Order Halts Missile-Carrying Planes From Practice Missions

Fatal Accident Prompts Move

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—The Air Force today intensified its investigation to determine what caused a Sidewinder air-to-air missile to be launched from a jet fighter plane into a B52 bomber during a training mission. The accident killed three of the eight crewmen of the Strategic Air command bomber. The fourth and fifth survivors were found alive Sunday — nearly two days

Old, New City Commissioners Meet Tomorrow

There will be a meeting of the old and the new tomorrow morning, when Pampa's City Commission convenes in City Hall. The old commission will hold its final meeting to canvass returns of the April 4 election and swear in the new mayor and commissioners. The new mayor will be E. C. (Gene) Sidwell, succeeding Mayor Ed Myatt. The new commissioners will be Lloyd Simpson in Ward 1, Newt Secrest in Ward 2, and L. P. Fort in Ward 4. Leon Holmes will succeed himself in Ward 3. Simpson replaces Herschel Wilks in Ward 1, Secrest replaces Jack Vaughn in Ward 3, and Fort replaces James Crawford Jr. in Ward 4. Mayor Myatt and Commissioners Wilks and Vaughn did not seek re-election. City Manager John Koontz said the old commission would wind up several matters of unfinished business. They will act on the third reading of an ordinance for adoption of a new building code for Pampa, second reading of a paving ordinance, and approve monthly bills. Tomorrow's meeting is scheduled for 9 a.m. in the City Commission room of City Hall.

Kennedy To Propose Dividends Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy is preparing to ask Congress to raise taxes on dividends received by some 3.5 million stockholders and to withhold taxes on dividends and interest. A presidential tax message which may be ready next week also was certain to propose investment incentives for business in the form of tax savings. White House, Treasury, Commerce and State Department aides were still trying to agree on an administration position on taxation of income from abroad. The foreign tax question was almost as thorny an issue as the 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion allowance — on which the President's message was expected to say little. As for taxes on foreign income, one good possibility was that Kennedy would ask Congress to narrow or eliminate the present deferral of taxes on earnings left abroad. Such a tightening up, some experts said, also would remedy the problem of tax havens — countries in which American-controlled firms are taxed lightly or not at all by foreign governments. The Treasury wants to gain as much revenue through the dividend, interest and foreign income tax proposals as it may lose through the investment incentives. A rough estimate was that the new gains and losses would each be about $1 billion. Principal emphasis of the presidential message was expected to be on the investment incentive. Kennedy has expressed concern that America's "aging industrial plant" has hurt the nation in worldwide competition for markets. Adv.

187 Lives Feared Lost, 562 Saved In Ship Tragedy

BAHREIN, Persian Gulf (UPI) — A British cargo-passenger ship ravaged by explosions and fire sank in the Persian Gulf today while being towed into port. Officials feared 187 persons were lost. No one was aboard the twisted, blackened hulk of the 5,030 ton liner Dara when it slipped beneath the water.

But of the more than 700 passengers and crewmen who had fled the flaming ship in a Friday night of terror, 187 still were missing today. A British official here said there appeared to be little hope for them.

The ship sank in shallow waters off Ras Al-Ahaimah. Most of the passengers were Indians and Pakistanis but there also had been an undetermined number of Americans aboard.

The British resident official here said there appeared to have been 752 persons aboard the ship when the fire broke out — 550 regular passengers, 130 officers and crewmen and the rest tally clerks, merchants and laborers from the port of Dubai.

Rescue officials counted 565 persons known to have been saved. Three British frigates which had been battling flames aboard the ship, the Dara, since Saturday afternoon were trying to tow it 200 miles to Bahrain when it sank.

The Dara was loading passengers and freight in Dubai harbor Friday night when a sudden fierce storm came up and the captain put to sea to ride it out.

Congo Leaders In Peace Talk

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The military leaders of two of the Congo's major rival regimes were reported talking peace today.

Informed sources said Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu and Gen. Victor Lundula were meeting at the remote border town of Bumba near the line between Equatorial and Oriental provinces.

Mobutu represents the pro-Western regime of President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Joseph Ileo, headquartered in Leopoldville. Lundula is the commander of the forces supporting Antoine Gizenga, the leftist leader of Oriental.

The two sides were to have started political talks over the weekend but apparently decided to settle their military differences first.

Complicating the already confused division of power was a weekend proclamation by Albert Kalonji, leader of South Kasai Province, that he has assumed the title of king of all the Baluba tribesmen.

There are about 800,000 Baluba in the Congo. If Kalonji could weld them into a single force he would have powerful backing for his claims to leadership.

Move Against Castro Nears

NEW YORK (UPI) — The dramatic "call to arms" by Cuban exile leaders over the weekend signals the beginning of a do-or-die assault on Fidel Castro's Communist backed regime from within and without.

In New York, Washington, Miami, Key West, Fla., New Orleans and Central American capitals, the secret liaison which links anti-Castro forces has set in motion the preparatory machinery for attack.

There now is no turning back for thousands of armed Castro foes. They have pledged themselves to overthrow the bearded 26th of July revolutionary leader whom they followed to victory over dictator Fulgencio Batista 28 months ago.

If they fail, Castro will reign supreme in Cuba and be in a better position to spur his anti-U.S. movement throughout the hemisphere.

From secret bases the flow of arms and men into the island has long been underway. But it now has rolled into high gear, informants said.

"D-Day against Castro is not far off," one source said. This was interpreted to mean any time between now and early June.

The rebel leaders are giving no clues, of course. But responsible sources report the exiles cannot afford, for many reasons, to delay their attack for long.

Jose Miro Cardona, president of the seven-man Revolutionary Council which is directing preparations against Castro, followed up his Saturday "call to arms" manifesto with a new plea to Cubans Sunday for unstinted cooperation.

Speaking to more than 1,000 Cubans here he said: "Fidel knows his days are numbered. (See MOVE, Page 3)

But he guaranteed that even under a "situation of full attack and economic blockade" Cubans would get clothing, shoes, food, medicine, education and recreation. He boasted that no other country in the Western Hemisphere could make such a guarantee — "not even the United States where social discrimination maintains a large portion of the population in misery."

Castro did not make any direct reference to the manifesto issued by Jose Miro Cardona, president of the Revolutionary Council, in New York during the weekend urging Cubans to overthrow his regime.

Canyon Fire Causes Loss Of $65,000

CANYON, Tex. (UPI) — Damage was estimated at more than $65,000 in a fire which destroyed a courthouse square drug store Sunday and overcame five persons by smoke.

A department store and an adjoining auto parts store suffered smoke damage. Francis Sell, owner of the drug store, said fixtures in his store were worth $65,000.

Shell was overcome when he ran into the blazing store and grabbed a handful of wrist watches. City Mgr. Bill York and three firemen also were overcome by smoke, but none of the five was seriously injured.

Cause of the fire was undetermined. Rummage Sale 321 S. Cuyler April 12 & 13 open 8 a.m. the Women of the Moose.

Warren Fatheree Elected School Board President

Warren Fatheree was elected unanimously this morning as president of the Pampa Public School board to replace the outgoing E. L. (Gene) Green, Jr.

In other elections, Elmer D. Wilson was elected vice president and R. D. Wilkerson, one of the two new board members elected earlier this month, was elected secretary.

Wilkerson and John Gikas, the two newly-elected members, were sworn in this morning in place of Green and D. E. Holt. Green had served nine years on the board and Holt, three.

The holdover board members are Dr. R. M. Hampton, Wilson and Fatheree.

Before qualifying the new members, the results of the election were canvassed. The final results were Wilkerson, 1,066; Gikas, 1,104; Holt, 985; Ott Shewmaker, 608, and J. R. Martin, 1.

In other business, the board approved payment of fees to the firm of Merryman and Barber for estimates on a cinder track for Pampa High School, tentatively approved the school calendar for 1960-61 and approved payment of bills totalling $15,438.98.

The board, by motion, put off until the May meeting any modification of the Policy Bulletin for Pampa public schools. The delay was asked in order that the two new members might have a chance to look over the bulletin before modifications were made.

Governor Raps Sales Tax Bill

AUSTIN (UPI) — Angry over Gov. Price Daniel's "untrue criticism" of his general sales tax, Rep. John Allen of Longview today withdrew the measure from immediate consideration in the House.

