Charges Monopoly In Texas Auto Insurance

AUSTIN (UPI) — A bill to bring competition into the Texas automobile insurance picture, one of the hottest issues before the legislature, sized into subcommittee Tuesday for more study.

Come witnesses who appeared before the House Insurance Committee argued the measure would lower insurance costs to Texans, they said it would make automobile insurance cost more.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. C.W. Percy Jr. of Temple, provides for a flexible rate. It is essentially the same one that has been before the legislature in two previous sessions ... and killed both times.

"The only way to bring lower insurance costs to the people of Texas is to remove the monopolistic wall that surrounds the state insurance industry," Percy said.

"The real change this will make in the law will be to permit healthy competition in the automobile, casualty and bond business in Texas."

Murrell R. Tripp of Lubbock, representing the Association of Fire and Casualty Companies of Texas, warned legislators that the Percy bill "would end public determination and regulation over rates."

"This would make the state insurance board a rubber stamp of insurers," Tripp said. "Don't abolish this important public protection."

Tripp contended that large insurance firms were shedding crocodile tears because Texas rates

Congolese Protest UN Peace Plan

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Congolese political leaders today considered setting up a "Public Salvation Committee" to unite rival political factions and stop the United Nations from possibly seizing the country by force.

Albert Kalonji, self-styled premier of the province of "South Kasai," made the suggestion for the committee in telegrams to Katanga Province President Moise Tshombe and Congo President Joseph Kasavubu Thursday night.

He called for an "urgent meeting" both on the political and military levels to study a common attitude toward the latest U.N. Security Council resolutions which broadened Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's powers to bring peace to the Congo.

All three men have protested that the resolution, passed Tuesday in New York, infringes on the sovereignty of the Congo. But Tshombe and Kasavubu have indicated they will cooperate to some degree.

The resolution authorizes the U.N. troops to use force if necessary as a last resort to stop civil war.

So far there has been no reaction to the Security Council action from Stanleyville, capital of Oriental Province and the stronghold of the followers of slain left-wing Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Strike Settled; Airlines Resume Flight Schedules

NEW YORK (UPI) — Six airlines, cleared to resume operations by the settlement of the worst airlines strike in history, today recalled thousands of laid-off employees and sped toward the restoration of full service.

One airline — Pan American World Airways — said its operations already were back to normal. The others said they expected substantial operations today but that it would be several days before all flights were in the air.

Almost all the 80,000 workers furloughed because of the six-day flight engineers' walkout were notified to report to work today.

Western Airlines, the seventh involved in the dispute, refused to join an agreement to refrain from reprisals against the strikers and call off lawsuits. There appeared little chance Western could restore normal service soon unless it reversed its position that it has fired its 130 strikers.

Total cost of the strike to the airlines, laid-off workers, resort areas and stranded travelers was estimated at $70 million or more.

The three-man commission named by President Kennedy to seek a long-range solution to the dispute planned today to start out by riding in airplane cockpits to see for themselves what the flight engineers' duties entail.

The engineers began their walkout last Friday night against Pan American, ignoring a presidential fact-finding commission set up to delay the strike.

Police Break Up Million Dollar Bogus Check Ring

HOUSTON (UPI) — Houston police today announced the breaking of a multi-million dollar bogus check ring which had preyed on Texas merchants for nearly three years.

Detectives arrested three men, two of them from Houston Thursday night and recovered a suitcase containing 100 forged Texas drivers licenses and 1,000 fake money orders drawn on the Merchants State Bank of Dallas. Also recovered was a check-writing unit.

Arnold Morgan, credit manager for a Houston supermarket chain, had been working with police for six months on the case. He said the men had bilked supermarkets and stores in Texas "in excess of $1 million during the past two or three years and the figure could easily reach $3 million."

Holt Will Seek Board Post Again

D. E. Holt, 2010 Charles St., announced today he will be a candidate for re-election as trustee in the Pampa Independent School District.

Holt filed his candidacy papers this forenoon with School Business Manager Homer Craig in City Hall.

The candidate, who is now completing his first three-year term as a member of the school board, issued the following statement:

"It has been my pleasure to serve the past three years and I will continue to put forth my very best efforts to maintain and improve our school system in every way possible and to work for the best interests of the taxpayers of the Pampa Independent School District and their children."

Missile Gap Controversy Breaks Out In Congress

200 Police Comb City For Missing 4-Year-Old

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two hundred policemen combed Manhattan today searching for 4-year-old Edith (Google) Kiecorius who disappeared Wednesday afternoon when her uncle left her for 10 minutes playing in front of an apartment building.

One thousand photographs of the pretty little blonde were printed for distribution in the West Side neighborhood to help in the search. But police were frustrated by conflicting stories from her last-minute playmates, a mysterious broken telephone conversation and a lack of hard clues.

Detectives, who set up a special telephone to receive calls on the case, were baffled how the girl could vanish in the crowded city in daylight with so many other children around.

As the hours of the search wore on, police feared Google had been abducted.

"I only pray that whoever has my little girl loves children," Google's widowed mother, Edith, said. (See Police Page 3)

Lions Club Minstrel Hit On Opening Night

If it's laughs and entertainment you're looking for you can find them again tonight in the Pampa Junior-High School auditorium where the Lions Club Minstrel, "Alabama Bound," will give its second and final performance.

Last night's audience was warmly rewarded after braving the wintry wind and snow. The show, under direction of Max Presnell, was staged with a professional thoroughness. The singing, dancing and chorus numbers were excellent. The specialty numbers won applause and calls for encores.

Calvin Whitley turned in a fine job as interactor for the six end-men who fed back some new comedy lines to Whitley's straight man. The blackface comedians in this year's minstrel edition are Joe Donaldson, Ed. Myatt, P. O. Gaut, John Branham, E. E. Shultz and B. R. Shultz.

The specialty acts are good. Sheriff Rufe Jordan in his specialty number, "Big Rufus," was particularly funny. The audience enjoyed Linda Moore's singing of "Sunny Side of the Street," and Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, "proves there is no missile gap."

But a Democratic congressman who declined to be identified said it all depends on what makes a missile gap. He said the briefing indicated there was probably no gap in the ability of the United States and Russia to destroy each other.

"But when you talk about the number of missiles," he said, "that is an entirely different matter. Based on the briefings, I would say there is still a definite missile gap."

In another development, informed sources reported that the Joint Chiefs of Staff have recommended limited production of the Nike-Zeus and anti-missile missile.

Bickering Follows Top Secret Briefing From U.S. Defense Officials

By DAVID BURNHAM

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican and Democratic congressmen who attended a top-secret briefing by defense officials bickered today over what constitutes a missile gap.

The missile gap controversy rumbled anew as the House Armed Service Committee continued its hearings, with Army Secretary Elvis J. Stahr Jr. and Army Chief of Staff George Decker scheduled to testify today on the defense situation.

Rep. James E. Van Zandt, R-Pa., claimed a committee briefing by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, "proves there is no missile gap."

But a Democratic congressman who declined to be identified said it all depends on what makes a missile gap. He said the briefing indicated there was probably no gap in the ability of the United States and Russia to destroy each other.

"But when you talk about the number of missiles," he said, "that is an entirely different matter. Based on the briefings, I would say there is still a definite missile gap."

In another development, informed sources reported that the Joint Chiefs of Staff have recommended limited production of the Nike-Zeus and anti-missile missile.

It was learned today that a top go ahead with the anti-missile missile program, thus saving two years in providing a possible defense against intercontinental ballistic missiles, is pending before McNamara.

The Army has long been pressing to move the Nike-Zeus program into production, predicting it would be operational by 1964 or 1965. But Defense Department leaders have opposed it on grounds the system had not been sufficiently tested.

Today's Lenten Message

By THE MOST REV. RAYMOND P. HILLINGER, Roman Catholic Auxiliary, Bishop of Chicago

(Written for UPI)

As members of the Catholic Church, we feel that no better time can be performed by us than during Lent, or at any other time of the year, than that of participating in the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. In the days when people were persecuted for attending Mass, the cry throughout the persecuted lands was: "It is the Mass that matters."

In the Holy Sacrifice, we have the Last Supper. Our Lord gave himself to us as a memorial of His love. We receive Him in order to become one with Him — to be in Christ here on earth.

In the Mass, too, we have the sacrifice of Calvary. In this act, the same Christ who died for us on Good Friday, offers himself to His Heavenly Father through the hands of the priest.

Lent, as a time of penance and fasting to the world, gives us an added reason to be more dedicated to the Mass. During these weeks before Easter, we can live with and through Christ. We fortify our bodies by making the fast, sometimes in very bad weather, to get to the Church. We practice penance in going to Mass rather than sleeping later, or going to places of amusement. We live in with and through Christ bringing Him through Holy Communion into our souls so that we can really say with the Apostle: "I live now, not I, but Christ who lives in me."

