

West Texas Digging Out From Paralyzing Sneak Winter Snowstorm

By United Press International
A vast section of West Texas the worst snowfalls in history from a sneak winter storm that boiled out of the New Mexico mountains and struck with a quiet fury that caught the weather bureau with its forecasts down. It measured two feet in some places.

snow and ice that stranded hundreds of motorists and marooned many school children. At least two persons died.
Most of the snow-stalled motorists and marooned children were rescued, but some of them had to shiver through the night in their cars. And some of the children had to huddle together around pot-bellied stoves in their classrooms to keep warm through the night, waiting for rescue.

Temperatures began to warm up, over the area as the storm raced eastward, its biggest punch spent. But there was so much snow on the ground that it would be several days before the area could return to normal.
Shortly before midnight, John F. Hague, the weather bureau observer in Plains, said it was the heaviest snow he could remember since he moved into the area in 1930. He said he measured 23 inches in several places, and it was still falling.

"I can't remember seeing flakes as big as the ones that fell today," he said.
Reese Air Force Base at Lubbock reported 18 inches on the ground at midnight, and it was still snowing lightly at daybreak. The storm is believed to be the worst since 1956 when Plainview got 30 inches, and Lubbock had 15 inches. However, for some sections it was even worse than the one five years ago.
Several highways and many rural and county roads in the area were impassable even to the heavy equipment operated by the highway department and national guard, which was called out to help rescue stranded motorists.

In Lubbock, hundreds of cars were stalled and traffic snarled to a standstill under the snowfall that came at a rate of two inches per hour and was falling so thick and fast it was worse than a dense fog.
Ralph Maldonado, 20, was killed in Lubbock when a Santa Fe freight smashed into his car at a crossing during the storm. Police said visibility was so low, Maldonado could not have seen the train.

Bobby Jack Smith, 11, was struck and killed at Post, Tex., when he stepped off of a school bus and was struck by a car that couldn't stop on a snow and ice covered road in front of his home.
The belt of snow stretched from the Panhandle to the Guadalupe-Davis mountain area in extreme Southwest Texas. While the snow was crippling the western part of the state, heavy rains as much as two inches drenched the central section, Northeast Texas and southern areas of the state.

The weather bureau warned stockmen in South Central Texas to move livestock out of bottomlands, particularly along the Leon River in the vicinity of Hamilton, Gustine, Lampkin, Jonesbor and Gatesville.

Kennedy Orders Action To Stop Airline Strike

By BRUCE AGNEW
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — President Kennedy stepped into the nation's worst airlines tieup today and ordered Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg to undertake new federal action to end a wildcat strike of flight engineers.

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of six major airlines crippled in the worst air tieup in U.S. history today challenged union officials to try they did not organize the wildcat flight engineers walkout. Pan American World Airways, in a subpoena from a U.S. district court here to force officials of the flight engineers' Pan American chapter to testify on how the strike began and how it was conducted.

Officers of the union's Pan American chapter and 42 flight engineers were ordered to appear in the court Monday to show cause why they should not be held in contempt for continuing the strike despite a court order. Other airlines have obtained similar orders.

An American Airlines official notified Monday in Dallas, Tex., that a number of striking engineers told him of "mysterious telephone threats." The engineers refused to fly today despite court order.

More than 75,000 airlines employees were furloughed Monday. Pan World Airlines, American Airlines and Eastern Air Lines filed all their planes into hangars and shut down completely.

JFK's Bill Hits Snag In Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's $5.6 billion federal school aid bill ran into immediate trouble in Congress today but one of its backers issued a cautious forecast it would pass.
Storm clouds were forming on two fronts. One hot issue was whether to withhold aid from schools defying the Supreme Court's integration ruling. Another was whether to let states, in their discretion, use part of the money for teachers salaries.

Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey, D-W.Va., chairman of a House education subcommittee that will handle the measure, scheduled hearings to start Wednesday or Thursday, depending on when Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Abraham Ribicoff is available to testify.

"I am of the opinion Congress may take it, Bailey said of the bill's prospects. "I am hopeful, at least."
Sen. Wayne L. Morse, D-Ore., chairman of a similar Senate subcommittee, promised hearings beginning Wednesday of next week, and said he hoped to have the bill ready for Senate action by March 20.

The Senate will act first on the proposals, outlined by Kennedy in a message to Congress Monday. The Kennedy program was closely patterned after a bill passed last year by the Senate but never pushed through to final enactment.

Free Food Stamp Plan Soon Ready

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's food stamp plan for feeding needy Americans in six distressed areas, announced three weeks ago, isn't off the ground yet. It may be two months more before anybody actually gets any free food under the program.

The first step toward putting the program into operation may come very soon, Agriculture Department experts said. This will be a decision by Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman on what type or types of food stamp plans will be tested, and in what localities the tests will be made.

Agriculture Department officials then will begin conferences with local and state officials and with officials of grocery trade groups to prepare for their role of cashing and redeeming food stamps.

An order also will have to be issued for printing the stamps, a job which Agriculture Department officials have been told will take about two months.
Kennedy's announcement that the experiments would be launched in areas of West Virginia, Pennsylvania, southern Illinois, eastern Kentucky, northern Minnesota and in Detroit caught Agriculture Department officials by surprise.

Security Council Acts To Stop Explosion Of Civil War In Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The Security Council crushed Soviet opposition early today and gave Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold vast new powers, including the use of force if needed, to stop the explosion of civil war in the Congo.
The council rejected a Soviet move to oust Hammarskjold and end the U.N. operation in the Congo within 30 days.
It also beat down a resolution calling for the condemnation of the killing of Patrice Lumumba followers in the Congo after Russia twice vetoed U.S. attempts to include in the measure atrocities and assassinations by all Congolese political factions.

The dramatic session wound up at 4:21 a.m., EST, after a final parliamentary duel between U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin.
"It was a clear victory for the West, the Afro-Asian nations and Hammarskjold himself."
The secretary-general, under fire from the Soviets since last fall, said the resolution would give him "a stronger and more clear framework for U.N. action" to restore peace and stability to the shattered Congo.
He was expected to inform the U.N. troops in the Congo quickly that they could use force in emergency situations. Up to now they have been restricted to using arms only in self defense and have not been able to stop factional wars.
The council took no action on an informal proposal by Liberia for a meeting of the council in Africa to seek reconciliation of the Congo's political factions and restore U.N. prestige there.

General Mobilization Ordered By President Of Katanga Province

By RAY MOLONEY
United Press International
ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (UPI) — Katanga President Moise Tshombe ordered general mobilization of all black and white inhabitants of his province today to "defend lives and property menaced by the United Nations."
Tshombe ordered the mobilization only a few hours after the U.N. Security Council in New York called for the withdrawal of all foreign military and civil advisers from the Congo.
"The Security Council resolution is a declaration of war by the U. N. against Katanga and the whole Belgian Congo," Tshombe said in a special broadcast.

