Demos Say They'll Win Senate Race

DALLAS (UPI)—State and National Democratic Party leaders assumed the attitude today that "there's nothing to get excited about" because rookie Republican John G. Tower topped the field in the special U.S. Senate race.

And while Republicans laid plans for an all-out run-off campaign with former Vice President Richard Nixon possibly lending a hand, the Democrats were confident that interim Sen. William A. Blakley has the post already in the bag and the runoff is little more than a formality.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson who created the vacancy when he resigned to accept the post he won as President Kennedy's running-mate, predicted in Geneva Wednesday night that Tower will be swamped in the runoff, expected to be called June 3.

"In the final runoff, the Democrats probably will get 70 per cent of the votes, and Tower will get about 30 per cent," Johnson said.

Byron Skelton, Democratic national committeeman, urged Texas Democrats to swing behind Blakley but left little doubt that he felt the runoff was, for all practical purposes, a waste of time.

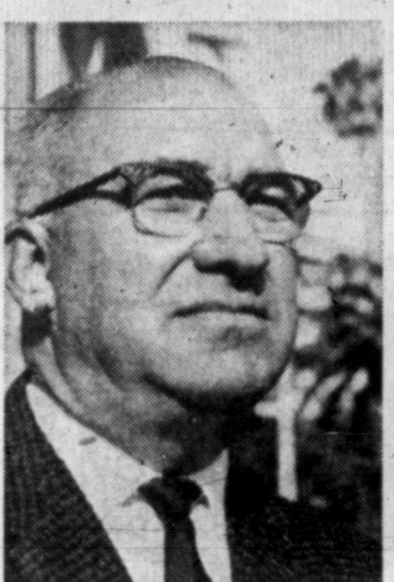

"Sen. Blakley's election is assured because the Democratic majority in this state is not going to support a Republican for this high office," Skelton said.

"It is not surprising that the Republican candidate got slightly over 300,000 votes in this race because that just about represents the Republican voting strength in Texas. The GOP voted for Tower in a solid bloc... the Democrats had so many in the race they cut each other up with a badly divided vote... but the fact remains the great majority of the votes were cast for Democrats. This makes the election of Sen. Blakley a certainty."

The 70-30 division predicted by Johnson was just about the way the voting in Tuesday's special election went. Tower got just little less than 32 per cent of the ballots cast.

Latest returns to the Texas Election Bureau showed Tower polled 324,465 votes, a plurality of (See DEMOS, Page 4)

There will be a panel discussion at tomorrow afternoon's session, moderated by Harry Creasey, manager of the Riverside, Calif., Board of Trade.

Leon W. Hill, Bureau of Reclamation regional director at Amarillo, said today copies of the specifications may be obtained from his office, P. O. Box 1609, Amarillo, or from the assistant commissioner and chief engineer, Bldg. 53, Denver Federal Center, Denver 2, Colo.

Hill said prospective bidders desiring to visit the site of the work should communicate with him at his Amarillo office.

The regional director said after bids are opened and the contracts let, the time of completion of the work will be 60 days from the date of notice to proceed.

The bids, Hill said, will be opened at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, April 25.

This was decided Wednesday by the House Rules Committee — at a stag session at which members were strangely reluctant to cast a written ballot.

Polish Judge Now World Court Head

THE HAGUE (UPI) — Judge Bodhan Winiarski of Poland today took over as president of the International Court of Justice. He is the first jurist from a Communist nation to be named to the post.

Rep. Bill Burkett suggested it might be cheaper to get former President Herbert Hoover, (the town was named after him) to change his name to "Herbert Ar-buckle."

India Bolsters Armed Force In Congo Zone

Leftist Chief Agrees To Federation Talks

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Antoine Gizenga, leader of the Congo's leftist regime, has agreed to meet with Congolese leaders, but remains bitterly opposed to a federation of Congo states, it was disclosed today.

Tension eased considerably in the Katanga Province capital of Elisabethville, where President Moise Tshombe had threatened to mobilize his people and oust U.N. soldiers.

The Katanga chief had warned he would fight U.N. troops if Indian Gurkhas were brought into Katanga.

But after meeting with the U.N. commander-in-chief, Gen. Sean McKeown, and other U.N. officials, Tshombe apparently backed down and suspended the "state of hostility" he had declared against the United Nations.

Informed sources said U.N. officials assured Tshombe that U.N. troops were being brought into Katanga only to keep the peace.

In exchange, Tshombe was reported to have received a promise that no Indian troops would be sent to Elisabethville, and that joint control of the airfield in the capital would be maintained.

(U.N. sources in New York said Wednesday that about 2,200 Indian troops from the Congo command would arrive at Tanganyika this weekend to be airlifted in U.S. planes to Kamina, the former Belgian base about 300 miles northwest of Elisabethville.)

Nuclear Ban Veto Won't Be Accepted

GENEVA (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson put the Russians on notice today that there will be no nuclear test ban treaty unless Moscow gives up its demand for veto powers.

"There is no point to a treaty for a treaty's sake," Johnson said in a statement to reporters just before leaving for Paris.

The vice president stopped off here Wednesday on his way back from Senegal. He spent three hours consulting Wednesday night with Arthur H. Dean, the chief U.S. negotiator, and heard that immediate prospects for agreement with the Russians are bleak.

Johnson declined to estimate how much longer the United States would continue the conference if the Russians maintain their demand for vetoes over every action of a control organization that would police nuclear tests.

He said the United States and British delegations have in the past three weeks presented new proposals which "have attempted to take into account all legitimate Soviet concerns and are designed to promote an accord fair to all parties."

He said this should satisfy the Russians "if indeed the Soviet Union wants to conclude a treaty."

"If a treaty is to be effective and to command the confidence of all participating nations, it must provide an efficient, reliable, prompt system of verification and controls not subject to crippling vetoes," Johnson said.

UN Chief Scuttles Red Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—United Nations diplomats today credited Dag Hammarskjold with a tactical victory in his bold challenge to the Soviet Union to try to force him out as secretary general.

Hammarskjold told the General Assembly Wednesday he would resign if Russia could get approval of a resolution calling for his replacement.

The delegates gave his dramatic gesture an ovation. The Soviet Union, "realizing it could not get a two-thirds majority, has never put its demand for Hammarskjold's ouster into a formal resolution.

Diplomats generally believed that Russia would not press for Hammarskjold's ouster through a formal resolution.

Aside from the fact that it would meet with sure defeat, they said they do not believe Moscow wants to destroy the United Nations at this point and realizes that agreement on a successor to Hammarskjold would be next to impossible.

Witnesses to the accident said Stewart was killed instantly when struck on the head by a falling "A" frame. The accident occurred on a rig owned by the Jack Grace Drilling Co. of Perryton. The body was taken to Shattuck, Okla., and then brought to Pampa.

Stewart, a native Texan, was born in Nocona in 1925. He moved to Pampa in 1956 from Rockford, W. Va.

Survivors include his widow, Lena, and a daughter, Juanita Kay, 11 of Pampa; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Stewart of Nocona; a twin brother, Ray, 5 of Pampa; four other brothers, J. P. of Pampa; James and Albert of Bridgeport, Tex.; and William Stewart of Fort Worth; two half-brothers, Smoky Zackry of Houston and Burr Zackry of Los Angeles.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Duenk-Carmichael Funeral Home with the Rev. Ennis Hill, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, officiating.

A second service is planned for Saturday at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church in Shidler, Okla.

Finch And Tregoff Plan To Appeal Life Terms

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff, spared by a jury from death in the gas chamber and "still very much in love," vowed today to fight their life imprisonment sentences.

The penalty fixed Wednesday by the jury of 10 men and 2 women meant the lovers, who were found guilty of killing the surgeon's wife, will be eligible for parole after serving seven years.

Attorneys for the convicted murderers said they will appeal the case if motions for a new trial are turned down at formal sentencing April 17.

Finch, 43, and Carole, 24, were convicted 10 days ago at their third trial in the shot-in-the-back murder of the surgeon's wife, Barbara Jean, 33, on July 18, 1959.

The state board that rules on parole can withhold it for an indefinite length of time or refuse it completely, depending on the nature of the crime and a convict's record in prison.

Of those male prisoners sentenced to life and later paroled, the average length of sentence in California is 11 years, 4 months. But some are never released.

The same jury that returned the guilty verdicts pronounced its sentence at 4:35 p.m., PST, Wednesday after receiving orders from Judge David Coleman that there were only two alternatives—the gas chamber or life.

The lovers reacted with tearful relief, and at the same time the shock that came from knowing they might spend the rest of their lives in jail.

"No, no, no," Carole said. "I'll be an old woman when I get out." She started to sob. Finch, separated from her at the counsel table by her lawyer, Don Bringgold, reached his left hand to touch her right arm and said: "We'll fight it, darling. We're still alive."

Carole recovered her composure quickly and walked firmly from the courtroom.

Neither of the McCanns would speak to newsmen.

The ambulance had to keep its speed down to 15 miles an hour to prevent jostling McCann on its trip over winding mountain roads to St. Theresa's Hospital.

As he was carried through the hospital lobby he kept his gaze fixed on the ceiling, looking neither to right nor left. His face was ashen gray.

It was obvious McCann had suffered on the 1,100-mile trip, by plane, train and ambulance from Tientsin to Hong Kong. His wife was by his side all the way.

Tears flowed down the frail man's hollow cheeks as three male and two female Chinese Red Cross attendants carried him on a stretcher up to within five feet of the border at Lowu Station.

He was shifted there to a British Red Cross stretcher and carried across to an ambulance waiting on the Hong Kong side.

McCann grimaced in pain during the transfer and as he crossed the border Mrs. McCann burst into tears with him.

Pampa May Get Rainfall Tonight

Pampa and vicinity received light precipitation over the past 48 hours with a report of 4 hundredths of an inch falling in the form of snow and rain.

A direct forecast from the Amarillo Weather Station for Pampa and vicinity is warmer temperatures with a chance of rain late tonight. High today, 49. Low tonight 34. High tomorrow 57.

Dying Man, Freed From Chinese Prison, Arrives In Hong Kong

HONG KONG (UPI) — Robert E. McCann, his body wasted by cancer and wracked with pain, emerged tearfully into the free world today from 10 years imprisonment in Communist China. Doctors sped the American to a hospital to try to save his life.

A doctor said the 60-year-old McCann was in "extremely grave" condition.

A U.S. Air Force transport stood ready to fly him back to the United States with his wife, Flora, when and if doctors felt he could risk the trip. His three children and six grandchildren were waiting to see him in California.

Chill Air Blankets State, Warming Trend Forecast

By United Press International Chill air gripped Texas today with light snow flurries over much of the Panhandle and South Plains in the wake of cold drizzle and squally weather all the way into the Rio Grande Valley.

The fast-moving cold front moved all the way to the Gulf of Mexico and the U.S. Weather Bureau forecast a slight warm-up for Friday, although showers were expected to remain in most sections.

The cold front set off snow flurries Wednesday at Amarillo, Spearman, Borger, Canyon, Dumas, Stratford and Dalhart and today at Lubbock, Amarillo, and as far south as San Angelo. But it was light at all points.

