CHARTER VOTE TOMORROW

'Hour Of Maximum Danger ...'

Kennedy Cites Economy Woes

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Kennedy asked swift action to shore up a receding U.S. economy, thwart Soviet-Chinese signs for world domination and thus lead America safely through the onrushing "hour of maximum danger."

The 43-year-old Chief Executive in his first State of the Union message, delivered personally to a joint session of Congress, confessed he was "staggered" in the 10 days since the inauguration by "the harsh enormity of the trials through which we must pass in the next four years."
"Each day we draw nearer the hour of maximum danger," Kennedy said.

Campaigners For And Against Issue Getting In 'Last Licks' In Final Hours Before Balloting

By TEX DEWEESE
Daily News Managing Editor
Campaigners for and against the proposed Pampa city charter were getting in their final licks today in the closing hours before tomorrow's home rule referendum.
The last week before the actual balloting has been marked with intense campaigning by supporters of both sides in the election drive.
Opponents of the proposed charter have charged that it would bring a return of "centralized government." Those in favor of the charter change call it a move to bring Pampa into line with other Texas cities through modernization of the city government.
Both sides have been conducting a feverish campaign in newspaper and radio advertising, public meetings and telephone canvassing right up to the wire. The effort to get out the vote is to continue through tonight.
Leaders of the two factions who have been battling in the charter controversy have been Ex-Mayor Lynn Boyd, chairman of the Charter Commission which drew up the proposal, and Frank Carter, 1324 Frederic, who has led the forces in opposition to it. Frank M. Carter, prominent cattleman who lives several miles north of Pampa, asked today that he not be confused with the Carter involved in the charter discussions.

Removal Of Passengers Talks Slated Tomorrow

RECIFE, Brazil (UPI) - Rear hijacked Portuguese liner Santa Maria to discuss removal of the ship's 620 passengers.
The Navy said that Smith, who is commander of the Caribbean Sea Frontier, would leave Recife early Tuesday for a meeting with Galvao on the Santa Maria at a point in the Atlantic approximately 35 miles east of Recife.
The announcement said Smith would receive sealed orders this afternoon when the U.S. destroyer Gearing arrives here from Africa.
The Santa Maria last was reported steaming in slow circles about 60 miles northeast of Recife, awaiting Smith's arrival to arrange release of the passengers. Cmdr. Charles Rainey, Navy public information officer, said Smith was at breakfast this morning when he received a message from Galvao definitely agreeing to the meeting.
Three other destroyers due here shortly will assist the Gearing in case Galvao agrees to the immediate transfer of the passengers. They are the Vogelgesang, Wilson and Damato. The others Canisteo and Misplillon also are due here to guarantee sufficient fuel for the destroyers.
Rainey said that under no circumstances would the U.S. Navy agree to supply oil to the Santa Maria. The luxury liner was estimated to have sufficient fuel for three weeks at sea when it was taken over by the rebels in the early hours of Jan. 22.
Rainey said reporters will be taken to the rendezvous at sea, but will not be permitted to board the Santa Maria during the talks.
When asked, Rainey said Smith was going to the Santa Maria in good faith. He said Smith had not asked Galvao and his followers to set aside their arms during the meeting, nor in fact had Galvao mentioned anything about arms.
It was expected Smith would try to get aboard the Santa Maria to persuade rebel leader Henrique Galvao to put in at a Brazilian port, probably Recife or Salvador 400 miles to the south.

Committees Preparing To Tackle 300 Bills

AUSTIN (UPI) - Speaker James Turman was expected today to remove the last organizational stumbling block in the path of the 57th Texas Legislature with his 43 standing committee appointments.
In the Senate, a finance subcommittee resumes its hearings on State Department budget requests with a look at the financial demands of the attorney general and the Water Development board.
Turman's committee assignments will clear the way for the lower chamber to begin public hearings on more than 300 bills that have been filed for introduction.
The speaker retired to a "secret hide-away" Saturday to complete his deliberations on committee assignments.
The Senate sub-committee on finance, headed by Sen. A. M. Aiken Jr. of Paris, was expected to hear Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ask for $730,937 in 1962 and $729,803 during 1963 to finance his department.
As recommended by the Legislative Budget Board, the attorney general would receive $718,196 the first year and $713,196 in 1963.
Wilson's major recommendation calls for higher pay classifications for certain attorneys general. The Budget Board did not endorse his request.
The requests are approximately $23,000 more than what is currently being spent on the Attorney General's Department.
The Water Development Board has asked for $55,000 in 1962 and $34,050 in 1963 plus the unused balance for the year before. The Budget Board called for an appropriation of $56,645 in 1962 and $29,604 the next year plus the unused balance.
The Budget Board pointed out that the Water Development Board has asked for less money over the next two years because the number of loan applicants has been fewer than anticipated.
Lawmakers began the fourth week of the session today with only one piece of legislation passed and signed by the governor. That was a $4,800 annual salary for legislators.

Mothers' MOD March Tonight

Pampa mothers march tonight to solicit funds for the badly sagging March of Dimes.
The annual trek will be conducted from 5 until 7 p.m.
And, it's up to the mothers if Pampa is going to contribute any sizeable amount to the National Foundation which provides research and other aids for polio, birth defects and arthritis.
This came to light this morning although announcers from radio stations KHHH and KPDM, plus a host of local residents who strived from 1 p.m. until midnight yesterday, could only total about $450 in the annual radiothon.
Bob Williams, Gray County March of Dimes chairman, said this forenoon that "Bidding on some of the valuable items was extremely low. I don't know just how to explain it. We will, when all pledges are in, have realized about $450."
This was far below the expected figure, since the majority of campaign officials believed the drive would net close to $1,000.
Mrs. R. A. Mack, chairman of the Mothers' March, said her group will make an effort to pick up the slack.
"There will be about 300 of us women in this effort. I have every hope that our door-to-door march will be a success."
"It has never entered my mind that we won't be able to gather a sizeable amount for the most worthy campaign. I feel certain that the people will respond when our marchers visit their homes this evening.

Soft Pedal! Russ Spy TV Play Canceled

NEW YORK (UPI) - A television drama depicting Soviet espionage activities in the United States has been canceled by the Columbia Broadcasting System, a spokesman for the show's sponsor said today.
Max Banzhaf, vice president of advertising and public relations for the Armstrong Cork Co., said the hour-long live drama was to have been presented Wednesday night based on "factual" incidents of Russian spying.
"CBS felt it was not in keeping with what the executive branch (Kennedy administration) is trying to do at the moment—convey a softer line toward Russia," Banzhaf said.
The drama, called "The Spy Next Door" was to have appeared on the Armstrong Circle Theater, a weekly series sponsored by Armstrong Cork.

A radio debate on the charter proposal was scheduled on radio early this afternoon and a round table discussion of the charter is set for broadcast over KPDM at 7:30 o'clock tonight.
While there have been many arguments and various interpretations of the issues by both sides in the controversial charter fight, the main issue today continued to be tied in with the charter proposal to do away with the ward system of electing city commissioners.
Under the present charter the mayor is elected at-large and each of the four city wards, elects its own commissioner. Under the proposed charter the mayor and four councilmen all would be elected at-large.
The polls will open at 8 a.m. tomorrow and close at 7 p.m. In order to vote tomorrow one must have paid a 1959 poll tax. Persons who have lost their 1958 poll tax receipt may vote by swearing to an affidavit. A poll tax exemption also qualifies a person to vote.
There will be four voting places, one in each of the city's four wards. Voters may cast their ballots at these places:
Ward 1 - City Hall at Foster Ave. and Russell St.
Ward 2 - North Fire Station at 17th Ave. and Aspen Dr.
Ward 3 - Ward's Cabinet Shop, 323 S. Starkweather St.
Ward 4 - South Fire Station, 1010 S. Barnes St.
City Secretary Edwin Vicars said today some 5,000 ballots have been printed for tomorrow's election. Estimates of the vote in the election ranged all the way from 1,500 to more than 3,000.
Vicars said all details for holding the election have been completed. Necessary supplies for officials at the four voting places were delivered today and the scene was being set for the first (See VOTE, Page 2)

VTSC Extension Classes Open Tonight

Best classes in the West Texas College extension courses get under way tonight in Pampa Junior High School under sponsorship of the Adult Education committee of the chamber of commerce.
Classes will be conducted from 7:30 to 10 p.m.
Mrs. Hart, committee chairman, said classes meeting for first periods tonight will be Art Spanish 106 and Shorthand 121. Classes in English 101 and Accounting 231 will start tomorrow and a class in History 201 scheduled to begin Thursday.

It said there still will be an opportunity for further registration for classes on the nights they scheduled to start. After that, added, there will be no further chance to enroll.
Final attempt also will be tonight to organize classes in Education 529 and 450.
Announcement was made that a class for Industrial Art 141 has dropped due to inability to find a teacher.

