"If you desire to do so you may express any idea you may have on zoning in the space below." Most of the objections raised were over the word "reasonable" in the statement of the propostion on the ballot.

Several visitors present at the meeting expressed the opinion the ballot should just read: "For or Against Zoning.'

City Attorney Bob Lemon said a suggestion of Councilman Walter Lemaster to have the people vote on a zoning ordinance drawn by the zoning commission would not be legal.

When a vote was called for on the "For and Against Reasonable Zoning" wording on the ballot, Councilmen Travis Baker and Charlie Taylor voted "yes" and Councilmen Lemaster and George Clennan voted "no." Councilman Homer Gruley, in the absence of Mayor Drew Ellis, broke the tie with a "yes!" vote.

Sidney Jines, a citizen, arose after the vote and stated he had asked to be recognized before the vote was taken but his request apparently had not been heard by the chairman.

"I only wanted to say," Jines added, "that in my opinion the word 'reasonable' qualifies and confuses the ballot and I don't think it is right,"

The council then voted to hold matter in conjunction with the regular city election April 3 as a means of obtaining vitws of
