'Big Two' Discuss Problems Of Laos

Courtesy Rules As Khrushchev, Kennedy Confer

VIENNA (UPI) — President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev opened their summit meetings on a note of conviviality Saturday and then plunged into a "lengthy and specific" talk on Laos, one of the most critical of cold war problems.

A White House statement after a three-hour and 27 minute private conversation between the two leaders said they discussed "the problems of Laos and the problems of the International Control Commission" trying to supervise the truce in the Communist-threatened Southeastern Asian kingdom.

The Soviet press officer endorsed the statement.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy and Khrushchev expected to discuss nuclear testing and the German problem when they resume their man to man confrontation Sunday.

This would, of course, include the Berlin issue, he said.

One of Kennedy's prime aims in meeting Khrushchev was to take the measure of the man. He got a good start at a rollicking luncheon in which the 67-year-old Soviet premier proposed a champagne toast that took 10 minutes.

Salinger said the conversations between the two leaders who spent more than six hours together during the day were "frank, courteous and wide-ranging."

The two men held a "general review of our relations throughout the world," Salinger said.

Mikhail A. Kharlamov, chief of the Soviet Foreign Ministry press section, added that the atmosphere of the conversations "gives possibility of hope for good results."

He said Saturday talks had been "fruitful."

Salinger, when asked if he agreed with this description, said: "I'll stick with the words 'frank and courteous.'"

Salinger, in response to a question, said Cuba was not discussed.

Salinger said the statement he read was not a joint Soviet-American document. He said he prepared it and showed it to the President, who approved it. He then showed it to Kharlamov who approved it, too. It was thus a Soviet-endorsed American document.

Kharlamov held a separate meeting with the press at the same time as Salinger.

He said that so far as he knew Khrushchev was "satisfied" with Saturday's meeting.

Son Shoots Food Chain Executive

SHORT HILLS, N.J. (UPI) — A wealthy A&P food chain executive was fatally shot Friday night by his teen-age son who then held off police with two revolvers for 90 minutes before surrendering in tears to a fatherly detective who asked him:

"All right, you didn't like your father, but what about me and my kids?"

The midnight tragedy took place at the $100,000 mansion of Robert R. Besch, 42, assistant national sales executive of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company in this exclusive suburb 20 miles from New York City.

He was felled by four or five slugs fired at close range as he forced his way into the locked third floor bedroom of his son Robert R. Jr., 14, a psychiatric patient who had been sulking for hours over poor school grades.

His mother, the former Minnie Wrightson, a great granddaughter of the founder of A&P stores, was in the house along with two other sons and a daughter when the shooting occurred at 11:20 p.m.

According to police, young Robert, who had been under psychiatric care for about a year, returned home from his classes at the Newark Academy around 4 p.m. Friday and immediately locked himself in his bedroom.

He had been despondent over poor grades and particularly worried about forthcoming final exams, police said.

The boy refused to come down for supper despite his family pleadings. His father went to the room and knocked on the door several times during the evening without response. Finally, he crashed down the door and was shot with Robert Jr.'s .22 caliber automatic.

Bank Applications Set For Hearings

AUSTIN (UPI) — The State Banking Board Saturday set public hearings for next Thursday on three applications for charters of state banks.

The proposed banks are the Mercantile Bank & Trust Co. of Texarkana, the Casa Linda Bank & Trust Co. of Dallas and the Stinnett State Bank of Stinnett.

Berlin Bank Plan Upheld

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, Britain and France, in identical notes to Russia Saturday denied that proposed West German banking legislation would violate the special occupation status of Berlin.

The notes were sent for delivery in Moscow as President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev met in Vienna to discuss cold war issues, including Berlin. But they were "mild in tone and concerned a technical point."

They referred to legislation introduced in the West German Bundestag March 16 which would set up a new West German banking department with headquarters in West Berlin.

Russia complained in notes to the Big Three April 15 that West Germany had no right to legislate for West Berlin and no right to put a government agency headquarters there.

U.S. Sea Forces Steam Near Dominican Republic

CIUDAD TRUJILLO D. R. — (UPI) — The Dominican Republic gave formal approval Saturday to Rafael L. Trujillo Jr., as its new strongman. Unconfirmed reports spread of mass arrests and torture of enemies of the government.

Reports said a "conservative" estimate was that at least 1,000 persons had been arrested since the assassination of Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo Tuesday night.

U.S. Doubtful About Trujillo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States Saturday rejected any idea of dealing with the new Dominican Republic government headed by Rafael L. Trujillo Jr., as long as it is stained with the repressive tactics of slain dictator Rafael Trujillo.

The United States broke off the diplomatic relations with the elder Trujillo on grounds he was a ruthless and repressive dictator. High officials made it clear Saturday that the same policy would be followed toward his playboy son.

The firm policy towards young Trujillo has President Kennedy's full endorsement. Washington officials, including State Department Latin American expert Adolf Berle Jr., were in contact with Kennedy while he still was in Paris Friday.

High sources said it appeared that three men had taken over the task of filling the elder Trujillo's shoes: His son, known as Ramfis; John Abbas Garcia, chief of the secret police; and Arturo Espailat, one-time Dominican consul general in New York.

U.S. officials were understood to be particularly anxious over the emergence of the 32-year-old Ramfis, who is known for his bitter anti-American attitude.

Ramfis, who has taken over control of the 25,000 man Dominican armed force, became an avowed enemy of the United States when he was denied a diploma (See TRUJILLO, Page 3)

Hydrogen Bombers Undergo Revamping

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has begun a $210 million modification program to overcome serious structural problems in its latest B52 hydrogen bombers, officials revealed Saturday.

An informal estimate indicated the improvement program for the B-52s would run to about $1 million a plane. The current production cost per plane is $8.7 million, per aircraft by Air Force estimates.

The B52 Stratofort, with a range of more than 10,000 miles in the latest models, is the prime weapon of the Strategic Air Command (SAC). It is scheduled for service at least until 1970.

First Methodist Pastor Promoted

Rev. Woodrow Adcock, pastor of the First Methodist Church for the past seven years, has been appointed district superintendent of the Abilene district, it was learned today.

Rev. Adcock, 1201 Williston, was to deliver his last sermon here today.

His successor will be Rev. Hubert Bratcher, who has served as district superintendent of the Pampa district for the past five years. Rev. Bratcher will assume the pastorate here June 11. Both appointments were made by Bishop Paul Galloway, a. d. (See PASTOR, Page 3)

Stiff Code Of Ethics Proposed For Agencies

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Commerce Committee opens four days of hearing Tuesday on a bill to outlaw back-door contacts with the Federal Power Commission and other regulatory agencies.

The measure, one of several pending in House and Senate, would impose a stiff code of ethics on all the agencies, with heavy penalties for violations.

Sponsored by chairman Owen Harris, D-Ark., it grew out of a congressional expose of off-record dealings of one-time new deal braintruster Thomas-G. Corcoran and former President Eisenhower's No. 1 aide, ex-governor of New Hampshire, Sherman Adams resigned under fire.

Corcoran allegedly contacted FPC commissioners in behalf of Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. and its subsidiary, Midwestern Gas Transmission Co. Adams was accused of accepting lavish gifts from New England, industrialist Bernard Goldfine to influence Federal Trade Commission rulings.

President Kennedy is squarely behind the legislation which also has considerable bi-partisan support. In a message to Congress last April 13 on ways to make the agencies more efficient, he called attention to "intrusion of practices that have undercut the standards of fairness and impartiality the nation rightly expects its government to maintain."

James M. Landis, the President's overseer of the agencies, recommended drastic reforms in a special report last December. He said that all administration officials and even members of Congress should be forbidden to communicate with the agencies about specific pending cases.

Harris, in an address to the Independent Natural Gas Association last fall, said investigations by his subcommittee on legislative oversight made it urgent that Congress lay down policies "to prevent the exercise of improper influence and improper conduct by members and employees of these agencies."

Although they are named after Andreas Dahl, the Swedish botanist, dahlias first were used as food by ancient Mexicans.

Confusion Is Communist Method Of Offsetting Foes, Kiwanians Told

When Communists discover that Hollywood is an anti-Communist organization is sent out a list for nationwide distribution. That list contained the party trouble they begin "Opera-original 50 Communists plus the names of some 200 other Hollywood anti-Communist" campaign against film stars, directors, producers, etc. There were many familiar names in the list but only 50 of them actually were Communists.

This was the explanation given by Robert Dix, 26-year-old son of the late film star Richard Dix, in an address at the Pampa Kiwanis Club's Friday noon luncheon.

"We should unite as Americans under one banner," Dix said, "and television, was in Pampa is the only way we can successfully appear in person Friday with the fully combat the Communist anti-Communist film 'The 11th Commandment' being shown at the La Vista theater through next Tuesday.

Dix cried the instance of charges to that certain Hollywood directors, government officials and censors. He said the picture going he said about 50 names were in the list "but only after many rejections which the FBI had cited as Communist or Communist sympathizer government places."

He said the film now has been booked in some of the biggest theaters of the South and Midwest. "They thought it was too controversial," he added.

Dix said that now, however, the film has been booked ahead in some of the largest theaters in the South and Midwest.

While the movie is not a documentary, it was filmed on the islands of Quemoy and Formosa where Chiang Kai-Shek and his Chinese Nationalists took refuge after China was overrun by the Chinese Communists. It tells the story of a U. S. Army officer who discovers his wife is a Communist agent.

Dix explained the terrific struggle the picture, "The 11th Commandment" has had in getting into theaters and getting approval of government officials and censors. "We finally have been able to get the picture going," he said.

He said the picture was rejected about 50 times in the highest government places.

Eichmann Trial Nearing Climax

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—A feeling of great anticipation settled over this ancient biblical city Saturday as Israel prepared to present its strongest evidence against Nazi Adolf Eichmann.

The trial resumes Monday with the opening step of a parade that is expected to unfold the full tale of six concentration camps in which four million Jews were exterminated.

Demo Newsletter Discounts Tower

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Democratic party newsletter contended today that the election to the U. S. Senate of Republican John Tower "fails to reflect the majority views and can in no way be regarded as any kind of mandate from the electorate."

"The election results indicated that some two-thirds of the Democratic voters either neglected or refused to vote," the publication of the State Democratic Executive Committee said.

The committee had predicted a two-to-one victory in the Senate.

State Business Off Six Per Cent

AUSTIN (UPI)—The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported Saturday that business activity in the state declined six per cent in April.

After seasonal adjustment, the index of business activity for the month stood at 224 per cent of the 1947-49 average, virtually the same as in April 1950.

"It is still apparent that we are in the initial phase of cyclical recovery," the report said.

Employment Rise Shown In State

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texas employment rose 68,200 during recent weeks to 3,453,500 in mid-April, according to the Texas Employment Commission.

Seasonal activity in agriculture was credited with the major increase as crop seasons added 49,300 farm workers.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Here is an inexpensive home recipe to take off unwanted weight and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Just get from any drugist, four ounces of Liquid Barrestrate. Pour into pint bottle and add grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

Now you may slim down your figure and lose pounds of ugly fat without back-breaking exercise or starvation liquid diet. It's easy to make and easy to take. Contains nothing harmful. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky weight and help regain slender, more graceful curves, return the empty bottle for your money back. Costs just $1.95.

LOST 26 POUNDS

Here is another endorsement from a grateful user of Barrestrate. Henry L. Ruiz, 125 Rose, San Antonio, Texas, writes as follows: "I have lost 26 pounds taking Barrestrate without dieting or depriving myself of anything I wanted to eat. I have more pep and energy since taking Barrestrate."

LOST 15 POUNDS

Mrs. Beth Berry, 2130 Alabama, Dallas, Texas, states that she lost 14 pounds taking Barrestrate and has more energy than she ever had.

