Citizenship Seminar Set Monday

An Americanism-Citizenship Seminar will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Pampa High School Auditorium.

The seminar, composed of five consecutive Monday night lectures by Dr. F. W. Mattox, president of Lubbock Christian College, is free and open to the public.

It is sponsored by the Legislative and National Affairs Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce. Don Beaman, committee chairman, said that all expenses for the seminar are being paid by the chamber and that no collections or offerings will be taken.

In delving into the meaning of Americanism, Dr. Mattox will use the following subjects:

Monday, "The Battle Ahead," Oct. 17, "The Structure of the American Way of Life," Oct. 24, "The Present Threat of Communism," Oct. 31, "The Socialist-Communist Relationship," and Nov. 7, "The Responsibility of Citizenship," or "How to Save America."

Dr. Mattox, one of Texas' prominent speakers and lecturers, has long been affiliated with the ministry and teaching. He has held pastorates in Oklahoma City and Los Angeles and instructed various courses at Harding College from 1942 until he became first president of Lubbock Christian College in 1956.

He was born in 1909 at Grand Falls, Tex., and was educated at Central (Okla.) State Teachers College. (See CITIZENSHIP, Page 3)

Coffee Report Monday For UF Workers

The Pampa-Lefors United Fund, which began Sept. 30 with a goal of $68,746, may be in trouble if the coffee report Monday morning doesn't add a substantial figure to the $16,565 now donated or pledged to the fund.

The above figure was the report Monday afternoon, and it left Melvin Munn, chairman of the campaign, with a worried expression on his face.

"We'd like to reach the halfway mark by the 15th," he said, "but we don't boost this total tremendously Monday we'll have trouble making it. All we can do is wait until tomorrow and see."

The bright picture, though, is the fact that many of the chairmen of divisions have not reported and may be awaiting the 7 o'clock Monday morning session in the Cabot Corp. auditorium in the Hughes Building to report their collections and edges.

The Advance Gifts section, which is headed by E. Roy Smith, reported $1,000. (See REPORT, Page 3)

President To Chat With Leaders Of New Nations

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower Saturday invited representatives from 16 newly-admitted members to the United Nations — 15 African states and Cyprus — to meet with him at the White House next Friday, his 70th birthday anniversary.

The White House did not say as much but President Eisenhower is known to be anxious to establish close relations with the new republics in hopes of keeping them out of the Communist camp. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has been making personal overtures to nearly all the nations.

The White House announced the invitations and guest list for the one-hour meeting a short while after the President conferred with Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa of Nigeria, Africa's newest and most populous nation.

Associate White House press secretary Anne Wheaton said the President had set up Friday's meeting so that he could personally greet the nations as newly-admitted members of the United Nations. The invitations covered the head of each delegation to the U.N., Miss Wheaton said, noting that in some cases this would mean the prime minister and in others the foreign minister.

In addition, she said, a 17th nation — the Republic of the Congo — will be added to the guest list if it has been seated at the U.N.

Chamber To Install Officials

A new panel of officers will be installed by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce in ceremonies beginning at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Coronado Inn.

E. Roy Smith, vice president of the chamber, has been recommended for the presidency by the nominating committee of the chamber. Others recommended for top posts are Gordon Lyons, for vice president, and Lucian Young, for financial director.

Smith is publisher of the Pampa Daily News; Lyons is district supervisor of Southwestern Public Service, and Young is manager of White Stores, Inc.

Charley Young, manager of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, will conduct the installation, E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the local chamber, said.

UF Speaker Has Red Cross Date

Sam Begert, a member of the Speakers Bureau of the Pampa-Lefors United Fund, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the board of directors of the Pampa Chapter, American-Red Cross, at 7 a.m. Tuesday in the Terrace Room of the Coronado Inn.

Begert will explain the aims and goals of the campaign and point up what progress has been made to date toward obtaining the fund's goal — $68,746.

A. J. Carubbi, board chairman, urged all members to attend, adding, "The United Fund is important to the people of this community. It will be timely and informative."

By Friday, Miss Wheaton said the meeting will be held at 10:30 a.m. EDT in the President's office.

Invited were representatives from Senegal, the Mali Republic, Ivory Coast, Niger, Upper Volta, Dahomey, Cameroon, Central African Republic, Chad, Republic of the Congo (former French territory), Nigeria, Togo, Malagasy and Cyprus), Gabon, Somali Republic, Nigeria, Togo, Malagasy and Cyprus.

Ask Fifth Tiff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three Democratic senators urged the television networks Saturday to add a fifth debate to the scheduled four face-to-face TV encounters of presidential candidates John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon.

The senators, who had a hand in providing legal clearance for the unique series of programs, said the fifth debate should be scheduled about Nov. 2—or in the last week of the election campaign.

Gang Leader Orders: 'To Church, Or Else'

By EDWARD V. MC CARTHY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—The teenaged leader of one of the 15 divisions of a gang known as the "Untouchables" swore "my church Sunday, or else" after hearing a sermon by evangelist Billy Graham in New York's tough East Harlem.

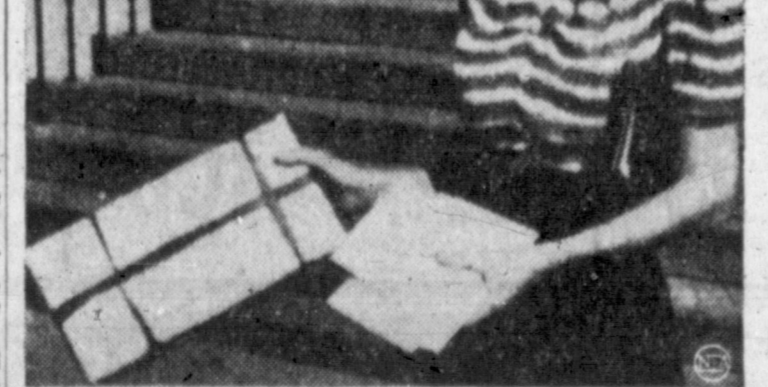

The gang leader, who would identify himself only as "Flamingo," was one of 27 gang leaders among some 70 gang members who turned up at a youth development meeting room Saturday to hear a talk by Graham.

Graham, in New York for a three-day Spanish-American crusade which opened Friday night at Madison Square Garden, was invited to address the gang members by James Voss, director of Youth Development, Inc.

Voss, who told the youths he had been a member of "Mickey Cohen's gang" until he first heard Billy Graham 10 years ago, said he organized the meeting place two years ago to take them off the streets and get them away from "fighting gangs" to social clubs.

Graham told his listeners, mixed Negro and Puerto Rican with the Puerto Ricans in the majority, that the only reason they clung together in gangs was because of a "need for security."

He told the youngsters, who applauded when he finished, "Take (See LEADER, Page 3)

SECOND PACKAGE — Mrs. Virginia McCleary of Luling, Tex., who last week set off a bomb scare at the Russian Embassy in New York when she sent Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev an apple pie, shows a second package she mailed to Khrushchev. The package contained what she called some Communist items she said she had picked up in America. She also sent letters to the FBI and New York police alerting them to the package.

Margin Is Slimmer This Time

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press International

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United States won a major diplomatic victory late Saturday when the General Assembly agreed to shelve for another year the question of a United Nations seat for Communist China.

The vote was 42 to 34 with 22 abstentions.

The margin was slimmer than expected in the closest vote on the issue in the 10 years the United States has successfully asked the assembly to take no action on the Communist demand to oust Nationalist China and seat the Red Chinese.

The newly-independent African countries generally abstained in the vote.

The previous closest margin in the U.S. demand to exclude the China representation question from the assembly agenda came last year when the assembly voted 44 to 29, with 9 abstentions, to postpone action for another year.

Notable defectors from the Western alignment—headed by the United States, Britain and France—in this year's vote were Burma, Ceylon, Cuba, Denmark, Ethiopia, Ireland, Nigeria, Norway, Stenegal and Sweden.

It was difficult to compare in voting strength the result of this year's ballot in comparison with other years, because of the influx of 17 new members at this assembly session.

However, the vote showed 55.3 per cent of the members of the assembly voting in favor of the exclusion of the item. This compared with 60.3 per cent last year. (See MARGIN, Page 3)

Texas State Fair Begins 16-Day Run

DALLAS (UPI)—The State Fair of Texas — the nation's biggest — opened for a 16-day run Saturday with a football game, a big parade and expectations of 200,000 visitors before the gates close Saturday night.

This is the 75th anniversary of the fair, which was seen last year by a total of 2,801,305 persons. This also was Press-Radio-TV Day and 2,000 editors and publishers and radio and television executives from Texas and Oklahoma were present.

The big attraction was the annual grudge game between the University of Texas and the University of Oklahoma. Seventy-five thousand persons saw it.

The game is always a sellout, but the demand for tickets this year was the greatest in history, despite the fact that the game lacked some of the luster of previous years when one or both of the teams was in the Top 10.

Trustees to Meet

A meeting of the Pampa School Board will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in the office of Superintendent Knox Kinard in Pampa Junior High School.

Kinard said yesterday that it would be a "routine meeting" with a review and approval of audits, clearance and acceptance of various work projects and approval of payment of bills on the agenda.

WHAT'S THAT FOR? — An inquisitive four-year-old boy, Joe Watkins, fired a series of questions at Fire Chief Ernest Winborne yesterday afternoon when he, the chief, and George Neef Jr., chairman of the Fire Prevention Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce went over the big ladder truck at Central Fire Station. Joe, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Watkins, 613 Red Deer, didn't want to mount the big fire-fighting vehicle at first, but when he was convinced that the truck wasn't going to move he readily agreed. It wasn't that he was afraid, mind you, Joe just didn't want to leave his dad, who was nearby awaiting the finish of his son's investigation. (Daily News Photo)

Parade To Mark Fire Prevention Week Here

Fire Prevention Week opened in Pampa and across the nation today with local members of the Fire Prevention Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Fire Chief Ernest Winborne working toward the education of local residents in the prevention of this major disaster problem.

"We hope to impress everyone of the importance of fire prevention. This is one of the major problems in the United States today. It is a prominent factor in the loss of life and in uncounted millions of dollars in property loss," said the chief.

Intensive efforts are to be conducted in the school system beginning Monday. This will be in addition to the regular fire prevention programs that are conducted in the school rooms, and will include essay contests and poster contests among the pupils.

These posters will be displayed Saturday in the Americans Legion-VFW Hall, and will be open to the public, George Neef Jr., chairman of the fire prevention committee, said.

At 4 p.m. Monday a parade including the Pampa High School band, the two junior high school bands and equipment of the Pampa Fire Department will be held in the downtown area.

Films concerning fire prevention are to be shown at local theaters, and these are available at the chamber office.

Trial Of Captured RB47 Fliers Postponed By Russ

LONDON (UPI)—The Kremlin Russians claim that it was over-postponed, perhaps indefinitely, the trial of the two captured American RB47 fliers. The reports were based on diplomatic dispatches arriving here from Moscow.

They said that early plans to bring the two men to trial after their plane was shot down by the Russians last July had failed, apparently because the Russians had not managed to extract a "confession" of guilt from the two crew members.

Although the Russians have maintained official silence concerning the RB47, diplomatic reports said that the Russians were marking time on bringing the men to trial.

Apparently they have found the case a harder one to crack than that of the U-2 reconnaissance plane. Its pilot, Francis Gary Powers, confessed flying his plane over military installations when downed in Soviet territory last May 1.

But the absence of a plea of guilty by Capt. John Richard McKone, 28, Tonganoxie, Kan., and Capt. Freeman Bruce Olmstead, 24, of Elmira, N. Y. has made it difficult for the Russian authorities to put them on public trial.

The RB47 was shot down over the Barents Sea last July 1. The Police Mutiny Over Back Pay

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Congolese police mutinied here Saturday, arrested 20 of their police commissioners and held them hostage for eight hours to extract back-pay and wage increases.

Swift action by Congolese strongman Joseph Mobutu helped end the uprising and satisfy the rebellious policemen.

The mutineers struck in lightning raids just after dawn. They raided homes and offices of their superiors, seized a score of the police officers and herded them to a police training camp on the outskirts of town.

The angry policemen claimed they had not been paid for weeks while their officers drew pay regularly.

May Depend On Who's 'It'

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Harold Ogden lives in an apartment house where children play in the court each evening. He's used to them coming and asking him to leave his front porch light on for them.

But he's wondering today whether the plot isn't beginning to thicken.

The other night, a small boy appeared at his door and asked: "Would you mind turning on your porch lights? We're playing." So Ogden did.

A few minutes later, a little girl rang his doorbell.

"Would you mind turning off your porch light?" she asked. "We're playing."

SAYS KENNEDY VICTOR
AUSTIN (UPI) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex. said today he thought John F. Kennedy won the second "great debate" with Vice President Richard Nixon Friday night by a "great margin." "The debate widened the gap between the candidates, and widened it far in favor of Kennedy," Yarborough said.

YOU HEAR STRANGE THINGS ABOUT CATHOLICS

Yes, you do hear some strange things about Catholics. You hear it said that Catholics believe all non-Catholics are headed for hell... that they believe the Pope is God... that he can do no wrong... that they owe him civil allegiance and that he should have the political power to rule America. It is said that Catholics want religious freedom only for themselves... that they should oppose public schools and separation of Church and State as evils which could be destroyed. The claim is made that Catholics pay the Priest for forgiveness of their sins... that they must buy their departed relatives and friends' out of Purgatory... that they adore statues... are forbidden, to read the Bible... use medals, candles and holy water as sure-fire protection against loss of a job, lightning or being hit by an automobile. But what is worse, some say, Catholics corrupt the true teachings of Jesus Christ with the addition of pagan superstitions and practices that are nothing less than the inventions of the devil. If all these things or any of them were true, I would be a pity. For at least one of every four Americans is a Catholic and it would be a national tragedy if one-fourth of all Americans entertained such erroneous ideas. Sedition Laid To Chiang Foe

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — An organizer of the first independent opposition party founded on Formosa since Chiang Kai-shek was driven from the mainland in 1949 was convicted Saturday of sedition and sentenced to 10 years in prison. Lei Chen, 63, publisher of the magazine "Free China," was convicted by a Nationalist Chinese military court of publishing seditious magazine articles and aiding a pro-Communist agent.

