Floods Rake South Central Texas, Killing At Least Nine Persons; Austin Hard Hit

Cal Poly Grid Team Reported Aboard

Plane With 48 Aboard Crashes

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—A chartered commercial flight with 48 aboard, reportedly carrying the California Polytechnic College football team back to the West coast, crashed Saturday night on a steep, wooded hillside, killing at least nine persons.

The two-engine C46 plane burst into flames. It crashed at the eastern edge of Toledo Express airport in a dense fog.

The Lucas County sheriff's office and the State Highway Patrol said they had unconfirmed reports that the plane carried the San Luis Obispo, Calif., football players.

The sheriff's office said there were some survivors but it had no number.

Fifty minutes after the plane had crashed at 11:25 p.m., EDI the two hospitals closest to the airport, 15 miles outside of the city, had not received any survivors.

Hospital spokesmen said the ambulances may have been delayed by an extremely dense fog which made visibility about zero.

The California Polytechnic Team played Bowling Green State University at Bowling Green, Ohio, about 15 miles south of here, Saturday afternoon.

The sheriff's office said it understood the team was aboard the chartered plane which it said was an Arctic Pacific flight. The flight number was 124-N.

The Cal Poly team had taken off in the chartered plane from Santa Maria, Calif., Thursday for (See PLANE, Page 4)

REUNITED — Mrs. Walter Sears and her daughter, Cynthia, are reunited with her husband in San Antonio after they were taken hostage by an escaped convict, Curtis Lee Jones, at their home in Aledo, Mrs. Sears said she quoted scriptures to Jones during the ride from Aledo to San Antonio and they were left unharmed in South San Antonio when he ran from the car.

Prediction For More Heavy Rain In Area

By United Press International

Flash floods, set off by torrential rains, drowned at least nine persons in South Central Texas Friday night and inflicted an estimated $2.5 million worth of damage upon the capital city of Austin. No part of Austin escaped; some parts of the city were drenched with as much as 10 inches of rain. An estimated 1,000 homes were flooded.

The Fort Worth Weather Bureau issued a severe thunderstorm and tornado forecast from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday for a North Central Texas section covering the northern portion of Wise county and the northwest half of Cooke county.

The victims drowned at three points:

At Albert, where a car with an Odessa family was swept into a flooding creek. Carl T. Smith, 35; his wife, Junieta, 27; their son, Gary, 7, and their 13-year-old niece, Patsy Darlene Lewis, were drowned. Ronnie Earl Smith, 12, managed to survive by clinging to a tree.

At Giddings, where a state highway department truck was trying to tow an automobile to safety from a bridge over Elm Creek on Farm Road 1824. A flood swept the car into the creek, drowning Oscar Blasig, 60; his wife, Ella, 60, both of Giddings, and Dorothy Lorraine Marburger, 18, of Lexington. Charles Blasig, 24, of Giddings was rescued from a tree.

At Austin, where an automobile ran into deep water on Bee Caves Road and drowned Alice Beckwith, 24, and Effie McJenkins, 50.

S. J. Daigl, 65, of Port Arthur, was an indirect victim of the weather. His car and another automobile collided in a blinding rain near Beaumont Friday night, killing him and critically injuring his wife, Annie.

The Weather Bureau at San Antonio reported that the rains raised the Upper Blanco, Guadalupe and San Marcos Rivers, in addition to many creeks.

It said moderate rises were due in the Medina and San Antonio Rivers and on Cibola Creek and that the Cibola should flood northeast of San Antonio.

Suspect In Coors Death Is Captured

Surrenders At Vancouver Hotel

VANCOUVER, B. C. (UPI) — Joseph Corbett Jr., convicted killer and prison escape artist long sought for the kidnap-slaying of millionaire Colorado brewer Adolph Coors III, was seized without a fight in a hotel room Saturday by local police and FBI agents.

Corbett, 32, who had a priority position on both the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and FBI most wanted lists, made no attempt to use his pistol as officers closed in.

Colorado authorities have charged Corbett with kidnap and murder in the slaying of Coors, prominent Golden, Colo., industrialist who was abducted and shot in the back in the Rocky Mountains last winter.

In Washington, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the search for Corbett had been centered in Canada since the FBI learned recently that he had been in the Toronto and Winnipeg areas. Two weeks ago, he was traced to a Toronto motel, but he already had fled, leaving his hotel room in a shambles.

The tip-off that Corbett was in Vancouver, 3,000 miles from Toronto, came when Vancouver police constable John Marshall recognized his car parked outside the west end hotel from a wanted circular.

FBI agents were flown into Canada to aid in the arrest. The arrest technically was made by the Canadian authorities.

Corbett was taken to Vancouver jail where Canadian and U. S. officials consulted on legal moves to return him to the United States.

Victory Fete For UF Drive Is Postponed

The proposed victory luncheon for the Pampa-Lefors United Fund campaign has been postponed, Melvin Munn, campaign chairman, announced yesterday.

"The fund total as of today is $39,377.61 and, although we expect to gain the goal in the next few weeks, we are setting aside the luncheon until a later date," Munn said.

Meantime, the City Improvement Club, headed by Mrs. Sam Motley, who also is the club's representative in the United Fund campaign, delivered cakes and other bakery goods throughout the city Saturday that the club members prepared for sale to raise funds for the drive.

The club furnished the ingredients and all monies received will be turned over to the fund.

TEC Office To New Location

The Texas Employment Commission is moving its office to 823 W. Francis, according to an announcement by William Ragsdale, manager. It will be open for business as usual Monday at its regular hours 8 to 5 daily except Saturday.

"The new quarters at Francis will allow ample parking space for applicants and employers, and will be more convenient for them," Ragsdale stated.

W. German Parliament Member Arrested As Spy For Commies

BONN, Germany (UPI) — West Germany announced Saturday that a Socialist member of Parliament with access to NATO missile secrets has been arrested on charges of spying for the Communists.

The Interior Ministry said Alfred Frenzel, 61, deputy from Bavaria and member of the parliamentary defense committee, was arrested Friday shortly after he was seen passing secret documents to two "agents of an eastern intelligence service."

The two alleged Red agents were arrested as one of them tried to get away on a trip to deliver the secret materials to his employers, official sources disclosed.

Frenzel was arrested in the Parliament building where he had just heard Chancellor Konrad Adenauer tell a meeting of refugees that "never in centuries has freedom been so endangered as now."

As a member of the defense committee, Frenzel had access to secret data concerning the arming of the West German Bundeswehr with missiles — including the 700 mile range Matador missile, as well as the Mace and Nike-Hercules rockets.

Among the most important information revealed to the committee were sections of NATO's "MC-70" defense program applying to the West German forces MC-70—the NATO build-up program through 1963—has been called the Atlantic alliance's "most secret document."

Frenzel would have known how Bundeswehr forces were to be deployed in case of enemy attack.

It was thought likely that he also might have known the approximate location of the nuclear warheads which could be provided for the rockets in event of war.

Frenzel's arrest occurred only a few hours after the Interior Ministry announced the arrest earlier this week of eight persons it said were Communist spies assigned to gather information about the Defense Ministry and Western Allied offices in Bonn.

One of the group was a woman secretary employed in the Ministry of Defense.

Informed sources said that Frenzel also was suspected of having spied on his own Social Democratic Party.

It was recalled that the Communist East German newspaper Neues Deutschland published details of a closed socialist meeting last June before they were known in Bonn. At the meeting, the party decided to change its anti-NATO policy.

Frenzel, a member of Parliament since 1953, was the first West German deputy to be accused of spying.

Canadian Foliage Tour Is Expected To Draw Many

CANADIAN — The largest crowd ever to tour the Canadian area is expected today when the Chamber of Commerce sponsored foliage tour is conducted.

This was the opinion yesterday of Malouf Abraham, chairman of the tour committee, who said an estimated 4,500 persons rode and strolled along the banks of the Canadian River and in the Lake Marvin area last week, to far surpass the attendance of other years.

Saturday's attendance was estimated at 350, following a discussion of tour officials.

Although this was a small figure, it was expected. Abraham said that "Sunday is the day we expect to be the big one. The weather is excellent and we are well prepared to take care of our visitors."

To point up this last, he noted that all drug stores are open and several of the restaurants are to be open throughout the day.

Two more attractions have been added — a head and heel roping contest is being promoted by the Canadian Roping Club at their regular contest site at the north edge of town, and the famed Mitchell Seven-Up Ranch will show its fine string of quarter horses which includes Beaver Creek, the 16-year-old stallion with an artificial leg, and the only horse known to have such "equipment."

One other feature will be included in the closing day's attractions.

This will be a western museum and an adjacent concession stand which will be operated by the Canadian Lions Club at the lake.

The sponsoring organization, highly elated with the first week's turnout, pointed to the vivid coloring of the foliage last week, and to its continued deepening throughout the week as added incentive for people to make the tour.

The annual attraction has drawn residents from some 40 cities and towns of the Golden Spread and from nearby states, with the majority of out-of-state visitors coming from Oklahoma.

"We hope our visitors will bring along binoculars to view the deer and turkey which abound in the fields of this area," said Abraham.

Many of the visitors are artists. This new attraction in the Canadian event has special awards for Golden Spread artists, and for color camera pictures taken by people making the tour.

Ceremony Planned For Youth Center

A ground-breaking ceremony will be conducted Monday to begin construction of the Pampa Youth and Community Center, Dr. Joe Donaldson Youth Center president, said yesterday.

"I think we should have one. We'll probably have the details and time for the event tomorrow," the doctor said last night.

The structure, a $150,000 building, will be erected on a 10-acre tract between Harvester and Kentucky streets, and will be situated near the Harvester and Faulkner streets intersection.

Angry Candidates Call Off TV Debate Negotiations

By LEON BURNETT
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiations for another nationwide TV debate between the presidential candidates collapsed Saturday Vice President Richard M. Nixon demanded that rival John F. Kennedy apologize for "bad faith" charges, and the senator bluntly refused to do so.

Each candidate accused the other of being unwilling to go before the television public for a fifth exchange on campaign issues.

Fred Scribner Jr., Nixon's debate negotiator, called an official halt to the talks in a telegram to J. Leonard Reinsch, his counterpart in the Kennedy organization.

"There can be no further negotiations unless Sen. Kennedy apologizes for the charge of bad faith which has been made and withdraws his ill-adviced ultimatum," he said.

Kennedy, who had demanded that Nixon give him a final answer on debate arrangements by Saturday night, gave this reply from the campaign platform in Pennsylvania:

"Mr. Nixon can debate or not debate—I'm not going to drag him up in front of the microphone."

The senator flatly denied the Nixon charge that he and his aides had violated agreements on the debate negotiations three times within the past two days.

The Democratic nominee insisted he had met all Nixon's conditions, including a restriction limiting the subject to Cuba, and (See CANDIDATES, Page 4)

Tower, GOP

Solon To Be Here Monday

Texas Republican candidate for U.S. senator, John G. Tower of Wichita Falls, will be in Pampa Monday on his third and final campaign swing through the Panhandle and address a Republican rally at county campaign headquarters, 119 W. Foster, at 3:30 p.m.

Tower and his traveling companion, Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.), will arrive in Pampa at Perry Field at 3 p.m.

At 3:45, Tower will make a radio address, to be followed by a question-and-answer session. It is believed that Sen. Bush will participate in the question answering.

Tower hopes to unseat Sen. Lynn B. Johnson in his first attempt at politics. He is a former professor of political science at Midwestern University at Wichita Falls.

The candidate's itinerary for the Panhandle visit was not announced.

Carubbi Named MD Drive Chief

Attorney A. J. Carubbi Jr. will lead the annual Pampa drive for muscular dystrophy, Robert Carahan, president of the Panhandle Chapter, Muscular Dystrophy Association of America Inc., said yesterday.

The organization makes its annual drive on Thanksgiving Day. The Pampa drive is a part of the national campaign to raise money for research to find methods to combat this malady.

"Many civic, social and fraternal organizations will join the fund raising effort, Carubbi said.

Purposeful Halloween

Halloween, which once was the day when people wore masks to scare away evil spirits, has become a symbol of aid to needy children in the last few years, and Pampa youngsters will be doing their part Monday night to help needy youngsters overseas when they trudge the streets throughout the city to solicit funds for UNICEF.

UNICEF, an organization to help youngsters in foreign lands, last year realized $1,500,000 in nickels, pennies and dimes, with more than $1,000 being gathered by Pampa children. This year, though, the youngsters, in setting aside "trick or treat" night to march for the needy, expect to boost the total much higher.

The Rev. David Mills, pastor of Lamar Christian Church, and chairman of the UNICEF committee, said his organization believes the children will exceed last year's donation total, and that service clubs and the Pampa High School student council is joining in the camaign to promote the importance of UNICEF.

"This will mark the eighth time a UNICEF drive has been conducted in Pampa. We expect it to be the best ever," said the Rev. Mr. Mills.

Headquarters for the drive is located on Ballard across the street from the First Methodist Church, and it has been appropriately decorated for the event. The headquarters is open daily and will be open Monday from 4 p.m. until the drive ends Monday night.

Despite Negro In Cabinet Issue

Lodge's Foreign Affairs Background
Gives GOP Ticket Lift It Counted On

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
En Route with Lodge (NEA) — Henry Cabot Lodge's strong foreign affairs stand still marks him a prime asset to Vice President Nixon's ticket despite differences between the two men on a civil rights issue.

Until the tall New Englander called for a Negro in the Cabinet, his warmly received, campaigning stirred nothing but astonished pleasure in the Nixon camp.

Today Nixon and his strategists are unhappy at this turn, especially since Lodge repeated his call after the Vice President disavowed the idea. The two had just conferred on this and other matters, though close strategic coordination between them had not earlier been rated necessary.

Nixon's concern is with rising southern disapproval of Lodge's suggestion. Yet most observers feel that in those southern and border states where the Republicans have a chance to break through, this development will not prove decisive. The enduring fact about Lodge's role in the presidential battle is that he appears to be giving his ticket the lift he was put there to accomplish.

On the political platform he makes a quick sale. His mere presence fixes his identity in the voter's mind. Millions recognize him as the man who coolly outpointed the Communists in the U.N. over the past eight years.

Yet time has shown that he offers his party even more than his established authority in foreign affairs.

His patrician, courtly manner draws friendly smiles from most who see him. He captivates many women, though some observers feel that among these he has a break-over point of 25 years. Below that age they mostly belong to Sen. John F. Kennedy.

As a campaigner the former U.N. ambassador is an odd mixture. His sudden, sunny smile brings wrinkles around his eyes and nose. But the face can turn frosty when he talks of an adversary. His delivery sometimes is shyly halting. Still he tries such homey touches as these:

"I've been sitting out here listening to the Mineral Springs High School band and your Dixieland group. I want to congratulate them. And I must say it's a great way to get yourself in the mood for a speech."

Then he slams out his campaign message with force and conviction. "The Communists want to take over the world. The United States will see that they don't. To do so we must not only be strong militarily but must help other nations to emerge from poverty and distress, must practice what we preach in human rights, must put upon our country the mark of a superior civilization to draw others to the cause of freedom."

"To achieve these ends we need an experienced captain on the bridge. We have such a man in Richard Nixon, a man of tremendous energy, rich, unparalleled experience, a tough, penetrating intellect. And he is deeply imbued with our country's ideals."

All this underscores the big Nixon claim: superior experience in handling Khrushchev and world issues.

But, in addition to the question of a Negro in the cabinet, Lodge has diverged from the Vice President in another less noticed way.

From the outset the Vice President has laid heavy stress on his success in the so-called kitchen debate with Khrushchev. Lodge acknowledges the value of debate in showing Communism lies before the world. But he goes beyond:

"Debates are not all. I don't want to paint a rosy picture. The world is a dangerous place, with the outlook often grim. . . We must not just debate the Russians but must stand up and do better than they in everything that pertains to the human race."

No strong sign exists, though, that Lodge's respectful, appreciative listeners see in his definition of "standing up to the Russians" any important disparity with the Vice President.

"His mere presence fixes his identity in the voters mind."

Six Oil Wells
In Last Week

AUSTIN (UPI)—Six oil discoveries were reported in Texas last week by the State Railroad Commission.

Lone wildcats produced oil in the San Antonio and Houston areas, while the Refugio and San Angelo districts listed two oil discoveries.

Two gas finds were made in the Houston District and one in the Corpus Christi area. There were 52 dusters.

The commission granted 307 regular drilling applications to make a total of 12,977 for the year compared with 16,102 for the same period in 1959.

There were 177 oil and 79 gas well completions and 79 dry holes. Total for the year was raised to 8,224 oil and 1,695 gas completions compared with 9,680 and 1,554 respectively, for 1959.

The commission said there was an increase of 112 in the number of active wells in the state, for a new total of 197,090. Average calendar day allowable increased 7,602 barrels to 2,634,358.

Rain, Cold
Hurt Cotton;
Wheat Good

AMARILLO (UPI) — Cool weather and heavy rains have damaged cotton and delayed its maturity but Texas' 1960 winter wheat crop is up to a good stand, the Santa Fe crop report said Saturday.

Picking of cotton is nearing completion in most of the southern parts of the state, but maturity has been delayed in the High Plains by cool temperatures.

Rains have wrought undetermined damage to unpicker cotton.

R. I. Cross, Santa Fe agriculture agent, said the record sorghum crop was practically harvested in all but the High Plains.

Harvesting of lettuce and carrots continued in the High Plains with harvest of tomatoes in the Mule-shoe, Floydada and Dell City areas almost finished.

The Texas rice crop was finished in the early part of the month.

The report said the peanut harvest neared completion with a record yield of 775 pounds per acre appearing likely.

Nixon Lacks Trust In The People, Kennedy Tells Pennsylvania Folk

By WILLIAM THEIS
United Press International
VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UPI)—Sen. John F. Kennedy brought his campaign for a "new frontier" to the once "cold and bitter frontier of American independence" Saturday with a charge that Vice President Richard M. Nixon lacks trust in the people.

The Democratic presidential candidate said the nation cannot meet the frontier of the 1960s with "soft complacency, a satisfaction with things as they are, or a commitment to the past."

Kennedy climaxed a day of campaigning in the rain in Philadelphia suburbs with a speech at a Democratic fund raising dinner at Valley Forge, where George Washington held the line against the British in the Revolutionary War.

He drew big, enthusiastic crowds in a motorcade tour through usually Republican areas of eastern Pennsylvania as he stressed the state of the nation's prestige.

Kennedy attracted thousands of persons, many of them women, who ignored the rain to seek a glimpse of him as he toured Lawrence Park, Chester, Upper Merion and other points.

Large crowds swarmed around his open convertible. In Chester, a woman pulled so hard on his right hand that there were fears he had been hurt, but he continued to gesture to make his points in speeches.

Kennedy's only concession to the rain was to wear a hat. It was the first time persons in his party could recall his having done so during the campaign.

Kennedy said Nixon and his party are "unwilling to entrust the people of the country with general facts" about American prestige abroad, its position in defense and space, and the state of its economy.

"What we need is neither optimism or pessimism — what we need is to be honest with ourselves," Kennedy said.

Kennedy was to fly to Washington for an overnight stop before resuming his campaign in Philadelphia early Sunday afternoon.

Tentative plans for a fifth television debate between Kennedy and Nixon, which it had been expected would be held in Philadelphia Monday night, went out the window when the Nixon camp refused to accept a Saturday deadline for final agreement.

Veteran Law Enforcement Officer Dies

Napoleon DeWitt Cambern, 78, of 823 Roberta, died at 4:45 p.m. Friday in his home following an illness of several months.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday in St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, with the Rev. Fr. William E. West, rector of the church, officiating.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

The late Mr. Cambern, known to his many friends in Pampa as Dan, was Gray County court bailiff, and was a former sheriff of Young County and a deputy sheriff of Hutchinson County, prior to moving to Pampa in 1940.