6,000 Left Homeless In Floods' Backwash

By United Press International

Rains tapered off east of the southern Appalachians today but flood conditions remained, leaving more than 6,000 persons homeless in their muddy backwash.

Scattered showers pelted western Florida, Louisiana and the Gulf Coast to Galveston, Tex., as the South counted at least six drowning victims. Four other persons were missing at Hattiesburg, Miss., scene of two drownings in flood waters 3 to 10 feet deep.

In northwest Texas, battered Panhandle counties geared for new snows expected to dump a half-foot on New Mexico and Texas. Clovis, N.M., was the first community to feel the new onslaught, reporting 3 inches during the night. Winds up to 30 miles per hour accompanied 2 inches of snow at Amarillo, Dumas and Borger, Tex.

Many of the high plains towns hit by new snow had only begun to dig out from a 20-inch fall earlier in the week. Wind-driven snow cut visibility to zero at Amarillo and closed several highways. Cattlemen reported no present danger to livestock, however.

Mississippi officials estimated the state's flood damage costs would top $1 million, matching earlier estimates at Birmingham, Ala. At least 5,000 persons rode helicopters, boats, National Guard amphibious and private transportation away from their homes and out of danger in Mississippi; State Sen. R. E. Gilder narrowly escaped drowning when his 17-year-old son rescued him from the gorged Yalobush River as they moved cattle to high ground near Vardaman.

Texas Gets More Winter As New Cold Front Hits

By United Press International

A new winter storm whipped across Texas today, coating the northwest with another blanket of snow and sleet and unleashing chilly rain over the rest of the state but the U.S. Weather Bureau said only the rain would be left by tonight.

Gill Pitts, a Weather Bureau meteorologist, said the ground was too warm over most of the northern half of the state for the snow to drift much. And he said a low pressure trough would end the storm by late today, except Pampa again was one of the cities to escape the heaviest snowfall. A light snow fell here early last evening but much of it melted away. Low temperature this morning was 27 degrees. Yesterday's high was in the low 40s and a high of about the same was expected this afternoon.

The snow and sleet moved as far East as Fort Worth and Amos Carter Field and south to Brownwood after it moved into the Panhandle and South Plains Thursday night.

The Weather Bureau first issued a heavy snow warning for the High Plains warning that up to six inches was expected. But Pitts said it wasn't likely that more than the two inches at Lubbock and the two inches at Amarillo would accumulate now.

A bright sun broke out over the Panhandle and began melting the snow. (See Texas Page 3)

Cuba Shakeup Forerunner Of Red Rule

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro granted Maj. Ernesto (Che) Guevara the powers of an industrial czar today in a shakeup that may prove the prelude to complete Communist-style socialization of Cuba.

Castro's brother Raul was named vice president of a new national planning committee which will set standards for industry. He also retains his post as armed forces minister.

Guevara, who had been the "economic brain" of the Castro regime as president of the national bank, achieved Cabinet rank as head of a new industry ministry empowered to "unify, orient, direct, coordinate and carry out plans for industrial development."

House Members Each May Get An Additional Clerk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House of Representatives is considering giving each member another clerk, at a possible cost of $6 million or more a year.

The Committee on House Administration quietly approved Thursday a bill that would allow each representative to add one clerk to his staff, now generally limited to eight.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Robert A. Everett, D-Tenn.

Racial Trouble Reaches Crisis

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI) — Federal Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky summoned Parliament into emergency session today to deal with the constitutional crisis with Britain that threatens racial warfare in this Central African land.

A police spokesman said all police leaves were canceled throughout Southern Rhodesia as a "precautionary measure" as the tempers of whites and blacks grew shorter.

Spacemen Get Ready For Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — America's three human astronauts bared into the final period of training today for a flight into space where dogs, rats, fleas and chimpanzees have gone and survived.

John H. Glenn Jr. and Alan B. Shepard Jr., encouraged by their first look at a Project Mercury capsule which flew 1,425 miles over the Atlantic this week, made dry-run rehearsals on the ground for a flight one may take aboard a Redstone rocket in April.

Much of America's information on how a living creature might be expected to react in space has been gleaned from animals, including the famed flight of Astrochimp Ham, who rode 156 miles up on a Redstone Jan. 31.

Russia has its share of animal space veterans, including dogs and a batch of unnamed fleas which rode into orbit and safely down again last summer.

Stewardesses Ask Separate Union

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Another airline argument, this one involving stewardesses and pilots, was hanging fire today at the AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting.

The council has promised to rule on a request by the stewardesses for a charter to set up their own union apart from the pilots.

The stewardesses contend that they have no common grounds with the pilots from the standpoint of work requirements or a pay scale and that they need an entirely separate union program.

The council opened its mid-winter meeting here Monday.

'Mercy' Slayer Leaves Note To Explain Deaths

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — For this he has missed since the car has been taken, and he has been unhappy.

"Dad does not know about the furniture and his only other source of enjoyment, his television set, that will go also. When this happens it will be a terrible shock to him. I just cannot stand to see this happen to him."

Bunch explained it was a "major problem" for him to determine how to kill his dad because: "He has been the most considerate and wonderful father any one could ever have. There's nothing he would not do for me, and, likewise, I have always been most happy in doing anything I could to please him in cooking, taking him for nice rides, keeping his laundry neatly clean at all times."

"So you see there is absolutely no vicious intent to hurt him on my part—it is the only and kindest thing I can do, so long as I am going to die shortly by my own hand."

Bunch wrote that he gave his father 30 sleeping pills, telling him they were laxatives, and after the old man was sound asleep the son "gently placed it (a pillow) firmly" on his face until he stopped breathing.

Dale Bunch never regained consciousness from the self-inflicted gunshot wound Monday night, and so he was unable to tell police how those 36 hours from his father's death to his own self-destruction were occupied.

But a four-page typewritten note left to "whom it will concern" spoke eloquently of what passed through his mind during that time and the motives — some will say distorted — which moved him.

"So this will not be a big mystery, I shall relate all the facts concerning this double death," began the note.

"Of course, under our society and usual behavior, I shall be severely criticized for what I have done; but I know that the law does not correctly cover every situation — this is one of them. What I did, to my way of thinking and knowing the facts, is the only humane thing to do under the circumstances."

"With no business to support us because of this recession, my car was repossessed on Feb. 13 for non-payment, and shortly all the furniture will be taken by repossession."

"Dad liked to go riding with me whenever I could take him—

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mexican a de Aviacion, the Mexican airline that prides itself on its gourmet food service on international flights, has added another touch.

The airline now claims to be the first to serve Metrecol instead of the meal to those passengers on diets.

The company said the 900-calories food substitute was added at the request of its regular passengers who had added pounds eating the regular fare.

Scientists Wonder If Our Space Men Will Find Any Life On Other Planets

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Will space men find intelligent life on other planets? If he does, what impact will the discovery have on his religious beliefs? These questions have long intrigued scientists, philosophers and theologians. As the time approaches for the first attempt to send a man into space, they become more general and philosophical. But the advent of manned space flight will not presage an answer to the question whether intelligent life exists in other parts of the universe besides earth. Leading astronomers like Dr. Fred Shapley of Harvard and Dr. F. B. Hoyle of Cambridge think there are probably billions of planets in the universe under conditions suitable for the existence of living creatures. But they also say that the earth appears to be the only planet in our solar system which has the right of atmosphere, moisture and temperature to sustain life. This means that man will have to travel, not merely to Mars, but to another solar system before he is any likelihood of his coming to face with other living beings.

trip to Mars is not inconceivable, since that planet at times comes within 35 million miles of earth. But distances of incredible magnitude are involved in traveling to another solar system. The nearest solar system is about 40 trillion miles away. At a speed of 100,000 miles an hour, a manned space vehicle would need more than 100,000 years to get there. So it may be a very long time, if ever, before man knows for sure whether there is "life out yonder."

Assuming that there is — and many theologians are quite as willing as astronomers to make this assumption — what implications does this have for religious beliefs? Skeptics have said that the discovery of life on other planets would tend to discredit the belief in a personal God, that God is concerned with the hopes and fears and moral strivings of the human creatures who inhabit this particular speck of matter in his vast universe.

If life exists widely throughout the universe, the skeptics ask, is it not the height of arrogance to claim — as Christians do claim — that God cares so much about man that he once became incarnate in a human personality in order to lead men back to the way of the truth and the life? In reply to such challenges, Christian scholars make, these points:

1. Those who believe that an omnipotent God is capable of taking a personal, fatherly interest in each of the nearly 3 billion human creatures now living on earth should have no difficulty in stretching their earth-bound imaginations to include the possibility that he is equally concerned with any multiple of that number on other planets.

