Solons Plan Change In School Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate backers of President Kennedy's $2.5 billion aid-to-education bill have beaten back six attempts to change the measure, but today were ready to accept an alteration.

The newest amendment proposal would authorize a variety of spending for ranging from operating and maintenance, textbooks and library books to salaries for non-teaching school employes.

Kennedy's program, as it stands — undented by attacks from liberals and conservatives wishing to broaden it on one hand and limit it on the other — would go for classroom construction in public elementary and high schools and help pay teachers' salaries.

Monday night, the Senate rejected an attempt to bar any aid to segregated schools. The amendment, authored by Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., was viewed by supporters of the bill as a move to kill the education bill by alienating Southern Democrats.

Other congressional news: Electoral: The Senate Constitutional Amendments subcommittee opened hearings on a dozen proposals to change the Electoral college system of selecting presidents. Several variations of proposals have been submitted to allocate the electoral count of each state in proportion to the popular vote — rather than on a winner-take-all basis, as under present law.

Delinquency: Chairman Thomas J. Dodd of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee introduced a bill designed to curb sale of pep pills to teenagers. The Connecticut Democrat said "existing federal laws are wholly inadequate to combat the steady increase in the misuse" of such drugs. He proposed doubling criminal penalties.

Work Continues On Tax Measure

AUSTIN (UPI) — A joint House-Senate conference committee, with an eye on the calendar and a threatened governor's veto, worked today on a compromise tax program it hopes to present to the Legislature on Wednesday.

Capitol observers believed House conferees were seeking to modify the 2 per cent sales tax package by making it exempt all items costing less than $10. Reports also indicated if the big tax bill of this session turns out to be a general sales tax, it will exempt sales of clothing.

The House killed a measure Monday that was intended to be a guideline for House conferees.

The bill, a $30 million tax-on-gas pipelines by Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston, was postponed by a 54-41 vote until next Monday at 10 a.m., the last day of the regular session.

Even if the House had approved it, there was little chance of it clearing the Senate before the session ends May 29.

Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey completed the conference committee Monday when he named Sen. Wardlow Lane of Center as chairman and Sens. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, Jep Fuller of Port Arthur, Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells and Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi as members.

Unusual Firebug Sought By Police

Police were on the hunt today for a new kind of firebug.

Mrs. James Locke, 413 Rose St., reported that sometime during last night a clothes line full of clothes was set on fire and destroyed.

Night before last, she reported, someone poured paint thinner on an old divan in the yard and set it on fire. It also was destroyed.

President Plans Bid For Larger Military Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic congressional leaders said today President Kennedy will send to Congress Thursday recommendations for increasing the strength of certain Army and Marine divisions and expanding the space program.

The proposals will involve a "rather substantial" boost in federal spending.

The leaders said after a conference with Kennedy that he was considering delivering a space message in person Thursday and lumping his other recommendations in a separate supplemental appropriation request.

No decision on the method of delivery has been made, however, and the leaders said it still was possible that the President would make the recommendation in one omnibus message.

Speaker Sam Rayburn said Kennedy's request for "rather substantial" appropriation increases will cover space, the armed forces, civil defense, foreign aid and job retraining.

"This is going to involve a lot of money," Rayburn said.

Sen. George Smathers of Florida said the President planned to ask a supplemental appropriation of $285 million for the fiscal year which ends June 30 to be used in "strengthening certain Marine and Army divisions."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota said there would be specific recommendations for increasing aid to certain areas of Southeast Asia.

None of the leaders was able to give an overall money figure. They said that some details remain to be worked out.

Mayor Soothes Traffic Group

The City Commission and the City Traffic Commission kissed and made up at the City Commission's regular meeting in City Hall this forenoon.

It all came after Chairman Bob Hudson and Member Jack Miller of the Traffic Commission appeared to ask for a better understanding of what their duties were and just where they stood on their recommendations.

The City Commission last week overruled a recommendation of the Traffic Commission on parallel parking in the 400-block of S. Cuyler. The Traffic Commission was of the opinion the action should not have been taken without further discussion of the matter between the two groups.

"We are not contesting the commission's action," Hudson said. "We are just asking where we stand. If our recommendations are not to be recognized, we feel the members of our board could use their time to better advantage. If we are not serving the purpose for which we were intended, the Traffic Commission is ready to disband."

Miller said he felt that the recommendations made by the Traffic Commission voiced the opinion and interests of all the people of Pampa and not "just a few who have an axe to grind."

"We feel that as an answer to the work we do," Miller said, "that we deserve consideration on our recommendations and that we are entitled to know why our recommendations are turned down."

City Commissioner L. P. Fort said: "We did not take our action wholly unprepared and we thought after investigation that our decision to change the parking plan was right. Traffic should be a servant of the people and not its master."

Traffic Commissioner Miller said that head-in parking is one of the biggest problems the traffic commission has.

Commissioner Leon Holmes told Hudson and Miller this was the first time they had any complaints from the Traffic Commission although the city had turned down other recommendations it had made.

Mayor E. C. Sidwell tossed in the olive branch that cemented the situation and brought understanding to the meeting.

"I think it is a healthy situation when members of a city board are

Youth Center's Aims Presented To C-C

Pampa's new Youth and Community Center can be the foundation for solving the city's juvenile delinquency problem, but it is not the complete solution, Doug Halley, director of the center, told a Chamber of Commerce Membership luncheon audience yesterday afternoon in Coronado Inn.

"The youth center is not the complete answer to that problem," Halley said. "The home is the most important place to halt juvenile delinquency. The churches and the schools can help, just as the youth center can provide the right atmosphere for leisure time."

"No one thing will solve it," Halley added, "but the home is the most important of all the component parts."

Halley outlined what the youth and community center is attempting to do with its various programs for youth.

"Our programs at the center are being set up," he said, "to meet what we believe to be the three primary needs — social, emotional and educational."

Halley pointed out that a great deal of effort and money went into the preliminary planning to provide the youth center in Pampa.

The center is not operated with tax money, he stated, but with the financial support of Pampans.

"You have the youth center," he said. "Now what is needed is for the citizens to support it and to help us get the kind of programs the parents of Pampa want for their children."

Halley also told his luncheon audience that he thought present day parents do not place enough emphasis with their children on individual responsibility.

Likewise, he stated, there is not enough discipline and not enough emphasis placed on the importance of hard work if worthwhile accomplishment is to be achieved.

Halley was introduced by Dr. Joe Donaldson, president of the Youth Center board of directors.

Yesterday's membership luncheon was presided over by E. Roy Smith, chamber president, who presented "Crazy Day" awards to Woolworth's as the craziest store

U.S. Fears Cuban Fund Party Ban In Korea

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — The U. S. Embassy today expressed "deep concern" over the dissolution of political parties by the military junta that seized power over the republic of Korea a week ago.

A decree ordering the parties disbanded was issued Monday and became effective today. It came as a shock to most Americans and Koreans in Seoul.

United Press International asked a U.S. Embassy spokesman for comment.

"Any step suppressing free government processes and which make more difficult the restoration of civilian government is a matter of deep concern," the spokesman said.

Some American officials feared the new military rulers might provoke violent reaction with their harsh crackdown on political freedom and individual liberties.

They expressed hope that these were only temporary measures and that the junta would follow through with its original promise to restore democratic processes as soon as possible.

The chiefs of the ROK armed forces all swore allegiance to the junta today and continued defiance of the authority of the United Nations commander, U.S. Gen. Carter B. Magruder.

Police announced that a total of 22,007 persons had been arrested in the seven days since the junta proclaimed martial law. These included 4,241 hoodlums, 2,014 suspected Communists and 10,512 curfew violators, police said.

Cuban Fund Campaign Denounced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., has denounced a move to send 500 tractors to Cuba in exchange for 1,200 captured rebels as a bribe to a "comic strip Communist," Premier Fidel Castro.

Bridges reminded the Senate Monday that in 1797 the United States told the Barbary pirates, "millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute."

And he recalled that "not since the days of Hitler when the infamous Eichmann offered to trade on an even basis, one Jew for one truck, has the civilized world been confronted with such a heinous barter."

Other Senate Republicans joined Bridges in criticizing the pledge of a committee of prominent Americans to raise about $15 million to buy the tractors demanded by Castro as the price for release of rebels captured in the abortive invasion last month.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther and Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University, head the group seeking to solicit the funds.

They conferred here Monday with 10 Cubans captured in the invasion who were paroled to come to this country to negotiate on the Cuban premier's proposal for the exchange.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., declared the deal "is an almost unparadise sin... a most pathetic situation." Besides that, he said, the committee would be violating the law unless President Kennedy has given them authority to raise the tractor funds.

Capehart cited the Logan Act which forbids private negotiations with a foreign government. He also termed the proposal "blackmail" and said "we will be the laughing stock of the world if we let this happen."

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on Latin America, said he did not feel the group was violating the Logan Act.

But Morse said "we don't know what chain reaction they may be starting with this proposal." He urged the State Department to make clear immediately its position toward the fund drive. The department has said it would look with sympathy on any request by the committee to obtain an export license for the tractors.

Requests were being made by the fund's backers to the Internal Revenue Service for a ruling on whether donations would be tax exempt.

Three Republican senators, Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, Francis Case and Karl E. Mundt, both of South Dakota, joined in attacking the suggestion that the donations should be tax free.

Mundt said that providing the tractors would only lead to appeasing "every little dictator in the world."

Arrests Start; More Marshals Sent Into State

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department pressed its investigation today into the Alabama violence with the likelihood that more arrests would be announced.

The arrest of four white men Monday in Anniston, Ala., was considered just the start of the federal government's drive to prosecute those believed responsible for the racial outbreaks.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who ordered an additional 200 U.S. marshals into tense Montgomery, said the FBI investigation of violence in the state was continuing. He promised that the cases would be "pursued with utmost vigor."

Washington officials were maintaining an attitude of alert watchfulness over the explosive situation. The attorney general was in constant touch with President Kennedy.