He was born Aug. 24, 1882 in Tarrant County and lived in that area prior to moving to Stinnett in 1929.

The late Mr. Cambern is survived by his wife, Clara; four sons, Dane of Pampa, Walter of Borger, H. C. of Elkhart, Kan., and Kenneth H. of Beaver, Okla.; three daughters, Mrs. R. E. Madrox and Mrs. Cameron Marsis, both of Pampa, Mrs. Victor Shawgo of Amarillo; a sister, Mrs. Dora Wooten of Ardmore, Okla.; 24 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Duenkel Carmichael Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

THE PINK OF PERFECTION

Pink has recently become one of fashion's favorites—especially in home interiors. One of the reasons for this is that it combines so well with so many other colors, and is appropriate in almost any room in the home.

When we think of pink we are often inclined to limit it to a pale camellia shade. But today's smart pinks run a gamut of hues from deep dramatic shocking pink through the pale pastel shades. Between we find a new shade called Winter Pink—sandalwood brown with pink overtones, the apricot pinks, and the wide range of lilac pinks.

Pale lilac pink and sage green compose an interesting and novel color scheme for a small living room. The brown pinks accented with black and white are excellent in rooms where a sophisticated effect is desired.

In a bedroom for the young—and the young in heart—there's nothing quite like the combination of soft camellia pink and French

Thut Cites Vote Rule By Wilson

A state voting law has been pointed out by Charley Thut, Gray County clerk, who received the clarification of State Attorney General Will Wilson yesterday.

"The attorney general's decision is that a person must vote in the county he resides in, and should he move shortly before an election he loses the right to vote on local issues," said Thut.

Wilson determined that to be a qualified voter a person must reside in Texas for at least one year and must have resided in a district or county six months when he votes.

The voter may cast his ballot in state and district races, but is prohibited from voting for county or precinct offices if he has resided for six months in a defined district of the state which includes the county of his former residence and the county of his new residence.

Thut said Wilson concluded his finding by noting that a person who does not meet the requirements for six months residence in a district or county is not eligible to vote for any office.

9 Cubans Hijack Airliner

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—Eight passengers and the co-pilot on a Cuban airliner bound for the Isle of Pines killed an army guard in an aerial gun battle Saturday and forced the wounded pilot to fly them to political asylum here.

The guard, one of those the Fidel Castro regime has stationed aboard all Cuban airliners to prevent such hijacking, was killed by a burst from his own tommygun. The pilot, co-pilot and a 14-year-old boy passenger were wounded.

There were 38 persons aboard the twin-engine, DC3, three crew members, the guard, and 34 passengers when it took off from Havana about 7:25 a.m. (EST).

The pilot, Candelario Delgado, his right arm shattered by a bullet just above the elbow, landed the plane safely. It bounced drunkenly down the runway and ran off the end of the airstrip but remained upright and undamaged.

Edward P. Ahrens, district U.S. immigration supervisor at Miami, said only nine aboard, including co-pilot Gabriel Carasco, were involved in the hijack. He said these nine requested political asylum.

"Two who were not involved but are glad to be here also want to stay," he said.

Ahrens said the remainder, 26 persons, planned to return with the airplane to Cuba.

"We have no objection to their doing so," he said.

Ahrens said no names would be disclosed, and that the 11 who elected to stay in the United States might be held in custody over the weekend.

Ahrens said the Aerovias airliner took off for the 35-minute hop from Havana to the Isles of Pines at 7:25 a.m.

Where Is Dr. Harvey Today?

Dr. T. DeWitt Harvey, head of the Gray County Heart Association, today is probably attending to his patients or mulling over ideas to promote the organization to which he devotes much time.

This is a serious matter to the young physician. He has stressed the importance of knowledge of what is being done to combat the killer of more people than any other disease known to man in lectures and news releases throughout the area, and it is without doubt that he will continue to do so.

Dr. Harvey heads this agency which is one of the seven which will benefit from the Pampa-Lefors United Fund campaign, and has associates who are well versed in explaining the threat of a heart condition and what can be done to offset this health problem. "One can't know enough about heart diseases. But one must appreciate the fact that this disease proves fatal to more people than any two diseases combined," said the doctor.

Although it still is the nation's major killer, scientists have through long years of study, uncovered means by which it can be held in check. Efforts here have assisted this work through donations from the Gray County Heart Association to the Texas Heart Association and the national unit. This Dr. Harvey says, "We proud to be doing our part to overcome these conditions which are a constant threat to the residents of this community and the nation."

Sen. Kennedy To Visit Amarillo

Senator John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential candidate, and his running mate, Senator Lyndon Johnson, will be in Amarillo Thursday where Kennedy is slated to make a major campaign speech.

The candidates are scheduled to arrive at Amarillo Municipal Airport at 2:30 p.m. and Kennedy will speak from that point, according to information received from Democratic state headquarters at Austin.

Following the speech the pair are scheduled to fly to Wichita Falls for a campaign talk there.

Soil Conference Here Monday

Soil conservation authorities from throughout the state, headed by W. S. Gibbs, president of the Texas State Soil Conservation District, will convene here at 10 a.m. tomorrow at 10 a.m. for a leadership training meeting.

The session will be held in the Gray County Courthouse Annex east of Pampa on U.S. Highway 60, and will feature talks by some of the outstanding soil conservation experts of the state.

A luncheon will be served by the Gray County Soil Conservation District members, the host organization.

Americanism Lecture Monday

The Legislative and National Affairs Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will present the fourth in a series of lectures on Americanism at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Robert E. Lee Junior High School auditorium.

The speaker, Dr. F. W. Matto, president of Lubbock Christian College, will use as his topic "The Socialist-Communist Relationship." The lecture is free and the public is invited to attend.

11. Johnson. He was elected to the House in 1937 at 28. Kennedy was 29 and Nixon 33 when they won their first elections to the House.

12. The election of 1908. William H. Taft, secretary of war, defeated William Jennings Bryan, editor, author and former congressman.

13. Warren G. Harding, elected president in 1920, was the only man in history to be elected president while serving as a U.S. senator.

14. None is correct. A vice president has not moved to the White House through the election route for 124 years.

Farm Export Business Last Year Was Best

GAYLORD P. GODWIN,
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States sold its overseas farmers a greater volume of products in fiscal 1960 than in any previous year.

The export volume was 29 per cent above the level in 1959 and 10 per cent above the previous record in 1957. Exports of several commodities for dollars added for nearly all of the rise in new peak. Exports under tied government-financed programs increased only slightly. Value, exports in fiscal 1960 reached $4.53 billion, up 22 per cent from the $3.72 billion in 1959.

This value was only $201 million less than the record of $4.73 billion in 1957, when exports were stepped up because of the Suez crisis and the economic boom in Western Europe.

Dollar sales represented 71 per cent of farm - product exports. They totaled $3.2 billion, $800 million more than the previous year's $2.4 billion and represented the second largest dollar-sales value in history. Of total agricultural products, 29 per cent moved out under special programs, mainly the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act, known as PL 480.

The Comedians — 3

Skelton Gets That Last Laugh

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Over the years, comedians like Red Skelton work out routines to use for almost every commonplace situation. The bits get them out of spots which could be embarrassing.

Because of their trade, comedians are supposed to be funny people. Some are, some aren't. But they all must continue to give that illusion. It would never do for a comedian to treat his public as Frank Sinatra, for example, does.

Red Skelton says the vast majority of people won't bother him. They'll smile or call a greeting, and he'll smile and wave back. But children aren't that inhibited. Red says it's a rare day that some child doesn't approach him with that dreadful dare, "Make me laugh."

"I have two stock gags for that situation," Red says. "I may say, 'Hey, look, you have two feet—one on each leg.' It's silly, but the children always laugh at it. Or I'll ask them if they had lunch yet. They'll say no, and I'll say, 'You should have a banana—they don't have any bones.' That's another one that somehow tickles the little ones."

The routine varies with adults, of course. Mostly, Red is accosted by grown-ups who ask for autographs.

"Whenever I autograph something for someone," he says, "almost inevitably somebody in the crowd will say, 'How about autographing a check next?' Then I always tell them a story about a show I did at Sing-Sing. After it was over, I signed autographs for the inmates and one man said, 'Red, when I get out I'll use that to forge a check.' I told him it was OK—I had no money in the bank anyway. So another man said, 'I'll make you some.' That really happened, too, and it always makes a hit with the autograph crowd."

Red like most comedians, gets hundreds of unsolicited contributions. Almost everyone thinks he has a good sense of humor, and will approach the nearest comedian with his latest joke. Skelton says he gets a big kick out of this, especially when he's offered jokes which he himself originated.

"When I was MGM," he says, "I used to test this. I'd get to the studio in the morning, and throw some gag line at the guard on the gate. By 10, somebody would tell it to me. By noon, the gag line had grown into a full-fledged joke. By two in the afternoon, it was dirty. And when I left, the same guard would tell me this great big dirty joke, which had grown out of the simple gag line I'd thrown at him in the morning."

From all this, it's obvious that a comedian has to be a good student of human nature. Skelton thinks this is a prime requisite of a comedian.

"A comedian," he says, "has to know his fellow man so well that he can imitate him perfectly, without hating him."

"You have to understand what people like and dislike. Comedians understand this better than comedy writers, I think. The writers have a tendency to stick with a routine that is easy to write. You find yourself doing the same type of comedy, week after week. This wasn't so bad on radio—I used the 'I dood it' routine for years and it was fine. And it's not so bad in person, when the audience can see you right in front of them."

"But it's murder on TV. You can't do the same kind of routine too often. Like Gleason and 'The Honeymooners'—he did it too often and the public got tired of it. If he did it every six weeks, it would be fine. The public would be hungry for it. But he did it every week and the man in the living room said, 'Ah, that's the same old stuff—turn that thing off!"

Red admits he has had trouble along those lines, with writers who insisted on sticking with one character for him. By now, he has created what he feels is a sufficiently varied stable of characters so that he can give the public the weekly change they apparently need.

"All this talk about comedy," he said. "Look, I want you to know that I'm really not an authority on comedy."

His pretty wife, Georgia, laughs at that.

"No," she says, "you're not an authority. You've only been a comedian for 38 years, that's all. No authority! Ha!"

Samuel M. Kier built the first oil refinery—a one-barrel still—in Pittsburgh in the early 1850's after a chemist advised him that distilling petroleum might produce an illuminant for lamps.

Some U.S. Scientists Offer Strong Case For Terminating Ban On Nuclear Testing

THIS UNDERGROUND atomic explosion in October, 1958, at the U.S. testing grounds in Nevada came just before the ban started.

By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — This is what some competent military and civilian scientists say the two-year-old voluntary ban on testing nuclear weapons may mean to U.S. military supremacy.

It has put a major roadblock in the way of developing the "clean," no-fallout "neutron" bomb which would reduce civilian deaths and cut back sharply the destruction of cities if war should come.

It has imposed a costly setback in the development of Army tactical weapons essential to give U.S. forces a chance against the large Communist armies in any small or big war.

It is forcing the U.S. to put its major strategic defense into Atlas and Titan missile systems that have never been tested with warheads.

If continued, the ban will prevent the U.S. from shifting completely from the fixed, highly-vulnerable Atlas and Titan to the mobile, relatively invulnerable Minuteman and Polaris. Warheads of the latter are too small to do some major jobs. They can't be developed to the necessary size without testing.

These scientists, who asked that their names not be used, are certain in their own minds that the Russians are breaking the test ban and are secretly testing underground.

They say they are convinced the Russians, once three years behind the U.S. in atomic weapons development, have closed that gap. They believe the Reds will soon forge ahead if the moratorium is continued.

The information on which they base their conclusions is secret. They cannot disclose it. Newspaper Enterprise, therefore, does not know how strong this "proof" is, how much their "certainty" is influenced by past history of broken Soviet promises.

Of course the decision to end or continue the ban involves political and diplomatic ones. The atomic control talks by their very length have raised world-wide hopes that disarmament is possible. The nation that appears to scuttle the talks will gain little but ill will in most of Asia, Africa and Western Europe.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev threatens to walk out of all disarmament talks, blaming the U.S. if we resume testing. State Department men remember the U-2 incident, how Khrushchev used it as an excuse to kill the Summit.

One of the major reasons the U.S. agreed to the ban was that President Eisenhower and his advisers believed it would build an atmosphere helpful to the control talks. Now, some of these advisers believe the moratorium may be hindering the agreement the U.S. seeks because Moscow has what it wants — a ban on testing but no controls.

Many State Department men now privately agree with the military scientists that time "is rapidly running out." Says one: "We must either be close to an agreement with adequate controls and inspection in a matter of months or we must resume testing."

But Sen. Hubert Humphrey's suggestion that a June 1961 deadline be placed on the talks is not popular with the diplomats. They think a seeming ultimatum would win enemies.

What State Department men say privately is this: Wait a little to see if the talks take a turn for the better. Then begin underground atomic testing to test on ways to detect underground explosions. These would not be weapons tests. If the Russians walk out of the talks as they've threatened, we'll be on safe ground internationally. It will be clear to all, the diplomats reason, that the Russians don't want a fair detection system.

If the Reds don't walk out, but continue to stall the talks, the State Department men figure we should take one further step: test the peaceful uses of atomic explosions. Then, they favor maneuvering the Russians into a corner at the talks to make it clear to the world the Reds don't want a real agreement, but want only to stall. Then would be the time to begin underground testing of nuclear weapons.

But the diplomats haven't quite figured out how to get Russia clearly in that corner.

Meanwhile, the U.S. scientists tell this story:

Several years ago the Communists were instructing their followers through the world that blocking atomic testing had top priority in Communist world aims. At that time, there is evidence the Soviet scientists were making strong preparations for underground testing. Since then there have been bits and pieces of evidence that "point to a strong probability" the Reds have been carrying out underground testing for some months, these U.S. scientists say.

There are several ways in which the Soviet Union could cover up underground explosions. They could set off explosions at the time of an earthquake shock wave. There are many earthquakes a year, so this would be no problem. Or the nuclear underground shot could be masked with a conventional blast.

Scientists have now discovered that an underground nuclear explosion can be made to show the external effect of a bomb 1,800 times smaller. This is done by putting the nuclear charge in a hole of a particular diameter. Then certain materials are put in that hole around the nuclear charge.

"So finding out for sure what the Reds are doing is next to impossible," says one worried and perplexed scientist.

Texas Traffic Fatalities Down

AUSTIN (UPI)—Five per cent fewer persons have been killed in Texas traffic this year than in the same period in 1959, the State Department of Public Safety said Saturday.

Its weekly morbidity report showed 1,432 fatal accidents so far in 1960 that resulted in the death of 1,763 persons.

Success Accomplished By Early Plan In Life

NEW YORK (UPI)—A plan of life he designed as an Indiana farmboy has led Raymond E. Umbaugh along a path from successful farmer to scientist to corporate executive.

His plan was a simple four-point program — research, earn capital, contribute to political progress, contribute to education. "I'm now in phase three," says Umbaugh, a young man in a hurry type who at 39 years of age lists the following among his varied accomplishments:

— He heads his own aircraft corporation which last week began mass production of the Umbaugh-18, a new hybrid aircraft that takes off vertically like a helicopter, but flies like an autogyro.

— He formed his own agricultural chemical company, which now is a multi-million dollar firm, with headquarters at Ocala, Fla.

— He conceived the idea for egg transfer in cattle, providing a means of gathering fertilized eggs from good cows and transferring them into the reproductive systems of scrub cows, where the eggs grow into prize calves.

— During his war service in the air corps, he aided in the development of an electronic sub-spotting device and development of an anti-fatigue pill for pilots.

After the war, Umbaugh drew on his farm heritage to create a new approach in soil fertility practice and crop yield.

Noting the trend to scientific farming and large farms and ranches, he applied a principle of soil analysis and tailor-made, prescription fertilizers and chemicals to big-scale operations. It was then he formed Umbaugh Agricultural Chemical company.

Using airplanes and helicopters instead of automobiles, he and his salesmen flew right into the farmer's backyard to tell their story, analyze soil and sell custom chemicals and fertilizers by the carload instead of the sack.

He then saw the need for a low cost aircraft for businessmen, farmers, professional men and technicians. He engaged the services of some of the nation's top aero engineers and they developed the Umbaugh-18, a rotary wing aircraft designed to sell for under $10,000.

"Keep it big and it will dominate," said Umbaugh, so he has set his first year schedule of production at 10,000 aircraft.

Industry experts regard his goal as unrealistic, pointing out that aircraft manufacturers in all of the United States produce only 6,500 aircraft annually, both private and commercial.

But already deposits have been made on more than 8,000 planes.

Most of the wood used in the manufacture of pencils comes from southern Oregon and northern California.

Finch Jury May Be Deadlocked

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Marathon deliberations by jurors at the second murder trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff have indicated they may be deadlocked.

But neither the prosecutors nor the defense attorneys would speculate that the case would end as a mistrial again.

At day's end Thursday, the talesmen had deliberated 39 hours and 15 minutes on murder charges against the couple, surpassing by two hours and 40 minutes discussions of the first jury which gave up March 12.

Finch, 43, and Miss Tregoff, 23, are accused of slaying the surgeon's wife, Barbara, 33, on July 18, 1959.

NEW HOPE FOR HARD OF HEARING

Boston, Mass., — Something new has just been announced. It is an electronic development designed for those who hear but who do not understand words. There is nothing in either ear. No dangling cords. No tubes. The sound vibrations are conducted right through the bones of the head to the inner ear, and right to your center of understanding. We have termed this process "Vibratory Sensory Conduction"—truly secret hearing.

The manufacturer has been able to produce a hearing device so small that many who wear it report "No one knows I have a hearing deficiency". It is said to be very reasonably priced.

Earth, Stars and Man (7) Fossils and Fancies

by Don Oakley and John Lane

For ages men had been familiar with fossils. Some of the Greeks had correctly surmised that they were the remains of organisms that once had flourished. But to medieval and Renaissance man, as he came across them in mines or as erosion washed them to the surface, they were freaks of nature, curiosities. The savants said they were caused by a "plastic force" in rocks which somehow imitated living forms.

In the 18th century, Swedish soldiers returning from Siberia after the war with Russia brought back tales of huge, shaggy beasts called mammoths which were frequently found well preserved in ice. In fact, their tusks were an important source of ivory and hunters' dogs fed on the flesh frozen for... who knew how many years?

The stories made little impression among the learned. One of the reasons was the soldiers' countryman, the great naturalist Carolus Linnaeus (Latin version of Carl von Linné). He considered all fossils to be merely stones and so classified them in his System of Nature. For nothing had perished or changed since Creation. After all, the infallible Aristotle had said so.

Otherwise, Linnaeus' life work performed a much needed service for early biology. For the first time, living things were arranged in an orderly manner, classified as to species, genus, family, etc. With corrections, it is the system used by biologists the world over today.

Man, too, was an animal, said Linnaeus—Homo sapiens—and was of the same order as the apes. But, of course, a separate creation.

Another man of the age, however, had other ideas. He was Georges Louis Leclerc, Comte de Buffon, whose Natural History filled 44 volumes. This director of the Royal Gardens in Paris liked to scandalize the ladies of the court of Louis XV by asserting that man was no more than a decadent ape and that the earth was far older than the accepted 6,000 years. Indeed, he maintained, it was perhaps as much as 80,000, and had gone through numerous epochs which had seen many species rise and perish.

Financial Review

By HENRY J. BECHTOLD
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — With all the talk these days about rising gold prices abroad and the possible effects on the dollar, Standard & Poor's Corp. polls leading European bankers for their ideas on the subjects.