2. If there are rational beings elsewhere in the universe who are in a "fallen" spiritual state like man, there is nothing in Christian theology which denies the possibility that God may have acted to redeem them, as He acted to redeem man in the person of Jesus Christ. Centuries ago, St. Thomas Aquinas discussed the possibility of other incarnations of God, for the benefit of other creatures than man.

Indeed, there is traceable in Christian literature a recurrent intuition that the redemptive work of Christ was not confined to earth. This belief, which existed long before the advent of space travel, is poetically expressed in Alice Meynell's famous verse about "Christ In The Universe":

"...in the eternities
Doubtless we shall compare
A million alien Gospels, in what
He trod the Pleiades, the Lyre, the Bear."

Depressed Areas Hearing Called On Lack Of Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges was expected today to answer criticism that he has been lukewarm toward legislation intended to help economically depressed areas.

Hodges was the first witness scheduled before a House banking subcommittee hearing on President Kennedy's $389 million program designed to pump economic vitality in chronic unemployment regions.

Both the House and Senate stepped up the pace of processing depressed area programs — one of the high priority legislative goals on the New Frontier.

A quiet backstage political struggle was underway among Democrats over how the program should be administered.

Most congressional supporters of the depressed areas proposal were fighting a White House suggestion that it be handled by the Commerce Department.

Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., has said he felt that Hodges, former North Carolina governor, had not exhibited enough enthusiasm for this approach to rescue labor surplus areas.

He reflected the sentiments of others in Congress who are trying to keep it out of the Commerce Department.

Russia Warned U.S. Has Strong Striking Force

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has issued a veiled warning to Russia that the United States will maintain a sufficient force to strike a "decisive counter-blow" in the case of all-out nuclear war.

McNamara said, "So long as the adversaries of freedom continue to expand their stockpiles of mass destruction weapons, the United States has no alternative but to insure that all times and under all circumstances it has the capability to deter their use."

His warning was contained in a statement prepared for delivery at a closed-door session of the House Armed Services Committee.

"In this age of nuclear armed intercontinental ballistic missiles," McNamara said, "the ability to deter rests heavily on the existence of a force which can weather a massive nuclear attack, even with little or no warning in sufficient strength to strike a decisive counter-blow."

"No effort should be spared, no means overlooked, which reasonably can be expected to contribute to the strengthening, protection and sure control of these crucial retaliatory forces."

PLANS U.S. VISIT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Sukarno of Indonesia will visit Washington in late April as the guest of President Kennedy. White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Thursday night Sukarno would stop in Washington as part of a world tour.

School Officials Get Klan 'Fear Note'

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Nineteen-year-old Nanny Peabody and her beau were watching television when the doorbell rang. It might have been her folks, back from a cross-town visit.

"Who is it?" she asked absently, still watching the screen as she unlatched the chain and let the door swing open.

In the doorway was a tall, still figure in a black robe. Eyes peered at her from behind a tall, shiny black hood.

"The Klan!" she screamed and slammed the door. She tore through the house to lock the back door. The boy friend, husky Louisiana State University football center Gary Kinchen, unlocked the front door again and dashed onto the porch.

But the figure had vanished. On the porch was a note: "No integration—KKK."

Nanny's father serves on the East Baton Rouge Parish school board. A federal court order has called for racial integration in parish schools in the coming few months.

Mrs. I. P. Collier, wife of another board member, answered the door the same night to find a man in a white robe. He handed her a note identical with the one on the Peabody porch and left without saying a word.

At the home of another member, John E. Cox, the telephone rang and a man's voice said only: "You won't be alive to attend the next board meeting."

The contacts were all made Monday night, but were made public by the district attorney's office only Thursday.

The three board members were among five who voted earlier this month against the "packing" of the locally-elected board by four appointees named by Gov. Jimmie Davis this week under a brand new state law.

Kennedy Rejects Exchange Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has rejected a congressional suggestion that the United States offer to give Red China food in exchange for American prisoners.

Lawrence F. O'Brien, Kennedy's special assistant, said Thursday the Red Chinese have denied widespread famine and have shown no interest in getting food.

Court Studying Charges Against Vote Registrars

OPELIKA, Ala. (UPI) — Federal District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. began consideration today of government charges that registrars of Macon County, Ala., discriminated against prospective Negro voters.

A four-day hearing closed Thursday, and Johnson called for written briefs summing up the arguments by March 13. The Justice Department charged that Macon County registrars gave complicated examinations to Negroes seeking to register but allowed white persons to register almost without question.

Former registrar Grady Rogers, now a state legislator, testified there was no discrimination. But under questioning Rogers said he was unable to explain why a lengthy test for literacy was given to Negro applicants while several illiterate whites were allowed to register.

Two newly appointed registrars told the court they would try to speed registration but still would require all applicants to copy long sections of the U.S. Constitution as a test of writing and reading ability.

Over Weight Signals 'Danger' For Hubby

Scientists are trying to find agents to reduce the cholesterol level in the blood. The ideal drug has not yet been found and thoroughly tested on high-risk persons for a sufficient period of time. So the situation remains uncertain. But it is a certainty that obesity clearly increases risk. So get your husband on a scale and keep a written record of his weight. With the advice of a doctor on a proper low-calorie diet and a wife's persistence, the loss in weight can be gratifying in a few months. I don't doubt that diet is an important factor in determining heart risk despite the lack of positive proof. The amount and nature of the fat, carbohydrate and protein in the diet do appear to have a pre-disposing influence toward hardening of the arteries aside from caloric content. Enough is known today to adjust the diets of high-risk patients. Such a modified diet would reduce risk without being unpalatable, unbalanced or difficult to follow. It should be undertaken at the direction of a physician. The diet should include fewer calories and less fat content. Vegetable fats should be accentuated and total caloric content from fats be limited to one-fifth, or at most, one-fourth of the total diet. Two-thirds of the fat present should be vegetable fat. Your physician should augment the diet with other suggestions, perhaps a preference for oils over solid fats, for example. If your husband is a high risk, these suggestions are vital. They should be helpful to low-risk individuals. To summarize: As a wife, you should encourage periodic health check-ups, persuade your husband to accept medical advice in reducing blood pressure, keep his weight normal or slightly below, interest him in moderate and regular exercise, avoid tensions (End Series)

Encourage checkups.

Dear Abby... 'Free Love' Most Expensive Kind!

DEAR ABBY: Twenty years ago I went to live with a man as his wife without marrying him. We had three children. When our youngest reached his 18th birthday (last week) this man told me he was selling our home and everything in it, as he plans to take off and find himself a "wife" and live a little. I asked him when he was giving me my half of the money. He said, "Since when does a man give his housekeeper half his money?" As his common-law wife, am I not entitled to half his money? I haven't a dime to call my own and have never worked outside my home. What are my rights? I don't want to go to a lawyer as I have my pride.

RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. When it comes to fashion women are like a bunch of sheep—always ready and willing to meekly follow the leader. Jacqueline Kennedy is out front now and women are lining up for the "Jackie look" — imitating her hairdo, studying her clothes, getting set to follow wherever she leads. The beautiful young First Lady had a fashion message for American women, all right. But they have misread it. The message wasn't "Look as I look" but "Do as I do." What Mrs. Kennedy has done to make herself a distinctive personality is not to copy anyone but to emphasize her own kind of beauty by wearing what most becomes her and making herself outstanding by emphasizing her own individuality. She has done that so well that women are ready to get in line behind her and do their best to be carbon copies of the original. Rather, they ought to borrow her fashion philosophy, instead of her hairdo. They should adopt her determination to be herself. They not only owe that to themselves. They owe it to the First Lady. If she has achieved a "look" that is distinctly her own, why should she have to look at carbon copies of herself all over the place? It wasn't a woman who said that imitation is the sincerest form of flattery. Any woman who has achieved individuality doesn't thank a copycat for being a copycat.

Retired Military Men Being Sought To Take Up Christian Service Work

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The Biblical verse about beating swords into plowshares is being translated into human terms in a new program undertaken by major U.S. Protestant denominations.

They are asking retired military men to volunteer for "second careers" of Christian service as ordained clergymen, church administrators, youth leaders, camp directors and overseas mission workers.

This program offers real promise of relieving the acute manpower shortage which now handicaps churches in nearly every area of activity.

A recent survey showed that about 180,000 officers and enlisted men will be eligible to retire from the nation's military services during the next three years. They have completed 20 or more years of active duty, but they are still relatively young. Most of them are in their early forties.

These men have a high level of education and training. They have had a great deal of experience in leadership, organization and administration. Many of them possess special skills, including a knowledge of foreign languages, which could be highly useful in church work.

