WORDS OF WISDOM? — Mrs. Bertha Eckert of Woodstock, Ill., who will be 100 years old March 15, and who has been a Republican all her life, whispers (perhaps words of wisdom) into the ear of Vice President Richard Nixon during a rally in Rockford. Mrs. Eckert is believed to be the oldest woman voter in Illinois.

Disarmament Hopes Imperiled By Khrush's Demand On U.N.

Tells West It Must Yield On Dag Ouster

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev Saturday night threatened to block world disarmament unless the West yields to his demand that U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold be replaced by a three-member committee. Khrushchev said he had no objection to Hammarskjold representing the capitalist countries on the committee if the other two posts were held by communist and neutral bloc representatives. The alternative to committee rule at the United Nations, he indicated, would be a continuation of the arms race.

Khrushchev delivered his reply to sharp American and British reaction over his U.N. speech Friday in a 45-minute twilight news conference in front of the gray stone Long Island mansion where he arrived earlier from Manhattan.

He told reporters that he wanted to "clarify" one point in his speech that U.S. Secretary of State Christian Herter said was a declaration of war on the U.N. Khrushchev said his Western critics were "distorting the truth" and he added: "I would like to ask you to be accurate."

He insisted he had no complaint against U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold personally, but he said Hammarskjold "sympathizes with the United States and in actual fact he represents those countries, headed by the United States."

He proposed that there be three secretaries - generals, representing the capitalist, socialist and neutral blocs.

"If we solve this question, then we will be able to solve the disarmament question," Khrushchev said.

He explained that when a disarmament agreement is reached any "international armed forces" would be under the command of Hammarskjold. He charged that Hammarskjold represents "the most imperialistic and capitalistic countries."

"Now imagine we come to an agreement on disarmament," he went on, gesturing rapidly with his hands, "and then we embark on the creation of international armed forces. The question will arise, who is to command the forces."

"Any international forces if created at 10 a.m. Monday in the Harvester-Mary Ellen Church of Christ, with Jay Channell, minister, officiating."

A. CECIL HOUCHIN
... suffers attack

Insurance Executive Succumbs

A. Cecil Houchin, 58, Pampa insurance executive, died at 12:30 a.m. Saturday in Highland General Hospital where he had been rushed shortly before his death following a heart attack in his home at 1542 Williston.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Monday in the Harvester-Mary Ellen Church of Christ, with Jay Channell, minister, officiating.

The late Mr. Houchin is survived by his wife, Mrs. Victoria Houchin; two daughters, Mrs. Maxine Carruth of Borger and Mrs. Edwina Atkinson of Lefors; three sons, W. C. Houchin of Canadian, Bob Houchin of Albuquerque, N.M., and Sam Houchin of Dumas; five sisters, Mrs. Lucy Decker of Meadow, Mrs. Thelma Huffstetler of Amburst, Mrs. Faye Pullen and Mrs. Ardis Miller, both of Lubbock, and Mrs. Willie Martin of Levelland; three brothers, Carl Houchin of Slaton, Buck Houchin and Ray Houchin, both of Lubbock, and 17 grandchildren.

He had been associated with Great American Life Insurance Co., for 10 years and had received the National Qualifier Award for the last six years.

He also was a member of the Great American President's Club from 1954 to 1959; a director of the Great American President's Club from 1958 to the time of his death; a member of the Leaders Roundtable of Texas in 1954, 1959 and 1960, and a member of the Silver Spur Club in 1959.

Mr. Houchin was born Sept. 7, 1902, in Delta County near Commerce, and came to Pampa in 1928. He was a member of the Harvester-Mary Ellen Church of Christ, the Pampa Masonic Lodge, and had served as president of the Top O' Texas Life Underwriters.

Pallbearers will be Doyle Rountree, Harvey Waters, Edgar Wood, Joe Tynes, Kermit Rasco, Hugh Lane, W. W. Russell and Don Hutchens. Honorary pallbearers will be members of the Life Underwriters of Pampa.

Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Duenkel - Carmichael Funeral Home.

We now have 1961 State Safety Inspection Stickers. Come in today and beat the rush. Pampa Safety Lane, 411 S. Cuyler. Adv.

U.S. Seeking African Support Against Russ

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United States moved quickly Saturday to rally African support against Premier Nikita Khrushchev whose "declaration of war" on the United Nations appeared to have boomeranged against him in the nations whose support he sought.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter conferred with the French and British envoys here and then invited 13 new African states and Cyprus to a lunch Sunday to pledge American support to their newly-found independence.

While the Western powers held strategy talks on answering the Khrushchev speech they felt had reacted adversely against Russia in the cold war struggle for the uncommitted nations, Communist and neutralist leaders carried out a swirl of diplomatic activity of their own.

Khrushchev sped through heavy weekend New York traffic to the Russian country estate at Glen Cove, Long Island, with the Red leaders of Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria, Byelorussia and the Ukraine.

President Tito of Yugoslavia, who hopes to organize a neutralist "third force" to counter Western and Eastern leadership in world affairs, conferred at length with neutralist Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Neither Nasser nor Tito would disclose what they talked about but when reporters asked them after the one-hour meeting if they had discussed formation of a neutralist bloc Tito replied, "Oh, no, no, no."

Nasser himself was seeing all factors—Prime Minister Saeb Salam of Lebanon, Tito, leftist President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana and Khrushchev. He sees President Eisenhower on Monday.

The neutralist nations receive a boost Sunday when Indian prime minister Jawaharlal Nehru arrives.

Also arriving Sunday is British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan who is expected to give the Western answer to Khrushchev in the U.N. assembly.

The United States and its French and British allies were convinced that Khrushchev had overplayed his hand Friday when he attacked U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and demanded that his post be abolished in favor of a three-man Communist-style presidium.

Latin American nations also expressed displeasure at Khrushchev's antics with the flamboyant Fidel Castro of Cuba. Western officials said if their SAIGON (UPI) — Royal Laotian army commander Gen. Ouane Rattikoune warned revolutionary forces Saturday to surrender and pledge loyalty to the Vientiane government by Sept. 30 or face military punishment.

Vientiane Radio said Ouane's warning was made to anti-government forces in Savannakhet and Pakse.

The warning said it was the duty of Laotian officers to obey instructions of the government of neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma. Revolutionary forces are concentrated in Savannakhet and Pakse, the two rebel headquarters.

Ouane's order calling for a pledge of loyalty from the soldiers in Savannakhet and Pakse said any officers following the revolutionaries who would not reconsider their attitude by Sept. 30 would be subject to disloyalty charges, the radio broadcast, heard here, said.

It said Ouane himself travelled to the royal capital of Luang Prabang Friday to inform King Savang Vatthana about the current military situation in Laos.

The broadcast also listed the military equipment government troops captured from the rebel forces during Wednesday's clash in Pakse, including mortars, machine guns, automatic rifles, 42 vehicles and 36 tons of rice.

Vientiane Radio said Souvanna Phouma's government still hopes to begin negotiations with the revolutionary forces.

Dual Candidacy Of Johnson OK'd

By PAT CONWAY
United Press International

AUSTIN (UPI) — Lyndon B. Johnson Saturday won a place on the general election ballot as a candidate for two offices in Texas.

The court refused a motion to file a writ of mandamus forcing District Judge F. B. Davenport of Dallas to rehear the suit. The action was brought by Michael E. Schuille, Lucien B. Holmes and Earl R. Foster.

The State Legislature last year enacted special legislation permitting Johnson to seek both offices.

Steakley also certified Massachusetts Sen. John F. Kennedy as the Democratic presidential candidate and the Republican national ticket of Richard Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Also certified for the Nov. 8 ballot were four proposed changes in the state constitution, including a legislative pay raise from $25-a-day to an automatic $4,800 a year, and an amendment giving the Legislature the right to regulate the small loan industry in Texas.

Also before the voter will be an amendment to authorize the Veterans' Land Board to issue bonds paying 3.5 per cent interest—an increase of 5 per cent.

Steakley's certifications will be forwarded to the 254 county clerks of Texas for their preparation. (See DUAL, Page 3)

Makes It Formal

HAVANA (UPI) — Cuba Saturday formally recognized Red China and Communist North Korea. The cabinet action put into effect Premier Fidel Castro's intentions announced earlier this month.

Castro first made the recognition proposal at a rally on Sept. 2. It was at the Sept. 2 meeting that Castro announced his "Havana declaration" in opposition to the condemnation of Cuba's flirtation with Communism by the Organization of American States.

Mobutu In Role Of Congo Peacemaker

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Congolese strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu met separately Saturday with President Joseph Kasavubu and ousted Premier Patrice Lumumba, then announced he would "impose" a reconciliation between the two if necessary.

He talked with Kasavubu first to hear his version of his rift with Lumumba which had plunged the Congo into further internal crisis. Later he called on Lumumba and held a stormy, one-hour meeting with him.

At one point in his meeting with the former premier, informed sources said Lumumba launched into a half-hour speech while Mobutu read a newspaper.

Lumumba then asked Mobutu why he had closed parliament and sent soldiers to arrest him. Mobutu, who has "neutralized" both Lumumba and Kasavubu, countered by asking Lumumba why he sent men to assassinate him, the sources said. However, when Mobutu left, the two men shook hands.

Meanwhile, Kasavubu told the Ghanaian embassy the Congo no longer wanted Ghana to represent it abroad. Observers believed the move stemmed from the stand Ghana has taken in recognizing Lumumba as the rightful head of the Congolese government.

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — An Air Force C-119 "Flying Boxcar" landed safely at Kelly Air Force Base Saturday night after circling the field for 82 minutes with landing gear trouble.

The pilot, Maj. Thomas D. Kotowski, 43, of San Antonio, radioed the base control tower that his landing gear wasn't working and he was unable to get the plane's wheels down to land.

Kotowski circled the field and made several attempts to shake the landing gear down. He was successful just before dark and made the landing safely.

The plane carried nine persons in addition to Kotowski.

Troubled Plane Lands Safely

ASKS FOR MEETING — Oliver Powers, father of Soviet-convicted and imprisoned U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, was not allowed to see Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev when he called at the Soviet U.N. delegation headquarters in New York to intercede with Khrushchev for his son's release. After being turned away, Powers stopped at a mailbox and dropped in a letter addressed to Khrushchev which asked for a meeting.

PICTURE NEWS

AROUND THE WORLD

DOLLS AND DOLLS—They're good business in Rome, Italy, for Yugoslav-born Lierka Draskovich, shown in the Forum with her "Sugarbuns" and "Sweetbuns"—grown up male and female dolls (left). A closeup of the "Sugarbuns," or 15-inch-high male dolls is at right. They're pipe-smoking, eyeglass-wearers with wooden skeletons, rubber heads and woolen hair.

VELVET TRIM—Mrs. Philip Hulitar, wife of the famed socialite-designer, is shown as she attended a ball at New York's Hotel Plaza. She made a most striking figure in her husband's original black lace sheath that is trimmed with velvet.

NO TRESPASSING, EITHER—The spelling's not too good, but the sign painter's meaning is clear enough. It was painted on the door of a parking lot office in Pittsburgh, Pa., after burglars broke into it twice—and found it quite empty.

BLUE DOG—She's named "Gypsy Rose Lee," and she's sadly studying her portrait in San Antonio, Tex. The nine-year-old Boston terrier is a rare gunmetal blue in color, whereas most of her breed are born black-and-white.

SAW LOSERS—When the rafters failed to meet on their building because someone cut them too short, 25 carpenters suffered from mass embarrassment in Cassville, Wis. They solved the problem, however. They built up the purlin, the horizontal timbers supporting the rafters, and the rafters met. This was a gift to the Wisconsin State Historical Village. So, all's well that ends well.

ONE'S KNOWN—That monument in Kirchheim, West Germany was erected to the "unknown newspaper reader" by the local paper. However, one youngster is identifying himself by sitting on the base of the statue while he catches up with the news. Or perhaps it's the comic strips he's busily reading.

IT'S AN IDEA—In Key West, Fla., you can buy small sea shells from a slot machine in the local aquarium, where this youngster is getting his penny's worth. The machine used to be a bubble gum vendor.

ADOBE ABODE—These adobe bricks were made in the ancient Indian way at Mission San Antonio, near Los Angeles, Calif. They're spread in the sun to dry, a process that takes three days. During that time, they must be turned often to "cook" evenly. Used to build the mission in the background in 1771, the bricks are made of adobe soil, straw and water. Each finished brick weighs about 60 pounds.

LIKE ALL SAINTS' DAY—Towering tributes to saints were carried through the streets of Nola, Italy. The towers, topped by sculptures of saints, are called "lillet." They long ago replaced the real lilies originally carried in the traditional ceremony rooted in the Middle Ages.

HERE'S IRMA—She's really Elizabeth Seal, shown arriving in New York by plane from England. She's been starring in the musical comedy hit "Irma La Douce" for two years in London, and she's commenced rehearsals for a Broadway opening on September 29, which should please playgoers. Incidentally, the show is now in its fourth year in Paris.

FOR ADDITIONAL COMFORT—Breathing is a difficult proposition for Vivian Palmer in London, England. She's using all her breath to blow up an air cushion before she settles down to some serious sunbathing in Hyde Park. No gentleman around her seems to be assisting with a pair of good lungs.

BACK FENCE GOSSIP?—Or it could be a front fence, but at any rate it certainly isn't high enough to keep that maggy camel cooped up in Chessington, Surrey, England. The long-necked animal seems to be taking a nip out of that baby bullock's back.

While U.N. Talks Of Congo

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Analyst
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The United Nations debates over the Congo disarmament tend to obscure the fact that West Berlin is in mortal danger. My mind turns this week—as I watch the great dramatic cast on the U.N. Assembly stage—to the man who isn't here but who is on the spot, dynamic Willy Brandt, mayor of West Berlin. And to his words the last time I chatted with him in Berlin:

"Unless the NATO powers react promptly and decisively whenever the Communists encroach on our was set up with Party Boss Walter Ulbricht as chairman. Since the majority of Moscow's satellite nations now have Councils of State, the East German constitution has thus been brought into line with other Communist-dominated governments.

More ominous for the future of West Berlin's freedom is the new position acquired by Ulbricht, East Germany's "bearded Stalin."

Ulbricht, a sinister-looking man in his late sixties, has in fact been a Soviet citizen since the 1930's and an officer of the Russian secret police. Even German Communists hold him in contempt. There is a legend in East European Communist circles that when Stalin was on his dying bed an honor guard of satellite chieftains was waiting for his last gasp. The room was pitch dark. Suddenly a man bent down and kissed Stalin's foot. The dying dictator is supposed to have groaned and whispered: "Ha, Comrade Ulbricht must be here, too."

Even within the Communist bloc the reason why Moscow is so frantic in its attacks on West Berlin is known only to the trusted few. Admittedly a free and democratic West Berlin—with its pulsating life and rising living standard—is a thorn in the Reds' flesh.

However, it is West Berlin's rich and thriving industry that Khrushchev wants. In a West Germany that is highly industrialized, West Berlin is its most industrialized city. Of its over two million inhabitants 320,000 are industrial workers and they are the most skilled in the whole of Europe.

Incorporation of West Berlin and its industrial plant into the Soviet empire would be equivalent to three years of industrial investment by the entire Communist bloc.

No wonder Khrushchev—whose Seven Year economic plan is badly lagging—is willing to risk an international crisis over one city. So far the Soviet Premier has had little success at the U.N. in winning over the uncommitted nations of Asia and Africa who insist on maintaining a correct neutrality.

This may be a minor victory for the U.S. and the West. But Khrushchev stands to win a major battle in the cold war should the U.N. ignore Berlin's grave danger and let the free city fall to Moscow.

The GLOBAL VIEW

WILLY BRANDT

... W. Berlin mayor freedom. West Berlin will go the way of Hungary in 1956."

Even optimistic Western officials never realize that Soviet policy is never guided by a single fact or event but by an amalgam or combination of facts and events. Although Berlin is not a subject of U.N. discussion, it is ever present in Khrushchev's mind—even as he seeks to lull the General Assembly with talk about disarmament and peaceful coexistence.

Berlin remains at the top of the Kremlin's time-table of subversion and aggression.

Two important events clearly indicate that time is fast running out for West Berlin:

Since the recent death of East German "President" Wilhelm Pieck the Communists have moved another step toward the permanent separation of the two German states. The office of President was abolished and a "Council of State"

Shivers Plans To Support Nixon-Lodge

AUSTIN (UPI) — Former Gov. Allan Shivers said Saturday he will formally announce his support of the Republican national ticket of Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge in a television address in Dallas next Wednesday.

The three-time Democratic governor also said he would comment on the respective party platforms.

"Delegates to the State Democratic Convention in Dallas last Tuesday were not given an opportunity to discuss the platforms," Shivers said. "We are going to have another meeting in Dallas, and we will discuss them."

Shivers, a leading Texas Democrat for Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956, will make his 36-minute address from a dinner at the Hotel Adolphus. More detailed information on the stations carrying the address and the times of broadcast will be announced as they become available, he said.

British Deny Premier Plans Mediator Role

LONDON (UPI) — Government sources Saturday dismissed suggestions that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan might try to play the role of mediator in the deepening East-West controversy at the United Nations.

Macmillan, who is scheduled to fly to New York Sunday, still expects to meet with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, it was reported. But he apparently has no plans for a major policy initiative.

'Town Ablaze' Report Just Hay Barn Fire

KOPPERL, Tex. (UPI) — Five thousand bales of hay caught fire Saturday and started reports that all of Kopperl was burning to the ground.

Walls began flooding fire departments in three counties—Bosque, Johnson and Somervell—that Kopperl was on fire.

