pittsburgh's first woman bus driver, has lost her job with the Oriole Motor Coach company.

But George Supan, company vice president, said: "Elsie was excellent. She could handle a bus as well as a man. When women drivers become absolutely necessary, we'll call her back."

Meanwhile Miss Smith is back at her old job in a grocery.

Mexico Speeds Up Train Schedules

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 11. (AP)—Speeding of train service between Mexico City and the United States border at Nuevo Laredo, beginning January 15, was announced today by the National Railways of Mexico.

The train that now arrives at the border at 1:15 a. m. will arrive at 11:30 p. m., in order to make better connections with trains at Laredo, Texas. The trip from the border to Mexico City will be one hour faster than at present. The changes will be effected by shortening the stops at unimportant stations.

One of the nation's newest railroads is the 50-mile Claiborne and Folk Military Railroad recently completed in Louisiana.

Caboose built for a new military railroad in Louisiana have bay windows on the side, instead of the traditional rooftop cupola.

BEFORE THE DOCTOR COMES

By WILDA CAMBERY, R.N., Community Service Society of New York

With so many doctors in the armed forces and with those who remain becoming busier, we find ourselves waiting longer for home calls, even for acute illness, to be answered. There are certain safe things you may always do while waiting for the doctor. Knowing them may make these waits less disturbing.

First, put your patient to bed and make him as comfortable as possible. If you have a thermometer take his temperature before you give him anything hot or cold to drink. Your patient will usually be most comfortable with a pillow placed well under his shoulders. If he breathes with difficulty a second or third pillow will help. Find out whether he feels hot or chilly and cover him accordingly. If his feet are cold, a hot water bottle, covered with a cloth and tested on your arm to be sure it is not too hot, will add to his comfort. Never use a hot water bottle on the stomach if a patient complains of pain unless the doctor approves. Open the window for fresh air, and shield the patient from drafts. Adjust shades to protect him from light and glare.

Listen carefully to all your patient's complaints and write them down so that you can report them accurately to the doctor. Often the patient forgets to tell the doctor of the one complaint which is most important. Include some of your own observations as to temperature, elimination, pain, cough, restlessness, drowsiness, changes of color and variations in breathing. Don't give medicine without the doctor's advice.

Let the patient rest quietly until the doctor arrives but go to his room frequently to see if he needs attention. Give him plenty of water to drink but limit his food to liquids, and a slice or two of toast until the doctor comes. These rules on emergency home nursing are simple: Provide rest, offer simple nourishment, record symptoms. Observe them and both you and your patient will be better able to respond to the doctor's advice.

Everyone will ride farther if you share-the-ride with your neighbors! We've got to stretch the rubber on our tires a long way. To do this, workers going to factories will want to form share-the-ride clubs—five people in one car rather than one person each in five cars! Housewives, too, will want to do their part by car-sharing when they do their shopping. Car-sharing means your car will have a longer life because you alternate driving with riding; you will save gasoline; and you will know you are helping Uncle Sam!

Arkansas Looms As The Team To Beat In Southwest Basketball

Aggies Score An Upset Over Horned Frogs

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The Southwest conference basketball race is in its infancy? But the handwriting on the wall spells a familiar name.

It's Arkansas.

The Razorbacks may not win the championship but it's a pretty safe bet that any team finishing a notch ahead of the tall Porkers will.

They showed that last week in twice beating a good Southern Methodist team in typical Arkansas style—superior work under both baskets.

But Arkansas was not all the news—in fact, it wasn't any bigger item than the showing of the low-rated Texas Loghorns and a jarring upset by the Texas Aggies.

Texas, with Buck Overall and Johnny Hargis furnishing the punch, rolled over Rice and Baylor to tie Arkansas for the leadership at two victories apiece.

The Aggies upset heralded Texas Christian by 27 points. A&M always pulls the unexpected each season but usually waits until it has been virtually eliminated for the title race to do so.

The schedule is crowded with important games this week with Rice facing the hardest row.

The Owls play Texas Christian and Arkansas which is quite an assignment in view of the fact that they meet the latter in two games on the Arkansas court in Fayetteville.

Monday night Rice tackles T.C.U. at Houston. Friday night the Owls open their series with Arkansas.

Other games have Baylor meeting Texas A&M at Waco and Texas clashing with Southern Methodist at Austin Wednesday night and A&M tackling Texas at College Station and T.C.U. playing Southern Methodist at Fort Worth Saturday night.

Hargis has jumped to the scoring leadership with 40 points while Clayton Wynne, the lowering Arkansas guard, is runner-up with 32, followed by Overall with 27.

Pepper Martin Sees Baseball As An Aid To Morale

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 11 (AP)—Baseball is definitely a part of the war effort, John "Pepper" Martin, the new manager of the Rochester team of the International league, thinks.

"I think baseball is necessary. Baseball will continue to cooperate in the war program. It is a great builder of morale," he said.

"The boys in service want baseball continued. However, if baseball ever becomes a drag it will quit."

"As a matter of fact," the former "Wild Horse of the Oage" at the St. Louis Cardinals continued, "I want to see all sports continued, football, basketball and golf. Each is essential. We'd be better off if those sports are continued."

Pros 'Stole' Hoop Game, Charges Phog Allen, Kansas U. Mentor

By CHIP ROYAL
AP Features Sports Writer

NEW YORK—Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen, the Kansas University basketball mentor, thinks the colleges should do something about getting the hoop game back from the professionals.

"Dr. James Naismith discovered basketball in 1892," declared Phog, "and three years later, it was stolen by the professionals. Since then, the pro coaches have ruled the game and I think it is about time that we did something about it."

The Kansan, who has been coaching hoopers for 32 years, made his charges during his annual pilgrimage to the big town which he admitted was only because his team collected $2,000 for playing here.

"The Eastern teams are the greatest offenders because they play the pro game almost exclusively," continued the doctor. "Just watch some of your metropolitan teams and you will see what I mean."

"They have copied the dribble of the pros. They use the same method of attack, charging down the floor with reckless abandon. On the defense, they think nothing of fouling a man to spoil his shot—typical of the pros."

