State Senate Passes Sales Tax Plan By Seven Votes

Governor Vows To Stamp Veto On Money Plan

AUSTIN — By a seven vote margin, the Texas Senate today passed a two percent general sales tax. House members passed a sales tax earlier in the session. The bill that cleared the Senate today was a substitute for that measure.

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Senate was expected to call Gov. Price Daniel's hand today and approve a general sales tax almost identical to that passed earlier by the House.

Daniel vowed he would veto it and threatened a special session if no other solution to the state's financial problems was found.

The bill was passed tentatively Wednesday after senators rejected a compromise plan that had the governor's blessing. An attempt to suspend the rules for immediate passage was voted down.

The main features of the measure, which backers say would raise $327 million during the next two years, are a 2 per cent general sales tax, a temporary 1 per cent increase in the gas production tax, a $1 increase in drivers' license fees and maintenance of the present corporation franchise tax at $2.75 per $1,000.

The rejected substitute bill, sponsored by Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, was based on a selective sales tax plus a 2 per cent sales tax on all items costing more than $10.

The House will probably reject the Senate measure and it will be sent to a compromise committee. No matter what happens to the bill, Daniel could be expected to veto it.

The possibility of a filibuster on the measure when it comes before the Senate today remained imminent. Sen. Henry G. Gonzalez of San Antonio has threatened to filibuster any sales tax measure, and talked against the bill four hours Tuesday night while Aikin readied his substitute.

The Senate also labored through a filibuster Wednesday against a proposed Senate redistricting bill, and ended up passing the measure as an amendment to a House-approved plan.

Sen. Jep Fuller of Port Arthur spoke against the measure nearly all day, with time-to-time help from the floor, but failed 4-22 to get approval of an amendment that would give Jefferson County (See SENATE, Page 4)

Pampa Robbery Probe Extended To New Mexico

Search for the burglars who carted off a safe from the Pampa Clinic, 1002 N. Hobart, Friday night turned to Tucumcari, N. M. today.

Police Chief Jim Conner said two men arrested for armed robbery in Tucumcari are prime suspects in the Pampa burglary. It has been established, the chief said, that the pair was in Berger over last weekend and may have been in Pampa the night of the Clinic burglary.

No trace has yet been found of the 500-pound safe which the burglars rolled out of the clinic and hauled away in a waiting car truck.

The safe contained $578 in cash and checks, a quantity of narcotics and valuable office records. Police theorized the burglars looted the safe and then may have dumped it into one of the canyons or ravines near Pampa, or possibly may have rolled it into a small lake or into Lake McClellan.

Chief Conner said the men held in the Tucumcari robbery will be given a thorough check to determine if they have any connection to the Pampa Clinic burglary.

Ice Cream Truck Ban Angers Town's Youth

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — What said, "It's not fair." The children of New York, San Francisco and Chicago take for granted, Raleigh children are going to have to do without. "No more ice cream trucks in residential areas," ruled the City Council Tuesday by a vote of six to one.

The boys and girls of Raleigh had their say today in interviews on the streets of the state's capital.

"It's not fair," said 11-year-old Linda Poole. "It's just not fair." Linda disagreed with the council's theory that the ban was needed to prevent children from getting hurt while running after the trucks.

"I have to walk four blocks and cross two streets to get to the drugstore," she said. "I could get run over a lot quicker crossing those streets than walking across the lawn to an ice cream truck," she said.

Told that children in other cities had the benefit of ice cream trucks, 10-year-old Debbie Hall tilted her head, narrowed her grey blue eyes and said: "You mean they got something we ain't got?" Debbie clenched her school books under her knuckles and

Korean Cabinet Yields To Coup

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — Premier John M. Chang formally resigned his cabinet today and Republic of Korea President Posun Yun promptly declared his support for the new ruling military junta.

The twin moves handed a complete victory to the revolutionary command which launched its grab for power only two days ago.

The victory was achieved despite strong opposition from United States officials in Korea who had sought to restore Chang's government in the early hours of the rebellion.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said there was no immediate comment and "I doubt if anything will be forthcoming soon."

Earlier today, all of South Korea's top military leaders—army, air force, marine and navy—had met and voted support for the coup.

Premier Chang emerged this afternoon from two days in hiding, met with 8 of the 15 members of his cabinet and announced capitulation.

Chang looked tired and wan as he faced newsmen. Alongside him ROK Army Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. Chang Do Yung, chairman of the revolutionary committee which led the coup against what it called "corrupt and incapable" politicians.

"I, myself, and the cabinet have decided to resign, assuming moral and political responsibility for what has happened," the premier said.

"We hope the people will understand this decision. As we retire, it is our sincere hope that no bloodshed should come."

Shortly after this, President Yun issued a statement over Seoul radio giving his formal approval to the military junta and to martial law throughout the country.

"It is regrettable that a military revolution had to be staged in view of the present conditions of this nation," the president said. "I hope the patriotic revolution will provide momentum to save the difficult situation."

Yun said affairs of state would be handled by the revolutionary committee "for the time being, but I hope affairs of the state will be normalized as soon as possible."

He called on the nation to "resolutely support" the new regime.

Befriended Pair Double-Crossers, Police Are Told

This is the story of the God Samaritan who was double-crossed by the two men he befriended. John Moseley, 318 W. Albert, told police he struck up an acquaintance with the pair on the street. Each of them needed a shave, he said, so he gave them the key to his house and told them to go on and shave.

The pair shaved all right, but when they left they took Moseley's $175 record-player with them. That was Saturday night.

Moseley got a lead on the men and they finally were traced to Berger and Amarillo. One of them was picked up yesterday in Berger. The other still is being sought in Amarillo.

Two Nations Plan Strong Red Barrier

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada's Prime Minister John Diefenbaker joined with President Kennedy today in a warning that any western hemisphere alignment with foreign communism, obviously referring to Cuba, threatens "peaceful and democratic evolution" in Latin America.

Diefenbaker, whose government maintains diplomatic and trade relations with Cuba, agreed with Kennedy "that the alignment of a regime in the western hemisphere with Communist leadership abroad was a matter for serious concern."

The matter of a common hemisphere front against Communist incursions was believed to be one of the major subjects during the two leaders' talks here.

The joint communique winding up the President's 42-hour visit to Canada also included a call for reinforcing the strength and unity of the Western alliance so that a strong defense can be maintained against the threat of communism abroad.

There was no reference in the joint statement to Kennedy's call in a speech Wednesday to the Canadian Parliament for a build-up in both conventional and nuclear military striking power of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The President and Prime Minister E. White, 36, went berserk and ran rampant through wing after wing of a hospital here with a large knife — plunging it into anybody and anything that got in his way.

He stabbed and slashed six persons, besides himself, killing two and leaving two others in critical condition.

Police had to use tear gas, a shotgun and pistols before they got him handcuffed to a stretcher and in a strait-jacket.

His hospital pajamas were soaked with blood; his own and that of his victims. He was shot three times, once with a shotgun blast that all but tore an arm off. But it bothered him no more than a mosquito bite.

Each time police shot him, trying to knock the bloody hunting knife out of his hand, he looked at them and muttered: "Ashes to ashes and dust to dust."

Nobody knows where or when the tragedy had its beginning. But the climax began unfolding Wednesday afternoon at the A.O. Smith Corp., a sprawling manufacturing plant on the outskirts of Houston where White worked as a machine operator.

White, 6-1 and more than 200 pounds, was well liked by his fellow workers.

But they knew something was wrong when he suddenly started quoting scriptures and singing hymns.

"What a friend we have in Jesus," he sang in a loud voice. They took him to the plant doctor, and the doctor called his wife and a family physician. On his advice, Mrs. White had his two brothers take him to Methodist Hospital, one of the units located in the $100 million Texas Medical Center.

"We don't know where he got the knife," said Glen Lanier, assistant administrator at the hospital.

The first hint of trouble Wednesday night was when Mrs. Ruth Gordon, 62, a vocational nurse, staggered to the double-locked doors which separate the six rooms for violent patients from the rest of the mental patients, and called for help.

Then she collapsed, blood spurting from her chest where White had driven the blade of his 11-inch knife to the hilt. James Emmett Newton, 62, an orderly, was already dead.