Chemical Output Gains Top Total Of All Industries

AUSTIN (UPI)—Chemical production is increasing at about three times the rate of total U. S. industrial production and the rising of a new colossus is evident. The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

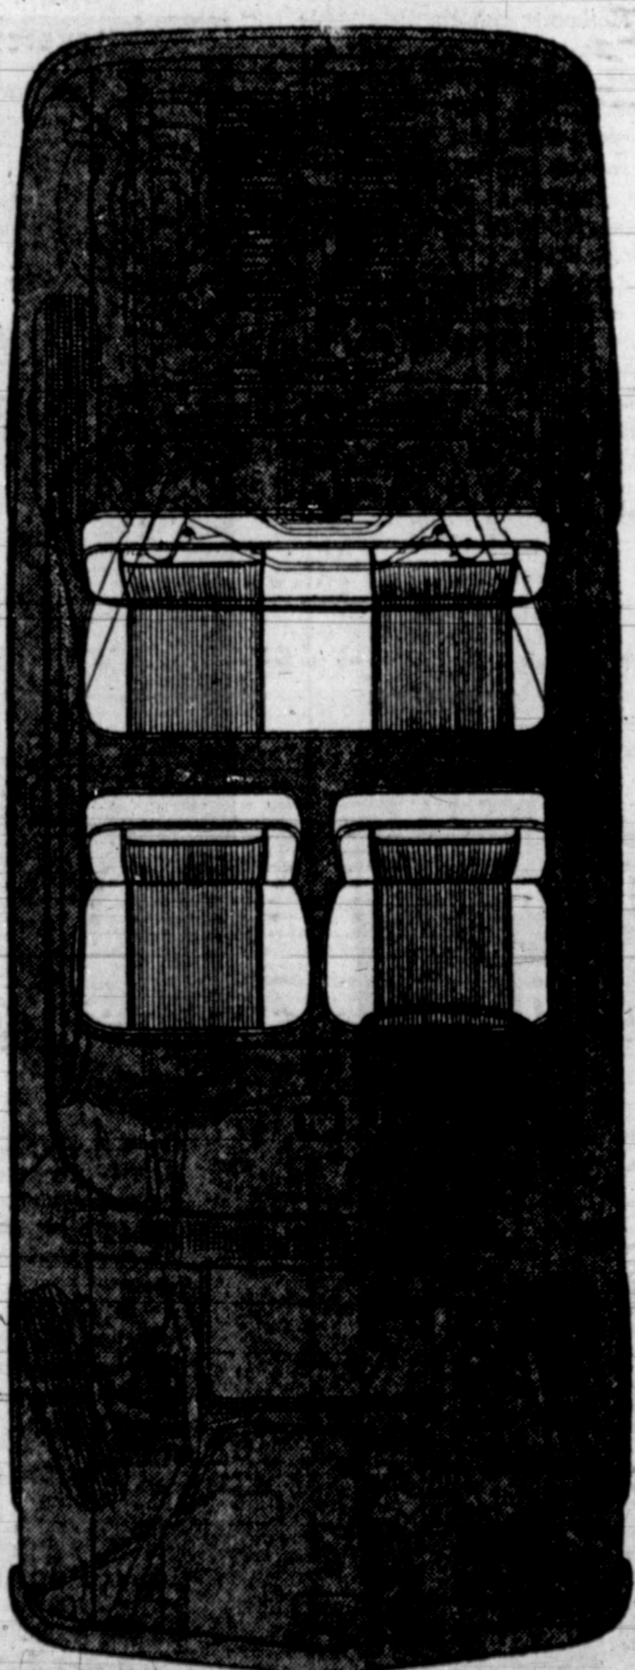

A. P. Beutel, vice president of the Dow Chemical Co., predicted by 1970 the chemical industry will be tied with Ford for the number one position.

He said petroleum refining will trail as the second-largest industry, with electrical machinery and the automobile industry in third and fourth places.

Most new chemical plants will locate in the South, Beutel said.

BUCKET SEATS ALONE DO NOT A MONZA MAKE

■ Gee! ■ Little did we know, when we introduced the Corvaire Monza last year, that we were starting a Big Thing. We just thought it would be pleasant if you could buy a car that treats you, the driver, like you want to be treated. ■ The bucket seats, of course, are the most obvious evidence of our desire to please you. But they're not the most important thing. No sir. What's really vital is the way a Monza handles—something nobody in the U.S. has yet copied. Or can copy. Because Corvaire is the only rear-engined car made in this country, and you know what that means: steering light as thistledown. (You even park this one more easily, it steers so briskly.) Beautifully balanced braking—the car stays level even under panic braking, which we hope you'll never have to do. Traction and more traction, so you don't become a stick-in-the-mud. The kind of cornering that's sheer joy to experience. ■ You get more: a fully independent suspension that blots out road shocks before they can ruffle you. Clean, crisp styling. Thoroughgoing economy, from purchase price to operating cost. ■ You're not going to be satisfied with bucket seats alone, are you?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration is expected to endorse congressional measures to open a federal-state cooperative campaign to wipe out hog cholera, a costly livestock disease, informed sources report.

Hog cholera, a virus disease, has preyed on swine producers for many years. Currently, experts estimate it costs farmers about $60 million a year in direct losses and control costs. In addition, existence of the disease bars or restrict sale of U.S. pork in some 11 major importing nations, and authorities fear that Canada may impose restrictions if the disease is not eradicated.

Bill to authorize an eradication drive were introduced recently by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., and seven other Democratic and Republican senators, all members of the Senate Agriculture Committee. Identical measures were introduced in the House by two agriculture committee members, Reps. Ralph Harvey, R-Ind., and George Grant, D-Ala.

The measures have the support of major farm and livestock organizations which have been trying to spur the government to clean out the disease. The administration has not yet announced a public stand on the bills. Informed sources said, however, that there was little doubt the administration would urge approval of the program when congressional hearings are scheduled.

The Senate and House bills would direct the government to match state funds for indemnities to owners of hogs slaughtered in an eradication campaign. A television with 750 parts, has four times as many parts as a fine tary of agriculture power to ban precision built watch.

Public Invited To Use Lefors School Library

LEFORS (Sp) — Everyone in the community is welcome to use the school library during the summer months, according to Jerry Jacobs, Superintendent of Lefors schools.

The opening date is June 5, and will continue through August 12. It will be open on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, from 8 a.m. until 12 noon. Books are available for all age groups.

Each Monday and Wednesday from 9 a.m. until 10 a.m. will be a story hour for children who will start to school next year. Students in the second and third grades are to be included in these story hours. Miss Doris Halley, summer librarian, will lead and discuss stories.

Each student in school is encouraged to meet the requirements for a summer reading certificate. The requirements are to read 15 or more books on the reading level, or above the reading level, designated by your teacher. Miss Halley will be in charge of keeping the records concerning the certificates. She may be consulted for further information.

Library rules are:
1) There will be fines of five cents a day for all over due books. 2) Books may be checked out for a two week period. 3) Only two books may be checked out at a time. 4) Lost, misplaced, or damaged books will have to be paid for. 5) Books may be rechecked only once. 6) No one is to be admitted to the library if the librarian is not on duty. 7) No one will be allowed to take library books on vacation. 8) The library may be used as a reading room during the hours it is open.

Executive Bares Bank Fraud Role

SIoux CITY, Iowa (UPI) — Business executive Harold E. Kistner Jr. has pleaded guilty to a charge of aiding and abetting a bank president's daughter's $2 million embezzlement.

Kistner's plea before Federal District Judge Henry N. Graven came as a surprise.

The former president of the Northern Biochemical Corp. of Sheldon, Iowa, had previously denied any connection with Mrs. Burnice Geiger's record-breaking looting of the Sheldon National Bank.

Mrs. Geiger, daughter of the bank's president and longtime official of the bank, is now serving a 15-year prison term. She admitted systematic piracy from the bank over a period stretching back 35 years. The bank was ruined by her operations.

Canadian Writer Expects Another Ethiopian Revolt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Canadian newspaperman who recently edited the "Voice of Ethiopia" daily newspaper in the Ethiopian capital of Addis Ababa.

He predicts further that the already strong pro-Communist influence in Ethiopia will become stronger.

Richards bases his predictions on events leading up to and following last December's abortive revolt led by the emperor's own imperial household guard.

The conditions which led to that revolt, he says, still exist and unrest again is mounting.

Ironically, the unrest in part springs from Haile Selassie's own attempts to lift his nation from the feudal middle ages to the 20th Century.

In 1955, the emperor established a liberalized constitution which among other things decreed compulsory education and a free press.

But now young men with university educations find themselves stymied because the emperor's own ministers manage effectively to pigeonhole most of his ideas.

Richards cites the emperor's land reform program as an example. Ethiopia's primary export is coffee. But most arable land is in the hands of a comparatively few land barons, some of whom are in the government. Therefore, land reform has been almost wholly ineffective.

Plantations of 2,000 acres are not uncommon and one government minister massacred in last December's revolt held 3,000 acres.

The government raised army pay after the revolt so that a buck private now gets 40 Ethiopian dollars per month ($16 U. S.). This meagre sum was obtained by cutting the salaries of white collar workers whose income might be the equivalent of $100 per month.

Abuses against which the army revolted, according to Richards, now are being discussed by the general population. Ministers are suspected of shipping money outside the country. Sympathy which first was on Haile Selassie's side in the December revolt later switched to the rebels.

The Soviet Union has given Ethiopia a long-term, low interest credit of $100 million, and a technical school and is building an oil refinery which will process Soviet oil. Soviet teachers perform in Ethiopian schools. Yugoslav economic advisers virtually manage the Ethiopian economy.

And Haile Selassie himself, according to Richards, appears not to have his old grasp upon the country.

The administration has not yet announced a public stand on the bills. Informed sources said, however, that there was little doubt the administration would urge approval of the program when congressional hearings are scheduled.

Dormer A COMPANY LUBBOCK, TEXAS

OUR ANCESTORS by Quincy

"Won't it be wonderful when we can have a real kitchen and a real stove and not have to cook out?"

It's The Law In Texas

Vacation time is near. Soon millions of people will be driving about the country, and automobile accidents will occur with increasing frequency. What should a person do when involved in an accident?

At such times it is hard to keep your wits about you and know just what to do. It is therefore a good idea to plan in advance just what you would do in event of a smash-up. Here are a few simple rules that every driver should commit to memory:

1. Stop! Failure to stop can result in serious criminal consequences.
2. Render Aid. If anyone is injured: (1) Render first aid. (2) Stop bleeding. (3) Call a doctor or an ambulance or both. (4) Do not move an injured person in any way that could possibly add to his injury.
3. Protect the Scene from Further Damage. You may be liable for damages to approaching drivers, unless they are properly warned. If the highway is obstructed at night, have someone turn his headlights beams on the wrecked vehicles.
4. Call an Officer. Policemen, Highway Patrolmen, Sheriffs and their deputies are trained accident investigators whose testimony may be invaluable in establishing your civil claim for damages.
5. Gather Information. Write it Down. Don't trust your memory. Don't guess — be specific. Measure skid marks. Step off distances. Be sure to obtain names and addresses of witnesses. You are required by law to exhibit your driver's license to the other driver — and he must do the same.
6. Be Careful What You Say. Even if you feel you probably are to blame, it is best to make no admission. You may learn later than the other driver was equally at fault, or more so. Emotional comments can be misconstrued by others, or may be misquoted.

Whatever you say, make it factual.

7. See Your Doctor if there is the slightest chance you may be injured. Serious injuries do not always result in immediate pain or bloodshed.
8. Consult Your Lawyer Immediately. The sooner your lawyer is brought into the matter, the better he can advise you and protect your rights. He can obtain statements from the witnesses while their memories are fresh, and do many other things to insure that the true facts are preserved. Get your lawyer's advice before giving any interviews or statements to investigators or adjusters for the other side.
9. Inform Your Insurance Company Promptly. Failure to do so may void your policy.
10. Report the Accident to the Department of Public Safety. This is required by law if there is any injury, death, or total damages exceed $25.00.

An official accident report form may be procured from the Police, Sheriff's Dept., Highway Patrol, or State Dept. of Public Safety.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

June Rainfall To Exceed That Of Past Month

By United Press International

There's welcome words for the Texas farmers today from the U. S. Weather Bureau.

The month of June will probably be about three times as wet as May, the bureau said, and the bulk of the rain should fall before summertime officially sets in on the 21st.

M. C. Harris chief meteorologist at the U. S. Weather Bureau in Dallas said May was the driest month on record in some areas of the state. But he expects the rainfall to increase during June.

He said the 30-day outlook calls for light rainfall in the southern half of the state and moderate rainfall in the north.

Harrison said that 17 out of 19 major weather stations in Texas reported moisture deficiencies in May. And the need for rain is critical over most of the Edwards Plateau, South Central and South Texas.

These areas he said have all gone from three to four months with less than normal rainfall.

May was a rather turbulent month. Seven thunderstorms raked wide areas of Texas during the month and the bureau confirmed 29 tornadoes. But damage was light and injuries few.