Lei was sentenced to serve seven years on each of the two charges but was ordered to serve a total of only 10 years.

His two co-defendants were Liu Tsu-Ying, the agent he allegedly harbored, and Ma Tsu-Sum, a political colleague. They were found guilty of being Communists. Liu was sentenced to 12 years and confiscation of all property and Ma received five years.

Authorities said they removed 18 Communist books from Lei's home.

In another military court, Fu Chung-Mei, a 33-year-old magazine editor, was sentenced to three years for criticizing the government's decision to sidestep the constitution and give Chiang a third term as president.

All three men could have been sentenced to a maximum of life in prison.

Their arrest on Sept. 4 set off a dispute on Formosa, even within the ruling Kuomintang (Nationalist Party) and led to charges from Chinese communities abroad that the government was stifling political and press freedom.

At the time he was arrested, Liu was helping to organize the China Democratic Party. His political associates charged that his arrest was designed to kill the opposition to Chiang but the government denied the accusation.

One hundred and ten horsemen and 12 wagons that for the past four days have followed the old Shawnee Trail from Lake Texoma to Dallas also were in the parade.

The rigors of old time travel were brought painfully home to the riders last Friday night when they camped in 58-degree temperature and a chilly dew near Dallas' Stemmons Expressway.

There was judging Saturday in the women's clothing contest, the junior turkey contest, the Angora goat contest and the horse show. The horse show featured Arthur Godfrey and his palomino stallion, Goldie.

The fair, which has to strive to maintain an agricultural atmosphere, what with science exhibits, foreign exhibits, automobile shows and Broadway musicals, had a couple of extra attractions this year. One is an old-fashioned, torch light parade every night. Another is a telephone company exhibit that bounces signals off the satellite Echo I as it circles the earth.

Another is a model farmyard to show the city kids how it is out in the country.

Postal Receipts In Pampa Climb To $305,511.28

Postal receipts in the Pampa Post Office have climbed from $181,502.30 in 1953 to $305,511.28 at the end of the 1960 fiscal year June 30, Postmaster O. K. Gaylor said yesterday.

Pampa's postal use upsurge goes along with that of the remainder of the nation; national usage of postal facilities also soared to an all-time high, reports from Washington reveal.

Although subject to last minute revisions, the year's total has been estimated as $3.6 billion pieces of mail which includes about one billion pieces of parcel post. It was stated that this would mean an increase of nearly 25 per cent over the corresponding figures for 1953 when the annual volume was $0.9 billion pieces.

During this same period, it was pointed out, the revenue of the Department also has shown an impressive gain with an increase from $2,091,714,000 in fiscal year 1953 to $3,276,800,000 for fiscal year 1960.

"There is not much we can do about how much mail we have to handle from day to day or how many people are making use of the postal service", Postmaster Gaylor stated, "but the whole department keeps busy in devising ways and means for doing the job not only more efficiently but more economically. As I recall it, that was the way President Eisenhower along with that of the remainder of the Department wanted it when Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield was being sworn in back in 1953, and that's the way we have been operating ever since."

Included among items cited by Postmaster Gaylor as recent accomplishments by the Department were the following:

Established the first large-scale program of automatic mail handling by machinery on a nationwide basis.

Developed the "airlift" program which speeds up the delivery of approximately one letter out of every 17 on a "space available" basis.

Continued with the development of faster machines for letter sorting, parcel post sorting, and for mail culling, facing and cancelling.

Continued with plans for a new automatic postal sub-station which will vend stamps, envelopes, post cards and writing paper, and which will have money changers for both coins and bills.

Mrs. Davis died Friday afternoon in a Sapulpa hospital. Services have tentatively been set for Monday in Sapulpa with interment in Perkins, Okla.

Mrs. Davis is also survived by four daughters and one son.

Fire Put Out

Firemen from Central Station were called to the L. L. Garren residence, 2120 Charles, yesterday afternoon when a washer-dryer caught fire. The blaze was confined to a lint trap and firemen said there was no damage.

BUDDIES ENLIST — Lee Weddington, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Weddington, 1231 E. Francis, and Ronald Stafford, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Stafford, 1140 Terrace, enlisted in the Navy here Oct. 5. Both men formerly attended Pampa High School and were active in the Junior Oddfellows Lodge No. 934. They enlisted in the Navy under the "buddy system" and will remain together during the nine-week scheduled training at the Naval Recruit Training Center in San Diego, Calif.

Fair

Band of the West and flag-bearers from all branches of the military services, plus massed ROTC units and Mayor R. L. Thornton of Dallas and Gov. Price Daniel led the parade.

One hundred and ten horsemen and 12 wagons that for the past four days have followed the old Shawnee Trail from Lake Texoma to Dallas also were in the parade.

The rigors of old time travel were brought painfully home to the riders last Friday night when they camped in 58-degree temperature and a chilly dew near Dallas' Stemmons Expressway.

Mrs. Wilbur Cook Services Pending

Funeral services are pending for Mrs. Wilbur Cook, 630 N. Christy, who died in her home at 2:30 p.m. Saturday. Arrangements will be announced later by Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Mrs. Cook was born June 22, 1883 in Stoneham, West Va. She had been a resident of Pampa for 30 years and a member of St. Vincent De Paul Catholic Church.

Survivors are her husband of the home address; one son, Harry Cook, also of Pampa and one grandchild.

Report

(Continued From Page 1) reported $15,373.50 of the amount noted to date. This group is expected to finish its chore by the end of the week.

The Speakers Bureau, a new unit of the United Fund, is making tremendous strides, according to Munn. The speakers, he said, are being well received, and it is thought that these efforts will pay dividends before the Oct. 31 deadline for the drive.

"We sincerely hope that we can gain our goal prior to the deadline. But if we don't, we'll continue as we have in the past," said Munn.

The assembly adjourned immediately after the vote until 10:30 a.m., EDT, Monday.

As a clincher in the campaign to keep the item off the agenda, the United States declared Saturday that the Communist Chinese wanted an atomic war.

The long-drawn "procedural" debate on China disrupted Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's plans for a full-dress speech to the assembly on disarmament.

Russia wanted direct assembly debate of disarmament without the customary previous referral to a committee for preliminary discussion.

Khrushchev planned to seize a debate on the steering committee's recommendation to refer disarmament to the 99-nation Political Committee as a platform for a major propaganda address on his plan calling for "general and complete disarmament" within four years.

Before the assembly reaches that stage, however, it was scheduled to discuss a number of other items after voting on the China question.

John William Crail, Route 2, Miami, was placed on $1,000 bond yesterday in Gray County Court when he entered a not guilty plea to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverage.

Crail was arrested at 2:15 a.m. yesterday in the 1500 block of N. Hobart by Lt. D. L. Day.

IDA Plan To Benefit Undeveloped Nations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Thundering oratory in the United Nations all but obscured an historic event recently.

This was when the new International Development Association (IDA) launched a new concept in global banking — a concept in which an underdeveloped nation can be helped without the taint of charity; in which an aid recipient can become an aid provider.

The event, which may lead to more-range benefits than all the shouting in the U.N., grew from an idea conceived by Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney, D-Okla., four years ago.

At that time Monroney was in Bangkok, Thailand, attending an international parliamentary union conference. He was struck by two things. First was how proud the Thais were of a dam they engineered and built themselves, with their own money and with funds borrowed from the World Bank at commercial rates.

The second was how indifferent and maybe even a little belligerent and chagrined, they were about a new multi-million dollar highway built with U.S. military aid funds.

Monroney for the first time got a close-up of how people in underdeveloped areas react to aid on a charity basis.

As a result, he initially proposed enlarging the scope of the World Bank so it could make more money readily available for worthy projects which might not "pay out" as rapidly as required for normal World Bank loans.

In July, 1958, he submitted a resolution to the Senate calling for a study of a development association which could make loans for a longer period at lower interest rates, and with both hard and soft currencies.

From that resolution, the IDA developed and was supported by 14 countries. West Germany became the 15th recently and the development fund automatically reached the $650-million required by its $1 billion charter to start operations.

Under the charter, 17 industrial countries subscribe to shares with 100 per cent hard money. Fifty-one underdeveloped nations are permitted to subscribe with only 10 per cent of their shares in hard money—the rest in their own soft currency.

These soft-currency nations now can borrow from the fund for capital projects which people can see and feel immediately — housing, roads, communications projects, and waterworks. The pay-out period for loans on these types of projects is usually too long and the interest rate too low for commercial institutions.

Monroney saw that one of the basic problems in international financing of such low-risk projects was to get soft currency into international use.

IDA is designed to do just that. Under its charter, if Burma, for example, applied for a loan to buy road building machinery, IDA might lend it Japanese soft currency. Burma could then buy the machinery with the soft currency Japan subscribed.

Truman To Ride 'Hell For Leather' Into Texas On Campaign Wagon Trail

By PAT CONWAY
United Press International

Former President Harry S. Truman brings his "give 'em hell" brand of political campaigning to Texas Monday in behalf of the Democratic Ticket of John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson.

Truman's vitriolic assaults on everything Republican will open a political week in the Lone Star State that may even rival the campaign fever generated when Kennedy and GOP nominee Richard Nixon hit the state at the same time.

On Tuesday night, while Truman is beating the Democratic drum in Waco, former Democratic Gov. Allan Shivers will take to television again to blister his old party and urge Texans to the cause of Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

The state's ultra-Conservatives will have their fling Monday night in Dallas with a fund-raising dinner for Charles L. Sullivan of Clarksdale, Miss., presidential candidate of the Constitution party.

Sullivan got his party's ball rolling in Texas the past week with old-time stumping from Houston through the Piney Woods and Redlands of East Texas.

Shivers said he will turn his Tuesday speech in Houston to the voting records of the presidential candidates in an address called "Kennedy versus Texas."

Efforts are being made to line up a 30-station television network for Shivers' Houston talk.

Wednesday, the former governor will speak in Hallettsville, then move to Corsicana Thursday for a noon meeting, hitting Decatur that afternoon and Denton that night. Shivers is scheduled to be in Fort Worth Friday morning for a breakfast meeting with campaign workers.

Truman begins his state swing at noon Monday with a speech at Texarkana Junior College. From there he will go to San Antonio for a news conference that afternoon and a fund-raising dinner that night at LaVilla. Tuesday, Truman starts the day with a campaign barbecue at Johnson's Hill Country ranch near Stonewall. The Senate Majority Leader will be out of the state at the time, but state campaign chairman Gerald Mann and Sen. Ralph Yarborough will head a secret conclave with the former president on campaign strategy.

After the closed session with workers, Truman will go to Waco, where he holds an honorary doctor's degree from Baylor University, for another news conference and a speech that night. He'll leave the state Wednesday after a stop in Dallas.

Farm Fires On Increase

Farm fires have been increasing at a rapid rate in the nation in the last 10 years, with a third of the blazes being noted in 1959.

This was the report yesterday of Erbin L. Crowell of Canadian, general manager of the Canadian Production Credit Association, who urged full participation of area farmers, ranchers and dairymen in National Fire Prevention Week, which begins today.

"Increasing fire losses can have direct effect on the successful and profitable operation of a farm or ranch," Crowell stressed, "and those involved should take all precautions to prevent these blazes."

The Canadian PCA is one of 36 groups that are owned and operated by their borrower-stockholders, and which provide short and intermediate-term agricultural credit in the 254 counties of the state.

Runaway Election Seen By Political Theorist

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press International
BILLINGS, Mont. (UPI)—Backstairs at the political campaigns: Today's interesting campaign theory comes from a seasoned political figure, a man who should know as much about politics as the leaders of either party.

The outcome of the race between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy will NOT be close. The reason the campaign now seems to be neck-and-neck is the large number of people who won't tell the opinion pollsters how they intend to vote. Some of the voters, according to this theory, truly are undecided. But many of them lean toward one candidate or the other and, for reasons of their own, simply will not indicate their preference in advance.

As to the final outcome, the aforementioned political theorist, who does not want to be identified, reasons this way:

TU Professor World Famous Volcano Buff

AUSTIN (UPI)—A rim-side seat in an active volcano is a pretty risky place to conduct scientific observations, agrees Dr. Fred M. Bullard of the University of Texas.

But the adventurous geology professor continues to amaze associates by insisting on getting as close as possible to study volcanoes.

Bullard has traveled over most of the world in 20 years of studying volcanoes, and once even got trapped by lava.

It happened while he was observing Paricutin, the famous volcano in Mexico. The molten lava flowed around a hill Bullard was using as vantage point, but did not rise high enough to burn him.

The doctor calmly waited for the lava to cool and walked to safety — a walk that would lead most teachers back to the classroom to stay.

But not Bullard. He continued his travels that have permitted study of volcanoes in Peru, Italy, Mexico, Hawaii, Alaska, the Aleutians and Iceland.

The University of Texas geologist is one of the world's experts in volcanology. Bullard has also found time to reach more than 10,000 geology students in his 36 years at the university.

By chance he was teaching in Mexico City in 1943 when the first new volcano in North America in two centuries erupted.

"One afternoon there was an eruption in a cornfield about 200 miles west of Mexico City," Bullard said. "I was the first geologist on the scene and observed the complete development."