TOWER VISITS PAMPA — John Tower, Republican senatorial candidate in the May 27 runoff election in Texas, was in Pampa today on one of the hand-shaking stops of his flying tour of Panhandle cities. Tower visited Berger this forenoon after a speech last night in Amarillo. He came to Pampa this afternoon to shake hands with the man and woman on the street. No formal speech was scheduled. In the photograph above, Tower, on the left is shown talking (left to right) to Warren Fatheree, Mrs. Charles Norton, 1535 N. Russell, and Mrs. Forrest Hills and her five children, Rt. 1, Pampa. Tower also made a tour of downtown business places and paid a visit to Pampa High School. (Daily News Photo)

Two Are Slain As Berserk Man Runs Amuck In State Hospital

Economic Woes Engulfing China

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Red China is in serious economic trouble, according to information received in Washington.

American officials said today that the Peiping regime was being forced by successive crop failures into greater dependence on Russia.

There are some indications that Moscow is making sure that its Far East partner acknowledge this dependence and all that it means to Sino-Soviet relations.

Red Chinese Leader Mao Tse-tung's "great leap forward industrialization drive, already slowed by earlier difficulties, will stall unless Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev comes to the rescue, officials here believe.

Negotiations on this year's Soviet aid agreement were recessed in Peiping in March, resumed in Moscow in April and still have not been concluded.

Possibly because of this delay, the annual spring announcement of Communist China's production achievements for the previous year and goals for the new year still has not been made.

Red China's bare foreign exchange treasury and prospects of mounting trade deficits leave it no alternative but to seek more help from Moscow, U.S. officials said.

"Spain once traded Napoleon's soldiers for pigs, but we are going to be more delicate even if Kennedy is not Napoleon."

He said the prisoners are "eating completely in jails."

"They will have to work well to earn their bread, so they will be put to work for the peasants," he said.

This remark drew wild cheers and shouts of "let them work!" from the audience.

He said Cuba has only 8,000 tractors, and urged the nation's farmhands to redouble their efforts to bring in larger harvests.

More Tornadoes Expected Today

Violent windstorms, destructive hail, blinding rain and a couple of unconfirmed tornadoes raked West Texas Wednesday night and the northern half of the state to brace itself for the same thing today.

Hailstones stacked up two inches deep at Hobbs community, northwest of Abilene, and tornado winds blew out a plate glass window in a Hobbs grocery.

Baseball-sized hailstones pelted areas around Roby, Tex., and smashed a motorist's windshield. Rains up to 3.2 inches fell around Roby. There were several reports of twisters around Snyder.

Temperatures overnight ranged from 53 at Dalhart to 78 at Corpus Christi.

A few light showers fell along the Gulf Coast and some thunder-showers were reported in sections of Northeast Texas early today.

Oklahoma Town Swept By Flood

WISTER, Okla. (UPI)—Five flooded creeks poured eight feet of water into Wister today and drove about 100 persons from their homes.

None of the town's 2,800 residents was reported killed. But damage was estimated at one million dollars.

The flood hit Wister, which is in eastern Oklahoma, about 4 a.m. CST. Rushing through a barn where 150-200 head of cattle were held for sale, it drowned them all.

The worst of the flood lasted about three hours. By 8 a.m., it had started ebbing.

300 Merchants In Madrid Now Use Bartering

MADRID, (UPI) — To heck with money, a merchant said the other day. This is the thought of an increasing number of people in Spain, a land where money is scarce.

Something else is taking its place. Something not really new, in fact old as time. Its name is barter.

As the old joke goes, rich or poor, it's a nice to have money.

But in a land which suffers from the acute lack of this convenience, the idea of barter is again raising its useful head.

Of course you can't hand a taxi driver a head of cabbage or a dozen eggs to pay for your ride, but more than one doctor has found his pantry full in return for his services.

Now the pharmacist down the street has decided to deal with the shirt maker up the street. In return for medicines and prescriptions filled, he will have a hand tailored shirt.

An advertising agency gets paid for its ads with a television set, a stove, a Persian rug, or a dozen pairs of stockings for one of the girls in the office.

More than 300 merchants along Serrano, one of Madrid's main shopping streets, have decided to work out a barter arrangement among themselves. The barter deal will be among the stores and not for the general public.

Now one salesgirl from a clothing store, for example, will be able to outfit herself, to a certain extent, at the rest of the stores belonging to the barter association.

Whether it is slips or salami, the merchants say they will be able to live better now without an increase in the amount in their pay envelopes.

Barter coupons, the merchants say, will be issued and all in all, the membership in the entire country will number about 4,000.

The merchants are so enthusiastic about the idea, they believe their barter system will spread to merchants all over Europe, and then eventually to the public.

The barter system in Spain never really died out, just became more obscure from lack of practice as people preferred to exchange money rather than goods.

In the Spanish town of Seo de Urgel, which sits on the border between Spain and Andorra, the bishop still receives part of his salary in barter.

The arrangement dates back to a treaty made in 1278 when Andorra was run by two chiefs of state, one, the head of France and the other the bishop of Seo de Urgel.

The salary of the two chiefs is paid by the citizens of Andorra and amounts to 900 francs, the same salary paid in 1278. The French chief - of - state at that time was not a very trusting soul and demanded his money in gold francs a year in advance.

The wise old bishop, however, was a bit craftier. He said he would take half of his pay in money and the rest in barter, consisting of three hams, six chickens and 12 huge wheels of cheese.

Today the French franc has been devaluated and the French chief - of - state, now President Charles de Gaulle, doesn't get 900 francs, but only about enough for a coffee or two.

The bishop, on the other hand, still gets half his salary in Spanish pesetas in addition to his three hams, six chickens and 12 wheel of cheese.

Tennessee Widow Wins Husband's Congress Seat

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (UPI)—Mrs. Louise Goff Reece, 62, widow of the late Rep. B. Carroll Reece, R-Tenn., easily won a special election Tuesday to serve out the unexpired portion of her husband's term in Congress.

Mrs. Reece, a grandmother who spent election day cleaning the attic of her home here, vowed to continue the conservative Republican policies of her late husband. Reece, 68, died March 19 after a 41-year political career.

She rolled up a two to-one margin over Democrat W.W. Faw in the traditionally Republican First Congressional District.

U.S. Declared Leading Russia In Space Science

EDITOR'S NOTE — Russian rockets are considered twice as powerful as those of the United States. The United States, however, leads in space science. What are the prospects of one country surpassing the other? These and other possibilities are explored in the following dispatch.

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — It will be years before the United States catches up with Russia in space power. It may be years before Russia catches up with the United States in space science.

The Soviet rocket that put Yuri Gagarin into space was more than twice as powerful as America's Atlas. U.S. space experts estimate its power at 800,000 pounds of thrust.

The American Redstone rocket that hurled Alan Shepard from Cape Canaveral, Fla., to a searing 302 miles away had a thrust of 78,000 pounds.

The Atlas missile, on which space officials depend to put the first American in orbit late this year or early next, is rated at 360,000 pounds.

By 1964 we may have in operation a booster generating 1.3 million pounds of thrust. But so, by then, may the Russians.

Considering the power at their disposal, what have the two countries accomplished to date?

Russia put up the first earth and sun satellites, made the first hit on the moon, took the first photographs of the moon's far side, and launched the first animals — including a man — into orbit.

Soviet spacecraft have been big and heavy, weighing up to seven tons. Few of ours have weighed more than a ton.

But the smaller U.S. satellites and probes have done far more for space science than the beefier, crude Soviet spacecraft. This country:

—Discovered the radiation belts around the earth.

—Set a distance record of 22.5 million miles for radio communication in space.

—Reaped an unequalled harvest of information about interplanetary radiations and magnetic fields, and about earth-sun relationships.

—Put up the first weather, communication, navigational, surveillance, and astronomical satellites.

—Retrieved the first spacecraft from orbit.

Aside from these, America's proudest space achievement has been this: What we did, we did openly. We are sharing our scientific discoveries and practical benefits with the world. The world witnessed our failures, but it also witnessed, and so could not doubt, our successes.

The Russians have never conducted a public launching. They have been slow to publish their scientific findings. They have concealed their failures.

U.S. space officials and scientists believe without reservation that the Russians have done everything in space they say they have.

But many ordinary people the world over still ask: Did they really hit the moon? Did they really take pictures of the moon's other side? Did Yuri Gagarin really go into orbit?

Nobody anywhere, however, can have the slightest doubt about Alan Shepard's ride. Nor can anybody anywhere doubt that it took courage, skill, and confidence to bring off Shepard's feat, not under the protection of totalitarian secrecy, but in the open with all the world watching.

