Over Espionage Flights

Nikita, U.S. Envoy Clash

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson clashed verbally over espionage flights at a diplomatic party Wednesday night but Mrs. Thompson and First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan kept it from getting too heated.

The Russian leader, preparing to leave for New York to attend the forthcoming General Assembly session at the United Nations, argued with the American diplomat for 27 minutes at a Kremlin reception for a visiting United Arab Republic delegation.

At one point Khrushchev said the Soviets would shoot down planes engaging in NATO maneuvers in the Black Sea later this month. Then he said he meant only those that violate Soviet frontiers.

Thompson, in turn, accused the Soviet Union of sending spy planes over Alaska. Khrushchev denied it.

Mikoyan interrupted at one point to tell Khrushchev that Thompson was "in a very difficult position." Mrs. Thompson, taking a joking cue from Khrushchev, finally said she would take "the blame (for the argument) and let's not talk about it any more."

Khrushchev and Thompson clinked glasses, drank together and left the reception at the same time.

The exchange was a clue as to what might be expected when the Soviet leader gets to New York.

Diplomatic sources said he would sail this week from a Baltic sea port and arrive in New York about Sept. 19. They said he would be joined on the Atlantic cruise by the heads of other Communist countries, turning the voyage into a virtual floating Communist summit conference. Presumably they will use the Soviet ship Baltika which regularly plies between Leningrad and London, the sources said.

Khrushchev, alternately jovial and truculent, told Thompson he still did not believe Eisenhower knew in advance about the U-2 flight over the Soviet Union May 1, even though Eisenhower did say he knew about it.

He said he still expected an apology from the United States over the flight.

NATION'S NEWEST — Signalman Wilfred Freeman, left, and Phillip Bill accompany Capt. Ben Sarver, center, as he examines the armament of the nation's newest missile-armed Man O'war, the USS Oklahoma City, in San Francisco. Railroad Strike Places Economy On Tightrope

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Pennsylvania Railroad shutdown entered its second week today with the nation walking an economic tightrope against time.

Commerce and industry were moving freight handled by the PRR but were running up an expensive tab as they shifted to emergency transportation by other railroads and trucking lines.

If the walkout by maintenance workers continues another week, the crisis could deepen and riddle the 13-state area served by the PRR with layoffs. Already 72,000 PRR workers have been idled by the walkout, first in the 114-year history of the nation's largest railroad.

Management officials promised an answer today to "rock bottom" counter-proposals offered by the Transport Workers Union to settle the strike.

Michael J. Quill, TWU president gave the PRR until noon today to accept the undisclosed proposals. Otherwise, he and other union officials planned to "pack up and leave town," letting future negotiations continue on the committee level.

Cecil Muldoon, PRR spokesman in New York, said that if the walkout stretches into another week it undoubtedly will cause layoffs in factories in the vast metropolitan area there.

Muldoon said the shutdown has been in effect for "only four working days" but already "it is running up costs heavily for industry and commerce."

"Everything is moving so far—but at substantially higher costs as shippers and receivers have to resort to emergency transport," he said. "Fruits and vegetables from the South are being diverted from the Pennsylvania into the New York area by the B&O, the Reading, the Jersey Central and trucking lines."

New York City Markets Commissioner Anthony Masciarelli said there appeared to be no major difficulties transporting fresh fruits and vegetables into the city at this time, but that it was too early to predict whether food prices would be forced up by the strike.

The big New York garment district is plagued by shipping problems at the height of its Christmas season deliveries.

Supply problems are hitting large plants served by Pennsylvania, such as General Motors Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac plant at Linden, N.J., and the Ford plant at Metuchen, N.J., Muldoon said.

"It is in bigger plants geared to railway operations that the threat of layoffs will be greatest if the strike continues."

Hurricane Lunges At Florida Keys

Due To Hit Island Chain Early Friday

MIAMI (UPI)—Hurricane Donna lunged at the Florida keys with 150-mile per hour winds today and weather forecasters predicted the vicious storm would hit the island chain by Friday morning.

A 110-mile stretch of the Florida keys was alerted as Donna whirled into a passage between Florida and Cuba.

At 11 a.m. EST the Miami Weather Bureau ordered red and black-checked hurricane flags hoisted from Key Largo southwest to Key West. It said hurricane force winds would hit the island chain by late Friday morning, and that gales would be felt in the keys by midnight.

The Weather Bureau said the hurricane's center was then 355 miles southeast of Miami, near latitude 22.0 north, longitude 76.0 west. This was about 20 miles west of Ragged Island in the lower Bahamas.

The hurricane continued to move nearly due west, at about 11 miles per hour.

The Weather Bureau said it probably would order gale warnings posted north of Key Largo today. It continued hurricane watch orders for the 325-mile stretch from Melbourne on the north to Key Largo on the south.

"Safety precautions in the display area should be started now and persons living in low-lying sections should be ready for evacuation if later conditions warrant," the advisory said.

Should the hurricane "run the gap" between Florida and Cuba, the north coast of Cuba would feel the high winds and torrential rains. The U.S. Weather Bureau advised all interests along the north coast of Cuba from Cayo Romano westward to take immediate precautions for hurricane force winds, heavy rains and abnormally high tides.

The big storm, most savage of the hurricane season, bored through the outer islands of the Bahamas early today.

Guided by newspaper, radio and television announcements on what to do, residents flooded neighborhood shopping centers and lumber yards stocking up on emergency food supplies, candles, flashlights and distilled water.

Most stores stayed open late Wednesday night and opened early today.

At Miami, a veritable aquacade of boats headed up the Miami River to find safe harbor. They caused big automobile traffic jams in the downtown area as drawbridges were held open.

Extra power units, first aid materials, axes, and a mobile radio-equipped trailer as an emergency communications center were brought into the area.

Lumumba Hits U.N. 'Plotters'

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
United Press International

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Premier Patrice Lumumba charged today the United Nations plotted with President Joseph Kasavubu "to overthrow my government—but they failed."

Lumumba said he would announce an "important decision" regarding his government's future relations with the United Nations late today. Observers wondered whether he would ask U.N. troops to get out of the Congo.

The premier delivered his blast at the U.N. as he left the Senate chamber, where senators had insisted on hearing Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko before they would listen to Lumumba.

Bomboko countersigned the order earlier this week through which Kasavubu sought to dismiss the premier.

Earlier, a government communique announcing that Lumumba would hold a news conference today had accused the U.N. of "interfering" in Congo affairs.

U.N. troops today ignored a Lumumba demand that they return control of Congo airports and the Leopoldville radio station to his government. They appeared determined to maintain near martial rule.

U.N. control of the airports crippled the Russian airlift of Lumumba forces from Luluabourg to Bakwanga to battle secessionist forces in Kasai and Katanga provinces.

A report issued by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold today deplored "certain assistance from the outside" to the rival factions in the Congo which he said is undermining United Nations efforts to restore peace and order.

Hammarskjold's blast obviously was aimed at the Soviet Union even though he did not mention names. Russia has provided Premier Patrice Lumumba with transport planes to ferry troops into battle against the forces opposing his central government. The Communists also were reported to have furnished military equipment and technicians to the Lumumba forces.

In his fourth report on the Congo, distributed to newsmen summoned upon short notice to U.N. headquarters around midnight, Hammarskjold warned that further disintegration in the Congo situation might mean war.

In Washington Wednesday, President Eisenhower also scored Soviet intervention in the crisis-torn African republic and warned that a serious situation would develop if Russia continued to provide the Congo government with planes and equipment.

Crash Kills 11 Airmen

TOKYO (UPI)—A U.S. Air Force weather reconnaissance plane carrying 11 crewmen crashed into the side of a mountain 100 miles north of Tokyo early today and reports from the scene said there were "no survivors."

The bodies of 10 of the airmen were recovered by an Air Force rescue team. The 11th was not found.

Names of the crew members were withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

The plane, a WB50 assigned to the 58th Weather Reconnaissance Squadron at Yokota Air Base, took off from Yokota on the outskirts of Tokyo early this morning on a weather mission.

About an hour later, the aircraft ploughed into the side of a mountain six miles east of Ishikawa.

Editors Discuss Problems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Newspaper editors and publishers were urged today to pay more attention to women readers and to relate world events to what is going on in their own hometowns.

The suggestions were made during a panel discussion at the opening session of United Press International's Washington conference of editors and publishers.

Top news executives from throughout the nation are attending the two-day meeting at the Statler Hilton Hotel. In addition to discussing news problems, they will hear addresses "by leading government officials."

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson was scheduled to speak at the initial session. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Rep. Chester A. Bowles, D-Conn., were guest speakers at this afternoon's meeting.

G. A. Harshman, president of the Sharon, Pa., Herald, presided at the opening session. Earl J. Johnson, vice president and editor of UPI, welcomed the visiting newsmen.

The first panel discussion dealt with "editorial plight in a shrinking world — local vs. national." It brought a report on women readers along with advice on how local news should be presented in relation to international events.

Frank R. Myers, general manager, Piqua, Ohio, Daily Call, said a survey conducted by his newspaper showed that "our women 'outread' our men by a wide margin."

Except for comics and sports, he said, women are more interested in the newspaper and are better informed on what's in it. Myers said women are more thorough readers, their interests are wider and they spend more time at it.

Austerity Grips Cuba; Many Products Scarce

HAVANA (UPI) — Spreading "austerity" today added chickenless Wednesdays and a canned-vegetable price freeze to the restrictions limiting Cuba's economy. Gasoline rationing was reported in prospect.

The new curbs imposed by the Commerce Ministry forbid the sale or slaughter of live or dressed poultry on Wednesdays, and freeze the prices of most canned vegetables at levels prevailing between Aug. 8 and 13.

There were indications that the freeze might soon be extended to other forms of canned food, including meat, seafood, fruits and juices, as a precaution against "excessive profits."

Meatless Fridays have been the law of the land in Cuba for more than a year.

The Havana Post, Cuba's only English-language daily, was forced to suspend publication Wednesday by "militiamen" who said they were shutting down the newspaper because there was no newsprint available to publish it.

At the same time, Premier Fidel Castro's government expropriated the holdings of the millionaire Blanco Rosell family — the brothers Alfredo, Enrique, Florentino and Byron and their sister, Odette.

A decree said the Blanco properties were seized because of the family's "close ties with the past tyrannical regime" — meaning the administration of President Fulgencio Batista, who was ousted 20 months ago.

No Fishing In City Lake

City Manager John Koontz today ordered city lake closed "until further notice."

"The fish are too small and people are catching them and just tossing them on the bank. We are forced to close the lake until the fish are larger," said Koontz.

He explained that a large number of fingerling bass and channel catfish were put in the lake last spring and that the bass now measure about four and a half inches, with the catfish measuring about nine inches.

"We want the people to fish the lake when the fish are large enough to eat. However, they are too small at this time and we are placing 'no fishing allowed' signs at several points around the lake," Koontz pointed out.