Overnight low temperatures ranged from 31 at Dalhart to 58 at Galveston and Houston.

The Weather Bureau reported "twister-type" conditions in much of the Rio Grande Valley as thunderstorms swept the area, along with banks of threatening, black "pendant" clouds, but no funnels were reported.

Angry Red Technicians Leave Cuba

HAVANA (UPI) — Communist technicians sent here to train Cubans in their specialties were reported today to be heading for home, disgusted with the inefficiency of Premier Fidel Castro's government.

Seven aviation instructors from Red Czechoslovakia left Monday, telling friends they had found it impossible to work under the "inefficient direction" of the Castroites.

Another group of Czechs assigned as advisers to the National Bank of Foreign Commerce left recently, saying they could not work with the "undisciplined Cubans."

A Russian team overseeing the construction of a cement factory near Matanzas pulled out without explanation, leaving the job half done.

The exact duties of the aviation instructors never had been made clear, although their presence was linked with reports that Russian Mig jets are being assembled at San Julian airbase in western Cuba.

These reports have never been confirmed, and no Soviet jets have been sighted in flight.

Foes of the Castro regime started a $5 million fire Wednesday at the nationalized Hershey sugar mill, burning out one of Cuba's biggest sugar refineries and a warehouse containing nearly 14,000 tons of bagged sugar.

Destruction of the sugar alone accounted for $1.6 million of the loss. A total of 279,096 100-pound bags of sugar had been crammed into the warehouse, which was designed to hold only 250,000 bags.

Observers said the overload indicates the difficulty the Castroites are having in disposing of the current sugar crop.

Numerous cane field fires were reported Wednesday in Las Villas Province. It appeared some of them had been set by sugar workers angered by the recent reduction of their wages, while others were believed to have been set by political opponents of the regime.

Roy D. Stewart, Oil Rig Worker, Fatally Injured

Roy D. Stewart, 35, of 941 S. Schneider, was killed at 3 p.m. yesterday while working on an oil rig between Glazier and Higgins in Lipscomb County.

Witnesses to the accident said Stewart was killed instantly when struck on the head by a falling "A" frame. The accident occurred on a rig owned by the Jack Grace Drilling Co. of Perryton. The body was taken to Shattuck, Okla., and then brought to Pampa.

Before White could ask more his car veered out of control, crashed through a bridge rail and plunged into the Canaba River. White was thrown clear and swam to safety. Skin divers found the boy's body in the car.

Police tried everything they knew to find a name or a relative for the boy. National circulation of his photograph brought more than 300 telephone calls from Florida and Virginia, Minnesota and Georgia, Iowa and Alabama and Indiana. No one knew him.

The only real clues were a crude tattoo on his left arm and a picture in his wallet. The tattoo read: "R.K. plus love."

The picture was that of a boy and a girl. An inscription read: "Think of me always and remember how we used to go places. Residents of Centreville town donated money for a funeral. The city treasury was tapped for a small footstone to mark the grave. Ministers of various faiths volunteered to conduct the service."

Nameless Tombstone Over Body

CENTREVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — No one knew the boy's name, and there will be no name on his tombstone.

He was a skinny youngster with light brown hair and blue eyes. Maybe he was 13 years old or maybe 15—it was impossible to tell. He came out of nowhere, hitchhiking west to California.

James White of Cottontdale, Ala., driving homeward on the night of March 27, saw the boy standing by the roadside in the little community of Six Mile. He stopped his car and offered a ride.

They had only a few minutes to talk. White said the boy told him he was trying to get to San Diego to join the Navy—either that or he would have to enter an orphanage.

Before White could ask more his car veered out of control, crashed through a bridge rail and plunged into the Canaba River. White was thrown clear and swam to safety. Skin divers found the boy's body in the car.

Bridges Empire Cash Declared Found By Audit

DALLAS (UPI) — A representative of the bankrupt estate of former insurance promoter W.L. Bridges Sr., said yesterday accountants have accounted for "practically all of the enormous amounts of cash" that flowed through the Bridges empire.

Attorney Marvin Sloman, representing the trustee of the estate, told federal bankruptcy referee Elmo Whitehurst that in many cases the accountants found the cash flowed "from one account to another and then to another, all owned by Bridges."

He said the duplication of funds made tracing of the cash difficult, but that all questions were answered.

Sloman cited one transaction involving payment of $32,500 to the Gibson Funeral Home and Gibson Insurance Co., of Lufkin for assets of both firms. He said the transaction was never completed because of a default in the payments, however.

Bridges, 68, appeared briefly for questioning at the hearing.

Slides In Japan Kill 26 Persons

SAPPORO, Japan (UPI) — At least 26 persons were killed in three separate avalanches in Japan's northernmost home island of Hokkaido yesterday, and 11 others were buried and feared dead.

The heaviest death toll was at a power dam construction site in Niikappu village, 40 miles southeast of Sapporo, where an avalanche crushed two of three buildings housing workmen. Reports said there were 11 confirmed dead there, five injured, and 11 others still buried and feared dead.

In the nearby town of Shinnai,

17 persons were buried alive by an avalanche. All but five were killed.

Three other persons were killed in the third landslide at a mine at Kaminokuni.

Pitfalls Far Outnumber The Blessings In Totalling Results Of Federal Aid

It seems that we are living in the age of "aid." The dictionary in my office defines this much-used word as follows: "To help; to further. That which promotes or helps in something done; an extraordinary subsidy." I suppose there must have been eras of seeking "local aid," which were, no doubt, followed by eras in which people were seeking "state aid." But for the last several decades the trend seems to be away from the local and state levels and advanced to the Federal level. It seems that all segments of the economy are pointing their efforts toward Washington for aid of some kind. And I would point out that there are no exceptions when all of the facts are brought out in the open. It is not only the poor and the low income groups that are seeking aid from the Capital City. The fact is that many very wealthy individuals and giant corporations who daily preach free enterprise and contribute generously to publications and programs bitterly denouncing government help, and aids, maintain high-paid lobbyists in the Nation's Capital for the sole purpose of obtaining fat contracts and lucrative purchase orders that are to be paid for out of taxes wrung from the individual American. During the recent debates on the area redevelopment bills, letters and telegrams were received by Members of Congress from Chambers of Commerce and municipal corporations all over this country, many of whom have soundly denounced excessive Federal spending and socialist trends in the Federal government. It is difficult to understand how a socialistic program becomes less socialistic simply because one is allowed to participate in it. Let us take a look at some of the measures with which Congress has been faced in the past several years and will be again faced with this year. FEDERAL AID TO EDUCATION. This proposal is not new. It has been vigorously pushed for a number of years. The only reason that it has not been adopted on a wide front during the past 10 years is because of an amendment which provided that Federal funds should be denied to any school practicing segregation. Yet each year, the difference between the years and nays narrows. It seems to be generally assumed that there was nothing wrong with Federal aid as a general proposition. This, of course, was starting from an assumed premise that was false. Under our Constitution, it was undoubtedly intended that education would be the responsibility of the states under the dual sovereignty form of government—dual sovereignty meaning that the Federal government would be a national sovereignty composed of the several states as separate sovereignties joined together in one united sovereignty. As time moved on, attempts have been continuous to reduce the powers of the state sovereignty and weld them into the Federal sovereignty. The field of education is no exception. Since we are all deeply interested in the welfare and education of our children and in seeing that they obtain the best possible education, this furnishes a fertile field for the advocates of centralized government. Federal aid in the form of money, whether it be loans or direct grants, if practiced on a wide scale general program, must eventually result in control of the educational processes of this nation. Once the Federal government assumes the responsibility of providing the funds (probably supplemental in the first instance), it cannot escape the responsibility of controlling the expenditures of those funds and, hence, dictating the educational procedures. It is the yielding in the first instance which creates the foothold that eventually ripens into full conquest. The transition could come very quickly in this country even though it is a government of law rather than man. It must be remembered that the laws are made by man. Once the Federal door is opened in the field of education, it would require only one session of a Congress manned by a simple majority of centralized government advocates and a friendly President to complete the conquest. The same rule could be applied in almost any other area of our general economy. A good example is the recent situation brought into focus by the debate on the minimum wage bill. The real purpose behind the minimum wage bill was not the amount of wages that a person received, but the attempt by the centralized government advocates to expand the coverage of Federal law; that is, to provide that Federal law would supersede state law insofar as certain employees were concerned. There were three bills before the House. Insofar as the principle involved is concerned, there was no difference in any of the bills. The principle sought was for the Federal government to invade state jurisdiction. None of the bills took in all employees, but the passage of any one of the bill means that the difference between interstate commerce and intrastate commerce as far as the Fair Labor Standards Act is concerned has been broken. Hence, it is only a matter of time until amendments would be made to cover all employees of the United States under the Federal law. This may seem very good to many people, but it must be remembered that once this course is followed in regard to one segment of the economy, that same rule would be applicable to all other segments of the economy. Carrying it out to its logical conclusion, the end result would be the complete abolition of the effectiveness of state governments and the vesting of omnipotent power in the central government of the United States. Once this is done, complete control of our entire operations, both governmental and private, could be secured by the election of 219 Members of the House of Representatives and 51 Members of the United States Senate by a power-seeking individual or small group of individuals. There are many, many things that can be and probably will be furnished by the Federal government to the individuals, to corporations, and to cities and towns that may be looked upon by the recipient as most beneficial. But I would admonish each and every one before counting such blessings, if blessings they are, to consider well the price that is being paid. Many of you will find it much too high. I do.

Cuban Army Reports Quelling Of Uprising

HAVANA (UPI)—The government said today it had put down source of his main popular support, an "uprising" in Oriente Province.

The government said two military forces from the U. S. naval base were killed and seven wounded in several clashes near the town of Baracoa where wide-spread defections of naval personnel were reported last week.

Baracoa is near the extreme eastern tip of the province.

The ministry headed by Major Raul Castro charged the insurgents were "fed ideologically, economically and militarily by North American imperialism and directed by Caimanera (the Cuban name for Guantanamo) naval base in territory occupied illegally by the Pentagon in our country."

It said the last clash occurred March 30 when government forces surrounded insurgents near the port of Imias, some 30 miles east of Guantanamo. The leader of the force, identified as Ramon Ortega, a former Castro sergeant, was killed with two other insurgents.

Rotarians Hear School Musicians

Pampa Rotarians were yesterday entertained by three groups from Pampa High School giving musical renditions: The sophomore boys' quartet, the senior girls' trio and the Four Flats.

Doug Halley, the director of Pampa's new Youth and Community Center, was introduced and made a few remarks to the club.

E. E. Shelhamer extended his appreciation to the club membership for their co-operation in making the recent Rotary Conference a success.

As a token of the club's appreciation to its president, R. E. (Dick) Batson, for his part in the conference, a 35 mm camera was presented him by Shelhamer.

The junior Rotarian for the month of April, Pete Lewis, was introduced to the club.

Visitors and guests were Rufus Grisham, Mrs. Gladys Batson, Jeff Bearden, Frank Culbertson, Bill Carter, Jimmy Crouch and Wesley Bruce.

