Two Pilots Die As LBJ's Plane Crashes Sunday

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's private, white Convair plane crashed Sunday night seven miles from Johnson's LBJ ranch, killing two pilots who were on board.

Three Air Lines Shut Off Travel

NEW YORK (UPI)—Five major airlines planned to begin furloughing about 60,000 employees today striking flight engineers to their grounded planes.

The plane, which Johnson used for business trips, crashed Sunday night, shortly after it had radioed at 7:30 p.m. CST that the weather was too bad for it to land at Johnson's private airport and that it was turned back to Austin, 65 miles away.

The vice president was at the ranch. An aide reported he was up all night, telephoning his friends on adjoining ranches to find out whether they knew anything about the missing plane.

There was little doubt from the first that the plane had crashed. The pilots were familiar with the country; one had flown in and out hundreds of times.

All airports in the area had been checked without any trace of them.

President Sends Controversial Education Program To Congress

HIGHWAY TO PROGRESS — This is a typical scene of modern advancement that will be found in many places throughout Pampa and Gray County this Spring and Summer as road and street improvements are carried out. The picture above was taken by a Pampa News photographer as work gets under way on a one-half mile stretch of E. Browning St. from Jupiter St. east to the end of Browning. The joint city-county project will result in the widening of the thoroughfare to 37 feet from its present two-lane roadway to better take care of the increasing traffic. (Daily News Photo)

Labor Demands Still Stronger Economy Prop

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — The AFL-CIO Executive Council opened its annual mid-winter meeting today. There were indications the group would demand stronger antirecession measures from the new Kennedy administration.

George Meany, head of the powerful labor body, refused to discuss the agenda in advance, saying "we'll take up whatever seems important."

Labor has attacked two of the early proposals the new administration has put forth to bolster the nation's sagging economy.

In Congress last week, labor termed as "not good enough" a measure that provided for a minimum wage increase from $1 to $1.25 an hour.

It also has been critical of Kennedy's program to provide tax incentive to business for modernizing plants and equipment. Labor says this isn't needed and would be unwise, contending there already is too much idle plant capacity.

Despite differences of opinion the best methods of revitalizing the nation's economy, there is no indication of a serious breach between labor and the administration of President Kennedy.

The Democrats and labor agree the nation is stumbling financially, a point that was hotly denied by Republicans during the presidential campaign.

During its 10-day meeting, the council will deal with a host of problems apart from the business slump.

Boy Is Rescued After 275-Ft. Fall Into Well

BUCKEYE, Ariz. (UPI) — Edsel Stage, a well-driller, was showing his 7-year-old son a new 525-foot well when the boy suddenly jumped on its flimsy plywood covering and disappeared.

Edsel Stage Jr. plunged 275 feet down the 16-inch diameter well before smashing into branches and debris floating on water. The water was 250 feet deep.

The next 45 minutes witnessed a tense rescue operation Sunday that was climaxed successfully with the help of ropes borrowed from passing cowboys in this ranching area about 30 miles southwest of Phoenix.

Despite two painfully broken legs, Edsel never cried. He listened carefully to his dad's urgent instructions:

"Don't worry, son, and don't be scared. We'll get you out. Just push against the sides so you don't sink."

"Okay, dad, I will," came the reply.

Edsel was 275 feet down in the well which was encased by a pipe. Only occasionally would he call "Get me out of here D a d d y."

Stage, who had not worked on the well but had started employment with Webb Fabian on whose ranch the mishap occurred, saw immediately the well was so small for a man to enter.

By chance, cowboys competing in a rodeo in nearby Palo Verde soon rode by—the well.

"We got a lot of rope together and borrowed lariats from the boys riding by," said rancher Henry Stotts. "We tied them all together and sent the rope down the well."

"We told Edsel to tie it around his shoulders."

But Edsel called back, "I can hold onto it while you pull me up."

"Listen to us," said his dad. "Put the rope under your arms."

The men were afraid if the boy tried to hold the rope he would lose his grasp and plunge back down.

Fidel's Brother Leading Fight Against Rebels

HAVANA (UPI) — Raul Castro, armed forces chief and brother of the premier, today was reported personally leading the drive against a fresh band of anti-Castro invaders in eastern Cuba.

The invaders, said to number about 50 men, were believed taking refuge in the Purial Mountains to escape the government forces.

Reports from Oriente Province said the rebel band landed near La Plata on the south coast about 30 miles east of the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay. Unofficial reports said the group was led by Mai Nimo Diaz, a former aid of Raul's.

Observers believed the invaders were seeking to open a second front against the government to relieve pressure on the rebels in central Cuba where official sources admitted the government was losing 30 men a day. Several thousand rebels are holed up in the Escambray Mountains.

Premier Fidel Castro made a trip to Santa Clara, Las Villas Province, to direct a corps of 30,000 militiamen against the rebels.

He returned to Havana during the weekend and was met by an appeal from his older brother Raul, in behalf of Cuba's private sugar growers. Raul, who manages the family cane fields in Oriente Province, said the country's 65,000 small cane growers are being forced into "economic destruction" by the revolutionary government's policies.

Soon Edsel said the rope was tied and he was pulled out.

"He always did mind good!" exclaimed Edsel's happy father.

Edsel was in good condition at Phoenix Memorial Hospital today.

Uprising Put Down Quickly In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—A dissident army group attempted to seize control of the military academy and a radio station today but President Romulo Betancourt's government announced it had defeated the uprising.

For an hour the rebels broadcast from the station claiming the government had been overthrown.

The short-lived coup was launched before dawn when a Major Contreras and four soldiers arrived at Radio Rumbos. They overpowered the guard and announcers and began broadcasting recorded messages which stated the army had assumed power.

Contreras and his men were captured an hour later when loyal troops reached the station.

Press reports also said Col. Edito Jose Ramirez attempted to seize the military academy with a force of civilians. But they were overpowered and arrested.

A third small group tried to liberate a national guardsman previously jailed for subversive activities, but failed.

Twin Goals Set With Plea For New Standards

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy sent Congress today a controversy-laden education program which would authorize $5.6 billion in federal grants and loans to build public schools, boost teachers' salaries and increase college opportunities.

Key provisions of the President's special message would: — Authorize federal grants of $2.3 billion for public school construction and teachers' salaries for the next three years, with each state deciding how much of the money would go for each function. The money would equal a minimum of $15 for every public school student "in average daily attendance."

— Establish a five-year program of state-administered scholarships for up to 212,500 "talented and needy" college students at an over-all federal cost of $77.5 million. The average scholarship would be $700; the maximum would be $1,000. Colleges and universities would get $350 a year additional for teaching each federal scholarship student. States would have to pass out the scholarships competitively "without regard to sex, race, creed or color."

— Extend the college housing loan program for five years at $250 million annually, and provide $300 million a year in loans for five years to help build college classrooms, laboratories, libraries and related academic facilities.

Kennedy, the first Roman Catholic to serve in the White House, made a special point of noting that parochial and private elementary and secondary schools would be excluded from the program.

"In accordance with the clear prohibition of the Constitution, no elementary or secondary school funds are allocated for constructing church schools or paying church school teachers' salaries," the President said.

Kennedy, in an effort to win over lawmakers, fearful of federal control of schools, said "education must remain a matter of state and local control, and higher education a matter of individual choice."

But he said the nation's "twin goals must be: a new standard of excellence in education—and the availability of such excellence to all, who are willing and able to pursue it."

"This is a modest program with ambitious goals," Kennedy told Congress. "For some 40 years, the Congress has wrestled with this problem and searched for a workable solution. I believe that we now have such a solution; and that this Congress in this year will make a landmark contribution to American education."