It found that there will be no devaluation of the dollar in the immediate future, but the price of gold will be permitted to fluctuate in the open market at levels above $35 per ounce.

How long this will continue, and the ultimate premium that will be paid before the United States is forced to abandon its present policy, will depend to a major degree upon the cooperation of European banks, S&P President Frederick A. Stahl stated.

In order to forestall devaluation, he declared, it will be necessary for the United States to find means for promptly correcting our imbalance of payments.

Exports improved substantially during the first half of this year while imports levelled off, but rising capital and other outflows kept our unfavorable balance close to a $3 billion annual rate.

Stahl said his firm's contacts overseas see no hope of a correction of this situation under a Kennedy administration, and also are doubtful the problem can be solved if Nixon is elected.

He noted that sentiment on the continent uniformly holds that Kennedy is certain to win next week, and to this is attributed much of the blame for the recent "flight from the dollar" and from our stocks and bonds.

The statistical agency's overseas contacts see the British as being in the weakest position, next to us, in the position of their currency. Thus they reason the relationship between the dollar and the pound sterling might be closely maintained.

These foreign observers are bearish about the U.S. stock market, and look for industrial issues to give up another 5 to 10 per cent in the near future. They assert we now are in a recession, one they expect will continue through most of 1967.

Stahl said the prospect of Kennedy as president weighs heavily in the thinking abroad. He added that there is much comment that we are turning toward socialistic programs at a time when Western Europe is proving abundantly that private enterprise, sound fiscal management, and encouragement to business are the wisest policies.

Business Building Up In Texas

AUSTIN (UPI)—Houston accounted for almost one third of the state's non-residential building permits as total construction in Texas for September topped the same month last year by 5 per cent.

Dollar authorizations amounted to $89.5 million, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

A continued slump in home building was more than offset by the boom in construction of business buildings, it said.

The bureau's index of total construction stood at 234 per cent of the 1947-49 average after removal of seasonal factors.

"The homebuilding slump has failed to put a damper on aggregate permits let as nonresidential activity remains strong," the report explained.

It called the current building situation one of "rags or riches."

Houston's lead in September construction came with the letting of $32.4 million in permits. Dallas was second with $9.6 million, San Antonio authorizations were $7 million, El Paso's $4.7 million, Fort Worth's $4.4 million and Austin's $2.9 million.

The Houston building boom was further illustrated in a nine-month average of construction dollars based on population reported in the 1960 census. Houston had a $246 per capita authorization followed by Austin with $187 and Dallas with $148.

Bureau statisticians predicted

Texas Business Activity Declines 10 Points, 'Strength' Still Seen

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas business activity fell off ten points in September on the Bureau of Business Research index, but a monthly situation report issued Saturday said the state economy "has underlying strength."

University of Texas statisticians put the index for September at 229 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The nine-month average was one percentage point lower, but at 228 still five per cent above the business activity for the comparable 1959 period.

"The rolling readjustment continues to be with us, but there is no reason for gloom," the Bureau said.

It explained that employment and wages are high, industrial power consumption is rising and oil production in December won't go lower than eight days.

"The Texas economy has underlying strength that makes it strongly resistant to downward influences," the report said.

The September level of activity, after seasonal adjustment, was about the same level as that of June. But a late summer gain in August had pushed the business index ten points higher to 239.

that total construction for 1960 would be higher than 1959 if the record-breaking rates of non-residential authorizations continue.

Non-residential authorizations accounted for $45.3 million in construction in September and represented a 49 per cent increase over the same month in 1959. Big items in the total last month were a $12 million petrochemical plant for Sinclair-Kopper of Houston and $6 million in Houston construction.

The business research report said economists are trying to answer the question of why the homebuilding industry has taken "such a prolonged nosedive."

Read The News Classified Ads

"It is encouraging to note that the index has been above the comparable 1959 month in eight of the last nine months," the report said.

"If this is a depression, it is a remarkably gentle one."

A dip in oil production and refinery runs got the blame for much of the September decline. Crude petroleum production stood at 103 on the index and refinery runs at 143.

The bureau explained that state oil production for November has been set at eight days for the seventh consecutive month, and called it "the longest drought that Texas oil producers have known." One reason for the decline in crude oil demand has been the low price of natural gas, according to a federal survey. It said 77.4 cents worth of gas has the heat content of a $3 barrel of oil.

"It is small wonder that markets for fuel oil are shrinking under the impact of competition from natural gas," the business bureau said.

Networks To Use Gimmicks To Speed Election Returns

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — While the presidency is being decided by ballots, another Election Day battle will be decided by gimmicks. All three networks are planning their TV coverage of the returns with an eye to ratings. They are important to ABC, CBS and NBC as the electoral vote is cast by Democrats and Republicans.

And since the Election Night event is a difficult type of news story to cover pictorially — little actually happens before your eyes — the networks resort to electronic trickery to persuade you to watch their particular versions.

"The figures are the event on Election Night," says NBC's Reuben Frank. "So our main effort will be to get them on right."

All networks claim to be tired of gimmicks. But they go right on experimenting with new ones anyhow.

"A new board this year?" says

ABC's John Secondari. "We ALWAYS come up with a new board." It is, explains his colleague Fritz Littlejohn, something brand new in election scoreboards. Flashing electric lights will do the trick, and other lights will go on when each state is definitely committed to either party.

There's a new system at CBS whereby the tabulations will be posted electronically. As each state report is received, it is routed electronically to the right board and posted at once — untouched by human hands. Simultaneously, the system changes the overall vote figure for the nation and, if need be, alters the electoral totals to conform. This is done in three-fifths of a second by an IBM device called RAMAC.

CBS director Paul Levitan says that since a close election is anticipated, a special desk will be set to keep track of six states which may hold the key to victory. These states — California, Illinois, Michigan, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania — will be reported on frequently.

The network also has a new computer doing its forecasting. An IBM 7090 which is called the world's fastest. It has been fed past performances, and they hope it can measure the early returns against these figures and come up with some accurate predictions.

"The only problems this year," says Levitan, "are the new states, Alaska and Hawaii. We have no past performances to go by with them. Another thing is that the voters in Hawaii and the Western time zone of Alaska, because of the difference in time, could have heard the early returns from the East before they vote. Conceivably, this could affect the outcome of the election."

The same sentiment is expressed by ABC's Littlejohn. He says: "Alaska and Hawaii sure could complicate matters, if it's close. There's always the possibility that the winner could be decided by the last voter in the 59th state."

With CBS going to IBM computers this year, ABC has taken over UNIVC, which had been with CBS in the past.

"Our computer," says NBC's Frank, "is made by RCA. That should be no crashing surprise to anyone. It's a good one — the RCA 501. We hope to have it analyze returns, not report them. After all, reporting returns is just a job of addition, but analyzing them is a big job."

Since last January, the RCA 501 has been fed data on certain key districts, and some 50 people have been working with the computer steadily. Frank says, "We're crawling with political scientists."

Outside of the computer, NBC will have virtually no gimmicks. The returns themselves will be posted by the same counter device that the network used for the conventions. Says Frank:

"Our only gimmick is Chet Huntley and David Brinkley."

So you turn your dial and you takes your choice. Chances are, the same candidate will be elected on all three networks.

NBC's RICHARD HARKNESS rehearses with the electronic data processing system he'll use on election night.

Noted Figures Have To Maintain A Split Personality For Public

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The world is full of split personalities. And it's a good thing, according to Charles Collingwood, the host of CBS' Person to Person.

"Everybody has two sides to his personality," Collingwood says. "There's the side he shows the world, and the side he shows at home. You might call them public and private personalities. On our show, we try to let the public see the private personality."

"Of course, there's a private, private personality, too — the one the star will never show on the screen. I get to see that when we're taping in a star's home and something goes wrong. Some of them get upset, nervous or grouchy. Others are always pleasant."

"One of the nicest was Herbert Hoover. Everything went wrong technically, and the taping session took two days. That old man was so patient! He told me he'd spent his life as an engineer, and he knows that equipment sometimes goes wrong and it's no one's fault."

As you may have noticed, Person to Person this season is giving you more entertainment figures than others. There are two reasons for this, Collingwood reports. First, the show is in a new time period. So they assumed the big stars would build an audience. "You have to get them into the tent before you can evangelize them," Collingwood says. Another reason is that in this election year, non-political, show business stars are much safer.

Person to Person has been criticized, in the past, for being too frivolous and not taking advantage of its opportunities to ask sharp questions. Collingwood disagrees.

"We're not as frivolous as people think," he says. "Some of the people say some serious and important things. I also think we get a better idea of people through their answers to less serious questions."

"Many politicians have told me that the easiest questions to answer are the ones which seem tough — the kind Larry Spivak asks on Meet the Press. It's like a fast ball, which seems hard to hit but it is actually the easiest to knock out of the park."

Collingwood feels the public wants to know the private personalities of public people. And he says the show's mail corroborates this. After a program featuring Kim Novak, there was a flood of letters saying: "I never knew Kim Novak was so nice."

AROUND TV TOWN — CBS' new public affairs program, Tomorrow, gives rise to this interesting chronological thought — TV is the only place where Tomorrow is today, while another show, Today, is tomorrow. . . . Brendan Behan, the author of the hit Broadway show, "The Hostage," is as unpredictable as ever. Cast members swear this is true — Behan occasionally gets ideas for new lines for his play, writes them on big sheets of paper and pastes them to the back wall of the stage. And he tells the cast that anybody who jukes the line should rip it off and put it in his part whenever and wherever he chooses. The do, too. . . . Ralph Taeger, the tight-lipped star of Klondike, says he was sitting with an oldtime Hollywood producer one night, when one of the man's early Hollywood movies was shown on a late movie program. The man said, after the movie was finished, "I thought I remembered that picture but, honestly, I'd forgotten that part in the middle where the man came out and sold automobiles." . . . Phil Ford and Mimi Hines want their names always to appear like that — his first, hers second. That's the official name of the act. But chivalrous newspapermen frequently put ladies first and ruin the whole bit. Phil figured out a way to conquer that problem, at least in newspaper photo captions. They always pose with him at the left in the shot — and the caption writers always follow a left-to-right routine.

Change of Tempo

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A new idea in motion picture music will be presented in Allied Artists' "The Plunderers."

The music has been written by composer-conductor Leonard Roseman. The picture is based on four juvenile delinquents on horseback. Although the story takes place in post-Civil War Texas, the music has a modern touch instead of the traditional Western style.

UNDISPUTED LORD OF THE JUNGLE — The majestic jaguar, Prince of Predators, is the hero of Walt Disney's true-life adventure, "Jungle Cat," which opens Thursday at the Capri Theatre for a three-day engagement. Photographed in Technicolor, the savagery of wildlife in the Amazon basin is revealed. Also on the program is the Walt Disney featurette, "The Hound That Thought He Was A Raccoon," photographed in color and made as a very extra special treat.

Homecoming November 12

Former students of Pampa High School will observe homecoming Nov. 12 with a dance, dinner and the football game between the Harvesters and Plainview as high lights.

Harold Anderson, president of the "exes" said that registration will be held in the school from noon until 7 p.m. and that a dinner will be served from 7 until 8:30 p.m.

The dance, featuring an Amarillo band, will begin at 9 p.m.

The football game will be Pampa's only afternoon test this season.

Tickets for the dinner will be sold at $1.50 per person, and the

Bold Houston Thief Sought

HOUSTON (UPI) — Lawyer C. C. Devine, once a policeman himself, called upon Houston police Saturday to help solve a bold theft of $1,475 in bills and jewelry from his office.

He said the metal cash box was snatched from a clerk's desk while she was out of the office Friday. The floor around the desk was wet, indicating the thief stopped in out of the rain.

dance tickets may be obtained for $1 per person.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning Anderson at 4-3103.

MATTERS OF THE MILITARY

CADET CITED — Texas Tech ROTC Cadet Harold L. Conway, a mathematics major at the Lubbock College has been designated a distinguished military student by school president R. C. Goodwin. The cadet is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Conway, 616 Deane Dr.

Local Marine
Finishes Course

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (FHTNC) — Marine Pvt. George J. Childress, son of Mrs. Lucretia F. Powell of 513 Naida, recently completed four weeks of individual combat training Oct. 23 at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The course included the fastest infantry tactics, first aid, demolitions, field fortifications and advanced schooling on weapons.

Trainees learn that all Marines are basically infantrymen, whether they serve as cooks, typists, truck drivers, or with aviation units.

Wooten Ready
For Sea Duty

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (FHTNC) — Stephen W. Wooten of Lefors, graduated from recruit training Oct. 14 at the Naval Training Center, here.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp", included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the recruit is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

WAC Duncan
Ends Schooling

FORT McLELLAN, Ala. (AHTNC) — Pvt. Rosemarie Duncan, daughter of Mrs. Vinita F. Duncan, Loop Route, Tahlequah, Okla., completed the typing and clerical procedures course at The Women's Army Corps School, Fort McClellan, Ala., Oct. 20.

Private Duncan entered the Women's Army Corps last May and received basic training at the fort.

She is a 1960 graduate of Tahlequah (Okla.) High School. Her father, Stephen H. Duncan, lives at the Mission Hotel, Shamrock, Tex.

OFF FOR EUROPE — Mrs. Don E. Keeler and daughter, Kay Donna, 19 months, pose for a picture prior to their departure from New York City via superjet for Frankfurt, Germany. The two left Oct. 25 to join Mr. Keeler, who is serving with the Army in Europe. The Keelers home address is 1324 Garland.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

From the foreign editor's notebook:

Look for a major political storm to burst over Britain as result of negotiations to give the United States a Polaris submarine base in Scotland. Fourteen Labor MPs have urged parliamentary debate and claim the base would present "great dangers" to the United Kingdom.

An announcement is expected next week of British-American agreement to base the nuclear-armed submarines in the Firth of Clyde, near Glasgow. Most opposition comes from Communists and the left wing of the Labor Party.

French President Charles de Gaulle is under heavy pressure to announce news plans for Algeria without delay in an effort to end the war there before the Russians of Red Chinese intervene. De Gaulle, however, is not likely to be hurried.

Meanwhile, French officials in Algiers are increasingly disturbed by rumors of early Communist intervention in the Algerian war. One theory is that they may attack France's immensely rich Sahara oil fields which are just beginning to yield sizeable quantities of petroleum.

In Manila, it is widely rumored that the Philippine government is preparing some sweeping moves to improve the nation's economy. Some business circles believe the government will remove all controls on the peso by the end of the year or, at the least, drastically cut or eliminate the 25 percent tax on foreign exchange.

Japanese police are urging politicians to permit the presence of uniformed policemen at political rallies as a protection against assassination. Since the slaying of Socialist Chairman Inejirimo Asanuma, police have warned that plain clothes detectives cannot furnish adequate protection.

Japanese fans are disappointed with the performance in Japan of the San Francisco baseball Giants who managed to hit only one home run in their first four games.

Hawkeyes Humble Kansas, 21 To 7

Iowa Uses Leg Power For Win

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) —

Iowa, with its eyes and heart on next week's game against Minnesota, turned on enough of its ethereal ground game Saturday to down a spirited Kansas squad, 21-7, before a crowd of 47,000.

The unbeaten, top-ranked Hawkeyes used nothing but power running as they scored in each of the first three periods to extend their win streak to six and set the stage for a battle of undefeated Big Ten teams at Minneapolis next Saturday.

Kansas, its attack crippled through the injury loss of halfback Bert Coan, threatened twice, but a slip and a fumble prevented the Jayhawks from scoring until the closing moments.

The Big Eight Jayhawkers, who saw no hope for a possible bowl trip, smashed earlier this week by an NCAA rebuke, were completely outclassed by the Big Ten Conference leaders led by quarterback Wilburn Hollis, who scored twice.

Although Iowa scored twice in the first half, it hardly looked like the nation's No. 1 team, as receivers dropped passes and the line looked lackluster against the Kansas forward wall.

Hollis, credited with no completions in four pass attempts because receivers dropped perfectly pin-pointed arias, called on his own running power and that of halfbacks Larry Ferguson and Jerry Mauren to preserve the win streak.

Hollis scored first in the opening quarter on a 36-yard end run, and added his second TD in the third with a 1-yard bull-rush into the end zone.

Between those two tallies, Ferguson dashed over center for 3 yards and a TD after Hadl failed to get off a punt from his own 4.

Scoring:
Iowa 7 7 0-21
Kansas 0 0 0-7

Carver '5' Trips Childress, 63-40

CHILDRESS — Carver High School of Pampa opened its 1950-51 basketball season on a winning note here Friday night with a rousing 63-40 win over Childress.

The Carver girls weren't as fortunate, however, losing 41-37 despite Jill Colbert's 21 points.

Leading the Carver boys was George Duke with 16 points. Other leading scorers for the victors were Ernest Mathis, 12, and Sonny Buntion, Job Niblett and Robert Mitchell, 8 each.

Fumble, Snow Propel Air Force To Defeat

DENVER (UPI) — George Washington turned a fumble and an intercepted pass into touchdowns Saturday to upset the Air Force Academy, 20-6, in a game played largely in a driving snow storm.

The teams played throughout the first half without a serious scoring threat as a bitter snow storm rolled in from the north shortly after the game began.

When the wind and snow slackened in the third period, the Air Force got the ball on its own 41, and in nine plays scored when halfback Mike Quinlan went around his left end for the final 30 yards.

Two series of plays later, the Colonials took over on the Air Force 37 and also scored on nine plays, with quarterback Frank Pazzaglia plunging over from the line early in the fourth period.

Five minutes later the Air Cadets' substitute fullback Nick Arshinkoff fumbled on his 11 and end Paul Munley recovered for FSU halfback Bud Whitehead rolled dead on the Seminole 30, quarterback Jerry Elisman passed to Hutchinson in the deep left corner for the score.

Sam Houston '11' Edges Bobcats

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — With less than three minutes to play in the game, Sam Houston quarterback Jerry Hennington plunged over from the one yard line and Calvin Pope kicked the extra point to give the Bearkats a 7-0 Lone Star Conference homecoming victory over Southwest Texas Saturday.

Hennington's score capped a 62-yard scoring march and was set up when freshman halfback Eliseo Villarreal carried three straight times to move the ball from the Sam Houston 42 to the Bobcat one.

A sparse crowd of 8,792 had watched in amazement as the Colonials from the nation's capital struck three times in the final period to pull from behind and take the contest in which they were the definite underdog.

Carry Back Romps Home To Take Garden Stakes

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI) — Carry Back, entered in the world's richest race at a cost of $12,000, survived a foul claim Saturday to win the $287,970 Garden State stakes and haul down a winner's purse of $160,782.

Ambiopoise, owned by Robert Lehman, crossed the finish line in second place, three and one-half lengths behind Carry Back at the end of the mile and one-sixteenth race.

Larry Adamu, his jockey, claimed Carry Back impeded Ambiopoise entering the stretch and he had to check his mount.

But after viewing films of the incident the stewards declared the result official and owner Jack

Price of the Rochester farm collected the big pot.

Mrs. Robert F. Dotter's Guadalupe was third in the field of 15 2-year-olds with J. Graham Brown's He's A Pistol fourth.

Twice before Price had heavily backed Carry Back, a colt he bred in Florida, in rich races. He paid $5,000 to make his horse eligible for the Cowdin stakes which Carry Back won to pick up $37,095. Then Price paid $10,000 to make Carry Back a supplementary nomination to the rich Champagne stakes but the horse refused to come out of the starting gate.

Carry Back, which paid $18.40, $11.60 and $7.50 across the board, got away slowly and raced in the middle of the pack going down the backstretch over a sloppy racing strip. Entering the turn off that straightaway, jockey Johnny Sellers had Carry Back rolling and the colt moved up on the leaders. Barging between horses, Carry Back moved to the front high in the stretch.