Women's College President Chosen

GULFPORT, Miss. (UPI)—Dr. H. Preston James has been named to succeed Dr. Joseph E. Gibson as president of Gulf Park Junior College for women.

The announcement, which was released Wednesday, said Gibson would retire and that James, dean of William Wood College at Fulton, Mo., would take over July 1.

James has served as dean of William Wood since 1956. He has taught at several Southern Colleges, including Clinton College at Clinton, Miss. He is a native of Missouri.

Concern Voiced Over Appointees Aiding Kennedy

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI)—A national officer of the John Birch Society has said that President Kennedy's loyalty to the United States would be questioned unless he rid himself of "political pay-offs."

Revilo Pendleton Oliver, professor of classics at the University of Illinois and council member of the conservative society, declined to speak of "personalities," but was "weak in the head," said some administration members.

The "net result of their policy will be the profit of an international Red conspiracy. A whole list of administration appointees endanger the security of the United States," he said.

The Birch Society, a rightwing anti-Communist organization, has been a center of a controversy since the public disclosure that its founder, Robert H. W. Welch, termed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower a "conscious agent" of the Communists.

In a telephone interview Monday, which Oliver's secretary said was being taped, the professor said he had "anticipated this all-out sneak campaign when the society became so effective and formidable."

"I'm extremely proud to be a member of an organization which I regard as the most effective means of saving the United States from subversion," he said. Oliver said he had been a member of the Birch Society since its founding.

Building Code Copies Available

Contractors and builders who wish to obtain a copy of the Southern Standard Building Code should apply at the city manager's office in City Hall, City Manager John Koontz said today.

The price is $4.50 per copy.

Pampa's new city building code will be patterned after the Southern Code. Legislation now is in the process of being made effective by the city commission.

Sentences

a punishment of the gas chamber or life.

She also was convicted of second-degree murder, but the judge told the jury to ignore its automatic penalty of five years to life since the conspiracy, sentence made it meaningless.

"We'll go as high as the Supreme Court if necessary," said Bringgold. He said he "thanked God" the jury had spared Carole but added:

"We will free this girl and prove her innocence to the world. If she is granted a new trial, it will be the beginning of a long, hard fight."

Bringgold said Carole was placed in the care of the county jail physician after the sentencing and that she was "obviously shaken" and "highly disturbed."

Finch's lawyer, Maxwell Keith, said the surgeon felt "vastly relieved" by the life term. He said he thought the sentence was "wonderful" and that "justice has been served."

By that, Keith explained, he meant he was happy Finch's life had been spared, adding, "We'll definitely appeal."

Co-prosecutor Clifford Crail, who had demanded the death penalty, said "I'd be the last person to quarrel with a duly-appointed jury. We certainly will accept the verdict."

The jury said later in a statement: "We feel we came to a fair and just decision."

Accord On Laos Declared Near

LONDON (UPI)—Authoritative diplomatic sources said today Britain and Russia are working out "practical arrangements" for the ending of hostilities in Laos, including a joint appeal for a cease-fire.

They said representatives of the two nations are drafting a letter to Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru, calling for reactivation of the three-member international supervisory commission for Laos.

"A sufficiently great measure of agreement has now been reached in the diplomatic talks in Moscow to allow both sides to work out the practical arrangements for the projected peace moves in great detail," the sources said.

Final agreement has not yet been achieved, but the sources said that an accord is almost "in the bag."

The Russians were reported to be showing good will in the confidential talks which are being conducted in Moscow by British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts.

Soil Week Set For May 7-14

A responsible attitude toward soil and water resources is the key to the future growth and prosperity of the state, Governor Price Daniel declared recently in proclaiming the week of May 7-14 as Soil Stewardship Week in Texas.

This observance is an annual event sponsored as part of a nationwide program by the 181 Soil Conservation Districts in Texas. Church services, tours, newspaper articles and editorials, radio and television features, banquets, school and scout activities, and many other means are used to emphasize the vital role of conservation.

"Today as never before we recognize the indispensability of soil, water and plants as the major sources of food and fiber for our people and raw products for industrial processing and handling," Governor Daniel stated in setting the dates for the 1961 observance of Soil Stewardship Week.

During Soil Stewardship Week last year, almost half a million Texans heard sermons stressing the importance of responsible stewardship of natural resources. Millions more were reached by means of the 313 radio broadcasts, 28 television programs, and 136 special newspaper editions devoted to this important topic.

Soil Conservation Districts, which sponsor the observance of Soil Stewardship Week each year, are locally organized and governed subdivisions of state government. Each District is directed by a local Board of Supervisors elected by landowners within the District. These Supervisors work without salary to promote the use of conservation among their fellow farmers and ranchers. In addition, Districts work, as with Soil Stewardship Week, to publicize the importance of conservation to all the people — both city and rural dwellers.

The Soil Conservation Districts of Texas now cover more than 99 percent of the state, with more than 185,000 farmers and ranchers taking part in the battle to save the soil.

CROP DUSTER KILLED
AMARILLO (UPI) — Daniel Morris Kivlehen, 33, died Tuesday in the crash of his crop-dusting plane after it struck a power line and burst into flames. The plane crashed just outside the south city limits of Amarillo.

WAGGING THE WIG--

President Kennedy's luxurious bush of hair is his trademark. The question is, would he be the same forceful personality if it weren't for this distinguishing feature? To find the answer, Newspaper Enterprise Association artist Ralph Lane used artistic sleight of hand to transfer three other hair styles (left to right, above—Nixon's, Washington's and Eisenhower's) onto Kennedy's photo. The four are presented as they really are for comparison, below.

Court Reverses Foreclosure Case

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Supreme Court has ordered a Tyler district court to reconsider a land foreclosure suit by H. J. Gardner against Dollie Fae Stallings Martin and others.

The high court ruled that a summary judgment in favor of the Martin group was not properly requested.

Gardner sued to obtain almost 100 acres of land some 10 miles north of Tyler in payment of a $2,175 debt. The defendants contended a prior court fight had decided the case in their favor.

But a request by attorneys for summary judgment in favor of the Martin group only made reference to the previous case, and the high court said it did not include proper papers, records and other documents.

"Since the matters referred to were court records," said the opinion, "certified copies should have been attached to the nation."

It's The Law In Texas

For the fourth consecutive year, May Day has a special significance in this country. May 1st will again be observed as "Law Day U.S.A."

This is a special day dedicated across our nation to observance of the fact that we have a government of law instead of men. It is particularly appropriate that Americans set aside this day each year to demonstrate to the world—and to ourselves—that our belief in individual freedom under law remains strong and unshakable.

Why is it that some men are able to live in freedom while others cringe under a rule of tyranny? We owe our rights and freedoms to our state and national constitutions, our laws, and our courts. In other lands, there are no rights and people are subjected to the edicts and whims of individuals unhampered by legal restraints.

Most of us tend to take it for granted that an individual is free to think for himself and that his rights are protected by law. We know without actually admitting it that our whole way of life is governed by this rule of law.

Law is the intangible force guaranteeing all of us freedom, peace and progress — ideals which have been, and are, dependent upon the adequacy of our legal system and the protection awarded the individual by our courts.

On May 1st, then this year and every year, with the nation's attention focused on "Law Day U.S.A.," it behooves us to re-dedicate our belief and faith in this rule of law that is the birthright of all Americans.

It is this liberty and equality under law that distinguishes our system of government from communism. Without laws and the courts, these freedoms we take so for granted would be meaningless.

Our respect for law is vital to the continued growth and strengthening of our nation; our thoughtful observance of "Law Day U.S.A.," in a real sense distinguishes America from those who today live under tyranny; it is our answer to communism. "Law Day U.S.A." is the American way.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Quake Recorded In Pacific Area

LITTLE BY LITTLE — Two schoolgirls in Amsterdam, The Netherlands, try out a new savings machine provided by a local bank. The child gets a card that is placed in the machine. Then a coin is inserted in the slot, a handle is turned and the amount is registered on the card. Later the filled card can be taken to the bank where the amounts are recorded in a bankbook.

Viva Italian Cooking! Most Everyone Likes It

Although Italy as we now know it is but 100 years old — the separate states of the Italian peninsula became one nation in March, 1861 — the cuisine of this country has developed over the centuries. In tribute to modern Italy's hundredth birthday, take a fresh look at some of your family's favorite Italian-style foods. You'll find they're easy to prepare in your own kitchen now that such ingredients as savory herbs and pungent cheeses are readily available to American homemakers.

Val Parmigiana is one dish most everyone enjoys. To prepare it, first make a tangy tomato sauce. Brown veal cutlets coated with packaged corn flake crumbs and grated cheese, then cover them with the sauce and bake. During the last 15 minutes of baking, top the meat with cheese. Serve with crisp green salad and fresh fruit for dessert.

Chicken, too, responds deliciously to an Italian hand. Try oven-frying chicken, Italian-style. Marinate the chicken in olive oil first, then coat with seasoned corn flake crumbs and bake. Dishes of this sort are true timesavers when you set the packaged corn flake crumbs in the package with the pour spout.

VEAL PARMIGIANA
3 tablespoons finely chopped green onions
1/2 cup vegetable oil
2-3 cup (6 oz. can) tomato paste
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon oregano
1 teaspoon sweet basil
1 teaspoon salt
3 black peppercorns
1 cup boiling water
4 cups corn flake crumbs
1 cup packaged corn flake crumbs
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese or aged cheese
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
6 veal cutlets, pounded until very thin
3 slices Cheddar cheese, cut in half
Cook onions in about 2 tablespoons heated oil until lightly browned. Stir in tomato paste and cook for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Stir in sugar, spices, seasoning, peppercorns and water; simmer 30 minutes. If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs; combine with Parmesan cheese. Beat eggs with salt and pepper. Dip veal into seasoned eggs, then into corn flake crumbs mixture. Brown on both sides in remaining oil. Place in a single layer in shallow pan and pour sauce over meat. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Top each cutlet with a half slice of cheese. Sprinkle with more Parmesan cheese, if desired. Continue baking about 15 minutes longer. Serve at once accompanied by a green salad.

Yield: 6 servings.
ITALIAN-STYLE OVEN-FRIED CHICKEN
2 1/2 to 3 pound frying chicken, cut up
1/2 cup olive oil or 1/2 cup French dressing
4 cups corn flakes or 1 cup packaged corn flake crumbs

Party Spread Is Tastily Satisfying

Another appetizing and satisfying sandwich filling is made with Braunschweiger.

PARTY SPREAD
1 pound Braunschweiger
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
3 tablespoons grated onion
1 hard cooked egg, chopped fine
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/4 teaspoon salt
Combine all ingredients, mix well. Shape into a ball. Wrap and chill in refrigerator for several hours. Before serving allow to stand at room temperature 15 minutes for proper spreading consistency. This is especially good on whole wheat or rye bread.

INDIVIDUAL LOAVES
Bake meat loaf mixture in muffin pans for quick easy-to-serve individual meat loaves.