Officials here said the National Guard units called out by Gov. John Patterson Sunday night appeared to have the situation under control. But these officials said they did not feel assured that Patterson would use all available forces to prevent new violence.

Atty. Gen. Kennedy said a number of persons in Alabama would be charged with violating federal law. He subsequently announced the four arrests in Anniston in connection with the May 14 burning of a bus carrying integrated "Freedom Riders."

The men, who were jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond, were charged with damaging and destroying a bus operated in interstate commerce "with intent to endanger the safety of persons on board." If convicted, each would face a maximum penalty of $10,000 fine and 20 years imprisonment.

The attorney general said additional marshals were being sent to Alabama because the situation still was "obviously not satisfactory." He said Deputy Atty. Gen. Byron (Whizzer) White, who is in Montgomery, agreed the reinforcement of persons in Alabama would be needed.

Tomato Mart Report Going To Legal Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chief investigator for the House Small Business Committee said Monday he will recommend that the Justice Department look into the workings of the tomato market in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Brooks Robertson returned to Washington following a week of an on-the-spot investigation of the tomato industry in South Texas.

Robertson was sent to the Lower Rio Grande Valley by Rep. Wright Patman, chairman of the committee, after wide-spread complaints were received from growers. Rep. Joe Kilgore and Sen. William Blakley, Texas Democrats, asked Patman to order the investigation.

Robertson said he will also recommend that the Federal Trade Commission and the Department of Agriculture investigate conditions in the Valley in regard to other perishable crops as well as tomatoes. He said that, with small variations, the system also applied to the citrus market and other perishables.

"It is very noticeably true," Robertson said, "that farmers in the Rio Grande Valley are at the mercy of the various levels above them. They have no appeal and they have no effective bargaining system such as associations or cooperatives."

Robertson said the current quoted market price for tomatoes — the price the farmer should receive — was two cents a pound. Actually, he said, the farmer receives only 1.75 cents a pound, after discounts.

"His bracer cost alone is 1.25 cents a pound," Robertson said. "This leaves him with a half a cent to pay for fertilizer, water charges, taxes, seeds, his own living and everything else," the investigator added.

Wife Gives Golf Course To Kennedy

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy has given President Kennedy a unique birthday present.

It is a three or four hole golf course on the grounds of Glen Ora, their hunt country estate near Middleburg.

And it is no surprise to the President who will be 44 years old next Monday. Although the abbreviated course still needs some work, the President already has been seen on the Glen Ora fairway driving golf balls.

To make it all authentic, an amusing sign — Glen Ora Country Club — has gone up on the 400-acre estate. The golf course takes up about 20 acres of the rich, green farmland. The longest hole is a 350-yard, par 4.

The President, considered a good golfer, can get away from it all and still relax at what is fast becoming his favorite sport.

Mrs. Kennedy decided on the gift after the President came back to Glen Ora three or four times, not too happy with his attempts to play at the nearby Fauquier Springs Country Club in privacy.

National Guardsmen Bridle Race Rioters

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Hundreds of helmeted National Guardsmen, their fixed bayonets flashing mute discouragement to potential racial troublemakers, adopted a get-tough policy today in this strife-torn community.

A group of tough looking young whites gathered Monday night near the downtown bus terminal, scene of weekend racial violence, apparently as a challenge to the guardsmen commanded by Maj. Gen. Henry V. Graham.

The state adjutant general personally ordered seven of the youths to disperse, then called in 100 more guardsmen for duty at the terminal. City police arrested seven others when they disregarded an officer's command to move on.

The 500 federal marshals sent here by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy were being housed at nearby Maxwell Air Force Base, under orders to rest and await further developments.

Byron (Whizzer) White, former All-America college football player now serving as U.S. chief deputy attorney general, said he and the marshals would remain here a few days... in the event of any disturbances not only here but in other places in Alabama.

The guardsmen, many of them farm boys, seemed to have the situation well in hand. The number of battle-hardened reservists scouting the city on foot and in jeep patrols rose to about 900 with Graham's order bolstering the terminal sentries.

Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones, an outspoken segregationist, Monday night ordered authorities to search for 18 of the "Freedom Riders" on contempt of court charges.

The bi-racial group whose arrival here last Saturday touched off the violence went into hiding when they were escorted from the scene of Sunday night's rioting, a Negro Baptist church, by guardsmen.

The Freedom Riders had agreed earlier to surrender on charges of violating an injunction by re-entering Alabama after they were escorted from the state by police and told not to return.

Jones, postponed until Friday morning a hearing on the contempt charges. State Atty. Gen. MacDonald Gallipoli branded the group "fugitives from justice" and turned over the contempt citations to guardsmen, state an local police.

Four false bomb scares in this city of 154,000 added to the tenseness Monday. Two white city schools, the Methodist Huntingdo College and Alabama State College for Negroes were the hot targets.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., acknowledged leader of Southern Negroes in their fight for desegregation, was expected to announce today whether the freedom riders planned to continue the bus ride through Dixie to to segregation statutes.

King, an Atlanta Baptist minister, met with other Negro leaders at an undisclosed rendezvous point Monday night.

Thunderstorms Hit State Area

Two tornadoes lashed down in North-Central Texas during the night as a surprise wave of vicious thunderstorms raked the area with hail, heavy rains and high winds.

More of the same was predicted across the northern half of the state today.

The swiftly-developing storm system came as a surprise to U. S. Weather Bureau forecasters, who, earlier in the day, said "thunderstorm activity in Texas appears to be at an end. We should have good weather for the next two or three days."

Clouds covered the sky across all portions of the state this morning, and heavy rains pounded central regions.

McGregor, near Waco in McLennan County, had recorded three inches at mid-morning, and it was still raining. Hamilton had more than two inches, while Rosser, in Kaufman County, recorded 1.2 inches during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m.

Brownwood recorded .81 of an inch during that same period, while Burleson had .75, Texasana .19, Waco .14 and Abilene .06.

Electric Rates Hike In Effect For Industries

Pampa's City Commission today received notice from the Southwestern Public Service Co. of an automatic increase in rates to industrial power consumers.

The rate increase amounts to five-tenths of a mill per kilowatt hour. It was placed in effect under the utility's franchise with the city which provides an increase each time the power company's fuel costs go up.

Gordon Lyons, SWPS local manager, told the commission in a letter that the company's rate for gas had again been increased in April.

The rate increase has no effect on the rate charged to domestic users of electricity.

The commission today also approved a bill to pay for the purchase of four new cars for the city police department.

An ordinance requiring an automatic valve and vacuum breakers for yard sprinkler systems was tabled for further study. The backflow preventive measure is being considered as a health measure through prevention of water contamination.

E. J. Griffin, of Highland Homes, notified the commission by letter that his company was paying under protest the increased rate for building permits provided in the city's new building code.

Eastern Kansas Expecting Flood

By United Press International Eastern Kansas today braced for an expected week of flooding and property damage along tributaries of the Kaw River, 1961 scene of the nation's costliest flood.

The threat extended along the Solomon, Saline and Little Blue rivers from a southern Nebraska into Kansas, where the Kaw was expected to overflow upstream from Bonner Springs.

Observers saw no apparent danger along the Kaw from Bonner Springs to Kansas City, Kan. Flood damage along the Kaw 10 years ago totaled $1 billion.

Severe tornadoes and thunderstorms swirled south and east of the swollen rivers Monday night from eastern New Mexico to the coast of Georgia, dumping nearly 150 inches of rain in six hours at Waco, Tex., and 127 inches at Beaufort, S. C.

At Memphis, the Mississippi River began a gradual drop today after more than a week of flooding. Levee workers abandoned their 24-hour alert at Dyersburg, Tenn., although Rescue boats remained available to protect 40 families living near the levee.

Tornadoes late Monday raked Butler County, Kansas, and funnel clouds were reported at Corsicana and Mart, Tex., east of Waco. Hail up to two inches in diameter peppered Leaky, Muleshoe, Dallas and Burleson, Tex.

The Weather Bureau predicted thunderstorms and showers today from the Rio Grande Valley east to the Carolinas and northern Florida, moving north to the Great Plains, Rockies and Northwest Pacific by evening.

Citizens Claimed In Dark About Perils Seen By JFK

By LYLE C. WILSON
 WASHINGTON (UPI)— President Kennedy appears to be both annoyed and perplexed because the citizens are insufficiently aware of the clear and present dangers he sees confronting the United States.
 Some estimates rate the present danger as greater than in time of actual war. Why is it the citizens do not see the clear and present dangers which are so plainly to be seen by the President and officials of his administration? That is a fair question and here is a fair answer:
 The citizens do not see this clear and present danger because this administration and its predecessors have withheld from the citizens the facts of foreign affairs. That is the truth but it does not protect the citizens from criticism from for example chairman William J. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.
 Fulbright spoke some weeks ago in Philadelphia. He deplored public apathy and unconcern at a time when he asserted that the United States clearly is undergoing the gravest test in its history. Gravest test in history? Did Fulbright really mean that? Mean it or not he said it.
 The senator then believes the situation today is graver for the United States than when Washington's ragged army was wintering at Valley Forge, graver than any day during the Civil War, more menacing to the welfare of the United States than any war.

 Fulbright must know something that the citizens do not know. This thought also struck V. M. Newton Jr. managing editor of the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune. Newton wrote to Fulbright that the prime weapon of a free government is an informed public opinion. He suggested — and it is a good suggestion — that the U. S. government should have taken the citizens into its confidence on these subjects:
 —The diplomatic events which led to the isolation of Berlin.
 —The diplomatic events which led to the Korean War.
 —The loss of Poland and China.
 —The mess of Formosa of Laos and southeast Asia.
 —The decline of American popularity throughout the world even though through hard earned tax dollars the American people have given something like $75 billion to their neighbors in foreign aid funds during the past 19 years.
 —The whole mess surrounding Cuba and Latin America.
 There is much talk about rights. What about the people's right to know?