Few of them will be content to fritter away the rest of their lives in aimless hobbies. Because they have a basic income from their service retirement pay, they can afford to take jobs in professions where the opportunities for service outweigh any financial rewards. And a large number of them already are devoted church members.

All of these considerations were weighed by church leaders at a recent conference in Washington, D.C., on church vocations for retiring service personnel. Representatives of 22 Protestant bodies participated in the conference. It was sponsored jointly by the General Commission on Chaplains and Armed Forces personnel, and the Yokefellow Institute of Richmond, Ind.

The general commission is an interdenominational agency concerned with the Protestant ministry to the armed forces. The Yokefellow Institute is a small but influential organization which seeks to bring more laymen into active Christian service.

The conference appointed a committee, headed by Dr. John Oliver Nelson of Yale Divinity School, to prepare a handbook and leaflets which military chaplains can use to inform retiring servicemen about the opportunities for church vocations.

The leaflets will forewarn retirees that they "may have to knock on a few doors" to find church jobs they are qualified to fill. This idea is as new to the churches as it is to retiring servicemen, and no machinery has been set up to insure that every interested applicant will be immediately matched to an available job opening.

Sponsors of the program also recognize that it will be necessary to do some "educating" of denominational and local church officials, so they will appreciate the caliber of help which is being offered them when a retired serviceman seeks a job.

Dr. Elton Trueblood, the famed Quaker philosopher who was one of the founders of the Yokefellow Institute, is highly enthusiastic about the possibilities of the program.

"Most people find a work to do and stay at it the same work all of their lives, except for a period of retirement when they often do almost nothing," said Dr. Trueblood.

"But it doesn't need to be like that. Life can be lived in chapters. After you have completed one chapter—a business or professional career—you can begin a new one."

Borger Minister To Discuss Disputed Question At Meet

This week's activity of the Pampa Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses is to be climaxed at 3 p.m. Sunday with a scriptural discourse on the much disputed question of "Why Are There So Many Religions?" The speaker will be Michael Impropete visiting from Borger.

Mr. Impropete has had much experience and training as a minister, having spent ten years at the International Headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Some of the questions Mr. Impropete will answer are: Are there many ways to worship God? What is the right way? All are invited to attend and bring their Bibles with them.

Following the Bible discourse there will be an hour-length discussion of the theme "Jehovah's Requirements for Life Seekers."

The presiding minister, Daniel Katsanis will act as chairman for this Watchtower Bible study class. Sunday's activities are only a brief portion of the services to be held. Friday evening, commencing at 7:30 will be the weekly ministry school. First will be a 15 minute talk by Daniel Katsanis on "Women Ministers" in which Romans 16:1; Psalm 68:11 and 1 Timothy 2:11, 12 will be discussed. This will be followed by an eight minute sermon by Roy Jones of Lefors on "Writing the Names in the Book of Life." Next will be a short Bible Reading by Jimmy Conner and then two sermons.

This will conclude the ministry school.

At 8:30 p.m. on Friday will be the ministry—development class. Among other things the group will discuss, will be the planning of activities for the Celebration of the Lord's Evening Meal, Mar. 30; and public preaching activities which will be intensified during March and April. All services are free and will be conducted at Kingdom Hall, 944 South Dwight.

FBI Head Urges Participation In Sunday School

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has called on the nation to "emphasize the importance of our spiritual resources."

In a message to Pat Boone, national chairman of Sunday School Week, to be observed April 10-16, Mr. Hoover said:

"It is a pleasure to extend my congratulations and best wishes in connection with the observance of the 17th annual National Sunday School Week."

"Our young men and women should be given every encouragement to seek active participation in the activities of our Sunday Schools throughout our nation."

With the godless conspiracy of communism trying to subjugate our democratic society, particularly our youth, we must continue to develop and emphasize the importance of our spiritual resources.

"Religious dedication can keep freedom, justice, and mercy alive in our country. The churches have faced no greater challenge than the cancerous growth of communism. The antidote is contained in the tremendous power of God manifested by our youth endeavoring to hold high the concepts of our heritage—truth, justice, and individual dignity."

The theme for the week is: "Sunday School—Guide to Faith."

The observance is sponsored by the Laymen's National Committee, Inc., an interfaith organization.

First Methodist Sermon Topics Set For Sunday

"Jesus, The Son of God" will be the sermon topic discussed by the pastor, Rev. Woodrow Adcock, at the two morning services in the First Methodist Church.

Special music for the early service will be furnished by the Carol and Wesley choirs with their selection of "Come, Thou Holy Spirit" by Rousseau.

At the 10:45 a.m. service the Sanctuary Singers will sing the anthem, "My Faith Looks Up To Thee" by Schaefer with violin obbligato by Edward Juenger and soloists, Dorothy Juenger and Nora Wells. The Primary Choir will also sing.

Sunday evening fellowship will be at 6 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall.

The adult church-wide mission study will begin Sunday at 6:30 p.m. This first session, sponsored by the Commission on Christian Social Concerns will be presented by Mrs. W. M. Ledbetter, Dr. Julian Keys and Wendell Watson.

The Sunday night service at 7:30 p.m. will be directed by Bishop Paul Galloway of San Antonio, with music for the service furnished by the combined MYF choirs.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