The six buildings which comprise the main street of the town were going down in smoke, the callers said. The fire engines from the three counties roared to the rescue.

But when the fire units arrived they found the local populace calmly fighting a garage-warehouse fire in which 5,000 bales of green hay were stored.

Yarborough To Campaign On Coast

AUSTIN (UPI) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough will take his campaign for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket this week to speaking engagements on the Pacific Coast of California and to the Gulf Coast to Texas.

Monday, Yarborough will preside at a western states Democratic conference to discuss the problems of the aged in San Diego, Calif. Also expected for the meeting will be Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, Democratic national chairman.

Yarborough, on Tuesday, will return to Houston to address the 39th annual convention of the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas. His subject will be "Texas Future on the New Frontier."

BUILDING NUCLEAR PLANT

BONN, Germany (UPI) — West Germany will begin construction of its first nuclear research power plant on Monday, the Atom Ministry announced. The plant will be built between Cologne and Aachen near the Belgian border, at a cost of nearly $10 million. It will produce 15,000 kilowatts of electricity.

FIRES MACE MISSILE

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The Air Force's turbo-jet-powered Mace missile soared 1,100 miles to its 15th consecutive success Wednesday. It demonstrated a new development that its builders said gives it "pinpoint accuracy."

FEELING FOR THE AILING BROTHER AS HE GIVES OUT WITH 'L THE CLINICAL DETAILS'

Nikita Gets Chill Act At Glen Cove

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press International
GLEN COVE, N. Y. (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev took a few of his satellite cronies Saturday to a weekend at a baronial Russian-owned Long Island estate built with a Standard Oil fortune. The party received a chilly reception from the neighbors.

A crowd of about 200 persons, mostly small boys and teenagers on bicycles gathered near the 37-acre estate, on Long Island Sound, to wave placards hastily made by scribbling slogans on pieces of grocery cartons.

"Krush is a mush," said one. "Go home, Krush," said another. A blue convertible passed with whitewashed letters on the side saying, "Krush, go home." A red sedan cruised by carrying teenage boys waving a sign saying "K is a fat rat."

Khrushchev and his guests drove the nearly 30 miles to Glen Cove with special State Department approval. Originally, the Soviet visitor had been restricted to Manhattan Island, but when he asked to be allowed to visit the 45-room mansion that capitalist "Jack" built, permission was granted immediately.

The absence of the Russian from Manhattan gave New York City police a much-needed respite from their heavy around-the-clock guard around him. They escorted Khrushchev to the city limits where they turned his safeguarding over to Nassau County police. A Coast Guard helicopter also guarded the motorcade.

The stone mansion in which Khrushchev and his party are staying is known as Killenworth. It was built in 1912 by the late Charles Pratt, a founder of the Standard Oil Co., as a wedding present for his son, the late George du Pont-Pratt.

It cost $1,200,000 to build the house, which contains eight master bedrooms, six servants' rooms, four recreation and sitting rooms and a formal dining room. Outside, the landscaped gardens, once a Long Island showpiece, surrounding a swimming pool and a croquet court.

There were plenty of accommodations for Khrushchev and his house guests, who included President Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia, Kiril Mazurov of Byelorussia, Nikolai V. Podgorny of Ukraine, Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej of Romania and Todor Zhikov of Bulgaria.

Local and county officials carefully avoided any encounter with the Communists, but one of the greeters at the estate was Patrolman Timothy O'Neill who rates as possibly the Russians' least favorite policeman.

O'Neill has given Russians so many tickets for traffic violations that he has become something of a local hero—to the anti-Communist residents only.

Khrushchev, looking fit despite a late party at the Russian embassy on Park Avenue honoring Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, hopped into the front seat of a limousine—his favorite place to ride in police-escorted motorcades—at 10:55 a.m.

It took the entourage more than an hour to make a drive that normally takes about 40 minutes. One reason was a delay at the city line for the trade of escorts with U.A.R. President Nasser, driving into the city.

San Antonio Hit By Winds, Thundershowers

By United Press International
High winds and thundershowers raked the San Antonio area Saturday as a Canadian cool front that was stalled in the Panhandle for two days began a slow push southeastward over the state.

Gusty winds reached a peak of 55 miles per hour, flipping an Army L-19 reconnaissance plane over on its back at San Antonio International Airport and snapping trees, electrical wires and sign posts in the city.

First Lt. Frank J. Klein had just landed the single-engine plane when a gust of wind picked up its nose and turned it upside-down. Klein escaped with minor injuries. Four bridges in the Alamo City were blocked by fallen trees and most of the gallery at the Civitan Open Women's was forced inside when rain interrupted the tourney.

Only .08 of an inch of rain was measured at San Antonio's airport, but other parts of the city received greater amounts. Thermometers dropped 22 degrees, from 90 to 68, during the storm. Cloudy skies and scattered showers and thundershowers accompanied the cool front in its advance across the state. Skies were clearing behind the front in West Texas from the Panhandle to the Big Bend.

Temperatures to the north of the front were in the 60s and 70s. To the east and south of the cool air mass the readings were mostly in the 80s and 90s.

The front brought heavy rains to parts of the Panhandle Friday. Channing, northwest of Amarillo, received 4.50 inches of rain, and fields for hundreds of square miles were under water. Rainfall reports for the 24 hours ended at 6 p. m. included Beaumont 1.49 inch, Wichita Falls 1.37, Amarillo 1.00, Waco 1.10, Dallas .79, Austin .77, Fort Worth .59, Mineral Wells .82, and 20 inch or less at College Station, Corpus Christi, Childress, Dalhart, Houston, Laredo, Lufkin, San Antonio and Victoria.

Temperatures were drastically lower Saturday. Many cities in North Central and Northwest Texas had readings in the lower 70s, and other areas had readings in the 80s and low 90s. Amarillo, Dalhart and Mineral Wells shared the low maximum Saturday of 74 degrees.

The weather bureau forecast slightly cooler temperatures for North Central and Northeast Texas over the weekend. No important temperature changes were expected in the remainder of the state.

Scattered showers and thundershowers were forecast for most sections of the state. Extreme Southwest, Southwest and Northwest Texas were expected to be out of the precipitation pattern.

New Town Near Killeen

HARKER HEIGHTS, Tex. (UPI)—A new incorporated town came into being Saturday as residents of an area two miles north of Killeen gave approval in a light vote to creation of Harker Heights.

The vote was 46-2. The area, which has 650 inhabitants, includes the Valley View addition, Kerns Acres, Meadow Acres, Big Oaks and the Woodlawn trailer park.

The new town takes its name from Harley Kerns, a well-known Central Texas real estate developer who died about three years ago.

Johnson Rests From Campaign

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI)—Democratic vice presidential nominee Lyndon Johnson rested at his Central Texas ranch Saturday without any speech-making plans for the weekend.

Johnson wound up a four-day trip through the wheat belt with a speech Friday night at Garden City, Kan. Earlier in the day, he and former President Harry Truman met in Kansas City.

No specific plans were announced by Johnson for Saturday, Sunday or Monday. Tuesday Johnson brings a tour which starts out at Quincy, Ill.

Vice President Richard Nixon drew criticism from Johnson in Kansas for an "Operation Safe-guard" proposal in agriculture.

"The Republican Party has been gambling with the destiny of American agriculture for nearly eight years," Johnson said. "And the results have been precisely the same as if the same amount of time had been spent at a roulette wheel bucking house odds."

Kennedy Gets Ready For Big Debate

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press International
CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen John F. Kennedy did his homework Saturday in preparation for his nationwide television debate Monday night with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

An aide said Kennedy planned to spend most of the weekend studying his "Nixopedia," a collection of statements by Nixon since his arrival in Washington, D.C., in 1946, as a congressman.

The senator, however, will interrupt his weekend strategy session briefly Sunday for a flight to Cleveland where he'll address a "steer roast," a political picnic sponsored by the local Democratic organization. Kennedy will return here Sunday night and resume his study for the TV debate with Nixon.

The debate, under an agreement reached two weeks ago, will be confined to domestic affairs. The candidates agreed to avoid reference in the first debate to foreign affairs, because of the current UN meeting in New York.

However, Kennedy was known to feel that it would be difficult to steer entirely clear of the foreign-field because it is so interrelated with domestic issues.

Kennedy will open the debate beginning at 8:30 est Monday with an eight-minute speech, with Nixon following for an equal amount of time. When they have finished, questions will be put to the candidates, the first to Kennedy who will have two and a half minutes to answer. Nixon will be allowed 90 seconds for rebuttal if he desires.

HIGHWAY HEARING
AUSTIN (UPI)—A direct highway route between Mineral Wells and Graham will be urged before the State Highway Commission Monday by Col. C. H. Meek, general manager of the Mineral Wells Chamber of Commerce. The commission also will hear requests for improvements in Longview and Carrollton, and for roads in Bandera, Medina and Johnson counties.

Civil Rights Issue Talked By Candidate

JACKSON (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon told Deep South audiences Saturday that America must "move forward" in the civil rights field to counter the propaganda line of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Nixon touched on the explosive civil rights issue in speeches in Lafayette, La., and in Jackson, where he was welcomed by the Democratic Gov. Ross Barnett.

Vice President Nixon told Mississippians, whose state hasn't gone Republican in 88 years, that every defeat for "discrimination and prejudice" is a strike against Communist propaganda.

He also appealed to several thousand persons who greeted him at the Jackson Airport to "try to judge the qualities of leadership offered in this election" regardless of political affiliation.

The Republican presidential candidate also devoted a considerable portion of his two southern talks to international affairs. He praised President Eisenhower's presentation before the United Nations General Assembly as "wise and seasoned leadership in action."

Nixon was plagued again Saturday with airplane trouble, although it wasn't serious. Before he left Kansas City for Lafayette, the cowling on the right engine of his plane had to be shut by hand. An engine failed on his plane almost two weeks ago at Boise, Idaho.

HOUSING UNITS
KILLEEN, Tex. (UPI)—Construction of a 13 million dollar project to provide 800 housing units for Fort Hood personnel will begin with ground-breaking Monday. Silberblatt Construction Co. Inc., of New York will build the units, to house 100 field-grade officers, 22 company grade officers and 678 non-commissioned officers and dependents.

Lee J. Cobb Doesn't Really Like Anything

LEE J. COBB
... a gentle man

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Lee J. Cobb wants it known that he isn't bitter, but...

"It isn't talent that gets a man a part on television," he says, un-bitterly. "Oh, maybe in the secondary parts, yet. There the producers look for the best man, they must have the best man."

"But what they want in starring roles is the most saleable name. If a man is caught on the beach without clothes, and gets his picture in all the papers, then he has a saleable name and can get starring roles easily. Of course, they don't object if he has talent, too, but it isn't mandatory."

He paused to let the words sink in. And then he cautioned, "I don't want to sound bitter. Really, I'm not bitter. I used to be bitter but I've outgrown it. You can measure my age by the degree to which I've mellowed."

At the moment, he is hardly a good advertisement for his own philosophy about talent vs. saleability. He's starring in "Men In White," the first Show of the Month on CBS on Sept. 30. And this plumed came his way by virtue of talent; there's been nothing in the robbery publicity.

Cobb is an outspoken critic of the climate of the theater (and

Television Betting On Comedy Bits

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — All the tried-and-true blueprints for successful comedy have been junked by a desperate TB for the new 1960-61 season. Tossed out are such rules as:

Comedy needs an audience (laugh tracks cue you, now); comedy must be put together with loving care (television production is faster than ever); comedy is selective and rare (there will be 25 situation comedy shows on home screens); and there are no such things as an "adult" cartoon series or a comedy western.

So? So Jack Benny will be with us every week, many of his shows on film, minus that live audience he once craved; the cartoon series "Flintstones" puts adult, 20th century problems in a stone age background; two westerns — "Guestward Ho!" and "The Andy Griffith Show" (really a southerner) — will try to prove that westerns can be hilarious.

With comedy as TV's biggest gamble this season, the bookies on TV already are accepting bets that by midseason the casualty list will be enormous. It is one field in which TV really isn't playing it safe.

"Bugs Bunny" in prime time TV? Yup. Bugs will be with us this season, along with the "Flintstones." A comedy western is poison at the theater box office, but "Guestward Ho!" will take a chance.

Tab Hunter is the star of a situation comedy series. Your dialing habits will determine the fate of Hunter's new show as well as 15 others.

Hoping to win the audience popularity of "Dobie Gillis," "Beaver," "The McCoys," "Lucy," "Danny Thomas" and the other TV veterans will be these newcomers.

"Angel," the husband-and-wife situation comedy created by Jess Oppenheimer, who midwived "I Love Lucy," "My Sister Eileen," featuring Broadway's Shirley Boone and Elaine Stritch as the two sisters from Ohio in a Greenwich Village basement.

"Bringing Up Buddy," a handsome bachelor living with two aged maiden aunts. "The Tom Ewell Show," with Tom as a lone male surrounded by chattering females. "Fred MacMurray, with Bill Frawley's help, raising 'My Three Sons.'" "Peter Loves Mary," — Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy as a show business couple with two children. "Pete and Gladys," starring Henry Morgan with Cara Williams as the unseen Gladys he talked about for years on "December Bride," Verna Felton, who shared the laughs with Morgan on "December Bride," also is in the cast.

But if less than 50 per cent of these new comedy shows are around for the following season, don't be surprised.

Like westerns, we'll always have comedy shows, but the quality and survival will depend on the skill of the writers.

Most of the new shows' creators are crossing fingers about audience appeal, but Parke Levy is willing to predict big things for Pete and Gladys. He's been a comedy writer for 25 years — created December Bride and has a one-word reason why he's optimistic: The word is "Pros."

FORD FALCON — The 1961 Falcon, most successful new car in history, features a new convex-shaped aluminum grille and new optional, 101-horsepower engine, but preserves the styling, maneuverability, interior roominess and 23.7-cubic-foot luggage capacity of the 1960 model. Shown above is the 1961 Falcon Fordor Sedan. Continuing its proven economy reputation, the 1961 Falcon will deliver up to 30 miles per gallon on regular grade fuel, goes 4,000 miles between oil changes, and introduces new and longer lasting bright trim and underbody parts, including a double-wrapped aluminum muffler. The Falcon will be on display at Kisse Ford Co., 701 W. Brown, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

FORD GALAXIE — The 1961 Galaxie Club Victoria, a new model in the Ford line that will be introduced to the public on September 29, features crisp, new styling that has been honored by an international fashion authority in Rome for its "functional expression of classic beauty." The new Fords are nearly four inches shorter and two inches narrower for greater maneuverability, and introduce 30,000-mile lubrication. Other engineering features include self-adjusting brakes, double-wrapped aluminum muffler, longer-lasting bright trim and underbody parts, and a 4,000-mile oil change interval. A new optional 390-cubic-inch high performance engine also is available. The Galaxie will be on display at Kisse Ford Co., 701 W. Brown, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Public Enemy No. 1 is never counted in the FBI's list of the 10-most-wanted criminals. Public Enemy No. 1 is not a man.

This top public enemy is a system or a state of mind which steals from everyone, young or old. Steals from everyone except absolute paupers.

This enemy is monetary inflation, a stuffy phrase. The Hon. Howard Buffett of Nebraska phrased it much better when he called it the rotting of the U.S. dollar. The U.S. dollar is rotting away, no doubt about that. For example:

Accept as a standard of value the 1939 U.S. dollar and accept its value as 100 cents. Six years later, after the end of World War II, that dollar had rotted or shrunk to a purchasing power of 77.2 cents. By 1949, the 1939 dollar had shrunk to a 58.3 cents value. These figures were prepared by the staff of the Senate Finance Committee whose chairman is Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia.

The rate of shrinkage was slowing in 1949. Then, along came the Korean War. By January 1959 the proud U.S. dollar was not even worth four bits. Actual purchasing power value, 45 cents. The last figure presently available is for May 1960. The dollar was worth 47 cents then.

War, however, is not solely responsible. Other deficit spending by government is guilty, too. Byrd and his committee use the 1939 dollar as the standard of value because 1939 approximately was the year in which the depression deflation of the dollar was overcome. Use of the 1939 standard shows what currency inflation has done in our times. This shrinkage of the dollar in your pocket, your bank or in bonds—U.S. savings bonds, for instance—is not merely larceny. It is the grudgest larceny, the greatest theft from the most people.

The plotting of the dollar has slowed from time to time. Once or twice it has stopped altogether for as long as two months. Since 1951, the annual shrinkage usually has been at the rate of one cent or less, often much less.

In the first five months of 1960, inflation squeezed only five-tenths of one per cent from the dollar's purchasing power. That is comforting, of course. If creeping inflation creeps no faster than that, most adults of 1960 can face the future unafraid.

They will not live long enough for their dollar to become worth absolutely nothing, as once happened to the German mark, to Chinese money and, almost, to the French franc.

The nothing dollar, like the national debt, will be the worry of children and grandchildren, present and prospective. What the kids will say about that when they get it all figured out probably will not be printable. But

Texas Cities Growth Seen On Upgrade

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas cities are capable of handling an even faster rate of growth during the 1960s than the expansion of the past decade, Mayor Phillip Boeye of McAllen said Saturday.

But, Boeye said, there will have to be closer coordination between the state capitol and the 852 city halls of Texas. Boeye is the outgoing president of the Texas Municipal League.

He said too many people have the false idea that growth will be leveling off. "Natural growth alone would assure a very considerable population pressure upon municipal governments," he said.

Boeye predicted there would be more city-to-city population shifts, and that prosperous Texas cities will serve as a magnet for inter-regional population movement.

"The principal metropolitan areas of Texas could very well experience an even faster population growth than that of the past 10 or 20 years," he said.

what the kids say about the debt and the vanished dollar will be mild in comparison to what will be said by the owners of U.S. government bonds who are paid off in that distant day.