Paricutin formed a 100-foot cone the first day and eventually reached a height of 1,700 feet. No one was killed although two Mexican villages were covered with lava, and Bullard's hillside hut was surrounded by the molten mass.

in the campaign are big and volatile—religion, the conduct of foreign policy in a world precariously balanced between war and peace, and the state of the national economy. Such momentous issues should produce a heavy vote Nov. 7 and a walloping margin for the victor.

"When one of the experts calls this the closest national race in years," says our theorist, "what he really means is that he can't detect enough of a trend to pick a winner. Just because a great many Americans refuse to indicate how they'll vote doesn't mean for a minute that this necessarily is a 'close' election. My hunch is with big issues before the public, the results will be big too, and one man will be for ahead of the other."

Which man, mister, which man? The sage old veteran just smiles and says his theory does not go that far.

And speaking of old veterans, a number of experienced television industry figures are still somewhat amazed that there was anything unsatisfactory about the vice president's make-up or lighting in his first TV debate with Kennedy. This is a workaday problem in the industry, usually solved without too much excitement, unless, of course, the subject is an actress who refuses to believe the cavender.

Nixon, in that first show, used his own make-up and lighting men and thus failed to take advantage of some of the finest network talent standing by in Chicago.

Don Hewitt, director of the first debate, stages the Douglas Edwards news show over CBS-TV five nights a week and has been doing so for some years. Hewitt certainly knows a whale of a lot more about make-up and lighting than did the advisors to the vice president that night in Chicago. And Hewitt thought rather poorly of special lighting for the vice president, but after all, it was the business of the Nixon people who ordered the lighting in the first place.

Several top-flight TV performers, who live with this sort of thing day after day, wondered why the Nixon experts did not have the angle of the vice president's camera raised a trifle to avoid the heavy accent on his prominent jaw. But again, his own people thought they knew best.

Kennedy is a most fortunate man on television. He has maintained a heavy late summer tan with frequent, long motorcades in open cars and thus he requires no make-up, not even talcum powder. His beard is a light shade and he did not bother to shave before going to the studio for the first debate. He had shaved in the morning and completely forgot about it until someone mentioned it after the broadcast.

Problem Is At Local Station

WHETHER YOU see unsponsored public service programs may be decided in the control room of your local TV station.

By WARD CANEL Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A year has passed since the TV quiz and payola scandals opened the public eye to a big price for free television. In that year, payola has become a federal offense, most of the quiz shows are gone and more unsponsored public service shows than ever have been programmed.

But most of the nation has not been allowed to see these public service programs, according to the Federal Communications Commission. This pinpoints the real problem of free TV: local, affiliated stations who distribute television fare to the U.S.

According to the FCC legislation in a fat market, all three networks will come after you, will pay the costs of transmitting programs to you, will give you about $300 of each $1,000 the sponsor pays for your market.

If you work it right, you can make a deal with two of the three networks—and lay out only the money it takes to keep your equipment in repair, hire the necessary engineers, lawyers and announcers. Good contracts and electronic devices can keep you away from public service shows and on the gravy train seven days a week.

To ice the cake, you don't have to worry about a new station opening up to complete. The mistake of assigning a narrow band of frequencies to TV was made a long time ago. There's just no more room on that band for more channels as things stand now.

If your station is in a smaller market, the FCC says, the same pressures against public service exit—only more urgently. You may be affiliated, but the networks and national advertisers don't come to you. The best you can hope for is about $100 per network hour—hardly enough to defray and pressure on the network headquarters have had very little effect on local stations. They are still under no obligation to carry every network show. Public service, unsponsored shows have a hard time breaking through—and with good reason.

Found At Long Last: One Happy TV Actor-- James Whitmore

By DICK KLEINER Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — A happy man nowadays is hard to find, especially in the television acting trade. But James Whitmore admits.

"I can't find a flaw in my fate. I've been fortunate in every way." Item — a family that is so appealing Whitmore was homesick to get back home to California after only two days away.

Item — a career that was "fantastic" in its quick getaway. After growing up with the vague ambition of becoming a lawyer, he decided that acting was what he really wanted. He came to New York, got a job on his first day of looking, and has been working virtually ever since.

Item — a new TV show, ABC's The Law and Mr. Jones, which is the culmination of five years of planning, dreaming, wishing and work.

Item — a home with a swimming pool (a swim in the morning and one at night) and a freezer stocked with ice cream pops. Whitmore calls it, lovingly, "Lotusland."

The Law and Mr. Jones is a half-hour telefilm series which cannot be pigeon-holed. It is not a comedy, although some chapters are comic. It is not adventure; there are only two action scenes in the first 10 episodes. It's not a private eye; the hero is a lawyer but frequently on crime is involved. And it's not a Western, being set smack in the middle of New York.

The only thing left is drama, and that it will attempt to be. Whitmore says he long "felt the need to do a show that emphasizes certain things I feel should be emphasized, things like morality."

The first one, for example, laments the decline of pride in workmanship. And it was Whitmore's belief that a lawyer, since by the nature of his profession he becomes involved in all kinds of moral is-the cost to you of station maintenance, personnel. Besides, in some instances, you pay the transmission cost.

To make ends meet, you have to get out and hustle local sponsors and spots from national advertisers. You're certainly not going to waste valuable air time with unsponsored shows.

Do you have any responsibility to the public for using its airwaves?

Yes indeed. In addition to technical and personnel requirements the law demands that you tell the FCC how much time you're going to allot to public service programs. Under these conditions, you get a three-year license, subject either to renewal or revocation.

Unfortunately, the FCC is not wealthy enough or strong enough or eager to patrol all the nation's channels. The burden of living up to public responsibility, therefore, falls on the shoulders of local station owners.

And in all the years of TV, the FCC has not revoked one license. That's a testament to something,

Guided by the local priest and a doctor, he devotes himself to saving horses, dogs, deer and other strays which have been left to die or to be destroyed.

reality that stems from "honest characters, not contrived situations."

It may be honest to everybody, but Connelly's own seven children aren't so sure. The oldest (a 17-year-old boy) feels it's an invasion of his privacy. Another one, watching the show, saw Beaver's father practicing some psychology on the TV family.

"Daddy," he said to his father, "why don't you ever try any of this jazz on us?"

Hints Of Khrushchev's Lower Status Slip Into Press Coverage By Moscow Of U. N.

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Analyst
(NEA) — Suppose you were a Soviet citizen who depended on the Russian press for information about Premier Khrushchev's activities in the United Nations. What would you read?

According to Moscow's Pravda and Izvestia and the Soviet Army's Red Star which just arrived here, the Soviet Premier has been "marching from victory to victory" in the General Assembly.

It matters little what Russian paper you read. Except for some slight variations they all repeat an identical story with the same deadly monotony.

Khrushchev has a band of trained propagandists (a "press group") which usually travels abroad with him to describe his achievements and the effect he has on people. They always claim victory — never defeat. A defeat too glaring to gloss over they usually describe as an "American fraud" of a "capitalist conspiracy."

Nevertheless, U.N. specialists on Russia who can read between the lines of Soviet propaganda detect signs of Khrushchev's insecure position among the Kremlin's bureaucrats.

More and more frequently praise of Khrushchev is coupled with even greater praise of the Russian Communist party. When Stalin was alive it was the dictator who was sole authority in the Red world while the Party took second place if it was mentioned at all.

Now things are different: the Communist part comes first. Khrushchev gets his share of praise and adulation but only as the man "who carries out the will of the party" and the Russian people.

This, again, confirms the analysis of U.N. experts that while Khrushchev is still chieftain of the junta that runs Russia, he is no longer the boss like Stalin was. He is communism's outstanding traveling salesman, but he is no longer the man who gives orders.

Even a diplomat from one of the Iron Curtain countries conceded in private conversation that a meeting between President Eisenhower and the Soviet Premier "cannot result in a relaxation of the tension that prevails in the United Nations."

He added: "Khrushchev's orders are to change the entire structure of the United Nations and there is little else he can do if he wants to keep his job," he said.

As the Kremlin's global public relations man, the Soviet Premier has of course an "enthusiastic press" in Russia — even more enthusiastic than that which Fidel Castro, Marshal Tito and President Nasser get in their own controlled newspapers.

Here, for instance, is how Pravda describes the Soviet Premier as he clowns and pounds tables in the U.N.:

"It is the awareness of his great duty, the confidence in the justice of the noble cause he champions in the interests of humanity and the tremendous firm faith that millions have in the same wisdom of the Soviet Union's policy of peace that is the source of the optimism and the calm confidence of the head of the Soviet government."

The Red propagandists who pose as newspapermen even reported that Khrushchev and his policies "command widespread support" among "ordinary Americans."

"A fine initiative! Thanks, Americans say," was how Pravda headlined the first dispatches from its U.N. correspondents. The official party newspaper quoted an unsigned letter supposedly written by an American which said: "God is against capitalism. Russia is also against it. I love Russia."

Nowhere in the Russian press is there the slightest indication that Khrushchev's bad manners have shocked the General Assembly, which never before had seen the like of it. No Soviet reader will ever know that:

Khrushchev has not succeeded in winning over to his side the majority of the new African nations — though he tries hard to court them.

He could not get the U.N. to censure Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld for doing his duty in the Congo.

Soviet policy, in fact, suffered a fiasco in the Congo.

In order to find some support outside his small group of Communist adherents and Cuba's Fidel Castro, Khrushchev has to woo his arch-political enemy, Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

These facts the ordinary Russian will never know unless — as is common practice in Red and Fascist dictatorships — he has learned to read between the lines of official propaganda.

The image of Khrushchev raising his clenched Communist fist in the U.N., pounding tables and hurling insults at Western statesmen cannot disguise the fact that he is a frustrated man whose hands are tied.

The Soviet Premier said that he saw no reason for negotiating disarmament with President Eisenhower who will soon be out of office.

In the view of some Western diplomats in the U.N. there's no point in negotiating with Khrushchev — since he obviously has been stripped by the Kremlin of the power to make and enforce decisions.

"Perhaps," one diplomat said, "we should wait until Khrushchev has been purged and replaced by another dictator."

NEW YORK (UPI)—Little Bob Richardson, a long-scorned slugger in a clan of immortal batting giants, displayed Ruthian muscles Saturday when the New York Yankees again massacred the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-0, in the third game of the World Series.

Richardson, who had struck out in one home run all season, broke the game open in the first inning with the seventh grand slam in series history and drove in a record six runs to tie the old mark of five held by such sluggers as Mickey Mantle and Babe Ruth.

Texas Humbles Sooners As Soph Fullback Stars

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Scatback James (Jackrabbit) Saxton provided the offensive spark and three fierce lines furnished almost a blanket defense Saturday as Texas humiliated arch-rival Oklahoma, 24-0.

Bunt Sign Forgotten

NEW YORK (UPI)—Little Bobby Richardson was showered with congratulations by his New York Yankee teammates, who all agreed Saturday he "really turned on the power" for a guy who originally was instructed to bunt.

Richardson, who had hit only one homer all year previously, said he didn't even know he had set a record until the news was flashed on the scoreboard out in center field.

Indians Rally Tops SWTS

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI)—Sophomore quarterback Lee King scored two touchdowns and passed for a third Saturday to give the McMurry Indians a come-from-behind 23-18 victory over Southwest Texas State.

Saxton didn't score any of the touchdowns in Texas' worst defeat of an Oklahoma team in 19 years, but he electrified the crowd and his mates with his running that set up an early field goal and put Texas on the road to its third straight victory over Oklahoma.

Dan Petty, a senior tackle, booted that 33-yard field goal and it was soon apparent to the packed crowd of 75,504 in the Cotton Bowl that this was to be another triumph of pupil (Texas Coach Darrell Royal) over master (Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson).

Fullback Ray Poage, a sophomore blaster from Houston, Tex., furnished the actual final fire power that racked up three-yard touchdown blasts in the second and third quarters, while his sophomore replacement, Pat Culppepper of Cleburne, Tex., provided the icing on the cake with a 78-yard interception return in the final quarter.

But the real story was down in the forward lines where three great Texas lines smothered everything usually potent Oklahoma could throw at it, often repulsing the Sooner backs for sizable losses.

The first Texas line, geared to tackle Monte Lee, played only 20 minutes, while a second unit took over and led by guard Johnny Treadwell and end Buddy Fuels played 21 minutes. A third unit

Tarheels Upset Irish, 12 to 7

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (UPI)—Quarterback Ray Farris struck fire to North Carolina's Tar Heels behind an alert, pass-snatching defense Saturday to achieve a 12-7 upset victory over Notre Dame before 40,000 unbelieving fans.

Farris turned the first game he ever started as varsity first-string quarterback into personal triumph in the Tar Heels' first victory over Notre Dame in 11 years of the rivalry.

sparked by guard John Seals played 19 minutes. Oklahoma finally managed to put 163 yards on the statistics chart, but much of it came in the final quarter when the game was a lost cause and the Texas defenses relaxed a bit. The Sooners hit but two of seven passes for 46 yards.

Texas, on the other hand, ground out 213 yards the hard way and threw but three passes, completing two of them for 21 yards. Both completions came in scoring drives.

While Saxton was the spotlight performer for Texas, the losers had one who shone even more brilliantly. He was fullback Ronnie Hartline, who figure in most of the Oklahoma defensive plays as a linebacker and who was the top rushing man with 48 yards in a dozen tries.

Line Makes Difference Buffs Whip Arizona

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—Colorado's big, aggressive line overwhelmed Arizona's defenses completely Saturday, making it easy for Colorado to run up a 35-16 score before a football crowd of 34,000.

It was the 11th and last scheduled game between these inter-sectional foes. Colorado won every game in the series, which began in 1931.

Arizona's line so manhandled the smaller Arizonians that the outcome never was in doubt. Colorado went 19 yards for a touchdown in five plays after the opening kickoff.

Stinnett Ace Scores Twice

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Halfback Larry Dawson breathed new life into a sluggish Texas Christian team in the fourth quarter Saturday night and scored two touchdowns in four minutes to lead the Horned Frogs to a 21-7 victory over stubborn Texas Tech.