Rev. David E. Mills
Pastor
Lamar Christian Church

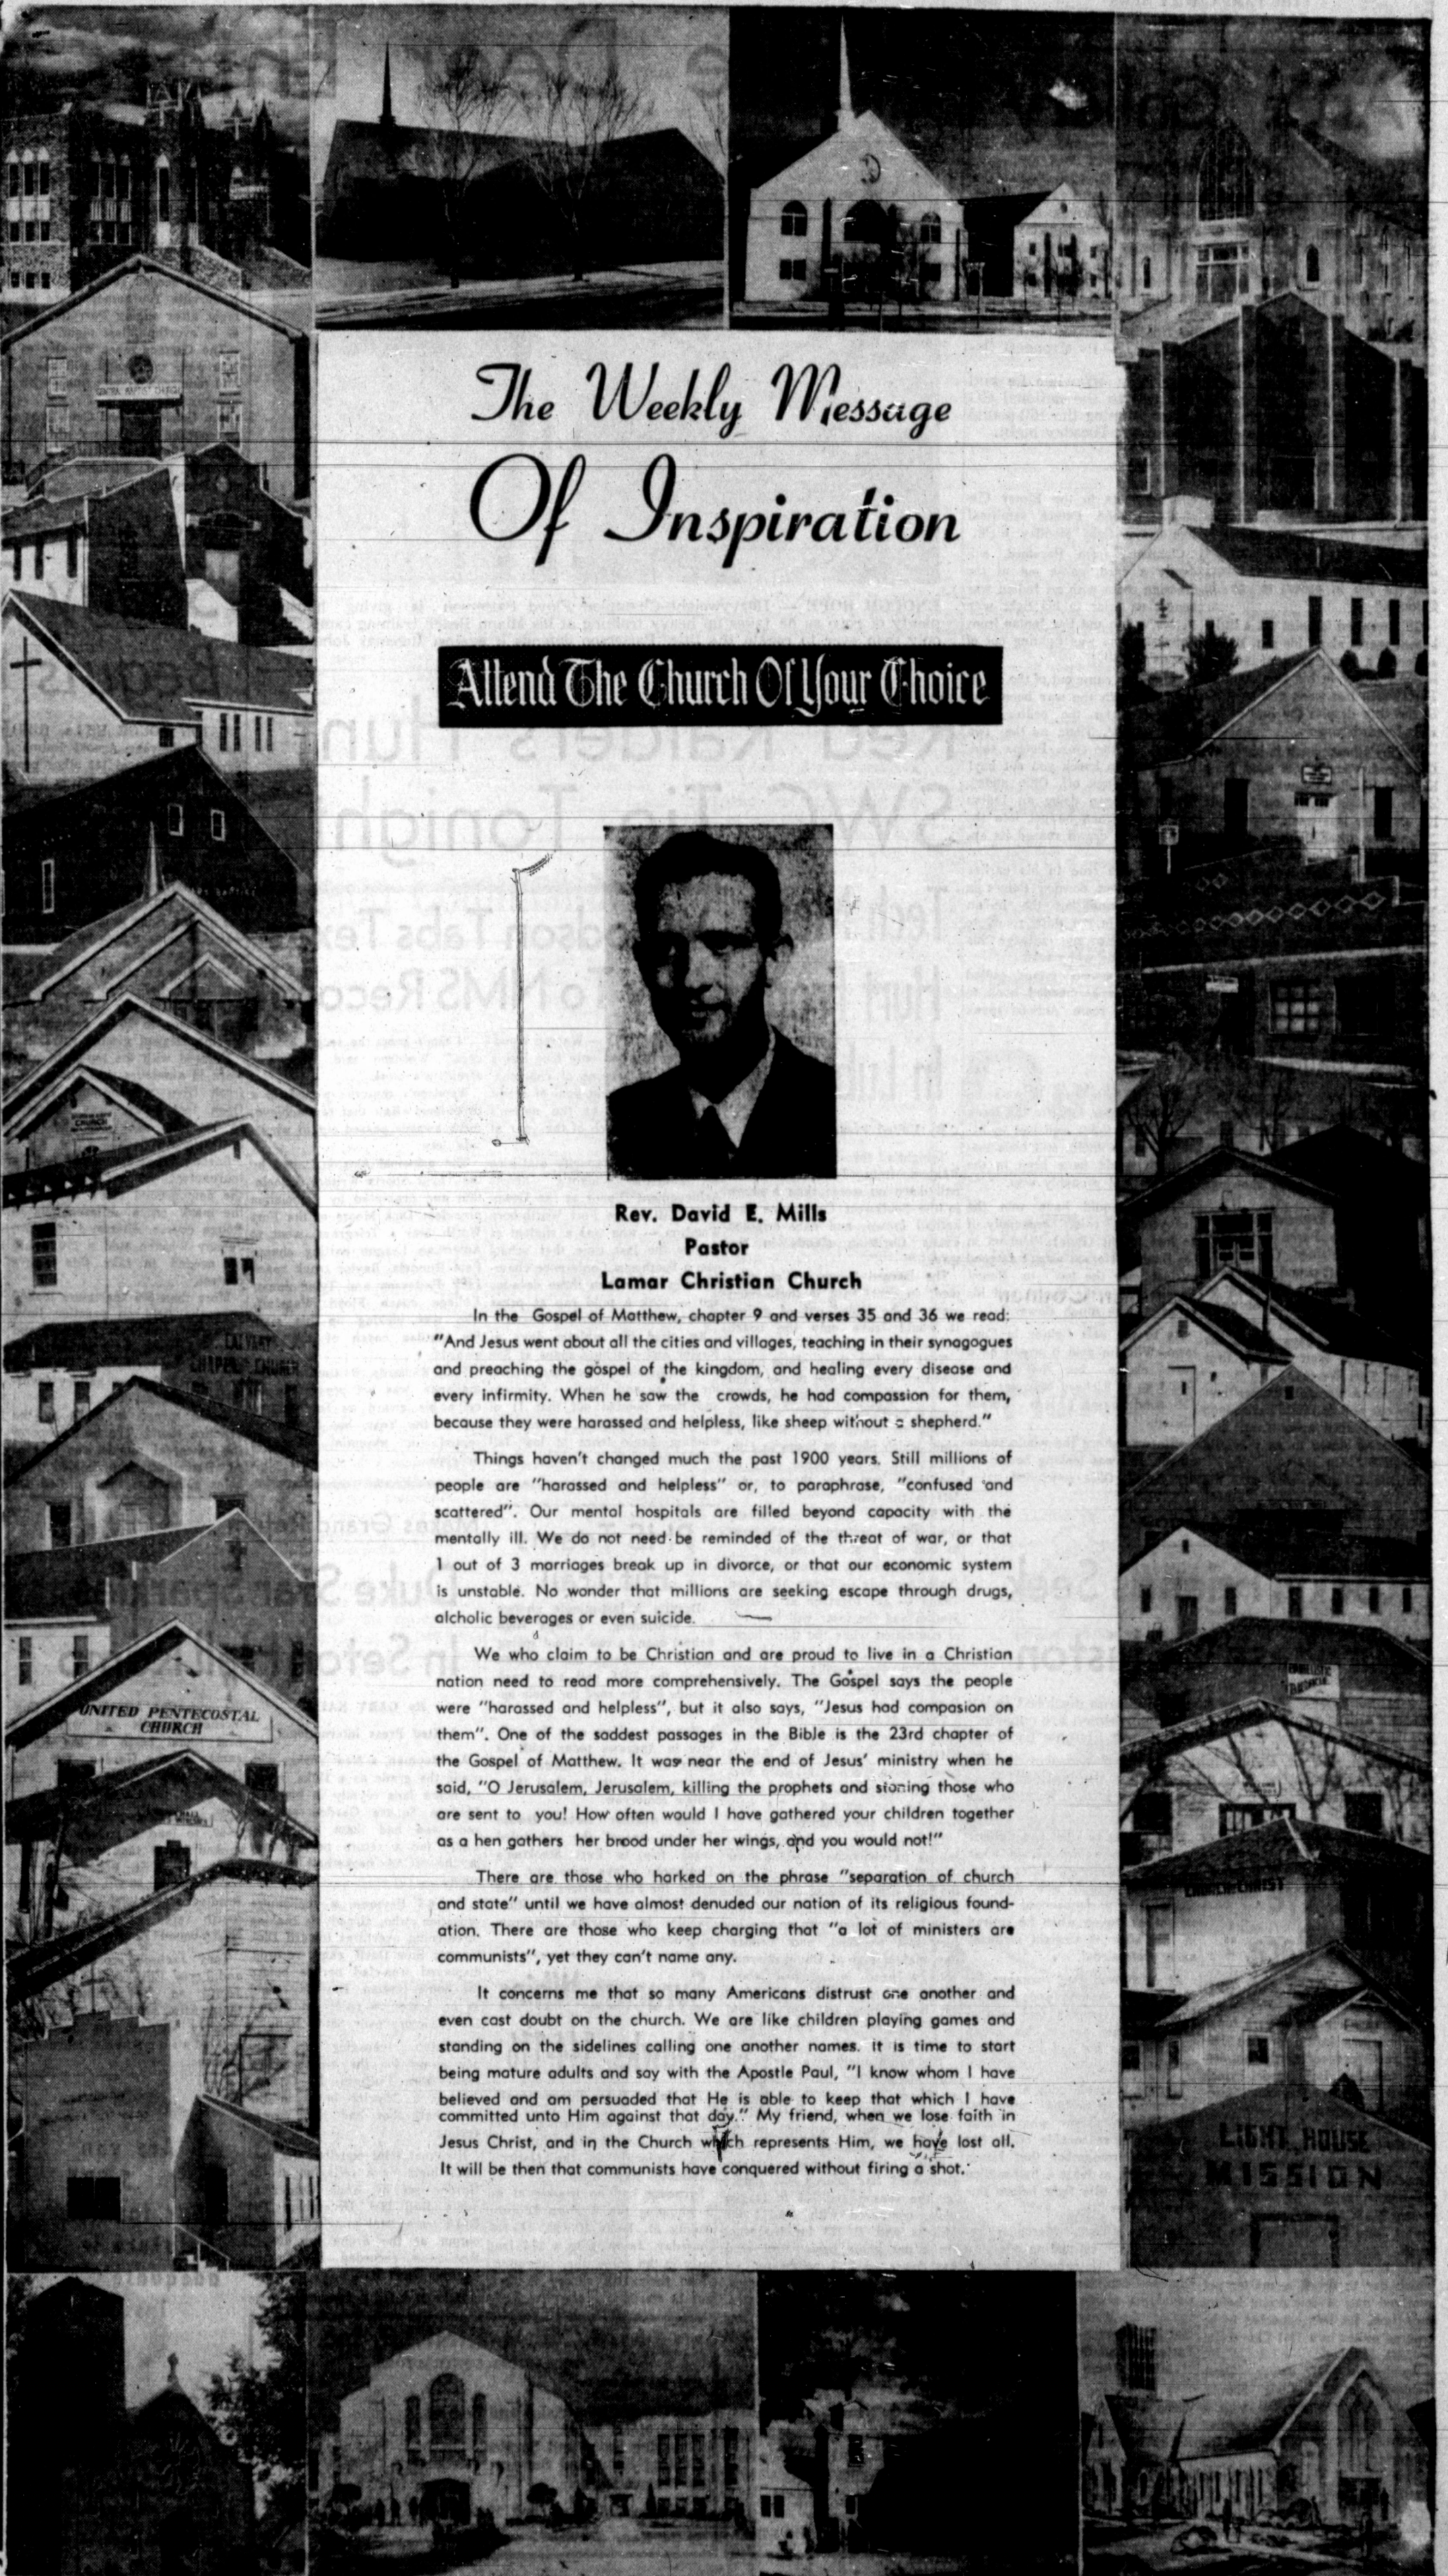

In the Gospel of Matthew, chapter 9 and verses 35 and 36 we read:
"And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every disease and every infirmity. When he saw the crowds, he had compassion for them, because they were harassed and helpless, like sheep without a shepherd."

Things haven't changed much the past 1900 years. Still millions of people are "harassed and helpless" or, to paraphrase, "confused and scattered". Our mental hospitals are filled beyond capacity with the mentally ill. We do not need be reminded of the threat of war, or that 1 out of 3 marriages break up in divorce, or that our economic system is unstable. No wonder that millions are seeking escape through drugs, alcoholic beverages or even suicide.

