LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An apparently mentally retarded youth dangled an 8-year-old boy over the roof edge of a five-story hotel Monday night and let the boy plunge to his death, police reported.

held him over the roof," Barry Raleigh, 17, told police. "He wriggled and cried out. Then I let him go.

four days ago moved into the hotel with his parents from San Jose, Calif., fell to the sidewalk. At that moment his mother was writing a letter in the lobby to another son, Michael, 17, still in San Jose.

She heard the long wailing scream and dashed with other patrons out to the sidewalk where she found her son dead. When she instinctively glanced up, she saw Raleigh's pale face peering over the parapet.

Christopher's brother, Brian, 5, said he was on his way up the hotel fire escape to the roof when his brother dropped.

but then he went all the rest of the way down." Mrs. Mayfield said that only last September her 10-day-old daughter died.

SUFFERING AFRICA—Hardly more than bones, a Baluba tribeswoman and her child sprawl in the dust of a road near Bakwanga, Congo, too exhausted to continue the journey for help. They and other natives of Kasai Province are starving in the wake of inter-tribal fighting between the Balubas and the Lulus. Ironic is the appearance of a woman, right, balancing a full basket of food on her head. Fortunately, food and medical aid were available for the emaciated pair at a nearby refugee center.

Group Trying For Germany Tourist Trade

By RICHARD T. LEONARD JR.
FRANKFURT (UPI)—Vacation travel to the United States has long been a bugaboo for Europeans who have to watch their pocketbooks a little closer than Americans.
A group of businessmen and consular officials here has set out to destroy this bugaboo and give the American tourist trade a much needed shot in the arm.
U.S. citizens are spending $1 billion annually more on tourism than foreigners visiting the United States. The group hopes that by stimulating tourist interest for travel to the United States, some of the money which American tourists have been spending abroad will find its way back home.
The group, which calls itself the German Committee for Travel to the U.S.A., is made up of representatives of international airlines, steamship companies, the local American Chamber of Commerce and local American consular officials. Its goal is to convince an estimated 200,000 potential German tourists that they can visit the United States as cheaply as they could visit Greece or Italy.
Due to the post-war boom in Germany, the German people are enjoying their greatest period of prosperity in history. For thousands of Germans, the opportunity to spend vacations in the New World, which for years had been completely out of the question, has now become a reality.
More and more Germans are joining the ranks of international globetrotters and thousands of them flock to the plush Mediterranean resorts of Spain, Portugal, France, Italy, Yugoslavia and Greece every year.
"The Europeans apparently are unaware of the fact that they are passing up some of the best bargains in the world today by not taking advantage of the American travel opportunity," said Leon Keiston, an American consular official.
Pressure is being brought to bear on international air and surface carriers to use foresight and reduce fares between Europe and the Western Hemisphere. If prices were reduced, it was pointed out, volume would increase and many transatlantic carriers which, in off-season are carrying as little as one-tenth of capacity, could carry full loads and profit by the volume of trade.
Another thing which may tempt potential European tourists is a booklet entitled "See New York on $5 a day." The booklet lists all the important points of interest, TV and radio shows, hotels with moderate rates, transportation fares and cost of food.
That may be visiting the U.S. on a shoestring, but it's breaking the ice—and that, says the committee, is what counts.

Gals Fouling Straight Line Of Eyebrows

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The human eyebrow, when left to its own devices, usually runs in a fairly straight line at right angles to the nose on a parallel with the eyelashes.
This geometrically balanced arrangement obviously was planned by Mother Nature to provide the human face with some sort of symmetry. And, heaven knows, most human faces can use a little symmetry.
Rarely does the eyebrow, of its own volition, take off at oblique angles across the forehead, and rarely does it spin around into a kind of a curl.
Even more rarely does the eyebrow arch up into the shape of new moons, or horseshoes, giving the face an expression of perpetual astonishment.
How, then, do we account for the fact that about 95 per cent of the women these days have semi-circular eyebrows? The answer, obviously, is that the eyebrow is being diverted from its natural path.
And what is the purpose of this? Have women, taking a cue from the soil conservationists, decided that facial erosion can be prevented by terracing their eyebrows?
Apparently not. Female facial erosion mainly is caused by tears cascading down the cheeks. To control this flow of moisture with terraced eyebrows, a woman, when crying, would have to stand on her head.
This obviously is impractical. If a woman did a headstand each time she was moved to tears, she would find it difficult to throw things.
I can only conclude, then, that the quest for new eyebrow frontiers is somehow connected with the "Jackie look" that is currently sweeping the country. The "Jackie look" is responsible for a lot of strange occurrences.
For instance, I noticed recently that my wife was shortening the sleeves on her old dress. At the time, I wrote this off as whim and tried to ignore it.
I didn't realize what was behind it until a day or two later when we were going out for the evening. When I got home, she was already dressed. For a wild, brief moment I thought I had actually stumbled into the White House.
Tell me, my lovelies, why is it that all of you want to look like the first lady? I'll grant that she is a beauty. But does the nation really need 90 million Mrs. Kennedys?
According to an item I saw in the paper the other day, some women are even going so far as to have their noses made over in the first lady's image.
I don't know where it all will lead, but I fear that some women, in striving for the "Jackie look," will end up looking like Jackie Gleason.
How would you 'women like it if all of us men tried to make ourselves look like Jack Kennedy? On second thought, don't answer that.

Four Escape Somervell County Jail

GLEN ROSE, Tex. (UPI)—Four men overpowered a jailer and escaped from the Somervell County jail at Glen Rose yesterday. For two of the escapers, it was the third break from the jail in less than a year.
Authorities identified the four as Johnny Hill, 18, of Coburne, Robby Lester Stanley, 26, of San Antonio, LeRoy Moore, 26, of Glen Rose, and Albert Lambeth, 21, of Stephenville. Hill and Stanley had escaped from the jail twice before.
The four overpowered jailer Foy Edwards, 23, as he brought them breakfast, then escaped on foot. A fifth prisoner, Jose Castillo, 20, was freed but refused to go with the escapers.
Hill and Stanley were being held for trial on charges of jail break from the last time they escaped. Moore and Lambeth were being held on forgery charges.

LUFKIN (UPI)—Lufkin police today were conducting an investigation into the shooting death of 14-year-old junior high school student here.

The dead boy was Jackie Ray Merriman, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Merriman of Lufkin. Services were scheduled for 4 p.m. today.

BOSTON (UPI)—Boston's transit system was shut down by a transit strike early today, stranding 750,000 riders or forcing them to crowded highways.

Gov. John A. Volpe told both to "be prepared to meet a situation."

HOUSTON (UPI)—A fire broke out in the back shop of the Houston Chronicle early today and an employee collapsed and died.

