Death Asked For Six Americans

ELIGIBLE VOTERS, NOW — Pampa Jaycees, who have been selling poll tax receipts for several days on Cuyler Street, spent a busy day yesterday as local residents began the last minute rush to be registered voters prior to the 5 p.m. Tuesday deadline. Among those who became eligible yesterday afternoon were from front, Mrs. Ross Baird and Mrs. August T. Elzold, who are shown as Bob Ewing, rear, and James Christy, both of the Jaycees, prepared the necessary papers to make the two women legal voters. (Daily News Photo)

Cuban 'War Crimes' Unit Trying Veterans

HAVANA (UPI) — A Cuban war crimes tribunal put six accused American "counter-revolutionaries" on trial for their lives Saturday on charges of plotting to "invade" Cuba aboard a Florida-based yacht.

Defense attorneys demanded acquittal for some and deportation for the rest of the six as they stood before the tribunal dressed in khaki uniforms.

Pirates Okay Talks

RECIFE, Brazil (UPI) — The commander of the U. S. Navy Caribbean sea frontier Saturday night arranged a rendezvous at sea with the hijacked Portuguese liner Santa Maria, presumably to discuss removal of passengers.

A U. S. Navy spokesman at Recife, a northern Brazilian port, said the rendezvous would take place 50 miles at sea, probably on Monday.

Adm. Allen Smith Jr., the commander, flew to Belem, the other major Brazilian northern port, Saturday and planned to board the destroyer Wilson.

Cmdr. William Webster, Navy spokesman at Recife, said the U. S. Navy's sole interest was in protecting the lives of the passengers, now entering their second week of buccaneering aboard the Portuguese luxury ship.

The American Navy "only wants to spare human lives," Webster said.

Threats that Brazil would impound the vessel and turn it over to Portugal if its rebel commander went ahead with plans to dock at Brazil blew up chances of a quick and easy ending to the week-long saga of the 20,906-ton Santa Maria upon the Spanish Main.

Admiral Robert L. Dennison, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet at Norfolk, Va., said a rendezvous at sea with a U. S. Navy destroyer on Monday was one of several plans "under consideration."

Dennison has been in contact with Henrique Galvao, the swash-buckling Portuguese rebel who seized the ship with 70 Spaniards and Portuguese desperadoes last Sunday morning.

Maximum penalty on conviction on the charges is death by firing squad—a fate already meted out to more than 600 persons, including several American citizens.

The former United States military men stood firmly before the group of men balancing the fate of their lives and entered pleas of "not guilty" to the charges placed against them.

The Americans were identified as: Donald J. Green of Gastonia, N. C., who reported the death penalty; Alford E. Gibson, 32, of Durham, N. C.; Leonard L. Schmidt, 21, of Chicago; George R. Peck, 24, of Taunton, Mass.; Tommy L. Baker, 28, of Dothan, Ala.; and James R. Beane, 34, of Cedar Falls, N. C.

All had been held prisoner in grim La Cabana Fortress whose grass-grown moat serves as the most convenient place for Premier Fidel Castro's firing squads.

Only Baker admitted charges that he originally formed part of an anti-Castro group allegedly organized in Miami by Rolando Masferrer, a former senator during the Batista dictatorship and one of Castro's worst enemies.

Baker said he broke with Masferrer after he heard him described as a "butcher and murderer."

The other defendants said they came to Cuba to join Castro's army fighting counter-revolutionaries.

The prosecutor charged all six Americans belonged to a "band of counter-revolutionaries" in the hire of "gangster" Masferrer.

He accused them of "training in an open field in Florida, subsidized, organized and protected by the United States government to attack the (Castro) revolution."

Premier Castro, meanwhile, revealed officially that large scale operations are underway in the Escambray Mountains of central Cuba against anti-Castro guerrillas.

In a speech inaugurating the conversion of an army barracks into a school center at Santa Clara in Las Villas Province, Castro admitted the rebels were heavily armed with weapons including bazookas.

Showdown Due Tuesday

Bitter Charter Tiff Hangs Fire

With a hotly-contested campaign drawing to a close, Pampa voters began making up their minds over the weekend and will go to the polls Tuesday in a special election to approve or reject a proposed home rule city charter.

There will be four polling places where voters may cast their ballots for or against the proposal. One voting place will be located in each of the four city wards.

The locations, presiding judge and clerks for each of the wards will be as follows:

WARD 1. City Hall, Foster Ave. at Russell St. — DeLen Vickers, presiding judge; W. A. Rankin, judge; Mrs. C. R. Coble and Mrs. John Kelley, clerks.

WARD 2. North Fire Station Seventeenth Ave. and Aspen Dr. — Mrs. Harold Wright, presiding judge; Mrs. Lynus Anderson, judge; Mrs. Kate Thomas and Mrs. Bonnie Hutchinson, clerks.

WARD 3. Wards Cabinet Shop,

323 South Starkweather St. — Mrs. Earl Taylor, presiding judge; Mrs. J. H. Trotter, judge; Mrs. Chas. Braxson and Mrs. O. G. Hawkins, clerks.

WARD 4. South Fire Station, 1010 South Barnes St. — H. H. Boynton, presiding judge; Mrs. B. B. Altman, judge; Mrs. Shirley Nichols and Mrs. H. Crump, clerks.

The polling places will be open Tuesday from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The only requirement to vote in the special election will be a 1959 poll tax receipt. A voter does not have to own property to participate in the balloting. In order to vote one must also have resided in the state one year and inside the Pampa city limits for six months.

The official ballot will read: "Charter election, City of Pampa, Texas, January 31, 1961." "DIRECTIONS: To vote for the adoption of the Charter mark out the word AGAINST; to vote against the adoption of the charter mark out the word FOR.

"PROPOSITION: Shall the charter framed by the Charter Commission be adopted?"

"FOR the adoption of the Charter."

"AGAINST the adoption of the Charter."

Principal change in the proposed charter would do away with the present ward system of electing the four city commissioners.

Under the present charter, one commissioner is elected from each of the city's four wards. Only the mayor is elected at large. Under the proposed charter the mayor and all four commissioners would be elected at large.

A city charter form of government first was adopted in 1927 and throughout the years there have been some changes and some revisions. For many years the mayor and city commissioners all were elected at large.

Pampa's ward system of electing city commissioners first was placed in operation in December of 1946.

Another change in the charter has to do with taxes. Under state law the maximum tax rate for all purposes is $2.50. Under the present charter the general fund is limited to a $1 rate per hundred dollars valuation, while for sinking fund requirements it is possible to go the full $2.50 limit. The new charter would provide a total of $2.50 for the two combined.

Whereupon many of those in the audience who were in favor of the charter began to walk out.

Hugh Burdette stepped on his way out to say he thought the meeting was dictatorial in that both sides could not be presented.

Burdette was called out of order by Carter, claiming that he was not adhering to the rule of questions only. Burdette also left the meeting.

Remainder of the session was devoted to discussions of various aspects of the charter by other members of the panel including Mitchell Hill, Bill Watson and Mrs. Leon Holmes, wife of City Commissioner Holmes. Members of the audience also participated in the discussion of issues involved.

Lynn Boyd, member of the 15-man commission which drew up the proposed charter, was recognized. When Boyd attempted to discuss what he called "some misrepresentation" in Carter's explanation of the charter, he was stopped by Carter.

"This period is for questions only and not to argue," Carter told Boyd and then declared him out of order.

Tempers flared a little at a public meeting held in the Gray County courtroom in the courthouse Friday night by opponents of the proposed home rule charter which will be voted on by Pampa electors Tuesday.

The meeting, presided over by Frank Carter, 1324 E. Frederic, was attended by some 75 to 100 persons including those for and against the proposal.

Carter, who acted as moderator, spoke at length against its adoption. He charged it would result in what he termed a "centralized form of government."

He spoke for nearly 40 minutes on the proposed charter changes and why he thought they should not be adopted.

At the conclusion of his remarks, Carter said anyone in the audience would be allowed to ask two questions.

Washington (UPI)—Officials disclosed Saturday that the American ambassador to Moscow, Llewellyn E. Thompson, has been instructed to intensify efforts to see Francis Gary Powers, imprisoned American U-2 spy plane pilot.

Powers is serving a 10-year sentence in Russia on "aerial espionage" charges but U.S. officials have been permitted to interview him since he was downed 1,300 miles inside the Soviet Union last May 1.

Thompson, during the Eisenhower administration, made repeated but futile efforts through the Kremlin to talk with the pilot.

The capture of Powers led to collapse of the Paris summit conference, a sharp break between Premier Nikita Khrushchev and a deep new chill in Soviet-American relations.

Officials said no effort was being made at present to get Powers' release—as were the two U.S. RB47 fliers—but U.S. authorities want to check on his treatment and physical condition as is customary under international law.

An attempt to secure his release might be made at a later date, they indicated. They said they had no information to support Powers' statement in a recent letter to his father, Howard W. Powers of Pound, Va., that Khrushchev is "going to forget the U-2 incident and might let me come home."

The evident desire of Khrushchev for more cordial relations with the new U.S. administration has led to speculation that the Soviet leader feels he has extracted all the propaganda he can from the Powers case and might make another gesture like the release of the RB47 airmen.

Paul C. Ledrick of Pampa has been named Executive Director of the Republican Party in Texas, according to an announcement yesterday by GOP National Committeeman Albert Fay and GOP State Chairman Tad Smith.

Ledrick will maintain his office at the party's state headquarters in Houston. The Pampa man will direct the extensive organizational and educational programs planned by the executive committee in preparation for the 1962 and 1964 elections, the announcement said. The new director is well known to Texas Republicans, having served as director of the 1956 and 1960 GOP presidential campaigns in Texas and as campaign manager for Thad Hutchison in his bid for the U. S. Senate in 1957. Ledrick also has been an assistant to Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall and a deputy assistant to Postmaster General Summerfield. He served as campaign manager for Ben Guill in his successful race for Congress in the 26th district in 1950.

Local MOD Radiothon To Begin At 1 p.m. Today

The Pampa March of Dimes Radiothon will open a strong drive at 1 p.m. today to help bolster sagging fund that is well below expectations of campaign officials.

As of last night — funds obtained from the Peanut Sale conducted by Pampa High School students in downtown streets yesterday totaled $2,929.30 in Pampa and $347.27 in efforts, according to Don Lane, publicist. This leaves the campaign well under the unofficial goal of $3,000 which officials held out hopes of raising. However, the radiothon and the Mothers' March which will be conducted Monday from 5 until 7 p.m. are expected to swell the fund considerably.

Radio stations KHHH and KPDM will air the special program which will be concluded at midnight. Top Pampans who participated in the Points for Polio event that was conducted in conjunction with the Pampa-Amarillo High School basketball game here Friday a week ago are urged to send their pledges to Gene Imel at the Citizens Bank and Trust Co. or to Benny Waller, Box 449, special events chairman for the March of Dimes.

Attraction in this event is the auctioning of many valuable items contributed or sold at cost to the March of Dimes. However, some of the better entertainment talent in Pampa and the area will perform in between auctions, James Altemore, general chairman, explained.

Housewives, too, can get in on the radiothon. The MOD officials explained that those baking cakes, cookies or pies may telephone the radiothon headquarters in the Pursy Building, Ballard at Foster streets, and the bake goods will be auctioned off.

The special telephone number for the radiothon is MO-5-2772, and will be manned throughout the radiothon, Benny Waller, special events chairman for the March of Dimes, said.

Among the items that will be auctioned off are a 1960 Ford truck, two television sets, rings, a first watch, numerous recordings, some of the nation's outstanding entertainers and musical groups, an electric blanket, a lounge chair, a small electric organ.

J. C. Roberts will be among the auctioneers. Lane explained that the three men had agreed to handle the gavel for the knockdown of auctioned items. However, several other local residents are expected to join in the effort prior to the end of the radiothon.

On Rules Panel Hike

Rayburn Says Issue Is 'Winner-Take-All'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Speaker Sam Rayburn Saturday challenged a southern Democratic-Republican coalition to a winner-take-all fight for control of the House legislative machinery.

The veteran Texan spurned any compromise in the fight over the make-up of the Rules Committee which controls the flow of bills to the House floor.

Rayburn told a news conference that the issue will be settled in a House floor fight next Tuesday, as scheduled.

He indicated his belief that the outcome will determine what success President Kennedy can expect in pushing his legislative program through this Congress.

Rayburn forecast a close vote but said he believed he would win. Should the conservative coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats triumph, he said he would interpret it as a "blow" to Kennedy's program.

The question to be put before the House is approval of Rayburn's plan to liberalize the Rules Committee by enlarging it to 15 members.

The vote will determine whether Rayburn or Rules Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., will dominate the committee.

Compromise talks initiated by southern Democrats collapsed Friday after Smith refused to give Rayburn assurance that if the conservative coalition were left in control no legislation favored by Kennedy and Rayburn would be pigeonholed.

At his news conference, Rayburn brushed aside talk of compromise.