Video Emmy Awards Upsetting To Writer

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI) — All hail, Macbeth. Hail to three, emir of Emmydom.

And after we finish hailing three, with your five Emmys out of five separate nominations, what are we left with to celebrate?

The TV Academy's 13th annual awards presentation, a 90-minute NBC-TV special Tuesday night, demonstrated that familiarity breeds Emmys. It was like watching a montage of past Emmy shows flit past. Awards again went to Rod Sterling and "Twilight Zone," Fred Astaire, Raymond Burr, Lenny Bernstein, the Danny Thomas Show, and other old pros such as Red Skelton, Maurice Evans, Judith Anderson and Barbara Stanwyck.

Unlike last year's show, this one had no newcomer such as Bob Newhart stealing the spotlight. Somehow, Dick Powell, Art Carney, Joey Bishop or Troy Donahue couldn't make up for this shortage-of-fresh talent.

The show's biggest handicap was the fact that many of the 24 awards lacked significance or immediacy. Entertainment segments, sandwiched between awards and commercials, lacked bite and humor. Envelope openers were as awkwardly immobilized as their comments were witless.

I can't get excited over a contest that pits Loretta Young, Miss Stanwyck and Donna Reed in a struggle for "outstanding actress" honors. One wins, two lose and so what.

But then we come to the public affairs and education category, numerically, these shows are the minority. Nevertheless, to hear the network brass talk, these are all that TV ever offers. They point with great pride to them and justifiably, for these shows give the medium its memorable hours and ennoble it.

Unfortunately, the Emmy format lumps together such gems as "CBS Reports," "Project 20," "Twentieth Century," "NBC White Paper" and "The Valiant Years." Only one can win.

Tuesday night, "Twentieth Century" got the nod, much to my surprise. But does this mean the other shows deserve to go unrewarded? I think the TV academy ought to leap at the opportunity to shower down Emmys upon these programs, even if it means that "Perry Mason" or "Twilight Zone" must go without an Emmy for one year.

Uninspired performers who work diligently deserve gold watches for faithful service. Outstanding productions and performers deserve gold Emmys. There's a difference, although the Emmy categories try to merge the two. The result is an impossible dichotomy — or a dreary dichotomy.

The Channel Swim: "The Sports Car Craze," featuring films of last weekend's Grand Prix de Monaco, will be presented on CBS-TV's "Twentieth Century" next fall.

Arnold Stang, currently supplying the voice for "Hoiman" the mouse on "Matty's Funday Funnies," is replacing Michael O'Shea as the voice of "To Cat," star of a new ABC-TV cartoon series that debuts in the fall. Besides playing this cat-and-mouse game, Stang will portray a Chinese cook in NBC-TV's "Wagon Train" for Wednesday, June 14, "The Ah Chong Story."

Youth Arrested In Connection With Car Theft

A 16-year-old Borger youth is being held by Borger police today in connection with a burglary and auto theft charge in Pampa.

The youth was picked up after a 1955 Oldsmobile stolen Monday night from the Kisseer Ford Motor Co. Used Car sales lot, 701 W. Brown, was found abandoned yesterday on the Amarillo-Borger Hwy. near Borger.

Police Chief Jim Conner said the youth has been identified as the same person seen with the car Tuesday night in Lefors. The son of the former Pampa owner of the car recognized it parked on Lefors street. When he asked the youth where he got it, he said he had purchased it two weeks ago.

The Pampa youth had seen the car on the used car sales lot only the night before. He notified police and the search resulted in the finding of the auto and the subsequent arrest of the Borger juvenile.

The burglary charge stems from the fact the youth broke into a sales office on the used car lot in order to obtain the key to the car.

Defendant Denies Driving Offense

Basil A. Dougherty, 57, of 1108 E. Kingsmill, entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated when arraigned in county court this forenoon.

Judge William J. Craig set Dougherty's bond at $500.

Police said the charge was filed against Dougherty after he was involved in a traffic accident at the intersection of E. Francis and Ward shortly after 11 o'clock last night. No one was injured.

Third Liquor Store 'Visit' Snares Pair

Three strikes and out. That's what happened to two Pampa men who police say committed their third liquor store burglary in three nights.

According to police, Al's Liquor Store, 108 E. Craven, was hit last night for a total of about a gallon of bonded whiskey, taken from a display window after the glass had been broken.

A passerby heard the crash of glass about 1 a.m. and when he investigated saw two men run from the scene with their loot. He followed them to an apartment house in the 100-block of W. Craven and then called police.

Officers went to the apartment house and arrested two men who, Chief Jim Conner said, readily admitted burglarizing the store and also admitted similar burglaries of the Service Liquor Store, 800 W. Foster, on Monday and Tuesday nights.

The pair was to be taken before Justice of the Peace J. W. Graham this afternoon when they were expected to be arraigned and held for grand jury action on burglary charges.

Probe Of Jewelry Theft Continues

Police today were continuing their investigation of the $2,100 burglary of Miller's Jewelry store, 112 W. Kingsmill, Sunday morning.

Two of three 14-year-old junior high school boys picked up yesterday admitted to police they used a glass cutter to cut a hole in the store's display window and stole nine rings worth more than $2,000.

The third boy held, police said, was not involved in the actual burglary but had one of the rings in his possession. He told police one of the two boys had given it to him.

Police recovered the last of the stolen rings yesterday from a Pampa woman who told them she had taken the ring as collateral for a loan.

Senate

In the House, the controversial University of Houston bill was introduced into a subcommittee where sponsors said they expected quick action. A report on the bill will come Monday.

The House State Affairs Committee approved and sent to the floor a bill to convey to the federal government much of Padre Island for use as a national seashore area.

Berserk

He rushed down the hallway quoting scriptures and singing. "Such is the sin of life," he mumbled and stabbed to death Mrs. Gladys Lucille Foreman, 49, a nurse aide. He ran into a surgical ward on the far side of the hospital and plunged the knife into the chest of Mrs. Edna Fuller, 45, medical supervisor of the floor.

He slashed the back of Otto Voight, 54, a patient who couldn't scramble out of his bed as other patients had done, and slashed the throat of Miss Ann Porter, 21, a student nurse working on the desk. Neither were considered critically hurt.

H. D. Gilbert and his partner were the closest policemen to the scene when the call came over their radio:

"Investigate a disturbance at Methodist Hospital."

"When we arrived, they told us this person had already killed two people and was cornered in room 738," Gilbert said. "He was standing at the foot of the bed with a large bloody knife in his right hand and a water pitcher in the left that he was drinking from."

"He kept quoting scripture from the Bible. He would ask us to leave, then walk around the room slashing at curtains, the window, and the bed. We talked to him for about 12 to 15 minutes, then decided to call homicide for help."

Inspector R. J. Clark took charge when reinforcements arrived. He spent about 15 minutes trying to talk White into giving up his knife. It didn't do any good. Neither did a tear gas pellet.

"So he drew his .38 caliber pistol and shot him in the right hand."

"It didn't even faze him," Gilbert said. "He just switched the knife to his left hand and kept on quoting scriptures. In a few minutes, he put the knife back in his right hand, and the inspector shot his hand again."

"The knife dropped into a pool of blood. The handle was shattered. But he picked up the blade and held it to his own throat and acted like he was going to kill himself. He had already slashed his own wrists."

"Another officer with a sawed-off 12 gauge shotgun tried to fire it twice from the doorway, but the shells didn't go off. Another officer went for a fresh shotgun shell. This time the blast hit him in the right arm... and the knife blade was knocked across the room."

Rotarians Hear Dedication Plea

The Pampa Rotary club yesterday heard a challenge for America to raise its standards and renew its dedication to the principles of morality and freedom. The man making the challenge was Rev. R. F. Gates of the First Baptist Church, Sayer, Okla. Pointing to signs of decadence in our national life, Rev. Gates said that America, in spite of these faults, still possessed the strength of Christian faith necessary to overcome the atheistic tyranny of communism. Quoting Lenin, the speaker said that in the end, only one would survive: capitalism or communism. This, according to Rev. Gates, is true, for there can be no co-existence between that which is right and that which is wrong.

Here's Sure Cure For Spring Fever

Chicken, the year-round favorite, can be a sure cure for a family with spring fever. Served with a fresh pineapple boat, Curried Chicken Casserole will make a feast to delight all who have the spirit of Spring.