J. R. Loughridge, 52, a stereorival at Memorial Hospital, later was pronounced dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital. It is believed death resulted from heart attack.

The fire broke out in the lead bank building on 1-31.

LONDON (UPI)—A six-man jury held a bank cashier's family soner for nearly three hours today in an unsuccessful attempt to open an American Express bank at U.S. Air Force base in South Wales.

PARIS (UPI)—Paul Henri Spaak resigned today as secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Kennedy's Crease as an "easy way" to break a Rules Committee roadblock which he said threatened to force close House action on such Kennedy measures as school aid, minimum wage, and medical care for the aged.

"I think we're going to win," Rayburn told newsmen after he and other Democratic leaders met with Kennedy at the White House. He said the rules fight was not discussed.

Kennedy has maintained a hands-off policy, saying it is a matter for the House itself to settle. But last week he said a "private citizen," he did not think congressmen should be blocked from voting on legislation.

Rayburn said the House would vote shortly after noon, following an hour's debate.

"It will be rather close," he said.

Democrats as a group stood with Rayburn.

There were defections from both sides, however. About 60 southern conservatives indicated they would cast their lot with the Smith-Halleck bloc. Rayburn's backers were counting on enough help from Republicans to offset this loss.

Both sides said last-minute pressures were tremendous. Kennedy forces charged that the National Association of Manufacturers and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce had inspired a flood of letters and telegrams from local businessmen opposing the change.

The Smith-Halleck forces said administration spokesmen had been tempting Republicans with offers of special treatment and threatening Democrats with loss of patronage, projects and favors. The charge was denied.

Kennedy made no mention of the rules fight in his State of the Union address to Congress Monday. But associates said the new President felt the issue was critical. They said he believed not only that his legislative program was at stake but that his position abroad would be jeopardized if the House turned its back on him now.

First U. S. interurban line began operation on Dec. 28, 1888, between Granville and Newark, Ohio.

City Commission Opens Bids For New Equipment

Pampa's city commission, meeting in regular session in City Hall, was engaged in opening bids and awarding contracts late this forenoon.

The bids concerned equipment for various city departments including a truck and refuse packer, five 2-way radios and an air compressor and pickup truck.

The commission also granted approval today for a contract with Roberts County to furnish fire protection in outlying sections. The contract provides that Pampa is to be paid $50 a run and $5 per mile not to exceed $100 for each first call.

Today's commission meeting was held in the chamber of Commerce conference room because the regular meeting place was being used as a polling place in today's charter election.

Voting

1019 S. Barnes St. said 148 votes had been cast there at 12:30 p.m.

Voters were casting their ballots to accept or reject proposed changes in the city charter which would provide for the at-large election of city councilmen instead of by the ward system, a revision in the city tax setup and annexation procedures.

The voting today brings to a climax a hotly contested campaign by proponents and opponents of the charter proposal during the past week or ten days.

City Secretary Edwin V. Jones said results of the election should be known shortly after the polls close at 7 o'clock tonight. The heaviest balloting in all four of the city's polling places is expected to come in late afternoon and this evening when employees in stores and shops finish the day's work. The polls will close at 7 p.m.

Oklahoma Man Charged On DWI

Earl W. Morton of Gage Okla., entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned in County Court this morning on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Judge William J. Craig set bail at $1,500. Morton was arrested by city police.

Price Inquiry Started By Senate Group

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators disclosed today they planned to launch a broad inquiry into reports that American industry has been pricing itself out of the world market.

The new congressional investigation, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., was linked directly with high government concern over America's international trade imbalance and dwindling gold reserves.

Plans for the inquiry were disclosed in a letter from Kefauver, chairman of the Senate anti-trust and monopoly sub-committee, to Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., head of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The sub-committee has asked the Senate for $450,000 to conduct the new investigation and carry on its other work.

Kefauver said reports sent to the State Department by U.S. diplomatic posts around the world showed that the most important cause in the decline of American exports has been "excessive prices."

Other congressional developments:

Anti-recession: Congress appeared almost certain to approve quickly President Kennedy's proposals to extend unemployment benefits and provide more federal food grants to needy families. But other more permanent features of his anti-recession program faced rough going. He spelled out the program in his State of the Union speech Monday.

Foreign: Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said President Kennedy had given Congress a clear blueprint for enacting more effective foreign programs. Fulbright particularly applauded Kennedy's emphasis in the State of the Union message on flexibility and long-term foreign aid.

So many rulers of the mound builders inhabited the region that Ohio's Paint Creek Valley often is called "valley of Kings."

WTCC Official To Report On 1961 Program

Fred Husbands, executive vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will give a report on the WTCC work program for 1961 at a meeting in Coronado Inn at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Roy Bourland, Pampa director on the WTCC board, said today anyone interested in knowing about the work of the group is invited to attend the coffee session which will last from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. No reservations are necessary.

The report meeting will follow the Congressional Action Breakfast at 7 a.m. Thursday at which Husbands is scheduled as the main speaker. He will discuss major issues before the current session of the Texas state legislature.

Pampans Attend Meet In Quanah

Three Pampans represented the Pampa Chamber of Commerce at the annual installation banquet of the chamber of commerce in Quanah last night. They were Mr. and Mrs. Don Morrison and E. R. Sidwell.

Morrison reported today the meeting was attended by more than 400 persons, who assembled to hear an address on Communism and Red infiltration by Fred Doch, Wichita, Kan., industrialist, who is a native of Quanah.

The Arkansas Penitentiary System produces about twice as much cotton and rice per acre than the average Arkansas farm.

Dear Abby!

Seventh-Graders Play Matchmakers

AB GAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We need your advice. We are 200 seventh-grade students. We have a teacher who is very pretty, but she is already 27 years old and she isn't married and we are afraid she is going to be an old maid.

There is a darling policeman who is a bachelor and would be just right for her. He wants to meet her, but he is quite shy. How can we get them together? Thank you.

DEAR "CUPIDS": The next time your school has a social function, (PTA, Visiting Night, a school play or a hop) one of your boys should invite this policeman to come as his guest. Then one of the girls should tell the school teacher that the policeman was invited because he was interested in meeting her. Then all you "cupids" should disappear.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for all the people who complained about the price of haircuts. Barbers, along with clergymen, firemen and policemen, belong to the "sacrifice" group. The public expects them to work for nothing. I have the most trouble with baldies. They can comb their hair with a wash rag, yet they come in and ask for a haircut. ("Just trim it around the ears a little.") Then they gripe because I took off too much. Too much what?

DEAR ABBY: According to the way everything else has gone up, haircuts should be $5. And when the barber has to work half an hour fixing up a home haircut after it has been butchered by an amateur, he should charge $7.50.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a woman who has been legally separated from her husband for six years. I want to marry her but she says she can't get a divorce because of her religion. What do you advise me to do?