"There never has been any basis for compromise between Mr. Smith and me," he declared.

Major issues confronting the Texas legislature will be discussed by Fred Husbands, executive vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce when he appears as guest speaker at a Congressional Action Breakfast Thursday morning in the Coronado Inn.

Husbands, a resident of Abilene, is considered one of the foremost authorities on state legislative matters, according to Don Beaman, chairman of the Legislative and National Affairs Committee of the local chamber of commerce which is sponsoring the meeting.

Beaman said that the breakfast, which will be open to the public, will start promptly at 7 a.m. and end at 8 a.m.

These meetings are open to the public, Beaman said, and we would like to have anyone interested in their state government to attend. This will be an informative

Beaman said his committee especially wishes to urge attendance at the breakfast by any who may be interested in learning more about the conduct of affairs in the state legislature and about the major issues confronting the current session of the legislators.

Beaman also announced yesterday that at the next Congressional Action Breakfast, scheduled for Thursday morning, Feb. 16 in the Coronado Inn, the principal speaker will be Ed. C. Burris of Houston. Burris is executive vice president of the Texas Manufacturers' Association.

At the Feb. 16 meeting, Beaman said, Burris will discuss national issues and will deal with major problems confronting Congress.

New Cold Front Nearing Texas; Much Of State Is Snow-Mantled

By United Press International

A fresh wave of Canadian cold air bore down on Texas Saturday in the wake of an unrelenting winter storm which turned the top half of the state as far south as Waco, into a vast snowfield.

The new front came on the heels of back-to-back cold waves which were blamed for the deaths of at least 16 persons since Tuesday.

No relief from the bitter cold temperatures was in sight, but the U.S. Weather Bureau said the cold air would start breaking up a cloud cover which dumped as much as six inches of snow on parts of the South Plains.

Freezing temperatures extended early Saturday as far as the Gulf Coast, and minimums slid as low as five degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle, ranging upward to 40 at El Paso.

The Weather Bureau forecast a low of eight to 20 degrees in Northwest Texas Sunday, with cooler air hitting during the day, holding maximums to between 20 and 25 degrees in the afternoon.

Partly cloudy weather was predicted Sunday for the northern half of the state, with light rain or freezing rain in southern portions. Weather Bureau meteorologists said below-freezing temperatures would continue through Sunday. (See FRONT, Page 3)

One Solon Votes 'Nay!'

House Resolution Lauds Singing Of Legislator

By FLETCHER ROBERTSON Daily News Special Correspondent
AUSTIN — Try this over on your assayama for a smile, or maybe a laugh:
Believe it or don't, the other day the House of Representatives memorialized Rep. Franklin Spears of San Antonio like this:
"Whereas, it has come to the attention of the House of Representatives that one of its distinguished members has gained recognition not by mere proficiency in the techniques of professional ethics, nor by exceptional expediency in the field of legislation, but by a talent that is the envy of every member of the House; and

Whereas, Rep. Franklin Spears, as a member of the Playboys Quartet has entertained and delighted good citizens in Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico with the wonders of his voice in this popular barbershop quartet; now, therefore, be it Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the 57th Legislature congratulates Rep. Franklin Spears, and invites him to render a sample of his barbershop talent on the floor of the House at any time."

Now, how about that? The tribute was contained in a resolution which was adopted by a voice vote of the House.

However, one unnamed legislator registered a nay vote on the motion.

The lone dissenter reportedly said he had heard his colleague sing and didn't think he could stand any more of it.

Pari-Mutual Bid

Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry of San Antonio is a dedicated man, dedicated to the passage of a Constitutional amendment which would legalize pari-mutual betting on horse races in Texas.

As a matter of strict fact, his dedication has some of the aspects of an obsession. He's all the time talking about the nags and "in the jargon of the track. With him, it's hosses, hosses, hosses."

That kind of talk sounds a little funny on the floor of the House, but it's a refreshing departure from the dull discussion on routine legislation.

Berry pegged his election campaign for a seat in the House on a horse racing bill he promised the people of his district he would try to get passed. And he's been in there pushing the measure ever since the Legislature opened for business on Jan. 10.

Berry is a colorful man, 61 years of age. He's been around the tracks a lot in his life and knows what he's talking about. Especially where the bangtails are concerned.

His desk on the floor is cluttered up with racing forms and other track sheets containing statistical information on the economic value of racing to a community. He uses all this stuff to "prove" his points in explaining the merits of a racing bill.

Berry checks in the House early every morning and stays late and spends most of each day trying to sell his bill to anybody who will stand still and listen. He says he's not attempting to get commitments on the measure from fellow legislators. Not now. Rather, he explained, he is asking them to keep an open mind on the matter until they hear the whole story of the bill in committee hearings.

Berry says the state's take on racing would approximate $12,000,000 the first year, and that's a lot of lettuce in anybody's language. Enough, maybe, to make a legislator listen good to details of the bill.

He is not unmindful of the fact that the measure is going to meet strong opposition, especially from the church people of Texas. But he doesn't seem to be worried. In fact, he said he bowled over his opponents in San Antonio and will meet them in the House with powerful support.

It's not about to happen (rules won't permit it), but Berry says he would get 135 out of the 150 votes in the House if a secret vote were taken on his bill.

They (members of the legislature) wouldn't have to worry about the heat back home if we could hold a secret vote," he observed. The Berry bill would provide for local option elections to legalize pari-mutual betting in nine Texas counties. They are Dallas, Tarrant, Harris, Galveston, Bexar, Hidalgo, Cameron, Webb and Midland.

Cameron and Hidalgo counties were not included in an earlier draft of the bill. However, Berry says Hidalgo County was added at the request of Rep. Raul Longoria of Pharr and Cameron County was tacked on at the request of Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville.

What does Berry think of the chances of his bill getting through? "I don't know," he said. "I haven't got no line on that yet."

Spilman Hedges

Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen, who came out second best in the race for speaker of the House of Representatives, put on a little social at the Commodore Perry Hotel the other evening as an expression of thanks for support he got in the campaign.

He said 80 members of the House "who share my political views" attended the party.

"Eighty members share your views?" he was asked.

"Well, for the most part, they share my views," he hedged. "Politics is not a science, you know."

Rep. James Turman of Gober was an easy winner over Spilman in the race for speaker. The vote was 83 to 66.

Spilman announced, incidentally, that he will not be a candidate for speaker of the 58th Legislature.

Rev. Carver Notes Topics For Today

Dr. Floyd Golden, president emeritus of the Eastern New Mexico University, will be guest speaker for the Brotherhood of the Church which meets at 7 p.m. Tuesday. His subject will be "Religion in the Soviet Union."

The WMU will meet at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday for an executive board meeting. The Royal Service Program will be at 10-15 under the direction of Mrs. O. G. Trimble, and the luncheon will follow the program.

Home Buyers Due Break In Financing

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is good news for home buyers in the prediction of Eugene O. Zorn Jr., vice president and economist of Republic National Bank of Dallas, writing in Lawyers Title News.

Zorn says the "tail of mortgage financing" no longer wags the "dog of housing" to the extent it did in recent years. "This means that we shall be less concerned in 1961 — and perhaps in later years — over the role of mortgage credit in the housing market, and shall have to pay more attention to finding out what people want in the manner of homes, what they can afford and the like."

It is Zorn's opinion that "with inflationary pressures in the economy having been weakened, the forces of supply and demand for funds in the capital markets will remain in reasonable balance, and that mortgage money will be readily available during the coming year to finance the volume of homes a more price-conscious public is willing to take off the market."

Morris Karp, president of Realty Equities Corporation, real estate investment, development and construction firm, also feels that tightness in mortgage money is not the "true culprit in the housing decline."

He notes that ample mortgage money has been available in recent months and, in fact, interest rates in many areas have declined somewhat without any stimulating effect.

Basically, Karp said, home building appears to be faltering on a fundamental weakness in consumer demand based on shifts in the age composition of the U.S. population. "Our population," he said, "is growing fast at both ends with fewer new households being formed in the middle because of the low birth rates of the 1930." This is borne out, he said, by the fact that apartment construction and renting, which caters more to the young and old, was held up very well and, in fact, increased in 1959 over 1958.

A slow improvement began in North Texas as snow stopped falling, and freezing rain came to an end. Snow turned into slush on streets and highways, but the Weather Bureau said there was no thaw in sight.

Dallas police reported the snow caused one of the worst traffic snarls in the city's history. On one street, 200 to 300 vehicles were halted in a long line by hazardous conditions, including two emergency vehicles.

A rash of early-morning traffic accidents on San Antonio's central expressway system forced closing of the system for the second time this week. Overpasses and elevated portions were covered by ice from a freezing rain.

U.S. 180 between Weatherford and Mineral Wells was closed to all, but emergency traffic, and the Department of Public Safety cautioned motorists to stay off roads in the northern half of the state except for emergencies — and then only if drivers used chains.

Snow covered North-Central Texas south to Waco and over all of East and West Texas. Freezing drizzle put a mirror-like glaze on highways from Waco south to San Antonio and Corpus Christi.

At Duncanville in Dallas County, a sheriff's deputy found the body of Benjamin Franklin Day, 85, who disappeared Friday in frigid weather from the Duncanville Shady-side Rest Home. The body was found near a snow-covered road near the rest home.

A snowfall of 3.2 inches was recorded at Dallas, where temperatures rose to only 27 by mid-afternoon Saturday.

The snow at Dallas Love Field hid the runway so well at midnight Friday that the pilot of an American Airlines plane was blinded temporarily and the Washington-bound plane's left wheel slipped off into crusted mud and mired down. No one was injured, and passengers were transferred to Amon Carter Field in Fort Worth to catch another plane.

Six inches of snow was reported at Levelland. Nearly four inches was on the ground at Muleshoe, three inches at Hamilton, and Dublin was snowed in.

HONOR SYSTEM — EFFINGHAM, Ill. (UPI) — A sign on an unguarded parking lot here tells motorists: "Parking by honor system. Coin box for your convenience."

Two Air Force Cold War Pawns Back In Kansas

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI)—Two pawns in the cold war—Air Force Capt. John R. McKone and Freeman B. Olmstead—were reunited with their children Saturday in a joyous homecoming that ended seven months of custody in a Russian prison.

The two officers, accompanied by their wives, landed at 1:30 p.m. at Forbes Air Force Base, the originating point last July for their RB47 reconnaissance plane which was shot down over the Barents Sea by a Soviet fighter. Four other airmen perished in the crash.

McKone, 28, of Tonganoxie, Kan. and Olmstead, 25, of Elmira, N. Y., were released by the Russians Wednesday. They were first flown to Washington for a greeting by their wives and President Kennedy Friday.

McKone's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jean McKone, entered the VC97 transport plane first when it landed in sunny 30-degree weather. They spent about two minutes on board and when they walked down the ramp with their son, tears were in the elder McKone's eyes.

Minutes later, after shaking hands with Kansas Gov. John Anderson and other state officials, the two airmen were home—McKone in his duplex apartment in a base housing development and Olmstead in his rented home in Topeka.

A crowd of about 1,000 persons was on hand at the air base to greet the officers, and both gave a snappy salute to the spectators as they were sped away under air police escort.

Eight Chicago Firemen Die In Inferno

CHICAGO (UPI)—A spectacular but deadly fire on the fringe of Chicago's famed Loop early Saturday destroyed and collapsed two huge storage buildings, taking a heavy toll of firemen.

At least eight firemen died in the ruins of the buildings while 15 others were injured.

Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn said he feared the bodies of three more firemen might still lie underneath the rubble. No other bodies were spotted in the ruins immediately, Quinn said, "but there are four inside and we have given up all hope for them."

Quinn told of talking with one of the five victims, tentatively identified as first fire battalion Chief George Reese.

"His voice grew weaker as he said, 'Oh, My God, Oh, My God,'" Quinn said, "and then he pleaded 'Help me.' Those were the last words I heard."

Firemen worked at a feverish pace trying to reach colleagues trapped under a two-story high pile of bricks, mortar and twisted steel. Baskets of bricks were passed out by hand as firemen burrowed into the rubble, shoring and removing debris as they worked.

The fire began shortly before dawn in the upper floor of the bakery building and spread to the glass firm. Quinn said the cause of the fire might have been an explosion of sugar and oil stored in the bakery warehouse.

White House Admits Issuing Speech 'Gag'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House acknowledged Saturday that orders have gone out to government officials and military chiefs that their speeches must reflect Kennedy administration policies.

Presidential News Secretary Pierre Salinger confirmed that at the behest of the White House, Adm. Arleigh A. Burke deleted sharp criticism of the Soviet Union in a speech this week.

This confirmed an assertion by Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., who charged Friday that a "gag policy" had been clamped on the Pentagon.

Bridges, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, claimed that Burke, chief of naval operations, had been ordered to rewrite the speech, prepared for delivery at a national business publications dinner.

He said Burke had to eliminate all references to hostile Soviet actions except for a remark about "Communist ambition to dominate the world."