Kennedy Voices Hope Khrushchev Meeting Will Better Relations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy told a group of Soviet journalists today there is a possibility of "better understanding" resulting from his Vienna meeting with Russian Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.
 "I am hopefully looking forward to my meeting with Chairman Khrushchev in Vienna," the President told the Russian group, according to a White House memorandum issued after the conference.
 "From this meeting there is the possibility of attaining a better understanding between the two countries."
 "We have come through difficult times and this in itself stresses the necessity of closer communications between leaders of great powers and between their peoples."
 "In this area there is a lot to be done yet."

Kennedy and Khrushchev will meet June 3-4.
 The 12 Soviet journalists have been touring this country in an exchange visit arrangement with the American Society of Newspaper Editors. They were accompanied into Kennedy's office by two reporters from Tass, the Russian news agency, and Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times who has been traveling in this country with the Russians as the ASNE representative.
 American reporters regularly assigned to the White House attempted to go into Kennedy's office but were kept out by acting press secretary Andrew Hatcher who said "No press."
 Kennedy met with the Russians shortly after he returned to Washington to cope with the latest developments in the racial conflict in Alabama.

Parking Lot Circus Tent Scene Of Party Following Emmy Event

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Where else, but in Hollywood, would more than 1,000 people put on tuxedos and evening gowns to attend a dinner in a parking lot — circus tent.
 Well, that's what they did to celebrate the 13th annual Emmy Award presentations the other night.
 The circus tent site was located in the famed Palladium ballroom parking lot, across Sunset Blvd. From the Moulin Rouge nightclub where winners received Emmys. Those planning the party couldn't get the Palladium because that site was already leased for another affair.

 It was a happy throng, outside of the losers, that walked up a half block long red carpet under a canopy, decorated with balloons, flashing lights and old circus posters, before reaching the tent entrance.
 Passing by an organ grinder, complete with monkey, the TV folk were greeted by a huge mechanical clown and Lawrence Welk's band, plus more balloons. You'd have thought a rubber company hosted the affair.
 Welk wasn't around to lead his band, but ever faithful musical aide de camp, Myron Floren, fronted the musicians.
 And, Myron had lots of help, especially from Jackie Cooper who sat in on the drums for a couple of classic jazz tunes called "Dipper Mouth Blues" and "Woodchopper's Ball." It's probably just as well that Lawrence wasn't there.
 Celebrants dined on seafood salad and prime ribs of beef. The tent lacked heat, so, in between bites, some guests endured chattering teeth.
 The tent was loaded with cerebrities, including Fred Astaire, Dinah Shore, Robert Stack, Dez Arnaz, Raymond Burr, Don Knotts, Sheldon Leonard, John Scott Trotter and many others.
 Miss Shore's car parked outside the door, was surrounded by eager fans, some of whom wrote messages on the fog dampened limousine trunk. Dinah's chauffeur chased them away.
 Astaire's chauffeur was more cautious. He parked Fred's Rolls Royce down the street, away from milling fans.

NATIVE GIRL — An exotic island beauty was being sought as a model for tropical travel ads and posters. Ruby Bellamah, above, was picked. Was she found lolling under a date palm? No. She was discovered in Cincinnati. Her exotic beauty stems from a one-quarter Choctaw Indian ancestry. A Lebanese ex-husband contributed the last name. Her maiden name was the far-from-tropical Dean.

Dear Abby... Abby Swamped With Pet Ideas

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR READERS: When a 10-year-old boy wrote and asked me what kind of pet he should get (his parents vetoed dogs, cats, birds, fish and turtles), I suggested a hamster.

SOME of my readers offered far more imaginative suggestions. And here they are:

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this for "Wan a Pet." He says turtles are no fun. How does he know? Did he ever have a turtle? Well, I have, and I can tell him that turtles are lots of fun.

I am ten years old and have a pet turtle called "Pokey." Little Pokey follows me around and eats out of my hand. Sometimes when I can't find him for days at a time my mother says if we ever find "Pokey" we are going to have turtle soup for supper, but she never goes through with it because she loves "Pokey," too.

TURTLE LOVER

DEAR ABBY: If children want pets they should try ants. I bought an ant farm. The "farm" comes in a large box with glass sides so you can see the ants work. They are the most fascinating things in the world to watch. Children can learn industry, teamwork and loyalty from the lowly ant. Ants are never idle for one moment. They are constantly on the move building—building! The Youth Corps should adopt the ant as its mascot. An ant hill is a monument to cooperation.

FOR ANTS

DEAR ABBY: The best pet we ever had was a chipmunk named "Shirley." We bought her in a pet shop for ten dollars, and kept her in an old parrot cage. She really had a personality. At first she would bite the children when they teased her, but we had all her lower teeth extracted, fed her liquids and vitamins and she was a member of our household for nine years.

MRS. C.W.M.

DEAR ABBY: I suppose you will think I am crazy, but snakes make marvelous pets. Even the most poisonous snakes can be made safe. (I do not include the large, bone-crushing type, of course.) But the cool slithering serpents can be affectionate pets, believe it or not. They are clean, intelligent and devoted. Since Biblical times, the snake has been the most maligned of all the creatures in the animal kingdom.

LIKES SNAKES

DEAR ABBY: You can't be serious recommending hamsters as pets. We had hamsters and they are the filthiest things alive. It's a full-time job keeping their cage clean. And if you start out with a pair, you can end up with a thousand of them in a year.

Goodwill Home Demonstration Club Plans Luncheon Workshop Meeting

Goodwill Home Demonstration Club made plans for a luncheon workshop to be held May 23 in the Courthouse Annex at the home of Mrs. Horace O'Neal, 1045 S. Wells.

The first luncheon held May 9 proved to be so successful that the May 23 luncheon was planned in order that projects of plastic pool, pictures made from seeds and wood fiber flowers can be finished at that time.

Miss Lou Ella Patterson, Gray County Home Demonstration agent presented a program on color and carpets in the home. She told the group that carpet had decorative value as "it is generally the largest single color in a room. It is the basis for harmonizing and increases the size of a room. It also makes a room appear orderly and have a finished appearance."

"The functional value of carpet is for comfort and quiet. It is safer, warmer and easier to care for."

She listed types of fabrics which might go into a carpet as natural, which includes wool and cotton. "Under man-made fibers are carpet rayon, nylon and acrylic fibers. The construction of carpet might include, wilton, velvet axminster, chenille and tufted. She concluded her talk with three reminders: 1) buy from a reputable dealer; 2) buy a dependable brand and 3) buy the best quality carpet you can afford."

Refreshments were served during the social hour to Meses. A. P. Coombes, W. E. Autry, Leland Diamond, C. B. Hicks, Ed Juneger, Donald Nensiel, Marvin Rowan, Lee Jackson, John Osborn and Jack Osborn.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Osborn on June 6 at 9:30 a.m. in her home 1824 N. Wells.

ments for the meeting July 10. Mrs. James Jackson gave a report on the chapter scholarship winner, who is Miss Barbara Ellen Halley of LeFors.

After luncheon, Miss Sybil Turner told some of the highlights of the recent state Delta Kappa Gamma convention held in Houston.

Miss Turner, Mrs. Roy Sullivan and Mrs. J. E. Gunn attended with other members from this area.

Mrs. Aubrey Jones presented tribute to the founders of Delta Kappa Gamma. Each founder was represented by either a white or a red candle; the white candles represented deceased founders.

The candles were arranged in a spiral effect with large green leaves and red ribbons at the base. As Mrs. Jones related facts about the founders, Miss Ila Pool lighted the candles.

Reds Condemned In Church Letter

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—A Roman Catholic pastoral letter condemning communism was read in all Puebla state Catholic churches Sunday, according to dispatches which said the letter was the first open attack by local church leaders on leftists.

Puebla City was the scene of the most drawn-out friction between pro-Castro and anti-Castro groups in repercussions also felt elsewhere in Mexico in the wake of the unsuccessful invasion of Cuba.

Louisiana is the only place in the world which grows perique tobacco.

Buying Old Coins Found Legal Way To Hoard Gold

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you are a frustrated gold bug seeking to speculate against the dollar, there is a legitimate way to do it. Be warned, however, that U.S. Treasury officials and most other responsible financial experts advise against it.

A little known section in the Treasury gold regulations permits Americans to own gold coins made before April 5, 1933, and those made later — all foreign — which are officially deemed to be rare.

Coin dealers have been advertising this to people interested in buying gold coins. The dealers sell them from stock or buy them abroad and charge a fee or commission.

The advertising literature of one such dealer urges people to buy gold coins on the assumption that eventually the United States will have to raise the price it pays for gold, 35 an ounce since 1933.

Such a step is unlikely for far into the future.

This is the opinion of experts both in and out of the government. It is the policy of President Kennedy who pledged himself and the full resources of the United States to maintaining the $35 gold price.

An American citizen who wants to speculate to such a possibility cannot buy bar gold from the U.S. Treasury or any other source. Such purchase or ownership is prohibited under the law. In January, former President Eisenhower extended the ban to include gold outside this country as well as gold within the United States.

However, American speculators can buy and import gold coins minted before April 5, 1933, the day the United States went off the gold standard. The U.S. Mint turned out no gold coins after that date and only a few thousand 1933 $10 gold eagles ever went into circulation.

According to the Treasury regulations, "gold coin made prior to April 5, 1933, is considered to be of recognized special value to collectors of rare and unusual coin" and may be bought and held by Americans. Coin made by other countries after that date is not so presumed, and, consequently, may not be held, according to Treasury regulations.

But the Treasury does grant an occasional exception for foreign coin made after that date.

"It would be only a very small issue, such as a commemorative use, and it would truly have to be a collector's item," explained Leland Howard, assistant director of the Mint.

Final determination of what is a collector's item or a rare coin is left up to the coin curator of the Smithsonian Institution.

Chemical Plant Gains Expected

NEW YORK (UPI) — The chemical industry is on the brink of a substantial improvement in earnings, the Value Line Investment Survey said today.