Allen says the game as played in the west really follows the rules set down by Dr. Naismith. He charged that it is why few of the eastern teams ever play on a western court.

"They would be at a disadvantage with our style of play, and consequently be defeated by large scores." He said one of Nat Holman's City College of New York teams made a trip west, a few years ago, and suffered a humiliating defeat.

"Since then, we can't get any of your eastern teams out there," smiled Phog.

Continuing, the doctor said sectional play is differing more every year, and he expects it to go on that way until the rules committee wakes up and spends some time on research.

"Every time you bring up a new idea, they stifle it. I say they should stifle the pro game and let the colleges run basketball. Standardize the play all over the country, don't be afraid to change a few rules, don't neglect the high school coach's ideas, and above all, keep the game at the high point started by Dr. Naismith."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—When this business of trying to train baseball clubs in the frigid north first came up, we asked Hugh Fullerton, Sr., about it, since Pop's baseball experience goes back to when southern trips were something of a novelty. "I remember listening to Anson, Ryan, Burns and Mike Kelly tell about training in the snow banks on the lake front park at Chicago," Pop writes, "and how Mike shoveled snow and practiced hook slides into the snow at second. . . . We trained at some funny places, Waycross, Ga. (where we were chased out of town after one week and went to Savannah), Hot Springs, Kansas City, New Orleans, Selma, Ala., Galveston, Shreveport. . . . One spring Chicago went to West Baden, Ind., for ten days then at the University of Illinois and was in fine shape when it started barnstorming. . . . The best-conditioned club I ever saw trained at Hudson, N. M., and hardly saw a baseball until a week before the season started, merely rode horses, climbed mountains and ran around the desert. They were eager to play ball when the season started. . . . Maybe this will cure a lot of bunk."

A COOL CUSTOMER

One guy who (like Joe DiMaggio) didn't have to worry about spring training, Pop reports, was a big pitcher named Rog Denzer, who lived in Minnesota when the Cubs bought him. . . . Rog didn't report for training and didn't answer letters so a scout was sent after him, arriving on a sub-zero day. . . . After nearly freezing on the way to Denzer's farm because the livyerman thought it was too cold to take a horse out, the scout was directed to the barn. . . . There he found Rog, in his undershirt, pitching a sack of bran and cutting loose with all his speed. . . . In July of that year, Pop adds, "Rog complained that he was a hot weather pitcher and couldn't work well on chilly days."

SPRING BRAINING

Another idea from the same source is that most of the feuds within baseball clubs start from spring boredom. . . . "Most of the players are sick of ball before the season starts, sick of exhibitions and anxious to start real play. When they have too much time on their hands, they form factions that break up clubs. . . . The fights that occur during the playing season are flareups of anger; those of spring training are active hates."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Bill Reddy, Syracuse, N. Y., Post Standard: "Bill Terry had a chance to invest some money in the Philles, but bought some cows instead. . . . Indicating that Terry not only knows which side his bread is buttered on, but also knows where to get the butter."

Couple Married By Trans-Ocean Phone

FORT WORTH, Jan. 11 (AP)—"George, she's yours—and she's a beautiful bride!" said the Rev. J. Hoyt Boles as he married Evelyn Daniel of Corsicana and George M. Shoffner, aircraft engineer in Hawaii, via trans-oceanic telephone here yesterday.

The ceremony took two minutes. No one kissed the bride because Shoffner, formerly of Dayton, Ohio, said "nix on that."

The 19-year-old bride, a Consolidated Aircraft clerk, said "I'd be the happiest girl in the world if George were only here, but now I'm just happy."

Water Projects Should Be Limited, Roosevelt Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today to hold rivers and harbors and flood control expenditures to bare essentials during the 1944 fiscal year beginning next July 1.

His budget message limited the total for all waterways to approximately $229,000,000 as compared with $229,000,000 made available in the 1943 fiscal year. Of this, $162,000,000 was for flood control and $67,000,000 for rivers and harbors.

No Selection On Coaching School

AUSTIN, Jan. 11 (AP)—The board of directors of the Texas High School Coaches association adjourned Saturday without choosing a site for the 11th annual coaching school or selecting the coaches who will serve as instructors.

Harry Stittler, coach of Waco high school and president of the association, said that the school will be held at "a centrally located site." He added that the directors had in mind several cities but would make no announcement until arrangements had been completed.

The announcement probably will be made at Waco this week, he stated.

Several coaches have been contacted as possible instructors for the gridiron clinic but their names will not be released until they have accepted, Stittler announced.

A list of high-school boys who will be asked to play in the annual all-star game at the end of the coaching school will be announced by Stittler in Waco when all have accepted.

West Ward Gridders To Be Given Banquet

Players on the West Ward school midget football team, winners of the first city-wide ward school grid league, will be honored with a banquet.

The affair has been set for 7:30 this evening at the Settles hotel. The team was undefeated in play, although it tied with Central Ward in the opening game and defeated that team in a play-off.

Pro Football Out For The Duration, Mel Hein Thinks

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—The new associate professor, seated at his desk in Room 201, believes professional football is out for the war's duration.

He makes a strange looking faculty member, this six-foot, three-inch 230-pounder.

The big guy is Mel Hein, 33, fresh from 12 years with the New York Giants, now head football coach and associate professor of physical education at Little Union College in upstate New York.

Professional football's wartime future "looks very doubtful," Mel asserts, mainly because the present caliber of play could not be maintained with so many stars in the armed service.

More Doctors To Be Called

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The war manpower commission disclosed today that 10,000 more of the nation's 180,000 physicians would be taken by the armed forces in 1943 and said this would leave "more than 80,000" doctors for the civilians.

Chairman Paul V. McNutt promised every effort to provide adequate medical care for civilians, partly through voluntary relocation of doctors to areas of greatest need.

Dr. Frank H. Lahey, chairman of the directing board of WMC's procurement and assignment service for physicians, said that 80,000 active-civilian physicians "is a sufficient number to care for the needs of the civil population if these men and women are properly distributed and allocated and if civilians will take every possible health precaution to keep well."