Ike Tours Rocket Center

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower gets a look today at the Saturn rocket vehicle which carries a big share of America's hopes of proving its supremacy in the space race with Russia.

Eisenhower was scheduled to take off on a two-hour and 40-minute flight to Huntsville, Ala., the biggest and newest installation of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

The main purpose of his trip was to take part in ceremonies dedicating the installation as the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center, in honor of the statesman-soldier who died last Oct. 16.

While at Huntsville, the President planned a tour to inspect sites for fabricating, assembling and testing the Saturn booster rocket. After a two-hour visit, he was scheduled to fly back to Washington.

The Saturn vehicle is designed for use in some of this country's deeper space flights. The aim is to develop, in three or four years, a system which will lift loads of many tons into orbit around the earth and into outer space.

Houston Integrates One Negro Boy; 11 Other Applications Are Examined

HOUSTON (UPI)—A three-man board of school officials today examined applications of 11 Negro first grade students to determine if they are eligible to attend white elementary schools.

A six-year-old Negro boy was admitted to a first grade class today at the previously all-white Kashmere Gardens Elementary School.

The 11 Negro children applied for admission to white schools. Let us show you how to get more miles from your tires. Our address is 411 S. Cuyler, Pampa, Safety Lane, MO 5-5771. Adv.

Wednesday as classes opened under orders of Federal Judge Ben Connally to integrate all first grades.

School Supt. John W. McFarland said it was possible that examination of some of the applications would be completed today so that the Negro children could actually enter classes at the schools Friday.

Meantime, School Board President Dr. Henry A. Petersen said it still was possible that the board will seek a stay of Connally's order if integration brings about "unusual circumstances."

Khrushchev Will Have 'Haven' In U.S. Waters

NEW YORK (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev could use the liner "Baltika" as a floating communication center and meeting place safe from eavesdroppers and potential assassins.

Khrushchev is expected to travel on the Baltika to the U.N. Assembly session starting Sept. 20. The 7,494-ton liner is small compared to the large Trans-Atlantic ships, but larger than the yachts maintained by other heads of state.

The gleaming, white liner could be used by Khrushchev to approach the extra-territorial U.N. enclave without being a guest of the United States. But there are two hitch.

—No landing facilities are available at the U.N. East River site, so he will have to make his assault on the international body by land.

—He will have to enter U.S. territorial waters aboard the "Baltika" and undoubtedly will be escorted to a docking place by U.S. authorities.

But despite these limitations, the "Baltika" could be a tent in which Khrushchev could sulk if things did not go his way or there was any affront to his dignity.

Khrushchev has indicated he feels the U.N. meeting should include summit meetings of the big powers, but this is not thought likely to occur due to Western reluctance.

However, with high ranking officials from Iron Curtain countries indicating a desire to attend the U.N. session, Khrushchev is expected to have side meetings with the world's Communist leaders—perhaps aboard the "Baltika."

Petersen pointed out that the board recently adopted a liberal transfer policy in which a student, Negro or white, may transfer to an adjacent school if the school he normally attends is integrated.

Weatherman Says Heat Will Linger

Texas may be heading into autumn according to the calendar but the weatherman says summer heat is expected to last at least a few more days.

The five-day forecast for the state calls for temperatures at least four degrees above normal. Temperatures climbed into the mid 90's over most of the state Wednesday and Presidio, as usual, was the state's hot box, with 102 degrees. Amarillo and Alpine both recorded a low maximum of 87.

The low this morning was 65 at Dalhart.

Temperatures were expected to reach a maximum of the mid 90's again today in all sections but East Texas, where highs were expected to reach about 78 degrees.

Skies were mostly cloudy across Texas today, except in sections of South Texas and spots of the southeastern Panhandle. Corpus Christi got .15 of an inch of rain. Brownsville 0.3, San Antonio .02 and Austin and Laredo a trace Wednesday.

HAVE NEVER SEEN THE LIKES — Veteran Miss America pageant parade watchers in Atlantic City have never seen the likes of buoyant, vivacious Miss Delaware, Deborah Benoit. Miss Benoit started watchers by bouncing up in her car, throwing her hands in the air, and yelling back at them: "C'mon, let's yell!" Acustomed to more reserved contestants, the crowd loved it.

Latin America Marshall Plan By U.S. Hailed

BOTOGA, Colombia (UPI)—Latin American nations, with the notable exception of Fidel Castro's Cuba, today applauded a new multi-million-dollar U.S. "Marshall plan" to eradicate poverty, ignorance and social injustice south of the border.

A three-nation working committee was appointed to put an Ecuadorian resolution expressing "approval and applause" for the plan into shape for formal presentation to the economic conference here.

Brazil, Mexico and Ecuador were represented on the committee. Chile also expressed support for the resolution.

The only immediate dissent came from Regino Boti, Castro's economy minister, who said the plan merely confirmed the U.S. "imperialistic position" with regard to Latin America.

The plan, presented at Tuesday's opening session of the talks by undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon, called for sweeping action to wipe out "poverty, ignorance and the lack of social justice."

Dillon said the $500 million already appropriated by Congress was meant to cover only the "initial phase" of the plan.

HUDSON ESCAPES INJURY

Candidates Offer Plans For Keeping U.S. On Top

By United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy have laid before the American voter their plans for keeping the United States in a position of world leadership.

Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, told a crowd of 5,000 at Portland, Ore., Wednesday night this country "is in danger of losing the respect of the peoples of the world," through what he termed diplomatic and scientific backsliding.

Nixon, in a statement issued as he continued to recover from an infected knee at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, found the United States and Russia engaged in a vast scientific challenge for supremacy.

The Republican presidential candidate said "overall, in the field of science, we are well ahead of the Soviet Union today. But if we are to stay ahead, we must move ahead."

He proposed a major overhaul of America's basic research program, with emphasis on attracting the best "thinkers" available and providing them with the finest financial backing and understanding to explore "the unknown."

Kennedy offered a five-point program designed to revitalize the U.S. position as a world leader. He said his administration would:

Act quickly in the defense field; set new education and research goals; make clear to the world that "the revolution for equal rights is still the American revolution;" search for peace as hard as it prepares for war; develop understanding for the goals and needs of other nations.

Other developments:

Robert Kennedy, the nominee's brother, said at Nashville, Tenn., the religious issue "obviously" is a problem in Southern states which the Democratic party "must carry to win the presidency." He classed Tennessee, Texas, Oklahoma and Kentucky as "doubtful."

President Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday he thought the religious issue should be "laid on the shelf" for the duration of the race.

Adlai E. Stevenson called tonight for the election of Sen. John F. Kennedy to end "eight years of surprise and setback" under the Eisenhower administration. Stevenson's speech before the Illinois Democratic Convention at Chicago was his first all-out political address since Kennedy won the nomination.

Kennedy denied a charge by Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming that he had distorted Nixon's record on medical care for the aged and teachers' salaries.

Mrs. Pat Nixon and a group of cabinet wives prepared for a GOP campaign trip to Lexington, Ky., today. Nixon himself is due to get back on the stumping trail Monday.

Kennedy, who has been keeping an all-out campaign pace since last week, arranged to make a whistle-stop tour through California's Sacramento Valley after making all his scheduled stops in Oregon.

Nixon's running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, prepared for his part in the campaign by conferring Wednesday with Eisenhower at the White House.

Real Estate Board To Vote On Proposal

The Pampa Real Estate Board will vote on whether to adopt multiple listings in its meeting Sept. 20, officials said today following a meeting in the Coronado Inn last night.

Some 30 persons attended the meeting which was highlighted by a panel discussion on multiple listings. Three visitors from Daltart were enthused with the idea.

Pete Priestley, president of the Daltart Board of Realtors; Jim Pigman, secretary of the board, and Newton Foster, noted that the plan had been in operation at Daltart for some time and that everyone was pleased with the idea.

George Neef Jr., chairman of a Pampa Real Estate Board committee that toured cities using multiple listings, also spoke on the plan.

Quentin Williams was in charge of the program in the absence of Bill Clements, president of the local board.

R. A. Hill Rites Pend

R. A. Hill, who resided at 930 S. Banks, died in his home this morning at 10:10 a.m. following an extended illness. Arrangements are pending and will be announced later by Duengel Carmichael Funeral Home.

Mr. Hill, a retired carpenter and oilfield worker, was born May 3, 1881 in Lamar, Ark. and came to Pampa 29 years ago from Petrola.

He was a member of Central Church of Christ and Modern Women of America.

On July 21, 1906, he was married in Nevada, Tex. to Allie McClure, who survives.

Other survivors include four daughters, Mrs. E. C. Messer, Mrs. Louise Lehev, both of Pampa, Mrs. O. E. Heet of Sineett, Mrs. Loyd Fulton of Stella, Mo.; two sons, C. R. and R. P. of Pampa; 10 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Congo troops which he said "under the present circumstances, are an obstacle to the re-establishment of law and order."

He called for a $100-million international aid fund to bolster the Congo economy when order is restored.

The Security Council is expected to meet Friday or Saturday to take up Hammarskjold's report which included an appeal that the body "reaffirm its request to all states to refrain from any action which might tend to impede the restoration of law and order or to aggravate differences."

He said he considered it "essential" that the Security Council clarify the mandate of the U.N. forces in the Congo.

ADMITS STARTING FIRE

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Tommy Gene Bailey told Criminal District Judge Roy McGee Wednesday he stole a station wagon to keep a date with his girl friend because she would have been furious if he had failed to show up.

Judge McGee said he didn't think the excuse was satisfactory, and sentenced him to two years in prison.

Then the judge decided to suspend the sentence on Bailey's good behavior.

"Ride the bus next time," the judge advised.

Rites Set For Frank James

Frank James of Spearman died Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. in his home from a heart attack.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. in Union Church, Spearman, with burial in Spearman Cemetery.

Mr. James, born Nov. 2, 1894 in Berry County, Mo., moved to Hansford County in 1906.

He is survived by wife, Mabel of Spearman; one son, Herman of Ranger, Okla.; one daughter, Viola of Liberal, Kan.; two sisters, Mrs. Bessie Main, Mrs. Ethel Franklin, both of Amarillo; one brother, Willie James of Sunshine, N.M.; a nephew, Oren James of Pampa; and a number of grandchildren.

Student Tells Of Zurich Schooling

Don Capps, a college student who has just completed a year's study in a technical school in Zurich, Switzerland, yesterday told Pampa Rotarians of his experience. Capps' sojourn in Europe was made possible by a Rotary fellowship grant.

The speaker told of the system of education in Switzerland and recounted various experiences he had while in Europe. Capps said the Europeans look upon themselves as more sophisticated in understanding world problems than the United States and expressed criticism of our segregation policies as well as our support of Franco Spain.

In telling about his travels in Germany, the speaker said most Americans were deluded by the "myth" of German superiority from the standpoint of technology and science. Capps said they also had shortcomings in these fields.