Federal aid to be provided for elementary and secondary public schools would be distributed under a formula giving poorer states, such as Mississippi, a bigger relative share than richer states, such as New York.

Administration officials said the states themselves would decide how much of the money they get would be used for construction and how much to pay teachers.

There would be no strings attached, except that each state would have to "maintain its own effort or contribution" and to allot more money for education if its share falls below the national average.

Federal funds could go to racially segregated schools under the (See President Page 3)

UN Getting Ready For Tough Action In Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United Nations was reported today to get tough with the Congo to stop a growing new wave of terrorism, murder and civil warfare.

The 11-nation Security Council, returning from a weekend recess, was confronted with a fresh report from Leopoldville that seven or more supporters of slain Premier Patrice Lumumba had been assassinated.

Rajeshwar Dayal of India, the top U.N. official in the Congo, said the men had been arrested by the Leopoldville regime and sent to the Kasai Province capital of Bakwanga.

"There have been persistent reports of more terrorism ahead with the expected arrival of other pro-Lumumba supporters in Bakwanga," Dayal reported.

In addition, weekend press dispatches told of attacks by pro-Lumumba youths on Roman Catholic priests and nuns in Bukavu, a power struggle among former Lumumba followers in Oriental Province and battling between Katangese troops and Baluba tribesmen in northern Katanga Province.

United Nations diplomats feared a complete collapse of the U.N. operation in the Congo unless U.N. forces started getting tough.

A draft resolution by the United Arab Republic, Ceylon and Liberia would strengthen the international army in the Congo and let it use force, if necessary, to restore order.

The representative from the Soviet Union has demanded that Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold resign and the U. N. peace force get out of the Congo in 30 days. If there is a veto, African Nations probably would demand an emergency meeting of the 9-nation General Assembly.

Today's Lenten Message

THE REV. CARLYLE ADAMS
 Rector, St. Paul's Episcopal Church
 (Written for UPI)

Little clusters of friends stand in an open grave. The last words are said and there is a look back at the flower-decked tomb. Someone says softly, "We remember him for the good he said and did."

Immortality on earth lies in the way we are remembered. Richness of our daily experiences—out of those things we remember and those things which memory prompts us to do.

It is a time of remembrance. In the rush of daily business we forget to grow cold and we forget the distances between ourselves and God.

When we begin, each year, "The journey we recall—the life challenge of Jesus Christ who led God to us—and whose remembrance renews that revelation becomes the bridge of sorrow, the bridge of victory, and by which we cross over." (See Message Page 2)

FIGURING OUT THE SOVIETS — President Kennedy and top echelon advisers held two conferences during the weekend on how to deal with the Russians in a possible meeting with Premier Khrushchev. Shown, clockwise, are Lewilyn Thompson, ambassador to Russia; Vice President Johnson; Averell Harriman; Charles Bolten; Dean Rusk, and the President. A spokesman said the weekend discussions were "more or less an exploration of views" and not intended "to reach decisions or chart policy."

Police Hunt For Man Who Got Best Of Texas Ranger

DALLAS (UPI)—Police continued their search today for a roving gunman who disarmed a Texas Ranger then forced an Air Force lieutenant and his girl friend to drive him from Wichita Falls to Dallas.

The 290-pound, 5-foot-10 inch man is believed to be Tom Gene Scott, 32, who was arrested by Ranger Byron Curin on a bad check charge Saturday in Wichita Falls.

A man answering the same description stopped Lt. Donald Hansen and 2nd Lt. Lorraine Gibbings on the pretense of having a flat tire. He forced them at gunpoint to drive him to Dallas. He leaped from their car in downtown traffic and escaped.

Before escaping in Wichita Falls, the man took Curin's pistol and car keys.

Dear Abby... Liar Gets Caught In Own Lair

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 62 and Boris is ten years older than I am. We've both been married before. I was widowed and he lost his wife in the divorce court. (In fact he lost two there.) We met when I rented an apartment in his building. He lives across the hall. We were having dinner in his apartment last night, as we have done many times, when I noticed red lipstick on one of his napkins. My hair is red and I use orange lipstick. When I pointed it out to him he made up a fantastic story, which he later confessed was a lie. He finally admitted he had entertained another woman in his apartment. Do you think a man who won't tell the truth unless he's trapped into it would make a good husband?

children is far more painful to a child than a hole in the bottom of a shoe.

CONFIDENTIAL TO F.G.J.
Those interested in donating their eyes after death should contact their own state eye bank because state laws differ regarding the legal disposition of body tissue at the time of death.

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Getting married? For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

"TRAPPER"
DEAR "TRAPPER": Not for a woman who is an expert trapper.

DEAR ABBY: Every time I call my sister's home and her 16-year-old "adopted" son answers the telephone I can't tell his voice from his father's. Isn't it natural for me to be suspicious? Or do I just have an evil mind?

Mexican Dinner Planned By Altar Society

The Altar Society of St. Vincent dePaul Catholic Church is sponsoring a Mexican Dinner Saturday, Feb. 25, at the school cafeteria. Serving hours will be from five to seven p.m.

Throw Out Straight Skirts, Paris Decries A Flared Look

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PARIS (NEA) — Girls, you can toss out your straight skirts! What comes out of the just shown Paris collections is this: a flared look.

It's a fashion revolution, the first since Dior's New Look.

And chief credit for this one can go to the House of Dior, too. But this time, the designer is Marc Bohan. His flared, swirling, short skirts beneath a bloused bodice have sent the straight skirt into oblivion.

Nearly every Paris house has the flared look but each designer has done it differently. Here is a box score, house by house:

Dior: Marc Bohan revives the great talent of Christian Dior with his new flared line. The silhouette is flat at the bust and hips, flared through the skirt. A soft silhouette, easy to wear.

Pierre Cardin: He does the flare with a spiral effect. His coats are tremendously flared and many are side-fastened. He uses godets to get flared effect.

Chanel: This old hand at the simple, straight skirt has switched to pleats! Bolero suits with flared skirts look new and different. She uses flounces or pleats for her short evening dresses, many of them in chiffon.

Nina Ricci: Jules Francois Cray follows the same line but does it with a 1920s slouch. He has side-wrapped coats, too, and also makes use of godets.

Jean Patou: The slightly flared look here along with lots of sleeveless dresses; the bloused look and plenty of pleats.

Michel Comte: Coats with the flared look accomplished by pleating. Suits have hip-length, unfitted jackets and collars. (Many collections show collarless suits.)

Jacques Esterel: Lots of blousing in coats. Some wide coats show capelike backs. Dresses for daytime show blousing, too.

Jacques Griffe: Pleating here, too, with the total look fresh and youthful. He shows the unfitted torso for both suits and dresses. Lots of sleeveless numbers here.

Madeleine de Rauch: Coat are wide at the back, fitted at the front. Skirts for daytime dresses are straight.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours

New York, N.Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe that now it can be sold—without prescription, in most states—in tiny tablets called Primatens.

These Primatens Tablets loosen congestion, relieve taut nervous tension. All without painful injections.

The secret is—Primatens combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress. Each performs a special purpose.

So look forward to sleep at night and freedom from asthma spasms. Primatens only 98¢, at any drug store.

Britain's Underworld Has Declared Open Season

TOM A. CULLEN (NEA) — The mob never had it so good as in Britain, where the number of robberies has shot up 100 percent in the past 10 years. Banks with their old-fashioned vaults, have never been so careless in their diamonds lying in the streets.