Lahey expressed hope that most relocations would be accomplished without movement of doctors outside their present states, but said some method of temporary licensing for practice in other states probably would have to be arranged.

Medical School's Outlook Brighter

AUSTIN, Jan. 11 (AP)—Removal of the University of Texas' medical school at Galveston from probation by the American Medical Association and the Association of American Medical Colleges is envisioned by Dr. Chauncey D. Leake, executive vice president of the school.

Emerging from a meeting of the university's board of regents, Dr. Leake asserted that "the causes that resulted in the school being placed on probationary status have been removed."

The regents named J. H. Bickett of Dallas temporary chairman at the conclusion of the two-day session. The chairmanship has been vacant since the resignation last fall of Leslie Waggener of Dallas.

Dr. K. H. Ayresworth of Waco will continue as vice chairman.

Permanent reorganization of the board will be effected at the first meeting after the senate acts on Gov. Coke Stevenson's reappointment of three regents—Bickett, D. F. Strickland of Mission and H. H. Weinert of Seguin.

Dorais Due To Make Good As Detroit Coach

DETROIT, Jan. 11 (AP)—Professional football is essentially a passing league, and that's why the many followers of Charles E. (Gus) Dorais are convinced that he will make good in the National league as new coach of the Detroit Lions.

Dorais was football's first great forward passer three decades ago while pitching aerials at Notre Dame to his roommates, End Knute Rockne, and his University of Detroit eleven for 18 seasons have used the airplanes for nearly a 700 winning average.

"You know, we can't do any worse than the 1942 Lions," Dorais remarked dryly as he signed a contract over the weekend as head coach and part owner of the pro club. Last fall the Lions dropped all 11 games for a season unmatched in league history.

While parting with Dorais on amicable terms, the university is in no hurry to name a successor. Lloyd Brazil, one-time brilliant halfback under Dorais, evidently is in line for the job.

Mahon Protesting Cotton Requirement In Draft Rulings

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Belief that selective service regulations will be amended soon to provide deferment of some producers of short staple cotton in the same manner as is now provided to those growing cotton one-inch or longer, was expressed here by Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.).

Mahon has protested to both the agriculture department and selective service officials against the regulations, pointing out that the army and navy both use great quantities of cotton goods made of cotton less than one inch in length.

The Texas pointed out that under present regulations the selective service system considers only cotton of a minimum length of one inch or such an essential character that its producers should be deferred from induction into the armed forces.

Mahon expressed his views in a message to Ray Nichols, editor of the Vernon, Tex., Daily Record, who had urged Texas members of congress to protest to the selective service system.

Bob Feller's Father Dies

VAN METTER, Iowa, Jan. 11 (AP)—One of the finest father-and-son partnerships in the world of sports was at an end today.

William Feller, 56, father, boyhood coach and counselor of baseball's Bob Feller died yesterday after a long illness. Death came in the $25,000 farm home which Bob built for his parents with his income from the pitching arm which was developed during years of patient guidance from his dad.

When Bob was eight his father began giving him regular practice in hurling, playing catch long hours with the youngster when the day's chores were done and sometimes at night in the barn. As his son's skill increased, Bill Feller laid out a baseball diamond on his farm and organized a team so his boy might gain further experience.

Last Year's Star On Virginia Five Is Now The Coach

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Rudy Baric of West Virginia University, is offered as the prize example of how top-toy-tury the war has made in the college sports world in a single year.

A year ago Baric and his Cinderella teammates pioneered a journey to New York where they were seeded last in the National Invitational basketball tournament.

They remained long enough to win the title, Baric, known to every spectator and player as "The Goon," took added honors as the tourney's most valuable player.

This week the Mountaineers return with Baric, still a student at West Virginia, but not a player as the team's coach—and as Mr. Baric to the public and the athletes. He took over when the previous mentor, Dick Raese, joined the navy.

Although the Mountaineer squad has back only one of the eight regulars of last season, the 1943 Mountaineers have won four of their first five games and Wednesday encounter the unbeatable New York University outfit.

That game sparks this week's cage menu along with such other choice morsels as Arkansas vs. Rice, Southern California at Stanford, George Washington at Duke, Kentucky at Tennessee, Oklahoma Aggies at Creighton and Illinois at Wisconsin. All are conference games involving title favorites.

Arkansas, which shared the Southwest conference crown with the Owls last year and will be the host this weekend in a two-game series, already has won a pair of duels from Southern Methodist while Rice was stopped by Texas. Texas Christian, another favorite, was crushed by Texas A&M, 53 to 26, Saturday but has the chance to regain some prestige tonight against Rice.

Creighton and Oklahoma Aggies, co-champions of the Missouri Valley circuit last spring and both with outstanding records to date, collide at Omaha Saturday. Each boasts a conference victory from last week.

In the neighboring Big Six circuit, Kansas has taken its usual place at the head of the parade by smothering Missouri and then nicking Oklahoma on the Sooners' floor, 48 to 44. In the Missouri contest Forward Charlie Black poured in 33 points for the victors.

All Race Tracks Are Idle Today

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—There's no racing today, the first time in more than four years that all United States horse tracks have been idle on a week day.

New Orleans' Fairgrounds, only oval now operating, is idle on Mondays and Florida tracks were closed last week after the OPA ban on pleasure driving.

Chairman Paul V. McNutt promised every effort to provide adequate medical care for civilians, partly through voluntary relocation of doctors to areas of greatest need.

Dr. Frank H. Lahey, chairman of the directing board of WMC's procurement and assignment service for physicians, said that 80,000 active-civilian physicians "is a sufficient number to care for the needs of the civil population if these men and women are properly distributed and allocated and if civilians will take every possible health precaution to keep well."

Lahey expressed hope that most relocations would be accomplished without movement of doctors outside their present states, but said some method of temporary licensing for practice in other states probably would have to be arranged.

Medical School's Outlook Brighter

AUSTIN, Jan. 11 (AP)—Removal of the University of Texas' medical school at Galveston from probation by the American Medical Association and the Association of American Medical Colleges is envisioned by Dr. Chauncey D. Leake, executive vice president of the school.

