

Ike Winging Way Back To Washington

DENVER (AP) — "An eternally grateful" President Eisenhower left Denver for Washington today after telling of his thanks to all who have aided him in his illness.

Capital Turns Out In Force To Welcome Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's capital rolled out a "welcome home" red carpet for President and Mrs. Eisenhower today.

The prospect of clearing skies after a night of rain pointed to a turnout of many thousands to cheer the city's and the nation's first family on arrival from Denver.

Troops were posted to line the streets in a ceremonial honor guard. Veterans in band bunting draped the lamp posts. Bands in colorful uniforms were ready to serenade the convalescent Chief Executive and his lady.

The White House was ready, too, for the returning first family. Walls and floors have been cleaned, the water pipe system fixed up, fresh cut flowers put in place.

Yellow and bronze chrysanthemums glowed in their vases. In Mamie Eisenhower's quarters, orchids and roses lent an extra warm welcoming tone.

The public could see none of this. But it was set to put on a massive greeting of its own.

Vice President Nixon and the President's son, Maj. John S. Eisenhower, were designated to greet the Chief Executive and his wife when they step from the presidential plane, Columbine III.

After a few words into microphones at the foot of the ramp— to be carried by radio and television, and relayed by loudspeaker to crowds at the White House and elsewhere—the Eisenhowers were to enter a plastic "bubble top" convertible and drive away to the executive mansion.

degree weather, he said that the misfortune of his illness made him aware "of how good people are."

The President, looking surprisingly well, told an audience of Air Force personnel and a small group of friends and dignitaries, that the force at Fitzsimons Army Hospital and at Lowry Air Force Base had "earned my eternal gratitude."

He expressed appreciation too, for the "messages of friendship" and to the people around the world who had "sent up their prayers" for his recovery when he was stricken seven weeks ago tomorrow.

He spoke but briefly after he and Mrs. Eisenhower drove up to the ramp of their plane to be greeted by a bipartisan group headed by Democratic Gov. Ed Johnson and Republican Mayor Will Nicholson.

The President wore a camel's hair top coat and a brown hat. Standing on the sixth step of the ramp, he spoke simply and with no word about any major domestic or foreign policy.

"Again, it is time for Mrs. Eisenhower and me to say goodbye," he began.

"We leave under somewhat unusual circumstances this time." He referred thus to his illness and said that the seven weeks he spent in the hospital had not been "holly a loss" for it gave him and Mrs. Eisenhower an understanding "of how good people are."

He then paid the medical staff, nurses, corpsmen, enlisted men and others at Fitzsimons Hospital "my very grateful thanks."

"They have done so much," he added. The crowd around the airport was chilled to the bone by the time the President left at 9:02 a.m. as the temperature dropped from 36 degrees at 8:30 a.m. to 31 degrees.

A crowd of several thousand turned out to bid farewell to the beaming President along the six-mile drive from the hospital to the air strip at Lowry.

Perhaps the biggest crowd was out in front of the Colorado Women's College, where the student body was out in force.

Grandstaff On Way Back To Wisconsin

Frank Grandstaff was on his way back to Wisconsin today to face parole violation charges.

He was turned over to Virgil Frosch, Wisconsin prison official, yesterday in Santa Monica, Calif. Frosch held a "fugitive warrant" for the ex-convict.

A Santa Monica Municipal Court judge ordered Grandstaff remanded to the custody of the prison official.

It was the second time the former life term loser in his fight to avoid the return to Wisconsin where it is claimed he violated parole by leaving the state following his release in 1954.

Grandstaff came to Big Spring after being released. He was arrested here last spring when Wisconsin asked for his return on the parole violation charges.

The former convict, who composed the Big Spring Cantata while in solitary confinement in the Tennessee State Prison, fought the Wisconsin action, claiming he completed serving a burglary sentence before his release from prison.

Judge Charlie Sullivan of Big Spring ordered the ex-convict returned to Wisconsin, but Grandstaff appealed the order. By the time the appeals court affirmed Sullivan's judgment, Grandstaff was in California where he was jailed and the new extradition proceedings were started.

Action of the California court apparently will relieve sureties on Grandstaff's $1,000 bond here. They are his attorney, Clyde E. Thomas; his benefactor, Shine Phillips; and V. A. Gomez. Phillips assisted in securing Grandstaff's pardon from the life term he was serving in Tennessee. Thomas handled the ex-convict's case during the Wisconsin effort to secure his custody in Texas.

Testimony Resumes In Murder Trial Of AF Officer's Wife

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Testimony continued today in the murder trial of Mrs. Elizabeth McCarter, 35, after she sobbed out details yesterday of life with her Air Force husband, Maj. Marvin McCarter.

Mrs. McCarter, accused of shooting Mrs. Faye Atkins, 50, to death April 3, 1954, at a tavern here in what police called a triangle slaying, wept as she told of threats she said she endured from her husband.

She testified that on one occasion her husband came home and pointed his pistol at her and pulled the trigger several times. The gun didn't fire. It was the same pistol Mrs. McCarter is alleged to have used in the slaying of Mrs. Atkins.

The sobbing woman said she continually had tried to get her husband to "let Faye go," but that he preferred the tavern operator to her.

"If you aren't woman enough to keep him at home, don't come running to me," Mrs. McCarter testified she was told by Mrs. Atkins when she confronted the slain woman.

McCarter once took Mrs. Atkins to a party at Lackland Air Force Base and often took the slain woman "on all night fishing trips," Mrs. McCarter testified.

Jailer Frustrates Break-Out Attempt

WACO (AP)—Jailer Martin Owen slapped a loaded pistol held by a would-be escapee aside yesterday, leaped through a doorway and slammed a heavy door, frustrating a jail-break attempt by a convicted bank robber.

Bobby Howard, 29, pulled a loaded pistol on Owen as the jailer sobbed him his afternoon meal. Howard, convicted of robbing the Farmers State Bank at Meridian, early this year, is awaiting the outcome of appeal of a 25-year sentence.

produced figures to show GM currently is producing 76 per cent of these.

Hamilton, former head of the division which made the Diesels, said "I take exception" to any argument that GM gained its position through "artificial conditions."

He and Hogan produced figures that GM sold 67 per cent of all Diesel locomotives in the country in 1940, 57 per cent in 1941, 53 per cent in 1942, 40 per cent in 1943, 50 per cent in 1944, 51 per cent in 1945, and 65 per cent in 1946.

"They (other firms) had a sheltered position in switchers, just as we had in road locomotives," Hamilton said.

"The success of General Motors (in the Diesel field)," Hamilton declared, "has resulted from advanced engineering and planning, planning that sometimes ran six to seven years ahead of sales, and to high efficiency in production."

Big 4 Conference Faces Adjournment

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers decided in secret session today to adjourn their current Geneva conference with a final meeting next Wednesday.

The American delegation issued this formal statement: "The ministers at their private meeting this afternoon, bearing in mind their agreement at New York that the conference would last three weeks, agreed to organize their work here so that the conference could finish its work on Wednesday."

This will conclude the conference one day short of the three-week target.

The conference so far has been notable mainly for the evidence it has provided that Soviet foreign policy tactics have taken the most radical shift since the death of Joseph Stalin more than two years ago.

Unless evidence of Russian behavior at the current Big Four conference is completely deceptive, the softer line of Soviet strategy has been replaced by a return to much harder tactics.

For the first time since the Kremlin started its more conciliatory approach toward the West in early 1953, a Soviet spokesman has been speaking out in blunt, uncompromising terms on great issues.

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov has made it unmistakably clear that the major aims of Soviet world policy remain unchanged.

The July smiles at the summit conference here have almost vanished in Molotov's Movenber presentation of Russia's position and aims.

The latest piece of evidence in this emerging pattern came yesterday when the Soviet foreign minister spoke on disarmament.

There had been speculation here that Molotov might make some gesture toward agreement with the West, perhaps on President Eisenhower's proposal for immediate U. S.-Soviet exchange of military blueprints and reciprocal aerial inspection.

Instead Molotov delivered the hardest blow yet struck by a Soviet spokesman at the Eisenhower plan.

Dealers Still Seek To Testify At GM Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Antitrust subcommittee is still receiving requests from former General Motors car dealers who want to testify in the current GM hearings, an aide said today.

Some of them only recently had their connection with the big auto corporation severed, he said.

The hearings, started this week, are in recess until Tuesday.

Dealers' complaints are one topic which Acting Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) of the subcommittee has promised to explore thoroughly, but no time has been set for testimony on these.

One top GM official indicated clearly at yesterday's session the corporation was ready to meet charges by dealers. When O'Mahoney remarked that a number of dealers had told him "of the tough situation" they faced, Henry M. Hogan, vice president and general counsel of General Motors, replied: "Why don't you ask them how much they've made in the last five years to see if they're crying wolf? That's poverty with a ham under your arm."

Harold L. Hamilton, retired GM vice president, commented that "I think they (the dealers) ought to be able to live off their fat for a while."

Hamilton, first GM witness to appear in the hearings, entered a vigorous rebuttal to testimony from competing firms that the corporation got an unfair advantage in its Diesel locomotive sales out of a World War II government order.

The order allocated production of Diesel over-the-road locomotives to GM in the war, but gave most of the output of Diesel switchers and steam engines to other companies.

Since the war, U. S. railroads have converted almost entirely to Diesels. The subcommittee has

AT MEMORIAL SERVICE

Veterans' Day Throng Hears Warning Against Complacency

America is threatened not so much by Communism as by complacency, the Rev. W. D. Boyd told the group gathered at the courthouse this morning for the Veterans' Day memorial service.

"The attitude of America today is too much of 'Let George do it' and that is the reason we have had to draft men during the past conflicts. We will be faced with dictatorship again if we let complacency grow among our children," Rev. Boyd said.

"You and I have a lot to be thankful for; one of the things is that men of our country have cared enough to sacrifice their lives and ambitions to insure our freedom. But if you and I fail to remember and be thankful, this great complacency will defeat us," he declared.

Rev. Boyd was principal speaker at the memorial service staged in front of the plaque dedicated to the 136 men of Howard County who have given their lives in the three past conflicts. Prior to the service a parade was held, led by the Webb AFB color guard.

Following the Webb color guard, came the Webb band and two cars of Gold Star Mothers. Members of the local Disabled American Veterans followed, with the joint color guard formed of the two American Legion posts, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Big Spring's High School band with a representative of the local National Guard unit, and the Junior High Band being the last groups in the parade.

The parade stopped in front of the courthouse plaque, with the memorial program following. Master of ceremonies was Charles Butts.

Introduced prior to the main address were commanders of the various veterans' organizations, chaplains of the groups, Webb commander Col. Charles M. Young; Billie Eggleston, National Guard officer; and George O'Brien — Big Spring Congressional Medal of Honor winner.

THE WEATHER

BIG SPRING AND VICINITY: Fair to day and tonight with heavy clouds and light rain this afternoon. Saturday, cold wave with strong winds and freezing rain or snow.

Webb band preceded the introductions, and following the introductions, Rev. Boyd, pastor of the Howard County Legion Post, spoke.

Boyd reminded the people of the sacrifices made by the nation's armed forces and especially the supreme sacrifices made by so many. "Three times," Boyd said, "in the past 50 years, men of our country have been called upon to fight for democracy and world peace."

"We have been given the opportunity of living here in this free land, but we have no regard for this. We criticize, we gripe, we complain for being called upon to fight, to defend it," he said.

"We have the enemy of communism, but our big enemy is the enemy of complacency. We have too much of the attitude of 'Let George do it' instead of shouldering the job ourselves."

Boyd spoke of the 10 Gold Star Mothers present and said: "These women know the pang of having their sons die, but I know they — through their sorrow — thanked God for what their sons died for — the cause of freedom."

The service was dismissed with the playing of taps by a member of the Webb band.

Listed on the plaque to the back of Boyd as he spoke were the names of Howard County citizens who gave their lives in the wars during the past two decades. Seven men gave their lives in World War I, 91 in World War II, and 30 were killed in the Korean conflict.

Season's Worst Norther Blowing In

The worst norther of the season picked up speed Friday as it bore down on Texas with the promise of heavy snow and freezing rain.

The arctic front swirled six inches of snow onto Wyoming Friday en route to the Texas Panhandle where it was due by nightfall.

The Weather Bureau issued cold wave warnings for West and North Central Texas and in local forecasts as far south as the Dallas-Fort Worth area warned householders to protect plumbing, vegetation and car radiators.

Heavy snow was predicted for the Panhandle and upper South Plains Friday night and Saturday and freezing rain or snow elsewhere in West Texas. Occasional freezing rain or snow was predicted for North Central Texas.

Friday morning the Weather Bureau advanced by six hours the northern's due-hour in Dallas, saying it was expected Saturday morning rather than Saturday afternoon.

Meteorologists said the norther will ram into a milder cold front which has become stationary in the Texas Panhandle and combine with it to stab all the way to the Gulf of Mexico.

The norther, coming only four days after another mass of cold air that brought snow to points as far south as San Antonio, Austin and Kerrville, was due to nip a budding warmup after the first cold spell.