OTLAND YARD has this modern communications center in London, but it can't move fast outside the city.

Recasters Call For Warm Trend Tomorrow

United Press International reported that rain soaked nearly all of the state today and a general warming trend boosted temperatures over the cool readings registered throughout the state over the weekend.

U. S. Weather Bureau said rain would gradually move out of the state late today and Tuesday, and possible sleet forecast earlier for the northwest and extreme southwest.

Pampa had a low of 29 degrees this morning. Yesterday's was 44. An expected warm trend will send Pampa's high into the 50s.

Temperatures were no longer seemed likely to freeze rain was reported lower Panhandle and South areas Sunday night, but precipitation in those regions moved eastward by early morning.

Temperatures were as low as 18 degrees at Ft. Worth, where clear skies were expected. The highest minimum reported was 36 degrees at Galveston, where a light drizzle was reported at daybreak.

Although rain had ceased at most western points, skies remained cloudy and the threat of further precipitation remained.

During the 24-hour period ended at 8 a. m., Lubbock had received .34 of an inch. Longview, 48, Dallas, 37, Houston, 26, College Station, 25, Fort Worth, 21 and Austin, 14.

Sunday afternoon temperatures ranged from Lubbock's freezing 32 to Brownsville's balmy 75. The cold front never pushed completely through the state into the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Brownsville area.

Extended five-day forecasts issued by the weather bureau called for temperatures from three to six degrees below normal in North Central and Northeast Texas and from near normal north portion to three to six degrees below normal south portion for Northwest Texas.

Temperatures of from one to four degrees below normal were expected in the southern half of the state.

County ASC Regulates Wheat Quota

The 1961 initial wheat measurement has been completed on almost all farms in Gray County and the rest will be measured shortly, according to an announcement by Evelyn Mason, ASC County office manager.

A representative of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation department will visit each overplanted wheat farm to determine if the excess wheat has been destroyed. No charge will be made for the first visit, Mrs. Mason said.

A charge of $4 plus $2 for each additional plot will be made if a visit is required a second time. A plot is regular shape with no more than four sides. If there are more than four sides, the field will be more than one plot and the farmer will pay an additional cost, according to the County office.

After this year, officials said, a charge will be made to visit the farm for the first time to check destroyed wheat.

The final date for destroying excess wheat is May 10.

Man Charged On Worthless Check Count

A. O. Pike, Alamo Courts, charged on swindling with a worthless check, entered a plea of guilty Friday when he appeared before County Judge, William J. Craig.

Pike was fined $20 and cost and sentenced to 60 days in jail.

The worthless check was written to H. C. Hall for $20.

again into the fullness of faith in Him from whom our preoccupation with material things has brought a separation.

One Friday afternoon in Jerusalem I walked from the Convent of the Sisters of Zion — built over the Judgment Hall of Pilate — through the winding streets and up the steep stairway to the site of Calvary. There we stood and worshipped in the recollection of the daring and devotion of ONE who made triumph out of tragedy because of the power of absolute love.

The remembrance that filled my mind on that silent journey made the world of discord fade away so that the love of God became the purifying light that left only His purity and truth alive within me.

One always goes back to the world in its stark reality, but the act of remembrance had kindled a light.

bill's provisions, if states so choose, officials said. But the money could not go to any "private" schools established to get around court-ordered desegregation.

The school construction-teachers' pay program would "assure every state of no less than $15 for every public school student in average daily attendance." The nationwide total would be $666 million in the 1962 fiscal year starting next July 1; $766 million in the 1963 fiscal year and $866 million in the following year.

Funds would be distributed under an "equalization formula" by which a state's average income per pupil is measured against the national average of $11.728. Those below the national average would get more funds than those above it, subject to a floor of $15 per pupil.

The highest figure per pupil is $29.67 for Mississippi. The lows of $15 are listed for Alaska, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and the District of Columbia.

Ten per cent of the funds allotted to each state in the first year—and an equal amount there after—would be used "to help meet the unique problems of each state's areas of special educational need." These would include problems of students in depressed areas, slum neighborhoods and other below-par sections.

Officials said the "unique problems" also conceivably could include difficulties in adjusting to desegregation of schools. An example cited was the need for remedial reading courses for Negro children who transferred to white schools in the District of Columbia several years ago.

Kennedy said that "our progress as a nation can be no swifter than our progress in education" because "the human mind is our fundamental resource."

The President said steps must be taken to raise teachers' salaries and build a total of 600,000 classrooms in the next 10 years, as well as to give special aid to "underprivileged children" who attend schools in depressed areas and slum sections.

The five-year scholarship program, with an initial authorization of $26,250,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1962, would provide 25,000 scholarships in its first year, 37,500 the next year, and 50,000 for each of the next three years.

In addition, Kennedy said he would ask Congress to "amend and expand" the National Defense Education Act which provides federal loans for college and university students.

Texas Traffic Death Count Is Down A Little

By United Press International

Two cars crashed together on a bridge near San Angelo Sunday to help Texas' week-end violent death count make up for lost time after a slow start. But the total was still lower than usual.

A United Press International survey for the period between 6 p. m. and 12 midnight Sunday showed 15 persons dead with eight fatalities blamed on traffic conditions.

The San Angelo wreck claimed the lives of two San Angelo sisters, Miss Minnie Walden, 53, and Miss Zelma Walden, 64 and the driver of the other automobile, Jerry Ray Nixon, 19, of San Angelo.

The crash occurred on a bridge on U. S. 380 about six miles east of the West Texas city.

Other Sunday deaths included: Nolan G. Johnson, of Prairie Hill community near Waco, who was shot and killed at a tavern near his home Sunday night. A suspect was taken into custody, but not immediately charged.

Mrs. Edwin M. Burks, 53, was killed in a head-on collision on a street near her Fort Worth home.

Mrs. Julia R. Uhlig, 57, burned to death Sunday when a fire swept through a small frame building behind her daughter's residence in Richardson.

C. Of C. Plans To Fight President's Wage Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U. S. Chamber of Commerce said today that President Kennedy's proposal to boost the minimum wage would force employers to raise prices, lay off workers and buy more foreign goods.

But Walter Reuther, president of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department (IUD), denied that a $1.25 an hour minimum wage would be inflationary and said it was needed to spur industries "toward greater efficiency."

The conflicting views were presented in prepared testimony to a House labor subcommittee considering Kennedy's proposal to increase the wage floor gradually from $1 to $1.25 an hour and extend coverage to 4.3 million more workers.

The chamber's stand against the President's plan was outlined by Dr. Emerson P. Schmidt, its chief economist, and Eugene B. Sydnor Jr. of Richmond, Va., president of Southern Department Stores, Inc.

Reuther's testimony, presented to the subcommittee by IUD administrative director Jacob Clayman, supported the previous AFL-CIO contention that Kennedy's proposal did not go far enough.

While the administration's plan "represents forward progress," he said, "the vehicle is inadequate and the pace too slow."

Reuther said raising the wage immediately to $1.25 an hour would pump $1.25 billion into the economy and stimulate industries "most in need of buying power—textiles, wearing apparel, agriculture, housing, home furnishings, and small appliances."

Pampa Soldier Trains In Germany

BAUMHOLTER, Germany (Sp)—Army Pfc. Dennis J. Carmon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer F. Cloud Jr., of 824 E. Craven Street, participated with other personnel from the 8th Infantry Division in Exercise Winter Shield II at the Grafenwohr - Hohenfels training area in Germany.