Emerging from a meeting of the university's board of regents, Dr. Leake asserted that "the causes that resulted in the school being placed on probationary status have been removed."

The regents named J. H. Bickett of Dallas temporary chairman at the conclusion of the two-day session. The chairmanship has been vacant since the resignation last fall of Leslie Waggener of Dallas.

Dr. K. H. Ayresworth of Waco will continue as vice chairman.

Permanent reorganization of the board will be effected at the first meeting after the senate acts on Gov. Coke Stevenson's reappointment of three regents—Bickett, D. F. Strickland of Mission and H. H. Weinert of Seguin.

"For these are the lasting, truthful things..."

This is an American soldier.

He goes to war not with any fanatical theories of race superiority, of any special "place in the sun," nor any desire to rule the world by fire and by sword. He fights for something greater. For decency—for his loved ones—for his Country, not as some warlike symbol, but as the one great refuge in this world where the humble, the meek, and the righteous may live and work in peace.

This is why he must win. For these are lasting, truthful things. They are not temporary drugs for the mind, but steadfast things of the heart and the soul. And when the flame of fanaticism finally flickers and goes out, the fires of American decency and honor will still burn.

It is this same sense of decency and honor that has bound us all together. We know we cannot all fight. But there is something we can do—and are doing—to help. We can help provide the guns, the planes, the tanks, and the ships to put might behind the right.

By the tens of millions, Americans are saving for victory in the War Bond Payroll Savings Plan. Every payday we employees, workers and bosses are putting aside 10% of our pay—a dime from every dollar—and every time these savings amount to $18.75, we get a War Bond. And—because this is the free American way—our money is working double. First it goes in a mighty flow for the instruments of Victory, then—ten years later—it comes back to us, four dollars for every three we've put into War Bonds—$25 for every $18.75.

Now look at the picture again. Then imagine that this soldier were your brother, your son, or your sweetheart.

Would ten percent of your pay, in War Bond savings, be too much to help him win—and live?

- 5 Reasons Why
1. By investing in War Bonds you help provide the planes, the tanks, the guns and the ships we must have to survive and conquer.
 2. You prove that you are a patriotic American.
 3. You aid the morale of our fighting men, by showing them that the entire Nation is behind them.
 4. You prove to our enemies that we are a United People.
 5. You protect your own financial future, as every $18.75 you invest in a War Bond brings you back $25 in 10 years. You make the world's safest investment, by buying a share in the world's most powerful country.

Women Cooks Turn Out Quality Meals At The Home Cafe

Rationing, shortages and other war time restrictions on food have hit all cafe owners and restaurants but as long as there is good food to get, the Home Cafe, 125 E. Third Street, will be serving it to satisfied customers.

Owned and managed by Mrs. Louise Lebkowsky, the cafe has only women cooks in its white kitchens. Serving from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., the cafe provides good meals for many citizens in the area.

A specialty, which customers soon learn to look forward to, are the hot rolls, that taste better than those that Mother used to make. Many steady customers are more anxious to get their hot rolls than they are to see what else is on the menu.

Apparently, the military personnel of the city soon located the Home Cafe and adopted it for its own. For a large percentage of the cafe's customers are soldiers who call Mrs. Lebkowsky "Mom," confide their worries, troubles, and bring their wives around to meet her when they come to town.

The good food and good service provided by experienced waitresses along with genial greetings from Mrs. Lebkowsky have proved a combination that keep bringing new customers to the Home Cafe.

North 2nd go scientifically mixed feeds that are a factor in the war production program by helping boost the nation's meat supply. Western Grain & Seed handles the Burrus Texo Feeds, which includes balanced rations both for poultry and cows. Being stressed at this season are the chick starter and growing feeds which are essential to proper development of poultry flocks. Also to be had are all-purpose cattle feeds which are effective for milk production as well as for fattening. (Photo by Kelsey).

Smaller Staffs Kept Busy Meeting Auto Repair Needs

Factory-trained mechanics are doing heroic work in meeting the demands of a repair-minded public. Big Spring Motor Company officials report, and in the same breath pleaded for understanding of the problem on the part of motorists.

"We have 53 percent of the man power we had this same time last year," said J. E. Fort, vice-president and general manager, "and yet the demand is 100 per cent greater."

V. A. Merrick, company president echoed this. "People who never knew about repairs are having to learn about them now. Heretofore, when something went wrong with the car, they just traded for a new one. Now there is no such trading, and they can't understand why a major repair job can't be turned out in 30 minutes."

Both officials pointed out that their mechanics, all experienced hands and key men in the company's service, are working as long and as rapidly as they can and still perform quality work. They urged public patience when delays are necessary.

Fortunately, Big Spring Motor is carrying a better stock of parts than it had six months ago. Judicious use of parts and a new public awareness of the need to have minor repairs done before a major overhauling is necessary has made parts supplies go farther than in ordinary times. Both Merrick and Fort foresaw an ample parts stock to carry through service demands for many months to come.

Big Spring Motor also is carrying one of the largest stocks of used cars in this section of the state.

"Most of these are pretty clean machines," said Merrick. "They are meeting with a good demand, and we are fortunate in having them, because in larger places dealers are clamoring for used cars."

Answers To Food Rationing Questions

LUBBOCK, Jan. 11. — Various questions puzzling the West Texas housewife regarding the forthcoming rationing of canned, bottled and frozen fruits, vegetables and juices, dried fruits and soups are answered by Howard R. Ghosson, Lubbock district manager of the Office of Price Administration.

"The district office has received preliminary plans for the new rationing program, including a list of processed fruits and vegetables which will be subject to the regulations for rationing processed foods," the district manager said. "Further information will be passed along to the West Texas public as soon as it reaches the district office."

The commercially processed fruits and vegetables will be rationed under the point rationing system to be inaugurated after issuance of war ration book two in the near future. Rationing of foods covered in the new program will begin at a date to be announced later, possibly as early as February.

Rationing will be preceded by a short freeze, during which war ration book two will be issued to every man, woman and child. The freeze also will give food stores opportunity to build up supplies, train clerks, receive and post the official OPA list of point values and familiarize themselves with the values, and take inventory of their processed foods.