Salinger, in explaining the Burke episode, said: "Members of the administration, speaking at private functions, should represent administration policy."

He explained further that he had referred to "private functions" to distinguish from testimony before congressional committees, where he said military officials were "of course" free to state their own opinions.

He said speeches of administration officials would be subjected to review to see that they reflect administration policy. He called the procedure "strictly routine" and said it had been followed in past administrations.

Salinger confirmed that Burke's speech was rewritten and that among those who advised changes were some White House officials.

cedures already permitted by state law and practiced by all other cities in Texas.

Another provision under the new charter would permit the City to participate in an insurance program covering city employees.

City officials said if the charter is adopted by Pampa voters Tuesday it would go into effect as soon as it is filed with the Secretary of State at Austin, possibly within a week or 10 days after the election.

More than 8,000 copies of the proposed charter were mailed out to voters a month ago to give them an opportunity to study the proposal upon which they will vote this week.

The new charter has been endorsed by the Board of Directors of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

The charter was completed and approved last Dec. 7 by an elected Charter Commission of 15 members comprised of Chairman Lynn Boyd, Vice Chairman Arthur M. Teed, Secretary Gene Fathere, Asst. Secretary Ewart R. Duncan, Crawford Atkinson, C. P. Buckley, F. M. Culbertson, C. A. Huff, T. C. Lively Sr., Robert D. Olson, James A. Poole, E. E. Shelhamer, H. R. THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

A new nation was being born in the Deep South in January, 1861 — a nation destined to know only 67 days of peace in its four years of life.

A hundred years ago next week (Jan. 20, 1861) four more states had joined the Union — Mississippi, Florida, Alabama, and Georgia.

Shortly thereafter, Louisiana and Texas tossed their futures in with their sister states. And by Feb. 4 the Confederate States of America would be born in Montgomery, Ala. attended by a distinguished staff of statesmen.

Unlike South Carolina, where the Ordinance of Secession went whooping through unanimously, the four sister states ran into some opposition.

Mississippi, finally left the Union on Jan. 9, by an 84 to 15 vote, with the blessing of U.S. Sen. Jefferson Davis, who from Washington kept the mails of the U.S. — a foreign power as far as he was concerned — humming with letters of advice and counsel. On secession day the state responded by making him a major general, commanding the Army of the Republic of Mississippi.

Davis had been a colonel in the Mexican War, wounded at the Battle of Buena Vista and near the end of that war had refused a brigadiership in the U.S. Army. Later he served as secretary of war under President Franklin Pierce.

Davis decided to remain in the Senate until he was officially notified that his state had seceded, hoping, some said, that he would be arrested for treason, thereby forcing a trial in federal courts.

On Jan. 10 — the day after Mississippi acted, Florida delegates met in Tallahassee and voted at 12:22 p.m., 62 to 7, to secede. The formal signing was set for the next day at a public ceremony.

Susan Bradford, not quite 15 years old, skipped school at her plantation home where 30 slaves took care of the household tasks and 300 more tilled the land, and went to the ceremony with her father, Dr. Edward Bradford, a descendant of Gov. William Bradford of Plymouth.

That night she wrote in her diary:

"Capitol Square was so crowded you could see nothing but heads... as the old town clock struck one... the convention... walked out on the portico (of the Capitol). It was impossible for me to tell in what order it (the secession ordinance) was signed; the heads were clustered so closely around the table, but presently I heard Col. Ward's familiar voice... He dipped his pen in the ink, and holding it aloft, he said in the saddest of tones, 'When I die I want it inscribed on my tombstone that I was the last to give up the ship.' Then he wrote slowly across the sheet before him, 'George T. Ward.'"

"The stillness could almost be felt."

"When at length the names were all affixed, cheer after cheer rent the air; it was deafening. Our world seemed to have gone mad."

Alabama seceded, next, 61 to 39. There the opposition centered in the hill country of the Tennessee Valley where the people demanded that the convention submit its ordinance of secession to a vote of the people.

Secession leaders believed that "as goes Georgia, so goes the South." However, the fight there was hard and lasted four days.

Alexander Stephens, who would be the Confederate vice-president led the opposition, which wanted to postpone secession. Howell Cobb, until a month before, President Buchanan's secretary of treasury, plumped for immediate withdrawal from the Union.

The convention was stormy. Stephens was howled down by the galleries. Delegates packed guns to the meetings, and Milledgeville, the capital of Georgia in those days, was tense. The night before the vote, girls and women were warned to stay away from the Capitol — anything might happen.

The Stephens men tried many parliamentary tactics but at last the ordinance was adopted, 208 to 89.

Bonfires, roman candles, salutes and a parade greeted the vote, yet the rejoicing was not universal. Herschel V. Johnson, former governor, noted, "I never felt so sad before." An editor in La Grange, Ga., wrote: "We have been filled and drummed and voted out of the Union."

Secession of the four states consisted of a lot more than mere voting and celebrating for by Jan. 20, the South had seized from bewildered and leaderless U.S. authorities a full dozen forts, four arsenals, one Navy yard, a Marine hospital and a handful of custom houses.

The most important were Ft. Pulaski at the mouth of the Savannah, Ga., harbor and the forts and navy yard at Pensacola, Fla. But the Floridians let one prize slip through their fingers, Ft. Pickens, a costly error that was, for Pickens lay on an island off the mouth of Pensacola Harbor. Like Ft. Sumter at Charleston, S.C., both corked the harbor bottles.

Burglars Get $40

DOES PAMPA NEED

A NEW CITY CHARTER

Pampa's present charter was adopted in 1927. At that time the mayor and two commissioners were elected at large. The charter was amended in December, 1946, and at that time the ward system was installed. This gave us a mayor and four commissioners, one commissioner to represent each ward.

In 1953 the charter again came up for amendment to return to the mayor and commissioners-at-large system, and was defeated. Again in 1961 we are asked to regress back to 1927.

TAXES

Taxation without positive representation is contrary to our American heritage. Raising the tax limit to a full $2.50 releases the people's hold on the purse strings of the community.

Funds from bonds are spent as an expression of the people's wishes. The tax payers vote the amount of money and the projects the money is to be spent for in bond issues. When the tax limitation on the general fund is removed the Council tells the people what and how much of their tax dollar is to be spent.

Annexation (Land Grab Act)

The right of the city to impose its will upon anyone adjacent to the city limits. This gives the Council the right to take in any property in any manner that the Council so wishes. The taking in of a small strip of land down a road for several miles to reach a large tax area is an approved and accepted interpretation of the law. This statement can be borne out by our own Rodeo Grounds.

Pair Tie For International Golf Lead

Kroll Catches Bayer With Rousing Finish

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Old Ted Kroll came out of the pack Saturday to catch a tiring George Bayer and the two tied for the third round lead in the $50,000 Lucky International Golf Tournament with 54-hole totals of 203.

Kroll, noted for his early starts and fading finishes, pulled the opposite Saturday when he shot a three-under-par 68 at Harding Park against a one-over-par 72 for Bayer.

That put them two strokes ahead of young Al Geiberger of Santa Barbara, Calif., who had a 69 for 205. Tied at 202 were Billy Casper, Apple Valley, Calif., Phil Rodgers, La Jolla, Calif., making his first start as a pro in a tournament where he can win money, and Don Whitt, Borrego Springs, Calif.

Kroll, who had been an early leader in every tournament or the tour this year, came from behind to catch Bayer on the final hole in this one. They both teed off across the lake to the center of the fairway on the 403-yard par four finishing hole. But on the approach, Bayer was about 30 feet off line while Kroll hit the center of the green.

Bayer was three feet short on his approach putt and Kroll was nearly as short in his first attempt. But the big man missed his next putt and Kroll stroked his into the center of the cup for a par and gained a tie.

Kroll now is 66-69-55, Bayer 65-66-72 going into Sunday's final round.

The rest of the seven men who had trailed Bayer by four at the halfway mark couldn't make a run at it Saturday. Arnold Palmer cut the gap to two strokes at one time but hit one into a water hazard on the 16th and wound up with a one over par 72 for 207. Jay Hebert, Don January, Gary Player and Ken Venturi ended up with the same score.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Tech Red Raiders parlayed an early lead into a 80-76 victory Saturday night over the Phillips Oilers, to become the first collegiate basketball team in history to defeat the Oilers three times.

Defense Enthuses Cage Fans

CHICAGO (UPI) — Do more points mean a better basketball game?

Not according to college basketball coaches, particularly Ray Eddy of Purdue and Sharm Scheuerman of Iowa, whose teams last week played the second lowest scoring game in the Big Ten since World War II.

"We had 9,500 spectators," Eddy said, "and none of them got up and left early."

Until the closing seconds Purdue held a 43-41 lead and wound up a 47-41 victory with free throws as Iowa fouled in attempts to get the ball.

The only lower scoring game in the Big Ten since World War II was exactly 10 years ago, in the 1950-51 season, when Branch McCracken's Indiana team defeated Ossie Cowles' Minnesota club, 32-20.

But the games were played differently. In the Minnesota-Indiana tussle, both teams held the ball repeatedly and Minnesota used a zone defense, certain to hold down the score.

Last week it was a game of constant motion with caution. "Nobody stood around and held the ball," Scheuerman said. "Everybody had to work for their shots, and the defenses were terrific."

Iowa used a tight man-for-man defense and Purdue mostly a man-to-man, resorting to the zone only briefly. "It might have looked like we were playing a zone," Eddy said. "But Iowa was using a 1-3-1 offense, and when you come down like that, it looks like you're zoning. But we played mostly man-for-man."

"There was plenty of spectator interest," Scheuerman added. "Both teams were working for their shots, and the defensive rebounding was tremendous in the first half. We pride ourselves on our defense and I think we're the only team in the Big Ten that hasn't used a zone yet."

"There's nothing in the rule book that says we can't use it. But I prefer a man-to-man. But if I think the only way we can defeat somebody is to use a zone, then we'll use it."

The two coaches received support from Notre Dame's Johnny Jordan, who criticized professional basketball because of emphasis on scoring.

"Basketball is a game of maneuvering, of shooting, of preventing shots, of getting the ball after the shot. It's not just making points," he said.

New Coach

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI) — University of Nebraska line coach Russell Faulkinberry will take over as head football coach at the University of Southwestern Louisiana next month.

USL Athletic Director A. G. Urban announced Faulkinberry's appointment to the post Saturday. The 32-year-old ex-Vanderbilt star will succeed Jim (Red) Hoggatt, who was dismissed in the "best interest" of the university.

BREATHLESS — Ted Kroll, right on his knees, waits the prescribed length of time for the wind to drop Kroll's ball into the 17th hole at San Francisco in the $50,000 Lucky International Golf Tournament. Kroll finished with three-under-par 68 to move into a tie for the third round lead with George Bayer. Both have 54-hole totals of 203.

Three-Team NFL Swap Sends Wade to Chicago

1960, Saturday acquired veteran quarterback Billy Wade from the Los Angeles Rams in a three-team deal that also involved the New York Giants.

Lindy Crow, the Giants' star-defensive halfback who had threatened to quit football unless he was traded to the Rams, finally had his wishes satisfied in this deal that was completed just before the N.F.L. owners broke up their annual winter meetings.

Here is how the deal went: The Rams sent the 29-year-old Wade to the Bears in exchange for defensive halfback Erich Barnes and either a high draft choice or a player to be determined before the start of the 1961 season.

Los Angeles then traded Barnes, linebacker-guard John Guzik and next season's No. 5 draft choice to the Giants for Crow and New York's 1961 first-round draft pick.

N.F.L. owners wound up their five-day meetings by voting to play at 14-game 1961 schedule with the Dallas Cowboys and Minnesota Vikings as "swing" teams. That meant, instead of playing home-and-home series with opposing clubs in their respective divisions, Dallas and Minnesota both will play every other team once. They will play each other in a home-and-home series.

The task of working out the complicated 1961 schedule was dropped into the lap of commissioner Pete Rozelle. The season will open on the weekend of Sept. 17 and end on the weekend of Dec. 17.

Wade, who just completed his seventh season of pro football, was a disappointment to the Rams in 1960. After spending the first four years of his N.F.L. career as an understudy to Norman Van Brocklin, Wade finally won the first-string job in 1958 when Van Brocklin was traded to the Philadelphia Eagles.

Wade, a former Vanderbilt star, enjoyed his best season in 1958 when he was the Western division's leading passer. He completed 33.1 per cent of his passes and threw for 18 touchdowns.

However, he was sidelined with a leg injury in 1959 and never regained his form in 1960. Last season he divided the Rams' quarterback job with Frank Ryan.

Ingo Decides To Rest, Play

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Ingemar Johansson decided Saturday to cash in on his training and to give himself a day off each week from rigorous preparations for his third fight against heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

From now until the March 13 fight at Miami Beach, the Swedish challenger will relax on Tuesdays.