Dawson, a senior from Stinnett, Tex., threw a 53-yard pass to end the game.

Dale Glascock to set up one Frog touchdown and recovered a fumble by Tech's Dan Gurley to set the stage for another four minutes later.

And Dawson scored both of them — the first capped a 79-yard march with a slant over right tackle and the second on a 9-yard scamper after taking a pitchout from quarterback Donald George.

Dawson's virtual one-man effort gave the Frogs their first Southwest Conference victory of the season and kept them in the race. Arkansas, which beat TCU on its home ground last week, fell victim to a rugged Baylor team earlier Saturday.

Three Ronnies Sparkle In Convincing Victory

By DARRELL MACK
United Press International

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI)—Baylor's devastating pro-type offense, run perfectly by quarterback Ronnie Stanley, crushed Arkansas 28-14 today in a battle of unbeaten Southwest Conference teams.

Stanley passed for one touchdown, ran for another and handed off to sophomore halfback Ronnie Goodwin for a third. The last Baylor touchdown, at the end of the third quarter, was a 3-yard pass from Bobby Ply to Bob Lane after Bear reserves had taken over.

Miss. State Wins First

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—

Third-string quarterback John Corroero ran one touchdown and passed for another within a two-minute interval late in the fourth quarter Saturday to give Mississippi State a 29-9 victory over stubborn Arkansas State.

Corroero spent the first 55 minutes of the game on the bench watching Arkansas State battle his heavily-favored teammates on nearly even terms before he came in to break the match wide open.

It was Mississippi State's first victory in seven games.

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI)—Wyoming half touchdowns against a third Denver University defense Saturday to down the Pioneers, 41-2, in a Skyline Conference football game.

The Cowboys took a big step toward their third straight Skyline crown with a second half offensive which included touchdowns on long runs and long marches.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Princeton, stymied by early goal line adversity, passed six yards for a second period touchdown Saturday and then turned a third-period fumble into another score in a 21-0 defeat of Pennsylvania for the Tigers' second straight Ivy League triumph.

Barry Schuman, a sophomore end from Binghamton, N.Y., a tripples Tiger when he dropped a came a full-fledged Bengal when he caught a flip from Mike Iseman on the very next play for Princeton's first score.

INDOOR SPORT

NEW YORK (UPI)—The first indoor football game in history was played Dec. 28, 1902, in the old Madison Square Garden. Syracuse, with Glenn (Pop) Warner at guard, defeated the Philadelphia Nationals, 6-0, before 3,000 fans.

Rebels Clobber Vandy, 26 To 0

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Mississippi rolled to four quick touchdowns Saturday night then coasted to a 26-0 win over outmanned Vanderbilt.

The speedy Rebels, seeking to boost their national ranking, gave coach Johnnie Vaught his 100th win since he took over as head coach in 1947.

Arkansas scored after recovering a Baylor fumble and moving 48 yards in the second quarter and after intercepting a Bear pass and moving 36 yards in the final period.

End Jim Collier was credited with the first touchdown when fullback Joe Paul Alberty fumbled in the end zone after plunging the final yard. Quarterback George McKinney scored the other one on a 7-yard keeper. Lance Alworth, Arkansas' speedster halfback, didn't play the last half because he re-injured his knee in the last play of the first-half. He was originally injured against Texas Christian last week.

The Bears, notching their third straight victory, moved the ball with ease as Stanley used halfbacks Goodwin, Ronnie Bull and Tommy Minter around end and on off-tackle plays.

Baylor rolled up 387 yards on offense to 147 for the Razorbacks. Bull was the game's leading ground-gainer with 71 yards on eight carries.

Goodwin scored the game's first touchdown to cap an 89-yard drive in the first quarter when he twisted down the sidelines for 23 yards, eluding three tacklers inside the five. Larry Corley converted to make it 7-0 with 5:07 left in the first period.

The Razorbacks tied it in the second quarter after tackle Martin Epp recovered a Ply handoff on the Baylor 50. It was 12 plays later when Collier recovered in the end zone.

Collier, who played a magnificent offensive game, had caught a 14-yard fourth down pass to keep the drive alive on the 15. Baylor took the lead two minutes before halftime when Stan'sy passed from the 19 to Goodwin, who took it on the three and scored.

Stanley also scored in the third quarter, capping a 49-yard drive with a 5-yard skid around end. Corley kicked his third of four conversions.

The final touchdown was scored after a 62-yard drive late in the third period on Ply's pass to Lane.

Linebacker Wayne Harris was the defensive star for Arkansas, making or assisting in 19 tackles. Guard Robert Burk led Baylor with 10.

The loss was the first for Arkansas in four games and ended an eight game winning streak extending into last season.

Texan Leads 'Husker Win

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Junior halfback Bennie Dillard scored two touchdowns and set up a field goal Saturday in his only four plays in the game to lead Nebraska to a 17-7 triumph over Kansas State.

The fleet 162-pound Dillard, from Mt. Pleasant, Tex., was seeing his first action in four years for the Cornhuskers. But he had his day of glory, carrying the ball three times for 43 yards. Each touchdown run went five yards.

Dillard came into the Big Eight Conference contest for the first time in the third period and swept end for 32 yards to the Kansas State 22. The Husker offense, which sputtered and missed fire through the first half, couldn't move from there and Ron Meade came in to connect on a 37-yard field goal to put Nebraska ahead, 3-0.

The first Cornhusker touchdown came minutes later in the third period after Kansas State quarterback Ron Blaylock attempted a run from his own 26 on fourth down with 11 to go. He got a rousing reception on the 30, and the Huskers took over.

Nebraska quarterback Pat Fischer squirted through the line twice to move to the five. Dillard then re-entered the game and circled end for the touchdown.

by three quarters Saturday before rallying to a 15-6 victory over winless Holy Cross.

The mighty Orangenjen, undefeated since a loss two years ago to Holy Cross, were unable to score until the final play of the third quarter to overcome a Holy Cross second period touchdown. Syracuse added its second touchdown with 11 seconds left in the game played before 18,000 at Fittion Field.

Star Syracuse halfback Ernie Davis, shackled by a driving Crusader line, scored the second touchdown on a 23-yard pass from quarterback Dave Sarette.

The first Syracuse touchdown, scored on reserve fullback Jack Mackey's one-foot plunge, was enough for a victory when specialist Ken Erickson of Weymouth kicked the conversion.

That placement offset the Holy Cross second period score, a 1-yard quarterback sneak by Crusaders Bill Joern. Joern, an unheralded Holy Cross operative, personally directed five other Holy Cross drives, three of which failed within the Syracuse 20 yard line.

Wells Ties NCAA Record With Kicks

ATLANTA Ga. (UPI)—Halfback Tommy Wells tied the national collegiate season field goal kicking record with a pair of three-pointers Saturday and Georgia Tech's possessive Yellow Jackets supported him with a gritty goal line defense to beat Louisiana State, 6-2.

A rain-soaked crowd of more than 44,000 saw Wells, a senior from Nashville, Tenn., kick a 22-yard field goal in the first period to tie the all-time Southeastern Conference record — then come through with a 37-yard field goal in the third period to tie the NCAA record of seven for a season.

The LSU Bengals had numerous chances to score but their only points came in the fourth period when Georgia Tech punter Don Coker downed the ball in his own kick out in a driving rain.

Vols Smother Tampa, 62-7

KNOXVILLE Tenn. (UPI)—Junior tailback Glenn Glass ripped off touchdown runs of 42, 32 and 19 yards on his first three runs from scrimmage to spark Tennessee to a 62-7 win over outclassed Tampa Saturday.

Glass, from Clewiston, Fla., had later tried out his throwing arm on his fellow Floridians, tossing a touchdown pass to wingback Jerry Ensley on a play that had covered nine yards.

Another pleasant surprise for the 19,945 partisan fans was the dead-eye passing of sophomore George Canale, who threw for four touchdowns.

OFF AND RUNNING — Quarterback Butch Crossland (15) takes off around right end against Lubbock Monterey with a covey of Harvester blockers leading the way. Pampa's Billy Cooper (26) shows the way while the Plainsmen's Clive Lankford (71) gives pursuit to the ball carrier. Monterey won, 19-6, for its first District 3-A victory and handed Pampa its second conference defeat. (Daily News Photo)

Georgia Tech Bumps LSU, 6-2

ATLANTA Ga. (UPI)—Halfback Tommy Wells tied the national collegiate season field goal kicking record with a pair of three-pointers Saturday and Georgia Tech's possessive Yellow Jackets supported him with a gritty goal line defense to beat Louisiana State, 6-2.

The LSU Bengals had numerous chances to score but their only points came in the fourth period when Georgia Tech punter Don Coker downed the ball in his own kick out in a driving rain.

Georgia Tech, which has now won three of four games, had marched 77 yards after the opening kickoff but bogged down at the LSU four and had to call in Wells for his first three-pointer of the game and his sixth of the season.

During the long drive, sophomore quarterback Stan Gann had furnished the key yardage with keeper runs and a pass to halfback Chick Graning.

That was Tech's only scoring threat of the first half and the Yellow Jackets spent the remaining 21 minutes before halftime fighting for their lives.

LSU reached the Tech seven-yard line halfway through the second period but that drive died when Tech halfback Tom Winingder intercepted a pass by Tiger quarterback Jimmy Fields.

A short while later, the Tigers got a first down on the Tech

Michigan Rips Duke

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Sophomore speedster Dave Raimey zig-zagged through Duke's defenses like a frightened rabbit Saturday and led Michigan's rebounding Wolverines to a 31-6 triumph over the previously unbeaten Blue Devils.

Raimey's running was the key factor in the first four Michigan touchdowns as the Wolverines piled up a 25-6 lead by the early moments of the final period when coach Bump Elliott flooded the field with reserves.

And when Duke girded its defense to stop Raimey, who picked up 114 yards in 13 carries, Wolverine Quarterback Dave Glinka, another sophomore, launched an air offensive that kept Michigan on the move.

The Wolverines pushed across their first touchdown late in the opening period on a 42-yard march. From the Blue Devil 11, Raimey hit the line for five yards and then for five more to the one, from where Denny Fitzgerald lugged it over.

The Blue Devils tied the score early in the second period when they parlayed a recovered fumble into a 49-yard march with Mark Leggett diving over from the one for a touchdown.

Pitt Shades Miami, 17-6

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Pitt Panthers called on their "Three Cs" backfield Saturday to end a month of football frustration and defeat the Miami Hurricanes 17-6 with a wild fourth period flourish.

Halfback Freddie Cox of Monongahela, Pa., booted his first field goal of the season—a 30-yarder with two minutes gone in the final period.

There was 6:18 left on the scoreboard clock when halfback Bob Clemens of West Mifflin, Pa., slanted off right tackle three yards for the game's first touchdown. Less than three minutes later, Fullback Jim Cunningham became a member in good standing of the "Three Cs" club by bolting up the middle for 13 yards and Pitt's final touchdown of the day.

Missouri Grinds Out Win Over Air Force

DENVER (UPI)—Missouri crushed previously unbeaten Air Force Academy, 34-8, Saturday with a bruising ground game and a defense that never allowed the Cadets inside the 20 until late in the game when the Tiger bench was cleaned.

A crowd of 24,398 watched in bright, 81-degree weather as the undefeated Tigers took a 7-point first period lead, then pulverized the Airmen with three second-period scores.

One of them was a sensational 90-yard punt return by halfback Donnie Smith, who also scored on a 17-yard romp in the third period.

Missouri, the No. 8 ranked team in the nation, scored late in the first period when it went 61 yards in 11 plays with halfback Mel West going around right end from the 9 to score.

Less than four minutes deep in the second period, halfback Norris Stevenson scored from the 10 after Missouri had gone 70 yards in 9 plays.

The Air Force moved the ball only eight yards on its next series and Mayo punted from his 38. Fullback Norman Beal took the ball on Missouri's 12 and on a reverse handed it to Smith on the 10. Smith streaked down the left sideline for a 90-yard run-back.

Auburn Slips By Chattanooga '11'

AUBURN Ala. (UPI)—Sophomore scabback Jimmy Burson's 105-yard kickoff return at the start of the second half gave the stumbling Auburn Tigers the impetus needed Saturday to squeeze past little Chattanooga, 10-6.

The Tigers, apparently eyeing next week's game with Georgia Tech and overlooking the stubborn Moccasin's potential, were unable to score against their supposedly-outclassed foes except in a few brief minutes of the third period.

Middies Drown Mustangs, 26-7

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—Unbeaten sixth-ranked Navy capitalized on two first quarter breaks Saturday, and sloshed on its first victory, 26-7, over Southern Methodist in 30 years.

A rain-soaked crowd estimated at 33,000 saw the Middies block a punt and recover a fumble for two early touchdowns.

The Southern Methodist Mustangs got their own break on a short kick and scored in the second period, but after that it was Navy all the way in a steamy rain. It was SMU's third straight loss.

Joe (The Jet) Bellino led the running, passing and pass receiving, figured in two touchdowns and copped the most valuable player award to place Navy in this 14th annual Oyster Bowl.

Bellino turned in the prettiest run of the day when he took a Mustang kick on his own 14, cut to the right sidelines, and rocketed away to the SMU 23 for a 63-yard return. Bellino racked up 93 yards in 15 runs from scrimmage and added another 90 yards on runbacks.

Navy running mate Joe Matalavage backed up Bellino with 57 yards on 10 tries, including a twisting 30-yard touchdown run for the final score in the fourth period.

A lineman, center Frank Visted, started the Middies to their fourth victory of the year when he blocked Glynn Gregory's punt on the SMU 30. Matalavage recovered on the seven. Three play later Bellino ran wide to the left and threw a leaping pass to Matalavage in the end zone.