Winter Shield, an annual Seventh U. S. Army winter field training maneuver, involved 60,000 U. S. Army, German and French troops which marked the highpoint of a year's training for units in NATO's "Pyramid of Power."

The 20-year-old soldier, a tank crewman in Company C of the division's 68th Armor in Baumholder, entered the Army in May 1960 and completed basic training at Fort Hood, Tex.

He was a 1959 graduate from Pampa High School.

Gloves Hang One Game Back Of Tech

Raiders Retain Slim SWC Lead

By ED FITE
United Press International

Texas Aggies have a formidable task confronting them if plan to overtake the South-Conf front - running Tech Raiders in the 10th day of the basketball season.

In fact, they are going to have to win on arch-rival Texas and defeat its three weakest teams in assistance while the Cadets are on the most rugged schedule in the final two weeks campaign.

Texas schedule definitely favors its one-game lead, since Raiders tackle Baylor-bound on the road and seventh-ranked Texas Christian at Lubbock this week in contrast to the assignment of trying to beat Southern Methodist at Dallas and Texas at College Station.

Baylor hasn't beaten anyone in the league at Waco, and only last Saturday were the Bears able to muster a victory of any kind against a loop rival when they cut down TCU at Fort Worth 74-60. TCU has fared just as miserably on the road, beating only Baylor away from home. So Tech should be heavily favored in both contests.

In contrast, SMU has lost but two games at home in two years and could prove a tough mount for the Aggies to ride. And, Texas whipped the Aggies once before and will be out to keep alive their own glimmering title hopes when they invade College Station. AEM should win both, but will need a lot of luck to do more than break even.

Looking even further ahead, Tech in the final week plays Rice at Houston and catches tough Texas at Lubbock in the finale March 2, while the Aggies host Baylor at College Station and close down on the road against Arkansas at Fayetteville.

The Tech - Baylor and A&M-SMU games are scheduled Tuesday night, while the A&M - Texas and Tech - TCU contests are set for Friday as the circuit switches its week end games away from Saturday nights.

Texas and Arkansas both still are not out of contention — on paper, nor is SMU for that matter. But, Tech's 8-2 and A&M's 7-3 marks look much more promising at this late stage than the 6-4 records owned by the Longhorns and Razorbacks and 5-3 for SMU.

Other games this week find Rice at Texas Tuesday, Arkansas at TCU Wednesday and SMU at Rice and Baylor at Arkansas Friday.

Last week, Tech stumbled over A&M 74-71 at College Station, but bounced back to whip Arkansas 87-81 at Lubbock; the Aggies downed Rice 65-58 as well as Tech; Texas beat SMU 71-65, but lost to Arkansas 74-59; Rice edged Baylor 61-58, and SMU beat TCU 79-68.

The individual scoring race also tightened up last week as Tech's Del Ray Mounts pumped in 54 points to pull within two points of the 429 total scored by pace-setting Carroll Broussard of A&M. Broussard got but 37 points and saw his season average dip to 21.5, just a shade ahead of Mounts' 21.4 and the 20.9 owned by Tech's Harold Hudgens.

In league play, however, Broussard still was well in front with a 23-point average to 20.9 for Mounts and 19.9 for Hudgens.

Wilhelm and his semi-final foe, Charles Snider, have known each other all their lives. They both call Pampa Home.

The luck of the draw matches the two old buddies in the state golden-gloves meet Monday night. Either Wilhelm or Snider will meet the winner of the Jesse Joyner-Randy Blackwell bout for the state championship Tuesday night.

The Wilhelm-Snider match has another ironical angle. Both fighters learned the gloves under Wilhelm's father, Ollie.

"My dad coached Charlie from the time he put gloves on," Bobby revealed.

Wilhelm, competing in his fourth state meet, came to Fort Worth as a teammate of Snider's in 1958. Snider fought as a welterweight then and Wilhelm as a middleweight.

"We've never met each other in a tournament before," said Wilhelm. "I know Charlie is real strong. He has a good over-hand right and a swinging left. He will be tough."

Wilhelm has the experience edge on Snider. He has been fighting for 12 years. But Snider's tournament showing has been impressive. He scored technical knockouts in both his state bouts. His Saturday night TKO of Dallas' veteran Teddy Sores was a genuine upset.

Lone 1960 Champion Still In Contention

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Only one 1960 champion was left in the running today as the 25th annual state Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament entered its fourth night of action with a dozen quarterfinal and eight semifinal bouts on tap.

Headliner To Match Pampa Pair

FORT WORTH (Spl) — "I'm going to forget I even know Charlie when I step in the ring Monday night," Bobby Wilhelm, Corpus Christi middleweight, declared Sunday.

JERRY LUCAS ... leads rally

Ohio State Keeps Top After Score

By GARY KAL...
United Press International

All eyes will be on the Big Ten Conference tonight to see if Indiana can finally shatter Ohio State's 25-game winning streak.

Iowa came close on Saturday, almost scoring the upset of the year before fading in the final seconds as the top-ranked Buckeyes eked out a 62-61 decision.

Indiana hopefuls base their chances on Walt Bellamy, the conference's third leading scorer, and the fact that the Hoosiers were the last team to beat Ohio State.

Ohio State's All-American Jerry Lucas plans to counteract any psychological edge Indiana may have, however, because tonight's game gives him an opportunity to replace Purdue's Terry Dischinger as the league's leading scorer. He trails the Boilermake marksman by only two points, while Bellamy is a distant third.

Lucas was the big gun in overcoming Iowa's 34-24 halftime lead Saturday when he scored 17 points after intermission against the "educated" Hawkeyes, who had four of their starters out because of scholastic difficulties.

A pair of stolen passes by Larry Siegfried, and Gary Gearhart in the closing stages of the game enabled Ohio State to chalk up its 26th win of the season.

Second-ranked St. Bonaventure, which hopes to avenge its only defeat with a showdown meeting against Ohio State in the NCAA tournament, kept pace with the Buckeye triumph by making De Paul its 20th victim, 76-69.

Tom Stith tallied five key baskets before leaving on personal furlough, but his teammates maintained the pressure to finally subdue a stubborn Blue Demon team that is NIT-bound.

Third-ranked Duke also had its problems, pressed all the way before edging Navy, 75-73, with the help of Art Heyman's 26 points.

NMS Fights For BC Tie

By United Press International

New Mexico State has fought its way into a position to tie-for the Border Conference basketball crown it won a year ago, but the Aggies won't be able to drop a stitch anywhere along the stretch.

Arizona State, which had its hopes for a clear-cut title dimmed by the Aggies 70-67 in a show-down thriller last Saturday night, winds up its league schedule this week and is expected to win both starts and finish with a 9-1 record.

New Mexico State, however, still has five games to go and won't get through until March 8, although it is heavily favored to brush aside all five foes and compile a similar 9-1 mark that would force a playoff.

Tonight, Arizona State plays Texas Western at El Paso and the Aggies entertain Arizona at Las Cruces. Then on Saturday Arizona State plays Arizona at Tucson and West Texas visits the Aggies.

Arizona owns a 5-3 record and has a technical chance to tie for the crown, but it would have to win both games this week and have someone else also knock off the Sun Devils and Aggies twice.

The only other game on this week's card has Hardin - Simmons at Texas Western Saturday night.

Vincent Knight's 25-foot jump shot with 43 seconds left was the killing blow in the Aggies' victory over Arizona State, although George Knighton's three-point play seconds earlier had tied the score and set the stage.

In other games last week, Arizona State downed West Texas 108-70. Hardin - Simmons beat West Texas 98-81. Arizona defeated Hardin - Simmons 83-67 and Texas Western 74-65.