Two-Office Run By LBJ Okayed

AUSTIN (UPI)—The State Supreme Court Saturday rejected a motion by three Dallas men seeking to prevent Johnson from running for two public offices at the same time.

The court rejected a motion for leave to file a writ of mandamus forcing a Dallas judge to rehear the suit. The judge rejected the suit on Monday.

The three Dallas men filed an application for a writ of mandamus asking it to direct District Judge F. B. Davenport of Dallas to re-hear their suit seeking to stop Johnson from running for U. S. Senator in Texas at the same time he seeks the vice presidency.

FORT McCLELLAN, Ala. (AHTNC)—Recruit Joyce E. Cranford, daughter of Mrs. Juanita G. Holder of Pampa, completed eight weeks of basic military training Sept. 14 at the Women's Army Corps Center, Fort McClellan, Ala.

Recruit Cranford received drill and physical fitness training and instruction in Army history, traditions and career fields.

She was graduated from Centennial High School, Pueblo, Colo., in 1960.

Amendment Blasted As 'Trojan Horse'

AUSTIN (UPI) — Rep. James Bates of Edinburg Saturday attacked a proposed state constitutional amendment as a "Trojan horse" which would allow out-of-state "loan sharks to invade Texas."

In an open letter, Bates attacked amendment No. 4 which will appear on the Nov. 8 general election ballot.

The amendment would give the Legislature authority to classify loans and lenders, license and regulate lenders, define interest and fix maximum rates of interest. And providing for a maximum rate of interest of 10 per cent per annum in the absence of legislation fixing maximum rates of interest.

Bates, a former district attorney and member of the House Committee on Banks and Banking, said publicity stating the amendment will rid the state of loan sharks is "completely false and misleading."

"What this amendment really does is remove the protection of the borrower which the constitution now imposes on all lenders, not just the loan sharks," he said. Bates said Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has already closed some 600 loan sharks, and the remaining small loan companies are necessary to the economy and can be regulated under existing law.

SEVEN ROLLS OUT

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Lucky No. 7, in a crap game probably cost the city $25 Friday. Vice squad police raided a game in which they seized six players, who were fined $25 apiece. But the seventh player jumped out of a 25-foot high second story window and escaped the cops and the fine.

Shelton Attends Pacific Festival

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (FHTNC) — Billie V. Shelton, hospital corpsman second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Daniels of McLean and husband of the former Miss Hallie R. Ellegood of Long Beach, Calif., attended the third annual Pacific Festival held in San Francisco, Calif.

The Pacific Festival is designed to foster mutual understanding and cultural relations among the people of the Pacific. More than 40 nations were represented at the celebration this year.

Russ Believed On Verge Of Orbiting Man

LONDON (UPI) — A leading British scientist said Saturday he is convinced the Soviet Union is on the verge of a dramatic new space venture.

Dr. A. C. B. Lovell of the Jodrell Bank radio-telescope satellite tracking station said: "If my telephone rings at five o'clock tonight and tells me the Russians have a man in orbit I shall not be surprised."

He declined to predict, however, that the next Soviet attempt would be to send a human into space. "Although I expect them to get a man into space, I also expect them to embark on some fresh feat of space technology connected with the moon or the planets," Lovell said. "Which they will do first from the point of view of prestige, I don't know." He said the Soviets either have or are close to attaining the technical capability to orbit a man or make a "soft" landing of instruments on the moon which would continue working after landing.

Heights Thumps Pampa, 23-0

Harvester Fumbles Pave Way To Win

By FRANK LUKSA
(Special To The Pampa Daily News)

FORT WORTH — In one of the sloppiest games seen in Fort Worth in a long time, Arlington Heights, capitalizing on fumbles for all its scores, toppled Pampa's Harvesters, 23-0.

The Heightsmen grabbed up six Pampa fumbles during the fist-swinging melee that saw four players thumbed from the game, and that was just about the sum of the contest.

The clubs, playing on a soggy, slippery field, posed nothing that would mark either as a contender for Class AAAA honors, even though the victory left Heights with a 3-0 mark. It appeared that neither could generate steam, and truly long drives were something that neither could offer.

Heights tallied in the second period when Fullback Mike O'Grady latched on to a Harvester fumble on the West Texas team's 21. Six plays later O'Grady crashed across to pay dirt on a shot over guard. Larry Allen booted the PAT, and the winners took a 7-0 lead to the rest period.

In the third quarter, Pampa, backed to its own 7 yard line, shot a runner through the line, but just as he headed through the scramble of players the ball was batted loose and it swished backward into the Harvester end zone where Heights Center Paul Decker pounced on it for six points. O'Grady added two points with a blast over the line to push the count to 15-0 in favor of the Fort Worth boys.

Both team followed with attempts to move the ball but these efforts proved futile, production-wise, until a Harvester back again fumbled and the winners bagged the ball on the Pampa 34.

After the recovery by Tackle Jim Johnson, Quarterback Jeff Jarvis tried what appeared to be a run on an option play. However, Pampa lineman cornered him and he pitched back to Halfback Bobbie Bozeman who hustled the ball into the end zone.

O'Grady added the final two markers by a gain charging through the line into the end zone. The Harvesters, trying desperately to tally, pushed the ball to the Yellowjacket 21 on the last play of the game to establish their deepest penetration.

It wasn't all tea and crumpets for Arlington. Had it not been for the costly fumbles, Pampa could easily have come off with a scoreless tie. But alertness by the Heightsmen paid off and the frustrated visitors returned to the Panhandle still seeking their initial victory.

Billy Cooper, Pampa's wide back, played a splendid game. He was a threat throughout the night and Arlington Coach Homer Ludicker was forced to make defensive alterations in an effort to stall Cooper's offensive moves.

Steve Dobbin, Pampa's fullback, turned in his usual dependable performance, while Guard Jimmy Hoyle went well up front for Coach Babe Curfman's struggling crew.

This game was bitterly, though sloppily, played. The officials spent much of the evening marching up and down the field as they assessed 18 penalties, nine against Pampa for 115 yards, and nine against Arlington for 65 65 yards.

They stuck the climax to the brawling contest when four players were sent to the showers early for fighting — two from each team. Arlington didn't tab an inch by passing. Five errant passes were fired by the men of Coach Ludicker, while Quarterback Roy Don Stephens flipped three completions in seven tries good for 47 yards.

The victors tabbed 144 yards rushing to Pampa's 98, but had it not been for the Harvester fumbles this edge wouldn't have made a difference.

Crocker, Wright In Golfing Tie

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Veteran campaigner Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, and long-driving Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., slammed down the stretch in a driving rainstorm there Saturday to tie at the end of two rounds in the San Antonio Civitan Women's Open Golf Tournament. Both had 142.

A sudden wind and rain storm sent the large gallery scurrying for cover, but failed to dampen the pair of front-runners. Miss Crocker, the first round leader with a 70, tacked a one-over-par 72 onto her first round score. Miss Wright, one shot back of Miss Crocker when the day's action began, equaled her first round score of a par 71.

Mayo-Led AF Wins Easily

DENVER (UPI)—Quarterback Rich Mayo tossed three touchdown passes in the fourth period Saturday to give the Air Force Academy a 32-8 victory over Colorado State University before 16,471 fans.

For three periods, the Air Cadets struggled on even terms. But in the fourth, the talented Mayo began to find his targets and connected on scoring passes of 11, 16, and 24 yards, and when another threat stalled on the 13, Mike Rawlins booted a field goal.

The Air Force, which hopes to make this its brightest football season of its short history, had been heavily favored since Colorado St. last week was trampled by Arizona State, 39-0.

Tech, Aggies Fight To Tie

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Texas Tech missed a field goal from the 18-yard line with 30 seconds to play in its first game Saturday night to tie the Texas Southwest Conference football game Saturday night to tie the Texas Tech A&M 14-14.

Quarterback Glen Amerson's place kick was short of the goalposts to climax a drive that started from the Red Raider 18.

The Aggies had to come from behind twice to tie the score of the first conference game for Tech in its 33 years of trying to get into the league. A wet and shivering crowd estimated at 13,000 watched the game despite a steady rain and cool night temperatures that dipped into the mid-60s.

Raider right guard Jere Don Mohon recovered a fumbled pitch out by Aggie Halfback Powell Berry on the Texas A&M nine yard line to set up the first Tech touchdown.

Junior halfback Dick Polson charged around left end from the four just three plays later to put the Red Raiders ahead 6 to 0. Glen Amerson missed the extra point kick.

Aggie fullback Sam Byer, a bruising 215 pound sophomore, crashed over center from the two in the third period to climax a 43-yard A&M touchdown drive. Randy Sims converted to put the Aggies ahead 7-6.

Tech roared back on a 38-yard touchdown pass from Johnny Lovelace to halfback Jay Dean Byrum, and a Glen Amerson toss to Polson was good for a two-point conversion.

The Aggies again came from behind to tie the score 14-14 as Daryl Keeling passed 22 yards on fourth down to Sims for a touchdown and Sims converted.

Score by quarters:
Texas Tech 6 0 8 0-14
Texas A&M 0 0 7 7-14

SWORD DANCER WINS
NEW YORK (UPI)—Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer, 1959 horse of the year, broke his own Aqueduct record Saturday in winning the $112,200 Woodward Stakes by one and one-half lengths over C. V. Whitney's Dotted Swiss.

STARS ADD TWO
NEW YORK (UPI)—Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals, and Dave Budd of the New York Knickerbockers have been added to the team of college all-stars which will play the Knicks in an exhibition game, Oct. 14.

Fix Story 'Untrue'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Walter Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said Saturday he would give "no credence" to an intimation that bribing of college football players to fix games was being done on a nationwide basis. Byers was commenting on the arrest of a University of Florida student on charges of attempting to fix the Florida-Florida State game through a $1,500 bribe to the Gators' star fullback, Jon McBeth.

Soph Passer Paces Badgers

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Ron Miller, a sophomore aerial expert, completed 14 out of 16 passes in the first 20 minutes of the second half Saturday to befuddle the Stanford defense and lead Wisconsin to a 24-7 victory over the Indians.

Trailing 0-7 at the half, with its ground game stopped cold, Wisconsin took to the air and ignited the weak Indian secondary with a buzz-bomb aerial attack that could not be stopped.

It was Larry Ferguson who provided the extra step of speed as he raced 85 yards for a touchdown in the fourth period to give the Hawkeyes an insurance margin needed to quiet the nerves of 43,000 partisan fans.

Ferguson raced down the sideline after taking a handoff from quarterback Wilburn Hollis, pulled away from several would-be tacklers, and then turned on every thing he had to just get over the goal line with a frantic Beaver safety man grasping at his shoes.

Wolverines Triumph, 21-0

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Sophomore quarterback Dave Glinka passed for two touchdowns Saturday to lead Michigan to a 21-0 victory over Oregon Saturday in an intersectional clash witnessed by 59,889 fans.

It was the season opener for Michigan and platoon-conscious Coach Bump Elliott threw a steady rotation of hard-driving backs into the game that kept the Oregon defense off balance all afternoon.

Elliott's best offensive weapon turned out to be Glinka. But Glinka had to share the laurels with at least five other backs who methodically punched holes in the Oregon line.

Halfbacks Dave Raimey, Denny Fitzgerald, Bennie Mc Rae, Jack Strobel and fullback Ken Tureaud all starred for Michigan.

Bill Casper Holds Lead

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Defending champion Bill Casper Jr. of Apple Valley, Calif., took over the lead in the $27,500 Portland Open Golf Tournament Saturday with a six-under-par 66 for a 54-hole total of 201.

Casper pulled ahead of the midway leader, Don January of Dallas, who came in with a 70, for a 14-under-par figure of 202 for the three days. Tied with January was Bob Rosburg of Overland Park, Kan., who shot a 69.

Half of the reduced field of 64 pros and 10 amateurs fractured par despite playing in the rain until mid-afternoon. Only Mason Rudolph, Clarksville, Tenn., the first day leader who shot a 71 Saturday, complained of the downpour. He wears glasses and they tended to fog up.

Masters and U.S. Open Champion Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., stayed in strong contention with a 67 and a three-day total of 203, only two strokes off the pace.

Tied with Palmer was Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., who posted a 68. Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, Fla., and Len Woodward of Sydney, Australia, shot a 66 and a 69, respectively, Saturday to tie for sixth.

Rudolph was all alone in seventh place with 205.

Hogs Calm Hurricanes

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (UPI)—The Arkansas Razorbacks, led by bantam second-string quarterback Billy Moore, romped over the Tulsa Hurricanes here Saturday to the tune of 48-7 before 25,000 fans.

The Razorbacks dominated play with two sustained ground drives of 49 and 55 yards and two aerial scoring strikes of 22 and 37 yards. After a stand-off in the early minutes of the first quarter, the Porker offense began to roll up the yardage. Moore alternated left halfback Lance Alworth and fullback Billy Joe Moody around ends and up the middle to take the Hogs from Tulsa's 49 yard line to pay dirt.

Moody scored up the middle on an 11-yard run. Then, with 21 seconds gone in the second period, first string quarterback George McKinney hit right end Jimmy Collier with a 44-yard touchdown pass.

Sluger Mickey Mantle gave the Yanks the big win and their eighth straight triumph by homering into the left field net at Fenway Park off reliever Ted Willis. It was Mantle's 38th home run of the season and gave him his 89th RBI.

Any combination of two New York victories or Chicago defeats will now give manager Casey Stengel his 10th American League pennant over the past 13 years. The Yanks could wrap it up here Sunday against Boston.

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Bubba Phillips hit a 12th inning single that scored Woodie Held from second Saturday and gave the Cleveland Indians a 6-5 victory which further diminished the Chicago White Sox' remote pennant hopes.

DETROIT (UPI)—Marty Throneberry lined a grand slam pinch-hit homer in the sixth inning Saturday to back up the sixth-pitching of Dick Hall and lead the Kansas City Athletics to a 6-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Twenty-year-old Jim Maloney pitched a four-hitter Saturday as the Cincinnati Reds shut out the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-0.

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Cubs still but ended the faint hopes of a National League pennant for St. Louis Saturday with a 5-4 victory over the Cardinals.

The Cubs scored three big runs in the fourth inning off loser Bob Miller and held on with the help of some fine relief pitching by Mel Wright to end their seven game losing streak.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Brooks Robinson drove in four runs Saturday to help the Baltimore Orioles defeat the Washington Senators, 10-9.

WEST POINT, N. Y. (UPI)—Army quarterback Dick Eckert and Tom Blanda each fired a second-half touchdown pass Saturday and led the Cadets from behind to a 20-7 victory over Boston College before a crowd of 20,150.

Al Rushatz crashed over for a third Army touchdown from five yards out midway through the fourth period but Blanda, trying for a two-point pass conversion hoping to give Army the same 22-7 margin Navy achieved over the Eagles last week, missed his mark and the pass was blocked.

MINNESOTA BEATS 'HUSKERS, 26-14
LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Minnesota's big Gophers crushed Nebraska, 26-14, Saturday by rolling up a 26-0 lead and fighting off a desperate bid by the Cornhuskers in the final 16 minutes to get back into the ball game.

The visitors from the Big Ten Conference battered and passed their way to their 26-0 lead with touchdown drives of 49, 64, and 21 and finished their point-marking with a 38-yard runback of a pass interception.

Pirates Falter, 4-2; Tie For NL Pennant

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Pirates backed into a tie for their first National League pennant in 33 years Saturday despite their second loss in a row to the third place Milwaukee Braves 4-2.

The Chicago Cubs, 90 miles away, gave the Pirates a leg on the elusive championship by beating the second place St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4. One more Pittsburgh win, or a St. Louis loss, gives the Pirates their first title since 1927 — when they won in the next to the last day of the season.

The Pirates lead the Cardinals by six games with five to play. The Cards have seven games left.

The Braves rocked 17-game winner Bob Friend for three hits in a row after two were out in the first inning to put the Pirates on the rope.

Yanks Nip Red Sox

BOSTON (UPI)—The New York Yankees lowered their "magic number" to two Saturday by beating the Boston Red Sox, 6-5, in 10 innings as the second place Chicago White Sox lost at Cleveland.

Sluger Mickey Mantle gave the Yanks the big win and their eighth straight triumph by homering into the left field net at Fenway Park off reliever Ted Willis. It was Mantle's 38th home run of the season and gave him his 89th RBI.

Any combination of two New York victories or Chicago defeats will now give manager Casey Stengel his 10th American League pennant over the past 13 years. The Yanks could wrap it up here Sunday against Boston.

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Bubba Phillips hit a 12th inning single that scored Woodie Held from second Saturday and gave the Cleveland Indians a 6-5 victory which further diminished the Chicago White Sox' remote pennant hopes.

DETROIT (UPI)—Marty Throneberry lined a grand slam pinch-hit homer in the sixth inning Saturday to back up the sixth-pitching of Dick Hall and lead the Kansas City Athletics to a 6-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Twenty-year-old Jim Maloney pitched a four-hitter Saturday as the Cincinnati Reds shut out the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-0.

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Cubs still but ended the faint hopes of a National League pennant for St. Louis Saturday with a 5-4 victory over the Cardinals.

The Cubs scored three big runs in the fourth inning off loser Bob Miller and held on with the help of some fine relief pitching by Mel Wright to end their seven game losing streak.

Back Sparkles As Irish Win

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Halfback Bob Scarpitto and a hard-charging line starring sophomore guard Nick Depola Saturday powered Notre Dame to a 21-7 victory over California.

Scarpitto, a senior second string halfback from Rahway, N. J., scored the first two of three Irish touchdowns and Depola, a 210-pound lineman from Portage, Pa., crowned the achievements of an alert Notre Dame line when he blocked a punt in the third period and ran eight yards for a touchdown.