Visitors and guests for the day were Bob Harper, Carl Hartman, John Robinson and Don Stallings.

One Councilman Has Got To Go

FORT WORTH (UPI)—The City Council of Benbrook, a suburb of Fort Worth, planned to meet today and decide how to solve its problem.

It has too many councilmen, and one of the members is going to have to resign.

City attorney Henry Kerry discovered the error Wednesday. Kerry said state law limits the size of the council to five, but there are six members.

One city official said that unless one of the councilmen agrees to resign, the council probably will have to dissolve itself and hold a special election to fill all five posts.

"As these news stories come into our newsrooms we must evaluate them, relate them, explaining his dilemma to John Q. (Citizen) and if possible show him a solution," Dix said.

Robert N. Caldwell, managing editor, Bayonne, N.J., Times, said that local news and international or national news "must be blended together in a way that shows that the great affects the small, and the small has its relation to the great."

What Do Girl Watchers Look At First?

PARIS — (NEA) — What do girl watchers see first when they watch girls?

In France, it seems, they generally begin by looking down (at the ankles and legs); then they work their way up.

An unofficial poll of a score of French "experts" — men in all walks of life between 25 and 50 years old) reveals that bare legs go over bigger than made-up faces.

"One-world traveler says: "Today, women can do almost anything with their faces; so there are no ugly women anymore. The same is true for their figures which are bolstered by padded bras and fitted girdles.

"But good legs and ankles usually mean the prolongation of a good figure. So most men look at a woman's legs first. Then, perhaps, they see if she smiles in the right way."

Portrait painter Alex Saint Paul adds:

"I look at her silhouette, the way she walks and especially, the way she holds her head. But more important still are her expression and smile."

A department store personnel director says it's the waist and hips that count. He is seconded by a prominent dentist who also looks at a woman's legs first and her face last.

A famous author, nearly 50, says: "Men of my age are no longer taken in by a pretty face. What usually attracts me to a woman is the way she walks. From the back, I can usually determine her disposition if only she is unaware that she is being observed and, therefore, is her natural self."

None of the men questioned mentioned a woman's bust.

One psychologist reports that a man's character can easily be determined by his first observation of a woman:

Shy men are attracted to a woman's hands. Calm, capable hands reassure them.

The Don Juan and the sensualist first glance at a woman's mouth then her hips.

Pessimists study a woman's face, especially when they have been attracted by her figure. They are afraid they will be disappointed.

The dominating man looks at a woman's eyes, hoping to find shyness he can master. The sentimentalist looks at her eyes for an opposite reason.

Idealists and artists are intrigued by sensitivity and intelligence reflected in a woman's look and smile.

Men who are interested in money (hers) look at the woman's clothes.

But apparently the majority of those polled would be labeled men of action, realists and businessmen by the psychologist. These are men who seek women who are their opposite numbers, girls who have essentially feminine characteristics.

These types look first at a woman's legs, waistline and hips.

STATE SOMETIMES "INHERITS" PROPERTY

Made your will? If not, the State of Texas may wind up as owner of your estate upon your death. Under our statutes, the estates of persons having no heirs who die intestate revert, or "escheat," to the State.

Such provisions have been carried over from the English common law. There, under such circumstances, the estate escheated to the British crown. The theory of the process is that the sovereign (or State), having been the original owner of all lands before they were parceled out to individuals, is entitled to a return of such lands when the possibilities of legal inheritance have been exhausted.

This idea has been expanded to include personal property as well as real estate. It also applies in the case of a person absent for a term of seven years and not known to exist who leaves no heirs and no will.

Presumably, there is hardly a person who does not have some individual or charity that he would prefer to have his estate, rather than have it go to the State by default, so to speak. Yet, surprisingly, estates worth many thousands of dollars do escheat to the various states from time to time.

Now, before you shrug the matter off with the idea that these statutory provisions could not possibly apply to you, better think a minute. Suppose you and your spouse have no heirs besides each other and your children. Many people do fall into this category.

In event of a catastrophe resulting in death for you and your entire immediate family, no legal heirs would remain. Therefore if you had no will, your property would go to the State. In preparing a will, it is possible heirs, a will could be used to designate which of them shall participate in the division of the estate. And even if you wish your property to be distributed entirely in accordance with our statutes of descent and distribution as explained in previous columns, a will can perform useful functions. Among other uses, a will could provide for an orderly and economical partition of your property, preventing any waste of the assets by heirs impatient for a settlement.

What happens to property which escheats to the State? Following certain required legal formalities and court proceedings, all escheated lands are set apart to the Permanent Free School Fund of the State, and may be leased and

Dog Now Eats And Kills Fleas At Same Time

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Every dog has his day" is about to become true for millions of flea-bitten dogs.

Little did author Miguel de Cervantes know when he penned his famous line about dogs in "Don Quixote" sometime between 1547 and 1616 A.D. that some day dogs would get relief from fleas.

That day apparently is in the offing. An Agricultural Research sold by the Land Commissioner under certain regulations. Escheated personal property is sold by the local sheriff under a court writ and the money received therefrom paid into the State Treasury.

Service (ARS) on an anti-flea dog food which eventually may make a dog's life worth living.

The anti-flea element when mixed in dog food permeates the dog's body. When the flea bites the dog, the flea gives up the ghost.

The Agriculture Department said the discovery was made by Dr. R.J. Goulding at the Oregon Experiment Station at Oregon State College, Corvallis.

Goulding was testing chemicals for control of cattle parasites when he conceived the idea that certain chemicals mixed in dog food might protect dogs from fleas.

Financial Review

By HENRY J. BECHTOLD UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The auto industry's 1960-model cleanup has set the stage for a buyers' market.

If you don't mind settling for a year-old car whose depreciation will drop sharply the moment you get it, this is the month to buy a 1960 auto.

This is the time of the year when stocks of current models have to be sold to make room for next year's models. The auto company's already are showing off their 1961 models to dealers and the press around the country.

Price concessions are nearly always available at cleanup time, but this year unusually liberal discounts are being offered. According to Alan G. Rude, president of Universal C.I.T. Credit Corp.

Behind this is the record high number of 1960 cars in dealers hands that must be disposed of before the introduction of the new 1961 really gets underway next month.

The new car inventory of more than 200,000 units presents a real challenge to the retailing segment of the industry, but Rude believes the challenge will be met.

He added, however, that it will be met in a way that offers unusual advantages to the buyer. This buyers' market presents "exceptional" money-saving opportunities, Rude stated, adding that outstanding buys also are available in the used-car market.

Aside from price considerations, Rude said that the very magnitude of the inventory offers the buyer an unprecedented opportunity to find the kind of car he wants. Never before have so many different makes, models and sizes been available in so many price ranges—from small foreign imports and U. S. compacts to nine-passenger station wagons.

Rude said these somewhat unusual conditions prevailing in the automobile market also are a boon to a growing segment of our society that is finding a "second" car as much of a necessity as one car was a generation ago.

The latest figures on multi-car ownership point up this trend. In some 4,150,000 U. S. households owned two or more automobiles while today the total stands at more than seven million.

Although the number of multi-car households has increased by nearly 70 per cent the past six years, Rude said the market represented by families that want a second car is far from saturated.

He said there still are at least 10 million one-car families in the United States that need and can afford a second car.

In these families — all with incomes above the median figure for the nation—the breadwinner usually takes the only car to work, leaving his wife and other licensed drivers in the family without transportation.

Rude contends that these families could solve their transportation problems, and spare the family budget, too, by taking advantage of this current buyers' market in automobiles.

Movie Stars Smart Enough To Get Rich

By VERNON SCOTT UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — How bright are movie stars? Glamour folk have never won Oscars on an I.Q. basis, and few hold college degrees.

But almost all of them are smart enough to have amassed sizable fortunes. A number of performers have highly stimulating minds.

Among those who prove the intellectual forests are such diverse (and in some cases improbable) stars as Marlon Brando, Burt Lancaster, Tony Curtis, Kirk Douglas, Jerry Lewis and Charlton Heston.

Most stars, talking for publication, shy away from discussing anything but their personal lives. Many have nothing else to talk about in the first place.

But take Heston, for example. Perhaps because of his record for playing Biblical characters, he has become an authority on religion. His library is filled with research books on the subject.

He frequently is called upon to speak on religion, and his texts are taken from well-marked, foot-noted sources which he pores over by the hour.

Curtis has an unquenchable enthusiasm for everything. Tony has taught himself to play the flute. This fall he will attend night classes at UCLA to study chemistry and biology to satisfy his desire to learn.

An omnivorous reader, Marlon Brando can discuss philosophy, art and the whole spectrum of human experience at length. He has a questioning mind and a passion to right social injustices.

Jerry Lewis has a brain?

You betcha: He has an inventive mind and a vivid imagination. He has equipped his home with electronic paraphernalia, including a recording studio and tape facilities. Jerry often pushes buttons, flicks switches and broadcasts directly from his home to an FM station he owns in the San Fernando Valley.

It takes more than just a little gray matter for a man to write, produce, direct and star in his own movies.

Douglas and Lancaster have the drive and intelligence that combine artistic ability with an uncanny business sense.

Both men are well informed on everything from politics to classical music and literature, though they seldom discuss their knowledge outside their circle of close friends.

GOOD WILL — He never dreamed it would happen, but Peter Volod, Chicago businessman, has made a big contribution to world understanding. On an inspiration, he established Foster Business, Inc., encouraging international businessmen to help each other.

Friends Take Last Look At Earl K. Long

WINNFIELD, La. (UPI) — Farm folks and neighbors gathered on a clay hill here today for one last look at the man who spent the last half of his life cussing them, embarrassing them and loving them — Earl Kemp Long.

A few state politicians and celebrities showed up for the burial of the three-time governor, but mostly the mourners were the people Earl always called "the little shots."

"Uncle Earl," as he's known here, loved to rear back on a speaker's stump and bellow in his hoarse, gravelly voice that he was "not a governor for the big shots, Ole Earl's for the little shots, too."

Long died as congressman-nominee Monday, a few days after he won the most impressive campaign triumph of his life.

When the opposition jeered at him for associating with striptease dancers and making a zany tour of the Southwest, Long grinned back that his opponent had a stripper on the payroll and a Republican at that.

On his 53th birthday last month, when he had a heart attack, Long passed off the pain as a "touch of ptomaine" and refused to go to a hospital. He knew what news of a heart attack would do to his chances at the polls the next day.

He won. Then nine days later, under an oxygen tent, he died.

While his body lay in state in Baton Rouge the past two days, it attracted the most massive pilgrimage of mourners the Capitol had seen since the death of Earl's brother, "Kingfish" Huey Long, an even more controversial figure.

First Round Winners In Beauty Race

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — The hour: Just about midnight. The theme: Cinderella.