$10,000 NOSE — Competing for the largest purse in international dog racing, O. B.'s Star held off a stretch drive by Ed's Derringer to win the $50,000 Phoenix Futurity. Riding on the one-inch victory in the Arizona race was the difference between $20,000 for first and $10,000 for second.

White Deer, Canadian Vie In Bi-District

White Deer's rebounding Bucks, who won the District 1-A title the hard way, today were preparing for their bi-district clash with Canadian of District 2-A in the Pampa High School gym at 8 tomorrow night.

The Bucks (28-2) defeated Gruver, 60-49, Saturday night in Berger in the district playoff to move into state play. The win was the second over Gruver in as many nights — the Bucks won, 50-47 Friday to cop the district tourney in Stinnett and set up the playoff — and remove the bad memories of its 8-2 district record and second place regular season finish to Gruver.

Canadian (26-6) will present White Deer with its roughest foe to date, but still will be weakened by the loss of Frankie Muir, 6-0 senior forward who had been averaging 18 points-per-game before he injured his leg last Monday.

In winning the playoff game Saturday night, four Bucks shot in double figures: Robert McAllister, 15, Carl McAdams, 13, Gerald Bichsel, 12, and Dickie Hanna, 11. But, perhaps the game was won on the boards where White Deer outrebounded Gruver, 38-32, led by McAllister's 18 rebounds.

Tickets will go on sale at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at the PHS gym. All tickets will be general admission.

The winner of tomorrow night's contest will advance to the regional tournament Friday and Saturday in Lubbock and the Lubbock winners will go to the State tournament in Austin the first week-end in March.

Runyan Snares Senior Tourney

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI) — Iron master Paul Runyan of La Jolla, Calif., laid down a three-under-par 69 Sunday to come from two strokes off the pace and win the 22nd annual PGA seniors golf championship with a 72-hole total of 278.

Runyan's 19-under-par total for the 72 holes was six strokes under the previous tournament record.

Runyan, second in the seniors in both 1960 and 1959, picked up a $1,500 check and the right to play the British seniors champion for the world title this spring.

Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., was second with 281, good for $1,000, and Clarence Doser, Gaithersburg, Md., third with 282 for a $750 payoff. Doser led going into the final round, but faded to a 75 as Runyan and Demaret both shot 78s.

Strong out behind the top three were Joe Brown, West Des Moines, Iowa, 283 for $650; Evan Gantz of Indianapolis, 284 for $550; and Duke Gibson, Kansas City, Mo., and Dick Shoemaker, Cleveland, Ohio, both with 285 for $450 each.

A pair of homegrown horses, both reared within walking distance of the track, were the choices in next Saturday's $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

The California - bred contenders, Prove It and American Comet, were expected to fight it out for first money in the race that dominates the Santa Anita meeting. Both carry the same light impost of 115 pounds.

Although a dozen horses were expected to start in the 1¼ mile stakes, Prove It and American Comet stood out off their recent efforts as the top contenders with the defection of such stars as T.V. Lark, Kelso and other top contenders.

In Saturday's $59,200 San Felipe Handicap, Flutterby scored the first stakes victory of his career, defeating Olden Times by a head in the 1-1/8 mile prep for the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby March 4.

Flutterby's time of 1:42 1-5 was a new record for the stakes and he returned $7.00, $4.60 and $3.60.

Wire Us was third and Game finished fourth while Captain Fair was fifth, snapping his streak of three straight stakes wins at the meeting over shorter distances.

At Hialeah, Calumet Farm's Yorky moved into the lead in mid-stretch and held on for a half-length verdict over Never Give In to annex the $125,800 Widner Handicap.

The battle for top laurels became a two-horse attraction as Bourbon Prince was left far behind, seven lengths back in third place.

Jockey Johnny Sellers rated Yorky in third place for most of the mile and one-quarter test before moving the son of Bull Lea into the lead. Yorky paid $3.30 and was clocked in 2:01 for the route.

Prince Sylvet, leading all the way, won the $3,000 Inaugural Handicap at the Lincoln Downs opener by five and one-half lengths over Prince Bonanza. He returned $10.40 for the effort. Winning time

Royals Bomb Lakers

Oscar Robertson has never missed a post-season playoff and the Cincinnati star refuses to be denied the privilege in the National Basketball Association.

The Big "O," a powerhouse in three unsuccessful University of Cincinnati bids for an NCAA title, kept the Royals' NBA playoff hopes alive—with a 43-point performance Sunday that helped sink the Los Angeles Lakers, 112-106.

Cincinnati's triumph moved the fourth-place Royals to within a game of the last playoff berth in the Western Division.

The St. Louis Hawks clinched a tie for their fifth straight western championship despite losing a 123-100 decision to the New York Knickerbockers. A St. Louis victory or a loss by second-place Los Angeles will clinch the title for the Missourians. Boston defeated Syracuse, 116-106, in the only other action.

Robertson showed his gratitude for an "appreciation" day by the 8,578 fans at Cincinnati Gardens when he helped the Royals overcome a 25-point deficit with 15 field goals and 12 foul throws. Oscar's two free throws brought Cincinnati's first tie at 102-all.

Hawks Fall But Cinch Tie For Fifth Title

By United Press International

He tied the score again at 104-all with a driving layup and then sent his team out in front for good with another pair of charity tosses.

The Big "O" also chipped in with 20 assists, a club and Arena record. Larry LaRusso had a Laker high of 29 points in a game marked by Ray Felix slugging Cincinnati's Mike Farmer and then arguing with a fan when ejected from the game. Farmer suffered a slight concussion. The incident is being forwarded to NBA president Maurice Podoloff for possible disciplinary action.

New York temporarily delayed St. Louis' victory celebration with its first win over the Hawks in eight games this season. A 37-point third period turned the trick for the Knicks. Willie Naulls tallied 24 points for New York, while Bob Pettit scored 26 for the Hawks.

Uncoerced Genius.

Is there anyone who has read the writings or reviewed the career to be impressed by the superb education of this man?

As an intellectual fight, as a brilliant lawyer, as a literary genius, Lincoln had few equals in our history. And knowledge such as he possessed and used is vouchsafed only to those who put their mental equipment into high gear.

Lincoln had superb schooling. But, wait.

Isn't it true that Lincoln was handicapped in this respect? Isn't it part of the Lincoln saga that he wasn't able to go to school as a lad; that he did his practice sums on the back of a coal shovel because his family was too poor to provide him with a slate?

Isn't it true that he had few books to read? And isn't it a fact that his days in a government school, sitting at the feet of a tax-paid instructor, were not existent?

Yes, it is true. How can it be said that Lincoln was a superbly educated man, in view of these facts?

It can be said because education is not a matter of putting in time in a school room. And it is only fair to observe that had Lincoln been confined to the meaningless rote today's modern charges experience, the stumbling genius of his mind might have been lost forever.

Lincoln's mind became wonderfully developed because it was a free mind. He read everything he could get his avid hands on. And he read in such a way that he drew upon the wisdom of those who had written and who had held to great ideas. He was, thus, in direct contact with the greatest minds that had preceded him, without the interpretation and direction of some lesser being to interpret these things for him along the lines the government might have preferred.

Lincoln's greatness came from the freedom of his mind. His originality, his flair for the dramatic, his earnestness to do a good job...

all of these things might have been stifled, channeled, dogmatized and smothered. But because Lincoln had the advantage of being educated outside of government schools we have a literary record from him which is among the best.

Curious, is it not?