The victory, witnessed by 49,286 fans in muggy 85-degree weather, was the first contest of the season for Notre Dame. It was the second loss in as many outings for California, a 19-point under-dog beaten last week by Tulane.

Navy Runners Sink Villanova

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—Navy, powered by the brilliant broken field running of halfback Joe Bellino, and capitalizing on several costly opponent fumbles, romped to an easy 41-7 victory Saturday over Villanova.

Bellino, of Winchester, Mass., accounted for the Tars' first score on a one-yard run early in the first quarter. He scored again on a one-yard plunge in the third after a Villanova fumble deep in Navy territory.

In the third quarter, Navy scored three times on a three-yard run by fullback Ron Keown, a two-yard pass from Walt Strobach to Al Hughes and on a recovered end zone fumble by Gary Kellner.

Sports Slivers

By ED HAYES WILSON

You don't often hear this from a football coach who has lost three games and won one.

"We're going to make it tough for our foes beginning about Oct. 2."

You wonder out loud, "What's he been waiting for these first four weeks?" and he ups with the answer:

"Ken Willingham, our number one quarterback, will be back in action and we'll have George Patton with us."

That's the way Coach Cliff Brndshaw of McLean sees things at this time. He discussed these coming additions to his team and showed high optimism about conference play.

"With Willingham and Patton in the backfield we can shift Clyde Window back to his guard slot. The first two will give us far more strength in the backfield, and with Window back up front we should do okay," the coach pointed out.

Willingham was lost to the team before the season started when he fractured his right elbow in practice. Patton, on the other hand, is a transferer from Mobeetie and becomes eligible Oct. 2.

"Patton is a fine ball player. We used him against the Pampa B team earlier in the year and all the young man did was score 22 points," the coach said, gleefully rubbing his hands in anticipation of this added spark to his Tigers.

Of course, that was BEFORE White Deer dropped the boom on the Tigers Friday night.

Low Price, the Miami-Metro New Bureau chief with whom we hustled publicity and buddied with in the army previous to that, informs that for $19.91 Texans can spend three days and two nights in the Florida city while visiting for the Rice-University of Miami football contest in the Orange Bowl, Oct. 8.

Seems the Miami downtown hotels have joined hands to make this a combined offer, since Price notes four of the larger hotels in the city are included in this maneuver to latch on to some Texas folding stuff.

Thought we'd toss that in for what it's worth.

Tom Snow, one of Pampa's newest attorneys, is a former baseball player at University of Texas. He's an avid sports fan and you'll more than likely run into Snow and District Attorney Bill Waters at football games 'round and about.

Snow coached the UT freshmen baseballers during the time he was doing graduate work at the university.

A leather-lunged McLean supporter Friday night "teed Off" on the officials during the McLean-White Deer contest.

He was still verbally lambasting them when the game ended with the Bucks on top, 54-6.

The fellow was just being hard to convince. There was no ruling the officials made that could have helped the Tigers. Those Bucks just have too much power for most of the teams in this area.

Johnny Darby, who was one of Pampa High School's more able athletes, and who finished his Harvesters career in 1953, is now a physical education instructor in Gardner Junior High School, San Antonio.

Darby, who captained the North Texas State Eagles from his right halfback post in 1953, his senior year at the Denton institution, also aids in coaching the football team at Gardner.

Cliff Mehrtens and Mert Fuquay, Amarillo Tascosa scouts who attended the Harvesters-Yale game here last week, said in summation of the PHS team:

"Those kids hit a lot harder than most teams we've seen. They hawk the ball well and show much courage, although outwitted. Pampa will hurt someone before the year is out."

Watch for the largest crowd ever to pour into the Red Raider Stadium Saturday, Oct. 15, if Texas Tech gets past TCU, Texas and the Aggies.

This will be the date that the Baylor Bears visit Lubbock, and since Tech drew well in excess of 30,000 opening night against West Texas State, the sides of the stadium will more than likely bulge with spectators.

Orange Tromps Boston

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI)—Syracuse, displaying the same awesome power that won the national championship last year, smothered Boston University, 35-7, in a mild workout Saturday before 25,000 shirt-sleeved fans at Arcoid Stadium.

The season opener was a contest for only the first 10 minutes. Still a trifle stiff, Syracuse rolled 37 yards for a touchdown the first time it handled the ball, quarterback Dave Sarette pitching out to halfback Pete Brokaw, who went over from the seven.

But the pesky Boston Terriers came right back to deadlock the score at 7-all on a startling 28-yard burst over center by speedy Dick Desmarais.

Davis, bigger and faster than ever, slipped over Boston's left side on a scissors play to scoot 80 yards on the day's most exciting run. Three strides past the line of scrimmage and the long-legged Davis was in the clear, easily outracing Boston's befuddled secondary. End Ken Ericson added the extra point and Syracuse was ahead, 14-7, to stay.

Houston Nips Miss. State

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—Junior halfback Ken Bolin, his teammates frustrated time and again by drive-stopping fumbles and interceptions, broke loose for two touchdowns Saturday to give Houston a 14-10 come-from-behind victory over favored Mississippi State, before 14,000 fans.

Score by Periods:
Miss State 3 7 0 0-10
Houston 6 0 0 8-14

Scoring: Mississippi State—FG Dantone 11; Houston—Bolin 56-run (kick failed); Mississippi State—Hill 34 run (Dantone kick); Houston—Bolin 10 run (Lindsay run).

White Deer and Shamrock, both undefeated after four starts, warmed up for their forthcoming clash Friday with comparatively easy wins on water-soaked fields Friday night.

Shamrock's Irish had little trouble in manhandling Wheeler, 36-6, at Wheeler, while White Deer scored almost a will to upend McLean, 54-6, at McLean.

The game at White Deer Friday will be important to the Bucks for two reasons: They will be hoping to end Shamrock's winning streak, and it's also homecoming for White Deer exes.

Against Wheeler, Shamrock's Jerry Jernigan scored three touchdowns on runs of 19, 7, and 48 yards to spark the Irish. James Scribner added 14 points to his season total for Shamrock by scoring two touchdowns and a two-point conversion run.

G. C. Baker scored the lone Wheeler six-pointer with a 11-yard run late in the fourth quarter. It was Wheeler's fourth loss of the season.

Elsewhere in the area, Stinnett's rumbling Rattlers marked up their fourth victim with a 46-0 blanking of Canadian.

Stinnett, the state's top-ranking Class A team, made believers of the Wildcats as they scored four times in the first quarter, one in the second and twice in the third.

The Rattlers scoring parade was led by Quarterback Larry Anderson and Fullback Jerry Laster, each of whom scored two touchdowns.

At Clarendon, Groom fought back from a 14-0 deficit at the end of three quarters to tie the Bronchos, 14-14, when two Clarendon fumbles set up the tying markers.

Kit Littlefield scored Groom's first TD and Lloyd Littlefield followed suit a few plays later on an end sweep to make the score 14-12. A clutch conversion pass from Wesley Cornett to halfback Eldred James brought Groom the tie.

Favored Spearman took a 22-0 win over Panhandle in another muddy encounter at Spearman. Kent Guthrie paced the Lynx with a 42-yard scoring jaunt and a two-point conversion.

The Lefors Pirates shanghaied Wellington, 32-0, at Lefors to bring their season won-lost mark to 2-2.

Bill Jernigan took a 41-yard pass from Mickey Archer for the first Lefors score and James Blair and Scott Dunnam added a touchdown each to give Lefors a 24-0 lead going into the fourth quarter.

Ronny Line scored the surprise touchdown of the game when he stole the ball from the Wellington quarterback and raced 35 yards for the final six points.

Perryton kept its winning streak going on a muddy field by downing a stubborn Dalhart squad, 14-12, at Dalhart.

The Rangers scored first when Jo Champion went over from the two-yard line and Carl Ellis added a two-point conversion. Butch Cook scored the other Ranger TD on a 14-yard scamper, and then Perryton's defense came to the fore and held off Dalhart's determined drives.

In eight-man area play, Miami's Warriors tanned the Morse Mustangs, 38-6, for their fourth straight victory.

Five Warriors scored in the game which was highlighted by Tommy Seitz' 70-yard touchdown gallop early in the first quarter. —A.E.M.

Breaks Make It Easy

Longhorns Stampede, Top Maryland, 34-0

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI)—Opportunity found Texas waiting by the door knob and Maryland sound asleep Saturday as the alert Longhorns cashed in on virtually every break and bobble for a 34-0 victory.

The game was won—and lost—in the first half when Texas survived a blistering air attack and then struck back swiftly with a long punt return and two touchdown drives for a 21-0 lead at halftime.

It was a 69-yard punt return by speedy Jim Saxton that actually settled Maryland's fate in the first period. Saxton, who had just saved the Longhorns' hides with an end-zone interception of Dale Betty's pass, took an intended quick kick by Betty that didn't go far enough, idled briefly while his blocking screen formed, and sailed down the sidelines for the first score.

Texas then blasted out two quick touchdown drives in the second period, the first covering 63 yards in 14 plays with quarterback Mike Cotten sneaking over from the one. The second followed another end-zone interception on a Betty pass by Drew Morris, the Longhorns grinding out 80 yards in only nine plays with Jack Collins sweeping end early in the final period after Duane Fletcher fumbled a punt on his own four. Center Bill Ferguson added a fourth score on a touch-down.

Ohio State combined an alert defense and the explosive running of fullback Bobby Ferguson to crush the Southern Methodist Mustangs, 24-0, before an opening day crowd of 82,496 fans here Saturday.

Ferguson, a 220-pound junior from Troy, Ohio, provided the game's most exciting moment when he blasted loose on a 51-yard run from scrimmage. He carried Mustang halfback Frank Jackson on his back for 10 yards before Jackson finally rode him down on the 2.

But Ferguson and crafty Buckeye quarterback Tom Matte, who surprised the crowd with his strategic passes, had to share honors with defensive stars Mike Ingram and Jimmy Herbstreit.

Ohio's defense held Southern Methodist to a net rushing gain of 55 yards, the Mustangs in 35 running plays gaining 80 yards but losing 55. Ohio on 57 rushes gained 244 yards, lost 13 and wound up with a net of 231.

Southern Methodist, which used every department for a 19-3 victory before 61,500.

Northwestern, who won at Evanston, Ill., last year, 45-13, capitalized on Oklahoma fumbles for two scoring drives. Thornton threw two touchdown passes and fullback Mike Stock kicked two field goals and one conversion.

Thornton's first period scoring toss was taken by end Elbert Kimbrugh. It was a short throw, but it followed a 15-yard Thornton-to-Kimbrugh aerial.

Thornton's second scoring pass came in the final period, from 25 yards out with halfback Al Faunce on the receiving end.

The Oklahoma three-pointer was kicked by guard Karl Milstead from 35-yards away after a 45-yard drive in 11 plays. Stock's first goal was from the identical patch of grass late in the second period, putting Northwestern ahead 9-3 at halftime.

In the third quarter, Stock kicked a 21-yard field goal after Faunce had gained 24 yards in four runs for Northwestern. Stock was Northwestern's leading gainer on the ground with 86 yards in 12 carries.

The final Northwestern-touchdown came after Oklahoma alternate halfback Paul Lea dropped the ball and Faunce recovered on the Oklahoma 39. The crucial down in the seven play series that followed was a two-yard gain by fullback Jim Knowles for a first down at the Oklahoma 27.

Powerful Ohio State Crushes SMU, 24-0

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Ohio State combined an alert defense and the explosive running of fullback Bobby Ferguson to crush the Southern Methodist Mustangs, 24-0, before an opening day crowd of 82,496 fans here Saturday.

Ferguson, a 220-pound junior from Troy, Ohio, provided the game's most exciting moment when he blasted loose on a 51-yard run from scrimmage. He carried Mustang halfback Frank Jackson on his back for 10 yards before Jackson finally rode him down on the 2.

But Ferguson and crafty Buckeye quarterback Tom Matte, who surprised the crowd with his strategic passes, had to share honors with defensive stars Mike Ingram and Jimmy Herbstreit.

Ohio's defense held Southern Methodist to a net rushing gain of 55 yards, the Mustangs in 35 running plays gaining 80 yards but losing 55. Ohio on 57 rushes gained 244 yards, lost 13 and wound up with a net of 231.

Lee Stops Perryton

Robert E. Lee ninth graders roared back from a 5-0 halftime deficit to drop Perryton 14-6, Thursday at Harvester Stadium for its first conference win of the season.

Perryton jumped off to a 6-0 lead early in the second period but Lee went ahead to stay at the beginning of the third quarter when Quarterback Ricky Stewart sneaked over for six points and Donny Rexroad ran over a two-point conversion.

Rexroad added six more points to his total in the fourth quarter when he loped around end for 25 yards and the final score of the day.

"Our defense looked good except on passing," Coach Lester Ramsey said Friday. "We're weak on passing and we've got to improve."

Ramsey singled out Keith Reimer as both an offensive and defensive star in the Perryton game. Two alternate teamers, end Rondal Thompson and wingback Dean Bettis, also drew Ramsey's praise. The win evened up Lee's record at 1-1, and it will be going for its second win Thursday when Austin of Borger invades Pampa.

Rain Slows Tigers' Attack

Bucks Rout McLean, 54-6

By ARTHUR MAYHEW Daily News Sports Editor

McLEAN—In weather better suited for water polo than football, White Deer's hungry Bucks routed a game McLean Tiger team, 54-6, Friday night before 500 rain-soaked fans.

In rolling to its fourth straight win, White Deer racked up a offense that totaled 447 yards and seven different men into the scoring column.

McLean lost the opening coin toss and it was a symbolic beginning. A short McLean punt into the wind set up White Deer's first score. Tom Lester cracked over tackle with 7:16 showing on the first quarter clock from 38 yards out to put the Bucks ahead 6-0.

McLean could do nothing with the slippery ball and after four downs gave it to White Deer again. The Bucks pushed to the McLean six-yard line before the Tigers defense stopped the drive.

Another short McLean punt put the ball on their own 30. A beautiful breakaway run by Ricky Lowe put the Bucks on the McLean three-yard line where Lester bulled over for the second TD at 2:10 of the first quarter.

Late in the quarter, a drizzling rain began to pelt the field but couldn't cool off the White Deer attack.

Lester chalked up his third straight six-pointer at 6:44 of the second quarter with a two-yard plunge and Lowe gathered in a two-point conversion pass from Dickie Hanna to send the Bucks into a 20-0 lead.

The next time White Deer got its hands on the ball, Johnny Spence electrified the crowd with a dazzling 44-yard scamper through the middle of the Tigers' defense for his first touchdown of the night at 3:23.

McLean punted after receiving the kickoff and White Deer was off and running again, this time moving 43 yards in four plays capped by a 34-yard pass from Jim Thurmond to Gary Campbell. Campbell made a fingertip catch on the McLean 15 after Tiger Jim Watson fought him for possession of the wobbly pass.

Leading 32-0 at halftime, White Deer quickly hiked the total to 38-0 at 7:46 of the third quarter when Thurmond went over tackle for 11 yards.

McLean finally got its chance to yell when Johnny Glass recovered a White Deer fumble on the Bucks 39. On the second play of the series, Jim Watson boomed through the center of the Bucks line, found daylight and ran 34 yards for McLean's first and only touchdown.

McLean's Phillip Flowers recovered an onside kickoff and the Tigers, behind Watson and Clyde Windom, moved to White Deer's 17 before a fourth down pass play went astray when Watson was nailed before he could throw.

White Deer, adding insult to injury, took the ball on their own 25 and—after two offsetting 15-yard penalties—scored again when Spence galloped 48 yards right through the middle to up the score to 44-6 with 21 seconds left in the third quarter. Thurmond ran over the two-point conversion.

Kenny Jackson ended the free-for-all with a three-yard plunge and Mike Hefner ran over for two points with 51 seconds left in the game to boost the final score to 54-6.

Mining Subsidy Split Seen Factor By JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Will White House and Democratic congressional differences on mining subsidies have any effect on the presidential race in the Western states?

Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate, apparently thinks so. And Rep. Ed Edmondson, D-Okla., believes the issue might be decisive in several states.

Kennedy recently told an Idaho audience he would have signed a bill to stabilize the lead and zinc mining industry. President Eisenhower vetoed the legislation.

Edmondson said following passage of the bill that "in a close election" the western state electoral votes might be decided on the government's treatment of depressed miners.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate, has declined comment on Eisenhower's vote, but may have more to say on the general subject of aid to miners before the campaign is over.

Meanwhile, however, Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., was wasting no time in readying remedial legislation for the new Congress. His bills not only would grant subsidies, but impose tariffs on importation of lead and zinc.

It was generally conceded here that foreign policy had a great deal to do with Eisenhower's veto. Certain Latin American countries had protested such aid to domestic miners on the theory any U.S. production jumps would harm their American sales.

A spokesman for Kerr, commenting on the veto, said "there goes years of work down the drain." Getting the subsidy bill through was one of Edmondson's chief projects since he came to Congress eight years ago.

Although the tariff and subsidy approaches tackle the problem from different directions, they have the same aim—to get small producers of lead and zinc back into operation. The subsidy approach would have granted direct government payments to domestic producers when the world price of the minerals fell below certain levels. It would have meant opening up of mines long closed down because miners could not compete with cheap foreign imports.

Kerr's tariff approach would protect the domestic industry by forcing foreign producers to pay a premium to operate in the American market—thus equalizing the higher costs of U.S. producers.

Paint Is For Performance Not Just Looks

By ROBERT J. SERLING
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—If the chore of painting a kitchen chair throws you, ponder the problem of painting a 316,000-pound jetliner.