1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1 clove garlic, minced
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Wash and dry chicken pieces. Marinate chicken pieces in olive oil for 1 1/2 hours, turning occasionally. If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine corn flake crumbs, cheese, parsley, garlic, salt and pepper; mix well. Roll chicken pieces in crumb mixture. Arrange in shallow baking pan without crowding. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1 hour, or until chicken is tender. Yield: 4 servings. (Packaged corn flake crumbs is the generic name for Kellogg's Corn Flake Crumbs.)

Onions Make Steak Saucy

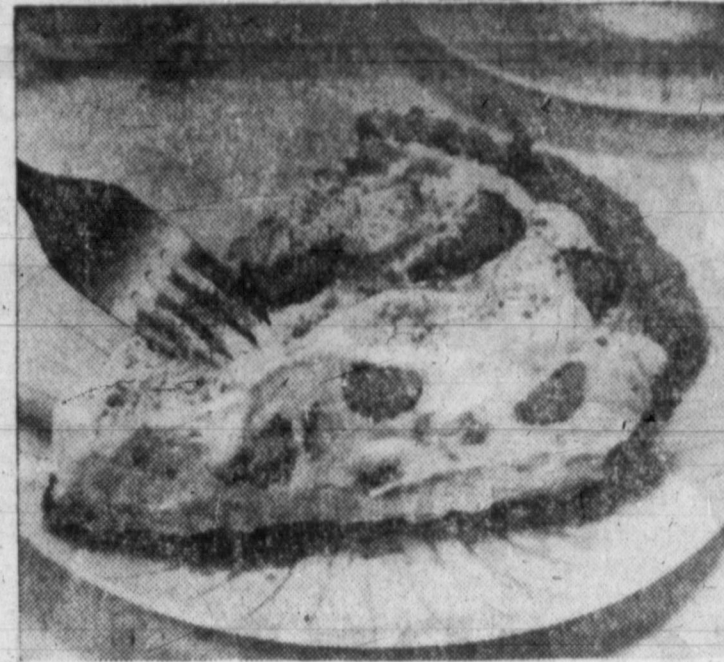

The main reason this steak is called "saucy" is that it is braised in condensed onion soup. Don't dilute the soup, add it directly from the can. Then add the water, celery seed and chili sauce.

Be sure the frying-pan is tightly covered, and let the meat simmer (don't boil) for about 1 1/2 hours or until it is tender.

After the enticing saucy steaks are lifted to the platter, there will be a tasty sauce to serve over them.

A menu of old favorites will complete your meal.

SAUCY STEAK
1 beef round steak, cut 1/2 inch thick
1/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed onion soup
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon celery seed
2 tablespoons chili sauce
Cut steak into 5 or 6 servings. Pound to 1/4 inch thickness. Mix together flour, salt and pepper. Dredge steak pieces with seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Add onion soup, water, celery seed and chili sauce. Cover tightly and simmer 1 1/2 hours or until meat is tender. Yield: 5 to 6 servings.

PARTY-PRETTY PIE WITHOUT COOKING — This fluffy, strawberry-pink-topped pie with spring flavor is an "ooh and aah" type of dessert. It's a joy to make because no cooking is involved. The easy recipe for "No-Cook Strawberry Pie" is in the adjoining story.

Dream Of Dessert Comes True With Delicious Strawberry Pie

"Come for dessert and coffee" is an easy, informal way to entertain. But informality seems very special when you serve an impressive creation like "No-Cook Strawberry Pie."

The beauty of this dessert is that no cooking is involved. It's just a matter of mixing the ingredients and letting the refrigerator do the "baking." Now that strawberries are becoming available, you will enjoy their plump freshness in the pie. However, the convenience of frozen strawberries permits serving the pie any time of year.

The flavor of this strawberry pie is light and delicate but the richness calls for serving small wedges.

"No-Cook Strawberry Pie" is one of 72 recipes featured in "Aunt Cora's Book of Unusual Cakes, Cookies and Pies" now being offered free by Imperial Sugar Company. A copy of the cookbook may be obtained by sending the red "pure cane" block from an Imperial 10X Powdered or Imperial Brown Sugar carton to Imperial Sugar, Department E, Sugar Land, Texas.

RIGHT PROPORTIONS
Basic proportions for the more common seasonings for ground meat are 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and 2 to 4 tablespoons chopped onion for each pound.

NO-COOK STRAWBERRY PIE
1 1/2 cups fine vanilla wafer crumbs
1-3 cup melted butter
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups sifted Imperial 10X Powdered Sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups drained, sweetened strawberry slices, fresh or frozen
1 to 2 cups heavy cream, whipped
Mix all but 2 tablespoons crumbs with melted butter; press into buttered 9" pie pan; chill until firm. Cream butter and Imperial 10X Powdered Sugar; add beaten eggs and vanilla; beat until fluffy; spoon into crust; fold strawberries (if frozen strawberries are used, thaw and drain first) into whipped cream and spread over first mixture in crust; sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Refrigerate until firm, about 8 hours.

William Terry Nichols, Described As 'Crazy', Put On FBI List

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William Terry Nichols, described by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a "crazy" criminal who would not hesitate to kill members of his own family, was placed on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted fugitives today.

Nichols is known for his violence both in and out of prison. He has been classified as an "incorrigible" criminal by authorities. The FBI warned that the 30-year-old white Alabamian "must be considered extremely dangerous."

The wanted man has been on the loose since Dec. 1, 1960, when he and three other convicts on a Seminole County, Georgia, work gang made a brutally executed prison escape.

The four threatened to blow the head off a prison guard with his own shotgun. Guards and prisoners were locked in the cage of a prison van and a man and wife near Iron City, Ga., were kidnaped and terrorized in the escape.

The last sign of Nichols was when the escape car was found near Bristol, Fla.

His criminal record dates back to when he was 15 years old. His convictions have ranged from bootlegging charges to armed robbery.

Nichols has been involved in prison breaks and escapes almost every time he has been sentenced. On one occasion, he escaped from an Alabama Penitentiary by concealing himself under garbage being hauled out.

CHARGES DISMISSED

HOUSTON (UPI) — Dist. Atty. Frank Briscoe Tuesday dismissed charges filed against 13 persons, mostly Negroes, because one of their signs bumped into a man while they were picketing a movie house.

According to police reports, Nichols, a native of Marshall County, Alabama, served a while in the Army but was given an undesirable discharge in January 1952.

He has tattoos of a sword and the insignia of the 503rd Airborne Infantry on his upper left hand; a woman's head with a silor on his upper right arm.

Nichols stands 5 feet, 8 inches tall and weighs between 135- and 150 pounds. He has a medium complexion, brown eyes and black hair. There are scars on the center of his upper lip, and his right hand and his left eyebrow.

U.S. Told Yanks In Cuban Jails Are Mistreated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said yesterday that 22 Americans in Cuban jails are being tragically treated, underfed and denied medicine.

The United States is contemplating a new sharp protest to Fidel Castro's regime against the treatment of the 22.

A spokesman said that in most cases Red Cross officials and Swiss diplomats, who represent U.S. interests in Cuba, have been unable to gain access to the Americans.

Officials said the lot of Americans in Cuba apparently has become worse since the United States broke relations with the Castro regime on Jan. 3.

A department press official, Joseph W. Reap, told a news conference the United States asked the American Red Cross a month ago to do what it could through the international and Cuban Red Cross organizations to get extra food and medicines to the American prisoners.

Reap said the Red Cross efforts apparently have been unsuccessful and Cubans generally have prevented Swiss diplomats from interviewing Americans arrested.

Reap said Cuban jails are overcrowded, making conditions even worse.

FIREMAN COLLAPSES

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI) — Fire Capt. Ancil A. Hughes, 46, collapsed and died of an apparent stroke Tuesday while helping fight a minor residence fire. Hughes, scheduled to retire in about five months, had been with the Abilene Fire Department 19 years.

Cocktail Suit For Men Becomes Social Need

A woman doesn't have to be married for very long to learn

Ask The Designer

By GAILE DUGAN

Dear Gaile: What is all this I've been reading lately about the Jackie Kennedy look? Are we all really going to have to try to look like her in order to be in fashion? I'm about her age but I'm hardly her type. And I don't know that I really care to make myself over even to be in fashion. I've read that blondes will be "out" for the next four years. Is this true? — Worried.

Dear Worried: No, of course it isn't true. Blondes will be admired as much as ever. As for the balance of your question, I have turned it over to Larry Aldrich, a New York designer known for his beautiful and elegant clothes. This is what he says: "The so-called Jacqueline Kennedy look is young, charming and attractive. But no woman should feel obliged to copy Mrs. Kennedy. Fashion always has more than one look to offer. A woman should always choose the look that suits her own personality.

"Personally, I wish that more women would approach the clothes problem with a sense of adventure. I feel that they would be surprised and delighted to discover how much fun dressing to please one's self can be."

Dear Gaile: I've been hoping and hoping that skirts would get longer, and now I've been reading that they're just as short or even shorter for spring. My legs aren't really attractive. My ankles are thick and my legs tend to be heavy even though I'm not really plump. As you see by my address, I live in a fair-sized city.

So far, I haven't shortened my hems but all my friends have and I feel out of things as uncomfortable. Should I go ahead, take my hems up and buy some new thing for spring with the shorter skirts — Mrs. R. C. W.

Dear Mrs. R. C. W.: This is a question that bothers many women when hemlines move up or down. Perhaps you are sensitive about legs that really aren't bad at all. But your answer comes from a woman well-known for the very lovely feminine clothes she designs. She is Sylvia Kaplan, designer for Nat Kaplan. She sees your problem this way:

Cocktail suit may soon rank with the "little black dress" as a valued wardrobe item.

has but two kinds of suits — old ones and new ones.

The new ones, as much alike as possible, carry him through all his business and social hours. He fixes the plumbing, goes fishing sits around the house in the old ones. But this sad situation doesn't have to exist. For there is a very different fashion picture today in the men's clothing field.

A man, and the gal who helps him shop, now can pick suits to fit occasions, and these cover quite a range. There are special suits for traveling, for business, for that, in most cases, her husband lounging or for walking in the country. And there are suits especially designed for the social whirl.

Cocktail dresses are valued staples for millions of women, but not until recently has there been a comparable fashion for men.

A well-known clothing firm has designed a suit frankly called a "cocktail suit," the first time this social need has been openly recognized in the men's fashion field.

The cocktail suit has some special distinguishing marks. It is dark, either a new inky blue or the newer, more fashionable black. The fabric has an elegant, noticeable sheen, resulting either from a special weaving technique or from the introduction of a fiber such as mohair, silk or a synthetic with wool.

It is light, and almost tropical weight that means a real comfort asset for any man.

Suit designers place special emphasis on the light weight, arguing that the number of men who dress for cocktails in Antarctica are relatively few. The majority, who will sit around in steam-heated party atmospheres, would find heavier suiting uncomfortable.

And, lastly, the cocktail suit has some special fashion points. Most men lean toward the new continental styling touches for this "dress-up" fashion. The shorter more fitted jacket and slim, tapered trousers lend an illusion of slimming height.