Our present day chicken is a descendant of the jungle hen of India, so it is only fitting to combine oven-fried chicken with the flavor of curry powder, the condition which typifies Indian cuisine. But the chicken of today is a cry from his ancestors. Today, chickens are tender-grown, which means they are especially raised to grow plump quickly for better eating. The combination of spring-time flavor and lots of tender meat is assured when you look for the brand name tag on the wing identifying tender-grown chicken. You can purchase tender-grown chickens either whole or cut up.

The head of the household will no doubt want to pull the wishbone and put in his bid for a repeat performance of Curried Chicken Casserole on Father's Day.

1 chicken, cut up for frying

1/4 cup butter or margarine
6 cups soft bread cubes
4 cups unpared chopped apple
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1 to 2 teaspoons curry powder
2 tablespoons water

As pieces of floured chicken are placed in pan, turn to coat with butter. Bake skin side down in a single layer in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 30 minutes.

To make the curried apple stuffing, combine bread cubes, apple, onion, celery, 1 teaspoon salt, ginger, and curry powder. Sprinkle with water and mix lightly. Remove chicken from pan. Stir stuffing into butter in pan. Top stuffing with chicken turned skin side up in a single layer. Sprinkle almonds over top. Bake another 30 minutes or until chicken is tender.

Nothing's More Filling For Hungry Crew Than Frankfurters 'N Beans

When you have a really hungry crowd to feed, there's nothing more filling and satisfying than frankfurters with baked beans. That's a dependable combination, as many homemakers have learned.

But even a familiar dish such as this can become something special when a good cook takes a hand and gives it a little extra care.

A very tasty way to prepare this hearty dish is given by Reba Staggs, home economist. She suggests adding to the baked beans 2 bacon slices, chopped, and 4 of the frankfurters, sliced, also catch-up, mustard and brown sugar.

The rest of the frankfurters, sliced crosswise, are placed on top of the beans. The result is a fine blend of flavors as the food is baked.

A salad of sliced tomatoes and lettuce, poppy seed rolls, and apple sauce would complete an easy and satisfying menu.

FRANKFURTERS AND BAKED BEANS
12 frankfurters (about 1 1/2 pounds)
1 can (1 pound, 15 ounces) baked beans
1/2 cup catchup

pan, turn to coat with butter. Bake skin side down in a single layer in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 30 minutes.

Combine tomato paste, water, mushrooms with liquid, and green pepper. Turn chicken skin side up in a single layer. Pour tomato sauce over chicken. Bake another 30 minutes or until chicken is tender. About 5 minutes before end of baking time, sprinkle cheese over top of chicken. These recipes were developed using tender-grown Swift's Premium Chicken.

2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1/4 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 slices bacon chopped

Combine beans, catchup, mustard, brown sugar, onion and bacon. Cut four frankfurters into 1/2 inch slices and add to mixture. Pour into a 2-quart casserole. Cut remaining frankfurters in half crosswise and place on top of beans, making a sunburst design. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Remove cover and continue baking for 15 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

"SPONGECAKE"

If you use cake make-up, it should be applied with a silk sponge that has been saturated in water. Be sure sponge is wet enough, or make-up will not spread on evenly and transparently.

"Automatic Breakfast" Helps Start Day With Easily Prepared Breakfast

Do you take advantage of your built-in "maid service" to automatically prepare your breakfast? If you are one of those fortunate homemakers who has an automatic oven and outlet on your range, you can awaken in the morning to find your hot breakfast ready to serve.

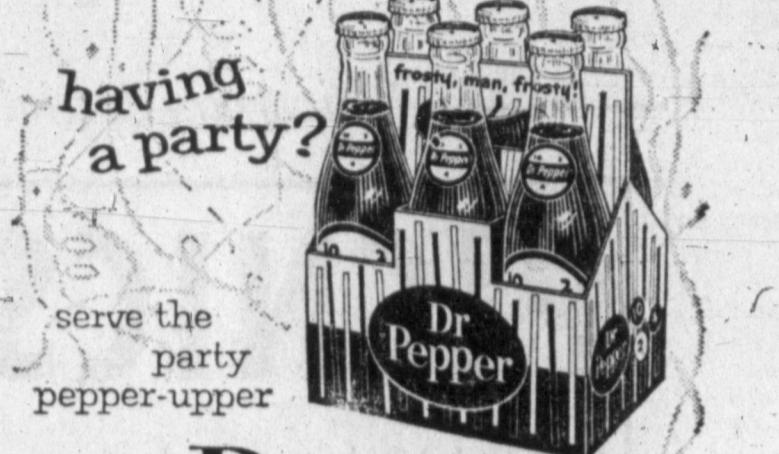

It is so easy to cook oatmeal in your oven. Merely follow the directions on the package, using a casserole in place of a sauce pan. Cover and place in the oven the night before. Set the controls so that the cereal will cook 10 to 20 minutes. You will have to experiment in the length of time for the cereal to cook to make it suit your family's preference. Plug your automatic coffeemaker into the controlled outlet.

Before retiring, finish your breakfast preparation by having the fruit juice ready to pour, table set, and a tray with glasses and pitchers ready to be filled. The toaster can be set out ready to use.

The next morning all you have to do is serve breakfast. In a matter of minutes you are sitting at the table enjoying a basic cereal and milk breakfast such as this menu: chilled orange juice, oatmeal with brown sugar and milk, buttered toast, milk and coffee for the beverage.

Try an "automatic breakfast" and see how easy it is to start the day with an easily prepared morning meal.

Graduation Day Declared One Of Pride For School Students

This month over 3,000 young Americans will be graduated from High Schools in the 18th Congressional District. Some of them will begin careers immediately, while others will continue their education at colleges and universities all over the nation. But whatever their future plans and ambitions, the day when these young men and women are handed their diplomas is a proud one not only for the students themselves, but for the parents and teachers who have done so much to ensure that an education means understanding as well as knowledge.

Here in Washington, I am always reminded of our High School graduations as thousands of students from across the United States arrive for class visits. As they walk through the Capitol building and see the Congress in session, it will be only a few months until they begin to accept the responsibility for furthering the heritage which was in considerable part forged in that very building.

I trust that none of them ever ignores the fact that this heritage, which has made America so strong and free, is not something which was completed before their time. It is true that the basic groundwork was laid almost 200 years ago and that many significant advances have been made since. Nevertheless, the opportunities and even the necessities for building the American ideal are just as demanding in 1961 as they were in 1776.

After receiving their High School diplomas, our young people will confront a world which demands the utmost in precise thinking and resolute action. While our forefathers began a nation with the plow, the hoe, and the axe, people of today and tomorrow will continue the process with tools a thousand times more complex. This complexity should not frighten these young people, for within it lies the potential for great good. They should be aware that the potential for great harm is also there, and that their efforts can be directed against that harm.

In addition to this, I hope that the prospective graduates will remember that democracy is the most difficult of all possible forms of government. There is a trend in our nation to leisure and comfort, and it makes us all happy that more and more are reaping the benefits of our phenomenal advances. But the processes of our government can never become as simple and as carefree as many other facets of life. The leadership in the United States cannot summarily carry out this or that measure without taking into account the interests of millions.

This usually requires time, and even the revolution which has occurred in our communications system has not overcome the lengthy consideration which must be applied to most of our decisions. Many of us become impatient with the delays which surround much governmental action.

A smoother-running and more responsive government depends to a great extent upon a well-informed people, and I think the students who are about to graduate from High Schools all over the Panhandle will play a major role in this regard. With twelve years of a five education behind them, these youngsters are well prepared to grapple with the far-reaching and often confusing problems of an speak.

adult democratic society and sound government. The graduation exercises will mean a fine reward to those who have worked and studied for what to them seems so long a time. To me, however, commencement always symbolizes the constant striving of people for a better understanding of our world—a striving which is the hallmark of a democratic government.

Electric Head Pledges Firm 'Will Be Good'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mark W. Cresap Jr., president of the Westinghouse Electric Corp., pledged today to make obedience to the antitrust laws a "way of life" in the 75-year-old firm.

Cresap, who became president less than a year before the big company was rocked by price-fixing scandals, said he did not know that executives below him were meeting secretly with competitors to fix equipment prices. But he accepted "my share" of the responsibility for the "sorry episode" and promised it never would happen again.