For Miss Alabama, Teresa Rinaldi, Miss Michigan, Nancy Anne Fleming and Miss South Carolina, Edith Sandra Browning, their first wish came true at that place and that hour Wednesday night. They were the Cinderella winners in the first round of judging to pick Miss America 1961.

Miss Alabama and Miss Michigan tied as the most talented. Miss South Carolina was given the nod by the 11 judges as the prettiest in swim suit.

Another girl among the 54 contestants was as lucky as the named three. But she doesn't know it, and maybe never will. She won the evening gown competition, but that winner is never announced, and is acknowledged, if at all, only indirectly by being named one of the finalists on Saturday night.

For Miss Rinaldi, the 20-year-old hopeful from Birmingham, Ala., it will mean a scholarship for another year of music study in New York, and consequently a better chance to someday sing at the Metropolitan Opera as did her father, the late Joseph Rinaldi.

For Miss Fleming, 18, of Montague, Mich., it meant recognition of her clothing design talent, and maybe a chance to achieve her desire to write fashion and food news for a magazine or newspaper.

For Miss Browning, a 19-year-old blonde from Greenwood, S.C., it meant erasure of a groundless claim that maybe she would be disqualified in the swim suit competition because she appeared out of sequence in the line of presentation.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

In the midst of United Nations efforts to restore order in the Congo, President Charles de Gaulle of France has told the world body sternly to keep its hands off Algeria.

Thus he exposed again a weakness of the U.N. which has been a cause of complaint almost from its beginnings and of concern for its future among its supporters.

It is the charge that the U.N. operates under two sets of rules — one for the small nations, and another for the major powers.

For example, Belgium complained bitterly but felt forced to comply with a U.N. demand that its forces leave the Congo.

Belgian Premier Gaston Eyskens then accused the U.N. of working under a double standard.

In his first press conference in a year, De Gaulle referred scathingly to "the enations that are so-called united."

France, he said, will pay no heed to any action concerning Algeria taken within the United Nations.

With the exception of the United States, each of the major powers has at one time or another flouted majority opinion of the U.N. Russia continues to do so on Hungary, Britain and France did it on Egypt.

In his drive to force France into the forefront of major nations, De Gaulle frankly expounds the theory of power blocs. Thus, he would place in the hands of France, Britain and the United States final decisions affecting all 15 nations of NATO, keystone of West European defenses.

He would link France, Germany, Italy, Luxembourg, Belgium and Holland into a political and economic force whose strength and population would rival either the United States or Russia.

In this third force, France would be the bridge to the United States, U.S. and Britain.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The drug industry has yet to produce a pep pill or tonic that can match the kick a senator gets out of being re-elected.

I came to this conclusion while witnessing in the Senate caucus room a revival of the drug price investigation which has been occupying the attention of the anti-trust subcommittee for the past year or two.

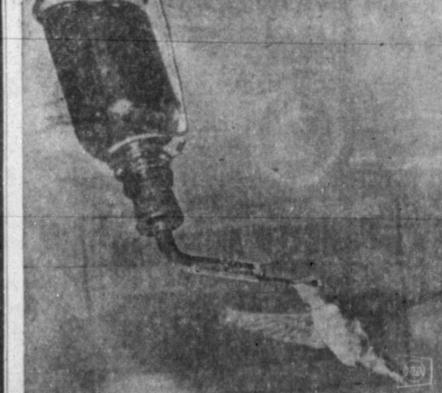

The chairman of the subcommittee, as every pill maker and taker knows, is Sen. Estes Kefauver, the energetic Tennessee Democrat and handshaker, who has done so much to make "demethylchlorotetracycline" a household word.

Kefauver has been engaged in a running feud with the drug industry and with Republican members of the subcommittee over whether the protracted inquiry:

(1) has produced evidence of uniform drug price patterns or (2) is just a lot of who-struck-Upjohn.

The last time I attended one of these hearings, I thought that Kefauver looked a little droopy. He looked, in fact, like he might be in need of one of the products he was investigating.

It turned out, however, that Kefauver's trouble was more political than clinical. There obviously was nothing wrong with him that his victory in last month's Tennessee primary couldn't cure.

THE QUICK AND THE THIRSTY—His fast-beating wings almost invisible, a hovering hummingbird pokes his long, narrow beak into an outdoor bird bar set up in Merced, Calif. Charles Harris filled the bottle with water, sugar, food coloring.

SALMON-STUFFED PEPPERS — Happy ending to a fish story are these salmon-stuffed peppers. Topped with lightly browned bread crumbs and shredded Parmesan cheese the pepper halves have a filling of flaked canned salmon, bread crumbs and evaporated milk briskly seasoned with chopped onion, celery salt and lemon juice. Plan on two pepper halves per serving of this protein-rich main dish.

Short, Busy Days Call For Casserole

Doesn't it seem that as days grow shorter, the list of things you'd like to do grows longer? Getting school clothes, ready, getting the youngsters off to school, and yourself organized for social and club affairs, all these activities take time.

A salad of sliced tomatoes and cucumbers on lettuce, and fresh peaches and cream for dessert would make a satisfying meal, easy on the cook and easy on the budget.

MIDWEST CASSEROLE

- 1 12-ounce can luncheon meat, cut in 1/2-inch cubes
- 1 cup coarsely crushed cracker crumbs
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 2 cans (16 ounces each) cream-style corn
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard

Combine crushed cracker crumbs and milk. Add beaten eggs, cream-style corn, minced onion, mix well and fold in cubed luncheon meat, pepper and dry mustard. Mix well and fold in cubed luncheon meat. Pour into a 2-quart casserole. Bake, uncovered, in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Small Fry Love Strawberry Drink

A festive occasion for small fry calls for something special in the drinks department. Here's a party treat called Dutch Strawberry Float that youngsters will really go for because it's a combination of two flavor favorites, chocolate and strawberry, poured over a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

DUTCH STRAWBERRY FLOAT

Makes 4 servings

- 1 cup Borden's Instant Dutch Chocolate Mix
- 2 cups milk
- 1/4 cup frozen strawberries

Indian Summer Picnic For Fond Farewell

Green peppers really come into their own when baked and stuffed as in this recipe for salmon-stuffed peppers. Chopped or cut into strips they're an invaluable ingredient in countless dishes, but prepared this way they certainly have the best opportunity to show off their graceful shape and unique flavor.

A white sauce made with smoothable, blendable evaporated milk is the starting point of the salmon "stuffing" for the peppers. Flaked canned salmon, bread crumbs and seasonings complete the flavorful mixture that is spooned into the pepper halves. A sprinkling of more crumbs and some Parmesan cheese on top and they're all ready for the oven. (Parboiling the peppers beforehand gives them a head start on cooking so baking time is cut to only about twenty minutes.)

With both salmon and evaporated milk in the filling this becomes a protein-packed main dish idea to plan your menu around. Two of the stuffed pepper halves will make one hearty serving.

Salmon-stuffed Peppers
4 medium size green peppers
1 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
1 can salmon (7-3/4 oz.)
2 tablespoons flour
1 tall can evaporated milk (1-2-3 cups)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon pepper

2 cups gingerale
Fresh strawberries, if available
Combine the ingredients in electric blender for 1/2 to 1 minute or beat with rotary beater. Divide mixture into four equal portions. Pour each portion over a scoop of vanilla ice cream in a 10 ounce glass. Garnish with fresh strawberries, if available. Serve at once.

Football Stars Need Fuel

Football coaches across the country will start shaping up their teams the first week back at school, and they'll be shaping our children's futures at the same time. Luckily, the coach's word is law to aspiring young athletes and they'll heed his advice on proper rest and diet.

Athletic instructors and doctors know that all children need vitamin C daily and in greater quantities when they are participating in active sports. The most economical and pleasant way to get vitamin C is by drinking Florida orange juice, the best natural source of this essential vitamin which is the only one that must be replaced daily because the body is not equipped to store it. In addition to the need for vitamin C, to build and maintain sound teeth, strong limbs and to resist infection, the sugar content of orange juice provides extra energy for children on a busy schedule of school work and sports.

Frozen Florida orange juice concentrate is easily reconstituted for immediate serving and the youngsters will enjoy helping themselves. Low-priced and convenient, this beverage should be encouraged as a refresher rather than sweetened or carbonated drinks which contain little or no nutrients.

For a special after-school treat, pour Florida orange juice into ice cube tray, leaving divider section in place. Place wooden pop sticks in each cube and freeze until firm. Children will enjoy the frozen goody and you'll have the satisfaction of knowing it is made of pure juice, and is, therefore, good for them.

Versatile Potatoes Provide Salad For Hearty Luncheon Entree

Potatoes are so versatile there's always a new and slightly different way to prepare them. With potato salad the difference may be in the ingredients used in the salad, in the dressing or both. In Cottage Cheese Potato Salad, the cooked eggs are marinated in dairy sour cream laced with zesty Italian-style dressing.

Creamy cottage cheese is added, increasing not only the flavor but the protein value of the salad, so that you may enjoy it as a hearty luncheon entree. Serve it with a mug of piping hot bouillon and crunchy, buttered garlic bread.

For an attractive dish, pack the salad into a 5-8 cup ring mold first rinsed with cold water. Chill when ready to serve, unmold on a bed of greens, decorating the center with crisp, vitamin-packed vegetables.

COTTAGE CHEESE POTATO SALAD

6-8 servings

- Ring mold, 5-6-cup
- 1/4 cup dairy sour cream
- 2 tablespoons Italian-style dressing
- 2 cups diced, cooked potatoes
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, diced
- 2 cups cottage cheese
- 1/2 cup sliced celery
- 1-3 cup diced ripe olives
- 1-3 cup sliced radishes
- 1-3 cup sliced green onions
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Greens

In a large mixing bowl, blend together sour cream and dressing; add potatoes and eggs and allow to marinate while preparing rest of ingredients. Then, fold in cottage cheese, celery, olives, radishes, onions and salt; pack in mold, which has been rinsed with cold water. Chill. When ready to serve, unmold on greens and fill center with vegetable stick relishes, if desired.

Children need as much protein during the summer vacation months as during school days, the Texas Beef Council reminds mothers. Active bodies grow EVERY day, and beef is one of our best sources of essential protein.

Hashburgers Have New Taste Flair

Now for a new way to serve corned beef hash. Give the hash added flavor by the addition of catchup, pickle relish and oregano. Spread the tasty mixture on frankfurter buns which have been split and toasted.

Then, for a novel touch, to give the hash a party air as well as added flavor, place cheese, cut in strips, diagonally across each bun.

The result will appeal to the eye as well as the plate, and can't help boost your rating as a hostess.

