Multi-Million Expansion For Celanese Plant

Completion of a multi-million dollar expansion that almost doubles capacity for production of acrylate esters at the Celanese Chemical Co. plant in Pampa was announced today by Herschel Wilks, plant manager.

Wilks explained, a variety of versatile chemicals used in manufacture of paints, coatings, polishes, paper, adhesives and many other products.

Although announcement of the expansion has just been released, a New York by James H. Worth, president of the company, a division of Celanese Corp. of America, explained that the newly completed facilities here have been in operation since shortly after the first of the year.

These facilities, Wilks explained, designed for annual production of some 14-million pounds of butyl acrylate and glycidyl acrylate.

Including earlier units for making methyl and ethyl acrylate, the Pampa plant now has an overall plant capacity of 30 million pounds a year.

Acrylate esters are derivatives of a widely used family of chemicals known as acetyls. Celanese, of the world's largest producer of acetyls, makes the chemicals from petroleum resources at Pampa plant and the Celanese plant in Bishop, Texas.

Other acetyl chemicals made at Pampa plant include acetic anhydride and vinyl acetate.

Girl Survives 2-Story Fall

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 12-year-old daughter of a wealthy matron plunged 12 stories from the window of a hotel penthouse and survived when she landed on a rooftop snowbank, police reported today.

The girl, Edith Harkness, was serious but improved condition today at New York Hospital, police said she accidentally fell from her bedroom window on the roof of a three-story wing.

Rebecca West Pierce Harkness, said to be one of the richest women in the world, was in the house at the time of her daughter's accident. The father, an original investor in the Standard Oil Co., died in 1954.

UNDER-SEA MARATHON DISCUSSED— John Grimsley, of Pampa, one of the 135 men who were aboard the USS George Washington, the Polaris missile-armed, atom-powered submarine, which recently established a record by staying beneath the surface of the seas for 67 days, talks over the exploit with Chief Petty Officer J. N. Plunk, Pampa recruiter. They are shown as they scan the story of the event that appeared in the Jan. 22 edition of the Daily News. (Daily News Photo)

USS George Washington Crewman Young Pampan Aboard Submarine That Set 67-Day Under-Sea Mark

By ED HAYES WILSON Daily News Staff Writer

How'd you like to have traveled thousands of miles, seen nothing except the inside of your craft, worked like all "get out" to keep your mind occupied and couldn't say exactly where you'd been?

That's precisely what happened to Pampa's John Grimsley. But the red-bearded young fellow is highly proud of his achievement, for he is one of the members of the "blue crew" of the USS George Washington, the famed Polaris missile-armed submarine that recently established a record by staying under water 67 days.

"There wasn't really anything to it. We left from New London, (Conn.) and went down to Charleston (S. C.), loaded our missiles and away we went," was the modest explanation of the young submariner who became a veteran overnight.

"I'm not permitted to say where we went. But, it wouldn't make any difference, anyway. All I saw was the inside of the 'George Fish,'" Grimsley pointed out.

Johnny cleared the look of askance about "George Fish" by noting that prior to the atom-powered submarines, all U. S. Navy subs were named for fish. However, such naming was dropped with the advent of the new type sea dreadnaughts, but it didn't make any difference in the minds of the veteran submariners, so they tagged the G.W. with a fish title, anyway.

Such are the doings of military men. They get around "red tape" one way or the other if they aren't encumbered with too many stripes or bars.

Grimsley explained that he didn't have time to wonder about the days, how long the "George Fish" had been out, when they'd return to the States. "We were kept busy with the many tasks. I'm a fireman (actually an obsolete Navy ranking, for there's no need for firemen aboard the G. W.) and I had duty in the engine room daily that kept me on my toes.

"Too, when you're aboard a submarine you must have a working knowledge of the duties of all the personnel. So, if I wasn't attending to my regular duty, there was work in other sections of the boat.

Let us show you how to get more miles from your tires. Our address is 411 S. Cuyler. Pampa Safety Lane, MO 5-8771. Adv.

(a submarine is the only craft that can move.)

Navy calls a boat) to keep me moving," said Grimsley.

Grimsley, who plans to make a career of the Navy and the submarine service "as long as they'll have me," said, when asked if it is frightening to know you're under water day after day, said "No. They only time I was frightened was when I applied for submarine duty—and they asked me the first question 'Why do you want to be in the submarine service?'"

"I was afraid I'd give them the wrong answer and the only thing I could think of was 'because I want to,'" Grimsley stated.

As an after thought, he continued, "Boy, you try to get in this outfit and they really give you a mental and physical going over before they clear you."

And this is true. Pampa Recruiter Chief Petty Officer J. H. Plunk, who accompanied Grimsley to the office of The Daily News, noted that to gain entry in the submarine service, one must undergo the most severe tests the Navy gives.

Grimsley is one of the 135 men of the "George Fish's" before mentioned "blue crew." This includes the young commander, J. B. Osborn, who highly praised his men for the way they conducted themselves during the long period in which they never saw the light of day.

Speaking of the crew and his commander, Grimsley said, "We didn't have a bit of trouble. There wasn't even a strong argument. And, Commander Osborn is a heckuva swell fellow. We'd all go the route for him."

And that's the story of the young Pampan who, having been in the Navy about one year, has spent much of that time beneath the sea. (See PAMPAN, Page 3)

Missile Hassle Boiling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — GOP congressional leaders planned today to step up their attacks on the Kennedy administration for the mixup over whether there is a "missile gap."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., said today's meeting of House and Senate GOP chiefs would bear down on the missile controversy and charges that Democratic leaders are putting on patronage pressure.

The Republicans were not deterred by President Kennedy's denial of published reports that a Pentagon study showed Russia has no more international missiles than the United States.

Dirksen said he thought the matter should be aired on the Senate floor today. He said Kennedy defense experts then should have a chance to answer.

Reached by telephone at his home in Winder, Ga., Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee said he planned no special hearings on missiles. He added, however, that the committee would begin its annual study of the nation's military posture about Feb. 20.

Civilian and military heads of the armed services will testify at that time, Russell said, and Republicans will be able to ask them any questions on missile capabilities.

Republicans have pointed with some glee to the 1960 Democratic platform claim that a "missile gap" existed and that the Eisenhower administration "lost" the nation's position of military superiority over Russia.

Senate GOP Policy Committee Chairman Styles Bridges, N.H., said the Kennedy administration had "shown an ability to reverse its field as quickly as the best college halfback." Bridges asked whether "touch football" gives one a special talent.

Civil War Stage Was Readied 100 Years Ago Today

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — One hundred years ago today six Southern states, seceding from the Union and headed for war, chose Jefferson Davis to lead the new Confederacy.

Delegates from Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina had met in Montgomery Feb. 4, 1861, to form a provisional Confederate Congress.

They adopted a Constitution three days later, and on Feb. 9 they made Davis, a Pickensburg, Miss., plantation owner and former U.S. secretary of war, provisional president of the defiant nation.

Seven more states — Arkansas, Kentucky, Missouri, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia — subsequently joined the Confederacy.

In October, 1861, the 11 states which had seceded at that time formally elected Davis as president. The Civil War, which began with the firing on Ft. Sumter on April 12, was six months old.

Davis had been a hero in the Mexican War. He served a term in the House of Representatives and was serving as U.S. senator from Mississippi when his state withdrew from the Union.

His state called him back as a major general in charge of the army of Mississippi but the Confederacy elected him president before he could assume military command. He took the oath here on Feb. 18.

Hospital, Nursing Care For Aged Is Included

By ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy asked Congress today to safeguard the health of Americans from childhood to old age through a vast program topped by hospital and nursing care for persons over 65.

The controversial plan highlighted a special message in which Kennedy also proposed federal scholarships to increase the supply of doctors and dentists; grants to bolster community nursing and hospital services; aid to medical and dental schools; action to improve the health of children and youth; and stepped-up medical research.

Administration officials said the proposal on health care for the aged — certain to touch off a big congressional battle — would cover 34.2 million persons past their 65th birthday as of Jan. 1, 1963.

These officials said it would cost $1.1 billion in its first year of full operation, and would mean a $1.5 billion a year increase in Social Security payroll taxes.

Anyone with a Social Security card who earns $5,000 a year or more would contribute an additional $4 in 1962 and another $12.50 a year starting in 1963 under the plan. His employer would pay an equal amount.

Kennedy insisted "this program is not a program of socialized medicine.

"It is a program of pre-payment of health costs with absolute freedom of choice guaranteed," he said. "Every person will choose his own doctor and hospital."

The program is a modified version of one which Congress refused to enact last year, approving instead a program of federal-state health care grants for needy old people not on relief. The AFL-CIO backs the Social Security approach and the American Medical Association is a prime opponent.