The housewife will know when point values are changed, because newspapers and radios will carry the announcements and every food store will have an OPA poster showing the current point values of each product. New posters will be issued when point values change.

Everyone applying for war ration book two will be required to fill out and sign a "consumer declaration" form stating exactly the stocks of processed foods on hand. Book two will have stamps removed for excess stocks, thus compelling applicants to use up present stocks before buying more. Heavy federal penalties can be applied to those making a false declaration.

Nothing canned at home, however, need be declared and no stamps will be deducted for home supplies. "It is expected, of course, that housewives will use their home canned goods instead of buying commercial products, thus helping to spread food supplies as widely as possible," said the district manager.

From the effective date of rationing order 13, the following processed fruits and vegetables will be subject to the regulations for rationing processed foods:

Canned and bottled fruits and fruit juices, including spiced fruits. Apples, including crabapples, ap-pleasure, apricots, baby foods, berries, all varieties, cherries, red sour pitted, and other cherries, cranberries and sauce, fruits for salad and fruit cocktail, grapefruit, grapefruit juice, grape juice, peaches, pears, pineapple, pineapple juice, all other canned and bottled fruits, fruit juices and combinations.

Canned and bottled vegetables and vegetable juices. Asparagus, baby foods, beans, fresh lima, beans, green and wax, beans, all canned and bottled dry varieties, including baked beans, soaked dry beans, park and beans, kidney beans and lentils, beans, including pickled, carrots, corn, peas, sauerkraut, spinach, tomatoes, tomato catsup and chili sauce, tomato juice, tomato products, all other canned and bottled vegetables, vegetable juices and combinations.

Other processed foods: Canned soups, all types and varieties, dried, dehydrated fruits, prunes, raisins and all others, frozen fruits, cherries, peaches, strawberries, other berries and all other frozen fruits, frozen vegetables, asparagus, lima beans, green and wax beans, croccoli, corn peas, spinach and all other frozen vegetables.

The broad categories of items to be rationed include more than 200 kinds of fruits and vegetables, juices and soups and a variety of brands, grades and sizes and

Wartime Science Miracles

The report of Howard W. Blakelee of the Associated Press on the medical miracles along the Russian front reminds us that war hath her victories no less renowned than peace—victories over death in the midst of carnage.

Deaths from battle wounds among Russians along her 2,000-mile front have been reduced to 1.5 percent, according to Mr. Blakelee's figures—and you can read the whole article on this page in the two columns to the far right. Seventy percent of all Russian wounded have returned to service of some sort, many to front line activity.

The miracle is due to a combination of factors, including the use of the sulfa drugs, blood transfusions, and organized first aid which goes right into the front line with the fighters.

The Russian achievement in cheating death are paralleled closely by United States experience at Pearl Harbor and elsewhere. The principal difference is in magnitude—Russia has had 4,000,000 wounded.

Most of us whose memories go back to the 1890s remember the large percentage of Civil War veterans with missing arms and legs. Medical science has come a long way since the time when to get pinked in the leg or arm by a rifle bullet or shrapnel fragment was either a death warrant or a ticket to an amputation.

Today's wounded have a much brighter prospect for recovery without maiming. In spite of more and uglier wounds the soldier in this war, at least on the United Nations side, has a far better chance to survive than the soldier of 25 years ago. New methods of treatment, plus new drugs and more efficient organization of first aid and hospital care, are seeing to that.

There is a great deal of comfort in that thought for all concerned.

Home Front Can Win Or Lose The War, Writes Ex-President Herbert Hoover

By HERBERT HOOVER

So important is the home front of the enemy in its bearing on our military strategy that by its correct or incorrect appraisal the lives of hundreds of thousands of American boys might be saved or lost. And healthy home fronts in the United Nations are essential to win the war.

The strategy in global war is not solely a military question. In total war between great nations, the home front is, in many ways, as important as the military front. Wars can be lost or won on the home front. Germany lost the last war by exhaustion and collapse of the home front which weakened her army. France would have collapsed on the home front in the third year of that war had it not been for American support to the civilian population.

There have been explosions of Western civilization into world wars before but total war was new in 1914. Great nations in total war, in addition to military forces, now pit against each other their total resources, the total emotions, the skill, the sacrifice, the work of every adult civilian. It becomes a contest of strength, spirit and endurance of civilians against civilians, as well as between armies and navies. Today the only limitation on the size of the military forces is the number of men who can be spared from the two jobs of producing arms and supplies for the military front and keeping the civilian population alive.

Civilians Fight Too - And total war is not alone combat between armed men. It is also war between armed men and civilians. Since the last total war the improved airplane and submarine have immensely increased the power of attack upon civilian populations and their war efforts. The improved submarine through its intensified sinking of ships increases the power of blockade; the plane works to relieve and intensify it. The improved plane and the improved tank have increased the power of land offensive and made the blitz possible. On the other hand, the airplane has immensely increased the power of defense against invasion by sea, making it practically impregnable if the sea is wide enough or there are land-based planes enough. And the radio has increased the power of propaganda.

The United Nations have now closed iron rings around the European and the Asiatic Axis. But both of them still have tremendous powers of defense through their powerful armies with interior lines of communication and their air and submarine protection from overseas invasion. Japan has, in addition, great naval strength.

With the occupation by United Nations of bases in North Africa and the Pacific, with the growth of our naval, air and ground strength, the ring around them grows closer and closer. But for some time to come the war is obviously a war of aggressive attrition and the creation of conditions favorable for major combat blows. That attrition is just as vital on the home front as on the military front. And our powers of attrition and combat are increasing more rapidly than the Axis.

Decline Sets In This process of wearing down the strength of their home fronts is not solely a matter of military attrition, through blockade, sinking of ships, or air attacks or even through propaganda. There are implacable internal forces which contribute.

Experience both in the last war and in this war shows that after a certain period steady economic degeneration sets in on the home fronts of all nations engaged in total war.