Painting an airplane is one of the unsung heroic jobs of aviation. It is about as easy as lifting a toothpick with a steam shovel.

When Boeing builds its giant 707 jetliners, it uses a 10-man crew just for the painting. They take two and a half days per plane, use about 100 pounds of paint and must overcome not only aesthetic but scientific problems.

For example, the rudder must be painted before it goes on the plane. It takes only seven pounds of paint, but that's enough to throw this delicately-balanced structure out of kilter. So the rudder is painted first, installed on the plane, and dried. Then the necessary structural adjustments are made to keep the rudder flutter-free. It might be compared hypothetically to painting an automobile fender before it went on the car, on the chance that the weight of the paint would throw a wheel out of balance.

Another headache is to keep the fuselage paint silk-smooth. The slightest imperfection could affect the air-stream that must flow smoothly over the surface at

Jet Age Can't Kill Whistle Stop Success

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Election campaign trains, colorful reminders of America's political past, refuse to be sidetracked by the jet-age.

Sen. John F. Kennedy was so pleased with his whistle stops through California this month he directed his staff to add more train trips to his campaign schedule.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon also has announced he'll alternate trains with jet planes on his campaign tours.

Their rear-platform speeches in small town and city stations are keeping alive a century-old tradition.

The Association of American Railroads (AAR) credits Stephen Douglas, foe of Abraham Lincoln in the famous debates, as being the first man to hire a special train for purely political purposes.

Douglas, with all the instincts carrying flat car to the train to salute his arrival at each station.

600 miles per hour. Yet the paint also has to be as tough as steel to withstand the pounding of near-sonic speeds as well as the elements.

The practice of painting fuselages white dates back to the early 1950's when research showed it helped cool the cabins of aircraft parked under a hot sun.

Former President Harry S. Truman's "give-'em-hell" campaign in 1948 was marked by seven railroad trips covering more than 21,000 miles. The 300 speeches he made on those "whistle-stops" were regarded as decisive factors in his upset victory over Thomas E. Dewey.

But there are drawbacks to train campaigning.

Dewey, twice defeated Republican contender, snapped "idiot" at a locomotive engineer who nearly backed a train into a crowd during the 1948 race. The hasty remark undoubtedly cost him some railroad votes.

The late Franklin D. Roosevelt, described by the AAR as the champion rail traveler of all presidential contenders, once drew up his own schedule and made a 24-hour mistake.

FDR's train had to dawdle along, taking roundabout routes and parking at night, until the extra day was absorbed.

And in 1952, the train bearing President Eisenhower overshot a waiting crowd at one station, stopped short at the next two stops, and later pulled away from 20,000 persons before he started to speak.

"Whoops!" Eisenhower cried. "They're taking me away."

The association said three-time White House hopeful William Jennings Bryan gave train campaigns a real boost in 1896.

Japan Big U.S. Farm Market

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Since the end of World War II, United States farms have been the principle source of Japan's agricultural imports.

Japan is a lush market for U.S. farmers. In most years Japan imports U. S. farm products valued at more than $400 million. With trade at this level, Japan has ranked as either the first or second largest market for U. S. agricultural commodities during all years but one of the last 10 years.

Japan is the world's fifth ranking importer of agricultural products. The foreign Agricultural Service (FAS) reports that although Japanese agriculture is noted for being highly intensive, it cannot meet the country's total requirements. Japan needs to import about 20 per cent of its food consumption each year, besides large quantities of fibers and other farm products.

At the same time, Japan exports certain farm products, principally silk, tea, and mandarin oranges, but their value is far less than that of farm imports, which has averaged about $1.5 billion during the last five years.

Seven commodities — wheat, barley, corn, hides and skins, soybeans, cotton, and tallow — have made up the bulk of Japan's agricultural imports from the United States.

For the seven items that have been most important to the United States, Japan's imports from all sources totaled about $750 million. However, the imports of these items from the United States declined 20 per cent to a level of $293 million.

Imports of barley by Japan are expected to level off somewhat because of the use of the commodity for human consumption is declining. Japanese income is increasing so there is more money to spend for other kinds of food.

Although Japan now buys seven times more corn from the United States than it did in 1950-54, imports from Thailand are providing this country with stiff competition.

Soybean imports to Japan from the United States are up and are expected to expand. Prospects for U. S. tallow and cattle hides also are encouraging.

Twentieth Century Clubs' Presidents' Reception

Red, white and blue bunting, a star studded table centered with a massive arrangement of flags and red canons in a blue, star-accented container, organ music, set a non-partisan political atmosphere for Twentieth Century Clubs' Presidents' Reception held Thursday morning in the Starlight Room of The Coronado Inn

As guests arrived, they paused at headquarter's information booth, were pinned with red, white and blue identification tags and ushered to seats within their club-precinct. Factions were seated with their own delegation in groups designated with banners donating Twentieth Century Forum, Twentieth Century Cotillion, Twentieth Century Allegro, and Twentieth Century Culture Clubs. Over coffee cups, caucuses were held relative to the club work in the year ahead.

Twentieth Century Forum Club was hostess for the event this year with Mrs. C. V. Wilkinson as general chairman; Mrs. Aubrey Steel, decorations chairman and Mrs. Bob Curry, program chairman.

Mrs. William Ellis introduced the morning's guest speaker, F. W. Mattox, president of Lubbock Christian College, who spoke to the group on "Socialistic and Communistic Trends."

FASHIONABLE CAMPAIGNERS — Mrs. Bob Curry, left, and Mrs. C. V. Wilkinson pause a moment to listen to the organ selections played by Coy Palmer during the morning's proceeding. Mrs. Curry, program chairman and Mrs. Wilkinson, general chairman in charge of reception arrangements, greeted guests in the lobby of the Inn dressed in fashionable campaign attire provided through the courtesy of Neiman Marcus of Dallas. Mrs. Curry's and Mrs. Wilkinson's costumes approved by Neiman Marcus' fashion board, were in colors of red, white and blue; one designed especially for Nixon supporters and the other for Kennedy supporters.

FORUM DELEGATION — Early arrivals in the Forum precinct were the members seated above, front row, right to left, Mrs. Frank Kelly, Mrs. Bruce Pratt, Mrs. Authur Teed, Mrs. Roy Bourland, Mrs. William Ellis chatting in College; second row, right to left, Mrs. E. J. Dunigan, Jr., Mrs. D. W. Lawrence, Mrs. Felix Vendrell and Mrs. John McCrery.

Miss Bullard Becomes Bride Of T. L. Garner

Mrs. T. L. Garner
nee Lynda Lou Bullard
(Photo, Call's Studio)

Wedding vows were solemnized in First Methodist Church for Miss Lynda Lou Bullard and T. L. Garner on Sept. 19 at seven o'clock. The Rev. Woodrow W. Adcock, pastor, was officiant for the double-ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bullard, 1330 E. Kingsmill. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin H. Garner, 2342 Hamilton.

Mrs. A. C. Malone, organist, provided pre-nuptial airs and the traditional wedding marches. Miss Nadine Slater, vocalist, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because."

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in luxurious delustered satin fashioned with a 15-embroidered lace yoke accented with sequin and pearl; long, tapered sleeves; which ended in metal points over the wrists; and a bodice which extended to a floor-length bouffant skirt. Her elbow-length veil of tiered illusion was held secure to a Queen's Crown encrusted with pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade arrangement of French-orchid white mums encircling cymbidium orchids.

Misses Marcia Morrison, and Mrs. Lequita Bullard attended as bridesmaid, dressed as the matron of honor and carried mums and gladioli bouquets.

Lynn Don Garner was best man. Ushers were Jimmy Bullard and Roy Pool. Groomsmen were John Maxwell Nutting Jr. and Arthur Lynn Love.

Vows were said amid a setting of baskets of white gladioli with white tapers in the background. Pews of honor were marked with white satin ribbon and orchid pom-poms.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bullard chose a mauve lace dress with beige accessories and a yellow split carnation corsage. Mrs. Garner wore a pink lace dress with navy blue accessories and a corsage of white split carnations.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was skirted with an orchid satin cloth centered with an arrangement of orchid mums.

Mrs. La Juana Pool, Mrs. Judy Taylor presided at the punch service. Mrs. Sandra Brunner served from the four-tiered cake, which was topped with a bridal pair. Mrs. Shirley Sanders was guest registrar.

For a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, the bride traveled in a beige and green suit with green accessories and wore the orchid from the center of her bridal bouquet.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Betty Langford was matron of honor wearing a dress of silk organza of Fall Lilac complemented with a bouquet of orchid Frenched mums and gladioli.

Party Plans Made At Club Meeting

Mrs. Dale Gibson was hostess to a meeting of Southwesterners Club Monday evening in her home, 732 N. Nelson.

Plans were made for a Halloween Party to be given in Southwestern Public Service room on Oct. 28 with members and their husbands as guests.

Plans were also discussed for a Toy Party to be held in the service rooms at a date to be set in October at 7:30 p.m.

Secret Pal gifts were exchanged and new names drawn.

New officers of the club presided at the meeting: Mmes. Monice Gibson, president; Estelle Topper, vice president; Dee Wilson, secretary; Iva Dell Jayroe, treasurer; and Joyce Hobbs, reporter.

Refreshments were served during the social hour by the hostess. Fifteen members attended.

APPOINTMENT WITH BEAUTY

With the increase in both size and number of windows in today's smart homes, window treatments—particularly draperies—have become one of the most important appointments in every room plan.

Window treatments today are required to do much more than glamorize the window and regulate light. We use them to call attention to attractive outdoor views, to emphasize good structural arrangement, to make small, insignificant windows look large and important, and even to make our walls seem to be made entirely of windows.

If you wish to create a quiet, spacious effect, you will appoint your windows accordingly and treat your draperies as part of the background. Colors in this case should match the walls, and pattern, if used at all, would be small and unobtrusive.

When windows are to be featured as part of the foreground, brighter colors and bolder patterns are indicated. Window ap-

Note the importance given to the draperies in the large modern living-dining room sketched. By hanging draperies on the fireplace wall where no window exists, and also across an entire wall of glass, they become a foreground feature and introduce color, movement, warmth and diversity to a spacious modern room.

(1) Looking for ideas for window appointments that will give small windows big performance value? Our trained home counselors will be most happy to give you the value of their varied experience in all phases of home decorating. Do make it a point to come in soon.

Texas Ghost Towns Topic At Fall Brunch

A fall brunch given in the home of Mrs. E. R. Sidwell with Mrs. Wiley Reynolds Jr. as co-hostess began the club year for members of Parent Education Club on Tuesday.

The Texas Day program, which followed, was presented by Mrs. H. C. Federer Jr. "Ghost Towns of Texas" was the topic chosen for discussion.

"Texas is pitted with ghost towns of great schemes that grew cold," Mrs. Federer said in opening remarks. "These plans were the results of dreams spurred on by men ambitious in industry, by those devout in religion or by those eager to experiment with government and having dreams of finding Utopia."

"In the religious picture of the ghost town drama stand the Methodists, who established the community of Burning Bush in East Texas, which has disappeared except in memory and historical reference."

"Just a mere village now and not exactly in the full ghost category, Salado has played such a leading role in the drama of the Lone Star State that legend tells how it lacked only one vote of becoming the capitol of the land. The Stage Coach Inn, which dates back to the days when Texas was a republic, still is in operation," the speaker continued.

"Whatever the cause of its birth or the reason for its death, each ghost town in the state of Texas has added just another touch of bright coloring to our flamboyant Texas history," Mrs. Federer concluded.

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Shirley, aspects concerning the promotion of interest and the benefits derived from the study of art were discussed by the group.

Members attending, in addition to those mentioned above were, Mmes. O. W. Appleby, Roy Cism, Dona Cornutt, Jack Crites, Loyal Davies, H. L. Gregory, W. L. Henke, A. D. Hills, Carl Hills, A. C. Houchin, Howard Johnson, Harvey Nemstiel, Dewey Palmittier, John Parker, and C. P. Pursley.

the federation of Parent Education Club. Each of us need to be reminded for the Federation objectives which are: to unite the women's clubs and like organizations throughout the world for the purpose of mutual benefit and for the promotion of their common interest in education, philanthropy, public welfare, moral values, civic and fine arts."

Mrs. Behrman announced the club's desire to know more about federation, Mrs. Jack R. Allen of Perryton, president of Top of Texas District of Texas Federated Women's Clubs, has been invited to be guest speaker for Parent

Education Club on Nov. 1, 1960. Mrs. Beaman concluded, "We must remember that our local club is not an isolated entity. It is a vital part of an international organization to which we can and must make our own individual contribution."

Members present were Mmes, W. L. Arrington, D. T. Beaman, Bob Carmichael, A. J. Carrubi, W. J. Derington, Warren Fathree, H. C. Federer Jr., L. L. Garren, Bill Gething, T. D. Harvey, Charles Lockhart, Jack Osborne, Wiley Reynolds, Jr., E. R. Sidwell, C. E. Steel, R. K. Swanson and Elmer Wilson.

Miss Streeter Becomes Bride Of C. G. Beaty

CANADIAN (Spl) — Miss Lonita Streeter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Streeter, and Clois Gene Beaty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lamond Beaty, were united in marriage on September 4 in the First Baptist Church.

Rev. Joe Vethon conducted the double-ring ceremony before an archway of blue carnations and white roses. Baskets of white gladioli and blue carnations, and pyramid candelabra completed the setting.

Miss Betty Abraham, organist, accompanied Miss Linda Adams as she sang "At Dawning". Miss Joyce Lansdown while she sang "Because", and "I Love You Truly," and Frankie Carver as he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of French Illusion enhanced by hand-clipped Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice had a scalloped neckline emphasized with rose-point lace trimmed with iridescent sequins and pearls. The long, tapered sleeves ended in points over the hands. Her fingertip veil was of lace edged French Illusion and held by a tiara of pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a white crest with a cascade of white roses centered with a white orchid.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Jon Mack Roden of Friona. She wore a dress of Peacock Blue taffeta styled with a scooped neckline. The bouffant skirt was accented with a cummerbund at the waist. White lace gloves and a white velvet hat completed the costume. Her nosegay was of white roses.

Bridesmaids were Misses Noveta and Nadean Streeter, sisters of the bride, Eura Mae Reid, Glenda Batts and Mavis Britte of Walsh, Colo. Their dresses were styled identical to that of the matron of honor. Their hats were of baby-blue velvet and gloves of blue lace. Their nosegays were of blue carnations.

Candlelighters were Misses Marcia Crowell and Becky Etheredge. They wore dresses identical to those of the honor attendants. Their hats and gloves were of white.

Flower girl was Miss Carolyn Baker, cousin of the bridegroom, who wore a floor length gown of white. She carried a basket of blue flower petals. Her lace-edged veil was held by a tiara of blue carnations.

Ringbearers were Bill Hobdy and Leo Field Jr.

Serving as best man was Lloyd Gober. Groomsmen were Kelly Wilson, John Paul Prichard, Kenny Abraham, Johnny Grist and Gene Miller. Ushers were Dale Nix Jr., Jack Miller, Danny Malcolm and Harold Yarnold.

"Hat Revue" Plans For First Meeting Of Lamar PTA

Plans for a "Hat Revue" were completed at the executive board meeting of Lamar PTA held Thursday afternoon in the home of the president, Mrs. B. T. Buck. Hats will be modeled by PTA officers at the first general meeting of the school to be held Oct. 13 in the school auditorium, according to an announcement by Mrs. N. L. Nichols.

Mrs. Nichols also announced that a play had been chosen to be given by PTA members during Fun Night Oct. 27. Casting for the play, "The Little Red School House" will be held Sept. 27 in the school. All members interested are invited to "try-outs." Tickets for the "Fun Night" dinner will have a pre-sale by students and play tickets will be available at the door.

During the board meeting, Mrs. A. W. Griggs, membership chairman, reported that 168 parents had joined the PTA on the first day of school.

Following a report and acceptance of the PTA budget for 1960-61, Joe Page, school principal, announced that 535 students were enrolled in Lamar School.

The next board meeting will be on Oct. 12 with Mrs. N. L. Nichols.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church following the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a white linen cloth over blue centered with an arrangement of white flowers. Blue candles flanked the arrangement.

Mrs. J. P. Adams introduced Mrs. Jack P. Foster, who spoke on "The Governor's Conference on Aging," which she attended recently in Austin. She presented problems of Senior Citizens which were discussed at the conference and gave a brief summary of their solution.

Mrs. Barnett welcomed the following transferees as new members: Mmes. A. G. Crosby, R. D. Herring, George Massie and Carl Williams.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mmes. Earl Barnett and Gene Hall. Cleverly-arranged coconuts and papayas around a Bamboo light brought out a Hawaiian theme used in the table decorations and refreshments.

Members attending other than those mentioned were: Mmes. Leo Casey, Betty Cooper, Tom Darby, Wiley Davis, Ernest Fletcher, Bill

Double-Ring Home Rites Said By Clemmens-Nunn

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Nunn
... Maxine Clemmens

WHITE DEER (Spl.) — Miss Maxine Clemmens and Chester Nunn were united in marriage on September 9, at eight o'clock in their new home in White Deer.

Tall, pink candles in cathedral candelabra formed the setting for the double-ring ceremony read by the Rev. E. J. Keigh, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Miss Kathy Hendricks of McLean, a cousin of the bride, lighted the candles and served as bridesmaid. She wore a dress of white lace over pink taffeta with scoop neckline, fitted bodice, and circular skirt. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Lansin Osborne of White Deer served as best man.

Mrs. Frank Cooksey opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Robinson gave the devotional.