Mrs. Prigmore Is Hostess To TOT Garden Club

Mrs. O. M. Prigmore entertained members of the Top o' Texas Garden Club at a meeting in her home recently.

A program on "Birds" was given with each member participating by giving information on one kind of bird during which it was brought out that there are 542 species of birds in Texas alone and that a large percentage of North American birds migrate to the tropics of Texas to winter.

During the business meeting, an election of officers was held with the following members elected: Mrs. James Deal, as president to serve a second term; Tom Patton, vice president; V. K. Osborne, recording secretary; J. S. Hawley, corresponding secretary; Fred Hinkley, treasurer; John A. Howard, historian; Helen Knox, parliamentarian.

Refreshments were served during the social hour. It was announced that Mrs. Raymond Welch, 2201 Chestnut, will be hostess for the Feb. 14 meeting at 1:30 in her home.

Trend-Setting Silhouettes For Spring Show That Coats Will Be Collarless

GAILE DUGAS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — A single word can be used to stamp a coat as definitely belonging to spring 1961. The word is "collarless."

Designers have tossed the collar away. They've replaced it with bands, rings or bracelets of fabric, draped cowls and cardigan lines, all of them looking decorative and really new.

This collarless coat appears in several trend-setting silhouettes. There's the slim coat with deep side slashes to reveal the companion dress beneath. Then there's a fitted version, sometimes tied at the waistline with a string bow of the fabric. But this has a very easy fit: the skirt actually has a gentle fullness! A third silhouette is found in the really full coat done in the cape manner with either flat width or floating fullness.

Color, this spring, dominates silhouette in importance. Translated into simple shopping terms, this means look for color first and silhouette second this spring. If you see a coat you like in cyclamen, pink and the lines fall generally into one of the three silhouettes described here, buy it. You're in fashion.

Colors bloom brilliantly; there are no shy violets among them.

To Whip Or Not To Whip... That's Britain's Question

By TOM A. CULLEN

LONDON (NEA) — "To whip or not to whip." That is the judicial question hanging over Britain's head today.

The question slashes across political party and economic class lines. Ever since Britain abolished such corporal punishment as a court sentence in 1948, there has been a persistent demand that it be reintroduced as a penalty for youthful offenders.

At the annual Conservative party conference, cries of "bring back the cat" (cat-o-nine-tails) were heard. "Don't let us be over-sentimental, motherly and woolly about this thing," one delegate said. A conservative mother repeated her 8-year-old son's advice for dealing with teen-age thugs: "Beat 'em, Mum. They don't like it and they won't come back no more."

Home Secretary R. A. (Rab) Butler, a Conservative, opposes cracking the whip again. His 15-man Advisory Council on the treatment of offenders dealt a severe blow to the flogging advocates. In a report, the council unanimously recommended that corporal punishment should not be re-introduced as a judicial penalty in respect of any categories of offenses or offenders. "To do so would mean putting the clock back a hundred years."

"There is no evidence that corporal punishment is an especially effective deterrent either to those who have received it or to others. Although it might succeed as a crime deterrent in some cases, the same could be said of many prisons of drastic and severe punishment which have long since been abolished as affronting the conscience of a civilized community."

But Sir Thomas Moore, who leads the pro-flogging faction in the House of Commons, said the report "gives the green light to hung thugs to go ahead with their pees and other violent crimes."

A recent Gallup poll found 78 per cent of the public favoring a return to corporal punishment for crimes of violence. About 77 per cent of 3,500 letters to the advisory council supported the poll finding. Until corporal punishment was abolished, judges could prescribe its use on males convicted as "incorrigible rogues," and those found guilty of shooting at the Sovereign, irregular horse slaughter, living on immoral earnings or robbery with violence.

In practice, such punishment was inflicted in only a small proportion of cases on those committing robbery with violence.

The birch, a bundle of twigs (switches) varying in size according to the offender's age, or the cat, nine lengths of whiplash 33 inches long attached to a small wooden handle, could be used.

Prisoners to be birched were strapped to easel-like affairs, known as "the triangle," bent over pads between the front legs of the triangle and whipped across their bare buttocks.

Those flogged were strapped to the upper part of the triangle, hands above their heads, necks and loins protected from misplaced strokes by leather collars and belts, and beaten across their backs.

In both cases, the prisoners were prevented from seeing the administering officers by canvass sheets placed between them. Medical officers, watching the prisoners' faces, could stop the punishment at any time.

The strokes of the cat could be as many as 48 but judges seldom advocated more than 24.

And British and Welsh police chiefs are unanimously opposed to police officers being asked to administer whippings.

PEEPING PASSENGERS BARROW, England (UPI) — Every three minutes bus passengers here peered into 15-year-old Jaqueline Hawry's bedroom window when the buses stopped outside her house.

Today in the window they have two statues of women, put up by Jaqueline's father, "to give them something else to look at."

Alger's Wife Wins Divorce

DALLAS (UPI) — Quickly, quietly and without fanfare, Mrs. Lynn Alger, a former photographer's model, won an uncontested divorce Monday night from Bruce Alger, the only Republican Congressman from Texas.

Alger and his wife, with their attorneys, agreed on an uncontested divorce during a series of conferences in the chambers of Dist. Judge Looney Lindsay and thus avoided a jury trial that might have been one of the most spicy and sensational divorce cases in Texas history.

U. S. Steel May Report Earning Hike

NEW YORK (UPI) — U.S. Steel Corp. is expected today to report it came through 1960 in generally better shape than most of its big competitors by virtue of newer and more efficient mills.

Wall Street observers look for the nation's biggest steel producer to show higher earnings last year, despite a slump in the second biggest U.S. industry, that dropped operations to a 20-year non-strike low in the final week.

Embezzler Awaiting Sentence

SIoux CITY, Iowa (UPI) — Mrs. Burnice Iverson Geiger, who has broken her public silence since she confessed embezzling $2 million from the Sheldon, Iowa, National Bank, retreated again today to await sentence.

As expected, the government's case treated only transactions since November, 1957, and dealt with falsified records. The federal statute of limitations bars prosecution for embezzlement after six years from the date of the offense.

Audits since Mrs. Geiger's arrest Jan. 16 have indicated the looting may have begun 30 to 40 years ago.

Asylum Granted 70 Cubans

NEW YORK (UPI) — At least 75 Cubans won emergency entry on a "last-chance" ship into the United States today as political refugees from Fidel Castro's government.

Several of the Cubans, who asked for asylum Monday in surprise move after their Spanish-bound ship "Covadonga" docked in New York, said they plan to go to Florida immediately to join anti-Castro elements training to overthrow the Cuban leader.