Missouri, appearing eager to uphold its new-found national prestige, brushed the red-shirted Huskers aside easily in marching 77 yards for its first score. The second tally came harder but Taylor connected on a 10-yard pass to Conrad Hatcher when the Husker line stiffened. This put the ball on the two and Taylor handed to Smith for the score.

Alert Missouri Trips Paralyzed Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Alert Missouri paralyzed Nebraska, 28-0, Saturday with its set of swift backs and eager, ball-hawking linemen.

Missouri, sixth-ranked and the favorite for the Big Eight title, rang up a 14-0 halftime bulge on two one-yard plunges by Don Smith.

A 69-yard run by Stevenson scored the third touchdown in the third period and a 20-yard pass from Ron Taylor to halfback Norm Neal made it 28-0 in the final period.

The Huskers' only real threat came late in the fourth when they drove 75 yards to the seven. But a desperation pass failed and the Tigers rode out the game for a shutout.

Slippery Rock Races To Win

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Slippery Rock pushed across four second period touchdowns Saturday en route to a 40-6 romp over Shippensburg.

Quarterback Frank Heinecke was the big gun in the Rockets' attack, passing for two touchdowns and scoring one himself. Halfback Jerry Bejhl contributed a pair of touchdowns as Slippery Rock boosted its record over the 500 mark to 3-2. The losers now are 1-6.

First Buff Victory In 48 Years Colorado Finally Beats Sooners

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Colorado stopped Oklahoma with a tremendous goal-line stand late in the game Saturday to whip the Sooners, 7-0, and realize their greatest football ambition.

A crowd of 46,000 watched Colorado grind out 61 yards for a touchdown in the second — then hold the Sooners on downs at the four-yard line early in the final period for the first Colorado victory over Oklahoma since 1902.

It was a dream come true for Colorado, which had come close but never beaten Oklahoma since Colorado joined the Big 8 Conference nearly 13 years ago.

But it appeared that Oklahoma, as it has done so often against Colorado in the past, might pull this one out. The Sooners roared 71 yards, of which 67 yards was gained on one run by third string quarterback Bennett Watts, to a first down on the Colorado five.

But Oklahoma netted only one yard in four smashes at the furiously determined Buff line.

Guard Joe Romig and end Bill Elkins were the major obstacles in the Sooner path.

The only other time Oklahoma threatened to score was after the Colorado TD in the second Oklahoma marched 53 yards to the Buff 25, but there lost the ball on downs.

Three of the 15 plays Colorado used in its 61-yard touchdown-offensive were fourth downs — including the one-yard scoring plunge by fullback Chuck Weiss. Quarterback Gale Weidner passed seven yards to end Jerry Hillebrand from the Oklahoma 26 for a do-or-die first down, and Weiss got another crucial yard from the Oklahoma 10.

Colorado was penalized back to the 14. Then Weidner passed 13 yards to Hillebrand. Weiss scored on the third smash at the Oklahoma line.

Scoring:
Colorado 0 7 0-7

VOLS ROMP

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Unbeaten Tennessee rallied from a first-period scare Saturday and uncorked a powerful single-wing attack powered by substitute backs to defeat North Carolina 27 to 14.

Tennessee's touchdowns came on a 43-yard run after a pass interception, a sweeping 23-yard end run and a 12-yard wing-back reverse, one of the more spectacular plays in the single-wing offense.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Dick Thornton passed for one touchdown and fullback Mike Stock booted two field goals Saturday to lead Northwestern to a 21-3 victory over hapless Indiana before fewer than 20,000 fans.

OREGON FALLS

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Bob Hivner and halfback Don McKeta hooked up for a 7-yard pass-run touchdown combination with 2:24 of the game Saturday to give way to the University of Washington a dramatic, come-from-behind, 7-6 victory over Oregon.

BADGERS RALLY

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Injury-riddled Wisconsin rallied for a touchdown early in the fourth period and a field goal with less than two minutes left to defeat Michigan, 15-13, before a crowd of 57,629 persons Saturday.

LIONS WIN

UNIVERSITY PARK, W. Va. (UPI) — Dick Hoak, Penn State's second-unit quarterback, threw two touchdown passes and drove three yards for another score to lead the Nittany Lions to a 34-13 romp over West Virginia Saturday.

ACC Tumbles To Southern

ABILENE (UPI) — Mississippi Southern, sparked by lame quarterback Don Fuell, ruined Abilene Christian's homecoming Saturday and beat the Wildcats for the seventh straight time, 34-8. Southern scored the first time it had the ball and continued to pour over points until midway through the third period when second, third and fourth-stringers came in to play out the game.

Racers Win

EL PASO (UPI) — The "Meister Brauser" driving team of Augie Pabst and Harry Heuer won the 15-lap feature event Saturday in the second session of the "Carera del Norte" sports car races.

Exes Watch Longhorns Trample SMU, 17 To 7

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas capped a pair of short touchdown passes with a 23-yard field goal by Dan Petty to defeat determined Southern Methodist, 17-7, Saturday in a Southwestern Conference game before a homecoming crowd of 34,000.

Halfback Jack Collins found halfback James Saxton alone in the end zone in the first quarter and meshed a four-yard scoring pass and in the second period quarterback Mike Cotten hit end Tommy Lucas with an eight-yard scoring pitch.

Petty added an insurance field goal from the 13 late in the fourth quarter after Texas halted a surging SMU comeback by shaking Norman Marshall loose from a punt on the Pony 30.

Southern Methodist center Ray Schoenke blocked a Texas punt and recovered on the two set up the lone Mustang touchdown. Gene Sherman, a guard converted this week to a halfback, scored on first down. Rene Medelijn kicked the extra point.

Petty's extra point kick after the first Texas touchdown wobbled low and wide. Collins swept right end for two after the second tally.

Texas also had two touchdowns nullified — one a 43-yard scamper around left end by Saxton in the third that was killed on a holding penalty. Sophomore George Lewis pounded for 15 yards and an apparent score in the last minutes of the game but the Texas back field was in motion.

Neither team seemed hampered by a soggy field that absorbed 7 inches of rain overnight. Texas gained 52 yards of its 182 total in the first quarter, moving 12 plays to a TD, and rolled up 54 more yards in its second scoring drive on eight plays.

SMU marched 78 yards to the Texas two in the third, but Longhorn halfback David Russell knocked down a pass intended for Medelijn in the end zone on fourth down. Three plays later, Schoenke blocked Bobby Nunis kick and the Mustangs were back in business.

Scoring:
Texas 0 7 0-7

Gibbs Leads Underdog Frogs To Big Victory

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Game Guy Gibbs, a giant of a quarterback with a flying heart equally as large, fired Texas Christian's fighting Horned Frogs to a 14-6 upset victory over previously undefeated Baylor before 35,000 fans Saturday.

Gibbs hurtled his 6-7 frame for the final two yards on a 4 game ankle to ice the victory late in the final quarter after having triggered a seven-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter to pull the six-point underdogs from behind a first period Baylor score.

Gibbs personally accounted for 24 of the 39 yards TCU marched for its first touchdown and 25 of the 40 the Frogs surged for the last one as TCU knocked Baylor out of a share of the Southwest Conference lead with Rice, which defeated Texas Tech to keep its league record unblemished.

He ran the last two plays of the final drive with a bad limp, incurred just a moment before when he lurched around right end for key yardage.

Baylor scored its lone touchdown on a 15 yard pass from Ronnie Stanley to Ronnie Goodwin less than 10 minutes deep in the game, but aside from futile drives that bogged down on the TCU 16 and 27 yard lines in the final quarter, the nation's seventh-ranked team never regained its scoring poise.

TCU's tremendous defense took the ball away from Baylor five times, four of them on interceptions, with tackle Bob (Tiger) Lilly spearheading the pressure that also kept the Baylor passers off balance.

Lilly, center Arvie Martin, linebacker Richard Holden, who romped 39 yards with one of the interceptions, and end Lynn Morrison were the key cogs in the TCU defense that choked Baylor's usually potent ground game to 95 yards and blunted its passing threat.

The victory was the sixth straight for TCU over Baylor and it kept TCU's title hopes alive with a 1-1 league record against Baylor's 3-1 and Rice's 3-0.

Scoring:
TCU 0 7 0-7
Baylor 0 0 0-6

Hogs Top Ags, 7-3

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Arkansas turned a Texas A&M fumble into the only touchdown of the game Saturday night in squeaking to a 7-3 victory over the Aggies that kept the Razorbacks in the race for the Southwest Conference title.

Tackle Jerry Mazzanti jumped on an Aggie fumble on the Texas A&M 26 to set up the Arkansas touchdown. A roughing penalty put the Aggies back to the 12, and third-string Razorback fullback Billy Joe Moody went the rest of the way on two smashes for the touchdown.

Mickey Cissell kicked the extra point.

The Aggies marched 80 yards on 18 plays after the opening kickoff to the Arkansas four. Most touchdown combination with 2:24 of the yardage came the hard way — through the middle — as the University of Washington a dramatic, come-from-behind, 7-6 victory over Oregon.

Ole Miss Rallies With Field Goal To Tie LSU '11'

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — Center Allen Green snatched second-ranked Mississippi from the brink of defeat Saturday with a 41-yard field goal with six seconds left to tie Louisiana State University 6-6.

Duke Edges Wrecks, 6-0

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Georgia Tech's goal-line luck ran out in the fourth period Saturday and Duke hammered across a straight power-drive touchdown to beat the Yellow Jackets 6-0 before 40,000 fans.

Before halfback Dean Wright rammed across the only score, the colorful rivals locked up in a scoreless struggle for position and the breaks.

But then the Blue Devils resorted to old-fashioned T-formation power plays to go 44 yards for the winning touchdown. Not a single pass was thrown in the drive, although Duke completed 10 of 10 in the first half and 12 of 12 before Tech's Billy Williamson intercepted a long aerial on his one in the third period.

A near-capacity homecoming crowd of 34,000 and a regional television audience saw Green kick his second field goal of the day after quarterback Jake Gibbs had passed Mississippi toward the LSU goal on a 63-yard desperation drive against the clock.

It was a repeat of last week's performance for Green, who beat Arkansas with a disputed last-second field goal. Green's first kick in the third period covered 32 yards and came four plays after guard Treva Bolin recovered Donnie Daye's fumble on the LSU 24.

Before Gibbs began to click with his passes it appeared that LSU's sophomore-studded squad was fated to dump Mississippi from the unbeaten rank for the third straight year.

LSU's "Chinese Bandits" had slowed Mississippi's 350-yard-a-game offense to a walk and completely bottled up All-American candidate Gibbs.

Terps Shackle No. Carolina

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — Improving Maryland opened a Pandora's box of offensive deception and savage tackling Saturday for a 15-0 shutout over fumbling South Carolina.

The versatile and volatile attack produced two blistering touchdown drives, and the bone-crunching defense jarred the Gamecocks into seven fumbles-three of which demolished South Carolina's only chances to stay in the game.

Surprising Pitt Ends Syracuse's Streak

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Syracuse, last year's national football champion, had its 16-game winning streak smashed Saturday, 10-0, by a fired-up Pittsburgh team that stunned the Orangemen with a first-period touchdown and then shackled their vaunted offense.

It was Syracuse's first defeat since a 21-6 loss to Oklahoma in the 1959 Orange Bowl game. The loss also snapped a 22-game regular-season winning streak that started after a 14-13 loss to Holy Cross in 1958.

Jim Traficant, sophomore who took over Pitt's quarterback job this year, sped the final 14 yards on a keeper play. Halfback Fred Cox added the extra point to give the Panthers more than enough points this warm, sunny afternoon.

Cox also recovered a Syracuse fumble early in the third period and then booted a 38-yard field goal to put the game beyond Syracuse's reach.

But it wasn't Pitt's offense which impressed so much. Rather, it was the Panthers' magnificent defense which turned Syracuse into a fumbling, bewildered team.

The closest Syracuse came to a score was at Pitt's 37-yard line at the opening of the second period. The Orange seldom showed its striking power. Outstanding in Pitt's defensive play were end Reinhold, guard Paul Hodge and Mike Ditka, wingback Chuck Reinhold, guard Paul Hodge and center-linebacker Andy Kuzneski.

Iowa State Staves Off Cowboys On Wet Field

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — Iowa State held Oklahoma State on the two-foot line in the final minute of a rainy and mud-smeared Big Eight game Saturday for a 13-4 victory.

State's last big chance for a tie or possible victory died when halfback Tommy Jackson was stopped cold on a line smash with the goal line within grasp.

Iowa State, using its tricky single wing attack and Oklahoma State's eight fumbles to good advantage, scored its two touchdowns in the first 12 minutes with fullback Tom Watkins pacing the way from the tailback post. Iowa State moved for its first score covering 65 yards in seven plays and sent Watkins barreling over from the one for the score. Watkins contributed runs of seven, 13, 14 and 31 in the drive. Cliff Rick converted.

An Oklahoma State fumble set up the second Cyclone touchdown. End Lou Gartner fell on the loose ball on the Oklahoma State 18 and after four runs into the line, tailback Dave Hoppmann spun off tackle for five yards and the TD. Rick failed in his attempt to run over for two points.

ED DYAS ... toe turns trick

Texas Lutheran Tops St. Mary's

SEGUIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Lutheran came on in the second half to take the St. Mary's (Kan.) Crusaders, 27-8, in the Bulldogs' 31st homecoming game Saturday.

Lutheran drew first blood when Roger Wilke ran 31 yards to climax a 68-yard drive. Frederick Bohls booted the extra points. St. Mary's came back by moving the ensuing kickoff 78 yards for their only touchdown.

Crusader Jim Holmes drove over from the one and Bob Lisa ran across with the two-point conversion.

The surprising Florida Gators absorbed their second defeat of the season before a near-capacity crowd of 40,000.

Dyas' long, curving kick went through the uprights in the third period, with the score tied 7-7. Earlier this season his kicks beat Kentucky and Georgia Tech.

Coach Ray Graves' Gators suffered their first conference loss, and dropped from a tie with mighty Mississippi for the Southeastern Conference lead.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Muscular Minnesota used brute force and an assortment of ground gaining talent to maul helpless Kansas State 48-7 Saturday and extend the fourth-ranked Gophers' unbeaten streak to six, longest since 1940-41.

The easy victory set the stage for next week's clash between Minnesota and first-ranked Iowa, the Big Ten's only other unbeaten team.

Minnesota's Goliath - sized line hammered the tiny Wildcats into submission in the first quarter, and the outcome was never in doubt after quarterback Joe Salem scored Minnesota's first touchdown with an 11-yard jaunt midway in the opening period.

The Wildcats ruined the Gophers' bid for a fourth shutout of the season with 90 seconds to play when quarterback John Solmos hit Willis Crenshaw on a 40-yard pass play.

The State touchdown came with Minnesota's scrubs in action. Coach Murray Warmath, used his regular performers sparingly. But even with third and fourth-team players in action, the Gophers were able to score almost at will.

Scoring:
Minnesota 14 13 14 7-48
Kansas State 0 0 0 7-7

Blanda, Army Bomb Miami

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Tom Blanda, the sharp-shooting son of a football family, passed and booted Army Saturday into a 20-7 comeback victory over stubborn Miami of Ohio.

Blanda, brother of quarterback George Blanda of the professional Houston Oilers, hurled Army to a pair of touchdowns, passed for a two-point conversion and kicked two extra points before 19,126 spectators.

Bill Triplett scored in the first quarter on a one-yard smash to give Miami the lead. But Army took advantage of two costly second period Miami fumbles, Blanda capitalizing both times with long touchdown passes to Bob Fuelhart and Paul Zmuida.

Rice Takes Lead With Tech Win

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Rice University gave the upstart Texas Tech Raiders a stern lesson in defense and rampaged almost at will Saturday for a 30-6 victory to move Rice into undisputed lead in the Southwest Conference.

The Tech touchdown came on a series of passes by quarterback Johnny Lavelle in the last quarter after the Owls had failed to let Tech make a single first down almost through the first three quarters.

Rice ran up a 16-0 halftime score on touchdowns by Max Webb and reserve fullback Jerry Candler, and a 33-yard field goal by Webb. Butch Blume, a 168-pound halfback, nabbed a Tech punt midway in the third and went 41 yards to score.

Then, with only 14 seconds left on the clock, Candler nabbed a pass from Rice third-string quarterback Randall Kebrow to go over untouched.

Roland Jackson and Webb alternated at hitting the Tech line and constantly drove through for yardage when Rice needed it.

Billy Cox, Rice's sensational young sophomore quarterback, completed 6 of 9 pass attempts for 62 yards.

Before Saturday's game, Rice had held Florida, Southern Methodist and Texas University scoreless. Texas Tech' touchdown Saturday was only the second time an opponent was able to cross the Owls' goal.

All of Tech's activity, including the 71-yard drive in nine plays to score, came after that. In Tech's touchdown drive, all but seven of the yards were picked up in the air.

Scoring:
Syracuse 0 0 0 0-0
Rice 0 16 7 7-30
Tech 0 0 6 6-6

Cotton Bowl Ducats Soor Off Sale

DALLAS — The deadline is fast approaching when fans must have their application in the mail for tickets to the Cotton Bowl Football Classic to be played on Monday, January 2, 1961.

Applications must be postmarked not later than midnight Wednesday. The 1961 game will mark the 25th Silver Anniversary of the Cotton Bowl Classic, which was inaugurated in 1937.

Applications for tickets should be mailed to Cotton Bowl Athletic Association, P.O. Box 7185, Inwood Station, Dallas 9.

The price of tickets is $5.00 each and a 25-cent mailing fee should be added to each ticket order. Checks or money orders must accompany all applications.

There is no limit on the number of tickets that may be ordered. As is customary, a drawing will be held to determine the allocation of the 25,000 available tickets.

Tickets will be mailed out and filled applications and checks will be returned to the senders shortly after December 1.

The board of directors of the Cotton Bowl association has announced that the 1961 Cotton Bowl Classic will be blacked out for television in Dallas and the area within 100 miles of the city if the stadium is not 90 per cent sold out for the January 2 game.

Lightning - Fast Dons Score Quick To Subdue Harvesters, 40 To 16

Palo Duro Capitalizes On Mistakes For Win

By ARTHUR MAYHEW
Daily News Sports Editor

Pampa played one of its finest games of the season Friday night . . . in the second half . . . but the first half was disastrous and Palo Duro walked off with its third District 3-4A win and handed the Harvesters their seventh straight loss of the year, 40-16, at Harvester Park.

Palo Duro could do no wrong in the first two quarters, capitalizing on fumbles, interceptions and impotent Pampa offense to retire the half with a 34-0 lead. For purposes, the game was over at 1:17 of the first quarter when Palo Duro scored its first TD, good for a 20-0 lead.

Pampa, which managed only 2 yards rushing and no first downs the nightmarish first half, came back in the third quarter with vengeance to score twice and hold the Dons to 75 yards rushing in the last 24 minutes.

Pampa had the ball only three downs, quick-kicking on third down, before Palo Duro sacked on its first score. With Halfback Gordon Nelson and Fullback Glen Rael running out the yardage, the Dons moved from their 46 to score 4:08 of the first period when Rael went off tackle for the last yard.

The first play after Pampa took the kickoff, the Harvesters fumbled and Jimmy Berry of the Dons recovered on the Pampa 36.

Five plays later, speedy Floyd Burke took a double-reverse handoff and fooled everybody by skirting right end for 15 yards and another score at 1:54. Quarterback Danny Splawn kept for two conversion points.

Then, like lightning, Palo Duro scored again only 37 seconds later when Fullback Robin Byrd intercepted a stray pass from Roy Don Stephens and went 40 yards untouched.