Secret pal names were drawn for the next three months; gifts were exchanged and old names were revealed. It was decided to meet in the home of Mrs. Leonard Cain, in October.

Mrs. C. H. Earhart was a hundred percent member for the month of August.

Present were Mmes. Launa Cain and Dawn, James Lancaster, Frank Cooksey, Helen McCool, C. H. Earhart, Kenneth Rollins, Wendell Akin, J. L. Etheredge, and Ralph Hix.

which extended over a full skirt of tulle and net. Her headdress was a white lace mantilla. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds on a white Bible.

For the reception after the ceremony, the table was laid with an ecru lace cloth, centered with an arrangement of white snapdragons and pink chrysanthemums in a crystal bowl and pink candles in crystal holders decorated with white pom-pom 'mums and pink maline bows. Mrs. Holt Nunn of Clovis, N. M., a sister-in-law of the bridegroom, served the three-tiered wedding cake; and Mrs. Henry Worthington Sr., also of Clovis, an aunt of the bridegroom, served punch. They were assisted by another aunt of the bridegroom, Mrs. Clyde Lawson of Panhandle.

After a brief trip to Carlsbad Caverns, Mr. and Mrs. Nunn are at home in White Deer.

Mrs. Nunn is the daughter of D. C. Clemmens of Tallala, Okla., and has been making her home in White Deer with her aunt, Mrs. W. L. Boyd, for the past year. She was graduated from Tallala High School. At the time of her marriage was employed as a secretary by the Consolidated Gas and Oil Company in Amarillo.

Mr. Nunn, son of T. E. Nunn, Sr., of Clovis, has made his home with his aunt, Mrs. J. W. Everly, since he was six years old. He was graduated from White Deer High School and attended West Texas State College. He is engaged in farming and also carries the mail from White Deer to the Skellytown area.

Attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Lansin Osborne; Mrs. Worthington and Mrs. Holt Nunn of Clovis; Mr. and Mrs. James Hendricks and Kathy of McLean; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lawson of Panhandle; Mrs. W. L. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Deano Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Boyd and Brenda; Mrs. J. W. Everly, Miss Claudia Everly, Mrs. J. N. Osborne, and Mrs. Hallie Martin.

Miss Paula Jo Cumberledge Named Honoree For Pre-Wedding Shower

LEFORS (Spl.) — Miss Paula Jo Cumberledge, bride-elect of Ross Poole, was honored with a pre-nuptial shower in Civic Center on Monday night.

The honoree wore a corsage of white carnations, presented by the hostesses.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Ed Lehnick at a white covered table, centered with a milk glass vase holding two pink rose buds, with a pink umbrella beside it.

The serving table, carrying out the umbrella theme, was covered with pink linen, with a centerpiece of pink buds, and white daisies arranged in a milk glass bowl, flanked by two pink net and satin umbrellas with a miniature bride and bridegroom completing the setting.

The white sheet cake was decorated in pink roses, a pink parasol, and the inscription, "Paula and Ross."

Miss Shiela Cable provided background music at the piano throughout the evening.

Pink lemonade was served by Mrs. Ed Bryant from a milk glass punch bowl, as Mrs. Earl Atkinson served the cake.

Hostesses were Mmes. Howard Archer, Earl Atkinson, J. R. Sparkman, D. S. McDowell, B. J. Thacker, Callie Peden, D. D. Lewis, John Carpenter, E. A. Bryant, Edward Lehnick, David Robinson, Bob Bright, Tom Florence, A. W. Chisum, J. M. Boucher, W. B. Minter, J. E. Carter, Ronald Adams, Misses Pat Berry, Sharon Hines, and Linda Robinson.

Guests were Mmes. W. E. Dumas, J. F. Morris, Jessie Holley, C. H. Butrum, Bud Cumberledge.

"A Good Home" Produces Better Citizens Than So-Called Mansion

We hear a lot today about the increasing number of juvenile delinquents who come from "good homes." But do good homes really produce juvenile delinquents?

Isn't it just that the term "good home" is used loosely to describe an expensive house in a good neighborhood bought by parents who have material success?

A good home is much more than that.

In a good home, however humble it may appear from the outside, are parents who show their love for their children, not by over-indulgence, but by a sane and sensible upbringing.

Such parents don't preach one thing and do another. They set good examples for their children in such character traits as honesty, dependability, resourcefulness, kindness and responsibility.

They are firm in their discipline and they demand respect and obedience from their children. They don't wait until a 14-year-old gets out of hand and then wail, "We can't do a thing with him."

And they insist on knowing where their children are and what they are doing. They don't turn junior loose with a car and let him stay out as late as he pleases night after night. Nor do they let sis start going steady at 15.

Nor are good parents so bent on staying young themselves and running around to parties night after night that they can't be bothered with staying at home looking after their children.

How can anyone call a home a "good home" that doesn't give its sons and daughters the kind of example and guidance that steers them safely through the years when so many of their age are getting into serious trouble?

Maturity And Security Are Key Words In Discussion Of Modern Family Life

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—When social workers discuss what's right—or wrong—about contemporary family life, the talk is salt and peppered with the words "maturity and security."

Reporting on the status quo of the two words, Mrs. Katherine Brownell Oettinger, chief of the U.S. Children's Bureau, told the recent International Union of Family Organizations:

"Maturity is apt to call to mind the image of someone of dignified stance and mien—a grandfatherly type—ready to pass on the benefits of his own experience to the children and youth who surround him.

"And in the United States, 'security' may give us a picture of a couple, still relatively young, relaxing on the terrace of their suburban ramble while the best stereophonic recordings supply the proper mood music.

"Beyond the terrace we see a couple of handsome children playing an efficient game of ping pong and perhaps a younger child scaling the intricate heights of his shining new jungle gym. In the background is a sleek new compact car."

Mrs. Oettinger said such pictures of "maturity" and "security" are not adequate images for the kind of world we live in today.

For one thing, the world in which grandfather grew up no longer exists. In fact, deep-rooted traditions passed in the recent past from generation to generation have vanished in many places, the expert said.

If there is a grandfather in the family, he's probably many miles away. And if he's around, the world he talks about is so different.

In his time, Mrs. Oettinger said grandfather was concerned with the survival of the family or the nation. But now—the question is survival of the human race!

Experience has supplied him with ready-made answers to the questions today's children must face: questions not only of survival but of economic and personal security; of planning for a future we cannot even envision," Mrs. Oettinger said.

Platform Gains Milady's Fall Fashion Approval

By DORIS E. WILSON
Women's Page Editor

Mrs. Julian Key was keynote speaker for Twentieth Century Cotillion's Fashion Luncheon held Monday noon in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

Speaking on behalf of her candidate, Behrman's, Mrs. Key outlined a platform of cotourier hues and designs to appeal to the feminine vote.

Applying fashionable concern as to what will be worn during busy morning hours at campaign headquarters; during afternoon committee meetings; for informal wear at home while listening to election returns; and, finally, what will be worn to the Victory Dinner-Dance, Mrs. Key and the fashions shown held the audience spellbound.

Assisting with the fashion campaigned were Mes. George Cree Jr., G. M. Martin, N. J. Ellis, Marguerite Baldwin, Bill Clements, Lee Frasier, Harold Courson, Jake Osborne, Martin Stubbe and Bob Swanson, who modeled thirty-one platform-approved costumes.

For a patriotic appearance at headquarters, Mrs. Ellis chose a Rosgren coat of white cashmere by Einiger with a luxurious collar of white fox worn over a blue, Italian wool dress by Sebastian complemented with red slippers.

Mrs. Martin appeared in a vote-getting ensemble designed by Sebastian with a skirt and pull-over sweater dyed to match in Italian wool worn with a tri-toned coat sweater, also dyed to match, of Marino Wool imported from Austria.

Perfect attire for a candidate's reception was the suit of black, imported pebble wool by Rentner modeled by Mrs. Baldwin. The suit jacket, lined with white crepe, featured jet black and rhinestone buttons, and framed the face with a white mink collar. To add the just right touch, Mrs. Baldwin wore a Dolly Madison hat of white fur with crushed and pleated Antique white satin crown with a Belgian-Beaded bag in jet by Walberg.

To frame the political picture in fashion, Mrs. Osborne appeared in a Myron Herbert costume suit of Moon Mist; the dress of French flannel with lace trim was topped with a matching coat of dyed-to-match beaver. Her costume was accented with a lilac Antique satin hat and Denbe drop earrings.

Mrs. Stubbe swayed the fashion vote by appearing in a pure silk satin pea de soie frock trimmed in French Chantilly lace designed by Herbert Sondheim in a Cafe Diablo Hue. Her hat of mink tails with pea de soi crown cinched the vote.

For informal wear at home, while telephoning lists of voters or listening to national election returns, Mrs. Cree showed a four-piece ensemble by Victor Most of Hollywood which are featured on the TV show, "The Price Is Right. A green, dyed-to-match wool jersey blouse was the basic item to be worn with the plaid skirt, weskit, pants and skirt.

Luxury in lingerie was modeled by Mrs. Ellis, who showed an aqua gown and pregnoir with French Lace trim by Virginia Wallace of Beverly Hills.

For a dramatic appearance at the Victory Dance, Mrs. Clements appeared in black, silk chiffon designed with the new lampshade look in the waltz length skirt. To ward off the chill of the evening, her shoulders were encircled with a special selected Saga Capelet of Norwegian Blue Fox with spinel (diamond shavings) and cultured pearl earrings to add sparkle to her appearance.

Another fashion favorite was shown by Mrs. Courson in a red, pure silk, petit point by Addie Masters complemented with a red satin bag by Koret and rhinestone jewelry by Denbe.

Mrs. Swanson's glamorous addition to the gala evening was made in an aqua silk chiffon, softly-draped dance frock by Will Steinman accented with jeweled bodice trim with aurora borealis jewelry to match the bodice of the dress.

Mrs. Frasier took the fashion spotlight with a full-length coat of black silk, lined with pink silk over a dress of Ottoman wool designed by Larry Aldrich. Napier jewelry in choker, bracelet and earring design accented the dramatic black costume.

To illustrate her loyalty to the fashion platform, Mrs. Key made her commentaries in a costume of very sheer fine wool in a Moonstone Hue designed to be worn belted during business hours or with a dropped waistline for that "after five" appointment, fashioned by Nadler of California. An addition of an original Miss Dior designed by Christian Dior hat, also in a Moonstone hue, completed her costume.

Following the campaign speeches and demonstrations, Behrman's fall collection of fashions received an unanimous vote of approval.

A charming highlight of the luncheon was the appearance of members of the cast of Amarillo Little Theater's cast of "The Boy Friend", Dr. N. J. Ellis, Mrs. Renee Goates, Mrs. Barbara Lockman and Mrs. Ann Sewell, who presented selections from the musical.

Bride-Elect Feted At Nuptial Shower

GROOM (Sp) — Mrs. Helen Hickox, bride-elect of Micky Kitchens, was honored with a bridal shower Saturday evening in the home of Mrs. Preston Harden.

Honoree: Mrs. John Hickox, honoree's mother, Mrs. Maude Wilson, honoree's grandmother; and Mrs. Bob Dukes of Amarillo, bridegroom's aunt.

Hostesses were Mes. John Kirzon, Gene Carter, Nace Baggerman, Robert Newton, Curtis Schaffer, Johnny Brooks, Leo Britten, Max Wade, Elmer Ashmead and Guy Blackwell.

According to the Bible, the raven was the first bird sent forth from the Ark of Noah.

The bride's chosen colors of red and white were used in table appointments with the serving table of white net over white taffeta centered with a bouquet of red carnations and nosegays of red carnations draped to the sides of the serving table. Crystal appointments completed the service.

Mrs. Vilma Miller presided at the punch service while Mrs. Baggerman served cake. Mrs. Curtis Schaffer was guest registrar.

Dog As Man's Best Friend May Be Perpetuator Of Dozen Diseases

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Your friend, the dog, may be dangerous.

The World Health Association (WHO) reports that there are well over a dozen diseases that are transmitted to man by the dog or that the dog may harbor and help to perpetuate.

The list includes rabies, hydatid disease, ringworm, clonorchiasis, African tick-borne fever, and chagas disease.

But the most terrible of these is the one that occurs in the United States — rabies.

This shouldn't be said about man's best friend, but it's straight from the who records. The dog is the animal most frequently found sick with the rabies bug.

In the course of one recent year, the U.S. communicable disease center in Atlanta, Ga., reported 1,643 cases of rabies infection in dogs.

Next in frequency of rabies infection officially reported: skunks — 1,005.

The virus of rabies is transmitted through the saliva of an infected animal. Many persons have to take a painful series of anti-rabies injections because they have been bitten by a PERHAPS rabid animal.

The injections are essential because rabies, once it gets a grip, is invariably fatal.

Dog bites in the United States are not unusual. In a recent year, the public health service counted some 611,500 dog bites serious enough to come to a doctor's attention.

Now what should you do to prevent 50 per cent of the dog bites? Yes. Just 50 per cent — because some of them, like thunder, happen just naturally and cannot be prevented.

Here's what the public health service recommends:

—Don't give a dog to a child under the age of six. This might prevent 18 per cent of dog bites.

—Discourage playing ball with a dog, riding a bicycle near an excited dog, and running while playing with a dog if it excites him. This might prevent 10 per cent of bites.

—Don't wake a dog suddenly.

Leach Circle Has Barbecue Social

The Eunice Leach Circle of Highland Baptist Church met for barbecue luncheon in the home of Mrs. Eunice Hunt, 906 E. Browning, on Thursday.

The devotional thought, centered on the theme of the Good Shepherd finding His lost sheep, with a poem entitled, "Twas a Sheep", was given by Mrs. M. W. Belote. Mrs. Ira Gilleland led in prayer followed by the welcoming of the guests.

Mrs. M. B. Smith gave the invocation.

Members attending were Mmes. Ira Gilleland, Carrol Pettit, Carl Laffin, W. M. Stein, Bob Bonsal, Wayne Tracy, M. W. Belote, D. W. Tracy, M. B. Smith, and guests Mmes. R. C. Atchley, Louis Karlin, O. S. Epperson, R. N. Johnston, John Zinn, Mrs. Mary Muns, and hostess Mrs. Eunice Hunt.

Honesty Should Expect No Reward

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband borrowed $100 from the finance company and the girl who waited on him, made a mistake and gave him $200.

Now this is what makes me mad. When my husband discovered the mistake he carried the money back to the finance company and gave them the extra hundred. I am proud of him for being so honest, especially since we could have used that extra hundred ourselves. So after he gave it back, all the people at the finance company did was thank him for it. Don't you think they should have taken the interest of the hundred he borrowed, or given him a few dollars to show their appreciation?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You have a right to be proud of your husband, but no one should expect a reward for being honest.

DEAR ABBY: My blood boiled when I read the letter from ANGRY MOTHER who had a policeman knock on her door and tell her she either had to put a diaper on her 14-month-old baby or keep him in the house. What next? It seems to me that if the police force is going to see to it that the citizens are properly dressed, they should begin with the brazen women who appear on the streets and in the supermarkets with those short shorts and skin tight trousers. Oh, brother!

Fashion World Now Stands United On Divided Skirt

NEW YORK (UPI)—The fashion world is united on the divided skirt.

Everything for fall and winter from lingerie and at-home wear through sports clothes, daytime suits and evening clothes is on a pants kick. And price makes no difference. You can have culottes for $5.95 at a budget shop or at $595 from the haute couture.

The latest endorsement for the divided-skirt comes from a man whose name is synonymous with good, and expensive, taste. Designer Mainbocher of New York. If Mainbocher says culottes are correct, it is like Amy Vanderbilt okaying the use of a toothpick in public. Culottes are correct. After all, Mainbocher designs for most of the women who annually show up on those ten-best-dressed lists.

It would be unsafe to say that any one designer kicked off the latest revival of pants for all occasions. It seems to be a trend which, like Topsy, just grew.

If you want to trace pants in women's wear through history, you'll find them recorded as early as the Fifth century B. C. in Persia.

Ethel Rapphagen, who now runs a fashion school bearing her name, shocked New Yorkers by appearing on the street in 1914 in a variation of the culotte as it's seen today.

Marlene Dietrich made tailored trousers a craze in the 1930s. And, at the same time, lounging pajamas with the culotte look were popular.

Danish Royalty Has Its Own Margaret Who Is Schooled To Take Over Throne

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UPI)—European royalty has Mrs. Antony Armstrong-Jones, and then there is that other Margaret.

Well, that "other Margaret" may not receive all the attention Britain's ex-spinster gets, but THIS princess is a future queen.

Denmark's Margaret one day will be sovereign of Europe's oldest monarchy and will be its first queen since another Margaret (or Margrethe, as the Danes spell the name; ruled — as regent, not as sovereign — from 1387 to 1412.

This Margaret will succeed her father, King Frederik, because the 4.5 million Danes wanted it that way. There is no male heir, so in 1953, the Danes voted a changes in their constitution to permit a female successor. No royal decree involved. Just popular wish.

What is she like, the 20-year-old heiress presumptive?

"She is brought up to be a queen, but she's all girl," was the way one source close to the palace described her.

Margrethe is blue-eyed and blonde, and a big girl, where Britain's Margaret is brunette and diminutive. Margrethe stands five feet and 10 inches — her father recently assured a slightly concerned Queen Ingrid, his wife, that a reigning queen should be tall.

Margrethe would rather go on an archaeological expedition with her grandfather, King Gustav VI Adolf of Sweden than listen to rock 'n' roll. She collects stamps, glass animals, is a talented artist, a naturalist and member of the Danish Ornithological Society, expert in judo, and a corporal in the Danish Women's Auxiliary Air Force.

But she is no square.