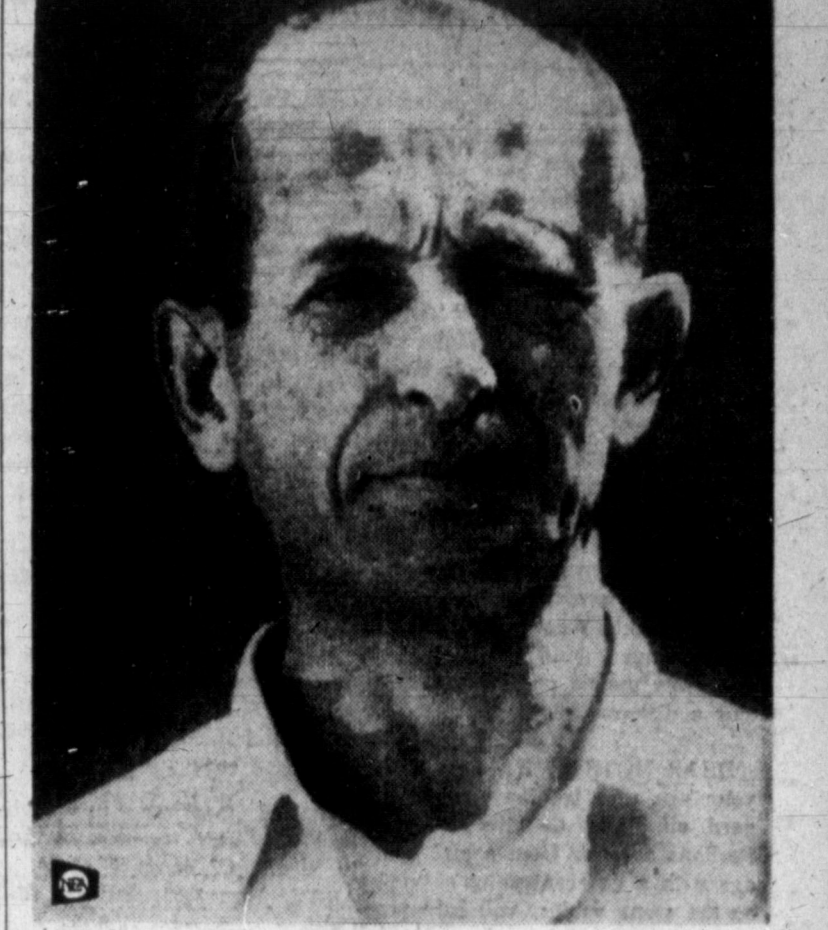

Hinson's bill combines eight selective sales taxes with a 2 per cent gross receipts tax on gas pipelines, while Atwell's measure would place a 2 per cent selective sales tax on a yard-long list of items.

Both would raise enough money to meet the $300 million in proposed new spending as would Allen's bill.

Daniel said he liked the measures because they do not tax food, medicine and clothing. He said the Allen bill would hit poor people the heaviest. A person earning less than $4,000 a year would pay from one to one and one-half per cent of their total income, while those earning more than $10,000 would pay only one-third of one per cent of income, Daniel said.

"I believe the high pressure campaign of corporate interests in favor of such a tax is doomed to failure," he added.

Daniel pointed out that individuals earn $18 billion of the gross income and business receives $43 billion. He said "It is not fair to put 90 per cent of the new tax burden on individuals."

TRIAL STARTS TOMORROW — Adolph Eichmann, accused of the murder of millions of Jews, enters the courtroom in Jerusalem at 9 o'clock tomorrow for the beginning of his trial. There is no jury system in Israel, so Eichmann's fate rests in the hands of three judges. Eichmann will sit in a glass-enclosed box during the trial, unable even to confer with his attorney. Reporters from all over the world will cover the proceedings.

Eichmann To Sit Alone In Box During His Trial For Murder

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — If Adolf Eichmann is guilty of organizing the murder of 6 million Jews, part of his punishment will come in the endless hours he sits in the courtroom.

He will be the most lonesome man in the world when he enters at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning to stand trial for his life. Nobody will speak to him unless he asks a question and he never can be sure he will get an answer. Eichmann will be alone with his memories — whatever they are. The courtroom — a community center converted into a hall of justice — was opened to the press Sunday. There are reporters here from the ends of the earth, but no one could recall a legal proceeding — not even the Nuremberg war crimes trials — where security measures were so tight. Israel is determined to keep Eichmann alive until justice has run its course.

A glass box dominates the courtroom. Israeli police have fired machinegun bullets against the type of glass used in the box and achieved nothing more than tiny pock marks. The box is to the right of the judges' bench and contains three small chairs. The one in front is for Eichmann. The other two are for Israeli guards under orders not to speak to the prisoner.

There is no indication now as to whether Eichmann will testify in his own defense. If so, he will do it through a loudspeaker from the glass box that is going to be his daytime home for weeks to come.

Ex-Banker's Jail Break Effort Fails

WACO (UPI) — An attempted jailbreak by former banker-publisher Lawrence A. Pope of Giddings, sentenced to 25 years in prison for robbing the First State Bank of Thornton, Tex., failed Sunday.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Harwell said Pope attempted to dash a handful of salt into Harwell's eyes and smashed a stick over the deputy's head in the attempted escape from the McLennan County jail.

Harwell was returning Pope's cellmate, William Carl Kincannon, 17, to his cell when Pope threw the salt in his face. Pope then broke the stick over Harwell's head and ran from the cell, along with Kincannon.

But trusty prisoners helped officers return the pair to their cell. Harwell said the incident occurred as he was returning Kincannon from a visit with a minister. Kincannon was being held on assault to murder charges.

Europe Promised More Arms Aid
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy promised today to maintain U. S. forces in Europe and to strengthen their capacity for conventional war. At the same time, he said that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization should "continue to have an effective nuclear capability" kept under "sensitive and flexible control" to guard against misuse.

President To Toss First Ball As Major League Season Opens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy, who brought a New Frontier to Washington last January, opens another today — in baseball. This he will do by throwing out a ceremonial first ball inaugurating the 1961 major league baseball season. With that historic and traditional toss, a new Washington baseball club will make its debut. So will the expanded American League, which has pushed its own frontier to Minneapolis and Los Angeles. And so will Kennedy, who's athletic speciality is catching (softball) and touch football. He is making his bow as opening day presidential pitcher. At 43, the rookie right-hander becomes the youngest — and ninth — chief executive to perform the honorary chore. A Republican, William Howard Taft, set the fashion in 1912. Every White House occupant since has followed suit. The forecast was partly cloudy, with temperatures in the middle 50s and fresh to strong west and northwest winds of 20 to 25 miles an hour — a potential boon for left-handed hitters. Kennedy will do his pitching from the Griffith Stadium presidential box behind the first base line a few minutes before the new Washington Senators and essentially the same old Chicago White Sox meet in the gun-jumping opener before a sell-out crowd of 27,550.

Then the President will relinquish the pitching to two veteran — and professional — right-handers: 41-year-old Early Wynn (13-12), the former Washington pitcher who has been the star of the White Sox, and 33-year-old Dick Donovan (6-1), the former White Sox hurler who has become the standout of the Washington pitching staff.

From a Washington standpoint, virtually everything was new about today's opener — a new president, a new vice president (Lyndon B. Johnson) who will raise a new 50-star flag to the top of the old center field flag pole, a new home team with a new manager (Mickey Vernon) and new owners, a new opening day opponent (the White Sox are the first western club to play in a Washington opener), a newly expanded league of 10 teams playing a new 162-game schedule. Even the flags on the presidential box are new: (Calvin Griffith took the old ones with him when he moved the old Senators to Minneapolis.) So is the outfield sod (13,761 square feet of it).

Dear Abby... Is Mother Friend Or Foe??

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You will probably think I am a monster, but I am a girl of 14 and I hate my parents. Especially my mother. She is so old-fashioned it's pitiful. She wants to pick all my clothes and tell me how to wear my hair, and I am the only girl in our crowd who doesn't wear make-up. She won't let me go in cars with boys. All she worries about is my reputation, and I swear I have never done anything wrong. Don't tell me to talk it over with her because she will only give me a long lecture on this bull about how it is for my "own good." I would like to tell her things, but heck I don't want to get killed. I hate to do things behind her back, but she gives me no choice. I wish I had a different mother.

MOTHER-HATER

DEAR MOTHER-HATER: Girls your age who feel as you do regard all adults as "the enemy." Perhaps a letter from a girl your age with a different point of view on the same subject will help you more than any advice I could offer.

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and think more girls my age should appreciate mothers who love them enough to care about what they do. I feel sorry for young girls my age whose mothers let them go on car dates with boys, and wear eye make-up and hair-dos that are old for them.

I am not allowed to go on car dates until I am 16. My mother helps me select my clothes. I wear no make-up to school, and only a little on special occasions. My mother has lived a lot longer than I have, and I have learned from experience that when she forbids me to do something she always has a good reason for it. I am thankful that I have a mother who loves me enough to raise me right.

FOURTEEN AND LUCKY

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I went through college with another couple who were married about the same time we were. (Three years ago.) Five months ago they had a baby, and ever since that time their company has been impossible. You can't bring up a subject without their getting around to their baby. We wouldn't mind if they would say what they have to say about the baby and then go on to something else. But, Abby, the entire evening is spent talking about their child.