Sentencing Of Six Americans By Cuban 'Court' Looms Today

HAVANA (UPI) - A Cuban military court was expected to announce sentences today for six Americans accused of crimes against the regime of Premier Fidel Castro.
The six could be sent before a firing squad if convicted, but many observers believed the court would limit itself to prison terms or possibly deportation. The observers felt there was little doubt the verdict would be guilty.
The Americans were tried Saturday before a four-man army tribunal in La Cabana Fortress Prison. The trial lasted less than three hours.
Court-appointed defense attorneys appealed for acquittal or deportation at most for the six, who were accused of being "blood-thirsty" U.S. service veterans turned counter-revolutionaries.
Waiting in La Cabana cells for the verdict were Donald J. Green, 28, of Gastonia, N.C.; Leonard L. Schmidt, 21, of Chicago; George R. Beck, 24, of Tanton, Mass.; Tommy L. Baker, 26, of Dothan, Ala.; James R. Beane, 34, of Cedar Falls, N.C.; and Alford E. Gibson, 32, of Durham, N.C.

AEC Says Nuclear Weapons Ban Is Threat To Freedom

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Atomic Energy Commission told Congress today that the unpolluted moratorium on nuclear weapons testing is a "threat to the free world."
The self-imposed ban, now in its 27th month, is keeping the United States from making "dramatic advances in nuclear weapons" of "great military significance," the commission said.

Missing Boy's Body Found Under Brush

SAN MARCOS (UPI) - The body of Bobbie Jack McMullin, 14, was found by searchers Sunday more than five days after he left his farm home northwest of San Marcos to gather firewood.
A "justice of the peace" ruled that the boy died of exposure.
When the boy left home last Tuesday, the temperature was above 70 and he wore only light clothing. But a sudden cold front sent temperatures tumbling to sub-freezing levels during the latter part of the week.

'Theatre Men' Stage Well-Received Concert

By WILLIAM HALEY
Not since the days of the Barber Shop Quartet parades has the Pampa Junior High School auditorium rung with such outstanding male harmony as it did Saturday night when the "Theatre Men" presented the second seasonal community concert there. This unusual group is dedicated to the presentation of works from opera and musical comedy in a manner that approximates their original settings. In the interest of accurate reporting, however, perhaps it should be stated that the group's 10 members were not all men. One member, soprano Margaret Lukaszewski, very attractively furnished the necessary feminine touch. The first two sections of the program consisted of excerpts from five grand operas: "Faust," "Il Trovatore," "Carmen," "The Barber of Seville" and "The Marriage of Figaro." The seldom heard "Micaela's Aria" from "Carmen" was beautiful both melodically and harmonically. Rossini's "A Thou and Thanks, Dear Sir" was a splendid example of Italian comedy at its best and the scene from "The Marriage of Figaro" was particularly interesting because it was sung in English.

If the first two sections were somewhat heavy, the remainder of the program, all tunes from Broadway musicals, fell as lightly as a feather on a most appreciative Pampa audience. Represented were "West Side Story," "My Fair Lady," "Bloomer Girl" and several Rhombert and Rogers-Hamernstein shows. Of these, "I Got a Song" from "Bloomer Girl" and the current favorite, "I Could Have Danced All Night" from "My Fair Lady" seemed to have the greatest appeal.

The News Briefly Told

ATLANTA (UPI)—President Kennedy was asked today to publicly affirm his full support of the 1954 Supreme Court desegregation ruling and to take the lead in making the federal government "a model of just race relations."

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A senate committee warned today the economy will be thwarted, security undermined and health plagued unless the nation immediately launches a massive effort to clean up the rivers and save water.

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union resumed its jamming of Voice of America Russian-language broadcasts today after a one-day respite, the British Broadcasting Corp. reported.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy will hold a news conference Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the White House announced today.

PROVO, Utah (UPI)—The college city of Provo has one of the most youthful teams of administrators in the nation.

NEW YORK (UPI)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

164 Americans Fleeing Congo Persecutions

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—One hundred and sixty-four Americans have fled to the safety of Ruanda-Urundi in the face of new persecutions by forces loyal to deposed Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba, the United Nations announced today.

A U.N. spokesman said the Americans—all missionaries and their families—had crossed into the Belgian-administered trust territory from Oriental and Kivu provinces where pro-Lumumba forces are in control.

Rites Slated For Relative Of Pampans

Funeral services for Fletcher P. Day, 71, of Amarillo, will be conducted at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Blackburn-Shaw Funeral Chapel in Amarillo, with interment in Llano Cemetery there.

He died in an Amarillo hospital yesterday after being hospitalized for three weeks.

The late Mr. Day is the father of Mrs. Luke McClelland and the grandfather of Mrs. James Gallimore, both of Pampa.

He also is survived by his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Day, a son, Malcolm, of Montgomery, Ala., three other grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Giant electronic "brains" are having trouble akin to marital difficulties. They can't figure out how to talk to each other.

For example, one brand of thinking machine can't understand the language used by another brand of machine. Improved and standardized translating devices may provide the answer, according to Dr. Joseph Barker, consultant to the Office Equipment Manufacturers.

Chimps Calm As Space Flight Nears

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—Six pampered primates, carefully shielded from the excitement swirling about them, today calmly waited for the moment when one of them becomes history's most noted chimpanzee.

If all goes as planned, a Georgia veterinarian will select one from their number Tuesday morning to ride to the edge of space in a Redstone rocket, thereby giving the astronauts their best information yet on what a human's survival chances will be on a similar jaunt.

Maj. J.D. Mosely, of Donaldsonville, Ga., chief of the bio-astronautics branch of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency (NASA), will tag the space chimp through physical examinations, plus psychological and emotion tests—much the same way that a medical-psychiatric scientific team will pick the first American to board a space capsule.

Since Jan. 2, Mosely and staff of 18 medical, veteran and psychiatric experts have been conditioning the chimp sextet for the fateful flight, a vital lude to manned space travel.

Says Cotton Surplus Era 'Behind Us'

MEMPHIS (UPI)—Farmers should not try "to prejudice what the Kennedy administration will or will not do on cotton legislation," J. Craig Smith, president of the National Cotton Council, said today.

Smith, of Sylacauga, Ala., told delegates to the council's annual convention here "virtually anything that's sound and desirable can be done within the framework of the present law."

"It's success or failure depends solely on wise administration, and wise administration will give the most careful kind of consideration to what producers themselves feel is in their own best interest," Smith said.

Smith reminded delegates that during the campaign President Kennedy said, "Any program, to be successful, must be developed by and have the support of the growers themselves."

Smith said he was disturbed by the increase in textile imports which he felt would continue "even to the point of destroying our domestic markets unless the government takes appropriate action."

On the bright side, however, he said, "The surplus era is behind us, and I think we can keep another from developing."

Boswell Stevens, of Macon, Miss., revealed that cotton producers plan to strike out with a cotton promotion program all their own.

Stevens, reporting for a special producer committee, said the cotton producers would spend $10 million on research and promotion during a five-year period. The money will be in addition to what the National Cotton Council spends.

The plan calls for voluntary agreements by individual producers to have $1 per bale collected at a designated point during cotton processing. Stevens said the plan would begin in California, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and West Texas in 1961.

STATE FARM FIRE AND CASUALTY COMPANY Home Office: Bloomington, Ill.

Kennedy directed three immediate steps in the defense area. He ordered a quick build-up of aircraft capacity so America's conventional military forces could respond, with discrimination and speed, to any problem at any spot on the globe at any moment's notice.

He ordered the Polaris submarine construction program stepped up at once by using unobligated shipbuilding funds now instead of waiting for the next fiscal year which does not begin until July 1. He said this would advance the Polaris program by nine months.

The President also directed prompt acceleration of the entire U.S. missile program. Pending completion of the McNamara study, he said there would have to be better organization and decision-making to cut down on wasteful duplication and time-lag that have handicapped the whole family of missiles.

Kennedy tackled international economic problems from two directions, foreign aid and the dollar gap. He wanted congressional authority to overhaul the entire foreign aid program, with more flexibility for "short run emergencies" and the right to make commitments for long-term development projects overseas.

He also said greater emphasis should be given to the role of recipient nations to assure greater social justice, broader distribution of the American aid and on the local level, better public administration and tax systems. This added up to belief that governments in the receiving end should not regard American aid as a one-way street.

On the dollar gap involving the present imbalance of international payments, Kennedy said there was cause for concern, but not despair. Since 1958, he said, nearly $5 billion had flowed overseas from U.S. gold reserves and the respect for 1961 was another deficit in international payments of about $2 billion.

He pointed out, however, that total American gold stocks and their international monetary reserves now amount to about $22 billion "and I now pledge that their full strength stands behind the value of the dollar for use if needed."

The President said there was no need to increase the gold price from $35 an ounce, to impose exchange controls or to fall back on restrictive trade policies.

Tenants Change, But White House Help Keep Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Butlers, maids, cooks, doormen and bottle-washers at the White House generally keep their jobs even though first families come and go.

Some of those on the domestic staff of 25 have been in their present posts since the days when Franklin D. Roosevelt presided in the executive mansion.

Chief usher J. B. West, the manager of the domestics, maintenance men and gardeners at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., says that traditionally there is not much turnover during a shift in administrations.

But this matter is left entirely to Mrs. John F. Kennedy, the new first lady. The White House help is exempted from civil service job-protection regulations.

However, no occupants of the any-pillared mansion want to be without experienced servants to help welcome visiting royalty and heads of state in style.

"It takes years just to learn how to open the front door," said one veteran who had a close look at the White House doings under the Eisenhower administration.

West, who became chief usher in 1956, has served 20 years in the White House. He said there are five butlers, five maids, three cooks, two kitchen helpers, five ushers and five doormen on the White House domestic staff.

Each one works a 40 hour week and that is why it's necessary to have three cooks, West explained. The President and his wife traditionally bring in their own personal servants — maid and valet.