The suit jacket sits down on the collar to show slightly more linen, and suit sleeves should be worn showing a full inch of cuff and cufflinks.

And so gals, the men finally have their own counterpart of "the little black dress."

LOTION FOR LEGS — If your legs have become dry and scaly from the rigors of winter, use bath oil in the tub, and after your bath rub your legs with body lotion. A few of these treatments will clear up the dry condition. GOOD GRAVY — Sour cream gives a zestful flavor to lamb gravy.

121 N. Cuyler KYLE'S Phone MO 9-9442 SHOES FOR ALL THE FAMILY

Dear Abby...

Express Your Feelings By Return Express

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: First, let me explain our circumstances. We are not rich, but we work steady and save our money. We have some relatives (on my husband's side) who spend money faster than they make it. They owe everybody in town. They live out of the state, thank goodness. A few months ago they asked us for a "loan." We told them no. We have had our lesson with lending them money. It took them nine years to pay back $300. Ever since that time we have been getting boxes filled with their old worn out clothes and shoes. They are nothing but rags and junk. Little notes are enclosed. "Maybe you can use these." I think this is going too far. How would you handle this?

DEAR ABBY: About two months ago our daughter told us she was going to marry the young man she had been going with. She said they intend to marry "some time this fall" in our church. The young man has been a visitor in our home many times, but he has never spoken to either me or my wife about marrying our daughter. Had the young man asked, would we have given our approval, but we feel he should have asked anyway.

DEAR ABBY: The custom is very much alive. Unless the young man wants to start down the aisle on the "wrong foot," he had better ask the parents for their "daughter's hand."

DEAR ABBY: I can't seem to please my husband. He brags about everybody else's cooking but mine, and I try so hard to fix things the way he likes them. He never takes me out in company with him. I admit I don't dress up around the house, but I dress up when I go places. I have the hardest time getting him to introduce me to his friends. I still don't know half his family. I am only 35 and he is 60. Do you think he is ashamed of me?

DEAR ABBY: Yes, he is probably ashamed of himself.

DEAR ABBY: Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: Our local store is advertising a winter coat sale. Tonight I showed the newspaper ad to my older girl, and said we could go shopping for one. What do you think she said? She just said that she would go on wearing her old coat if I didn't let her go shopping for a new one alone without me. She is 12 years old. What's the matter with children today? This girl knows nothing about sale shopping.

DEAR ABBY: Sometimes we belittle this ability for reasons that are not apparent to us. It is a very old trick of people in power to belittle the powers of people they control in order to maintain their control.

DEAR ABBY: For example, white people for centuries have been telling black and brown people that they were too childish and primitive for the responsibilities of freedom. Empires have justified control of colonies on the grounds that independence was too complicated for their subjects' simple brains. In some countries men still enslave women by insisting that they're too fragile or stupid for important work outside their homes.

DEAR ABBY: The masters of the earth long ago discovered that the more disparaging a case you could make of a subject person's abilities, the more likely was the subject person to continue to let the masters control him.

DEAR ABBY: Unconsciously we parents sometimes meet a child's demand for more independence with this belittling technique.

DEAR ABBY: Your child indeed lacks the sale shopping skills that experience has developed for you. If you don't want her to acquire some in this case, give her a straightforward "no" — but don't try to justify it by belittling her wish for independence.

DEAR ABBY: Though the men in the Congo are having an awful time with freedom's responsibilities, the men in Nigeria seem to be doing fine with them. That is because the parent empire which held them in subjection gave them opportunities to exercise their abilities, make mistakes and learn from them.

DEAR ABBY: Like colonial powers, parents cannot expect children to manage independence responsibly unless they are allowed to test their powers to manage it.

DEAR ABBY: She makes a habit of comparing her husband unfavorably with other men.

DEAR ABBY: She thinks it is more important to keep her children happy than to keep her husband happy.

DEAR ABBY: She makes no effort to get along with wives of his business associates, and isn't above stirring up trouble by gossiping about them.

DEAR ABBY: She creates embarrassing situations by talking too much about her husband's business.

DEAR ABBY: She discusses his faults with her women friends.

DEAR ABBY: Every time she has a fight with her husband she runs to someone else for sympathy — a relative, or her "best friend."

DEAR ABBY: She doesn't make an effort to look her prettiest at all times. She doesn't do all that she can to help safeguard her husband's health.

DEAR ABBY: She doesn't interest herself in anything outside her home and family.

Ham Sandwich With Cornbread

Naturally this recipe isn't the only way in which leftover ham can be interestingly fit into your menu plans, but the speaker's homemaker tells us how ham and cornbread can be gracefully combined into a luncheon specialty called Southern Ham Sandwich.

SOUTHERN HAM SANDWICH — 8 slices cooked ham, warmed 1 can condensed mushroom soup 1/4 cup milk 1/4 teaspoon onion juice 3/4 cup cooked peas

8 cornbread squares
Mix together condensed mushroom soup, milk and onion juice, add cooked peas and heat thoroughly. Top each cornbread square with a slice of ham. Spoon mushroom soup mixture over ham, allowing about 1/4 cup for each sandwich. — 8 servings.

CORNBREAD — 1 egg
Beat egg until thick and lemon

colored. Add milk, dry ingredients and lard. Beat until smooth. Pour into greased pan. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 25 to 30 minutes. Cut cornbread into 4 x 4-inch pieces. Remove from pan and split each piece, making 8 cornbread squares.

Palmer Favored As Masters Starts

Cousy Sparks 116-108 Victory

Boston Dumps Hawks

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Celtics, looking like old smoothies after overcoming first half woes, reced to a 116-108 win Wednesday night and now lead the Hawks, 2-0, in the best-of-seven championship series.

The third and fourth games, Wednesday night and Sunday afternoon, will be televised, will be at St. Louis Saturday and Sunday.

"We're really hurting now," admitted Hawks coach Paul Seymour. "There's no doubt about that. All we can do now is give 'em all we've got in St. Louis."

Seymour met sports writers at the Hawks' dressing room door after the game. He explained that the players had requested him to keep the writers out. It was the first time a dressing room had been closed to writers here in some time.

Lennie Wilkens, collared as he was, leaving the room later, was asked if it would be "a different story" in the Hawks' home town. "It better be," was all the rookie from Providence College had to say.

Most of the Celtic players counted on splitting the two games in St. Louis and wrapping up their fourth title in five years next Tuesday night back at Boston Garden.

Bob Cousy thought that a great opening half by St. Louis was, strangely enough, their downfall. Cliff Hagan and Bob Pettit combined for 36 points and 24 rebounds in the opening two periods though Boston rallied to lead by one at intermission.

"I've never seen them hustle so much out there as they did in that first half," aid Cousy. "But I think they played themselves out. No team can sustain what they were doing."

Hagan, who had 33 points in the opener here Sunday, wound up with 40, while Pettit contributed 30. Cousy led the Celts with 26, and Frank Ramsey, Sam Jones and Tommy Heinsohn all hit over 20 for Boston.

KEN VENTURI ... threat to Palmer

Star-Studded Field Hits Augusta Course

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — The cream of the world's finest golfers tee off today in the first round of the 25th Masters golf tournament with defending champion Arnold Palmer, trying for a new golfing slam, the 4-1 favorite.

Although no Masters champion ever has repeated and he has not been playing too well, Palmer confided to his close friends that he hoped the Masters would be the first leg of the four major golf titles he hopes to win in 1961 — the U.S. Open, the British Open and the PGA in addition to this one.

He tried for it last year, winning the Masters and the U.S. Open. But then he just missed in the British Open, finishing second by one stroke to Ken Nagle of Australia, and wound up in a tie for seventh place in the PGA.

Palmer was due to tee off at 12:30 p.m., EST, with Jack Nicklaus, the uncrowned king of the amateurs, his playing partner in the first round.

Rated next to Palmer, who won last year, were Ken Venturi, runner-up to Palmer last year, and Gary Player, the South African who is the leading money winner of the year.

Player, who tuned up Wednesday by carding a six-under-par for 14 holes, was paired with U.S. Amateur champion Deane Beaman at 1 p.m. Venturi will play with Charley Coe, a former U.S. Amateur champion, at 11:30 a.m.

With the field restricted to champions of various tournaments and a select list of entries, there were 68 professional and 20 amateurs going after 1961's first major golf title. Sixteen of them, including two amateurs, are from foreign countries.

Sammy Snead, a three-time winner, was listed as an 8-1 choice. He will play with Billy Joe Patton at 12 noon.

Stroh's Open Fast In ABC Keg Classic

DETROIT (UPI) — Twenty-seven years ago a band of bowlers wearing the now famous cream-colored flannel bowling uniforms of the Stroh's Brewery of Detroit carried off an American Bowling Congress title with a 3089 total.

After Wednesday night there is a good chance the 1961 edition of this bowling powerhouse for more than a quarter-century may be headed for another ABC tournament title.

The present day Stroh's opened their classic division play Wednesday night with a 3008 opening block, the best start of any of the 42 classic clubs that have appeared here to date.

Now they come back tonight seeking to take first place away from the Hamm's of Chicago, pacing the professional division with a 5910 six-game total.

Bob Strampe's hefty 668 series led the Stroh's to their big opening series. Bob Crawford added 606, George Howard 592, Jim Schroeder 589 and captain Tony Lindemann had a 551.

Pampa Netters Battle Berger

Pampa's Harvester tennis team went for their fourth dual match win of the year at 3 p.m. today against Berger on the PHS court.

Today's match was the second of this week and the last practice session before the Sandie Relays begin tomorrow in Amarillo.

In an earlier match this week with Berger, Pampa won 3-0 as Jerry Thomas won the boys' singles and Gary Storrs and David Price and Linda Connors and Donna Walsh copped the boys and girls doubles matches, respectively.

3-4A Teers Hit Course

Amarillo Tascosa was projecting a healthy nine-stroke lead this morning when 88 boys, representing eight teams in District 3-4A teed off on the second round of the 1961 district golf championship fight at Pampa Country Club.

Both 'A' and 'B' division entrants were to play 18 holes today at PCC. The final 18 come April 15 in Amarillo and the two top teams will enter regional play at Odessa on April 22.

Tascosa carried a 309 into today's play and was followed by Monterey (318), Palo Duro and Berger (322), Amarillo (327), Pampa (331), Lubbock (351) and Plainview (372).

Amarillo Relays Draw Pampan

Steve Dobbin and Billy Cooper, a pair of speedy seniors, will head Pampa's 10-man delegation to the 12th annual Sandie Relays in Dick Bivins Stadium tomorrow and Saturday.

Dobbin has the fifth best time in West Texas this year in the 220-yard dash, turning in a non-winning 21.8 in the Lubbock Invitational Meet two weeks ago. Dobbin's time at Lubbock is only 4-10 of a second off the Sandie Relay record of 21.4 set in 1953 by Olton's famed Frank Daugherty.

However, Monterey's Lynn Livesay, who turned in a 21.1 to beat Dobbin at Lubbock will be in the Amarillo meet and will be favored along with Floyd Burke of Palo Duro, who has sprinted to a 21.4 once this year.