Over the longer term, plentiful opportunities are opening up in plastics, synthetic fibers, high energy fuels and other areas.

Chemical production and sales can be reasonably expected to outstrip the general economy in the foreseeable future, Value Line said. Product prices are also expected to improve as 1961 progresses.

A report on Lockheed Aircraft Corp. by Reynolds & Co. recommends the stock as an attractively situated company in the expanding aerospace industry. First quarter earnings rose to 25 cents a share against 27 cents last year and further improvement is expected. Lockheed is prime contractor on the Polaris, Midas, Discoverer and other space systems.

B. K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohn & Stetson says the Woolworth, with a book value in excess of $135 and plans to enter the discount field, looks like an attractive buy.

Braceros Treaty Talks Concluded

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Bilateral talks on major revisions of the existing treaty on Braceros have ended.

A foreign ministry spokesman said delegations of the U. S. and Mexico will report to their respective governments. Details of the talks were not revealed.

The current treaty expires next June 30.

Federal Buying 'Horror' Bared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House investigators unveiled last week a "chamber of horrors" where the featur attraction was a meal washer costing half a cent.

That is, it cost a business man half a cent. He sold it to the armed forces for two cents. And since there were 2 million of them involved in the deal, that made a considerable difference.

And why did the government buy, without shopping around or asking for bids? Because it found "impracticable" to seek competition, as the law otherwise would require.

The half-cent washer that cost taxpayers two cents was among scores of aircraft replacement parts — nuts, bolts, bearings, butery cables — adorning walls of a house armed services hearing room. This is where a subcommittee Wednesday will start asking why the military bought these and other thousand of common items from a "sole source" supplier instead of by competitive bids.

In so doing, the subcommittee will charge, Uncle Sam paid an average 50 per cent more than he should have to keep his shopping bag filled.

Apparently only one firm in the land could whip up a canvas bag to hang over the intake of an idle jet engine. The negotiated price for the bag was $16. Same way with a two-inch steel bolt, with hexagonal head. It cost the taxpayers $2.59, and the subcommittee hates to think how many bolts were bought at that price before somebody discovered competitive bidding.

When they did, the price dropped to 12 cents.

Chain Operation Of Beauty Shops Proving Success

NEW YORK (UPI)—The aim of every beauty shop operator is to find the golden secret of eternal youth and then to sell it to millions of American women.

Ironically, it's easier to find the secret of corporate youth—to keep a beauty shop business glowing and growing.

For proof of this, look at Seligman & Latz, the country's oldest and biggest chain of beauty shops—301 shops with 15 more to open this year, all in the country's leading department stores.

At the age of 60, Seligman & Latz still present a chic visage and a svelte figure to the world, an image of healthy growth that delights its 5,000 employees and the 2,500 investors who own about one-third of its stock, listed on the American Exchange.

The stock has gone up from a range of 12 to 14 in 1959 when it was issued to around 31.

It has done this even though earnings have remained around $1.60 a share. But the investors know that the company has spent large sums to open 40 more shops in those two years, that its sale have climbed from $79,000 back in 1911 when Sidney Seligman and Edwin Latz founded it as a partnership to $37.3 million last year and that they could hit $40 million this year.

"We have steadfastly refused to capitalize the heavy expenses of opening new shops," Latz told United Press International, "even though we have been urged to do so; we charge it all off."

Few of the millions of women who patronize Seligman & Latz shops—all wholly owned—ever have heard the company's name. Many know the shops as Antoine de Paris. There are presently 100 of the Antoine salons, all in the drawer department stores—one to a city. The Antoine name and reputation was created originally in Paris by Antek Cielikowsky, a Pole, who is a genius at hair styling.

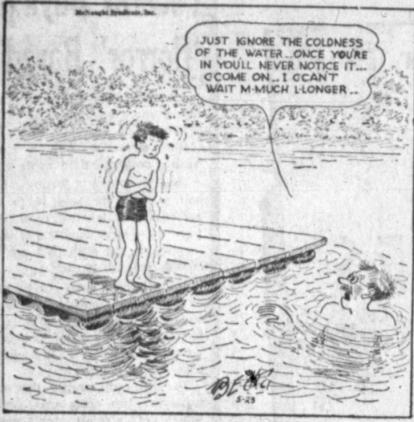

Since the Antoine franchise must be exclusive in a city, other Seligman & Latz salons take the names of the stores they are in.

Sidney Seligman was a salesman of hair piece goods and Latz was in lace back in 1911 when they began to see the future of the infant beauty business and formed a partnership to go in it.

It's still largely a family business—Latz' son-in-law, John Bie, and his son, Donald, and Seligman's two sons, Malcolm Robert, all are vice-presidents.

The first State Forestry Commission was created in California in 1865, followed shortly by Colorado, Ohio and New York.

Many Scientists Wish Less Money Was Spent On Manned Space Plans

EDITOR'S NOTE — In this age of electronic brains and instruments, a machine can sometimes do a better job of looking and thinking than a man. This is especially true in space science. Some experts think that in the race to put a man in space, not enough emphasis is placed today on space exploration by instruments. The following dispatch discusses the need for unmanned probes.

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many scientists wish less money and skill were being lavished on man-in-space and more on instruments-in-space.

Before man can safely go to the moon and planets and carry out useful explorations, the trail must be scouted thoroughly by his instruments, these scientists say.

There is no doubt that the United States is investing more in its $500 million Mercury project and the even costlier big booster programs than it is on strictly scientific space research.

Up to now it has not skimped on space science. All but a few of 41 earth and sun satellites fired by the United States to date have carried sophisticated instruments for performing scientific experiments in near or deep space.

They have put this country far ahead of Russia in space science.

But some scientists feel strongly that not enough launching rockets, satellites and probes will be made available in the next several years for experiments needed to follow up recent discoveries and to maintain the U.S. space research lead.

Be that as it may, a lot of scientific spacecraft are scheduled for launching during the rest of this decade. These include a dozen moon exploration craft and five or more probes to the vicinity of Venus and Mars in the next few years.

Hardy instruments will be crash-landed on the moon to detect and report "moonquakes." Remotely controlled jeeps with television eyes some day will be soft-landed on the moon to study its crust.

Eventually, after the Mars and Venus "fly by" probes, ingenious contraptions will be landed on those planets to sample and analyze their surface material and transmit their findings back to earth by radio.

The earlier planetary probes should provide information about the radiation belts — like those around the earth — which are assumed to ring Venus and Mars. Also to be launched in this decade are:

—Orbiting geophysical observatories, equipped to examine the size and shape and structure of the earth from aloft.

—Orbiting astronomical observatories which will be able to study the sun and stars, in both visible and invisible light, from the vantage point of space outside the earth's obscuring atmosphere.

—Additional weather and communication satellites which are expected to improve worldwide weather forecasting and make possible, for the first time, worldwide television service.

The Space Science Board of the National Academy of Sciences said recently that man in orbit can contribute little to space knowledge or applications. Automatic or ground-controlled instruments are better at this stage, the board said, the scientific payloads cost less than manned spacecraft.

The board added, however, that "man in orbit is worth pursuing" because eventually it will be man himself who must explore the moon and planets. For this work man's brain is better than his instruments, and putting men in orbit is a necessary prelude to launching exploring parties into deep space.

A prominent space scientist, Prof. John A. Simpson of the University of Chicago, paid warm tribute to Alan Shepard's successful leap into space May 5. But he warned:

"The popular demand for a spectacular space first could destroy the present U.S. lead in scientific discoveries in space."

Diane Varsi Wed To New York Man

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Diane Varsi, who walked out on Hollywood after starring in "Peyton Place," was married in San Francisco Sunday to Michael Hausman, son of a New York textile mill owner.

It was the third marriage for the 23-year-old former star, who has a 5-year-old son. It was the first for Hausman, 28, who is presently working as an artist in nearby Sausalito.

Red Newspaper Declares Racial Riots 'Bestial'

Flood Curb Plan For Rio Grande Valley Outlined

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The International Boundary and Water Commission has outlined a $718,000 flood control spending program for the Lower Rio Grande Valley for the next fiscal year.

The plan was presented to a closed session of a House appropriations committee March 16 by Col. Leland Hewitt, chief officer of the U.S. section of the commission.

The work will be done on 180 miles of the river from Penitas, Tex., to the Gulf of Mexico. Principal flood control works are located in Cameron, Hidalgo and Willacy counties. Hewitt said "they serve" to provide flood protection for the highly developed irrigation lands and urban centers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas.

Hewitt said the appropriation requested for the next fiscal year was $44,000 more than for the current year because of $14,000 in increased wages and $30,000 for increased river clearing costs.

Detroit's Regan, 5-0, Convinces K-C, 10-2

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

Phil Regan proud owner of a perfect 5-0 pitching record for the first place Detroit Tigers, must wonder what it takes to convince some people.

Several American League hitters are more impressed by Regan's size — 6-3 and 200 pounds than his fast ball.

One of them even remarked recently, "if that guy is a big league pitcher, then I'm Babe Ruth."

Well, maybe we all had better get ready to hail another Ruth because Regan, with four consecutive complete games to his credit already, begins to look more and more like the pitching find who may help the Tigers to their first World Series in 16 years.

Regan, who was 6-4 with the Tigers last year, enabled them to maintain their 3½ game lead on Monday night by pitching them to a five-hit 10-2 victory over the Kansas City Athletics. One of the hits off him was a homer by pinch-hitter Don Larsen in the eighth.

But by that time the Tigers had pounded loser Norm Bass and two relievers for eight runs and nine of their 12 hits, including Norm Cash's sixth homer in the fourth. Detroit kayoed Bass with a six-run rally in the fifth.

Cleveland beat Minnesota, 7-5, in 15 innings. New York downed Baltimore, 8-2; Boston defeated Chicago, 4-1, and Los Angeles topped Washington, 6-4 in other AL games.