The Harvesters took the kickoff, couldn't move and punted, only to see Burke, a 9.8 man, run it 85 yards for an apparent TD. However, a clipping penalty on the Palo Duro 28 nullified the dazzling run.

Palo Duro then uncorked a 37-yard march to the Pampa 10. On fourth and goal situation, Splawn found a man open at the goal line and fired a pass only to have Pampa's Stephens come out of nowhere to knock it down.

Pampa took over and ran one play before another fumble gave the ball to the Dons on the Pampa 17.

Five quick plays and the score was up to 26-0 as Nelson bulldozed over from the 1-yard-line. A Rickey Nix to Gary Brogren pass pushed the tally to 28-0 at 1:45 of the second quarter.

Thirty-five seconds later, Palo Duro picked up another fumble on the kickoff and was back in business on the Pampa 36 where Burke scored again on a double reverse at 1:10 remaining to make it 34-0 at half.

Pampa came to life in the third quarter, taking the kickoff and driving 56 yards to score. On a fourth and eight situation on the first series of downs, Stephens dropped back to punt but crossed up the Dons' defense by firing a pass to Steve Dobbin who caught it at his shoe-tops and raced to the Palo Duro 43.

Stephens unlimbered his passing arm and hit Billy Cooper for two shots, good-enough for 13 yards and a first on the PD 30. Dobbin ripped off a 16-yard gainer through the middle to the 14, then ran for nine yards on two carries and took a swing pass for a yard gain to the 4. Two plays later, Stephens finally put Pampa on the scoreboard on a keeper at 5:30 of the third period. A Stephens' pass to Jimmy Boyles added the conversion.

Durwood Bennett, Don Halfback, took the kickoff and raced 75 yards before Dobbin caught him on the Pampa 10. Three running plays later and Palo Duro was ahead 40-8 as Bennett went over from the 4 at 4:03 of the third stanza.

Center Duke Garren, who made at least 15 tackles and was all over the field, pounced on a Palo Duro fumble on its 32 and the Harvesters moved to their final score with Dobbin going the final 11 yards over tackle at 7:11 of the fourth period. Another Stephens' pass chalked up the conversion and brought the final score to 40-16.

Besides Garren, Cooper, Jimmy Storms and Stephens played above-average defensive games in a losing cause.

Dobbin was the top Harvester ball carrier with 58 yards on 15 carries and Stephens was second with 41 yards on 10 lugs. Stephens also completed four of nine passes for 33 yards.

For Palo Duro, Nelson ran for 86 yards, Burke for 76 — on only five carries — and Rael had 39 yards, all of which came in the first half.

Miami, White Deer, Rangers Cop Impressive Area Grid Victories

Miami won its ninth straight game of the season, 28-3, over Morse, White Deer tripped Sunray, 20-6, and Perryton took a stranglehold on the District 5-AA race with 22-8 victory over Quanah in top area football games Friday night.

In other area competition, Wheeler trimmed Texline, 22-6; Lefors dumped Canadian, 12-0, and Stinnett galloped by Stratford, 42-6.

Miami's Warriors wasted little time in notching their District 11-B eight-man win as Tommy Hollis took the kickoff and raced 75 yards for a touchdown and Scotty Daugherty drop-kicked for the conversion.

Later in the first period, Paul Thompson tallied on a 25-yard run and a 40-yard scamper to put Miami ahead, 19-0, at the beginning of the second quarter.

Thompson topped off a fine day by booting a 40-yard field goal in the second period and Daugherty wrapped up the scoring with a 43-yard run.

Morse's only score came in the last period when Joe Jennings ran six yards for a TD, then ran the conversion.

At Sunray, White Deer Fullback

Tom Lester went on a one-man scoring spree to score three touchdowns on runs of 63, 35 and 5 yards to account for all the Bucks' scoring.

The score was 6-6 at halftime, but Lester broke the shackles in the third period with a dazzling 63-yard run to put White Deer ahead to stay as it won its seventh game against one loss.

Perryton, whose only loss has been to Phillips, exploded in the third quarter after a scoreless first half. Quanah scored first in the third period on a six-yard pass but the Rangers roared back and went ahead when Quarterback Carl Ellis went 19 yards on a keep-ahead to stay as it won its seventh

53rd YEAR THE PAMPA DAILY NEWS SUNDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1960 13
Lee Seventh Ends Season Undefeated

Robert E. Lee's mighty seventh grade Rebels put the finishing touches on an unbeaten season Friday afternoon to whitewash Pampa Junior High's seventh grade 38-0, to conclude both team's seasons.

In going undefeated, Lee rolled up 156 points and allowed only 12, all those coming in the Rebels' 16-12 win over Borger Austin. The other wins were over Pampa, 24-0; Borger Houston, 16-0; and Phillips, 62-0.

In Friday's romp, Gray Crossland scored first by going 30 yards on a double reverse the first time Lee controlled the ball.

Other touchdowns were made by Lewis Meers, on a 7-yard run; Kenneth McWilliams on a 10-yard scamper; Joey Roden on a beautiful 56-yard sprint and Larry Daniels on a 45-yard run around end, the only time he carried the ball the entire game.

Summing up the season, Coach Joe Perryman, in his first season at Lee, said that the record was entirely due to the hard work and effort put forth by his entire team.

Peg O' Pampa

HERE IS PEG O' PAMPA TODAY? (with apologies to the Ted Fund Vignettes) ... we know exactly where we're sitting right here staring at the typewriter wondering where to begin on the reams of notes we've taken week ... for where we haven't been and what we've heard, our friends have and they have told us ... best thing to do, we guess is to jump right in.

ISN'T IT EXCITING to have Rise Stevens right in our town, staying in our Coronado Inn and for such a long time, too! ... we think the Community Concert Association deserves a Big Bouquet of Red Roses for their efforts bringing her here ... but, really, Mayor Ed Myatt must be a prettier key to the City to present to notable persons, who will be visiting with us from time to time now that have such an attractive place for them to stay ... wouldn't have to be a solid gold one, just attractively gilded with smooth edges ... we know by now (but not at the time) how the seating arrangements worked out for Miss Stevens' performance Thursday evening in Pampa Junior High auditorium ... but the last we heard Concert Board members were trying frantically to figure out how everyone wanted to hear Miss Stevens could attend seated comfortably and safely and still comply with the fire department's regulations!

THIS WAS THE WEEK, too, of the Chamber of Commerce banquet when new chamber officers were installed ... couldn't help notice the justifiable proud look Phyllis Smith cast in the direction of her husband, E. Roy, when he was installed as the new president ... she is such an attractive person ... the staff side of the Chamber organization seems to have an edge in the charm department, though ... for we saw Doris Wedgeworth at a luncheon recently, costumed in the most attractive blue suit with grey fur-collared trim, and a pretty blue hat framing her face ... and before the curtain of present and future events blot out memorable event, we must mention the wonderful, sell-out, performance turned in by the high school capella choir and speech department in their presentation of "Oklahoma!" ... we overheard a remark of Red Wedgeworth which we quote, verbatim, "it was the best musical presentation by a high school that we have ever heard!" ... and this opinion was re-echoed by everyone who attended the presentation ... too, we must mention a beauty that Per Stubbe radiated at the fashion show held on by the Pampa Garden Club at the Northern Zone meeting held here recently in the Coronado Inn ... she is simply stunning in a striking black ensemble accented with snow-white jewelry and a red, red-rose at the waistline ... the dress ... she and Martin are head-over-heels with house-plants and interior decorating ideas for the new home they are building out on Christine ... and the R. F. Kuhns are to be moved into their lovely, new home on Fir Street this weekend.

HERE HAS BEEN a lot of coming and going here this week, too ... Business and Professional Women's Club members, Jewel Dean Lewis, Faye Eaton, Helen Knox, Nell Smith, Hattie Harmon, Vera Lard, Ola McAfee, Allie Morgan and Merlie Kennemer went to Dumas last weekend and visited District Nine B&PW members here to a convention last year ... and the invitation was accepted ... Altrusa Club members, Van Vanderberg, Adrienne Foster, Gladys Perkins and Inez Carter went to Marshall on the same weekend and invited district Altrusas to come to see us in 1962 ... they said they would love to, but they had already accepted an invitation for that year, but they could make it in 1963 ... so, see what we mean, Ed, by our request keep a pretty gold key To The City handy at all times! ... we were so happy to see Merlie Kennemer and Inez Carter honored for their service to the community at the Chamber banquet ... two very deserving ladies ... isn't it wonderful to hear that the Youth Center is finally going to become an actuality after all these years of interest, hard work and hard cash! ... yes this has been a week!

WE SPENT A MOST DELIGHTFUL morning in the home of Mary Helen Boston when she entertained friends with a book view ... It All Began With Columbus" humorously, hilariously and inimitably given by Evelyn Pettifits in Mary Helen's morning home on Chestnut ... and to add sparkle to the morning, Tom Atkin at the organ added just-right musical notes to the review ... to carry out the patriotic theme, members of the houseparty, Lena Boin, May Boston, her attractive daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jerry Jr., and Mrs. Charles Langhart wore red and blue dresses ... the refreshment table was most attractive, covered with a bright red-linen cloth centered with an inverted star-studded Uncle Sam's hat filled with red and white carnations and American flags ... we hadn't given it much thought but after such a pleasant morning we were glad that "Columbus had started it" ... the long, awaited date is drawing nearer ... we've heard that the Pampa Country Club has set November 16 as the opening date for their lovely, new club rooms ... Jack and Joan Osborne the club's entertainment chairman, with their corps of hard-working committee members are planning something very special and very secret for opening night ... we do know though that Eddie Howard and his orchestra is to play for dancing ... the opening will be just in time for all the lovely Holiday parties.

SEASONAL EPIDEMIC there's a strange malady that strikes the American public about this time every year and reaches epidemic proportions along about September and hits a peak the latter part of October ... the male of the species seems its most vulnerable victim, but the female has been known to succumb to the fever also ... the symptoms are readily discernible ... you first see the victim out around his car, kicking the tires, peering under the hood and muttering "it'll take about $300 or $400 dollars to put this old buggy in even third class-condition" ... the next symptom of the victim is when you see his pencil and pad in hand furiously scratching his head, nervously moistening the lead of the pencil with his tongue, and writing down figures like crazy ... now he has reached the crises ... and the only way he can survive is to become the owner of a brand-new 1961 car ... it's the only sure-cure we know for the autumn automotive malady.

WE'RE NOT POSTIVE who had the most fun at Lamar School's PTA play, "The Little Red School House" ... the audience or the cast ... perhaps it was a toss-up ... we do know that the "chorus girls" Ernie Pulse, R. H. Dyson, Jack Davis, Walter Roush, John Phelps and Bryan Buck really danced their hearts out ... don't you know that Helen Madiera Hogan had her work cut out for her in teaching them the art of terpsichore ... surely now that "girlish" chorus won't be content to go back to their usual careers ... we expect to hear of bigger and better things from them in the future ... we know of two local fellows, who are going to be BMOC (Big Men On Campus) this weekend and next when they go to visit with their freshman daughters at college ... Bob Triplehorn was planning to spend yesterday with daughter, Carol, at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo. for the school's second annual "Dads' Day" ... and next weekend, nothing but a stroke of ill luck can keep Jack Foster from joining daughter, Sue, on the Southern Methodist University Campus for that school's observance of Dad's Day ... there is often quite a love-affair between Dad's and their daughters away at school, we remember ... we believe we've come to the end of our notes from the looks of the wastebasket at our side ... oh, yes, all of these attractive young ladies you will be seeing out and around the Coronado Inn today are members (local and distant) of the Beta Phi Sorority, which is having an area, all-day meeting here today ... see you next week? (wish we could write that as charming as Loretta Young says it on her TV show).

Love, Peg

Community Advantages Topic For Civic Culture

"Is Yours A Community That Cares?" was discussed in a program presented by Mrs. A. D. Hills at a meeting of Civic Culture Club held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Irvin Cole.

In pursuing her topic, Mrs. Hills brought out that there are 47 churches, seven elementary schools, one high school, two junior high schools and St. Vincent dePaul Parochial School in Pampa.

"There are 1,452 boys in 45 Scout troops; 1200 girls in 53 Brownie and Girl Scout Troops. The Salvation Army, Welfare Index and Red Cross help those in need. Among the service clubs is Altrusa, a women's service club, and eight men's service clubs." She also named the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Chamber of Commerce.

Two guest speakers, Homer Hollars and Newt Secrest, members of the Optimists Club, were introduced by Mrs. Hills.

The speakers told of what is being done through the Optimists' Red Cross, said this organization

Church Women To Present Medical Kits At Meeting

The United Church Women of Pampa will meet Friday morning Nov. 4th at 10 a.m. in the chapel of the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Wesley Matlock of Harrah Methodist Church is in charge of the program. The theme will be "Health and World Peace". The worship service will be led by Mrs. A. L. Patrick, and a short talk on "Christian Action for Freedom" will be given by Mrs. O. G. Hall.

In preparation for this meeting, the women have been working in their denominational groups assembling home medical kits which will be presented at the time of the offering. These kits are to be distributed through Church World Service to points of need in Chile, Nigeria, Ethiopia, and Burma. The money offering is to be used by the United Church Women to train native workers in these same countries. This training will be along health and nutritional lines.

The local United Church Women officers for 1961 will be installed at this meeting by the Rev. Jack Riley, of St. Paul's Methodist Church. New officers are: President, Mrs. Dean Burger; first vice president, Mrs. Howard Brown; second vice president, Mrs. William E. West; secretary, Mrs. Murray Castleberry; treasurer, Mrs. Stanley Brandt.

There will be a nursery for this meeting. All interested women are cordially invited to attend. There will be a coffee and fellowship time following the meeting.

Shadow Silhouettes To Add New Touch At St Vincent's Bazaar

A newcomer to Pampa will add a different touch to the bazaar being planned by the Altar Society of St. Vincent dePaul Church on November 12.

Mrs. Tom Snow, who with her family has recently moved here from Austin, will demonstrate her ability in drawing shadow silhouettes of children. Mrs. Snow describes the work as being "easy and something anyone can do", but the finished product, as she does it, is quite professional in appearance and a delightful resemblance of the child portrayed.

The tools Mrs. Snow uses are quite simple - a piece of white paper and a piece of black, scissors, a pencil and a wall where the shadow of the child can be well projected. Mrs. Snow has the child sit against a wall where the light will cast a sharp shadow. She then traces the shadow on a piece of white paper, fines it down to get the best resemblance, and then cuts out the silhouette. She is then ready to trace it on black paper, cut it out, mount it on white paper; the shadow silhouette is complete in a matter of minutes.

Shadow portraits can be attractively framed and are a wonderful gift idea for proud grandparents. According to Mrs. Snow, she has had the most success doing the silhouettes of children four years and over, but will be happy to try working with those younger.

Mrs. Snow has had lots of experience doing shadow silhouettes. During a business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Ed Juenger, vice president, plans were completed for the Achievement Day, which was held Friday in the home of Mrs. Ray Frazier, 512 Doyle from 10 a.m. until 11:30 a.m.

Roll call was answered by each member telling her place of birth. Following a buffet luncheon, the remainder of the day was spent working on centerpieces, wall plaques and painting bottles.

Attending were Meses. C. B. Hicks, Marvin Rowan, Leland Diamond, John Osborn, A. O. Coombs, Ed Juenger and Donald Nensiel. Mrs. Bob Perkins was welcomed as a guest.

Mrs. Nensiel will be hostess for the Nov. 1 meeting at 9:30 in her home, 2217 Duncan.

Friendship Tea Highlighted With Review Of Book

Varietas Study Club entertained with its annual Friendship Tea on Tuesday afternoon in Lovett Memorial Library.

As guests and members arrived, they were served refreshments from a table appointed with an autumn floral and berry centerpiece.

Mrs. H. H. Bratcher, president, read a letter on "Friendship" from Mrs. Lee Harrah, district Friendship Chairman.

Greetings were extended to guests by Mrs. Bratcher followed by an introduction of each guest.

For the program, Mrs. Paul Bowers reviewed the book, "Preposterous Papa" written by Lewis Meyer. It was concerned with a humorous account of the life of the author's own father in Sapulpa, Okla. Indian Territory in 1906.

Members and guests attending were Meses. J. R. Spearman, John Spearman, Paul Crouch, Ben Faulkner, W. S. Fannon, W. A. Wagner, C. M. McKinney, Ralph McKinney, T. C. Lively, John K. Sweet, J. E. Kirchman, A. B. Caruth, Hettie Seiber, Paul Bowers, Luther Pierson, W. L. Graves, Diamia Wood, T. B. Parker, J. H. Lutz, W. E. Jarvis, Lee Harrah, C. S. Boston, J. L. Bain of Clarendon, H. P. Dosier, H. B. Howse, Ray-M. Wells, S. C. Evans, W. S. Exley, Dow King, Lillian Snow, C. B. Haney, Cecil Dalton.

Hostesses were Meses. McKinney, Hampton, White with Mrs. Bratcher presiding at the coffee service.

Husbands Feted By 20-30 Club

LEFORS (Spl) — "Husbands Night," was held by the 20-30 Club in the civic center on Saturday night with a buffet dinner.

Following the buffet dinner, the group played charades.

Attending were Mrs. Joe Archer, Messrs. and Mmes. Ernest Foshee, Ray Dickerson, Gene Fort, Floyd Imel, Wayne Sims, Chestene Dunn, Leonard Cain, R. E. McDonald, Ed Lehnick, Eddy Clemmons, and J. M. McPherson.

Mrs. Morrison Gives Impressions Of Russians To B&PW Members

Mrs. Grundy Morrison was guest speaker at Business and Professional Women's Club meeting held Tuesday evening in the City Club Room.

Mrs. Morrison spoke to the group on her recent European tour, which she and her husband took this summer under the auspices of the Fort Worth Star Telegram Home and Ranch Tour.

Mrs. Morrison centered her talk around her impressions of Russia, which the Farm and Ranch group were allowed to visit under the supervision of a Russian guide. She described the farming methods and machinery as "at least 50 years behind the United States."

"The dairy farms, which are operated mostly by women, are stocked with very poor dairy cows, but the landscaping and flower gardens around the homes are beautiful."

Mrs. Morrison said that the Spring and summer months were very good marriage months. "As many as 60 to 70 per day are performed, but no bride is compelled to take her husband's name. They are given a three-day honeymoon by the state."

"Fifty percent of the Russian women work," Mrs. Morrison went on to say, "and they work at all types of jobs, mechanics, welders, truck-drivers to street-sweepers."

"Education is free in Russia," speaker added, "but, of course, the students are told what subjects to take."

During the business meeting, Mrs. Jewel Dean Lewis, president, gave a report of the district meeting in Dumas assisted by Mrs. Hattie Harmon, Ola Isbell, Vera Lard and Faye Eaton.

They told the local members that the 1961 district meeting will be held in Pampa.

Also included in the business session, was a vote of approval by members to donate $52 to pay for a room in the nursing hospital in Formosa in honor of the state president, Mrs. Lillian B. Hope; also, to send a donation to the state to further the legislation program on Equal Rights for women.

Special guests were Mmes. Bonnie Hutchinson, Jack Walton, Mildred Lafferty, Ruby Crocker, Dora Thomason, and Emily Coston.

Mmes. Lillie Mae Fowler, Helen Sprinkle, hostesses during the social hour, served refreshments from a table attractively appointed with a Halloween motif.

Mrs. Tom F. Coffee

Stanford-Coffee Say Nuptial Vows

Miss Betty Lou Stanford of Miami, repeated wedding vows with Tom F. Coffee of Miami on October 15 in an evening service held in the Miami First Baptist Church with the Rev. G. B. Bailey, pastor, officiating for the double-ring vows.

Miss Stanford is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Stanford of Miami. Mr. Coffee's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hulkey, also of Miami.