Skies were clear and temperatures mild early Friday morning before the new front arrived. No rain was reported. Early morning temperatures ranged from 31 at Dalhart to 36 at Galveston, El Paso and Corpus Christi.

Some other morning readings showed Abilene with 32, Amarillo 37, Beaumont 49, Brownsville 53, Dallas 34, Houston 49, Laredo 53, Lubbock 43, San Antonio 41 and Lufkin 46.

Quiet Revolt Ousts Nation's President

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The Brazilian army, led by Gen. Henrique Teixeira Lott, ousted provisional President Carlos Coimbra D. Luz and took over the government early today.

The navy and air force refused to support the army coup and issued a joint statement pledging loyalty to Luz. A few hours later the fashionable Copacabana Beach section was rocked by cannon fire from Copacabana fort.

Witnesses said the fort's big guns were fired across the bow of a warship heading out of the harbor and that the ship turned back.

Army units took over central police headquarters and the office of the mayor, and issued an order closing all stores at noon. Other units surrounded government buildings, the radio station, the post office and several newspaper buildings.

Lott issued a communique claiming support of the president of the Supreme Court, the presidents of both houses of Congress and most army officers in Rio de Janeiro and the interior.

Luz was rumored to have taken refuge aboard the cruiser Barrosa, but other reports said he and several ministers had been arrested.

The Navy Ministry was surrounded by armed marines with field pieces spotted strategically nearby. A heavy rain fell on the capital and the center of the city was quiet although tension was apparent.

The bloodless coup was carried out so quietly most residents of Rio de Janeiro did not even know it was happening.

A special session of Congress was called to decide who would assume the presidency. Constitutionally the post would go to Mervin Ramos, vice president of the Senate.

Luz, former president of the House of Deputies, took over as temporary president only last Tuesday.

The capital went about its early morning business normally under a driving rain.

'Fund' Total Creeps Upward

With almost agonizing effort, the United Fund crept forward Friday, still $3,200 from its $87,555 goal.

While the executive board prepared for an important session at 1 p.m. Friday, some results were manifest from special appeals to send in contributions. One Big Spring woman, heeding the pleas, clipped out the coupon in the Herald and mailed in $50. Dick Simpson, United Fund president, pleaded for others to follow this example.

Workers had made repeat calls to several sources which had given, and in general there was a good spirit and response, said Simpson. Records were being double checked in an effort to pick up any new firms which have not been contacted.

The campaign has 97.2 per cent of goal set for 11 agencies. Simpson said there "just has to be some way for us to get that remaining 2.8 per cent . . . and we don't know any way unless people open their hearts and give it."

Convicted Killer Faces Execution, Prefers The Chair

MOLESTER, Okla. (AP) — "If I have to get it, I guess the chair is better than hanging or the gas chamber."

Hurbie Fairris puffed on a cigarette, his pale hands shaking slightly, and went on to sum up his 21 years.

After midnight Nov. 18, Fairris is to be electrocuted for the slaying of detective Bennie Gracatt during an Oklahoma City holdup July 18, 1934.

"If I wasn't Ray Hamilton's nephew, I wouldn't be here today," Fairris asserted.

The nephew of the one-time Southwest badman, executed in Texas years ago, blames his woes on being a kinsman of Hamilton, a brother of Mrs. Marjorie Hamilton Ziegler, Fairris' mother. She is doing five years in Texas for the slaying of her third husband.

Fairris has given up hope. "I've figured and figured on a way to beat it, but there's nothing left. No hope," he said.

He contends he wasn't the one who pulled the trigger on the detective. His two accomplices received life sentences.

Fairris detailed his life of crime for new, a long string of petty thefts and break-ins.

Fairris was born in Dallas. His father is in jail in Paris, Tex.

BORDERLINE CASES

School Promotion Decisions Made In Child's Best Interest

(This is another in a series of articles prepared by Dr. L. V. Norman, school staff member, on the occasion of American Education Week—25.)

A student normally enters the first grade in Big Spring at age six and moves forward one grade per year until he ultimately graduates from the high school 12 years later. Students ordinarily look forward toward the end of each school year to advancement to the next higher grade.

Students whose scholastic work or performance has been sufficiently well done customarily are advanced to the next grade, and those students who did not put forth sufficient effort during the school year would not expect to be promoted.

Near the end of each school year there usually are numerous borderline cases where the faculty has difficulty deciding whether to retain or promote. The decision finally made is usually made on the basis of what is best for the individual child.

During the school year each teacher accumulates grades and scores each of her students has made. These grades are weighed along with results of the final examination in determining the question of promotion or retention.

Periodic reports to parents are made throughout the school year by means of report cards. In grades one, two and three, report cards are sent home at nine-week intervals; and each student is marked either satisfactory or unsatisfactory. If his work has been unsatisfactory it is designated on the report card in one of the following manners: (1) "Making Satisfactory Progress at Grade Level" or (2) "Making Satisfactory Progress But Below Grade Level."

In grades four, five, and six the report cards are issued each four weeks during the school year; and the traditional letter grades "A, B, C, D, and F" are used to evaluate student work.

The following legend shows the scale used on report cards to express this evaluation: A-90-100, Very Good; B-80-90, Good; C-70-80, Satisfactory; D-60-70, Unsatisfactory; and F-50-60, Failing.

The parent gets to see the report card when sent home at the end of each six weeks. From it he interprets the progress of his child. The parent is asked to acknowledge receipt and review of the report card by affixing his signature to it. The parent's signature on a report card is an acknowledgment rather than an endorsement.

It must be admitted that the above grading and reporting system is not perfect, but it does have practically universal usage among schools in the nation. And, no person has yet come forward with a better system for adoption.

Each individual teacher has full responsibility for the grading of work of students in her room, although she may counsel freely with her principal and with other leadership personnel of the faculty about her problems. The teaching profession long has respected the sovereignty of the teacher in matters of grading student work. School administrators customarily respect this field of teacher autonomy, taking care to avoid reversing a decision by the teacher or of revising a student grade. This does not mean, however, that a school faculty leader would hesitate to point out an error when found. Teachers, like other people, do make mistakes; and the teacher who loves her work is always glad and willing to rectify mistakes when called to his or her attention. If an error has been made in assigning grades or grade values to student work, the teacher would welcome a conference with the student or with the parent about it.

Parents do well to encourage children to perform at their highest ability level or near it. However, parents should refrain from expecting too much of the student of average ability. Most people have only average ability and should not, therefore, be expected to make above-average grades in school. A child of ordinary ability making average grades in school is fully entitled to the commendation of his parents to the same degree and extent that an extremely capable child receives approbation for exceptional work. The average person also can. The person of lesser ability is as precious and important as the individual of great ability, for in the final analysis, it takes both to make up our society.

Railways Still Lead In Passenger Traffic

By RAMON COFFMAN

In this, the twentieth century, railroads have made big forward strides. Streamlined passenger trains have become common, and they travel three or four times as fast as did trains in the middle of the last century.

Despite the excellent progress, railroads have failed to keep their old proportion of passenger traffic. Private automobiles, buses and airplanes have grown popular.

Q. Aside from private motor cars, which kind of transport handles the most passengers?

A. The railroad. Bus lines and airplanes follow strongly, with ocean liners fourth.

Q. Which is the largest railway system in North America?

A. The Canadian National. This system combines many small lines which at one time were losing money. Now the lines are owned by the Canadian government, and pay a moderate return.

Q. Does Canada have a large, privately-owned railway?

A. Yes, the Canadian Pacific, which likewise has a system stretching across Canada.

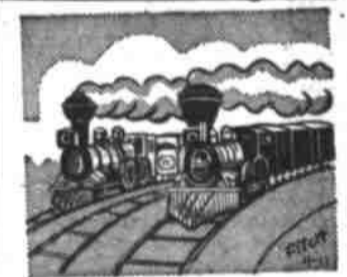

Q. Have steam locomotives lost favor?

A. Yes, to a very large extent! In some sections you will still see a single steam locomotive.

Q. Diesel-electric locomotives have grown more and more popular. Electric locomotives, which differ from the diesel-electrics, are employed in parts of North America, and are common in several countries of Europe. Oil-burning steam locomotives are favored in some areas; these differ from the diesel-electrics, which burn oil but are run by electric power.

Q. Who invented the diesel engine?

A. It was invented by a German, Rudolf Diesel. In a diesel-electric

DATE DATA By Beverly Brandon

Starting Anew

How do you win back a former date? This is a question asked often. Attracting any date requires cleverness and cunning, but getting back last month's or last year's is usually treated as some sort of obstacle course.

There is no sure formula, but the same tactics are employed that you would ordinarily use on a person you had never dated. This time, however, you have the advantage of knowing the person's likes and dislikes and can plan a better approach.

If you were the one dropped, your chances are not as good as if you did the dropping. If the other person found out something about you that was basically distasteful, you'd better turn to greener fields.

However, like many teens, you may have just become bored with each other and drifted apart. In this case, where there are no deeper seated dislikes, your chances are good.

Boys, instead of biting their fingernails, should go straight to the phone and ask for a date. Why wait for her to take the first advance? She probably never will. The initiative should be yours. If you ask her to some entertainment you know she will like, she'll probably accept. Then you can be charming all evening and impress her with yourself.

Attracting an old beau is not so easy for the girl. She should make herself "in the way" as much as possible without it seeming intentional.

She should go out of her way to be friendly, and she should ask him a favor. This will start him thinking about her. In casual conversations she can mention various things they did when they were dating.

She can compare him, matter-of-factly with other boys, but of course, to his favor. "Jimmy and I had lots of fun on the lake, but he definitely isn't the sailor you were when we used to go sailing. Remember that picnic Mary Jo gave and . . ."

Get the idea? Also you can let it drop that you surely do want to see such and such a movie. Don't dwell on the matter though.

If you can afford it, give a sock hop and invite him, but not as your date; that would be too obvious.

Italians Told About Our Way Of Life With USIS Program

By HOUSTON HARTE FLORENCE, Italy (By Mail)—Sen. Ellender of Louisiana has just returned from a worldwide tour with the observation that he thinks the United States Information Service should be eliminated.

The USIS has a branch in Florence. Its library covers the ground floor of a building on the most expensive retail shopping street in the town. It has larger quarters on the third floor where its other activities are directed. It is a half mile up the Arno River from the United States consulate, a building which the United States has owned for 10 years on the outskirts of the business section.

The USIS sells nothing. It gives things away. The consulate is located here to represent Americans and to defend their rights. One of the first observations some people would make is that if the old mouse trap story is still correct, the USIS office which gives things away could do just as good a job in less costly retail quarters. As far as the tourist can observe, no one else is giving anything away in Italy.

While the Soviet Union must be spending large sums of money in Italy to finance the Communist party, the local Communist organizations raise a great deal of money from local dues-paying members. We do not have the benefit of this local help.

The USIS has as its purpose the influencing of Italian public opinion to want a democratic, free enterprise system of government. We spend our money here on the promise that if Italians believe in this sort of government they will understand and support the foreign policy of the United States. Its aim is to encourage Italians to join in the fight to prevent both the Fascists and Communists from taking over the government from within.

Anything that will help this program is worthy money to the taxpayers of the United States. With jet bombers and battle ships costing billions of dollars, it may be prudent to spend a few millions trying to get our allies to hold the line and drive out the totalitarians.

The USIS office and the consulate have about the same size staffs and about the same monthly costs. It seems a little easier, however, for the USIS to get additional expenditures approved than the consulate. The USIS always finds an emergency. The consulate is an old established organization that is accustomed to handling emergencies in its stride. In the Florence USIS office are three American secretaries, and 19 Italian employees. There is a branch office 150 miles away at Bologna with five employees. They are directed from Florence. One of Italy's largest newspapers is in Bologna.

These two offices do not undertake to reach or influence the mass of Italians in the area. They center their attention upon key people. Their emphasis is placed on selling the democratic-free-enterprise system to the leaders of the free labor unions, the teachers in the schools, and the men who control and edit the newspapers. If these people can be reached effectively, the American message will be spread.

In addition, careful attention is given to fending promising young college students and helping them learn something about America. Florence is one of Europe's chief cultural centers. It has possessed much of the best art of the world from the days of the early Renaissance. Nine of the nation's 22 state-supported colleges and universities are located in Tuscany. The USIS library here is continually being brought to the attention of these college students.

This year there are 225 Italian professors and students studying in the United States on various U. S. scholarships. Most of these are financed by the Fulbright and similar grants.

These scholarships offer a means for the free world to acquire influential Italians with first-hand knowledge of the benefits of the freedom of a democratic society. The scholarships are awarded on the basis not only of ability, but also the prospect of the recipient's becoming a man of influence in Italian affairs.

It is too early to tell what an investment of this kind will produce. It will take 10 to 20 years for the recipients to attain positions of importance in Italy. There is little doubt that the odds are long. But how many long range bombers or battleships would it be worth to us to have a premier in Italy who has been educated in an American university and who knew America from several years of personal observation? He would know our weaknesses and our strength. But no one could make him believe we are a nation of warmongers!

In the years before the war Italian college students wrote not more than half a dozen theses on American subjects in any one year. In 1954 more than 250 had as the subject of their graduation theses some American topic. The USIS thinks this change was made possible by the fact that 9,000 volumes of American history, law, philosophy, sociology, political science, economics, and labor practices were made available in each of the USIS libraries throughout Italy.