We who claim to be Christian and are proud to live in a Christian nation need to read more comprehensively. The Gospel says the people were "harassed and helpless", but it also says, "Jesus had compassion on them". One of the saddest passages in the Bible is the 23rd chapter of the Gospel of Matthew. It was near the end of Jesus' ministry when he said, "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, killing the prophets and stoning those who are sent to you! How often would I have gathered your children together as a hen gathers her brood under her wings, and you would not!"

There are those who harked on the phrase "separation of church and state" until we have almost denuded our nation of its religious foundation. There are those who keep charging that "a lot of ministers are communists", yet they can't name any.

It concerns me that so many Americans distrust one another and even cast doubt on the church. We are like children playing games and standing on the sidelines calling one another names. It is time to start being mature adults and say with the Apostle Paul, "I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day." My friend, when we lose faith in Jesus Christ, and in the Church which represents Him, we have lost all. It will be then that communists have conquered without firing a shot.

Art's Gallery

By Art Mayhew

Ollie Wilhelm, Optimist boxing coach and father of recently-crowned 160-pound state Golden Gloves champion Bobby Wilhelm, returned to Pampa late Wednesday from Fort Worth with some astute comments on the state fighting show.

Ollie, who perhaps has done more for boxing and boxers in Pampa in recent years, was impressed with the showing of the Amarillo region team, of which Pampa's Charles Snider was a member. Amarillo finished second to Corpus Christi in team totals — 16 points to 13 — its strongest finish since it won the title in 1950.

He hit us with a blockbuster right off when he said that Bobby would not make the trip to the national GG meet in Chicago next weekend after winning the 160-pound title over Randy Blackwell of Beaumont Tuesday night.

Bobby Ends Career

"Bobby is through with his boxing," Ollie stated. "He graduates this spring from Corpus (University of Corpus Christi), and he doesn't feel like he can miss school and his job in order to go to Chicago."

Ollie went on to point out a little-known secret about his son. Bobby suffered a recurrence of an old football injury in his first fight in Fort Worth last week and went on to the title despite the loss of his right-handed power.

"Bobby's best punch is his left," Ollie said. "And it's a good thing because he didn't have any power in his right arm after he hurt his shoulder last week."

However, after Bobby's decision not to go to Chicago, he quickly recommended that Snider go in his place. Ollie agreed that Snider would have had a much better chance than the Fort Worth alternate selected for the simple fact that Snider does possess a real bomb in his right hand and might catch some unsuspecting souls looking the other way in Chicago. Wilhelm revealed some humorous sidelights to the Elmer Clements — John Peters semifinals light-heavy fight Monday night.

Clements, from Hereford, evidently a card, came out of the dressing room with an Indian war bonnet on prior to his fight with Peters, a Sac and Fox Indian from Nebraska who was fighting out of Corpus Christi.

"Clements came out of the dressing room with the war bonnet on and Peters hit the ceiling," Wilhelm laughed. Then, as the two headed for the ring, Peters said, "I'm going to knock you out boy! To top things off, Ollie added, Clements began doing an Indian war dance when he got into the ring and the crowd roared its approval.

Peters was true to his earlier word. Clements downed Peters in the first round but the Indian came back in the third round to deck Clements and salvage his pride over the white man. Clements, we understand, pulled no antics as he headed back to the dressing room. Actions speak louder. . .

Wills, Claunch Better?

In another vein, Ollie said that he felt Dickie Wills and Johnny Claunch — a pair of Pampa fighters who failed to make the tourney for different reasons — both would have made good showings in Fort Worth.

"Dickie had a better chance than either (Manny) Perez or (Gary) Watt," Ollie affirmed. (Perez won the regional 147-pound title over Watt in Amarillo but Watt went to the state meet because of some difficulties encountered by Perez in Amarillo two days before the state tourney; Watt lost his first fight in Fort Worth).

"Dickie's a stronger puncher than either one and he would have made those boys stay away from him rather than move in as they did on Watt."

As for Claunch, who won the heavy title with ease in Amarillo but came down with flu the week of the state fights and had to bypass them, Wilhelm still feels that Claunch would have been in the finals — and probably won.

"Johnny would have won the heavyweight title, especially if he had fought (Pete) Peterson in the finals. Peterson wasn't as good as last year (he lost to Henry Harris Jr. in the finals) and his reflexes were much slower."

As to the best fighter in Cowtown, Wilhelm said it would be a hard choice, but that his vote would go to Richard Marquez, the 135-pound champ from Corpus Christi.

"He was sharp the whole tournament, and was looking better every fight," Ollie concluded.

Start Negotiations Soon

Rocky, Friends Seek Purchase Of Liston

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rocky Marciano disclosed today that he and a group of New York businessmen are considering the purchase of heavyweight Sonny Liston's contract.

Liston, 26, of Philadelphia, is rated the world's top contender by both the Ring magazine and the National Boxing Association. His 31 victories in 32 fights include 21 knockouts.

Drivers Prime Engines, Eye Daytona Race

DAYTONA BEACH Fla (UPI) — Indianapolis winner Jim Rathmann and other top drivers tuned their engines today for two 100-mile races preceding the big 500-mile test for late model stock cars Sunday at Daytona International Speedway.

Rathmann, of Miami, became eligible to compete in the Daytona events, sanctioned by the National Association for Stock Car Racing, through a recent agreement between NASCAR and the United States Auto Club, to which he belongs.

His next problem was deciding which car to drive, a matter not resolved only a few hours before race-time. He was expected to be entered either in a 1961 Chevrolet or 1961 Pontiac.

Another USAC driver, Paul Goldsmith, of St. Clair Shores, Mich., was entered with a 1961 Pontiac, along with leading NASCAR ace from all over the Country.

The first of the two 100-mile Grand National circuit stock car races was due to start at 2 p.m. with the second immediately following it.

"We expect to start negotiations just as soon as we decide what we can reasonably offer," explained Marciano, who was the ring's only perfect-record heavyweight champion when he retired in 1956 after 49 straight victories as a professional.

At Allentown, Pa., manager Joseph (Peep) Barone and attorney Eugene J. Gorman said neither Marciano nor any of his group had made a bid yet for Liston's contract.

Barone, convalescing after two abdominal operations, commented: "I don't know what Rocky considers a reasonable offer. But he should remember that Liston could make at least a half-million dollars in a title fight before this year is over."

In New York, Marciano refrained from estimating the size of a Liston title-purse but he did express confidence that Sonny would get a title shot this year — against the winner of the "rubber match" between champion Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson at Miami Beach March 13.

"I understand there is no provision for another return bout in case Johansson beats Patterson," Rocky continued. "And who else has the winner to fight except Sonny?"

If Rocky and his unidentified backers do buy Liston's contract, Rocky and one of the group will act as co-managers, he said.

White Deer Enters Regional

ENOUGH ROPE — Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson is giving himself plenty of rope as he takes up heavy training at his Miami Beach training camp. The only man ever to regain the title, Patterson defends it against Ingemar Johansson in Miami Beach on March 18.

Red Raiders Hunt SWC Tie Tonight

Tech Meets Hurt Frogs In Lubbock

By United Press International

Tonight's the night the Red Raiders from Texas Tech can nail down no worse than a share in the Southwest Conference basketball crown, and only crippled Texas Christian stands in the way.

The Horned Frogs are so crippled, in fact, that if three men were to be fouled out of action, it would leave only the coach available for action.

TCU has lost three of its squad since mid-term, and two of them in the past week. Thus, the Frogs aren't considered even a mild threat to coach Polk Robinson's club, which plays at home in Lubbock with a two game edge on the pack, and only three games left in the case.

Three other games are scheduled tonight, wrapping up the next to last week of the season.

In other action, two of the other shaky hopefuls — Texas A&M and Texas — get together at College Station and the loser will bow out of contention while the third hopeful, Arkansas, hosts cellar-bound Baylor at Fayetteville, and giant-killer Southern Methodist plays Rice at Houston.

Tech's 98-81 victory over Baylor last Tuesday night, coupled with SMU's 65-61 jolt to Texas A&M's hopes, gave Tech a 9-2 loop record and dropped A&M into a three-way tie for second at 7-4 with Texas and the Razorbacks.

Tech would be an odds-on favorite on its own court tonight even if TCU was at peak strength, but the mid-term loss of Jerry Cobb by disciplinary action; loss of top soph Tom Pennick with an eye injury last weekend; and Wednesday night's loss of David Warnell with a head injury just about wrote TCU off. The Frogs had upset both Texas and Texas A&M at home, but have won but one game on the road.