In the earlier years the military strength of each nation grows steadily. Production of arms increases. But at some stage, probably about two years, the military strength reaches its maximum size and from there on it diminishes. Likewise, at some point, industrial production reaches its zenith. Even more rapidly than armies waste away after their zenith, the industrial machinery, the resources and the productive capacity of the civilian population wear down.

On the home front of all nations, shortages in food and other consumption goods grow progressively due to diversion of manpower. Armed men consume more than when they were civilians. The people must work longer and longer hours at harder and heavier labor. Movement is restricted. Rationing, price and wage restrictions are inevitable. Regimentation becomes steadily more onerous and economic dictatorship grows increasingly as war goes on.

On the spiritual side grief stretches into every family; emotions become more fragile and intolerant; criticism, freedom of speech become more and more frozen.

All these forces are multiplied in civilians by terror of attack from the air and destruction of their industries.

Lumber Situation Also Confused By Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON.—Walter Marcus Pierce, one of the grand old men of the House of Representatives, is going home to Oregon.

But the 81-year-old Democratic congressman, knocked out of his ten-year fight in the House against what he calls "the big timber interests" by defeat at the polls in November, sang his swan song with a declaration and a question. The declaration: That big timber and lumber producers, through "trade associations and high paid representatives, publicists and lobbyists," are fighting a last-ditch battle against government measures essential to production of the full amount of wood and forest products needed for all-out war, as well as for the protection of post-war employment and economic stability.

The question: What has happened to the recommendation to establish the Federal Forest Products Service? This plan to set up a $100,000,000 revolving fund (from Commodity Credit Corp. money) to consolidate the 31,000 small sawmills into a fulltime production unit, was suggested by the U. S. Forest Service last June. It was approved by WPB Chairman Donald Nelson and Secretary of Agriculture Wickard. According to Representative Pierce, it went to the President's desk for molding into an executive order nearly two months ago and that is the last that has been heard of it.

"Why the delay since last June?" says Mr. Pierce. "A few days ago the Truman committee openly blamed that on the WPB dollar-a-year lumber coordinator, Ben Alexander, an officer or director in 16 pulp and paper companies.

"Timber spokesmen admitted before the Truman committee that their 1942 production would be about six billion board feet short of the 39 and 40 billion required for war and essential civilian needs. Also estimates before the committee indicate another production shortage in 1943. Yet the industry is fighting tooth and nail against this plan to augment their production with small mills."

As a matter of fact, the lumber situation seems to be another one of the wartime confusions. The attack on Alexander has come from other quarters, with demands made directly to the Truman committee that the former president of a Chicago plastics firm be removed from his dollar-a-year job, but his superiors at WPB apparently didn't consider the charges worth setting.

That there is a bottleneck in some woods is evident. That general shortages and serious ones may develop seems true. Some of it has been laid to the Canadian embargo, now well over a year old. The proposed Forest Products Service was designed to remedy at least a portion of the situation. (Tomorrow: The Fight On FPS.)

Even The Stars Have Trouble With Homework

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Mr. Irving Pichel, the directing man, was describing his weekend. "I got the family ironing done—two weeks' ironing," he said.

It wasn't until later, the domestic front being what it is, that Mr. Pichel's ironing struck me as funny, not to say "ironic." At the time I simply inquired about his technique, his equipment, his speed. Mr. Pichel, a good family man, seemed to think he had done a good job. He was ready to apply the touch that made "The Pied Piper" and "Life Begins at 8:30" and is currently soothing "The Moon Is Down," to the family dry wash again.

Hollywood is a place that used to have a servant problem. But the problem is no more — along with the servants, who are making airplanes or building ships or keeping those caissons rolling along.

Dorris Bowdon, leading lady of "The Moon Is Down," had to be excused from the set one day to go home and take care of the nursery, whence the guardians had fled.

Applicants for domestic jobs, of course, are interviewing the stars. Glenda Farrell tells of wooing one applicant with vistas of an easy life. "You'll find the work very easy," she promised. "I'm in Hollywood for studio and war work a great deal and my husband (Major Henry Ross) is at his army post—so we have little time for entertaining. Why, there'll be days when you won't even have to prepare a meal!"

"Then I wouldn't be interested, ma'am," said the prospective queen. "Sounds lonesome."

Jane Wyatt, herself a domestic soul, was baking a cake when a prospect answered her help-wanted ad. Jane was wearing wool socks sans shoes—an old Danish custom — to keep the cake from falling. Answering the doorbell, she got the critical once-over. "Lard's sake," said the trimly attired applicant. "If Miss Wyatt lets her help go 'round the house this way, it's not the kind of place I'm used to."

This is the same town where

PACIFIC PATROL

Chapter 18
The Wreck

Early that evening, Mary climbed into warm pajamas and a robe and took a new novel to bed, hoping to read herself to sleep. But long after the rest of the household had retired, she was still reading. She heard the telephone ring shortly after the hall clock had chimed midnight. Heard her father answer it almost immediately.

"It'll be there just as soon as I can," she heard him say.

Poor Dad. What a night to have to go out on a call. Wind had been rattling at the windows for the last hour. It probably meant a real storm before morning.

Mary slipped out of bed, padded down the hall to her father's room. "Can I make you some coffee, Daddy? Pretty cold out tonight."

"No, thanks, dear. I won't have time." He came out into the hall pulling on a heavy slip-over sweater. "Is my mackinaw in the hall closet, dya think?"

"Your mackinaw? Where are you going?"

"Down to the harbor. There's been a wreck on the Saints' Islands. Bad one. They're calling for volunteers to take small craft out to pick up the survivors. I offered our boat, of course."

"And you're going to take her out?" Mary demanded, alarmed.

"Oh, Daddy, not tonight. The storm is awful!" Just the thought of pitting the frail little power boat against the ruthless fury of the ocean on a night like this struck terror to her very depths.

"Well, make it," her father said calmly, patted her cheek. "Can't leave those boys clinging to rocks out there."

And rocks they were, Mary knew. The Saints' Islands were scarcely more than huge, jagged boulders thrusting sharp edges up through foaming water or lying treacherously just below the surface to trap the unwary vessel that ventured too close. There'd been more than one terrible wreck on those islands. On a stormy night like this it was almost inevitable. And once a ship was caught on the sharp teeth, it was doomed.

