He is not in Space, but I've got him confused. I get off in Big D. and buys a $20,000. shirt unit. I already had two too many, must have got in touch with a fast talking salesman. Well I won't beat around the bush about it, I'm trying to borrow $15,000 on it and if I can't pick up a few extra shirts here in Pampa this week I don't know just what may happen. This week special only! All Dress Shirts 10c each, one or the moon is the limit. We'll even do one of those Fancy Dan for only a Dime. When you get them back, if they are not up to your standards for quality we'll refund you 10c and give you 30c extra to take them where ever you want to. So please good people dig out every old dress shirt you can find because I've got myself between a hard place and the moon, and old John is looking for the moon and I'm just wanting to do a few more old dirty shirts. No kidding, John Glenn and I are in cahoots. There is not going to be any delays or confusion on this shot, this next week is it, and I'll give you a Oklahoma guarantee that you won't ever get a better bargain than I'm giving this week any more from this joint as long as I have any thing to do with it. This applies only in the city limits of Pampa pick up and delivery service as well as the office call. So dig down in your closet deep, because I'm afraid old Glenn is going to be here any time this week checking up and if I don't come up with a few extra shirts I'm afraid he is liable to tell me to take this shirt unit and go some where else other than the moon and by the way it has been misplaced so long I had begun to think maybe he had it up there with him.