The game might give Tech's Del Raye Mounts and Harold Hudgens a chance to fatten their scoring totals in their battle to overhaul A&M's Carroll Broussard in the individual scoring races.

Going into tonight's game, Broussard has scored 455 points for the season and 256 in league play, compared with 449-222 for Mounts and 337-223 for Hudgens. On a per game basis, Broussard has averaged 21.7 points to 21.4 for Mounts and 21.1 for Hudgens, who has played five fewer games.

In conference play, Broussard has averaged 23.3 to 20.3 for Hudgens and 20.2 for Mounts. No other players are even close.

Woodson Tabs Texas Key To NMS Record

DALLAS (UPI) — Warren Woodson, who has had four losing teams in 30 seasons of coaching, gives Texas a great deal of credit for his success as the nation's small college coach of the year at New Mexico State.

Addressing a capacity audience at Thursday night's Sports Achievement Dinner at the Downtown YMCA, the Fort Worth-born Woodson — who was a student at Baylor the last time that school won a Southwest Conference championship more than three decades ago — took a mild rap at press reports that he wasn't a Texan.

He cited his athletic days at Baylor and coaching spans at San Marcos Academy, Texarkana Junior College and Hardin — Simmons and then pointed out that 11 of the first 22 players on his all-winning Aggie team of last fall hailed from the Lone Star State.

"I don't know the secret of success," Woodson said, "but I'm afraid it's work."

Woodson's remarks wound up a three-hour affair that saw achievement awards passed out in wholesale lots.

The principal awards, voted by the Texas Sports Writers Association and presented by association president Dick Moore of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, went to American League batting champ Pete Runnels, Baylor track coach Jack Patterson and Tyler Junior College coach Floyd Wagstaff, who was picking up his sixth for similar coach of the year awards.

Paul Richards, Baltimore Orioles manager, was not present to receive his award as Southwesterner of the Year, but it was presented in absentia to Julius Scheppe.

PHS Teams Hit Trail

Despite a last-minute change in scheduling, Pampa High School opens a two - front spring sports campaign this weekend when the PHS golf and track squads hit the road for their opponents.

Pampa's golfers open the activity in Andrews today with 18 holes of a 36-hole medal golf tournament, with the final 18 to follow tomorrow.

Bad weather forced Dwain Lyon to cancel the scheduled track trip to Fort Stockton's Comanche relays tomorrow. Instead, the PHS harriers will hold a practice meet with Amarillo's Sandies in Amarillo tomorrow afternoon.

Syracuse Whips Hawks, 144-116

By United Press International

It seems to be getting easier every day for the surprising Syracuse Nationals in the National Basketball Association.

Syracuse had no trouble at all in whipping the Western Division leading St. Louis Hawks, 144-116, Thursday. Jumping to a 27-7 lead early in the game, the Nats spurred to their 11th victory in their last 13 starts.

Citizens Cop Tourney Win

KELLERVILLE — Pampa's Citizens Bank Citizens moved into the second round of the Kellerville Tournament here tonight after edging Perryton, 78-67 in overtime, last night.

The Citizens meet Wheeler at 7:30 p.m. today and will move into tomorrow night's finals with another win.

Sam Condo, 21, and Gene Brown 20, sparked the Citizens' win last night while Joe McDowell had 24 and Tom Fletcher had 17 for Perryton.

Snead, Palmer Favored

Soggy Tourney Begins Action

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Golfer-of-the-year Arnold Palmer, Sammy Snead and 143 other pros trooped to the trees today in hopes a day's uninterrupted sunshine had dried the course of the $20,000 Baton Rouge Open golf tournament.

The fairways of the Sherwood Forest course were still soggy in spots and PGA officials liberalized the ground rules to offset standing water in some places as the first round play began.

Entries were allowed to clean and move balls two feet in the fairways, and par was trimmed two strokes to 70 to compensate for the relaxed ground rules.

Entered with the top-flight pros were 12 amateurs, and Dave Hill, fresh from winning the Tucson Open last week, was expected to set the pace for the non-professionals.

Snead's 275-stroke record for the tournament seemed doomed by the new ground rules. Snead set the mark on a different Baton Rouge course, Sherwood club pro Johnny Whitten said a 270 would be needed to take this year's contest.

More than 500 spectators looked over the field on practice links Thursday and saw Palmer and Howie Johnson, both former winners of the event, post 68s along with Jay Hebert, a gallery favorite in Louisiana.

Snead turned in a 70 on the practice round. The best score of the rehearsal rounds was that of Al Bessellink, who bogied three holes going out, then birdied six

Bucks, Iraan Battle In Lubbock Tourney

LUBBOCK — White Deer's Bucks kick off a second day of basketball-filled activity here at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow when they meet Iraan in the first round of the Class A regional tournament in Lubbock's Coliseum.

The winner of the White Deer-Iraan clash will face the victor of the Plains (17-10)-Farwell (22-5) at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow for the right to go to the state tournament at Austin next weekend.

White Deer (28-2) will be the pre-game favorite to stop Iraan (21-15), which reached the regional level by nipping Big Lake, 50-48 in overtime, last Tuesday.

The Bucks, meanwhile, were disposing of Canadian, 70-47, in an explosive display led by Tom Lester's 23 points and some timely rebounding by Gerald Bick and Bob McAllister.

Should White Deer and Plains both win tomorrow morning, the finals would match two teams who are no strangers to one another, specially in the regional tournament.

Plains defeated White Deer years ago in the regional tourney by a slim margin and went on to the state finals. White Deer would like to repay the compliment fate so decrees.

Coach Bob Moore will start Lester, 5-10, the leading scorer for the Bucks with 463 points; Dick Hanna, 5-7; Carl McAdams, 6-3; Bichsel, 6-3; and McAllister, 6-3 against the Wildcats.

Iraan will start its "Iron Five" — a name given to the Wildcat because of their lack of reserves — of James Cardwell, 5-11, a Duane Cash, 5-7½, at guard; Johnny English, 6-3, and Al Wilson, 6-3, at forwards, and Scott, 6-3, at center.

Cash is the leading Iraan scorer and wound up second in the district 7-A scoring race.

Regional Cage Action Begins

LUBBOCK — Lubbock unofficially becomes the basketball center of the Southwest today when 10 Class 3A teams pop the cork of full weekend of basketball.

Brownwood (18-7) and Seminole (18-7) were to kick off the festivities at 2 p.m. while Dumas (22-5) and Lamesa (23-5) were to meet at 4 p.m. in a pair of 3A battles.

At 6:15 p.m. Texas Tech's freshmen meet the Ince Oilers, a Lubbock semi-pro team, as a prelude to the Tech-TCU game at 8 p.m. A victory by the Raiders would inch a tie for the 1961 SWC crown.

Saturday morning, White Deer (28-2) meets Iraan (21-15) at 9:30 and Plains (17-10) takes on Farwell (22-5) in Class A action at 8 a.m.

At 2:15 p.m. Midland (26-2) plays Amarillo Palo Duro (20-4) in the 4A quarterfinals in the Coliseum with the winner going to Austin. In 2A, Dimmitt (27-5) meets Fort Stockton (24-2) at 11 a.m. and Hamlin (22-5) plays Hamilton (22-3) at 12:30 p.m.

Saturday's finals are set for 4 p.m. for 3A; 7:30 p.m. for 1A and 9 p.m. for 2A.

The Does will play Clarendon of District 2-A in Pampa at 7:30 p.m. Monday for the bi-district title.

Juanna Jo Moore, who hit the free throw in overtime to give the Does the important win, had 21 points while Kay Allen led the Does' scoring with 23. Madeline Reising topped the losers with 28 points.

Man Finds Man Guilty Kidnap-Slaying Case

MORE, Md. (UPI) — A jury yesterday found Melvin Lee Jr. guilty of the kidnap-slaying of a Virginia family member from death in chamber.

A male jury reached the verdict after deliberating five hours and 15 minutes. But it did not specify whether the death was recommended for Rees. This means he is given up to life imprisonment or the death penalty.

The government charged that after slaying Jackson and Janet, Rees had been charged with murder of the father and infant in Virginia, but the federal government was the first to prosecute.

Texas Gets Post With State Dept.

DALLAS (UPI) — Dr. Paul F. Geren of Dallas has been appointed to a post with the under-secretary of state for economic affairs.

Dr. Geren, a former career diplomat, is executive director of the Dallas Council on World Affairs. From 1946-56 he was deputy director for Near Eastern Affairs.

Geren said his appointment to the new post was the first under a 1960 law permitting recall of experienced foreign service officers. He formerly served on diplomatic assignments in Syria, Jordan and India before resigning to become executive vice president of Baylor University.

Hearing Held On Hawlewood Bills

AUSTIN (UPI) — Sen. Grady Hazlewood said his two bills now under study by the senate insurance committee would revise the controversial automobile merit rating insurance plan and keep it from being such a "monstrosity."