"The health of our nation is a key to its future," Kennedy said. "It is to the unfinished business in health — which affects every person and home and community in this land — that we must now direct our best efforts."

The President said "there remains a significant gap that denies to all but those with the highest incomes a full measure of security — the high cost of ill-health in old age."

For persons of 65 years and older, the President said the Social Security system should provide:

"In-patient hospital services up to 90 days in a single spell of illness, for all costs in excess of $10 per day for the first nine days (with a minimum of $20) and full costs for the remaining 81 days."

"Skilled nursing home services up to 180 days immediately after discharge from a hospital..." (See HOSPITAL, Page 3)

Mayor's Post Sought By John H. Saunders

John H. Saunders, 75-year-old retired real estate broker and a long-time Pampa resident, has become the first candidate to file for the office of mayor in the April 4 election.

Saunders, who was Pampa's first justice of the peace, is not a newcomer to the city's mayoralty races. He was a candidate in 1957 and was defeated by Lynn Boyd, who was running for re-election. Again in 1959 he made a try for the mayor's office. In that election he was defeated by the incumbent mayor, Ed Myatt.

Saunders, a widower, lives at 320 N. West St. He says he will run on a platform of new faces in City Hall and a reduction of city employees.

The first candidate for mayor is the second man to file for city office in the upcoming election. Lloyd M. Simpson, owner of Utility Oil Co. in Pampa, filed Feb. 3 for commissioner in Ward 1.

Opposition to employing law of officers from outside Pampa was amount paid out.

Rickety Bridge Won't Be Used By School Buses

School buses will no longer cross the bridge that City Commissioner Leon Holmes says should be condemned or repaired.

Holmes reported at a City Commission meeting Tuesday that supports under the bridge are rotted away and could collapse.

School officials said starting today Bus No. 10, carrying school children in the Tignor St.-McCullough Rd. area, will be routed around the bridge on another street.

Paper Ties Spies To Russia

LONDON (UPI) — A British agent testified today a small piece of paper linked the Russian intelligence service to three men and two women accused of stealing Western naval secrets for the Soviet Union.

In the third day of a pre-trial hearing for the five accused spies, said he examined large and small "signal pads" found in the defendants' possession.

"From my experience I know that the small format have been previously used by the Russian intelligence service," said the agent, identified for security reasons only as "Mr. L" when he took the stand in Bow Street court.

The agent said the pads were found in the homes of three defendants — bookseller Peter J. Kroger, 50, and his wife Helen, 47, and businessman Gordon Lonsdale, 38.

The prosecution charged Lonsdale is a Russian who hired two Admiralty employees—Henry F. Houghton, 55, and his fiancée Ethel E. Gee, 46—to steal anti-submarine research data and other secrets from the Portland naval base.

Expressed by Saunders in his statement made shortly after he filed his candidacy with City Secretary Edwin Vickers yesterday afternoon. Saunders said he believes city policemen should not be hired unless they have lived in Pampa three years and have children attending Pampa schools.

"If this were the case," Saunders said, "I believe Pampa citizens and teenagers would get more cooperation from city officers."

Saunders also said he thinks city taxes are too high, especially school taxes and expressed the opinion that teachers' salaries should be increased.

Saunders added: "I also think that the city should publish in the newspaper every six months the amount of money that is taken by the city in the way of fines from parking meters and various other ways. Also an annual report on the amount of money taken in by the city during the year and the amount paid out."

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

In the past a person could lose his citizenship largely because he wanted to; but of late one could lose it against his will by "expatriation."

Before 1900 the courts said: "No persons can by their own act, without the government's consent, put off their allegiance, and become aliens."

In 1870 the U. S. and Great Britain, and later with Germany, agreed that naturalization in the one nation meant loss of citizenship in the other. Soon afterwards, courts also held that a citizen could give up U. S. citizenship at will, and the next question was when it could be taken away.

Under a 1907 federal law, certain acts could mean expatriation: one's swearing allegiance to a foreign nation; a woman's marrying an alien, a naturalized citizen living abroad for a certain number of years.

In 1940 (later amended in 1952) the U. S. broadened the laws to cover new acts that could deprive one of his citizenship.

1. By willing foreign military service. One citizen in Japan before World War II was drafted in the Japanese army. After the war, the U. S. tried to take away his citizenship, but the court said no: The citizen must have served willingly; if he were forced into Japanese service, no one could take away his citizenship.

2. By voting in a foreign election. One U. S. citizen voted in a Mexican election (as Mexican law permitted). The U. S. took away his citizenship.

Why? By voting a citizen may encourage conduct against the U. S. interests.

3. By treason or desertion in war time. But in one such case the Supreme Court found expatriation so severe as to be "cruel and unusual" punishment in violation of the Constitution.

4. There are other acts which endanger one's citizenship such as leaving the country to evade military service in time of national emergency.

Pioneer Natural Gas Schedules Dividend Scale

A 22-cent per share dividend has been declared by the board of director of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. The dividend was established this week during the meeting at Amarillo of the firm's top officials.

The payments will be made March 3 to common stockholders of record as of Feb. 17.

The net income of the company and its subsidiaries for 1960 was $4,301,746, compared to $4,672,227 for the year 1959. This amounted to $1.25 per share on the common stock outstanding at the end of 1960 compared to $1.40 per share for 1959, adjusted for the two-for-one stock split in April, 1960.

The company's annual report to the stockholders and proxy statements will be mailed about March 17.

George Washington gave the shortest inaugural address when he was sworn in for his second term. He spoke only 135 words. The president who carried on longest at his inauguration was William Henry Harrison. He spoke over 8,000 words. The ceremony was held outside, and the day was nasty. Harrison, stricken with pneumonia, died a month later.

70 Per Cent Of People Know Little Of Banking

By HENRY J. BECHTOLD
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Too many people are confused and ill-in-

Hospital

An individual could, in short, receive two days of skilled nursing home care in place of one day of hospital care when this satisfies his requirements. Officials said there would be a limit of 100 units on this, with each day in a hospital or two days in a nursing home counting as one unit.

—“Hospital outpatient clinic diagnostic services for all costs in excess of $20.”

—“Community visiting nurse services, and related home health services, for a limited period of time... (to) enable many older people to receive proper health care in their own homes.”

The proposed benefits would be more than were offered in the bill co-sponsored by Kennedy and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., which failed to pass the Senate last year. But the age minimum would be 65 instead of 68, as in that bill.

Kennedy asked Congress to make the insurance benefits available to the 13.7 million persons over 65 who are eligible for Social Security benefits and the 300,000 in the same age group who are eligible for railroad retirement benefits.

The plan would go into effect on a limited basis — without the nursing provisions — on July 1, 1962.

The financing would be through one-quarter of one per cent increase in Social Security taxes on both employers and employees, effective in 1963. The maximum earnings that could be taxed would rise from $4,800 to $5,000 in 1962, providing an initial revenue increase of $400 million for that year.

formed about financial institutions in general and banks in particular, according to the American Bankers Association.

More than half of the people interviewed in a recent survey by the ABA had fuzzy or erroneous ideas about the most common type of financial institution — the commercial banks — and seven out of 10 were unaware of certain basic differences between banks and savings and loan associations.

To help fill this knowledge gap the ABA has prepared a factual roundup to help people make the right choice and the best use of financial services.

Of the total 14,000 banks in the United States, commercial and mutual savings are the two main types.

Commercial banks are corporations owned by stockholders which serve the public by providing a complete range of banking and financial services to meet the needs of individuals, business concerns and the community.

Mutual savings banks are specialized banking institutions that are owned by their depositors and administered by trustees. The principal business of these banks, found in 18 states, is in savings accounts and thrift services, and in-home and other real estate mortgages.

In addition, there also are trust companies — corporations which specialize in administering estates and trusts and other funds such as pensions and endowments.

Outside this bank category there are more than 6,000 savings and loan associations and building and loan associations. They are mutual cooperative share account institutions which have a special purpose to promote thrift through investment in shares and to make funds available for home building and buying.

A relative youngster in the financial field is the credit union of which there now are more than 19,000 spread throughout the country. They also are cooperative mutual societies organized among employees in industries, or by occupational groups such as school teachers, which accumulate thrift funds and make loans to members.

Safety is a big factor to consider in deciding where to put your money. Accounts are insured up to $10,000 in nearly all banks through the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and in loan associations through the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. or state insurance plans. Deposits in credit unions are not insured. All institutions that participate in FDIC and FSLIC insurance plans usually display appropriate signs.

Mystery Sub Reported Off Norfolk, Va.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Navy ships and planes today were investigating a report of an unidentified submarine being sighted off the East Coast of the United States.