Joseph Miranda, president of the Spanish-American Committee for Latin American Relations, which first got word of the Cubans' hopes to live in the United States, credited President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk with clearing the way for the emergency entry permits.

Esperdy said early today the Cubans included women and children, and added that "there may be a few loose-end cases to clear up later."

New Brazilian Chief Executive Takes Office

BRASILIA, Brazil (UPI)—Janio Quadros, at 44 the youngest president in the history of Latin America's largest nation, was inaugurated at noon today (9 a.m. CST) in this half-built wilderness capital.

Quadros was sworn in first by the Supreme Electoral Court of Brazil but his term did not begin formally until he and outgoing President Juscelino Kubitschek appeared before a joint session of Congress.

The most urgent of a number of pressing problems confronting the new president was the case of the hijacked Portuguese liner Santa Maria, which had been lying off Brazil since Saturday awaiting assurances it could enter Brazilian waters without being seized as stolen property.

Although Brazilian newspapers have reported that hijacker Henrique Galvao could be sure of a cordial welcome from his "old friend" Quadros, the new president refused to confirm this in advance of taking office.

Self-styled Portuguese "president in exile" Humberto Delgado apparently accepted the press reports a stride.

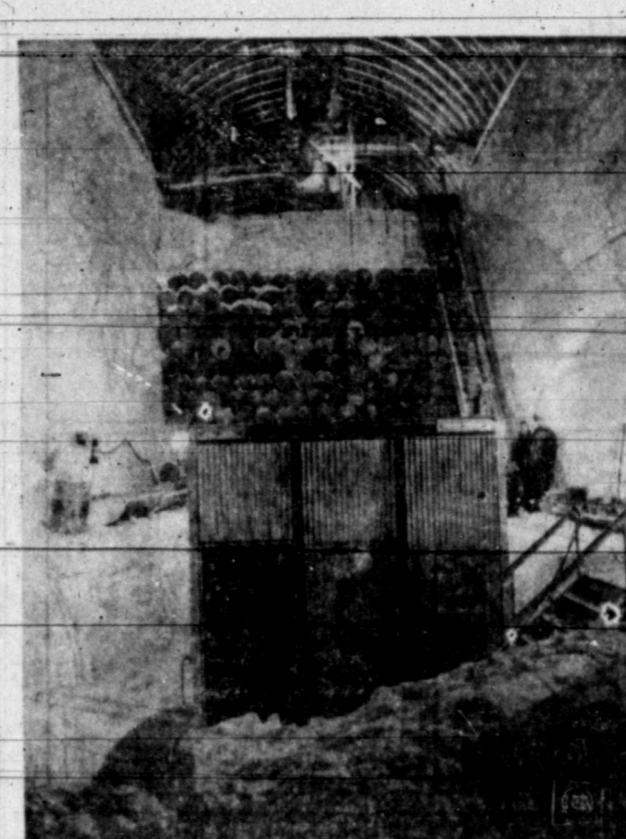

Sunday he instructed Galvao to remain on the high seas until noon today before entering a Brazilian port to land 600-odd captive passengers.

SCIENTIFIC SABBATICAL—Two Explorer Scouts, selected by Boy Scout officials after a series of tests, are spending the six-month winter at Camp Century, in the Greenland icecap. Camp Century is a little, self-contained city under the snow. It houses a nuclear reactor which will supply the electricity for the isolated base, 140 miles from civilization. Man-made tunnels 80 feet deep were dug to house the reactor which is shown here.

Kennedy Concerned About Our Physical Unfitness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy said today he was concerned about "a steady decline" in the physical fitness standards of Americans as compared with Europeans and other people around the world.

He said he hoped that the White House would "do our best to emphasize" that physical fitness was vital to the nation's survival and that something must be done about the problem.

Kennedy commented in a videotaped interview with Dave Garroway on the NBC "Today" television program. He appeared on a segment marking the 150th anniversary of the founding of Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, of which Kennedy has been on the Board of Overseers since 1947.

The President, in the interview which was conducted Saturday in the broadcast room of the White House, noted that his family had been "particularly interested" in research into causes of mental retardation of children and had provided funds for a research center to be built at the hospital.

Garroway recalled that Kennedy had written an article recently on physical fitness and asked if the importance of this was recognized by young and middle-aged persons.

"Well, I think it is a serious problem," Kennedy said. "Our society is quite sophisticated and we are in a very dangerous period in our world history. We have unrelenting foes who are determined to destroy us."

Kennedy said the nation is "in a dangerous period, and I think we have to be fit."

 How old is your bourbon?

The Top Bourbon of Kentucky is now a full 7 years old... the only bourbon in a handsome traditional, etched green glass bottle! And the name has been changed from Old Stagg to Geo. T. Stagg to pay tribute to the memory of the man who created this bourbon nearly a century ago. Almost three million barrels of this fine old Kentucky bourbon have been produced according to his unique formula. Now that it is older than ever, its flavor is smoother and mellower than ever. Enjoy this old whiskey tonight... Geo. T. Stagg in the distinctive square bottle.

Pampa Teams Ready As Regional GG Tourney Unfolds Tonight

MARILLO—Pampa Optimist team championships and a chance to enter the state GG tourney next month in Fort Worth. From Fort Worth, the winners will advance to the national tournament in Chicago in mid-February.

Tri City, entering its first regional competition, will be headed by Charles Snider, a one-time alternate to the state meet. Fighting at 160 pounds, Snider won the Berger district tournament with ease and possesses a good booming right and could be the strongest Tri City entrant in the meet.

Pampa Optimist Club, the old-line vintage Pampa boxers who have won or shared six high school team titles and two open team championships in the last nine years, might give Plainview and Hereford—the pre-tourney picks—fits in the open division.

WALLOPING WILLS—Dickie Wills, 147-pounder, is one of the key hopes of the Pampa Optimist Club when the Amarillo Regional Golden Gloves tournament opens tonight. To win his division, Wills will have to get past Gary Watt of Levelland, the defending state champion. (Daily News Photo)

Harvesters Await Rebel Raid

PHS, Tascosa Meet In 8 p. m. Skirmish

By ARTHUR MAYHEW
Daily News Sports Editor

Pampa's Harvesters and Tascosa's Rebels, in a four-way, district 3-4A lead when they met less than two weeks ago, tangle again at 8 p. m. today in a conference that could rearrange the second division but will have little effect in the title race.

NATION'S BEST—Ohio State's Buckeyes, the nation's best collegiate basketball team since the San Francisco Dons of the Bill Russell, K. C. Jones era, captured their fifteenth straight victory of the season last night to remain the only undefeated major team in the nation. Members of the team are, from left, Richie Hoyt, Jerry Lucas, Larry Siegfried, Mel Newell and John Havilifeek.