"Look, puss. Be a good girl and call Father Francis up at the Mission. Tell him I want Standing Bear right away," her father directed.

Mary followed him down the stairs, helping him into the heavy mackinaw, found his boots thrust into the back of the closet along with his fishing gear.

"I can run the boat as well as Standing Bear," Mary said. "Why don't you take me along?"

No Indian

Her father just smiled, shook his head. "Old Standing Bear knows that bay like a book. He could sail through those reefs with his eyes closed. You send him down to the warf on the double quick."

The old Indian scout did have almost uncanny knowledge of the bay and its moods. "Great Water mad tonight. Sea bass stay down deep. No fishing now. Wait till tomorrow. Great Water heard his head. He heard him say that many times. The Great Water and the Great Woods and all the birds and beast and fish that inhabited them were Standing Bear's personal friends. A world he understood completely. Her father trusted him implicitly. And Standing Bear worshipped her father. Dad had brought him through a serious case of measles, so often fatal to Indians. Standing Bear was devotedly grateful.

She called the Mission three times before she got any answer. When she finally recognized Father Francis' quiet voice she gave her father's message quickly.

"But, my dear child, Standing Bear is not home. He went up yesterday into the back range with a party of duck hunters. He'll be gone several days."

Mary thanked him, replaced the receiver. What could she do now? It was difficult enough to handle the boat alone during calm seas. Tonight it would be next to impossible. Dad would have to have help.

She dashed to the front window in time to see her father's car leaving the drive, turning into the darkened street. The wind whipped a sheet of newspaper across the lawn, beat the heavy-limbed trees mercilessly.

There just wasn't anyone she could call. Most of the boys who, like herself, had learned to manage small boats just as a matter of course were gone now. Besides, except for Standing Bear, no one else understood the temperamental little Corsair.

Mary turned now, dashed up the stairs to her room, shedding the warm, quilted robe as she went. She had no choice. She'd go herself, of course.

Fingers flying, she laced up her long hiking boots, tucked the tall of her warm woolen ski shirt into her breeches, pulled on her ski jacket and mittens and cap. Not exactly fashionable, she told herself wryly as she caught a glimpse of herself in the mirror. But at least she'd keep warm and fairly dry.

Into The Storm

The wind snatched at her evilly as she ran out to the garage. It pushed at the car, turning the wheels capriciously, howling like a thousand mad demons through the deserted streets. Mary drove carefully, and as fast as she dared. The nearer she got to the beach, the more furiously the wind tried to thrust her back. She turned into the Yacht Club parking lot, stopped her car beside her powerful armies with interior lines of communication and their air and submarine protection from overseas invasion. Japan has, in addition, great naval strength.

With the occupation by United Nations of bases in North Africa and the Pacific, with the growth of our naval, air and ground strength, the ring around them grows closer and closer. In the earlier years the military strength of each nation grows steadily. Production of arms increases. But at some stage, probably about two years, the military strength reaches its maximum size and from there on it diminishes. Likewise, at some point, industrial production reaches its zenith. Even more rapidly than armies waste away after their zenith, the industrial machinery, the resources and the productive capacity of the civilian population wear down.

On the home front of all nations, shortages in food and other consumption goods grow progressively due to diversion of manpower. Armed men consume more than when they were civilians. The people must work longer and longer hours at harder and heavier labor. Movement is restricted. Rationing, price and wage restrictions are inevitable. Regimentation becomes steadily more onerous and economic dictatorship grows increasingly as war goes on.

On the spiritual side grief stretches into every family; emotions become more fragile and intolerant; criticism, freedom of speech become more and more frozen.

All these forces are multiplied in civilians by terror of attack from the air and destruction of their industries.

Story

father's ran to the steps leading to the wharf below.

A guard stopped her at the foot of the stairs, passed her along as soon as she identified herself.

The beach was swarming with men in heavy mackinaws. As she ran down the long pier, three of the larger yachts were pulling out. Large! Mary scoffed at the idea. They'd been so small the Navy had refused them as gifts and now, in the teeth of this storm, they looked pathetically inadequate.

Near the end of the pier, the Corsair still bobbed at its moorings. In the dim light she made out the figure of her father just stepping down into the boat.

"Dad! Wait for me!" Turning at the sound of her voice, Dr. Paul scowled. "I told you to send Standing Bear."

"He's in the mountains. Please let me help."

He hesitated. One of the old caretakers at the Club tossed coil of rope into the Corsair, said crisply:

"It ain't goin' to be no joy-ride, Miss Mary. Better stay here where it's safe."

"But Daddy you can't manage the Corsair alone — not in this wind. I'm a good sailor. You've always said that yourself."

"I don't like to have you taking unnecessary chances, Puss."

"This is war, isn't it, Daddy? Aren't we all taking chances?"

He relented finally. Not because he wasn't fearful, but only because he needed help so desperately.

Then, as Mary clung to the mast, trying desperately to hold it steady against the turbulence of the water, her father coaxed the engine to life, the frail little boat backed out into black fury of the storm.

The following items are exempt: Canned fruits, chili con carne, frozen vegetables in containers over 10 pounds, fruit cakes, fruit juices in containers over one gallon, meat puddings, jams, jellies, meat stews containing some vegetables, olives, paste products such as spaghetti, macaroni and noodles, whether or not they are packed with added vegetable sauce.

pickled with added vegetable sauce, pickles, potato salad, preserves, relishes, vegetable juices in containers over one gallon.

With a few minor exceptions, such as individuals living in institutions, every civilian from the new born infant to the oldest inhabitant will have exactly the same number of points to spend during each ration period. The ration periods will be announced in advance.

Point values will be the same in every store in the country and a housewife may shop in any store she chooses.

The new point "currency" for processed foods will be represented by the blue stamps in war ration book two, which will contain both red and blue stamps. There are a total of 96 blue stamps and a numeral on the face of each shows its point value. Each stamp also bears a letter of alphabet. The letters designate the ration period when the stamps may be used.