About 550 titles of the most important books on these subjects by American authors have been translated into and printed in Italian.

Another USIS activity is the distribution of films portraying American life. While the books distributed by the USIS, aside from biographies, appear to be on the highbrow side, largely written by college professors and almost entirely theoretical, the films are the product of business organizations. The list of approximately 500 16 m. m. films shows a full list of oil company travel films of the United States, perhaps 50 March of Time films, a great number of the Department of Agriculture films, and about an equal number of composites made from the news reels of the last few years.

The USIS has a press section. It gets into the office of every Italian daily newspaper, not following the Communist line, a news report compiled in New York and Washington from the combined services of the Associated Press, the United Press, and the International News Service.

This report is wirelessly to Rome by the United States government transmitter and re-edited in Rome and transmitted to the Italian press. Every effort is made to keep the news unbiased. Experience has shown this policy increases the use in Italian papers. It is delivered free, which detracts from it, but apparently enough is used to justify the cost.

Business, Foreign Policy Adlai Theme

WASHINGTON (AP)—Associates said today Adlai E. Stevenson plans to accuse Republicans of befuddling foreign policy and giving big business too much voice in government.

Stevenson is expected to announce next Tuesday in Chicago he is available again for the Democratic presidential nomination he won in 1952. He will air some of his foreign policy views in a speech tonight at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville. The speech will be carried by the ABC radio network.

The 1952 nominee conferred with former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, former Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman and Democratic national committee officials in an overnight stopover here. From these and other conferences came word that Stevenson, who was reluctant to take the nomination in 1952, now is a determined candidate ready for a battle.

Friends said he plans to call on the "old pros" of politics to run his campaign while volunteers are organized for him on a national basis.

Once he is officially in the race, James Finnigan, former president of the Philadelphia City Council, is expected to be called in to take charge of his campaign. Volunteers will be organized under the general direction of Barry Bingham, editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal and president of the Courier-Journal and Louisville Times Co.

Friends said Stevenson can be expected to contend that the Eisenhower administration's handling of international affairs has shown too much bluster and talk and not enough accomplishment.

On domestic issues, he is represented as feeling that big business has had too great a share in shaping the administration's policies.

Stevenson already has come out for restoration of high, rigid farm price supports, as opposed to the administration's flexible support program. He apparently agrees with the party national committee that what it calls "tax favoritism for the rich" and "public power giveaways" will be big issues next year.

Stevenson's aides apparently regard Gov. Averell Harriman of New York as one of the greatest threats to their man. Harriman has said he is not going into any primaries but he is expected to seek a "favorite son" designation from New York.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee is likely to be a primary contender and he and Stevenson might clash head on in some of these tests. The Stevenson camp seems confident of disposing of Kefauver on some battlefield yet to be selected.

In the South, Stevenson's associates believe they are much better off than they were in 1952, when their candidate lost four states to President Eisenhower.

They were reassured by the recent statement by Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) that he doesn't see how Stevenson can possibly lose the nomination. Russell was the South's candidate in 1952 but has said he won't run again.

Resigns

Peter A. Strobel, commissioner of public buildings, resigned, it was announced in Washington by the General Services Administration, the agency under which the commissioner works. He was under fire for his interest in a firm of consulting engineers.

Rescuers Seek Trapped Miner

STANSBURY, Wyo. (AP)—Rescuers searched today for a miner trapped by a rock and coal cave-in and presumed dead. Another man was found crushed to death, and a third brought to safety.

George Chenchar, 54, was unaccounted for in the Union Pacific Coal Co.'s No. 7 mine.

The three men were trapped and two others injured yesterday afternoon. No hope was held for finding Chenchar alive.

Company officials could give no cause for the cave-in. Louis Julius, 38, was freed after he huddled seven hours under his coal loading machine. Doctors said he apparently escaped serious injury.

The body of John Nesbitt, 43-year-old mine foreman, was found a few yards from the spot where Julius was rescued. Rescuers dug through about 20 feet of debris to reach Julius. Nichols was freed by other miners.

DATES LISTED

Texas Political Calendar Is Out

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN (AP)—The first of the 1956 state political calendars was out today, sharply studded with dates vital to voters, politicians and democracy.

It comes to a climax Nov. 6, general election day, but usually in Texas by that time everything but the shouting is over.

Most politicians list Jan. 31 as the most important day of all. The law says that your poll tax—which gives you the right to vote—must be paid between Oct. 1 and Feb. 1.

Without that poll tax most voters are not entitled to take part in precinct conventions, the first of which comes May 5; or vote in the primaries, or in the general election. This date and others apply equally to both parties.

The calendar issued by the Stock Co. lists more than 100 dates for certain acts in election year. Many are important only to candidates and county or party officials, but here are some you voters should underline:

April 24—County chairmen must post notice of time and place of precinct conventions on county courthouse bulletin board. This is a safeguard against hastily trumped-up secret precinct conventions.

April 27—Time and place of county convention posted.

May 5—Precinct conventions to name delegates to each party's county conventions, which follow May 8. The county conventions name delegates to the May 22 state conventions.

It is at precinct conventions that qualified voters may have their only real, personal voice in presidential election years. The makeup and thinking of the county and state conventions—which select delegates to the national party conventions—are actually decided on the precinct level.

May 22—State conventions to name national presidential convention delegates.

July 8—Absentee voting starts for first primary.

July 28—First primary. In Texas it usually decides who will be governor, or which Democratic candidates will have a runoff Aug. 25.

July 28—Precinct conventions held again to select delegates for the Aug. 4 county conventions. The county conventions name delegates to the second state convention Sept. 11.

This second series of conventions in presidential election years give the candidates for governor a platform on which to run and state executive committees to help them. The so-called September

"governor's convention" has in some recent years been the scene of bitter battles for party machinery control.

Nov. 6—General election. Will it be cut-and-dried Democratic in Texas next year, or will it be revolutionary as in 1952 when the state went Republican for the first time in a century?

'Hard Luck Kid' Has Operation

DALLAS (AP)—Floyd Holt, 15, a leading contender for the "hard luck kid" title, underwent a successful eight-hour operation yesterday for the removal of a piece of shrapnel from his heart.

The Greggton youth is also a survivor of polio and rheumatic fever.

A piece of steel casing about two inches long was removed from his heart, liver and diaphragm in the long operation. Doctors said that barring complications he should get along all right.

Stricken with polio at 4, Floyd was 7 when he was injured by flying steel when he and other children exploded a souvenir artillery shell against a tree while playing in Paris, Tex.

Doctors decided not to remove the steel casing from his heart but had to operate on his arm which had been damaged in the blast.

Two years later he fell out of a swing and crushed his right elbow. Last summer he caught rheumatic fever.

Propaganda Awaited

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials said today they expected a three-month blast of Soviet propaganda blaming the United States for blocking free exchanges of persons.

A Bible Thought For Today

And said, If thou wilt diligently hearken to the voice of the LORD thy God, and wilt do that which is right in his sight, and wilt give ear to his commandments, and keep all his statutes, I will put none of these diseases upon thee, which I have brought upon the Egyptians: for I am the LORD that healeth thee. Dividends For Knowledge

By way of the Driver Education Program of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs we have learned some interesting insurance angles relating to the value of teaching boys and girls how to drive while they are in high school.

A typical case applicable to the Austin area is cited, when the car is operated by drivers in four classifications. With the basic liability limited to $5,000 per person, $10,000 per accident, and $5,000 property damage, here are the premium rates for each classification:

1. No driver under 25 and not customarily driven to and from work: $28.
2. Boy age 14 to 25 in driver: $45.
3. Girl age 14 to 25 in driver: $37.
4. Boy or girl under 25 is principal operator or owner of car: $55.

Collision ($50 deductible), for each of the four classifications as listed above: $40, $65, $54 and $79.

And here is the pay off: There is a 10 per cent reduction in premium for drivers under 25 who have completed driver training as prescribed. Thus the properly trained driver under No. 2 above, whose total annual premium is $110 a year would save $11 a year, or $110 in ten years; No. 3, whose total premium would be $91 a year, would save $9.10 per year, or $91 in ten years; and No. 4, whose premium would be $134 per year would save $13.40 per year or $134 in ten years.

In these days of ever-rising premiums on public liability insurance, these savings are distinctly worthwhile. The parent of a high school pupil should be interested in having his child take driver training for two very good reasons: the 10 per cent reduction on insurance premium, and the increased safety of the child while operating a motor vehicle. There is another compelling reason: the child who is trained to drive is less likely to smash up somebody else's car, or run over somebody.

The Driver Education program looks like sound commonsense.

The Democrats Take Heart

Democrats took a look at the returns from various state and municipal elections Tuesday and rejoiced, as well they may. The returns seemed to confirm their claim that a tide has set in, and that 1956 will be a Democratic year from city ward to White House.

Republicans could brush off the results in Kentucky and Philadelphia, on the ground the Democrats were sure to win there anyhow. But Indiana was something else again, and it was in Indiana that the Democrats saw confirmation of their claim that a definite nationwide trend has set in their favor. For in Indiana where Republican mayors had outnumbered Democratic mayors 70 to 32, Tuesday's results were rather startling — 72 Democratic mayors were elected as against only 30 Republicans.

Here and there the Republicans found a few crumbs of comfort in the returns, but it was a Democratic day.

Kentucky elected Harry Chandler as governor over a strong Republican opponent, Edwin R. Denney, which wasn't unexpected; but the fact that a controversial figure like Chandler could roll up a majority of perhaps 150,000 over a highly respected opponent seems to support the theory that the Democratic tide is rolling.

In Philadelphia the results were equally significant. Democrat Richardson Dilworth defeated Republican W. Thacher Longstreth, who claimed to bear the personal endorsement of President Eisenhower, and who dropped the President's name in practically every speech he made, by 132,000 votes in the mayoralty race. This, on top of the triumph of a Democratic as governor last year gave further comfort to Democratic hopes.

The Solid South wavered in 1952, and four states went Republican. If the Democratic trend is as real as Democratic leaders believe, the South will again be solid in 1956 regardless of the identity of the GOP nominee.

Youth's Outlook Still Full Of Faith

American youth is much the same today as it was yesterday and the day before, and the day before that: full of faith in a better world for all.

At 22, Robert Frost, one of the world's most distinguished poets, has seen this faith animating and connecting four decades of American college students.

"They all believe in salvation through Kingdom Come on Earth," said the white-haired poet who came to town from his Vermont farm to take part in "Dateline II," the color spectacular of the Overseas Press Club, to be seen on NBC at 8 p.m. (EST) on Monday, Nov. 14.

"They're good kids today, much the same as they've always been," said the man who has been a visiting lecturer at Amherst, Dartmouth, Yale, Chapel Hill, Northwestern, Stanford, the University of California and a score of other American colleges since before World War I.

"I think of them in decades. Today, students still believe, as they always have, in salvation through Kingdom Come on Earth. Today, they believe in this salvation through sociology which will fix up the state so that everyone will be happy and well off.

"Now in the decade of the 'thirties, they definitely believed in that salvation through some kind of Marxism. It was a Russian decade. But they don't believe in that any more. Not now.

"Today, they have this faith in sociology. They have not yet transferred this faith to science. I keep wondering what these young men are doing, that they ignore science and its philosophy, when it is so exciting.

"We aren't producing anything like the number of scientists the government and industry need. They keep advertising for more and more, and offering better and better jobs. I think I'll try for one of those jobs myself," said the poet, a sturdy, comfortable, humorous man who wears lightly his wisdom and his honors, including four Pulitzer Prizes. A new volume of poems is now in progress.

Mr. Frost brushed a bothersome lock of white hair out of his lively, deep-blue eyes and said that this is "a quiet time for students. They are thinking it over in this decade. They are not cynical, but rather skeptical of education and what it is all about.

"There is danger in schools, but it is the danger of conformity. An individualist," he said and laughed at himself, "is looked upon as just another cranky Yankee.

"They want safety, and poetry and art are trouble," he said, and his smile widened. "Every American is confident that his family won't produce any such freak as a poet or an artist. Yet, 'lone wolf, freedom is essential to man."

This rugged individualist of the old school, who believes in character rather than security as man's best bet, spoke briefly of Existentialism, and its definition as the belief that the only salvation of man is to give up hope.

"That's a terrible belief, isn't it?" he demanded. "I live on hope: hope of a good luncheon in a few moments, of good weather tomorrow and of spring in the offing."

La Monroe Improves Her Mind

NEW YORK — "I've never been happier in my life."

That's what Marilyn Monroe said, and it appeared to be true. She smiles readily and talks excitedly about her interest in acting, plays, books and living in general. She also indicated she was ready for romance.

"My divorce decree from Joe DiMaggio became final — finally," she remarked. "I haven't been going out. But now — who knows?"

Marilyn's day in New York begins early. She spends much of her mornings observing the classes of Lee Strasberg, the dramatic coach whose pupils include Marlon Brando, James Dean, Julie Harris, Shelley Winters. She also attends classes at his actors' studio.

"I do all kinds of roles," she said.

