Lumumba Gets Control In Congo Power Clash

Same As Nikita Castro To Wear Tether In U.S.

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States today imposed on Cuban Premier Fidel Castro the same restrictions it clamped on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev during his forthcoming United Nations visit.

The United States now has told both Khrushchev and Castro, as well as the Hungarian and Albanian Communist leaders, that their own safety makes it necessary that their movements be restricted as much as possible.

Asked whether Khrushchev might be permitted to leave Manhattan to deliver a speech in response to an invitation from any particular group, Herter said he doubted it. He said Khrushchev was entitled to carry out his United Nations duties and the United States would protect him while he was doing that.

The State Department swiftly rejected Tuesday night a Soviet protest against the travel ban. It said such measures were necessary to protect Khrushchev under the U.S. obligation to the United Nations to guarantee his personal safety.

U.S. officials said there actually might be more danger to Castro and Hungarian Communist leader Janos Kadar in New York than to Khrushchev. Kadar already was in New York.

THOMAS HENNINGS JR., cancer victim

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democrats paid tribute today to Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., D-Mo., a fighter against government secrecy who died Tuesday of abdominal cancer.

Missouri Gov. James T. Blair Jr., said he planned a special election Nov. 8 to fill the Senate seat Hennings held for 10 years.

Hennings, 57, passed away at his home about four months after undergoing surgery at May Brothers Clinic in Rochester, Minn. He had been admitted to George Washington Hospital here several times since the operation.

Hennings' last legislative achievement was passage of a "clean elections" bill during the last congressional session. During the past year he also pushed through a resolution calling for publication of Senate employees' salaries.

Support Of Troops Gives Premier Edge

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Premier Patrice Lumumba, established as a near dictator by his parliamentary supporters, moved today to crush opposition to his leftist-leaning government.

The fiery, 35-year-old former beer salesman appeared to have won the day. He said his government would not allow the U. N. to take any action against his government.

New Storm Brewing In Gulf Area

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A low pressure area developed today in the Gulf of Mexico and the New Orleans Weather Bureau feared that it might turn into a tropical storm.

The bureau said in an advisory that the low pressure area—with winds up to 35 miles an hour—is in a sector "favorable for further intensification."

The advisory said that "any storm developing in the Gulf is critical" because it generally is only 24-48 hours from land. There is less time, therefore, for residents in danger areas to be warned and to get out.

A reconnaissance plane flew toward the area to check the disturbance. The minimum velocity of a tropical storm—one step below a hurricane—is 40 miles an hour.

HEY, MR. CANDIDATE — Democratic candidate for the presidency, Sen. John F. Kennedy, has his coat-tail pulled by an unidentified spectator in Arlington, Tex., where he paused briefly while en route from Fort Worth to Dallas for a campaign speech. Sen. Kennedy wound up his Texas campaign yesterday with an address in Texarkana.

AF Seeks Third Discoverer Catch

By BILL WILKS
United Press International

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI)—Scientists hope to score their third "consecutive" bullseye in the Discoverer series today by ejecting a capsule from Discoverer XV satellite into an area near Hawaii where planes and ships can catch it.

Discoverer XV's capsule carried only instruments, although monkeys soon are expected to ride in later Discoverer capsules.

In a fantastic game of space-age sharpshooting, scientists planned to eject the capsule from Discoverer XV somewhere over Alaska at the satellite's 17th pass at about 9 P.M. EDT.

Discoverer XV, a 19-foot, 1,700-pound satellite, was fired into orbit Tuesday aboard a two-stage Thor-Agena rocket. It will have traveled nearly half a million miles at the time of ejection.

Candidates Shake Off Air Campaign Danger

By United Press International
A Protestant group headed by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale called on the Catholic hierarchy to endorse Kennedy's declaration that as president he never would bow to any pressure from his church.

The pilot of Nixon's chartered plane cut off the left inboard engine and feathered its propeller when it showed a loss of power between Portland, Ore., and Boise Tuesday. Inspection disclosed a cracked cylinder block.

Jet Bombers Crash In Mid-Air Over Atlantic; One Crew Lost

SHANNON, Ireland (UPI)—Two U.S. Air Force jet bombers collided in flight over the Atlantic Ocean today. One plunged into the sea, presumably killing its crew, but the other limped safely to Shannon airport with a dangling engine.

British and United States rescue craft sped to the scene but officials said there was little chance any crewmen survived the crash.

45 New Families

Proposed Lake Will Cover 26,000 Acres

By ED HAYES WILSON
Daily News Staff Writer

Some 200 persons heard A. A. Meredith, executive secretary of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, discuss the vast project at the Pampa Chamber of Commerce monthly membership meeting yesterday in the Coronado Inn.

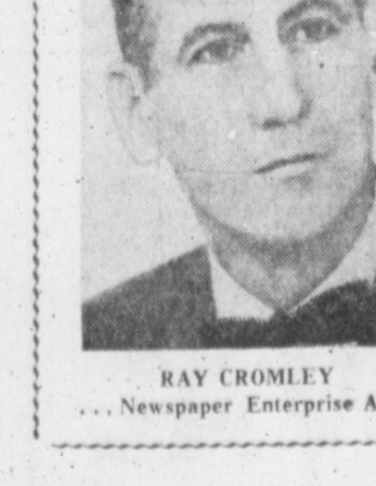

Meredith made no bones about the cost to cities since, as he said, "it would be foolish of me to stand up here and make little of the price this project will cost."

Protestant Group Seeks Reassurance By Rome

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Protestant group headed by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale called today for an endorsement by the Roman Catholic Church of Sen. John F. Kennedy's position on the religious issue.

The newly formed "Citizens for Religious Freedom" said the Democratic presidential nominee's disavowal of religious influence was "reassuring" but still left the question of "whether his statement is acceptable to his church."

(Continued From Page 1) day night when a mob of perhaps 10,000 screaming, chanting supporters surrounded the aircraft. The driver of a police station wagon which took Kennedy from the plane to his car outside the airport said the right front door was smashed inward and the vehicle was lifted several inches off the ground by the heaving mob. Unruffled, Kennedy described the crowd as simply a group of "enthusiastic Democrats." Kennedy concluded a two-day Texas campaign swing Tuesday with appearances in Texarkana, Dallas, Fort Worth and Austin. He appraised the tour through Texas, where some Protestant ministers have opposed him from the pulpit, this way: "I thought it was a really good trip. I think we have a very good chance in Texas. I thought Dallas and Texarkana were terrific." Nixon toured the Pacific Northwest Tuesday, stopping at Portland, Ore., Vancouver, Wash., and Boise. He stressed the regional-ly important subject of public power. He called for a "maximum national effort" and "new starts" on such projects. GOP vice presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge stumped through western Pennsylvania today, promising that a Republican administration would revive areas of chronic unemployment. Democratic vice presidential nominee Lyndon B. Johnson campaigned in New Mexico seeking to put down any anti-Catholic feeling.

Three Are Fined By Judge Craig

Two youths who stole several auto tires, and placed them in a car belonging to Franklin Demsey Lawrence, 18, of 3316 Francis, yesterday were given three-day jail sentences and fined $25 each in Gray County Court. They were Ralph Reid Jr. and Gordon E. Golden, both of Pampa. Lawrence, who was apprehended by city police Tuesday morning, and was charged with driving under the influence of intoxicating beverage also appeared before Gray County Judge Bill Craig and received a $100 fine and a three-day sentence.

Deputy Catches Gas Swipers

Two youthful residents of Phillips Camp last night were caught by Deputy Jim Bowers immediately after they had siphoned gasoline from a car parked at Highland General Hospital. Bowers said the boys left the scene at a high rate of speed without their lights on and "that's how I noticed them." The boys had damaged the flap covering the gas tank spout of the car, and Bowers said he ordered them to pay the damages, gave them a stern lecture, and "sent them home."