He also announced plans to train at a public casino on the ocean front near here starting Feb. 4 and each Sunday thereafter, where there are 1,000 seats for the sale to those who want to watch. Then each Monday he will work out at the Miami Beach auditorium, next door to the convention hall where the fight is scheduled.

Sports In Brief

French Trotter Brings Big Sum

PARIS (UPI) — Jamin, the artichoke-eating French trotter who proved a great favorite in the United States, was purchased Saturday by an American syndicate for a record $800,000.

Stanley Tananbaum, a Yonkers Raceway director, issued the statement here and said that Jamin was retired to stud. The 8-year-old French horse tore a tendon several days ago while training for Sunday's big Prix d'Amerique race.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Syracuse was officially admitted to the International League Saturday when it was awarded the Montreal Royals franchise.

HONOLULU (UPI) — Olympic champion Greta Andersen Saturday battled high ground swells and the possibility of sharks in an attempt to become the first person in history to swim the treacherous 28 miles from Molokai to Oahu.

Miss Andersen, who holds a number of long distance swimming records and an Olympic Gold Medal, plunged into the high surf at dawn, accompanied by four boats and two surfboard riders who were acting as convays.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Alex Ojmedo, and Barry MacKay, teammates on the successful 1958 United States Davis Cup team, will oppose each other in the opening singles match of Jack Kramer's $125,000 professional tennis tour at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 8.

The other two matches pair Pancho Gonzales against Australia's Lew Hoad and Earl Butch Buchholz against Spain's Andres Gimeno.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (UPI) — Dyrrol Burleson, America's foremost miler, just outlasted New Zealand's Olympic gold medalists Peter Snell and Murray Halberg in the mile event of an international athletic meeting on Saturday with a time of 4 minutes, 5.6 seconds.

'Prove It' Does It In Race

ARCATA, Calif. (UPI) — Prove It demonstrated Saturday that he is a superior class as raced an easy win by a 10-length margin in the $167,370 Maturity for 4-year-olds.

The R. C. Ellsworth colt, who served as a juvenile before he was such a scrawny colt, eased the pace of Grey Eagle in the 1 1/4 mile race.

He easily pulled away from his rivals in the stretch in a decisive victory.

Prove It, although he had never before the distance before, raced 1 1/4 miles in the excellent time 2:01 flat despite being eased at the finish by jockey Willie Shoemaker.

The Kerr Stables entry of once Blessed and Grey Eagle re second and third and Simpson was fourth under the light of 125 pounds. T. V. Lark carried top impost of 126 pounds to Prove It's 116 was out the money.

Prove It was sent off at odds 7-3 as the favorite and returned $4.80, $3.40 and $3.40 across the board. The Kerr entry paid $6 and $5.00 for place and show.

Houston Signs Young Pitcher For Fat Bonus

HOUSTON (UPI) — Houston's National League baseball club Saturday announced the signing for a large bonus of John William (Jack) Lane, 18-year-old right-handed pitcher from St. Louis, to a contract with its Jacksonville farm club in the Sally League.

The bonus was believed to be more than $50,000, but the amount was not disclosed by the club. Jacksonville is a wholly-owned farm club of Houston's major league entry which opens play in 1962.

Gabe Paul, Houston general manager, said Lane was sought by 12 other major league clubs.

Bums' Act Aids Lefties

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — General manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi's announcement that the Los Angeles Dodgers have shortened the right field distances at the Coliseum should come as good news. Duke Snider and a host of other left-handed hitters in the National League.

With the Dodgers playing their final season in the oddly shaped baseball park, the club did not have the hesitancy it displayed in the past in shortening the dimensions to right field.

Bavasi announced that right fielder field was being reduced from 394 feet to 380.

Last year at the start of the season the club announced that the center field had been cut to 385 feet and a sign was placed the fence designating that foot.

If that's 375 feet I'm crazy," he muttered after taking a few shots at the fence in batting practice and having them fall short.

Norm Larker and John Rosego, who also bat from the port side, agreed somebody was kidding them with that measurement. It was not until late in the season that the Dodgers agreed they had made a mistake and the 375-foot marker actually was 394 feet in the plate.

The other dimensions of the park remain unchanged with the field-foul line only 351 feet the "Chinese" wall that caused much comment when the Dodgers opened up in the Coliseum in 1958.

The deepest point in the park is to the center, where it measures 400 feet. The right field foul line only 200 feet but falls off sharply to 233 feet where the chain joins the field boxes.

Pampa Boxers Eye Amarillo Regional GG Action

Two separate Pampa teams today for the beginning of the four-day, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday 25th Amarillo Regional Golden Gloves Tournament at the Sports Arena.

The tournament will run Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday with team titles up for grabs in the high school and open classes only. Only open winners will advance on to the state meet, although high school district champions may enter the regional open divisions.

Pampa will be represented by the Pampa Optimist Club — which in the past nine years has won or shared six high school team championships and two open division team crowns — and Tri-City Boxing Club of Pampa, an organization in its first year.

While both teams have an array of outstanding battlers, neither is expected to have the overall strength to win either division.

The Optimists 10-to-12 man delegation will be headlined by James Webb, a free-swinging 175-pounder who will enter the high school competition.

Webb, who was slightly injured in an automobile accident two weeks ago that caused a cancellation of his championship fight in the Perryton district GG tournament, has been working out all this week and the TKO artist — he has three in his last four fights — is expected to make a good showing.

Ollie Wilhelm, Optimist tutor, also feels that Dickie Wills and Johnny Claunch, two open fighters, stand a good chance of bringing home wins. But Wilhelm doesn't want to sell Glen Ward, 160-pound open combatant, short either.

Claunch, who has fought sparingly this year, nevertheless will present a strong threat in the open heavyweight class. The 1959 state light-heavy GG champion, Claunch lost a split decision in the national meet at Chicago to Cassius Clay, a fighter who went on to win the 1960 Olympic light-heavy title in Rome.

Willis, 147-pounder, is one of the classier boxers in the Panhandle, combining a good left-right combination with a near-impregnable defense. With a record of 100 wins in 143 trips to the ring, Willis will be shooting for his first trip to Fort Worth.

The other open fighter who will wear Optimist colors is Harold Hugg, a heavyweight who has shown occasional streaks of brilliance in his amateur career.

High school Optimist battlers will be Gale Hardin, 105; Ronnie Goodwin, 112; Tommy Woodruff and Gene Samples, 118; Lefors Gene Shipman, 135; Webb, and Johnny Mathis, 126, and Ronald Dunn, 105, the latter two of which will enter the Negro division of the tournament.

Woodruff won his division in the Perryton GG-district tourney while Samples, Goodwin and Willis won titles in the Borger district GG tournament.

Tri-City will send Trent Olsen, 118; John Ironmonger, 112; Pete Garcia, 112; Lee Johnson, 112; Clark Morse, 155, and Charles Snider, 160.

Charles Snider, Olsen and Ironmonger won district titles at Borger in the open division and Garcia was a runner-up in the 112-pound class, falling to Ironmonger.

Charles Snider, a strong contender, has represented the Amarillo region as an alternate to the state GG met in Fort Worth and could go on his own accord this time.

One Of The Finest Of Its Size In Texas

Spacious New PCC Pro Shop Plans Official Opening Soon

By ARTHUR MAYHEW
Daily News Sports Editor

in protection against the icy north wind that whistled across the area. Inside, the temperature stood at a comfortable 75 and several men lounged in soft chairs and peered out a spacious window which faced east. Occasionally, one man would rise and move across the thick carpet and refill a paper cup with steaming coffee and return to his chair.

Behind the counter stood Hart Warren, cheerfully dispensing coffee, golf balls, tees and an occasional wind-breaker to the hardy golfers who — despite the weather — were dueling at their favorite game.

But the Warren of January was not the same Warren of September, for now he was the proud manager of the new pro shop at Pampa Country Club, one of the finest of its size in Texas.

The new shop, completed in mid-December, will have its official opening Saturday — complete with ribbon cutting — if the weather permits. Should the weather be bad, the opening will be postponed until the first suitable Saturday.

On hand for the official ceremonies, besides Warren, will be Tom Rose, president of Pampa Country Club, along with the club's directors: Ray Kuhn, chairman of the Greens Committee and Malcolm Douglas, chairman of the tournament committee.

As a special side attraction, Warren has invited golf pros from the Panhandle area to PCC for the opening, including Warren Cantrell, Amarillo Country Club; Joe Houck of Huber Country Club of Borger; J. T. Hammett of the Phillips Country Club; Johnny Austin of the Tascosa Country Club in Amarillo and former PCC pro, and Vern Farquhar of Amarillo's Ross Rogers Country Club.

The visiting pros will team with the members of the local "inaugural" committee in a special nine-hole exhibition match following the opening.

PLUSH PRO SHOP — This exterior view of the new Pampa Country Club pro shop — taken from the south side — shows the entrance and cantilever walkway which stretches around to the patio on the north.

Over three times as large as the old pro shop — which has been converted into a ladies locker room — the new building is 2,400 square feet, of which 680 square feet comprise the carpeted lounge.

The lounge is the focal point of the new shop and probably will be the scene of many heated arguments in the months and years to come. Of split level construction, the lounge has redwood paneling and is keynoted by large picture windows that face east — towards the 18th green — and north to the patio and number one tee.

The entire building is blanketed with central heating and air-conditioning. The floor, from the entrance to the door exit to the first tee, is rubber-based tile, a substance impervious to golf spikes.

Exterior-wise, the building is red brick veneer with redwood paneling and a cantilever (suspended) walk stretches from the south entrance around the patio.

As for Warren, entering his seventh year as PCC pro, he couldn't be happier about his new working quarters.

Perryton Glovers Set

PERRYTON—Perryton will have at least three representatives in the Kansas State Golden Gloves tournament at Wichita, Kan., Friday and Saturday, Rick Cutting, Perryton coach, said yesterday.

Feeling that his participants would stand a better chance in the Kansas meet, Cutting plans to take Wayne Martin, 147-pounder, Paul Edwards, 135, and Jim Reeves, 126-pound brawler to the out-of-state gathering.

Reeves, who won the Kansas regional title at Liberal, Kan., last month, is accorded one of the better bets to bring a title back to Perryton. Reeves won the 126-pound crown in the Pampa invitational GG tournament and was impressive in other Texas boxing tournaments.

Edwards, defeated in the finals of the Perryton tournament, nevertheless won the "Fightingest Fighter" award and can be expected to make a strong showing at Wichita.

Trio Receive Colonial Bids

FORT WORTH (UPI) — The Colonial National Invitation golf tournament committee announced Saturday that the first three invitations to the 1961 tournament will go to Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson and Ed (Porky) Oliver.

Issuing of the first bids each year to Hogan and Nelson, who are native to Fort Worth and Tex., is a tradition. Oliver was added, the committee said, "to let him know how much Colonial and his fans think of him."

For Fifth Grade Lead

Austin and Houston meet in a showdown battle Tuesday in the fifth grade bracket of the Kiwanis-Optimist Pee Wee basketball league in game matching unbeaten teams.

Austin (5-0) defeated Travis, 17-11, yesterday morning to set up its first-place fight. Bailey had 8 for the winners and Burns posted six for Travis. Houston, also 5-0, was idle yesterday.

Houston, Austin Vie In Pee Wee Tussle

Austin had eight Lamar points while Newton had 3 for Wilson.

This week's top sixth-grade battle also pits Austin against Houston, but in this case, Austin (3-2) will not move into first even if it wins, due to Houston's 5-0 mark.

MANAGER INSTRUCTS MANAGER

Hart Warren, right, PCC pro and manager of the new pro shop, shows Jack Thorpe, new PCC manager from Enid, Okla., one of the woods Warren now has in stock, and at the same time instructs Thorpe in the finer points of the game.

State's Coaches To Be Honored

DALLAS (UPI)—Warren Woodson, a former Baylor University athlete who fashioned New Mexico State's football team into the nation's most powerful offensive unit, will be principal speaker at a Feb. 23 Sports Achievement Dinner in Dallas.

Woodson Draws Top Speaker Role At Texas Sports Banquet

The state's outstanding sports figure will be honored at the dinner, an annual affair sponsored by the Texas Sports Writers Association and the YMCA Saturday Morning Quarterback Club.

BOWLING

Fault Finders

By NED DAY

The most important thing about style is not to change it if you're bowling well.

A style change always means a drop in average.

That's the reason, when I'm not bowling well, that I always wonder if I'm doing something differently. If I've made just a slight adjustment in my style, it could throw off my game.

I bowled a certain way when I won the ABC Tournament and the All-Star.

I try to duplicate the style because I know it was right.

Harvesters Scare Dons Before Falling, 41 to 39

By ARTHUR MAYHEW Daily News Sports Editor. AMARILLO—Pampa's Harvesters huffed and puffed and came within three points of blowing league-leading Palo Duro's title hopes away here Friday night before losing a 41-39 "don't-go-away-until-the-final-buzzer" District 3-4A basketball cliffhanger.