We want to remain friends with this couple and would like to know how to tell them politely they are boring their friends with their baby talk.

NOT AS YET BLESSED DEAR NOT BLESSED: "New" parents frequently yield to this temptation, but wise people never bore others by steering the conversation to their favorite subject and keeping it there. There is no "polite" way to tell people they are bores. But be patient. The baby will grow up, and so may its parents.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "OVERSEAS": The stamp upside down means "I love you."

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Getting married? For Abby's booklet, "How to Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Mrs. Frank Shotwell Honored At Tea As BPS's Woman of Year For 1961

Beta Sigma Phi Sorority honored Mrs. Frank W. (Libby) Shotwell as its Woman of the Year for 1961 at a Yellow Rose Tea held yesterday afternoon at three o'clock in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn; the sixteenth lady so honored by the sorority.

Approximately 500 friends, neighbors, and co-workers attended to extend their congratulations to the honoree. Mrs. Haldane Suttie, BPS council president, made the introductions.

The address and Certificate of Recognition was presented by the Rev. W. W. Adcock, pastor of the First Methodist Church, who said that "friendship, service and love were the three key traits that lead to Mrs. Shotwell's honor." He referred to Proverbs 35, Chapters 25 through 32 as a further description of the Woman of the Year.

Mrs. Dona Cornutt, Woman of the Year for 1960, made the presentation of the bouquet of Yellow Roses and the traditional Woman of the Year symbol inscribed with Mrs. Shotwell's name and the year of her honor. Mrs. Cornutt also welcomed Mrs. Shotwell to the exclusive WOY Club and indicated the group of former Women of the Year, who were seated together

'Basic Beliefs' For Discussion For WSCS

First Methodist Church Circles met in the homes of members this past week for mission book study and business meetings with the following reports:

Mrs. Malcolm Douglass was hostess with Mrs. Frank Carter Jr. as co-hostess to members of CIRCLE ONE. Mrs. Glen Radcliff conducted a business meeting. Mrs. W. A. Wagoner continued with the study of "Basic Christian Beliefs" followed by a discussion of "Sin" led by Mrs. Elmer Radcliff with all members entering into a discussion on all phases of study. The worship center was formed with a picture of Christ and three flowers symbolic of the Trinity, prepared by Mrs. Charles Brauchle. Mrs. Joe Donaldson discussed "Are Your Habits Set In Concrete?" Mrs. Jim Edminster and Mrs. Jim Osborne were welcomed as guests. It was announced that the next meeting will be with Mrs. Ray Wells, 809 N. Somerville on April 19. Members attending were Mmes. Carlton Nance, Don Cain, Ray Wells, Arnold Pettiford, Gene Hall, Victor Keyes, J. C. McWilliams.

CIRCLE TWO met in the church parlor with Mrs. W. L. Roundtree as hostess. Mrs. Gene Groom, chairman, conducted the business meeting followed by a devotion given by Mrs. Robert Burns who closed with prayer. Mrs. Melvin Stephens prepared and explained the worship center. Mrs. J. E. Thompson continued the study of "Basic Christian Beliefs" with scripture of creation read by Mrs. Joe Hayes and Mrs. Aubrey Steele. "What We Believe About God" by Mrs. F. J. Rader and "Forgiveness of Sins" by Mrs. Gene Groom completed the program, which was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Lee Harrah. It was announced that the April 19 meeting will be with Mrs. J. G. Morrison, 2101 Christine. Members attending were Mmes. G. F. Branson, W. R. T. Cole Jr., Bernard Johnson, Paul Bowers, Stuart Kipes, Carl Shater, Gerald Marlar, Cleo Hoyer, J. G. Morrison and A. C. Young.

CIRCLE THREE met in the home of Mrs. Allan Wise with Mrs. Clarence Lutes presiding as a roll call was answered with favorite quotations from the Bible. Mrs. Knox Kinard, study leader, summarized the study of "Sin and Forgiveness." Mrs. Doyle Osborne reported on "The Trinity" and Mrs. E. S. Williams on "Israel's Mission of Peace." The next meeting will be with Mrs. Doyle Osborne, 2107 N. Russell, on April 19. Members present were Mmes. Tom Atkin, Thelma Bray, T. C. Lively, W. H. Nichols, V. N. Osborne, W. C. Puyard, C. E. Shellhouse, Doyle Osborne, Chester Thompson, V. Martin, Bob Echols, Mmes. Frank Culbertson, Allen Wise and Roy McKee were welcomed as guests.

CIRCLE FOUR met in the home of Mrs. H. B. House with Mrs. Price Dozier, chairman, giving the thought for the day. Mrs. Joe Weaver gave the devotion "Come Ye Sinners Poor and Needy" using quotes from the prayer calendar. Mrs. H. H. Bratcher continued the study of "Basic Christian Beliefs" with a lesson on "Sin and Forgiveness." Mrs. Tom Cook closed with prayer and the reading of the hymn, "Arise My Soul, Arise." Members present were Mmes. H. B. House, J. A. Knox, Joe Shelton, Tom Cook, R. W. Lane, W. C. Hutchinson, John Sweet, F. T. Coffee, Joe Weaver, A. R. Killian, Mary Rogers, H. H. Bratcher, W. Purviance, S. C. Evans, J. E. Kirchner, W. S. Exley, H. P. Dosier, R. D. Morris, W. R. Campbell. The next meeting on April 19 will be in the church parlor with Mrs. Exley as hostess.

CIRCLE FIVE met in the church parlor with Mrs. Atta Woods and Mrs. O. T. Smith as hostesses. Mrs. Van Pate, chairman, conducted the meeting opening with group singing of the hymn "Oh, God, Our Help in Ages Past." Mrs. H. F. Barnhart gave the devotion using "clean thoughts produce clean lives" and closed with prayer. Mrs. W. W. Adcock continued with the study on "Basic Christian Beliefs" using scriptures read by members.

Members present were Mmes. W. E. Abernathy, R. E. Hamm, W. A. Hardy, Joe Lee, Bob McCoy, Van Pate, Fred Thomas, H. R. Thompson, Atta Woods, W. W. Adcock, H. F. Barnhart, O. G. Smith. The April 19 meeting will be with Mrs. H. R. Thompson, 2235 Charles.

Art In Super Market To Include Works Of Top European Artists

Art in a Super Market? And why not? is the opinion of Buck Fleming, manager of the Safeway Store, who plans something new in the way of art dealing. Plainview was selected as a test market by art dealers, Clarence Davis of Amarillo and Herman Dean of Borger, for the first showing of their collection of original European oil paintings to see if residents in this area are interested in purchasing the paintings at low prices.

There is no admission charge to the exhibit and the public is invited to browse through the pictures. The paintings range in size from 12x16 to 24x32 and are priced from $5 to $250. Every painting is guaranteed original by selected top 25 European artists. They are delivered on stretch frames.

Story of Jewelry Told At ESA Meet

CANADIAN (Spl) — The Eta Iota Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha had as a guest speaker, recently, John Furbach of Amarillo. Mr. Furbach spoke to the group on Gemology and showed gems and examples of his original jewelry designs.

About 20 members and their guests attended the meeting held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church.

Winsett Rites Set Tomorrow

Interment rites for Wayne Winsett will be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Methodist Church in Higgins with the Rev. Ralph Odum, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Winsett, born April 1, 1892 in Higgins, died Sunday morning in his home, 621 E. Kingsmill.

He was a retired service station operator and has lived in Pampa since April, 1947. He made his home with his mother, Mrs. Jessie White Winsett and his aunt, Mrs. Fannie Ledrick, both of whom preceded him in death.

He is survived by two brothers, Raymond of Galveston and Donald of Robinson, Ill.; 11 cousins, Mrs. Clinton Henry, Jim White, Clyde Meade, all of Pampa; Earl Meade of Higgins, Mrs. R. G. Peeler of Hereford, Mrs. Harvey Todd of Amarillo, Dr. Ewing Winsett of Amarillo, Frank Chambers, Dan and Ed Hoover, Mrs. A. V. McQuiddy, all of Canadian.

The body will lie in state in the church from 1 p.m. until service time. Interment will be in the Higgins Cemetery.

DISTRICT GUEST — Mrs. Joella Terrill Butler of Wichita Falls, District Nine governor of Altrusa International, will be guest of honor and speaker at the Tri-City Banquet to be given this evening by the Altrusa Club of Pampa in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. Members of Amarillo and Borger Altrusa Clubs will be guests as well as presidents of men's service clubs and their wives, who have been invited as special guests. A social hour will be held in the Emerald Room at six o'clock, preceding the dinner hour with past presidents of the local club as hostesses, according to Mrs. Clyde Vanderberg, president of the local club.

Obel down to Sandia (Army) Base Hospital at Albuquerque.