The Mustangs got their chance when Mather kicked straight up giving SMU the ball on the Navy 44. Nine plays later Gregory punched over from the one.

Trio Stills Hurricanes

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—A bad disaster named Dillard and a couple of calamities called "Acock and Buck" struck Tulsa Skelly Stadium Saturday, carrying arch-rival Oklahoma—State over the Hurricanes, 28-7.

A total of 16,238 fans watched in summery weather as the Hurricanes sprang to life too late the fourth when quarterback Jerry Keeling lofted a pass to left half Bob McGoffin, who scampered 80 yards for a touchdown and a new school record on 1 scoring pass.

The Cowpoke troops were led by fullback Jim Dillard, who scored two of State's three touchdowns and assisted in a touch. The others were added by reserve fullback Bob Acock and Tulsa's listless defense was able to slow the smoothly-running Oklahoma State varsity.

Oklahoma State, in scoring first victory of the season, kept Tulsa buffaloed all through the first period, but the Hurricanes threatened in the second in drive which was stopped just inches short of a first down on State 8.

Dillard opened the scoring with a series of good lugs to the Tulsa 1-yard line, then administered coup de grace with a keep. Davis kicked all Oklahoma State conversions.

In the opening plays of second period, State scored again, Dillard going over on a yard plunge. The drive was up when a Keeling pass was intercepted by right half Ches Pittman on the Tulsa 43.

In the third period, Oklahoma State rolled 60 yards in 11 plays. Acock scoring on a 2-y thrust.

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Third string quarterback Joe Salem, the "people's choice," guided Minnesota, the nation's ninth ranked football power, to a 7-0 victory over Northwestern Saturday.

A cheer went up from the 37,096 fans when Salem made his first appearance late in the third period. He responded by pushing the Gophers from their own 41 to the Northwestern 6.

The crowd boomed when Coach Murray Warmath sent starting quarterback Sandy Stephens in for Salem with a touchdown in sight. But Stephens blasted to the one-foot line on his first try and charged into the end zone on his next try for the touchdown. Jim Rogers kicked the extra point.

Tigers Claw Virginia, 21-7

CLEMSON S.C. (UPI)—Clemson capitalized on a penalty, a punt return and a punt to Virginia's one-yard line Saturday to hand the Cavaliers their 21st straight football defeat, 21-7, before 14,000 fans.

The unbeaten Tigers had trouble mustering a sustained offense for the third straight week but capitalized on breaks and Mack Matthese's 55-yard punt return to win. Surprisingly scrappy Virginia lost its fourth of the year. Virginia hasn't won since the second game of the 1958 season.

After 40 yards in first period penalties kept Clemson stymied, the Tigers used a penalty to keep a 51-yard drive going for their first touchdown. It was fourth and five on the Virginia 35 and Eddie Wertz was in to punt, but Virginia jumped offside, giving Clemson a first down.

Fighting Harvesters Succumb To Heavy Monterey, 19 To 6

By ED HAYES WILSON Daily News Staff Writer

BBOCK — Weight, that event curse upon the Pampa School football team, again the tale Friday night, as the Harvesters suffered their fifth defeat, a 19-6 loss to Monterey's Plainsmen.

Harvesters played a respectable game against the host team in Texas Tech's Stadium. However, a red-headed, freckled-faced youngster James Ellis instilled a fire in the Plainsmen's ground attack.

Harvesters could not cope with the club that may have itself at long last. Monterey was one of the choices in Class 3-4A conference. But it ground out 349 yards on the field against the constantly ping Harvesters, it had shown of a running game.

on a beautiful bit of open field running and Viney followed with one yard gain to the 33. Ellis passed incomplete and then followed with a delayed option play that sent him to the 26. On the next play the big quarterback went the route, again turning in some fine downfield running.

After running the score to 12-0, Monterey increased its margin to 19 with 3:16 left in the third quarter when Ellis unleashed another of his broken field efforts that ended in the Pampa end zone. It was a hip-swinging dash of 25 yards, and one that would put any "flapper's" efforts to shame; no less than five Pampans had a shot at the red-head, but he pulled the hip away just as contact seemed certain.

He kicked the extra point and that was that. It was weight, Ellis and timely blocking that told the difference. But if you tie the loss to one thing it must be weight. It was the difference in the Harvesters' defenders getting to Ellis on the delayed handoffs, and it was the factor that kept them from getting to Ellis and Viney, Monterey's key attackers, before they could begin to roll and the defenses could form to protect them.

Pampa's effort this night was above the one it turned in against Tascosa for more than three quarters. The men of Coach Babe Curfman cannot be ignored for an ever-striving attempt to score. And after being down 19-0, they continued to pound and work towards Monterey goal. They made it but one time, but if praise for effort means a thing, the Harvesters deserve all that can be heaped upon them.

Dumas '11 Opens Fast To Top Lee

DUMAS — Dumas Junior High's eighth graders scored on the second play they had the ball and went on to defeat Robert E. Lee's eighth grade Rebels, 28-8, here Friday.

Dumas took a Rebel punt, ran one play for 15 yards, then connected for a 30-yard touchdown pass to roar into a quick 6-0 lead. In the second quarter, a short Lee punt put the ball on Dumas' 45-yard line, and it took only 10 plays to wind up a quick 6-0 lead. A recovered Lee fumble in the third period set up Dumas' third touchdown and ran for 55 yards. A fourth-quarter run of 55 yards was Dumas' last score.

Unbeaten Lee Seventh Stops Berger Houston

BORGER — Robert E. Lee's seventh grade Rebels scored once each in the second and third quarters here Friday to down Berger Houston, 16-0, and remain unbeaten.

For the Rebs, it was their third straight win of the season and kept them the only Pampa team with a clean record. Lewis Meers started the Rebel express moving by rolling out around the right for a 45-yard touchdown sprint in the second quarter, and then added two conversion points on a run. Gary Crossland hung up the second and final six-pointer of the afternoon when he took a hand-off on a double reverse in the third quarter and ran for 55 yards. Meers again added a running conversion to wind up the day with 10 points.

the center back into the Houston quarterback. Other Lee bright lights were Linebacker Larry Eckroat, who saved one possible Berger TD when he caught the runner from behind; Billy Joe Roden, who played an outstanding defensive game at cornerback; and Kenneth McWilliams, who — despite a still-handaged left hand — quarterbacked the Rebels with precision care.

He Tries To Talk Issues, But . . .

Kennedy Sparks A Personal Electricity

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

EN ROUTE WITH KENNEDY (NEA) — Sen. John F. Kennedy's driving bid for the Presidency may turn on the voters' response to the campaign ingredient hardest to gauge: his personal political magic.

Observers watching as he moves through crowded streets, halls, courthouse squares and airports agree an electric arc often leaps between the Democratic nominee and the thousands who swarm about him.

Few veteran onlookers dare guess whether the charge holds enough voltage to jar millions of undecided voters. Kennedy's way and bowl over such formidable barriers as his Catholicism, the growing conservatism of the South, the wide feeling Vice President Nixon is well equipped to deal with the issues of peace and war.

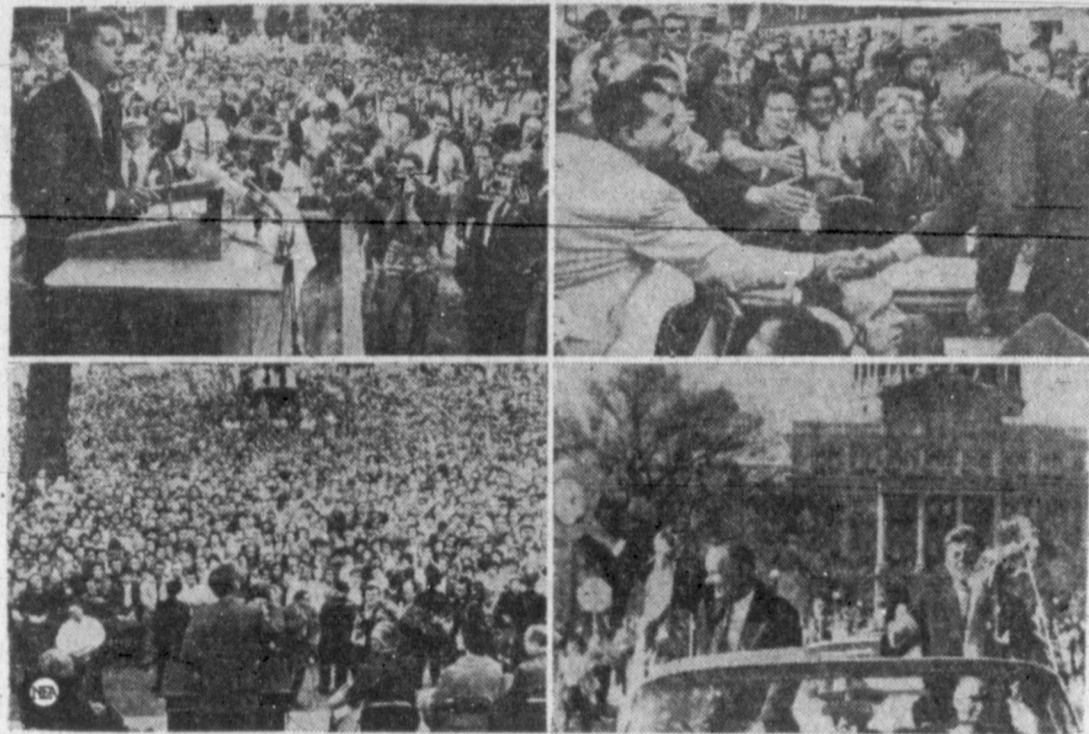

Yet the experts think it risky to underestimate the Kennedy "phenomenon." Young girls shriek and bounce as he waves shyly from his car. They raise his banner ("Now and forever, Jack") or laughs and applause, and "bustle" rush in to grab his hand or touch his clothes. ("Touch him for me, Ginny, I missed!") Women bundling babies in their arms break into a run to catch a glimpse.

No one dismisses the women's reaction, since they now outnumber men in the voting lists. But thousands of men and boys also are caught with lingering smiles after Kennedy has passed.

A swaying, stomping mass of the candidate's partisans shoe-horned into a steaming halls produces an ear-splitting roar as he strides down a wide center aisle, a spotlight picking out his thick hair flecked with confetti. A hundred thousand people stir the dust in a leafy park to hear Kennedy speak a bare 15 minutes. Hours later, other thousands shuffle patiently at an airport for a five-minute look at him silhouetted by floodlights. Those who can't see are rewarded by fireworks etching his profile 15 feet high.

Kennedy's electric effect inevitably stimulates his victory hopes. But it seems to spark almost in spite of him. He bangs away soberly at the issues, trampling laughs and applause, and "bustles" himself with other strategies.

Has a way with crowds wherever he goes.

He seeks to weld a coalition of workers, dissident farmers, intellectuals and national minorities of the kind that brought Franklin D. Roosevelt fabulous majorities.

Starting with the accepted notion Democrats markedly outnumber Republicans, he tries to woo back millions of his party who voted for President Eisenhower. Through determined city registration drives he tries to flush still more Democrats from non-voting hideaways.

To build a Roosevelt-style coalition today is no easy chore. Current reports suggest many farmers are stringing along with Nixon. Some Negro elements seem ready to break from Kennedy, though most indicate they're staying.

All accounts so far add to clear success for the Democrats' registration push. City after city reports record listings. But field samplings also show amazingly heavy increases in rural registration, generally believed certain to aid the Nixon cause.

Well aware of Nixon's consistent bidding for Democratic as well as independent support Kennedy tries to undercut: "I won't permit Mr.

Nixon to escape his party, and I wish to be identified with mine." Placing himself in the Wilson-Roosevelt-Truman line, he adds:

BAD CONTRIBUTION

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Philip A. Slusser, 23, was arrested recently for writing a bum check. Officials at the Sunset Baptist Church in Sunset, Tex., complained to police that a check Slusser dropped in the collection plate bounced.

JUROR COMES THROUGH

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Earlier this week, Judge Joe B. Brown interrupted a jury selection when a woman on the jury panel said she worked in the mail order department of Sears Roebuck.

"Would you do me a favor," asked Brown. "I've been trying to get a catalog for a year. They're hard to get. Would you get them to mail me one?"

Judge Brown received his catalog in the mail Friday.

"I sing the same song they sang." Drumming on his campaign theme, Kennedy tells his listeners everywhere that America at home has too many people ill-fed, ill-housed, poorly cared for medically, or out of work.

Beyond the domestic field he declares our presently strong defense posture "could be gravely weakened if we don't quickly close "the missile-space gap." He sees Russian space gains, the Cuban dilemma and other factors severely damaging — America's prestige in the world.

"We have to overcome that psychological feeling that . . . maybe our high noon has passed, and that now we are going into the long, slow afternoon."

"I don't hold that view at all, and neither do the people of this country."

Through all his assaults Kennedy steers clear of direct firing at the still immensely popular Mr. Eisenhower. But of Nixon's claim to superior foreign affairs experience he asks: "Is this the kind of experience we want four more years of?"

Youthful and self-assured.

The answer to that question by millions of now undecided citizens probably holds the key to the election. Evidence indicates that many of the doubtful are Protestants who have some, but not deep, misgivings about Kennedy's religion, yet are not thus far convinced of Nixon's contentions in the foreign field. Their votes, divided, could make an extremely close election. Swing one way, they could build a landslide.

Kennedy's hope for a winning share appears to depend partly on how many will feel a nagging fear that he is right and Nixon wrong about the state of the world. It also seems founded on that big puzzle: How strongly and widely felt will be Kennedy's electricity? It could fizzle out by November or it could build up to lightning.