Police Solve Two Burglaries

City police cleared up two burglaries yesterday with the apprehension of four juveniles. Chief Jim Conner said today. Two of the youths admitted entering the home of Mrs. Nina Spoonmore, 1200 Hamilton, Sunday and taking three watches. Then, during the interrogation, one admitted being involved in a recent break-in at Vantine Furniture Store, 615 W. Foster, where some $36 was taken. Two other boys, 13 and 15-year-old brothers, were taken into custody by police on the latter charge. All were turned over to juvenile authorities. Juvenile Officer Bill Leonard said today that the cases were still being studied and that he didn't know if they would be placed in a home for wayward children or if they would be returned to the custody of their parents.

Jaycees Host To 4,500 Travelers

Jaycees were host to some 4,500 travelers during three holiday stands this year at the hospitality booth site on Highway 60 just east of the city. The activity was conducted on Memorial Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day weekend. During this time, Jaycees and their wives worked some 800 manhours, passed out 2,500 Cokes, and some 2,000 cups of coffee. This activity, saw the Jaycees inviting traveling motorists to stop for a rest and free refreshments. It also had kiddie attractions, to keep the children happy while their parents rested before continuing their trips. Motorists from throughout the nation and Canada, accepted the invitation of the Jaycees, and officials said today the project will be continued next year.

Pampa To Vote On Dam Nov. 22

A. A. Meredith, executive secretary of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, said yesterday that he would suggest that cities involved in the project conduct their elections on the same date (Nov. 22) that the authority will hold its vote on a contract with the "United States" government.

The election by the 11 cities involved will be for a pact with the authority.

"It will save the cost of several things, poll officers for one, and the residents can cast both ballots at once," he said.

Pampa's City Commission plans to do this, and it will discuss the idea further in its meeting at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Meredith made the suggestion in a speech during the monthly membership luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce in the Coronado Inn.

(Continued From Page 1) water rights in Martin County. "They found the price proposed by the land owner so exorbitant that they tried to have the water rights condemned through a law which gives cities authority to seek condemnation. But when a court judged an outlandish figure ($2000 plus per acre) officials of the cities dropped the matter," said Meredith.

The veteran Berger resident, who long has been active in efforts to bring such a project to the Panhandle, told of his first effort to have a dam and reservoir installed. "We were going to have it placed at Logan, and even had the Texas Legislature pass a law to aid us. We brought in some of the outstanding engineers of the time — the 1920s — and they told us we didn't have enough water to make such a project feasible. But things have changed since then and we are, at last, nearing our goal."

Going back to the future, lake, Meredith said that property for the it will be purchased, plus 300 feet beyond its crest point. "All land other than that, as of this time, will be that of private landowners. You'll probably have to deal with them for camp sites," he said, in answering a question following his speech: "He said he imagined roads into the area will be constructed by adjacent counties but stated, "That is in the future. By the time the project is completed, something could happen to change that; perhaps the state or government will establish camp sites. I just don't know."

Meredith's very attentive audience included members of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, Jaycee members who were meeting in joint session with the chamber, members of the city commission, Fred Thompson and Clinton Evans, Pampa's representatives on the authority, and a number of invited guests.

Killed were John Busby, 66, Borger, Tex.; Virginia Lee Gight, 20, Galena Park, Tex., and S. E. Nicholson, 35, Nowata, Okla. A GOOD SPORT

LONDON (UPI)—Good sportsmanship is the byword for a London jewelry shop that was burglarized last week.

The jeweler placed this ad in a local newspaper: "If the two gentlemen and a blonde who threw a car jack through our window last Saturday and stole 50 diamond rings will come into the shop, we will give them the free insurance against loss, theft or damage that we give with every ring."

"We do hope that endorsement of his position will be forthcoming from sources of authority in the Roman Catholic Church. When such an endorsement is forthcoming, the question will be settled for all thinking citizens."

The group specifically called on the American hierarchy of the Catholic Church to join Kennedy in his stand "against an ambassador to the Vatican, against un-constitutional aid to parochial schools, and against any boycott of the public schools."

Castro

Bold Thief - Sound Sleeper

Police today were convinced that C. L. Ennis Jr., sleeps the sleep of the just after a report from Ennis about $63 being missing from his billfold. Ennis told investigating officers that when he went to bed at 9:30 o'clock last night he placed his trousers at the end of his bed, and that a billfold containing $63 was in one of the trouser pockets. However, when he arose this morning the $63 was gone, his trousers were in the living room of his home at 815 E. Albert, the billfold was on the seat of his auto, and the key to the trunk of the car was in the ignition switch. But that wasn't enough. The sneak thief had added salt to the sore by helping himself to four cans of beer from the Ennis refrigerator. Chief Jim Conner said this morning that the thief must have intended to "clean out Ennis," since it is apparent he tried to steal his car, but used the wrong key.

Massachusetts Hands Out Primary Surprise

By United Press International—November candidates emerged from nine state primary elections today facing campaign trails equally as rugged and uncertain as those confronting national standard bearers.

There were few surprises. But voters responded enthusiastically here and there in near-record numbers, to familiar candidates and active politicking.

The primaries decided congressional, gubernatorial and state candidates in Arizona, Colorado, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Utah, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin.

Massachusetts recorded a major upset, handing Springfield Mayor Thomas J. O'Connor the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination over Gov. Foster Furcolo.

In one of the first of similar statements through the night as unsuccessful candidates conceded primary elections to their intra-party rivals, Furcolo offered his "congratulations and support" to O'Connor, a 35-year-old bachelor.

Other veteran campaigners who ran either unopposed or with only token opposition, including Democratic Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Republican convention keynoter Rep. Walter Judd, both in Minnesota, won nomination easily.

The contests shed little light on November chances of Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon and his Democratic opponent, John F. Kennedy. But much of the voting reflected campaigns by both national parties to teach citizens the potential power of a handful of votes.

Vermont Republican Lt. Gov. Robert S. Babcock lost a close battle for the gubernatorial nomination to State Speaker F. Ray Keyser Jr., who made a campaign issue of a reported statement by Babcock that the lieutenant governor had never been "overwhelmingly enthusiastic" about Nixon.

In Minnesota, former Rep. Coya Knutson, of "Coya come home" fame, carried a narrow lead through the night over State Sen. Roy Wiseth for the Democratic-Farmer-Labor 9th District nomination for Congress. Mrs. Knutson, unseated in 1958 by Republican Odlin Langin, blamed that defeat on a letter allegedly written by her husband, Andy, begging her to return to housekeeping.

Franklin Pierce was U.S. president when the Republican party was founded at a meeting in Rindge, N.H., Feb. 22, 1854.

YOU DON'T THAY

LONDON (UPI) — Afroxen food distributing company here is advertising its product as "the finest food you ever thaw."

30, and their two sons, Thurman Jr., 11, and Johnny, 9. Janet Clark, 12, managed to flee through the front door of the cabin. She wasn't burned badly, but was hospitalized. Doctors said she suffered mostly from the shock of realizing she had suddenly become an orphan.

The fire broke out at the Town Motel, where the family had been living, about 2 a.m. How it started was sheer speculation, but from what authorities were able to learn from the little girl, it appeared her father had been smoking and must have fallen asleep. Some 50 other persons at the motel escaped in their night clothes. The fire spread and destroyed five other units, and damaged 10 more.

Dear Abby...

Under Layers Of Fat There's A Problem

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A relative of mine has been in the hospital for several weeks and I have been a constant visitor. There is a nurse there who is the most amazing creature I have ever seen. She can't be over five feet tall and, Abby, she must weigh 300 pounds. I have never seen a woman so fat! Her arms and legs look like they are about ready to burst. When she walks down the hall she waddles like a duck and the building literally quakes. (Old building - wooden floors).

Doesn't a woman who has studied anatomy and nutrition realize how unhealthy and unsightly her condition is? And why on earth doesn't some of the nurses or doctors who work with her daily put her wise?

SIMPLY AMAZED

DEAR AMAZED: Maybe they've tried. Many people who are overweight have been teased, kidded, scolded, jolted, warned and lectured about their excess blubber, but nothing works. They stuff themselves because they're miserable and they're miserable because they stuff themselves. Sometimes it takes a head-shrinker to shrink the rest of them.

DEAR ABBY: Many years ago I lied about my age to get a job. I was 16 and claimed to be 21 because I needed work, looked older and could get away with it.