House Goes To Work On Jobless Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways & Means Committee went behind closed doors today to pound out a final version of legislation to speed extra jobless pay benefits to the nation's unemployed.
The committee, led by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., was expected to complete its work on President Kennedy's emergency request within a few days. House action may come early next week.
The administration bills, which are labeled as anti-recession measures, would provide $950 million for additional unemployment compensation to three million jobless workers whose benefits have either run out or will expire during the next year.
Up to 13 weeks of extra payments would be authorized, depending on eligibility in the various states. Employers would pay the cost of the program through higher taxes.
The legislation also would provide $350 million in federal-state public assistance for needy children of the unemployed.
Kennedy said the program would give the economy a big shot in the arm as well as help the jobless.
The President proposed the one-year program be financed by raising the taxable wage base from $3,000 to $4,800 but chances are the committee will not go along with this.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The Irish commander in chief of United Nations forces in the Congo headed for Equatorial Province today in a dramatic bid to avert a war between the two major factions of the Congolese army.
Gen. Sean McKeown was flying to an undisclosed town to meet with Gen. Joseph Mobutu, the army strongman of the central government at Leopoldville.
Mobutu has been assembling his forces in Equatorial for an attack on the Communist-supported rump regime in Stanleyville, capital of adjacent Oriental Province.
U.N. sources said McKeown planned to go to Stanleyville next to talk with the army strongman there, Gen. Victor Lundula.
There have been persistent reports that Lundula has seized power from Antoine Gizenga, self-styled political heir of slain former leftwing leader Patrice Lumumba, and already has offered to talk peace with the Leopoldville government of President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Joseph Ileo.
One report even said Lundula and Mobutu had talked about this face to face. There was no confirmation of this but there have been no reports of recent clashes between Mobutu's and Lundula's troops.
McKeown's main aim, U.N. sources said, would be to set up a buffer zone between the two factions to make sure war does not break out, even accidentally.
Congolese sources in Leopoldville said Ileo's government is testing the reports to see if there is any basis of coming to an agreement with the Stanleyville leftists.
Reports that Jean Omonombe, security boss in Stanleyville, had been arrested indicated Lundula's influence was growing.
In Kivu Province to the east the power held by leftists while Lumumba was alive appeared to have disintegrated into chaos since his death was announced last week.
Reports reaching here said gangs of soldiers belonging to different tribes were fighting among themselves and had created an atmosphere of terror in the once-prosperous gold mining and agricultural province.

Today's Lenten Message

By MSGR. FRANKLIN J. KENNEDY
Milwaukee
(Written for UPI)
When was the last time you turned your thoughts to God? You give attention and thought income taxes and how they'll be paid, to pleasing your wife, or husband, children, boss or friends, to planning the next meal or vacation or retirement. When was the last time you thought of God?
Isn't it surprising that many of us who call ourselves Christians go for hours, days, weeks and longer and then be startled by remembering that we have forgotten to think about God for such a length of time? God is our Father, our Creator; we are His children, His creatures.
From second to second, our life on this earth depends completely upon Him, Who loves us with an unbounded love, Who desires to be close to us.
Lent, a period of 40 days, is set aside by the Christian Church as a time of extra prayer and penance. Thus we prepare ourselves to share the joys of Easter—that great feast which proves our faith not in vain. May each day of Lent find our minds turning to God and our actions pleasing to Him.

Eisenhower Suffers Attack Of Lumbago

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is suffering from a painful attack of lumbago in his vacation cottage at Eldorado Country Club.
The new ailment came on the heels of a cold which prevented the former chief executive all last week from taking up his favorite pastime of golf.

Slowdown In Air Mail Is Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Post Office Department said today some slowdown in delivery of air mail letters might result from the wildcat strike of flight engineers.
But a department spokesman added that it was "a little too early" to tell just how much postal service would be affected.
The official said that the mail went through pretty much on schedule Monday because of the light volume. Weekend mail usually is light since there is a letup in business mail.
"We won't really get the full impact until after today," the official said.

Negro Wins Rights Suit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has approved civil damage suits against policemen who disregard the constitutional rights of suspects.
By an 8-1 vote the court ruled Monday that a Chicago Negro may sue the 1871 Civil Rights Act to sue 13 police officers who broke into his home, ransacked the rooms and abused his family.
The man, James Monroe, was questioned for 10 hours at the police station about a murder, with no help from a lawyer, and finally released without being charged.
The majority, for whom Justice William O. Douglas spoke, said Monroe could not sue the city itself but he could sue the individuals concerned. Douglas brushed aside the city's argument that the only remedy is in state courts.

Bid Date Set For 2 Bridges

City commissioners held first reading on two ordinances, set the bid date on the construction of two bridges and approved a water and sewer refund in a meeting this morning in the City Commission room in the City Hall.
First reading was held on Ordinance 558 which deals with a change in the electrical ordinance and Ordinance 559, a hearing on the annexation of a portion of Northeast Addition, section 2.
Commissioners also set March 28 as the bid date for bridges on Tignor and Duncan Sts. and approved a water and sewer refund of $10,753.51 to firms with contracts with the city.
The commission also approved the platte of Country Club Heights, located between East Browning and East Harvesters Sts.

The resolution was presented by Rev. C. B. Hogue, president of the Plains Baptist Assembly and pastor of the First Baptist Church of Post, Tex.

Parents Should Learn To Face Teenagers' Temporary Standards

NEW YORK (Sp) — Parents take heart! When your teenage son or daughter starts finding fault with the house, the family car, younger brother's manners — all things you have sweated and sacrificed to obtain — don't explode into a tirade on how fortunate they are. Try and remember, instead, says an article in the current issue of a magazine, Mark Twain's famous story of the 19-year-old who remarked how much his mother and father seemed to have learned since he was 13.

Parents should brace themselves for some sharp criticism as teenagers pickup new, temporary standards outside the family, says the article. But studious show most teenagers return to the fundamental moral standards of their parents in adulthood. Inside the teenager may feel guilty about the way he is having toward his parents.

Migrant Workers' Bill Introduced

AUSTIN — A bill providing for licensing of crew leaders of migrant farm work crews has been introduced in the House by Reps. Raul Longoria of Pharr, Don Kennard of Fort Worth and John C. Alaniz of San Antonio.

Longoria said the bill is aimed at insuring protection and safeguards for the migrant agricultural workers of Texas.

Licensing and enforcement of the statute would be invested in the commissioner of the Texas Bureau of Labor Statistics. The law would apply to crew leaders of five or more workers.

Longoria had this to say about the proposed measure:

"It is imperative that the state of Texas take the necessary steps to protect those migrant workers from exploitation, and the first step toward that end is the licensing and controlling of crew leaders in a manner that the workers are not abused."

The bill also stipulates that crew leaders shall make annual reports on personnel and conditions of all workers.

Adolescence thrusts boys and girls into new relationships at home, in school and in every day contact with all age levels. For parents it is a period of anguish. Their children draw away, ignore advice and willfully bungle into the pitfalls of growing up. Some parents vainly try to defeat nature by forcing their young to continue as dependent children. Others hurt or angered by the situation will withdraw and let them run wild.

For teenagers it is a period of rebellion. But they still want and badly need parental support. The young person has to do his own growing up, but parents must always be there ready to give guidance when it can be accepted, to take confidence when offered, and on occasion to come out with a flat "no." To say no takes a great deal of courage these days, says Coronet. But the risk of alienating the child will not be great where the "no" comes from real love for the youngster and the determination not to let him damage himself by tackling more than he can handle.