Gen. Laurence S. Kruter, commander of the North American Defense Command, Colorado Springs, Colo., mentioned the report of the sighting in a speech Wednesday night at San Diego. He said the unidentified vessel was sighted only 30 miles off Norfolk, Va., headquarters of the Atlantic Fleet.

The Navy in its initial statement declined to confirm the off-Norfolk location, and would not say whether the report of the sighting came from a naval, a merchant marine or other civilian source.

Rotary Club Hears Woman Speak On Russian Conditions

Pampa Rotarians yesterday were told of conditions encountered in Russia by Mrs. Grundy Morrison who spent twelve days touring the U.S.S.R. last summer.

Mrs. Morrison said that although there were signs of modernity, most of what she saw was backward and sub-standard by comparison to conditions in the United States. The speaker said that she and her husband were subjected to petty harassments during their Russian stay.

The most beautiful sights found were the products of the Tsarist era and centered around the ancient churches and crown jewels. Religious influences were almost absent from the Russian environment and most people encountered were convinced atheists.

The highlight of the Russian tour was the Fourth of July party given at the American embassy by Ambassador and Mrs. Thompson.

Mrs. Morrison concluded her remarks by warning that "co-existence" is a fad and Russia's goal is still to dominate the world, one way or another.

Club visitors and guests were Tony Gilbert and Ira Bruce.

Missile

(Continued From Page 1) He said the White House felt the need to "squell the candor of the Pentagon in order to avoid discrediting the recent campaign tactics of the Democratic party."

Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday the Defense Department still was investigating whether there is a missile gap which gives Russia a potentially dangerous lead over the United States.

Kennedy's comment was in reply to a newsman's statement that Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara was responsible for published reports saying no such gap existed between the United States and Russia.

Youth, 21, Pays With Life On The Gallows

LONDON (UPI)—The British government hanged a 21-year-old butcher's helper for murder today despite his claims of innocence and an eleven-hour attempt by members of parliament to spare his life.

George Riley went to his death on the gallows at the Shrewsbury jail for the slaying of a 62-year-old woman, Mrs. Adeline Smith.

A silent crowd gathered outside the jail at the appointed hour—8 a.m.—but a strong police detail was on duty and there were no incidents.

Riley's last visitors were his 18-year-old girl friend and his father. They spoke with him in his cell a few hours before the hanging.

Riley was convicted largely on the strength of a confession he made after seven hours of questioning by police. He later repudiated the confession.

Laborite members of parliament tried to raise the case in the House of Commons but were ruled out of order.

Ham, Apricot "Hearts" For Valentine Treat

THIS VALENTINE'S gift is one that the whole family can enjoy... a broiled, center-cut ham slice escorted to the table with apricot and cream cheese "hearts." It's quite a gift for the family and there's nothing tricky about the preparation. Then to add a splendid climax to the meal, present a Cherry Nut Cake.

VALENTINE'S DAY

- Broiled Smoked Ham Slice
 - Apricot - Cream Cheese "Hearts"
 - Sweet Potatoes
 - Molded Cranberry Salad
 - Valentine Biscuits
 - Cherry Nut Cake
 - Milk Tea Coffee
- February has so many red letter days that give you the opportunity adding a cheery note to your near table. For instance, carry out Valentine's Day, grating to our family by serving a thick, broiled smoked ham slice gaily decorated with apricot - cream cheese "hearts."
- The pretty holiday platter is an effective way of pleasing someone special. Delicately broiled, the tender ham slice will draw raves as you bring it to the table sizzling and garnished to say "Happy Valentine's Day." The heart-shaped biscuits are an added surprise. The ham slice you select should be at least 1 inch thick for broiling. A ham slice less than 1 inch thick may be panbroiled or panfried.

To broil the center-cut slice, simply place the meat on your broiler rack. Adjust the racks so the surface of a 1-inch thick slice is 2 inches from the heat. When the first side is browned, turn the ham using tongs or a fork. If you are using a fork, insert it in the fat edge so as not to release the meat juices.

A 1-inch ham slice will require 10 to 15 minutes total cooking time, or about 5 to 8 minutes per side. Broiled smoked ham should be delicately browned on the outside with the fat a golden brown. The inside should be pink and juicy.

To make the apricot and cream cheese "hearts," just tube or spoon the cheese on the cut surface of the apricot halves.

HOLIDAY CLIMAX
An elegant finish for this special dinner is a luscious layer cake piled high with fluffy white icing and gaily festooned with red maraschino cherries. Use your imagination in decorating the top. The Cherry Nut Cake can be made especially tender and moist with lard as the shortening.

- ### CHERRY-NUT CAKE
- 3 cups sifted enriched flour
 - 4 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1 bottle (8 ounces) maraschino cherries
 - Water
 - 3/4 cup lard
 - 1 1/2 cups sugar
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
 - 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
 - 3/4 cup chopped walnuts
 - 4 egg whites

Line two 9-inch cake pans with waxed paper. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Drain cherries, reserving juice. Add water to cherry juice to make 1 cup liquid. Chop cherries. Cream lard. Add sugar gradually. Add 3 tablespoons cherry liquid and continue creaming until light and fluffy. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately, with remaining liquid, mixing thoroughly after each addition. Add vanilla, almond extract, nuts and cherries. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, and fold into cake batter. Pour batter into pans and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 25 minutes. Cool. Frost with Fluffy White Frosting.

Meat Balls Star At Cocktail Party

For a cocktail party, prepare midget meat balls which will simmer quietly and give the hostess ample time for last-minute preparations. This recipe makes 20 to 30 meat balls.

- ### SWEET-SOUR MEAT BALLS
- 1 pound ground beef
 - 1/2 medium onion, minced
 - 1 bottle chili sauce (7 or 8 oz.)
 - 1/2 cup grape jelly
 - 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- Combine chili sauce and jelly and simmer over low heat until blended. Mix onion with ground beef and roll into balls about one inch in diameter. Gently place meat balls into sauce and simmer over very low heat for about 2 1/2 hours, stirring occasionally to prevent sauce from sticking. Remove excess fat from sauce; stir in lemon juice, insert tooth picks in meat balls, and serve in chafing dish.

Why Not Celebrate George's Birthday With Tasty, Cherry-Pancake Rolls?

Why not let George Washington's birthday provide an unusual theme for a late February brunch or a special Saturday night supper? The story of his hatchet and the cherry tree generally comes to mind when we think of our first president. Therefore, a natural part of the menu would be cherries. Here they appear in cherry-pancake rolls.

Sandwiches Keep Tots From Hunger

Sandwiches have become standard fare for anytime entertaining. This sandwich filling keeps well in the refrigerator, and can be prepared well in advance of a planned luncheon, or kept for children who come home from school "starving."

- ### BEEF-AND-CHEESE SANDWICHES
- 3/4 cup sharp American cheese, grated
 - 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
 - 1 4 oz. can of dried beef or corned beef
 - 3/4 cup sweet-sour pickle, chopped fine
 - 1 tablespoon minced onion
 - 2 tablespoons minced celery or parsley

Mix thoroughly. Spread evenly on slices of white or rye bread. For luncheon, use white bread and toast the prepared sandwiches under the broiler, then cut diagonally to divide sandwiches into halves or fourths for attractive arrangement.

Spicy Canapes For Drop-In Callers

For quick canapes for drop-in guests, try this easy recipe:

- 1/2 cup minced corned beef
 - 1 1/2 tablespoons sherry
 - 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- Mix thoroughly. Spread on crackers and broil under high heat for about a minute.

When you give a party, be sure to provide refreshment for non-drinkers among your guests.

The cherry-pancake rolls can be prepared with your favorite pancake mix or recipe. The pancakes should be thin to make rolling easier. After each pancake is done, spoon 1 to 2 tablespoons of sauce on the pancake and roll it. Keep the pancake rolls warm in a chafing dish or in the oven until all the pancakes are ready for the table. If you wish, sprinkle confectioner's sugar on the top for a finishing touch.

By making the sauce in advance you can just reheat it at the last minute. This will give you plenty of time to prepare the pancakes.

- ### Cherry Sauce
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1 can (16 ounces) red sour pitted cherries

Combine cornstarch and sugar. Drain cherries, reserving liquid. Add enough water to cherry liquid to make 1 cup. Add cherry liquid to cornstarch-sugar mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thick and clear. Add cherries and heat. Yield: 2 1/2 cups sauce.

Let Entire Family Help Make Fruit Cake

Fruit cake making time can be made a really Special Event. If you are wise — and all homemakers are today — you can make it a happy part of family-festivities. Here's how.

First of all, make the baking of the fruit cake a family activity. Have Mary Anne cut up the fruits and nuts, Johnnie beat the spices and flour, and Dad beat the eggs and line the pans with greased paper. With a pot of Honey Cocoa on the stove, the radio playing mood music, and a lenient mother who lets a few fruit cake goodies disappear into the tummies of her helpers, the family spirit will be baked right into the fruit cake!