In the Kennedy's case, they brought along a governess for 3-year-old Caroline and a nurse for young John F. Jr.

A list of trained waiters, butlers, pantymen and kitchen assistants is kept handy for state dinners or other occasions when extra help is necessary.

For a dinner of 100, for example, an additional 10 or 12 servants would be hired.

"This administration will not distort the value of the dollar in any fashion," he said. "That is a pledge. Prudence and good sense do require, however, that new steps be taken to ease the payments deficit and prevent any gold crisis."

To do this, he announced an immediate program to attract foreign investment and travel to the United States, to promote American exports at stable prices, and shrink loopholes in tax and customs laws that encourage undue private spending of dollars abroad.

Tied in with the dollar gap, the defense speed-up and the lagging economy were the federal budgets for this and the next fiscal year. Kennedy said fiscal 1961 was almost certain to show a deficit and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's $90.9 billion budget for fiscal 1962 could be balanced only if Congress enacted recommended revenue measures and the economy rebounded higher and sooner than Kennedy's economists expected.

Even in this fiscal squeeze, the President said a new administration had to build on spending and revenue estimates already submitted.

"Within that framework," he said, "barring the development of urgent national defense needs or a worsening economy, it is my current intention to advocate a program of expenditures which, including revenues from a stimulation of the economy, will not and by themselves unbalance the earlier budget."

Seldom has a peacetime President presented such a stern national and international outlook as Kennedy did in his address delivered in what he called "an hour of national peril and national opportunity."

His passages on conditions at home amounted to an economic sick call.

"The present state of the economy is disturbing," he said. "We take office in the wake of seven months of recession, three and a half years of slack, seven years of diminished economic growth, and nine years of falling farm income."

He continued: "The most resourceful industrial economy on earth ranks among the last in economic growth. Since last spring it has actually receded. Business investment is in a decline. Profits have fallen below predicted levels. Construction is off. A million unsold automobiles are in inventory. Fewer people are working — and the average work week has shrunk well below 40 hours. Yet, prices have continued to rise — so that now too many Americans have less to spend for items that cost them more to buy."

Kennedy's approach was unusual for a new President in that he accented gravity rather than a bright tomorrow. He frankly placed more stock in forecasts of continued slack economic conditions into 1962 than he did in hopeful prognoses.

He recommended action: quick action by Congress. "We cannot afford to waste idle hours and empty plants while awaiting the end of a recession," he said. "We must show the world what a free economy can do."

After calling for unified American efforts to sharpen military, economic, political and diplomatic tools, the President said wishing, predicting and even asking for an easier 1961 would not make it so. He said strenuous effort would be the only answer.

"The hopes of all mankind rest upon us," he said.

Washington (UPI) — The White House came alive Sunday night with gaiety and conviviality comparable to the Franklin D. Roosevelt era.

Washington society could not recall a White House party in recent years that had more bounce than the get-acquainted reception President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy held for members of their official family.

It was the Kennedys' first big social function in the Executive Mansion and they did it up right — with plenty to drink, lots to eat, a beautiful historic setting and background music by the Marine band orchestra.

The guests who came at 5 p.m. and departed reluctantly at 7 p.m. numbered about 400, most of them representing the new "who's who" of the Kennedy administration.

The party was spread out over the first floor of the White House, but most of the guests gathered in the green-walled state dining room, clutching their drinks and making new acquaintances.

The guests, many of them in the White House for the first time streamed through the Blue Room where they were received by the President and first lady, smartly attired in a short black cut velvet sleeveless sheath.

Actor's Son's School Marks Outdo Poppa's

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UPI)—Peter Lind Hayes claims that when he was a rambunctious youngster he got thrown out of one school three times in six weeks. His boy, Peter, 11, ("he's a yard taller than I am") went to the same school and maintained a 90 average in his studies.

His daughter, Cathy, 9, ("she's an unconscious comedian; she looked at a store-window Christmas scene and asked, 'Where are the three wise guys?'") is a straight A student.

"So you can imagine how inhibited Mary and I feel around the house," said Hayes.

You can believe it or not, but the 28th wedding anniversary of Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy rolled around last month. As a present for Mary, Hayes got Norman Rockwell, the celebrated magazine-illustrator, whom they both admire greatly, to do her portrait.

"Rockwell worked from photographs," Hayes said. "When he sent the completed drawing to us, he wrote: 'I enjoyed doing Miss Healy because I fell in love with her. Not only is she physically lovely but she has an inner radiance.'"

"I called him up long distance to thank him and he said, of his note: 'I hope I haven't offended anyone; I'm sixty-six years old.' I said: 'Maybe I'd better get off the phone and let you and Mary be alone, coast to coast.'"

The Hayeses were in Los Angeles at the time, filming their weekly NBC-TV show "Peter Loves Mary." Their two children stayed behind here to attend school for the fall term, but on the occasion of this interview the parents had returned to pick them up and take them to California for the spring term.

"But we're coming right back home in the summer," Miss Healy said.

Home is New Rochelle, N.Y., a suburban town which in George M. Cohan's time, you may recall, was only "45 minutes from Broadway." The Hayes permanent home, right around the corner from where the famous Eddie Foy vaudeville family once lived, now is shut up for the winter.

ELMER'S MAIL BOX—Elmer Berg of Verona, Wis., is a great one for a joke as witness his mail box. He combined an old coal stove, pipe and regulation box.

Southern Demos Face Reprisals

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Southern Democrats faced the prospect today of political reprisals no matter where they turned in the bitter fight over control of the House Rules Committee.

Many were trying to make up their minds whether it would be politically safer to support or to oppose Speaker Sam Rayburn and President Kennedy on the first important vote of the 87th Congress.

Their decision probably will determine the outcome when the House votes Tuesday on Rayburn's plan to liberalize the Rules Committee by adding three members, and thus eliminate a potential roadblock to Kennedy's legislative program.

The committee has been controlled by a conservative coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats who blocked some liberal legislation.

Both the conservatives, led by Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., and Rayburn's forces were claiming victory. Both sides agreed a handful of votes would decide the issue.

The outcome hinged on the number of Southern Democrats who would oppose the Democratic leadership and the number of Republicans who would cross party lines to support Rayburn.

For festive winter evenings, the new smoother hairdos with cheek curls take to pretty hair ornaments. These are done with diamonds but they can be duplicated with costume jewelry. Moire rosette is pleated (left) and centered with a diamond poinsettia. Pleating is repeated for this hair ornament (center) and finished off with flat bow. Long, flat grosgrain bow (right) is background for a narrow diamond pin. Bow is easy to make and your own jewelry collection may produce similar pin. Velvet or satin would be equally pretty as background for jewels.

Sleek, Smooth Hairdos Take To Pretty Ornaments

ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The sleek look of the new coiffures, softened only by cheek curls or little wispy bangs, has brought about a definite increase in the popularity of hair ornaments.

There are jeweled barrettes, decorative floral arrangements and many other trinkets to dress up the evening wear. And high at the top of the list is the return of the conventional grosgrain bow — but with a dramatic addition.

Here's where the family heirlooms will come in handy — particularly if they are diamonds. If you'd planned to wear grandma's diamond bow pin on the lapel of your theater suit, think how stunning it would look pinned to a ribbon bow at the side or back of your hair.

Of course, you don't have to depend on heirlooms. The new diamond settings are beautifully designed. One brooch, shaped like a poinsettia, would make an exquisite hair ornament, worn at the center of a circular, pleated moire bow.

It goes without saying that we don't all have diamonds with which to decorate our crowning glory. But that doesn't mean that we must forego these tempting — new hair fashions.

A good rhinestone or marquisite pin will create a similar effect. And depending on the color of the ribbon, you may even find that gold or silver jewelry will be equally smart-looking.

The bows themselves can be bought made at most department stores. But if you'd like a collection of them in various colors, you might want to buy the ribbon and make them yourself. The pleating and gathering into different shapes is simple to do. Remember, though, that no ornament, diamond or less majestic, will dress up hair that is not well kept. If your hair is not expertly styled, scrupulously clean and shining, any attempt to call attention to it would be a mistake.

Good grooming is the foundation on which beauty and fashion sense are built. And without it, no feminine frillery, however pretty in itself, will make you look attractive and well dressed.

Civic Culture Elects New Officers, Has Program On Art Tuesday Afternoon

Civic Culture Club elected new officers at its meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ophelia Morris, 212 E. Kingsmill.

Following a report of the nominating committee chairman, Mrs. Stanley Brandt, members elected to serve during the 1961-62 club year were Mmes. Ophelia Morris, president; Carl Axelson, vice president; Stanley Brandt, recording secretary; K. A. Sorenson, corresponding secretary; J. B. Townsend, treasurer; W. C. Scott, parliamentarian and George Neel, reporter.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Emmett Osborne, current president, outlined plans for the Top of Texas District of Federated Women's Club convention, which will be held in Pampa on March 29-30.

Mrs. Irvin Cole, in a program on "Art Adds Luster To Living," illustrated her talk with pictures from magazines and periodicals and traced painting and sketching from primitive to modern times.

"The past ten years have shown a tremendous growth in interest in the fine arts," she said. "Americans are becoming bored with the sameness of mass-produced things and welcome the uniqueness of original art, which is no longer limited to mansions and public galleries."