But so far no Shakespeare. She reads Shakespeare, however. I asked her which plays of his she liked.

"She pondered and then smiled, "no comment." She added: "I am not going to get into the same thing I did with 'The Brothers Karamazov.' She was aware of the vast amount of kidding she se-ceived for expressing a desire to do that Russian novel on the screen.

"It didn't bother me," she commented. "I knew they hadn't read the book. Or if they had, they had forgotten it."

"Actually, it would make a wonderful movie. Samuel Goldwyn himself told me that. I'll take his word for it."

When she isn't studying dramatics, Marilyn often will stroll around the museums and book stores. She enthused about a metropolitan exhibit of Goya, her favorite artist.

Don't the crowds bother her?

"Not terribly," she said. "I have a few disguises that work pretty well. I won't tell you what they are, because that would give me away."

She reads a great deal, is now plowing through James Joyce's "Ulysses." It's a novel that baffles some college professors, but Marilyn said it makes sense.

This past year in New York has gone faster than any she can remember, she said. She left no doubt that she intends to remain a New Yorker for some time to come.

Rough Awakening For The World

WASHINGTON — There was a rough awakening this week for those who thought Russia's milder manner in 1955 was due to weakness or that the "Spirit of Geneva" was anything more than nice talk.

When the Russians earlier this year shifted from the longstanding verbal brutalities of Stalin to a friendlier tone, there were some in this country who interpreted this as a sign Moscow needed to relax tensions.

They thought internal problems were forcing the Russians to cut down on the arms race. It would have been more realistic to look upon the change in the Russian manner as simply a shift in tactics—as many did.

The iron stand taken by Russia this week at the Big Four foreign ministers conference in Geneva was not that of a weak country, anxious to bargain or make concessions, but that of a strong and self-confident country.

The Russians yielded nothing to the West, and Russia has been frozen for years. If anyone yields now, there is nothing to indicate it will be the Russians. They're doing all right, it seems.

They can afford to stand stiff to see if the West caves in a bit. The Russians have the West worried with the inroads they've been making in the Middle East. The West, which seemed sound asleep there, may have to make big and costly efforts to overcome Russian initiative in that area.

Or, the West may have to make concessions elsewhere, perhaps in Europe to make the Russians back up a bit, if they will. As for Germany, right now it's a stand-off between Russia and the West.

The Western Powers are, and have been, anxious to get Germany unified and tied into the Western alliances. The Russians want the Germans, if they ever are permitted to unite, tied in with Russians.

At the moment the West has West Germany on its side, the Russians have East Germany. From their viewpoint, there's no practical reason for permitting German unification now. In fact, they may gain by waiting.

The best friend the West has in West Germany is Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He's old and sick and may die or have to leave office soon. Not even all of Adenauer's West Germans want military alliance with the West.

The Russians can afford to stand stiff, yielding nothing on Germany, until Adenauer leaves the scene and his successors take over. In their desire for German unity, they may be willing to sever their Western ties and deal directly with Moscow.

The Russians paved the way for their doing just that when they recently established diplomatic relations with the West German government for the first time since the war.

The failure of the Geneva conference to get agreement between the West and Russia on anything of importance will be described as the end of the "Geneva spirit."

The correct question at this point is: What Geneva spirit? At Geneva last summer President Eisenhower and Russian Premier Bulganin got along pleasantly. They parted

Thanks, Pop, You Saw Hell, Too

NEW YORK — If on this Veteran's Day some aging G.I. starts reminiscing about St. Mihiel or Chateau Thierry, don't offend him by asking:

"What in the world are you talking about?"

Those words are carved deep in his heart—as are other words like "Belleau Wood" and the "Argonne Forest"—and he finds it saddening that a younger generation remembers so little of names that once stirred all America.

For it was in places like these he lost part of his youth. The Aisne-Marne looms larger in his memory than the Mason-Dixon Line, and in his mind the poppies are still blowing in Flanders Fields.

He is a survivor of the 20th Century's first great conflict, and he feels that in his own lifetime his own sacrifices are now largely overlooked. And he is not without considerable justification for this viewpoint.

In every war many soldiers feel they are fighting on a forgotten front. The troops in the Pacific islands felt that way in World War II. So did the troops in Italy.

Pop is slowly being swallowed amid the masses of newer and younger veterans.

Yet it was in no bush league war that Pop won both his scars and his medals.

It was a classic conflict involving 27 nations and 65,038,810 troops. The total casualties were 37,508,686, of whom 8,338,315 were killed in combat or died.

The American nation put 4,355,000 men under arms. It suffered 364,800 casualties, including 128,000 deaths. Some 17 nations still owe the United States more than 17 billion dollars from that war.

It was a war in which the submarine, airplane and tank — three decisive weapons of the World War II — first saw widespread battle use. Three weapons it lacked: "K" rations, the Jeep, the atom bomb.

Time is steadily whittling down Pop and his doughboy buddies of the past. A man drafted at 25 in 1917 today is 63 years old — only 2 years short of pension age. An American Legion friend of mine estimated several years ago that World War I veterans were dying at the rate of 84 a day. They are reaching age levels now where death calls more often.

Pop can be forgiven if now and then he grumbles. "The only guy in our crowd that hasn't been forgotten is the Unknown Soldier."

So now on Veteran's Day, let's lift a glass to some real vintage soldiers of the years 1917-18.

Thanks, Pop, thanks! Keep living!

Time has a way of dimming most wars, but they rarely are forgotten while the men who fought them are still alive. Many veterans of World War I, however, are gloomily convinced that their war has been forgotten pretty much by everyone except themselves.

The "retreads"—World War I veterans who also served in World War II—took a heavy verbal beating from their younger comrades, who often told them mockingly:

"Pop, never mind telling us about your little war. If you'd done the right kind of a job in your war to end all wars, we wouldn't be here fighting this one. That's why we're over here—to finish the job you started."

And poor middle-aged Pop had to take it and laugh. The kids had him outnumbered. They still do.

As of a year ago, America's veterans numbered 20 million. Of these some 80 per cent, or 15,424,000, were veterans of World War II, and 3,033,000 had served since the start of the Korean campaign in June 1950.

Pop is slowly being swallowed amid the masses of newer and younger veterans.

Yet it was in no bush league war that Pop won both his scars and his medals.

An American Legion friend of mine estimated several years ago that World War I veterans were dying at the rate of 84 a day. They are reaching age levels now where death calls more often.

Pop can be forgiven if now and then he grumbles. "The only guy in our crowd that hasn't been forgotten is the Unknown Soldier."

So now on Veteran's Day, let's lift a glass to some real vintage soldiers of the years 1917-18.

Thanks, Pop, thanks! Keep living!

Around The Rim

Arizona Okay For Vacation, But . . .

Arizona is no place to take a vacation in the wintertime. Or the best, according to your liking for crowds.

We recently took a short vacation out Arizona way, and got in with the first of the winter crowds. That was a nearly perfect situation — the state wasn't overflowing with other tourists and it wasn't practically empty of visitors, either. We heartily recommend to people who don't like big crowds but who also don't enjoy being alone, that they visit the state of their choice at the beginning of the tourist season, when everything is set up for the rush but before the mobs arrive.

Being now an old veteran of holidaying, we'll pass on some observations for what they're worth:

Texas are the world's speediest drivers. We noted automobiles from practically all states heading west, but the only ones passing everything else on the road were from Texas.

Texas on vacation also are the friendliest. Hardly a Texas license plate passed us either way but we got a honk or a wave.

There are signs all over Arizona warning of radar-active cops, but we didn't even see one, much less get chased.

There's not a great deal more to Tucson than in most other cities of similar size, but the climate is perfect and it's an excellent spot to headquarter from in seeing the Great Southwest. Good for just loafing, too.

Some of the most beautiful scenery in Arizona is to be seen high in the mountains off the beaten path, but don't go exploring in anything less rugged than a Jeep. (Fishing's excellent in these isolated spots.)

Enter the Southwest armed with plenty of extra blankets. Tourist courts abound, but people do manage to get stuck in the most unlikely places, and those desert nights are chilly.

A few cans of beans not only help in case you get lost on a country road — they are easier on the pocketbook, too.

And don't miss the Grand Canyon.

Arizona's a pretty wonderful place, but we still love Texas.

Forecasters Jumping The Gun

NEW YORK — Business forecasts for 1956 are popping out all over the place — and ahead of schedule.

Businessmen usually don't indulge in the gente art of soothsaying before mid-December. This year they're out in force already.

And with few exceptions they're predicting a continuation of good times at least until midyear.

Some guess that 1956 will see sizable more prosperity than 1955. Most, however, hold that the rate of gain will slow down from now on, but with times fully as good and maybe better than at present.

The reason people are curious about next year at so early a date may be two-fold: 1. With business so unexpectedly good, many are asking, "How long can it last?"; 2. The President's illness focused attention early on what might happen to business in the coming year.

Even at the time he was stricken, most businessmen agreed that the momentum of the boom would carry through the rest of this year. Now, it's generally agreed that business confidence hasn't been weakened.

There have been announcements of new plans for building more plants and for increasing industrial capacity by adding improved equipment.

Industries included in these new plans for construction — much of it next year are: Steel, oil, chemicals, glass, paper, aluminum, aviation, electrical equipment, motors and utilities.

With so much building assured, the boom will have one of its props well bolstered. The home building industry also predicts more than one million new homes will be built next year, down only a little from this year. The other big prop, the auto industry, is especially vocal right now with predictions of another big year ahead.

With all this optimism about good times continuing, there are nevertheless a few cautions:

These warn of trouble spots that might develop: 1. Falling farm income; 2. Soaring record consumer debts and mortgage totals; 3. The chance that the present trend toward building up inventories might lead to a glut and thus to a cutback in orders; 4. The unrest in a world still just testing out "the spirit of Geneva"; and 5. The uncertainties that plague every presidential election year and threaten to be unusually worrisome in the coming one.

But even the worriers agree that real trouble hasn't shown on the horizon yet. So the businessmen now predicting good times in 1956, may very well be proven right.

Soviet Leopard Hasn't Changed Spots

WASHINGTON — Soviet Russia's declaration of war against the western world — has been reaffirmed by Vice Premier Lazar Kaganovich.

Disregarding entirely the "Geneva Spirit" and virtually expressing contempt for the arguments of western statesmen, the Soviet spokesman in a public speech on the anniversary of the Red revolution says:

"Under the banner of Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin we have triumphed and will continue to triumph to full victory under communism.

This isn't just "political" communism which the vice premier is talking about, but the communism of an aggressor nation. It infiltrates the governments of neighboring territory, or else puts the troops of Communist armies of occupation into such areas to terrorize the people and prevent free elections.

The Soviet regime for ten years, since the close of World War II, has been carrying on its conspiracy to overthrow governments from within and these "triumphs" now stretch from Eastern Europe to Eastern and Southeast Asia with notable acquisition of strength in the Middle East.

The aggressive action of the Soviet Union has been constant. It has brought into its orbit of control hundreds of millions of persons. The western world, which has been anxious to negotiate an "compromise" or a "modus vivendi" or some sort of agreement to permit "peaceful coexistence," is being told now that in effect only unconditional surrender will be accepted by the Communist regime in Moscow.

The latest news from the Geneva conference underlines the uncompromising attitude of the Kremlin. Reunification of Germany has been brushed aside by Foreign Minister Molotov as "premature." Actually he has denounced the idea of "free elections" and brazenly contends that the "all-German" state he has in mind must be a coalition dictated by the Kremlin. It's the story all over again of Poland after Yalta.

The Allied statesmen have been trying to make the best of a bad situation. They have endeavored to appear optimistic. They have exercised a sort of self-restraint in public expression so as not to offend the Russians or aggravate the situation generally. But it is all in vain. The Soviet has misconstrued the western attitude as one of craven weakness.

The diplomatic way out of such an impasse is to propose another conference. When the whole world has propagandized on the issue of a "conference at the summit" public expectation of a success was so pronounced that the failure to agree on anything substantial led to a formula of postponement or deferred action — the plan for a meeting of the Big Four ministers. This meeting was described by the President last summer as "the acid test."

Now the "acid test" has come and the Russians are intransigent. The Geneva spirit has been considerably changed and the negotiations are back where they have been for the last ten years — with an adamant, unyielding Russia seeking world domination and repeatedly saying "no" to the West.

The foreign ministers of Britain, France and the United States, fortunately, are united in rejecting the Molotov proposals. They show their displeasure publicly. This may bring about some slight modification by the Russians which can be hailed as a "concession" and then a plan will be announced for another four-power conference to be held in the spring.

This device helps to sustain the hopes of those who think that the Russians can be worn down. But they never have exhibited any such exhaustibility heretofore and there is no reason to believe they will make any material concessions.

There are, on the other hand, some on the western side who are preaching defeatism and appeasement. As long as the Soviets think public opinion in the western countries is willing to buy peace at any price there is less likely to be any yielding on anything essential by the Russians.

Little by little the world is being educated painfully on the subject of Russian belligerency and rigidity of purpose. The Kremlin announces openly it is embarked on a world struggle to secure the triumph of communism which, of course, means Communist imperialism and Communist tyranny.

