The Supreme Court has grown up with our form of government and has served well. If its late trend is inevitably in conflict with the people's wishes, there will be changes in the Constitution which court interprets. Yet we need not scrap the Court and certainly not the Constitution. The two are inter-related and one means little without the other. We need only to reconcile the two with

Unless Congress can patch up its agricultural program quickly, there will be a deafening clame for a constitutional amendment to more clearly define what can "for the general welfare." Writing of such an amendnt involves tremendous · difficulties. Any amendment one might write to liberalize the Constitution could be construed so as to end most present state functions. To abolish the Supreme Court as an instrumentality superior to Congress is to abolish the guarintees in the document and in evitably make possible concen-tration of all authority in a Wash ington dictatorship. These are some of the difficulties. It is to be hoped that the farmers' welfare can be promoted without abolishing the states.

THERE ARE readers who would abolish the Supreme Court and let Congress be the sole arbiter of our destinies, let them consider this Democrats will not always control Congress. It was not sympathy for the farmer which drove formerly republican states into the democratic columns; it was the depres-As times improve—and they improving—these republicans will go back to the party of their fathers. We have on our desk a chart of electoral votes, by state. Comring it with trends in the doubtful states, we are impressed by the fact that Mr. Roosevelt's majority will not be as great this year as many believe, and that a republican victory four years later would not be surprising. As the year 1935 closed states were definitely republican were borderline republican, 5 were borderline democratic, and 30 were defenitely democratic. But when the electoral votes are counted, the picture begins to look far more even.

Frankly, we think the nation is traveling rapidly toward nationalizing of its institutions, obliterating state functions, and regulating its people en masse. Only a good se of prosperity during most of the remainder of this generation can prevent it. The gates are still up, as the Supreme Court an-nounced, but the welfare of farmers, many workers and the unem-ployed dictates that the gates be lowered to permit remedial legis-lation, And once down, those gates will be trampled for all time. CITIZENSHIP TRAINING IN SCHOOLS

Right wisely has the State Board of Education authorized the teaching of Texas history in high schools, beginning with the second semester of the current term. Although the immediate aim is to familiarize students with Texas history in this Centennial year, the significance is broader. 22 Doors.

Many colleges have a course for freshmen called Citizenship. It is a test of their knowledge of presentday problems and a means of helping them arrive at a choice in their life work. But if such a study is good for freshmen, a review course for seniors, covering at east a half-year, would be logical. Too often it seems that really essential things are studied in the grades or first year in high school and college, yet near graduation time little of direct applicability to the problem 37 To attempt. of living is taught.

In some college language courses, for instance, an- 41 You. cieent dialects are studied and students' knowledge of 42 Therefore. every-day speech is neglected. The answer to this is a course in business training in the language. Similarly, students about to be graduated could do no better than otroby the institutions which shortly will greatly affect their lives. These include state, national, and local government. The history of Texas is more than a record of wars, population growth, and pride in size. A history of its taxes could be made highly enlightening.

It is likely that the Interscholastic League debate topic this year will be on the proposed unicameral Legislature. Says Roy Bedichek, League chief of high school interests:

"If the movement should gain enough headway to make it a public question in Texas by the 1936-37 school year, it might be worth considering as a debate question in the League. A current issue which is really alive offers better educational opportunity for highschool debaters than one which is academic, or of such vast proportions that nothing we could do about it in Texas would influence decision perceptibly one way or another. High school boys and girls want prospect of immediate results, and they want a question which they can discuss with parents and friends and read about in Texas newspapers and hear discussed in public meetings. They like to be a part of the intellectual life of the community, and it is important from an educational standpoint that they be made to feel that they are a part of that life."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER-NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON-Neutrality legislation is certain to bring on a dog fight in the new Congress.

The present neutrality law, admittedly a stop-gap, is going to get a very thorough combing-over at the hands of such men as Senators Nye, Bone, Vandenberg, and

This debate will be complicated. The only way to keep it at all straight is to remember two principles: 1. The league principle is to find the aggressor in any war, and to punish that aggressor by sanctions, that is, by refusing to sell certain war materials to it.

2. The American principle, in the present law, provides no attempt to determine which party to a war is to blame. It simply provides that the United States will trade in certain articles with neither. The aim here is not to punsh either side, but simply to withdraw from dangerous

Thus in the present American plan, it is entirely matter of chance whether American action supplements league action in punishing an aggressor.

In the case of Italy, because cutting off war materials from Ethiopia means nothing, the American course in cutting them off from Italy did correspond roughly with the league action. But there is no reason to think it might in another case.