For her wedding, the bride wore a Loden Green suit with gold hat and gloves and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. James Snyder, bride's sister, attended as matron of honor wearing a beige suit with beige accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

Walter Coffee, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Walter Coffee presided at the punch service with Mrs. Snyder serving cake. The table was covered with a lace cloth centered with a four-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal pair.

The bride was graduated from Miami High School and has been employed by the First State Bank of Miami.

The bridegroom was graduated from Miami High School and now is engaged in ranching near Higgins, where they will make their home.

Luncheon Meeting Held By ToT Club of Texas Garden Club met today morning in the home of president, Mrs. Jamie Deal, Chestnut, for an all-day meeting and luncheon.

After being served coffee and tea, members worked on making arrangements from dried plant material.

Following luncheon, a business meeting was held during which plans were discussed for a Bake and Gift Sale and as well as plans for planting bulbs in the city garden projects.

Mrs. Fred Hinkley, finance chairman, reported successful results in the sale of 1961 National Flower and Garden Club calendars and said that more had been ordered.

Following the business meeting, a group resumed work on arrangements.

Mrs. Mary Abbott, Mrs. P. A. Undergraft, Mrs. C. O. Strickland and Mrs. H. C. Brumley of Claridon were welcomed as guests.

Luncheon was served from a table appointed with a Halloween theme with a centerpiece of dried materials in autumn colors.

It was announced that the next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. V. K. Osborne, 200 N. Sumner, on Nov. 8 at 1:30 with Mrs. John S. Hawley as leader.

Imaginary Trip Taken By TCCC

Twentieth Century Culture Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. G. L. Craddock, Kelly-Schafer Camp, with Mrs. Jude Jordan as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Phillip Davis, vice president, presided during a brief business session.

Mrs. R. E. Dobbin introduced the afternoon's program, which was presented by Mrs. J. W. Edmonster, who spoke on England, often called "The Little World" and by Mrs. W. L. Hasse, who told of Ireland and Scotland.

By imaginary helicopter, members touched down on points of interest including Balmoral Castle, Glendalough, Shipyard, Blarney Castle, Limerick and Plaid Industries, Conway Abbey Theater, some of Clydesdale horses, beautiful English countryside and landscaping, Caernarvon Castle, Cornwall Wales and the cities of London, Belfast, Glasgow and Dublin, historical, as well as present day highlights, were presented by both members.

Members attending, not previously mentioned, were Mmes. Jeff Bearden, Ross Buzzard, J. L. Chase, L. W. Hart, E. L. Henderson, Donald Merrile, Irene Osborne, E. E. Shelhamer, N. D. Steele and J. Zachry.

Beta Sigma Phi Speaker

BSP Sorority Vice President To Speak At Noon Luncheon And Direct Forum

Powell Adams, vice president and Director of Communication for Gifts for Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, an international cultural and social organization for women, will be the luncheon speaker at the Sorority's area convention in progress today in the Coronado Inn. He has chosen for his topic "How To Live With Wings". Mr. Powell will also direct a forum in the afternoon session.

Mr. Adams supervised the operation of the Gift Department and all printing, including that of the Torch of Beta Sigma Phi, the official publication of the sorority. He frequently travels to Gift Shows across the nation in search of new items to add to the Gift Department selection.

He is a member of the Advertising and Sales Executive Club of Kansas City; of the Public Relations Society of Kansas City; of the Kansas City Direct Mail Club; and is past president of the Kansas City Industrial Editors group.

He has specialized in the field of communication since his graduation from the University of Kansas City and has received a dozen awards for his work in the graphic arts field in international, national and local competition which includes a Freedom Foundation Award.

Mr. Adams has a keen interest in music and is serving as director on the board of International Council of Society for the Appreciation of Music. He is particularly interested in the relationship between jazz music and human behavior.

Mr. Adams served with the Air Force as bombardier in Italy during World War II; is married and the father of three children.

The area convention will convene at 8:45 a.m. with Coffee and registration. The first forum will begin at 9:45 a.m. with 47 chapters representing the Northwestern Area expected to attend.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My husband has asked me to let his mother come and live with us. She has been staying with a daughter whose husband is now transferred to the coast. She requires a lot of care. I deeply resent my husband's asking me to do this. It would mean a whole rearrangement of our ground floor and cutting down on the social life of our two teenage girls.

Answer: Why are you so quick to condemn your feeling as "resentment," assuming this responsibility would curtail your freedom? Why shouldn't you want to retain it? Why do we have to think of this natural and healthy wish as bad by calling it "resentment"?

If you go on pushing it away as though it were so unworthy it can't belong to you, your problem can't resolve itself. For by rejecting your anger as bad, you must inevitably push away other good feelings that belong to you—pity, for instance, for your mother-in-law's helplessness and understanding of your husband's response to it.

With your secret self-accusation making you defensive and belligerent, you can't approach your husband in a spirit that could help him open his mind to problems other than burdening you with the care of his invalid parent.

We have to be awfully careful about condemning any feeling that comes to us. Like the one you've labeled "resentment," we may misread the feeling's true meaning. Then we can't entertain it peaceably.

Once we start this dangerous process of so fighting ourselves, off from the feeling we imagine is "bad" but from other good ones like compassion and understanding. So, your struggle, if you'll permit me to say so, has nothing to do with accommodating your invalid mother-in-law. It has to do with your too hasty judgement of your resistance to her arrival as unkind, disloyal and shameful.

When you can dig under it to its real meaning, your own improved self-appreciation will begin to extend appreciation to your husband and mother-in-law, and together you'll all be able to work out a more resourceful solution to her

Local B&PW Club To Hostess 1961 District Meeting

Pampa was selected for the 1961 district conference at the Business and Professional Women's Club held in Dumas on Oct. 23-24, according to Mrs. Jewell Deah Lewis, local president.

With 15 clubs in the district, 13 were represented at the meeting with a total registration 101 members and seven visitors.

During the business sessions, Mrs. Dorothy Evans of Lubbock was elected district director for the 1961-62 year. Mrs. Llewellyn Deason of Amarillo was named to the state nominating committee with Mata Garner of Lubbock as alternate.

The district also endorsed Hope Conroe for state first vice president for the year 1961-62.

Mrs. Hattie Harmon and Mrs.

Helen Knox participated in the Sunday morning workshop program on the subject finance and public relations.

Attending from the local club were Mmes. Jewel Dean Lewis, Faye Eaton, Helen Knox, Nell Tinnin, Hattie Harmon, Vera Lard, Ola McAffee, Allie Morgan and Merlie Kenemer.

FIVE HONORS — Altrusa Club of Pampa was accorded five honors at the recent district meeting of Altrusa Clubs in Marshall. The club was awarded first place for its club bulletin "Altrusa Views", published monthly; an award for an information program; honorable mention for its Founders' Found and Grants-In-Aid projects; and the district acceptance of the club's invitation for the 1963 meeting to be held here. Eldest over the club's honors are Mrs. Clyde Vanderburg, president; Mrs. L. L. Harkins, vice president; Mrs. Inez Carter, all of whom were delegates to the meeting; and Mrs. Roy E. Wilson, publisher of the "Altrusa Views".

Honors Accorded Club At Altrusa District

Clifford Ryan

Five honors were brought back to the Altrusa Club from the district meeting held last weekend in Marshall, according to Mrs. Clyde Vanderburg, president, in an announcement made at the club's dinner meeting Monday in the West Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

The Altrusa Views Staff was given a vote of thanks for Pampa being awarded first place for club bulletins in the district which includes 43 clubs. Mrs. Vanderburg reported that the cover designed by the Altrusa Views staff with art work by John McCausland, local insurance man; as well as makeup of the bulletin with its news content were commended for this Certificate of Achievement for exceptional public relations through the publication of the bulletin.

She was also reported to the group that the Altrusa Information Skit, "Getting to Know You Via the Party Line," presented at a January 1960 meeting, received an award from the District Altrusa Information chairman. Local delegates Mrs. Vanderburg, Mrs. Jack P. Foster, Mrs. L. L. Harkins, and Mrs. Inez Carter presented this skit at Marshall, where it was well-received.

Other honors included one for Grants-In-Aid and Founders' Fund Participation.

The local club was also accepted for the district conference meeting to be held here in 1961. "This is unusual," Mrs. Vanderburg pointed out, "as these conferences are customarily accepted for only one year in advance at the business session. The Pampa delegates were extremely proud." Mrs. Vanderburg continued, "that although Houston and San Antonio also issued an invitation for the 1962 conference, district officers voted that Pampa be given the 1963 conference now since it had so effectively presented its bid rather than have the bid re-entered next year."

"The 1961 conference will be held in El Paso and the 1962 conference in Houston, where Miss Etta Jane Butler of Houston, now governor-elect, will be installed as district governor at that time."

The president requested that letters of appreciation be written to E. O. Wedgeworth Chamber of Commerce manager; to Mayor Ed Myatt; and to Stu Kines, Coronado Inn manager, for their cooperation with Pampa delegates in extending the invitation for the district conference.

The Altrusa Information Quiz question, asked by Mrs. Vera Lard, was correctly answered by Mrs. F. A. Hukill. Mrs. W. A. York was awarded the door-prize.

In the absence of the international chairman, Mrs. Marian Osborne, the guest speaker, Clifford Ryan, instructor of American History and Government in Pampa High School, was introduced by Mrs. Jrl Smith.

In discussing the "Successes of the United Nations," Mr. Ryan listed three ways in which the United Nations has been most effective during its 15 years of existence: 1) in its role as an international intermediary; 2) provides a great forum for world opinion; 3) can use armed forces against acts of aggression and to maintain peace.

"In the 15 years of its existence, it has used all three of these mediums," the speaker said.

He went on to list the activities of the United Nations in Iran in 1946, when that country complained that Soviet troops were being kept illegally on Iranian territory. "At that time, the Soviet Union, yielding to world opinion as expressed in the Security Council, withdrew its troops."

"Also in 1946, when Greece charged that Communist assistance was being given to guerrillas fighting the government, a UN Peace Observation Commission was sent to Greece, made an investigation and stabilized the country."

He also discussed informatively the General Assembly Resolution, when there were differing views on what to do with former Italian Colonies and "it was decided that Libya become an independent, and Eritrea federated with Ethiopia; and Somaliland was put under UN trusteeship; in 1948 when the General Assembly recommended that Palestine be partitioned and a Jewish state created. The armed conflict was ended by UN mediation."

"The Korean conflict," Mr. Ryan said, "proved for the first time in history that collective action can stop aggression. When Communist North Korean forces crossed the 38th parallel with armed might invading the independent Republic of Korea and when North Koreans were joined by Communist Chinese troops, the Security Council condemned the invasion as a breach of peace and took action with the United States carrying the heaviest burden, but other countries contributed medical supplies and troops equivalent to two divisions."

"In 1956, when Soviet forces invaded Hungary to repress a revolt of the people, who asked for free elections, free speech and freedom from Soviet domination, the Assembly condemned the Union. When its resolutions were not heeded, the Assembly set up a committee of investigation and organized emergency assistance to help 19,000 refugees. Although Assembly recommendations were ignored by the Soviet Union, the UN spotlighted the true nature of Soviet control over other communist nations."

group that the Altrusa Information Skit, "Getting to Know You Via the Party Line," presented at a January 1960 meeting, received an award from the District Altrusa Information chairman. Local delegates Mrs. Vanderburg, Mrs. Jack P. Foster, Mrs. L. L. Harkins, and Mrs. Inez Carter presented this skit at Marshall, where it was well-received.

Other honors included one for Grants-In-Aid and Founders' Fund Participation.

The local club was also accepted for the district conference meeting to be held here in 1961. "This is unusual," Mrs. Vanderburg pointed out, "as these conferences are customarily accepted for only one year in advance at the business session. The Pampa delegates were extremely proud." Mrs. Vanderburg continued, "that although Houston and San Antonio also issued an invitation for the 1962 conference, district officers voted that Pampa be given the 1963 conference now since it had so effectively presented its bid rather than have the bid re-entered next year."

"The 1961 conference will be held in El Paso and the 1962 conference in Houston, where Miss Etta Jane Butler of Houston, now governor-elect, will be installed as district governor at that time."

The president requested that letters of appreciation be written to E. O. Wedgeworth Chamber of Commerce manager; to Mayor Ed Myatt; and to Stu Kines, Coronado Inn manager, for their cooperation with Pampa delegates in extending the invitation for the district conference.

The Altrusa Information Quiz question, asked by Mrs. Vera Lard, was correctly answered by Mrs. F. A. Hukill. Mrs. W. A. York was awarded the door-prize.

In the absence of the international chairman, Mrs. Marian Osborne, the guest speaker, Clifford Ryan, instructor of American History and Government in Pampa High School, was introduced by Mrs. Jrl Smith.

In discussing the "Successes of the United Nations," Mr. Ryan listed three ways in which the United Nations has been most effective during its 15 years of existence: 1) in its role as an international intermediary; 2) provides a great forum for world opinion; 3) can use armed forces against acts of aggression and to maintain peace.

"In the 15 years of its existence, it has used all three of these mediums," the speaker said.

He went on to list the activities of the United Nations in Iran in 1946, when that country complained that Soviet troops were being kept illegally on Iranian territory. "At that time, the Soviet Union, yielding to world opinion as expressed in the Security Council, withdrew its troops."

"Also in 1946, when Greece charged that Communist assistance was being given to guerrillas fighting the government, a UN Peace Observation Commission was sent to Greece, made an investigation and stabilized the country."

He also discussed informatively the General Assembly Resolution, when there were differing views on what to do with former Italian Colonies and "it was decided that Libya become an independent, and Eritrea federated with Ethiopia; and Somaliland was put under UN trusteeship; in 1948 when the General Assembly recommended that Palestine be partitioned and a Jewish state created. The armed conflict was ended by UN mediation."

Illustrative Program On Voting Given At Twentieth Century Club

Mrs. Raymond Harrah was hostess to Twentieth Century Club members in her home on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Walter Pung, program chairman, introduced the program "Remember To Vote," which had previously been prepared by Mrs. E. M. Culberson, who is hospitalized with a back injury.

Mrs. Pung stated that in 1956, which was a very important election year "only 60.4 per cent of the eligible voters in the United States took the trouble to cast their vote."

"Again we are reminded that voting is a duty as well as a privilege. If we do not vote, we lose our right to criticize anyone who is elected."

At this point in the program, Mrs. Tom Rose participated in the program carrying a shopping bag filled with packages representing the issues of the election, which are foreign policy, defense, natural resources, oil depletion, health, education, agriculture, civil rights, economic growth and taxes.

She stated that "the contest is between the ones who were in and the ones who were out."

Mrs. Dick Stowers entered a discussion with only one package stating that "creeping Socialism" is our only issue really involved.

A questionnaire was given to each member for her own use in reading some of the major issues in the election. A discussion followed.

In the business meeting, which preceded the general meeting, Mrs. Ronald Hubbard, president, directed Mr. Pung to lead the members in Pledge to the F.I. and reading the Club Letter.

Home Decorating Topic For PEO

Chapter CS of PEO met Tuesday morning in the home of Mr. Melvin Stephens with Mrs. Stephens presenting a program on "Keys To Home Decorating."

During the business meeting, Mrs. D. V. Burton, president, reported on the recent visit of the state organizer for PEO, Mrs. Dell Smith. Mrs. Burton expressed appreciation to members for helping with a dinner in honor of Mrs. Smith and the success of the meeting with her.

Mrs. T. J. Wright reported that the rummage sale held recently was "quite successful."

Mrs. Gladys Harvey told of her visit to a PEO chapter meeting in LaBelle, Mo.

It was announced that the next meeting will be on Nov. 8 in the home of Mrs. Hupp Clark, 1119 Mary Ellen.

Members attending were Mrs. D. V. Burton, Don Cain, B. R. Cantrell, Hupp Clark, J. G. Crinklaw, John Cundiff, R. E. Dunbar, P. W. Garvey, G. R. McConnell, D. W. Price, T. J. Wright.

Shopping Pampa with ELEANORE

Shopping in the Pampa Office Supply these days is exciting. You know, they are remodeling and changing their stock around . . . and new Christmas cards are in, to say nothing of the huge books of beauties you can order from. Now is the time to get them, especially if you need them printed.

Along the new "peg-board" display areas there are lots of new gift items. For instance, take a look at their Personalized gifts by Mascot . . . designed in gold with snap-on initials to personalize them. There are beautiful desk sets in a wide price range, and, of course, they carry Buxton billboards, some with matching lighter and cigarette case. In fact, if you need a gift or an item for your self, try the PAMPA OFFICE SUPPLY, 211 N. Cuyler.

I've talked a lot about the lovely things for girls at Hi-Land Children's Shop, and this week I visited their Boys Department. They feature a wide selection of Dotty Dan clothes for the young man up to size 6. I saw several cute sets of corduroy pants and matching vests and shirts. Buster Brown, Rob Roy, Tex-Son and Tam O'Shanter in both knit and woven fabrics are stocked, too. Helen Wells also has a large selection of car coats and good looking sport coats for older boys. The car coats are of the sturdy all-boy type for all sizes through 12. Now would be a good time to pick up a few of these things for Christmas, while you can still get a wonderfully wide choice. Remember their free gift wrapping and lay-away services. By the by, I didn't realize it, but Buster Brown makes pajamas . . . and you and I both know, that Buster Brown knitwear is the absolute tops, in washability and wearability! Do visit the boys shop at HI-LAND CHILDREN'S SHOP, 1619 N. Hobart.

It's time to think about making Christmas gifts and decorations now, whether you like to think of it or not!

At the Hobby Shop you will find some new kits for making Christmas stockings. They are complete with everything you need from sequins to glue. Also kits for making the tree "skirts". Or design your own with felt pieces and cutouts etc. that Pat has. Pat also has the "Sno-Flok" kit, the easy do-it-yourself way to a snowy, professionally flocked Xmas tree. The kit is guaranteed by Good Housekeeping, and comes in white, frost pink, silver blue. Make your special candles now: candle wax, wicking, coloring, and all sorts of sequin and glitter trims can be had at the Hobby Shop. Also styrofoam sheets of all sizes and new Glitter-Art Spray Glue for spraying glue and applying glitter etc. on trees, branches, wreaths, styrofoam, pinecones, etc. You will be inspired by the wealth of craft materials available: go in and see. Just about anything you need you may find, plus ideas for gifts and decorations: THE HOBBY SHOP, 111 W. Francis.

and silver. Suitable for both men and women. Inquire at RICHARD DRUG, 111 N. Cuyler.

Two new girls have joined the staff at Bobette Beauty Shop . . . cute and skilled operators to "work on you". They are Ruth Shoopman and Ruby Fletcher. Both of them have received their training right here in Pampa at the new beauty school. As Edna Prescott remarked . . . "They're handy as a pocket in a shirt." Edna and Jackie are both going to attend the Great Plains beauty show in Lubbock this weekend, and will return full of new ideas for styling, and perhaps some new techniques. At any rate, with the latest news of the profession. The shop was full of young girls getting their hair set when I went in last week. This is the social season for the high and junior high crowd, and they know how Jackie and Edna and all the staff love to give them cute and practical styles. You mamas had better give them a try, too. BOBETTE BEAUTY SALON, 2110 Perryton Parkway, MO 5-3591.

velvet cases for everything from ear-rings to gloves and kleenex tissues in truly elegant and exquisite cases. PAMPA HARDWARE, 120 N. Cuyler.