Well, I'm sorry now because I am going with a man who works where I used to work. He saw my application form which says I am 29 when I am really only 24. He is 25 and he thinks I'm too old for him. How can I convince him that I lied then but am telling the truth now?

NEEDS' PROOF

DEAR NEEDS: Show him your birth certificate. That'll prove you weren't born too many yesterdays ago.

DEAR ABBY: If you use this letter, please don't use my name.

or initials. I am in love with a man who has been trying for six years to get a divorce. His wife keeps telling him she will "think it over". She has been "thinking it over" for six years and he is no closer to getting his freedom now than he was six years ago.

He has to live at home for appearance's sake. Every time he mentions divorce she slobbers all over him about how much the children need him. We love each other, Abby. We aren't kids. I am 28 and he is 44. And we are both healthy, normal people in love. What do we do in the meantime? HIS TRUE LOVE

DEAR LOVE: Nothing.

DEAR ABBY: Tell the bride who was bothered because her neighbor across the hall burnt her husbands toast on purpose she ought to try it herself. I eat my toast burnt black and like it that way. It's good for you. Absorbs stomach gases - just like charcoal.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want To Know," send 25 cents and a large self-addressed stamped envelope in care of this paper.

Subtle Wiles Are Best Bet, My Dear

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The relationship of Sen. John F. Kennedy's religion to the 1960 presidential campaign has changed importantly in recent weeks, and for the worse.

The question posed immediately by Kennedy's nomination by the Democratic national convention was this: Will Kennedy's religion become a significant issue in the presidential campaign?

Events have answered that question aggressively and in the affirmative. The question now posed is: Will the issue of Kennedy's religion continue to build up steam in the next eight weeks as it has since the latter part of July? The answer to this second question seems likely, also, to be in the affirmative and aggressively so.

Both candidates have deplored the prospective of religion into this injection—past, present and prospective—of religion into this Protestant clergy and laity, how campaign elements among the Protestant clergy and laity, however, are thumping the drum at an ever increasing tempo. Persons who acknowledge publicly, as in print, that the issue is here, alive and poisonous, are variously assailed, most often on charges of enhancing the issue, by discussing it.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon has been accused of condoning the issue as raised by others while renouncing and deploring it, used of a subtle strategy to himself. Kennedy has been accused of a subtle strategy to keep the issue alive by public reference to it.

More reasonably, it would seem that both candidates are appalled by the impact already felt and the possibility that religion will be the prime issue in some areas on election day. It would be proper and decent to concede other than that the religious issue shall sink out of sight.

The Providence, R. I., Journal said in a recent editorial: "The religious issue is imbedded in the campaign already. Moreover, the evidence suggests that it may become more of an issue as the campaign proceeds, no matter how much its presence is deplored. The religious issue, of course, cuts many ways. It can cause some Catholics to vote Catholic, some Protestants to vote Protestant, and others to vote an opposite way merely to prove their lack of prejudice. (It) is not necessarily an exclusive handicap for Mr. Kennedy. It could turn out to be even more of a handicap to Mr. Nixon."

So, John Kennedy's Roman Catholicism will remain in the news and in the campaign. That cannot be avoided. The Protestant clergy and laity so-minded will continue to make their contribution.

Best thing for a troubled voter would be to inform himself. The hasungmncennatiboeir has been circulating a memo on the religious issue and, more especially, on Kennedy and his religion.

The troubled voter would be interested in that memo. The committee's address is 1001 Connecticut Ave., NW, Washington, D.C.

empty words, other Latin American nations greeted it with polite applause and considerable skepticism. Some observers in Bogota believed a reason for the program was received as well as it was, in part lion share in the new program at least, was due to Under Secretary of State C. Douglas Dillon's personal popularity among Latin Americans. They give him credit for much of Washington's new interest in their well-being. Latin Americans acknowledge that U.S. aid since World War II has amounted to well over $3 billion, but they point out it was spread over an entire continent, while in Europe a single nation, Germany, was receiving considerable persuasion to convince the association of coffee growers of Colombia voiced a common sentiment in a message which would not even come close to making up the losses Colombia suffered through drops in coffee prices. On Dillon's side, it took considerable persuasion to convince Latin Americans that $500 million was only the beginning of the aid program. The young of the shrimp pass through 10 larval stages.

Passengers Safe In Fire On Airliner

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fire broke out in an American Airlines Electra jetprop airliner today as it landed at LaGuardia Airport but the line reported all 69 passengers escaped safely.

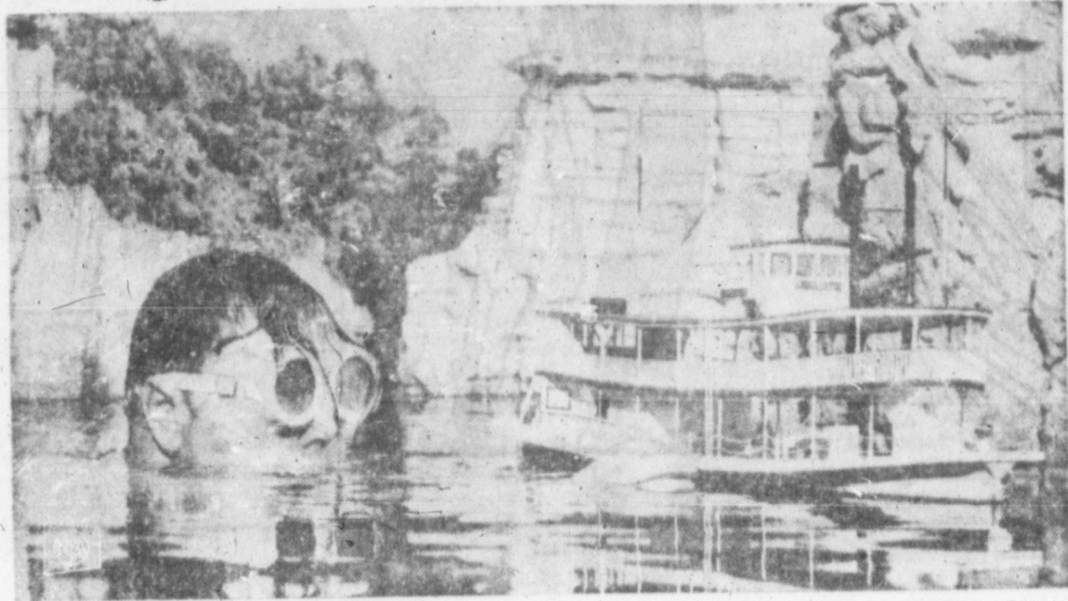

The plane was seriously damaged in an emergency landing. American Airlines said a "small fire" broke out during the approach.

Crewmen and airport emergency crews assisted the full load of passengers to safety moments before the spreading flames covered the scene with dense smoke.

American Airlines said the Electra was bound from Boston to St. Louis. It cracked up during a scheduled 9 a.m. EDT landing on Runway 13-31 at LaGuardia. The Electra was Flight 361.

An American Airlines Electra crashed during an approach to LaGuardia on Feb. 3, 1959. Sixty-five of the 73 persons aboard were killed in that accident, which occurred during an instrument landing. The weather was clear today.

Studies have shown that temperature may vary by as much as 20 degrees between a city's business center and its suburbs.

Financial Review

By HENRY J. BECHTOLD
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Irish-made Japanese radios and Irish-made Dutch pianos. These strange combinations have been made possible by a United Nations industry being promoted by the government of Ireland at Shannon Airport.

This $35 million airport was threatened with near extinction by the coming of the jet age since these long-range planes no longer need to stop there to refuel.

The Irish used a little ingenuity to cope with the situation. They build a $3 million runway to handle jet traffic and established the Shannon Free Airport Development Co.

The 10,000-foot runway was needed to accommodate the steady flow of tourists to Ireland, according to Brendan O'Regan, top man at Shannon. He estimated that nearly 15 per cent more Americans will visit his land of shamrocks and leprechauns this year than in 1959.

The airport development idea was conceived about a year-and-a-half ago, with construction beginning six months later. Already eight international companies have set up plants on a 250-acre apron surrounding the airfield, firms should be operating by the end of this year.