Here is a thumbnail sketch of the rainfall situation by areas for the month of May:

Dallas—The third driest on record. Only 1.31 inches of rain was recorded. Normal rainfall is 4.97 inches.

San Antonio—Driest May in history. In fact January through May was the driest five-month period in history. Only 2.99 inches of rain fell in the five months and only .17 of an inch was recorded for May.

Robert Tate, county agent, said from 75 to 80 per cent of the dry land crops are gone and pastures are burned. June and July rains would let some summer grains grow.

El Paso—Only a trace of rain. The most El Paso has ever had in May was 2.28 in 1893. The situation is not unusual for the area.

Fort Worth—Driest May since 1937. Only 1.06 inches of rain recorded. The normal is 4.92 inches.

Corpus Christi—No measurable rainfall during the month.

Austin—1.03 inches of rainfall. The normal is 3.34.

Amarillo—A torrential rain at the end of the month barely got the area on the plus side with 3.40 inches for the month. A down pour officially recorded 2.12 inches in four hours. Normal rainfall is 3.79.

Midland — General outlook is good. Cotton and sorghum in good shape. A total of 3.50 inches of rain fell during the month. Normal precipitation is 2.07. A thunderstorm on May 19 shoved the total rainfall over the top with 1.66 inches.

Rabbits are said to be one of the oldest living mammals on the North American continent.

WOLF TRAP—She isn't wearing the latest thing in blouses to keep the boy friend a spike's length away. Italian actress Sicilia Gabel merely borrowed an ancient piece of armor to have her picture taken during a rest period on the set.

No Kicking Now

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Hawaiian Harry Luai became a motion picture actor because he was kicked in the face by a horse.

For the filming of Fred Kohlmair's "The Wackiest Ship in the Army" director Richard Murphy wanted someone with a beaten-type face to play the part of the Navy chief petty officer. Luai was selected for the role. He says he was kicked in the face by a horse when he was a child.

Experiment Shows Children Can Learn To Read And Write Early

United Press International

Dr. Omar K. Moore is a Yale sociologist who believes that children can learn to read and write almost as soon as they can talk.

He has conducted a remarkable experiment with 35 New Haven children which seems to prove his point, and which could open the way to revolutionary changes in educational methods.

The children ranged in age from two to five. Only two of them were ranked as gifted; the rest had I.Q.'s in the normal range.

Each child was placed in front of an electric typewriter, and allowed to play with it as he pleased. When he pounded a key, an adult sitting next to him repeated aloud the name of the letter or number he had typed.

All of the children quickly learned to recognize the characters appearing on the sheet of paper, and were soon naming the letters or numbers before the teacher could do so.

The whole thing was treated like a game, in keeping with Dr. Moore's conviction that learning can be, and should be, fun.

After playing with their typewriters, the children were given pieces of chalk and invited to draw on a blackboard. Before long, they began to print the letters of the alphabet, as they had seen them typewritten.

All 35 of the children have learned to read and write — and incidentally, to typewrite.

So long as this method requires one teacher for every pupil, it obviously cannot be used in schools, where the usual student-teacher ratio is 25 or 30 to 1.

But it may be possible to overcome this obstacle. With the aid of a recent grant from the Carnegie Corporation, Dr. Moore is now working with the Thomas A. Edison Laboratory on the development of an automated device which will perform many of the teacher's functions. This device will be tried out with another group of pre-school children.

If the method works as well with automation as it did with live teachers, and if the cost of the equipment can be reduced to reasonable levels through mass production, Dr. Moore may have achieved a major educational breakthrough.

But even if all of the practical problems can be solved, it won't be easy to get this system introduced into U.S. schools. The majority of the nation's professional educators are firmly wedded to the idea that a child is not "ready" to read until he has reached a mental age of at least six.

They are also committed to the concept that reading should begin with visual recognition of whole words, rather than by learning to recognize the shapes and phonetic

Carol Lynley portrays the part of the young novelist, Allison MacKenzie. Others in the cast include Mary Astor, Eleanor Parker and Tuesday Weld with Robert Sterling.

Keeping Covered
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Beth Rogan — the British bikini beauty — was forced to go under cover for awhile while filming "Mysterious Island."
Beth fell from a horse and was bruised in areas uncovered by a bikini.

Darren Records Two
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — James Darren is recording two songs for the soundtrack of "Gidget Goes Hawaiian," in which he co-stars with Michael Callan.
Darren will work with Callan and Joey Baker in the title song and will solo on "Wild About That Girl."

Card-Playing Actors Dislike Calls To Act

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Shut up and deal," Ernie Kovacs growled. His costar, Robert Wagner, called him a name and dealt out the gin rummy hand.
"Lucky, dumb luck," Wagner mumbled to himself.
The boys were sitting in Kovacs' trailer on the Columbia Pictures sound stage, awaiting the next scene. Wherever Kovacs is found a deck of cards is never far away.
"Gin!" Kovacs yelled, flicking his cigar ashes on Wagner's feet. "I blitzed you across the board, buddy-boy!"
Wagner called him another name. This time Ernie responded in kind. "It's a marked deck," Bob complained as he shuffled the cards.
"Where are the actors," an hysterical voice cried off in the distance. "We can't shoot a picture without actors."
Unperturbed, the players scrambled through another hand, which Kovacs also won. Wagner's language was blistering.
A bald head appeared in the doorway. "We're ready for the artists now," an assistant director said. Both Kovacs and Wagner withered him with contemptuous glares. The assistant disappeared.

"But 'Requiem' is unique. Six years have gone by since it was on TV, and it had a very low rating at that. So not many people saw it the first time. Anyhow, it was written for Broadway originally and is well suited for expansion."
"Requiem" is the best thing I ever wrote and the screenplay is fitted for motion picture time structure now."
Rod is a dedicated man. Television is his baby and he's hooked on the medium. His CBS-TV "Twilight Zone" series is one of the best in video.
"I don't normally get involved in movies unless it's a special case," he said. "To me 'Requiem' is very special."
"I can earn twice as much money writing for pictures, working half the time, than I do on my series. But television is exciting. It gets into your blood."
Stimulating as TV writing may be, Red refused to get over for the series on CBS suggested he undertake "Requiem" for an hour Heavyweight" for movies?
"Other TV shows failed because they were written for the television medium," he said. "The time his own scripts — working long structure is altogether different from motion pictures."
"They also flopped because audiences weren't anxious to see a twice-told tale. Why pay for something they've already seen for free?"

TV's 'Requiem For Heavyweight' Will Be Made Into Screen Play

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Rod Serling, winner of five Emmy awards since 1955, has served notice he will be in the running for an Oscar next year.
Serling has written a screenplay from his Emmy-winning teleplay, "Requiem for a Heavyweight," starring Anthony Quinn.
A score of TV shows have been expanded into movies with disastrous results. Only "Marty"—the first such—was an unqualified hit.
Further, Rod's first two movie attempts were something less than Academy Award contenders — "Patterns" and "Saddle the Wind."
"They were awful," the handsome young writer grinned.
"I gave better dialogue to the horses than the actors. Together they almost brought back vaudeville."
Why, after two so-so pictures and the horrendous record of small screens shows bloated up for the theater screens, is Serling undertaking "Requiem" for an hour Heavyweight" for movies?
"Other TV shows failed because they were written for the television medium," he said. "The time his own scripts — working long structure is altogether different from motion pictures."
"They also flopped because audiences weren't anxious to see a twice-told tale. Why pay for something they've already seen for free?"

Performer Part Owner Of School For Writers
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Many performers invest in money-making enterprises such as gas stations, restaurants and apartments, but emcee Red Rowe is part owner of a profitable school for writers.
Rowe, host on CBS-TV's daytime "Face the Facts" show, is partner in the electronic technical writing institute here. The school specializes in home study courses about how to boil down technical subjects so they'll be understood by laymen who have to assemble equipment.
Red, a singer and musician on various Hollywood shows, admits his knowledge of the subject is limited. But, he's surrounded himself with people he considers capable.
"I didn't know what technical writing was," he said. "I thought it was a guy who wrote carefully."
He said there is a shortage of qualified technical writers in this country and it results in disastrous consequences for some business firms.
"There was a waging machine company that went out of business because their technical writers couldn't turn out a publication that explained how to run the machine," he revealed. "Housewives didn't know how to work it."
Red also claimed America is behind the Soviet Union in some aspects of the technical writing field. "In Russia, there are 12 technical writers to every scientist," he said. "In this country, there are 15 scientists to each technical writer."

Prison Inmates Morning Nap Will Be 'Stars' In Video Show

For years stars, especially females of the specie, have been groaning about filming schedules which force them to rise with the sun.
Actresses are more vociferous than actors because the ladies often require hours to plaster make-up over wrinkles. Quine, a former actor, is well aware of early morning blues.
"I remember when I was an actor. It was horrendous," said Quine, sitting in an office beside the set of his latest picture, "Walk on the Wild Side."
"You go to work with the sun coming up and stumble into the studio," he explained. "I've run into a lot of grouchy actors in the morning, including myself."
Quine's schedule calls actors into Columbia Studio at 10 a.m. and he keeps them working until 7 p.m. Usually, stars get to work at 8 or 9 a.m. and stay until 6 p.m. When heavy make-up is required, stars arrive much earlier.
Quine said his late rising stars, Kim Novak, Jack Lemmon, Laurence and estimates his chances for readjustment. He also analyzes the treatment the prisoner is receiving behind bars.
"Our show is uncensored and unrehearsed," Producer Young continued. "If a convict complains about the food or guards, it goes on the air, too."

Peter Ustinov Likes His Beard But Now He Must Shave It Off

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Youplicity as if we both were working for the same foreign power. The chubby winner of this year's best supporting actor Oscar takes the scraggly face sight of him. Curious women ask to be kissed to see if the beard is unto the wag who gives it a tickles.
"Women get a faraway, 12th century look in their eyes when they see the beard," he said, stroking the growth with a gleam in his eye.
"My worst encounter occurred in a New York elevator. The operator gave me several punches on the arm and patted my beard, saying, 'I know you. You're my favorite wrestler!'" Ustinov must shave his precious beard next month for his starring role in "Allied Artists' Billy Budd." The prospect has unsettled him somewhat. He's afraid of catching cold.
"As soon as the picture is over I'll grow it back again," he said. "It takes only about two weeks to look decent again."
Does Peter trim the beard frequently?
"I never give it a thought," he smiled. "I've made arrangements with a Japanese gardener who keeps it in shape."

Red Rivalries May Help Free World, Kennedy Declares

PARIS (UPI) — President Kennedy said in France differences among the Communist powers some day may burst into full-fledged rivalries.
He said there might be trouble behind the Iron Curtain because of the "somewhat peculiar" relationship existing in a situation where Albania sides with Communist China in its ideological disputes with the Soviet Union.
This was one reason, Kennedy told a press lunch at the Chailhot Palace, why he believed the tide was running in favor of the free world instead of the Communists.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Producer-director Samuel Fuller is still loyal to the unit he served with during World War II.

54th YEAR SUNDAY, JUNE 4, 1961

Dr. Cary Grabs Memphis Lead

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Veteran Cary Middlecoff, admittedly playing "like a man who knows what he is doing," blazed a six under par 64 Saturday to move within one stroke of Gardner Dickinson in the $30,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament.

The slender Dickinson managed a par 70 Saturday after opening rounds of 63 and 65 for a 198 total. The Tequesta, Fla., shot-maker is 12 under par going into today's final round.

The 40-year-old Middlecoff had six birdies in his best round of the year.

Dickinson, who had a seven stroke lead over Middlecoff and five others at the half-way mark, was one stroke in front of Middlecoff and six strokes ahead of Mike Souchak, Gene Littler, Tommy Bolt and Buddy Sullivan, all bunched at 204.

Alone at 205 was Don Fairfield. Billy Maxwell, Don Whitte, and Ken Venturi were bracketed at 206, one stroke ahead of Bill Collins, Doug Sanders, Lionel Hebert, Tommy Jacobs and Fred Hawkins.

The cutoff for the final Sunday took in 60 pros, 216-strokes or better, which included Freddie Haas, Marty Furgol, Doug Ford, Bob Rosburg, and Tony Lema.

Colts Tackle Spearman Today

SPEARMAN — The Pampa Optimist Colts — with a new name and new faces — are scheduled to make their 1961 Tri-State League debut here this afternoon at 2 p.m. against Spearman's semi-pro nine. The game was originally slated today at Pampa's Optimist Park but wet grounds forced the switching of playing sites.