AAUW Play Series To Start Tuesday

"Hans Brinker and the Silver Skates" will be presented on Tuesday at 4 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Produced by the National Children's Theatre Association, "Hans Brinker" is the first of three plays which will be brought to Pampa by the American Association of University Women. Season tickets are being sold in all elementary schools for $1.50 or a single admission may be purchased at the door for $1.75.

The play is based on the story by Mary Maples Dodge. It has its setting in the little village of Broek, a few miles from the city of Amsterdam, Holland. The Brinkers are very poor — and they have two mysteries in their home that only they know about. One concerns the loss of their fortune and the other a great silver watch. The fortune had mysteriously disappeared from the oak chest on the night of the great storm when Father Brinker was so badly hurt, as he worked with many other Dutch townsmen on the great dykes. It was on the same day also, that Father Brinker had rushed into the house and given Dame Brinker the big silver watch, saying only "Take care of this."

In the course of the play Dr. Bookman, the greatest surgeon in all Holland performs a successful operation on Father Brinker; Hans and his sister Gretel earn skates and enter the grand race on the canal, which one of them wins; and finally, the two mysteries are solved.

Fates Of Presidents Form Parent Ed Topic

Parent Education Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. H. C. Federer. Mrs. W. L. Arrington, president, opened the meeting with the reading of the "Parent's Prayer."

"After the White House, What?" was the program topic chosen by Mrs. Wiley Reynolds, Jr. "It is interesting to know that twenty four of our Presidents have lived an average of eleven years in retirement. Our ex-Presidents have lived, on the whole, longer than most men," stated Mrs. Reynolds.

"At the close of his second administration, when Washington was 65, he retired to Mount Vernon to what he regarded as his favorite occupation, farming. Washington refused to accept any compensation for services that he rendered to the United States, an example in patriotism which incidentally was followed by only one of his successors, Herbert Hoover. Mr. Hoover placed his entire salary in a special bank account and used every cent of it for charitable purposes. This sum totaled nearly half a million dollars."

"John Adams was the first president to live in the newly established District of Columbia. During the first years of his retirement he was despondent and often referred to himself as 'buried and forgotten'. His death occurred exactly 50 years to the day after he signed the Declaration of Independence.

Mrs. Reynolds continued, "Five days after Madison's inauguration, Thomas Jefferson, the ex-President rode out of the city on horseback toward his home, Monticello. Perhaps Jefferson's most cherished hobby was architecture to which he devoted much study and in which he attained prominence. The brilliant statesman, who was so talented in handling affairs of our country, never saved a great deal

Miss Merrick Is Feted At Shower

GROOM (Spl) — Miss Janie Merrick, bride-elect of Ernest Lewis, was honored with a bridal shower recently in the Community Club House with Mrs. Joe Blakemore, Lee Kirk, John Witt, Robert Newton, Max Ray Faulkner, Tom Reed, John V. London, Harry Britten and L. C. Jones as hostesses.

The serving table was appointed with brown net over brown linen to carry out the bride's chosen colors centered with an arrangement of rose buds showered with streamers leading to white and silver wedding bells.

Mrs. Jones presided at the crystal punch service with Mrs. Witt at the cake service. Miss Sharon Jones was guest registrar.

It is what gives us the ability to see ourselves as others see us and to share fellow feelings with them. It underlies our remarkable ability to transport ourselves into someone else's parlor where we will be in reality next week and then in imagination to think and plan how we will act. It enables us to imagine ourselves in someone else's place and to ask how we would feel and what we would do were we this other person. Thus these capacities are the rudiments of our ability to love our neighbor, to have ethical sensitivity, to see truth, create beauty, devote ourselves to ideals and die for them if need be.

To fulfill these potentialities is to be a person.

But these gifts come only at a high price—the price of anxiety and inward-crises.

The birth of the self is no simple matter.

The healthy child who is loved and not supported but not coddled by his parents will proceed in his development despite his anxiety and the crises that face him.

But when his parents consciously or unconsciously exploit him for their own ends, hate or reject him so that he cannot be sure of minimal support when he tries out

New England Steak And Bean Pot Is Solid, Hefty Fare

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise
Food and Markets Editor

This man-size meal; New England steak and bean pot, is far easier to make today than in Colonial times. Our modern convenience foods cut old-fashioned drudgery. Incidentally, it's a good dish for outdoor meals.

NEW ENGLAND STEAK AND BEAN POT
(Makes 4 servings)

One pound round steak, pounded very thin; 1/4 cup dark, full-flavored molasses; 2 tablespoons soya sauce, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 medium onion, chopped; 1/4 cup sweet pickle relish, 4 slices bacon, 1 tablespoon shortening, 1 can (16 ounces) Boston-style pork and beans.

Cut round steak into four strips. Combine molasses, soya sauce, lemon juice and onion. Brush one side of meat generously with mixture. Top with one tablespoon pickle relish. Roll up and wrap with bacon strip, fastened with skewer or toothpicks. Brown meat well in shortening. Stir remaining molasses mixture into beans. Place in one-quart casserole; cover and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 45 minutes, or until meat is tender.

BASIC BARBECUE SAUCE
One cup chili sauce, 1-3 cup light, mild molasses; 2 teaspoons instant

DEFROSTING MEAT
Frozen meat may be defrosted before or during cooking. It may be defrosted in the refrigerator or at room temperature before cooking, whichever is most convenient. Of course it will take longer to defrost it in the lower temperature of the refrigerator than in the kitchen. Allow approximately 1-3 to 1/2 again as long cooking time when cooking frozen roasts.

Summertime Sun Brushed Away With 100 Strokes

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Repairs lost dry, frizzy, lifeless and dull hair are often in order at this time of year. The summer's fun, with its salt spray, sun and wind, has done its damage.

Some things remain constant in a changing world. One of these is your grandmother's way to beautiful hair: the hairbrush. Nothing available today takes its place for turning a head of hair that looks like a floor mop into sleek and shining strands. You must use it 100 strokes each day.

While you're doing this, you may want to take advantage of a hair product developed for at-home use. Its purpose, the makers say, is to perform a color repair job on in color.

Your hair is responsive to many things: to what you put on it, to the shampoo you use, to the vitamins you take, to exercise and fresh air, to your diet. So if you're having hair problems which are really troublesome, check up on yourself. You may need hot oil treatments, scalp massage or cod liver oil capsules. If your hair is dry, fuzzy and hard to curl, chances are very good that you need all three.

The secret of success in cooking pork lies in cooking it thoroughly at a moderate temperature. During long, slow cooking the rich flavor is fully developed while the exterior acquires an attractive golden brown.

Miss Susan Patrick, president; Eddie Brewer, vice-president; Betty Simpson, recording secretary; Linda Garrett, corresponding secretary; and Charles Jackson, treasurer.

"Singing Pipes", a movie on the making of the pipe organ was shown and it was announced that those representing the Mozart Club on the Junior Convention Fine Arts program held Saturday at Robert E. Lee Junior High Auditorium would be a trio composed of Eddie Brewer, Miss Betty Stinson, and Miss Carlyn Stinson playing "Valse in G," by Streabog. To represent the Marsh Club on the program would be Kenneth Lemons playing "Festivals" by Wigham.

Carrying out the blue and gold color scheme of the National Federation, the refreshment table was laid with a lace-over-blue cloth centered with a large arrangement of yellow and bronze dahlias in a milk glass urn, flanked by yellow tapers in hob-nail milk glass holders with blue ribbon pop-poms at the base. Blue iced cookies and punch were served by Mrs. Harry Gordon presiding at the crystal punch service, assisted by Mrs. A. L. Patrick, Jr., and Mrs. K. E. Rasco, mother-hostesses for October.

While guests were served, Miss Cynthia Rasco, accompanist for Pampa Junior High School Seventh Grade Choir played "America the Beautiful."

In addition to the members attending were the following parents and guests, Messrs. and Mmes. J. W. Lemons; Warner Phillips; Paul Mathews; K. E. Rasco; Alvin Brewer; Mmes. Bill Waters, Leon Daugherty, Elmer Stinson, Ray Barnard, Bill Garrett, Warren Jackson, E. E. Jackson of St. Louis, Mo., Nancy Mathews and Denise Gail Mathews.

Practical Slant For Evening With Simple Lines, Rich Fabrics

By GAILE DUGAS
Newspaper Enterprise Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — American women, out on a shopping tour for an evening dress, are prone to be practical. It's true that they're shopping for beautiful color and fabric. But they also want a dress that will go places with ease.

The sweeping ball gown belongs to a very grand way of living. It's not for the average woman. She wants rich fabric and glowing color cut into a dress that's timeless to some degree. It should be good this season and next, too.

Most often, she'll look for a theater, dinner or evening gown in a day length, which is most practical for the American way of living. She likes to see her favorite sheath done up in a gorgeous fabric. She favors the ensemble because the matching coat takes care of the wrap problem. And it can be worn with other dresses, too. She looks for her favorite shirtwaist style given a new sophistication. And she finds it, this fall, cut from gleaming satin with

Here Are A Few Tips To Help Hostess Prove She's The Mostest With Guests

If you want to be sure your guests really mean it when they say, "It's been a wonderful evening," here are a few pointers to remember:

Don't limit your guests to the same small group who see each other constantly. Have a few new faces.

Don't serve the same kind of food the Browns served last week and the Smiths served the week before. Hunt around for a more interesting meal.

Don't have the same kind of party everyone else has been having. Break the chain in entertaining.

Never interrupt guests who are obviously having a good time doing what they're doing. If the conversation is going strong, don't break it up to suggest a card game. If everyone is happy around the piano don't insist on something else. But if the evening seems to be dragging, be quick to suggest a new activity.

Be an attentive hostess but not a fidgety, nervous one. Be on the alert for the guest who is left alone in a corner, for the one who is being bored by a long-winded talker.

Try to give each guest a little stiffened skirt.

Both fabrics and colors are combined effectively for evening this autumn. Taffeta and chiffon team up; so do chiffon and satin. Or a dark skirt is used with a light bodice to make the most of differing shades of a single color. Black lace sometimes veils satin or a silk print is combined with velvet.

In the last 15 years, a way of dressing has evolved which can be called distinctly American. It is casual but never sloppy. It depends on clean lines, meticulous tailoring, fine fabrics and lovely colors. Women who like this simple and beautiful way of dressing do not readily take to fluffy ruffles for evening. This year, they'll find that simple lines have been made ready for evening, too.

special attention so that each feels warmly welcome.

Let your guests go when they say they must instead of accusing the early-leaving guests of breaking up the party.

Then take off that excessive weight! What's more your chances for a long and vigorous life will be greatly increased, as any doctor will tell you. Losing weight, then, would seem worth any amount of struggle. But you do NOT have to struggle to lose! Nor starve or perform pounding workouts. In fact, that course cannot be recommended, for few humans are able to stick with it and remain either happy or healthy. So the effort is doomed before it starts. It is waste motion, pure and simple. Successful reductions only come from a satisfying, balanced diet and a mild, pleasant exercise program. The Lady-B-Lovely Salon offers such a program for you. Color to delight the eye, texture to delight the touch, pattern to delight the taste. All this in Armstrong embossed inlaid linoleum to choose from Pampa Glass and Paint. No other flooring material offers such a wide variety of designs, colors and textures. Use it from livingroom to utility room, Armstrong Embossed Inlaid Linoleum is durable under roughest wear and will retain its original beauty with easy care. I particularly like the flagstone and tile designs but you may like the "rustic wood" styled from old plank floors that captures Early American charm. Or perhaps the handsome pebblestone effect will catch your eye. There are simply dozens of patterns to choose from, each design developed at Armstrong's Styling Center and carefully produced under painstaking standards of quality control to assure you of extra value for your money. This week I shopped the fabric department at Dunlap's, and found a wonderful buy. Just in is a shipment of acetate faille, 45" wide, that is an unbelievable 49 cents a yard. It is perfect for dresses, or any elegant sewing. Prints in rich tones of grays, reds, browns, violets. You have to see it to believe it. Mary Lee Bohlander can also show you Dunlap's large choice of Botany wools, all weights, from checks to plaids to plains. A fine Botany label given when you buy enough for a skirt or suit, to let everyone know you sew with the best in wools. Italian imported "Cantoni" velveteens; imported Italian wool (in three lovely shades of purple). Rainbow colors for everything from baby coats to dinner dresses. Butterick patterns in the new one-yard line are wonderful to sew with. This one-yard line features designs for suits, blouses and skirts that take just one yard of 54" fabric for top or bottom! Next time you have a need or a yen to sew, look in on Mary Lee at DUNLAP'S, 119 N. Cuyler.

Two fine drugstores offering just about anything you need in drugs, cosmetics, gifts, and so on: B&B Pharmacy No. 1, and B&B Pharmacy No. 2. Emma Olsen, cosmetician at B and B No. 1 has Frances Denney cosmetics, and Linvin perfumes. Both stores carry Angeli-colognes and perfumes as well as other well-known brands. I like the line of Dorothy Gray "Hidden Charm" toilettries for little girls at B&B.

Paul McCarley at McCarley's Jewelry is an expert in watch repairing and also in repairing jewelry. He has factory replacement parts and the most modern electronic timing equipment to regulate watches and clocks after they have been repaired. If you want and or need a new watch, take a look at the selection of Longines, Wittenauer, LeCoultre, Hamilton, Tissot, Omega and Rolex watches at McCarley's. Something new is the Hamilton ladies "weatherproof" watch in a design that is made to wear for the dressiest occasion, yet is water proof, shock proof, and is just about indestructible. If you want something different, and very much in style now, look at the Columbia Imperial matching wedding bands and rings. In white and yellow gold, satin or florentine finish, or in the new "mill grain" finish, these rings are truly beautiful. Some are set with tiny diamonds, all are exquisitely designed. Acorn Squash - Has Quality And Variety

On the chilly autumn days when it's comfortable to use the oven for preparing the evening dinner, plan to serve baked acorn squash. Your family will appreciate both the stick-to-the-ribs quality and the variety that baked acorn squash affords to the routine of the week's program of meals.
 You can make the baked acorn squash a full meal in itself if, before the baking process, you place in each half of the squash several already-cooked and drained pork links.
 Besides all the tasty nourishment of the honey and squash and pork sausages, baked acorn squash has the advantage of being easy to prepare, a boon to busy mothers. After your few simple steps in preparation, the oven will take care of the rest and keep the squash ready until the moment of serving.
 Note: A teaspoonful of honey added to one cup of carrots, green beans, peas, squash, tomatoes and sweet potatoes helps to bring out their flavor.