So often we think that Lincoln was among our handicapped. But was he really? We cannot think so. He had an advantage in that his early life was uncoerced and he was free to select the best in the way of literary pursuits.

We might think of the life of this nation's 16th president the next time we are impertinent to believe that education is a matter of modern school buildings and highly paid teachers and the latest of all the books available.

Real education, like life itself, isn't bound to a building or a curriculum.

The Difference

Our pioneer forbears were so eager to be free that the word "liberty" sprang almost unbidden to their lips. Today, their descendants cringe and cower, and furtively seek "security" and "what's in it for me?"

Saga Of Enterprise

Realists are always interested in getting to the real truth of the matter. Therefore, we were delighted a few weeks ago when Rose Wilder Lane, surely a realistic person, presented us with a copy of a new book by E. H. Cameron, entitled "Samuel Slater, Father of American Manufacturers."

The Bond Wheelwright Company, publishers from Freeport, Maine, have an ambitious program which we presume they are launching with this particular volume. They say:

"The American Saga Series—a book program planned to do a specific job, to point out the achievements of American industry, and of individuals who are responsible for its growth. This series has for its editorial objective the revelation of American enterprise as a dynamic factor in the American way of life and as a contribution to the political, economic and cultural health of the world. It serves as a corrective to loose economic and social propaganda and teaching, at both high school and college levels, as well as among general readers."

This is both challenging and encouraging and we have read the book with great interest. Cameron has done a splendid job of research and we can only say that it lies not in the research, but in a certain lack of literary skill. Not that the work is hard to master. Far from it. Sentences are simple and direct.

But it appears to be more of an FBI report than a moving human story. Doubtless, it is factual. We seriously doubt that any question will ever be raised on that point. But we missed a sense of the drama and the blood-pounding excitement which could have been provided without loss to the factual content.

But the person truly interested in getting to the bottom of American industrial greatness will begin here to learn once more that our own pioneering efforts in making the world a better place in which to live stemmed from the willingness of some men. Samuel Slater, for example, to break the laws, defy the conventions and do what had to be done, in spite of opposition, criticism and hostility.

Samuel Slater of Belper, England, lost his father at the age of 14. He indentured himself to a well-known and prosperous cotton mill owner named Jedediah Strutt for a period of seven years so that he could learn the business.

In exchange for his services which were virtually total, Slater was to receive room and board (nothing was said about clothing or money) and Strutt was to teach Slater everything he knew about the cotton milling business. The indenture was to be valid for just under seven years.

So thoroughly did Slater believe in the validity of contract that when he was clearly able to violate the indenture after he knew all the secrets of the trade, he honored the agreement to the letter.

Of course Strutt understood that the reason the young man had signed himself over in this fashion and for such a small immediate return, was so that one day Slater would be able to go into the cotton milling business on his own. They discussed this fact fully before the indenture was signed.

In those days Britain had passed a law that prohibited machines, equipment or men of mechanical knowledge from leaving the country. King George III was making a valiant effort, now that the Americans had won their independence, to see to it that British "know-how" was not exported to America.

Young Slater labored, apparently without income for seven years, in order that he might one day be able to travel to America there to set up in business as a mill manager or mill owner.

The problem was acute. Samuel had to memorize every intricate detail of every machine then in operation so that he could take that memory to America when it came time for him to go. He had to learn the measurement, function, design, structure, and substance of each component part of which at least six major machines were manufactured.

This knowledge he took with him to America and was thus responsible for the first successful erection and operation of a cotton mill in this country. Prior to Slater's time other efforts had been made to do the same thing, but all of them had failed.

The story of Samuel Slater is, in a symbolic sense, the story of American enterprise. The free market, private ownership concepts which built our nation and raised our standards of living above all other places in the

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — It has been a long time since I have journeyed to Harlem to call on that exotically beautiful young Russian witch, Lavarelia Nkrifah, but in these electronic days one does not need a personal broom on which to ride. The telephone serves as well. Waking at 4 o'clock the other morning and unable to find sleep again, I decided to call her, since she never seems to sleep. She was awake and ready to talk.

"You have a mind I can't get into," she said. "It's closed off. You will have to tell me what you want to know."

I said, principally, I wished to know how she was and to offer last-minute greetings of the season and to ask, if she had the notes at hand, what she foresaw for 1961. Particularly, I added, since she had been so accurate about one hurricane, the major operation on Gen. MacArthur and last February's bitter, tormenting storm that ravaged most of the nation.

"There are no notes," she said. "I can run down the convictions I have from memory. Dates? No, I won't. They are insubstantial at best. But get your pencil. Ready?"

This is, as recorded on tape, the forecast for 1961 as it comes from Lavarelia Nkrifah, young witch:

"I never tell you names, you know that, but I was right about the aging important man and his operation and I will be right about this before July 8, which gives me a little elbow room no matter what it does for the man I mean. He is going to be so close to death as to alarm capitals the world over where he is held in affection, a lovely man, on whom the years have piled with grace. The passing winds, ice and snow have almost reached their top of torment. After Jan. 3 the weather the country over will be moderate and we shall have what you shall see that is what is commonly called a mild winter. Me, I hate anything below 72 degrees. No storms of consequence between early January and March 3 to March 10, when there will be horrible storms, but short, after which we slide into a gentle spring and relatively cool summer. Cooler than last."

"There will be an important breakthrough in desalination of sea water. Is that the right word? Desalination? Anyway, you know what I mean. It will not come from that scientist in Israel who has attracted some attention but, as it looks now, from a young and heretofore not really recognized scientist in California. A century hence this young man will be an internationally revered hero for having made the earth safe for a violently growing population. Water, at least will not be a problem and his discovery, only basic at the start, will be improved upon until the deserts themselves become gardens. I believe that by fall the vaulting of a man into space will be almost as common and easy as rackets at a tennis ball, but we shall not safely put one distant into space for almost two years.

We will put a sort of electronic super-telescope far into space, beyond any atmospheric clouding, and discover things about Mars and Venus that are only vague conjecture at the moment. Indeed, I think Mars will be a major news story by November.

"Man will get to the moon, but not on it. He will go around it and come back and be able to report—and do it. I prefer not to say what nation will accomplish this. The vexing problem is the minimal. Minimals are the rigid conditions we shall meet, in all we strive for. The minimal path to Mars, the minimal barriers to clear sighting and hearing. Like those radio telescopes we have in which we try to catch the faint chance that another system is sending us coded, defined signals. From our surface. Nonsense. The minimal would be either a satellite we have built far, far out, or the dark side of the moon.

"A defined proof of life on another planet will come in December. It will not be our kind of human life any more than an ant is. But life. Does it have to have a haircut every week and a Diner's Club Card? Of course not. Life is a magic and a wonderment. Leave it at that."

"The new administration is going to have to show audacity and daring, rather than the palm leaf, in the critical areas of foreign policy. Imagination will save more lives than pious orisons for peace. Dean Rusk has the audacity if he is not hobbled. We shall within the year begin to regain our lost prestige, but not by modest means. Flashing tactics will do it at a moment of real peril to the world. Go back to sleep."

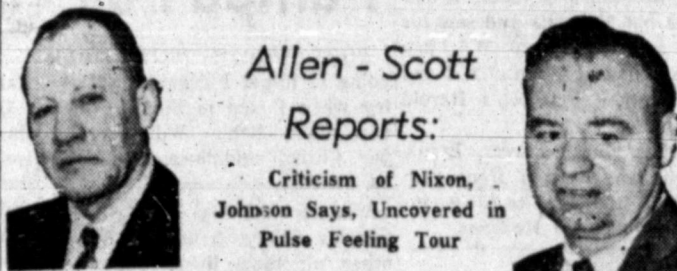

"I went back to sleep. You may wish to save this and check it from time to time. She is a good witch."

world came about by virtue of the individuals of genius and perseverance who tried to do difficult if not impossible things, and succeeded.