"The field had too many bad spots," said Optimist co-manager Newt Secrest, in announcing the schedule change.

Jimmy Walker, gritty little righthander, will probably start this afternoon for the Optimist Colts. Walker whiffed 14 in gaining an 8-3 exhibition win over Berger a week ago.

65 To 1 Shot Outruns Globemaster In Stretch; Carry Back Dismal 7th

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sherluck, the longest priced horse in the field at 65-1, scored one of racing's biggest upsets in the $148,650 Belmont Stakes Saturday when he pulled away in the stretch to win as Carry Back's bid for a triple crown triumph ended in utter failure.

Carry Back, which dropped back to last place half-way through the mile and one-half race, started his move on the turn leading into the stretch. He stared out the same way he did at Churchill Downs a month ago when he won the Kentucky Derby and at Pimlico two weeks ago in winning the Preakness.

HONUS WAGNER... A rare old card turn to the card-and-gum makers for a ruling. The card business now is so big that it supports another big business — dealers in second-hand or out-of-print baseball cards, needed to fill out collections. Their market: not only kids, but at least 5,000 full-grown American men and women.

For the past 30 years, however, it's been cards and bubble gum. "And you can always tell when it's baseball season," says a spokesman for Topps gum.

Sports Slivers

By JIM EASTERWOOD

Scribes feel the Texas Aggies will be a top contender for the Southwest Conference football crown this year.

They base their opinions on four things: more depth, better passing, and kicking games and a general improvement in overall enthusiasm.

Joe Youngblood, whom Pampa football addicts will remember as a great ball back with the Abilene Eagles in the early 50's, has been named head coach at Sands High in Ackerly. He succeeds Marlin Dodds. Joe, who later went to the University of Texas, also played some minor league baseball at Victoria.

Putt Powell, Amarillo's sagacious sports scribe, was kind enough to recently name four Pampa schoolboy athletes to his Tascosa all-opponents teams. Tackle Benny Stout, 1958, made Putt's grid team; Craig Winborn (1960) and Minor (1959) were named to the basketball team and first baseman Larry Stroud (1960) was picked on the baseball team.

The Pampa Country Club raided 'Okie' territory to nab one of their lifeguards this summer (U of Oklahoma grad Gordon Collet) but it should turn out to be a worthwhile acquisition. The All-American swimmer from Belmont, California is also quite a swimming instructor. He's been teaching adults how to swim since he was 12. Talk about your child prodigy's.

John Doucette continues to sparkle afield for Milliron's Northern League team. "He's a corner," says Milliron manager John Thompson. The little second sacker is only nine-years old. Jim Benton and Danny Darling distinguished themselves Thursday night in the Milliron outfield with fine plays. Eddie "Yogi" Hopkins turned in a fine game behind the plate.

Burt Watkins (pro) and Mel Chisum (amateur) two fine Pampa golfers, were members of a foursome which tied for fourth place in a special pro-am at Odessa Tuesday. Vern Farquhar, pro at Odessa, Amarillo's Robert Tennant, and club members Cotton Kirklin and Al Rogers coped the big prize.

Umbarger's Larry Wieck is a very unusual boy. The 18-year-old — whose hobby is raising unusual chickens — received a $35,000 bonus last week by the Boston Red Sox. And he didn't swing a bat or throw a single baseball in high school.

But, according to some experts, he might be another Mickey Vernon. At least he has two of Mick's qualifications. He's a switchhitter and plays the same position — center field.

Sportsmen Aided By Small Bills

The 57th Legislature, split about down the middle on many issues, passed a number of bills sportsmen consider advances in conservation, officials agreed Wednesday.

But many of the big bills faded out during the session, through neglect or strong opposition.

From the legislative files of the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas, Inc., comes the following capsule view of what happened to the bills the sportsmen were watching:

— White-tail deer trapping. Bill by Reps. Ben Glusing of Kingsville and Homer Koliba of Columbus, to allow trapping and transport of deer from surplus areas to ones of scarcity. Passed. Cecil Reid, executive secretary of SCOT, considers the bill "one of the session's most important."

— Sens. Culp Krueger of El Campo and Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi carried the bill in the Senate.

— Game and fish fund money for the Parks Board. Enabling legislation to carry out appropriations bill provision for $200,000. Died in committee.

— Firearms law. Bill by Rep. Don Shipley of Houston making it harder to get firearms. Died in committee. Shipley said bill not aimed at sportsmen, but outdoorsmen opposed it, fearing it would bar carrying of guns to hunting areas.

— Nutria control. Bill by Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress regulating ownership and transportation of nutria. Passed. Sportsmen and farmers in areas infested by pesky nutria, which have a voracious appetite for brush and crops, hailed passage of the bill.

— Boat safety. Bill by Rep. Ben Atwell of Hutchins to require registration of boats over eight feet long, including game wardens as enforcement officers. Died in House floor.

— Boat motor titles. Bill by Atwell to require title certificate on boat motors. Died in House floor.

Times a wasting for those wishing to sign up for Junior Golf Lessons this summer, announces Hart Warren, Pampa Country Club pro. Warren said that all players must be requested by Monday, June 5. Lessons will start on Tuesday, June 6.

Warren said the course will consist of eight lessons at 9 a.m. every Tuesday and Friday. "An expense of $4.00 or 50 cents a lesson will be charged to defray the expenses of golf balls," he said.

A make-up lesson at the end of the season will be held for those missing a session.

The City Golf tournament will kick off June 11 at the Pampa Country Club with qualifications for medalist scheduled on this day. Match play will be held on the 18th and 25th. Entry fee is $5.00 with June 11 the deadline for entering the tournament.

Three Rings Circus

Silky Sullivan, Big Ham, Is Still Stealing Bows

NEA — With all the talk about racing it was inevitable that someone would ask: Whatever became of Silky Sullivan?

No horse ever invaded Kentucky with the hoopla accompanying Silky Sullivan. A big, handsome red chestnut from California, Silky became a national idol early in 1958 when he was three. He created the bobby sox excitement accorded a movie star.

Like theatrical people who get tremendous publicity, Silky was his own best press agent. He looked the part of the big ham he was. Thousands of people wrote him personal letters. Had he been able to write, he would have suffered from writer's cramp. Jack Kearns, fight manager, wanted to put him in a circus.

So, whatever happened to Silky Sullivan? Well, the big showoff is still stealing bows at what, with him around, is the aptly named Three Rings Ranch. Silky's running may have let down, but his popularity hasn't.

To find out whatever became of Silky Sullivan, we turned to Al Wesson, the knowledgeable voice of California's Hollywood Park.

"Silky's a personal friend of mine," says Wesson. "He lives at Three Rings Ranch in Beaumont, Calif., where Frannie and I often visit the owner, Mrs. Connie Ring. Beaumont is 90 miles east of Los Angeles at the top of the divide before you start down to Palm Springs on the desert 25 miles farther eastward. The climate is delightful at its 2,500-foot elevation. We have bought a couple of acres there where we may settle down when the old man retires. So, Silky and the Wessons may one day be neighbors."

"Three Rings, incidentally, is a 200-acre layout that is generally conceded to be the most beautiful of California breeding farms."

"Silky set fans wild by walking out of the gate, galloping a long lazily sometimes 30 or 40 lengths behind, and gradually accelerating until he was flying in the stretch to win in phenomenal finishes. His English sire, Sullivan, was a sprinter, but it appeared that Silky could go a distance. He looked like a router in winning the Santa Anita Derby."

"Silky Sullivan's trainer, Reggie Cornell, a rotund, obliging, Canadian-born horseman, uses red and white in his barn and tack decorations. When Cornell drolled Silky up in red bandages and blinkers the large fellow was about the most gorgeous eight the Blue Grass ever saw in pre-Derby training."

"Silky was a tremendous eater and maybe too big and powerfully muscled for his legs, and the trouble that bothered him developed in his pre-Derby race in which he closed rapidly."

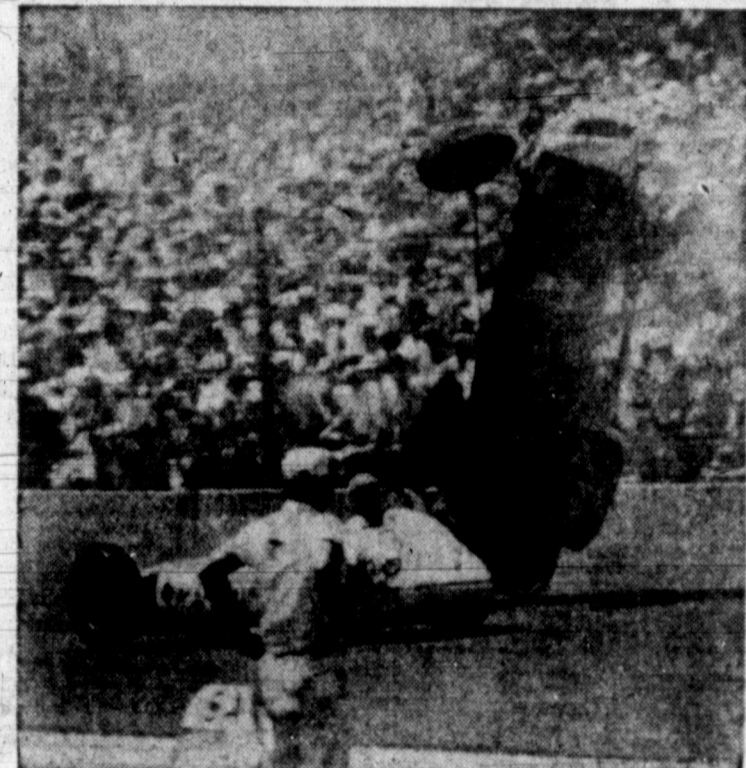

"In the Kentucky Derby, won by Tim Tam, Silky Sullivan made one brief run and then faded. In The Preakness he didn't run a lick. The public's hero was crushed."

"After a layoff, and an attempt by Cornell to cure his splint, suspicious suspensory or whatever it was, by standing, walking and galloping the colt in the ocean surf of Half-Moon Bay, south of San Francisco, Silky Sullivan made eight starts in 1959 at four. He won and showed three times each and went unplaced only twice. When it was apparent that he was not going to stand training, however, he was retired to stud."

"Silky was still the rage with the public and still is. Hundreds visit him in his paddock at Three Rings Ranch each weekend. Last summer, after the breeding season, Silky was vanned to Del Mar for a Silky Sullivan Day and a gallop in front of his fans. He seemed to enjoy running so well that the Phil Klipstein family, which always owned him, decided to put him back in training. He seemed about ready to return to the races when the old leg trouble caught up with him again."

"Silky still likes to run and his 150-yard-long paddock gives him plenty of chance to show off when the swarms of weekend visitors to Three Rings Ranch pass up 10 other fine stallions just to look at him."

"So, that is what happened to Silky Sullivan."

SPEEDWAY MISHAP — This dramatic closeup shows veteran driver Jack Turner of Seattle, Wash., turning end over end after hitting oil slick during 500-mile Memorial Day racing classic at Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Indiana. Turner escaped with bumps and bruises. Race was won by national champion A. J. Foyt, 25, Houston, Tex., who crossed finish line 8.5 seconds ahead of Eddie Sachs, 33, Center Valley, Pa., who finished second. There were no fatalities.

Former Sports Editor Follows Conservative Policy As Solon

Austin Bureau AUSTIN — "When the state fails to accept its responsibilities we run the risk of signing a blank check for the federal government to take over."

The man doing the talking was W. E. (Pete) Snelson of Midland who is serving his first term in the House of Representatives. He went on:

"We can't sit here and do nothing and let federal authorities move in. I am strongly opposed to big government in Washington and believe the best way to stop federal encroachment is through acceptance by the state of its proper responsibilities to the people."

"I think we've got to recognize the growing expectations of the people and it doesn't make sense to believe we can have limited government in Austin and let them run wild in Washington."

"Of course, we should be mindful of economy and efficiency in executing programs which are the rightful function of the state."

"Another thing: Community problems should be solved at the community level without interference from the state or federal government. There is grave danger in federal or state encroachment in local affairs and the two upper levels of government should leave the communities alone."

"I didn't ride a white horse to Austin to cure the ills of the world. I didn't guarantee anybody anything and don't expect to revolutionize government. But I will discharge my responsibility as a member of the House and vote for what I consider to be good bills and against those I consider bad."

That about sums up Snelson's philosophy of government. It places him in the House conservative camp and his voting record shows he hasn't deviated from the fold — not even once. He's a strong advocate of the free enterprise system and doesn't want any part of socialism.