A corner to herself for this little girl means a bright window, curtained with a gay, loyland pattern. Motifs from the fabric are pasted to the cornice board. More of the crisp cotton is pasted to cardboard and stapled over an old toy chest. The low shelf is painted pale yellow, the background color of the print.

It's Easy To Doll Up Your Doll's Room With Gay And Charming Fabric Design

By KAY SHERWOOD
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Staff Correspondent

Few home changes bring more delight to children than seeing their own rooms freshened up with gay colors.
 With school in session, there's time to straighten up the summer's accumulation and to live their rooms with new curtains, paint or paper. In my experience, some youngsters at seven or eight years are old enough to weed out playthings and collections, saving and discarding. But even they welcome the assistance of a grownup in preliminary sorting.
 Let youngsters have a voice in the colors and patterns used in fixing up their rooms. You can do the preliminary screening of fabrics, for example, selecting two or three of the most suitable for final selection by the child.
 The gay and charming patterns designed for children's rooms are so numerous it's hard to make a mistake.
 Certain fabrics with a crisp gloss finish are not only easy to cut and sew but easy to use in other ways.
 The firmness of the material makes it a good choice for covering a toy box for example. If the box is ragged or scuffed, here's the way I was told to cover it successfully.
 Cut heavy cardboard to fit sides and top of chest. Paste fabric to cardboard, leaving extra fabric at top and bottom. Staple the fabric border to the chest to hold the cardboard snugly in place.

Dear Abby... Wedding Guests Rate Seats And Eats

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We were invited to a wedding. The bride's parents wanted to put on a big show without spending anything. They sent over 300 invitations for a wedding in a church that could seat only 100. More than half the people had to stand outside until they were exhausted. The reception was held in the church basement. There was a mob pushing and showing so you couldn't even get near the refreshment table. Isn't that like inviting guests to your home and not having room for them at the table? We'd like your opinion.

DEAR ABBY: What can I do to keep a 21-year-old girl from ruining her reputation by hanging around a gasoline station? There are nothing but married men there and people are talking. She says she goes there often to keep her car in good condition, but she stays for hours. How can I put a stop to it?

DEAR ABBY: Let her know that while her automobile is in good condition, her reputation is falling apart.

DEAR ABBY: My married young and don't have many material things although we both come from nice families and are used to much more. We have three children, 6, 5, and 3. I have no help and do the best I can. Lately my husband has become very fussy about things I consider trivial and unimportant. Example: Last night I set the table without a table cloth or place mats. He likes green onions and since he was the only one eating them, I washed a few and placed them beside his plate. He said the least I could do was to put them on a plate. I said he was making something out of nothing. He said he wants the children to learn how to do things properly. I say setting a formal table is wasted on young children. It caused a real row. Was he right?

TRYING HARD

DEAR TRYING: Try a little harder. Attractive place mats can be bought at the five and dime. Serving vegetables on a plate can hardly be called "formal service." It's well worth the extra effort if it pleases your husband.

CONFIDENTIAL TO STEWARD-ESS IN A QUANDARY: If you can't say yec, say no—but don't keep a nice guy like the pilot in mid-air forever.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want To Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

- Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
 A. Beef Flank Steak.
- Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
 A. This is an oval-shaped boneless cut from the flank. It weighs 3 to 1 1/2 pounds. The muscles run lengthwise.
- Q. How is it prepared?
 A. It is cooked by broiling, that is, covered and in a small amount of liquid. Usually it is scored before cooking to shorten the muscle fibers.

 Following the program, Mrs. Earl Dodson assisted by Misses Brenda and Patty Futch, dressed in Mexican costumes, illustrated the forthcoming mission book, "Across The Bridges" which will be taught this month.
 Preceding the Royal Service program, Mrs. Harold Craddock led group singing of "Wonderful Words" accompanied by Mrs. E. Douglas Carver at the piano.
 Mrs. Pernal Scoggins read the scripture and prayer calendar and led in special prayers for missionaries.
 Mrs. George Henderson and Mrs. Gerald W. Seagrigh were welcomed as guests.

Waste: Economic Views

Printer's Ink Magazine is to be commended. Last June it began an investigation of irresponsible government probing of business operations. What it has uncovered is enough to shock those thousands of persons who believe that were it not for government, industrialists would ride roughshod over the tiny customer.

What Printer's Ink and its editors are beginning to bring together is a mountain of evidence that it is the government and not industry which is riding roughshod over the tiny customer. And that industry is almost helplessly out-matched in trying to muster its dwindling resources, in the face of merciless publicity, in an effort to continue to bring products and services to people at the lowest possible cost.

Take this paragraph from a publication recently to see the light of day called: "The Shame of Congress."

"Continuing research and evaluation by Printer's Ink have shown that the irresponsible Congressional probe is one of the most serious threats confronting advertising and marketing. The irresponsible probe may even lead to an upheaval of our economic system and destroy marketing as it exists today. There is little doubt that that is the objective of at least one chairman of an investigation committee."

To sustain this most serious charge, the following facts are offered as evidence:

- 1. There's a growing tendency in Washington to depict advertising and marketing as CAUSES of shortcomings in the economy.
2. More than 100 new pieces of legislation to control advertising have been proposed in the 86th Congress.
3. Estes Kefauver, Oren Harris, and Cuba's Fidel Castro, have all used the same tactics in deriding advertising and marketing. Castro has been only a trifle more bold than his mentors in this country, but the logic of all three is on a par.

The Shame Of Congress

In economic courses taught in most colleges, great emphasis is placed upon the conservation of natural resources and the proper utilitarian function of tools and materials. Economics is viewed in these institutions as something which relates to the waste of raw materials and finished products, and how wrong such waste would be.

We would like to submit that this is far less important to the well-being of the human race than the waste of human energy. And the waste of human energy goes on ceaselessly in most colleges and, so far as we can learn, in almost all our schools, government owned and managed or otherwise.

There is a pitiful emphasis upon waste of materials, a pitiful lack of emphasis upon lost hours, futile duplication of effort, stupid regimentation of the lives and talents of potential genius.

In a nation where a highly developed, high-voltage economy functions, human energy is at a premium but, there is an unvarying waste of "things."

Ever notice men building a house? Occasionally a carpenter will drop a nail. So what? No one gives it a second thought. Cement will be mixed, the mixture will be wrong, the whole batch dumped out if irredeemable, and a new mixture made. Shingles are wasted, wire is wasted, nails are wasted, wood is wasted.

American garbage cans are so full of waste that without exaggeration it could be stated many families in Europe could feed luxuriously out of what we throw away in this nation.

And look at the way Americans walk in any large city in the world. You can usually tell an American by the way he walks. He looks as though he has something to do. He moves along briskly, going someplace.

Now, in contrast let us consider less-developed economies. In France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Britain (probably elsewhere) on those rare occasions when new construction is undertaken, young boys or men are hired to retrieve nails dropped inadvertently by workmen. One does not waste nails. It is better to employ men and waste their time than to waste those precious, precious "things."

Right now, in France, there is a thriving business in second-hand cigarette butts. Men roam the streets picking up snipes and butts which are taken to a factory, cleaned, reprocessed and issued. It pays this firm to hire persons to waste their time wandering around in this fashion because "things" are so precious. Consider the prudent, slow, rambling gait of most Europeans. They have nowhere to go, particularly: They are held down—by laws and regulations which create a sense of useless futility. Why hurry? There is nothing to do when one gets to his destination. It is better to take one's time to enjoy life as he passes slowly thru it.

Here is the contrast. In nations where freedom has held sway to any degree at all things can be wasted, but not time and not human life and human energy. In nations where freedom has not come for long periods of time, human life and human energy is cheap. But things are dear. These programs of planned scarcity plague the human race from nation to nation.

And until recently, the area of contrast was wider than it presently is between the U.S.A. and other lands.

Chairman of Congressional committees enjoy a number of immunities among them the following:

- a. They can conduct proceedings with a quorum of one... the chairman.
b. They can subpoena persons and materials without any regard for legal safeguards against unreasonable intrusions, search and seizure.
c. They alone determine the relevancy of matters before the subcommittee.
d. They enjoy Congressional immunity against action for libel and slander.
Every day in every way, government is growing larger and more oppressive. When will Americans wake up to realize that the state is their enemy?

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — Every now and then a reader with sleuth genes writes in to say that he has detected animus and distrust on my part in the matter of doctors. The answer to any and all such communications: untrue. I just wish they'd make up their minds and not take such awful chances.

If you throw your mind back across even a few decades within your own life you cannot help but remember the fads of health through which we have passed and which respectable doctors have fostered and abetted. Spinach, for example, was the miracle vegetable, loaded with minerals of unbelievable power and essentially, cram it down your kids' throats and they would glow with health. Not only did they not glow with health just because of spinach, but enlightened scientists now hold that as a matter of fact spinach isn't very good for you. It's too scratchy. It won't really hurt you but it won't benefit you, either. It's just a green you can take or leave.

Sooner or later, this heretic writing this report will be recognized as the man who first said that Nature was the best slide rule on milk. All mammals except human beings have the good sense to stop drinking it as soon as they stop being infants and, indeed Nature planted something in all mammalian mothers except humans which causes them to smart and snap and kick at any young who want to stay on the stuff longer than is normal. We still are told it is the miracle food. It isn't.

But let's get on with it: this has to do with cholesterol, which is rapidly becoming the ping-pong ball of the scientific world. Last year you had to run from cholesterol if you wanted to keep alive. This year, well this year, they aren't so sure. It may not be such a lethal villain, after all. Three years ago, they were sure: cholesterol wouldn't hurt a fly.

A friend of mine has suffered from this badminton game with cholesterol. He has had two severe, frightening heart attacks. Both nearly fatal and both when his cholesterol content was at its lowest. He has been put on a hideous diet to keep it that way. I am not being amusing when I tell you that he is alive and doing fine, cholesterol or no cholesterol, but his wife, some 11 years his junior, is a woman in apparently superb, flawless health, a woman with a doctor's certificate of perfection virtually clutched in her hand, dropped dead of a heart attack the other night.

Actually, along with my three convictions that doctors don't really know, that milk isn't the miracle food of all time and that I wish they'd get together and agree on what's what, is a fourth one: the killer, the real killer in our time, is not cholesterol but the football coach. These are the beloved assassins. They push kids through rigorous courses, do incalculable damage to young, strained hearts. Read your obituary pages in the daily papers: Joe So, 41, one-time college football star; Will That, 39, famed even today for his great touch-down ability while in college, dead. What the football coaches don't damage, the crew coaches damage. Factually, an oar in a varsity boat has more damage done to his heart than does a football player. But coaches are revered and cheered (when the teams win) as just about the nearest thing to a living toy god available in this non-idolatrous era. They are the beloved assassins, the ones who set up 18-year-old kids for heart attacks, and fatal heart attacks, at ages from 35 to 44. Apparently, if the kids can make it past 44 without toppling, they have a fair chance of getting into the gray years.

But, sir, it is not popular to attack milk or coaches, and it is more folly in our time to let fly at both on the same day, let us hasten away from these grim themes and ask a plaintive question: Look, fellows: is cholesterol bad or isn't it?

LOOKING FOR TROUBLE — Castro did some astonishing private talking during his grandstanding stay at the United Nations.

The beefy Cuban dictator told "friendly" UN delegates that as soon as he has a "substantial number" of MIG-17 jet fighters and the trained pilots to fly them, he plans to "deliberately provoke incidents with the U.S."

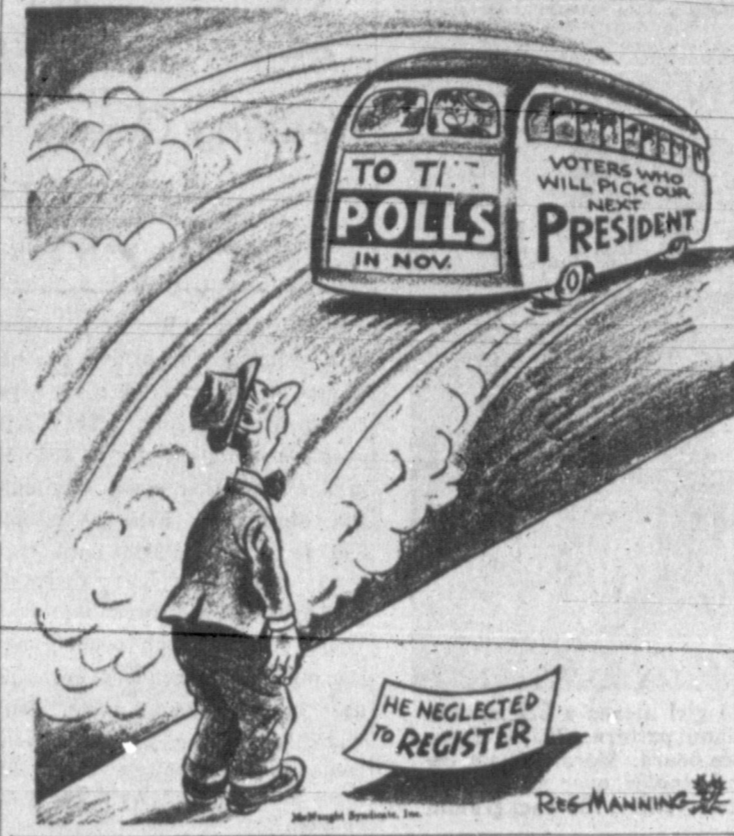

Asked by an African delegate how that would be done, Castro replied, "We'll harass the imperialists' shipping and aircraft. Khrushchev thinks that's a fine idea."