HOSTESS HASHBURGERS

- 1 can (1 pound) corned beef hash
- 1/2 cup catchup
- 1/4 cup pickle relish
- 1/2 teaspoon oregano
- 24 strips of mild cheese, cut about 1/4 inch wide and 1 1/4 inches long
- 4 frankfurter buns

Split frankfurter buns in half and toast the cut side in broiler. Mix together corned beef hash, catchup, pickle relish, and oregano. Spread mixture on toasted buns, using about 1-3 cup for each half of bun. Top each burger with 3 strips of cheese. Bake on cookie sheet in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 15 to 20 minutes, until cheese has melted and corned beef mixture is hot. Yield: 8 hashburgers.

Carbonated Soft Drinks Hold Secret For Adding Zest, Color To Fruit Salad

Autumn menus should include abundance and variety of fruits — tempting fruit cocktails, fruit salads, colorful and pretty arranged fruit plates, to which a dressing may be added, if desired.

Whatever way you serve it, here's a secret to help keep cut-up fruit cold and crisp and fresh in color; put it in a container, cover it with a carbonated soft drink, and put it in the refrigerator. The beverage not only adds a bit of zing to the flavor, but it helps to keep the fruit crisp and retards unattractive discoloration.

Any carbonated soft drink may be used; some, such as ginger ale or cola, will add an interesting spicy flavor — others, the fruit types, such as lemon-lime, orange, cherry, etc., will reinforce the natural fruit flavors.

There's a further alliance between fresh fruit and soft drinks, too. They make an ideal quick extender for mayonnaise to be served with fruit salads or fruit plates. Just stir a little beverage (again, your choice of flavors) into prepared mayonnaise. Add a little at a time until the consistency is just what you wish. Use it just this way if you're in a hurry; or, if you want to go a step further, fold in some whipped cream.

A very good dressing for fruit can also be made with cream cheese!

CREAM CHEESE DRESSING

- 1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese
- 1/2 cup bottled carbonated beverage
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup heavy cream, chilled

Put cream cheese in smallest bowl of electric mixer. Beat in beverage, salt, lemon juice and mayonnaise until blended.

In separate bowl, beat chilled heavy cream. Fold whipped cream into first mixture. Makes 1 pint.

No matter what the season, ice cream is a favorite, and ice cream with fresh sliced peaches and honey poured on top is good enough for a company dessert.

THERE'LL BE MORE ECHOES—Technicians at Langley Field Va., prepare two more Project Echo plastic balloon satellites. On the work table each satellite is slightly more than 157 feet long. They will be compactly folded into metal containers 26 1/2 inches in diameter. The satellite at right in the early stages of folding, is held by 12-inch clothespins. The one at left, further along in the intricate process, is being encased in a vinyl sleeve. After this is finished, the final small amounts of air trapped inside is removed.

East German President Pieck Dies

BERLIN (UPI) — President Wilhelm Pieck, 84, of Communist East Germany, died Wednesday following a lengthy illness, the East German news agency ADN announced.

The veteran Communist had been a virtual invalid for years. He suffered a stroke in 1953, and had been confined to his residence since 1957.

On Monday, ADN reported that Pieck's heart "suddenly weakened." Subsequent medical bulletins reported a steady deterioration in his condition.

Pieck survived other founders of the German Communist party by almost a half - century and lived to see the Reds capture control of a third of Germany.

He returned from Nazi-imposed exile with the victorious Red army in 1945.

Pieck was named president of the German Democratic Republic on its foundation in October 1949. He was re-elected unanimously in September 1953. In 1957, the rubber-stamp parliament side-stepped the Constitution to "prolong" his term indefinitely.

Pieck was not formally re-elected by parliament then because he was too ill to attend the session and take the oath of office.

Pieck began his career as a left-wing agitator when as a 19-year-old carpenter he joined the revolutionary wing of the German Social Democratic party.

Last Crosby Son Is Wed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Gary Crosby wed dancer Barbara Stuart Tuesday night to become the fourth son of crooner Bing Crosby to marry a Las Vegas showgirl.

Neither Gary's famous father nor his three brothers showed up at the double ring ceremony performed by Justice of the Peace George O. Dreem.

Gary had been the last bachelor among Bing's four grown sons.

"We did it, honey!" yelled Gary after the wedding. "I feel much better now."

Said the bride, "This is the happiest day in my life."

The only guests were about 50 friends of the couple who crowded into the Flamingo Hotel penthouse for the brief ceremony and then stayed on for a reception.

The couple—who met about five weeks ago while both were performing at the Flamingo—later threw a second reception for all members of the hotel's show.

It was the first wedding for Gary and the second for Miss Stuart, a divorcee. Both are 27.

She announced her retirement from show business after the wedding.

The couple said plans for a honeymoon were indefinite. They planned to return to Los Angeles later in the week.

Functional Home For Easy Living Especially Designed For Disabled

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Nation's newest home for folks in wheelchairs contains many features making living more efficient for anyone — irrespective of the presence or absence of disability.

The ranch home is situated on the grounds of the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at New York University medical center.

Called "the functional home for easier living," it was designed specifically for the physically disabled, the elderly and those with cardiac handicaps.

The home was contributed to the medical center by James Rosati and Sons, builders of St. Petersburg, Fla.

A concrete pathway approaching the house assures a steady foothold and a smooth ride for a wheelchair or baby carriage.

To eliminate the hazards of stair climbing, the house has no basement and attic.

The doorway from the carport is wide enough to allow a wheelchair to roll through easily.

As you pass through the entrance into the house, you notice that the hallways, doors, floors, windows, light switches, electrical outlets, fuse box and vacuum cleaner facilities are especially designed and selected for safety, accessibility and ease of operation.

The light switches are one yard above the floor — to make them easier to reach. Master switches in the bedroom, kitchen and living room make it possible to control all lights in the house at one sitting. This eliminates unnecessary trips.

The windows are the awning type with push-bar handles.

Dear Abby...
There Comes Time When "It's Too Late"
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Editor's Note: Ever since this letter appeared in my column, I have received hundreds of requests for copies of it. No letter has ever provoked more comment. I think it is worth repeating. ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am the most heartbroken person on earth. I always found time to go everywhere else but to see my old gray-haired parents. They sat at home alone loving me just the same. It is too late now to give them those few hours of happiness I was too selfish and too busy to give, and now when I go to visit their graves and look at the green grass above them I wonder if God will ever forgive me for the heartaches I must have caused them. I pray that you will print this, Abby, to tell those who still have their parents to visit them and show their love and respect while there is still time. For it is later than you think.

"TOO LATE"

Christmas Ideas Shared At HDC

Mrs. C. B. Hicks was hostess to Goodwill Home Demonstration Club on Tuesday morning in her home, 404 N. Nelson.

Opening with the club prayer repeated in unison, the business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Ray Frazier, each member answered roll call by giving a "school day time-saver."

New officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Mmes. Leland Diamond, president; C. B. Hicks, vice president; Donald Nestel, secretary; Ed Juenger, treasurer; Ray Frazier, council delegate.

A program of "Christmas Gift Ideas" was presented by Mrs. Hicks and Mrs. Marvin Rowan. Ideas were shared for making aprons, wall plaques, aluminum trays, stuffed dolls, pin cushions.

Mrs. James Frazier was welcomed as a new member and Mrs. Tom Haggard as a guest.

Others attending were Mmes. John Osborn, Lee Jackson, W. E. Aulry, A. P. Coombes.

It was announced that the next meeting will be with Mrs. Ed Juenger, 1918 Christine on Sept. 20 at 9:30 a.m.

UP AGAINST IT

DEAR UP: Put the knickknacks out and forget it. If this is your biggest problem, you're the luckiest woman I heard from today.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which a lot of girls seem to have. How can you find out which church a boy goes to without coming right out and asking him? I am 18 and my parents don't want me going with boys unless they are the same faith as I am.

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: There is nothing wrong with "coming right out" and asking a boy which church he goes to.

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

Homemakers should serve an occasional meal of variety meats, the Texas Beef Council believes. Restaurant chefs have made national reputations on their recipes for Kidneys en Brochette, Broiled Sweetbreads, and Tripe a la Creole. These meats are as rich nutritionally as standard cuts of beef, and some of them are very fine sources of vitamins and minerals.

Time Remembered: The Battle of Britain

By TOM CULLEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON — (NEA) — Time: Sunday, Sept. 15, 1946. Place: Somewhere over Britain. The fate of civilization hangs in the balance.

The "Battle of Britain" has been raging since July 16. It is to go on until Oct. 31 but this is the turning point. Britain does not have a single fighter left in reserve.

Hitler launches the greatest of his daylight bombing raids on London.

Group Capt. Myles Duke-Woolley remembers today: "Most of the experienced pilots had already been used up. They had either been killed or were too exhausted or too badly wounded to fly again."

But 25 squadrons took to the air to beat off the German attack. Most of the pilots had just finished their training.

Then, for 20 minutes, all the squadrons were forced to come in to refuel and rearm.

During those 20 minutes, the whole of England was stripped of its defenses and lay open to attack. Had the Germans chosen to attack, they could have shot up the entire fighter force as it refueled on the ground.

But the Germans, too, were out of fuel, before they could attack again, the Royal Air Force squadrons had re-formed and were ready for them.

The crisis was over.

Within 48 hours, Hitler, cheated of a quick knock-out blow, postponed the invasion of Britain. The RAF attacked in strength along the entire German-held European coast from Boulogne to Antwerp.

And Winston Churchill said: "Never in the field of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so few."

Those "few" were the 3,000 RAF men engaged in operational flying during the Battle of Britain. They never numbered more than 1,000 men at one time.

Twenty years have passed since and 833 fighter planes. They stopped the invasion.

These RAF pilots meant many

DOE - He's attached to RAF fighter command headquarters now. Twenty years ago, the right side of his face was blown off.

different things to different people. It could just as easily be 600 for those Battle of Britain pilots surely had more in common with knights of old engaged in jousts than they did with today's super-sonic jet pilots.

They flew piston-engined Spitfires and Hurricanes; they wore goggles and sheepskin jackets; some knotted the scarves of their girl friends around their necks because they had seen Errol Flynn do it in a movie.

They flew by sight, touch and sound instead of push-button; radar was still in its infancy in 1940. They engaged Messerschmitts in "dog fights."

Duke-Woolley, who shot down 11 enemy aircraft during the Battle, laiments the impersonal touch in warfare since then.

"When a fighter pilot took on a Messerschmitt, he was in a duel to the death. He might even have felt anger, hatred for a few seconds. But nowadays, aerial combat is a bloodless, impersonal affair.

"Future wars may be fought and won by remote control with never a shot fired in real anger."

The 3,000 RAF pilots were all too human. More than 500 were killed in the Battle of Britain. They lost 915 planes. But they could point with pride at the 1,733 German aircraft they shot down.

Those who are still alive can hold their heads up, remembering that the RAF, which never numbered more than 800 fighter planes during the Battle, held off Hitler's vast aerial armada of 2,815 heavy bombers, 368 dive bombers in the world, they were the "few."