Snelson, 38, was born in Grand Falls where he was graduated from high school. He attended Texas College of Mines, El Paso, and received a degree in journalism in 1946. He was awarded a master's degree from the Medical School of Journalism of Northwestern University in 1950.

He was sports editor of the El Paso Times when he entered the Army in 1943. He served in the European Theater of Operations and was discharged in 1946. In 1952, he was named vice president of Odessa College in charge of public relations. He left the college in 1955 to form the Womack-Snelson Advertising Agency of which he is a partner. The agency has offices in Midland and Odessa.

In 1957-58, Snelson was president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce and visited local chambers in more than 200 cities. He is married and has a 9-month-old boy, Gene Snelson.

He seemed to enjoy running so well that the Phil Klipstein family, which always owned him, decided to put him back in training. He seemed about ready to return to the races when the old leg trouble caught up with him again."

"Silky still likes to run and his 150-yard-long paddock gives him plenty of chance to show off when the swarms of weekend visitors to Three Rings Ranch pass up 10 other fine stallions just to look at him."

"So, that is what happened to Silky Sullivan."

Good Fishing Predicted For Coast This Weekend

By TRAVIS HUGHES

A good fishing weekend is in store for anglers along the coast with very favorable tides scheduled. The Weather Bureau in Houston confidently predicted a beautiful weekend from Boca Chica to Sabine Pass.

Tides will be coming in during the early morning hours on the Upper Coast. Clear water which accompanies the conditions should produce some fish for the early anglers.

No shower activity is forecast for either Saturday or Sunday on the Upper Coast and winds should be generally light from the Southeast. Warm temperatures are forecast.

A long Memorial Day weekend and fine weather resulted in a near-record number of fishermen at camps along the Coast. Speckled trout and redfish were the big hauls at most spots last weekend.

As usual, the busiest fishing spots were at Galveston. The jetties were in beautiful shape and gave up reds, trout and lots of panfish. A few big jackfish were reported offshore and tarpon and mackerel were sighted.

From the causeway and on some sand flats, six-pound trout were taken. Some four pounders were caught in West Bay and in East Bay around Pelican Island.

In the main bay, some 30 fish strings were reported including six-pounders.

Freeport is still the place to watch. The water around the new Brazos River is reported to be in perfect condition for tarpon. But tarps have not shown up yet although plenty of anglers are ready for them.

With conditions as they are, some lucky fisherman is likely to pull out a silver king any day and start the rush at Freeport.

Houston angler Louis Torres, now fishing at Marathon, Fla., was on hand the other day when a record tarpon was landed in the Keys.

Torres, who says he believes Freeport is better tarpon ground than Florida's Thousand Islands, said the big fish was a beauty. Mrs. Bob Jordan, the wife of a local guide, caught the 208-pound trophy from a bridge. Her catch was the largest ever made in the United States. Only a huge 286-pound tarpon taken off the coast of Venezuela and a 247-pounder from Tampico, Mexico are larger.

Freeport tarpon fishing was the subject of a recent stand by State Game and Fish Commission secretary Howard Dodgen. He said immediate action would be taken to prevent small tarpon from being killed in the Colorado and

New Brazos rivers by gar netters.

The secretary called the Freeport area one of the nation's best tarpon spots and said it must be protected.

On the middle coast, Port O'Connor paid off well around the flats with trout. Offshore anglers were catching some kingfish, bonita and ling. No mackerel were reported but jackfish were common earlier this week. The Gulf was a little choppy.

One fisherman at Port O'Connor had the thrill of his life for a few minutes Tuesday morning. He hooked a blue marlin but lost it after a short fight. Bill Ellis reports the strike encouraged things around his camp.

Here is a note for those lucky fishermen who catch too many this weekend. The Baytown Rod Reel and Gun Club needs fish for a fry to benefit the Baytown Emergency Corps. Blumer Thompson is collecting them at his camp on Cedar Bayou.

Here are the tides: Saturday: High at 8:31 a.m.; low at 12:35 a.m. Sunday: Highs at 9:42 a.m. and 7:26 p.m.; lows at 1:32 a.m. and 5:7 p.m.

California Now Offers Polo On Cut-Rate Basis

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The sportsman with a little spare change has a new opportunity to do something unique and exciting.

Southern California, the land of milk and money, offers a chance to play polo on a cut-rate basis.

It's not going to be really cheap, men, but at least there is a plan to cut costs and take polo out of the exclusive area of the idle rich.

The plan is the product of polo-minded Herschel Bonham who is dedicated to the game and is an active player and trainer of ponies.

You can lease almost anything these days and Bonham offers polo equipment and horses for rent to men who want to learn the game. Instruction is included in the plan.

The cost to the student is $500 a month. Don't go away — this is reasonable, according to Bonham. Ordinarily, he says, a man who wants to play polo must make an initial outlay of $9,000 for ponies and equipment, and put out about $650 a month in upkeep.

Bonham and a few friends are forming the Bonham polo supply

Years Of Experience Poured In Dreamboat

NEA — Living afloat is a lifetime longing of many.

Jim and Elizabeth Emmett have been doing it for 30 married years, and the pleasure has not worn off.

They have just launched a new boat, built with their own hands and designed to fill their modest requirements while letting them go where they want to do what they please. Home anchorage for their Utopia is found at the end of a quiet lane a few miles from Annapolis on Chesapeake Bay.

"Years ago we cruised the Ohio down the Mississippi and along both coasts," explains Emmett. "During the depression we thought we needed a more permanent place, but couldn't afford it. So we bought some land near here for $100, built a log cabin on it ourselves, sold it to buy a boat, and have been living on the water ever since."

HOMEMADE — Jim and Elizabeth Emmett, after living afloat for 30 years, designed and built their own craft.

Sneado-San

TOKYO (NEA) — In 1957 when Sam Snead played in Japan in the Canada Cup Matches he praised the girl caddy he had.

Sneado-San asked for the same girl when he returned to Japan more recently for a series of exhibitions.

During a round over the Kasumigaseki course the winner of more than 100 tournaments asked Kurako Kawame, "You have any clubs of your own yet?" Kurako replied in the negative.

"I'll bet you will pretty soon," said Sneado-San.

On the 18th green someone arrived with a huge package and Sam Snead presented Kurako Kawame with a matched set of woods and irons.

Amateur Golf Meet To Begin Wednesday

AUSTIN (UPI) — Defending champion Rufus King of Wichita Falls will lead a field of 200 golfers into the state amateur tournament of the Texas Golf Association starting here Wednesday.

The 52nd renewal of Texas' oldest golf tournament also will draw John Paul Cain of Lubbock and Ray Stoker of Odessa, the co-holders of the competitive course record at the Austin Country Club where the tournament will be held.

Children's Day Ideas Suggested To Nation

NEW YORK (UPI)—The moms and dads of American can be excited if they're feeling a bit sheepish this time of year. Mother's Day is behind — and Father's Day is coming up. During the lull between the two celebrations, there's time to think about how unporting it was of the makers of days to overlook a national children's day. Maybe Christmas is supposed to be such a day. Or the child's birthday fills the need. But three things happen to everyone in the family as a routine matter. You can bet that the children have figured that they're being short-changed. Ideally, a children's day should fall on a school day. In observance of the day, it would be even more ideal to have it marked as an official school holiday. Teachers would hail the notion. Why should they deny the parents full appreciation of the children ALL day on children's day? In addition to no school, other privileges should be attached to children's day. For example: —The right to forget to wash behind one's neck. —The right to omit for a day the assigned chores such as hauling out the refuse, making the bed, picking up clothes. —The right to eat only what delights one and the right to say "no" when urged to eat un-delightful foods such as spinach or carrots. Children's day also could be a time for the local merchants to show the youth of the neighborhood how much they are appreciated. The manager of the local movie for example, might decide to give the children free popcorn on their day — provided, of course, that they don't drop most of it, as they usually do. The head of the local library might decide to lift the fines on all overdue books brought in by children on their day. But the best gift of all could be given by the owners of the

Subscription TV Effort Planned In Connecticut

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A small TV station here, backed by industrial millions, is preparing to take a red-ink fling at finding out whether American families will go for see now-pay later television. Station WHCT, located in this "insurance capital," which has the fifth highest per capita income in the nation, will start in late fall a "subscription" television experiment that is the first of its kind. It will broadcast on its regular channel (18) 40 hours per week of special programs — mainly first-run movies at the outset — which can be received by use of a de-scrambling device hooked to the set and containing a tape apparatus which bills the customer. R. K. O. General, a subsidiary of General Tire, is preparing to invest $10 million in this top-dipping in a field which eventually may revolutionize all of television.

and the entertainment industry, as well.

Paul Evans, WHCT station manager, says the operation will begin with as few as 2,000 homes, but that he hopes to have 10,000 customers within the three-year trial period envisioned. There is room both for encouragement and discouragement from the current pay-TV trial in suburban Toronto, Canada, where 5,800 families subscribed and only 100 have cancelled the coin-in-the-box service which is brought in by telephone lines rather than over the airwaves. But the Canadian enterprise has lost money because of the costs of operation and, primarily, the initial expense of $100 for the coin box.

The de-scrambler which WHCT will distribute is made by Zenith at a cost of approximately $120 for each shoe-box sized apparatus. Evans must get customers to spend $40 a year to pay off that investment before applying other revenue to programs and other costs.

Motor vehicle accidents during 1960 caused 38,200 deaths of the 93,000 accidental deaths from all causes that year.

Beginner Swim Classes Planned

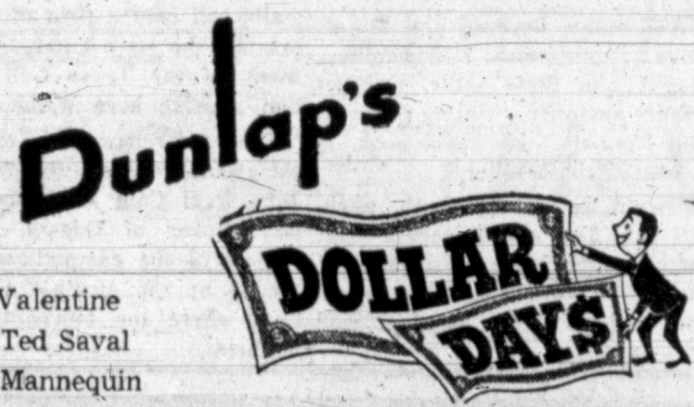

Details have been worked out to provide beginner swimming instruction at the Pampa Youth and Community Center for boys and girls between the ages of 7 and 12. There will be three two week courses set up Director Doug Hallaly said, and an individual may register for any one of the three. The three periods are: June 19 to June 30, July 3 to July 14, exclusive of July 4, and July 17 to July 28. The classes will be held in the afternoon from 6 to 7 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, and 7 to 8 p.m. on Thursday.

Pampa Chapter of the American Red Cross will provide trained and certified instructors. The instructors are Martha Jackson, June 19-30; Diane Perry, July 1-14; and Barbara Chisholm, July 17-28. Registration will be limited to 20 in each class. Those desiring to register children may do so Wednesday, June 7 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. by calling the Youth Center at MO5-2622.

Watson To Back Daniel Tax Plan

AUSTIN (UPI)—Rep. Murray Watson of Mart, a member of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee, today said he was ready to support Gov. Price Daniel's position on the "critical tax issue."

He also urged Texans to contact lawmakers about their beliefs about taxation.

THIS HAS BEEN a Spring For Roses, hasn't it? . . . roses everywhere . . . spilling over garden fences, climbing up trellises to roof-tops . . . lining sidewalks and driveways . . . on nearly every street in town their array of color and blossom has cheered the heart just a little more by their appearance . . . isn't it strange how different flowers seem to have their own special year? . . . one year the Forsythia will be the outstanding and eye-catching floral display . . . or the lilacs . . . or the Snow-Balls . . . or the Iris, which of course, around here are nearly always pretty . . . and some years the Pyroantha seems to have its time . . . the roses in the Memorial Garden on Duncan Street have been especially eye-appealing this season . . . one new note of city beautification, which you would not at first notice, because it is back just a little off of the street . . . but new trees have been planted to line the campus walk between the high school and the fieldhouse . . . Lee Junior High has put out new shrubs this year . . . and the landscaping around the Pampa Youth and Community Center, we hear, has been due to the diligent work of Top of Texas Garden Club members . . . yes, guests in the city and newcomers can believe the signs on highways in the outskirts of the city leading into Pampa that this is a "Garden Club City".