"To find good original art," Mrs. Cole suggested, "visit the homes and studios of local artists. If their work has been displayed in art fairs or museum exhibitions it has passed the scrutiny of a qualified judging committee and you can know it is good."

"If you enjoy a work of art," the speaker continued, "that is reason enough to buy it, regardless of what the critics say. Once you become interested in art you will always be enthusiastic and want to learn more about it. Once you become enthused, your interest will never wane."

In the realm of music, Mrs. Cole quoted the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who once said: "Because music knows no barriers of language; because it recognizes no impediments to free intercommunication; because it speaks an universal tongue, music can make us all more vividly aware of that common humanity which is ours and which will one day unite the nations of the world in one great brotherhood."

Mrs. Cole concluded her talk by referring to the field of architecture and the Robert L. Wright structure in Bethesda, Maryland, which Mr. Wright designed for his youngest son. "For all his clients, he had brought into being the 'prairie houses' so-called because of his concern that they should appear to be natural growths from the flat ground of northern Illinois."

New Study Begun By WSCS Group

LEFORS (Spl) — Mrs. J. Weldon Moore taught the first lesson from the mission book, "Heritage and Horizons," for the Women's Society of Christian Service on Tuesday morning in the Methodist Church.

Plans were made for the Methodist family night which was held on Jan. 18, and for serving the Lions banquet held on Jan. 23.

Attending were Mmes. Dan Johnson, Cleve Johnson, W. C. Breining, Carl Nunn, C. F. Phillips, Walter Pflug, Joe Watson, W. R. Combs, Jeff Stubblefield, D. W. Willis, Butch Bradley, Lee Airington, Ann Taylor, J. W. Moore, L. R. Spence, L. C. Moore, Carl Barber, Gladys Palford, Jess Graves, and Paul Waldon.

Artists' History Program For Club

CANADIAN (Spl) — The Canadian Woman's Club met in the home of Miss Daisy Childers recently with Mrs. J. L. Cleveland as co-hostess.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. George E. Tubb, first vice-president.

The program, "Painters of the Early West," was introduced by Mrs. Erbin Crowell. Mrs. W. H. Hext gave the biography of George Catlin. Mrs. H. H. Marks gave a paper on Frederick Remington which was prepared by Mrs. Warren Pickens, and Mrs. C. W. Allen told of the life of Harold Bugbee.

Members attending were Mmes. George Earl Tubb, Emery Vignal, Charles Vignal, H. H. Marks, W. R. Hext, Erbin Crowell, John Waters, Oliver Waters, G. F. Hoover, John Jones, Ben Ezzell, C. H. Lansdown, R. M. Hobby, James Price, E. H. Morris, William Karr, J. B. Lindley, Paul Bryant, Hugh Wilson, Bob Dillman, H. S. Wilbur, C. W. Allen, and A. R. King.

Paul Walden Is Club Speaker

LEFORS (Spl) — The Art and Civic Club met in the civic center on Tuesday night for a regular meeting, with Mrs. Alex Swann as hostess.

Mrs. Paul Walden, program director, introduced her husband, Paul, who is high school science teacher, as guest speaker of the evening.

The next meeting will be Feb. 7, with Mrs. Earl Atkinson in charge of the program and Mrs. Floyd Hines as hostess.

Members present were Mmes. Babe Hall, Alex Swann, R. H. Barron, C. H. Gustin, G. N. Mounger, Jack Thacker, Paul Walden, L. R. Spence, Ray Jordan, Ray Chastain, Earl Atkinson, and Bud Cumberland.

An old favorite with a new look for a "quickie" lunch or supper! Top individual servings of hot crispy brown corned beef hash with slices of Wisconsin-made Gouda cheese. Heat just until cheese softens then top with a fried or poached egg.

When hungry youngsters rush in from school for noon lunch, have a bright red Wisconsin Baby Gouda cut into wedges on the table. They'll love to nibble on Gouda wedges while you're getting lunch on the table... and important proteins will be added to their diet.

Esther Club With Mrs. Kessinger

Esther Club of Pampa Rebekahs met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Homer Kessinger, 1020 Fisher at 7:30 p.m.

Business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Dean Monday.

Names were drawn for Secret Pals for the next six months.

It was announced that meetings are to be held on the second and fourth Monday nights of the months.

It was also announced that the next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. J. H. Crisler on Feb. 13 and will be a covered-dish dinner at 7 p.m.

Officers of the club are: Mmes. Dean Monday, president; Harold Thornhill, vice president; Homer Kessinger, secretary; John Killian, treasurer, who are to serve for six months.

During the social hour, members played Bingo for "white elephant" gifts.

Mrs. Lola Nicholson was winner of the hostess gift.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to 18 members during the social hour.

Fashion Show Is Highlight Of PEO Meeting

CANADIAN (Spl) — Mrs. George Carver and Miss Vera Tepe were hostesses to the P.E.O. recently.

Rogers, Raelene Waters, Sandra Flowers, Mary Howard, Evelyn Carr, Annette Arnold, Margia Crowell, Vickie Flowers, Betty Clayton, Becky Etheredge, Karen Crosier, Darla Prater, Virginia Love, Gay Harrell and Wilma Wilson. Mrs. J. A. Ullom is the instructor.

Also on the program was a history of the founding of P.E.O. given by Mrs. Malouf Abraham, Mrs. Jack King read the president's letter.

Members present were Mmes. Malouf Abraham, Preston Hutton, Willis Ayers, John Glenn, John H. Jones, William M. Karr, R. T. Kelley, Jack King, G. B. Mathers, Dale Nix, Frank McMorde, E. H. Snyder, Rush Snyder, Carl Studer, Charles Teas, F. D. Teas, George E. Tubb, Arthur Webb, D. A. Witt and Robert Dillman.

Dear Abby... Cake-Eating Romeo Deserves Frosting

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For a 23-year-old college graduate I guess I'm pretty stupid, but here's my situation: Last year I met a very attractive man of 29. He told me from the start he'd been keeping company for several years with a woman a little older than himself, and he had no intention of severing their relationship. From all appearances their "relationship" included everything but the marriage license.

I have fallen head over heels in love with him and would give anything to have him for myself. He says he "loves" me but he loves her, too. He sees me on Tuesdays, Fridays and every other Sunday. It kills me to know he is with her when he's not with me. I can't give him up and can't live without him. Is there a solution?

HOPELESSLY IN LOVE
DEAR HOPELESSLY: You CAN live without him and you'll probably have to, so save yourself further agony and call it quits while you still have your youth. Your Romeo wants to eat his cake and have it, too. Give him the "frosting" he so properly deserves.

DEAR ABBY: Isn't it considered proper etiquette for a person who is entering a room to say "Good morning" (or "Good evening" whichever the case may be) rather than for the person who is already in the room to say it first? This has bothered me for years because I was taught that the person entering the room should greet those already here. Some people don't know this apparently.

IRRITATED
DEAR IRRITATED: Common

sense is the best rule. Before the silence becomes awkward, say "hello" and to heck with what's proper.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law is the sweetest, most wonderful person in the world — when she isn't drinking. Lately, she is so loaded by noon every day you can't reason with her. The worst part of it is that no one is her family thinks this is a problem. They say, "Ma's feeling good," and will even have one with her any time of the day or night.

I want to help her because she is getting worse. My husband travels and doesn't seem to realize how serious it is, and her other children think I'm a busybody. Can you help me help her?

WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: Investigate "Al Anon" — a branch of Alcoholics Anonymous, whose purpose it is to teach the families and friends of alcoholics how to cope with them.

Reading This Column Is Worth MONEY To You!

YOUR CHARTER AND YOU

In 1927 our present charter was formed. In 1946 it was amended to read exactly as it does today. In 1946 there were 5 amendments added to the charter. The amendments were the addition of the Ward System. An attempt was made by this same group of men in 1953 to do away with this form of government. Again in 1961 they are back to try this same thing. This time under the guise of a brand new charter. With plenty of pork barrel legislation added which could have been given without all of the barb of placing it out in front of the employees to lead them on.

We are told that charter amendments are impractical, complicated and a waste of time. Yet in 1946 there were 5 changes made. We are told that basically there are very few changes. And nobody has a copy of the original document and just a very few mimeographed copies of the charter are left. I say to you, if the taxpayers' money was spent to reproduce our present charter into a pretty little booklet such as the proposed charter we would all be better off financially. Sometime ago there were 3 copies of our present city charter placed on file at the library. Has anybody seen them?

A few years ago one particular state, in these United States, started to remove its small voting districts. In a period of about 15 years it finally voted out its entire county system. This is the trend of pure socialism. You say it can't happen here in these United States. One state has already fallen. There are some good points in the proposed charter but you cannot vote them in without all the rest of the trash that goes with them.

Some people say that just "my vote won't count much." What is your vote worth to you? By not voting or voting for the proposed charter you give up your right for as long as you may live to ever say what for and how much your taxes will be and what they are spent for. The council will tell you, and that is final.

Remember when you vote tomorrow by permitting a tax increase, you increase in cost everything that Pampa has. House payments, utility bills, and grocery bills. For everybody must raise their prices to offset the increase in taxes.

For the type of government the charter commission has in store for the taxpayer of Pampa just look and see where they reside. The same thing happened when Pampa was without the ward system.

A man who lives in one ward and his business is in another ward, that man made his own choice as to the location of both. If he does not like this arrangement we suggest that he remove one or the other and not try to make the whole town conform to his liking.