"What's your particular purpose?" continued the African. "To show the other Latin American countries that we can defy the mighty U.S. and get away with it," declared Castro.

So far, Castro has purchased 25 MIG-17s from Czechoslovakia, which is getting rid of them to equip its satellite airforce with faster and more powerful MIG-19s. 17s already have arrived in Cuba, and several more shipments are enroute on Russian and Polish freighters.

A large contingent of Cuban pilots and other air personnel is now in Czechoslovakia undergoing jet training.

CASTRO FACES REPAIR TROUBLE AT SEIZED U.S. PLANTS—COMMERCE DEPT. EMBARGOES SPARE PARTS SHIPMENTS. WASHINGTON — Soviet-fawning Premier Fidel Castro's long, loud and bombastic yapping is about to be called by the U.S. in another vital economic sphere.

In this latest crackdown, the Commerce Department will issue an order barring the export to Cuba of along list of machinery and spare parts urgently needed for the oil refineries, mills and factories seized by the Castro regime.

Most of Cuba's industry is U.S.-equipped. Numerous Russian and other Iron Curtain technicians, imported in recent months, are endeavoring to operate the confiscated plants. But among other difficulties, they are encountering increasing complications owing to the lack of spare parts and replacements.

To obtain this crucial equipment, which Castro must have to prevent Cuba's already seriously sagging industries from further bogging down, he has been trying to buy it here secretly and ship it to Cuba.

For that purpose, large bank deposits have been surreptitiously established in widely scattered U.S. centers. These accounts are under close Washington scrutiny.

In addition, the Commerce Department, after cabinet-level discussions, was directed to promulgate what is officially known as a "positive export control list" relating to Cuba.

Under this impending order, no machinery or other item on this list can be shipped there without an individual Commerce Department permit.

In effect, that constitutes a drastic embargo and new economic crackdown.

In September, the Department blocked the Cuban dictator from obtaining numerous jeeps, trucks, light aircraft and helicopters he had been quietly buying from U.S. military surplus depots and was preparing to ship to Havana in the guise of "agricultural equipment."

This scheme was scuttled when congressional authorities got wind of it and opened a blistering investigation. The Commerce Department's export ban followed immediately.

Grandstanding

Doesn't Pay Off

When George Washington warned against "entangling alliances" in his Farewell Address, he had no notion of anything resembling the United Nations organization. Yet his wisdom — had it been respected by later presidents — would have presented the mess in which the United States became involved when it signed the U.N. Charter.

The awful nature of that mess was revealed to the entire country when Khrushchev, Castro, Kadar and other communist leaders descended on New York for the U.N. General Assembly meeting. America's largest city became a platform for the propaganda players of the Red bloc.

The U.N. meeting is a shameful spectacle that will long haunt Americans. Acting as if New York City were Moscow or Havana, Khrushchev and Castro stormed into Harlem to announce their solidarity. Sirens screaming, Dictator Castro's 10-car motorcade invaded Harlem at midnight. Outside his hotel, a crowd of Harlemites shouted: "Cuba, Si, Yankee No!"

The general commanding Russian secret police struck American citizens until he was lifted off the ground and held in the grip of a New York police captain.

Meanwhile, New York's police were forced to undertake the unpleasant duty of using nightsticks against anti-communist pickets whose memory of Red atrocities caused them to protest the tyrants' arrival. An innocent nine-year-old girl was shot by a Castro supporter during a riot in a Manhattan cafe. The U.S. State Department, true to form, ordered that a large post on a building, depicting Khrushchev as the master of helpless peoples, be covered for the duration of his visit.

Altogether, Americans across the country were sickened by the thought of their native soil being used by communist cutthroats as a base of propaganda operations. No doubt many were deeply dismayed that the U.S. government did not put tighter restrictions on the activities of the Reds.

To be sure, under the U.N. agreement whereby the United States gave the international organization an enclave of seven acres on New York's East River, American sovereignty was to some degree surrendered. Until the U.S. formally repudiates the U.N. agreement, the Red scum of the earth will be free to arrive in New York harbor and use the U.N. site for their nefarious purposes.

But that's as far as the communists have a right to travel. Nothing gives Dictators Khrushchev and Castro the right to storm about New York City at will, requiring that thousands of police be called out for security purposes and also causing limits to be placed on the civil liberties of citizens who hate communism.

The limit placed on the travel of the Red leaders — the island of Manhattan — was far too generous. New York City is almost a country in itself with eight million people. The Reds should have been restricted to the U.N. headquarters building. "Where would they have spent the night?" bleeding hearts would have asked. The answer is that they could have lived aboard the Russian liner they traveled on across the Atlantic. Confinement of this sort would have shown the Reds how Americans regard tyrants — that they don't consider the Butcher of Budapest and others of his breed fit persons to enjoy the streets of a civilized community.

For the first time in our lives, and probably the last, we can agree with Mr. Khrushchev on one thing — the U.N. headquarters should be moved off of American soil, probably to Switzerland, which country is not a member of the U.N. It would be a good thing for us; it would give us a better perspective.

Khrushchev is now threatening to withdraw from the U.N. That would be all right, too. Russia has never supported the U.N. anyway; the Soviets have only used it as a world platform for communist propaganda.

Ridiculous Similarities Of A High And Low Birth

By HENRY McEMORE

The more I read about Prince Charles of England the more I am struck by the similarity of his boyhood and mine.

Uncanny is the only word for it. There were minor differences, of course. The house in which I was born on Cherry Street in Macon lacked several rooms of being as big as Buckingham Palace, and Mama didn't have a tiara to her name. And the rowboat we used to fish for catfish and bass wasn't quite a yacht.

But in the big things, my first 11 years were almost dead ringers for Charles's first 11 years.

I was reminded of this for the umpteenth time when I read a dispatch from London telling how Charles had become a big businessman. He has started attending quarterly financial meetings, and is keeping a close eye on the $252,000 annual revenue he gets from his estates in Cornwall.

I was the same way. My first venture was killing flies. Papa offered me a penny for each one I nailed with the swatter. I darn near broke him, since many a day I killed as many as 300 and 400.

I opened every window and screen in the house as fast as they were shut. I sneaked honey from the pantry and coated the window sills and the legs of chairs and tables. I bought flypaper and had it scattered about so thick that the cats and dogs were afraid to take a step.

I bought dead flies from other boys, at ten for a penny. I never made anywhere near $252,000 a year from flies, but then I didn't have the whole Duchy of Cornwall to operate in.

The story from London said Charles personally went down to Plymouth to inspect a Georgian house before it was leased in his name. He wanted to see that the rent was enough.

I would have done the same thing at his age — if I had had a Georgian house to rent. I showed the same keen financial interest in the laws I used to mow for flat twenty-five cents, and the edges I used to trim for what may have been around ten cents a hundred yards.

Some of the neighbors did the best to get me to cut their lawns for fifteen cents, using the argument that their lawns were smaller than many I did for two bits. I told them no dice. Twenty-five cents was my price, and twenty-five cents I held out for, even when several of my competitors underbid me.

A laborer is worthy of his hire. I used to say, even though it may have sounded a bit silly coming from a boy whose work with lawnmower around trees and shrubbery was known to be weak, great middle-of-the-yard mow, wasn't at my best in close work.

Charles, I am sure, holds to a price when he does mowing. I used to cut just to please a Duke or a Baron, or to stay in go with a belted Earl.

Charles watches his spendi money, too. He is said to have 35 cents a week to throw away. I don't want to brag, but I did squander that much. Five or six for a movie (a serial on Saturday afternoon), a cherry smash before Sunday school, also five cents, nickle's worth of licorice, and that was it.

Nearly one American in six lives in one of the nation's 25 largest cities shown on the map. They have a combined population of some 30,000,000. That is nearly 17 per cent of the 179,000,000 national population. The map shows the cities which scored the biggest advances in rank during the 1950-60 decade. Two Texas cities were strong gainers: Houston up from 14th place to 6th and Dallas from 22nd to 14th. San Diego, Calif., 31st in ratings in 1950, climbed to 19th.

AMERICANS BY THE SQUARE MILE (1960 POPULATION DENSITY)
HOW WE STACK UP—Although America's population increased by some 28 million between 1950 and 1960, the density decreased slightly. The average is now 50.4 persons per square mile, down from 50.7. Cause was the admission of Alaska with its great expanse of empty land. Figures for the states shown in Newsmap are found by dividing a state's population by its square miles of area. New Jersey is at the top with 800.2 and Alaska at the bottom with one person for each 2 1/2 square miles. Alaska's population is only 224,386. The newest state, Hawaii, with a population of 620,385, has a density of 96.8, almost double the national average. New York continues to lead in total population (16,596,507).

Only Supporting Cast Of TV Hearings Alive

By RONALD H. NESSEN
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Stars are gone.

Only the six supporting players remain from one of the great political dramas of the century—the Army-McCarthy hearings.

And after six years, those turbulent days which split the nation, shook the highest offices in the land and kept millions glued to their TV sets, are fading into the dimness of history.

Sage and Witty Yankee lawyer Joseph N. Welch, one of the lead players, died Thursday. His gruff, aggressive co-star, Gen. Joseph R. McCarthy, died three years ago. To many, they were the hero and villain of the piece.

The supporting actors — Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, Maj. Irving Peress, Roy Cohn, David Schine, Robert T. Stevens, Ray Jenkins — and the bit players are dispersed around the country, leading lives of relative obscurity.

The Army-McCarthy hearings were the climax of McCarthy's controversial crusade against what he considered the infestation of the government by Communists.

The Wisconsin Republican antagonized the Pentagon by upbraiding Zwicker, then commander of Camp Kilmer, N.J., for the promotion of Peress to major. Peress, a dentist, had been accused of Communist leanings.

The Army charged that Cohn, a McCarthy aide, tried to coerce favored treatment for Schine another aide who had been drafted.

McCarthy countered that Schine was being held as a "hostage" by the Army to persuade the senator to call off his investigations.

Stevens, then Army secretary, clashed with McCarthy over the lawyer's right to question Zwicker. The secretary later acquiesced.

The senator's own subcommittee then convened the explosive Army-McCarthy hearings to investigate the exchange of charges. McCarthy stepped aside as chairman for the famous inquiry.

Welch, dry-witted Iowa-born Boston lawyer, was engaged to serve as counsel for the Army without pay. His pixie humor and quietly intense tilts with McCarthy won him millions of fans.

He later portrayed a judge in the movie "Anatomy of a Murder," acted as host on a TV mystery program and discussed constitutional issues on another television show.

McCarthy was condemned by the Senate after the hearings, lost his power and died in 1957.

Cohn has a private law practice in New York City. He is counsel and 20 per cent stockholder in Feature Sports Inc., which staged the second Patterson-Johanson fight.

Schine, married to a former Miss Universe, is president of Schine Enterprises, his family's hotel business.

Peress has a dental office just off Fifth Avenue in New York. When last asked for comment on McCarthy, he told UPI hotly, "I won't say anything to anybody." Then he hung up.

Card of Thanks

DOCK L. MACKIE
We wish to thank our neighbors, friends and to anyone who in any way acted in love and sympathy during the recent loss of our beloved Husband and Father, Dock L. Mackie, to the Pastor for his comforting message and for the many floral tributes, and for the food.

THE DOCK L. MACKIE FAMILY

Crossing the Bar

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
I'm satisfied,
When I put out to sea.
But such a tide was moving seems
To fall of sound or foam
When that which drew from out
The boundless deep,
Turns again home,
Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark:
For though from out your bowels
Of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my pilot face to face,
When I have crossed the bar.

Judge Bolts Bench When Badman Pulls Fake Pistol

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Judicial dignity? Take it from Judge J. Frank Wilson, there's a time and a place for everything.

Wilson came off the bench like a cat with its fur on fire and hit the floor just as fast last week when badman Gene William Hackett pulled out a pistol in his courtroom.

"I got off the bench and headed for cover," Wilson said. "I was too good a target sitting up there in full view."

But as far as veteran Deputy

Sheriff John Massey, 65, was concerned, Hackett was just another punk...and it was all in a day's work.

While the jury to hear his trial for robbery was being quizzed by attorneys, Hackett turned to Massey and asked for a match. Then he reached into his coat pocket, as if for a cigarette, and pulled out the gun.

Massey, who has shot at least three men during 45 years of police work, hurled a roundhouse right that landed in Hackett's midsection and knocked him 15 feet back into a spectator's section.

"I gave him everything I had," Massey said.

It was learned then that the gun was a fake. Hackett made it from cork insulation pulled from jail air conditioning pipes, kneaded with soap and wrapped in tin from a jail drinking cup.

Shortly after things quieted down, the jury handed down a second 99 year sentence to Hackett for a series of armed robberies.

Hackett denied he was trying to escape.

"I thought if someone thought the gun was real, they would shoot me," he said. "That's what I wanted...I'm at the bottom...I have no place else to go."

South Africa Makes Choice

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—The decision of white South Africans to change their government from a monarchy to a republic jeopardized this country's ties to the British Commonwealth today.

The latest tabulation in a referendum from which 11 million non-whites were barred gave 840,839 votes of support to a republican form of government as against 771,773 to retain Queen Elizabeth II as chief of state.

Political sources said Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd probably would hold off actual proclamation of the republic until after the next meeting of the Commonwealth prime ministers in May.

When using a liquid paint remover, sprinkle sawdust over the surface after the paint begins to soften. You'll find that it is easier to remove the paint with a scraper this way.