Over 20 million people in the United States or 1 out of 9 persons, get farm surplus through relief and school lunch programs. After these needs are met, CARE and other foreign-aid agencies get Government allocations. Every $1 sent to the CARE Food Crusade, New York 18, N.Y., delivers a package of this abundance to the hungry in other lands, as personal food-for-peace gifts from Americans.

Parliament Out, Belgian King Calls Election

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — King Baudouin has formally dissolved Parliament and decreed new general elections for March 26.

The announcement followed conferences between the king and Premier Gaston Eyskens and Vice Premier Rene Lefebvre. It was in line with the expressed wishes of the leaders of the ruling Social Christian-Liberal coalition and the opposition Socialists.

All three parties wanted new elections in the aftermath of the bloody and costly year-end strikes against the government's austerity program.

The decree also warded off a possible Cabinet crisis between Eyskens' Social Christians and their Liberal partners. The seven Liberal ministers handed in resignations last Friday, claiming that Eyskens refused to put into effect key budget cuts provided in the economic recovery bill.

Longview Plans To Expand Its Junior College

LONGVIEW (UPI) — Plans were announced Sunday for the expansion of LeTourneau Tech Junior College of Longview into a four-year college during the next 10 years.

The plans called for addition of a four year school of arts and sciences with eventual addition of schools of education, engineering and business by the end of the 10-year period.

Engineers' Book Display On View City Library

Vett Memorial Library will exhibit books, magazines and pamphlets on engineering subjects all this week, which has proclaimed as National Engineers Week by the President of the United States, governors of the individual states, and mayors of separate cities.

The highway department threw 118 snowplows into the fight, 21 of them in Lubbock County alone.

The DPS said it used trucks to rescue the occupants of some 200 cars stranded in deep snow on U.S. Highway 116 about 15 miles west of Lubbock alone.

Texas Tech College told its students not to report for classes until further notice, and so did South Plains Junior College at Levelland, where the annual banquet of the chamber of commerce was one of dozens of meetings that had to be cancelled.

The Highway Patrol took 25 children from a stranded schoolbus between Lubbock and Wolforth and housed them for the night at a church in Reese Village, a housing development near Reese Air Force Base.

Bill Is Designed To Lure Tourists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has approved and sent to the Senate a bill to lure tourists to the United States and help offset the loss of U.S. gold reserves.

The administration-backed bill passed without opposition Monday after its chief sponsor, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said it was a "major new effort to attract foreign visitors."

The bill's main provision would set up an Office of International Travel in the Commerce Department with $5 million authorization for the first year. It would turn out a promotion campaign abroad to publicize the scenic charms of the United States.

The bill also seeks to ease visa and tourist permit regulations.

From 1958 until the present time, Osborne has been engaged in research for a doctorate.

On Dec. 18, 1959, he was married to Estelle, a Los Angeles, Calif. girl, who was graduated from OU this semester with a BS degree in physics and has completed work for a doctorate in psychology.

Dear Abby... Shenanigans Lead To Monkey-Business

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The fellows where my husband works started a fan club for a stripteaser and they elected my husband president. He carries her picture in his wallet and sleeps with a garter she threw at him during one of her performances. Now he has brought home a big poster of her and has hung it up in our bedroom. I am not a crabby wife, and I believe in letting a man have his fun — within limits — but what kind of monkey business is this for a 52-year-old man?

DISGUSTED WITH MAC
DEAR DISGUSTED: It's a pretty swinging monkey business. What a man carries in his wallet is his own business, but he went too far when he hung the poster in your bedroom. Take it down. And tell him to hand over the garter — and make it snappy!

DEAR ABBY: In regard to that letter from "RICHARD" wanting to know what to do about a woman he loved who was legally married (but separated) from her husband but wouldn't get a divorce because of her religion. I think your answer was very crude.

A girl who is willing to stick to her religion and not get a divorce would make a wonderful wife for Richard if her husband died.

DISAPPOINTED IN YOU
DEAR DISAPPOINTED: The Old Folks Homes are full of people who have spent their lives waiting for someone to die. If the object of one's affection already has a legal connection, I recommend unconditional surrender.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a girl should be the one to answer the door when her date calls for her? I say the girl's parents should do it and explain that the girl will

Busy Agenda Comprises Session For Robert E. Lee Junior High PTA

The executive board of Robert E. Lee Junior High PTA met at 1 p.m. Thursday in the school conference room with Mrs. Joe Sears, president, presiding. Reports were given by Mrs. Don Cain, secretary and Mrs. C. J. Howard, treasurer.

The cost of the clinic, $2,000 is made possible through contributions from Pampa's civic clubs, industrial companies, volunteer workers and Knox Kinard, superintendent of schools.

Mrs. Thelma Bray, character and spiritual education chairman, reported on World Day of Prayer, which was held Feb. 17. She also stated that a study was being made of pornographic literature being sold to the public in Pampa.

Mrs. J. L. Chase, hospitality chairman, reported that plans were being made to serve coffee for the final PTA City Council study course, which will be held in Lee Junior High on Thursday beginning at 9 a.m.

Mrs. George Cree Jr. suggested and it was approved that the hospitality committee purchase a suitable gift for each of the school's sixty personnel and present them during Teacher Appreciation Week.

Refreshments will be served in the teacher's lounge during that week.

Mrs. Essie Mae Walters, legislative chairman, reported that the Texas Legislature is now in session and that there are several bills before the legislature pertaining to schools and teachers; also with how to raise money for these bills. She urged each person to acquaint themselves with these bills and to write their representative before Mar. 30 telling them

ing Unsurge Animal Rabies In Texas

TIN (Sp) — State Health officials say conditions are right for the usual spring surge in animal rabies. On Jan. 1, 56 animals have been diagnosed by laboratory tests as being rabid. Included in the number were 28 skunks, three cows, three foxes, cats, and one horse. And just an unknown fraction of the total problem.

A number of confirmed cases are considered under the number reported at this time last year. Sixty cases were diagnosed in January alone, but it is still high enough to pose a serious threat to the affected areas, Dr. H. E. Smith

Smith, head of the department's preventive medical service section, says pockets of infection exist in several Texas counties along the Rio Grande, but no area of the state can consider itself immune. He noted abundant susceptible animals for Texas' perennial rabies.

Health authorities have no way of knowing the actual extent of the disease among foxes and cats because only those which come into contact with humans are reported. For every rabid fox or skunk reported, there might be 75 more we don't hear about as they die in their burrows, Dr. Smith said.

The obvious danger of wildlife is aside from the possibility of exposure to hunters, anglers and other sportsmen, is that wildlife might easily infect dogs. Dogs thus could become a means of human contact with the disease.

Large increases in rabid wildlife will inevitably spill over to domestic animals — livestock and cats, Smith affirmed. Although humans are more often infected by dog bites than any other way, the disease seems generally to be on the decline. But Smith said this trend could easily change if the public lets up on vaccination of family pets.

Smith hasn't experienced a human death from rabies since 1957. However, the State Health Department last year distributed 1,723 ten-day courses of anti-rabies vaccine for human use, and indicated the extent of human infection.