He told the Senate antitrust subcommittee that Westinghouse executives must avoid going to legitimate industry meetings in plush resorts where many of the extra-curricular illegal price talks were held.

Cresap said he believed price-fixing developed within Westinghouse partly because of "inadequate dedication to the principle that vigorous competition is the strongest foundation for the American economy."

Executives found guilty of price fixing were not disciplined, Cresap said, because they thought they were acting in the company's best interests and were not out to gouge the public.

Eichmann Spurned Appeal For Jews, Documents Show

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Adolf Eichmann rejected the attempts of foreign governments to intercede in behalf of German Jews, the prosecution charged today. Documents were introduced in his trial purporting to show that Eichmann set himself up as a watch dog over the Nazi Foreign Ministry and forbade it to grant requests received through official channels.

Other documents showed the accused mass murderer forced the Jews to buy their own railway tickets to death and degradation.

ing Jews, although he was only a lieutenant-colonel in the Gestapo. Sweden asked the German Foreign Office to prevent the deportation of Alfred I. Phillipson from Bonn. Eichmann rejected the request. The Argentine embassy requested that Meyer Israel Meyerhoff be allowed to go to Argentina and take out citizenship. Eichmann said no.

The former Nazi officer even attempted to persuade the Thai-land diplomatic mission in Berlin to release one of its Jewish employees, Israel Hirschberg.

Other documents showed the accused mass murderer forced the Jews to buy their own railway tickets to death and degradation.

Cabinet Maker Booked In Torso Slaying Of Wife

WEST HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Darlington Shaw, 51, was booked yesterday on suspicion of murder in the torso slaying of a woman tentatively identified as his wife, parts of whose body were found scattered across southern California.

Shaw, a cabinet maker, was arrested Tuesday night at his Santa Monica apartment and booked after sheriff's deputies questioned him. Sheriff's Sgt. Walt Thornton said Shaw denied slaying his wife, Hildreth, 51, a nurse's aide. He said she left him after an argument while they were on a trip in Las Cruces, N.M.

"We got onto him by working out routine leads," Thornton said. "We located the person who fit the description of the woman and from her went on to him."

The puzzle began April 29 when youths bicycling home from a baseball game found the severed head of a woman wrapped in a plastic bag and placed in a cardboard box at Garden Grove in adjoining Orange County. A left leg was found Sunday in a remote mountain area of Los Angeles County and the torso with arms was discovered Monday by a Ventura County work crew.

Surgeon Gerald K. Ridge said the dismemberment had been accomplished with a fine saw and the severing was a "clean job."

Deputies said they planned to contact authorities in Las Cruces N.M., and San Antonio, Tex., in an attempt to check on Shaw's story that he was en route to the Texas city to attend his son's funeral.

at Las Cruces. The deputies said Shaw had not filed a missing persons report on his wife.

Drought, Weather Plague Texas Crops

AUSTIN (UPI)—The statewide drought and hot weather continuing to dry out Texas crops during the past week, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported Tuesday.

Widely scattered showers early in the week were ineffective. High Plains wheat has dried out and farmers in the northwest were irrigating where possible. North Texas farmers made first hay cuttings.

Lack of moisture delayed start of summer grasses on Frisco, Pecos, Plateau, and South-Central ranges and pastures. Growing crops made little progress in these areas.

Texas cotton was about 60 per cent planted by May 12, the USDA said. Progress was the same as last year. Blacklands cotton was 70 per cent planted. High Plains cotton seeding reached the halfway mark.

Lack of moisture delayed cotton planting in all areas except the High Plains, Blacklands and along the upper coast. Lower Valley cotton was fruiting well and making good progress.

Lack of rain also slowed sorghum drilling. Drilling had to wait also for the end of cotton planting and final decisions on the feed grain program. About 45 per cent of Texas sorghum was in the ground, the same progress as last year.

Most Lower Valley sorghum was fully headed and the crop was in the boot stage as far north as Goliad.

Dry, hot weather moved wheat rapidly toward maturity, the USDA reported. A few fields are expected to be ready for harvest by next week. Carrots, sweet corn, cucumbers, onions, potatoes and tomatoes moved in good volume from the Lower Valley. Okra, field peas and peppers were available in fair volume.

Harvest of cantaloupes, honeydews and watermelons is under way in the Lower Valley and Fairburn-Hebronville areas. Plants are blooming in South Central and Southeast Texas. Crops in Central and Northeast Texas are making fair progress.

Movement of onions from the Lower Valley dropped, but onions in North Texas and the Panhandle are making favorable progress.

Alger Raps Medical Care Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Bruce Alger, R-Tex., took to the House floor yesterday to criticize what he called an attempt "to mislead the people" on the need for government-backed medical care.

Alger said he was referring to information inserted in the Congressional Record by Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., about an elderly Gonzales, Tex., woman who suffered severe burns. Yarborough's record insertion included a letter from A. L. Thomas, Gonzales insurance agent. The letter said the woman was treated by a county doctor but was then sent home with no food or medicine. The letter concluded with a plea for medical care for the aged tied to social security.

Alger told the House the Yarborough record insertion was at variance with the facts in the case as supplied by Dr. Harvey Renger, president of the Texas Medical Association. He inserted a statement by Renger that said the woman had medical care, was hospitalized and was now recovering.

Alger said the persons responsible for "disseminating this information owe apologies to the American people and to the persons who were subject to this unwarranted criticism."

CASTRO "MAXIMUM LEADER" MIAMI (UPI) — Radio Havana's customary description of Premier Fidel Castro these days is "maximum leader of the glorious socialist revolution."

Castro's name was mentioned twice in a single 100-word report, and both times the descriptive phrase was used.

Bats are the only mammals capable of sustained flight.

Dear Abby... Boys Are Taboo While Moms Away!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am a widow or are we just slob with a daughter in high school. The two of us live together. I have to work so I am not at home when she comes home from school. My daughter is well liked, and has many friends. I have no objection to her girl friends coming over after school, but lately, boys have been coming over. I trust my daughter, but I laid the law down and told her I did not want boys at the house when I am not there. She says that she won't be popular if she can't have the kids over after school. Was I wrong to forbid her to have boys over when I am not home? Or am I old-fashioned?
WORKING MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Your original decision was sound. Don't weaken.

★ Polly's Quiz ★

By Polly Cramer
Many living rooms seem unattractive because one side of the room is lighted by the glare of a large picture window. The other side has no light from another window to offset this.
Not long ago I saw this problem solved effectively and inexpensively. Windows were on the west side only. Split bamboo shades (porch variety) had been painted a deep bright blue. They were lowered to the sill so that light sifted pleasantly, through the slits. Curtains were white linen trimmed with blue braid the shade of the blinds.
Dear Polly: I am planning to paint my bedroom walls a pale lilac and get a white bedroom set. I have a light pink rug and was thinking about pink curtains. Also want a long cocktail table, painted white. On this, I intend to put a bright purple pillow and a white phone. No one likes my plan. What do you think of it?—Jimmy.
Dear Jimmy: I'm with the opposition, too. I should think that a young man would feel pretty silly living in such a room. A gold background with black lacquer furniture and bold black-and-white striped curtains would seem far smarter for a man, young or old. Then you could have a long emerald green table with a white boxed cushion.
Dear Polly: My connecting living room and dining room have one scheme. Living room walls and dado in the dining room are bone white. Upper walls in the dining room have a French paper with rose-and-green figures on white. Curtains are white brocade. Traditional mahogany dining chairs have needlepoint seats but need slip covers. Rug is rose beige and sofa is a tone lighter. One chair needs reupholstering. What color? Sofa and breakfast are mahogany. Sofa and two chairs need slip covers. I also want a new pair of lamps against white walls at either end of sofa. What type and color, please? Mrs. O. A.
Dear Mrs. P. A.: The sofa and two chairs would be pretty with slip covers of floral chintz in rose, green and yellow on white. The third chair could be slip covered with a rough, textured white fabric. Or, you might use narrow green and white stripes which would also be fine for dining room chair seats. Lamps might well be a pair of black column shades with either gold or black shades. Try lamps on approval to be sure size and shape are correct.

The group joined in singing "The More We Get Together." It was announced that the class will serve salad with two other classes next Monday after morning revival services in the church. Mrs. Louis Johnson dismissed the group with prayer. Attending were Meses A. P. Holligan, J. W. Holt, W. T. Judkins, Earl Taylor, C. C. Miller, Margie Salsman, Mary McMahan, and D. L. Lunsford.