The present eight companies at the airport—three American, two English, one Japanese, one Dutch and one German—are expected to fly out more than two million pounds of pianos, transistor radios, jersey fabric, precision fasteners, capacitors and fabric marking machines in 1960. The additional 11 firms will help increase this load six times by 1962, O'Regan said.

There are now close to 800 persons employed at the Shannon industrial site, and practically all of them were trained on the job at the expense of the Irish Government.

This training is only one of the incentives offered by the Irish to attract new industries. Other inducements are a ready-built factory, non-repayable grants to cover the cost of plant and machinery, and exemption from income and corporate taxes for 25 years.

Despite all these advantages, however, all is not rosy at Shannon. Chicago Dynamics Industries, first American investor at WASHINGTON (UPI)—The day is coming, I do believe, when a thinking man won't even be trusted to choose his own cigarette filter.

Transistorized Cogitation Is Almost Human

This will be done for him by one of those electronic brains, which will know better than the smoker himself just what his tastes are and what brand suits him.

Some indication of the inroads that transistorized cogitation already has made into human cerebration can be seen in a report published today by a House subcommittee on the use of electronic computers by the federal government.

"Electronic data processing generally should be restricted to operations which are important in the making of decisions—the ability of electronic data-processing equipment to make simple, preprogrammed decisions should be fully exploited," the report says.

"If I interpret these lines correctly, and I am aware that the government and I don't always speak the same language, they mean that the computers already have passed the mere bookkeeping stage and are now being used in an executive capacity.

At last count, the government had on hand 523 electronic computers, plus an undisclosed number used for secret work in the Defense Department. All but 17 built especially for the government were being rented from commercial firms.

One agency is paying $3,103,250 a year for the use of a single computer. Fancy that! I doubt that Albert Einstein, who was about the best we had in the way of human brains, made that much in his entire lifetime.

Nowhere in the report could I find any figures on the total annual cost of electronic brainwork, but a telephone call to the subcommittee produced $150 million as an approximate figure.

At the airport, has found tough going in trying to sell electric bowling games to British pubs.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Whether the deterioration in the business situation will be serious enough to bring about a new low in the Dow-Jones industrials is anybody's guess at this point, according to Sherson, Hammill & Co.

It says, however, that the odds of such a breakthrough on the downside do appear greater than the chance of a sharp and broad rally from current levels.

In other words, the firm believes, the downside risk in the market as a whole appears somewhat greater than the upside potential, although there are individual issues which will buck the trend.

Standard & Poor's say that, contrary to earlier expectations, sales of mobile homes by Chance Vought Aircraft will not take up the slack in deliveries of Crusader fighter planes. This year's earnings may be down to $2.75 a share from $4.12 in 1959, raising some question about the safety of the 50 cent quarterly dividend. The eucalyptus tree holds its leaves straight upward as a protection against the sun.

Spear & Staff recommends buying Harris-Intertype. Selling at around 12 1/2 times earnings, the company offers participation in the growing electronics business as well as the protection of a strong, well-established company in a basic industry, Spear says.

Walston & Co. says that if the 599 dividend level should be penetrated to greatly increased volume, there could be a lot of selling by chart followers. However, it says, if the 599 is broken on light volume, a steep rebound could occur. In any case, a great deal seems to depend on whether the volume is "big" or small.

TIRING ROLE—The star of the sound movie being shot in Brecksville, Ohio, is supposed to be silent. It's a new model Goodrich tire. When the test car makes what would normally be a screeching turn, the camera studies rubber distortion while the tape recorder takes down the screech, if any. Engineers on the project say that a wider tire shoulder gives 25 per cent longer wear as well as silence.

'Bama' Dogs Rated Even TCU Choice

NEW YORK (UPI)—Next Saturday's "TV Game of the Week" between Southeastern Conference powers Georgia and Alabama was listed today as a pick 'em game in the season's first run-down of college football odds.

The game will be televised by the American Broadcasting Company beginning at 4 p.m. CST, and brings together two teams with post-season bowl aspirations. Mississippi, another Southeastern Conference kingly, is 17 points over Houston and Georgia Tech is seven over Kentucky.

Southern Methodist and Missouri also are listed as even, Pittsburgh is a one-point choice over UCLA. Texas Christian is two points over Kansas and Southern California is 18 over Oregon State.

Other odds on leading games: Navy 7 over Boston College; Maryland 7 over West Virginia; Penn State 18 over Boston Univ.; N. C. St. 6 over Va. Tech; Georgia Tech 7 over Kentucky; VMI 6 over William and Mary; California 5 over Tulane; Texas 15 over Nebraska; Mississippi 17 over Houston; LSU 13 over Texas A&M; Arkansas 12 over Okla. State; Washington St. 4 over Stanford.

Roy Harris Is Defeated

LONDON (UPI)—Henry Cooper of England, British Empire heavyweight champion, had another victory but less prestige today because of his failure to knock out Texan Roy Harris while outpointing him Tuesday night.

Cooper, ranked fifth among world contenders, was thunderously booted by a capacity crowd of 10,000 at Wembley Pool because of his inability to dispose of the tired and retreating Texan after Harris had been floored in the eighth round.

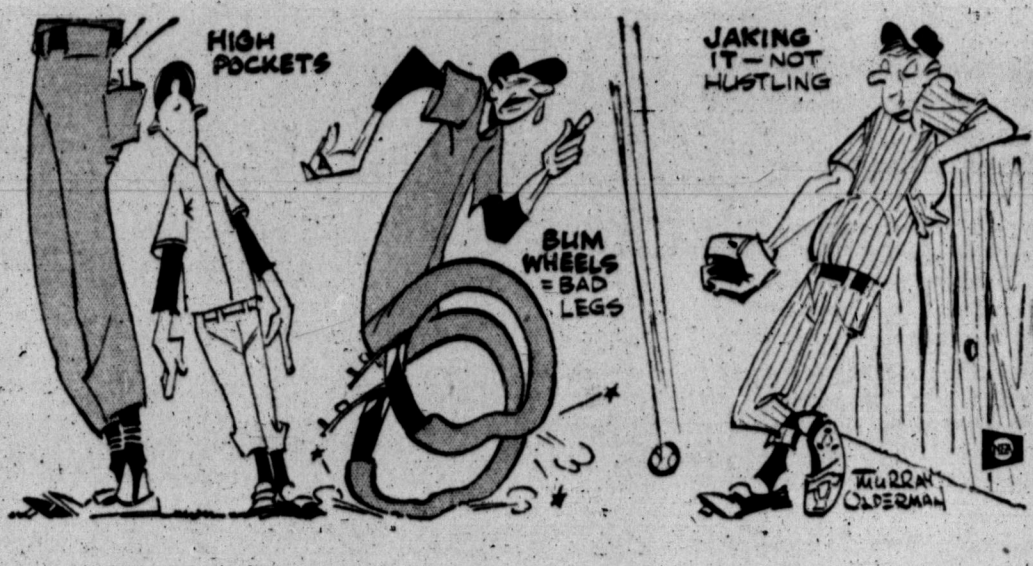

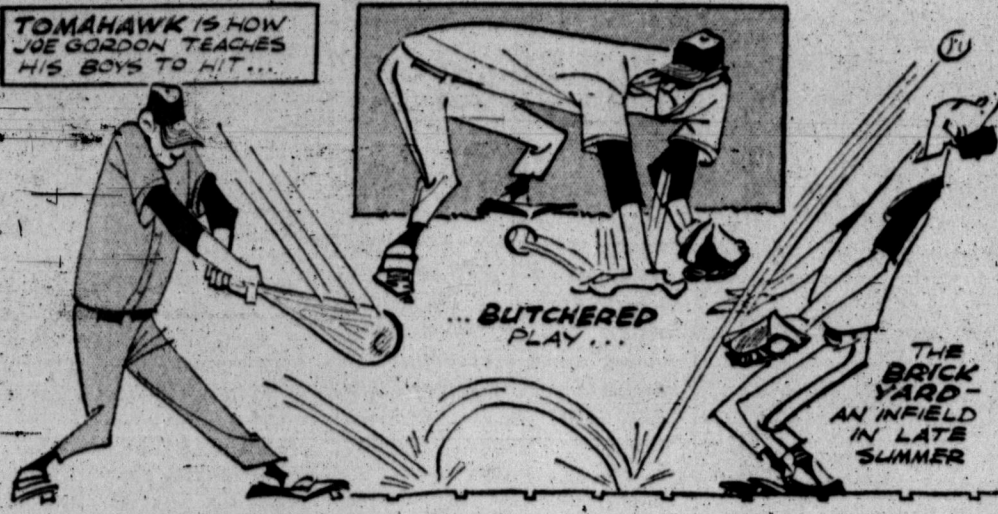

COACHES WARRIORS

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Neil Johnston, former three-time National Basketball Association scoring champion, has signed to coach the Philadelphia Warriors for the second straight year. He piloted Philadelphia to a second-place finish in the NBA's Eastern Division last year.