The oppressed peoples in eastern Europe have had no illusions. They have been waiting for the western statesmen to wake up to the realities and they have felt all along that in the end the Geneva conferences would prove the faithlessness of the Russians and, hence, would have a great value in enlightening the western world. This is the best product of the "Geneva spirit" to date.

Ike's Doctor Begins Survey Of U. S. Medics For Heart Data

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist directing President Eisenhower's treatment, began a nationwide survey among doctors today to learn how common such heart disease is in America and what has happened to the victims.

The survey will determine how many have had acute coronary thrombosis attacks like that of the President, what percentage are still alive and what proportion have been able to return to work.

In a letter published in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Assn., he asked "all physicians in this country" to supply him by letter with information on their heart patients.

He said he is seeking the data "since the current illness of President Eisenhower has brought acute coronary thrombosis still more into the limelight than it has ever been before and since it is important to have more information on the prevalence of this disease in the United States today."

A spokesman for the AMA Journal said Dr. White did not say what he intended to do with the information.

Dr. White, who visited with the President yesterday and was to fly back to Washington with him today, could not be reached immediately for comment.

Dr. White requested physicians to supply him with this information:

1. The number of patients they attended who suffered acute coronary thrombosis heart attacks
2. The victims' sex and ages, their occupations and their national origins, and the length of time between the attacks and any deaths.
3. How many patients who suffered such heart attacks more than three months before that of the President are still living.
4. How many of these patients are back at full-time or part-time work, invalided or already retired before the attack, or who have retired since on the basis of age.

He urged that physicians who see his notice advise other physicians about it "and try to get as many as possible to send in their answers."

from Sept. 24—the day Mr. Eisenhower was stricken—through Oct. 23.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Ike Stricken Nearly Seven Weeks Ago

DENVER (AP)—It will be seven weeks ago tomorrow that President Eisenhower suffered the heart attack that shocked the world.

The President entered Fitzsimons Army Hospital at 2:30 p.m. Sept. 24, just about 12 hours after he had the attack at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud.

In the days and weeks that followed, his convalescence has been a steady upward climb, unmarred by complications. Here are the high spots along the President's recovery road:

First week

Sept. 25-26 — Dr. Paul Dudley White, eminent Boston heart specialist, visits the President; tells newsmen that his prospects for recovery are "reasonably good" and if his progress continues, he should be "physically able" to serve a second term if he wishes.

Sept. 28 — Oxygen tent removed although routine use at night continued; President allowed to listen to music in tape recordings.

Sept. 29 — Army nurse reads to President from magazine; oxygen used for last time.

Sept. 30 — As first official act since attack, President signs two promotion lists for State Department.

Second week

Oct. 1 — President has "excellent" night, first time this descriptive used.

Oct. 2 — President reported "a little tired" and "did not feel as well as usual." However, he was rested and refreshed the following morning.

Oct. 3 — Eisenhower has longest work session since his attack.

Third week

Oct. 8 — Dr. White pays second visit to President and Vice President Nixon also confers with Eisenhower as he safely passes the period of probable greatest danger of a relapse.

Oct. 9 — Dr. White, saying the "news is good," outlines program to keep Eisenhower at hospital four or five weeks longer.

Oct. 10 — Eisenhower gets outdoors first time, sunning himself on hospital terrace.

Oct. 11 — Holds conference with Secretary of State Dulles.

Oct. 13 — Eisenhower has first cup of coffee since attack; likes it black.

Oct. 14 — President observes 65th birthday with gifts pouring in from all over the world; doctor's report that cardiogram, which shows how heart is healing, "stabilized at satisfactory rate."

Fourth week

Oct. 15 — Daily cardiograms abandoned.

Oct. 16 — President sits in chair.

Oct. 18 — Sunbathes in wheelchair for first time.

Oct. 20 — Eisenhower has first social visitor other than family and administration — Clifford J. Roberts, New York investment banker.

Fifth week

Oct. 22 — Dr. White files here for third examination of President; says Eisenhower should leave hospital week of Nov. 5-12; decision whether to run again is up to President.

Oct. 23 — President stands unaided; steps on scales which show he lost four pounds since he became ill.

Oct. 25 — Takes first steps, bed to easy chair; poses on sun terrace for first news photos.

Oct. 27 — President shaves self for first time since attack; holds longest business conference, 45 minutes.

Oct. 28 — Leaves eighth-floor hospital suite for first time; goes in wheelchair and elevator to third floor for X-rays and fluoroscopic examinations.

Sixth week

Oct. 30 — Eisenhower takes longest walk of convalescence, 30 to 40 feet into corridor.

Oct. 31 — Phrase "without complications" dropped from medical bulletins as no longer needed.

Nov. 3 — Discards wheelchair, walks around terrace; probability grows President will leave hospital Nov. 11.

Seventh week

Nov. 5 — Eisenhower climbs first steps in recovery period, using two steps up to hospital room.

Nov. 6 — Dr. White examines President for fourth time.

Nov. 7 — Not physically able to decide whether to seek a second term.

Dr. White, in his final news conference here, said the President "has been a very cooperative patient in body, mind and soul. . . happily, his heart is also cooperative."

6 Students Die In Crash

GLENCOE, Minn. (AP)—Six Minnesota high school students—four boys and two girls—were killed last night in a grade crossing accident in nearby Plato.

Sheriff Leon Odgaard said the car was smashed "so badly I don't think a junk yard would want it."

Bits of metal and the broken bodies were scattered 200 yards along the Milwaukee railroad tracks, he said.

He identified five of the dead as Milton Brejle, and Maurice Olson, both about 18, from Plato; Robert Luedtke, 18, and Roger Frauendienst, 17, both of nearby New Auburn, and Margaret Fuller about 18, of Plato.

The sheriff said the body of the sixth victim, a girl, was so badly mutilated identification could not be made immediately.

'Texas Tower' Contracts Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy today awarded contracts for building two additional "Texas tower" radar warning platforms off the northeast coast. It also disclosed plans for still another one.

One of the towers will be erected 84 miles southeast of New York City in 120 feet of water and the second one in Nantucket Shoals, southeast of Cape Cod, in 80 feet of water.

The contract went to J. Rich Steers Inc. and Morrison-Knudsen Inc. both of New York, for a total cost of $10,431,000.

An additional tower is to be put up on Cashes Ledge, 90 miles east of Portland, Maine, in 50 feet of water. The contract for this third tower in the current year's construction program has not been awarded.

Installation of the first tower is now nearing completion 110 miles east of Cape Cod.

When completed, the towers will be manned and operated by the Air Force as part of the coastal warning system.

Proper Food Shown Good For Figure DALLAS (AP)—Research at Texas State College for Women shows that proper food selection will result in more vitality, prettier skin and better figures for college girls. That was the report of Dr. Pauline Beery Mack, dean and director of research at TSCW, to show school officials and newsmen here.

Dr. Mack said that studies show that teen agers, particularly teen girls, are the poorest nourished of non-adults. "But we felt we had hung enough crepe over the fact that the teen ager is undernourished," she said. "We decided to find out what can be done about it."

Some 122 TSCW girls volunteered for the nutrition study for an entire school year. Dr. Mack said all of the girls in the project showed considerable improvement because of the well rounded meals and better snack-time selections they learned to make.

Most significant was the fact that girls showing the greatest improvement used 30 to 35 per cent fat in their diet. This group received whole milk, food cooked with vegetable shortening, salad dressing containing cottonseed oil and margarine three times a day. Three other groups had the same full menu, one without margarine, another without shortening or oils, a fourth without any of the fats.

No girl became overweight on the high fat diet. Those on the low fat were hungry and a number gained weight, Dr. Mack said. About half the girls had acne at the start of the study. Improvement showed up best in the high fat group and next best in the second high fat group.

Jesus Teaches How to Live

CHRIST TAUGHT US TO DO TO OTHERS AS WE WOULD HAVE THEM DO TO US.

Scripture—Luke 6:17-49.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IN CONTRAST to last week's lesson in which there were too many incidents to include in a half-hour of teaching, today's is short, but full of the most helpful suggestions for living a Christian life as Christ would have us.

For the younger children Dr. Wilbur M. Smith suggests that the matter of rewards would be of interest to them as they are common in the life of any child. Parents reward their children for good conduct; teachers give prizes for correct attitudes both for good work in studies and behavior in school and on the playground.

None of us can be as perfect as Jesus was, but we can learn of His teaching in the Bible and try to follow it.

After appointing the twelve apostles, Jesus came down to the plain and a great multitude of people from far and near gathered, from Judaea, Jerusalem and from the sea coast of Tyre released from quarantine he ran joyfully out to play, but his playmates were afraid to play with him at first, and he went running to his mother in an anguish of tears.

If you are so isolated from your fellows, rejoice if it is for a good, not an evil cause.

"Love your enemies, do good to them which hate you, bless them that curse you, and pray for them that despitefully use you."

The other teachings of Christ about turning the other cheek, giving to every man that asks of you; not asking the persons who took your goods to give them back again, may be summed up in Jesus' next saying: "And as ye would that men should do unto you, do ye also to them likewise."

Loving those who love us is natural; everyone does that, but if you can teach yourself to love people who do not like you and slander you, you are getting near to Christ, who, on the cross, suffering agony, prayed, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

"Be ye merciful, as your Father also is merciful. Judge not, and ye shall not be judged; condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned; forgive, and ye shall be forgiven."

Such are the rewards of those who follow Christ's teachings. If we are blind to our own faults, we will be like the blind man who tries to lead the blind, as Jesus illustrated in his parable. We blame others for their evil doings but often fail to realize that we too are liable to sin.

"And why callest thou Me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" asked Jesus, and likened the one who did not do to a man who built a house on the sands, which when a great storm came was destroyed. The good man he likened to a man who built his house upon a rock, which stood firm through the storm.

Almost every child has had the experience some time or other of being avoided by other children for some reason, and knows the heartbreak that comes with such ostracism.

I well remember one small boy who had been seriously ill with a contagious disease. When he was based on copyrighted outline produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.

Explanation of More Difficult Clues

- CLUES ACROSS:
- A Sly person may be easy enough to make friends with, but, being Sly, difficult to really get to know. The reverse is often true of a Sly person who, once the ice is broken, will hold nothing back. Sly is not favored and furthermore is a noun, whereas the expression "such a person" calls for an adjective such as Sly.
 - Face is best. One cannot judge a man at all by his Race, which rules that out. One cannot judge him fairly by his Face, which is not necessarily a reliable indication.
 - Generally true of the show Now on Broadway. Furthermore, Now is more comprehensive because the shows Now on Broadway include those that happen to be New.
 - Seat best fits the idea of "sitting". A Seat, particularly, might make you want to sit down. The Heat is just as likely to make you want to lie down.
 - Huddle is best. When an emergency arises our government leaders are said to get into a Huddle in an endeavor to work out means of meeting the emergency. It would be unfair to say that our politicians are so incompetent as to all get into a Huddle when an emergency arises.
 - Dress, on the "first night". She hasn't got to worry about her Press, and what they have to say, until the next morning.
 - Art is preferred. Why does the clue mention critics especially? Most ordinary people will appreciate a first-class Act. It takes skilled preception (as of art critics) to enjoy the best in Art.
 - A really well-organized community would be a healthy one with Rickets practically eliminated. Rickets could be minimized, or kept under control, but it would take more than good organization to make them practically non-existent. Rickets is too weak.
 - Let off, perhaps; but if not Let off, marched, rather than Led, off to the guard-room.

- CLUES DOWN:
- The clue clearly implies that the answer must be masculine, favoring Rake. Fake need not be a man at all. It could equally well be a woman.
 - "Lead to", suggesting in the near future favors Law. Break your Jaw and the suffering will be immediate. One hardly speaks of breaking a Paw.
 - A man is "driven" so to speak, from behind—as by a Good. Cold lures him on, rather than drives him. Good is too weak.
 - The dances would only appear to be Furious ("full of violent rage"). Actually a dance would not be Furious. The explorer might well be intrigued by the Curious tribal dances.
 - Relent best fits the clue. Repent of your sins, and your conscience must be easier. There is no "may be" about it. It may be easier when you Relent; on the other hand it may not be easier, since Relenting can be a sign of strength or weakness.
 - Place is best. The phrase "hold one's Peace" is incompatible with "a bit of a weakling." A man who can't hold his Place in a team, for example, may be thought a bit of a weakling.
 - Firm, yes; but it is goods, rather than large sums in cash, that are actually lost in a Fire.

How To Care For Hair

Julie Bishop, soon to be seen in Republic's "Headline Hunters," has beautiful hair that comes from excellent care. She passes on her routine.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Plenty Of Shampooing Keeps Hair Beautiful

By LYDIA LANE HOLLYWOOD—Julie Bishop has done a great deal of television work, but I've always felt that television doesn't do her justice. She is not nearly as attractive on the black and white TV screen as she appears when you see her in person and can get the full impact of her beautiful red hair.

I visited Julie on the set of "Headline Hunters" at Republic Studios and during a lull in the shooting we chatted about beauty. "I suppose you've been hearing compliments about your hair ever since you can remember," I told her.

"I think that's true with most redheads," she said with her gracious smile.