The Amarillo lawmaker said the major points in the legislation would make it harder for insurance companies to assess higher rates for traffic violations.

Renew Efforts To Unfold The Sea Mysteries

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has pledged that his administration would give "concerted attention" to unfolding the mysteries of the sea.

He said the United States has "redoubled" efforts to find the best way to desalt ocean water and will share its know-how with all nations.

"Such a breakthrough would end bitter struggles between neighbors, states, and nations," Kennedy said.

He told Congress in his special message on natural resources that he would send the House and Senate "a national program for oceanography" for use in consideration of the 1962 budget.

Kennedy, who has a love for the sea, said the ocean is one of the world's least understood subjects.

He said this country would need an additional three billion pounds of fish and shellfish annually by 1980 and many other countries could benefit by extensive use of sea life for food.

"But all this will require increased efforts, under federal leadership, for rehabilitation of depleted stocks of salmon and sardines in the Pacific, groundfish and oysters in the Atlantic, lake trout and other desirable species in the Great Lakes, and many others through biological research, development of methods for passing fish over dams and control of pollution," Kennedy said.

The President also noted that "continental shelves bordering the United States contain roughly 20 per cent of our remaining reserves of crude oil and natural gas."

World's largest cotton plantation is located at Wilson, Ark.

United States policy toward the little Southeast Asia kingdom of Laos has undergone an abrupt change of course.

From all-out support of the rightist Laotian government which since last November has been battling the Red-supported forces of the Laotian Pathet Lao, this week it suddenly endorsed a proposal for a neutral Laos whose government, by tacit understanding, would include Communist representatives.

By making the switch, the Kennedy administration turned its back on the course which had been followed by President Eisenhower and his secretary of state, Christian Herter, and endorsed the view which had been held all along by Great Britain and France.

No announcement accompanied the U.S. about-face.

It simply came with United States endorsement of a proposal by Laotian King Savang Vathana for a neutral Laos protected against outside intervention by a watch-dog commission of three neutral nations—Cambodia, Malaya and Burma.

While the civil war has gone on intermittently since the Geneva conference of 1954, the current crisis dates from Aug. 9, 1960, afloat—excellent craft sleeping when an army group led by Capt. Kong Le toppled a pro-Western government and established an avowedly neutral government headed by Prince Souvanna Phouma.

American action was immediate and unfriendly.

It opposed Souvanna Phouma's negotiations to bring the Pathet Lao into his government. It openly supported strongman Gen. Phoumi Nosavan's opposition to Communist participation in the Souvanna Phouma government.

When Prince Boun Oum, with Phoumi Nosavan's help, proclaimed himself head of a new government, he quickly won U.S. recognition and military aid.

Strongly critical of the U.S. action were both Britain and France who saw in it a return to the late John Foster Dulles' pronouncement that "neutrality is immoral" and who believed it served only to drive Souvanna Phouma into Communist arms.

Strategically, Laos protects the flank of Thailand and South Vietnam. But its slow and sleepy people are not of the tough stuff to make strong allies, and it appears now the best the U.S. can hope for is a compromise.

Balance

One of Cadillac's greatest attributes is its innate balance. Under any driving condition, the car's poise is a constant source of satisfaction. Threading your way through traffic or leisurely cruising along back roads, your Cadillac rides you smoothly and steadily—so that road irregularities are almost imperceptible. Balance is the key to its precise and effortless control, as well—and to the wondrous silence of its great engine. # West Germany's Missing Persons Total 5 Million

BONN (UPI) — Germany's list of missing persons is 5 million names long.

Fifteen years ago, more than 5.5 million Germans disappeared. The fate of nearly 5.3 million of them remains a mystery.

Among them are 1.35 million soldiers. Many are doubtless dead, but no one knows where and when they died.

One hundred thousand prisoners of war captured by the Russians have disappeared, as have 800,000 German civilians forcibly removed from their homes by Soviet forces.

And what has happened to 3.3 million Germans who lived in the eastern provinces now under Communist rule?

Since 1950, the German Red Cross has traced some 250,000 Germans in these categories. They were found to be dead, in prison camps, or to have made their way to West Germany without notifying relatives.

But nearly 5.3 million have simply vanished, unseen and untraced since the war ended.

The Russians have never volunteered any information. Each returnee fills out questionnaires, listing all the German men and women he knew. The Red Cross follows up these names, sometimes successfully, most times not.

West German radio stations help in the giant search. For 15 years a program titled "Searching Service" has been broadcast daily. The program originated in 1945, broadcasting the names of missing slave workers. In 1946, it was extended to all missing Germans.

Since then, the program — broadcast on all wave lengths so it can be heard on the other side of the Iron Curtain — has been on the air 10 minutes a day. Recently the program was cut to five. It averages 30 to 35 names a day, with birthplace, age, living relatives, particular characteristics

Plasterers Turn Down Wage Boost

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A local plasterers union kicked off what it hopes will turn into a nationwide anti-inflation move by turning down a wage increase.

Local 2 of the AFL-CIO union, by a majority vote of its 1,376 members, passed up a 12.5-cent hourly wage increase to support President Kennedy's campaign to stop inflation—and to set an example for other unions and businesses across the country.

"I hope some others will follow through," President Burt Chapman said today.

Under terms of a two-year contract with Southern California contractors, the pay increase was due to go into effect May 1. Chapman said the members generally felt their present wage of $4.25 an hour was sufficient.

GET ROCKET FREQUENCY
MANCHESTER, England (UPI) — The Soviet Union has given British scientists at the Jodrell Bank Observatory near here the frequency to tune in on its Venus rocket. But observatory director Sir Bernard Lovell said the Russians did not say what time the signals could be expected.

DOESN'T LAST LONG
DUISBURG, Germany (UPI) — Last summer Duisburg citizens voted Hans Bunneller, 39, the city's "most polite official."

Today a court sentenced him to two years in jail for illegally selling driving licenses to unqualified applicants.

Scotsmen Intensifying Search For Centuries-Old Murderer

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI)—Scotsmen care only a wee bit about who slew Cock Robin. For them the question is who killed Red Fox?

Men, women and children of Clans Cameron, Campbell, and Stewart still point accusing fingers at each other although the deed was done 268 years ago.

Recent detective work by Lt. Gen. Sir William Mac Arthur began a new campaign to find out just what happened that fateful day in May, 1752, on the tree-lined shores of Loch Linnhe.

They called Colin Campbell the Red Fox because he had long red locks. He fought well, wore his tartan kilts with style and was a greatly hated man.

Red Fox and his brethren of the clan against the Campland's Bonnie Prince Charlie—who wanted the throne for himself. Clan Stewart lucklessly had sided with the bonnie prince and they paid the price.

Red Fox and the other Campbells got the spoils of victory including some castles and land lost by the Stewarts. The Stewarts and the Campbells became like Kentucky's Hatfields and McCoys.

So on one was too surprised on May 14, 1752, when Red Fox fell from his horse while riding by Loch Linnhe and it was discovered that somebody had shot him twice in the back.

Red Fox died a few seconds later. But the mystery of who killed him did not.

Charles Stewart of Ardsheal, who led the clan against the Campbell, already had fled to France after the English defeated Prince

So — for lack of a likelier suspect — an English court tried Charles Stewart's brother, known as James of the Glen. Historians agree it was pretty much of a kangaroo court. They hanged James of the Glen one dark and stormy day alongside Loch Linnhe. But that only intensified the fuss.

The story goes, that generations of Scotsmen have passed from father to son the "secret" of who the murderer really was. Some say Allan Breck did it.

Others insist that four men of Clan Cameron rowed across the Loch, slew Red Fox to avenge a clan vendetta and paddled back into obscurity. Scottish newspapers have been filled lately with letters to the editors.

Legislators Kill Dognapping Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Sen. Doyle Willis of Fort Worth said his bill was a "dog-gone" good one, but a committee of the state killed it anyway.

Willis wanted to make it a felony to steal dogs, punishable by up to two years in prison and a fine of $50. Dognapping is now a misdemeanor.

Sen. Louis Crump of San Saba led opposition to the bill.

"It's a felony now to steal a chicken," said Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan. "What's the difference?" "Chicken is edible," Crump curtly replied.

tors, "telling all." Scottish historical societies hold fierce debates on the matter.

Two newspapers dispatched reporters to the scene of the crime in search of 200-year-old clues. A Scots whisky magnate pledged to "blow the mystery of the murder sky-high" by publishing certain documents found in the Duke of Argyll's Inveraray Castle.

Sir William said his sifting of yellowed letters and old wives' tales yielded no exact incriminating evidence. He said the jealousy guarded "secrets" passed down by generations of clansmen tended to cancel each other out.