SIGN BONUS PITCHER

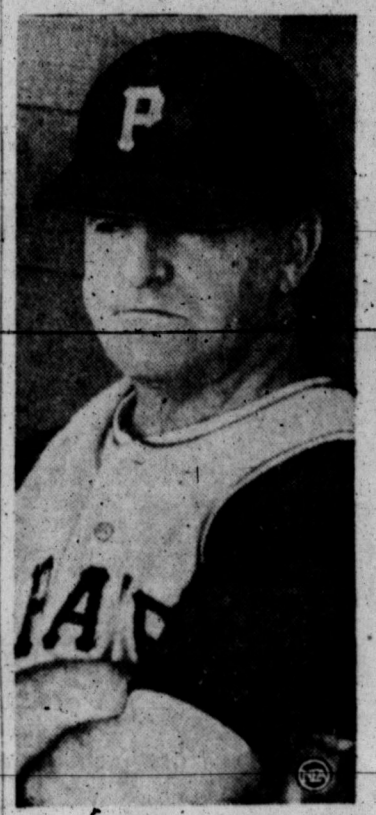

BALTIMORE (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles have signed 17-year-old Dave McNally of Billings, Mont. for a bonus estimated at $65,000. McNally, a left-handed pitcher, allowed only two earned runs and struck out 259 batters in 110 innings in American Legion play this summer.

10 WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1959 33rd YEAR

Tight Race Due In SWC

DALLAS (UPI)—Texas, Texas Christian and Arkansas may make the 1960 Southwest Conference football race look like a replay of the 1959 version when they wound up in the circuit's first triple championship.

Throw in an aggressive Baylor Bear, coming out of a dormancy that has staved off a title in well over three decades, and the area may be in for one of the wildest scraps in its history.

Prior to the start of fall practice, Coach Darrell Royal's Texas entry won the unpopular No. 1 tag, but the league's writers after a tour of the training camps have shifted the finger of favoritism to Coach Abe Martin's TCU Horned Frogs.

All four top-rated clubs have their specific problems, but as the opening games draw near Texas seems to be further from solving the difficulties than the others.

TCU has the winning habit—an outright title in 1958 and a third share last season—and Martin seems to be blessed with size, speed and enough experience to absorb the shock of fairly heavy losses.

The Frogs will lack the power running of past years, but in Donald George and sophomore Sonny Gibbs they have talented running-throwing quarterbacks to go with speedy halfbacks Harry Moreland and Billy Gault and strong-running Larry Terrell and Larry Dawson at the same position.

Up front, one of the nation's better tackles, 248-pound Bob Lilly, and center Arvie Martin form the keystone of a big, but necessary ingredient in this league like any other.

Texas Tech, making its first pitch at the football crown since entering the league three years ago, has the area's outstanding center in E. J. Holub and a few other talented veterans. But, there isn't enough of anything to make them a threat.

Nicklaus Due Fairway Test

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Defending champion Jack Nicklaus and unknown Charles Lewis, both among the hottest scorers so far in the National Amateur golf tournament, take over an even larger portion of the spotlight today.

Each clipped five strokes off par Tuesday, the best scoring so far, to lead a field reduced to 64 into today's third and fourth rounds, the first day of double tours of the 6,616-yard St. Louis Country Club.

If no one else wants the American League pennant, the Chicago White Sox will gladly take it.

That's how the situation shapes up today what with the New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles both floundering around like Little Leaguers while the White Sox are thundering down the stretch, with one of the hottest finishes since the 1951 Giants.

Only a week ago, the White Sox trailed by 4½ games and everyone had counted them out except their manager, Al Lopez, who insisted they still would come up to win. Lopez was promptly written off as an eternal optimist.

But maybe he knew something, and it certainly looks that way in the face of a six-game winning streak that has carried his sporting Sox to within two games of first place.

Nellie Fox brought the White Sox their sixth straight triumph Tuesday night when he hammered his second homer of the season with two out in the 11th inning for a 6-5 decision over the Washington Senators.

Fox, on a hitting tear since returning to the lineup following a virus infection, hit his game-winning homer off Tom Morgan. Reliever Frank Baumann scored his 11th victory. Bob Allison of Washington hit his 14th homer and teammate Harmon Killebrew his 30th.

The victory boosted the White Sox within seven percentage points of the second place Orioles, who were defeated by the Detroit Tigers, 3-1. Baltimore remained a game behind the first-place Yankees, who were crushed 12-3, by the last-place Kansas City Athletics. Cleveland moved within a half-game of fourth place with a 5-3 win over Boston.

In the National League, the San Francisco Giants beat the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-3; the St. Louis Cardinals cut the distance between themselves and the Pirates to 6½ games by defeating the Milwaukee Braves, 6-5, in 11 innings; the Cincinnati Reds beat the Chicago Cubs, 8-6, and the Los Angeles Dodgers swept a two-night doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies, 2-1 in 10 innings and 4-1.

Jim Bunning held the Orioles to three hits in gaining his 10th triumph for the Tigers. The only run off him came on Ron Hansen's 21st homer in the seventh. Norm Cash hit his 15th homer off loser Bill Pappas (13-10) in the first inning and Rocky Colavito belted his 29th with one on in the fourth.

Dick Williams drove in six runs for the Athletics with a homer, double and a single against the Yankees. Williams hit his homer with two on in the first inning off loser Whitey Ford to give the Athletics a lead they never relinquished. Bud Daley held the Yankees to eight hits for his 15th victory against 14 losses.

Don Newcombe's scoreless relief stint over the last 5 1-3 innings helped the Indians to their victory over the Red Sox. Newcombe took over for starter Dick Stigman, who was knocked out with a three-run burst in the fourth. The Tribe clinched the outcome with a four-run rally off Tom Brewer in the second.

Mike McCormick of the Giants struck out 13 batters in beating the Pirates for his 13th victory. The Giants rapped loser Wilmer Mizell and two Pittsburgh relievers for 12 hits, including three by Willie Mays. Roberto Clemente homered for the Pirates.

Ernie Broglio picked up his 19th victory in a relief role when Daryl Spencer's 11th inning triple brought the Cardinals their victory over the Braves. Spencer's blow, with Ken Boyer on base, came off Lew Burdette, who suffered his 11th defeat against 16 victories. Walt Moryn, Johnny Logan and Stan Musial hit homers.

Eddie Kasko's grand-slam homer was the big blow in the Reds' victory over the Cubs. Kasko's wallop ruined the major league debut of young Dick Burwell. Gordie Coleman also homered for the Reds while George Altman and rookie Danny Murphy connected for the Cubs. Marshall Bridges won his sixth game in relief.

Johnny Podres struck out 10 Philadelphia batters in gaining credit for Los Angeles' opening game victory while Sandy Koufa fanned 11 Phils in the nightcap. Gene Conley and rookie Art Mahaffey were the losers. The Dodgers won the opener on a pair of 10th inning errors, and rookie Willie Davis' first major league homer helped them to their nightcap victory.

Stinnett Faces Test At Dalhart

By United Press International

Stinnett, Crowell, New London, San Augustine, Alto and Anahuac run into severe tests of their sparkling Class A schoolboy football records this weekend.

All but Anahuac bump heads with strong Class AA teams, while Anahuac meets Class A Crosby which sports an impressive record of its own against Humble and East Chambers.