Human deaths have been reported for the nation as a whole this year — one in Kentucky and one in California. Smith said the three most important steps in community rabies control are pet vaccination, stray pickup, and thinning of wildlife in that order.

Soft Water Unit Sales Will Rise

NEW YORK (UPI) — The home water softener has a good chance of jumping its sales to $250 million this year and of almost doubling that by 1965, according to President James Lindsay of the Union Tank Car Company's Lindsay Division.

"The industry, which still is a mere infant, should sell between 175,000 and 500,000 home units this year," Lindsay said. "That's 75,000 to 100,000 above last year. And we have a huge market to nibble at in coming years. More than 85 per cent of the country has water hard enough to need immediate treatment."

After a quarter of a century of trying, the home water softener industry has only succeeded in saturating about 7 per cent of its potential market, according to Lindsay.

The reason that progress will be faster from now on, he said, is because the new units are small and long-lasting and require little in the way of plumbing installation. They no longer are so large and unwieldy that they have to be relegated to the basement.

The Midwest, Southwest and Far West generally have the hardest water, the Southeast and East Ave softest.

Women appreciate soft water, Lindsay said. He recalled that not so long ago they would set out barrels to catch rain water in order to wash their hair in it. Men dislike shaving in hard water. They also are vocal about the dollar losses when hard water corrodes brass and copper plumbing fixtures and tears clothing, Lindsay said.

Contrary to expectations, damage to clothing by hard water is nearly three times as great as the damage to plumbing, he said.

"The destructive effect of hard water on foods has long been known," he added. "Hard water takes the flavor out of coffee and tea, shrivels vegetables and robs foods of vitamins."

The Unmatchables

Match Your Name on Tax Returns

Here's some advice from Wiley Davis Administrative Officer Internal Revenue Service in Panama City. Be sure that your 1960 tax returns are recorded properly on Unipanama's books. Best way to do this is to type or print your name and address on your return so it can be easily identified. Naturally, Davis added, "if you can't read your name and address we can't mark you paid."

Kansas' Mississippi County has more cotton than any other county.

Congress Still Opposes China's N. Admission

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A majority of the members of Congress have endorsed a statement opposing recognition of Red China to the United Nations at the general Assembly meeting.

A statement was issued Sunday by the Committee of Liaison, headed by Warren R. Hearnes, former U. S. ambassador to China, and Joseph C. Grew, former U. S. ambassador to Japan.

The statement said that the United States would not support a resolution to admit Red China to the United Nations at the general Assembly meeting.

ANOTHER "GRACIE"—Jody Warner left her mark on the University of Houston when she did wiggling imitations of Marilyn Monroe. Now, in TV's "One Happy Family," Jody is chalking up new success by playing the "Penny" character in the classic Gracie Allen manner. Oddly enough, it was George Burns who gave Jody her first Hollywood job.

Rural Electric Fight Launched In Legislature

AUSTIN (UPI)—The fight by the rural electric cooperatives to furnish power to areas that have been annexed by cities is now before the Texas Legislature.

State law currently forbids a cooperative from supplying power to anyone except those customers already on the lines when the area was annexed.

A bill by Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton would permit the co-op to serve any member, old or new, within the area of annexation.

It would not permit the co-op to serve any other part of the city.

The House State Affairs Committee will hold a public hearing on Jamison's measure at 7:30 p. m.

His bill is designed to overturn a state Supreme Court decision made five years ago.

Jamison was unable to get action in the State Affairs Committee on a similar bill during the last legislature.

He appealed to the membership of the entire House to instruct the committee to report the bill.

Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria successfully led the opposition to an 83-66 victory over Jamison's motion. The bill died in committee.

The co-ops argue that they served the rural areas when it was unprofitable for a private power company to do the job.

They want to continue to serve the area after annexation instead of the few customers they had when the area was farm or ranch land.

Two Former Pampa Stars Return Home

SPORTS IN SPURTS — Gary Griffin and E. J. McIlvain, members of Pampa's state championship teams in 1953 and 1954, were surprise visitors in Pampa Monday, dropping in to see friend and coach Terry Culley at his Harvester Fieldhouse quarters.

Gary was proudly displaying a young son, who at 1½ already is showing basketball potential — according to the beaming Griffin.

Both cagers, who went from Pampa to star at Rice, are still playing together in Houston. The parallel continues in professions where both are high school coaches in the Houston school system.

Gary is assistant basketball coach at Spring Branch High School, a suburb of Houston, and his team finished in third place in the rugged Houston district, while E. J. guided his team—St. Thomas—to the state consolation title in the recently concluded Catholic tournament in San Antonio.

St. Thomas, a perennial power in Catholic cage circles, was defeated in the opening round, 47-46, on a goal-tending violation but came back to win the consolation affair.

E. J. made it plain that he would return to Pampa on March 21 for the Harvester basketball banquet, a feed where former teammate Jimmy Bond is scheduled to speak. Gary was unsure about getting away from his job to make the long trek from Houston to Pampa but he informed that he was going to make the effort.

Both men were trim and had Griffin not had his young son along, it would have been hard to tell that they were not the same pair of standouts that started Pampa on the basketball road to glory a short 8 years ago.

Roy Kieval, Pampa Junior High basketball coach, receives this corner's vote for unofficial junior high coach of the year for his work with the Reapers, recently crowned Panhandle Junior High basketball conference champions.

Kieval fashioned a 15-3 record in his first year here with the minimum of material. He tied with Bogger Hous on for the league crown with a 10-2 mark, splitting even with the co-champs in the two meetings.

He also guided the Reapers to a victory over Robert E. Lee, the first time since Lee was opened that the Rebels have been defeated—in any sport—by Pampa in ninth grade sports.

Tip of the hat as to Bill Potts, Lee seventh-grade coach, who directed his charges to an 8-0 record—the only Pampa team to have an undefeated season—and the seventh grade PHJH conference title.

Pampa schools made a sweep of the junior high crowns as Bill Kennedy fashioned a 10-1 record as coach of the Lee Eighth and the eighth grade flag.

All added up, it's a pretty impressive record for the local junior highs and an indication of good talent headed for the Harvesters in the not-too-distant future.

In all probability, Palo Duro of 3-4A and Midland of 2-4A will meet in the Class 4A quarterfinals this weekend for the right to go to Austin.

Palo Duro meets Fort Worth Birdville tonight—a team that Pampa defeated 57-48 in non-conference last December—and should have little trouble.

Midland takes on Ysleta Bel Air in Midland tonight and although Ysleta holds the better record (24-1 to 24-2), Midland will have the home court advantage where they have not lost a game since February, 1959.

While we are far from a hockey expert, we are still puzzled about a National Hockey League report filed over UPI Saturday night.

In part, the report said: "The Montreal Canadians, using a combination of clutch shooting and a feigning, defeated the Detroit Redwings, 5-1."

No wonder Detroit lost. How do you defend against a feigning?

For those who felt that the District 3-4A team released Sunday was in error, take heart. The district coaches will announce their team—to be comprised of seniors only—in the near future.

White Deer, Canadian Battle Here

By ARTHUR MAYHEW Daily News Sports Editor

White Deer's Bucks, two steps up the ladder to the state tournament, reach for the third rung here at 8 p.m. today when they meet Canadian in Harvester Fieldhouse in a Class A bi-district basketball game.