Rent Control Examiner Here

V. H. Wright, examiner for the San Angelo office, was a visitor in the local Rent Control office today conferring with Charlie Sullivan, attorney-examiner, on problems and duties of examiner.

Registration for the rental property owners, including hotels and rooming houses, is progressing nicely, Sullivan said, with probably an even larger number of rental units to be listed than were thought available in the beginning. Approximately 1,600 C forms, on which there were no changes to be made, have been mailed out to landlords and tenants after having been processed.

Sullivan reminded that property owners who have parking spaces for trailers rented, are also liable for registration and should secure necessary forms before the deadline Friday.

The office records showed that there have been seven complaints filed, mostly from tenants claiming improper maximum rental rate as of March first registered by landlords. These will result in written hearings conducted by Sullivan.

There have also been 25 applications for adjustments received from landlords mostly claiming added services for tenants since March 1st. These applications are reviewed by H. W. Stovall, director for this area, of San Angelo. Judge Stovall has already returned one adjustment in the favor of the landlord who was not renting his garage to tenants on March 1st, 1942, but is now doing so. An increase of $1 a week in the rent for this added service was allowed the landlord. There were no objections filed in this case.

Budget

900,000,000 this fiscal year, and $145,000,000 next year—compared with about $70,000,000 before Pearl Harbor and $40,000,000 at the depth of the depression.

He said families in the lower third bracket of income will have this year average earnings of $1,325, instead of $750, which was the 1935-36 average.

Outside of his "war expenditures," the president said the budget called for $9,900,000,000 of other costs, usually called "non-war," but he said these included $3,900,000,000 interest on the public debt, and $279,800,000 for the veterans administration.

He noted that the Works Projects Administration has been ordered abolished, public works curtailed and asserted that other normal governmental activities have been cut practically to the bedrock of activities required by existing laws. He said further cuts could not be made unless congress repealed laws which called for these activities.

The actual total of treasury expenditures in the next year, Mr. Roosevelt added, will be $104,128,924,923, but to this should be added $4,774,123,000 of expenditures to be outside the treasury by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Commodity Credit Corporation, and other corporations.

Bailey Back From School Conference

Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, returned this weekend from Austin where he attended the tenth annual mid-winter conference of Texas school executives which was attended by some 1,000 superintendents and trustees.

Theme of the meeting was "Education for the War Effort" and during the three days of the session, Thursday through Saturday, talks by speakers were all pointed to what schools should do to prepare boys and girls for entrance into the armed services and defense work.

Speakers pointed out that now every soldier has to be a technician of some sort and that schools should cooperate with the army by arranging courses in mathematics, physics and general science so that every boy would know the fundamentals by the time of his service term.

One of the most outstanding of the speakers was Brigadier General S. O. Henry, commandant, the Armored Force school, Fort Knox, Ky., who spoke Thursday afternoon and who after a long and forceful speech, conducted an open forum and answered questions of those attending, Bailey reported.

Physical fitness programs for both boys and girls were recommended at the session and superintendents heard of plans for high school Victory Corps which will be put into effect in every high school.

T. M. Grimble, first assistant state superintendent, in charge of establishing the victory corps, notified Bailey that he would be in Howard county at a later date to organize such a corps here.

New Treaty Signed Between U.S. China

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—China and the United States signed a treaty today abolishing the system of extraterritorial rights in China.

A similar treaty was scheduled for signing simultaneously in London between Great Britain and China.

In effect the treaties abolishing extraterritorial rights place China on a footing of equality with the other United Nations. China is assured that her sovereignty in post-war years will not be impaired by a system granting special rights and privileges in China to foreigners.

Flynn Appointment Bitterly Assailed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH) told the senate today that President Roosevelt's appointment of Edward J. Flynn, retiring democratic national chairman, as minister to Australia "is an insult to the people of that great nation."

Bridges attacked Flynn's record shortly after his nomination by President Roosevelt.

Minority Leader McNary of Oregon previously had announced republicans would demand an investigation of Flynn's record and Chairman Connally (D-Tex) said the foreign relations committee would meet Wednesday to consider any requests for hearings.

Despite the republican opposition, democratic leaders said they were certain Flynn would be confirmed as minister to Australia and roving ambassador for the president.

Ad Brings Houseless West Texans Many Offers Of Adobe In Memphis

Lessons in how to find a place to rent, even though there are none apparently available, might be learned from the idea that Jack Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cook, used in Memphis, Tenn., recently.

Memphis, like other cities, is over-crowded and Jack, along with two of his friends, A. W. Hunsaker and L. B. Hartog, ferry command pilots, were at a loss to find a room.

Jack, who believes now that it pays to advertise, inserted this ad in the classified columns of the Memphis paper.

"Wanted, a house, apartment, room, porch, hammock, cot or park bench to sleep on. Three West Texas Cowpunchers trying to locate in Memphis. If you have anything to rent at all, please call Room 158, Chisco hotel quick. We can furnish the best of references.

Anyone from Texas who reads this can appreciate our feelings toward being in a crowded city.

"P. S. All of our ancestors were rebels, not a drop of Yankee in us."

Results? Well, they got over 100 phone calls, so many that the hotel switch board could not handle all of them and Jack was requested to get on the phone and answer the calls himself. They were offered a house free of charge and a milk cow thrown in. Another call brought a request from a man for the boys to live at his home just for company, and another that they could have a house free as soon as the woman remodeled it.

They also met, over the phone, who, too, had strayed to Memphis, many who formerly lived in Texas. Cook was formerly in Coleman as flying instructor before transferring to the ferry command.

Two John A. Bucks At Flying School

Men assigned to the training department of the Big Spring Bombardier School have to be specific when they refer to John A. Buck.

The two are not related — just amazed.

Wants Pleasure Ban Extended Over U.S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Extension over the whole country of the ban on pleasure driving of automobiles now confined to the east, was proposed today by Rep. Trayway (R-Mass.).

"Every drop of gasoline used for non-essential purposes," he said in a statement, "means that much less available for essential driving, and at the same time it requires the use of tank cars and other transportation facilities which otherwise could be used for the shipment of sorely needed fuel oil."