Stinnett's Rattlers, generally picked as the successor to Katy as state Class A champ, can just about erase any doubts about that rating if they can handle the Dalhart Wolves in what shapes up as the feature game in that division this week.

Stinnett has beaten Clarendon 36-6 and AA Spearman 61-0, while the Wolves downed Tucumcari, N.M. 18-0 and Clayton, N.M. 52-6.

Crowell, victors over Iowa Park and Rotan, take on AA Quannah, whose two losses in two starts belie the club's real strength. The Indians lost 29-14 to powerful Stamford and 32-14 to AAA Vernoh.

New London, which beat Rusk 12-6 in its only start, meets an experienced Gilmer team that has broken even in two starts.

Also, which knocked off highly-touted Gaston last week for one of its two triumphs, get to compare itself with New London when it meets Rusk this week.

San Augustine, like New London departed from AA due to lower enrollment this season, plays Kirbyville after blasting Grapeland 34-8 and AAA Center 41-7.

Other games involving better Class A teams include Rattlers at Floydada; Idalou at Frerip, Crosbyton at Seagraves; Abilene Wylie at Albany; White Oak at Forney; Bartlett at Thrall and Woodsboro at George West.

DUE ACTION — Buddy Rawls, the ex-Harvester quarterback, now a freshman at Abilene Christian College, is currently handling the third (blue) team for ACC. However, Buddy is likely to see plenty of action when ACC goes against East Texas State Saturday night at Abilene.

RAIDERS ASK WAIVERS

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—The Oakland Raiders of the American Football League asked waivers Tuesday on ex-California quarterback Paul Larson and ex-Washington star runner Luther (Hit and Run) Carr.

Stephens Hurts Knee, May Miss Ysleta Tilt

Woes mounted "by the numbers" yesterday for the Harvester coaching staff, when, on the last test from scrimmage, Roy Don Stephens, number one quarterback, hurt a knee that has been giving him trouble all season.

"We don't know just what the story on Roy Don's knee will be until we hear from the doctor," said Coach Babe Curfman. "All we know that is if we lose him for Friday's game with Ysleta, we're in trouble."

If Stephens is out, the burden will fall on the shoulders of young Mike Stewart.

Butch Crossland has a broken finger and his hand is in a cast. It would be hard on Butch to take the ball from center, Curfman pointed out.

That was just one of the darts hanging in Curfman. Scouting reports from aides Norman Phillips and Deck Woldt, noted the Indians will be tough, even with the Harvesters at top strength. But, following a talk with Dewey Johnson, Roswell High's grid mentor, Curfman had more trouble to ponder.

Johnson told me this Ysleta outfit is rough. He pointed out that those kids carry out their pursuit assignments very quickly. Johnson tried a double reverse, but that didn't break it up, Curfman groaned.

The Indians have a strong passing attack, plus the running of Mike Sutherland, a big safety halfback, who was the big shifter in the Indians' 8-6 defeat of Roswell. The punting is good, Curfman noted after viewing films of the Ysleta "Roswell clutch" and the blocking is above average.

Another shift at end looms in the Harvester starting lineup. Bob Followell has entered into the picture at wide end, and may get the call over Corky Godfrey and Roy Dyer.

"Bob showed a splendid effort in a very rough workout yesterday," said the coach. "He must be considered as a probable starter at this time."

This morning Curfman said he was pleased with the efforts of the squad yesterday afternoon in "our best and roughest workout of the season."

"Even though we may have lost Roy Don, I can't help but be pleased with the willingness of the boys yesterday. They poured it on full speed all afternoon," he pointed out.

LEADS MONEY WINNERS

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, who has won seven tournaments and finished in the top five in 14 others this year, leads the money winners in golf this year with $75,400. Ken Venturi is second with $45,200 and Dow Finsterwald is third with $40,300.

New Discoveries About Fallout Shed New Light On Answer To The Question:

'Can I Survive An Atomic War?'

IF CAUGHT OUTDOORS you could cut the radiation hitting you by such measures as shown above. More likely shelter would be the basement of a building. Note, at left, that brick offers more protection than frame, that the center of a basement offers more protection than the corner. The basements of tall, reinforced-concrete buildings offer even higher protection.

IF A SUPER H-BOMB hit Offut Air Force Base outside Omaha on an average summer day, fallout over two weeks could accumulate to the figures on the map. Roentgens are the units in which gamma and X-ray radiation are measured. First fallout would hit Des Moines in six hours, Davenport-Rock Island in 18.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Beginning today we present four vitally important dispatches by Ray Cromley, ace Pentagon reporter for the Newspaper Enterprise Assn. They spell out in lucid detail why mankind need not perish in an atomic holocaust—and the relatively simple, cheap steps which you can take to prevent or nullify such an attack.

By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) For the first time since Hiroshima, scientists are beginning to talk optimistically about mankind's chances of surviving full-scale atomic war.

New discoveries about the rate of fallout enable them to say: Mankind would not be wiped out. Even a hydrogen-bomb "saturation" attack wouldn't do it.

The idea, which received widest currency in Nevil Shute's best seller and movie "On the Beach," that H-bomb fallout would gradually engulf the world and wipe out every body is scientific poppycock.

Most people who survive the blast, effects of nuclear weapons could save themselves. But—and this is vital—they must abandon fatalistic concepts such as "no body can escape anyway, so why try?" And they must make certain simple survival plans.

Since no one knows for certain just what targets an enemy might select, most sensible survival philosophy to adopt is: "I might not be killed by the blast, so I'd better be ready for the fallout."

There is growing concern in

Glossary Of Survival

FALLOUT—When an atomic bomb explodes at or near the earth's surface, the heat vaporizes large quantities of the earth or water right under the explosion. The rising fireball also sucks up additional large quantities of debris. Much of this displaced material rises as high as 20 to 25 miles in the mushroom cloud. It becomes mixed with and impregnated by the radioactive fission products of the weapon. As the heat dissipates, the thousands of tons of irradiated material are carried by winds and spread over hundreds or thousands of square miles in the form of dust which eventually falls to earth.

FALLOUT RADIATION—Almost all of this radiation consists of gamma rays, which are almost like the X-rays doctors use for "photographs" of your chest.

ROENTGENS—The units in which gamma-ray and X-ray radiations are measured. Every normal atom, whether in your body or not, has one or more electrons orbiting around its core or nucleus. Roentgens are a measure of the number of the electrons which the radiation knocks out of orbit. When it's atoms in your body that are affected, enough of this, of course, will harm you—or kill you.

GROUND ZERO—The point on the ground at or directly below where the bomb explodes. If it's a blast on or near the ground, one mile from ground zero is one mile from the explosion.

MEGATON—A one-megaton bomb is the equivalent in blast to one million tons of TNT.

were hit by the blast — to get to a place safe from the worst radiation. That is, if you know what you're doing.

Even if an H-bomb hit without warning, you probably would have about 30 minutes before heavy fallout hit you. You might have hours. Perhaps a day. It would depend on how far away the bomb is, the direction and the high level air currents.

To get a rough picture of what fallout protection you would need, take one super 10-megaton H-bomb striking Offut Air Force Base, near Omaha, Neb. It's an average summer day, wind from the west.

Blast and fire devastation would spread out 10 miles within a minute. Six hours later, fallout would spread 130 miles to Des Moines. In 18 hours, fallout would reach 300 miles to Davenport-Rock Island on the Mississippi.

Assuming normal winds, the perhaps many places — a man first two-week dose could hit 30,000 roentgens, 50 miles away, at Atlantic, Iowa. It might cut radiation 99 1/2 per cent, leaving you with a maximum two-week dose of 200 roentgens.

Roentgens are the unit measures for the gamma ray, and X-ray radiation content in the air.

Medical experts figure you would have a 50-50 chance of living through 450 roentgens the first two weeks. They think you could take up to 200 in that time without being incapacitated. You could take more over extended periods of time.

Over much of the fallout area, you could live by staying indoors for 14 days. A frame house cuts radiation in half.