THE RIGHT OF ANNEXATION

The rights of men are violated by imposing the city's will upon them and they have no voice in the matter at all. In this system of government the majority rule. But the people outside of our city limits are not even given a voice except through the very expensive cost of going to court.

There are some states that have a very small amount of industry due to several causes. Some of these states are offering industry free land and guaranteed low taxes in order to have a place for its citizens to work. There are some companies that have completely vacated a community because of tax situations. One of the first things that new business looks at in a City is its tax rate.

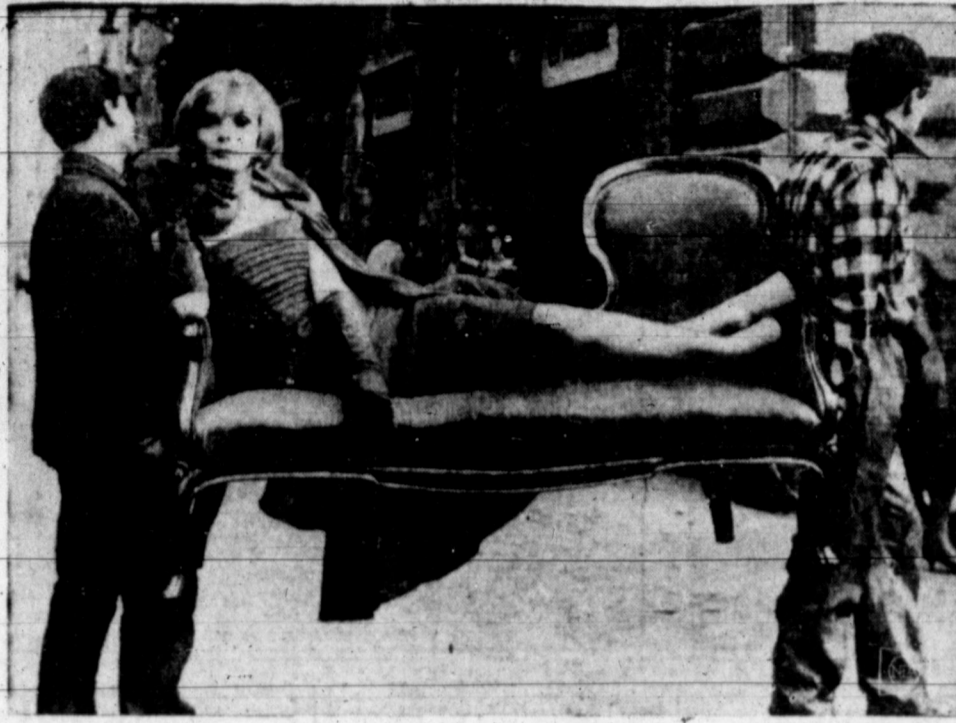

Some people ask without the annexation law, how are we going to grow? What is growth? The taking in of miles of wheat and pasture land, taking in business and industry that lie adjacent to our city limits. This all looks good to Chamber of Commerce figures, but is as false as the painted smile of a clown.

You have done one thing by annexing this property, that is to raise the valuation of the city for more bonded indebtedness and higher taxes. If you are familiar with other cities that have these laws or perhaps you have friends and relatives that live in communities that do have this right of annexation, ask them which direction their tax dollar went. Down, maybe; Up! YES.

Tax valuations can go up by council action. Council action cannot give your taxes a big jump without the people voting for a bond issue. By the removal of the one dollar limitation your taxes can be increased PLUS your valuation can be increased!

Chasing The Kennedys Balked Other Pursuits

WASHINGTON (UPI)—So much time trying to keep up with the Kennedys recently that I fell behind in some of my other pursuits. It's a good thing I finally became winded and dropped out of the presidential chase. The pause for breath enabled me to catch up with what has been going on in the animal kingdom.

Architect Says Airports Will Go Underground

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Brazilian architect Sergio W. Bernades predicts airports of the future will be giant, highly efficient facilities with everything but the planes underground.

Bernades, in Los Angeles recently to address students and faculty members of the University of Southern California's School of Architecture, said that in the future $40 million supersonic planes may be permitted to make only one stop per continent.

His airport design, on which work already is underway in Brazil's new capital city of Brasilia, is based somewhat on the principle of the aircraft carrier with one runway for takeoff and another for landing and with all services underneath the airport apron in a two-story, substructure.

Bernades proposed that the runway for landings be inclined to cut the speed of the aircraft when it has its wheels on the ground. By the same token, takeoffs would be made on a downgrade to increase the momentum of the aircraft in approaching flying speed.

The underground facilities would include — if the pattern of the Brasilia airport is followed — such refinements as a lake, an aquarium, trees and plants, as well as elevators to move passengers to and from planes and from one level to another depending on whether they are domestic or inter-continental travelers.

I find that while we human beings were preoccupied with the inauguration and all of that, our animal friends — if they are still our friends — gained a lot of ground on us.

It appears they are rapidly closing the gap and in some respects have already overtaken us. Unless we get moving soon, we will lose the advantage we now hold. It may already be too late.

I would first call your attention to the recent revelation that the animal kingdom, working out of sight along the ocean bottom, has produced some creatures that have brains but no mouths.

The National Geographic Society reports that these creatures "are being hailed as a major biological discovery of the 20th Century," and no wonder. We have nothing to match them.

What we have done instead is produce a large number of people who have mouths but no brains.

The sea creatures have been biologically classified as "pogonophores." The human types have been socially classified as "crash-boring bores."

Obviously, the animal kingdom has the edge on us here. Any creature that has a brain but no mouth is in a good position to some day inherit the earth. And wouldn't pogonophores make wonderful wives?

The human race also takes a beating in a report by the Smithsonian Institution on the studies of Dr. R. E. Snodgrass, an honorary research associate.

Snodgrass concludes, perhaps not too surprisingly, that the head of an insect is in some ways superior to the head of a man.

For one thing, you and I and Snodgrass must take a bite or a sip of our food before we can tell what it tastes like. At the restaurants where I eat, this is known as doing things the hard way.

High Court Rule Shakes Oil Men

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—A U.S. Supreme Court decision that the Federal Power Commission can properly consider the end use of natural gas in regulating interstate transportation of the resource has given oilmen a jolt.

One industry leader termed the far-reaching decision an invasion by the high court of the powers of Congress.

The independent Petroleum Association of America wasted little time in attacking the decision in language so severe that it actually surprised some veteran oil observers.

Minor S. Jameson Jr., executive vice president of the IPAA, said the Supreme Court's decision that the FPC has the authority to control end use is "authority which the Congress never intended or granted."

Jameson said "through the mechanism of a legal decision, an unsound and uneconomic philosophy of government has been thrust upon the American economy."

Estill S. Heyser Jr., of Dallas, president of Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, said the decision denies consumers a choice of fuels and further restricts the Texas gas market.

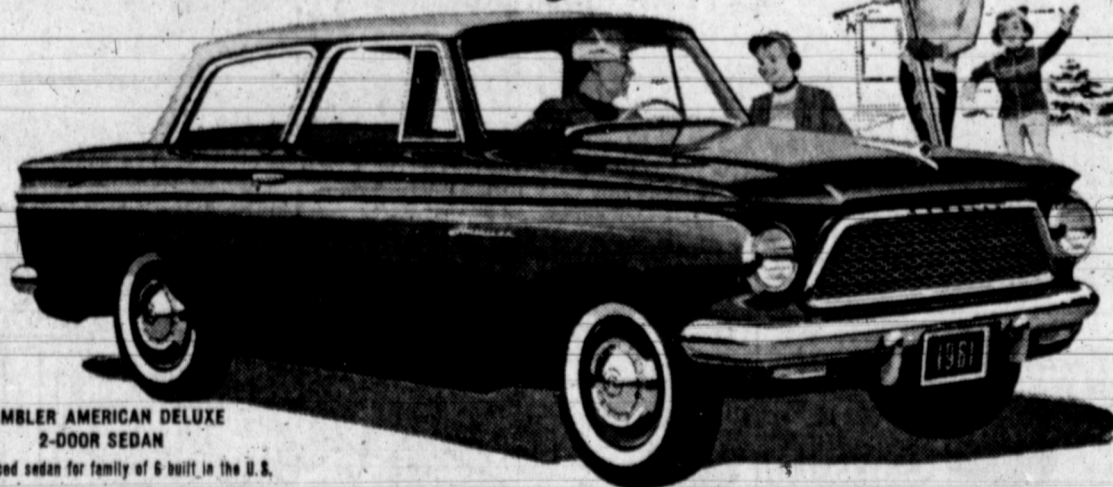

The president of the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn., Donald L. Connelly of Houston, said the decision, if it implies the imposition of end use controls, "is a severe setback not only to the natural gas industry, but more so to the consuming public."

"The public should not be dictating to us in the use of the policy which it will use," Connelly said. In effect, the high court upheld FPC denial of the sale of natural gas to Consolidated Edison Co. of New York for use as boiler fuel on ground the gas was destined for an "inferior use."

Jameson said this means the high court was telling the FPC it can go ahead and regulate "every aspect of gas production, transportation and sale" not already under state regulations.

Baseball Hall Adds Two More

NEW YORK (UPI)—Max Carey and the late Billy Hamilton, two of the dead ball era's greatest stars, have received their long overdue recognition as members of baseball's Hall of Fame.