Cooper will enter the 180-yard low hurdles, the 120-yard high hurdles and the pole vault in an attempt to bring home some points for the Green and Gold thinclads.

Cooper has picked up points in the pole vault in the Possum Kingdom Relays with a second-place tie (11' 6") and again tied for second in the Lubbock Invitational.

Billy Hughes, who set a new school record in the 880-yard dash in Lubbock two weeks ago with a 2:06.9, may pass up tomorrow's action in order to be ready and primed when the District 3-4A meet is held in Amarillo on April 15.

Hughes came down with bronchitis last week and thus joined weightman Randy Matson on the sidelines. Matson reinjured a broken ankle in practice two weeks ago and is out for the season.

Another possible point earner is sophomore high jumper Bill Martin. Martin tied for first in the Perryton Track Meet held Monday in Berger and tied for sixth at Lubbock, and Coach Dwaine Lyon is hoping that the young jumper may be coming around into consistent winning forms.

Others making the 60-mile trek to Amarillo tomorrow are Curtis Fletcher, Robbie Robison, Jimmy Hoyler, James Webb, Danny Mathis, and Dickie Hafley.

Amarillo Tascosa, which has reeled off victories in the Irving Invitational at El Paso and the Albuquerque Relays and finished second at the West Texas Relays, is the favorite in the "Class A" he's an excellent ballhandler, bracket, while White Deer, most recent winner of the Perryton "meat", is the Class 'B' choice.

Several marks are in danger here tomorrow and Saturday, especially in the 100-yard dash where Ray Etherly of Albuquerque returns to defend his crown. Etherly ran a 9.5 here last year and has run one windaided 9.3 this season.

Also in conjunction with the two-day track and field meet will be golf and tennis competition. Tascosa, which holds a nine-stroke lead after 18 holes of District 3-4A play, is expected to continue its domination in the Sandie tournament while Lubbock and Monterey are expected to fight it out for the tennis titles.

Stith, Martin Sign NY Pacts

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Knickerbockers have signed All-American Tom Stith and weightman Randy Matson on the sidelines. Matson reinjured a broken ankle in practice two weeks ago and is out for the season.

They were the Knicks' first two choices in the recent National Basketball Association draft.

Stith, 6-foot-5 native of New York, holds all the St. Bonaventure 1960-61 St. Bonaventure University basketball team, to professional contracts.

Martin was the Bonnies' top playmaker and defensive specialist. The 6-foot-2 guard averaged 12.5 points a game during the past two seasons. He is a native of Buffalo, N.Y.

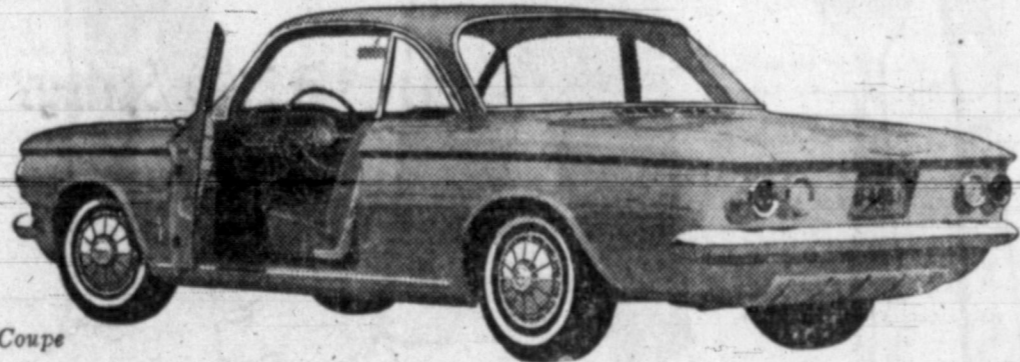

"There is no question in my mind that Stith will make a great pro," said Bonnie coach Ed Donovan. "He has all the shots and is the favorite in the 'Class A' bracket, while White Deer, most recent winner of the Perryton 'meat', is the Class 'B' choice.

Several marks are in danger here tomorrow and Saturday, especially in the 100-yard dash where Ray Etherly of Albuquerque returns to defend his crown. Etherly ran a 9.5 here last year and has run one windaided 9.3 this season.

Also in conjunction with the classic now totals 33.

Either of these Corvairs would make you a wonderful traveling companion. (Any of Corvair's ten budget-priced models would, for that matter.) The Lakewood Station Wagon earns its keep with a solid 68 cubic feet of cargo space, 10 of it under that lockable hood. And the Monza Club Coupe, with its bucket-type front seats, lets you in on some ultra-comfortable driving.

And they both handle and brake and perform beautifully. (Proof of the pudding is the way the '61 Corvair manhandled the recent Canadian Winter Rally, winning outright and taking the first five places in its class in this rugged 1,265-mile test.) Look 'em over at your dealer's. And if you can't decide which one you want, feel free to take both.

Lack Of Hurlers Leaves Boston Red Sox With Familiar Woes

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of the 1961 prospects of major league teams.

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox have an outstanding candidate for "rookie of the year" and two for "comeback of the year." What they need most, however, are a few prospects for "pitcher of the day."

Jackie Jensen, back after a year's retirement, should make up for the long-ball punch the Sox lost when Ted Williams called it quits. In spring exhibition games, Jensen has looked as good as ever, offensively and defensively. The "new Ted Williams" is 21-year-old Carl Yastrzemski, who many in the Cactus League predict will be the major league's leading rookie this season. Yastrzemski is not a home run hitter like Williams, but he's a stylish spray-hitter who looks like he belongs in the .300 class.

Even Williams says, "He'll make you forget all about me."

The third member of the "all new" outfield is Gary Geiger, making a comeback from a collapsed lung he suffered last July. Geiger was hitting .302 when he was knocked out of action. He says he's back in excellent health again.

Added to these speedboys are such "pros" as Runnels, who led the American League in batting with a .320 mark, and long-ball hitting first baseman Vic Wertz and third baseman Frank Malzone.

Higgins, who always has maintained that there is no substitute for speed, in baseball, does not appear over-optimistic when he says Boston should move up a notch or two over last year's seventh-place finish.

"With added speed and an improved defense, our pitching should look better, too," Higgins believes. "Our pitching isn't as bad as it looked last season."

Granting all that the Sox skipper says, however, the pitching still shapes up as mediocre. And this should prevent the Red Sox from making the first division.

Boston's staff is almost entirely right handed, although Higgins feels that's certainly no drawback for the home games at Fenway Park with its short left field fence.

The ace of the staff is Bill Monbouquette, whose 14-11 record was the club's best last year. Other starters are cagey, 30-year-old Billy Muffet, who had a 6-4 record after being called up from Minneapolis late last June; Tom Brewer (10-15) and Ike Delock (9-10).

And for the bullpen there's Mike Forniello, who set an AL record in 1960 by appearing in 70 games. He won 10 games and lost 5 with a 2.64 earned run average.

Three newcomers who could give the staff a lift are Gene Conley, the 6-foot-8 pro basketball player obtained in a winter trade with the Phillies; left-hander Chet Nichols, making a comeback at the age of 30; and rookie Tracy Stallard, a 23-year-old fireballer whom Higgins plans to use in relief.

Higgins feels that Conley will become one of his leading starters, once he winds up his basketball activities and gets into shape for pitching. Conley had an 8-14 record for the last-place Phils in 1960. Nichols led the National League back in 1951 as a member of the old Boston Braves. Arm trouble sent him back to the minors in 1956 and he stayed out of baseball the entire 1958 season. He earned another shot at the majors with an 18-6 record at Vancouver last year.

Higgins is high on catcher Jim Pagliaroni and also is giving Billy Harrell a chance to win the shortstop job from Don Buddin, who batted .345 last season. Pagliaroni will platoon the catching with Russ Nixon and give Boston another right handed hitting threat to go with Jensen and Malzone.

There is a good possibility the Red Sox will trade. If Pagliaroni proves he can catch every day, Nixon may figure in a deal. Wertz also may become trade bait if Schilling makes the grade at second base. With Schilling at second, Runnels probably would be shifted to first base, which he plays well.

By trading Wertz, the Sox would be giving up a powerful left handed swinger who drove in 103 runs last season.

That, too, however, would be a manifestation of the new post-Williams era.

Giants Make Noises Like Flag Contender

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

If you're looking for a team geared for a fast getaway in next week's pennant races, look no farther than the San Francisco Giants.

It's clear that new manager Alvin Dark looks for a fast start to make San Francisco fans forget the sour finishes of 1959 and 1960, and the team seems ready to provide just that. It has reeled off eight victories in its last 11 games and it's getting that encouraging smooth blend of solid pitching and robust hitting.

The Giants "said it" with pitching Wednesday when Mike McCormick and Stu Miller combined in a six-hitter that gave them a 2-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers. McCormick, the National League's earned run leader with a 2.70 mark in 1960, allowed five hits for the first seven innings and Miller pitched out of an eighth-inning jam and went on to protect the shutout.

Don Blasingame, mentioned prominently in a possible trade with the Cincinnati Reds this spring, homered for the Giants in the fifth inning and they added another run in the seventh on Tom Haller's double, a sacrifice and an error. Stan Williams and Larry Sherry pitched for the Dodgers.

The Chicago White Sox, another 1960 disappointment, got an important lift as Early Wynn and Gerry Staley hurled them to a 3-1 decision over the Kansas City Athletics. The White Sox broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning with the aid of Ed Rakow's wildness.

The world champion Pittsburgh Pirates saw one of their front-line pitchers "bombed" again when the Detroit Tigers clubbed out a 12-8 triumph. Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell was ripped for 11 runs and 14 hits in six innings by Detroit's 15-hit attack, which

Loaded Lubbock, Monterey Invade PHS Confines

Pampa Faces Crossroad

A pair of stingy pitchers who rank third and fourth in season-long hitting, a third baseman who'll get on base even if he has to steal it and a team that seems to have forgotten it was picked for first place in District 3-4A will be waiting Friday and Saturday when the twin-juggernauts of the South Plains — Lubbock and Monterey — invade Pampa in a crucial baseball series.

Pampa, 2-1 in district and nestled in third place, meets Lubbock at 4 p.m. tomorrow and then takes on Monterey at 2 p.m. Saturday. Both games are at Harvester Park.

The pitchers are Mike Clark (2-0) and Jerry Glover (2-1) who have not allowed more than five hits between them in any of the Harvesters' first three district ball games, and have given up only one run per game in conference.

Clark, the oldtimer of the pair as a junior, has given up only two earned runs in 19 2-3 innings over the season and only one earned marker in 10 2-3 innings of 3-4A competition, giving him a 0.84 ERA in district. Clark leads in strikeouts with 18, but also tops the PHS mound staff in walks (1) after he issued seven free passes against Palo Duro Tuesday before being relieved by Glover.

Glover, a fireballing sophomore, will carry an impressive 0.96 ERA into tomorrow's game against Lubbock and has fanned 18 over the year, five in district.