Under these conditions, at Davenport-Rock Island, 300 miles from the bomb, a man indoors would receive 50 roentgens. In Iowa City, 230 miles from the blast, his 14-day dose would be 100.

In a war, there would be many strikes. Fallout patterns would overlap. In some places you might be exposed to 40, 50, 100, 200, 300, 400, 500, 600, 700, 800, 900, 1,000 roentgens the first two weeks.

Fallout would not continue coming down in man-killing doses for months and years, even after mammoth H-bomb attacks. Fallout comes down much faster, when it does come, then dies away much more quickly than the scientists had believed.

This series will tell you what this discovery means for you, what you as an individual or working with others locally can do to improve your chances of survival if the tragedy of nuclear war were to hit the U.S. It will not discuss the political dispute over what the federal and state governments should or should not do. Nor will it examine the scientific controversy over the long-term genetic effects of massive fallout.

'That To Secure These Rights'

The meanings of words are of tremendous significance. This is particularly true when we commit our thoughts and our principles to paper.

As time passes, if the words we have employed no longer retain the meaning they had when we first wrote them, then others will not understand what we had tried to say.

We believe that evidence of this fact is all about us, and nowhere more significant than in the popular use of a word which appears both in the Declaration of Independence and in the Constitution. If we begin with the second paragraph of the Declaration we learn in the first sentence that men have "unalienable rights and that they are endowed with these rights by their Creator. Then, in the second sentence of that paragraph the word appears. "That to SECURE these rights governments..." etc.

This use of the word, secure, has seemed to some to provide an early contradiction in the document. For in the prior sentence it is clear the authors intended to convey the idea that nature's God provided all the rights; yet here it appears they are saying governments provide them. It might be possible to infer that a government is a creature of God and hence there would be no difference.

If one were to read the Russian Constitution or the United Nations Charter, or its far more grievous "Declaration of Human Rights," one would see that such, indeed, has been the melancholy corruption which has occurred. Now, if we turn to the American Constitution, we note here in the preamble, that once more the word, secure, is employed. We are to "secure" to ourselves and our posterity the items enumerated a priori. Once more the idea grows that governments are in rights and benefits come from governments.

If, however, we will take the time to examine the meaning of the word, secure, we will discover, at the time the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution were both written, this word did not mean to obtain. As time has passed, most of us have used se-

The Great Debtor Class

The debtor class always wants cheap money. The most persistent debtor class known to history is the government.

Debtors are always persons, or persons within agencies, such as politicians, who are unwilling to wait until they have experience a reward.

While debt can always be justified when it can be shown that borrowed money is to be expended productively, so that further production and hence further wealth is to occur, it can hardly be justified and certainly it cannot be recommended for consumer items and for scores and scores of end products from which nothing useful will ever come.

Governments are the greatest debtors ever to be known in history. And while some governments have even been known to pass laws which condemned non-political debtors to prison, political debtors were permitted to roam the streets at will, championing the cause of cheap money.

Why do governments like to be in debt? The desire on the part of governments to be in debt arises when governments have an exclusive monopoly in the field of providing coin, currency or credit. When governments have a monopoly in this field they can borrow money, employ it in any way they see fit and then inflate, thus paying back the borrowings with dollars of less value than the dollars originally borrowed.

Private debtors do not have this advantage, especially when only government enjoys the monopoly over money and credit which our government presently enjoys. Nonetheless, outside of government, many people in our own history have championed the cause of cheap money. It always seems as some that if money is plentiful,

Hankering

By HENRY McELMORE

Case Stated For Tailor Made Suits

A. J. Drexel Biddle, of the Philadelphia Biddles, just thinks he has troubles.

In a national magazine, in an article about America's best dressed men, Mr. Biddle has this to say about wearing ready-made suits:

"If I find a ready-made jacket that fits me around the shoulders, there would be enough room in the trousers and in the rest of the jacket to accommodate several other besides myself. On the other hand, if I find a pair of trousers with a proper-fitting waistline, the shoulders of the jacket would be so snug as to preclude satisfactory alteration."

That from a man who is tall, slender, willowy, graceful, and of such substantial means that he probably has never heard of a two-pair-of-trousers suit. What would Mr. Biddle have to say, if, like millions of Americans, he was not tall, not slender, not willowy, not graceful, and not well-built enough to have a tailor build him a suit that fits everywhere?

I am a perfect example of the type of American just mentioned. There isn't a size on any rack in any store in the country that fits me. And won't be until some manufacturer brings out a Penguin line.

By a Penguin line, I mean suits cut either in Antarctica or the zoo, with a real live penguin as the model. Thanks to Nature's pranks, I have the shape of a penguin. Not exactly, of course, but I could wear a real penguin skin with practically no alterations.

There are other Americans—many of them—with shapes like a moose, or a barn, or a car hood, or a twenty-dollar bag of groceries. I have a friend who is shaped like a filing cabinet, and another like a water reservoir tower.

When we buy clothes all we have to choose from are such standard sizes and shapes as 36 long, short and regular, 40, 42, 44, 46, and so on of the same.

This is bad, but it wouldn't be quite as bad if the salesman would let you have the coat of one size and the trousers of another. But they won't. If you get a 42 long coat, you are stuck with the 42 long trousers which, as Mr. Biddle points out, two other fellows could share with you.

It is time, I believe, that the clothing manufacturers break away from the same old sizes and start making suits that face up to reality.

Nature made us all different, and there is no reason for a clothing manufacturer to think he can undo Nature. It would stimulate sales.

I know that I would hurry to the store that advertised suits guaranteed to fit the man with a bowling ball appearance. I'd even be glad to pay for letting the waist out.

As things stand now, a man never knows which size to buy—the one where the coat fits him but the trousers don't, or the suit where the pants are perfect but the coat looks as if he were wearing a shower curtain with buttons.

Poor as he was, Robinson Crusoe was lucky.

The contingent liabilities of the contingent obligations and others, we should be able to discern with some clarity just where this policy of cheap money is taking the American people.

What doesn't seem to be generally known is this: While governments are the principal agencies of debt in the world and always have been, particularly non-productive debt, the people themselves are always the principal creditors.

Human beings always hold the bag. American citizens today are the fall guys for governmental extravaganzas. While we may not think of ourselves in quite this fashion, it is time we did. The theory that governmental debt isn't bad because we owe it to ourselves, is partly responsible for our dilemma. Many people can't seem to understand that they are NOT their government. The government is the debtor, people are the creditor. And while debt and cheap money may be desirable for a debtor, a clean slate and money of reliability is always wanted by people.

ROBERT S. ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

POWELL, AS HOUSE LABOR COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN, TO PROBE RACKETEERING, RACIAL BARS IN UNIONS

WASHINGTON — AFL-CIO officials are preparing for some brick-bats as well as a helping hand from Representative Adam Clayton Powell when he becomes chairman of the powerful House Education and Labor Committee next year.

The controversial Harlem legislator has already served notice on labor leaders that his plans include: A full-scale probe of all unions that bar negroes from membership.

A new investigation of racketeers in labor and management. Full backing for the AFL-CIO legislative program, including the controversial legislation boosting the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour.

In private discussions before Congress adjourned, Powell told the union officials that he plans to make the $1.25 minimum wage bill his committee's first order of business in January and that he would push for quick passage in the House.

In exchange for this help, Powell stressed that he had expected full cooperation from the labor leaders in his investigations. So far, the AFL-CIO chiefs have balked at giving Powell any promises. Instead, the labor leaders have told the Harlem preacher-legislator that they want further discussions after the November elections when Representative Graham Barden (D., N.C.), long time chairman, officially steps down. Barden is not seeking reelection.

As for Powell, he has decided not to wait for labor's backing to push his investigations.

In meetings with other committee members, Powell has begun seeking their support to create a special labor racketeering investigation subcommittee similar to the headline-making group headed by Senator John McClellan (D., Ark.).

Particularly, he has been trying to line up support for his probes by offering to appoint members to the investigative subcommittee or to new subcommittees that he plans to set up next year.

He informed members that one of the subcommittees will deal with cultural exchanges in the field of labor and education and will involve extensive traveling abroad.