Pampa (1-7) opened the district race in early January with a victory over Palo Duro, but has since gone winless, most heartbreaking loss of which came last Friday when Duro hit two free throws in the last 40 seconds to defeat Pampa, 41-33.

Hogs Seek Bear Hides

Tascosa which started like a fire, faltered after the first half of play and now stands 3-5 in 3-4A, defeating Lubbock, 60-50 today to break a five-game losing streak.

Buckeyes Maintain UPI Poll Lead

Bradley Braves Leap Into Runnerup Spot

The district spotlight, however, will be in Lubbock and Amarillo where the four remaining contenders bump heads in a pair of games that should narrow the title race to two teams.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bradley moved up to No. 8; Louisville and Iowa were tied for 7th, with St. John's and Kansas State rounding out the top 10.

Despite the present drought, Pampa played one of its best games in the district game tonight in Amarillo.

The coaches based their ratings on games played through Saturday night, Jan. 28.

Carroll Broussard, the current conference hot-shot and the 18th leading scorer in the nation with a 22.9 average in 14 games, tossed in 24 points Monday night to pace Texas A&M in an 86-39 massacre over the University of the Pacific at College Station.

There are two other big games on this week's schedule involving leading teams. North Carolina and Duke meet at Durham, N.C., Saturday night, and 8th-ranked Southern California and 11th-ranked UCLA clash Friday and Saturday nights on each other's home court.

Pat and Don Stanley, the Aggie twin forwards, held Pacific's high-scoring Ken Stanley to 13 points, 11 of them in the first half.

Southern California moved up three notches this week and St. John's fell four places from 5th to 9th after losing to St. Louis.

Pat and Don Stanley, the Aggie twin forwards, held Pacific's high-scoring Ken Stanley to 13 points, 11 of them in the first half.

The top 10 group was made up of the same teams as last week, with North Carolina and Duke, two Atlantic Coast Conference powers, ranked fourth and fifth, respectively.

Pat and Don Stanley, the Aggie twin forwards, held Pacific's high-scoring Ken Stanley to 13 points, 11 of them in the first half.

Both of these runnerup contenders play tough road games tonight and then meet in New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday night.

Pat and Don Stanley, the Aggie twin forwards, held Pacific's high-scoring Ken Stanley to 13 points, 11 of them in the first half.

With points awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th places, Bradley beat out the Bonnies, 291 points to 276. UCLA, Kansas and Indiana remained in the 11th through 13th spots, followed in order by Cincinnati, Memphis State, Utah, Wake Forest, Detroit, West Virginia and Wichita.

Pat and Don Stanley, the Aggie twin forwards, held Pacific's high-scoring Ken Stanley to 13 points, 11 of them in the first half.

Ohio State remained all alone today in a bid for college basketball's grand slam—the national championship, an undefeated season and a conference title.

Pampa, Rebels Clash In Junior High Tilt

Pampa's Reapers, with more narrow district losses, things to protect than a JFK bodyguard, travel across town for an important in-city battle with the Rebels at 4 p. m. today in the Lee Gym.

The Reapers, who have surprised even their most devout followers by racking up an 11-1 record, also hold the Panhandle Junior High School conference lead with a 6-0 mark and a victory would assure them of a tie with Berger Houston even if Houston defeats the Reaps in their next meeting.

Lee, paced by Robert Howard and Teddy Bird, have been extended only once this season and are in first place in the eighth grade division of the junior high loop.

Doormat Royals Slap Front-Running Celts

By United Press International—Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics says his team won't be beaten out of the Eastern Division title in full game in nearly two weeks for the National Basketball Association unless he and his teammates drop dead.

The Celtics were trounced by more than 20 points by the Cincinnati Royals, 116-88, at Cincinnati. Los Angeles defeated Detroit for the seventh time in nine games, 117-116, at the Los Angeles Sports Arena in the only other NBA game.

In last place in the Western Division, Cincinnati took one of the best games known in basketball—a large dose of Oscar Robertson. The Celtics-rookie of the year in the NBA came back for his first full game in nearly two weeks and scored 32 points.

The Pampa Woman's Bowling Assn. will meet at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Cabo Auditorium of the Hughes Bldg. to discuss the upcoming city bowling tournament.

The tourney has been tentatively scheduled for the first two weekends in March.

Maris Receives Big Pay Boost For 1961

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

Money isn't everything, but name something else that could make Roger Maris and Don Drysdale smile like that!

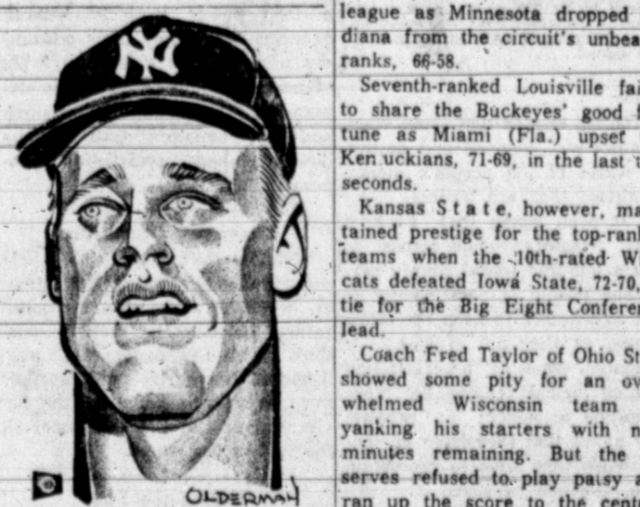

You'd smile, too, if you did as well financially as they did Monday.

Maris, the 26-year-old right fielder for the New York Yankees, received a raise of more than 30 per cent that figured out to about $13,000 and brought his salary up to the neighborhood of $33,000.

Drysdale settled in the same neighborhood, and the $33,000 contract he signed with the Los Angeles Dodgers represented an $8,000 boost that makes him the highest-paid pitcher in the club's history.

Maris, the American League's most valuable player last season, earned his raise by leading the league with 112 runs batted in while hitting 39 homers and batting .283.

He had turned down the Yankees' first offer but said there was no serious bickering between him and General Manager Roy Hamey.

Ohio State Keeps Win Mark Alive

By United Press International—Ohio State remained all alone today in a bid for college basketball's grand slam—the national championship, an undefeated season and a conference title.

The top-ranked Buckeyes ran their winning streak to 15, and 20 over a two-season span, Monday night by rolling over Wisconsin, 100-68. It was the fifth Big Ten Conference triumph of the campaign for Ohio State and left them the only undefeated team in the league as Minnesota dropped Indiana from the circuit's unbeaten ranks, 66-58.

Seventh-ranked Louisville failed to share the Buckeyes' good fortune as Miami (Fla.) upset the Kenuckians, 71-69, in the last two seconds.