Capt. George D. Jackson, 27, of Richmond, W. Va., Capt. Donald D. Blodgett, 39, of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Staff Sgt. Raymond H. Singleton, 27, Havre De Grace, Md., were rescued Friday before nightfall.

Ten airmen, including Maj. Gen. Perry B. Griffith, deputy inspector general for safety, went up in helicopters to recover the bodies of Capt. Stephen C. Carter, 29, of East Hartford, Conn., Capt. Peter Generis, 30, of Albuquerque, and 2nd Lt. Glen Y. Bair, 24, of Kemmerer, Wyo., from the wreckage. They were brought to the morgue at Sandia.

The victims and the survivors — all of whom parachuted from the bomber — were found within a few miles of each other on a 9,000-foot mesa.

Eight of Meiras' relatives visited the hospital to see him. A surgeon told them he wasn't in shape for visitors yet.

"He has a badly broken left leg but he'll be all right," the surgeon said.

Plastic Bag Suffocates Infant Son

Death by suffocation caused the death of Calvin Lawrence Steele, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Steele, 422 Maple, who was found dead in his bed at 9:15 a.m. yesterday by his mother in their home.

D. R. Henry, coroner, said that death by suffocation was caused by a plastic garment bag found in the infant's bed.

Graveside services in Fairview Cemetery were to have been held at 2 p.m. this afternoon with the Rev. C. C. Campbell, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist Church, officiating.

The infant was born on Jan. 9, 1961 in Pampa.

In addition to the parents, he is survived by two sisters, Balencia Kay and Verone Karen, both of the home.

C-C Activities Group To Meet

A meeting of the Merchants Activities Committee of the chamber of commerce has been called for 10 a.m. Wednesday to finalize plans for "Crazy Day," a annual merchandising event set for May 20.

Lou Troja, committee chairman, said today all Pampa retail merchants who can possibly attend the Wednesday morning meeting are urged to do so.

On Friday morning at 10 o'clock there will be a meeting of the chamber's Aviation Committee to complete work projects now underway including the recent inauguration of a direct line from Pampa to the Federal Aviation Agency in Amarillo for the purpose of keeping local pilots abreast of the latest weather advisories. Ralph Prock, committee chairman, called Friday's meeting.

Harvesters To Try It Again

Pampa Hosts Borger

Pampa's Harvesters, shut out by Lubbock Friday and by the weather Saturday, will try to get back into their winning ways this week with three home games against highly-ranked foes.

The Green and Gold, now 2-2 in District 3-4A play after falling 3-0 before Lubbock Friday, now faces an uphill battle for the conference flag with 10 games left to play.

Pampa opens its third week of action — weather permitting — tomorrow against one of the districts tri-leaders when Borger (2-0) comes to Harvester Park at 4 p.m.

Although their record is undented in district, the Bulldogs are still a game behind Monterey (4-0) and a game and a half behind Lubbock (5-0). However the Bulldogs have been impressive in their only two district outings, defeating Plainview, 11-9, in a slugfest and then nipping Amarillo, 2-1, on a one-hitter by Bob Connelly last week.

A scheduled showdown series between Borger and the two Lubbock schools failed to materialize Saturday and Friday when rain deluged the Borger Park. The games were switched to Pampa Saturday but the rain followed also and a possible triple-header was canceled.

Besides the Borger - Pampa game tomorrow, Amarillo (0-4) goes to Pal Duro (0-3), Tascosa

Fraser, Laver Head River Oaks Netters

HOUSTON (UPI) — The strongest field in the history of the River Oaks Invitational Tennis Tournament was on hand today for the 27th annual competition, with international entries picked to take most of the honors.

Neale Fraser and Rod Laver of Australia, the world's 1-2 rated amateurs, rated the 1-2 seeded positions for Tuesday's opening championship play.

Fellow Aussie Roy Emerson was seeded No. 3, followed by Bernard (Tut) Barten, currently rated the top amateur in the United States, at fourth.

With the strongest international field since the tournament was founded 30 years ago, it appeared likely that a foreigner would win the River Oaks men's singles for the first time in history.

In addition to Australia's top trio, Wolfgang Stuck of Germany, Luis Ayala of Chile and Antonio Palafox of Mexico will be competing for top River Oaks honors.

Two preliminary rounds today found 64 players, many of them collegians, competing for 16 places. They will join the 16 exempt players in a 32-man draw for the start of play on Tuesday. Finals will be Sunday afternoon.

The U.S. amateur tennis field was thinned somewhat last winter when Barry MacKay, the River Oaks defending singles champion, and Earl Buchholz, turned professional.

guson hit a home run in the first inning.

As for Friday's game, Pampa could do little with the right-handed offerings of David Whiteside, who hung up his sixth victory of the year without a loss. Whiteside fanned 13 and walked five and gave up one hit, a single over the box by second baseman Ab Cullender in the third inning.

Lubbock proved its billing as the team to beat in 3-4A this year by pounding out six hits, including two homers and a double to spoil the Harvesters' bid for an upset.

Palmer's Hopes Dim After Sunday Deluge

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — The rain may have helped the farmers — and Gary Player — but defending champion Arnold Palmer felt today it may have cost him his third Masters championship.

"I thought I had it," said Palmer when rain washed out what was scheduled to be the final round of the tournament Sunday after he had cut Player's lead to two strokes.

"I was very happy to quit," said Player.

So today they go at it again with Player, the little South African with the Midas touch, four strokes ahead of Palmer, who is seeking to become the first golfer in history to win the Masters two years in a row.

Player had just bogeyed the 11th hole when the rain became so heavy that play was halted. About a half-hour later the round was postponed with all of the scores of Sunday's play washed out. Ten golfers had completed play and 31 others still were on the course.

"I knew when I teed off on the 10th that Gary had bogeyed the 11th," explained Palmer. "My mental attitude was good. Considering the conditions, it was one of the best nines I had ever played. So I was disappointed when they called off play. I would rather be in a position of making up two strokes in nine holes than four in 18. And, of course, I don't know what my mental attitude will be today either. There was nothing they could do but call it off, however."

Palmer had shot the front nine in two-under-par 34, Player in one-under 35.

"Actually, I'm not sure just how I feel now that I've thought it over," Player said. "I still had two shots on Palmer and he had the 10th and 11th holes yet to play. But I'd say that the postponement will help me fractionally, say half a stroke."

The forecast for today called for partly cloudy and windy weather with the temperatures in the 50s, but no rain.

The players will tee off at 11:30 a.m. EST. Player, playing with Paul Harney, is scheduled to start at 1:01 p.m., and Palmer, paired with amateur Charlie Coe, at 1:29.

It was strictly a race between those two when play was postponed, for closest to them were Harney and Don January, both of whom were three under par for the tournament through 65 holes. That put them seven strokes back of Player and five behind Palmer.

Southern Leads Way To Record UT Relays

AUSTIN (UPI) — Eddie Southern and Earl Young, two late starters in the 34th annual Texas Relays last weekend, both accounted for some of the 14 new records that went into the books today.

Southern, a former University of Texas Olympic star, took leave from the U.S. Air Force to break his own 400-meter hurdles mark. Young, also an Olympic competitor, recovered from a liver ailment to anchor record-breaking Abilene Christian College relay team in the 880-yard and one-mile races.

The 880-yard team from ACC tied its own world mark of 1:22.6 and the mile team topped a national collegiate standard with a 3:07.9 clocking.

Young also ran the final leg of the winning Wildcat 440-yard relay and was chosen by sports writers as the meet's outstanding individual. Abilene Christian, which also won the distance medley relay, was voted the top team.

Southern almost tripped over the sixth hurdle in his 400-meter race, but recovered to finish in 50.8 seconds. It was 2 better than his winning record time of 1960 — which Southern said was to be his last year on the track.

The new Washington Senators won the Grapefruit League championship and the Chicago Cubs wound up with the best percentage in the Cactus League, which proves just one thing: Don't put too much stock in spring exhibition games.

And if you need any more proof, the New York Yankees, favored to win the American League pennant, had the next-worst win-loss record of the 18 major league clubs as the exhibition barnstorming ended. The Yankees won 9 and lost 19. Only the Los Angeles Angels (4-9) had a poorer mark.

Pittsburgh's world champion Pirates actually finished with the best record for a club that played a full slate of games against major league competition. The Pirates won 18 and lost 11 for a .621 percentage. The Senators, who played only 12 major league opponents, won 8 and lost 4 for .667.

Coach Mickey Vernon's Senators, who meet the Chicago White Sox in the presidential opening game at Washington today, lost their final exhibition game Sunday when they were shut out by the Boston Red Sox, 6-0, at Winston-Salem, N.C.

Right-hander Billy Muffet, who had not pitched for three weeks because of a sore arm, held the Senators to three hits in a game curtailed by rain at the end of six innings.