The Bucks (28-2) of District 1-A turned in one of the state's longer winning streaks of 21 straight before successive one-point losses to Stinnett and Gruver left them in second place in the regular season standings.

However, White Deer came back to defeat Stinnett, 69-50 and Gruver, 50-47, in the district tournament at Stinnett last weekend, then downed Gruver again, 60-49, Saturday night to win the overall championship.

Canadian posted a 26-6 record on its way to its first undisputed basketball title in history and will be representing District 2-A in the game tonight.

In a previous game, White Deer triumphed 72-46 in the finals of the Panhandle Tournament but Buck coach Bob Moore is still cautious of the Wildcats.

However, Canadian hopes were dashed early last week with the news that Frankie Muir, a 6-0 senior who was the leading Cat scorer with an 18.9 average, would be lost to the team for the rest of the season with a leg injury.

Muir injured his knee in workout last Monday and has been scheduled to undergo operation on the knee soon.

Coach Lawrence Overcast, in his second year at Canadian after finishing in fifth place last year with a 14-18 record, expects White Deer to be tough, mainly because of the Bucks well-rounded attack.

To stop White Deer, Overcast will bank on Jerry Cole, a 5-6 junior who leads the Muir-less Canadian scoring with a 15.0 average, and Ronnie Sumner, a 6-1 senior who carries a 14.0 average for the year.

Other probable starters tonight are John Rogers, 6-3 senior; Tommy Lemmons, 6-0 senior, and Sparky Echols, 6-0 senior.

The Bucks' Moore will start with the same group that failed to wither under the pressure at Stinnett and Berger last weekend: Dickie Hanna, 5-7 senior; Tom Lester, 5-10 senior; Bob McAllister, 6-1½ senior; Gerald Bichsel, 6-3 junior, and Carl McAdams, 6-2 junior.

Any of the five could be—and have been—leading scorers in past games. The Bucks also have used their height for an advantage on the backboards, highlighted by McAllister, who pulled down 18 against Gruver in the final game.

Figures bear out the well-rounded scoring. Lester is tops with 440 points and a 14.7 average. But, McAllister has 332, Hanna, 312,

Bi-District Tiff Set For 8 p.m.

Canadian will carry a higher-scoring team in the game tonight, averaging 61 points-per-game to White Deer's 57.5. But, the Bucks hold a ten-point edge defensively, allowing only 41 per game to Canadian's 51.

Tonight's winner will face the winner of Big Lake-Iraan in the first round of the Class A regional tournament at Lubbock Saturday.

In the past, the Lubbock tournament has been a good sounding for state champions. Last year, Class 3A winner—Lamesa—state and Class B winner McAdams did likewise. The Class AA Lubbock champs—Dimmitt Sunray—were finalists in state tournament at Austin.

Tickets for tonight's game go on sale at 6:30 p.m. a door. General admission due only will be sold.

Wilhelm TKO's Snider In GG

Heavies Clash Today As Final Bouts Open

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Pete Peterson of Sherman and Claude Davenport of Fort Worth tangle tonight to decide the heavyweight championship of the 1961 Texas Golden Gloves tournament.

But the bout will have to share the spotlight with 15 other matches — semifinals and finals in the four lighter weight brackets and the finals in the other three heavy divisions — as the meet completes its five days of action.

Peterson moved into the finals with a first round technical knockout over Tex Paris of Brownwood, while Davenport gained the championship round with a decision over Joe Jarvis of Dallas.

In the light heavy bracket, Indian John Peters of Corpus Christi gained the finals with a third-round knockout of Elmer Clement of Amarillo. He'll face Mills McCawley of Texarkana, who defeated W. H. Woodall of Dallas.

Randy Blackwell of Beaumont and Bobby Wilhelm of Corpus Christi will battle for the middleweight crown, Blackwell thanks to a decision over Jesse Joyner of Wichita Falls and Wilhelm to a TKO of Amarillo's Charles Snider.

In the welterweight bracket, Tyler's Jack Henry, TKO winner over Jay Lavender of Wichita Falls, will face Burton Gilliam of Dallas, who stopped Rudy Ortiz of Fort Worth. Both bouts ended in the opening round.

In the lightweight division, Frank Garza of Houston and Fudgie Lundal of Dallas tangle in one semifinal match, with the survivor meeting the winner of the battle between Ronald Morgan of Amarillo and Richard Marquez of Corpus Christi.

The two featherweight semifinals pit Reginald Davis of Sherman, only surviving 1960 champion, against Enrique Gonzalez of Corpus Christi and Zeke Sanchez of Odessa against Durwood Williams of Amarillo.

The winners of the Domingo Romero, Odessa against Steve Freeman, Houston, and Angelo Rosendo, Amarillo, against Kenneth Brown, Brownwood, matches will meet for the championship of the bantamweight division.

The flyweight finals will pit the winners of the bouts between Margarito Marquez of Houston against Eddie Gonzales of Amarillo and Tony Ozuna of Wichita Falls and Tony Rodriguez of Abilene.

Dons, Birds Clash Today

AMARILLO — Amarillo Palo Duro, entering its first state basketball play since 1956 when it won the Class AAA state title, hosts Birdville of 4-A at 8 p.m. today in the Dons' Gym.

The winner tonight will face the winner of the Midland (25-2) and Ysleta Bel Air (24-1) game being played tonight in Midland.

When you hit 21 the game's over. And that's just about the deal for Big Ten foes as Ohio State's unbeaten Buckeyes near the clinching point for the conference title and prepare a defense of their NCAA basketball championship.

Ohio State extended its season's winning streak to 21 Monday night with a 73-69 victory over Indiana, the last team to beat the top-ranked Bucks and the only remaining conference squad rated a chance to stop the Ohioans.

Coach Fred Taylor's powerhouse, bidding for the school's first unbeaten season, should have no trouble in racking up the remaining three league games against Wisconsin, Michigan State and Illinois and thereby gaining its second straight Big Ten championship.

Ohio State, which had humiliated Indiana by 35 points two weeks ago, was surprised by a fighting the gash. It was a small vertical cut just over the eyebrow. The referee examined it carefully and decided it wasn't bad enough to award Wilhelm a TKO at that point.

Snider, a 20-year-old carpenter, came out for the second throwing everything in the book at Wilhelm. He scored on a good left to Wilhelm's body.

Wilhelm kept up a steady left barrage that began to tell on the less experienced Amarillo contender. He had Snider down on a knee with a solid left. Snider missed with a right overhand.

Wilhelm warded off Snider's punches successfully in the third as the cut over Snider's eye began to grow worse and blood covered Snider's face.

The referee investigated it again and awarded the fight to Wilhelm on a TKO.

Wilhelm will meet Randy Blackwell of Beaumont for the middleweight title Tuesday night and the right to represent Texas at Chicago.

"Yes sir, this is one of the best opening day drills we've had," Alston said after checking the pitchers.

Then, with his face plastered against the protective screen behind the batting cages, his remarks ran to: "If we get a little sock, we have a chance to go all the way."

Across the country on the West Coast, manager Ralph Houk officially opened his first Yankee training camp with all of his veteran pitchers on hand except reliever Luis Arroyo.