But Julie's hair has that polished look which comes from excellent care. I've never seen her once when her coiffure wasn't perfect and I told her this.

"My hair looks best when it's clean," Julie explained, "so I've formed the habit of washing it about every other day. I know some people feel that it isn't good to wash your hair that often but one of the make-up men at the studio told me that the way to get around this without harming your hair is to use a variety of shampoos. He believes that your hair builds up a kind of immunity to one formula. So I have four favorite shampoos and I use a different one each time.

"To have healthy hair you must give your scalp enough stimulation because the hair is nourished by the blood stream.

"I have a little gadget with rubber bristles called a shampoo brush which I use every day. I use it to shampoo my hair and on the days when I don't wash it I use the brush just to stimulate my scalp. I run it over my scalp until it tingles. I like it so much I bought one for my husband," Julie said.

"Of course I don't neglect my regular hair brush," Julie added. "I spend at least 5 or 10 minutes a day brushing. I like a natural bristle brush better than nylon. I sit with my head bent down and brush up and away from the scalp."

"I must say you take very good care of your hair," I remarked. Julie laughed. "I believe in making use of my good points. I always remember that line from Poor Richard's Almanac — 'Hide not your talents. They for use were made. What's a sundial in the shade?'"

Pinay To Seek New Solution Of Saar Issue

GENEVA (AP)—French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay goes to Germany this weekend in quest of a new settlement of the Saar issue which could open the gates to a new campaign for German-French unity.

Significantly, Pinay's visit comes on the heels of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's blast at German reunification at the foreign ministers Big Four conference here.

The dispute over the Saar has repeatedly poisoned relations between Paris and Bonn, and blocked any real progress toward a broader move toward West European integration.

The proposed scheme for "Europeanization" of the Saar, which was intended as a settlement of these differences, was rejected by the Saarlanders themselves by a two to one margin in a plebiscite last month.

Since then the problem has been left on the shelf in the expectation that the Geneva conference might produce some agreement on German unity and thus change the perspective of the Saar question.

This hope was torpedoed by Molotov when he made clear the Soviet Union will not, at this stage, agree to a unification of East and West Germany unless it is pretty sure of extending the sway of communism.

French and German leaders are now reverting to the belief that the best way to obtain German unification is to establish a pole of attraction in the West based on a prosperous and unified European economy.

Pinay's conferences in Bonn are designed to explore any alternatives to the rejected "Europeanization" plan in the Saar.

Under the "Europeanization" plan the Saar would have had home rule under supervision of a commissioner named by Western European Union, the seven-nation alliance fashioned to bring about West German rearmament.

Both the French and the Germans recognize that the Saar referendum was in effect a vote to return to Germany.

Parents To Come For Arizona Run-Aways

Two 15-year-old run-away boys will be turned over to their parents this afternoon. The youths had run away from Tucson, Ariz., Wednesday.

Juvenile Officer A. E. Long and city police apprehended the boys Thursday morning at the East city limits and held them until contact could be made with relatives in Tucson. Parents of one of the youths called Long Thursday afternoon and told him they would be here this afternoon.

The lads have been held in Juvenile jail. They had hopped a freight from El Paso here Friday morning and were on their way to Fort Worth, they told Long.

Glenda Greenwood, Ninth Grade student in Big Spring Junior High, was crowned as queen of the Yearling football squad last night during the Big Spring-Odessa game. 215 STILL HOLD OUT

Hundreds Of Rebellious Ohio Convicts End Sitdown Strike

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—All but 215 of nearly 1,200 striking convicts at London prison farm have ended their sitdown, Ohio's corrections chief said today.

The 215 holdouts, said M. C. Koblenz, are in one dormitory. They got food last night by raiding a commissary.

At least 590 strikers already are back at work or ready to go back, Koblenz said. Supt. R. B. Eckle was informed. Most of them had gone 24 hours or more without food.

Dormitory No. 7 was where the strike started Wednesday. The 231 men in No. 7 were the first to return as hunger broke the strike. Those men had fasted 48 hours in their protest against alleged failure of prison officials to give them proper credit for the hours they had worked.

Only disturbance reported so far was a raid on the prison commissary last night by food-starved convicts. Miller said guards fired a tear gas shell into a ventilator shaft, by which the convicts gained access, to drive off any stragglers.

The convicts broke into a store room beneath Dormitory 5, Miller said.

Mainly cigarettes and canned goods were taken, he said. Three hungry convicts from rebellious Dormitory 7 met last night with Supt. R. B. Eckle. The superintendent said the trio handed him a petition saying the dormitory had agreed to go back to work.

The petition reportedly was signed by all but four of the 233 inmates.

Officials said prisoners presented two main demands: 1. Proper credit for hours worked. 2. Minimum payment for 200 working hours a month whether an inmate puts in that much time or not.

Eckle told prisoners yesterday that any discrepancies in crediting working hours will be corrected. Convict pay ranges from 8 1/2 cents an hour for those with dependents to 4 cents an hour without dependents. The wage rate is not being disputed.

Throughout early morning hours today, two companies of Ohio National Guard troops were stationed outside prison fences as a precaution against possible violence. They were armed with rifles and eight machine guns.

State highway patrolmen joined the guardmen in their vigil.

LAMESA—New uniforms of the Tornado band will be worn for the first time when the musicians make their appearance at the Monterey-Lamesa game in Lubbock this evening.

The uniforms were delivered in October but for some reason the belts and caps were not included. The natty uniforms are in black and gray with gold trim and white braid. The belts are white plastic and ornamentation is gold. Director of the band is Edward J. Burt.

The football team will have Carl Phelan, fullback, out with an injured knee; Bobby Clement out with a broken arm; Jerry Jones out with a ruptured spleen, but Don Beck, who broke the small bone in his leg weeks ago, may see limited action for the first time.

Coach O. W. Follis may star. Doyle Chapman, Charles Zeek, Johnny Middleton, and Dwayne Powell in the backfield; Dennie Lybrand and Felix Crawford at ends; Joe Hamilton and Gordon Gray at tackles; Charles Hassett and Jerry McKinney at guards; and Tommy Koger, center.

Clear evidence of the passing of the crop season is shown in the monthly operating statistics of the Cap Rock Electric Co-operative.

In September a total of 4,085,190 KWH had been purchased as irrigators rushed to make one last application of water to their cotton. In turn, the system actually sold 3,380,936 KWH. But in October this fell off to 1,366,790 KWH purchased and 1,175,820 sold.

There were gains in the number of miles and customers. At the end of October there were 1,790 miles energized, a gain of five miles for the month. The number of members connected rose from 2,125 in September to 3,271 in October, and thus the density per mile from 1.75 to 1.83, one of the sharpest gains in many months.

The average KWH consumption dropped from 1,082 in September to 359, the average bill from $18.02 in September to $11.97 in October. The number of minimum bills also declined from 325 to 312.

LAMESA—New telephone directories will be mailed Nov. 26, according to Robert E. Saunders, local manager for the General Telephone Company of America.

Names of more than 200 new subscribers are in the new book, along with even additional pages in the classified section. Saunders said that the number of subscribers now had passed the 3,000 mark. He also said that out-of-town firms and individuals wanting copies of the directory would be obliged to write the general headquarters in San Angelo.

Power Sales Show Evidence Of End Of Crop Season

Clear evidence of the passing of the crop season is shown in the monthly operating statistics of the Cap Rock Electric Co-operative.

In September a total of 4,085,190 KWH had been purchased as irrigators rushed to make one last application of water to their cotton. In turn, the system actually sold 3,380,936 KWH. But in October this fell off to 1,366,790 KWH purchased and 1,175,820 sold.

There were gains in the number of miles and customers. At the end of October there were 1,790 miles energized, a gain of five miles for the month. The number of members connected rose from 2,125 in September to 3,271 in October, and thus the density per mile from 1.75 to 1.83, one of the sharpest gains in many months.

The average KWH consumption dropped from 1,082 in September to 359, the average bill from $18.02 in September to $11.97 in October. The number of minimum bills also declined from 325 to 312.

$600,000 In Bids For HCJC Due Dec. 8

Bids may be asked Dec. 8 for construction of $600,000 in improvements at Howard County Junior College.

This date was pegged by trustees at their regular meeting Thursday evening at the college. Dr. P. W. Malone, president of the board, reported final plans should be completed within a matter of days. Project completion date for the improvements would be Sept. 1, 1956, which would permit use of the new classrooms and other facilities for the next fall semester.

Trustees also approved Nov. 18 as a holiday for students in order that instructors and staff members may participate in the Business-Education Day project. They will enter businesses in Big Spring and Howard County during the day to see how these businesses operate.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, HCJC president, told the board that in other places this has fostered even closer teamwork between business and education.

Annual audit by Neil G. Hilliard was accepted by the board, and in addition to appreciation for the audit, Dr. Hunt expressed thanks to the CPA for help all during the year. (A more detailed summary of the audit will appear in Sunday's Herald.) The board also approved the financial statement.

The purchase of 1,800 feet of drainage tile to be used in the new cinder track was approved. The cost approximated $400.

Trustees also viewed a new portable projector capable of flashing sharp images from the projection room to the stage. Previously, they had looked at an arc-type projector. No action was taken, however.

Former Resident Dies In Abilene

Mrs. J. R. Morton, 97, former Howard County resident and granddaughter of Ross Boykin and Zolie Boykin, died in Abilene Thursday evening.

Services will be held in Alpine at the First Baptist Church at 2 p.m. Saturday, and burial will be beside the grave of her husband. Three daughters also preceded her in death.

Mrs. Morton was born in Hartwell, Ga., on Nov. 7, 1858 and came to Texas in 1886 when she and her husband settled in Lee County. In 1910 they moved to Coahoma and were there for several years before going to Alpine. For the past five years she had made her home in Abilene with a daughter, Mrs. G. F. Houghton.

Other survivors include four sons, Jack E. Morton, Abilene, S. R. Morton, Lubbock, J. Fred Morton, London, England, and Will A. Morton, Alpine; and one other daughter, Mrs. D. M. Logan, Colorado City.

Destitute Miner Loses 3rd Son

DENVILLE, N. J. (AP)—A sick and destitute miner has lost his third son from automobile crashes.

Ralph Jenkins, 21, died in St. Clare's Hospital last night. His family, unable to pay for nursing care, had maintained a round-the-clock vigil at his bedside since he was critically injured Sept. 16.

The father, Joseph Jenkins, remained at the family home, sick from asthma and out of work for two years.

The youth had been in a coma since the auto driven by his brother, Grifford, 22, went out of control and smashed into a tree a mile from the home. Grifford was slightly injured.

Their brother, Webur, 31, was one of three killed in a two-car crash on the same road March 21, 1954.

Another brother, Robert, 24, was injured then.

The first death had come Aug. 30, 1951, when Arthur, 37, lost control of his motorcycle and was tossed to his death.

This Little Pig Is An Acrobat

This little pig is determined not to wind up on the dinner plate. Instead, it would rather join an animal act and prove its ability as a performer by walking the barynard on its front feet. Owned by Hugo Lindequist, of Taylor, Texas, the registered Berkshire began walking in this unpigly manner after the mother pig squatted on the baby and rendered its hind legs useless. Mama pig watches closely as baby does its act, but the other members of the family ignore him.

NATIVE STATE

Benson Accused Of Favoring Utah

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—Rep. Wright Patman asserted last night farmers are not represented by Secretary of Agriculture Benson. He implied the secretary favored his own state of Utah.

"If the farmer had a friend in the secretary of agriculture as big business does in government, farmers would be the most prosperous people in the world," Patman told

800 or so attending a $5 fund raising dinner for the Democrats. He said that sugar beets, a major crop in Utah, are supported at 92% per cent of parity while wool, another major Utah product, is supported at more than 100 per cent. (Texas, however, is a great wool state.)

"We want to apply the same rule to all basic commodities all over the United States," he said. Speaker Sam Rayburn, attacking the Republicans again, said of voters in the 1956 election "They're going to see about making a change as soon as they can get to the ballot box."

Rayburn said the Republicans "have not dared to propose to repeal any law the Democrats passed during the past 20 years" and that 80 per cent of the laws passed during the Eisenhower Administration was an extension of "legislation we passed years ago."

Patman, in introducing Rayburn, said he was a presidential possibility and asserted "There is no better qualified man in the world for the job."

Rayburn replied, "I just know that [election to the presidency] just isn't going to happen. I have already gotten a great deal farther in politics than anybody ever thought I'd get, except me."

The two-place Lockheed F-94, upper left, has 48 rockets; single place North American F-86D, lower left, carries 24 rockets and the Northrop F-89D, crested by two men, has 104 rockets in wing-tip pods. In the center is the big Lockheed RC-121D radar picket plane, able to detect incoming aircraft long before they are picked up by coastal radar sites. The Department of Defense says detail has been painted out under this plane for security reasons. The fighters are in the 600 m.p.h. class.

Eagles Planning New Tree Sale

With a record of having sold 2,000 trees last week, the Fraternal Order of Eagles will conduct a second sale Saturday at the lodge hall on West 3rd.