In other games played Sunday, the Kansas City Athletics edged the Detroit Tigers, 3-2, in a game called after five innings because of rain; the Minnesota Twins defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 7-2; the San Francisco Giants beat the Cleveland Indians, 4-1.

Boston Stuns Hawks, Awaits Cousy, Ramsey To Crucial Win

Cousy, Ramsey Spark Celtics To Crucial Win

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Celtics are set to put the finishing touches on their title series with the St. Louis Hawks following their 119-104 victory over the Hawks Sunday at St. Louis.

The clubs move into action here Tuesday night with the Celtics holding a commanding 3-1 lead in games in the best-of-seven series. Both teams arrived here Sunday night.

Although most of the Celtics players predicted a five-game series if they took one of the games in St. Louis, Boston coach Red Auerbach took a more cautious attitude.

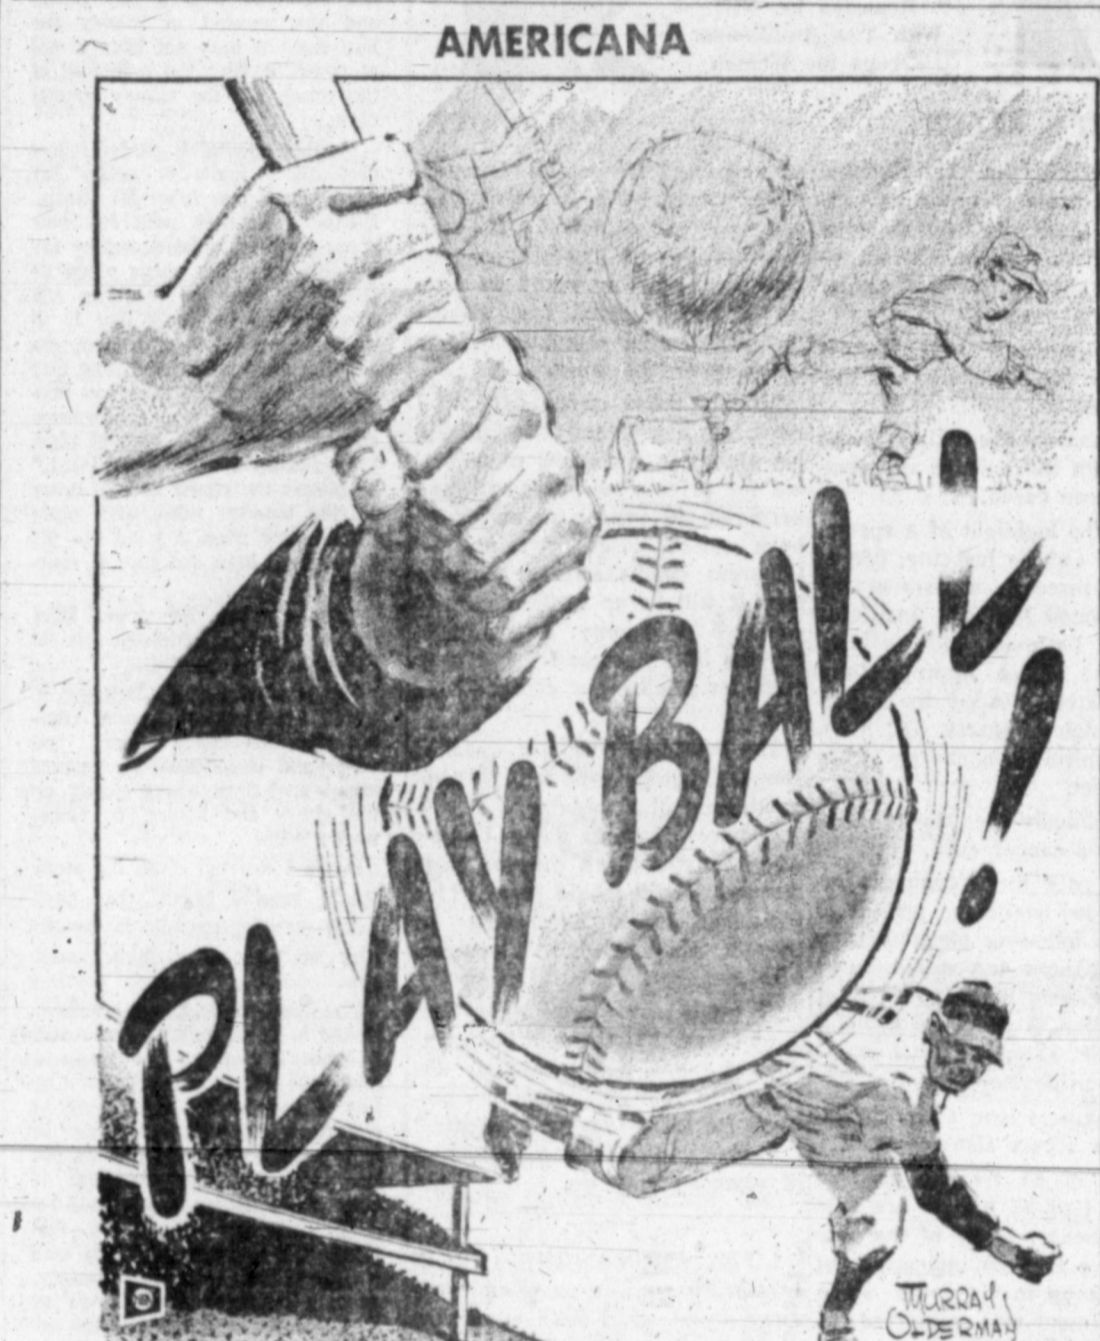

"St. Louis is still a terrific ball club and we expect to have our hands full in the fifth game," he said.

Boston approached its third straight National Basketball Association crown when it broke Sunday's game open with a 39-point third quarter that gave them a 9-point edge.

Bob Cousy and Frank Ramsey combined to spearhead the Celtic's drive.

Cousy, who came up with his third straight 20-point performance in the series, scored 14 in the period as Ramsey added nine.

The rally erased a four-point halftime margin held by the Hawks. The St. Louis offense went cold in the third quarter.

Sunland Race

SUNLAND PARK, N. M. (UPI) — Royal Lineage drove to a two-length victory in the Governors Handicap at Sunland Park Sunday before 4,293 fans, the second-largest crowd of the season.

The triumph returned $2,350 to the owner, G. D. McIvor of Seattle, Wash. Royal Lineage turned back a challenge by Penrock and paid $4.50 in negotiating the mile in 1:37 1/5.

Jockey Dave Rushlow rode both horses in the daily double. Leavenmore in the first and Happy Knight in the second as the double paid $251.40. The mutual handle totaled $233,737, high for the season.

WINS FIRST PRIZE
 MARTINSVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., earned first prize of $800 by winning the Virginia 500 stock car race Sunday. The race was shortened because of a constant drizzle.

Aaron, Law Selected As NL's Best Bets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves and Vern Law of the Pittsburgh Pirates were picked Sunday to be the individual batting and pitching stars of the 1961 National League season.

Aaron, a two-time NL batting champion, hit only 292 last season but the experts see him rebounding to enjoy a campaign more like the ones he had in 1956 and 1959 when he won titles. Hammerin' Hank hit .328 to win his first title in 1956 and .355 to win his second in '59.

Law enjoyed his first 20-victory season in 1960 and was voted the Cy Young Award as the outstanding major league pitcher of the year. The experts apparently believe that he will do every bit as well this year.

Aaron received 28 votes from the 57-man board compared to 18 for runner-up Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants, who hit .319 last season and won a batting crown with a .345 mark in 1954.

Stock Boom

Some idea of the dimensions of the activity boom which has hit the stock market may be gained from the increase in the price of seats on the exchange. For the privilege of membership and its consequent reward in commissions a broker recently paid $200,000. This is the highest price paid in nearly three decades.

The turnover in shares since December has been so great that stock exchange officials are frantically searching for stop-gap automation devices to help take care of the mountainous paper-work. The present ticker tape procedure in operation for nearly two score years has been pushed to the outer limits of efficiency by successive five-million-share days.

New devices — electronic, atomic or whatever — together with a more satisfactory physical arrangement are urgently needed by this most spectacular of all market places. Used to dealing in shares of growth industries, the stock exchange suddenly discovers that it is one itself

If the earth seems crowded, how about Venus?

Though this is the planet nearest our own, it is veiled in such dense clouds that little is known about it. Those who debate the question whether life exists there have little to go on.

Now Russian astronomers, notably Nikolai A. Kozyrev, have announced that spectrographic pictures indicate the presence of oxygen and nitrogen. American balloon observations in 1959 suggested that the Venusian atmosphere contained water vapor. This would make possible life as we know it, if the temperatures were not prohibitive. They are thought to range from 600 degrees above zero to 10 below.