Wouck, wasting little time, had Ralph Terry, Whitey Ford, Danny McDevitt, Bob Turley, Art Ditmar, Jim Coates and Ryne Duren throwing batting practice, something they never did under former manager Casey Stengel until about the fourth- or fifth day after the opening of camp.

Raiders, Bears Vie In Waco

By United Press International

The Texas Tech juggernaut steamed into Waco today heavily favored to flatten the Baylor Bruin and hang up another scalp in the Red Raiders' romp toward their first major Southwest Conference title.

And don't be surprised if Del Ray Mounds, the Tech sharp shooter, grabs the conference scoring leadership from Carroll Broussard, Texas A&M's whiz kid.

They go into action tonight with a scant pair of points separating them in the overall scoring chase, and Broussard should have a tougher time against the Southern Methodist Mustangs, which are fighting a dim but desperate battle for league honors.

There's a third game on tap for the evening, Texas and Rice at Austin. Arkansas, dumped into a third place tie with the Steers at (6-4), goes against Texas Christian at Fort Worth Wednesday night.

Baylor won its first league game of the season last Saturday night against TCU, and it cost the Horned Frogs the services of sophomore guard Tommy Pennick of Houston.

Coach Buster Brannon announced Monday that Pennick accidentally had a fingernail poked in his eye during the Baylor game, and it hemorrhaged. He was hospitalized, and is expected to remain in the hospital the rest of the week. He's out for the rest of the season, Pennick started the last six games.

Pennick is the second member of the 10-man TCU team to be lost. Star rebounder Jerry Cobb was recently made ineligible for further play when it was discovered he was secretly married.

St. Bonaventure, which suffered its only loss of the season by two points to Ohio State, again ranked second followed by Bradley, Cincinnati and North Carolina. Southern California, Kansas State, Duke, Iowa and St. John's University rounded out the top 10.

Both Ohio State and St. Bonaventure scored their 19th and 20th victories of the season last week. The ratings include games played through Saturday night, Feb. 18, when both the leaders had close calls. Ohio State edged Iowa, 62-61, and St. Bonaventure rallied

Alston Turns Talkative At Camp

Dodgers' 'Quiet Man' Becomes Chatter Box

By JOE SARGIS United Press International

Hawks Cop NBA Title

By United Press International

It's all over in the Western Division on the National Basketball Association and it won't be long before it's over in the East too.

For the fifth straight year the St. Louis Hawks have won the Western title and the "magic number" is down to six to make the Boston Celtics the champs of the East.

The Hawks clinched the Western title Monday night when the Syracuse Nationals eliminated the Los Angeles Lakers with a 126-to beat De Paul, 78-69. Ohio State received 33 first-place votes from the 35 coaches from seven sections of the country who make up the UPI board.

The two dissenting votes for first place were cast for St. Bonaventure. Points are tabulated on the basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 for votes from first to 10th places.

Spearman Wins Girls District 5-AA Title

Spearman's Lynxettes, outshot from the field but deadly from the free throw line, pulled out a 57-55 victory over Wellington's Rockettes on a last-second shot by Joyce Sparks to win the girls' District 5-AA title here last night in Harvester Fieldhouse.

The victory boosted Spearman's record to 21-4 and moved them into a bi-district clash with Anson next week, although site and date have yet to be decided.

Miss Sparks and Sheryl Driscoll paced the victory with 25 and 23 points respectively, while Betty Sanders, 19, Sharon Campbell, 17, and Elaine Yarbrough, 14, starred for Wellington.

In the fifth and final battle for the title — the two split during the regular season and then split in the best 2-of-3 playoff — Spearman trailed early in the game, finally taking the lead and keeping it with 45 seconds left in the fourth quarter on a drive by Miss Driscoll to make the score 14-13.

Taking a 16-13 lead into the second quarter, Miss Driscoll continued to shine, scoring six points and leading off a 28-24 time lead after Wellington took the score to 21-19 with 4:42 left. Spearman kept its four-point advantage in the third quarter though hitting only one field goal and went into the final period leading 40-36.

Wellington, behind the pinpoints of Miss Sanders, got into the ball game in the fourth quarter. With Miss Sanders hitting only one field goal in the last 13 of her 19 points in the last minutes, Wellington tied the score at 53-53 with 55 seconds left.

Spearman leaped back into narrow margin, 55-53, with 44 seconds left on two free throws. Joan Green beat Wellington's Elaine Yarbrough hit a jumper with two seconds left to tie the score and set the stage for Miss Sparks' second set from in close.

Unions Make 'War'

The Farm Journal for November of last year included an interesting paragraph:

"Copies of an amazing document declaring labor union 'war' on farmers have turned up in Washington, D.C., and on the West Coast. The document appears as a manual of 'suggestions' from a labor union staff man to Norman Smith, California director of the AFL-CIO's Agriculture Workers Organizing Committee, which has been organizing farm help and picketing farms in California this summer. The manual declares that their 'principal enemy' is the public impression that agriculture is made up of the sturdy yeoman, the solid, earthy American family farmer. The document says that agriculture is anything but that. It states that the false image of warm family-farmer must be destroyed and agriculture identified as 'ruthless, cold-blooded, big-business exploitation of people and the land.'"

Items such as this come to our hands occasionally, but it is a rather rare occurrence when the document from which a statement like this could have been taken would also come to our hands. In this instance, the event occurred. Just the other day a copy of the same paper to which the Farm Journal had reference was sent to us by a friend on the West Coast. And a reading of the document confirms what the Farm Journal had to say, but also adds some fascinating details.

The paper is apparently called, "An Analysis and Report, with Suggestions" and is forwarded to Norman Smith, California director, 805 East Weber Avenue, Stockton, 2, California, from one Louis Krainock, who is not otherwise identified.

We think the opening paragraphs of the report are particularly instructive.

"Quantitatively, the problem is: organize a target quota of 150,000 agricultural workers in California; simultaneously, or in sequence, begin organizing the whole farm

Necessity of Socialism

The rule of the socialist seems to be that he must draw absolute conclusions from insufficient and unwarranted premises.

'Agri-Business'

If you were a union organizer who was called upon to unionize agriculture en masse, what would you do to proceed?

The above editorial gives us a start in the thinking of a union analyst who has studied the problem. Having seen that the difficulty is immense, largely because there is no "central nervous system" to the entire agriculture community, how does the union plan to cope with this problem?

We continue quoting from the report we identified above. "Our principal 'enemy' is a straw-man, an image. This image is the commonly accepted picture of agriculture as being made of the sturdy yeoman, the solid, earthy American family farmer. This family farmer has all the virtues we know: county (sic) life is clean, it builds healthy bodies and healthy minds. Presidents, potentates and rulers of the earth have risen from the handles of the plow.

"This image of the family farmer has cloaked the transformation of family-farmer agriculture into agri-business. Agriculture became corporate agri-business, with efficient machines, automation, financial combinations and interlock, dehumanized and depersonalized production, shares, stock, and stock earning, and professional managerial and technical staffs.