And second, use a recipe that you know will work. Here's one that is guaranteed to work, and holds the surprise treat of an extra goodie — honey. Honey is an all-season food. Remember that honey has the chemical power unique among sweets of holding moisture right in the cake. This is important in fruit cake because it dries out easily.

Thus by using honey you can make the fruit cake as far ahead of time or as late as is convenient for your hurried times schedule.

This honey fruit cake lends itself beautifully to family making. Here's the recipe.

GOLDEN HONEY FRUIT CAKE

- Moist and delicious
- 3 oz. candied lemon peel
 - 3 oz. candied orange peel
 - 1/4 lb. candied cherries
 - 1/4 lb. walnut meats
 - 1/2 lb. pitted dates
 - 1/2 lb. candied pineapple
 - 1/4 lb. preserved citron
 - 1/2 lb. seeded or seedless raisins
 - 1/2 cup flour
- Preparation of fruit: Cut fruit peels and citron in long thin strips; halve cherries and dates; cut nut meats in quarters; cut pineapple slices in eighths. Dredge combined fruits in 1 cup flour.

BATTER:

- 1 cup butter or margarine
 - 1 cup honey (strained)
 - 5 eggs
 - 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
 - 1/2 or 3/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon allspice
 - 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
 - 1/4 cup orange juice or grape juice
- Sift dry ingredients together. Cream butter. Add honey gradually, blending thoroughly. Add eggs, beating well. Add flour and orange juice alternately, beating after each addition. Fold in fruit mixture. Pour into two 9 x 5 x 3 inch loaf pans which have been lined with brown paper and greased. Bake in a slow oven (250 degrees F.) 3 to 3 1/2 hours. Makes 2 cakes, 2 1/4 pounds each.

Plain Cabbage In Fancy Fare

Plain, old-fashioned cabbage dresses up in glamorous fare with flaky Instant Mashed Potatoes forming the center of interest.

- ### CABBAGE ROLLS
- 12 cabbage leaves
 - 1 can (10 1/2 ounce) cream of mushroom soup
 - 1/2 cup water
 - 1 cup cooled cooked instant mashed potatoes
 - 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 - 1 pound ground beef
 - 1/2 pound ground pork
 - 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 2-3 cup soft bread crumbs
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon paprika
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Steam or blanch cabbage leaves in water until limp, about 5 minutes. Drain and cool. Blend soup and water; beat until smooth. Add remaining ingredients and blend well. Divide meat mixture in 12 portions; place on cabbage leaves and roll up. Place rolls in shallow baking dish (9 x 13 x 2 inches). Add about 1/2 cup water to dish. Cover with aluminum foil crimping foil to edge of dish. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until meat is done, about 1 hour. Yield: 6 servings.

If desired, cover cabbage rolls with cream of tomato, mushroom or cream of vegetable soup diluted with 1/2 cup water.

WATER WORKS FOR YOU

Those really hard-to-clean places around the home — garage floor and patio — can be washed efficiently with a plastic brush attachment which fits any garden hose. Apply soap or detergent to the dirty surface and scrub away, using a handy fingertip control to adjust the flow of water through the spray-scrubber.

Yam Chiffon Cheese Pie Irresistible To Northerner As Well As Southerner

Yam pie was once a regional dish, but when it started traveling, it knew no bounds... for a food that is this delicious soon becomes irresistible to a Northerner as well as a Southerner.

Yam Chiffon Cheese Pie, a variation of yam pie, is sure to go over just as big. It's so creamy and with delicious cottage cheese ended into a custardy-gelatin mixture, the basis of all chiffon pies.

To make the ideal fluffy - high chiffon pie, the custardy yam base should be folded into a stiff meringue. The egg whites should be beaten until stiff peaks form, then the yam mixture should be gently folded into them. Whipped cream, light and airy, also included in the pie, to give additional creaminess and that repeated high look we demand of ne chiffon pie.

Gingery graham cracker crumbs are chosen as the base. The flavors complement the filling that's pungent with cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice and cardamon.

Meaty walnut halves grace the whipped creamy topping, but they're also delicious served yasty-warm along with sweet yams and a cup of tea.

Planning Is Success Of Children's Party

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — The plan is the key to success when putting on a children's party.

Veteran party planners agree on ground rules for staging a successful party. For example:

—Check with Junior or Jane and decide on a theme for the party.

—Send invitations ten days to two weeks in advance of the date. Be very clear about stating how long the party will last. Don't forget to specify RSVP.

—Decide ahead of time on games and entertainment. Have a store of extra ideas in case some activities bore guests.

—Fix things so every guest goes home with a souvenir.

—On the matter of themes and other party ideas including menus and games to play, a new booklet—"Kids Party Ideas"—is a good addition to the family bookshelf.

The 25 cent party guide, published by the Dell Publishing Co., provides all kinds of help.

the following:

—Remember that three-to-five year olds will settle for just favors and games. They like Mother Goose, circus and animal themes.

—The six-to-eight year olds will play the same games but with a new twist under the guise of a new theme. Wild West turns into a space party and the celebrants will play "pin the antenna on the Martian"—the contemporary version of pin the tail on the donkey.

To help spur Mom's imagination the booklet contains some off-beat themes.

For example:

—Space whirl: Ask guests to come as space men or Martians. Play pin the nose cone on the rocket. Play space games such as "satellite around the moon," "pass the rocket," and have a relay race to outer space. Serve Martian salad and use plastic rockets for favors.

Showbiz: If you have a tape recorder, you can hold attention for almost an hour by having each child recite his favorite piece or just talk. Then play back.

'Flying Camel' Is Grounded After 14-year Career Span

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ever ride the "Flying Camel," "Oryx," or "Gazelle"?

Some 78,000 passengers did, over a 7,400 mile route from New York to Saudi Arabia and back, without a mishap in nearly 14 years.

This proud safety and efficiency record was completed by the Arabian American Oil Co. (Aramco) Jan. 1, with termination of its private air service to its huge Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, installation.

Ample commercial schedules, which did not exist when the flights began in the jet age, and the coming of the jet age made continuation of the company planes non-essentials.

The service was an unusual one. In the process of logging 1,091 round trips, 401,500,000 passenger miles, 28,150,000 cargo miles and 69,200 flight hours the planes and their crews provided twice weekly transportation for an amazing variety of company personnel and cargo.

Sometimes the service was known as a "Diaper Lift," teeming as it did with families en route to and from the desert station. Sometimes it was a "Honey-moon Special," filled with newlyweds and brides or brides-to-be. Sometimes the operators had to make quick shifts of hotel accommodations, thanks to the man construction workers who regarded any stop as a challenge to a Texan or Oklahoman with a thirst.

CROWDED SKY — The list of American satellites grows longer with the orbiting of Samos II, designed to take reconnaissance photographs of the earth. America has now entered its third year in the satellite age. Explorer I was the first successful one. The next, Vanguard I, is still transmitting. Three "artificial planets," one of them Russian, are still in their courses around the sun. In addition, numerous other satellites in the Discoverer series have been launched. These are not intended to stay in orbit but are tests of recovery systems. So far, three Discoverer instrument capsules have been returned to earth.

Income Tax Information

Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of the Internal Revenue Service at Dallas, tells about a survey problem they're having over at IRS.

"Many folks are filing separate 1040-A forms for each W-2 they received during 1960. These taxpayers worked for several employers and didn't realize that they should total their income and the tax withheld on a single Form 1040-A."

Mothers Play It Smart Sew For Little Girls

MARY BROOKS PICKEN
 Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There is so much fashion in little girls' dresses today that mothers must be alert if they want daughters to look as smart as playmates. Mothers who sew make really pretty clothes for children.

Girls' clothes can be bought at reasonable prices, considering how difficult they are to make. But little girls' dresses, with frills and bows, can be made at home, usually with a great saving. Realize the only time it pays to make clothes is when you want to please brothers and sisters alike.

Dark fabrics are favored this season. Many are available in patterns of old-fashioned calico. Cottons and man-made fibers in dark colors are also used. All are sturdy fabrics that take modern day washing.

Trimming should also be washed. Be sure to see the new braided rickrack trimmings at most sewing counters. If you trim with rickrack, stitch it twice or use a larger zigzag machine stitch. The rickrack will iron flat.

When you trim with buttons, buy buttons. There are lovely ones in many colors, the standby pearls. Sew buttons on securely, using the same thread as for the dress.

For buttonholes, use your machine, or why not use an expert hand worker. Machine-made buttonholes are beautiful.

Check your local sewing counters for the new snaps. They are simple to use. Use on a scrap of fabric until you get the hang of it. You will want to apply snaps any other way.