Desperate Rally Fails

points, seven markers below his piece, the last bracket coming at 5:53, to push Pampa in front, 35-33. Then, in a heated exchange under the Dons' goal, Steve Carter pumped in a rebound and a moment later Lynn Saunders tipped in an errant field goal and Palo Duro surged into a 37-35 lead. The Harvesters came right back to tie it up when Wise connected on two more free throws on the clutch 1-and-1 situation with 2:57 left.

30-24 bulge at 4:03 of the third period.

Palo Duro gradually hacked away at the lead and Pampa—holding for the sure shot and now without Matson—could only score one point on a free throw by Ronnie Chase to make it 31-29.

Pampa, percentage-wise, beat the Dons both in the field and at the free throw line, hitting 25 per cent from the floor to the Dons' 23 per cent and 68 per cent from the line compared to 60 per cent for the Dons.

It was the free throw line that kept Pampa in the game until the bitter end as the Harvesters connected on 17 of 25 attempts while the Dons made 9 of 15 tries.

The contest, which at times took on the appearance of an indoor football game complete with line plunges and clipping penalties, also was marked by a light failure that worked to Pampa's disadvantage and an accident when an over-exuberant Palo Duro student fell out of the stands just before the second half started and knocked himself unconscious.

Planned Stadium To Go Before Voters

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—A fantastic dream of the sports-minded since long before the great sports arenas of Rome were built is in sight for Houston in the city's proposed all-weather, domed stadium.

The score was tied twice more, 20-20 and 22-22, before Matson picked up his fourth foul and was removed. Wise, now all alone with Palo Duro's bigger men, then tallied on a beautiful drive to give Pampa a 24-22 lead at half.

The Third Man. NEW YORK (UPI) — Ford Frick is the third man to hold the job of baseball commissioner.

Atwell was confident the bill would not get chopped up in its course through the House. "This bill has the support of the boating trades people, the boat owners, sportsmen's clubs, Coast Guard and pretty near all the private yacht clubs and boat clubs," he said, pulling a sheaf of letters from his desk to prove it.

Prolonged Space Flight May Not Come Before A Decade, Expert Says

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Sometime during 1961 headlines may proclaim the first manned flight into space by the United States or Russia—but scientists believe it could take most of the next decade before man can be kept three more than a few hours at a time.

Writing in the January issue of Aircraft and Missiles magazine, Dr. Seymour Lampert of the Aeronutronic Division of Ford Motor Co. says man finds himself on the threshold of the Space Age "with great ignorance of what to expect." And he points out that the most basic problems are yet to be solved before a man could stay in space for, say, a week.

U. S. plans call for an all-out man at least 50 miles into space in February, and the first manned project Mercury capsule flights are scheduled later in the year. Since a completely sealed, pressurized cabin is needed to keep a man alive above 15 miles, these could technically be called manned flights into space. But, Lampert, manager of Aeronutronic's Aeromechanics Department, points out these flights will last for only short periods.

What are the problems that must be solved before a man can stay in space a week? For one thing, Lampert says, there is the matter of what materials to use for a space ship's hull. In the vacuum of space, metals will tend to evaporate, and radiation will weaken the binding forces that hold molecules together.

Lampert acknowledges that the first satellites and probes have resulted "in significant discoveries related to the make-up and content of those regions beyond our atmosphere."

But he adds that much of this data is still rather meager and in man's respects inconclusive. One broad area in which data is sorely lacking is how to control the temperature inside a space ship. That will depend to a great extent on how much heat the outside skin of a vehicle reflects.

As an example, the skin temperature of a polished aluminum surface could vary from several hundred degrees Fahrenheit in one region of space to several hundred degrees below zero in another region of space. Manned space vehicles will be equipped with air conditioning, but what kind of air conditioning equipment will have to be designed to cope with the problems that would arise if the heat reflective ability of a ship's skin changes during a flight?

Lubrication of moving parts in a space vehicle presents another huge problem. Ordinary lubricants evaporate in a vacuum. If two smooth metal surfaces come in contact in air, they will still slide over one another. But in a vacuum, metal surfaces bind together and can actually become welded together.

Even the routes manned ships will travel in space must be investigated beforehand, Lampert points out, before vehicles can be designed to cope with any changing conditions that may arise.

He advises "a detailed mapping of the radiation surrounding the earth."

Bill Would Make Burglary Tools Possession Felony

The Daily News Austin Bureau AUSTIN (Sp) — A bill making it a felony to manufacture or possess implements used in the commission of burglaries has been introduced in the House by Rep. George Cook of Odessa.

Punishment is fixed at a fine of not less than $500 or more than $5,000 or by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for a maximum of 10 years.

A portion of the bill said: "The fact that there is an alarming increase in the number of crimes involving the use of burglary tools and the further fact that there is a need to permit the control of known criminals who are found with such tools under circumstances evincing an intent to use the same, create an emergency and an imperative public necessity that the Constitutional Rule requiring bills to be read on three several days be suspended, and that this act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, and it is so enacted."

Mothers' March on Polio

Tomorrow evening between the hours of five and seven o'clock, Pampa mothers will call at the doors of Pampa residents asking for funds to further the research of the March Of Dimes National Foundation. Funds, which to date, have found a preventive for the dreaded polio and which, in the future, will be used in research for corrective and easing measures for arthritis and birth defects.

The Mothers' March is being directed by the PTA City Council with Mrs. R. A. Mack, council vice-president, as general chairman. PTA units in the city have been organized under captains and lieutenants to carry out the program in their area.

Working on the drive tomorrow night with other PTA members enlarging their numbers are:
TRAVIS DISTRICT: Mrs. Brantly Hudson, captain and lieutenants; Mmes. T. O. Trout, Elmer Darnell, John Dodson, John Truby, D. D. Tidrow; LAMAR DISTRICT: Mrs. Byron Buck, captain and lieutenants; Mmes. Don Stephens, Jim Cunningham, K. E. Rasco, Henry Parks, Lawrence Lee; HORACE MANN DISTRICT: Mrs. Edwin R. Southard, captain with lieutenants, Mmes. ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

IT ALL BEGAN with an organizational meeting held one bright Monday morning several weeks ago when PTA units in the city sent their presidents or representatives to a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce conference room to organize and discuss plans for the Mothers' March. Attending this meeting were from the left: Mmes. Brantly Hudson Jr., Travis PTA president; Mrs. Edwin R. Southard, Horace Mann PTA president; Mrs. M. E. Williams, Carver School; Mrs. Byron Buck, Lamar PTA president; Mrs. R. A. Mack, PTA council vice president and Mothers' March chairman; Mrs. R. M. Neely, Stephen F. Austin PTA; Mrs. Joe Fischer, Sam Houston PTA president; Mrs. E. A. McLennan, Woodrow Wilson MOD chairman; Mrs. L. M. Morgan, Carver School; and Mrs. Murray Sealey, Sam Houston PTA. From this meeting emanated plans to divide the city into districts with captains naming lieutenants and lieutenants in turn naming workers to call at homes in their district.

IN AN UNUSUAL SWITCH in civic procedure, March of Dimes chairmen present a Key To the City to Mayor Ed Myatt to illustrate the "open-door" welcome they are hopeful will greet mothers as they march to collect funds for further research by the National Foundation. Jack Miller, county chairman for the MOD left; James Gallemore, MOD city chairman and Mrs. R. A. Mack, Mothers' March chairman, present the "key of welcome" to the mayor just prior to a City Commission meeting.

HOW IT WILL BE DONE — Mrs. C. N. Gage Jr., left and Mrs. Howard Price are pictured as they approach a home in their district — a scene that will be most familiar as mothers begin their march tomorrow evening at five.

THE NEXT STEP in the Mothers' March was an invitation to the public to attend a free-showing of the film "The Bridge Between", provided by The National Foundation and shown in the Capri Theater. The film brought out the work that has been done by the National Foundation and what its hopes are for the future. It also clarified for workers in the Mothers' March just what objective they were working for. Picture above, from the left, as they entered the theater for the showing are: Mmes. Walter D. Davis, Mrs. F. I. Darnell, Mrs. Don Forsha, Mrs. Ted Largin and Mrs. R. C. Brown.

ONE OF THE REASONS for the annual drive for MOD Funds is for the countless thousands of patients across the nation for whom the polio vaccine came too late to help. In addition to using funds for research in the quest for cures of other diseases, The National Foundation also offers assistance to polio patients, who require around-the-clock hospital attention and to those who need braces and crutches. Mrs. Lee Harrah, standing left, board member of the Gray County Chapter of the National Foundation, is pictured here with Randy Reeder, who will be six years old on Feb. 11. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Reeder, 1138 S. Faulkner and is shown here with his mother. The local chapter with March of Dimes Funds has given assistance to Randy in the form of repair of his crutches and new braces when his young and growing legs have outgrown his old braces.

Given in marriage by her father, with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride wore a ballerina dress of peau de soie fashioned along princess lines with a lace applied bodice designed with a scoop neckline accented with a v-cut and three-quarter length push-up sleeves. The full skirt featured a princess front with pleated inset in back accented at the waistline with a bow.

Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion was attached to a pearl tiara. She carried an arrangement of white roses atop a white Bible. Brief white gloves and white satin slippers completed her attire.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Judy Kay Miller, twin-sister of the bride, attended as maid of honor wearing a light blue, brocaded taffeta dress designed with three-quarter sleeves, scoop neckline with a bow at the waist in the back of the pleated skirt. Blue accessories and a cascade corsage of blue carnations complemented her dress.

Dickie Watkins served as best man. Ushers were Lyndell Landes, bride's cousin, Jackie Collins, Kenneth Young and Gary Matlock.

Candlelighters were Cheryl Ann Landes, bride's cousin and Mary Beth Watson dressed in blue as the bridesmaid.

Twentieth Century Club Members Join In Discussion Of 50th State

Twentieth Century Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. R. Campbell for a program on "Hawaii" presented by Mrs. Jack P. Foster.

The program opened with an introduction, given by Mrs. Foster, of James A. Michener's best-seller "Hawaii" in which she gave a resume of the life of the author. Club members joined in the discussion of the important theme of each of the six volumes that comprise the whole book.

"Volumes I and II are beautifully written epics of the formation and foundation of the civilization of the Islands," Mrs. L. M. Hicks brought out and suggested that these gave expression to the character of the island peoples.

"Volume III relates to the coming to the islands of the New England missionaries," Mrs. Lorene Locke said. "One cannot be neutral in his opinion of the book. From a literary point of view the author is a craftsman in writing. This part of the book is pure prose poetry."

In volumes IV, V and VI, Mrs. F. M. Culbertson and Mrs. W. J. Pung brought out that the Chinese of the Islands had kept their pure native strain and had not mixed races.

The problems before and during World War II were told by Mrs.

Harrah. In Vol. VI, Mrs. Bill Roots and Mrs. Dick Stowers thought the main theme was the influence of all the different nationalities and that each had contributed much that goes to make up the newest and most interesting 50th state of the union.

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Ronald Hubbard, president, Mrs. Jim Campbell, a guest, presented club members the opportunity of purchasing poll taxes. She urged those who had not done so already to obtain them.

Mrs. Tom Rose and Mrs. Raymond Harrah, who are on the planning and arrangement committee for the Top of Texas District Convention of Federated Clubs to be held in Pampa Mar. 29-30, told of the plans and appointed members to committees.

Mrs. A. W. Brown, mother of Mrs. Foster, was welcomed as a guest.

Refreshments were served during the social hour that followed the program.

Designer Shows What Well-Dressed Women Will Wear Space Traveling

PARIS (UPI)—Pierre Balmain today displayed what he thought the well-dressed woman should wear if she went space traveling this spring.

He made clear he thought the feminine figure was important even in outer space.

On the second day of the Paris spring shows, Balmain unveiled what he called "Jolie Madame de Paris at Inter-Planetary Time."

The outfits he showed were not designed for the man in the moon or the Martians only. They were his styles for madame here on earth.

It was his way of saying that he's right with the space age, he's so modern.

Unlike Pierre Cardin who opened the spring showings Monday, Balmain thought curves were in this year.

His "Jolie Madame" was shown wearing slim, flat skirts, draped tube-dresses and glamorous cocktail outfits with small hats, a sinky hairdo and eyelids covered in deep, dark shades.

There were comfortable buttonless coats with deep kimono sleeves. Suit jackets were all short and had side-vents.

One neon-pink wool suit would stand out even in outer space. It had a slick chic short jacket, a flat skirt and was impeccably tailored.

Altrusa Club To Help Get-Out-Vote Tuesday

In a "Share Your Ideas" program presented by the Altrusa Information Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. B. M. Behrman at the club's dinner meeting Monday in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn, ideas for service goals, and club improvement were discussed informally and enthusiastically by all members attending. The program was carried out in the form of a "Dr. I. Q." session with Mrs. Jack P. Foster and Mrs. Bob Robinson as emcees, who selected participants from the floor to answer the doctor's questions in the form of new ideas for the club.