Kansas State, however, maintained prestige for the top-ranked teams when the 10th-rated Wildcats defeated Iowa State, 72-70, to tie for the Big Eight Conference lead.

Cochair Fred Taylor of Ohio State showed some pity for an overwhelmed Wisconsin team by yanking his starters with nine minutes remaining. But the reserves refused to play patsy and ran up the score to the century mark.

All-American Jerry Lucas paced the Buckeye battering ram with 19 points as Ohio State ran up a 51-26 halftime lead and had an overall field goal percentage of 51 per cent.

Texas Sports In Brief

CANYON, Tex. (UPI)—The Sun Devils from Arizona State University fought from behind in the last 10 minutes Monday night to whip West Texas State 78-71 and keep their Border Conference record unblemished.

The Devils trailed 50-40 shortly after the second half opened, but finally pulled in front 54-53 on a short jump shot by Larry Armstrong who paced the attack with 27 points.

Keith Blair had 19 for West Texas.

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—The Oklahoma City University Chiefs whipped North Texas State 88-64 Monday night with Fred Moses and Larry Jones providing a one-two punch.

Moses tossed in 21 points and Jones got 20, but Larry Cruise of North Texas took individual honors for the game with a 23 point production.

HOUSTON (UPI)—Harris County voters go to the polls today to vote on a $22 million bond issue to finance the world's first major league all-weather sports arena—one with a dome over the top.

Single Standard Texts

As readers of any of the Freedom Newspapers know, these eleven newspapers have been trying for some time to find a textbook used in any of the government schools that stands for a single standard of rightness. We have asked the readers to try to find such a textbook.

The reason we make this effort is that we do not believe we can have a nation based on the ideologies of the Declaration of Independence unless the youth have an opportunity to study textbooks that are based on the principles of the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence. These Commandments and the Declaration are all based on the one principle that all men have certain inalienable rights that they receive from their Creator. This nation was founded on this single principle. Undoubtedly that is the reason, so long as we, more nearly than any other nation, have had more freedom, been happier and had a higher standard of living than any other nation in the world.

Without the belief in the single standard of rightness, men eventually become enslaved and lose their integrity.

By a single standard of rightness we mean that no group of persons, no nation has a moral or ethical right to do anything that each and every individual in the group doesn't have a God-given right to do as individuals. It is based on the principle that if it is wrong for one person to do a thing, it is still wrong no matter what percentage of the group does the same act. Multiplying a thing that is vicious does not make it virtuous.

Let it be known that we are not criticizing the teachers in the schools. There is no question that most of them would like to use textbooks that explained the blessings that follow the moral principles.

Variety and Risk

Variety, it has been said, is the spice of life. Then risk is the sweetening which makes life palatable.

The Personal Recession

It is a mistake to speak of "the recession." There is no general recession affecting all alike, and there never has been.

Each firm, and indeed each family, faces its own particular recession. It is serious or slight, and must cope with it as best it can.

Take the families on your block. Have all of them suffered the same loss of income during the last year? No. Some individual workers have lost their jobs and have not taken others. Some have taken others. Some have taken other jobs which in some cases pay more, in others less. Some were laid off temporarily, then rehired. Some have had pay cuts, others pay raises.

Of the business and professional men in the block, some have done less business, some more, some about the same.

The same is true of the firms in every city. Some have experienced a drop in sales. Some, perhaps, have gone bankrupt. Others have actually increased their sales. Some firms have had the best year in their history.

ple of a single standard of rightness. They, however, are obliged to use the textbooks on human relations selected by politicians at the head of the tax-paid schools. Since no one offered to furnish us the name of such a book, The Register, in Santa Ana, Calif., a sister paper of The Pampa Daily News, approached the superintendent of Santa Ana schools, Oliver Larson, and asked him to give us the name of a book that advocated a single standard of rightness. He replied that he would check it up and let us know and call us. Since he did not call us, The Register called him. Then he said that he didn't have time. Then the public relations representative was asked. His answer was the same, that he didn't have time. Then the president of the School Board, Wilber Barr, was asked, and he said he thought he could supply such a book. He did mail the book, "Understanding Our Free Economy." The editors of Freedom Newspapers had read this book previously and knew that it did not stand for a single standard of rightness because it advocated the government having the right to do things that no individual in the government had a God given right to do. Nor was this book even used as a textbook in the schools. The fact is, the principal of the high school pointed out that the Santa Ana School Board was obliged to use another textbook furnished by the state, and this book could only be used as a reference book. Then the president of the Junior College was approached and he said that he didn't know of any such book. The editors of Freedom Newspapers had read more than 10,000 pages of books used in government schools on social studies and have been unable to find a single textbook which advocated a single standard of rightness. Of course, it is impossible to prove a negative without proving a positive, and there is no way of definitely proving that there is no such book used in tax-paid schools. The only way you can prove it is by reason, by logic, and it seems unrealistic to believe that schools that are based on the theory that the majority has a right to do things that no individual in the group has a God given right to do would even consider using a textbook that taught the exact opposite from what they were doing. If they were successful in teaching the exact opposite from what tax-paid schools are doing, people would not believe in government schools that were purely secular and could not, by example or by precept, teach a single standard of rightness. Nor does it seem reasonable to believe that there is any such book any more than they would have in the Russian Communist schools. A textbook that advocated the benefits that come from private ownership of property. It is not really the amount of money that is spent on government schools that is harmful, but it is the warping of the minds of the youth of the land so that they believe in dialectical materialism. That there are no principles superior to man-made laws; that man can make any law that he wants to, regardless of whether it violates the eternal principles that existed long before any government existed, and not suffer for his errors; that the means do not predetermine the results; that man "can pick figs from thistles." And if we are to judge education by its fruits, we certainly would not believe that the youth of the land is receiving much of an education as far as right and wrong are concerned. An education that isn't based on ethics or religion is really worse than no education at all. It only corrupts those attending; and makes the person who is so trained a more skilled and dangerous person. Such an education has to be substituted. They have to teach it, figuratively speaking, under the table. The administrators care not submit themselves to questions to test what they are teaching to find out if it is good. They have to hide behind a teacher's certificate issued by the political authorities of the state schools, backed by the force of the government. There is, of course, no more important thing than the parents are responsible for than the feeding and clothing and the educating of their children. They must have the final say as to how their children are to be educated. They, of course, will make mistakes, but some of them will not, while if it is under the monopoly of the state, the mistakes become more generally believed. This creates a moral climate that visits the sins of the fathers on the children of the third and fourth generations. And that is what we have been reaping for the last half century. We would be under great obligation if any advocate of government, coercive schools would explain why we are in the predicament we are in today if it were not for our violating moral law and attempting to follow a double standard of rightness, which, in reality, is no standard at all.