Use fast color fabrics and the finest finished embroidery, piping and embroidered ruffling. You can trim a dress quickly—and it that "my mother cares"

Little girls' dresses—pleasure to home-sew, fun to wear.

When you stitch trimming on, stretch the fabric slightly and ease it on so that it will not be tight. Always stitch back on the end of a piece of trimming so it cannot come loose in washing.

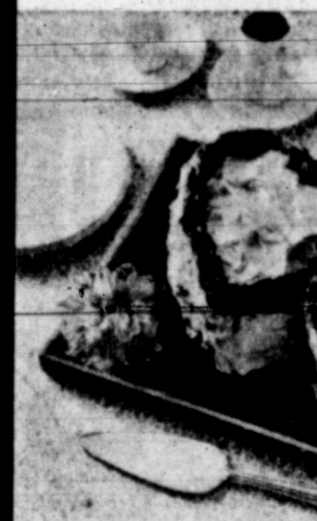

Make large seams in sleeves and bodices so that the garment can be easily let out as the child grows. An inch and a half makes a good seam. Some mothers also put a tuck inside at the top of the hem.

But little girls' dresses must be short to be smart, so this extra length is seldom needed.

Remember, fashion in children's clothes is as important as fashion for adults. Teach your children to know good fashion when they are young so their appreciation of fashion can grow with them.

Sew for economy. Sew for fashion. Sew for the downright pleasure of it—especially for little girls.

Dear Mrs. Picken: I have a good black dress with regular neckline, but it has been cleaned around the neck too often to look new. What can I do?—Mr. R. J. Dear Mrs. R. J.: Make one of the new velvet collars and cover up the old. Or, cut a new neckline, and face it. Wear a three-or-more-strand cord necklace, or a gaily colored scarf.

NOVEL and appropriate for Valentine's Day: two heart-shaped cakes have been joined together in frosted bliss.

Make Two Hearts That Eat As One

GAYNOR MADDOX
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

My cupid in the kitchen. Join heart-shaped cakes together with frosting for Valentine's Day. Heart-shaped cakes simple to bake in special pans. Aluminum foil. Two pans, in tinted red, come packaged together.

Make double cake: mix in layers and cool, one white one chocolate, reusing the foil for the second baking. Join like layers with frosting. To these hearts, cut a curved vent from the roundest part of heart, so that the same part of other heart (but on the opposite side) will slide into it. Frost cakes completely with feathery frosting, then outline each heart with a frill of frosting in a matching color.

Here's another idea for a Valentine's Day luncheon: delicately shrimp Creole on white rice:

SHRIMP CREOLE
 (Makes 4 servings)
 tablespoons sweet (unsalted) margarine
 medium onions, sliced green pepper, sliced tablespoons flour
 teaspoon salt
 teaspoon pepper
 teaspoon oregano
 No. 2 can solid pack tomatoes
 small can tomato sauce cup raw rice
 pound raw shrimp, fresh or frozen or 8-ounce peeled and deveined shrimp, uncooked at margarine in frying pan. onion and pepper rings and until tender. Sprinkle flour in stirring until it is blended in salt, pepper, oregano, tomato and tomato sauce. Cook over low heat while you prepare and shrimp. Cook rice in boiled water until tender. While is cooking, clean and cook

Novel and appropriate for Valentine's Day: two heart-shaped cakes have been joined together in frosted bliss.

Orthodontic Treatment For Correction Important To Youngsters' Appearance

(This is the third in a series of questions and answers on dental health published by The Pampa News, in cooperation with the Panhandle-District Dental Society, in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week, February 5 through 11.)

My 14-year-old son has "crooked" teeth. I think he should have orthodontic treatment, but my husband says that it's not important enough to bother about.

How a person's teeth and mouth look is very important. This is part of the appearance he presents to other people; appearance and smile are important in the business and social world.

Teen-agers are especially conscious of and sensitive about their appearance. Sometimes crowded, irregular, "crooked" or protruding teeth are the cause of a serious emotional problem.

A health problem is also involved. Failure of the teeth to meet properly may interfere with chewing. This may prevent the individual from eating the foods necessary for adequate nutrition. Food particles lodge more readily between teeth that are not in their proper position, and teeth that overlap or are crowded are much more difficult to clean. Food particles retained between the teeth and near the gums lead to tooth decay and diseases of the gums.

At what age should orthodontic treatment be started?

This is something that has to be decided on an individual basis by an orthodontist, a dentist who is a specialist in this field. There is no one right age for everyone; the nature of the difficulty determines when treatment should begin.

Sometimes adults are distressed because they have irregular teeth but think nothing can be done, since they did not receive orthodontic treatment as children. In many such cases, however, some improvement still is possible with the proper treatment.

How long does orthodontic treatment take?

It can take from six months to two years or more, depending upon the severity of the condition.

Do orthodontic appliances cause the teeth to decay?

Actually, a well cemented band protects that portion of the teeth

Dear Abby... Good Things Come In Small Packages!

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Should I marry the man I love or should I try to find a tall, good-looking guy to please my mother?

I fell for this little short fellow named Sammy about two years ago, and I can't forget him. My mother keeps nagging at me to marry a tall man so she can have tall grandchildren. To tell you the truth, this little guy treats me so nice he has spoiled me for everyone else.

I am 24 and have supported myself since I was 15, so I ought to know what's good for me. What do you think?

SAMMY'S GIRL
 DEAR GIRL: Marry Sammy. Good things come in small packages.

DEAR ABBY: When I met Larry (not his real name) it was love at first sight. Then the bottom dropped out of my world when I heard he was married. He admitted it, but said his divorce would be final in three months, which was true.

Then I got a phone call from his mother asking me to give him up because he had a child and a reconciliation with his family would be much easier with me out of the picture. This was the first I heard about his having a child. I called him that night and told him I never wanted to see him again.

It's been four months and I have stuck to my word. But it's killing me, Abby. He is legally free and he calls me every day begging to see me. I think I still love him. Would I be making a mistake to start up with him again?

A FOOL IN LOVE
 DEAR ABBY: If you want a man who "forgot" to tell you he was married, and failed to mention he had a child, go ahead and start up with him again. But you would be a fool to trust him.

DEAR ABBY: Does a wife have the right to open her husband's mail when it is addressed plainly to him and him alone? I have no secrets to keep from her, but I do not like to have my letters opened and read before I get home.

NO PRIVACY
 DEAR ABBY: No one, neither wife, husband, parent nor offspring has the "right" to open and read letters addressed to another.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply from Abby, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Who pays for what? For Abby's pamphlet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Iowa Cage Coach Grim After Four Stars Lost

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—Iowa basketball coach Sharm Scheuerman sighed "What's done is done" today as he set about trying to rebuild a nationally ranked team that was shattered by the loss of four starters.

"We never thought this situation of losing four players would arise," the youthful coach said in a masterful understatement of the announcement that four of his starters had been declared scholastically ineligible.

Scheuerman, only 26 and in his third season as head basketball coach, tried to take a philosophical attitude toward the action. But it was a tough job, with nine Big Ten games still facing the Hawkeyes, who are 12-3 for the season and 4-1 in conference play.

"It might actually be a blessing in disguise as a lesson to future Iowa athletes," Scheuerman said, "but it is hard to think of it that way now."

Uppermost in his mind at the moment was trying to find replacements for four players who had accounted for more than half of Iowa's points this season—sophomore center Frank Allen, the team's leading rebounder and second best scorer; sophomore forward Tom Harris, junior guard Dave Maher and senior guard Ron Zagar.

All were bounced from the team Wednesday for poor grades—Maher and Zagar for the second time since Scheuerman has been at Iowa.

"I know the boys feel very bad about it," the coach said. "But what's done is done."

Providence Wins Again

By DICK JOYCE
 United Press International
 Providence College continues to win basketball games the hard way en route to the National Invitational Tournament while two other tourney-bound teams—Louisville and De Paul—apparently are stumbling over their press clippings.

The Friars from Rhode Island, who have been pulling out "squeakers" all season long, scored their 16th victory in 18 starts Wednesday night by defeating Boston University, 67-59. But NCAA-bound Louisville and NIT-bound De Paul didn't fare so well.

Eastern Kentucky clipped Louisville, 80-74, and Marquette downed De Paul, 87-64. In other top college games, fourth-ranked Bradley trounced Tampa, 111-84, and South Carolina won its first Atlantic Coast Conference game of the season by beating fifth-ranked North Carolina, 89-82.

Once again Providence's "Mutt-and-Jeff" combination of Jim Hadnot and Johnny Egan sparked the Friars to victory. Each scored 25 points while the 6-10 Hadnot collected 13 rebounds.