As hitters, the two righthanders have nothing of which to be ashamed. Glover is hitting .500 for the season with four hits, including a homer and a triple, while Clark — who went two for two against Palo Duro — is hitting .444 for the season and an even .500 in district.

The get-on-anyway — you — can third baseman is Keith Gregory, one of the most pleasant surprises — and aids — to the Harvesters' once-marred 5-1 record and present third place standing in district.

Gregory is pacing the team in hitting with a .529 for the year and .500 in district and has been on base six of the 10 times he's been up. He failed to hit safely in the Don game, the first time he's been blanked since the Harvesters' non-conference opener in March, but he walked twice as the new PHS leadoff man and scored on one of David (Wild Man) Whiteside and Fred Hamrick. Undeafened in district play, the pair have hurled Lubbock to wins over Plainview, 5-4, Palo Duro, 6-4, Amarillo, 12-4, and Tascosa, 8-3.

Monterey, which has defeated Tascosa, 10-2, Amarillo, 7-1, Palo Duro, 9-2, and Plainview, 10-7, boasts one of the finest hurlers in West Texas in Donnie Bumpass (6-0). Bumpass is the key to the Plainsmen's pitching staff and is also a dangerous hitter, as evidenced by his three RBIs against Plainview Tuesday.

Monterey also has one of the top hitters in the district in James Bandy. Bandy, a centerfielder, banged out three home runs in the Plainsmen's 7-1 win over Amarillo and is a constant threat.

Egbert The Truthful

Apparently all those lies Edward R. Murrow, our new information chief, put together in that "documentary" called "Harvest of Shame" were meant to be circulated among family members only — the "family" being citizens of the U.S.

Because Ed is real mad at the Columbia Broadcasting System for selling the film to the British Broadcasting System for showing in Great Britain.

The CBS action was "wholly irresponsible," declared the new information chief.

What was "wholly irresponsible" was the making of the film in the first place.

Ed seems to have a penchant for that sort of thing. When he was under questioning by the Senate, before being confirmed in the new job to which Kennedy had appointed him, Sen. Bourke Hick-enlooper of Iowa asked him about another CBS commentary, along the same line as "Harvest of Shame," that Murrow concocted.

"You had one scene there showing a baby carriage being sold," said the senator. The connotation was that it had to be sold for money. We had a little investigation, and we found that the sale had been planned for months, and these people didn't even have a baby."

The senator also quizzed Ed about "that farmer who said he was driven from his farm and forced to migrate. He told us that he sold his farm because his wife wanted to move to California.

Maybe Murrow's appointment makes sense after all, if what we need is somebody to fight Communist lies with USA lies.

Tolerance

Tolerance is a good thing. It makes it possible for us to forgive the failings of others. But when self applied it can be a great evil. It tends to make us so flexible that we can find nothing worth believing in and nothing worth standing for.

Why Criticize Govt.?

We have been told so many times that we are unnecessarily hard on government and that we criticize it unduly that perhaps it is time for us to offer a bit of documentation.

Early in our youth and in our government school system, the argument is offered that because we have a "democracy" we have a system that is virtually "fool-proof." Therefore, while leaders in non-democratic countries have committed all manner of evil things, in a democracy we are curiously free of corruption, crime and whatnot, at least insofar as the heads of the various layers of government are concerned.

We recently came across a rather "telling" paragraph in the book, "Power and Morality," written by Professors Pitirim A. Sorokin and Walter A. Lunden. We reproduce this paragraph here-with.

"Crimes of the government officials against property appeared quite early in our history. The first royal governor of the Virginia Colony, Samuel Argall (d. 1626) was indicted for corruption in office. These corrupted practices were followed by a great many other governors and rulers of colonial America (Governor B. Fletcher of New York, Samuel Chase, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and a member of the U.S. Supreme Court (1741-1811); Robert Morris, (1734-1806); the senator and financier of the Revolution, and others); and then by the officials of the United States — federal, state, and municipal — government. During Jefferson's presidency, 16 out of 29 senators and 29 out of 64 members of the House were unlawful speculators and security holders. A large number of the high officials, like T. Pickens (1745-1829), general, postmaster general, Secretary of War and State; House Speaker Dayton (1788-1800); DeWitt Clinton (1769-1828), senator, mayor and governor of New York; Lewis Cass (1782-1866), senator, governor, Secretary of War and minister to France; William T. Barry (1785-1835), senator and postmaster general; Stephen A. Douglas — Lincoln's great opponent; Secretary of War Simon Cameron (1799-1889); in Grant's cabinet, the secretaries G. M. Robertson, W. W. Belpas; Congressman Oakes Ames, Vice President Colfax; William M. Tweed, 'Boss Tweed'; Mayor of New York A. Oakey Hall; Secretary of Labor George Cortelyou (1862-1940); Secretary A. B. Fall, and other members of the Harding cabinet involved in the Teapot Dome scandal; Mayors of New York J. J. Walker, and W. O'Dwyer (who was also U.S. Ambassador to Mexico); Mayor of Boston, Governor of Massachusetts and Congressman James Curley; the bosses Thomas Pennington, Mayor Frank Hague, Tammany Hall bosses Ch. F. Murphy and G. W. Olvany, in recent times Senators J. M. Butler, Newberry, F. L. Smith, Hiram Bingham, Wm. S. Vare, T. G. Bilbo, A. B. Chandler; Congressmen J. M. Coffey, E. Cox, Andrew J. May, J. Orville Thomas, W. E. Brehm, Arnell E. Hodges; the milk coat and refrigerator cases in the Truman White House staff; the Sherman Adams — Goldfine incident; the misdeeds of the Internal Revenue Bureau, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation the Veterans Administration, and other cases in the Eisenhower administration. These are just a few typical examples of hundreds and thousands of property crimes or 'improprieties' perpetrated by the members of high and middle ranks of the federal, the state, and the city governments. These offenses have become so frequent, routine, and expected that they receive even the special terms of indispensable and licensed delinquency and 'honest graft.'"

In a footnote the authors of this book refer to us "Public Plunder: A History of Graft in America" by David Loth, and "Morality in American Politics" by G. Graham. All of which tends to show that democracies are not lacking in the incidence of crime committed by high office holders and that, in fact, the higher the office, the more serious the crime and, perchance, the greater temptation to exercise the power of office to commit crime.

Perhaps some of the taxpayers of this nation may yet begin to realize that government serves as an ideal cloak for illegality and crime of every kind and that this nation has had its full share.

The Doctor Says:

DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN

"Can you tell me anything about a rash on my eyelids?" asks Mrs. J. L. "I had my glasses changed and the doctor said not to worry because it's just a sign of nerves. After applying an ointment suggested by a druggist, it peels off but always returns."

Nerves, my little toe! Might as well go back to the Middle Ages and blame the eruption on the miasmas!

Lady you and your misinformants are in for a bit of a shock. Much as I try to avoid medical practice by correspondence, I'm willing to venture the suggestion that your rash results from hypersensitivity to nail polish.

That's right! Nail polish! If ever you've noticed, most women flick their eyelids with the backs of their fingers. Why men don't do it that way, I've never been able to discover. Anyhow, when you flick, you rub nail polish on your upper lid. And, if you happen to be allergic to nail polish, you give yourself the same sort of rash you'd get on your legs if you wore stockings made of some synthetic fiber to which you were hypersensitive.

Abandon nail polish and see if that helps. You may lose prestige in society circles, but you'll get rid of your rash.

And speaking of misinforma-

Looking Sideways

NEW YORK — Although it has never occurred to me to put down Noel Coward as a serious threat to the Oracle at Delphi, the lean and somewhat time-scarred British writer once known as Destiny's tot has blasted forth in London with a spate of advice and wisdom for British writers. I wish he'd fly over here for the week-end and repeat the horse-whipping.

Not only has he disdain for British writers who habitually these days concern themselves with tattered, haggard dregs of society, but he hits them where they live. He indicts them for being dull.

"It is as dull to write incessantly about tramps and prostitutes," he bellowed, "as it is to write incessantly about dukes and duchesses or suburban mothers and fathers."

Mr. Coward, who has a way with a word, a way that matches the expert handier of an Australian bullwhip, has somewhat of a right to batter the self-pitying, self-conscious little snipe who are rising in British letters and British drama, because over the years since the 20's he has supplied the world with enough plays, books, movies and personal performances to gain him a handhold on enduring fame and stature.

What grivels Mr. Coward, grivels me. We have come upon a hapless time in this country when too many writers in all divisions of the art seem to feel that they are not saying anything significant unless they cause it to issue from the mouths and characters of the lowest orders. People write books of militant persuasion about trackwalkers, field hands and the like and cause these characters to sound as though anyone who has a whole dollar at one time in his jeans is a phony.

What's so sublime about being a bum?

For awhile there, both of the English-speaking theaters, London's and ours, teemed with a squalid set of little insects in human disguise.

I am as suspicious of the proletarian in literature as I am of the Duchess, and it has never seemed to me that because a crate-waller on a dock somewhere issues vituperation that that vituperation is necessarily honest. I can remember when these proletarian explosions first came along and you'd have thought that a new, shining school of literary art had burgeoned overnight. I never minded the gangster school of fiction because gangster characters and gangster dialogue always seemed to me more ridiculous than menacing and movies of the ilk affected me the same way. Having consorted with gangsters in the ripe and sometimes deadly 20's, when their ways and deeds were my professional newspaper assignment, I knew that the books, the plays and the movies were cartoons and not biographies.

Mr. Coward is eminently right when he finds that drawing room silk is as dull, after awhile, as patched blue jeans and political tracts. The thing that few writers ever learn is that you can't slice up elements of society into thin layers. People are simply people, and fascinating enough on their own without being labelled as disgruntled pit pickers, unhappy car salesmen or amoral suburban housewives. I'd like to read a few novels and see a few plays about disgruntled people. Never mind the disgruntled.

England, and in consequence ourselves, had a plague of Angry Young Men back there for awhile. I knew they were angry, but I never found out clearly what about. They just seemed to me to be angry. Children get angry in that way, foaming at the mouth and kicking their heels on the floor and biting their own fingers.

If I had any money, which I don't, I'd hire Mr. Coward to come over here and read his riot act to our American writers. They seem so terribly addicted to what is base. Unless they can strew four-letter words — and the words are even creeping onto the public stage — they don't feel they are striking a blow for individualism. For heaven's sake, even a mantis is an individualist. He doesn't have to be a poor mantis.

tion, here's a tomwilliger, to borrow a word from John Steinbeck. "My sister had sleeping sickness," writes Miss R. H. "and it left her with epilepsy. Some of those she works with say it comes from jealousy. Her doctor says it is not caused by jealousy. But some still have the old idea and this makes her very nervous. I think if you would explain the disease some of them would read it and she would be much better."

I'm not one to belittle the power of jealousy. It is soals are "the coils of fire," said Solomon. Its venoms, writes Shakespeare, are "more deadly than a mad dog's tooth." It lights its torch "from the firebrands of the Purles," adds Edmund Burke.

But epilepsy? No, no! A thousand times, NO!

Dear Reader: Dr. Hyman appreciates your comments and questions but regrets that the heavy volume of his mail doesn't permit him to answer each individual letter or post card. However, he will comment in columns like the above upon matters of general or unusual interest.