Tennison Circle With Mrs. Fisher

The Grayson Tennison Circle of Highland Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Felix Fisher for Bible Study. Mrs. Minnie Epperson opened the meeting with prayer. During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Ann Winegard, a community mission project was discussed, which will be completed at the next meeting on May 18 in the home of Mrs. Inez Jackson, 1140 S. Nelson. Bible study was given by Mrs. Lois Belote from Genesis. Secret Pal gifts were exchanged and refreshments served at the close of the meeting. Prayer was offered by Mrs. L. F. Karlin. Twelve members were present.

AVERAGE SLOBS
DEAR AVERAGE: Your neighbor is "mothering" her husband and he is lapping it up. He may remain contented forever, but if he ever grows up and decides he wants a real "wife" I hope your neighbor is convertible enough to fill the bill. If she isn't, hubby will pocket the haircut money and do a little cutting up on his own.
DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of an only son. His father is dead. I have a very lovely diamond ring which belonged to my mother, who is now deceased. I promised my son I would give him this ring when he found the girl of his choice. He is now 26 and is going to marry a girl of whom I know my mother would not approve. I do not care for this girl either. She is not of our faith and has been married before. I KNOW my mother would not want this girl to have her ring. Would I be wrong to tell my son "I cannot find it in my heart to keep my promise?"
TWO CARATS
DEAR TWO CARATS: You promised your son the ring when he found the girl of HIS choice. He has found her.
DEAR ABBY: When you advised "Wants a Pet" to get a hamster, I suppose you didn't know that hamsters bite, smell bad and live only two years. I would suggest a guinea pig. They don't bite, have no odor, enjoy cuddling and live up to eight years.

The spokesman said the tournament will be a 36-hole medal play affair with trophies and prizes awarded at a buffet supper scheduled Sunday evening after the tournament. A social hour will precede the buffet, he said.

Entrants are limited to people directly associated with the exploration and production of petroleum the spokesman pointed out, with flights available for everyone regardless of their score.

The spokesman urged players to tee off as soon as possible to avoid congestion. "You may form your own foursome or the starter will arrange foursomes as you report," he said.

Entrance fee will be $5.50. Green fees, social hour and buffet will be furnished by the committee, the spokesman concluded.

Pampa Cagers Close Training Period Tonight

By JIM EASTERWOOD
Daily News Sports Editor

Terry Culley, Pampa High School's youthful basketball coach, wore a satisfied look as he watched his cagers run through their offensive patterns.

"They're looking real good," he commented. "Tonight's game should be nip-and-tuck all the way."

Culley's cagers will cap their spring training sessions tonight with an intra-squad game between the 33-year-old mentor has divided his personnel into two teams of almost equal strength. (In four scrimmages to date the two squads have split 2-2).

Game time for the "Whites" and "Greens" will be at 7:30 p.m. at Harvester fieldhouse with another game between the reserves of the two parent fives preceding the nightcap at 8:30.

Starting the main game tonight for the whites will be Bob Nes-ke, 6-3, and Gary Sikes, 6-1, at forwards; Pat Carter, center; and Gordon Balch, 5-9 and Ronnie Chase, 5-9, at guards. Reserves are Dwight Thompson, C. E. Cantrell, Larkin Miller, Gary Davis, Richard Rexroat, Eugene Madrid and White. "Green" reserves are Keith Swanson, Larry Clifton, Charles Price, Guy Cloud, and Bobby Price.

"Green" team starters include Lloyd Balch, 6-2, and Harold Burgess, 6-1, at forwards; Allen Wise, 6-4, at center and Wayne Kreis, 5-10, and Darrell Doss, 6-1, at guards.

Carter, Pampa's future Elvia Presley, and Wise are graduating seniors but will play in order to round out the two squads.

Coaching the "White" five will be Dean Evans, University of Houston ex, with Midwestern University grad Roy Kieval guiding the "Greens."

Culley, despite a losing season last year (11-16) was fairly optimistic about his team's chances this season.

"We need another big man to help out on the boards," he pointed out, but maybe Randy can solve that problem.

Randy is Randy Matson, a husky six-foot five-inch center who has been unable to compete in spring training sessions because of an ankle he broke in track. "He's big and he can move," says Culley. "The other team will nearly have to put two men on him."

Matson, after missing the first part of Pampa's cage games last year because of his ankle (he broke it playing football) came on strong once he regained his shooting eye and was the team's second leading scorer.

Culley, who has relied on a semi-press in the past, should have a pair of fiery guards tailor made for strength - taxing defense. Both Kreis and Chase are fast and quick. "They've shown rapid improvement," Culley said.

HOUSTON (UPI)— Don Suman, 41, former Rice basketball coach, took over today as general manager of the American Football League champion Houston Oilers.

Announcement of the appointment was made Wednesday by Oiler owner K. S. (Bud) Adams. Adams personally acted as general manager for the club last year, while Suman acted as his assistant.

Cantrell, 750.33; 3. Walter Thoms, 742.72; 4. Walter Thoms, 734.55; 5. Jerry Bonsal, 729.39; 6. Bill Dycus, 688.35; 7. Buddy Epperson, 485.22.

Snead Gunning Today For 'Own' Golf Title

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI) — "The boys are after me." That was the comment of golf's equivalent to Old Man River as he started gunning today for his sixth Sam Snead Festival championship against a formidable array of young talent.

The old man is Sammy Snead, who has been No. 1 professional at the Greenbrier resort here for nearly a quarter of a century.

The youngsters are primarily 26-year-old Gary Player, the year's leading money winner, and Arnold Palmer, 31, who is No. 2 in the cash department. Also on hand is Dave Marr, 27, who won the first and only victory of his pro golf career here last year.

Snead, who will be 49 years old next week, was the solid favorite and realized it — and was satisfied about it. "If they figure they have to catch me, so much the better," said the Slammer.

Snead, who was caddying at this push spot before Player and Palmer were born, was not without competition, however, in his own general age range.

For example, there's 46-year-old Stan Leonard of Canada, who described the Greenbrier's courses "just great" after some sub-par practice rounds on his first visit here.

Then, there's former PGA champion Walt Burkemo, 42, and Kel Nagle, 40—the British Open champion who was second last week in the tough Colonial Invitational.

Amarillo Climbs To 2nd In TL

By United Press International
Amarillo bounced back in the Texas League Wednesday night, whipping Valley, 8-2, to even its series with the league-leading Giants.

It whittled the Giants' lead on the rest of the pack, but San Antonio stayed in second place one game behind with a 7-2 decision over Victoria. Tulsa clobbered Austin for the second straight night, rolling to a 10-3 victory with a 13-hit attack.

Amarillo remained in third place, then Tulsa, Austin and Victoria, each one game further back than the team ahead.

Bob Lasko, with 10-hit support, gave up six hits and a run in the first and fourth to Valley, but was never behind after a three-run second inning. Clark Johnson, chased in the fourth, was the loser.

Tulsa had a 3-1 edge going into the ninth when the Oilers lowered the boom on relief pitcher Phil Niekro and showed across seven more before Leslie Bass could put the fire out. Art Mehuron was the winner and with the help of Paul Toth in the ninth, held the Senators to six safeties.

Craig Sorensen and Don Eddy belted homers in the second and fourth to pace San Antonio's 13-hit attack. Al Nagel homered for one of the Rosebuds' hits off winner Roy Brooks. Merlin Nippert, charged with two runs in the opening inning, was the loser.

The teams wind up a three-game set tonight with Amarillo at Valley, San Antonio at Victoria and Tulsa at Austin.

Negro Golfers Accorded PGA Memberships

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — The possibility of non-whites being admitted to membership in the PGA was apparent today following a resolution passed by the PGA executive committee.

The 13-member body, ending a three-day mid-year meeting at the Diplomat Inn Wednesday, voted unanimously to seek elimination of the article in the PGA constitution that limits membership to "professional golfers of the Caucasian race, residing in North or South America."

The full PGA membership will act on the resolution at its annual meeting here in November.

The action was taken after committee members had stripped Los Angeles of the 1962 PGA championship tournament, in an apparent hassle with the California attorney general over Negro pro Charley Sifford.

PGA President Lou Strong of Rochester, N. Y., in announcing the decision to remove the tournament from Los Angeles' Brentwood Country Club, did not mention Sifford or Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk.