Harvesters Set Sights On Monterey Flag Hopes

The District 3-4A spotlight—al-most burned out from its extended use this season due to a four-way fight for the title—narrows itself to Lubbock tomorrow where Monterey (8-3), in a second-place tie with Berger one game back of Palo Duro (9-2), takes on the pesky Pampa Harvesters (3-8).

Other conference clashes tomorrow night will find Berger, good luck charms and all, hosting Tascosa; Plainview at Amarillo, in a game that won't affect the race either way; and Palo Duro at always-dangerous Lubbock.

Individually for the Harvesters, Matson moved from second to first with his 152, 18 points better than runnerup Wise. However, Pat Carter still leads the season-long starts with 352 points.

Pampa led by as much as eight points, 20-12, early in the second quarter as Berger turned colder than a wedge, but the Dogs roared back to tie the game at 33-33 early in the third quarter and the fight was on.

The loss was the third in Pampa's last five games by a total of five points, as Plainview had defeated the locals, 58-56, and Palo Duro triumphed, 41-39, before the Harvesters went on a two-game winning streak, their second longest of the season.

Pampa actually has a scant .3 better offensive average than Monterey (50.5 points per game to Monterey's 50.2) but the Plainsmen have shown the better defense, allowing an average of 44.9 tops in league defense—while Pampa foes have averaged 53.7 in district.

Indoor Meet Field Ready For Running

FORT WORTH (UPI)—Track and field campaign away a month early in Texas night with the Will Rogers Invitational Games, the state's first meet ever held indoors.

Sponsors of the event, along with a financial success and boasting a field of some 350 athletes from 15 colleges and universities, 17 high schools, hope to make an annual affair to afford competition for the state's top men.

The entry list is so much larger than originally expected so the events will have to be run in heats with the athletes competing against the stopwatch rather than each other. Preliminary will be run off starting at 6:30 p.m. with finals due at 7:30 p.m. There will be 14 events on the agenda, many of them offering competition in three divisions—university, college, open and high school.

AL Unveils 10-Team Schedule For 1961

Each of the nine other teams in the league will make three trips to Los Angeles where the Angels will play their home games at Wrigley Field. Similarly, the Angels will make three trips east.

Phoenix Open Tourney Primed

Palmer, Venturi Favored

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer and Ken Venturi, the top money-winners of 1960, were rated co-favorites today as firing got underway in the first round of the $30,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament.

Most of the same star-studded and money-rich field that collected more than $275,000 during the first five weeks of the year in California was on hand again to battle for a top prize of $4,200. Included among the crack field is Gary Player, the dark-eyed young South African who is the 1961 leading money-winner with about $13,000 to his credit.

"But you have to pick either Palmer or Venturi in any tournament these days," says Billy Casper. "And you might add Bob Rosburg to that. He's playing very well."

Venturi had a great round in the pro-am event Wednesday and posted a five-under-par 65. Palmer wasn't quite as hot and had a 74. Play is over the Arizona Country Club course—a flat layout toughened so much that the pros already were squawking. Par, regularly listed at 72, has been cut to 70. Among the 10 par-four holes are seven with measurements of 467, 469, 430, 426, 436 and 436 yards.

Peewee Loops Resume Battles

Play resumes in the Kiwanis Optimist Peewee basketball league at 6 p.m. today with six games on tap in the fifth and sixth grade loops.

Today's sixth grade schedule calls for Austin at Baker, Houston at Mann and Lamar at Travis. In the fifth grade, Baker is at Austin, Mann at Houston and Travis at Lamar.

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Jack Johnson, former California heavyweight boxing champion, has signed to meet Billy Besmanoff in a 10-round bout in Salt Lake City Feb. 18.

Duren indicated he'll be there by signing his 1961 contract Wednesday and the news didn't exactly touch off any spontaneous cheering among American League

To The Hills Men!—Duren Signs Contract

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

To the hills, men, and grab your helmets because fireballer Ryne Duren will be aiming at a new target starting Monday.

Duren's new objective is a starker role with the New York Yankees and, chiefly to help him along, manager Ralph Houk has ordered the 31-year-old bespectacled reliever to report to the club's advance camp in St. Petersburg, Fla., on Feb. 13.

The St. Louis Cardinals did something unusual by signing third baseman Ken Boyer to a two-year contract.

Club Slates Eighth Annual Rifle Shoot

Some of the area's top marks-men were expected to arrive in Pampa late tomorrow and early Saturday for the eighth annual invitational junior rifle tournament, sponsored by the Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club.

The one-day tourney will commence firing at 9 a.m. Saturday at the Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club's indoor range at the Recreation Park, 1/2 mile east of Pampa on U.S. 60.

Four-man teams will be shooting for the Addington Trophy, the Sportsman's Store Trophy, the Pampa Hardware Trophy and the Pampa No. 2 trophy, which will go to team and individual winners for one year. Ribbons also will be awarded to team and to the top three individuals.

Eligible to enter the tournament are any four-person teams—composed of either girls or boys under 19-years of age — although the teams must be sponsored by an adult or a recognized organization. Membership in the National Rifle Assn. is not required for the tournament.

Only iron sight rifles will be permitted but any .22 calibre rim-fire rifle than can be fired single shot will be allowed. Ten shots will be fired from each of the positions: prone, kneeling, sitting and standing.

Last years winners were Childress VFW Team No. 1 in the team division and Gary Balzer of Perryton in the individual class with 377. High girl last year was Linda Waller of Perryton.

The Conservative

Those of us who lived thru the Roosevelt years came in time and under Truman to recognize that there were certain conservative instincts in F.D.R. Truman succeeded in making him look good. After having lived thru the Truman period, we turned to Eisenhower only to find him making Truman look conservative. And now that Eisenhower has stepped down, we may discover in him certain conservative intentions which will cause him to be remembered as a strong anti-socialist.

Just to keep the record straight so that Kennedy does not receive credit for reversing a trend, which in fact has continued in the same direction year after year since 1933, it might be helpful to review just a few of the totals which were racked up under Ike.

When Eisenhower grasped the scepter of rule in 1952, expenditures for relief at federal level had risen under Truman to $1.3 billion. In the great Eisenhower prosperity which followed relief expenditures rose to $2.2 billion, a gain of $900 million annually. Every year, without a halt, federal grants to states have increased. It is believed that about six million people now get federal relief money. This is a partial overlapping, but there are at least as many again on state or local relief across the land.

The biggest headache Eisenhower inherited from Truman was the farm foolishness. It cost the taxpayers $2.9 billion annually when Ike went in. As Kennedy takes over, the cost has grown to $4.8 billion annually. Farm price supports alone now cost annually what the full cost of the agriculture program was in 1952.

Federal highways were costing us $72 million annually when Eisenhower began. As he finished the cost was up to $2.9 billion annually. But the sensational jump was in federal old age pensions. Truman used to spend $2.7 billion. Kennedy will begin his efforts with an Eisenhower-assumed obligation of $11.4 billion, an increase of $8.7 billion.

Private Property

According to a wire service writer, the Soviet Union is about to unroll a new propaganda attack aimed at convincing everyone that the way to an ideal society of no government is by means of the Communist Party. This particular dodge is, perhaps, in one sense, the most effective weapon the Communists have ever used.

Students of international politics will recall that when Karl Marx was making an effort to draw the Anarchists into his own first Communist Internationale, he introduced the idea that the state, after it had successfully seized all the property in the world, would no longer have any reason for existence and would "with away."

Marx didn't use the phrase "with away." This was a nicey added later by the Marxist parrot, Lenin. But the concept was intended to capture the imagination of those persons who recognized the evil of coercive government, and thus to sanction a necessity for its existence would grow.

It is from this font that the Communists drew the theory that the end justifies the means. If they could convince people that the way to less government, and finally to no government at all, was thru big government, then they would be able to get people to go along with the evils of big government without a qualm. For the gullible would have their eyes on a future Utopia in which coercive and entrenched power would not be necessary. Therefore, "for the time being" they could be lulled into accepting the idea of big government as the necessary means to the attainment of the goal sought.

To carry out this theme, Communists were quick to seize upon the writings of Tom Paine, Tom Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and other Americans who championed the idea of less government. They tried to make it appear that the Unemployment pay in the midst of the great prosperity rose from $1 billion annually to $3.5 billion. Aid to veterans climbed from $4.9 billions to $5.9 billions, a boost of a billion.

Kennedy's proposals are still too amorphous to be reduced to figures. But there isn't a place where he envisages a cut in expenditures. Those having a rudimentary knowledge of the arithmetic tables will see that this means a larger debt annually which will have to be serviced by additional tax money or additional borrowings.