"The warm, earthy picture of family farming has masked the transformation of agriculture into agri-business, America's largest industry, without the accompaniment or creation of one single new law to control it. Agri-business is free to recruit and use semi-slave labor, free to maintain and use wage-breakers and strike-breakers, free to operate without minimum wages, maximum hours, unemployment insurance, or any of the social, ethical and financial controls society imposes on the rest of the industrial community. In so doing, it received—and still receives, federal and state aid."

Here are three fascinating paragraphs which rip aside the veil of mystery if any exists, and show precisely what the union is up to.

Here we see a massive propaganda effort that is being unleashed. The effort will be made to destroy the virtue, not of one boss, but of ALL farmers, ranchers and other men in agriculture. To do this, the word "culture" is to be abandoned and replaced by the term "business"—agri-business.

Since the union has already soiled the word business by attributing any and every fiendish motive to businessmen, it will now make an effort to show that farmers are of the same ilk. And, as union propagandists go, the effort then must be made to show that farmers are villains, exploiting human labor, overworking their help, underpaying them, and so on and so on.

The theme is quite familiar. It has been followed without notable variation since Engels first put it out after having financed Karl Marx's major work, "Das Kapital."

Nor will the unionists stop at lying. Note particularly the claim that there has not been "one single law to control it." Farmers and ranchers will be fascinated to learn that they, and they alone, have been operating businesses which are wholly free of legislative control.

Ever since the formation of the federal triple A program, the farmers and ranchers have been ringed about with rules, regulations, controls, inspections, licensing, prohibitions, quotas, and compulsion, until they are dizzy. And, now, to claim that there isn't a single law to control them is on

Some Appointments Cause Wonder

Nashville, Tenn.
CURIOS APPOINTMENTS
The real significance of the Cabinet appointment in the Kennedy administration will not be known for some time.

This can be realized by analyzing the selection of Governor Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina as Secretary of Commerce and David R. Bell of Harvard University as Director of the Bureau of the Budget.

Governor Hodges is a first-class public official who thoroughly understands the needs of American business. From 1919 to 1950 he was an official of Marshall Field & Company, and at the time of retirement was in charge of all the firm's mills. He then commenced an outstanding career as Lieutenant Governor and then Governor of North Carolina. In those roles, he was a superb salesman for his state. He brought many industrial payrolls to North Carolina.

President-elect Kennedy could not have made a better choice. But will Governor Hodges be supported by the administration of which he is a part? The Governor is a fiscal conservative. Moreover, he is for sensible regulation of Big Labor. Indeed the union bosses dislike him because he had the courage to order National Guardsmen into strike-torn Henderson, N.C., when that community was beset by union goons.

What will happen when Governor Hodges' recommendations conflict with the political objectives of Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and a behind-the-scenes power in the Kennedy administration? We may at least wonder whether the White House will back Governor Hodges, a conservative, if the union bosses insist on a contrary policy, which is virtually certain. The next president's real outlook then will be revealed to the public.

Mr. Bell's appointment raises the same sort of issue. On the one hand, Mr. Bell announces that he regards the Budget Bureau as a "blue ribbon" agency, and states his intention to work for a balanced budget. On the other hand, he is the apparent choice of Dr. John K. Galbraith, the Harvard professor who is the mastermind of "liberal" economy theories and who has no interest in balanced budgets or conventional fiscal methods.

Mr. Bell also is described as a New Dealer. How he will be able to support Dealer programs which call for deficit spending, and at the same time respect conventional wisdom regarding the nation's spending, is exceedingly hard to understand.

Some conservative observers fear that Governor Hodges' appointment and Mr. Bell's initial comments regarding a balanced budget are mere window dressing designed to win the confidence of the nation's community at the beginning of the new administration.

One must hope that these observers are wrong, and that the President-elect intends to steer a more moderate course than he outlined in the presidential campaign. Nevertheless, the political realities are that the union bosses and the academic advocates of big spending are the dominant forces in the new administration. Kennedy can hardly turn his back on his party platform and on his own campaign oratory.

Further appointments will be interesting to watch. They should give a clearer picture.

A par with normal union charges hurled against businessmen and contains about as much solid matter.

But the sum effect of the objective begins to emerge. The union now plans to make war on agriculture to destroy it and replace it with an image of agri-business. The agri-businessman will be painted with the same paint and tarred with the same brush the unions have employed against all other businessmen.

And the fact that agriculture has been successful will become a major proof of some kind of deep-seated guilt. For all of the things this union analyst has hurled as accusations against farmers and ranchers (saving where actual lies occur) relate to necessary and desirable moves to make a farm or ranch pay for all the risks involved and all the time and energy devoted to the operation.

Flat On His Face

Allen - Scott Reports:

Despite Big Talk, Russia Urgently Needs To Curtail Foreign Aid, Ambassador Thompson Reveals

WASHINGTON — Premier Khrushchev is characteristically talking as loud and big as ever about ditching economic aid to "friendly countries," but actually Russia is now up against the same hobbling difficulties in this field as the U.S.

Sharp curtailment of Soviet foreign aid has become so urgent, due to serious setbacks in the domestic economy, notably farm production, that Egypt is being strongly pressured to agree to a drastic modification of the giant Aswan Dam irrigation and power project.

The Kremlin wants President Nasser to give up his grandiose plan for a vast single high dam, and accept instead a series of smaller dams — at a huge saving to Russia.

The high dam would cost $1 billion. The substitute smaller dams around $450 million.

This was among the most striking of Ambassador Lewellyn Thompson's disclosures in his two-and-a-half hour closed-door session with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Others were:

—While its agricultural plight is less critical than Red China's, Russia may have to import grain because of extensive crop failures. In the past several years these have been due largely to drought, bureaucratic incompetence and bungling, and plain knavery.

—Khrushchev's attendance at the March meeting of the United Nations hinges chiefly on whether he can have a private talk with President Kennedy. What the Kremlin ruler is seeking is an informal get-together similar to the one he had with President Eisenhower at Camp David.

In response to questions, Ambassador Thompson stated he favors this.

"I think it is the right approach," the veteran career diplomat told the senators. "It will give the President a chance to size up Khrushchev, and at the same time make it very clear to him that the President means what he says and can't be pushed around."

THE BIG QUESTION — One Foreign Relations Committee member asked if it "is possible to come to any kind of an understanding with Khrushchev."

"To some extent, I believe that is now conceivable," replied Thompson. "Some gestures could be made that might induce Khrushchev to moderate the cold war without the U.S. in any way compromising its basic position and principles."

"For one thing, there can be little doubt that a meeting with the President would improve Khrushchev's standing in Russia. His status in the Communist hierarchy has been weakened by the agricultural crisis, the collapse of last year's summit plans, and the bitter undercover feuding with the Peiping regime. Khrushchev definitely needs a resounding achievement in the foreign field."

New Kind Of Neighbor Just Lends Knowledge

By HENRY McEMORE

ROME — We have a new kind of next-door neighbor in Rome. Instead of rubbing across the hall for a cup of sugar, a clothespin, or enough coffee to see us through breakfast, we borrow knowledge.

We must have borrowed a cupboardful of the heady stuff since Ramsay and Edie MacMullen moved in across the way. Ramsay is a professor of ancient history here writing a book, and it is as at home with the ancient Romans as if he wore a toga and drove a chariot.