A special old timers committee of the Baseball Writers Association Sunday voted unanimously to accept Carey and Hamilton, who rivaled the immortal Ty Cobb as base-stealers. Both will be officially inducted into the Cooperstown, N.Y., shrine on July 24.

Carey, 71, now living in Miami Beach, Fla., played from 1910-1929 with Pittsburgh and Brooklyn and holds the modern National League career record of 738 stolen bases. Hamilton, who died in 1940 at the age of 72, set the all-time major league mark of 115 stolen bases in one season. The 5-6, 160-pound Hamilton, who played with Philadelphia and Boston from 1899-1901, also stole 937 bases in his career and compiled a lifetime batting average of .344.

When informed of his selection, Carey said "It's my greatest thrill in baseball. The World Series of 1925 was a big one, but this one is bigger."

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (UPI)—The Baseball Museum and Hall of Fame were dedicated and opened to the public in 1939.

Bradley, Bonnies Set Big Runnerup Battle

By United Press International
Okay, we'll concede Ohio State is the best college basketball team in the country — but how about the runnerup?

St. Bonaventure and Bradley — a couple of small town teams with big time players — have been sharing the No. 2 spot for most of the season and they'll get a chance to see who rightfully wins it when they meet this Thursday night at Madison Square Garden.

Top-ranked Ohio State, on its way to the Big Ten title and the national championship, made Purdue its 19th straight victim Saturday in the Buckeyes two-season winning streak. Although All-American Jerry Lucas was outscored by fellow Olympian Terry Dischinger, 26-17, five Ohio State starters hit double figures as the Buckeyes routed the Butlermarkers, 92-62.

Ohio State meets two more conference rivals this coming week: Wisconsin and Michigan, in an effort to extend its 4-0 Big Ten mark and its 14-0 overall record for the 1960-61 campaign as the nation's only unbeaten team.

Both second-ranked St. Bonaventure and Bradley, rated No. 3, have identical 14-1 records, but each have important engagements before they meet. The Bonnies, whose only loss was by two points to Ohio State, plays Marquette on Tuesday while, on the same night, the Braves, making a runaway of the Missouri Valley Conference, where they're 5-0, take on league rival Cincinnati.

South Africa's Player Cops International Golf

Blazing Finish Kills Early Leaders' Hopes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The $50,000 Lucky International golf tournament turned out to be both lucky and international for South Africa's greatest golfer of this era — Gary Player.

While the touring "follow the sun" professionals left rain-swept San Francisco today for the heat and sun of Palm Springs in the south, Player was busy banking $9,000 he collected for a fast winning finish Sunday on sodden Harding Park course.

The Palm Springs Classic, another $50,000 event that offers a $50,000 bonus for a hole-in-one, opens on Wednesday and is a 90-hole affair, spread over five golf courses.

It would appear that Player, a short and stocky 25-year-old mulecman, should be in condition to go the distance.

After he fired a six-under-par 65 Sunday through driving rains he volunteered the information that a new diet made the difference.

"My play off the tees never has been better," he said. "I'm hitting as long as anybody on the tour with the possible exception of George Bayer. I credit part of this improvement to the fact that about nine months ago I went on a diet that calls for a lot of honey, fruit and nuts.

"Now, when I start to feel tired on the back nine I start eating some dried fruit."

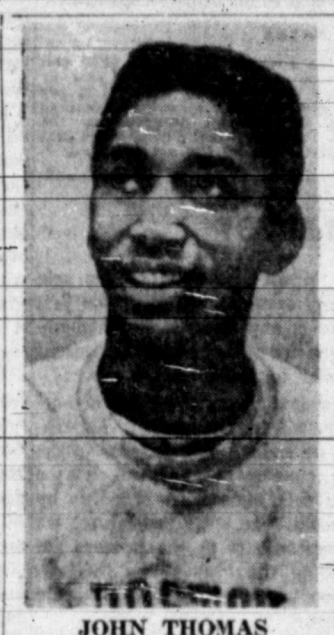

This has been a basic diet for Australian distance runners — but this is the first inkling that it might help golfers.

Player improved every day during the tournament. He posted rounds of 76-69-68-65 for a 272 — 12 strokes under par for 72 holes. Bayer, the slugger from South Pasadena, Calif., and Don Whitte of Borrego Springs, Calif., finished in a deadlock for second at 274, each collecting $3,800.

Tied for fourth were Don January, Dallas, Tex., and Al Geiberger, Santa Barbara, Calif., each with 275 and picking up $2,450.

There was a log jam of players within one stroke of each other after nine holes Sunday and as late as the 13th hole he was tied with Bayer, Whitt and Geiberger. But he weaved through the traffic with successive birdies on the 15th, 16th and 17th holes to win going away.

Other big money winners for the tournament included, at 276, Jay Hebert, Lafayette, La., and Ted Kroll, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., each getting $2,000.

Celts Like Old Habits

By United Press International
The Boston Celtics and St. Louis Hawks are finding it hard to break old habits — but they're not complaining.

The two teams, who have led their respective divisions in the National Basketball Association each of the last four seasons, seem headed for the same fate this year. Boston, kingpin of the Eastern Division, knocked off second-place Philadelphia, 128-115, Sunday, to stretch its lead to six games, and Western Division pacesetter St. Louis defeated Syracuse, 125-108, for a 10½ game advantage over Detroit.

Though several Boston players were weakened by flu, the Celtics scored 23 consecutive points in the first quarter and held a 38-16 lead at the end of the stanza. The Celtics, who enjoyed a 41-point margin at one point in the final quarter, had nine men score in double figures with the team honors going to Bill Sharman with 21 points.

Clyde Lovellette and Bob Pettit each scored 25 points as St. Louis won its 13th straight home game and its 22nd in 23 starts at home this season. The Hawks led by only eight at half-time, 63-55, but tore the game open in the third quarter with a 36-point attack. Dolph Schayes led the Syracuse scorers with 26 points.

In the only other NBA game played, Elgin Baylor scored 34 points and retrieved 22 rebounds to lead the Los Angeles Lakers to a 137-113 victory over Detroit. It was the sixth time Los Angeles has beaten the Pistons in eight attempts this season. Gene Shue was high man for the losers with 21 points.

Thomas Determined To Earn Mark Back

BOSTON (UPI)—"I hope to meet at the Garden Saturday night."

"This should prove to a lot of people that you can't arbitrarily impose a ceiling on a good high jumper," Thomas said. "Bumel is only 6 feet, ¾ inches, so he jumped about 16 inches more than his height."

"Congratulations to him," he said. "I knew such a jump was possible. Now it's up to me to go out and do it, too. His performance will just give me that much more incentive."

Thomas will get a chance to regain his record in a personal duel with Bumel in New York next month. Bumel and possibly Olympic champion Robert Shavlakadze of Russia will compete in the New York AC meet Feb. 17.

"I wanted to clear 7 feet 2 inches Saturday night," said Thomas, whose career was temporarily sidetracked by a serious accident two years ago.

Youth Wins Minus Team

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI)—Bruce Kidd, Toronto's sensational 17-year-old distance runner attends a high school without a track team.

More than a score of colleges, however, probably would like to make up for this deficit by offering their colors to the teenage Canadian comet who broke the International Meet of Champions two-mile record Saturday night.

Kidd, running for the second time on a board track sliced 5.8 seconds off the old mark with a time of 8 minutes, 58.2 seconds. He also won the mile in 4:12.1.

At Baseball Banquet

Scribes Spoof Game But Honor Own Clan

NEW YORK (UPI)—They came to spoof the game they love so much but they stood to honor one of their own.

The setting was the grand Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and the occasion was the 38th annual dinner of the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The usual awards were made and each presentation was greeted with customary applause.

The Ben Epstein "Good Guy" Award—named for the late New York Daily Mirror sports writer—was given to former New York Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, the Babe Ruth Award went to second baseman Bill Mazerowski of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates and the Sid Mercer Memorial Award was given to pitcher Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves as the 1960 Player of the Year.

Casey wasn't on-hand to receive his award, and former Yankee General Manager George Weiss accepted it for him. Mazerowski and Spahn proudly stepped forward for their awards and such other baseball personalities as Manager Danny Murtaugh of the Pirates, baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick, American League President Joe Cronin and National League President Warren Giles also were honored.

No one among the huge crowd of writers, baseball, Broadway, Hollywood and TV personalities became especially emotional over any of the awards until Til Fidenzi of the New York Journal-American presented the William J. Slocum Award for long and meritorious service to the game to Journal-American columnist Frank Graham.

As Graham, who began covering baseball when many of today's writers were in knickers, strode forward to receive his award, the crowd rose to its feet in acknowledgement of one of the top writers in the country. And there weren't many dry eyes among them.

The Pampa Daily News

YOUR FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from the government. Freedom is not license. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, The Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to promoting and preserving YOUR freedom as well as our own. For only when man is free to control himself and his produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

By mail $10.00 per year in retail trading zone, $15.00 per year outside retail trading zone. $1.25 per month. 7¢ for single copy. Published daily except Saturday by the Pampa Daily News, Attention at Somerville, Pampa, Texas. Phone MO 4-2325. All departments entered as second-class matter under the act of March 3, 1879.

Approve The Charter

Today, we reaffirm the position rather lengthily explained in yesterday's paper concerning our support of the proposed charter Pampa's will vote upon tomorrow.