San Francisco beat St. Louis, 3-1, to hold on to the National League lead by mere percentage points over Los Angeles, which nipped Cincinnati, 2-1, in 10 innings. Pittsburgh defeated Milwaukee, 2-1, in the only other game scheduled.

Reliever Frank Funk was the key man in the Indians' victory over the Twins. He yielded only two hits and struck out seven over the last eight innings to post his fifth victory against two losses. The Indians won the mar-thon four-hour and eight-minute contest by stringing together four singles off Ted Sadowski in the 15th. Woodie Held hit two homers and Harmon Killebrew hit one.

Tony Kubek and Cletis Boyer each drove in three runs after loser Jack Fisher (1-3) of the Orioles had held the Yankees hitless through the sixth. Reliever Jim Coates was credited with his fourth victory against two defeats.

The Yanks broke a 1-1 tie with four runs in the seventh. With runners on first and third in that frame, Baltimore second baseman Marv Breeding started what he hoped would be a triple play after Eastern Howard hit a liner at him. Breeding threw to third but Umpire Larry Napp ruled he had tapped the ball. When Breeding missed he had caught the ball without a bounce. Napp then asked him why he hadn't thrown to second.

"Don't tell me how to play second base." Breeding snapped. "Then don't tell me how to umpire," Napp retorted.

Bill Monbouquette hurled his third straight one-run game for the Red Sox and lowered his earned run average to 1.93 with a seven-hit effort against the slumping White Sox. The Red Sox clinched their fourth victory in five starts with a three-run outburst off ex-teammate Frank Baumann in the fourth.

Gene Leek collected two doubles and a singles and Earl Averill contributed a two-run homer to lead the Angels to their victory over the Senators. Earl Grba was the winner and now is 4-4; Pete Burnside (1-3) was the loser. Willie Tasby and Jim King homered for the Senators.

The Giants saddled Ernie Broglio of the Cardinals with his fifth defeat when they scored two runs in the sixth with the help of two errors. Orlando Cepeda's 11th homer in the eighth provided an insurance run. Jack Sanford won his third game with help from rookie Bob Bolin in the eighth.

Tommy Davis' third hit of the game, a single in the 10th inning, scored Willie Davis from second base in the Dodgers' triumph over the Reds. Stan Williams limited the Reds to four hits and struck out eight in winning his third game. Bob Purkey suffered his second defeat against four victories.

Dick Groat's first home run of the year off loser Bob Buhl in the eighth settled matters between the Pirates and Braves. Buhl is now 1-4. Harvey Haddix struck out seven and gave up the same number of hits, including a home run by Frank Bolling, in winning his third straight without a loss.

Gerry vowed he would never shoot another bird.

Tar Heel's Basketball Curb Ends Sports Era

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Athletic officials agreed almost unanimously today that deemphasis of basketball by the University of North Carolina and North Carolina State College means an end to a sports era.

It may be revived someday and the basketball program of the past schools brought gradually back to national stature. But as of today — and almost certainly for years — and to come — the colorful spectacles, wild excitement and national rankings were gone.

Until Monday's deemphasis action, big time basketball was a way of life along North Carolina's "tobacco row." Raleigh was the basketball capital of the South. It had been for more than a decade.

North Carolina's Tar Heels only four years ago accomplished a basketball "miracle" by sweeping unbeaten through a 32-game schedule to win the NCAA championship.

N. C. State Coach Everett Case, regarded as the founder of high caliber college basketball in the South, had produced formidable teams for years. Case also inaugurated the famed Dixie Classic Holiday Tournament 12 years ago — and the Dixie Classic was one of the deemphasis victims. It was abolished.

Troubles have plagued big time basketball for the two schools throughout the era. But it was not until the bribery scandal disclosures of the past several weeks that the roof fell in. University officials promptly dismissed the players involved, or forbade them to return if they had already withdrawn. Criminal warrants have been issued in the cases of the three N.C. State players and they face trial on bribery charges along with a "contact man" and a New York gambler.

Investigators have indicated strongly that there will be more, far-reaching charges.

In imposing the deemphasis, university officials made clear that drastic action was necessary to "protect the good name of the institutions." Deemphasizing, they said, was necessary "to save athletics."

Investigating, scoring nine runs in sixth frame, rapped Crall Products, 15 to 5 in a little league game played last night at Optimist Park.

Lawrence Jones received credit for the win, spacing four hits over the route. Khun was the loser.

Leading C&M hitters were Purley, 3 for 3 (2 doubles, 1 triple) and Watson, 2 for 3.

Pigeon Club Ends '300' Mile Racing

The Top O' Texas Racing Pigeon Club completed their last 300 mile race of the season with a flight from Dallas, Saturday May 20, it was reported Monday.

A black cock, named "Crow," owned and flown by Bill Dycus, took first place in the race with Buddy Epperson's "497" finishing a close second. In third place was a blue check splash belonging to Jim Cantrell. These three birds outflown the rest of their feathered companions, arriving home some 2 hours ahead of the fourth place bird. "Crow" covered the better than 300 mile course in 3 hours, 03 minutes, 33 seconds to gain the top honors.

The club has two races remaining to be flown this season, the next being 200 miles from Waurika, Okla., and their final race to be flown June 3 from Houston, Tex., a distance of 500 miles.

Buddy Epperson, club secretary, said after completion of the current race season the club is anticipating a concentrated effort to increase its membership. "Any interested persons are encouraged to call or see me for more information," Epperson added.

The complete results of the race just flown from Dallas, according to Walter Thoms, race secretary, are: Bill Dycus, 1252.50; Buddy Epperson, 1238.93; Jim Cantrell, 1228.13; Walter Thoms, 979.52; Hazel Pettit, 892.11; and Jerry Bonasal, 810.25.

Richards Will Lead All-Stars

BOSTON (UPI) — Baltimore Orioles Manager Paul Richards, who has been in baseball 25 years but has never taken part in an All-Star game, will manage this year's American League All-Stars.

League President Joe Cronin announced Monday that Richards would fill in for Casey Stengel, the New York Yankees pilot who retired after the 1960 season. The Yanks' pennant victory automatically qualified Casey for the job.

It was only the fourth time since the All-Star contests began in 1933 that the manager of the previous year's pennant winner has not managed the All-Stars. Cronin, former Boston Red Sox pilot, was one of the substitute managers, taking over for Joe McCarthy of the Yankees in 1940.

Richards guided the Orioles to a second place finish in 1960 and was named Manager of the Year in a United Press International poll.

"I would be proud and pleased to have any of our present ten managers fill in for Casey, but I feel Richards earned that honor through his fine job last season," Cronin said.

Ohio Lad Pulls Golf Test Jolt

NEW YORK (UPI) — The last 52 berths in the final round of qualifying tests for the U.S. Open golf championship were up for grabs today in the windup of preliminary trials in which hot-shooting amateurs provided the major surprises.

Don Stickey, a 20-year-old part-time student at Ohio State, pulled the biggest amateur shocker in Monday's tests in 53 cities by firing 67-67 — 134 at Columbus, Ohio to tie pro Buddy C. Sullivan of Yuba City, Calif., for the nationwide lead. Sullivan also posted a pair of 67's, playing at Huntington, W.Va.

In addition, amateurs led in 13 other cities including Washington, Dallas, Atlanta and Minneapolis as more than 2,000 golfers played for 378 places in the next round.

Preliminary tests were scheduled today at San Francisco and in three areas around New York City with 52 more berths available in the sectional trials coming up June 5-6 in 13 cities. Survivors of the sectional trials, plus 21 other exempt golfers including defending champion Arnold Palmer, will compete in the field of 150 in the Open at Birmingham, Mich., June 15-17.

Most of the name pros who were forced to play in Monday's nationwide "magnathon" came through but there were a few casualties including Ernie Vossler, Dave Ragan, Howie Johnson, George Fazio and Harold (Jug) McSpaden. Vossler, Ragan and Johnson all failed in the tough section at Little Rock, Ark., where many of the touring pros elected to compete.

"No," he chuckled, "I don't have any superstitions."

They wouldn't, he'd have defended stoutly, prevented his end in one of those cars some time later.

The year he said those things was the same when Vukovich, the mad Russian with the foot of lead, bantey-pigeoned around the day before the race showing a letter from his daughter in which she told him to "put your foot through it because I need a new dress." A sad thing, Vuky went all the way through.

It is, with most of them, a disease they can't conquer until the crackup that proves it can happen, too. The cure can be a killer.

Can't Beat Excitement

"You can't beat the excitement," dapper Wilbur Shaw was wont to say after winning it three times and then cracking into the wall to end his driving career. "Of course I miss it."

A pilot, too, Wilbur in 1935 flew through weather in which even the birds were walking to get from Palm Springs to Los Angeles to celebrate his wedding anniversary with his wife. He was chided for his foolhardiness.

'500' Drivers Sweat It Out

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — These are the toughest hours at Indianapolis as they sweat out the final week of waiting until the man says "gentlemen start your engines," and even some of the most care-free must be wondering at times why they do it.

They'll tell you in any line of sports about the butterfly wings bearing in their bellies as they await the call to action. But this is different than most, this 500-mile automobile race, because death waits around every curve of the old brick road that goes nowhere.

It takes a peculiar breed with a particular psychology.

A total of 51 people have been killed by the metal monsters which give Memorial Day its own particular significance at Speedway City. A smiling little veteran named Tony Bettenhausen jumped the total as they got ready for this one.

It's a local list which includes some of racing's greatest names: Bill Vukovich, Pat O'Connor the smiling Irishman, Shorty Cantlon, Ralph Hepburn, Chet Miller, Manuel Ayulo and Jerry Unser.

There were those who knew the weary, grease-stained satisfaction of finishing in the big one only to "catch it" somewhere else where the motors roared a final drive. Guys like smiling Jimmy Reece, Bob Sweikert who won the giant jackpot, bushy-browed Jack McGrath and Burly Jimmy Bryan.