But we've always been lucky with our neighbors. We count it among our blessings. We've had bank managers (probably the very best neighbors of all), gardeners who didn't mind working the other side of the fence, mechanical-minded chaps who enjoyed tinkering with sputtering cars, and any number of great cooks who liked to share their oven-work.

In Rome, though, a professor across the hall can't be topped. We get a free guide every Sunday, for one thing. We watch out the window and when the MacMullens head for their car we traipse out and tag along. No matter what historic sight they say they're on their way to see, it is always the very one we had planned to visit.

What a pleasure it is to go with a man who can read Roman numerals as easily as numbers in a phone book, and tell you when so and so died, and when such and such was built. Even better is sighting with a man who doesn't always agree with the guidebook, and challenges it now and then.

This was a revelation to me. I have always considered a guidebook as Holy Writ. If one said that Trajan's Arch, say, was built to honor Trajan, a celebrated circus acrobat, I'd say what a nice gesture, and wish I had been able to see Trajan in his tight doing a double somersault with a sack over his head.

Professor MacMullen is very patient with me. He must be a really fine teacher, if he is as tolerant of his students' ignorance as he is of mine. I pester him with a question at every step.

"Why are the Roman bricks so small?" "Why did Nero want such a big house as the Golden House?" "Were the lions used in the Coliseum the same sort of lions we have now?" "Did Pompeii have a fire department?" "Did Caesar eat spaghetti the way Romans do now?"

Professor MacMullen knows all the answers, both B.C. and A.D., and it is surprising how runs come alive when he tells you about them. I've learned more Roman history in ten Sunday afternoons with him than I did in all my schooling.

The only thing that worries me about our nice neighbors is how I am going to repay them. Professor MacMullen will never, never come over and ask me what two and two is, or when Columbus discovered America, or how many quarts in a gallon, or any of the other bits of knowledge I have.

And he isn't the absent-minded type, so there's no use giving him a piece of string for his finger. And he has a pipe, an umbrella, and a tweed coat.

Maybe he'd like one of my first editions. "Tom Swift and His Electric Rifle," say? Or "Tarzan's Return?" I'll offer him one tonight when I go over to find out whether Caligua was as crazy as the movie I saw made him out to be.

OFFERS CONGO AID
NEW DELHI (UPI) — The World Health Organization (WHO) had an offer from Russia today to send 15 doctors and 10 to 15 medical workers to the Congo. Soviet physician Valery Butrov made the offer during a committee session of the organization's annual assembly Sunday.

Here's Burglar Who Gets Real Kick Out Of Robbing Homes Of Policemen

By HARRY FERGUSON
 LONDON (UPI)—Brian Rowley never committed an offense of sufficient magnitude to earn him an entire chapter in the annals of crime, but he deserves a footnote and this is it. Until somebody comes forward with a better candidate he will go down in history as the most scientific and successful burglar of our time.

In the last three years he has robbed 542 houses for a total of $15,400 worth of loot, but money did not seem to be his primary motivation. What he really liked to do was to rob the houses of policemen.

His downfall came when he broke into the home of Chief Inspector Horace Teasdale in the town of Bury and got away with 28 cents. It was the sixth policeman's house he had robbed, and it so incensed Teasdale that he dropped all other matters and finally captured Rowley on all days, Friday the 13th of January.

Now Rowley has been tried, sentenced to five years in prison and the full story of his exploits is available.

Rowley is a mild-looking married man with three children.

He was such a dedicated burglar that he worked day and night. In the daytime he located the houses he intended to loot, drew a plan of the windows and doors and made a sketch of the neighboring streets and lanes. For the actual commission of the crime he had a fixed set of rules from which he never deviated.

He never attempted to rob a place that was not a detached house with two floors. He never went to the second floor. He never attempted a burglary against a residence which did not have a back yard through which he could escape.

He always worked between 1 a.m. and 5 a.m.—on the theory that those were the hours in which people were likely to be sleeping soundly. His record night was when he committed 11 jobs in the four-hour span.

Friday was his favorite night to work because Saturday is an off day for most Britons and there is a tendency to visit the pubs on Friday evening and then sleep well. Hence he became known as "the Friday burglar."

Once arrested, Rowley talked freely about his technique. He said he proceeded to the scene of the crime in his car in which he carried a complete change of clothing in event he found it necessary to alter his appearance abruptly.

He listed the following tools of the trade: 23 skeleton keys, a pair of special pliers for forcing locks, two screw drivers, a flashlight with a spare battery, three pairs of gloves and a special steel implement for breaking putty away from windows.

He also showed police some of his operational maps. In a detailed rundown, he admitted to having committed 542 burglaries.

With all the exhibits and testimony before him, Judge Edward Steel in Bolton Quarter Sessions Court prepared to sentence Row-

Pvt. C. B. Hatcher Completes Course

FORT BRAGG, N. C. (Sp)—Army Pvt. Cornelius B. Hatcher, 18, whose wife, Patricia, lives in Cumberland, N. C., recently graduated from the 82d Airborne Division Jump School at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Hatcher received his parachutist wings after completing four weeks of intensive ground and aerial training which included five parachute jumps.

Hatcher attended McLeod High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius B. Hatcher, of Le-fors.

In so doing he uttered what surely must go down as one of the most memorable understatements in the history of British jurisprudence: "You have made burglary your profession. You have no previous convictions, but this is an appalling case."

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst

For many months, the United States has been trying to persuade its prosperous allies that they must take over a greater share of a burden which since World War II has been borne by the United States, almost alone.

This was the question of foreign aid which was running at a clip which, even for a nation of the United States' great wealth, was more than it could afford.

The result was the "save the dollar" campaign instituted dramatically in the closing days of the Eisenhower administration and since pursued by the new Kennedy administration.

Foremost among the nations which the United States believed could increase their contributions were booming West Germany and Japan. Last weekend pleasant news came from West Germany.

A delegation headed by West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano informed President Kennedy that West Germany was ready to up its contribution of aid to under-developed nations to about $1 billion a year.

It was an unexpected climax to a situation which threatened to put the severest strain on U. S.-West German relations of any time since the end of the war.

For the West German government it also represented an about-face.

Last January, when Robert B. Anderson, President Eisenhower's secretary of the treasury, took the problem to Bonn, the Germans refused to accept the view that the gold shortage was more than short-range.

They contended that the outflow of American gold, leaving the United States with a 1960 deficit of nearly $4 billion, was a temporary situation which quickly would correct itself.

The Germans rejected a U. S. demand that they take over $600 million in NATO troops supply costs. The United States, in turn, rejected a one-time offer of German help to the extent of $972 million, mostly in advance payments of German war debts and munitions purchases in the U. S.

Kennedy's rejection of a similar German offer as failing to meet either the "problem or the opportunity" aroused in West Germany the same resentment as had been encountered earlier by the Anderson mission.

Some of the German reluctance has been based on opposition to raising German taxes in an important election year. That reluctance now seemingly has been overcome.

Every school day, 388,000 elementary pupils in Pakistan get a glass of U.S. milk from CARE donors. Just $1 sends a CARE Food Crusade package with enough powdered milk to make 432 half-pint glasses for underfed Pakistani children.