To the British infantry, they were glamour boys, to the Royal Navy, men still wet behind the ears. To Hitler, they were madmen who refused to admit defeat even after they had been licked.

To the London taxicab drivers, they were the "wild ones" who had to be taken back to base after their "benders." To the people of Kent, who played darts with them in pubs, they were "those nice boys who try so hard to act grown up."

They were young. (At 26, a group captain was considered average.) They were sloppy to be different. They flew six "sorties" a day and played darts in the evening.

They were boys who gulped down pints of mild and bitter ales and smoked pipes which they didn't enjoy. On the ground, these men acted like boys, mimicking their aerial exploits with "zooming" and "zooming."

They "scrambled" for their planes just about every time they would sit down to sausage and chips... or so it seemed.

"But mostly we slept between missions," says Wing Commander Robert F. Doe, a man with 14 German aircraft to his credit. He didn't sleep, though, when the entire right side of his face was shot off in combat.

His face was rebuilt; only a slightly dented nose marks him as a "guinea pig," the RAF term for a patched up pilot.

Doe was shot down in October, 1940, his parachute riddled with bullets. But, in typical RAF fashion, he was flying again before his wounds healed. He says:

"It was not a case of bravery, but of a job to be done."

To those who watched from the ground, the battle in the skies over Kent was tremendously exciting. They saw vapor trails madly crisscross, heard the staccato of machine-guns, gasped as fighters came in with victory rolls or dropped in the dreadful smoke plumes of defeat.

"Everyone in Kent was watching us," Duke-Woolley says. "If we hadn't attacked, we wouldn't have dared go into the pub that night."

THOSE NICE BOYS in the RAF tried so hard to act grown up.

THE "FEW" scrambled for their planes every time they sat down to eat.

Groucho Asks Equal Time For Candidates On His Show

By JOE FENNIGAN
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Groucho Marx is demanding "equal time" from Vice President Nixon, who has already been on Jack Paar's show, and Sen. John Kennedy, who plans to appear there later this month.

Marx, a self-described "unconstructed Democrat" with an open mind in the presidential election, sent both candidates a telegram saying he was being discriminated against.

"Since we are on the air at an earlier hour, our total listening audience is many times that of the Paar show," Groucho said. "May I point out that any voter worth his salt is in bed asleep by 11:00 p.m."

Sitting in the Browns Derby over a fatten huddle lunch, Groucho to win $10,000 on his quiz show and donate their winnings to charity.

"If they don't win any money, I'll give them a permanent wave set and a pen," he added. "Because he operates a quiz show, Groucho said, 'The American public would get a chance to see how bright they are. I'd give them the same categories as farmers, hillbillies and housewives.'"

"Not only that, I could talk about prohibition and Carrie Nation wrecking the saloons, also the market crash. What does Paar know about those things?"

Besides calling upon the wisdom of age, Groucho also offered the candidates counsel on international problems.

"I'd give them advice on not to trust Russia, then Germany, then England, then France," he said. "Don't trust anybody."

Groucho also said the candidates would have an opportunity

Brain Acts As Propellant With Enough Alcohol, Gasoline Added

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—A medical scientist has alerted practicing doctors to their "opportunity of appearing simultaneously brilliant and useful." All they have to do is seize it to keep in mind that these days, the human brain often is used for a purpose which does it no good.

"With the aid of such propellants as alcohol and gasoline, it commonly functions as a projectile," said Dr. Leonard W. Jarcho of the University of Utah, Salt Lake City, in lamenting the frequency with which the consequence is first discovered on the autopsy table.

The consequence is a clotted mass of escaped blood—a "hematoma"—just below the brain's enveloping meningeal sac, the dura. Such a body both interferes with brain work and increases pressure inside the skull and unless it is removed, sooner or later death results.

To appear "simultaneously brilliant and useful" a doctor must suspect such a hematoma exists when bizarre behavior or nervous afflictions appear suddenly in people never before given to such, and proceed as once to life-saving brain surgery, Jarcho said.

These hematomas can result from blows to the head of much lesser force than those which break the scalp and produce bleeding, thus causing an obvious "head injury" that will be investigated thoroughly and watched carefully.

The unsuspected ones occur most often in persons who are least likely to remember a shock to the head when questioned by a doctor, namely alcoholics and in the technical journal, "Medical aged persons, Jarcho continued in the technical journal, "Medical Science."

He went on to give a basis for suspecting the existence of a hematoma.

"A degree of interference with intellectual function occurs in virtually all patients. A patient who answers questions sensibly at one moment gradually slips into stupor the next.

"Dullness, inattentiveness, and lack of initiative are likely to be present even at times of great lucidity. Orientation may be defective and memory usually suffers badly. The simplest mathematical calculation cannot be performed."

The only remedy is to get rid of the clotted blood. This usually is done by cutting two buttons out of the skull and using the holes for "through and through irrigation."

This is "simple" to do, Jarcho said, and "ordinarily is carried out under local anesthesia. Often the stuporous patient begins to recover consciousness in the operating room."

IT AIN'T SO — Poker-faced young comic in Bradenton, Fla., won't escape the heat with this block of "ice." It's a plastic chemical container.

DUKE - WOOLEY: He's now in charge of operations and training at the RAF fighter command.

U.S. Due Final Games Splurge

DECATHLON TEST — America's Rafer Johnson sails through the air as he competes in the broad jump of the decathlon at the Olympic Games in Rome. Johnson leaped 24 feet, one and three-eighths inches in the broad jump which was won by Formosa's C. K. Yang. Johnson, however, took the coveted award in a bitter duel with the U.C.L.A. student. You Gotta Be 'Hungry' To Triumph

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International
ROME (UPI) — The Olympic trail is littered today with a host of broken dreams — and shattered craniums — which prove once again that you must be hungry to be a champion.

Jack Dempsey proved it long ago. And more recently it was asayed once again by a kid named Rocky Marciano, who hitchhiked his way to New York City, as well as a first time fellow named Ingemar Johansson.

They were hungry and so they were winners.

Dempsey murdered hulking Jess Willard to arrive from the poverty of the tank towns. Marciano ruined them all until he was smart enough to see complacency setting in and made his decision to step down. Johansson used mediocre talent with starving superiority and then got too fat to hold it.

Fatness — in body or mind — is the real reason for defeat in sports.

And never in the history of the current Olympic Games has it been proved as much as it has this time around.

For the blasted illusions of those who thought they "had it made" are prominent in the records which they will compile when these international games are over.

Training Takes Toll As SWC Units Stiffen

By United Press International
Baylor's Bears showed a powerful punch in their first full-speed scrimmage of the year Wednesday while around the rest of the Southwest Conference injuries continued to plague the teams in pre-season drills.

The Bruins divided themselves into Green (the first and second units) and White teams and squared off for a 90-minute session. When it was over, the scoreboard showed a 60-0 victory for the Greens.

But it took its toll. Pasadena sophomore Carl Choate and Bobby Crenshaw suffered shoulder and knee injuries and sophomore James Moore of Harlingen received a cut heel. Junior Ken Hays of Linden suffered a neck injury. They will all be out of action for several days.

More serious injuries were reported elsewhere around the conference.

Bobby Biehunko, second team center for TCU's Horned Frogs, has been sidelined for the season. Coach Abe Martin said a knee injury has not responded to treatment and he will have to have an operation Friday.

Joe Paul Alberty, regular fullback for Arkansas last year, will miss the Porkers opener against Oklahoma State and possibly the Tulsa game because of three fractures in his chin and right temple. X rays showed the breaks Wednesday, caused by an accidental kick during practice.

Tom Adams, a sophomore tackle from Sapulpa, Okla., was lost to Arkansas for the season, and possibly will never play football again because of a knee injury described by Dr. Coy Kaylor, team physician, as the worst he has ever seen. Adams will be operated on Friday.

Texas coach Darrell Royal said he wasn't a bit impressed with the overall picture of the Longhorns' two-hour scrimmage, but said he was pleased with the work of John Ed Smith, a reserve quarterback from Weatherford.

"Right now, we're a tired, confused and disorganized team," Royal said. "We're going to have

Curfman Lauds Harvester Spirit

By Ed Hayes Wilson
Daily News Sports Writer
Pampa High School football coach Babe Curfman had one comment this morning concerning the Harvesters:

"I can't say how the boys will react when they take the field tomorrow night to what we have drilled them on; it may be they will pull a few stunts that will place them in poor position a time or two, but I can say this; you'll never witness a harder working, more eager bunch of boys than these."

That was a high tribute to the boys, but Curfman said it was deserved, and that, "Though I don't usually say things like that before an opening contest, I sincerely believe the boys have earned such a tribute."

"You don't usually take a bunch of kids out and work them hour after hour and not have a few of them lag on you. But not these fellows. They're still eager to go when I'm worn to a frazzle. I haven't seen anything like this before."

"We may not win the games, but, by gosh, somebody isn't going to feel like eating supper. These kids will play 'em down to the wire," said Curfman.

Flu, a plague to Curfman this week, has faded away but it has left its mark. Some of the boys are a bit weak, but, as the coach said, "They'll be ready to go. We may have to relieve some of them more than we'd like to, but that's the way it goes. We're prepared for it."

Duke Garren was hit hardest by the epidemic. He has been under treatment by his family doctor, but Curfman said Garren will start and be relieved, if necessary, when he tires.

"Wish Duke could go the route," said Curfman, "but I suppose that would be asking too much of the boy."

The coaching staff put its heads together yesterday and set the starting lineups for the head cracking session in Harvester Stadium which starts at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. Its just about what most observers thought it would be, since Curfman didn't spring any surprises.

This is the way he set the offensive team:

Defensive starters are:

ROME (UPI) — The United States had a golden opportunity to pick up at least four more gold medals today in what could be America's final "big day" in the 1960 Olympics before Russia takes over in its specialties.

At the start of the third from last day of the Rome games, the Russian athletes held a paper-thin 4 1/2 point edge — 487 to 48 2 1/2 — over their Yankee counterparts in the unofficial team standings, but the U.S. led in gold medals, 30-26.

Javelin champion Al Cantello of Norristown, Pa., the women's 400-meter relay team and the men's 1,600-meter relay team all are favored to win gold medals today, and the U.S. has a chance in both the shooting finals and two weightlifting finals.

Victories in the four track and field events would more than likely give the U.S. the lead in the team standings, but, as they did in the Melbourne games in 1956, the Russians are expected to close where they have little or no opportunity, and win the unofficial team title.

Cantello holds the accepted world record of 282 feet, 3 1/2 inches in the javelin and will be America's big hope to nail down a gold medal in that event. Bill Alley of Short Hills, N.J., who has beaten Cantello's world record, failed in the trials Wednesday. Alley's mark is pending recognition.

The men's 400-meter relay races should prove to be the most exciting event on today's program. Running for the U.S. team are Frank Budd of Asbury Park, N.J., Ray Norton of Oakland, Calif., Stone Johnson of Dallas, Tex., and Dave Sime of Durham, N.C.