Seldom do they pack it in voluntarily unless they survive a bad trip into or over the wall. Fellows like Ralph De Palma, Juan Manuel Fangio and DePalma's nephew, Pete DePaolo, made it into retirement but it took a near miss for little Pete to get the message.

The reason is, simply, that each of them has an iron-hard conviction that "it can't happen to me."

During the week preceding the 1955 race, Bryan sat in his garage along Gasoline Alley quietly puffing a cigar. The big man looked indestructible. He was 6 feet, 1 and weighed 211 pounds, and he shrugged off a crackup at Fresno in which he suffered a broken arm where a two by six went through his left forearm, internal injuries and required 56 stitches.

Last year I was second," he grunted. "The front spring broke and the shocks fell off after 131 laps. The car felt like an old coal truck."

"No," he chuckled, "I don't have any superstitions."

They wouldn't, he'd have defended stoutly, prevented his end in one of those cars some time later.

The year he said those things was the same when Vukovich, the mad Russian with the foot of lead, bantey-pigeoned around the day before the race showing a letter from his daughter in which she told him to "put your foot through it because I need a new dress." A sad thing, Vuky went all the way through.

It is, with most of them, a disease they can't conquer until the crackup that proves it can happen, too. The cure can be a killer.

Can't Beat Excitement

"You can't beat the excitement," dapper Wilbur Shaw was wont to say after winning it three times and then cracking into the wall to end his driving career. "Of course I miss it."

A pilot, too, Wilbur in 1935 flew through weather in which even the birds were walking to get from Palm Springs to Los Angeles to celebrate his wedding anniversary with his wife. He was chided for his foolhardiness.

Sports Slivers

By JIM EASTERWOOD

A "school's out" junior tournament is scheduled for June 5-6 at the Pampa Country Club. Club pro Hart Warren has announced. Hart said the small fry (10-11) will play 18 holes; ages 12-13 will go 27 and the 14 and 15-year-olds 36 holes. It will be medal play with trophies awarded to winners and runnersup in each age bracket.

A City Handicap tournament is scheduled for three successive June weekends, 11, 18 and 25 at the PCC. Qualifying for medalist honors will be Saturday, June 11.

Nancy Monroe, 19, who made her first debut on a golf course last week at the PCC, had a ready explanation for the amazing 47 she carded:

"Kelly, my husband, had been tutoring me for the last two months. I just followed his advice."

Topper Tops Hawkins, 5-2

Phil Topper hurled a masterful one-hitter here Monday night at Optimist Park as the Shelby-Ruff team clipped Hawkins, 5-2 in a Little League game.

Harris banged the only hit off of Topper, as Hawkins scored their two runs via free passes mixed in with a few bobbles. Losing pitcher was Roberts.

Denny paced the winners with two hits.

B&B Pounds Milliron, 13-7

B&B Pharmacy wore their hitting clothes here Monday night as they downed Milliron Engineering, 13 to 7 in an Eastern Little League game at Optimist Park.

Keith Burns was the winning pitcher, Edminister took the defeat.

Pacing the winners at the plate was Tommy McDonald, who clubbed a single, double and triple, and Ricky McGloskey, who had two hits. Collecting two hits each for the losers were M. Franklin, Myron Tarter, and Johnny Hopk-

Baseball Owners Need New Game

By GABE KAIMOWITZ
NEW YORK (NEA) — The game Gen. Abner Doubleday is credited with inventing is dead. It has outlived its primary function — to supply statisticians with enough fodder for hours of conversation about whether Mantle, Mays or Snider is the greatest, etc. No longer can some kid cut short a screaming debate by saying "You can look it up." You can't look anything up any more. It isn't there.

Because of the addition of two new teams and expanded schedules in the major leagues, most season records in the long past national pastime have been invalidated. What difference does it make if some Angel breaks Babe Ruth's seasonal home run record of 60 in 162 games? The Bambino did it in 1927. No fewer than 35 home runs were hit in the first nine games at the ballpark that is Wrigley Field in Los Angeles.

So, since the grand old game is seriously dead, why not start a new one over its body? Anything goes. The guys running organized baseball don't seem to care. If records can be rewritten then the rules can be changed, slowly, of course, to give schoolyard stick-ball addicts a chance to adjust. Eliminating the foul lines is one of the suggested changes that might give the new game some speed and restore prestige for a new national pastime. Every ball hit would be fair. Balls hit into the stands would be foul or home runs, as they were in that virtually extinct 19th century creation.

It might be a good idea to prohibit a relief pitcher from entering the game in the middle of an inning. Warm-up pitches would be confined to the bull pen. This rule may be amended later to keep the starting pitcher in the entire game letting him suffer as the fans do. It might be well to make all players have college degrees or the equivalency. This would put an end to the archaic system of minor leagues. It would raise the status of college coaches to such an extent that major league clubs would refrain from raiding their ranks.

The platoon system could be taken into consideration. This is a day of specialists, so why not hitting and fielding teams? This would give a new meaning to the term "baseball iron man." It would compensate for technological unemployment. Professional football made rapid strides with offensive and defensive units. Why not baseball?

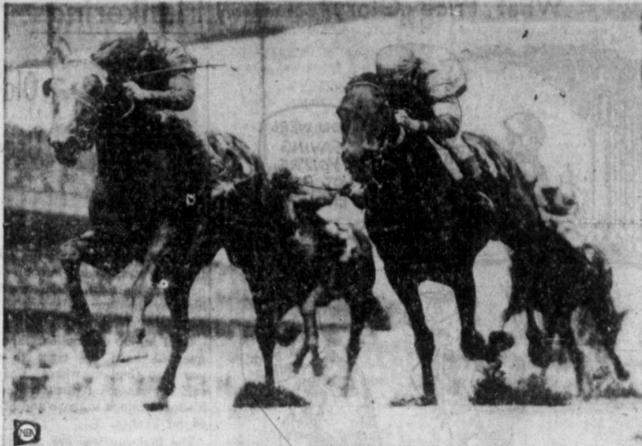

Another suggestion is that each club have an electronic computer or probability analyst. This is the age of automation. It's silly to leave decisions to a manager who knows nothing about such things. In every situation, a formula would determine the strategy — whether the man should hit away or bunt and so on. Perhaps the most important thing is to get the name of the game changed before the game itself obviously changes and people start calling it anything they please.

Baseball fans are subject to fits of vile language in times like these. The team includes Roy Smalley of Greenville, David Bennett of George West, Glynn Fields of Little Rock, Ark., and Bill Kemp of Fort Worth.

The BEARS have notched South-west Conference, Kansas and Drake Relays championships in the 400 relay.

Leads Conrad By 1 Texas Qualifiers For Open Led By Coody

By United Press International
Charles Coody, a smooth-swinging amateur from Fort Worth, led the field of 20 qualifiers for Texas today who are eligible for the next step toward the U.S. Open golf championship.

Coody, playing at the Dallas Athletic Country Club course, sliced four strokes from par with a 71-69-140 to pace the 103 golfers who entered the preliminary trials in three Texas cities.

The next qualifying round on June 5-6, plus exemptions, will provide a field of 150 from over the nation for the open, to be held this year June 15-15 at Birmingham, Mich.

Professional Joe Conrad of San Antonio, former British amateur champion, was next in line with a 69-72-141, and Henry Ransom, Oklahoma City professional, fired rounds of 72-70-142 at the Champions Golf Club in Houston to rank third.

The other 17 qualifiers, by the city they played their round in: North America, with about 2 per cent of the earth's cultivated area, has 7.5 per cent of the world's population.

Cleroux 2-1 Over Harris

HOUSTON (UPI) — French-Canadian Bob Cleroux will step into the ring at Sam Houston Coliseum tonight a two-to-one favorite over Roy Harris of Cut 'N Shoot, Tex., in a 10-round heavy-weight bout.

Harris will be out to avenge last July's Montreal fight when Cleroux knocked him out in the fifth round. Harris left his East Texas pine woods training camp at a trim 195 pounds.

Cleroux reports in at 210, his top fighting weight. The big Canadian has reportedly shortened his punches and added some tactics since flooring Harris.

For Harris, the bout will be a step on his comeback route. He decided Dave Rent in an impressive fight earlier this year in Houston.

Amarillo Nips Sens With Tally In 16th

By United Press International
The Austin Senators forced Amarillo to go 16 innings in the Texas League last night to keep its second-place tie with Valley intact.

Paul Chenger, who took over for Austin in the 10th, finally gave up the run that clinched the 8-7 victory, and Dom Maisano, fourth Gold Sox hurler, protected it for the win.

In other action, Valley had to go 10 innings to win a 4-3 game with Tulsa, and San Antonio maintained its two-game lead on the pack nipping Victoria 3-1.

Austin, outfit 15-12, fought back from a 5-0 deficit to tie it up in the seventh with a three-run outburst. Amarillo shoved across a pair in the top of the 10th, and so did the Senators.

Three Valley hurlers held Tulsa to four hits, but four errors proved costly, helping the Oilers to a pair of runs in the ninth for a 3-2 edge. Johnny Weekly, who had socked a two-run homer for the Giants in the sixth, saved the game with his second of the night in the bottom of the inning to send the game into overtime. Dick Sovde won in relief, and Bill Carpenter was the loser.

The Missions spotted Victoria a run in the fourth, then came back with two in the bottom of the inning and another in the fifth to nail it down. Ralph Prince was the winner and George Gaffney the loser, each giving up six hits over the distance.

In tonight's action, Amarillo was at Austin, Tulsa at Valley and Victoria at San Antonio.

Democratic Despotism

We had never heard of Raoul E. Deservine until a friend brought his name to our attention. It seems that Deservine wrote a book entitled, "Democratic Despotism" which was published by Dodd Mead & Co. of New York in 1936.

Now, we wish we had known him. Or, that in the passing of time we may yet get to know him. 1936 is not such a great distance in our past.

We have some excerpts from this book which are marvelously apt and we shall confine ourselves to quoting.