We are grateful to Rose Wilder Lane for bringing this book and we urge those interested in the factual account of American enterprise and genius to acquaint the with I. E. H.

themselves with "Samuel Slater" by E. H. Cameron.

Allen - Scott Reports:

Criticism of Nixon, Johnson Says, Uncovered in Pulse Feeling Tour

ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — A highplaced Republican is doing some unusually frank talking about former Vice President Nixon and his prospects for a political comeback.

Victor Johnson, the veteran executive director of the Senate GOP Campaign Committee, is saying Nixon is being severely criticized by party leaders throughout the country, and that the great majority of them refuse to consider him their titular leader.

These harsh findings are based on an extensive "pulse-taking" tour during which Johnson talked to Republican leaders in 35 states. In most of them, he is telling Senate leaders, he found Nixon's prestige at a very low ebb with party chiefs.

On the other hand, they are evincing keen interest in the views, activities and plans of Senator Goldwater and Governor Rockefeller.

Also according to Johnson, National Chairman Thruston Morton is now a Rockefeller booster. This would be a significant switch, as the Kentucky had been a strong Nixon backer.

Recently this column disclosed that Rockefeller is opposing backstage efforts to replace Morton with Ohio State Chairman Ray Bliss.

One of the few state chairmen who is on a salary and devotes full-time to this job, Bliss carried his state for the Nixon-Lodge ticket by more than 200,000 — one of the outstanding GOP victories.

Vigorously supporting him for National Chairman is Charles White, Cleveland, head of Republic Steel and one of the party's biggest fund raisers.

Governor Rockefeller is letting it be known he is entirely content with Morton; sees no reason why he should be supplanted; and is determined to retain him as National Chairman as long as he wants to stay.

That may be quite a while as Morton is undecided about running for a second Senate term next year — when he admittedly faces a difficult race.

WHAT HE'S SAYING — Johnson reported to the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, of which he has long been executive director, that everywhere he went on his country-wide trip he found state and local leaders "sore at Nixon."

"The consensus of opinion," says Johnson, "is that Nixon lost the election because he didn't conduct the right kind of campaign. Most of the advantages were on his side, and he should have won easily. But these leaders claim he wouldn't take their advice, and in many instances they couldn't even get to him."

"Time and again I was bluntly told that Nixon is not considered the Party's titular leader. Also his only chance for a comeback in 1964 is to be elected Governor of California next year, and this obviously confronts him with a tough dilemma."

"If he runs for Governor, he will have to promise to serve the full four-year term. And he'll have to give that assurance in a very convincing manner. Once he does, the door is wide open for Senator Goldwater, Governor Rockefeller and others to seek the 1964 nomination."

According to Johnson, Nixon is still of a divided mind on the governorship. Some state leaders told Johnson that in telephone talks with Nixon he indicated he would make no decision until later this year. They quoted Nixon as saying "There's no need to rush. I'm going to take my time and see how things develop in California and nationally."

POLITICALS — Most sought Republican speaker is Senator Barry Goldwater, followed closely by Governor Rockefeller. Goldwater is accepting as many invitations as his congressional work permits. But Rockefeller is confining his talking to New York until the state legislature concludes. In the meanwhile, he is inviting GOP governors and other state leaders to visit him in which they are doing in a steady and carefully unpublished stream.

Former Governor "Happy" Chandler is at it again. The Kentuckian is again running for that office — in 1963. Wherever he goes, he is passing out buttons reading "A.B.C. in '63." The A.B. stands for Albert B. ... Representative John Saylor (R, Pa) is telling colleagues one reason he voted against increasing the membership of the House Rules Committee is because he has gubernatorial ambitions, and State GOP leaders notified him they were against Speaker Rayburn's proposal to undermine Republican-Southern control of this key Committee.

California Democratic leaders have bluntly told Representative John Shelley (D., San Francisco) to pipe down and stop taking pop shots at Governor Pat Brown. Shelley sounded off in several press interviews that drew angry party fire, and significantly he has been silent since. ... Arthur Burgess, veteran former newsmen who now heads the staff of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, meticulously presents the viewpoint of all GOP senators regardless of how divergent they may be. His reports are deemed so factual that the Library of Congress uses them for its files on the Senate. ... New Democratic Chairman John Bailey says the toughest thing about his job is the widespread belief that "everybody has the right to walk in at any time and lay their troubles in my lap. Senators are among the worst offenders in that. I don't mind taking constituents off their hands, but I wish they wouldn't do it every day; only once in a while."

Pegler Says:

Nixon Breaks Silence On Campaign Coverage

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

After playing the affected role of "good loser" from election night through President Kennedy's coronation brawls, Richard M. Nixon has broken silence to publish and endorse a charge by "a reporter from a major paper" that the work of numerous correspondents on the Nixon campaign was "one of the most shameful chapters in the history of the American press."

Nixon wrote me a personal letter dated Jan. 18 impugning the election returns. They were the result of deliberate abuse of the franchise of the press. Nixon thus plainly has decided to maintain his campaign charges that Kennedy was "reckless, irresponsible, dangerously impulsive, immature, obsessed with fear, a breast-beating imitator of Adlai Stevenson, a distorter of facts helpful to Communist propagandists, putting political abuse relief of misery and a downgrader of America." These criticisms were woven into his campaign and were repeated in the charges that his anonymous champion expressed in a long letter to Nixon at a date not specified.

"In view of some of the comments on the press coverage," Nixon wrote me, "I thought you might like to see a portion of a letter written to me by a reporter from a major paper who travelled with me throughout the campaign."

Although this reporter is not as yet identified, it seems inevitable that Nixon and the reporter must arrange for him to stand forth in person and to name individuals whom he accuses of slanting in violation of their implied vows. I must allow that my own work, consisting of disclosures and comments, was hostile to Kennedy although it was not in the least intended to be so. My intention was to help the cause of peace, a planner of inflation, a blundering advocate of retreat and defeat."

After a pause to catch breath, the letter writer says further, "The impression of 'not much difference' was fostered by the press coverage. The literal truth, and it can be documented, is that your strongest attacks were soft-pedaled by the pro-Kennedy press attached to your campaign. Why blame the voters for thinking it didn't matter too much who was elected when they read, day after day, dispatches subordinating your strongest points and playing up frivolous details? I am afraid the idolatry of Kennedy plainly displayed by some of my colleagues made it physically impossible for them to report speeches revealing woeful deficiencies of the God-like hero."

"The great majority of the people will never know that they received a biased view unless it is pounded home in the hope that publishers and editors at least will be alert in future contests to the prejudice of men who represent them in the field."

This prejudice was flagrant in the daily stories of the first Alger Hiss trial. It is almost daily flagrant in ostensibly objective news and interpretation in the New York Times.

There are less developed countries where there are problems of lack of storage and distribution facilities, as well as lack of organizations through which large amounts of donated food can be channeled to the needy.

The Kennedy administration may find it is easier to talk about expanding the "food for peace" program than it is to accomplish it.

EXAMINING A CRUELY MADE shadow box are James A. Cudney, Dr. Gerald Winfield of ICA Washington, Wang Chief of ICA Formosa, and V. Roxor Short. Cudney and Short, attached to ICA in Afghanistan, developed the slide film projector.