MEMO TO NEW GARDENERS . . . if you can't tell the difference between a weed and a new plant . . . just pull up everything and if it grows back it is a weed . . . SECOND MEMO TO NEW GARDENERS: . . . please disregard the first memo.

YOU SAY you can grow beautiful flowers? . . . but, you say, after you have grown them you don't know what to do with them? . . . well, I tell you what I'm gonna do . . . rather what the Pampa Garden Club is going to do . . . It is planning instruction in flower arranging with classes to be held semi-monthly during the summer months . . . Mrs. Myron Dorman, who is a national flower show judge . . . Mrs. T. P. RELUCTANT FAREWELLS have been in the air for the past few weeks as Beryl and Stu Kines prepare to leave for their new home in Elizabethtown, Pa., where Stu will assume the superintendency of the Masonic Home there . . . Both of them have made themselves so much a part of the home-town scene in church and club activities that they will be missed . . . several social courtesies have been extended prior to their leaving . . . another nice couple who are becoming "displaced Pampans" are Bill and Eleanore Waggoner and their two children, Ellen and Todd, who are moving to Lubbock . . . Eleanore will certainly leave a vacant spot in the Community Concert Ass'n which she served as secretary for over five years . . . during membership drive week, it was she who prepared workers' kits and calling lists and when September rolled around, it was she, again, who prepared membership cards for mailing . . . it will be a difficult spot to fill . . . Twentieth Century Allegro, too, will be missing her when club time rolls around again . . . Eleanore had been elected corresponding secretary for that group . . . another spot that must be filled . . . and so it goes . . . all in the name of advancement.

CHOICE TID-BITS . . . a group that plays as hard as it works, the AIME (which, to the layman, means American Institute of Metallurgical Engineers) entertained with a dance last Friday evening in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn with Weldon Bright and his Orchestra of Amarillo playing for dancing . . . among the funsters were Gene and Betty Boyett . . . and an attractive couple from Amarillo, Yancy Lewis and Joyce Nichols . . . Kendall and Eva Jane Green, who are now making their home in Odessa, were back over the weekend visiting with friends but most importantly to attend the graduation exercises of their son, Harold, from Pampa High School . . . another proud set of relatives seated in the audience on Monday night as "Pomp and Circumstance" rang out in the hallowed fieldhouse of PHS were the W. F. Dixons of Independence, Kan., who came down to see grandson, Jerry, graduate . . . it wasn't possible for any particular group of student to steal the spotlight at the Beaux Arts Dance recital Tuesday night for there is so much talent evenly distributed . . . but making a Big Bid for stealing the show were the Wedding Dolls . . . Steven Edwards, Cindy Duenkel, Sherri Ellis, Teddy Fallon, Dede Jones, Paula Kretzmeier, Renee Penn, Michelle Scott, Kay Wilson, Mellissa Ann Johnson, Robbie Lee Johnson . . . these tots have stage presence . . . another cute little eye-catcher was Kim Wilson, who in the drum sequence, could beat that drum and march at the same time like "nobody's business" . . . Carmelita Hogan, a former dance student of Jeanna Willingham and who is now a student in Oklahoma State College, got home from Stillwater just in time to help behind-the-scenes . . . Jack Edwards as stage manager is always a hard-working crew member on recital night . . . there are two look-alikes among the dance students and perhaps we have mentioned it before . . . but we think cute little Linda Brumley is a miniature edition of Judy Robinson . . . they look enough alike to be sisters . . . but they aren't . . . only around-the-corner neighbors . . . one thing that always strikes us as amusing is the nonchalance with which fathers accept dance recital night . . . you will see them, before curtain time lolling around outside of the auditorium calmly smoking while mothers are backstage frantically putting last minute touches of glamor on their little dancers or just as frantically helping to make quick costume changes . . . and the first thing most Dads do after their off-spring's appearance is dash back outside for another smoke or male conversation with other fathers of dancing students.

OUR CONGRATULATIONS to Don Curry for the honor given him by the Key Club as the member "standing tallest" in contribution of service to the club . . . and that certainly is a wonderful project the Key Club is promoting . . . in selling 50-star American Flags and making it convenient for every American home to have one for display on national and patriotic holidays . . . Albert and Vera Doucette have just returned from a visit with their sisters in Beaumont . . . and on the way home they came through Tyler, which is supposedly a "City of Roses" . . . they report seeing not one single rose on their route . . . Vera told a friend that it was a relief to get back home and see where roses really grow! . . . speaking of Doucettes, they have made a lovely corner out of their residence at 500 W. Brownrigg with the planting of roses, shrubs and trees . . . although they have lived there only a couple of years their home already looks like a well-established one.

SINCE WE'VE written mostly of gardening in this column, we might as well go ahead and finish it up that way . . . we wonder how all those gals, who get things done so early, like Christmas shopping, for instance, are coming along with their gardening . . . that's one thing for sure that never gets done early or done period.

Not one of them, Peg.

Miss Jane Cheyne Becomes Bride of Billy K. Potts in Amarillo Service

Miss Jane Cheyne became the bride of Billy K. Potts with wedding vows solemnized on June 1 at eight o'clock in the First Baptist Church in Amarillo. Dr. Winfred Moore was officiant for the exchange of double-ring vows repeated beneath an archway covered with small yellow and white carnations with branched candelabra flanking the altar.

Miss Cheyne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Cheyene of Amarillo. Mr. Potts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Potts of Paradise.

Miss Joyce Prock of Pampa, organist, played pre-nuptial airs which included "Whither Thou Goest", "If I Love You" and the traditional wedding marches. Jerry Baxter, also of Pampa, sang "Through the Years" and "Bless This House."

Mrs. Paul Bryant Hostess To Club

CANADIAN (Spl) — Mrs. Paul Bryant was hostess to the Women's Club recently.

Miss Daisy Childers, retiring president, introduced Mrs. Jack Allen of Perryton, who installed the officers for the coming year. The officers are Mrs. George E. Tubbs, president; Mrs. Erbin Crowell, first vice-president; Mrs. Hugh Wilson, second vice-president; Mrs. Oliver Waters, treasurer; Mrs. Paul Bryant, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Charles Vignal, recording secretary.

Mrs. Allen spoke on "Forward in Federation."

Attending were guests Mmes. Allen and Roger of Perryton, and Mrs. Jack King, and members Mmes. C. W. Allen, Morris Bennett, J. L. Cleveland, Erbin Crowell, Robert Dillman, Ben Ezzell, W. R. Hext, R. Given in marriage by her brother, Bill Roy Harvey of Kansas City, Kan., the bride was gowned in floor-length white lace over taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline embroidered with seed pearls and wrist-length sleeves which tapered to petal points. The bouffant skirt swept deep with Chantilly lace and draped away from a jeweled tiara. She carried an arrangement of white roses.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Sherry Jeanne Sanders of Fort Worth served as maid of honor and Miss Nita Harvey of Kansas City, Kan., bride's sister, was bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of pale blue organza and lace over taffeta. Each carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Jerry Carpenter of Lefors served as best man. Ushers were Fichard Lee Spence and Buich Northcott.

Miss Pat Berry, organist, provided the traditional wedding marches. Miss Sheila Cable, vocalist, sang "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

For the ceremony, Mrs. Foster, bridegroom's mother, wore a Royal Blue dress with white accessories.

Mrs. Lee R. Blankenburg
nee Carolyn Ann Harvey

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bridegroom's parents with members of the immediate families as guests.

For a wedding trip, the bride traveled in a Navy Blue sheath with white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Blankenburg were graduated from Lefors High School in 1960 and attended Texas Technological College in Lubbock.

Upon their return from a brief trip, they will make their home in Lefors.

Out-of-town guests attended were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jordan and family of Kansas City, Kan.; Mrs. June Foster, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Stevens of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Miss Clara Anderson of Fort Worth; Dale Morris of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Foster, Mrs. Ellen Wilson, Wilbur Lee Wilson, Miss Pat Durham; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eustace, all of McLan.

Hoe Down

By THELMA BRAY
Pampa Garden Club

"The Art of Flower Arrangement" classes to be sponsored by the Pampa Garden Club will begin June 8 with qualified instructors in charge of each session.

The classes are being planned for those people who are interested in the interior decorations of their homes; for those who grow flowers in their gardens and would like to arrange them artistically; and for those who would like a broader knowledge of this floral art.

The seven classes set up are only meant to encourage people to want to know more about the subject. If enough people are interested in continuing advanced classes on such subjects as Japanese arrangements, color, and arrangements for competition, the series will be carried on as long as necessary.

Anyone interested in these classes, which are free of charge, are asked to contact Mrs. Thelma Bray, Mrs. Coy Palmer or any of the instructors.

The time will be 2 p.m. with the place to be announced later.

The schedule is as follows: JUNE 8, Basic Design, with Mrs. Myron Dorman, national flower show judge; JUNE 22, Containers and Mechanics, with Mrs. Myron Dorman; JULY 6, Supervised Workshop; JULY 20, Japanese Arrangement with Mrs. T. P. Collins; AUGUST 3, Color, Mrs. Myron Dorman; AUGUST 17, Fall and Dried Arrangements with Mrs. Martin Stubbe; SEPTEMBER 7, Holiday Arrangements with Mrs. Tom Price.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Bill Langley

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Chisum, south of the city, announce the marriage of their daughter, Gail to Bill Langley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Langley, 622 Sloop. Wedding vows were exchanged on January 20 in the First Baptist Church in Wheeler.

WED

Mrs. Jerry Porter

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Palmiter, 2231 Nelson, announce the marriage of their daughter, Susan Carol to Jerry Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hooper, 401 Red Deer. Single-ring vows were repeated on May 29 in Clovis, N.M. For her wedding the bride wore a white lace sheath complemented with a pearl-drop necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Porter were graduated from Pampa High School this Spring and plan to make their home in Oklahoma.

Miss Henry Feted At Bride's Shower

Miss Barbara Henry, bride-elect of Larry Stroud, was honored with a bridal shower on Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Odile Branscum, 213 Miami, with Dona Cowles as assisting hostess.

The honoree was presented with a corsage fashioned from miniature silverware, plastic dish covers on a rolled dish-cloth.

The tiered white cake topped with wedding bells appointed the lace-covered serving table. Lime sherbet punch and cake were served by the honoree and hostesses.

Guests were Mmes. D. B. Mahony, Vera Fisher, Marcelle Moose, Pat Smith, Bill Ridgeway, Bill Lee, Faye Wells, Geneva Dalton, Virginia Ferguson, Ruby Underwood, Lelar Stroud, Florence Stroud, Jessie Gossett, Mack Taylor, Betty Flinchum, Orville Henry; Misses Cheryl Cowles and Loreta Henry.

Sending gifts but unable to attend were Mmes. Thula McCarroll and Donald Stephens.

Mrs. Floyd Imel Is PEO Hostess

Chapter CS of PEO met recently in the home of Mrs. Floyd Imel for a program presented by Mrs. T. J. Wright entitled, "Keys To Anniversary." She traced the beginning of Chapter CS nine years ago in Pampa to the present time. Accomplishments of the past and goals for the future were enumerated.

She concluded the program with the thought "Each and all not knowest thou what argument; Thy life to thy neighbor's creed has lent. All are needed by each one, nothing is fair or good alone. Life, like a plant, is a continuity. The bloom is the fulfillment of the plant cycle. But neither the roots, the stalk, nor the flower are separate. Each contributes a quality, an essence to the completion of the united function."

During the business meeting, conducted by the president, Mrs. W. E. West, it was reported that a new library is being built on the campus of Cotley College in Nevada, Mo., which is supported by the PEO Chapters in the United States.

Farewell Party Honors Couple

LEFORS (Spl) — Mr. and Mrs. John Frank Morris were honored with a farewell party on Tuesday evening in Civic Center with employees of Coltexo Corp. as hosts. Mr. Morris retired from the company in June of this year after 38 years with Coltexo beginning in 1922 in Fowler, La. He had worked in Perryville and Rodessa La. and had been employed as a foreman at one time by the Coltexo plant in Lefors. He had requested to be transferred back to Louisiana.

As a gift was presented to the couple, E. D. Nolan, plant superintendent said, "We aren't giving you this gift because you're going away, but because we love you." Entertainment was provided throughout the evening by Miss Judy Barnes and W. P. Flowers at the piano. Mrs. Raymond Barnes led in a series of games.