As you may have read last week, the Coronado Inn service is 100,000th meal. Isn't that something? It just goes to show that since opening a few short months ago the Inn is becoming the eating place in Pampa and the area. Not only that, but with three new conventions being booked last week and the schedule already filled with other conventions, we are reminded again that now Pampa has become the "convention town of the Panhandle. Their facilities can handle any meetings from district meetings to large conventions. Altrusa Club and the Business and Professional Women's clubs are holding their conventions at the Inn, and in the Spring, the Federated Women's Clubs will hold their district convention. The names just a few on the list! If your organization has a meeting coming up, think first of the CORONADO INN.

Groom your green plants for the holidays: wipe dust gently from the leaves with a damp cloth and snip off any yellowing or drying leaves. Perhaps they also need a new container. If so you will find new ones arriving every week at Clayton Floral Company. I saw beauties in the "Prestige" line by Haeger Potteries. The glazes on these containers are for lipstick etc., and a mirror. There are also candleabra and spice racks, salad bowls and magazzines racks, all in a beautiful finish to blend with any Early American furniture you may own. Take a look at them. And if you are needing something different and special in the way of bridge prizes, look over the huge tables devoted just to this sort of thing! A new shipment of closet and drawer accessories by Galante Studio is in, too . . . satin and

So-Simple

A check-list of cleaning jobs for fall is a smart idea. There are always a number of cleaning chores at this time of the year, and a schedule makes them easier to follow up-and finish!

- ✓ GIVE KITCHEN RANGE a complete cleaning. Follow range manufacturer's directions. For removing burned-on greases, use blue soap pads which have more soap and so last longest.
- ✓ CLEAN CABINETS, using a detergent, then line the shelves with fresh newspaper. Scrub aluminum pots and pans thoroughly with a blue oval soap pad, which leaves them shiny bright for the busy days ahead.
- ✓ CLOSET SHELVES like a coat of wax to keep dirt from sticking and to protect finish — makes them easy to dust.
- ✓ PORCELAIN SURFACES — sinks, bathtubs, etc. — can be quickly and safely cleaned with Tuffy, the little plastic mesh ball. Just use it with soap or a mild cleanser.

ESA Contributes To Youth Center

Alpha Omicron Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. E. W. Hogan, 2007 Williston.

The sorority voted to donate $250 making a total of $500 to the building of the new youth center. It was also voted upon by the chapter to financially sponsor two Girl Scouts by helping them with their annual expenses.

It was announced by Mrs. Kenneth Royse, rush chairman, that the first rush party will be held next Thursday night. The purpose of the rushing will be to get new members for a sister sorority.

Plans were also discussed for a dance, planned by the sorority for the members and their guests on Nov. 27 in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. The Mello-Airs will provide the music for the event.

A program was presented by Mrs. Eugene Bentley on "The Ideals of Epsilon Sigma Alpha".

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. E. W. Hogan and Miss Kay Howell.

Other members present were as follows: Messrs. Robert Windle; Parks Brumley; W. R. Pairs; D. D. Wheat; W. L. Stark; Melvin Watkins; James Lewis; LeRoy Jacobs; Lowell E. Stevens; Ann Cohen; Loraine Payne; Oscar Engle; and Boyd Mail.

Elegant Simplicity Of Early Furniture Described By Exemplar Speaker

Mrs. Joe Fischer discussed "Early American Furniture" at the Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority meeting held Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Buster Grayson, 2008 Mary Ellen.

She stated that "American furniture developed out of two great sources. One of these was tradition, but, perhaps, the most powerful source for the first Americans was that of need. They needed chairs, tables, benches, boxes, houses and tools."

"Wood was available," she continued "and wood became the first material of Colonial craftsmen." Tools were simple so was the furniture. Cobbler's benches, plank tables, Windsor chairs, milk stools, hanging shelves, beds and benches were as simply made as possible. With refinement came modifying of the great furniture styles. England was the closest in spirit, so Chippendale, Adams Brothers, Hepplewhite, and Sheraton were strong influences for the century that ended in the 1830's.

Mrs. Fischer concluded "Probably the most famous American designer and manufacturer was Duncan Phyllis. Mohogany was the preferred wood, but many used the pine and oak boards. They were hewed from the living tree and the classic simplicity of these first great American designers still lives today."

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Jack Vaughn, president, Mrs. Ted Knox was elected Valentine Girl for the chapter. Mrs. Knox's photograph will be submitted in the International Contest by Nov. 1 and she will be presented locally at the annual Beta Sigma Phi Valentine Dance in February.

The special committee announced plans for a dinner to be given on Nov. 12 at 6:30 p.m. in Poole's Steak House.

Mrs. Charlie Roberts was welcomed as a new pledge. Mrs. Bob Trampe announced that the next meeting will be on Nov. 14 and will be held in Foster's Distinctive Furniture Store at 8 p.m. for a discussion of modern furniture. Members were urged to be prompt for the meeting.

Members attending were Mmes. Murray Sealey, Joe Fischer, Jim Meredith, Bob Trampe, Charlie Roberts, Byron Hibbs, Jeff Truly, Ted Knox, Mel Keiffer, Buster

Kappa Kappa Iota Entertains With Costume Party In City Club Room

Mrs. Charles Meech directed the activities at the regularly scheduled meeting recently of the Gamma Conclave of Kappa Kappa Iota in the City Club Room. Members arrived in costume in keeping with a tacky party theme. All costumes were modeled with applause and used as the medium to determine the winner. Mrs. Walter L. Parker was awarded the prize for being the most appropriately dressed for a tacky party.

Hostesses for the party were Mmes. O. H. Odom, Charles Meech and John Wood. Other members attending were: Mmes. John Tatum, G. M. Walls, F. N. Smith, Herbert Coker, D. L. Mackie, Otto Mangold, Aubra Nooncaster, Joe DiCosimo, B. G. Gordon, W. L. Parker, M. L. Carter, Dan Johnson, Roy Sparkman, and John Evans. Misses Elizabeth has been emptied. And this will appeal to the practical side of any woman's nature.

Certain possessions convey to the owner innate sense of elegance. They are not in the truest sense necessities; the are luxuries. But since we do not exist for and with necessities alone, many of them can be counted essential to the spirit.

Among them are paintings, books, music, really handsome clothes cut from fine fabrics, antiques, shining crystal and silver, good perfume. An appreciation of any one of them helps to create the aura of a personality.

Of these, one most universally cherished by women is perfume. A really good perfume in a crystal bottle, beautifully packaged, brings a gleam of delight to a woman's eyes. And it's a possession that she uses with great pleasure each day.

Knowing this, one great French perfume house has brought out its classic fragrance in a set which includes both crystal bottle and purse-sized container. The bottle is intended for the dressing table; the little container goes into the handbag for day or evening.

But there's a practical angle to this elegance and luxury. The little purse-size container can be refilled as needed, from the crystal bottle. So its sleek black and gold beauty is not wasted once the container

Polly's Quiz

Dear Polly: Recently I painted white color scheme. Then the sofa could be a green-and-white stripe or a green-and-white print.

My breakfast set is black-and-white. What color for kitchen curtains? And I'd like to change the counter tops; they're dark green now.—Mrs. A. S.

Dear Mrs. A. S.: I'm right with you, mom. Leave the cupboards and woodwork white. To make daughter happy, have yellow counter tops. Use curtains made of a turquoise, yellow and white print.

Dear Polly: My husband and I are beginning to refurnish our living room, but we are just lost. I have in mind a white or black plastic sofa, white lamps, black tweed rug and a green-blue mixture in chairs. But what can I do about walls and drapes? I ruled out white. We need a cheerful color but my husband will never agree to an off-beat color.—Mrs. J. W.

Dear Mrs. J. W.: You don't seem completely lost. In fact, you've made a very good start on your own. Paint the walls green-blue and have your curtains in black-and-white with touches of the green-blue. Some golden-yellow pillows on the sofa would add a bit of contrast.

Dear Polly: My living room has dark woodwork. I want to paint it to match the walls. It has nine doors and windows and looks so cut up. I feel everything would blend better if painted on color. What do you think?—Mrs. B. B.

Dear Mrs. B. B.: I think you are quite right.

Dear Polly: What color should I get to cover my sofa? The living room walls are bone white and draperies are white, too. Carpet is green and there are two green chairs and one white one.—Mrs. C. R. R.

Dear Mrs. C. R. R.: A gold sofa should be effective unless you prefer continuing an all green-and-

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: I am desperate. I read your column, God bless you, I plead with you to discuss my problem as quickly as possible, please, please. My problem is small worries. The remarks of my mother, my grown son and husband stay with me and literally tear my nerves to shreds. If my ideas don't coincide with theirs, I get so nervous. And around people generally I am frightened.

Answer: Thank you for honoring me with this brave confession of your weakness and fears.

So revealing yourself to another person without pretense or pride could be the most important step you have ever taken.

For it means that during the moments you were writing to me you felt no interest whatever in the kind of impression you would make on me but were supremely interested in yourself, not caring whether I'd think you good or bad, weak or strong, brave or frightened.

And you can see with what respect I am responding.

Believe in my respect — and the next step may not be so hard to take. You may begin to want the moment to come when you can tell your mother, your son and your husband what you have told me.

We can begin to look forward to the time when you can toss all interest in their opinions of you out of the window as you did with mine — and declare yourself as you are to them as you have done with me.

Look. Many of us live in a shell of an image of a person we "ought" to be. Inside the shell, we are like you, often frightened, weak, anything but agreeable and what we "ought" to be. Then one day the shell gets too tight. Like you we feel desperation. We may even think "This is death" — and in a way we are right.

We have finished with the old self as a green shoot in spring is finished with its seed. We burst through the shell — and again like you, let another human being look at us for the first time.

Jesus called this "losing" your life to find it. Now we must find support for this new, green shoot of your self. As your postscript says you can't get psychiatric help, I want you to buy and read a book that will bulwark this tender green baby self until it's surer of its right to live. The book is Dr. Erich Fromm's "Man for Himself."

Birth has begun with your letter to me.

church with Mrs. Jack Riley opening the meeting by leading the group in singing, "We Gather Together", accompanied by Mrs. Charles Norton.

Mrs. Carl King read scripture from Corinthians with background music by Mrs. Norton.

The program, with the theme U-N-I (You and I) and Unity was presented by Mrs. Joe Autry assisted by Mrs. James Russell.

As Mrs. Russell pretended to bake a cake with real ingredients, Mrs. Autry told what each ingredient represents in planning a good program. Ingredients suggested were variety, enthusiasm, humor, interest and prayer. Mrs. Autry also pointed out that all those participating must work together with these ingredients to bring an interesting program.

Mrs. James Russell was hostess during the social hour.

Attending were Mmes. George Eyer, W. I. Gilbert, Carl King, Jack Miller, R. A. Newton, Charles Norton, Jack Riley, James Russell, Don Stephens, Bob Lee.

Mrs. Dan Cotten was welcomed as a new member and Mrs. Sidney Paralely, Jim Hoyt and B. W. Eaton as guests.

"Take the Name of Jesus With You" was the program theme presented by Mrs. L. M. Davis at the Hope Circle meeting of St. Paul WSCS on Wednesday morning.

She said that the purpose underlying all missions is evangelism. She discussed ways in which evangelism has been carried on by Bible women, nationals-native Christian women and of some of the experiences of Bible women in the early days and at the present time. "In some countries, there are now training schools for Bible Women", she said.

A business meeting was conducted by Mrs. W. F. Gains, circle leader and the meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Kit Autry.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Attending were Mmes. James Hall J. B. Rose, Bill Matejowsky, W. F. Gains, Kit Autry, Odie Skinner, E. D. Wight, Bill Sargent.

L. M. Davis and J. W. Hopkins. Mrs. James Scholl will be Circle visitors were Mmes. Car-roll Smith and Johnny Hicks. ess for the Nov. 30 meeting 9:45 a.m.

Dear Abby...

Beware Of Wolf In Sheep's Clothing

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, who is 23, has fallen in love with a married man almost as old as her father. He told me he would get a divorce and marry her as soon as he could get the money together. I offered to lend him the money to hurry things along, but he said he couldn't accept it, as it is against his principles. He is very polite and dresses nice. My husband doesn't know anything about this and I'm afraid to tell him for fear he'll break this man's neck. My daughter is a good girl and never ran around. Should I tell my husband and try to get this man free? Our daughter says if she can't have him she'll never look at another man.

MRS. NO NAME

DEAR MRS.: This "very polite" man who "dresses nice" and is too high principled to borrow money is a no-good bum! Tell her to get out of this married man's life, and tell him to stay away from your daughter. And by all means, tell your husband. He probably won't break the man's neck; maybe he'll just wring it.

DEAR ABBY: Here is my story: I lost my mother and father in the same month. Then my married daughter came home with her two babies because her marriage broke up. It was more than I could take so I did what any healthy, normal woman would do. I went haywire. I had to have shock treatments to get over my depression. I came out of it all right but since I had those shock treatments everyone says I am crazy. Tell me, if a person has had shock treatments, does that mean they are crazy for life? I feel fine.

FEELING FINE

DEAR FEELING FINE: If you feel fine and your doctor says you are fine—then you ARE fine. Don't pay any attention to what people say.

DEAR ABBY: A couple of years ago I fell in with the wrong crowd. They were very wild and had bad reputations. After I realized what kind of girls I was involved with, I stopped going with them. Then I tried to make new friends and found out nice girls didn't want anything to do with me. That was over a year ago and they still won't accept me. What can I do to get my name off the "bad girl" list? I tried being the "wholesome type" (I went without makeup for a whole week) and I tried being the witty, life-of-the-party type. I've tried being the quiet, polite type, but nothing has changed. I am desperate for friends.

REFORMED

DEAR REFORMED: If you have really reformed... try being yourself.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Schatzie": The distance between your boyfriend's ears is just one block. That "prove your love" line is pretty stale.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want To Know," send 25-cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

Texan 4-H Club Names Officers

The Texans 4-H Club of Pampa met Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. in the Gray County Agricultural Building to elect new officers.

After discussing the qualifications and duties of an officer, the girls chose the following: Gail Green, president; Kay Bohlender, vice president; Nan Nichols, secretary; Gail Gillpatrick, council representative; Carolyn Osborne, and Viva Kay Bailey, song leader. Other members present were Janie Murphy, Gayle Powell, Patsy Gates, Barbie Veale, Judy Stone, Debbie Nichols and LaRae Gates. Adult leaders present were Mrs. Alfred N. Green and Mrs. John E. Osborn.

Designer Hopes That Fashions Head For Casual Simplicity

NEW YORK (UPI)—The calico and rickrack fad in small fashions is on the wane. But what's to succeed it?

One of the few men designers of children's dresses said, "Frankly I don't know. But I hope children's wear is headed for a period of casual, simple lines. Not a return to frills and fluff... but relying on design, not on fabric and trim, to sell dresses."

The designer speaking was Clyde Grant, a Navy veteran of World War II, who succeeded in the adult fashion world before he joined Jack Borgenicht, Inc., a 70-year-old firm and the first to mass produce children's dresses.

Grant, a native of Montgomery, Ala., won a scholarship to the Harris School of Advertising Art, in Nashville, Tenn., before he was through high school.

He was doing window decorating for a store in his hometown when he was offered a job in Hollywood making an art film for the United Nations Office of Public Information. The film, done in animated art form, took first place in the California State Art Film Awards.

He stayed around the film capital—working with Paramount Pictures' chief designer Edith Head on costumes for several pictures. From Paramount, he went to the Dinah Shore television show for a year, and also did the clothes for a number of shows starring Tony Martin.

A "job wanted" ad in Women's Wear Daily, the trade publication, brought a call from Borgenicht. "I'd never thought of doing children's dresses," said Grant, "but Borgenicht liked the sketches I took in. He said they were just enough 'way out,' and what the trade needed was a new blood."

Uses Unusual Colors
Grant has been with the firm for nearly two years, doing four collections a year for three size groups. They are the three to six-X, the seven to 14, and the six to 14 for sub-teens.

Grant includes the wide washes and full skirts little girls always have worn—he called them

"bread and butter" items. But but the stamp of the artist shows in the rich "portrait" colors of plum and rich burgundy he used in the 1960 holiday line and in his one-man war on a couple of "don'ts" in the industry—don't put little girls in green/or beige. "Beige is wonderful on little blondes," said Grant. "And put green on a pink-skinned little brunette; it's terribly pretty."

The designer's love for the "elegant casual" look showed in his "hardback" group of dresses now in the works for back-to-school 1961. These are in cotton the color of denim, but much lighter weight—more like chambray. Not a frill on any of the dresses, but they're brightened with brass button closings and with white stitching typical of that on overalls worn by farmers, carpenters or railroad men.

You can't expect to be attractive to others if —

You take a negative attitude toward everything that happens. Being a wet blanket will neither win nor hold friends.

You look for faults and flaws in others instead of looking for their good qualities.

You are too timid to ever make the first moves toward friendship but simply sit back waiting for others to make the effort to get better acquainted with you.

You refuse to do your share of entertaining or make plans that include others.

You actually want only one good friend at a time and rely completely on the companionship and friendship of one other person.

You haven't found anything that you are vitally interested in and so your boredom with life is apparent to anyone who knows you. You worry all the time about the impression you are making on others and so you never really relax or feel completely at ease.

You talk about your troubles all the time to anyone, you can get to listen.

Your cordiality varies with your mood. Sometimes you act friendly and glad to see others and sometimes you seem distant and cool toward the same persons.

Acceptance By Rituality

The high priest of the Aztecs used to perform a grisly ceremony. With a knife chipped from hard obsidian, he would cut open the chest of a sacrificial victim, tear out the heart and hold it over his head while it was still beating. Horrible! It would be hard to imagine anything worse.

Certain skills were requisite in the priest for him to be able to accomplish this gruesome ceremony, but we will not dwell further on the details.

What is important for us to know is that in the midst of this brutality, practiced under the panoply of a state-supported religion, the Aztecs did NOT believe in killing or in murder. The idea of taking human life was abhorrent to them. They rejected slaughter as a policy. The private citizen who committed murder was treated as a felon. Murder and death were both unwelcome and the murderer or the killer was punished, usually by banishment which would frequently result in his own death in the jungle wilderness.

How could it be that a people would be so dreadfully inconsistent? How could it happen that a people who were otherwise moral and who wouldn't think of killing a friend or a neighbor, would nonetheless gather at the base of one of the tall pyramids erected for the blood rite and there remain to whisper in awe as the priest performed his ghastly business?

When the priest killed a sacrificial victim, this was condoned by the multitude. If anyone else killed anyone at all for any reason, it was not condoned. Why the conflict in ideas here?

Actually, this inconsistency is as old as government and every pagan belief in gods. That which is evil and that which we would never sanction or perform ourselves, we readily permit IF THERE IS A LEGALLY RECOGNIZED RITUAL in the performance of the act.

Human beings are not murderers, by nature. But at periodic intervals we lend our ears to the mouthings and ranting of those who like to see wholesale murder conducted by governments which we now call war.

We would not conduct a war ourselves. But if the ritual is correct and has been legally sanctioned and approved, then that which is evil becomes the norm.

Let us take taxation. What is taxation except the taking of money by force without the consent of the victim? This is properly termed plundering or looting.

Few of us would do such a thing. The rare individual who embarks upon a particular act of robbery, we abhor. We punish him if we can catch him.

But when the government thru a legalized ritual plunders every man, woman and child in the nation, and plunders some of them so vigorously that their ability to survive is impaired, we stand around like the awe-struck multitudes in Mexico in an earlier age.

The legalistic ritual makes everything just dandy . . . we are led to believe.

It is the hocus pocus of the great panoply of law and courts and governments which has us fooled. Remove that ritual and we would rebel. But keep up that PROCEDURE, and we are like dumb little lambs led to the slaughter.

However wrong a given act may be, if we can only have it legally sanctioned, we'll go right along with it.

It is propensity which is the difference between free men and slaves. The free man knows that no amount of ritual can ever disguise a crime.