Margrethe is an excellent dancer, skier, swimmer, rider and tennis player. She has a lively sense of humor and a lot of poise. But she does not have the interest in clothes that Margaret of Britain always has had, and once showed up at University of Copenhagen matriculation ceremonies with her slip hanging a couple of inches.

She owns and drives her own car — a Volvo, which was a gift on her 18th birthday.

Ecumenical Missions Presbyterians' Topic

Women of the First Presbyterian Church Circles resumed meetings Wednesday, September 21. An announcement was made in each meeting of the Fall Fellowship. Coffee to be held Wednesday morning, September 28, at 9:30 a. m. in the Education Building. All members, old and new, of the Women's Organization are urged to attend and are invited to bring any new residents interested in this organization. The program will be highlighted with a book review by Mrs. H. H. Hahn.

Circle One met in the home of Mrs. Hupp Clark with Mrs. R. H. Neustiel presiding. Of the thirteen members attending, these three were new: Mrs. W. F. Graham, Mrs. I. Taylor, and Mrs. J. N. Wamaker. Program chairman, Mrs. Berton Doucette introduced the new study book, "Conversions on Ecumenical Mission." The ecumenical mission was defined as "the responsibility which Christians of the churches in every land share for the evangelization of the entire world, each church contributing in proportion to its resources in prayer, personnel, and funds." Bible study of the Psalms was resumed by Mrs. Paul Wiley. The study guide, "The Hymnbook of the Ages," by Paul Christopher Warren is being used this year. Hostess for next month will be Mrs. J. F. Curtis 1104 E. Francis.

Mrs. K. A. Sorenson, presiding chairman for CIRCLE TWO, welcomed three new members: Mrs. A. G. Crosby, Mrs. Leon Couch and Mrs. James Dunn. Mrs. Bill Roots was circle hostess. Treasurer, Mrs. Bruce Pratt, gave a financial report, emphasizing the importance of pledges being fulfilled, and explained the Talents Fund. Mrs. Ocie Stewart explained the Fellowship of the Least Coin, the cards for which each member should bring, containing their twelve pennies, to the association meeting, October 5. At that time this offering will be dedicated. Mrs. Stewart continued in her report on the ecumenical mission with another example; that of the World Day of Prayer held each first Friday in Lent. Mrs. Stanley Brandt taught the Bible study titled, "Unlearning Our Hatreds." She emphasized the need for knowledge of the history and setting of the people in these Psalms to understand the vengeance and hatred expressed in them.

Hostess for CIRCLE THREE was Mrs. Bob Prichard with eleven members present and one guest, Mrs. E. L. Albritton. The new members attending were Mrs. Bill Perry and Mrs. Charles Rodgers. Mrs. Carl Hills, chairman, conducted the business meeting. The Bible study was presented by Mrs. Elmer Berry and Mrs. S. P. Caldwell led the discussion on the first chapter, "Praying and Working Together" of the mission study guide.

Wednesday afternoon, CIRCLE FOUR met in the home of Mrs. Clinton Henry with Mrs. Clyde Fatheree acting as chairman. She also guided the study on the Psalm. Ten members were present and new members were Mrs. B. F. Finley and Mrs. Roberta Baldrige. Mrs. Lillian Hopperstad attended as a guest. Ecumenical missions were discussed by Mrs. W. S. Dixon.

Chairman Mrs. E. J. O'Brien presided during the afternoon Circle Five. Seven members answered roll call and two guests were welcomed: Mrs. John Nutting and Mrs. V. L. Minor. Mrs. W. B. Colwell was study leader for the current study on Psalms. Mrs. E. L. Biggerstaff recognized people listed in the Yearbook of Prayer for that day. Mrs. O'Brien led the group in their initial study on ecumenical mission, which stressed the need for all denominations to work together. Mrs. E. C. Sidwell was hostess for the meeting.

The evening circle, Presbytery Anns, met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Al Bell. Mrs. Ronald Hubbard presided with ten members in attendance. Miss Virginia Vaughn directed the study on missions and Miss Elizabeth Hurley gave the study on the Book of Psalms. The next meeting on October 13 will be at the home of Mrs. W. K. McDonald, 2132 Hamilton.

The next meeting for the Center

Altrusa Club Is Center Hostess

Altrusa Club was hostess for the Senior Center meeting held Thursday in Lovett Memorial Library with Mmes. F. A. Hukill, Jay Flanagan, Floyd Yeager and L. L. Larkins, representing Altrusa.

Door prizes were won by R. C. O'Keefe and Mrs. Lida Ramsey. Table games and refreshments comprised the afternoon's entertainment.

Red Cross Gray Ladies providing transportation of guests to and from the meeting were Mmes. Jess Beard, Luther Pierson, K. L. Dunn, Stanley Brandt and A. D. Hills.

Debettes Make Party Plans

LEFORS (Spl) — Two officers were elected at the regular meeting of the Debettes, Thursday night, in the home of Miss Beverly White.

Miss Karen Cumberledge was elected as historian, and Miss Karren Carruth was elected Secretary.

"Hail Night," an all-night slumber party was planned for Friday night, Sept. 23, in civic center, for the initiation of Freshmen girls. A presentation ball is also planned for November. Attending were Misses Jeanne

Spiritual Sight Topic For WMU

Calvary Baptist Women's Missionary Union met recently for a business and missionary meeting in the church.

The business meeting opened with group singing "Blessed Be The Tie That Binds."

Mrs. R. R. Hawkins was elected stewardship chairman and Mrs. J. O. Brewer as Girls Auxiliary helper. It was decided to install new WMU officers on Sept. 26. A report was given by community missions chairman, Mrs. Jack Robertson. cussion topic presented by Mrs. C. E. Humphries as Case One with astigmatism; Mrs. Bob Cliett as Case Two with Detached Retina; Mrs. R. R. Hawkins as Case Three, Blind Spots. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Kenneth Ward. Thirteen members were present.

about ELECTRIC HEAT...

THESE HOMEOWNERS SAY,

"We Believe In It - We Use It!!"

These homeowners know that electric comfort heating is here now — today... that it's the ideal way to heat your home and that you don't have to be a millionaire to have the best.

TOM G. HART, 3816 28TH STREET, LUBBOCK, TEXAS

You can afford the best in home comfort, and this $14,000 Lubbock home of the Hart family is actual proof. Mr. Hart chose the electric heat pump for inside weather comfort. This electric heating and cooling machine uses no water — needs only low cost electricity and air to operate.

J. T. BURK, 3211 ENCANTO DRIVE, ROSWELL, N. M.

This is Mr. Burk's home with central evaporative cooling and modern electric baseboard heating for complete winter-time warmth. This $16,500 home is another example of the practicality of electric heating for homes in any price range.

EDWARD J. NOLET, 620 18TH STREET, CLOVIS, N. M.

Mr. Nolet's home is heated by electric baseboard heating units. Such units permit room-by-room temperature control, look like part of the baseboard decor and are painted to match, or contrast with, wall surfaces. He uses an evaporative cooler for summertime comfort. Market value of the Nolet home is $13,800.

BOB DANIEL, RT. 3, AMARILLO, TEXAS

Mr. Daniel, too, chose electric baseboard heating to have the advantage of room-by-room temperature control. For hot weather comfort, he installed evaporative cooling. His newly constructed home at Amarillo has a market value of $23,900.

Polly's Quiz

Dear Polly: I'm in the midst of planning my very first bedroom in my own home. I do want it to be something special. I have an antique four-poster bed which I'm painting Williamsburg blue. I also have an old washstand and dresser, both with brown marble tops. Shall I use wallpaper in back of the bed? Should the chests be rubbed down to a natural finish? What colors should I have for walls, curtains, carpet and dust ruffle? J.M.W.

DEAR J.M.W.: For the first and very special bedroom, plan on white walls with woodwork in Williamsburg blue. Finish those chests in natural wood tones. Copper-colored curtains and dust ruffle would be pretty with a braided rug that combines lots of brown, gold and blue.

DEAR POLLY: I'd like to change all of the colors in my den. Three walls are knotty pine and the fourth is painted a dark green. Fireplace is brick. I have dark brown cafe curtains. The room is dark and dreary so I'd like to brighten it up a bit. Mrs. E.M.

Dear Mrs. E. M.: You're right; this is a dreary room and it does need brightening. You can perk things up by using a light green paint on the one wall. Have new curtains in a sunny yellow cotton bound in deep green. Cotton slip covers in green, yellow, brown and brick color would be pretty and cheerful.

Dear Polly: I am redoing a small powder room and thus far, I have gray walls, white fixtures and gray vinyl floor. What color for curtains and bath mat set? Also, what color for door curtain in adjoining hall which is visible from the porch? Mrs. L. M.

Dear Mrs. L. M. N.: Striped curtains in golden yellow and white would be pretty for both window and hall door. Make them cafe style with points at both top and bottom. Add white bone rings at the end of each point. Slide them onto top and bottom rods for curtains with a different look. Add bands of stripes to gray guest towels and instead of a bath set, cover the floor with yellow cotton carpet.

FOR WEIGHT WATCHERS
Here's a low-calorie chilled soup make from canned condensed consommé. Pour two 10½-ounce cans of consommé into a bowl. Refrigerate until partly jelled. Fold in one 7½-ounce can of minced clams, drained, ½ cup of diced avocado, 2 tablespoons each of chopped celery and sliced scallions and 1 tablespoon of lemon juice. Chill 2 or 3 hours. Serves 4-6.

ELECTRIC COMFORT HEATING IS HERE NOW

For you... as these homeowners will testify. With electric heating you have the choice in selecting baseboard heating, ceiling cable, wall heating or the electric heat pump that cools as well as heats. Your Public Service manager will be glad to talk with you about the application of electric comfort heating to your new or older home. Over 200 homeowners served by this company have already done so, and as a result, installed modern electric heating.

A. C. WRIGHT, RT. 1, CARLSBAD, N. M.

Mr. Wright's home, with its original Mexican murals and specially constructed fireplace, is valued at $28,000. Mr. Wright chose the electric heat pump to heat and cool his home. The electric heat pump uses only electricity and air to heat and cool.

WHAT IT TAKES FOR GOOD HOME HEATING

To get the maximum out of your heating and cooling dollar, it takes attention to design of the home, of the heating system, and the cooling system, plus installation of full and correct insulation. Public Service Company home heating specialists, at no obligation, will discuss electric heating design with you. All it takes is a call to your Public Service manager.

Federal Auto Control

We remember Pete Quesada when he was an up and coming Air Force officer during World War II. He had a way of cutting thru red tape, posing some pretty difficult questions for his superiors to answer, and generally making himself a useful trained killer in the professional arts of war.

But Quesada has now been retired to flying the biggest desk of his career. He's the director of the Federal Aviation Agency, and in his new bureaucratic position is in process of piling so much red tape on owners of private airplanes that we find him in the reverse of the role he cut out for himself in World War II.

Clearly, Quesada is a government man. He has little time for civilians. And while he proved himself expert at getting things done for his fly-boys when they were military men, he is proving himself equally adept at gumming up the works for the fly-boys who happened to be private citizens and own and pay for their own aircraft.

An acquaintance has forwarded to us an editorial taken from the magazine put out by "The Aircraft Owners and Pilots." It is called "A Federal Auto Agency?" and we will reproduce it here with some slight shrinkage occasioned by space requirements.

"What would the gigantic automobile industry be like if it were ruled by a federal bureau comparable to the Federal Aviation Agency?"

"Take the automobile itself. Huge piles of engineering material are submitted by the auto manufacturer's engineering department to a division of the Federal Auto Agency which itself is full of engineers. These engineers go to work on the efforts of the manufacturer's engineers, snipping, prodding, poking and ordering changes. They must be made, because the law says so — and besides it's all in the interest of safety, isn't it? The cost starts skyrocketing. . . "Now you, the consumer, buy it. You must maintain detailed logs of everything you do with your car. The FAA requires that you take it to a federally-certificated facility every 5,000 miles for inspection. Once a year you must take it to such a facility and have it completely recertificated.

"To operate it? The fuel and oil must be 'approved.' If a spark plug fails it must be replaced only with an approved plug at a properly certificated facility. Flat tire? Certificated facility must fix it, and the tire itself must be approved. Buy a new radio? The set must be approved, but it can't be installed at all unless the FAA approves. Valves ground? Federal approval.

"What about you, the driver? You can't even touch the wheel without a federal certificate. If you're new, a FAA-certificated instructor must be with you. A whole set of federal rules says how long you must study and prescribes the elaborate and detailed curriculum. Once the instructor okays you, you're ready for your driver's license test by a federal agent — with one exception. . .

"Before you can get over that hurdle, you must submit your body to a special federal designated doctor who sees to it that you meet physical standards arbitrarily set by a tight little band of federal doctors — automedical specialists they call themselves. Before you can drive the family to the country for a picnic or to the corner drug store, you'll probably have to get someone to drive you 50 miles to find one of those special FAA doctors, pay him an excessive fee (because he's special, you understand), then drive 50 miles to get home.

"But let's say that you've managed to survive all this, and still retain your desire to drive. What happens to you, once you drive off with all the legal documents,

The Keynesian Impact

Aside from the damage to the economy itself, the Keynesian supposition that spending creates prosperity has wrought havoc upon the minds and customs of virtually all people who have decided to believe the argument.

Spending does not create wealth. It tends to dissipate it. And while this does not gainsay the fact that items produced must be consumed, if the producer is to be rewarded, and hence encouraged, the fact still remains that the productive process rests firmly upon savings and investments and not upon spending and consumption.

Without seeking to establish the economic overtones of this line of reasoning at the moment, we would like to take a full look at the attitudes such beliefs engender in the minds of our growing boys and girls who will, eventually, take their places as the leaders of our society.

When they become convinced that prosperity rests firmly upon spending there is little inclination for them to practice the arts of self-discipline and self-denial which are firmly embedded at the base of any reasonably effective society or civilization.

All human beings have an almost insatiable desire to spend and consume. And when this desire is held up as a virtue, so that it comes to be believed that obtaining the latest car, the finest hi-fi set, the biggest TV screen, the deepest carpets, the most luxurious way of living, is really the purpose of it all, then irreparable damage has been done to the personality of the youth.

The person who thinks constantly of all the pleasures, enjoyments and luxuries he can obtain for himself, is usually an insignificant and trivial person.

We know scores of them. Their days are a round of shopping and sightseeing; their nights, a round of music, night clubs and entertainment. And the following day they do the same thing again, leading absolutely pointless lives, saving only in the further extension of the same futility, endlessly repeated.

After a few years of this kind of excess, it becomes moot whether the lad or lass can ever be redeemed from such nonsense. Not that it is harmful in itself, and we do not mean to imply here anything immoral or improper.

We are merely seeking to point out that persons who become imbued with Keynesian thinking react as so many parasites react. They come to believe that they actually fulfill a useful function by just using up what others have produced. And never was anything more foolish than this.

Wasted energy is wasted energy. Goods that are consumed are gone forever. We have heard it said so often among our younger set: "Oh, I don't want a job with any real responsibility to it. That's not for me. I just want to work from 9 to 5, five days a week, and have plenty of holidays with pay, and plenty of time off for good behavior."

And this comment is frequently buttressed by thoughts of similar hue: "I don't want to make a lot of money. I just want to get by." "I don't want to work too hard. Where does that get you?" "I don't want to invest my money in anything but a sure thing. Stocks are too risky, I'll take government bonds."

All of these are on a par. They indicate that the adventure has gone out of life for those who so express themselves. They have no acquaintance with freedom. They are seeking security, ease, torpor . . . perhaps they even seek death without knowing it.

For life to have meaning to anyone, he must be producer. All of us consume, this is automatic and unavoidable. But it is not thrilling. Have you ever noticed how quickly something you didn't have to work hard to get palls? Values are created by effort, not by bright paint and chrome.

The person who fills his mind with ideas relating to the way he can make himself productive by creating something other people will want is a far more useful citizen than his pallid brother who wants to spend every moment and every dollar in idleness, enjoyment and non-productive pursuits.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Goodbody & Co. says that in all likelihood the stock market will not violate the Dow-Jones 600 industrial level, a level which has now attained an importance far beyond anything it merits.

According to accepted technical theory, Goodbody says, violation of the triple bottom (the level has already been "tested" three times this year) would indicate a further substantial decline.

There are enough people watching this level so that a breakthrough would bring on a substantial volume of selling, the firm says, but it doubts that the stock market as a whole would decline very far.

Scattered among the rather dreary statistic-based business forecasts is plenty of evidence that businessmen do not actually feel as pessimistic as the commonly used figure yardsticks would have them, according to Thomson & McKinnon.

Bache & Co. says that if this week's U.N. meeting produces more international tension, as attention may turn again to the seems entirely possible, market defense group. Bache's favorites in this industry continue to be Martin Co., North American Aviation, Republic Aviation, and Newport News Shipbuilding.

in a legal auto? You must be wary. Because the Federal Auto Agency has the grave responsibility of looking out for the safety of the entire populace, they are strict. If you stop and ask a federal employee for directions, likely as not you'll be hauled before a federal inspector and charged with not being able to navigate your car properly. If you run into bad weather and pull over to the side of the road to play it safe, you're liable to be charged with a federal violation for not having properly prepared yourself in advance with a full analysis of the weather. And if a federal agent finds one suitcase too many in your trunk — which, of course, must carry a sticker showing the federal limitations — you're likely to end up in a federal court.

"If a Federal Aviation Agency like we have now can be justified, we surely must need a Federal Auto Agency. After all, there are 70,000,000 motor vehicles on the roads; nearly 40,000 people were killed in autos last year, and about 1,400,000 more were injured. Now that it's a federal policy to protect everyone against both himself and everyone else at the same time, the need for a Federal Auto Agency is long overdue. The fact that the U.S. automobile death rate has decreased steadily since 1920 (just as has the death rate in general aviation for the past 15 years) should not be permitted to stand in the way of so gigantic a federal bureaucracy.