Powell also has been very active in enlisting committee members' support against a plan for Democratic House leaders to divide the committee into a House Labor Committee and a House Education Committee, each with its own chairman and staff.

He has warned the leaders that he will make an all-out floor fight if they go through with their proposed change.

NOTE: At Senator Kennedy's request, Powell is planning a series of speeches blasting the circulation of anti-Catholic literature against the Democratic presidential nominee. His first speech will be in Baltimore, Md., on September-11 before a group of Baptist ministers.

ROSY REPORT — Labor Secretary James Mitchell has cheered up Vice President Nixon with some good news on unemployment. In a report sent to the Republican presidential nominee in the Army's Walter Reed Hospital, Mitchell forecasts a drop of one million in the nation's jobless by election time. He estimates that by the end of October unemployment will stand at 3 million compared to 4 million jobs in July.

The figures for August, to be published later this week, will show a drop of nearly 500,000 in the unemployed, according to the report.

HEALTH NOTES — The mysterious, elusive virus that causes hepatitis is getting ready to stir itself into epidemic activity. The U.S. Public Health Service is preparing a warning of a new outbreak this month. Those most susceptible, according to PHS doctors, are children under 5, who get mild and often undetectable cases, and pregnant women, who are likely to have severe attacks.

Aspirin, the nation's favorite headache remedy, has just been found to possess unexpected benefits for asthmatics. Research done for the National Institutes of Health shows that small doses of aspirin (one tablet every six hours) taken daily can reduce cholesterol and relieve the symptoms of diabetes.

The Doctor Says:

DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN

I have finally come across a report on alcoholics and alcoholism with which I find myself in complete sympathy. Friends and relatives of the alcoholic says a booklet issued by the Grinnell County Medical Society of Flint, Mich., "can either delay or advance the alcoholic's progress toward sobriety."

They delay his progress by babying him, protecting him and otherwise making him the center of attention. They arouse his resentment, heighten his feeling of guilt and fear, and increase his desire, and need to drink if they nag, scold, threaten, hide his liquor supply and lecture him on how he is making others suffer for his weakness.

They hasten his progress toward sobriety when they treat him like an adult, let him know that he must come to realize for himself that drinking isn't worth its cost, and that no price is too great to pay for release from the need of drink.

Like all other experienced physicians, my dealings with alcoholics has led me to feel that alcohol is a most wasteful life. I have never felt free to subscribe to the views of apologists for the alcoholic who excuse him on the ground that he is sick, lonely, rejected and the like. There are altogether too many sober persons in the ranks of the sick, lonely and rejected to give this excuse validity.

With very rare exception, the alcoholics I've known over the years have been spoiled, self-indulgent, selfish and inconsiderate people who've exploited their weakness to gain unlimited attention (like the bedwetting infant), or to drag to their own low level those who foolishly condescend to waste their worldly goods and love on them.

I believe the signal successes of Alcoholics Anonymous are primarily attributable to the reformer who drank, who having been through the mill, is privy to all his ruses and dodges to which the next resort. Like the bedwetter, the alcoholic will continue to lash as long as his inhibiting gains him the attention he craves but does not merit. And, at risk of oversimplification, we'll begin to have second thoughts when he discovers that lying in a wet bed is uncomfortable and will prolong continuing the immediate presence, the tenderness, the unimpeded rebukes or the feeble padding of loved ones.

Fair Enough

That Not So Fine Danish System

Any ambitious person who gives the least intelligent thought to the condition of the Danes in a homeland accursed by the socialistic fetters of mediocrity, monotony and frustration must sorrow for poor devils impounded in that smirking hell and envy, by a shade, even a convict serving life in a dungeon. The convict clanking his chains to the window where his bread and water are shoved through, is not mocked by any pretense of the warden that he ought to be happy because others in the same tier are not better off. On the contrary, the warden agrees this wretched wretch has little to thank him for.

Tourists now returning from the pretty, post-card enchantment of Copenhagen and the carpet-sized expanse of the state of Denmark will be happily deceived by their impressions of thousands of the most beautiful blonde children ever seen on earth, of pickled delicacies, anguive, a beer of special savor, cheese, bacon and the quaintness of a musical comedy country.

But if one could look into the souls of the Danes a terrible, inevitable melancholy would be seen darkening the eyes of many. It is their motto and their boast that Denmark is a land "where few have too much and fewer too little." It is, in other words, a land where mediocrity limits the rewards of superior persons and the suicides number 1,800 a year in a population of 4,500,000. Five hundred try to end it all every year in Copenhagen alone, which has about one-fourth of the total population.

And speaking of the capital, one per cent of the population, including all those figurine children, are examined every year for lunacy of some degree. If the standards of sanity were higher the statistics might be gloomier because the political boss of enforced-frustration obviously augurs ill for the peace of mind of a people noted for their adventurous history and their strong individual personality under normal conditions.

The tourist's diet is not for the Danes. Mothers must go out to work, parking children in state kennels by the day in the Russian method. And the whole damned, mocking paradise can be seen in two days, and thereafter to the end of life is just a repetition of a stereotyped.

These figures on the rate of self-destruction were brought to my notice in an essay by my colleague E. F. Tompkins, of the New York Journal-American, during a swish through Copenhagen last year. Accordingly, I called on the Office of Public Affairs and was told that, although the suicide rate per capita seemed large, comparisons were deceptive. How could one rely on the figures for Soviet countries, for example? And wasn't it likely that Italy, being Catholic, would attribute some suicides to traffic mishaps which in that mad land are high enough to justify suspicion?

I found resistance to the whole topic, but not for any moral reason. The reason was political. Although Denmark has a state religion and the clergy have clerical duties in the strict meaning of that word, she has developed, in common with her Scandinavian sister, an apathy toward some phases of Christian morality including virginity and celibacy.

The Office of Public Affairs objected only to the implied aspersion on the socialist ceiling on the rewards of superior men and the floor under the status of the not-so-good.

Mr. Tompkins related that Dr. George Sturup, addressing the World Federation for Mental Health in Copenhagen recently, had said: "As you advance in life you see that everything is cut and dried. For the individual, everything has been foreseen. One's family needs aren't bother about the details and the cost of burying one." He therefore blamed "intellectual lassitude leading to melancholy" for a despair unsuspected by the happy tourist absorbing cake and coffee on the terrace or the Angletier.

Dr. said Oya Jensen, a Danish director of social service, "our young people go elsewhere to seek the competition which has been extinguished at home."

To this point I recall the personal problem of a young woman assigned by the foreign office to expedite my inquiries. She was through college now, checkable through the immediate presence, the tenderness, the unimpeded rebukes or the feeble padding of loved ones.

Aerial Inspection May Be Offered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower is expected to present to the United Nations next week a sweeping plan for U.N.
aerial inspection to guard against surprise attack anywhere in the world.
High officials said today the President also might suggest a new "Food for Peace" plan under which nations with agricultural surpluses would help feed the hungry masses of less privileged countries.
Eisenhower disclosed Wednesday that he had decided to ad-

Youth Center Bids In Excess Of Estimate

Pampa Youth and Community Center board members yesterday turned down eight bids to construct the proposed building, since the lowest bid was well in excess of the expected cost.
W. and W. Construction Co. of
Pampa, offered the lowest bid, $228,500. Board members, though, expect the building to cost in the neighborhood of $150,000 to $170,000, thus they refused to let the contract.
Dr. Joe R. Donaldson, chairman of the board, was out of the city today and could not be reached for comment. However, it is believed the board will try to negotiate with the two low bidders in an attempt to reach an agreement. If this is not possible, a new bid date probably will be set.
Land on Kentucky street just west of Hobart has been obtained as the site of the building, which officials believe is one of the major needs of the city.

Pilots End Month In Space Cabin

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—
Two Air Force pilots stepped out of their space cabin today after a make-believe space flight of more than a month and said their only problem was when they ran out of oatmeal.
The two pilots, Capt. William
D. Habluetzel, 38, Ingleside, Tex., and 1st Lt. John J. Hargreaves,
30, of Castle Air Force Base,
Calif., spent 30 days, 8 hours and 26 minutes, a world's record, in the 12-by-8 foot capsule at the Air Force's School of Aviation Medicine.