Shadow Box Will Fight Illiteracy

By JERRY BENNETT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The shadow box, originated in the Far East centuries ago to entertain children, may help wipe out growing illiteracy in underdeveloped countries.

Dr. Gerald Winfield, chief of the communications media section of the International Cooperation Administration, and his staff have converted the simple, still picture projector into a highly economical teaching aid for foreign rural schools which can't afford textbooks.

They also visualize it as a solution to the classroom and teacher shortage in the Middle East, Africa, Asia and Latin America. ICA helps more than 40 countries in these areas with their industrial, agricultural and educational programs.

Winfield's shadow box differs from the usual type in that it uses the sun instead of artificial light to project pictures on a screen. A mirror reflects the sun's rays through a simplified projector consisting of a film strip holder and magnifying lens.

The light then passes through a small hole at one end of a conical shaped box and flashes the film strip picture on a screen at the other end. The box provides a dark background for the screen, enabling pictures to be seen clearly out of doors or in a lighted room.

"This is going to be the key to the big break-through in rural education around the world," Winfield says.

He explains that 233 million children between the ages of 5-14 are receiving no education whatsoever. The situation is the same for millions of high school age youngsters.

Poor economic conditions in many countries prevent construction of needed schools and production of text books. But even if money were available, the educational problem would be far from solved.

Dr. Winfield and his staff already made 60 film strip elementary school course. Films on other subjects are planned for the future.

The biology films along with projection units now being in Iran will be tested next in schools in 40 countries. Teaching system is such shadow boxes, film strip course guides will be produced. Costs will be met by the U.S. and participating nations.

Dr. Winfield believes that applying the growing illiteracy vital to free world security notes that 80 per cent of the children in Communist China are going to school.

Applications For New Homes Take Drop In January

WASHINGTON (SpI) — The estimated annual rate of FHA applications for mortgage insurance on new homes, adjusted to allow for seasonal factors, dropped in January after recovering somewhat in December. At the same time, the highest point since June 1959, existing-home applications reaching existing-home applications reached the adjusted rate for homes started under FHA inspection increased slightly but continued to reflect the low level of newhome applications by remaining below the 200,000 mark.

January applications on a total of 47,600 units in one- to four-family homes were 16 per cent higher than in December. Applications involving 8,400 units in multi-family projects were 4 per cent higher than in December. (Applications covering 120 beds in nursing homes are not included in this figure.)

New-home applications rose 9 per cent in January to 14,300 units, but on a seasonally adjusted basis declined 6 per cent to 222,000 units annually.

Sturgeon Named County Manager For Sen. Blakely

AUSTIN (SpI) — Appointment of Aaron Sturgeon, Pampa attorney, as Gray County campaign manager has been announced by United States Senator William A. Blakely's headquarters here.

Blakely, candidate to succeed himself in the special Senate election April 4th, is serving his second interim term in the Senate.

First appointed by then Governor Allen Shivers in 1957, Blakely was appointed in January of this year by Governor Price Daniel to serve in Vice President Lyndon Johnson's vacated seat until the special election is held.

Financial Review

By HENRY J. BECHTOLD
NEW YORK (UPI) — Bookworms can look forward to lower prices for their reading matter in the near future.

This is expected to be the end result of automation which finally has crept into the book publishing business — one of the nation's oldest industries.

Not only are these new developments in book publishing expected to cut costs, but they also promise to sharply increase efficiency in this unusually conservative industry.

S. Roskin, president of Process Lithographers Inc., said his firm now can send a book in manuscript form through a completely integrated operation, with a bound, fully cut book emerging in seconds.

He told United Press International it is comparable to starting with a few nuts and bolts on one end and finishing with a completed automobile.

Surprisingly, the book publishers the general public is most familiar with, such as Random House, Doubleday and MacMillan, do not actually produce their books.

They select the manuscripts and send them to companies such as process lithographer for the actual physical production of the book. And these printers previously farmed out much of the time consuming and costly production work such as art layout, typesetting and lithography.

But now with this one step operation pioneered by process, the "oldtime methods" should quickly disappear, Roskin stated. Where 400 to 500 people used to be involved in the publication of book, automation has dropped this working force to from 50 to 100.

The effect on the $1.3 billion book publishing industry should be immense. It now will be possible for greater amounts of books to be published at more competitive prices. And both domestic sales and foreign efforts in the publishing field will be profoundly affected, Roskin declared.

He contends that the constant desire for new and specialized books in the expanding educational systems of the United States will be more easily met at lower costs with these new production line techniques.

It's Big Birthday And Cakes Hold One To 4 Candles

BLACKSTONE, Mass. (UPI) — One...two...three...four... All of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sweeney's four children celebrated their birthdays Friday with one big party and four small cakes.

One cake had four candles. Another had three. A third had two. And the fourth had one.

It was the first Feb. 17 in five years that Mrs. Sweeney, wife of a factory worker, was not in a lying-in hospital. Her children were born as follows:

- Doris—Feb. 17, 1957.
- Jeanne—Feb. 17, 1958.
- Lucille—Feb. 17, 1959.
- Leo—Feb. 17, 1960.

Powers' Father Says U.S. Not Trying Enough.

NORTON, Va. (UPI) — The father of U-2 spy pilot Francis Powers has accused the State Department of not "doing all they should" to gain the release of his son from a Soviet prison.

A letter that Oliver Powers, a shoe repairman, received from his son Friday night sparked the charge.

He said his son had written he had expected to be released early this month when two other American pilots were freed.

"All they had to do was ask for my boy along with those men and he would have come," the elder Powers said.

"I'm getting burned up about what is going on and what is not happening," he said. "They (the State Department) aren't doing all they should."

JFK By-Passes Mississippi's Office Seekers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has picked nearly 40 Southerners for posts in the new administration but not one from Mississippi.

Mississippi chose an independent course in the elections, rejecting both Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon, and now the President has apparently turned his back on the state's office seekers.

Kennedy did tentatively offer former Mississippi Gov. J. P. Coleman the post of secretary of the Army but the appointment never went through.

Otherwise a rundown of the Southerners in the new administration indicates that Kennedy did not pay much attention to whether a state gave its electoral votes to him or Nixon.

LOTS FOR SALE at reasonable prices $100 per single space

20% of the purchase price of lots is applied to the perpetual care fund; the balance is used for maintaining and beautifying the Cemetery.

Officers and directors of the Association receive no compensation.

The rumor that all lots in Fairview Cemetery have been sold is false. Several thousand spaces are available for sale.

Khushchev Asks More Severe Laws Against Drunks

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has urged "more severe laws against drunkards, speculators and parasites," the government newspaper Izvestia said today.

Izvestia reported Khrushchev's Feb. 11 speech during his tour of the province of Voronezh, in which he claimed that the Soviet Union "ranks second in the world with regard to its economic potential and leads the world in the field of culture."

Khrushchev told Voronezh farmers that "the task of overtaking and surpassing the United States in the per capita output of agricultural produce is one that is realistic and can be achieved in a short time."

But, to achieve this, he said, each republic must "combat antisocial behavior," including the passage of more severe laws against "drunkards, speculators and parasites."

TOO MUCH GOLD

LONDON (UPI) — Police gallantly prepared to break into the apartment of German actress Sabine Sesselman when "really alarming" screams issued from her luxurious Carlton Tower suite Sunday.

They were forestalled by Miss Sesselman throwing open the door gesticulating wildly at the gold wallpaper, gold carpet and gold furniture and sobbing: "Take away all this gold, it gives me an inferiority complex."