Preceding the program, a brief business meeting was held, conducted by the president, Mrs. Clyde Vanderberg, during which a brief resume of the Proposed City Charter was given by Mrs. L. L. Harkins, club vice president, who had previously attended the Congressional Breakfast on the City Charter election, sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce in the Coronado Inn.

Following a discussion of the proposed changes in the City Charter, led by Miss Jean Chisholm and an idea suggested by Mrs. Ray E. Wilson, Public Affairs chairman, members voted to offer their assistance to get-out-the-vote in the Charter election.

The Public Affairs Committee has assigned a page in the telephone book to each Altrusa member to call prior to the election in an effort to get out a large vote in the election on Tuesday, according to Mrs. Wilson.

Among the ideas suggested were that Senior Center is about to outgrow its present meeting place; that more music and singing would add to meetings; that the public needs to become more aware that Altrusa Club is a service, not a social club.

Mrs. Vera Lard, vocational chairman, suggested that the vocational committee would like to work out a program of interesting and constructive activity for 4H Clubs to be sponsored by the Altrusa Club. Miss Lou Ella Patterson suggested that members work more closely with Altrusa-Girls-of-the-Month to better inform them of the activities and service goals of the club.

Prizes, for the best ideas submitted judged by Mmes. Lorene Locke, Roy Kay, L. L. Harkins, and Clay Coston, were awarded to Mmes. Lard, Wilson and Miss Patterson.

It was announced that the club had received its fourth Founders' Fund Award for the purpose of sponsoring the higher education of deserving women. Three local women have completed advanced education through this fund, it was announced.

Miss Karen McCarthy, January Girl-of-the-Month, was introduced by Miss Geisla Roeper, Girl-of-the-Month for December. Miss McCarthy, Pampa High School senior, is active in 4H Club work, received an award from that club for sewing; is a member of the Latin Club; active member of St. Vincent dePaul Catholic Youth Organization, which she served as vice president; member of the Kit Kat Klub; and has a hobby of collecting stamps.

Altrusa Information Quiz question "How many directors does our club have and how long do they serve?" asked by Mrs. Behrman, was correctly answered by Mrs. Wilson as "Three. Mrs. Irl Smith, Mrs. Roy Kay and Mrs. Inez Carter and they serve for a term of two years."

Mrs. Lorene Locke was winner of the door prize.

Thirty-seven members and two guests attended the dinner meeting. Dining tables were appointed with blue tapers in blue styrofoam bases with each place marked with an over-sized question mark printed with club activities to act as a stimulus for new ideas. The speakers' table was appointed with an arrangement of white gladioli interspersed with large, blue styrofoam question marks.

TIMLEY NOTES ... now, of course is the time for you get your poll tax paid if you haven't already done it. It's two more days to go and have you seen the latest edition of the National Geographic Magazine? ... the lead article in it is "The Fabulous State of Texas" ... and the author really knows what he is talking about ... he even mentions Amarillo and Lubbock ... there are some beautiful pictures too, of all the regions in the state.

SOME GOINGS ON ... around town ... have heard that Forrest and Majunta Hills have returned from a skiing trip to New Mexico ... a nice holiday ... and Marvin and Jimmie Jones are back from a vacation to the sunny spots of the Southwest in Phoenix, Arizona and Las Vegas, Guess Where ... in winter vacations ... if the United States ever adopts the twelve-month school year, proposed by some, with vacations every three months ... there will be a lot more Americans to take winter vacations ... course, generalizations such as the following can be made: if you choose a vacation in the winter, you can take your pick of going where it is cold or where it is warm, while in the summer, just about everywhere is warm or hot ... naturally we except the mountain peaks!

Anything that interferes with individual progress ultimately will retard group progress.—George H. Houston

AND WHILE WE ARE on the subject of comings and goings and so forth ... there has been a small exodus of horse-loving people to the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Ft. Worth ... with the new White House residents, the "Horse Set" will come into ever greater vogue ... we understand Jacqueline Kennedy is a lover of horses and rides very well ... boreback, too, on occasion ... seemingly whatever interests the President and the First Lady come to interest the rest of the country, as witness the reading of mystery novels with F.D.R. (you know who) was in the White House, and more recently the playing of golf ... well, to come back to the subject ... Nell Kelley is among the visitors to Ft. Worth ... so is Vera and Bob Andis, naturally, as their daughter Linda Kelley will be representing the Top O'Texas Rodeo Association in "Cowgirl Sweetheart" there, on February fourth ... Bus and Helen Carter were going last week heard another horse lover in Pampa is Icie Harrah, who can talk for hours about horses and her acquaintance with the breed ... and we guess nearly every little child there is loves horses, from the antics of the cowboy movies and TV shows if from no other.

You can't sit on the lid of progress. If you do, you will be blown to bits.

SEVERAL PARTIES have been or will be ... for instance a book-review was held yesterday morning at the Coronado Inn, with hostesses Opal Wright, Betty Wright, Ida Perkins, Gladys Harvey, and Lottie Burton ... reviewing was Ame Copeshaw ... the invitations to this were darling ... a card with a picture of a woman, with a hat on, with a bird perched atop the hat ... "The bird on Nellie's hat saw a heap ... does she cheep? ... and to find out, one would have to be at the coffee ... since this is written slightly before Saturday, we can't say if she told all or not!

A PARTY COMING UP ... will be on February 13th ... also a book review (this time by Kathryn Steele) and hostesses for the affair to be Marie Jamieson, Ruby Laycock, Marge Campbell, Dorothy Crouch and Carmel Hagaman ... also at the Coronado ... this one should also be lots of fun ... and speaking of Marge Campbell ... and her son, Richard Allen Waterfield, was recently married to Margaret Levin from Louisville ... we understood that they are at Texas A. and M.

Progress in every age results only from the fact that there are some men and women who refuse to believe that what they knew to be right cannot be done.—Russell W. Davenport

CALL TO THE BATTLE ... Mrs. Homer Johnson ... who is Gray County Crusade Chairman for the Cancer Society, looking for helpers and workers for the drive for funds this is to be held in April ... anyone who wishes to help in the necessary operation may get in touch with her ... there will be a meeting or two to attend, and then working during the drive in some capacity ... many, many are already making plans ... and we think some of the men should be mentioned ... Joe Page ... and John Gikas ... and John Evans ... and Ray Hudson ... and Carl Long ... and Raymond Lock, to name a few ... if you want a worthy cause to donate your time and interest to, let them know.

OVERHEARD ... Stormy Jordan talking about the surprise birthday party given him recently ... Dan and Mary Williams, and Faye and Ralph Sidwell, at whose home the party was held, were the perpetrators of the affair ... and Stormy was really surprised and touched ... wonder if he blew out all the candles with one puff?

ON THE CULTURAL FRONT ... Twentieth Century Club is sponsoring an art exhibit in the Library ... it will be held on February fourth, and open to viewing on February fifth ... the exhibit is of paintings of the students of Dord College ... Mrs. Raymond Harrah ... Mrs. Raeburn Thompson, and Mrs. Joe Gordon are the Committee members in charge of the "hanging", which will be on the walls during the month of February ... and on the music front, the second of Community Concert Association presentations was to have been last night ... if the Theatermen ... the next one will be in May ... the Canadian National Ballet.

Restlessness and discontent are the first necessities of progress.—Thomas A. Edison

ON THE SPORTS FRONT ... the Pampa women who worked off with trophies in the recently held Pampa Women Merchants Bowling Tournament were Peg Russell ... Fel Jackson ... Peggy Kostein ... Joyce Gray ... Marie Pawley and Ketta Hendricks ... and this weekend the Men's Bowling Association tournament is beginning, to run next weekend also ... we'll report on the winners there later.

HAVE HEARD THAT ... the Mardi Gras dance held annually by St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church will be held this year with a Pacific Island theme ... and that mummus and leis and gay sports shirts will be in order to wear ... a go event, from the sound of this ... wonder if they will see pineapple and bananas ... the decorating committee is planning palms and coconuts, at any rate ... we didn't realize that Easter will be so early this year that the Mardi Gras celebrations will be in February ... St. Matthews Episcopal Church pancake supper will be held February 14 by the Margaret's Guild ... then the Lenten season begins.

The new "Honey Hug" style trend for this year, announced a couple of weeks ago by the Official Hair Fashion Committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, is a delightful new style. And perhaps the first one in Pampa to wear this charming and simple Spring style is Maggie Salsbury, of the staff of Jimmie Jones' CORONADO INN BEAUTY SALON. In fact, Jimmie is holding a special workshop for her staff and a few other local hairstylists, and D. S. Elmore, from El Paso will be here to teach the techniques of setting the new Honey Hug trend. Mr. Elmore is a member of the Official Hair Fashion Committee. The new style is a feminine style with soft waves, simplicity of line and design, with a clean, soft, no-fuss look. You know, it is very true that you can buy a very inexpensive apron, or have even just a picture that you like in a magazine, and the frame you put around it can make it one of the nicest things in your home. It is also true that the finest painting or most expensive print may be spoiled by the wrong frame. At PAMPA GLASS AND PAINT you may have pictures framed beautifully, with just the right molding, a perfectly cut mat, and non-reflecting glass. Or, if you feel the urge, you may of course get the molding there and "do it yourself." There is a wide choice in framing materials offered at Pampa Glass and Paint, so why not look them over for possibilities? The store also has facilities for stretching fabric mats if needed. Molding ranges from simple black narrow framing to "wormwood" effect. Why not check into what's available? I think you will find just the thing. At PAMPA GLASS AND PAINT 1431 N. Hobart.

There are also a few fine watches marked down this month. Some of them up to 40 per cent off! It will indeed pay you to drop by the store, for you may save substantially on all of these items I have mentioned. ### Native Costumes Highlight Program For El Progresso

Miss Linda Key presented a program on "Hawaii" at the El Progresso Study Club's meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ann Heskey, 1129 Somerville.

Equal Rights Legislation Goal Of B&PW Club

en's Club of Pampa met in the City Club Room on Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. with Mrs. Jewel Dean Lewis, president, presiding during the business meeting.

Lynn Boyd, chairman of the City Charter Commission, spoke to the group on the proposed new city charter, which will come up for vote on January 31.

Mrs. Vera Lard, membership chairman, conducted the initiation of nine new members, Mmes.
Imogene Brown, Virginia Carruth,
Gussie Worrell, Jewel Mills, Mildred Patton, Dora Thomasson, Ruby Crocker, Bobby Brummett and Loia Nicholson.

In order to acquaint the new members with the history of the organization, Mrs. Lard gave an outline of the club's activities, its aims, purposes and some of the accomplishments of the Federation.

To further carry out the program of acquainting members with the club, Mrs. Grant Anderson, International Relations chairman, told of the International Federation; Mrs. Mable Ford, finance projects of the club and how the money is used; Mrs. Elsie Gee reported on the Public Affairs committee's work, Mrs. Davis Breeze, publication chairman, induced the publications, which are available to each member.

Mrs. Virginia McDonald gave the following report of the Legislation Committee: "It shall be the duty of the Legislation Committee to carry out the Federation's legislative program by sponsoring appropriate legislative and administration action and to cooperate with the committees, whose programs may be implemented by legislative or administrative action. This is true of our local club, state federation, as well as our national federation." Mrs. Mc-Donald said.

"Our federation has, from the first, been a pioneer in furthering the interest of women through legislation and has worked unceasingly for equal rights under the law and for equal pay."

Mrs. McDonald went on to discuss the Federation's bill to increase exemptions for single persons under the income tax laws;
Good Will Tours to Europe, which led to the organization of the In-national Federations as being the first woman's group to appoint an

United Nations.

"One of the legislative committees main objects now is the passage of the Equal Legal Rights
Amendment and the Homestead
Amendment to the Texas Constitution. Some of the facts you might keep in mind are that there are over 80,000,000 women without full equal legal rights; that both political parties have the enactment of the Equal Rights Amend-

The Proposed Charter

The News has had some mixed reactions concerning the proposed charter upon which Pampans will call, Jan. 31, to express themselves. One fact about any municipal charter, often overlooked, is that probably 80 per cent plus of contents is a reiteration of statutes enacted by the state legislature governing home rule cities.

Regarding the major change which will be effected by the new charter, we rather strongly think there would be an improvement in the government if commissioners (all elected) were elected at large rather than by the present ward system. This is the point the charter proponents feel is the most significant and we agree.

Those opposing this move claim that the elimination of the ward system amounts to a disenfranchisement of their particular area, while the supporters claim that everyone in the city should have the right to help select those who will administer their municipal government.

This, of course, is an issue upon which endless arguments can be mustered. We recall that the controversy was bitter during the Constitutional Convention of 1877 concerning the merits of geographical as against popularly elected representation. The situation was resolved by establishing two bodies, the Senate and the House of Representatives, with each serving as a supposed check on the other.

Since a municipal government is a large enough for the mechanism of a federal legislative structure, the type of representation afforded by the two body system several years ago, when there was an effort to amend the present charter in favor of the at large election of commissioners, the news supported the attempt, explaining that we could have done with more vigor if the proposal had continued ward representation, but permitted everyone to vote on all candidates from all wards. Be that as it may, the amendment was defeated on a small turnout of voters and there has been no attempt to change the present structure until now.