After a few years of the Kennedy operation we should be able to discover just how conservative Dwight Eisenhower was. Essentially, however, our concern is not with Kennedy or Eisenhower. Our concern is what is to happen after Kennedy. And what is to happen after that man, whoever the unfortunate may be, inheriting the global squandering of the Eisenhower era.

For the forces of socialism are now loose in the world and the great nation of freedom and free enterprise has been sapped of its strength, its vigor and its virtue. The one place where a reservoir of freedom remained has been sold to the highest bidder at the polls.

Eight years from now, assuming Kennedy's re-election, and assuming further the same percent of increase in governmental spending, this nation will be spending $150 billion annually on defense to prevent us from being taken over by another country which champions a share in the wealth scheme.

Historians are peering intently at the current decade and its meaning. This, a once great free-enterprise state in the history of the world, and as surely as our dollars are limited, so are our days of sharing the wealth numbered.

That which has not been produced, cannot be distributed. That which has not been earned, cannot be spent with impunity.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK — I recoil from looking like a calendar bum standing on the street corner with one frail, pitiful hand stuck out hoping some kindly citizen will drop a 1961 calendar into it, but the fact is that here we are four days into the new year and not one calendar has come my way. Not even my insurance broker sent one and since I said the car and because a city filler I am not doing business at the gas station which used to give them out.

There was a lush time in this country when a man had to climb his way out of the canyon of calendars which descended and formed around him. Firms, retailers, cleaning and pressing establishments, barbers, gas stations, grocers, bus companies, almost everybody, sent out a calendar. The one I always looked for was the Pennsylvania Railroad job, a colorful item showing the famed Horseshoe Curve or a river scene with gleaming passenger train on trestles, bridges or some rail scene of bridge. Plus item: Big numerals, large pages, easily read from 30 feet.

Even Esquire Magazine used to grab the tab for its expensive calendars showing 12 virtually naked girls in a variety of poses and schtick of clothing. They sold these to the average citizen, but if you had a typewriter at hand and could give Enquire a plug you got a free calendar of the kind Joe Dookes had to pay a dollar for, and like as not you'd get one even if you never mentioned Enquire.

Losing His Buttons

WASHINGTON — Sworn testimony before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee reveals that a group of high State Department and Central Intelligence Agency officials were thwarted in a desperate last minute effort to induce Dictator Batista to resign and take refuge in the U.S. shortly before Castro took over in Cuba.

Aim of this semi-official effort was to clear the way for a pro-U.S. caretaker government to replace the tottering Batista regime and to prevent a Communist type government like Castro's from coming to power.

This sensational maneuver, details of which will be made public soon in the Senate, was reported to the subcommittee by former Ambassador William D. Pawley, one of the participants and long-time friend of Batista.

Testifying in executive session, Pawley told the story of how he, at the request of these officials, undertook a secret mission to Havana in December 1958 to ask Batista to quit in favor of a five-man anti-Castro, anti-Batista ruling group.

However, Batista refused to capitulate, Pawley reported, when he was unable to give the Cuban strong man iron-clad assurances that the U.S. government supported his plan. Within a month of Pawley's visit, Batista was forced to flee Cuba and Castro took over.

In his testimony, Pawley singled out Roy R. Rubottom, Jr., former Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs and now U.S. Ambassador to Argentina, as the official that would not permit him to offer these assurances to Batista.

Pawley did not elaborate on this part of his testimony nor did the Senators question him to obtain additional details. Also, the late Secretary of State Dulles' position was not spelled out in the hearing, although, at one point, Pawley said the ailing Secretary was available for consultations.

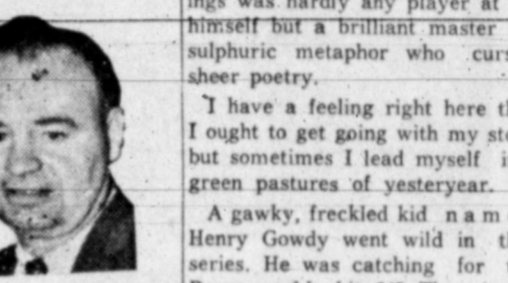

INSIDE STORY — Under questioning by Senator Kenneth Keating (R., N.Y.), and Chief Counsel J. G. Sourwine, Pawley told how his secret Cuban mission was mapped at a series of private meetings in Miami and Washington about six weeks before Castro took over.

"I had a meeting in my house in Miami with the Deputy Assistant Secretary of State (William) Snow who is now Ambassador to Burma; Henry Holland, former Assistant Secretary of State; J. C. King, of Central Intelligence Agency, regarding 'What do you do about this Cuban problem?'" Pawley testified.

WASHINGTON — Sworn testimony before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee reveals that a group of high State Department and Central Intelligence Agency officials were thwarted in a desperate last minute effort to induce Dictator Batista to resign and take refuge in the U.S. shortly before Castro took over in Cuba.

Aim of this semi-official effort was to clear the way for a pro-U.S. caretaker government to replace the tottering Batista regime and to prevent a Communist type government like Castro's from coming to power.

This sensational maneuver, details of which will be made public soon in the Senate, was reported to the subcommittee by former Ambassador William D. Pawley, one of the participants and long-time friend of Batista.

Testifying in executive session, Pawley told the story of how he, at the request of these officials, undertook a secret mission to Havana in December 1958 to ask Batista to quit in favor of a five-man anti-Castro, anti-Batista ruling group.

However, Batista refused to capitulate, Pawley reported, when he was unable to give the Cuban strong man iron-clad assurances that the U.S. government supported his plan. Within a month of Pawley's visit, Batista was forced to flee Cuba and Castro took over.

In his testimony, Pawley singled out Roy R. Rubottom, Jr., former Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs and now U.S. Ambassador to Argentina, as the official that would not permit him to offer these assurances to Batista.

But he was still available by telephone. I was selected to go to Cuba to talk to Batista to see if I could convince him to capitulate, which I did. I spent 3 hours with him on the night of December 9.

"I was unsuccessful in my effort, but had Rubottom permitted me to say that 'What I am offering you has tacit approval, sufficient government backing,' I think Batista may have accepted it."

"I offered him an opportunity to live at Daytona Beach (Fla.) with his family... that we would make an effort to stop Fidel Castro from coming into power as a Communist, but that the caretaker government would be men who were enemies of his, otherwise it would not work... and Fidel Castro would have to lay down his arms... admit he was a revolutionary... fighting against anybody only because he wanted power, not because he was against Batista."

THE FIVE MEN — Pawley was then questioned by Sourwine about "Who would the new government have been?"

"The men we had selected and that had been approved and that I could tell Batista were Colonel Barquin, Colonel Bonbonnet, General Diaz Tamayo, Boach of the Barcardi family, and one other...," replied Pawley. "All five men were enemies of Batista."

Pawley then gave his opinion as to why he believed his mission failed, saying: "The only thing in my judgment that made it fail to work was that I wasn't able to say — after all, I had known this man 30 years and I could talk to him frankly — 'If you will do this it will have the approval of the American Government.'"

Pegler Says: It's Going To Be Difficult To Abandon Nicknames

Just after our solemn referendum, there was a little editorial discussion of nicknames for candidates and presidents and their wives. This talk was a sort of nothing-hall to see us through a couple of days of shock and reaction. Actually, we are a first-name country and Kennedy's grandfather was a Boston Irishman called Honey Fitz, who first came to fame during the World Series of 1914. That year, George Stallings of Haddock, Georgia, hoisted a mediocre club from last to first place, starting after the Fourth of July, and macerated Connie Mack's Athletics in four straight in the World Series. Stallings was hardly any player at all himself but a brilliant master of sulphuric metaphor who cursed sweet poetry.

I have a feeling right here that I ought to get going with my story but sometimes I lead myself into green pastures of yesteryear.

A gawky, freckled kid named Henry Gowdy went wild in that series. He was catching for the Braves and he hit .345. Three years later, in the summer of '17 I recognized those freckles, the size of cornflakes, on an American soldier in a company street of the Rainbow in France. Hank was color sergeant of the Ohio regiment and he soon outscored all but Pershing in personal publicity. Pershing's name was the only one we could mention at will until Gowdy came along. The censors just had to make an exception of Hank and we made him famous all over again.

Honey Fitz Fitzgerald, the father of our new President's mother, was mayor of Boston in 1914 and he clowned it up leading the band at the ball yard in a song called "Betty." We had no radio then but Honey Fitz identified himself with this number and ran a high score in the clipping bureaus.

In the full after last election, reporters asked Jack Kennedy his druthers about a first name in print and he seemed to prefer "J.F.K." or Mr. President, which is incongruous to me, knowing him as I do. And the girl who was inquiring photographer for the Washington Times-Herald, stopping strangers with silly questions only a few years back, is bound to be Jackie. I think she likes it. Any pair who can throw in with Sinatra, Sammy Davis and the rest of that pack will have to put up with some liberties. We will suffer more than the Kennedys, who probably are loving it.