"Would such an FAA help? Depends on how you look at it. The number of autos and people on the road would be reduced by at least half, a major safety step in itself. The few rugged individuals left would be excellent physical specimens, would know all the rules inside out, and you could not tell the professionals from the nonprofessionals. Every automobile would be a blue ribbon piece of machinery, complete with a federal certificate of approval.

"But the automobile industry as we know it today would be nonexistent. A so-called economy model car would cost at least $25,000, a "good" car would hit $100,000. As is already the case with aviation, the federal government would probably have one employee for every two or three cars. True, the economy of the United States would probably be wrecked.

"But things would sure be a hell of a lot safer." We believe the editors of this aviation magazine have provided us with some food for thought. We are getting a little tired of this bureaucratic notion that no human being is smart enough or old enough to run his own affairs. It is too bad Quesada didn't retire to civilian life after his service in the armed forces had terminated. Military rules over civilians have never gone down too well in this nation dedicated to freedom, even in modern socialized times.

'SHOOT-ON-SIGHT' POLICY DEBATED AS RECONNAISSANCE PLANE DEFENSE MEASURE

WASHINGTON — A high level debate is going on inside the administration over whether the Air Force should permit its pilots, flying reconnaissance missions near the Soviet Union, to shoot first if their planes are attacked by Soviet interceptors.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, greatly disturbed over the Russian downing of the U.S. RB-47 jet in the Arctic, has asked President Eisenhower for approval of this new "shoot-on-sight" policy.

Under present policy, crews of U.S. reconnaissance planes are under strict orders to fire only when fired upon by Soviet planes. Opposing the JCS request is Secretary of State Herter and his top advisers on Soviet-U.S. relations.

Secretary Herter told the President that such an Air Force policy could easily lead to new U.S. Soviet air incidents at a time when it is official U.S. foreign policy to try to avoid these encounters.

Confronted by the two opposing views, President Eisenhower has delayed his decision until the National Security Council, the government's highest policy making body, can pass on the proposed policy change at its meeting next week.

That's the report that a high ranking Air Force officer has given to the Senate Armed Services Committee investigating the controversy on the request of Senator Richard Russell (D., Ga.), chairman.

The committee was told that the JCS wants to arm the RB-47s with the deadly "heat seeking" sidewinder missile to reinforce their present 20-millimeter cannon fire power.

The new "shoot-on-sight" policy was requested by the Air Force after Soviet interceptors flew more than 100 miles into international waters to shoot down a U.S. RB-47 last July while it was on a reconnaissance mission near Soviet borders in the Arctic.

According to the Air Force, the U.S. plane, although armed with two 20-millimeter cannons, didn't have a chance to escape its attacker under the present policy of only returning attacking fire.

Also, RB-47 crews, flying recent reconnaissance missions, report that Soviet air defense activities have become more aggressive and unless they can fire first at attacking planes other U.S. craft will be lost.

The RB-47 jets are equipped with cameras that can photograph Soviet defense installations up to 400 miles inside Russia without the plane flying over Soviet territory.

Note: The State Department still hasn't given up hope that Russia will release the two crew members of the downed RB-47. They are being held in a Soviet prison near Moscow, according to U.S. intelligence.

even more important than Gates is claiming.

They told staff members of the House Armed Services Committee that the establishment of the board "gives realistic meaning to the Air Force's massive retaliation policy."

"We can now throw everything all at once at the enemy and hit all his targets. That will make his recovery impossible," one Air Force officer reported. "In the past we couldn't do this because we didn't know where all his targets were located."

The new board will be headed by General Thomas A. Power, chief of the Strategic Air Command. His first task will be to assign sixteen of these new targets to the Navy's new Polaris missile-firing submarine command that is being organized.

MORE TESTS — Regardless of what the U.S. and Soviet Russia do about future underground A-bomb testing, France is going right ahead with its testing program. Next underground shot to be fired by the French is scheduled for October 15, in the Sahara.

Presidential candidates Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy have each privately informed the President they will gladly accompany him to the U.N. to prove to Khrushchev the solidarity and constancy of U.S. foreign policies. The President, who is scheduled to address the General Assembly on Thursday, has thanked both candidates for their offers, saying that he might call on them if Khrushchev tries to picture the U.S. as a divided nation during his U.N. stay.

Last year General De Gaulle made a heroic effort to help former French colonies in Africa to achieve their independence. In an address on December 13 at Dakar, capital of the new Mali Federation, the head of the French Republic said:

"The State of Mali is going to assume what some call the position of independence and which I prefer to call that of international sovereignty.

"I have said that I prefer the latter term without, however, disputing the attractiveness and significance which the word 'independence' can and must have for any people, and especially for this people. Nevertheless, I prefer 'international sovereignty' because it seems to me to correspond better with the necessities that have always existed, and especially with the necessities of today. 'Independence' is a word which signifies a desire an attitude, an intention; but the world being as it is — so small, so cramped, so interfering with itself — real independence, complete independence does not in reality belong to anyone.

"There is no state, however big or however powerful, which can get along without the others. No policy is possible without co-operation."

But in recent weeks we have seen one of its two members — Senegal — withdrawing from that Federation.

What provoked the attempt at dissolution? What indeed is also behind the disintegration of the provinces of the former Belgian Congo and the civil war now raging there? Mainly the agents and saboteurs — native Africans trained in Moscow in recent years — who now stir up passions and prevent the new republics from achieving independence or maintaining any alliance with their former friends.

As a consequence, national economic structures are being ruined and innocent people are being deprived of job opportunities. A dozen Marshall Plans will not rescue these ill fated natives. It takes more than money.

BID FOR A SMILE

"A Boston woman" said Mr. Bill Carnahan at a dinner in New York, "once asked Lowell to write in her autograph album, and the poet, complying, wrote the line, 'What is so rare as a day in June?' Calling at the woman's home a few days later, Lowell idly turned the pages of the album till he came to his own autograph. He said it was written in a childish scrawl, 'A Chinaman with whiskers.'"

INTERNATIONAL BANDITRY
By DAVID LAWRENCE

U.S. News & World Report

Realism today commands us to face up squarely to the fact that there can be no peace in the world, no "independence" for former colonial countries, and no safety for any free nations as long as international banditry is permitted to rove the earth.

"Self-determination" of peoples has long been a worthy ideal. America has proclaimed again and again its sympathy with the right of nations, large or small, to choose their own form of government.

But now we see the principle impaired everywhere. Whether it be in Latin America, or in Eastern Europe, or in the Middle East, or in the Far East, and indeed wherever we penetrate the chaos that currently prevails on the African continent we find one culprit — one enemy of freedom.

The enemy is the Communist dictatorship in Moscow, allied with the Red regime in Peking. How long are the nations that are outside the Iron Curtain going to delude themselves with the idea that international rules and customs must be obeyed by only one side — the free world?

How long will the countries now invaded by subversive elements tolerate the presence of agents and provocateurs whose only mission is to stir up friction, thus preventing new nations from becoming democracies and undermining older nations even as they strive to maintain their traditions of tolerance for opposition parties?

The United Nations in its Charter adopted just 15 years ago says:

"All members shall refrain from their international relations from the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any member or state, or in any other manner inconsistent with the purposes of the United Nations."

How long, then, shall the Soviet Union and its stooges be permitted to violate the Charter of the U.N.? It would be better, to dismantle the present organization and build a new one than to let defiance of the Charter go on. For while this document does not specifically provide for expulsion of a government which represents a permanent member of the Security Council, any group of members can always withdraw and form a new organization. This is what must be done if self-respect and the principles of freedom are to be maintained.

Every day that the Soviet Union is permitted to associate in the U.N. organization with the free nations, the world is, in effect, led to believe that the misdemeanors of the Moscow regime are tolerated.

Donna Taught Henry How To Sterilize A Bathtub

The Doctor Says:

DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN

Many years ago the late Dr. Bernard Sachs chose a quotation from the writings of the second century playwright, Terence, for the frieze above the entrance to the New York Academy of Medicine. "I am a man," the inscription reads, "therefore nothing that concerns mankind is alien to me."

Some time later, when my publishers and I were casting about for a title for my five-volume text written to meet the needs of the modern physician, we selected "An Integrated Practice of Medicine."

In each instance, emphasis was placed on the patient as a living unit. Thus the physician who cares for the patient is required to have a certain familiarity with all branches of medicine. For it is only the complete physician who is qualified to treat the patient as a whole. And it is only an integrated program of treatment that will enable the physician to treat ailments that involve every organ and every cell of the body, directly or indirectly.

In a way, the text opposed the growing tendency to over specialization. It frowned on "department store medicine." It disapproved of those specialists who tended to "know more and more about less and less." And it lacked sympathy for the troubles of patients who wandered from one department to another, sampling from this counter and that.

On the positive side, the text recommended a return to a family doctor type of practice in which a broadly trained general practitioner functioned as a clearing house for his patient's medical transactions. The chosen general practitioner cared for those conditions he felt competent to handle, referred to specialists those problems whose solution required special knowledge or use of special techniques or instruments.

If you agree that this is the way you'd like your medical affairs handled, you — and only you — can start the wheels turning.

Choose as your general practitioner a competent physician you like and can trust. If you don't find one suitable in your own neighborhood, look in nearby communities. Modern transportation permits you great latitude in your choices.

Try to visit your chosen practitioner when you're well so he gets to know your constitution in health. Later, let him decide which of your medical problems he feels competent to treat without specialist assistance.

If specialist care is needed, go to one your practitioner suggests or approves. With you, take a note from your practitioner giving a brief summary of your medical background, a statement of your present problem, and an outline of attempted treatments that have proved unsuccessful.

From the specialist obtain a summary of his findings and recommendations. Or a promise that this summary will be communiaccomplishment — how to sterilize a bathtub.

We were visiting my sister and mother in Jacksonville when Donna started howling up the state from the Keys, and for the better part of a day weather bureau announcements had Donna's eye headed directly for my sister's back yard.

As the only man in the house, I was responsible for readying the house for Donna's evil eye, and took orders from my sister and Mary, who stayed stuck to the radio.

I nailed down everything that was loose, removed all blowable articles inside the house or garage, wrestled with stuck awnings, rolled up rugs, gauged trees for durability, bucked gusts in the car to lay in food and candles, and spotted high ground on a map.

Near dark, Mary summoned me to her post at the radio.

"Do you know how to sterilize a bathtub, Henry?" Mary asked.

"Sure," I said, "that's what I used to do for a living before I married you."

"This is no time for jokes," Mary said. "The radio just said that the water service may be knocked out, and that we should sterilize the bathtub and fill it with drinking water."

What a problem to put to a man at any time, much less when he is awaiting the eye of a hurricane to pass right over his hat.

My first thought was to fill the tub, build a fire under it, and bring the water to a boil. But the tub sat flat on the floor and didn't have those little lion's-feet that tubs had when I was a boy, and which would have enabled me to kindle a good blaze under it.

I asked my sister if she had any poison in the house. "I want to kill all the germs in the bathtub," I said.

My sister, who was away from the radio when the bathtub instructions came through, looked at me as if she thought I was going under from the strain.

I finally settled for filling the tub with water and swishing in about three cupful of a detergent. Better soapy water, I figured, than no water at all, or water loaded with germs.

Mary — still at the radio — then had me make a dry run of cooking with a candle in case the electric stove went on the blink.

This is a simple trick, but it takes a long time. I put an egg in a frying pan over a candle at 8 p.m. At 11 p.m. the egg still was as raw as the day it was born.

Then came the announcement that Donna had gone to sea, a hundred miles south of our back yard.

I won't say I was disappointed, but I could have punched Donna in the eye for putting me to all that work for nothing.

called to your practitioner by phone or letter. Then, when preliminaries have been completed, arrange for a wrap-up conference with your secretary of health to get an authoritative briefing and detailed directions for further procedure.

common border of the two countries regarded as imaginary. The United States position has been that restrictions against foreign oil imports is based largely on the vulnerability of oil coming to U. S. shores by tanker to enemy attack in time of war. At the same time, Canadian oil coming in by pipeline would be less vulnerable.
But Alvin C. Hope, president of the IPAA, believes it's time for a new look at the situation. So the IPAA has undertaken a study of the broad question of U. S.-Canadian oil relationships.
"The exemption of Canadian oil poses problems of growing concern to the industry on both sides of the border, as well as to governments in both countries," Hope said. "Such exemption carries with it responsibilities to exercise restraint. It cannot and should not be looked upon as a license for unlimited Canadian imports."
U. S. producers face a worldwide oil glut. Uneasiness about the world oil situation stems from the growing intrusion of Russian oil into world markets, new oil being discovered in Africa and other factors.
"Looking toward the future," Hope said, "the questions arise: What is a proper level of Canadian imports? Under what conditions should Canada increase imports to the U. S., and by what amounts?"
Hope termed as "an obvious weakness" the fact that "Canada has not chosen to control imports of foreign oil. While Canadian oil is free to come into this country uncontrolled, oil from other world areas have free and growing access to the Eastern Canadian market."
"There was publicity recently that Canada was considering purchase of a large quantity of Russian gasoline," continued Hope. "Such imports by Canada could only serve to undermine our import program which has its basis in defense considerations."
Some oilmen have complained that Canada, while on the one hand importing cheap foreign oil, has on the other hand exported her surplus to the already-swollen U. S. market.
The IPAA staff is now engaged in collecting data on Canadian oil development and government policies. Discussion of present Canadian oil import exemptions is expected to be a big item at the IPAA's 31st annual meeting scheduled Oct. 23-25 in Dallas.
"It is our hope," said Hope, "that this study will provide answers which will serve to guide industry and government, in both countries, in arriving at mutually satisfactory policies with respect to Canadian oil."

Chemical Group To Meet Tuesday
The Texas Panhandle Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers will hold a dinner meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Darby's Grill in Borger. Joe V. Peacock of the legal department of Phillips Petroleum Co. will discuss "The Legal Aspects of the Oil and Gas Industries." Visitors are welcome.

Club Prexy To Attend Detroit Meet
Mrs. Lois Teel, president of the Pampa Desk and Derrick Club will attend the ninth annual convention of the Association of Desk and Derrick Clubs of North America at Detroit, Friday and Saturday.
Convention headquarters will be in the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel. The convention theme will be "Horizons Unlimited," and the program will include educational panel discussions, speakers from the oil industry, and business sessions. Dr. Kenneth A. West, vice-president of Canadian Oil Companies Ltd., will be Friday's luncheon speaker. His topic will be "Our Petrochemical World."
Saturday's climax banquet speaker will be B. B. Turner, president of Ethyl Corp., who will speak on "A Story that Must be Told," the story of gasoline taxation problems. Some 800 are expected to attend.

NOTED GOSPEL SINGERS — The Chuck Wagon Gang, one of the nation's outstanding gospel song groups will be one of the feature attractions today of the Greater Crusade for Christ which is being conducted by Evangelist Cecil Todd in the tent on N. Hobart. The Fort Worth singing group will appear at the 2:30 p.m. service. The revival will close with a 7:30 p.m. service.

Graham Scores Triumph In Sermon Near Nightclub

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — Billy Graham scored the greatest success of his current European tour Saturday in a sermon preached outside a nightclub called "Kitty in the Milkbar." The North Carolina evangelist, winding up a two-week engagement here, spoke to more than 10,000 persons jamming Hamburg's Reeperbahn — known to sailors the world over as one of Europe's toughest streets.

Across the street, neon lights flashed from the "Kitty in the Milkbar" and the "Eve in Paradise."

But even the B-girls lounging in the doorway listened as Graham spoke, with a German minister translating as he went along. The crowd was one of the largest ever seen along the Reeperbahn, a three-mile stretch of bars, striptease joints and cabarets. Police had to give special permission for the meeting to be held, since gatherings of more than 10 persons in the area after dark usually spell trouble—and are therefore banned.

Graham spoke from a small podium illuminated with strong flood lights. The surrounding streets were choked with people listening to the address. About 1,000 members of the Salvation Army and other religious organizations attended.

Graham called the audience's attention to the "Eve in Paradise," and warned to sin in the world and the need for men to dedicate themselves to God.

East German Communist today denounced his forthcoming trip to Berlin as an American imperialist plot.

Weather Data Control Setup Recommended

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A scientific group said Saturday that weather satellites will be a waste of time, money, and effort unless an agency is set up to make full use of the vast amount of information they provide.

It called for support of efforts to create a national center for atmospheric research to seek answers to such questions as whether weather control is possible.

The group is the committee on atmospheric sciences of the National Academy of Sciences. In a report published here, the committee said the need for the national center is pointed up by "the striking success of the weather satellite Tiros I, man's first instrument for the continuing observation of large-scale weather phenomena."

Tiros I, launched April 1 into a 450-mile high orbit around the earth, took nearly 23,000 cloud cover photographs before it stopped transmitting. A second Tiros is scheduled for launching around the middle of next month.

A group of 14 universities under a grant from the National Science Foundation is now organizing the center for atmospheric research. The committee called this "a first step," but said "still further steps are urgently required."

DRESSES FOR OCCASION

FREEHOLD, N.J. (UPI)—Dorel Johnson, 22, in court Friday to plead innocent to a breaking and entry indictment, explained to the judge why he showed up in tuxedo and black tie. "My lawyer said I should dress well out of respect for the court, so I borrowed the tuxedo," Johnson said.

Neues Deutschland said Graham was a "representative of American imperialism," a "preacher of psychological war" and a tool of American monopoly capital.