"But freedom requires even more than the possession of these civil rights; it demands independence. Freedom is a reality, or it is nothing. Man is either independent of the State or he is a mere dependent of the State."

"An illuminating example of how demagogic word-twisters try to deceive the people into surrendering their rights is found in their beguiling declaration: 'Human rights are above property rights.' Now, the fact is that property rights are human rights. A property right is the human right to acquire, possess, and use property. Property is one of the realities of freedom and is so classified by the founding fathers. Ownership of property has been historically identified with freedom. Property ownership was the distinction between the free man and the serf. Man not only gained his political freedom but also his economic freedom by the use of property. Although this conception originally applied to real property only, it is now understood to embrace the more diversified types of property which have become of equal or greater utility as a result of the changed economic conditions."

"All economic enterprise is now just as much property as is land. It equally produces the means of self-sufficiency, to independence. Deprive man of the fruit of property and he becomes dependent. If the State alone possesses all property, or completely controls its use, then man becomes the ward of the State. Control over use of property may be so far-reaching as to render title to property a mere fiction, an empty right. Legal ownership may not always be effective ownership. Therefore, the measure of control which the State exercises over the use of property is the determining factor as to whether or not alleged control is in fact confiscation. This is true in effect of great importance. 'Nations are built out of philosophy, not out of bricks and mortar. It is their national ideals which shape their national destinies. It is their popular thinking which determines their ideas of the political nature, rights and ambitions of the individual. Economic and social forces and circumstances obviously play a vital part in man's existence, particularly in determining the measure of his creature comforts and in providing for his material well-being, but he is not a mere robot completely and exclusively controlled by them. He is given power over nature; that is his divine heritage and it is what makes him a MAN.

"The founding fathers were realists. They isolated the very germ of practical freedom from philosophical abstractions. The Prophets of the New Deal (ed. note: currently New Frontier), on the other hand, have no sense of the realities; they are pure theorists. They speak of economic freedom, but they are not a mere robot completely and exclusively controlled by them. He is given power over nature; that is his divine heritage and it is what makes him a MAN.

"The State is not a mystical, metaphysical person, having an individuality all its own and entirely independent of the citizens which compose it, as the totalitarians would have us believe; it is simply an aggregation of individuals conveniently associated for the purpose of better working out their collective and common civil interests. The idea that the administrators of the State cease to be mere men, and take on some divine, infallible nature immediately upon their assuming power, is a totalitarian fantasy; but this is an absolutely indispensable premise to justify their activities."

Defense Rivalries

"Who knows whether an inter-continental ballistic missile with a nuclear warhead will actually work?"

"Who asks? None other than the 37-member House Armed Services Committee, in its May 10 report on a bill authorizing $12.4 billion for new planes, missiles, and ships."

Coming on top of a new debate over the disclosure of military secrets, the Committee's question adds to the confusion over what should or should not be public information.

President Kennedy raised the issue following published accounts of U. S. involvement in the Cuban fiasco. Later he met with a group of editors to explore the problem.

Then Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara expressed shock at disclosures of military information "of benefit to our potential enemies."

McNamara was upset in particular by some of the information included in the published version of his own testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee on April 4.

In a 50-page statement released to the press at the time, McNamara was quoted as saying, for example: "There are widespread doubts as to whether the Nike Zeus (anti-missile) system should ever be deployed. There still is considerable uncertainty as to its technical feasibility and, even if successfully developed, there are many serious operating problems yet to be solved. The system, itself, is vulnerable to ballistic missile attack and its effectiveness could be degraded by the use of more sophisticated ICBMs screened by multiple decoys."

According to censored testimony released May 10, McNamara later told the Committee that, although this statement had been screened in advance by security officers, it still contained information "of great value" to a Soviet planner. "Who should we tell Russia that the Zeus developments may not be satisfactory?" said McNamara. "What we ought to be saying is that we have the most perfect anti-ICBM system that the human mind will ever devise. Instead, the public domain is already full of statements that the Zeus may not be satisfactory, that it has deficiencies. In questioning the workability of the ICBM itself, the House Committee said nothing that would apply to Soviet missiles as well as to the Atlas, Titan, Polaris or Minuteman. Pointing out that an-ICBM experiences both intense cold and intense heat on reentry, the Committee asked: 'Who knows what will happen to the many delicate mechanisms involved in the nuclear warhead as it is subjected to these two extremes of temperatures?' McNamara, on the other hand, was justifying the Administration's decision not to launch production of the Nike-Zeus, in the face of an all-out 'start now' campaign by the Army, its contractors, and their friends in Congress. Only by raising serious doubts as to its workability could he keep Congress from insisting that the Zeus go into production before it is actually tested. Just where the line between essential information and essential secrecy should be drawn in an 'open society' has never been determined, and it's doubtful that McNamara has the answer. All that seems certain is that defense spending could double overnight if every new weapons concept were hailed by one and all as 'the most perfect... that the human mind will ever devise.'"

These thousands of purges, ranging from collective farm chairmen and factory managers to top party officials, are the most numerous and far-reaching since 1957, when Khrushchev, amid thunderous self-righteous hoopla, wielded the hatchet on former premier Malenkov - former Foreign Minister Kaganovich and other first-rank leaders.

From time to time since those spectacular axings there have been others. But nothing comparable in scope and number to what has taken place the past five months.

WHAT'S BEHIND IT - President Kennedy and his advisers, pondering a man-to-man meeting with Khrushchev are fully aware of this extraordinary situation inside Russia.

They have been intently studying its implications. On the bases of extensive analyses and information from diplomatic and other authoritative sources, certain conclusions have been reached as to what is behind this carefully unpublicized, far-reaching Communist party upheaval.

Foremost among these deductions are: The Khrushchev-Kozlov faction is tightening its grip on the party machinery, which rules Russia, in preparation for the 22nd party congress scheduled for Moscow in October. This so-called national congress elects the 12-member Central Committee which, in turn names the 14-member Presidium - the real ruling power of the Soviet. The Presidium wields the ultimate control. Khrushchev and Kozlov are making certain that the congress, the Central committee and the Presidium will completely of their making.

Similarly, they are strengthening their domination of the party in preparation for new clashes with Red China. These are likely for various reasons, foremost among them the easing of tensions between the U.S. and Russia as a result of talks between the President and Khrushchev. Such a sequence would almost certainly be viewed unfavorably by Peiping. There are other spheres of crucial disagreement between the Soviet and Red China and Khrushchev and his ruling clique are patently girding themselves for fateful showdowns with their Asiatic comrades.

No agenda has been announced for the October congress, and none is likely to be.

One report in diplomatic circles in Moscow is that Khrushchev will ask the congress to increase Communist party membership by one million. It now numbers some six million.

Another report is that the Young Communist League is due for a sweeping shake-up.

In a Kazakhstan newspaper, copies of which have reached Moscow, Khrushchev is quoted as shouting at a meeting of party leaders "Either produce or get out, because if you don't you'll be thrown in jail. We will not tolerate incompetents, idlers or criminals."

The national party congress consists of delegates elected by local and regional party bodies. The last congress, in 1959, approved the current five-year plan. At the 1958 congress, Khrushchev made his sensational speech castigating Stalin. That denunciation has never been published or acknowledged. It came to light through satellite sources.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

WEST BERLIN - It seemed a good day, a fine day, for going to East Berlin to see what it was really like and to compare it with this bustling, thriving city called West Berlin. In addition, it was the last day before returning to New York, the last opportunity. The sun was shining, it was warm, the chestnut trees were in bloom and no city, it seemed, could be too forbidding this day. It was the fifth taxi that, at last, consented to take me into East Berlin and, fortunately, its driver spoke English and spoke it well. He said he would go because he thought an American should see it.

We drove out of the Kurfurstendamm and onto the street leading to the Brandenburg Gate. Did he think an American should see East Berlin to understand the difference between a drab, communized city and a Western alliance city? "Not exactly," he said. "Rather, I am hopeful you will see the truth, which is no bothers to report accurately for American readers. I am not Communist, but I respect truth."

"What is the truth?" "The truth," he said, "is that East Berlin is drab, gray, depressing - but it always was. Always. And that is the one thing no reporter for the American press ever tells. They write that under communism East Berlin is a grim and unhappy place. It is - but, as I said, it always was."

"Tell me just what you mean?" "All right," he said, "before the war - the last one - there was, on this side of the Brandenburg Gate, the Tiergarten, a place of flowers, beauty, repose, charm. Ladies walking, children playing, uniformed nurses, balloons, gaiety. On the East side of the gate was Unter den Linden, one of the famed avenues of the world. Rich, beautiful, smart. On it was the famed Adlon Hotel and similar expensive hotels. But it was not too long, a few blocks, and then there was a vast sea of working class tenements. Drab, depressing, poor. It was then and it is now, but both eras are the same. That is what I am trying to say. In the days of Berlin's heyday, that was a tenement district and it is not just Communist control that has made it drab."

We drove through the gate and past what is left of one of the world's once most desirable hotels - the Adlon - and through what once was a place of shadow and sunlight, trees and good living. Under the tenements, some old, some new, repaired or reconstructed after drenching bombing. I could see that he was right - it had been for years, long before communism, a poor place, an economically blighted place.

"We will just drive," he said. "There is no reason to stop. You cannot buy anything. Nothing. You have to have a special card entitling you to buy here, even a pocket handkerchief or a freshly-baked roll. We have no such cards, so we will not buy anything."

The shops seemed small, and not well-stocked, but that was the impression from a moving car. I don't honestly know inside, they may have had more and plenty. I would doubt it, from the display windows.

What would happen if we were stopped, I asked? "Nothing almost certainly," he said. "A policeman would ask for documents, you would show your American passport and vaccination certificate and he would wave us on. No problem. But if you insisted on buying something, just to see a store, and didn't have the purchase card, they would report you, police would take you in and they might hold you five or six hours demanding all sorts of documents just to be - you have a word - cankerous? That's the word."