The stiffest competition here will be provided by the German team which includes Armin Hary, who whipped Sime in a photo-finish in the 100-meter final. Hary, who ran the second leg when the German team equaled the world record in the trials, may be shifted to anchor, thus setting up another duel with Sime.

The 1,600-meter men's relay affords the U.S. its best chance for a gold medal. A team which includes Jack Yerman of Woodland, Calif., Earl Young of San Fernando, Calif., Glenn Davis of Columbus, Ohio and Otis Davis of Los Angeles is considered almost unbeatable. Otis Davis won the 400-meter run on Tuesday in the world record time of 44.9. Germany and South Africa should provide the chief opposition.

In the women's 400-meter relay team the U.S. will be represented

Orioles Sign Aging Catcher
BALTIMORE (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles, with second-string catcher Clint Courtney suffering an arm injury, signed veteran catcher Del Rice today to help them in the final weeks of the 1960 American League pennant race.

The 37-year-old Rice, with 16 campaigns in the majors behind him, recently was released by the St. Louis Cardinals.

The benched Courtney reported that his throwing arm was not affected but said his batting stroke was impaired. He damaged muscles and ligaments in his left elbow during batting practice over the Labor Day weekend.

by Martha Hudson of Eastman, Ga., Lucinda Williams and Barbara Jones of Nashville, Tenn., and double gold medal winner Wilma Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn. This quartet set a world record of 44.4 seconds in trials Wednesday.

The U.S. team picked up four gold medals Wednesday to cut the Soviet margin by 2 1/2 points. Victories were turned in by discus thrower Al Oerter of West Babylon, N.Y., pole vaulter Don Bragg of Pennsville, N.J., bantamweight weightlifter Charles (Chuck) Vinci of Cleveland, Ohio, and the 5.5-meter yacht Minotaur skippered by George O'Day of Dover, Mass.

Oerter retained the Olympic discus record with a heave of 194 feet, 2 inches, as the U.S. took a 1-2-3 sweep in the event. Rink Bakka of Manhattan Beach, Calif., was second and Dick Cochran of Brookfield, Miss., was third. All three bettered Oerter's 1956 Olympic heave of 184 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

Bragg bested teammate Ron Morris of Burbank, Calif., in the pole vault by clearing the bar at 15 feet, 5 1/2 inches. Morris was second when he failed on three tries but he and Bragg were the only contestants left after their challengers had failed at 15 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

Vinci, the pint-sized muscle-king repeated his 1956 Olympic victory with a total lift of 760 1/2 pounds, matching the world record in the bantamweight class set last year by Russia's V. Stogov, and shattering his own Olympic record of 754 1/2 set at Melbourne.

Minotaur sailed home the winner in the 5.5 meter yacht class even though it had a split bow. Actually, the yacht had accumulated enough points to win; the division gold medal before Wednesday's race but O'Day was forced to sail to get it.

Morrow Quits Track

DALLAS (UPI)— Bobby Morrow, the Texas speed king who won three gold medals in the 1956 Olympics, announced Wednesday he is retiring from track.

Morrow said he plans to devote his time to a job as vice president of public relations at an Abilene bank.

The San Benito speed merchant, who burned up the cinder paths during his collegiate career at Abilene Christian College, was obviously a bit bitter about not being selected for the United States Olympic team this year in Rome.

"The coaches assured me I would get to make the trip," Morrow said. "They didn't keep their word. In the last intra-squad race, we had before they left for Rome, I ran a 10.2. That's as good as I've ever done."

Morrow won the 100-meter and 200-meter sprints and ran on the winning 400-meter relay team in Melbourne four years ago. He won the 100-meter dash with a 10.5 (against the wind) after clocking a 10.3 in the qualifying heat.

He said he hoped that the method for selecting the next Olympic squad is changed.

"The trials shouldn't definitely determine the members of the team," he said. "Let the trials cut down the field and then let the survivors compete against each other until almost plane time and then let the coaches make the final selections."

Sports Slivers

By Ed Hayes Wilson

"Let's go in and sit down. I gotta get off my tired feet for a while," said Mac.

We sat.

C. F. (that's his true monicker) had tabbed a 72, one over par to go with a first round 74 to drop down to the President's Flight of the Top O' Texas tournament.

And, being quiet frank, he didn't mind the fall from the championship rung.

"Shucks! That's 36 holes would do me in, man. I can't go with those youngsters. They make it too rough for we older fellows."

"Why, look at that Briggs. He comes up here, fires a couple of practice rounds, and then takes the medal, slams in a 70 on opening day and takes the lead now (that was at the halfway point) with a 67. And those other youngsters. They're in contention and one of them should win it."

Mac, who has played all the 24 opens, took the title in 1940.

"I beat a fellow from Amarillo named J. R. Brown. He's the one who gives the seniors fits, year after year. It was in match play, and I nailed him with an eagle on the 18th hole," grinned Mac as he thought of his memorable shot.

Two times club champion, and three times city champ, Mac vows that a rabbit foot played a prominent part in one of his title wins.

Said it was in a city tourney and, being two down going to the 28th, things didn't appear to bright.

"But one of the guys caught a jack rabbit, rubbed his foot on me and I birdied six holes in a row to take it all," he laughed.

Mac discussed the many changes of the course that began with sand greens, and talked of some of the fellows who have picked up the marbles in the Top O' Texas before deciding to call it a day.

"Gotta get some rest. Gotta go again tomorrow, you know, and it isn't as easy as it was years ago," he concluded.

Young golfers are advised to be wary of Mac, though. For he isn't easy picking out there, and testing him for a kopek or two could prove disastrous.

Santa Clara team, and is one of the more likeable coaches in the game. So, though most of the scribes favored Kentucky on paper, they switched to the Broncos, down inside.

And Santa Clara won it, 21-13. Babe laughed.

"Man don't tell me about Santa Clara and Casanova and the men he left there. We tried them when I was at Idaho in one of the most brutal football games I have ever seen. They beat us 9-7 in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium and I never saw anything to compare with that," Curfman said.

Anyway, to go back to the 1950 Orange Bowl clash, it was a deservingly climax, as far as a vast majority of the scribes in Orange Bowl Stadium concerned.

Al Lopez, manager of the Chicago White Sox, is close to losing his most enviable record.

Lopez has never finished worse than second in 11 years of managing in the majors, but if the Chisox don't hurry it appears the Senior from Tampa, Fla., will have to settle for third.

For years Bowling Magazine has selected its All-America team, and this year is no exception. This time, though, they have come up with a dilly, and one we're positive all kegler enthusiasts would like to have going for them. The top five are:

Don Carter, who is on the squad for the fifth consecutive year; Billy Weber, Ray Bluth, Harry Smith and Billy Golembiewski.

We can assure of one thing: Any five in the nation who could beat that quintet wouldn't feel like eating supper.

Pete Burnett is a pretty good horseshoe pitcher. He finished with one loss in the recent Golden Spread barnyard golf event at Amarillo, and that isn't too bad when you're in there with the good ones.

He was in Class C, and was ringing the peg with tossers from throughout the Southwest. He was the second Panman to tally in the meet. Odes H. Shelley was the other. Odes lopped the field with an Albuquerque participant to gain the doubles award in Class A.

Mrs. Curfman tells us Babe should be in bed, but that getting him to stay there is a problem.

"It's as she says, though, in a resigned sort of way:

"I suppose he's better off out there with the boys. He'd just fret himself into a dither if he weren't."

She's a typical brave woman of the coaching profession. The coaches just think they have worries; the wife has to fret about his well being, the condition of the kids, and the whole shebang.

About the only time she gets mention is when she attends a tea or a bridge party.

They oughta do something about that, don't you think?

Yanks Rally To Win

'Back In Business,' Says Detroit Coach

By GARY P. GATES
—United Press International
DETROIT (UPI) — Coach George Wilson predicts his Detroit Lions are "back in business" and will be a strong contender in the 1960 National Football League wars.

The Lions have wallowed in the oblivion of the second division during the past two years after winning the world championship in 1957 for their third world and fourth Western Division title in a six-year span.

Wilson is convinced the forthcoming season will bring a sharp reversal of form from the dismal 3-8-1 record of 1959. "We may not win the title," said Wilson at the Lions training camp recently, "but we'll be in the running all the way." An aura of optimism has hung over the Lion taining camp ever since the team opened practice sessions last month and there is no doubt that Detroit will enter the season with new vigor and confidence.

THREE STRAIGHT WINNERS
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Jockey Bill Hartack rode three consecutive winners at the Atlantic City race course Wednesday. He won with Cherry Flip ($8.00) in the sixth, Lil Fella ($3.20) in the seventh and Crafty Master ($8.00) in the eighth.

Late-inning lightning—an old New York Yankee trade-mark—is causing that ominous thunder the front-running Baltimore Orioles are beginning to hear in the background.

American League pitchers claim the Yankees are most dangerous during the eighth and ninth innings. They scored another one in exactly that fashion Tuesday night, beating the Chicago White Sox, 6-4, with a four-run rally in the eighth to climb within two percentage points of the first-place Orioles, who bowed to the Cleveland Indians, 3-2.

Lefty Luis Arroyo held the White Sox hitless over the final 2 1-3 innings to register his fourth straight win without a loss. Before starter Whitey Ford departed, he gave up five hits, including a two-run homer by Sherm Lollar.

Jim Perry of the Indians scored his 16th victory although nicked for 11 hits by the Orioles.

Milt Pappas, who suffered his ninth loss against 13 victories, gave up a pair of runs in the first inning and yielded what proved to be the winning run in the eighth when Vic Power hit a sacrifice fly with the bases full.

Boston defeated Detroit, 5-4, and Washington beat Kansas City, 5-3, in other AL games. St. Louis sliced Pittsburgh's lead in the National League to six games with a 2-1 victory over the Pirates, Milwaukee topped San Francisco, 6-5 in 11 innings, Cincinnati registered a 15-inning 4-3 triumph over Los Angeles, and Philadelphia blanked Chicago, 2-0.

Ernie Broglio of the Cardinals won his 18th game even though Lindy McDaniel had to come to his aid when the Pirates scored their only run in the ninth. Broglio singled home the Cards' first run in the second inning and Daryl Spencer singled home the winning run in the eighth. Vern Law (19-7), failed in his second try for his 20th victory. Bill Bruton's second triple of the game in the 11th plus a single by Del Crandall enabled Carlton Willey of the Braves to win his first game since July 26.

Frank Robinson brought the Reds their victory over the Dodgers when he singled home winning pitcher Marshall Bridges with the winning run in the 15th inning.

Gene Conley of the Phillies scored his first victory in six weeks by stopping the Cubs on four hits.

TO AWARD TROPHIES
NEW YORK (UPI) — Trophies will be awarded to the outstanding offensive and defensive players of the American Football League during each week of the season.