The difficulty of examining Venus has denied it the attention given to the better advertised Mars, with its possible canals. Yet, as Venus is considerably nearer the earth, the new discoveries may encourage observers to probe this little known planet further.

Worth A Crusade

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States describes our system of medical care as "Personalized Medicine." And this system, it goes on to say, offers closer, far more special attention to the problems of the individual than the government could blueprint; preservation of personal, family-doctor relationships; less waiting for treatment and faster service; higher standards of medical care, coupled with more incentives for private research into better medicines and techniques. The result is that we have the best health care of any large nation on earth, and there is every reason to expect continued improvement.

"Personalized Medicine." It urges, for instance, that businessmen extend group employ health care plans to all retired employees, and that the states review health care problems of their aged and where necessary set up programs under the Medical Assistance Law passed by Congress last summer. This is especially important, in the light of the effort to abandon this law before it has had a chance to show what it can do, and to extend medical and hospital care to all Social Security beneficiaries, whether they are in financial need or not.

Our medical system has proven itself through sheer performance. As the Chamber observes, its perpetuation is worth crusading for.

Pegler Says:

Cheat No More To Blame Than The Law He Violates

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The law's delays are almost wholly the fault of the Law itself, which is a gross, idiotic abomination with the brain of a baboon and very little authority from The People. The law is animated by official malice in most of its criminal phases.

more contemptible than the law he violates. He usually may hold himself to be better because he is only trying to outwit a corrupt act of Congress, surely a virtuous purpose.

By a strange quirk, it has no public endorsement in the field of the income tax, which nevertheless remains a terror like the fires of hell. The public hates the income tax. Al Capon and Frank Costello are examples of the subversion of the tax law to persecute individuals for bribery of police, captains and impudence toward corrupt public authority.

The laws against gambling are despicable for many reasons. They attempt to condemn on moral grounds an activity that is enormously moral and implicit in most of the activities of the good life. They put burdens on the police, the courts and the public lockups which are an outrage against every sensible citizen's knowledge of his own true self and his town. They slow down the process of enforcement in areas where the public needs police protection and accommodation for criminals—murder, extortion and mugging, for example. Every penny ante policy hustler who is hauled in by the thousand each year before the sergeants and then the magistrates is a drag on the apparatus for protecting the public from dangerous crime.

After Herbert Hoover had left the presidency he stated that when a half dozen self-chosen Chicago business nabobs went wailing to him that their city was a civic bankrupt he pressed a buzzer for Elmer Irey, of the treasury's check, and ordered him to get Capone. Mr. Hoover was one of our more intelligent rulers, but it seemed never to occur to him that the purpose of the 16th Amendment and the tax laws was not to rebuke scoundrels in general practice but to raise revenue for the government. The criminal penalties were an incidental after thought.

Actually, the people are not in favor of all this law. None of it was their idea. The people did not think up or consciously approve wages and hours, the Wagner Act and ensuing slaveries that provide dull, permanent jobs for a clerical horde of lawyers and file clerks, and make it impossible for a citizen with business at the bar to get the ear of a man in a black wrapper within from three to five years.

The main intent, almost the purpose of law, is to inflict hurt on citizens — always, of course, with a sanctimonious pretense of protecting other people from impositions they are not even aware of. The whole manipulative effort recalls a conversation which this writer had many years ago when he was financial and business editor of the old New York Tribune, with an arch private manipulator, who thrived in the 1920s, the late Jesse L. Livermore. In a private confession, Livermore uncovered a basic economic truth when he said that success in speculation should be based on an attempt to foresee economic forces which will be at work, rather than on any concealed belief that by manipulation you can arbitrarily and willfully change market trends.

Thus the cheat himself is no,

Everybody's Money

By MERYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

Manipulation used to be a dirty word in Wall Street, but in more recent years part of the curse has been taken off it when the fixing is undertaken nominally in the public interest.

In terms of the TV viewer, there are the "good guys" and the "bad guys." The "bad guys" are private financiers and pool operators who artificially seek to maneuver stock prices in order to achieve private profit. On the other hand, the "good guys" are the manipulators in the Federal Reserve System who attempt to fix interest rates and exert other influences on the economic trend as "planners" serving social objectives.

Thus, the Kennedy administration wants higher short-term interest rates to attract or hold "hot money" in American banks and stop the earlier migration of money to Germany and elsewhere where interest rates were higher. But at the same time, in the spirit of planning, the administration seeks lower interest rates on long-term bonds and mortgages in order to stimulate new housing starts and other jobbing activity.

If the new adventure in financial juggling is to succeed, there is no evidence of it at this writing. On Feb. 20 the Federal Reserve undertook to play ball with the new President. As a device to help increase short-term interest rates, the Federal Reserve, in a manipulative spirit undertook to let its holdings of Government obligations maturing in less than a year decline and it started to replace them with longer term issues. The objective was to cause the interest yield on such short-term paper to rise in order to attract new buyers. But, instead of rising or at least holding their own, such short-term interest rates actually declined. Thus the mean rate on new issues of Treasury bills due in three months stood at 2.5 per cent when the policy was initiated, and in the interim, instead of advancing, the rate actually fell to 2.3 per cent. Similarly, the rate on six-month bills which at the start of the effort was close to 2.7 per cent, has slumped to 2.5 per cent.

Evidently the "rugged individualism" of forces of supply and demand constituted a more decisive factor on short-term interest rates than the activities of the "good guy" — manipulators. The effect of business recession is to cut down the demand for funds, and hence to lower the rate at which money can be borrowed.

In the same period, nothing spectacular has been achieved in the reverse effort to bring long-term interest rates down in order to woo home owners and other borrowers to resume activity. The average rate of U.S. Treasury bonds in this same test period has stood steady in the neighborhood of a shade over 3.8 per cent.

In intermediate maturities — issues running about five years or less — in which the Federal Reserve has been active as a buyer, the change has been microscopic.

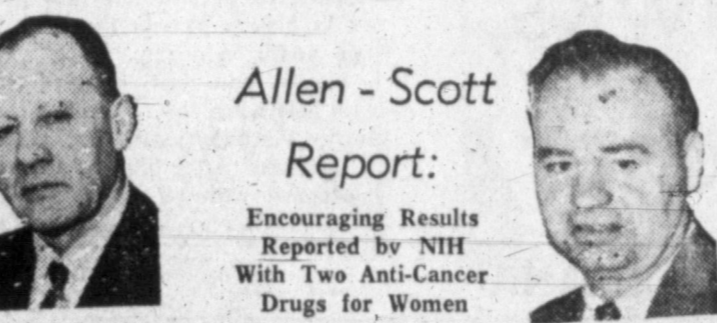

The high rates on longer maturities, in spite of efforts of the Federal Reserve as an anti-recession measure to increase the supply of funds since last August, call for explanation. In free market, there is a continuous matching of wits by competitive forces. The investors seem to be relying on two factors. First, their assumption that the recession will be short lived, if in fact it has not already bottomed out; and second, on the fact that the U.S. Treasury facing budgetary deficits, will be in the market in the period ahead to borrow new cash.

Of course, if the expected business recovery takes place, the Kennedy administration, through supply and demand factors, will get the higher short-term interest rates without benefit of manipulation. On the other hand, if recovery comes without the stimulus of lower long-term interest rates, this will be another demonstration of the fallacy of the Keynesian cheap money theories.

The whole manipulative effort recalls a conversation which this writer had many years ago when he was financial and business editor of the old New York Tribune, with an arch private manipulator, who thrived in the 1920s, the late Jesse L. Livermore. ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The National Cancer Institute is reporting encouraging results with two drugs in treating choriocarcinoma — an extremely malignant form of cancer that afflicts women.

These promising anti-cancer drugs are Methotrexate and Vincalublastine.

Approximately one-half of cases treated with these drugs apparently have been cured.

That's the highlight of a special report the Cancer Institute, one of the eight research centers of the world - famed National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md., is making to the House Appropriations Subcommittee, headed by Representative John Fogarty (D. R.I.). This committee is in charge of the NIH budget.

Very pointedly the report does not claim a cancer cure.

It does note that "complete return to good health for periods of five years following chemotherapy for a malignant tumor has not been previously observed." But that's as far as the Cancer Institute goes in recording this eventful research development.

With characteristic scientific restraint the report also states:

"Thirty of 63 treated patients with this type of tumor are now free of disease. Many of the patients have had no indication of recurrence up to six years since their treatment was completed. In all of these cases the tumor had spread outside of the uterus, into other parts of the body, most frequently to the lungs.

"Treatment in all cases consisted of intensive courses of a folic acid antagonist, called Methotrexate. In 14 women, treatment also included brief courses of a recently developed plant derivative called Vincalublastine."

The two drugs produced side effects. But they were overcome, as follows:

"It was possible to develop methods for assuring the complete recovery of the patients from such undesirable and at times hazardous side effects."