I said, yes, there was such a word, wondering to myself where he learned it.

We made a large circling drive through the gray streets, then were back at the gate and through it to the other side and once again in the safe area of West Berlin. Not one incident, not one moment of trouble. I said I had not seen one smiling face. Not one.

"How many do you see in a New York subway?" he asked. He had me there.

Boeing and, incidentally, keep Boeing's B-52 and Convair's B-58 production lines rolling. The extra bombers are needed, the Committee said, because it "is unwilling to place the safety of this country in a purely academic attitude."

McNamara, on the other hand, was justifying the Administration's decision not to launch production of the Nike-Zeus, in the face of an all-out "start now" campaign by the Army, its contractors, and their friends in Congress. Only by raising serious doubts as to its workability could he keep Congress from insisting that the Zeus go into production before it is actually tested.

Just where the line between essential information and essential secrecy should be drawn in an "open society" has never been determined, and it's doubtful that McNamara has the answer. All that seems certain is that defense spending could double overnight if every new weapons concept were hailed by one and all as "the most perfect... that the human mind will ever devise."

Khrushchev-Kozlov Conducting Wide-Spread Purges - Tied to Fall Party-Congress, Possible Chinese Clash

ROBERT S. ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON - Premier Khrushchev can justify claim consistency in one respect: He is being as bellicose inside Russia as he is elsewhere.

Since the first of the year, behind characteristic drum-tight censorship the truculent Kremlin ruler has been conducting an iron-handed purge that so far has taken a toll of more than 3,000 Communist party officials in every section of the Soviet.

Some 400 of them were of top party rank. The first and second party secretaries of eight of Russia's 15 republics have been fired on charges ranging from "unsatisfactory guidance of the economy" to "criminal neglect of duties."

Similarly, party secretaries have been axed or downgraded in a number of important regions among them the great industrial centers of Stalingrad, Chelyabinsk, Pskov, Chita in Eastern Siberia, and such major farming areas as Atai, Astrakhan and Voronezh.

The latest head loppings were in Kirgizia, where Premier Kazym Bikambayev and first party secretary I. R. Razzakov were booted out, Bikambayev has been replaced by T. Usupaliyev, long-time Khrushchev henchman.

These purges came on the heels of a large-scale housecleaning there last month following a visit by Frol Kozlov, Deputy Premier to Khrushchev and generally considered his heir apparent. More than 50 Kirgizian officials were fired during and after Kozlov's trip.

In Uzbekistan, Kozlov ousted first party secretary R. G. Gulnurov on the ground of "criminal neglect of the economy."

These thousands of purges, ranging from collective farm chairmen and factory managers to top party officials, are the most numerous and far-reaching since 1957, when Khrushchev, amid thunderous self-righteous hoopla, wielded the hatchet on former premier Malenkov - former Foreign Minister Kaganovich and other first-rank leaders.

From time to time since those spectacular axings there have been others. But nothing comparable in scope and number to what has taken place the past five months.

WHAT'S BEHIND IT - President Kennedy and his advisers, pondering a man-to-man meeting with Khrushchev are fully aware of this extraordinary situation inside Russia.

They have been intently studying its implications. On the bases of extensive analyses and information from diplomatic and other authoritative sources, certain conclusions have been reached as to what is behind this carefully unpublicized, far-reaching Communist party upheaval.

Foremost among these deductions are: The Khrushchev-Kozlov faction is tightening its grip on the party machinery, which rules Russia, in preparation for the 22nd party congress scheduled for Moscow in October. This so-called national congress elects the 12-member Central Committee which, in turn names the 14-member Presidium - the real ruling power of the Soviet. The Presidium wields the ultimate control. Khrushchev and Kozlov are making certain that the congress, the Central committee and the Presidium will completely of their making.

Similarly, they are strengthening their domination of the party in preparation for new clashes with Red China. These are likely for various reasons, foremost among them the easing of tensions between the U.S. and Russia as a result of talks between the President and Khrushchev. Such a sequence would almost certainly be viewed unfavorably by Peiping. There are other spheres of crucial disagreement between the Soviet and Red China and Khrushchev and his ruling clique are patently girding themselves for fateful showdowns with their Asiatic comrades.

Old And Lovely Road Used On Trip To Gaul

RAPALLO, Italy - We are on our way from Rome to the country that was divided into three parts, and are using the same highway the Roman legions did when they went to divide it.

Gaul is our destination, and I guess I have the right to tell you that Gaul is where Caesar said he was going when he threw his togas into a suitcase and headed for France.

The highway we are following has two names, S. S. (State Strada) No. 1 and Via Antica Aurelia, the last in honor of its builder. (There are some stretches where it would appear they have left part of the original road in honor of Aurelius.)

Braced with espresso coffee as black as the inside of Satan's hatband, we were off to an early start, my watch reading 10:30 when we swung through the Gate of San Pancranzio atop Janiculum Hill, and onto the Via Antica Aurelia.

Anyone who questions 10:30 in the morning as an early start has never had the dual job of getting both a wife and a 2 1/2-year-old daughter ready for departure anywhere, much less to Gaul. It is always the husband who puts the show on the road. The wife and daughter busy themselves mightily, but at nothing that has to do with getting the bags closed and in the car, and making final checks on the house. I often wonder how unmarried women, even without babies, manage to get anywhere.

Highway No. 1 is a coastal road. It swings down to the Tyrrenian (I never am sure how to spell it) at once and sticks pretty close to it all the way to its end at the border of France. It passes through the big and little towns of today and antiquity, and reading the road map is like taking a refresher course in history.

Today - this is being written in late afternoon on the balcony of a hotel not far from the villa of the late Max Beerbohm, The Incomparable - we passed through Civitavecchia, an ancient port, Tarquinia, whose Etruscan heritage is everywhere to be seen.

NO NEWS CONFERENCE WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Kennedy will not hold a news conference before his departure next week for Europe to meet with French President Charles de Gaulle and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

TO SEE BEN-GURION WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Kennedy plans to see Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion in New York City May 30.

BEN-GURION, after a brief visit to Canada, will spend several days in the New York area.

HUILE DE PEANUTS LONDON (UPI) - A London store apparently catering to Frenchmen posted a sign advertising "huile de peanuts." (Translation: peanut oil.)

Jet planes are collecting visitors from outer space. Scientists have fitted jet planes with special filters for collecting meteor dust before it hits the earth. From their samples the scientists have estimated that about a thousand tons of dust from outer space settle upon the earth every day.

THE LADIES - There are few days the White House does not receive a number of childish telephone calls for curly-haired three-year old Caroline. That always happens after her picture appears in the papers. But the calls never reach her although she loves to talk over the phone. The switchboard operators have strict orders against that. They do not through her calls to her grandparents and a few of her mother's close friends. At long last, for the first time in the 17 years she has been secretary of the Democratic National Committee, Mrs. Dorothy Vreidenburgh has an office of her own. National Chairman John Bailey arranged that for her in the new headquarters. Mrs. Vreidenburgh's office has dramatic green walls and red leather furnishings. Mrs. Lyndon Johnson is apparently preparing for a Latin American tour later on. The Second Lady is taking Spanish lessons, carried a Spanish grammar with her on the Far Eastern tour. Other prominent women studying Spanish are Mrs. William O. Douglas wife of the Supreme Court Justice, and the wives of Senators Frank Church, Idaho, and Thomas Dodd, Conn.

Senate Candidates Step Up Campaigns

By United Press International

Sen. William A. Blakley and his Republican opponent, John Tower, stepped up their campaign today making last ditch appeals for votes in Saturday's election to fill the U.S. Senate seat vacated by Vice President Lyndon Johnson.

Blakley toured the Houston area, one of the richest prizes in the race, and said Tower has little chance of getting anything from the Kennedy administration because he is a Republican.

Tower continued his attack on Blakley's absentee record as interim senator, a charge Blakley said is "distorted."

Blakley said the federal government is considering developing natural resources in Texas and questioned Tower's effectiveness in getting action.

"He hasn't got a friend up there in Washington who could help him get these things done," Blakley said.

"The Republican opposition is saying that you have to vote Republican to be a good Democrat. That's silly."

Some liberal Democratic groups in Texas have refused to support Blakley, a conservative.

Tower spoke at a rally at San Antonio Monday night with...

HIGH-LEVEL TRAVEL

CHICAGO (UPI) — Thirty-six tanks full of 2,000 tropical fish arrived at Shedd Aquarium Sunday in luxury aboard the Santa Fe "Chief" passenger train from the West Coast.

It was the second week of high-level travel in the animal kingdom. The federal government last week shipped 2,900 guinea pigs from Maryland to an Iowa research center in air-conditioned cars with human attendants.

ton Morton, national Republican chairman, and accused Blakley of not being as conservative as he would like people to think.

Fears Expressed By Asian Groups About U.S. Aims

TOKYO (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's easy-going Texas ways scored a hit in Asia but some officials and newspapers complained that he left too many key questions unanswered.

From Saigon to New Delhi Johnson was hailed for his friendly open manner. After his departure however officials and those newspapers which were free enough to criticize expressed some second thoughts.

The most persistent criticism was that the vice president made no firm statement on U.S. plans in Laos giving the distinct impression that the United States plans to pull its anti-Communist defense perimeter back to the Mekong River and leave Laos to the Reds.

American offers to increase aid to various Asian countries and give favorable consideration to claims against the United States were viewed against this backdrop. The less charitable critics said these were merely "sweeteners" to help sell the new American policy in Asia.

CRAZY DAY WINNERS — Winners in the Pampa Crazy Day contest were honored yesterday at a luncheon in the Coronado Inn. This four foot loving cup was presented to the craziest store by Chamber of Commerce president, E. Roy Smith. Ray Gigoux, right, manager of the F.W. Woolworth store, was awarded the cup. Funniest man and woman awards went to Mrs. Effie Cox, clerk in the M. E. Moses Dept. store and Johnny Carter, assistant manager at Zales.