A panel of sportswriters in each league city will select the players.

Liston Defeats Machen

SEATTLE (UPI) — Sonny Liston, who scored a unanimous decision over Eddie Machen in a 12-round nationally televised match here Wednesday night, today continued his cry for a title match with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

Machen, who weighed 196, was interested only in a re-match with Liston.

"Liston is a good fighter," Machen said, "but he won't knock down any walls. I don't like to alibi, but I hurt my shoulder six days ago in training and couldn't use my right too well. I want very much to fight him again when I have two hands."

Liston, the number one contender for the crown, was equally unimpressed with second-rated Eddie.

"All Machen wanted to do was go 12 rounds," he said. "He didn't want to fight. I had a bad night."

Liston, who at 211 had a 15-pound weight advantage over Machen, went on to say that Patterson "wouldn't last that long with me. He would get in there and fight and I'd get him out."

The bout itself was a dandy, with Liston, the plodding aggressor, and Machen playing the part of the darting thief, stealing the show occasionally with sizzling left hooks and jabs.

There was no doubt about the decision, however. Judges Ely Caston and Sam Haller favored Liston 118-114 and 118-116, respectively. Referee Whitey Domstad scored it 119-112 for the winner and UPI agreed 115-113.

The victory for Liston, who was penalized twice for low blows, was his 31st in 32 professional fights.

Seixas Faces Stern Net Test

FOREST HILLS (UPI) — Former champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, oldest aspirant for the U.S. singles crown and star performer in Wednesday's fourth-round play, shoots for the quarter-finals today in the national tennis championships.

Whether Seixas, at 37 could summon enough stamina to beat 19-year-old Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., was the big question after ancient Vic's grueling, five-set victory Wednesday over 21-year-old Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif., before 3,500 delighted devotees in the West Side Club's stadium.

Seixas, who was U.S. singles champion in 1954 and has held most of the sport's other top honors, battled for two hours and 45 minutes with Crawford before finally eliminating him, 6-4, 7-5, 3-6, 13-15, 6-2.

Crawford had been a slight favorite because of his surprise victory over fifth-seeded Bernie Bartzen of Dallas, Tex., in a second-round match. Neither Crawford nor Seixas are seeded. Nor is today's opponent, McKinley. Neale Fraser of Australia, defending champion and top-seeded, meets Mike Sangster of England, who eliminated Antonio Palafox of Mexico in the third round.

Second-seeded Rod Laver of Australia, a southpaw like Fraser, meets Lt. Jack Lesch of the Navy. Wednesday Laver required four sets to put out Myron Franks of Los Angeles, 4-6, 8-6, 6-3, 6-4. Franks is ranked seventh among U.S. players. Lesch downed Al Dri-cole of Belknot, Tex., 7-5, 6-2, 9-7.

Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio,

No. 3, engages either Bob Mark of Australia or Larry Nagler of North Hollywood, Calif. Wednesday MacKay defeated Rafael Osuna of Mexico, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Earl Buchholz of St. Louis seeded fourth, is paired with Eduardo Zuelta of Ecuador. Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, No. 7, is pitted against Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Bob Wilson of England, No. 8, meets Allen Fox of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Go-Kart Race Set Sunday By Kiwanians

Pampa Kiwanians will conduct their Top 'O' Texas go-kart races at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Pampa Kart Track on Lelors Highway.

Registration begins at 10 a.m. and closes at 1 p.m. with practice tests to follow immediately after entry deadline.

There will be two classes for youngsters: an industrial class for those six to 12 years of age, and one for 12 to 16 years of age.

Women's racing also is on the schedule, with one-engineered karts to be used.

Other classes are A-stock, A-supper and B-karts.

All minor entries must be accompanied by their parents, officials for the program said.

In case of rain the events will be raced the following Sunday.

General admission will be 50 cents, with children being admitted for 25 cents.

Funds raised will go to promotions of the club, Bill McKeown, a member of the race committee, said.

Campaign In Quotes

By United Press International
Vice President Richard M. Nixon (still in the hospital recovering from a knee infection) was reported "amused" by former president Harry S. Truman's charge that Nixon was an opportunist who devoted his career to serving special interests that gave him finanacial support.

Henry Cabot Lodge (when asked by newsmen at North Philadelphia Airport what to do about Cuba): "My dear friend, there aren't any clear cut yes or no answers."
(To republican rally in Abington, Pa.): A Nixon-Lodge administration would try to "win and hold the initiative" in the cold war.
The United States "will win the cold war by ending it and thus reducing the danger of a hot war."
"Out (foreign) policy must not bed negative and purely resistant. We cannot succeed simply by winning debates. We must be inspired by the saying 'blessed are the peacemakers'."

Sen. John F. Kennedy (to newsmen in Pocatello, Idaho): "The explanation that Secretary (of State Christian A.) Herter's assistant gave me (about why Congo-bound Russian planes were allowed to refuel at a NATO base in Greece) was completely satisfactory. Obviously they (State Department officials) were concerned about the matter and were following it closely themselves."

(To a public rally in Seattle, Wash.): "I elected he would send Congress "a whole new set of defense goals" designed to make the United States the world's leading military power.
"It will require a re-evaluation of our commitments around the world, a re-evaluation of our base system, a re-evaluation of our weapons and strategy, and a re-evaluation of our budgetary policy."

PICTURE NEWS

AROUND THE WORLD

DOLLS AND DOLLS—They're good business in Rome, Italy, for Yugoslav-born Lierka Draskovich, shown in the Forum with her "Sugarniks" and "Sweetniks"—grown up male and female dolls (left). A closeup of the "Sugarniks," or 15-inch-high male dolls is at right. They're pipe-smoking, eyeglass-wearers with wooden skeletons, rubber heads and woolen hair.

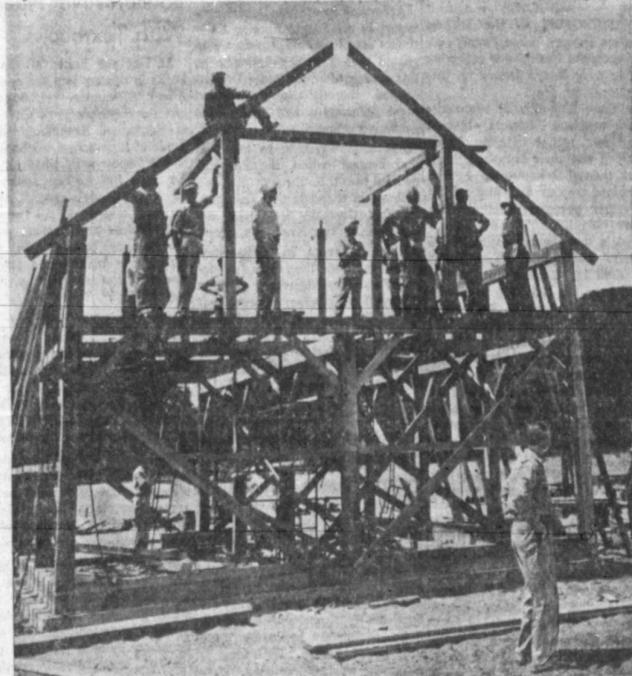

VELVET FRIM—Mrs. Philip Hultar, wife of the famed socialite-designer, is shown as she attended a ball at New York's Hotel Plaza. She made a most striking figure in her husband's original black lace sheath that is trimmed with velvet.

NO TRESPASSING, ET ALIHER—The spelling's not too good, but the sign painter's meaning is clear enough. It was painted on the door of a parking lot office in Pittsburgh, Pa., after burglars broke into it twice and found it quite, quite empty.

BLUE DOG—She's named "Gypsy Rose Lee," and she's sadly studying her portrait in San Antonio, Tex. The nine-year-old Boston terrier is a rare gunmetal blue in color, whereas most of her breed are born black-and-white.

SAW LOSERS—When the rafters failed to meet on their building because someone cut them too short, 25 carpenters suffered from mass embarrassment in Cassville, Wis. They solved the problem, however. They built up the purlin, the horizontal timbers supporting the rafters, and the rafters met. This was a gift to the Wisconsin State Historical Village. So, all's well that ends well.

ONE'S KNOWN—That monument in Kirchheim, West Germany was erected to the "unknown newspaper reader" by the local paper. However, one youngster is identifying himself by sitting on the base of the statue while he catches up with the news. Or perhaps it's the comic strips he's busily reading.

IT'S AN IDEA—In Key West, Fla., you can buy small sea shells from a slot machine in the local aquarium, where this youngster is getting his penny's worth. The machine used to be a bubble gum vendor.

HERE'S IRMA—She's really Elizabeth Seal, shown arriving in New York by plane from England. She's been starring in the musical comedy hit "Irma La Douce" for two years in London, and she's commenced rehearsals for a Broadway opening on September 29, which should please playgoers. Incidentally, the show is now in its fourth year in Paris.

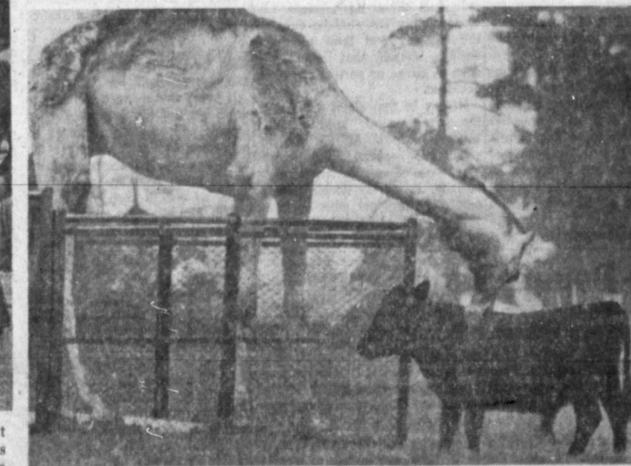

FOR ADDITIONAL COMFORT—Breathing is a difficult proposition for Vivian Palmer in London, England. She's using all her breath to blow up an air cushion before she settles down to some serious sunbathing in Hyde Park. No gentleman around her seems to be assisting with a pair of good lungs.

ADOBE ABODE—These adobe bricks were made in the ancient Indian way at Mission San Antonio, near Los Angeles, Calif. They're spread in the sun to dry, a process that takes three days. During that time, they must be turned often to "cook" evenly. Used to build the mission in the background in 1771, the bricks are made of adobe soil, straw and water. Each finished brick weighs about 60 pounds.

LIKE ALL SAINTS' DAY—Towering tributes to saints were carried through the streets of Nola, Italy. The towers, topped by sculptures of saints, are called "lilies." They long ago replaced the real lilies originally carried in the traditional ceremony rooted in the Middle Ages.

BACK FENCE GOSSIP?—Or it could be a front fence, but at any rate it certainly isn't high enough to keep that mangy camel cooped up in Chessington, Surrey, England. The long-necked animal seems to be taking a nip out of that baby bullock's back.