As previously stated, we think the most important issue at stake is the election of commissioners on an at large basis rather than our present ward system. With 25 percent of the city's population and valuation electing half of the commissioners, it doesn't take much perception to recognize the gross imbalance.

The combining of the present general purpose tax rate, per hundred dollars valuation, of $1.00 with the permissible $1.50 for sinking fund and interest, to a total of $2.50 for both doesn't appear to us as portend mischief. With the almost unlimited powers over adjusting and readjusting valuations, particularly if the voters approve the new charter tomorrow.

That Guilty Feeling

The person today who subsists in the main on government handouts, government pensions, relief or welfare must exist in a sea of guilt. Knowing that others are working and straining every sinew to make it possible for him to have a life of ease cannot possibly create a sense of well being.

Loss Of Opportunity

The writer recently experienced the exhilaration of talking to a group of fine Americans who in the excitement of the last election managed to defeat a man whose record had been less than inspiring.

In a local contest in another state, these good souls had labored with diligence, not to say abandon, to "expose" the evil record of the man they despised.

In consequence, at least in part, the man was defeated and another man, wholly unknown, was swept into the office.

Certainly it is true that a MAN was defeated. And it was apparently true that this particular man had in the past affiliated himself with questionable groups. Further, it appeared from all that could be learned that his opinions had undergone little change and he was still favoring an anti-capitalistic, pro-government wealth sharing, high taxing and high spending program.

It's Up To You

by HOWARD KERSHNER L. H. D.

We hear much these days about the decline of American prestige in other lands. During the past few months we have traveled in 20 countries in Europe, Asia and Africa among other things testing this very point.

Most of those with whom we talked believe that American military might is at an all-time high and far exceeds that of any other country. Our productive mechanism, likewise, excels that of any other country and is, in fact, without rival.

It is on the moral and spiritual fronts that we have lost our leadership and suffered an enormous decline in prestige. Everyone knows and talks about our pornographic and obscene literature, our filthy motion pictures, our degrading television and radio programs, our juvenile delinquency, divorce and crime, our increasing drunkenness and gambling and our decline in integrity, self-reliance and responsibility.

It is generally believed that our will to maintain our own freedom and to help aspiring peoples in other countries regain theirs has just about petered out. Oppressed peoples everywhere used to look to the United States of America as a beacon light of hope and a source of help. They still blackmail us for money but have little respect for our moral leadership in the struggle against totalitarian tyranny.

When Franklin Roosevelt entered the White House in 1933, American self-confidence was at low ebb. Capitalism was suffering from the shock caused by the "crash" of the stock market. Thirteen million Americans were out of work. The country, while it could have recovered satisfactorily by orthodox economic methods, was marked by a quality of desperation. Many good people, who in ordinary times were conservative and sound-thinking, were ready to accept the most radical innovations in order to end the depression.

As it turned out, that opportunity was lost. The spleen of the voters spewed out on the MAN who had escaped observation, dissection, and we suspect in certain quarters, even detection. In consequence, a newcomer, an unknown entered a position of power, himself utterly innocent of knowledge respecting the issues and the truth relating to them.

There is no reason to suppose that the new man will serve his constituents better than the man who was defeated. Perhaps in some minor degree his course of action will be more mild and more gentle. But in the end, since he cannot know the economic facts or he would never have submitted his name for the contest, he will surely pursue a pro-socialist end, if not worse.

And the voters will be out the time, the energy, the treasure they heaped with such abandon on that effort to bury the MAN, rather than to elevate the issues into the forefront where they could be comprehended and discussed.

I mention this particular instance without identifying persons or place for a particular reason. We suspect that instances of this sort abound last November. We Americans are too prone to associate the issue with the man, then to forget the issue and either elevate the man to demigodship or lower him to vilification to the ranks of the minor brutes.

Scene A Lot Different Than It Was Back In '33

By THURMAN SENSING

With the beginning of a new Democratic administration — the first to take over from Republicans since 1933, comparisons with the New Deal are inevitable. But comparisons can be misleading, for the situation facing the country in 1961 is totally unlike the situation that confronted the American people in 1933.

When Franklin Roosevelt entered the White House in 1933, American self-confidence was at low ebb. Capitalism was suffering from the shock caused by the "crash" of the stock market. Thirteen million Americans were out of work. The country, while it could have recovered satisfactorily by orthodox economic methods, was marked by a quality of desperation.

Now in answer to your first question, I regret to repeat that we say there is no cold cure for the very simple reason that there is no cold cure. Why then, you may ask, do each of your friends believe in the virtue of his own particular cold cure?

Here are some of the reasons: Like all other infections, the common cold may fade out of its own accord before it comes into full bloom. Hence any medication that you happen to be taking at that particular time might be credited with the cure. That's why each of your friends has his own particular cure. If there were any one effective cure, each of your friends would be taking the same cure.

Many people think they're catching cold each time their noses become stuffy or runny. But, as you know, your nose may feel clogged and run a bit if you sleep in a stuffy room. Or sit for awhile in a smoky room. Or inhale smog or an irritant fume. Or if you're coming down with an attack of hay fever. Under any of these circumstances, you'd feel clear as soon as the atmosphere cleared. If, at the same time, you happened to be taking medicine, you might think it had cured the cold. But what you did was to cure an incorrect diagnosis.

While the usual cause for the common cold is a virus that is not responsive to treatment, an identical condition is occasionally produced by staphylococci, streptococci, pneumococci that can be bumped off by any one of several antibiotics. When this occurs you are correct in stating that you've "cured a bacterial infection" that resembles the common cold. But it is not exactly the kind of nasal infection that's produced by the virus of the common cold.

Now, my friend, if you'd like to prove that you and your friends are right and that I am wrong, I'll tell you what to do. Call a meeting of all those who have cold cures. Choose any one of the methods. Have every one present agree to a trial at the next opportunity. Continue your experiment until every member has tried every cure. If then you can show that any "cure" has a batting average over the .500 mark, let me know and I'll dine publicly on crow.

Pedestrian Takes Chances In Italy

ROME, Italy — For a country that had no traffic laws four years ago, Italy now does right well. It has a million. Or maybe it's two million. They're all in "The Road Traffic Act," a book bigger than "War and Peace," but not so widely read.

The laws cover the entire field. Nothing is overlooked. If you ride a cow down an Italian highway — and many do — you had better not allow it to graze along the edge of the road. Keep it moving, but not at a gallop. And if the cow is wild and given to butting a pedestrian, an escort is required.

Bicyclists are obliged to proceed in single file (broken a million times a day), they must keep at least one hand on the handlebars (broken two million times a day), and are prohibited from carrying anyone but a child as a passenger (last observed in Nero's time).

The book is spiced with comic touches, such as Section 134 which rules that pedestrians shall proceed along the pavements (sidewalks). Italian sidewalks are noted for their durability. Many last for centuries, which is not surprising because no one ever puts foot on them. No matter his stand in politics, the Italian is a middle-of-the-roader when it comes to walking. He is never happier than when strolling astride the white line, or where a white line would be if there were one.

Actually, despite all the millions of rules, the Italian automobilist obeys but two. He will, come you know what or high water, turn when an arrow indicates a turn, and he does give the right of way to anything on his right.

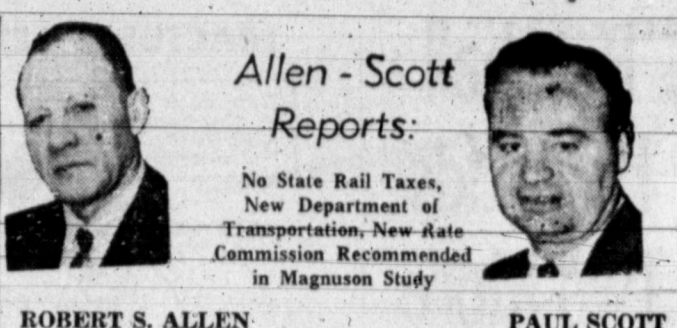

To be on the right is everything in Italy when driving a car. To be on the left is to be responsible for whatever happens.

If you are driving down a broad, main highway and a car comes darting from behind bushes on the left, it has the right of way. If there is a collision, the man on the right is as blameless (in the eyes of the law) as a newborn babe.

This is true of city traffic, too. Any moving object to the right is a menace. You have no legal excuse if you hit it, it hits you, or you cause it to make an unnecessarily sudden stop.

This law has compensations, of course — you are nearly always on somebody else's right, just as somebody else is always on yours. So you enjoy the thrill of being a menace to life and limb and peace of mind to some poor soul.

All foreign residents and visitors must have a tag bearing identity initials of their country. The original cost of the tag is a small price to pay for the benefits. Italians see it and recognize you as a newcomer to the arena and give you a break, for themselves as much as for you. They miss you by an inch instead of the sixteenth of an inch by which they miss their own countrymen.

Allen - Scott Reports:

No State Rail Taxes, New Department of Transportation, New Rate Commission Recommended in Magnuson Study

WASHINGTON — The railroads and pipelines should be relieved of state taxes — estimated at $200 to $300 million a year. That is the most striking of a number of far-reaching recommendations in a 900-page study of the nation's transportation problems that the Senate Commerce Committee, headed by Senator Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.), is publishing next month.