There is no way to escape one central fact concerning our present relationship between commission representation and tax load, for it is grossly disproportionate with the commission representing only 25 per cent of the valuation and 25 per cent of the city's population. The new charter would, to a great extent, remedy this situation.

On another point, the altering of the tax limit from the present 60 per hundred dollars of valuation for general purposes plus a 50 limit for bonded indebtedness, to a total of $2.50 for general purposes, really is an effective direct control for limitation of taxes. But, realizing that there isn't, whether there is a written limit in a charter or not, we do not find this point extremely consequential in the standpoint of the broadening powers which all city governments have under the state constitution.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — After 13 years of service our old vacuum cleaner gave out suddenly the other afternoon at the most embarrassing possible moment — it was the first day on the job of our new cleaning woman. You could tell by her attitude that she didn't think we were very substantial people and was obviously weighing the idea of never coming back again. My bride can sense these disaster moments and hastened to assure the woman that we would have a brand new vacuum cleaner for her the next time she came.

"Well, in that case..." said the cleaning woman. After she left, my girl said: "Where do you get a vacuum cleaner?" and I had to tell her that after considered survey of the problem I was pretty certain you could get one in a vacuum cleaner store. She said if I was going to be nasty about it, she'd make her own survey, which she did. She telephoned exactly 19 different addresses she knew and asked each one what kind of vacuum cleaner that one had found satisfying. She kept a sort of score board on the thing and at the end of one certain make won by eight votes more than the others. Then she asked me where exactly could we buy that make.

"A great many people," I said, "spend thousands of man-hours assembling a book called the Red Book. It is a book listing the telephone numbers of all the conceivable kinds of businesses. You look under Vacuum Cleaners. And in that category will be listed dealers in the various kinds under a sub-alphabetical listing of the brand names. It has been around quite a long while, the book, and most people know how to use it."

Stiffing her sobs, she looked up this kind of cleaner and found the manufacturer had a New York office. She called there and minced no words. "My name is so-and-so" she said, "my address thus-and-so and I want to buy one of your vacuum cleaners right away and I'd like to know how to use it."

"I asked her what that final bit was about, were they going to give her one for free? She said, no, but they were sending a home office man right away with a brand new, in the carton, 1961 model with all the features and it was their pleasure to be of service. They weren't kidding. In exactly 32 minutes the doorbell rang and there was Mr. Vacuum Cleaner of 1961, complete with machinery. He came in, took off his rubbers and opened the carton and took out the machine. It gleamed like a pearl.

He assembled the gadgets, connected the wire to an outlet, pressed a button and cleaned the living room rugs for us, extracting a good imperial quart of dirt the old machine had failed to pick up. Then he showed us how the suction was so powerful that it could pick up three heavy steel balls one by one and hold them even though they were suspended and held only by the power of the suction.

She asked how much it was and he told her and added that with an automatic cord retractor it was $15 more — but probably with a trade on the old job it would not cost more than $7 extra. "You mean you'll give us allowance on that dead, bent, object old cleaner?" she cried. "You're crazy. I didn't ask for favors."

He said, well, actually, it was a restorer, but it was usual. She got out the corpse of the old machine, a competitor of this man's make, and he gave it a look as though it had died of some loathsome disease and was still contagious. He then said: "Why did you not buy one of this make again? Terribly disappointed in the old one and I got in the act. I told him it had been a good machine for 13 years and how long did he expect a cleaner to last? He said his would last at least 15 years. Then he whipped out the old order pad and said: "And how did you wish to arrange payments?" She said she'd like the purchase would be for cash. "I've revised him in 15 minutes with icebergs and massage. So now we have $110 less than we had but we have the most gleaming new vacuum cleaner you ever saw. And the cleaning woman said, checking on the telephone first, that, well, if we really had it, she'd come back."

States can stop this violent infringement on the rights of the hard-working people of the nation wherein a heavy proportion of their salaries, wages and incomes is extorted from them and flung away across the sea. Any public servant in Congress who continues to support this diabolic policy of impoverishing the American people in the interest of alien welfare is a traitor to the American Republic and to the Constitution which he swore, on taking office, to uphold.

Allen - Scott Reports: Kennedy Enters Fight Over House Rules Committee as Outcome of Crucial Vote Looms Doubtful

ROBERT S. ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's first weekly conference with the Democratic congressional leaders was a somber affair. In striking contrast to the gaily and jubilant of the inaugural weekend, the discussion between the new President and his veteran congressional leaders was solemn and sober. There was no levity.

With one exception, a brief reference to the continued drain of the gold reserve, the meeting dealt entirely with the uncertain domestic economy, and the even more doubtful outcome of the administration's effort to break the Republican-Southern control of the House Rules Committee.

On the business situation, the President declared his intention to discuss it bluntly in his first State of the Union message on Monday. Without exception, the congressional leaders heartily approved of his doing that.

To the President's obvious surprise, Speaker Sam Rayburn appealed to him for help on the proposal to increase the Rules Committee from 12 to 15 members. Without this plan, Rayburn admitted the "is in a bad way."

Kennedy opened the session by tersely characterizing his Republican predecessor's final State of the Union message as "unrealistic." "I have studied that very carefully as well as the latest economic reports from both official and business sources," he said, "and I have found Eisenhower's message painted a picture that's far to the right of the true state of our economy. Actual conditions are not as thriving as he so optimistically described them. I wish they were, but the real facts are quite the contrary."

"So I propose to lay it squarely on the line in my State of the Union message next week. I firmly believe the people of our country want the facts, and once they have them they will support whatever measures are necessary to cope with our problems."

Then, turning to Vice President Johnson, Kennedy asked, "What do you think, Lyndon? Do you agree with me that the people are ready for forthright talking from their President about the true state of our economy?" "I do, indeed," replied Johnson. "That's the way you campaigned, and the people elected you. I am convinced the people want a direct you to be honest with them, and not to pull any punches. I don't see any other course for you to follow. We are Americans and we can face up to whatever we have to do."

Speaker Rayburn fully endorsed this view. So did Senator Hubert Humphrey, Minn., Democratic Whip of that chamber. "By all means lay it on the line, Mr. President," Humphrey declared, "and you will be doing both the country and yourself a great service. You pulled no punches in your inaugural speech, and it won your acclaim. You do the same thing in your State of the Union message, and the response will be the same."

Clearly heartened, Kennedy told the congressional leaders his message will "report fully on three gravely disturbing areas of the economy: increasing unemployment, declining farm prices and declining federal revenues."

"We must act quickly on all of these," he said earnestly, "or the country will really be in trouble in a very short time."

Everybody's Money

By MERYLE STANLEY RUKESYER

The No. 1 1961 problem in business is to enlarge the margin of profit.

Aware of the error of a year ago when optimistically extravagant first-of-the-year forecasts caused management to budget excessive expenditures, those in charge of corporate purse strings this year are controlling expenses so as to profit from reduced volume. This effort has resulted in a relentless campaign against internal economic waste.

In the process of using the sledge hammer, there may be an off-setting long-term disadvantage in reducing creative efforts in the realm of research and new-product exploration. This type of curtailment may indeed prove untimely in view of the dependence of a growing labor force on job opportunities growing out of innovation.

Another type of attack also is being made on the cost sheet. Where possible, free services are being reduced. And an effort is being made to shift to customers certain costs which hitherto had been absorbed by the seller.

In this context, Jerome Neiger, president of Glasspar, believes that publicly owned corporations should cease the practice of absorbing the cost of issuing stock certificates in new issues when there has been a change of ownership. In the case of the big and active corporations, whose stocks are actively traded, the cost of transfers on the corporate books each year runs into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Mr. Neiger's company, which is the biggest producer of fiberglass boats, for a number of years has passed along part of the overhead cost of such transfers to the stock customer. Mr. Neiger's company has charged 50 cents of such cost to those participating in the stock transaction, and estimates that this is but a third of the total cost. Mr. Neiger, in discussing the proposal, told me that the participant in the stock transaction absorbs the other costs — the broker's commission, and the State and Federal transfer taxes.

Mr. Neiger thinks that the cost of issuing a certificate of ownership to a new name and the overhead cost of making the transfer on the books should be borne by the speculator or investor involved in the transaction and not by the corporation. He thinks that the other stock owners of shares should not be penalized by in and out transactions by others.

Whatever may be thought of this single suggestion, it is one of many which management is now exploring in order to increase corporate profits by passing on to others costs which it has hitherto absorbed.

Historically, there has been a long-term trend in this direction. Until three decades ago, banks did many things for depositors without levying service charges. In addition, commercial banks used to pay nominal interest on average balances in demand deposit checking accounts. But after the banking authorities ordered discontinuance of interest payments on checking accounts, it became fashionable for banks to stop absorbing the cost of rendering specific services to depositors and to start making specific charges not only for heavy activity in deposit accounts but also for other specific bank services.

As a phase of the new Spartan approach in industry toward the cost sheet, there is new respect, especially in novel and growing industries, for realistic factual data. New industries during a boom tend to encourage self-deception and exaggeration as to the extent of the potential market and the actual sales volume of the industry as a whole.

For a time insiders tend to believe the blue-sky of those who have been touting stocks. It's like the gag about the oil prospector who was told that the petroleum quota in Heaven had been filled. One applicant was informed that there would be room for him only if he induced someone to leave. Accordingly, he started a rumor that an oil gusher had been discovered in Hades. The excited oil men began to file out, eager to participate in the new opportunities in Hades. The man who started the rumor joined the procession, and when asked why he was leaving, he said, "Maybe there's something in the report."

In the new industries, including electronics, the expectations of long-term growth are warranted, but this does not mean that all of the early starters will survive and participate. Like the automobile industry a generation or two ago, there will be wholesale weeding out of the less efficient. There will also be mergers and consolidations.

Editor: Next Tuesday we will be voting on the acceptance or rejection of a new proposed charter for Pampa. The citizens of this city signified their desire for a new charter by electing fifteen men to serve on the Charter Commission, all of them with long experience and good judgment in city affairs. There are three important changes in this proposed new charter: (1) — The method of electing the city councilmen.

Under the present system of electing city councilmen, you only have the right to vote on one councilman who has been nominated from your ward. Under the new city charter, you will have the right to vote for all four councilmen as well as the mayor. This is democracy.

(2) — The right of the city council to increase the tax rate. Under the present charter the city council has the right to increase taxes simply by raising the property evaluation as they deem advisable or asking the citizens to vote on a bond issue which is not economical. Under the new charter, they have the right to increase the tax rate up to the needs of the city rather than raise your property evaluation or ask for a bond election. According to state law, this rate of taxes cannot exceed $2.50. There is no reason to believe that to adopt or reject the proposed charter will make any difference in the amount of taxes which we pay one way or the other.

(3) — The right of the city council to decide whether or not property should be brought into the city limits. Under the present system, property can only be brought into the city limits at the discretion of the property owner. There are cases where property is located within the boundaries of the city but pay no city taxes. We should keep in mind that the city councilmen cannot afford to incorporate property into the city limits where the cost of services required by state law would more than offset any taxes which are levied on property.

Even though the new proposed charter may not be perfect, I believe it is a big improvement over the present one. In the final analysis, it is up to the citizens of Pampa to elect a good mayor and councilmen and then to trust their judgment.

Hugh Burdette

Editor: Until January 19, the Congressional Action Breakfasts sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, had a fine record for fair and impartial presentations of the facts on controversial matters. That record was shattered at the last meeting by extremely biased and one-sided view of the new city charter presented by ex-mayor Lynn Boyd. After presenting his opinions on the charter and blasting criticisms of it which have already come to public notice, Mr. Boyd dismissed questions which would have shown his charter in a bad light.

It seems to stick in Mr. Boyd's craw that he cannot vote for the commissioner in Ward 3 where his business is located because he does not reside in that ward. Wouldn't it be easier, Mr. Boyd for you to move to Ward 3 than to try to

Too Little Work, Too Little Pay Hurting Oilmen

The pattern of receiving too little work and too little pay which has characterized the U.S. oilwell drilling contracting industry for several years was intensified to a substantial degree during 1960. Contractors not only experienced another sharp decline in the drilling volume they performed during 1960, but they also suffered a further deterioration in the footage prices received for their drilling services.

Less work at reduced prices does not spell out the full story of 1960 for oilwell drilling contractors. There was an even larger reduction in the number of drilling rigs able to find work in the U.S. Hole penetration rates increased to a new peak, with the result fewer rigs were needed to perform the drilling services sought by the nation's oil and gas producers.

This double-barreled attack on the economy of the oilwell contracting industry has grown steadily more acute since 1956. Distressed conditions are causing an increasing number of mergers, foreclosures, and voluntary withdrawals from the contracting business. There are serious doubts as to how much longer the contracting industry can remain financially and physically capable of economically and efficiently satisfying the drilling requirements of U.S. oil and gas producers, if present distress conditions continue much longer.