The thing that is worrying senators is: what do we want to accomplish? President Roosevelt, when the present law was passed, inclined toward letting the president have some discretion. But Congress did not permit this, nor is it likely it will this winter.

That means only only one thing: the working of the neutrality law may find us in direct opposition to the league instead of roughly paralleling its efforts, as now.

There is considerable new worry at American Federation of Labor headquarters over the "revolt" or the Radio Workers and Allied Trades Union.

This new industrial union in the radio and electric refrigerator industry has built up some 55,000 members under the aggressive leadership of James B. Carey, a young man who jumped into a field in which the oldine electrical craft unions had largely failed.

Now Carey, with a large and going organization, demands an international charter as an industrial union. The Radio and Allied Trade is now merely a federal union under direct A. F. of L. supervision.

If the international charter is granted, it will mean that this new union in a growing field will be independent.

But with the aggressive Lewis pushing for industrial organization, it is harder to laugh off demands like Carey's, and harder to delay.

Second Swedish Red Cross Worker Dies in Ethiopia

LONDON, Jan. 7. (A)-The foreign office announced today receipt of a report that a second Swedish Red Cross worker had died of wounds received in the Dolo hospital bomb-ing last Monday, but because of a similarity of names, it was thought possibly to have been confused with the first victim.

Sir Sidney Earton, the British minister at Addis Ababa, made the report, giving the name of the secone victim as "Glunderstroem," Swedish male nurse who was said to have died of his wounds while en route to Nugelli.

Previously, Gunnar Lundstrom also a Swedish male nurse, was re ported wounded fatally.

Barton's telegrams, to London and Stockholm, did not give the name of the previous victim, but his mes sages said two were dead.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable at all intestinal climinants, thus cleaning the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxines.

Second, Calotabs are diurctic to the kidneys, promoting the climination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purpative and diurctic, both of colds.

GROUPS DEVOTE FIRST 1936 MEETINGS

STUDY IS COMBINED. WITH BUSINESS IN BAPTIST WMU

Business incident to starting the new year occupied church societies which met yesterday afternoon. First Baptist union and the Methodist societies had meetings at their remective churches.

Only the executive board of First Methodist society attended the session in which circle organization for the year was planned. The task was not completed, and membership in the circles will not be announced until the end of the week.

After an executive board meeting and a business session, First Baptist Missionary union heard a missionary program from Royal Service magazine yesterday afternoon at the church. Mrs. Tom Duvall was lead-

Mrs. T. F. Morton, who conducted the business hour, also was in charge of the devotional topic. The pro-gram subject, Kingdom of Heaven, was discussed by Mrs. E. M. Keller, Mrs. D. H. Coffey, Mrs. F. E. Leech, Mrs. G. C. Durham, and Mrs. C. L. McKinney. The benediction was by Mrs. Morton.

Business included monthly reports of officers and committee chairmen.

Abtut 25 members were present.

A luncheon and business meeting at Harrah Methodist chapel started the year for Ella Harrah and Isabelle McCullough Misisonary circles Each member brought a dish for the lunch served buffet fashion at noon.

In the following meeting, pledges for the year were discussed, and members chose the book, Toward Christian America, for their next mission study course. A chain of sentence prayers closed the hour. Mrs. G. A. Harris and Mrs. J. A.

Webb were guests for the meeting. Members present were Mmes. Carl Johnson, Ida Cox, Ruth Casey, Lance Webb, H. C. Boyd, Gladys Osborne, E. G. Hemphill, Ora Cook, J. E. Beard, E. L. Campbell, George Harris, Henry English, and W. Van-

ALL-SCHOOL NIGHT

Parents of high school students will be guests of the faculty and PTA next Monday evening when the annual "All-School" program will be given.

A number of demonstrations will be given to show how the local fac lty is seeking to unify school work build character, and relate school vork to life experiences.

Parents will note changes in the schools of today which make things very different from the time in which they attended school. Idea as to how a school should be conducted alter greatly with the passage of time. A teacher of history sage of time. A teacher of history give no thought to English in his classes, but would adhere strictly to his subject. Modern schools are likely to cause students in history asses to learn a great deal about English, Similarly, other departments help each other. Teachers are instructed to give their charges help in any subject that they can. It can truthfully be said that students now find teachers of greater help than they once did. Students know that the teacher does not se himself up to be a god and that h is only a normal human being who wants to help and who knows that he can make mistakes. Teachers cannot give a student thorough knowledge of the profession he intends to follow, but they an give him a good start.

When the parents come to the 'All-School" program they should remember that it is not a show but a sample of the work the teachers