The Doctor Says:

DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN
My mail is filled with requests to "please write something about the menopause."
"It's such a difficult time for me and for millions of other women," writes a correspondent.
To begin with, let me explain what the menopause is and how it comes about. Then, we'll discuss your approach to its problems.
The menopause is nature's way of limiting the child-bearing capacities of the woman. It is a completely normal phenomenon, so please be relaxed about it.
You enter the menopause when the pituitary regulator issues a "cease and desist" order to the ovaries. The ovaries then discontinue their production of ripe eggs and this, in turn, puts a stop to periodic bleedings from the uterine nest.
A few minor discomforts frequently accompany these changes. Usually they consist of brief flushing, chills, sweating and various manifestations of nervousness. Rarely do menopausal accompaniments fail to be relieved by simple sedation, provided that the medication is given by an understanding physician to an understanding patient.
Once in a very great while, the menopausal symptoms are sufficiently severe or annoying to require more drastic treatment. Under these circumstances, the physician may find it advisable to prescribe or inject a glandular extract.
Whether or not glandular treatments are given, the patient is entitled to know that there is no such thing as menopausal insanity or arthritis or any other such condition. Disturbances that occur with or after the menopause are probably coincidental. Rarely if ever are they caused by the "change."
Since the menopause marks the end of the woman's span of fertility and nothing else, it does not produce any significant change in her appearance, her reactions or her ability to perform whatever duties she performed previously.
The EEI president points with pride to the fact that during 1960, the electric utility industry continued its record-making growth, while the over-all American economy was having its ups-and-downs. As to the future, Mr. Knapp states that by 1970 the investor-owned companies plan to have doubled their present capacity and production; that by 1980, they expect both capacity and production to have quadrupled. (Will Russian newspapers please copy?) A production record was set in 1960. The total production of electricity within the United States, (including our two new States, Alaska and Hawaii, and generation by industrial plants and railroads) amounted to 845 billion kilowatt hours — an increase of 6.3 per cent over 1959. (Tass, are you listening?)
In 1960 the power-producing capability of the electric industry in the United States (exclusive of Alaska and Hawaii) reached a new high of 175.9 million kilowatts — an increase of 7.7 per cent over 1959. The investor-owned companies provided 76.2 per cent of this total, while the balance of 23.8 per cent was provided by government-owned or government-financed power agencies.
The estimated capacity, peak demand in 1960 was approximately 139 million kilowatts. This means a reserve capacity of 35.6 million kilowatts, or a 25.5 per cent margin over the estimated annual peak. Looks as though our American electric industry has the situation well in hand, doesn't it?
And here's something that Mr. Khrushchev, his henchmen and the Russian newspapers won't be shouting about: "We've heard so much from 'alarmists' about how

The American Way

A REMARKABLE RECORD
By George Peck
(EDITORS NOTE: George Peck is Honorary Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)
Mr. Sherman R. Knapp, President, Edison Electric Institute (an organization composed of investor-owned electric companies) has made a report of the electric industry's accomplishments during 1960, and predictions as to its prospects for the future. Mr. Knapp, incidentally, carries his bread and butter as an employee of the investor-owned Connecticut Light & Power Co. He is president of that company.

The EEI president points with pride to the fact that during 1960, the electric utility industry continued its record-making growth, while the over-all American economy was having its ups-and-downs.

As to the future, Mr. Knapp states that by 1970 the investor-owned companies plan to have doubled their present capacity and production; that by 1980, they expect both capacity and production to have quadrupled. (Will Russian newspapers please copy?) A production record was set in 1960. The total production of electricity within the United States, (including our two new States, Alaska and Hawaii, and generation by industrial plants and railroads) amounted to 845 billion kilowatt hours — an increase of 6.3 per cent over 1959. (Tass, are you listening?)

Editor:
It is bad enough that some State Senators will condone and permit the waste of the people's money on offices that are useless.
It is even worse that these same Senators would refuse to pass a bill that would simply permit the people of each county to vote on whether to keep the office or not, as they did in 1959.
Senators opposing this legislation give no logical reasons for their opposition in public; in private, they admit that they have personal friends they wish to protect in huge, glorified pensions.
The newspapers of Texas have almost unanimously supported this bill, for which I am deeply grateful.
But unless the average citizen will spend three minutes of his time and a 4 cents stamp to ask his State Senator to vote for it, I do not believe it will pass the Senate this session either, even though the House strongly supports the bill.

TRUMAN RENEWS VENDETTA
(Chicago Daily Tribune)
Former President Truman has decided that he had better back away from a charge he first made openly and flatly that General of the Army Douglas MacArthur sought to use the atomic bomb in the Korean war. Truman's original statement was, "Yes, MacArthur wanted to do just that. He wanted to bomb (Communist) China and eastern Russia and everything else."
Truman decided to reconsider after MacArthur termed the statement "completely false." He now says he was merely expressing an "opinion." He conceded he had no documentation, but the admission came only after Gen. MacArthur challenged the former President to go to the record. The general said that the files would demonstrate that atom bombing in the Korean war was never discussed either by his headquarters or in any communication to and from Washington.

Why, at this remove, did Truman choose to make such a reckless utterance? Ever since he dismissed MacArthur as commander in Korea and supreme commander in the far east in April, 1951, Truman has been uncomfortable about the patriot he so greatly wronged. His emissions of spite against the general are an oblique attempt to justify himself, and they further represent the effort of a petty man to compensate himself or the inferiority he feels in the shadow of a great man.
There is another element in this. Truman and his state department and the military chiefs he assembled around him in Washington committed the United States to war in Korea, threw the almost hopeless job of turning back the Communists upon MacArthur, then refused to permit him to take the measures he considered necessary to achieve victory after the whole character of the conflict was altered by the intervention of the hordes of Red China.

These were conditions under which no field commander could hope to prevail. First, MacArthur was denied permission to bomb the bridges over the Yalu river over which the Chinese Communists troops poured into Korea. "Later, after he was fired, his successors were given the go ahead, but under the crippling restriction that they could not bomb the bridges along their length (which would have meant that American planes on their bombing runs would cross into Red China), but that they must bomb the bridges crosswise, along the course of the river, in order to respect the Red China frontier."

At the same time, the Truman administration did not see any necessity to place similar inhibitions on Red China. Communist armies were free to cross the frontier and descend on American forces in Korea, and Communist planes were free to fly from Red China to bomb American forces in the field. As MacArthur said, Red China was granted a "privileged sanctuary" and so was allowed to escape retaliation.
All that MacArthur could do was send recommendations to Washington for intensifying the fight against the enemy, but these, although approved by the joint chiefs of staff, were then pigeon-holed by Truman and his associates. The only other avenue of discreet protest allowed the general was to speak if his opinion was sought by members of Congress or by veterans' organizations. Then he could explain how he had been denied even the possibility of victory.