A tan linen cloth centered with an arrangement of pink roses appointed the serving table.

Families represented were those of Raymond Barnes, D. T. Pfeil, W. E. Duñas, W. P. Flowers, E. D. Nolan, Billy Keith, Jim Banks, Carl Wall, U. S. Whiteley, B. T. Smith, W. B. Minter, L. N. Howell, J. O. Wiggins, A. J. Rollins, Charles Roberts, Bud Cumberland, and Donald McLaughlin.

Miss Love, Bill Greer Wed In Church Rites

Miss Marcia Francis Love and Bill R. Greer were united in marriage at seven o'clock on May 23 in the Fellowship Baptist Church in Borger with the Rev. Bill Frerking, pastor, officiating for the exchange of double-ring vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dee R. Love of Borger. The bridegroom is the son of John Greer of Perry, Okla.

Baskets of white roses and white candelabra flanked the altar.

Miss Karen Baldree, organist, accompanied Miss Shirley Simon as she sang "Always", "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white dacron batiste with white cotton lace insets styled with a high scoop neckline. Her elbow-length gloves and pearlized slippers complemented her costume. She wore a ballerina-length silk illusion veil attached to a pearl and sequin tiara and carried a bouquet of white roses with orchid net and white satin streamers.

In carrying out the bridal tradition, she carried a lucky sixpence which her father had carried with him throughout the wedding.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Donabeth Moose, maid of honor, wore a street-length dress of orchid complemented with a hat fashioned from white lilies. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Linda Dee Love, sister of the bride, and Miss Sharon Childers, served as candlelighters wearing identical street-length dresses of orchid pima mist batiste and hats fashioned from lilies of the valley with orchid-veiling. They wore short white gloves and carried white carnation bouquets.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill R. Greer

James McPherson served as best man with O. L. Gray Jr. and Guyon Frazier as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Love wore a navy blue sheath of cotton lace with white accessories. Mrs. K. S. Sigler, bridegroom's aunt, wore a light blue shirtwaist dress with beige accessories. Their corsages were fashioned from white roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents with Misses Barbara May and Linda Boykin presiding at the cake and punch service. The traditional wedding cake, diamond shaped was decorated in the bride's colors of orchid and white.

For a wedding trip to Fort Knox, Ky., the bride traveled in an orchid dress of satin brocade on pima mist batiste accented with a white short jacket and white pearlized accessories. Her rose corsage was taken from the center of the bridal bouquet.

Wedding guests attending from Pampa were Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lawrence and Patty, Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Lowrance and Bobby; Mr. and Mrs. Don Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ratliff.

BETROTHED

Miss Dorothy Helen Hall

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Hall of Wheeler announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Helen to Joe Duane Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan F. Miller, 1139 S. Nelson. The wedding is planned for July 16 in the First Methodist Church in Wheeler.

RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Here are some women I'd like to meet and I'll bet you would too:

First, there's the little lady of the advertisements who is happy that it's wash-day, because she uses a certain kind of soap chips.

Then there's the harried housewife who takes the beauty writer's advice and turns her household chores into beauty treatments — by bending the right way instead of the wrong way when she picks up Junior's toys, by creaming her hands and putting on gloves before she does a grimy housecleaning job.

Let's not forget the woman who completely makes over the living room by spending next to nothing (you read about her in the decorating magazines) and utilizing a lot of ingenuity and skill with a paint brush. Fortunately, she always has a husband who can turn an orange crate into a dressing table, and she's never without an attic full of antiques just waiting for a high polish.

I want to meet, too, the woman who was fat and funny-looking until she went in for a rigid beauty course, whereupon she emerged as whistle-bait.

And I'm interested in the girl who parries her escort's compliments on her flawless complexion with, "That's because I use blank soap, silly."

MATURE PARENT

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
I was comforted by the column in which you said that adolescents' blowups at parents' mean trust of us. Will you say some more about this? Our 16-year-old daughter has broken with a boy she's been dating for eight months, and though her father is patient with her, her outbursts of irritation at me get me down.

ANSWER: Did you ever take your daughter shopping with you when she was a small girl? If so, you'll recall how she began to get tired as you moved from counter to counter. Her baby leg muscles could no longer sustain the burden of her own weight. So what did she do? She lifted her arms up and said, "Carry me, mommy." She entrusted her bodily exhaustion to your supply of greater strength.

In adolescence, the young do much the same thing.

A daughter loses a boy friend—and her young self-confidence begins to tire. It can't sustain the extra burden put on it by what she feels is a social failure. So she transfers to us the irritability she feels toward herself. By handing us the condemnation she can't tolerate herself, she says in effect, "Carry me, mommy." She entrusts her emotional weakness to our great emotional strength.

Of course we're not made of iron. We too may be having experiences that deplete our supply of emotional strength. We may have shown our husband that we distrust the way he is dealing with an arbitrary employer. We may be disturbed by a financial situation that won't let us visit an ailing parent in a distant state. Whatever the reason, we get to feeling that we're a pretty disappointing person. Under these circumstances, adolescent fault-finding can get under our skin.

But even then, we don't have to hit back. Not if we're brave enough to tell the truth, to say, "I'm feeling a little disappointed in myself today. I'd like it if you'd wait till I feel more cheerful."

Discovering that we can tolerate self-doubt without anxiety is encouraging to the adolescent who is using criticism of us to express self-criticism.

Club Goes Oriental

Kit Kat Klub entertained with a rush party in an oriental theme on Thursday evening in the home of Miss Linda Worley, 2407 Duncan.

The back-lawn of the Worley home was lighted by gaily-hued Japanese lanterns with Mimosa trees tied with red ribbon to represent cherries. The scene was also decorated with a pool filled with floating roses and a large bird-bath filled with roses and imitation birds.

During the social hour, Japanese rock and roll music was played in the background.

Miss Sue Maxey, president, conducted an informal meeting during which she outlined activities, goals and purposes of the club and answered rushees' questions.

Entertainment was provided by five-year-old, Gaylene Huff, who performed an Oriental dance and by Miss Judi Vail, who presented a humorous skit.

Miss Worley and Miss Judy Easary conducted "get-acquainted" games.

Adult sponsor attending was Mrs. Clay Crossland and Miss Jane Ann Hoover, junior sponsor.

Ruth Morse Circle With Mrs. Pyeatt

CANADIAN (Spl) — The Ruth Morse Circle of First Christian Church met with Mrs. Clarence Pyeatt recently.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Carl Hybach, chairman. Mrs. Laura Belle Cornelius gave the devotional and Mrs. Martha Newton led the lesson.

Bluing Function
Bluing is a "cosmetic" which makes yellowed fabrics look white. It does not clean the clothes. This can be done only with plenty of soap or detergent suds.

Potato Cooker
An empty coffee tin can make a perfect oven for baking one potato. Just put the potato in the tin, replace the cover and cook the potato over a low flame on top of the range.

Clean Gloves Often

The best way to make sure that your leather gloves clean well is not to let them get too soiled. Deep spots or stains are difficult to remove.

Clinic Dietician Wins 3rd Prize

Mrs. Mary Lois Blackburn, a clinic dietician for the Veterans Administration Hospital in Kerrville, entered a recipe for Glazed Beef Brisket in the fifth annual "Texas Experts Recipe Contest," sponsored by the Texas Beef Council, and was declared a third place prize winner.

Her recipe is as follows:
GLAZED BEEF BRISKET
3 pounds beef brisket
1 cup water
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 cup vinegar

Cloves
Brown meat slowly in own fat or small amount of drippings. Add water, 2 teaspoons salt, cover closely and cook for three hours or until tender. When tender remove from liquid and place on rack in open roasting pan. Cover with glaze made by combining brown sugar, flour, mustard and vinegar. Stick with cloves. Place in slow oven, 300 degrees for 45 minutes. Thicken liquid for gravy. Serves 6-8.

Conferences Slated By Texas Congress Of PTA

Important conferences, sponsored by the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be held June 5 to 9 at Kinsolving Dormitory on the campus of the University of Texas.

The 18-member executive committee will meet Sunday afternoon, June 4, and Monday morning, June 5, with Mrs. T. W. Whaley of Koss, state president, presiding. The entire 60-member board of managers will meet Monday afternoon with Mrs. Leon S. Price of Dallas, regional vice president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, for an orientation period. Mrs. Price will also participate in the other sessions during the week.

A Safety Assemblage is scheduled from the evening of June 5 through June 7. Mrs. Whaley will preside. The planning committee is composed of R. H. McKay of Dallas, state chairman of workshop; Mrs. J. M. Daniel of Bryan, state safety chairman; Mrs. F. C. McConnell, second state vice president, and C. E. Sanderson, state chairman of school education, both of Austin.

Assisting in the assemblage will be J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association; J. B. Carlisle, safety education inspector, Texas Department of Public Safety; Lewis Spears, consultant, Texas Education Agency, all of Austin.

Some 200 persons are expected to attend. They include the state board, district safety chairmen, council representatives and consultants.

Wednesday evening, June 7, and Thursday, there will be a council seminar, with Mrs. J. W. Miller of San Antonio, state chairman, presiding. Participating will be Mrs. W. J. Danforth, Forth Worth, first vice president; Mrs. Jean Harris, Agua Dulce, vice president; Mrs. L. L. Ledger, Coparas Cove, state recording secretary; Mrs. J. S. Pipkin, Waco, 9th district president; and the following chairmen: Mrs. T. W. Rutledge, Dallas, publicity; Mrs. Angus McDonald, Austin, Congress publications; Mrs. Gus Brauner, Jr., Houston, international relations; Mrs. Lucile Martin, San Antonio, education for family living.

The 23 state chairmen will have a meeting Wednesday evening. Mrs. T. W. Rutledge is chairman of the state chairmen. Mrs. James Lewis of Pampa is state civil defense chairman.

Thursday evening the 21 district presidents will meet with Mrs. Whaley for a period of information. Mrs. Marvin Armstrong of Lubbock, president of District 14, is chairman of district presidents.

The main social event will be a boat trip on the river and dinner at Greenshores Tuesday evening.

New Brides Add Touch of Color To Lingerie In Bridal Trousseau

By GAILE DUGAS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Though bridal lingerie is traditionally white, 1961 brides may add a splash of color in gowns and peignoirs this year.

They may also have any length and styling they prefer. Generally the younger girls like the shorter length in gowns. The long length is a bit more sophisticated. Most gowns have matching robes. But some have matching bed jackets as well. Crystal pleated, lace or ribbon trimmed, these sets are fabulously beautiful. And they wash out in a matter of minutes, dry in an hour or so. If you're weary of white, try a pale green, a soft coffee color, coral, turquoise blue or mauve. Have satin mules dyed to match. Brides who like classically simple clothes for daytime and evening wear will undoubtedly prefer the same idea carried out in lingerie. They will be pleased by gowns and robes which pass up ruffles and lace in favor of Grecian lines and no trim. Really good nylon bridal lingerie is not inexpensive. But bear in mind that it wears and wears. You'll have it for years or until you weary of it. Fragile it may look but it's deceptive. In planning your bridal lingerie, allow for at least three gowns. A half dozen would be better. You should have nylon robes matched to two of the gowns. Have three full-length slips and the same number of half-slips. Approximately 72 per cent of the world's molybdenum is mined at Climax, Colo.

Dear Abby...

She's Too Young To Leave Mother!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I asked a girl (she is 17) to marry me, and she said yes. I am 22. She is a very good girl and I never made one wrong move toward her. We plan to get married this summer when I get my two weeks' vacation. We decided to take a drive through the Canadian Rockies. She asked me yesterday if I minded if her mother came along to help drive. I never heard of a mother going along on a honeymoon but, knowing this girl is very close to her mother (she is a widow), I said I thought it would be okay. Now I realize it is way out of line and I wonder if maybe I shouldn't tell her I changed my mind? How do I get out of this situation, please?

DEAR ABBY: Your "bride" appears to be very young indeed. In fact, I think she is too young to leave her mother. You'd be wise to get to know her better before signing a lifelong contract.

DEAR ABBY: I have known this friend of mine for years. I got the shock of my life when she and I went shopping together. I noticed she shied away from me, and when I looked up I saw her take something off the counter and quickly slip it into a sack she was carrying. I was so frightened I got her out of that store as fast as I could. Later, when I got the chance, I looked in her sack and there it was.

Am I as guilty as she for not reporting her? What should I have done? Now I am afraid to go anywhere with her or even let her in my house unless I can watch her every minute. Please advise me.