This notable progress in the great struggle against cancer is the work of three distinguished scientists — Drs. Roy Hertz, chief, John Lewis, Jr., and Mortimer Lipsett, of the Endocrinology Branch of the Cancer Institute.

Representative Fogarty's committee has also been informed that more than 135,000 drugs and anti-cancer materials have been tested since the Institute started its chemotherapy program.

Of this large total, only 160 drugs have been deemed sufficiently promising to be used in clinical tests on humans.

NEW YORK — A weekly news magazine is devoting its cover and a large patch of inside contents to a study and survey of what it feels is a national problem: anxiety. You read the thing and come to the conclusion that if you have no anxieties there is something wrong with you and you had best consult a psychiatrist because you are abnormal, which is, of course, nonsense. I must know as many as three people who have utterly no anxieties.

One of these three would be J. Paul Getty, reputedly the richest man in the world and a fellow I account as not only charming but sagacious. Mr. Getty recently got an undesired lot of printed attention because he got sick and tired of guests and servants using his British mansion telephones to pick up personal long distance calls that totted up to an irritating total each month. So he put in a pay telephone. The way the stories were written, you'd have thought this was a terrible thing for Mr. Getty to do, and he with all that money. It wasn't terrible at all. If a guest is such a boor as to make long distance calls from a host's home without asking leave to do so, without mentioning it after or without finding out how much it cost and leaving the sum with the butler or house manager, he deserves to find himself stranded with a pay phone and the amount of money the host may or may not have is not at issue. It isn't the principle of the thing, it's the money in this case.

Another un-anxiety ridden fellow creature I know is pretty far down the ladder from Mr. Getty. He is a butcher with his own shop, no help, unburdened by union pressures, he opens when he feels like it in the morning and closes when he feels like it in the late or early afternoon, depending on weather and how lazy he is that day. He takes no nonsense from neighborhood women and when one looks coy and says, "Now, Sam, I want a good cut," he plunks the chunk of beef down on the wooden table and says: "You know what a good cut it is? Come back here and slice it yourself."

The only use he would have for a psychiatrist would be to sell him some meat.

He owns the small building in which his shop is located, rents out the two upper floors and when and if a tenant is laggard about rent Sam walks slowly up the stairs and utters a single word: "Out."

He isn't worried about the atom bomb, income taxes (he pays them), keeping up with his neighbors or what they think about him.

The third one is a young widow. Young is about 40 in this case and I count it young. Her husband died just about a year ago. She has a son in his first year in college, a girl who is a senior in high school. She also has $20,000 laid aside for her schooling. If they can't learn inside $10,000 each, they can do without. She earns $115 a week at a job with a large social welfare society, accepts or turns down dates as they come along, has put the necessity of being something in life squarely up to her children.

"They're old enough to evaluate now, or they never will be," she says and I count her a delightful dinner companion. She is forthright about her job, clear-minded about her children, swiftly chases men who look on all coming young widows as legitimate prey and hasn't a care. Anxiety is just a word to her. She regrets the death of her husband, but isn't drenched in visible grief.

But almost everyone else I know has anxieties and that's why I name these three. We do seem to be a nation haphazardly ridden with anxieties arising from a sordid variety of useful causes. Jobs, home relationships, neighborhood disturbances, fear of not qualifying in the race, fear of war, fear of governmental change, a thousand fears, all eroding the nature of the American creature.

No wonder people buy confetti like "Funerals Can Be Fun," by Mort Tittan (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

In actual fact, the cocktail parties, receptions and dinners are the worst burden of the job for most of us.

"A senator can be out every night if he wants to. A rough check shows that I receive 246 invitations during the months of January, February and March. This averages out to about 20 invitations a week — two or three each night.

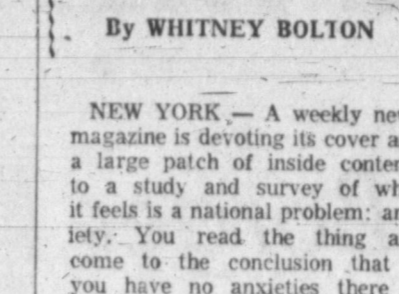

"Another part of the fallacy has to do with drinking. Contrary to general impression, there isn't very much done at cocktail parties and receptions. The old pros go to sit and listen. That is not only a wise policy, it's a matter of plain survival.

"I try to stay away from sit-down dinners with long-winded speeches. When possible, I go to a reception, pay my respects and then try to wind up the evening at a buffet dinner. Using this system, it is not unusual for me to be able to cover three different parties in one evening and see the greatest number of people.

"Fortunately, the social season in Washington slows up when the weather gets hot. That is one of the few benefits of Washington's torrid and humid climate."

England Leads World In Protest Marching

ROME, Italy — Latest figures from the world organization that compiles such figures (and there must be one!) reveal that Protest Marching is now the No. 1 sport in the world.

In sixth place only a few years ago, Protest Marching has moved ahead of soccer, basketball, rioting, three-cushion billiards, and cross-country running to take top spot.

The figures (and I am sure they were given out) show 137,655,452 men, women and children marched in protest during the marching year that ended on April 1st.

Although one of the smallest countries, England led the world in the number of miles marched, beating out Japan and India in the last few months. This was due to the 62,000 miles marched by Englishmen in January and February to protest the American Polaris base at Holy Loch, Scotland.

Lord Bertrand Russell, despite his advanced age, is recognized as the champion Protest Marcher of the year. Although in his eighties, Lord Russell covered 331.4 miles, and on 67.8 miles he carried or helped carry a large banner of some sort. Lord Russell is also the champion sit-downer. In protest against the nuclear bomb alone he plopped down in public places 69 times, and made 31 talks from this nesting position.

Lord Russell is to be awarded the bronze half-sole given each year to the champion Protest Marcher, and is in the running for the down cushion that goes to the No. 1 sit-downer.

Other awards are to go to an Angola student (best foreign embassy stonker), to a Japanese housewife (best cop buster), to an Indian student (best rock thrower), and to an East-German small business man (quickest to answer a riot call).

There is money to be made at anything and Protest Marching is no exception.

An enterprising young Englishman has set up an office which provides the latest information on future marches, the routes to be taken, and the time of assembly. For a slight extra charge, this clearing house will explain to marchers why they are marching.

In Japan a company has been set up to manufacture comfort aids for Protest Marchers. They manufacture and sell lightweight marching shoes, stout, reinforced gloves for holding banner poles, and a soothing syrup for voices rendered hoarse by shouting protests.

In India there is a concern that provides Protest Marchers for any protest whatsoever, and guarantees to have them present on short notice.

In South America, where Protest Marching has made its most forward progress, there are several schools for the training of marchers. They are taught the proper speed of marching, how to make a march as obstructive as possible.

Seven Going to Rome
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — David Niven has been signed to star in Dino De Laurentiis' multi-million-dollar production "Two Enemies," being filmed in Rome.

The picture also will introduce popular Italian comedian Alberto Sordi to American and British audiences.

Housewives trying to convince their husbands they aren't squandering family savings at the market can throw this at their hubbies. An economist recently found an adequate diet can be prepared for a person at the cost of only $100 a year. The menu—370 pounds of wheat flour; 57 cans of evaporated milk; 111 pounds of cabbage, 25 pounds of spinach, and 285 pounds of navy beans. Just threaten your husband with that economy diet.

HOW UNIONS DESTROY JOBS

While a task force of "liberal" planners call on the President to establish a National Transportation Agency, the basic ills of American transport receive virtually no attention. Among these are "featherbedding" and outmoded and economically wasteful work rules.

For a clearer understanding of these ills, one has only to take a look at some figures presented to a residential fact-finding commission recently by Howard Neitzert, special counsel for a number of American railroads.

Take this case, for example: The Chicago & North Western Railway operates a passenger train, the "Twin Cities 400", between the cities of Chicago and Minneapolis, Minn. The running time for this train is 8 1/2 hours—a moderate day's work by contemporary standards.

Under rules now in force, the operating railroad must use three engine crews. Each crew receives one and one-third days' pay for less than three hours' working time. In other words, the railroad pays four days' wages to have its train make a single 8 1/2 hour trip.

Let's consider what this means to the railroad which, after all, an industry with competition. The "Twin Cities 400", like all passenger trains, must meet heavy competition from bus lines. Therefore, the rail fare must be competitive with what is offered by the buses, or no one will ride the train. Railroads already suffer a handicap, for the railroads must build and maintain their right of way, whereas buses travel on highways paid for with state and federal funds.

The "Twin Cities 400" one-way cost fare from Chicago to Minneapolis in 1962 was $8.97. In 1950, it was raised to $10.19. In 1959, it was hiked to $11.34. Then in mid-1959, as a result of management's strong efforts to offer competitive service, the fare was cut to $8.85—lower than what it was 13 years ago. The train does a good business, but not good enough to overcome steadily rising labor costs. The "Twin Cities 400" is losing $1 million a year for the operating rail line.