Allen - Scott Report: Federal Aid to Education To Be Considered In Two Bills, Democratic Leaders Determine

ROBERT S. ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — It is now certain that Congress will have the opportunity to vote on two federal aid-to-education bills — the one advocated by President Kennedy for multi-billion dollar grants to public schools for construction and teachers' salaries; another to provide long-term, low-interest loans to private schools.

Each of these aid programs will be considered separately in individual bills that will be recommended by the Senate and House education committees. The President's measure will be acted on first.

Democratic leaders in charge of this legislation in the two chambers agreed on this strategy at a series of meetings that included top White House assistants.

Among those participating were Speaker Sam Rayburn, Tex.; Senate Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont.; Senators Wayne Morse, Ore., and Joseph Clark, Pa., joint authors of a private school loan bill; and Representatives Adam Clayton Powell, N.Y., chairman of the House Education Committee, and Frank Thompson, N.J., author of the President's aid-to-public schools bill.

In the House, this unannounced strategy also calls for obtaining a rule from the Rules Committee barring all "non-germane" amendments to the President's measure. Effect of such a restriction would be to block loan and civil rights amendments.

Still hanging fire is Speaker Rayburn's opposition to supplementing teachers' salaries with federal funds.

The veteran Texas leader favors aid for public school construction. But he is urging the two matters be presented in separate bills so they can be considered individually.

Representatives Powell and Thompson are against that. They insist both proposals be incorporated in a single measure.

Senators Mansfield, Morse and Clark are deliberating a possible compromise under which each state would decide what federal education-aid funds would be used for — construction, teachers' salaries, or both.

Prospects for these long-pending education measures appear best in the Senate, particularly for the President's multi-billion dollar public schools proposal. This bill

Everybody's Money

By MERYLE STANLEY RUBEYER

When there are dips in the volume of job opportunities, as has been the case during the current domestic recession, there is an offset to the human distress, in growing productivity of those who stay on the job.

With lay-offs in the air, the retained workers seek to perform efficiently in order to avoid being chosen as the next to go into the ranks of the unemployed.

But since the passage of the Full Employment Act of 1946, it has been deemed against national lawful policy to tolerate interludes of economic correction. This changing social attitude has resulted in a demand for all varieties of governmental intervention to avoid slumps. In previous recessions, there has been an attempt to abort them through monetary policy, that is, through action by Federal Reserve authorities to stimulate the economy with cheap and abundant money and credit.

As a result, some hard-boiled analysts think that this humane zeal has ended recessions prematurely before they accomplished their function of correcting maladjustments and disparities, and hence they argue that the effect has been to have such slumps recur more frequently.

Some industrialists estimate that recovery from the recession, which they deem imminent, will absorb only about a third of the unemployed.

They associate the other two-thirds with longer term changes in technology and in conditions of global competition.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, while he was inside the union movement before entering the Cabinet, launched his proposal for a Presidential Advisory Council on industrial relations, consisting of members representing management, the unions, and the public. This machinery has been set up. Mr. Goldberg, in sensing the need for it, recognized that a new chapter in industrial relations had been opened.

In the earlier period from the end of World War II in 1945 until about 1957, conditions were propitious for demanding and receiving periodic mark-ups in the rate of payments for an hour of labor. Warred shortages of goods were still being made up, and employers, facing limited competition from competitors overseas whose plants had been impaired by war, were able to reflect higher labor payments in increased selling prices. This process was facilitated by the prevailing inflationary monetary policy, which was conducive to an unassisted rise in the cost of living.

But, as Mr. Goldberg sensed, this chapter has been closed, and a new one has opened, Europe and Japan, aided in restoration of plant facilities by the Marshall Plan and other aid schemes, have become highly competitive, and are exploiting differentials in wage rates. Accordingly, in order to avoid pricing American goods out of the market, there is growing need of cooperation between management and the unions to find ways and means to reduce unit costs of production. There is strong economic pressure to find forms of waste in the cost sheet which can be eliminated without disturbing the level of wage rates.

Even though Europe is on a lower wage level, it is not without labor disturbances and pressures. Italy at present has been celebrating a rise on national prosperity with a plethora of strikes.

Observers in Italy argue that it takes good times to create reserves in unions and in savings of the rank and file of workers in order to finance work stoppages.

The strange nature of strikes in Italy, including work stoppages by mail men, lawyers, and physicians, suggests that domestic equality of exchange by various groups may have been disturbed by the ability of strong unions to push the wage payments to their own members ahead of those of other groups with whom they normally trade.

But even in prosperity, Italy records 10 percent unemployed, which is substantially higher than we have had during recessions.

In inflationary times, some trades and professions are handicapped by the custom of setting fixed monetary fees. Thus the barristers have been embattled against a governmental proposal to raise court charges and certain other routine fees. Lawyers contend that they will have to absorb these costs themselves, saying that they are unable to change their charges to clients. The plea seems unimaginative. Two suggestions are in order. First, the professional charge to clients should be for personal services, and outside disbursements should be billed separately. Second, unless professional mg n raise their fees in accordance with

Romans Have Way Of Solving Traffic Jam

By HENRY McLEMORE

ROME, Italy — Traffic was so bad in Rome in Caesar's time that Julius issued an edict limiting vehicular traffic to the nighttime hours. The rumbling of carts over cobblestones kept everybody awake, and there were many complaints, but at least the streets were navigable in the daytime, and a man could make it to the Forum before he outgrew his toga.

That was in B.C. times — Before Cars. Now there are cars, tens of thousands of them, and also the carts of Caesar's time, bicycles, three-wheeled delivery trucks, scooters, horse- and mule-drawn wagons, and now and then a dog-cart.

Rome's streets have changed a bit since Caesar chased Pompey out of town, but not as much as one would think. My guess is that the changes have made them crooked and narrower. Through them moves Rome's traffic, and one wonders how it moves at all until one day, like a bolt from the blue, one discovers the answer.

The answer: the low boiling point of the Roman driver, the paucity of his patience, and his willingness to take matters into his own hands.

The Roman will wait just so long, and no longer, before striking out on his own. When his patience snaps, he ignores all the rules and becomes a pioneer, willing and happy to blaze a new trail for all who care to follow.

It matters not where this uncharted path leads. If it is necessary to circle a policeman in the wrong way, then the policeman is circled. If it means running with two wheels on the sidewalk, okay. If it means forging a hazardous way, upstream, on a one-way street, the driver is as game as a salmon leaping a falls.

Luckily, Roman policemen are in perfect agreement with this type of adventure. They, too, see no sense in staying stalled once it becomes obvious that man-made regulations have gone to pot. They step aside and let nature take its course.

I was a participant in just such a Lewis and Clark expedition today. The Garibaldi Bridge across the Tiber in Trastevere is always a bottleneck, but today someone had put the cork-in-for-good.

It was blocked both ways, coming and going. And it stayed blocked. Finally the lead car, in front of me, could stand it no longer. He passed through the red light, waved at the policeman (who answered with a tired mop of his brow), and roared over the bridge on the wrong side of the street. When he met oncoming cars he swerved further to the left, put two wheels on the sidewalk to create clearance and swept on.

Behind him, like all-out Pied Piper children, came the rest of us. It was a modern charge of the Roman cohort, and we swept, or scared aside, all in front of us. Across the bridge we made a roaring turn to the left and headed down the boulevard that runs along the Tiber, still on the wrong side of the street, and half-on, half-off, the sidewalk.

This bold move straightened out the snarl. Things began to move. The cop returned to his spot in the middle of the street, the traffic light began switching red-green as before, and another traffic crisis was over.

We didn't meet another tangle until half a mile down the Tiber and, as always, there was a pioneer at the wheel at that point. He led us through.

This splendid understanding between bold spirits and traffic cops is the salvation of Rome.

The Roman will wait just so long, and no longer, before striking out on his own. When his patience snaps, he ignores all the rules and becomes a pioneer, willing and happy to blaze a new trail for all who care to follow.

Reds Withdraw Protest About Plane Incident

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) — Russia yesterday withdrew its demand for United Nations action against the United States for the flight of an RB47 reconnaissance plane downed over the Barents Sea last July.

Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin attached no strings to the withdrawal of the RB47-question agenda, but asked that debate on the Communist suppression of Hungary and Tibet also be canceled.

Moscow had indicated previously that it was willing to drop the RB47 complaint, but Zorin made the first official announcement in the assembly's Main Political Committee.

Zorin said Russia had decided to drop the incident because it "has properly assessed the fact that one of the first steps of the new U. S. president, Mr. Kennedy, on his inauguration, was the issuing of an order prohibiting U. S. military planes from violating the air space of the Soviet Union."

Charles W. Yost, deputy chief of the U. S. delegation, welcomed Zorin's announcement but said the Hungarian and Tibetan items "do not, however, fall in precisely the same category."

Check Loss Mounts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Businesses and individuals were stuck with a total of $80 million worth of known bad checks in 1959, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

It is estimated that in December the bad check loss rate moved up from $1,000 every minute to as much as $1,500.

Some people need to get OFF the water wagon. Medical researchers recently turned up cases of people who made themselves drunk by imbibing too much water. They get the same symptoms as people who have too much alcohol. And for the same reason. The water dilutes the blood so that less oxygen is carried to the brain. Why are there compulsive water drinkers? Probably for the same psychological reasons we have alcoholics.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

"France says to the Algerians: Algeria is yours. Let us talk together. All she asks is that before entering the room you leave your knives outside"—President Charles de Gaulle at Brest, France, Sept. 17, 1960.

Unhappily, this week the knives in Algeria still were claiming the lives, and peace talks between de Gaulle and the Algerian rebels were in danger of stalling before they ever really started.

Into this situation, the United States stepped directly and openly for the first time.

Even before it took office, the Kennedy administration had let be known that it considered settlement of the Algerian conflict as of paramount importance not only for France and the Algerians but for the future of the whole of Africa as well.

In addition to at least two reported contacts between the U.S. embassy in Paris and the French government on the subject, it was disclosed that the U. S. ambassador to Tunisia, Walter M. Walsley Jr., also had met with representatives of the rebel Algerian provisional government.

In these "exchanges of views" it was the United States' intention to help get the Algerian peace talks on the rails and keep them there.

For the United States government it was a switch from a previous policy of hands-off.

But for President Kennedy it simply was a reaffirmation of a stand he took as a senator in July 1957. Then, introducing a resolution calling on the administration to support "an international effort to derive for Algeria the basis for an orderly achievement of independence," he said:

"Algeria is no longer a problem for the French alone, nor will it ever be again."

The suggestion was received coolly.

But in the interim, the Fourth Republic fell, de Gaulle came to power and began the slow, painful process first of convincing the French people that the Algerians slowly but inevitably were moving toward independence, and then of finding a basis upon which to negotiate a peace.

In the end it seems likely that agreement will be reached. But pressing the Kennedy administration to intervene now, even at the risk of French annoyance, was the knowledge that each passing day only pushed the rebels that much closer to the waiting arms of the Communists.