The slave cannot tell the difference. He is insured to the propaganda, the chanting, the masses of obedient and willing servitors. In fact, the slave looks with surprise and fear at the free man who refuses to be fooled. Such a man is upsetting to him for he never will leave things alone.

The slave likes his comforts and his self-assurances, however feeble and puerile. The free man cannot permit himself to be fooled or deceived.

As a bit of timely soul searching, the individual reader might inquire of himself to find out just how much of the time he has been fooled by modern day rituals.

Everybody's Money

By MERVYN STANLEY RUKESER
MINNEAPOLIS

The Women's Club of Minneapolis asked me to make a realistic economic appraisal in a speech today of the political promise to iron out the business cycle and outlaw recessions.

Believe it or not, the Congress, in the Full Employment Act of 1946, cast the slur of illegality on dips in sales and in volume of employment. But, legal or not, there have been substantial fluctuations in the interim in 1949, 1953 - 54 and 1957-58 when recessions occurred.

During this period, built-in stabilizers such as unemployment have been applied in an effort to mitigate the severity of declines. While up to now, no effective formula has been developed to assure non-stop permanent booms, the severity of the post-war dips has been distinctly less than the breakdown in the early 1930's. Up to now, however, the political insinuation was that, if you vote right, "it ain't gonna rain no more" — to borrow the title of a popular song of an earlier era.

Recently Secretary of the Treasury Anderson ascribed, the current business pause and sideways movement to a dissipation of the fear of inflation.

Whether the inflation threat is permanently licked or temporarily checked depends on monetary, fiscal and other policies in the coming period. President Eisenhower, during the recessions which occurred while he has been in the White House, agreed with his economic advisers that the readjustment on two occasions would be mild and short-lived. Accordingly, the President declined to be panicked, and refused to turn on inflationary faucets as a device for pump priming. Prior to recent months, the Federal Reserve System which sets monetary policy, has been under some criticism by some "liberal" Democrats for the alleged evil of tight money, which the governors of the system regarded as a tool for dampening down the inflationary threat.

With a great abundance of productive facilities in the United States and with increasingly tough competition from overseas, there is no current inflationary mood to speculate in commodities. Thus the stand against inflation may be expected to continue, and is not likely soon to be reversed unless there is a basic policy change at Washington in the direction of massive pump priming as a recession cure.

In looking ahead, it seems to me that the outlook in our competitive system, which is motivated by the hope of profit, is closely associated with current undramatic, subsurface efforts of alert business executives to deal constructively with the adverse trend of declining profit margins. With labor unions still pressing for gains at a time when the disparity in wage costs at home and abroad is making foreign competition tougher, sensitive management is introducing at this time widespread economies while stepping up the efficiency with which men and tools convert raw materials into finished products.

In the process there are efforts to weed out the wastes and excesses which were accumulated earlier during the prolonged, post-war inflationary period. In the earlier setting demand was stimulated artificially by those who were inclined to convert a marking up of the dollar value of capital assets, such as stocks and real estate, into spendable current buying power for goods and services. The halt in the uptrend of prices of capital assets stopped this lift to consumer or ultimate demand.

In a free society, the historic record shows variations in the tempo of economic growth. When maladjustments occur in prices of capital assets stopped this lift to consumer or ultimate demand.

can educational purposes — by new people."

We believe this observation is well stated, particularly when we learn of such things as this — a teacher in the progressive tradition marking an otherwise poor report card in a manner to encourage the mother: "Johnny contributes nicely to the group singing by helpful listening."

And now we learn of a candidate for his doctorate at Teacher's College, Columbia University, who plans his thesis on "Field Hockey in American Education with Special Emphasis on the Colleges of the Northwestern United States."

It is clearly away past the time these things were eradicated from our educational system. But the structure must be stripped to the roots. And this requires the separation of school and state.

NSA FIRES THREE CRYPTOGRAPHERS; FIRST DISMISSALS SINCE DEFECTORS RED 'UNDERGROUND' ROUTE TRACED

WASHINGTON — The National Security Agency has fired three cryptographers whose ratings and work were comparable to the two defectors to Russia.

Two of these dismissals were for security reasons; the third on other grounds.

These are the first discharges since the sensational defections rocked the super-hush defense organization.

The ousters are being cloaked in deep silence. Efforts by this column to obtain some information were unavailing. Similarly, congressional investigators have so far gotten nowhere.

It can be authoritatively reported that the fired employees had previously passed security examination — as had the two defectors.

Apparently, the decision to get rid of these three men is part of a "clean up" of the agency. President Eisenhower personally ordered that after the world-publicized defections to the Soviet.

Pentagon officials are hinting there will be other NSA dismissals. But how many, when and why is not indicated.

CASTRO AND HIS RED PALS — Cuba is the key shutting point for an "underwater railroad" for Russian and other Communist agents and couriers throughout North and South America.

Intelligence has conclusive evidence of that, including photographs.

It is now definitely known that two National Security Agency defectors were transported from Cuba to Moscow via this "underwater railroad," as follows:

The two cryptographers went to Mexico City, where they spent three days ostensibly vacationing. Actually, during this time their travel arrangements were being made by Soviet agents — at least one of them working directly out of the Russian embassy with diplomatic immunity.

The two defectors then were flown to Havana, where they waited two and a half days for a Russian trawler that took them to a submarine some 200 miles off the Cuban coast.

This sub carried the two defectors to a Baltic port, from which they were flown to Moscow for their widely fanfare press conference.

Significantly, during that carefully staged performance they balked at revealing how they had come to Russia. One of them, after several questions, finally said he couldn't discuss the matter "because that might prevent others from taking the same route we traveled."

Cuba as now ruled by Castro and his Communist-oriented henchmen is the crux of the "underwater railroad" route.

An average of three Russian trawlers a week (ostensibly fishing vessels) move in and out of Cuban ports, mostly at night. These trawlers deliver and carry away numerous mysterious passengers.

Subsequently, some of them have been spotted in the U.S., Mexico and Canada.

More than 100 Russian trawlers are now operating in the Atlantic. This is a big increase over previous years. Working closely with this large trawler fleet are an estimated 30 submarines, also a considerable increase.

The Navy has photographs of the functioning of this Red "underwater railroad" spy network.

In one instance, a Navy patrol plane caught a Russian trawler, that had sailed from a Cuban port several hours earlier, transferring individuals and their luggage to a Soviet submarine. Another time, a Navy plane photographed a small group shifting from a Russian submarine to a boat that subsequently beached in Cuba near a waiting truck.

Under study by the Navy and State Department is whether the U.S. can legally search a foreign trawler if American citizens are known to be aboard.

ON "GITMO" — Strikingly indicative of U.S. intention to keep firm possession of the giant Guantanamo Naval Base is the Navy's granting of a contract to build a large bowling alley for personnel stationed there. Dictator Castro and his leftist stooges may bluster and threaten, but they have utterly no chance of taking "Gitmo" — as the key base is popularly known in the Navy. It now has sufficient fighting forces, tanks, heavy artillery and other defensive weapons to withstand any attack Castro could mount. Cuba is now so completely dependent on Soviet oil that all the Island's industry, transportation system and utilities would shut down in a week if that supply were cut off. It's being maintained only because tankers from free world countries are carrying the Iron Curtain oil. Accordingly to latest official estimates, these free world tankers are delivering around 150,000 tons of oil to Cuba, of which 38,000 tons are in British bottoms; 41,000 in Liberian tankers; 35,000 in Greek; and 16,000 in Dutch. . . . Lastest Russian export to Cuba is a 15,000-ton shipment of sheet metal delivered by a Soviet freighter. . . . Defections continue from the Castro regime.

The private secretary of President Osvaldo Dorticos has left Cuba through the intercession of the Brazilian embassy, where he took asylum. The former secretary is now in Colombia.

WHO'S MEDDLING?
(Wall Street Journal)

If we understand the "religious issue," it comes down to the fear of some members of the non-Catholic community that if Mr. Kennedy, a Catholic, were in the White House, the hierarchy of the Catholic Church would get to meddling in politics.

One Protestant assembly after another has sounded off on this theme. In the past couple of weeks, a flock of clergymen in Texas publicly cross-examined Mr. Kennedy, and another group, calling themselves "Citizens for Religious Freedom," met in Washington to say they didn't think a Catholic President could resist pressures from the Pope. The Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, the apostle of positive thinking, presided at that convocation, but has since thought better of public fellowship with such negative-thinkers. And so the "religious issue" stirs headlines day after day.

What we find most remarkable about this "issue" is that all of the politically busy clergymen we see are non-Catholics. And if what they are doing isn't meddling in politics, what is it?

Looking Sideways

NEW YORK — It is a crisp, crystal autumn night and you walk home slowly from a party that has consisted mainly of tangent discussion. Your host lives in a penthouse 24 stories above the street and one wall of his rooftop shelter is a single, solid pane of thick plate glass giving the person standing before it a day or night spectacular view of New York. This view has led a physicist to muse on what will exist here a short, finger-snap of time—say 1,000 years—hence. A thousand years ago William the Conqueror had not yet breached the English Channel and constructed the curious family which in less than 100 succeeding years would lead to Henry II and Thomas A. Becket, the most bewildering relationship in royal history. In 1155, Henry and Thomas were, so to speak, early prototypes of Lennie and George in the play "Of Mice And Men" that would have to wait long to be written. By 1170 poor Thomas was dead and Henry was still a lout.

"A thousand years hence," said the physicist, "if nuclear destruction does not come along, this may seem a prosaic community of laughably funny architecture and mores."

"A thousand years hence," said the architect who had designed some of these topless towers of the modern Ilum, "some of my buildings still could be here, serviceable and sound. They are constructed of stainless steel and glass, timeless masonry. A little care would keep them standing."

You get home and because you have been stimulated by the evening's themes, you take down a small bottle of good Irish stout and go to sleep. And you dream. You dream that you are an early man. You wander through this dream, which oddly has a beginning, an end, a fat and useful middle, a special continuity and clearness, as two persons. You have today's alert mind in distant time's crude, lurching, furland body. You have the wit to wonder where you are and what you look like. You are greeted by fellow-primatives in stinking skins of bear and deer. Green skins, wretchedly tanned, if tanned at all. It is cold, it is definitely cold, but not icy. The air has chill in it. You study two males approaching you in a glade and are not at all stunned to see that they have jutting jaws, low foreheads, heavy bone structure at the brows, gnarled and twisted teeth more like abused fangs. Their arms hang long and they walk with apeline sway. They growl as they pass you and one picks up a stone and makes a menacing sound in his throat. But he doesn't fling the stone at you or say anything definable. You are able, suddenly, to realize you are thinking in 1960 English while being in a pre-historic era.

You wonder where you are—France, Spain, Germany — or perhaps what will become Wisconsin or the silver between two rivers that will be, in turn, Manhattan and then New Amsterdam and lastly New York. There are no signs, no roads, no dwellings, nothing to give a clue. You walk on through thick forestation and come, at last, to a small cliff with holes in it. At the base, a man is dipping a frayed stick in some red goopy mixture. He walks into a hole in the cliff and you follow. You see fellow primitives huddled around a smoking, choking fire that is more smoke than flame. The man with the red stick goes to a wall and makes a sweeping curve of crimson. He goes out again presumably re-dips the stick and comes back and completes the silhouette of an elk. It occurs to you to suggest to him that he bring the paint in some sort of vessel and save himself walking back and forth to it. But you don't know how to say this in his gutters.

You wake up. It is 5:45 in the morning and you say: "Escapism, obviously."

But is it?

Sicilians Have French Beat On Affection

By HENRY McLEMORE

S. S. QUEEN FREDERICA (AT SEA) — Well, not exactly at sea.

The Frederica is tethered to the wharf at Palermo, the gangplank has just been lowered, and the first of the passengers are going down into the arms of waiting loved ones and friends.

Until we tied up to Sicily's warm and sunny shores, I had always thought that the French were the most affectionate and demonstrative welcomers. But the Sicilians have them beat.

The French limit their kisses to 5,000, their hugs to around 7,500, and the gallons of tears shed to 26 gallons.

These figures represent just a good start for the Sicilians, if one is to judge by the demonstration that is going on now. Each debarking passenger is swept off his feet and held dangle, while his greeters peck at him with kisses like hens at corn, and hug him at the same time.

There must be two or three thousand people on the dock, and while the Frederica sidled in, and got tied up, their shouts, cries, hellos, laughter and cheers smothered out the sound of the ship's orchestra as it played a Sicilian air, as well as the toots of the tugs.

When a Sicilian comes home to Sicily the home folks really kill the fatted calf in the way of greeting.

We'll be here about two hours—long enough to get this airmail, I hope, and to take a ride around Palermo in one of the gaily-decorated carriages which are lined up on the pier.

During the crossing I read a book about Sicily, written by a young Englishman who lived with the peasants in a tuna cannery village for two years. He painted Sicily as the most poverty-ridden country in the world, almost, and it is hard to believe, looking at the city of Palermo with its skyscrapers, that only a smattering of Sicilians are not half-starved most of the time.

We are nearing the end of the line for us. The next stop is Naples, the getting-off place, and it lies a scant eight hours away. We'll come into the Bay by Capri, Ischia, Sorrento and Vesuvius, and dock smack in the middle of town.

I know of no more fascinating or beautiful city in which to land in Europe than Naples. It really hums, especially along the waterfront. If the Neapolitans sleep, I have never caught them at it. Day and night, at all hours, the streets are alive with people and traffic.

I am sure that a great deal of the activity of Naples today has to do with the docking of the Frederica. It is bringing Americans, and if there is anything a Neapolitan considers fair game, it is an American.

We won't have been on shore in Naples ten minutes before we will have been offered dirt cheap bargains in everything from fountain pens to Italian money, plaster of Paris miniatures of Vesuvius to a back seat ride to Rome in an ancient Fiat.

It was in Naples, a few years back, that I bought $100 worth of lira from a sidewalk financier — and wound up with a bundle of neatly cut pages of the Paris Herald. Also a carton of the only genuine American cigarettes ever made from oak leaves and sawdust.

This time I aim to be on guard.

The Doctor Says:

DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN

I've suspected for a long time that much that is written, said and done about bedwetting (enuresis) is a lot of nonsense. A standard pediatric textbook informs its readers that "the cause is usually an emotional disturbance in the child, secondary to a disturbed parent-child relationship."

And the most common cause for this disturbed relationship is "too vigorous attempts at toilet training" to which the infant reacts with confusion, frustration, feelings of guilt and an antagonism towards well-meaning but apparently misguided parents.

Kidney specialists (urologists) assert that 10 per cent of bedwetters have something organically wrong with their waterworks. They suggest the advisability of a complete examination, including instrumentation, of the very tiny and very delicate urinary tract. And, while this may be required under very special conditions, it's not a procedure that is to be lightly undertaken since full anesthesia is usually necessary and the danger of introducing infection is ever present even under ideal surgical conditions.

A recent study by Dr. S. Richard Mueller of Harvard University tends to confirm my suspicion that we've been doing a lot of barking up a lot of wrong trees. It is his "considered opinion, based on careful studies, that (1) urinary control is selftaught and is not due to parental training; (2) self-training cannot be accomplished until the infant is able to register the sensation of bladder fullness; (3) this sensation is not developed until some time after the child's first birthday; (4) because the bladder is small and its capacity very limited, the sensation of fullness is bound to register every few hours throughout the first few years of life; (5) hence the child is bound to wet during the night until its bladder is sufficiently large to hold the average 8-ounce output (water-glass full) that is normally put out by the kidneys between bedtime and morning arousal; (6) the bladder of the average child does not attain an 8-ounce capacity until about the age of 4.

I hope I have made this complicated problem clear to you. If I've succeeded, you'll understand why Dr. Mueller thinks that many of the things we've been doing for the relief of enuresis are useless, if not harmful. These include restricting the fluid intake, putting the child on the toilet at frequent intervals during the day, waking the child to void at night, offering rewards for a dry bed and inflicting punishments for wetting.

The GLOBAL VIEW

By LEON DENNEN

Newspaper Enterprise Analyst
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NEA)

It is inevitable that the discussion of Cuba, the offshore islands, a new Summit Conference and other problems of U.S. foreign policy should continue up to Election Day.

A serious omission in the debate so far has been the failure of the presidential candidates to state clearly that they speak with one American voice on Formosa's defense despite their disagreement on the strategic value of Quemoy and Matsu.

Neither Vice President Nixon nor Senator Kennedy ever suggested, even remotely, that the U.S. should not defend Formosa against aggression by Red China. Yet so vague and inconclusive have been their statements on Quemoy and Matsu that they leave the crucial Formosa issue dangling dangerously.

It is illusory to suggest that the Nixon-Kennedy controversy about the off-shore islands has gone too far, is not in the national interest and should be terminated. In the conduct of foreign affairs such a hit-and-run approach might prove disastrous.

In diplomacy there are always two sides to consider. Important are not only the intentions of U.S. policy but how the adversary—in this case Red China's Mao Tse-tung—interprets the intentions.

By now it is obvious that the Communists, Russian or Chinese, are a special breed of diplomatic horse traders. In diplomacy they generally consider the total strategic picture and not merely disjointed parts or details. At international conferences, Moscow and Peking as a rule ask for crumbs in the hope that they will walk away with the whole loaf.

The consensus of United Nations experts on communism is that Red China would not risk war over Quemoy and Matsu unless Mao considered (as he does) the two little islands a springboard to Formosa.

For Mao Formosa is the prize, not Quemoy and Matsu.

A leading Red once compared Communist tactics of attrition to the slicing away of a sausage—piece by piece. This is the strategy Premier Khrushchev employs in West Berlin. Divided American views on the defense of Quemoy and Matsu could well make Formosa a generous gift to the Red Chinese sausage-slicer.

It is indeed unfortunate that the whole issue of Formosa has been belittled in the heat of election campaign oratory.

For instance, Adlai Stevenson suggested that "If Red China agrees to recognize the independence of Formosa and to renounce the use of force against its neighbors," the U.S. should no longer "lead the fight to keep Red China out of the United Nations."

For Red China a statement of this kind is an opening wedge. The "Marxist dialecticians" will certainly interpret Stevenson's suggestion to mean that Formosa has been put on the diplomatic auction block and can be exploited by Mao to blackmail his way into the U.N.

Otherwise why should Red China be asked to "recognize" the independence of an area that is already independent? Formosa's role in the unfolding hot-cold war is not simply to provide a link in America's West Pacific defense. Continued independence of Formosa is even more vital because the island is a symbol of freedom for millions of Chinese on the Communist-dominated mainland.

Formosa is also the spiritual home for some 20 million overseas Chinese especially those living in the various countries of Southeast Asia. Without this symbol many overseas Chinese might well turn to Peking in the need to express that loyalty to the homeland which is characteristic of Chinese wherever they may be.

It is for these reasons that both presidential candidates ought to make it clear beyond the shadow of a doubt that should the need ever arise to negotiate about Quemoy and Matsu, Formosa's independence can under no circumstances be a subject of diplomatic negotiations until freedom is restored on China's mainland.

Presbyterians Host Speaker From Temple

PERRYTON (Spl) — The Rev. J. Houston Hodges of Temple began a preaching mission in Trinity Presbyterian Church, 18th and Drake here beginning today.

General theme for the preaching mission will be "The Rewards and Risks of the Christian Faith". Services will be held twice daily through Wednesday. The Rev. Mr. Hodges will speak at the regular Sunday morning worship hour and again at 7:30 Sunday evening. Scheduled services will be held at 7 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. on weekdays.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served following the morning services. A special service will be held 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday. Topic for this will be "How to Make Your Man a King".

Topic for the Sunday morning worship service will be "The Biggest Trouble with the Church". Sunday evening's topic will be "How Do You 'Get' Faith".