One of the factors responsible for the economic ills of the oilwell contracting industry is the reduction in U.S. oil and gas drilling activity. Total U.S. oil and gas well drilling activity, including wells drilled by both company-owned and contractor-owned rigs, dropped to only 46,751 during 1960. This was the smallest number of wells drilled in any year since 1952.

The 1960 level was 8.1 per cent below the 50,893 wells drilled in 1959, and 19.6 per cent less than the 58,160 wells drilled during the 1956 peak.

These new wells drilled in 1960 represented 190,703,000 feet of hole, 18 million less than in 1959, and 43 million less footage than the 1956 peak.

The decline in U.S. drilling activity during 1960 was of sufficient magnitude to result in less work for contractors, although contractors drilled a slightly larger portion of the U.S. wells. Contractors are estimated to have been responsible for drilling 95 per cent of the wells in 1959, contrasted with 94 per cent in 1960, and smaller amounts in earlier years.

New Wireline Service Will Open In Area

Go Jet Service, Inc., a new wireline service to assure area oil producers of the latest wireline facilities, has been formed with executive officers in Tulsa, Okla., according to an announcement by Larry Drake, one of the founders of the firm.

Drake said the service area of the new $500,000 cooperation will include Oklahoma, Kansas and the Texas Panhandle.

The announcement says district offices subsequently will be opened in Pampa, Liberal, Kan.; Shawnee, Okla. and Enid, Okla.

Hess Humphrey, former manager of the Pampa Welex office and later manager of the Ardmore district office, will be manager of the Liberal Go Jet Service.

Initial field operations for the firm are scheduled to begin Feb. 15 in Pampa, Okla. The company, Drake's announcement says, will offer jet perforating, gamma neutron logging and allied oil well services.

Officers of the new company include Drake, chairman of the board; O. B. Arent, president and B. D. Nation, secretary treasurer, all of whom have announced their resignations from Welex, Inc.

Laboratory Head Will Address Chemical Group

The Texas Panhandle Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Stephen F. Austin Junior High School, 1200 S. Hackberry, Borger. The speaker for the evening will be C. H. Mihm, supervisor of the Spectro Laboratory at Phillips Chemical Co.'s Philtex Plant in Phillips. Mihm will speak on the subject of "Chromatography."

Mihm received his B. Ed with a major in Math from Wisconsin State College and his MS in Organic Chemistry from Notre Dame. He taught at St. Edwards University, Austin, for several years and a short time at Texas A&M. He came with Phillips Petroleum Co. in 1944 and has had his present position since 1956.

Light refreshments will be served after the meeting. Visitors are welcome.

Inspiration Struck Frost Oddly; Tops That Of Rockne, Archimedes

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Inspiration, which usually is out to lunch when you go looking for it, can accidentally hit a person at peculiar times in unlikely places.

Take the case of Knute Rockne, the football coach who won enduring fame by inventing the Notre Dame shift.

Rockne probably spent countless hours in the locker room concentrating on gridiron maneuvers. But I seem to recall reading that the idea of the shift came to him while he was watching a line of chorus girls.

Then there is the classic case of Archimedes, or some such ancient Greek, who was seized by inspiration while taking a bath and rushed into the street shouting "Eureka."

History, in short, is replete with examples showing that inspiration is about as unpredictable as a commuter train and often arrives under incongruous circumstances.

If any further evidence is needed to prove this point, I refer you to a newsletter sent out today by Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., concerning last Friday's inauguration ceremony.

To me, and I guess to many others, an unforgettable part of the program was the appearance on the platform of Robert Frost, he celebrated New England bard, who had been invited to read one of his poems.

If you saw Frost on television or in person, the chances are that you were, as Thompson says in the newsletter, "enchanted by him and delighted by his calm, when the glare of the sun prevented him from reading the preface to his poem."

That being the case, you perhaps will be interested in a footnote provided in the newsletter.

Shortly before the ceremony, Thompson's wife Evie was introduced to Frost in the congressional office formerly occupied by Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, a friend of the poet.

Mrs. Thompson was startled to learn that at that moment "the great old man was in the very middle of working on the dedication section of his poem," which he was scheduled to read in just 30 minutes.

"Mr. Frost told Evie he had refused many offers to write dedicatory or occasional poems because he writes only when inspired to do so," the newsletter continues.

But on the morning of the inauguration, inspiration struck Mr. Frost sat down amidst the confusion of the Udall office and wrote 42 lines of immaculately rhymed verse.

"I for, one, am grateful to Thompson for the belated fill-in on this inaugural slight. If a poet can be hit by inspiration in the House Office building, there is hope for us all.

It tops, I submit, what happened to Rockne and Archimedes.

Orval O. Bishop, Sinclair Worker, To Retire Feb. 1

LEFORS (Sp) — Orval O. Bishop, a long-time truck driver in the production department for Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. in the Pampa district, will retire Feb. 1 after nearly 32 years with the company.

He joined Prairie Oil & Gas Co. May 22, 1929, as a roustabout in the Seminole, Okla., district. He worked in Oklahoma and Texas oil fields before going to Lefors in March 1959.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop have three children, Mrs. Charles Clayton Jr., Knox City; T-Sgt. H. G. Bishop, Clearfield, Utah; and 1st. Lieut. B. J. Bishop, with the Army in Badenheim, Germany.

Bishop, a member of the Baptist church and Lions Club, served three years with the Coast Guard during World War I. Mr. and Mrs. Bishop plan to travel when he retires.

PRIVATE SATELLITE — An engineer checks the innards of the first communications satellite designed for use by private businesses. Built by Hughes Aircraft Co., it is capable of handling hundreds of telephone circuits and direct TV transmission. If placed in a 22,000-mile-high orbit above the equator, its speed would match the earth's rotation and the satellite would appear stationary from the ground. In that position it could relay communications between most of North and South America, western Europe and western Africa. Its small size and weight—29 inches and 32 pounds—enables it to be launched by a small rocket. Dark rectangles are solar cells; 2,700-of-them, to provide power.

MAN, THESE DRYERS ARE THE GREATEST! BUT WHY ARE THEY ALWAYS GAS?

ANY FAMILY MAN CAN ANSWER THAT ONE! GAS IS FASTER, SAFER AND COSTS LESS. WHAT ELSE?

there are good reasons why 97% OF ALL COMMERCIAL LAUNDRIES USE GAS CLOTHES DRYERS

Gas goes to work instantly, with no warm-up wait. Gas is faster by far, reducing drying time to a minimum. Its low heat, high air-flow principle makes short work of even difficult-to-dry shag rugs and bedspreads, yet is ever-so-gentle on even the daintiest synthetics. And as for economy, a Gas Dryer operates for about 1/9th the cost of the other kind. When Gas drying rates first with those who know, wouldn't it be best for your family, too?

School Of Religion Set At St. Matthews

A Spring School of Religion will start in St. Matthew's Episcopal Church on Feb. 15 and run weekly through April 26, it was announced today by the Rev. William E. West, rector.

The school will be known as the "Journey In Faith" and the Rev. Mr. West said it is designed as a Lenten study program for all parish members as well as confirmation instruction.

"Journey In Faith" classes, the rector said, are for persons who wish to be confirmed and to be prepared for life as communicants of the Episcopal Church; persons who have been confirmed at an early age and wish to deepen their life as mature Christians; persons with no church affiliations who want to find out about the Episcopal Church but do not necessarily have plans for confirmation; and for persons of another Christian body with no intention of changing their membership but feel this type of inquiry will help them be better members of their own church.

The Rev. Mr. West explained that the program involved several kinds of learning including discussion groups, reading material, a series of pamphlets in which basic Christian understandings are set forth, and teachings on concrete experience of the church as a worshipping community.

All classes in "Journey In Faith" will start at 8 p.m. and end at 9:30 p.m. and the Rev. Mrs. West said all persons participating in the course will be expected to attend Sunday services as part of the training.

Americans 'Discover' Greece

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI)—It took a long time, but Americans have finally discovered Greece.

The tourists who swarmed over westernmost Europe during the early years after World War II now are extending their travels to Greece.

Intrepid travelers armed with cameras, light meters, bundles of film and travel guides are visiting in growing numbers the historic sites of the cradle of Western culture.

With direct air service available from New York to Athens, Americans are leading the list of tourists visiting Greece. During the first eight months of 1959, a total of 217,352 travelers toured the country. The number for the same period in 1960 was nearly 250,000. A 50 per cent rise is expected this year.

Greece was not ready for the jet age but it is remedying that situation with an expenditure of nearly $1 million next year for hotels, motels and other tourist facilities. About $500,000 of that sum is being spent on hotels and motels near some of Greece's most storied sites, including the cave where Zeus was supposed to have been born and Mt. Olympus, the legendary abode of the gods.

A new highway has been built up Olympus, the highest mountain in Greece, from the Thessalian Plain.

In the last three years, 188 hotels with 7,000 beds have been built and the nation's highway network has been improved. Boat service to the Greek islands, particularly Rhodes and Lesbos, has been stepped up, to lure winter visitors to the warm Mediterranean.

The Greek government, from the prime minister down, is devoting considerable time and effort to stimulating tourism as a means of jacking-up the nation's economy, which still has not destroyed from the civil war that followed World War II.

The national tourist organization is studying the possibility of emphasizing winter travel to Greece because of the mild climate. The country has an average of more than 300 sunny days a year, which worries the farmers but delights travelers.

Too Devoted, Couple Seeking Divorce, Say

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A young couple went to court for a pre-divorce hearing here claiming they wanted to end their two-year marriage because all they did was sit around and smile at each other.

"We've really been a very devoted couple in a lot of ways," said Mrs. Susan Sayre, 20. "Yes, we were so devoted we just sat around and smiled, trying to make each other happy," said Curtis L. Sayre, 22, owner of a carpet-cleaning firm.

"We just stared at each other and smiled," said she. "Nothing got done," said he. "We were so busy smiling we didn't even eat right."

"We were beginning to get skinny," Mrs. Sayre said. "And bored," Sayre said. Both agreed that a divorce would be the best thing and declined to meet with a conciliator. "After the divorce I'm going to stop smiling!" vowed Mrs. Sayre.

Quietest Hunter

About the quietest of all large animals when it comes to hunting is the leopard, which can make its way through the deepest vegetation without a sound.

THE FACTS About

The New Charter ARE: 1. Concerning the old Ward System

This has not worked to anyone's benefit! All it has accomplished is to divide our town and cause animosities and unnecessary sectionalism.

Let's be frank about this. As the situation is now, Wards 1 and 2 have grown until 75% of the town's population is in those wards. Yes, Wards 3 & 4 (with the other 25%) have two of the four Commissioners who govern the City. With a growing City, it isn't possible to keep the Ward boundaries equitable.

At the same time, those who favor the Ward System in the hope that this inequality will keep on to their advantage, have not accomplished their ends.

Let's stop this foolishness!

The entire City Council is involved in any decisions made, and should be subject to the vote of all the people. Let's unite Pampa, and all of the people—North, South, East and West—work together for a better town.

This, the new Charter will accomplish, as no Ward System could.

2. Redistribution of Funds

In the old charter as well as the new charter, the council has the authority to increase tax valuations as well as tax rates to $2.50, the maximum tax rate allowed by the state, without the approval of the voters. Therefore, the only change asked for would be to remove the $1.00 limitation for distributing the tax money for general fund uses. This would in reality be a savings to the tax payer and would not increase taxes.

This act would be necessary for several reasons. The main one would have to do with the cost of doing business. For example, it used to cost the Tax Payers $7,000.00 a year to operate and maintain the Library. However, with the gift of a modern new house for this department, our cost increased to $26,000.00, thereby creating a drain on our General Fund expenditures. That could be eliminated by removing this limitation of the amount of money that could be utilized in this fund, and by giving the council authority to distribute funds as and where needed. This would eliminate the need for revaluation or Higher Taxes.

3. Annexation of Territory

In Drawing the new charter the Charter Commission did not have in mind the annexation of any particular territory to the City.

It has been rumored that all of Price Road, and even Celanese and Cabot, is to be taken into the City as soon as the Charter is adopted. Nothing is further from the truth! In fact, it has never been discussed.

The law, by the State, requires that the city has to provide equal services (Police, Water, Sewer, Fire Protection, etc.) for any territory annexed to the City, upon annexation. Is it reasonable to assume that your City Council is going to participate in wholesale annexing of territory when it involves such expenditures?

We have some islands of territory which are surrounded by the city, enjoying the services but not participating in the cost of operation, thereby becoming a parasite on the Tax Payers of the City. Territory of this nature is not under the control of our City Police Department and any type of business could be operated without due regard to our local laws. We propose to eliminate this condition, and the new charter will so provide the necessary implement to do this.

We have always enjoyed and appreciated the work of the people who serve on our City Council. We must continue to place confidence and trust in the actions of these officials. Their acts affect themselves as well as other taxpayers.