Red-Hot Tigers Rout Baltimore

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

Are Al Kaline and Rocky Colavito more than a match for Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris? The answer so far this season is a roaring yes and therein lies much of the story why the Detroit Tigers are out in front in the American League with a five-game lead over the New York Yankees.

There are other reasons — like pitcher Phil Regan, for example — but the team that beats the Yankees is going to have to have plenty of muscle. That's what Kaline and Colavito can give the Tigers in pennant-style this year. Kaline and Colavito collaborated Wednesday night to make it look easy as the Tigers completed the demolition of the Baltimore Orioles' highly regarded pitching staff with a 9-1 rout that enabled them to open up a five-game AL lead. Kaline drove in three runs with a double and triple and Colavito knocked in two runs with two singles and a double for the Tigers who outscored the Orioles, 29 to 10, in the three-game sweep.

This 1-2 punch is reflected in up-to-date averages which show Kaline out-hitting Mantle, .315 to .307 and Colavito out-hitting Maris, .273 to .217. It comes out to a composite .298 mark for the Detroit stars and .264 for the New York ace with the 35 points that separate their combined averages significantly close to the 48 point separating the teams in the standings.

The Yankees were surprised for the second straight game Wednesday when the Washington Senators topped them, 8-7, while the Cleveland Indians beat the Boston Red Sox, 1-0, in the other AL game. The San Francisco Giants shaded the Chicago Cubs, 4-3, the Pittsburgh Pirates edged out the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, the Cincinnati Reds beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 2-1, and the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Milwaukee Braves, 2-1, in 11 innings in the National League.

Regan, who had an 0-4 record for Detroit last season, pitched a six-hitter for his fourth straight win of 1961 as the Tigers handed the Orioles their fifth straight defeat. Brooks Robinson's fourth-inning homer produced the only run off Regan who has blossomed into a capable starter after being tabbed during spring training for relief duty.

The surprising Senators swept their two-game series with the Yankees and increased their winning streak to five games with a 10-hit attack that included homers by Billy Klaus and Pete Daley. Pete Bursas won his first game for Washington and Art Dinan lost his second for New York.

Bobby Locke and Barry Latham combined in a six-hitter for the Indians who scored the game's only run off Bill Monbouquette when Vic Power slid home safely during a double play in the fifth inning. Monbouquette, who struck out 17 batters in his previous start, suffered his fourth loss.

Ed Bailey drove in three runs with a homer and single to lead the Giants to their fifth consecutive victory although the winning run actually scored when relief pitcher Don Elston yielded a bases-filled walk in the ninth. Stu Miller picked up his second win for the Giants who maintained their three-game NL lead.

Keith Gregory, Crossland, Earn MVP Honors

Keith Gregory and Butch Crossland, a fine pair of Pampa athletes, have been named as recipients of the Harvester's Most Valuable Baseball Player award.

Gregory, a senior, and Crossland, a junior, received the awards in the High School Auditorium Tuesday morning.

Gregory also received the batting champions certificate for leading the Harvesters over the season with a lustrous .341 average. Qualifications for the MVP award were determined on this basis: (1) Leadership; (2) team value; (3) character; (4) cooperation and (5) overall performance.

"These two boys exemplified these traits to the fullest," said head baseball coach Deck Woldt.

Selecting the MVP individual were Warren Hesse, KPND-Radio; Art Mayhew, Sports Editor, Pampa Daily News; Hank Huntley, KHHH-Radio; and Woldt.

Keith Yeager, now at West Texas State, won the initial honor in 1959 and Terry Joe Haralson, earned the tribute in 1960.

More Than A Sporting Event -

International Golf Tourney Scheduled

NEW YORK (UPI) — At a time of extreme crisis in the Caribbean, when Uncle Sam needs all the friends and hemispheric solidarity he can get, the International Golf Tournament shaped up today as much more than a sporting event.

The tournament will be held in Puerto Rico June 1-4 with two-man teams from 34 nations competing. They shoot for the two-man international team title and the Canada Cup to the low individual.

And friendship. This will mark the ninth year in which the International Golf Association has brought these players together from all corners of the world in what Frank Pace Jr., former secretary of war and IGA president, describes as "an event dedicated to the furtherance of good will among nations through golf."

Politically we gather a certain number of bumps and bruises. But on the world's widely-scattered golf courses our teams have proved, through the cheering galleries they gathered, that maybe we need more golf ambassadors and fewer politicians.

Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret slayed them in Tokyo. Our twosome drew raves in Australia when the tournament was conducted there. And, with their team out of it, the Irish rooted Snead and Arnold Palmer to team victory at Dublin last year.

This time a monkey wrench perched over the works when officials of the Memphis Open, to be run on the same dates, objected to the loss of such as Palmer and Masters champion

Gary Player.

The Professional Golfers Association gives its tournament sponsors a blanket contract. This calls for it to produce the U.S. Open champion (Palmer) and the Masters champion (Player) as well as the top 25 money winners. There is no personal commitment by the players.

The Memphis official objected when Doug Sanders tried to withdraw to play in still another event. Properly incensed, they demanded all they had been promised and those committed to the Canada Cup were threatened with six months' suspension and a $500 fine by the PGA.

Engle Hurls Shelby Ruff By Milliron

Lynn Engle hurling a sparkling four-hitter here Wednesday night at Optimist Park to lead the Shelby Ruff nine to a 6 to 2 win over Milliron Engineering Co. in a Northern league game.

Engle whiffed seven and helped his own cause with a double in four trips to the plate.

M. Franklin absorbed the defeat, allowing nine hits while striking out six.

Leading hitters for the Shelby Ruff team were Gary Cummings and Larry Turcotte, both two for four.

Mr. Udall's Difficulties

Mr. Stewart L. Udall, the Interior man of the New Frontier, has gotten himself involved in another sticky one. Mr. Udall is what you might call a brass frontiersman, the kind who, in a more conventional frontier era, would wind up with a headful of Comanche arrows.

It was Mr. Udall, you may recall, who tried to put the blame for the Cuban fiasco on Mr. Eisenhower, a tack distressing to Mr. Kennedy whose tactics called for closing ranks with the Republicans to avoid embarrassment all around. Mr. Udall was more or less rebuked by a Presidential spokesman, and he called a press conference to say he regretted the interpretation which had been put on his statement and so forth and so forth and so forth.

Now Mr. Udall has once again been put in the position of denial, but, strangely enough, the White House is in effect confirming what he denies. There seems to be a peculiar lack of liaison between Interior and the White House.

This time a close friend of Mr. Udall's, J. K. Evans of Washington has written quite a list of oilmen soliciting $100 contributions to a Democratic fund - raising dinner. Mr. Evans' letter says he is doing this in behalf of Mr. Udall who would consider it a "personal favor" if the oilmen would subscribe to the banquet.

Interior deals extensively with the oil industry, of course, and doing the Secretary of the Interior a $100 "personal favor" is not bad politics.

Mr. Udall again hastily convened a press conference and denied the whole thing. He said he had talked to Mr. Evans who admitted "the whole thing was a mistake."

However, the White House commented simply: "This is the way political parties raise money."

Life on the New Frontier is life fraught with danger. The political brush cracks. It is a friendly in-jury or a bad one? Does the White House really know the way through the pass? Can they beat the fall of snow in the Sierra?

These, and many other exciting adventures are in store. Tune in tomorrow, same time, same place. Wagon Train, Ho!

Private Affairs

The more we examine it the more we discover that what we call public business is nothing more than private business into which political busybodies have intruded.

TO Prevent A Solution

Not long ago the Seattle, Washington Chamber of Commerce sent a group of delegates to Europe to visit six countries and to observe economic conditions there. In one of the countries visited was Holland.

Ross Cunningham, an associate editor for the Seattle Times, accompanied the Chamber group and has been writing his observations for his local newspaper.

What was learned in Holland is instructive and reveals once more the enormous economic ignorance which seems to be an implicit part of political comprehension.

According to Cunningham, Holland has a labor problem which is quite the reverse of the American labor problem. It appears there is a labor shortage and scores of jobs are going begging.

Now anyone with a grain of economic common sense knows that such conditions really themselves in a free market. Thus, if there are jobs begging in Holland and if we can assume a free market, it will immediately follow that jobless persons in other places will catch the next bus for the land of milk and honey.