Officials reiterated they were undertaking the project as a civic and beautification one and hence sold the young trees at cost. Except for Chinese elms, which are 25 cents, others cost 50 cents. They include white and green ash, silver leaf maple and redbud.

Last Saturday, J. L. Bowen, 1106 N. Bell, easily won the distinction as the first customer when he showed up at 5:30 a.m. to buy two redbuds, two silver leaf maple and four mimosa.

Officers Continue Search For Houston Clerk; Foul Play Feared

BRENHAM, Tex. (U.S.)—Officers today continued their search for an obscure Houston drug store clerk whose promise to build a $300,000 church had endeared him to this southwest Texas city.

Officers sought William White, also known as Morris White, 32, when he was placed on the missing persons list after his Austin lawyer reported yesterday he had failed to keep an appointment. The attorney feared foul play because he believed White might be carrying $300,000.

Highway patrolmen stopped White near Baird in West Texas. He went on his way after they told him to report to his home.

The patrolmen started looking for him again a short time later after he was charged with stealing $150, part of several thousand dollars Brenham beer distributor Henry Lehmann said he had advanced him.

Officers said White roomed with Lehmann's son in Houston and had attended services at the Zionville Lutheran church near here with the family.

At one of the services he announced he had inherited a large amount of money from his mother and had decided to give $300,000 to build a new church for the congregation. A Brenham banker said White tried to deposit what he said were $300,000 in cashier's checks. The bank refused to take the deposit because White wanted to make an immediate withdrawal of $50,000.

NEW TWIST

Egypt, Italy Said In Armaments Pact

ROME (U.S.)—The Middle East arms race took a new twist today with a report by authoritative sources that Egypt has a contract with an Italian firm for 30 Vampire jet fighters.

If the fighters are delivered—under an agreement reportedly signed six months ago—it would mean Egypt was getting arms from a NATO member as well as from the Communist bloc.

It seemed reasonable certain pressure would be brought on the Italian government to block delivery of the Vampires to check a dangerous arms buildup where Egyptian and Israeli guns are glaring at each other.

The Western Powers favor holding down arms deliveries to both sides, through fear of a major Arab-Jewish conflict.

Egypt already is receiving large shipments of weapons from Communist-governed Czechoslovakia via Russian Black Sea ports. This deal is reported to cover 200 Soviet-built MIG jet fighters and 100 Russian-made tanks plus a half dozen submarines, all at cutrate prices.

A correspondent for the National Broadcasting Co. in Cairo, Wilson Hall, quoted Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser as saying some of the new Communist-supplied arms already are on the Egyptian-Israeli border.

Informed sources gave this account of the Italian deal:

Six months ago Egypt signed a contract with the Macchi Co., which makes Vampires under license from the British designers, for 30 planes to be paid for in cash in Italian currency.

Deliveries are expected to start next month.

Woman Freed In Boys' Deaths

NEW ORLEANS (U.S.)—The district attorney's office found "no basis whatsoever" for charging Mrs. Mary Moss Falcon with murder in the poisoning of two small boys.

The 30-year-old red-haired woman walked out of jail last night after posting a $2,500 bond in an unrelated aggravated battery case. She denied she had anything to do with the deaths of the two Baughman boys, William, 7, and Lawrence, 6.

Police arrested Mrs. Falcon Monday night when she returned to the tenement house where the Baughman boys lived with their parents and five sisters in a single room.

The boys died Oct. 31 in Charity Hospital a few hours after they were taken from the tenement on complaint of neighbors, who said the children rosted for food in garbage cans and begged meals door to door.

The coroner's office classified their deaths as accidental poisoning from eating a phosphorus compound of a type used in rat and roach poisons.

Wind Up Play Saturday

Shorthorns Seek Revenge In Saturday Game Here

The Big Spring High School B football team seeks a return to early season form in a 2:30 p.m. game here Saturday with the Odessa reserves.

The Shorthorns, coached by Roy Baird and Harold Bentley, have dropped their last two outings. They yielded a 13-0 verdict to Lamesa's reserves and yielded last week to Snyder, 27-20.

In a previous game between the two clubs, played in Odessa, Odessa tipped the Shorthorns with a late rally, 13-7. The scoring in that contest was confined to the second half.

Travis Thornton, Billy Gillham, David Noble, Howard Bethel and

Jerald Erwin will lead the Odessans into town.

Big Spring will again lean heavily upon such lads as Billy Johnson, Guinette Gibbs, Jimmy Campbell, Rickie Terry, Gerald Daversport, Merle Dean Harter, Jerry McMahan, Bunky Grimes, Donnie Bryant and others.

The Shorthorns hold victories over Lamesa, Abilene, Snyder and Sweetwater. They have been defeated by Odessa, Lamesa, Snyder and Abilene. They also played a 13-13 tie with Andrews.

The game terminates the 1953 season for the club. Most of the boys will step up to the A team in 1954.

Lakeview Meets North Texans

Unpredictable Lakeview of Big Spring plays host to Vernon in a football game billed for 8 p.m. here Saturday.

The Rockets look so good at times and so indifferent on other occasions that Coach Roosevelt Brown himself never knows what to expect of his club.

The Rockets will have to be on their game, however, to stay up with Vernon. The contest, incidentally, counts in conference standings.

Vernon beat Plainview, 33-7, a short time before Big Spring topped the same club, 20-0.

The Rockets turned in one of their better performances in beating Plainview last week. Lemuel Green, converted from a lineman, emerged as the running star of the game and broke the game wide open with his terrific thrusts at the line.

Ernest Byrd, who guided the Rockets so ably last week after he had taken over the quarterback post following the injury of Willie Roy English, will be back at the controls tonight.

Byrd and Green will be helped in the backfield by Alvin King and Charles Evans.

The Rockets have won four of eight starts this year. They lost to three opponents and played Lamesa to a scoreless deadlock.

In addition to English, the Rockets will probably have to play without William Toles, a big lineman who is favoring a leg injury.

Lutheran Bids For First Win

SEGUIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas Lutheran College hasn't won a football game this season but you wouldn't know it by visiting the campus.

The coach hasn't been hung in effigy, the crowds at the games have increased rather than decreased and bonfires and pep rallies are regular weekly affairs.

Tomorrow night the Bulldogs close out their eight-game schedule by battling the University of Corpus Christi at Corpus Christi. The latter hasn't won a game either so Lutheran is at least starting out even.

McMurry Indians Rule The Roost

By The Associated Press

McMurry's Indians rule the statistics in Texas Conference football.

The Indians lead everything except passing in which Curtis Blair of Eastern New Mexico sets the pace with 24 completions in 49 throws for 315 yards.

Elroy Payne of McMurry is far ahead in rushing with 730 yards and leads in total offense by the same total. He is the scoring leader with 33 points.

Tommy Watkins of McMurry is the top pass-receiver with 7 catches for 163 yards and Buddy Fornes of McMurry leads punting with an average of 37.3 on 25 kicks.

Teamwise Eastern New Mexico leads in offense with 2,441 yards in 8 games. Howard Payne tops team defense, giving 1,704 yards in 8 games.

Third Of Playoffs To Be Completed

By The Associated Press

A third of the state playoff picture is due to be completed Friday night in Texas schoolboy football.

More than 25 district champions will be known when the schedule is run off.

Among them is due to be Baytown's undefeated, untied Ganders who can clinch the District 8 crown in Class AAAA by beating Freeport.

Texarkana can win the District 4 title in AAA by defeating Marshall. Alice can nail down the District 8 title by winning over Pharr.

Classes AA and A will decide more than 15 titles.

Aggies Seek Glory, Frogs And Texas Glory Saturday

The Associated Press

Texas A&M goes after the glory and Texas and TCU will be fighting for the gold in Southwest Conference stretch games Saturday.

The Aggies, atop the league by a half-game, can get close to the championship if they whip suffering Rice at Houston.

At Austin Texas and TCU will be thinking about New Year's in the Cotton Bowl when they struggle for second place. The runner-up could be better moneywise than champion this year because if the Aggies win it they won't get to play in the Cotton Bowl due to their probation.

SMU, hoping all three of the teams above it—A&M, Texas and TCU—have trouble, meets eliminated Arkansas at Dallas. SMU has only a glimmer of hope. By winning its remaining game, it might earn a share of the title.

More than 150,000 are due to see the three games with Houston expecting 70,000. The Texas-TCU struggle may get 55,000. At Dallas the cavernous Cotton Bowl might be almost half-filled, with 30,000 due to turn out.

The Aggies, who haven't lost since the season opener, will be playing a Rice team that hasn't won one in a month. It would be the upset of the season for the Owls to take down the opportunists of Aggieland. But Rice is in better shape to play a ball game than it has been in a month.

TCU is a solid favorite over a Texas outfit that doesn't gain as much on offense as its foes by 41 yards. The Longhorns are the "clutch" team of the league, tough, alert and ready to cash in on the enemy's mistakes. TCU hasn't beaten Texas in five years.

This game highlights a duel between the two top backs of the conference—Jim Swink, TCU's great runner, and Walter Fondren, Texas' all-around star.

With two out of three last week, here's for a grand slam this time: A&M-Rice: The Owls have a long way to go if they are to beat the Aggies; they don't seem up to it—A&M by two touchdowns.

Texas-TCU: Too much power and too much Jim Swink; TCU will win but it may be close.

SMU-Arkansas: SMU has them all puzzled. When will the power of the Methodists break its shackles of fumbles and pass interceptions? This may be it—SMU by a whisker.

Alumnus Of Texas Lashes Officials

DALLAS (AP)—Col. D. Harold Byrd, University of Texas alumnus, lashed out at officiating in the Southwest Conference today and said Texas got the bad end of it in its game with Baylor Saturday.

Noting that Coach George Sauer of Baylor had complained that his team lost to Texas 21-20 because an ineligible pass receiver downfield had not been called, Byrd said:

"Delano Womack, Texas fullback, went across the goal line in the fourth period but wasn't given credit for the touchdown. Baylor was lucky. Texas should have won by at least 38-14 instead of by one point. I had my glasses trained on the play and I am positive Womack went over.

Byrd said he was making the statement in Texas' behalf since the Texas coaches would not comment.

HC Linksters Lose To OJC

Odessa Junior College shaded HCJC in a practice golf match played at the Big Spring Country Club Thursday afternoon, 4½ to 3½.

The Jayhawks' top-seeded players, James Lee Underwood and Luke Thompson, came through in fine style, however.

Underwood emerged as medalist for the day with a 35-41-76. Par for the course is 72. The score was considered good, however, since part of the matches were played in high winds.

Underwood picked up 2½ points for having won medal honors, shading his opponents and winning low ball along with Thompson. Thompson split his match with Arnold Chambers, in addition to pairing with Thompson for low ball honors.

Thompson had 36-42-78. Other HCJC players and their scores included:

Wilbur Cunningham, 44-43-87.

Mike Powell, 45-43-88.

Odessa and their scores included:

Christy Brashear, 41-37-78.

Arnold Chamber, 38-43-80.

Ken Garrison, 40-40-80.

John Biddy, 36-45-81.

Steers Bid For Upset Win Over Snyder 11 Tonight

Tigers Near 3A-1 Crown

The Big Spring Steers try to ambush the Snyder Tigers' bid for football glory in their game this evening at Snyder.

A packed house of around 6,000 fans is due to be there for the 8 p.m. kickoff.

In recent years, the Bengals have tried to act as spoilers in the Steers' championship venture but the shoe is now on the other foot.

In six 1-AAA starts, the Tigers have an unsullied record. They've lost only one game this year and that was a 14-7 verdict to Breckenridge in a non-conference joust.

Big Spring is out of the running for the conference championship but the Longhorns can do more damage to Snyder's hopes than the proverbial bull in the china shop this night.

It'll be a relaxed but a determined band of Big Spring athletes that takes the field.

The pressure is on the Tigers, not only because Big Spring has been a Bmx team in the past but because the district title is so close for John Conley's team.

Big Spring can't begin to match the brilliance in the Snyder backfield nor the agility and the speed that can be found in the Tiger line.

Jack Spikes and Joe Baxter are the twin terrors in the Snyder backfield but they have plenty of help from such individuals as Alan Sneed and Powell Berry.

Snyder's favorite weapons have been a crunching ground game, a defensive setup that has been death on enemy passes and a penchant for going "all the way" on punt returns.

As a result, the Steers may pass little and their punters have been instructed to punt out of bounds at all times.

The Longhorns will field a speedy backfield against the Tigers and one that will probe for weaknesses all along the line.

The local boys have been lauded this week for their attitude and hustle in practice and the memory hold out hope that the boys can spring the prize upset of the season tonight.

Big Spring, which will enter the game free of injuries, will try to improve upon a 3-3-1 record. With in the conference, they are 3-2, having topped Palo Duro of Amarillo, Lamesa and Vernon while losing to Monterey of Lubbock and Loveland.

A large delegation of Big Spring fans will help swell the crowd.

This will be the final conference game for at least two years between the clubs, since Big Spring is being promoted into Class AAAA in 1956. The two teams will meet in a non-conference joust again next year, however.

Buffaloes Bid For Upset In Go With Garden City

GARDEN CITY (SC) — Scouts are due to be very much in evidence when Garden City hosts Forsan in a District 7-B football game here this evening.