He sent one such message to Rep. Joseph Martin, who at the time was leader of the Republican minority, and another, which the administration first attempted to suppress to a convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Tribune takes pride in the knowledge that it was instrumental in giving the speech to the public. Even the top brass in Washington who were certainly no friends of Gen. MacArthur, all admitted before a Senate inquiry that he had never been disloyal, nor had he ever sought to challenge civilian authority.
"History," Truman now says, "will take care of him." History certainly will take care of Truman.
Like Mother, Like Son
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Mother and son, Mrs. Clifton DeMere and Dr. McCarthy DeMere, were introduced together to the Supreme Court of Tennessee.
The mother was admitted to the Tennessee bar in 1942, and her son in 1960. Mrs. DeMere is a grandmother, too.
Keeping Time
NEW YORK (UPI)—Women keep closer tabs on time than men, according to Robert Mohr, vice president of Times. A survey of the time-checking habits of 3,300 men and women, Mohr said, gave these results: An average of 24 times a day for women; 18 times for men.

Italian Hunter's Shoot Down Anything That Flies

By HENRY McLEMORE
ROME, ITALY — In driving about the countryside of Italy one cannot help but be impressed by the large number of hunters one sees.
The hunters are not hidden as they are at home and in other European countries. They are to be seen walking along busy roads, or riding these roads on scooters, guns slung across their backs, and dressed in corduroy outfits from boots to cap.
With them are their dogs, either riding on the floorboard of the scooters, or perched precariously on the little jump seat. The dogs have the balance of acrobats, and give with the curves and bumps ears-flapping.
After I had seen hundreds of these high-way hunters, my curiosity as to what birds they were hunting overcame me. After all, as home hunters work in fields or in some sort of cover — but here in Italy hunting seemed to be as public as fixing a flat.
Was there an Italian game bird known as the "middle stripe loon" which ran down the middle of the road? Or a "soft shoulder" pheasant who was flushed by a scooter's beep-beep? Was it possible that a Vespa pointed?

So I made inquiries into the Italian hunting customs.
The answer I got explained everything.
Italians hunt any and all birds. Nothing with feathers is safe. A robin on the rise, a lark on wing, a sparrow in flight, a thrush in the brush. If they saw a crane, they'd bang it at it.
The Italian figures a man is crazy to go tearing through woods, pastures and fields to bag game when it is plentiful by the side of the road. The smaller the bird, it seems, the more sport it affords. I wouldn't be surprised, after what I have seen and heard, to learn that the Italians rate the hummingbird as sport par excellence.

All these birds are eaten, too. There is no senseless slaughter just for the sake of shooting a 3 line Minimus

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

From the foreign news cables: China Unrest
Leading Japanese experts on secret anti-Communist organizations are springing up on the Red-held mainland. The slogans used by these groups feature references to "cutting hair" or "removing hair." The Chinese word for hair is "Mao"—surname of Communist boss Mao Tse-tung.

German Destroyers
Despite support from Gen. Lauris Norstad, the Allied supreme commander in Europe, West Germany's request for permission to raise the tonnage ceiling on its destroyers from 3,000 tons to 6,000 tons has been shelved by the Western European Union—but it probably will be resubmitted under more favorable circumstances this spring. The Germans appear to have missed out on their first bid because they coupled it with a request for permission to manufacture influence (magnetic or acoustic) mines. Every other WEU member opposed the mine plan, and France is against any increase in the size of West Germany's warships. However, Norstad still thinks West Germany needs 6,000-tonners, so eventual approval is likely.

Planned Obsolescence
Students of Soviet affairs say Russia's race to fulfill its seven-

Scouts Prepare Special Supper

Scout workers of Cub Pack 23, Troop 23 and Explorer Post 23, recently prepared and served a fish fry to 150 Scouts, their families and guests in the Carver School.

Following the fry, a scout program was held in the school auditorium featuring a film on "The Scout Trail."

Elected Carver School unit leaders for another year are, chairman, Al Smith, den mothers, Mrs. Mae Williams, Mrs. Ruth Kendrick and Mrs. Dixie Oliver, Scoutmaster for the troop is Joe Snell.

Out-of-town relatives who attended the funeral of R. W. Lane on Monday were Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hickman of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kincaid of Wichita, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Odum of Brownfield, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Alderson of Arnett, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Guy Pratt and family of Borger, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitney of Elk City, Okla., Mr. Doyle Lane of Denver, Colo., Mrs. Fay Shepton of Arnett.

HIPPO FOR SALE

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 600-pound hippopotamus named Lily who has been on exhibit at the Central Park Zoo was offered for sale today.

Official reason for selling: She takes up too much room.

"White Hills" as a name for the White Mountains of New Hampshire first appeared on a map in 1677.

year plan is making it difficult for the country to keep up with technical improvements in industry. There have been complaints in the Soviet press about the fact that many proposed improvements never get off the drawing board because the time necessary to install them would cut into the required quotas of factories where quantity comes before quality. Low-paid workers also object to plant modernization because the time required cuts into their bonuses.

European Rift
Prime Minister Harold Macmillan may seek the help of President Kennedy in his efforts to bridge the rift created in Western Europe by the existence of two rival trade blocs. France has so far blocked British efforts to achieve an alignment with the "common market" group, apparently because President Charles De Gaulle feels it would endanger his plan to make France a leading European power. British ministers are known to believe Europe is too small to be able to afford rival groupings within the Western camp. Macmillan is expected to use this argument in seeking U.S. help when he meets Kennedy this spring.

Grain Drying, Storage Parley Slated At Tech

LUBBOCK (Spl) — Management, operations, and expanding markets will be emphasized at the seventh annual Grain Drying and Storage Conference slated Feb. 22-23 at Texas Tech.

Speakers from throughout the Midwest and Texas will be speakers at the two-day meeting in the Tech Union building. More than 200 storage operators, equipment dealers and grain farmers from the Panhandle and South Plains are expected for the conference, said Prof. Ira Williams of Texas Tech, program chairman.

Topics to be covered include agri-business and government, grain banks, effects of fertilizers, nutrition of sorghum grains, wet grain preservation, and grain structure engineering and ventilation.

Seminars will be held on fumigation, management - merchandising, storage structures, and aeration-fans controls - operation in two afternoon sessions.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m., Feb. 22, in the Tech Union building. The fee will be $3. General sponsors of the conference are Tech's School of Agriculture, the Texas A&M System, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's research, extension and marketing services, the Texas Department of Agriculture, the High Plains Research Foundation, U.S. Feed Growers' Council, and West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Also assisting are numerous industrial and commercial concerns.