Curiously, in the face of the existing facts, this reaction appears to be precisely what the government of Holland is trying to prevent although the politicians proclaim endlessly how seriously intent they are upon finding enough men to eliminate the labor shortage.

In the face of a lack of manpower, what is Holland doing politically? It has frozen wages at a low level to discourage anyone with a grain of ambition from making the trek.

One is reminded immediately of current actions being taken in the United States. We have what is hailed as an "unemployment" problem. There are several million out of work. Our government vainly major concern over the labor surplus.

But what is the government doing in our case? It is committing the same kind of economic folly. It has increased the minimum wage which will raise the pay of low skilled and marginal workers, thus making it more difficult for these persons to find jobs. This is typical of political meddling.

Governments which like to blame industry and business for very sin in the books, commit most of the sins and continue to allow in economic ineptitude.

Actually, the cure in both places could be for the government to get out of the way and to permit matter of FACT

Everybody's Money

By MERYLE STANLEY RUYSEYER

A reader of this column in Santa Ana, writes to ask why Congress doesn't raise the dollar amounts of old age and survivorship annuities payable to eligible persons over 65.

The correspondent remarks: "It seems to me that no one under Social Security should receive less than $125 to $150 a month minimum benefit. In these days of high prices it is simply impossible for one person to live on less than that. (I know because I've been trying to do it.) With that amount you still could not 'live,' but it would make 'just breathing' a little easier."

This reader is a human example of the impact of the hoax of Federal benevolence on the emotions. The truth is that this debt-ridden Government of ours can't give anything to anybody without first taking away from some one else.

Since Social Security was initiated in 1937, the Federal Government has promoted economic insecurity by monetary and fiscal improvidence which cut the buying power of the dollar by more than half. Similarly in Great Britain, Sir William Beveridge, author of "Cradle to the Grave" security, several years ago as an oldster complained that the buying power of his pension has been diluted by inflation of the pound.

His complaint recalled the plea of a man who murdered his father and his mother and then asked for clemency on the ground that he was an orphan.

Thus, those who overtax government finances by "social schemes" incidental to a welfare state frustrate themselves by adversely affecting the purchasing power of money.

But my California correspondent should bear in mind that the Social Security System has been presented as a self liquidating scheme based on receipts from payroll taxes levied equally on employers and employees. Since the fund is invested in fixed dollars (including Federal debt) rather than in growth stocks, there is no automatic built-in hedge against inflation in the fund.

These, and many other exciting adventures are in store. Tune in tomorrow, same time, same place. Wagon Train, Ho!

Political Dynamite Seen in States' Lag On Congressional District Reapportionment

WASHINGTON — The 1962 congressional elections are more than a year away, but already the leaders of both parties are uneasily sensing a situation that could have sensational political consequences.

This is the strong possibility that a record number of House seats may be decided by statewide vote instead of the traditional separate district system.

This startling total could run as high as 180 seats. That is around 40 percent of the 435 members of the House. The previous record was in 1932, when 52 House seats were elected by statewide ballot.

The unpredictable and dynamite-loaded election situation shaping up for next year is due to the fact that the legislatures in a number of states are deadlocked on voting new congressional districts based on the 1960 census.

As a result of those population figures, 16 states will lose a total of 21 House seats, and 9 states will gain 19.

But of the 16 due to lose seats, only 4 have restricted — Arkansas with a loss of 2; Kansas 1; Nebraska 1; West Virginia 1. And of the 9 states that gain seats, so far only one has restricted — Maryland with 1 additional seat, and that faces a stormy referendum challenge.

This means that unless the 20 unrestricted states get busy, the 18 new seats in the state that gain them, and the 162 total House membership in the states that lose seats will have to be elected by statewide vote. In the states family discipline and forbearance have been rendered outmoded on the specious ground that the government will take care of you when you are old. The governmental benefits are small in relation to ordinary human aspirations and needs.

The confusion is in part heightened by the cloudy thinking about the trend toward a "mixed economy" as contrasted with the traditional American free enterprise system based on a competitive market economy. Those who fell for the subtle propaganda of the "new economics" and sold self-help short live to regret their folly.

It is important to disseminate a better understanding of what makes the national economy tick. If the aged take out in "social benefits" more than they contributed in taxes, somebody is robbing Peter to pay Paul. Government, in such a role, is depriving the active and productive worker of the fruits of their output in order to subsidize a favored group.

The Social Security System compounds the evil of meager benefits by penalizing those between 65 and 62 who want to supplement their pension, through earned income. Half of earnings in excess of $1,500 a year must be foregone through relinquishing old age and survivorship benefits. As a strange perversion in the law, only earned income — salary and wages — is subject to this discrimination. A person over 65 may collect his full social security benefit irrespective of how large his income may be from property — from rents, royalties, interest and dividends. Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of this newspaper. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.

It's Up To You

by HOWARD KERSHNER L. H. D.

For more than two decades before the Communists took China, they flooded that unhappy country with vast quantities of literature. They know that books and pamphlets are more effective than bullets or bayonets, and they are today flooding the world with Communist propaganda, printed in nearly all languages. It is estimated that the output of this material in recent years has reached the enormous quantity of four pieces of literature for every person in the world. We know that thousands of tons of Communist propaganda is pouring into the United States at nearly all our ports of entry. Still worse, we know that great numbers of pro-Communist books and pamphlets are being produced in our own country. Moreover, this type of subversive literature, praising many features of communism and promoting many Communist objectives while condemning much, if not most, of the practices and ideologies found in the free, Western world, is lavishly praised by most of our American book reviewers and is given a generous amount of space in our leading review mediums. At the same time, these reviewers and these mediums ignore or play down the much smaller amount of anti-Communist literature that is being produced in our country.

Pope Pius XI spoke the simple truth when he referred to this as "a propaganda so truly diabolical that the world has perhaps never witnessed its like before."

The Cardinal Mindszenty Foundation has performed a real service in emphasizing this matter in a recent release, from which we quote the following paragraph:

During World War II, Americans were successfully sold the Communist line that the Soviet Union was a "peace-loving democracy," by clever pro-Communist books of which the most notorious was MISSION TO MOSCOW by Joseph E. Davies, U.S. Ambassador to Russia. This book was lavishly praised by nearly all book reviewers. It enjoyed an enormous sale and was even made into a movie. Here is a sample of the Communist propaganda in MISSION TO MOSCOW: "It is bad Christianity, bad sportsmanship, bad sense to challenge the integrity of the Soviet government. . . . The Soviet government has a record of keeping its treaty obligations equal to that of any nation on earth. . . . The present government further proclaims and asserts constitutional protection for civil and religious liberty. . . . Stalin. . . is decent and clean living. . . kindly and gentle. A child would like to sit in his lap and a dog would side up to him."

By contrast, when William L. White wrote "Report on the Russians," an eyewitness account of his travels in the USSR in which he told the truth about Soviet slave-labor camps and compared life in Red Russia to life in a penitentiary, even before his book arrived in the stores, the leading book reviewers were knitting it. Sixteen of America's top writers joined in condemning White for writing a book critical of communism and smearing him with the false label of "Nazi."

The contrast between what happened to these two books shows

Students Challenging Bus Seating, Arrested

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Ten white and Negro college students from Nashville, Tenn., who set out to challenge segregated seating customs on buses were held in jail here today.

Eight of them—seven Negroes and one white—were placed in "protective custody" Wednesday by police who said their presence at the Greyhound bus terminal invited violence. Two others, one white and one Negro, were arrested before the bus reached Birmingham for refusing to take rear seats.

Police also arrested the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, local Negro leader, and put five other Negroes in "protective custody."

Trucking Plan

Arouses Lawyer

LAREDO (UPI) — Miguel Angel Nuno, a Nuevo Laredo attorney, left for Mexico City yesterday to fight a trucking plan which would take customs clearance and duties payments out of Laredo and Nuevo Laredo.

The plan has already been approved by the Finance Ministry in Mexico City, but was suspended through an injunction issued by Mexican Federal Judge Manuel G. Toro Flores of Nuevo Laredo.

The proposal calls for truckers to clear customs and pass duties in interior cities of Monterrey and Mexico City by having their cargoes sealed "in bond," and thus bypass border customs.

The attorney said the effect of the plan would be to ruin the economy of both Laredo and Nuevo Laredo by eliminating the use of border customs brokers and throwing their employes out of work.