This unfortunate situation should be the concern of the railroad unions. After all, if the railroad industry can't make money on passenger service, that service will be discontinued in time—with a resulting loss in jobs among operating personnel. If unions were enlightened, they would do everything possible to keep the trains running — to share in maintaining a competitive transportation system that meant continued employment for railroad workers. But the unions aren't enlightened. By their action in the "Twin Cities 400" case, and in scores of others, they are contributing to the downfall of an industry and to unemployment among the ranks of railroad unionists.

Let's consider what this means to the railroad which, after all, an industry with competition. The "Twin Cities 400", like all passenger trains, must meet heavy competition from bus lines. Therefore, the rail fare must be competitive with what is offered by the buses, or no one will ride the train. Railroads already suffer a handicap, for the railroads must build and maintain their right of way, whereas buses travel on highways paid for with state and federal funds.

This unfortunate situation should be the concern of the railroad unions. After all, if the railroad industry can't make money on passenger service, that service will be discontinued in time—with a resulting loss in jobs among operating personnel. If unions were enlightened, they would do everything possible to keep the trains running — to share in maintaining a competitive transportation system that meant continued employment for railroad workers. But the unions aren't enlightened. By their action in the "Twin Cities 400" case, and in scores of others, they are contributing to the downfall of an industry and to unemployment among the ranks of railroad unionists.

Let's consider what this means to the railroad which, after all, an industry with competition. The "Twin Cities 400", like all passenger trains, must meet heavy competition from bus lines. Therefore, the rail fare must be competitive with what is offered by the buses, or no one will ride the train. Railroads already suffer a handicap, for the railroads must build and maintain their right of way, whereas buses travel on highways paid for with state and federal funds.

East Texas C-C Names President

MOUNT PLEASANT (UPI) — E. B. Germany, president of the Lone Star Steel Co., has been elected president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Germany of Dallas, succeeds Caldwell McFaddin of Beaumont.

The organization, ending its annual two day convention in Mount Pleasant, chose Orange for its 1962 meeting next April.

A banquet tonight was to climax the convention. Robert Suero, president of the Cuban Chamber of Commerce in the United States, was to be the banquet speaker.

Nurses Attend Heart Seminar

The second heart seminar sponsored by the Gray and Hutchinson Heart Assn. and District 23, Texas Graduate Nurses' Assn. was held at the Pampa Country Club Saturday, April 8.

Dr. T. D. Harvey, president of the Gray County Heart Assn. welcomed the guests at the opening session in the ballroom at the Country Club. More than seventy nurses from the area and visitors from Childress, Plainview, Muleshoe, Spearman and Shamrock attended the conclave.

R. M. Bellamy, M.D., Pampa, Joe Arrington, M.D., Lubbock, and M. Dyer, R.N., Amarillo were the principal speakers for the morning session.

Luncheon was served at noon. The afternoon speaker was Dr. Paul Ellis who described, by using slides and motion pictures, the technique used in cardiac surgery, repair of defective hearts, excision of aneurisms and repair of diseased parts of the cardio-vascular system. Mr. Betty Lipscomb, president of District 23, Texas Graduate Nurses Assn., was chairman of the program.

The meet was concluded with an open discussion and a question and answer period and a summary by Dr. T. D. Harvey.

"DON JUAN" JAILED

BERLIN (UPI) — A "dangerous Don Juan" who rounded up girls to flee to West Germany has been sentenced to two years and nine months in prison by a court in Cottbus, East Germany.

The court said Anton Baier, 21, promised to marry six girls in order to get them to go to the West. It said he worked for a Western intelligence organization.

In South Vietnam, 4,000 refugee and other resettled families are getting a double measure of American help: CARE farm tools to work their land, plus 6-month food rations to sustain them until their first harvest. Contributions to the CARE Food Crusade, New York 16, N.Y., feed the 22,000 members of the families.

How To Control Harmful Insects Discussed By Agricultural Agent

Control of insect pests that prey on crops, gardens and even human beings, is discussed in a news release by Foster Whaley, Gray County agricultural agent. Discussing the pests, Whaley says:

"A good understanding of the two broad types of insects will help you greatly in controlling them. These two types are sucking insects and chewing insects. An example of a sucking insect is all types of aphids or plant lice. An example of a chewing insect is bag worms. The chewing insects in general are easy to control with what is called a stomach poison type of insecticide. We have had for many years a long list of effective stomach poison insecticides.

"The sucking insects, however, are much harder to control. We use what is called a contact insecticide to control the sucking insects. It was not until a few short years ago that a truly effective contact insecticide was developed. As implied this type of insecticide kills by the insect coming into contact with the poison. A sucking insect pushes a sharp needle point bill into the vein of a leaf and will never ingest a stomach poison.

"Malathion is one of the most effective contact insecticides ever developed that is safe for man's use. In addition to malathion being effective as a contact insecticide it is also a very effective stomach poison as well.

"Here is a list of common insects and the recommended insecticide for their control: Ants — chlordane — dust or spray; Blister Beetles — DDT — dust or spray; Bag worms — Lead arsenate; Grasshoppers — aldrin or deildrin; Aphids or plant lice — malathion; Lace bugs — malathion; Scales — malathion; Flies of all kinds — malathion or DDT; Bark and wood boring insects — DDT; Soil Insects (All types) — chlordane; Fleas — malathion; Silverfish — DDT or chlordane; Cockroaches — Chlordane or malathion; Chiggers — chlordane, and Wasp — DDT (Sprayed at night on nest then run for cover)

"For specific recommendation follow directions on bottle or package. Practically all insecticides are poisonous to man. So treat them carefully especially when small children are around. Read all directions on the label and observe the warning.

"We in the Gray County Extension Office, located just south of the Rodeo Grounds, east of Pampa on Miami Highway would highly recommend you place three publications in your file on insects. Leaflet-311 Texas Guide for Controlling Household Insects, Leaflet-255-Texas Guide for Controlling Vegetable Insects and Leaflet-199

Jobless Claims To Be Accepted

Following intensive training programs in Austin and in District offices throughout Texas, the Pampa office of the Texas Employment Commission has announced it will be ready to accept claims from workers who have exhausted their unemployment insurance benefits after June 30, 1960 and who may be eligible to file for extended benefits under a new program which will become effective in Texas Wednesday, April 12.

This program, known as the Temporary Extended Unemployment Compensation Act, became Federal Law on April 8, Bill Ragsdale, manager of the TEC office at 823 West Francis, said. All workers, including those covered under Texas law and out-of-state claimants who may have filed against other states, including servicemen and federal employees, may be eligible for additional benefits equal to one-half the amount which they received or were entitled to receive before they exhausted their benefit rights.

"If a worker thinks he may be eligible for additional benefits, he should come in and file a claim," Ragsdale said. "It is important, however, that prospective claimants bear in mind that they must have exhausted all benefit rights under any unemployment insurance law, must still be unemployed, available for work and able to meet the eligibility requirements under the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act.

"Members of the Texas Employment Commission have signed an agreement with the secretary of labor to act as agent of the United States in paying these additional benefits to unemployed workers who have exhausted their benefit rights," Ragsdale said. "The purpose of this new program is to provide an income to workers who have drawn all the unemployment insurance benefits to which they are entitled and are still unemployed. The temporary extended unemployment compensation program, as approved by Congress and signed by the President, expires on June 30, 1962.

"Approximately 275 workers

DANCE GROUP IN PANHANDLE — The Texas Women's University Modern Dance Group class, Denton, will appear tonight at the high school gym under the sponsorship of the Panhandle High School Girl's Physical Education Department. Tomorrow night the group will present a concert in the high school auditorium beginning at 8 o'clock. Tickets are on sale for both events. Proceeds will go toward the purchase of a trampoline for the school system.

have exhausted their benefits in the Pampa area since June 30, 1960," Ragsdale said. "However, it is doubtful if more than 50 percent of this number will be eligible for the extended benefits. Many have secured jobs, some have withdrawn from the labor market and others have left the area. Even so, this program will initially provide many badly needed dollars to workers who have been unemployed over a long period of time."

"Claims will be accepted Wednesday, April 12, starting at 1 p.m."

Longest Scene
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Cliff Robertson will have one of film-dom's longest death scenes in Globe Enterprises' "Underworld U.S.A." After being mortally wounded in a swimming pool, Robertson climbs out, staggers the 60-foot length of the pool, goes another 75 feet to get out of the building, stumbles two city blocks, then travels another 22 feet down an alley before he lies down and dies.

Science Shrinks Piles
New Way Without Surgery
Stops Itch—Relieves Pain
New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 2H. At all drug counters.