Anyway, "Jackie" isn't as bad as "Lady Bird." I have seen Texas ladies get green around the gills and dash for the little girls' at Ambassador Lester Mallory, then deputy to Rubottom. In the end, Mallory refused to do anything about his complaint.

Note: Pawley, who served as Ambassador to Peru and Brazil under former President Truman, undertook a secret mission to Guatemala for President Eisenhower in 1954. In 1948, he organized the ill-fated Bogota Conference of Latin American states. He served as a special assistant to former Defense Secretary Lovett in 1951 laying the ground work for the U.S.-Spanish base negotiations.

Very mention of that one. This experience seems new but my shelves have accumulated books that reach way back along the same theme. The French are masters of indelicacy when they want to put a point on something. So to characterize their Queen Isabella, the wife of Charles VI, a Bavarian babe of loose repute, they called her "The Great Sow."

The Nation's Progress

INDIA'S FOREIGN EXCHANGE RESOURCES AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT (The Indian Liberator, Bombay, Ind.)

"It is important to utilize fullest the existing industrial capacity, rather than to create capacity at a time when foreign exchange crisis has curtailed import of essential raw materials and parts," observed Mr. A. D. president of the Forum of Enterprise, in Bombay on Oct. 7, 1960.

Addressing the Lion's Club of Bombay on "India's Foreign Exchange Resources," Mr. S. S. said that for a country which barks on large-scale economic development, foreign exchange resources were very important. He said that contrary to expectations of Planners that only reserves of foreign exchange would be depleted, the Second Plan period, about 480 crores had depleted in the first two years. The average annual exports in the Second period had not shown any appreciable increase from the figure of Rs. 622 crores where average annual imports had increased from Rs. 727 crores in the first four years of the Second Plan.

Mr. Shroff pointed out that it was not enough to get foreign aid to utilize the authorities. He said that up to March only 47 per cent of the aid had been utilized. Since the First Plan, the aid authorized was Rs. 2,737 and the U.S.A. alone had granted Rs. 1,801 crores. Imports had constituted a heavy and "reckless imports" in which were also responsible for foreign exchange crisis.

He said that at present it needed more of united loans, which are available on any purchase we want to instead of tied loans which are devoted to specific projects. Referring to the limitation of the foreign aid, Mr. Shroff said that we had to purchase from the lending countries, might cost us more and we also not get the machinery we need.

Lincoln was called the Prince of Raits. The Duke of Marlborough was Corporal John and the Silly Duke, which may have been the true measure of Churchill's greatest foe, Henry Wallace earned the name of Bubblehead by his silly letters to his Russian guru with the two-legged beard. Long ago, the Frenchmen called the English "Les Goddams," and I venture to state that nobody ever called Pershing "Black Jack" or Patton "Old Blood and Guts" to his face and lived to tell about it.

In 1825, the House of Representatives elected John Quincy Adams President of the United States. In 1900, 7,000 construction workers in Chicago voted to strike for an eight-hour day. In 1933, the League of Nations directed Japan to surrender her Chinese conquests. In 1943, Japan evacuated Guadalcanal in the face of overwhelming American military superiority.

Walter Rogers Reports On:

State Of Union Message

The new President of the United States of America, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, made his appearance before a Joint Session of the Congress on January 30, 1961 at 12:30 p.m. to deliver to the Congress his first State of the Union message.

The audience in the chamber included members of the President's Cabinet, members of the Supreme Court, present and former members of the Supreme Court, present and former members of the Senate of the United States, and present and former members of the House of Representatives of the United States, together with the representatives of foreign governments authorized to be seated in the House chamber during such a session.

The State of the Union message was a hard hitting, realistic presentation of the condition of this country on both domestic and international issues, as viewed by Mr. Kennedy as the new head of state. He did not beg the question but spoke straight from the shoulder. His observations were hard, cold approaches to tough problems. Whether one liked or disliked his observations or his conclusions, no one could doubt that he pursued the accepted practice of the umpire at the baseball game; he called them as he saw them.

His message was sprinkled throughout with clear and concise statements of basic generalities to which most everyone could subscribe. For example, in the very beginning of the speech he said, and I quote:

"To state the facts frankly is not to despair the future nor indict the past. The prudent heir takes careful inventory of his legacies, and gives a faithful accounting to those whom he owes an obligation of trust. And, while the occasion does not call for another recital of our blessings and assets, we have no greater asset than the willingness of a free and determined people, through its elected officials, to face all dangers frankly and meet all dangers free from panic or fear."

And another example of a profound statement which could not be misunderstood regardless of the language in which it might be spoken, and I again quote:

"On the Presidential Coat of Arms, the American eagle holds in his right talon the olive branch while in his left is held a bundle of arrows. We intend to give equal attention to both."

To these and other such quotations the entire populace of America and free men everywhere can subscribe. It is to the specifications as to the means and manners of fulfilling these policies where we find the sources of differences and arguments. I am sure that there will be great controversy during the year 1961 concerning the avenues to be travelled by our government and our people in meeting and resolving our many problems, both domestic and international. We in the Congress look forward to many heated debates, with the votes as close, if not closer, than was the 217 to 212 vote on the proposal to enlarge

Lefors Student On Honor Roll

PLAINVIEW (Sp) — Christa Smith, Wayland Baptist College student from Lefors, is among 119 honor students at Wayland Baptist College named to the dean's honor roll for the fall semester. This honor is awarded to all those students compiling a grade average of 2.0 or higher from a possible 3.0 score.

Mrs. Smith, a freshman, is majoring in education and minoring in religious education. She plans to teach following her graduation.

the Committee on Rules. Some of the Members thought perhaps the President had reference to these potential battles when he said: "Life in 1961 will not be easy."

There were few, if any, subjects of primary concern to the nation which were not treated at length or, at least, by reference in the State of the Union message. The President ran the gauntlet from the economic problems of the farmer the laborer, small business, large business; thence to unemployment, the dollar gap, the outflow of gold, foreign investments, and inflation. He then moved to the current Federal budget for 1961 and that submitted for Fiscal 1962. He discussed the housing problem and referred to a new "Housing and Urban Affairs Department." This will no doubt be highly controversial, but will probably be adopted because of the overwhelming concentration of population in the metropolitan areas, which will be the main recipients of the benefits flowing from such a department. He moved into the problems of the schools and the shortage of classrooms and teachers and a number of studies which he feels have been neglected. He touched on medical care, which is assured of a controversial trip either in or out of Congress; thence to our polluted streams, juvenile delinquency, our military status, our diplomatic problems, and the measures which he feels will be most effective in fighting the cold war against Communism.

It was different from the proverbial Mother Hubbard, which was said to have covered everything and touched nothing. It not only covered everything, but touched it with austerity.

Financial Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The independent retailer is being heard from again.

It was in the 1930s and 1940s, when the big national chains were feared as a threat to the independent store. But these small merchants managed to hang on, particularly in the variety store field.

One good reason modern variety stores owned and operated by independent retailers are achieving some of the more successful records in American business today is an unusual franchise program developed by a nationwide merchandising firm.

More than 2,400 independent Ben Franklin stores had record retail sales of $230 million in 1960, a 10 per cent increase from 1959. Butler Brothers, originator of the Ben Franklin franchise, provides centralized purchasing, complete merchandising and sales promotion planning, and active personal assistance with operating details for men with the urge to own their own businesses.

J. E. Briggs, vice president of Butler, a division of City Products Corp., noted that the Ben Franklin group in the last 10 years has grown faster, both in total number of stores and in average sales per store, than any major variety store chain in the country.

Amazingly, many of the most successful Ben Franklin merchants had no previous retailing experience, while others formerly operated groceries stores, filling stations, or other businesses outside the variety field.

Experience is not nearly as important as willingness to follow the Butler program, Briggs stated.

Yearly incomes of Ben Franklin stores last year average more than $10,000 and ranged up to $40,000, according to Briggs.

He noted that Ben Franklin stores are designed as family shopping centers, catering to a wide range of interests and to all income groups.

Selecting merchandise for this group is the heart of Butler Bros.

program. The company's buyers interview more than 10,000 salesmen a year and visit some 2,500 sales offices and manufacturing plants.

In a vigorous expansion program last year, 113 new Ben Franklin stores were franchised, and Butler Bros. sees continued growth in the future.

Inexpensive Idea

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — An Idaho legislator thinks he has the next candidate for the name-changing trend which makes state colleges into state universities.

State Rep. Carl Burt of Ada County says there is wide support for making Idaho State College into Idaho State University. The University of Idaho is the other major state-supported school in the Gem State.