DEAR WORRIED: You did your friend a disservice by keeping quiet. She is either sick (kleptomania) and needs treatment, or she is a common thief. In any case you should have told her you saw her take the item and helped her to right the wrong.

DEAR ABBY: How does a respectable, middle-aged, childless couple make friends? We are not social climbers, but we would like to have a nice circle of friends to socialize with. My husband and I are educated people, dress well, have a lovely home and are modern in every way. But we can't seem to make friends. We have entertained people, but they never seem to invite us back. Have you any suggestions?

OUT OF IT
DEAR OUT: Instead of trying to cultivate "friends" — try doing something rewarding and constructive, and friends will appear. Get active in church work, politics, a civic project, or a volunteer group. The most attractive people are always found doing something for the less fortunate.

Drilling Costs Mounting, IPAA Cost Survey Shows

The Joint Association Survey of oil industry drilling costs for 1959 shows a continued upward trend in the average cost per well. This survey conducted jointly by the IPAA, the American Petroleum Institute, and the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, is similar in scope to previous surveys covering the years 1953, 1955, and 1956.

The 1959 Survey is based on industry reports of drilling activity and a sample of actual expenditures made by 240 producers that accounted for 27 per cent of all wells and 37 per cent of all footage drilled in 1959. The expenditures covered by this study include outlays for drilling a well and equipping wells to and including the Christmas Tree, but exclude other exploration, development, and production costs which will be reported in a later release by the Joint Association Survey. Expenditures for service wells are also excluded.

The principal findings of the Joint Association Survey for the years 1955, 1956, and 1959 are that the average cost per foot of hole drilled increased from $12.35 in 1956 to $12.90 in 1959. Total industry expenditures for drilling and equipping wells in 1959 were $2.65 billion as compared to $2.87 billion in 1956, a decrease of 7 1/2 per cent; however, footage drilled in 1959 was 11.5 per cent less than was drilled in 1956.

The average productive well cost $60,100 in 1959, up $4,500 from 1956, and the average cost per foot of hole in 1959 was $14.70, up $1.06 from 1956. The average dry hole cost $43,000 in 1959, up $1,400 from 1956, and the average cost per foot of hole in 1959 was $10.13, down $0.13 from 1956. The average depth of dry holes increased to 4,240 feet in 1959 from 4,064 feet in 1956. The increase in average well costs for both productive wells and dry holes was attributable in large part to the proportionately greater number of wells drilled in the deeper ranges.

The 1959 Survey for the first time separates the productive well costs into costs for gas wells and for oil wells. About 26 per cent of the gas well footage and 11 per cent of the gas wells drilled in 1959 were in the deeper ranges—below 10,000 feet—as compared to 18 and 6 per cent, respectively, for all wells. On the average, gas wells were 1,650 feet deeper than oil wells and cost an average of $100,700 as compared to the average oil well cost of $52,000.

The average offshore well cost approximately $383,000, or $38.34 per foot in 1959 compared with $415,000 and $42.28, respectively, shown in the 1956 Survey. At the same time, the average offshore well in 1959 was about 400 feet deeper than in 1956. According to the Survey:

The decline in offshore per well and per foot costs since 1956—in the face of substantially higher prices for all types of drilling equipment—is attributable primarily to improved technological developments and know-how in this type of drilling. In addition, a substantially greater number of offshore wells drilled in 1959 were classified as field wells as opposed to the more costly wildcat wells.

The Joint Association Surveys conducted by the IPAA, the American Petroleum Institute, and the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association provide the basic information needed to evaluate trends in the cost of drilling wells and footage. The continued improvement in both the coverage and timeliness of these surveys has been noteworthy. The fact that they will be conducted on an annual basis in the future will enhance their value to the industry.

The revised indexes show that the composite cost of drilling and completing a rotary well in 1960 was up .77.2 per cent, and the composite cost per foot was up 51 per cent over the base period 1947-49.

Nature of the Revision. The revised indexes for the period 1947-59 differ from those previously computed by the Committee for the following reasons:

1. The Oil and Gas Journal has recently published revised well footage data for the years 1957, 1958, and 1959. A lapse in the reporting of wells drilled in North-east Oklahoma in 1957, 1958, and 1959 resulted in the omission of a number of shallow wells from initial data. Data recently available have resulted in the addition of 1,186 wells in 1957, 928 wells in 1958, and 871 wells in 1959—all located in Northeast Oklahoma with depths between 1,000 and 1,500 feet. The use of these data has resulted in a substantial downward revision in the Committee's indexes for these three years.

2. The indexes for 1957, 1958, and 1959 have also been revised on the basis of new data on the average contract rates per foot now available from the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors. These data are slightly lower than the average contract rates previously available.

3. On the assumption that the 1959 Joint Survey is more reliable than previous surveys, the Committee has used Point Survey data for the average total cost per foot for various depth ranges in 1959 for the purpose of computing the cost adjustment for depth shown in Column 2 of Table III. The use of 1959 data for this adjustment in the place of 1956 data used in previous reports, produced little change in the final indexes.

New Series on Average Contract Rate. An integral part of the Committee's Indexes of Drilling and Completion Costs has been the series on Average Contract Rate per Foot compiled by the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors for the years 1935-1958. This series was discontinued after the year 1958.

Late in 1960, the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors sent a questionnaire to its members requesting information on average contract rates received for rotary drilling for the years 1957-60, inclusive. Replies were received from contractors drilling from 10.4 per cent to 12.4 per cent of all rotary wells drilled in these years; all major drilling areas were represented. The average contract price per foot for rotary drilling computed from these questionnaires was $4.51 in 1957, $4.27 in 1958, $4.33 in 1959, and $4.11 in 1960.

The Committee believes that this new series is somewhat more reliable than the old series and the new contract rates have been incorporated in the Index of Drilling and Completion Costs per Foot for the years 1957-60.

Plans for the October 1961 Report. The Cost Study Committee is presently engaged in a survey of 1959 drilling expenditures which will provide more complete and current information as to the relative weights of materials, equipment, supplies, and services which go into drilling and equipping wells in the United States. It is expected that these data will be available in time to permit a complete revision of the index for the October, 1961, report of the Committee. At the time of this revision, the base period for the indexes will be shifted to 1957-59 to conform with an impending shift in the base period of a number of government indexes.

Oil Industry Helping Research Into Space

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Oil field know-how is helping unlock the secrets of the universe, and the petroleum industry is collecting dividends from space research.

Oil-related industries were mentioned frequently when experts reviewed the benefits of space research during the recent national conference on peaceful uses of space here.

The industry is contributing its technology and its knowledge of the earth sciences, and stands to gain in new products, new markets and new solutions to some of its own problems.

Speakers and writers found several examples of the oil industry's role in space conquest here.

Well Surveys, Inc., is working on a lunar drill which it hopes to produce under a sub-contract with Hughes Aircraft Co.

The drill would be part of the Surveyor, an unmanned vehicle which scientists hope to land on the moon. The machine would take core samplings of the moon's surface, analyze the contents and transmit the results back to earth along with other data.

Several companies are interested in the Surveyor project, but no matter who builds it, oil field technology will help make it work.

A similar device, analyzing core tests of the surface of Mars and possibly reveal whether life exists on that planet.

Dr. Robert Jastrow, chief of the theoretical division of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, explained that the Mars device would actually make two tests. One would consist of a surface core sampling exposed to ultra-violet rays to kill any type of life which might be present. The other sampling would be tested in its natural state over a period of time. Biological changes such as the growth of microscopic plant or animal life would be indicated in the analysis.

Imports Slash Strongly Urged By Oil Leaders

WASHINGTON (SpI)—Strong industry support for "corrective action" by government to reduce oil imports by about 200,000 barrels daily was cited Saturday by the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

Interior Department hearings on May 10-11 reflected "general agreement within the petroleum industry that import restrictions are necessary in the interest of a healthy domestic industry and national security," said Minor S. Jameson, Jr., IPAA executive vice president.

He said 21 associations and 51 of 55 companies, including some with foreign production and a long history of importing oil, "recognized the need for import restrictions."

"The record of the hearings, the experience of more than two years under the mandatory import program, and continued depressed conditions in the domestic industry show conclusively that the level of oil imports is too high," Jameson said in a weekend report to IPAA's national membership.

"All the facts have been put on the table. The issues have been studied and restudied," he said. "Increasing tension of the cold war make the security purposes of the oil import program more compelling."

"In short, this is a time for decision and corrective action by the government."

Jameson cited a detailed tabular analysis of the position of witnesses expressed in the hearing, showing that 20 associations and 16 companies "joined in the recommendation that imports should be related to crude oil rather than the present method of relating imports to the demand for finished products."

"It is very significant that 16 of 38 companies that took a position on this matter recommended this same change even though such a change would result in lower company quotas—in the future," if not immediately," he said.

He said while IPAA recommended that import allowances be determined on the basis of 10 per cent of total demand for crude oil, other witnesses recommended that total allowable imports be allocated in ratio to U.S. crude oil production.

"Relating imports to crude oil demand accomplishes the same result as relating imports to crude oil production," he said.

Excluding company recommendations that would result directly in larger quotas for the company involved, Jameson said, "there is strong support for the IPAA recommendations that would have the effect of reducing imports into districts I-IV (east of the Rocky Mountains) by approximately 200,000 barrels daily."

Wildcatters Get 7 Wells During Week

AUSTIN (UPI)—Wildcatters succeeded in drilling seven oil and 22 gas wells the past week, the Texas Railroad Commission said Saturday, but found 22 dusters.

The completions brought to 395 the oil wells found by wildcatters this year, compared with 162 last year, and 226 gas wells compared with 40 to the same date in 1960.

Regular drillers brought in 145 oil wells, bringing the year's total to 3,907, and 78 gas wells, to bring the 1961 total to 1,245. In 1960, drillers had completed 4,153 oil wells and 794 gas wells.

During the week, total average calendar day allowable dropped from 2,670,002 barrels daily as of May 27 to 2,664,614 barrels as of Saturday, a 5,388-barrel decrease.

Wildcat completions included three oil finds each in the Abilene and San Angelo districts and one in the Kilgore district, nine gas finds in the Refugio district, five each in the Houston and Corpus Christi districts, two in the Abilene district, and one in the Kilgore district.

Service Stations Manager Chosen

OKLAHOMA CITY—Richard M. Knox, president of Knox Industries Corporation and Knox Hi Octane Corporation of Enid, has become manager of private brand service stations for Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., it has been announced by H. A. McGee, president of Kerr-McGee. Knox will assume his new position on June 1.

Knox will continue as president of Knox Industries Corporation and Knox Hi Octane Corporation. His office will be in the Kerr-McGee building in Oklahoma City.

Letter Outlines Plan To Correct Imports Setup

Details of the recent proposal for correction of the oil imports problem are contained in a letter by J. F. West, president of the Texas Independent Producers Royalty Owners Association to Stewart L. Udall, secretary of the Department of Interior.

The letter suggests: "Inasmuch as the Program was established out of concern for the domestic producing industry, we hold that the current procedure relating imports not to domestic production but to 'total demand' serves to render the Program only 'almost effective' at best. Only when non-residual imports are maintained in some definite relationship to domestic production can the purpose of the Program be adequately served. So long as factors which tend to diminish the market for crude are accommodated entirely by curtailment of domestic production, imports can continue their growth at a rate disproportionate to domestic production.

"In the interest of being fair and reasonable, this Association proposed a standard for non-residual imports in relation to domestic crude production which called for a nominal decrease in imports. We propose restoration of that ratio which existed in 1954, 11.8 per cent of domestic production, which would effect a reduction of no more than 56,000 barrels per day.

"It is our desire at this time to emphasize that this base should be stated in terms of 'demand for domestic crude oil production' in preference to simply 'domestic crude oil production.' This recognizes the fact that the Interior Department must rely, as in the past, on demand estimates by the Bureau of Mines. For that reason, it means for periodic correction of error in estimation are employed, this Association believes that a base of 'demand for domestic crude oil production' is the same as a base of 'domestic crude oil production.'

"In short, this Association's primary contention is that nothing should be in the demand base other than the demand for the very fuel source of concern to the Mandatory Program's objective: demand for domestic crude oil production.

"As indicated in our testimony, the use of total demand for crude as a base meets with the objection that imports are permitted to feed on imports. In other words, as imports grow, a base is provided for still further growth of imports under the nine per cent feature. Total crude demand would include demand for crude imports already