The scouts will be there to chart the strategy of the winner of the game, since that team is almost certain to emerge as titlist of the conference and emerge into the playoffs.

Garden City is favored but the Buffaloes from Forsan have improved tremendously in recent weeks and should make a whale of a game of it.

The Bearcats, coached by Targe Lindsey, have been strengthened by the return to action of Jimmy Nelson, star defensive player, who

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

A rare item in football is a lefthanded passer and the Big Spring team has one of those.

He is Frank Powell, a little fellow long on nerve.

All non-conference football contracts signed by Coach Carl Coleman of Big Spring extend for two years, so the Steer griders will be playing the same schedule through 1957.

The Longhorns play non-conference engagements for the next two seasons with Kermit, Andrews, Loveland, Lamesa, Sweetwater and Snyder.

There may be more glamour in playing teams of Fort Worth, El Paso and Lubbock but local fans will find the school benefits more financially from meeting such teams as Andrews and Kermit.

Kermit has a fine, new stadium that seats in excess of 6,000 and it's been a hotbed of football for a long time now.

It's not improbable that I. D. Russell will be the next head football coach at Vernon High School.

Bob Percival, the present mentor, was supposed to be an interim appointment until Russell, a former SMU defensive and blocking great, was properly groomed for the job.

Percival's first love is basketball and he's one of the best in the business.

Charles Milstead, Tyler's quarterback of many talents, is supposed to be bound for the University of Oklahoma.

Those who are critical of Carl Coleman's football program here should look to the record.

History has proved out the fact that, as a team fares in Junior High and B string ball, so it usually plays against varsity opponents.

It would be wonderful to have a magic drug to feed to boys who have not been consistent winners down in the grades and make them unbeatable once they become A team players. Unfortunately, none has been found.

Big Spring fielded a splendid Ninth Grade team here in 1951. Two years later, that team went on to reach the greatest heights ever scaled by a local team.

The current Steer team is playing better ball than it did as a Junior High unit, which is a tribute to Coleman and his hard-working staff.

This year's Junior High club is regarded as perhaps the best in the history of the school but it is having difficulty playing better than .500 ball. Will it find the elusive formula a champion next?

Other schools on the Big Spring schedule have similar programs going and, for the most part, they'll keep the same boys they have now.

Snyder has one team (its Ninth Graders) that hasn't been beaten in three years. Will it proceed to district and possibly a state championship? All indications point to it.

Sweetwater is lining up the toughest kind of non-conference football competition for the 1956 season.

The Ponies will meet Abilene, Breckenridge and Midland, as well as Big Spring, next year.

If you're a student of football, you'll like the Saturday afternoon game here between the B teams of Big Spring and Odessa, and if you do sit in, you'll be wise to follow the play of the linemen.

The boys in the primary do the rough chores in football. It is their job to stop the thrusts of the enemy and to open the avenues over which the backs travel.

Tomorrow's game, too, pits the young men who next year will be lining up against each other in varsity competition, since all will be back in 1956.

Recovery of an Odessa fumble midway in the first period set another Big Spring TD drive in motion. The Little Steers gained possession on their own 40. With Fields, Buddy Barnes and Davis alternating at lugging the leather, the locals worked the ball down to the 19, where Barnes took it around left end for the PAT and Big Spring led, 13-0.

Odessa got back into the game momentarily in the second when Bob Williams powered a 56-yard drive that paid off. Quarterback Joe Young scored from one-yard out on a keeper. However, Bob Norris' try for point was blocked.

That was all the scoring in the first half, although Odessa lost the ball on downs on Big Spring's four midway in the round. The Big Spring line, with a big assist from linebacker Fields, did an outstanding job of neutralizing the threat.

Fields then all but put the decision on ice when he gathered in the second half kickoff, fumbled it momentarily and then sprinted 85 yards to a touchdown. He benefited from some tremendous blocking all along the way.

That ran the tab to 19-6 and the Yearlings weren't through. Big Spring surged as far as the Odessa 15 late in the third, only to yield possession on a fumble. Early in the fourth, the resident 11 was knocking at the door but again bobbed the ball on the one and Odessa took over.

Shortly before the game ended, Roger Flowers wound up and pitched a strike to Benny McCrary and Benny caught it on the run. He out-distanced the opposition and legged it 46 yards for the Yearlings' final tally.

Scotty Ellison knifed through for the extra point.

Williams was about the only threat Odessa had but he did a good job at keeping the contest from being a run-away.

Defensively for Big Spring, such lads as Chubby Moser, Bobby Adams, Franklin Williamson, Sam Copeland, Dennis Holmes and Flowers glinted for Big Spring.

Bill French quarterbacked ideally for the Yearlings.

The big thing that got the job done in the final analysis, was the team's blocking, which, at times, looked superior to that of the varsity Steers.

Score by quarters:
Big Spring 13 6 7-26

Back Of Week

Frank Riepl, sophomore halfback on the University of Pennsylvania's football team in Philadelphia, is the Associated Press's Back of the Week for his play against Notre Dame last Saturday. Riepl returned the opening kickoff 108 yards, threw a 12-yard touchdown pass and kicked two extra points to hold the Irish 14-14 at half time. Notre Dame won the game, however, 46-14.

Central Tries North Saturday

League-leading Central Ward School takes on North Ward in the first of four games to be played Saturday morning at Steer Stadium. Central is on top of the heap with a 4-0-1 won-lost-tied record. The game is slated for 8.

Second game on the slate will pit East Ward against Washington Place. The two are currently tied for fifth and sixth place in the standings, East sporting a 2-3-0 record and Washington carrying a 2-3-1 mark. Their game will be played at 9.

West Ward goes up against College Heights in the third game on the day's schedule in a battle for second place. West is now in the runnerup spot. The West-College game comes off at 10.

In the final contest of the day, Kate Morrison plays the Airport boys at 11.

The 1955 campaign extends through Saturday, Nov. 23, and it's still thought to be anybody's race.

ACKERLY (SC) — Coach Bill Bolt's Knott Hill Billies caged up the Ackerly Eagles with a 32-20 win Thursday night. The win will enable the Billies to share the co-championship of District 6-B with the winner of tonight's Gail-Loop game. Knott, however, will represent the district as the Billies carried wins over both Gail and Loop.

The Billies took advantage of two pass interceptions and three Ackerly fumbles to wrap up their last district game. The Eagles tried vainly to follow the heels of Dub Grigg for the necessary yardage to outpoint the visitors, but the Knott defense held them to only 200 yards and three scores.

The first Knott tally came in the first quarter. Taking the ball over on downs on their own ten-yard line, John Shanks grabbed off five yards and then six yards. Then Woody Long threw a long pass downfield into the arms of Roosevelt Shaw who scampered the rest of the way for the score. Delano Shaw provided the block which enabled Roosevelt to go through the Ackerly secondary. Long's kick was no good.

Knott scored again, just four plays deep in the second quarter. Beginning a series of downs on their own 30, Roosevelt Shaw set up a first down by racing 20 yards. Shanks got another first with a 15-yard run. Then Long passed 16 yards to Roosevelt for the score. Long's kick was good.

Ackerly swarmed back with a 55-yard march for their first score. Phil Wallace passed to Dub Grigg for a first down and then Grigg raced through the Knott defenses for 40 yards and the touchdown. Jerry Hall kicked the point.

Knott was unable to get moving in the next series of downs, and Ackerly got the ball on their own 15-yard line.

Grigg stepped off 16 yards for the first down. Then Ackerly tried a spread formation. Taking plenty of time in the backfield, Grigg finally passed, trying to catch the Knott team off balance. Dick Nichols turned the tables when he snatched the skin from the arms of the receivers and raced 35 yards for the third Billie score.

Ackerly scored in three plays after the half. Grigg passed to Robert Taylor for 25 yards, then ran nine more to the Knott 2. Alvin Cates carried over.

Knott failed to get an offensive march started after the kickoff, and

X marks the spot where TCP unlocks the full power of high octane gasoline

By overcoming deposits in combustion chambers, TCP® halts pre-firing — puts the full power of high octane to work

In an engine's combustion chamber, shown here in cross section, engine deposits capture power that high octane gasoline should be giving you.

And with the kind of "around-town" driving people mostly do, the tendency for these deposits to waste power increases—even offsetting the extra power to-day's high compression engines are designed to provide.

What happens is this:

On cylinder walls these deposits glow red hot, igniting the gasoline before the piston is ready for the power stroke. This is called pre-firing—and because of it, power that should be put to work is cancelled out.

On the spark plug, shown at the top right, deposits steal power, too. Here they conduct electricity away from the tip, short-circuiting the spark and making the spark plug "miss."

But the full power of high octane gasoline can now be unlocked. Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP "fireproofs" deposits in combustion chambers, and stops pre-firing. TCP additive also makes the deposits on spark plugs non-conductive, and prevents spark plug "miss."

Shell Premium with TCP works so fast you'll feel your engine has had a tune-up before you've driven 400 miles.

SHELL

Only Shell Premium Gasoline has both TCP and High Octane!

Businessman Wins Memphis Election

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Edmund Orgrill, a wealthy businessman making his first bid for public office, was elected mayor yesterday. He defeated a veteran politician, S. Watkins Overton.

Orgrill, 58, led from the beginning in the first election here in nearly 30 years that wasn't dominated by the late E. H. "Boss" Crump.

Final unofficial returns gave Orgrill 51,789 votes, Overton 33,154. Both candidates are Democrats.

Overton, 61, was twice mayor under Crump. He had the support of most of the old Crump organization's top brass.

Pastor Convicted On Heresy Charge

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The third heresy trial in the history of the northwest synod of the United Lutheran Church last night found the Rev. Victor K. Wrigley guilty on five of six counts of doctrinal deviation and recommended he be suspended from his pulpit.

The Rev. Mr. Wrigley, pastor of Gethsemane Church in the nearby small community of Brookfield in Waukesha County, was not present when the trial board returned its findings.

The 33-year-old minister did not attend any portion of the trial or previous investigational hearings on the advice of his church council which demanded certain procedural concessions from the synod before it would permit him to be present.

The recommendations of the seven-member trial board were presented to Dr. Paul E. Bishop, synod president from Minneapolis. He said he would "without a doubt follow" the recommendation.

Pastor Wrigley could not be reached for comment on the verdict.

The Rev. Mr. Wrigley accused the synod earlier of "changing the rules during the game" and served notice he could not be forced out as pastor of his church.

He issued a general denial of the six charges and in defense submitted only a statement touching on each of the points. He asserted that Christian faith is "neither measured nor determined by the opinions a man might hold about such questions as these."

The trial board found him guilty of charges alleging he denied the objectives of Holy Scripture, repudiated true exposition of the Holy Scripture in conformance with Lutheran confessions, denied the historical fact of the Virgin birth of Christ, denied the physical Resurrection of Christ, and repudiated the sacramental union in the Lord's Supper.

The sixth allegation contended he denied original sin. The trial board said it was unable to return a verdict on the charge because of conflicts in the pastor's defense statement.

The heresy trial was the third in the 65-year history of the synod. The Rev. George P. Crist, 31, of Durham, Waukesha County, was ruled guilty last July on nine of 14 counts. He was ordered suspended from his pulpit and later turned back his ordination papers.

The Rev. John Gerberding, of Menomonee Falls in Waukesha County, was found innocent on eight charges in an August trial.

Guatemala Chief Heads For Home

HOUSTON (AP)—President and Mrs. Carlos Castillo Armas of Guatemala headed for New Orleans and their homeland today, loaded with scrolls, social welfare literature, and the promise of a Texan's gift for needy Guatemalan children.

The President said millionaire oilman R. E. Smith had offered to give the poor children of Guatemala any profits he may derive from oil ventures in that country. Smith has a man in Guatemala checking on oil potentialities.

Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, made President and Mrs. Castillo Armas honorary Texans last night. The President also was made an admiral in the Texas Navy.

Manufacturers Rap Texas Supreme Court For Ruling

GALVESTON (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court was sharply criticized yesterday by the Texas Manufacturers Assn. because it refused to rule on the Santa Fe union case.

The court delayed action until a decision is rendered in the U.S. Supreme Court on a similar case from Nebraska.

The Santa Fe case involves the legality of the union shop contract, under which all employees of a company have to join the union within a specified time. It differs from a closed shop where the employer may hire only union members.

A resolution passed by the TMA said "We deplore the action of the Supreme Court of Texas Wednesday in the Sandsberry case. The court refused to decide the merits of the case, and the applicability of the Texas right to work statutes which guarantee that all citizens of the state shall not be required to join a union as a price of earning a living."

"We believe it is the sacred duty of the Texas Supreme Court to decide 'pro or con' all cases brought before it by the citizens of Texas."

The TMA also passed resolutions:

Urging the most careful protection of the American patent system.

Opposing price fixing by government in business and industry.

Opposing the trend toward a guaranteed annual wage.

Dr. Joseph Davidson of New York, chairman of Carbide Carbon Chemical Co., warned that "If Texas doesn't do something about its water problem, it's not going to get new industry."

He told the TMA his firm turned down a number of possible locations in Texas because of the lack of adequate water.