Other major proposals in this highly significant report are: A new federal department, headed by a Secretary of Transportation, to be set up, to include the Bureau of Public Roads, Federal Aviation Agency, Maritime Administration, and the St. Lawrence Seaway Corporation. All the regulatory and subsidy-granting powers of these agencies to be transferred to this new Transportation Department.

A new commission to be established in which would be consolidated existing rate-fixing authority over all means of interstate transportation — railroads, airlines, buses, waterways. Competitive uneconomic rates to be barred on interstate carriers. The exact language of this recommendation reads: "Carriers of all types to be permitted to reflect appropriate costs in their rates. Competitive rate-making should be outlawed when it distorts the rate-cost relationship."

Joint ownership of rail, air, bus and water transportation to be authorized "when it can clearly be determined in each case to be in the public interest." All existing transportation statutes to be combined into one Federal Transportation Act. A joint congressional transportation committee to be set up to deal solely with this problem and legislation relating to it.

The voluminous six-part study, titled National Transportation Policy, was compiled at a cost of $300,000. The survey was directed by retired Air Force Major General John Doyle, a leading transportation expert, who was assisted by more than 100 authorities in this field.

Following the publication of this report, Senator Magnuson will hold a series of public hearings on its numerous recommendations. THE DEPARTS — President Kennedy has been apprized of this forthcoming transportation report by Senator Magnuson, who gave him an oral dose of it.

Magnuson indicated intention to seek legislation on the major recommendations at this session of Congress. He readily conceded that most of them are sharply controversial and will arouse strong opposition.

However, the chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee stressed the urgency of the transportation problem and the need for prompt remedial measures. To emphasize that he called the President's attention to the following findings in the 900-page study: "Present trends, under existing transportation policy, if extended to 1975 will present the nation with an extremely serious transportation situation. The recent downward trend in net income and collateral upward trend in operating ratios by pushing their trucks up above the surface of the water and breathing through them, elephants can walk on the bottom of a river."

The report also takes a slap at railroad's management, as follows: "In general, the industry has focused too much on obstruction of competitors and not enough in bold constructive measures."

SOCIAL WHIRL — Luxembourg Ambassador Heisbourg's reception in honor of the 65th birthday of Grand Duchess Charlotte, who has ruled that tiny country for 42 years, was particularly memorable for former Protocol Chief Wiley Buchanan. Eight years ago, he began his diplomatic career as envoy to Luxembourg, and he concluded it at this party. Grand Duchess Charlotte has ruled her 200,000 countrymen longer than any one European monarch. After 14 months in Washington, Ireland Ambassador Thomas Kiernan has come to one emphatic conclusion: Cocktail parties are a bore and should be abolished. Says Kiernan: "It's not Washington's fault; they are just too many diplomatic missions here, all competing for attention both in Washington and in their home countries. I am firm of the opinion that every nation should celebrate its founding day within its own confines and not in Washington." Ambassador Kiernan's judgment is very sound, but it will draw no cheers from Washington's horde of "free loaders" for whom cocktail parties are an endless delight.

Margaret McNamara, 19-year-old daughter of the new Defense Secretary, started guests — on of the numerous inaugural parties by dashing in and breathlessly claiming, "This is an emergency. I must find my parents' right away." When her father appeared she whispered hurriedly to her ear, whereupon he smiled broadly, fished into his pocket and brought out a key. He named the Defense chief. "She forgot her key to the house, and came to borrow mine." Being used to print in a 19 supplement of The Social List in Washington, better known as the "Green Book" because of its bright green cover, paper cover Reason for this special edition: the big influx of new officials — members of Congress, Mrs. Carolyn Wagner Shaw, who inherits the social directory from her mother, who launched it in 1919 is having a hectic time adding names as new appointments find names daily from the White House.

Reds Have Lost 1,000 Members in India Recently

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Ruling Congress Party leaders estimate 1,000 Communists have resigned from the Communist Party of India (CPI) during the past 15 months.

Communist leaders refuse to confirm the figure, but admit there have been some withdrawals. According to the Reds, the factors "never were real Communists, anyway."

A Communist member of parliament put it this way: "I would call them 'flexible' politicians. They are weather cocks, changing color according to the season."

The MP was commenting on well-publicized reports that 48 Communists in the Punjab State of northern India had formally resigned from the CPI. In a statement they gave as their reasons the "antiquated attitude" of the Indian Communists on the Sino-Indian border dispute and the local party's "continued subservience to Peiping."

Two Women Held For Quarter-Million Theft

SHINNSTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Two women who knew them, Lucy Fortney and Jo Ann Stevens were as unlike as any two persons could be. Their only apparent common interest was a position of trust with the Bank of Shinnston.

Miss Fortney, a 62-year old greying spinster, was reserved and popular in this northern West Virginia community of 2,793. She had been with the bank since its founding in 1932 and became its assistant cashier. Mrs. Stevens, a bookkeeper, is an eye-catching blonde of 25, the wife of a coal miner and mother of two children.

Today they share a common plight. They occupy adjacent cells in a Fairmont, W. Va., jail facing charges of embezzlement at the Shinnston bank. Bank officials say shortages total almost a quarter-million dollars.

Authorities charged the two women with separately dipping into the bank's till over a period of years. Each knew what the other was doing but they never worked together, a bank official said.

"They used two different methods and didn't help each other," said bank President, Wayne C. Hawker. "I think that eventually will be proved."

FBI agents arrested the women Thursday after examiners discovered a shortage of $246,794.81 in the bank accounts.

The investigation of the bank's records was begun when officials became suspicious of Mrs. Stevens' spending. She had a flair for expensive clothing and recently bought a new automobile. Her monthly salary was $250 and her coal miner husband did not earn a great deal more.

While studying Mrs. Stevens' books, investigators also found discrepancy in Miss Fortney's accounts.

Examiners from the West Virginia Banking Commission and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. discovered the shortage. They linked a shortage of $222,244.70 to Mrs. Stevens and $22,549.91 to Miss Fortney.

Mrs. Stevens, apparently seeing discovery was near, attempted suicide last Monday, authorities said. She was taken to a hospital in Clarksburg, W. Va. after taking an overdose of sleeping tablets. She recovered and Thursday was transferred to the Marion County jail in Fairmont where Miss Fortney is also lodged.

But she was shocked when federal agents placed her under arrest.

"I don't know what to do," she said. "I don't know anything about this."

Her husband, at home here with their two children, was equally stunned.

"It's just a shock," he said. "I don't know what to think."

Sea of Oil
BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—In the past 10 years more than 1,160,000 barrels of crude oil have been piped from Saudi Arabia to oil tankers anchored in Lebanon, Trans-Arabian Pipe Line Co. reported.

A Tapline spokesman said the oil flow averaged 316,030 barrels a day during the decade — enough to load 8,191 tankers at the company's Sidon dock. The first tanker was loaded in December, 1950.

Logical Reasoning
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Sheriff T. O. Lang said he thought the county jail should have a fulltime chaplain, but he cautioned that the chaplain shouldn't be on the Sheriff's Department payroll because the prisoners wouldn't trust him.

World's Her Oyster
WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI) — A Wilmington woman has every right to shout "The world's my oyster." She found a pearl in her dinner oyster.

Mrs. Rose Sarro seemed most amazed by the failure of oyster processors to discover the tiny pearl before it reached her dinner table. The pearl was described as about one-quarter inch in diameter and slightly flat on one side. The woman purchased the oysters in a local supermarket.

CITIZENS OF PAMPA:

I would like it known that I, FRANK M. CARTER, have had no part in the opposition to the changes that are proposed in the Pampa city charter. As far as I'm concerned, I do not even live in the city of Pampa. I reside approximately eight miles north of the city in Roberts County. However, my wife, and my mother, Mrs. Inez Carter, own the Combs-Worley building, representing one of the largest taxpayers in the city of Pampa. I will go on record as saying that I have conferred with some of the former city commissioners, mayors and others, and I personally believe that the changes proposed are a step in the right direction for the city of Pampa.

UNITE PAMPA BY ADOPTING THE NEW CHARTER

Your Right To Vote Is Now Limited

The proposed charter guarantees each and every citizen of Pampa fair and equal representation on the city council. As it has been in the past the voter, wherever he lived in the city, could have a voice in the selection of only one commissioner and the mayor. Each member of the commission has equal authority in the handling of the city's affairs and spending tax money, and the voter has no voice whatever in the selection of the majority of them. UNDER THE NEW CHARTER YOU ARE ENTITLED TO VOTE FOR ALL COMMISSIONERS AND THE MAYOR.

This Is Fair... This Is Democratic...

Redistribution Of Funds:

Taxes will be no higher under the proposed charter than under the old charter. BUT the council will be given permission to spend the tax dollar to the best advantage of the taxpayer through reappointment between the general fund (for city services) and the interest and sinking fund (payment of bonded indebtedness).

Annexation

The law, by the State, requires that the city has to provide equal services (Police, Water, Sewer, Fire Protection, etc.) for any territory annexed to the City, upon annexation. Is it reasonable to then assume that your City Council is going to participate in wholesale annexing of territory when it involves such expenditures?

Public Information Forum:

The charter commission, you elected, in an effort to answer any questions concerning the proposed charter, will conduct a public forum on KP DN at 7:30 p. m. tonight, January 30th. Your questions and inquiries are invited in order that no qualified voter may go uninformed on any phase of the proposed new charter. Phone MO 4-7461.
