

Ushering Days End

After more than 30 years, C. R. Farrell has pulled off his boutonniere and wound up his duty as church usher. Here he's going through the motions again, opening the door from the narthex to the sanctuary for an imaginary church-goer. (Journal Photo)

Usher's Job for Third of a Century Ends

C. R. Farrell, 79, stood in the narthex of the First Methodist Church this past week and went through the motions of being head usher again. But this was not the real McCoy because Claude Farrell had turned in his "permanent" boutonniere and is no longer even an usher at the church, much less head usher.

But an old-timer in the church remarked, "It just doesn't seem natural not to see Mr. Farrell there at his usher's desk in the narthex, assigning ushers to various stations."

Because Farrell has stood in the church narthex for more than 30 years, "Don't know just when I first became an usher," he mused, straining his memory back through the years, "but I do know it was a long, long time ago. And I loved it. And I wouldn't have given it up even now - but, well Hazel (that's Mrs. Farrell) isn't too well, and besides it's time for somebody else to do the job."

The ushering assignment began, he figures, a third of a century ago and at YL Methodist church. "You see, Muleshoe didn't amount to much when we came here from Manning, Iowa, in 1918. YL wasn't very big either, but we lived in that area and I farmed out there, so we went to the YL church. "Actually, it wasn't our church - the Methodist church. Back in Iowa we had been Presbyterians, but there wasn't a Presbyterian church in these parts then, so we went, we joined the Methodist Church. It soon became our church home and has been ever since."

Then in 1932 Mr. Farrell and his family moved to Muleshoe

Next: Our Big, Big Weekend!

Coming up next: Muleshoe's big, big weekend!

Big weekends around the Fourth of July are nothing unusual down in the Muleshoe country since the picnic and the fireworks and the talent contest are now well-established on the West Texas Schedule.

But this year the program will vary. It will get under way Thursday when a bevy of pretty girls, bathing-suit- and heels-clad, strut across the stage at the high school auditorium.

Because that will be the night when the Muleshoe Jaycees stage their "Miss Muleshoe" contest, and some pulchritudinous lass will walk off with a title which means, in effect, that she's Muleshoe's most beautiful.

Incidentally, the girls will practice Thursday night, and the big show proper will get under way the next night at 8 o'clock; price is $1 for adults, 50 cents for students.

In the intermission, the Jayceettes (wives of the Jaycees) will put on a "Little Miss Muleshoe" contest when 121-sized beauty will vie for prizes, too.

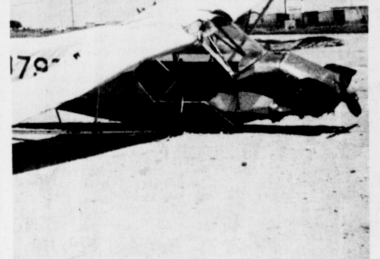

Fifteen girls were entered when the contest deadline was reached at midnight Wednesday.

Jay Spain and Kenneth Henry are co-chairmen of the event.

Engine Stalls, Plane Crashes Near Highway

Power failure resulted in the crash of a Piper J-3 Cub on take-off at Muleshoe Municipal Airport at 12:45 p.m. Thursday. Admitted to West Plains Hospital with minor injuries were David Ellis and Marcelino Hernandez. The craft had not gained sufficient altitude to clear power lines.

The pilot, making a split-second decision, veered to the north in order to avoid the lines and busy highway and crashed on the airport grounds. When the right wing struck the ground, it spun the craft around through the fence and came to rest in the west lane of traffic on the highway.

Morgan Locker, owner of the Cub, is in Florida and not available for a damage estimate.

However, damage to the engine, wing and propeller is believed to be extensive. Both Ellis and Hernandez are employed by Muleshoe Flying Service.

Two young men, David Ellis and Marceline Hernandez, crashed on take-off of this airplane Thursday, and were able to walk away. However, they were later hospitalized for observation and treatment.

Valuation Up, Schools Aided

James Whitson, Muleshoe, with a total score of 1920, won $350 in cash and a $350 diamond ring in the seventh annual Zale's diamond singles bowling tournament in Amarillo recently. He led the field of 108 in B scratch (179 and under). He is an employee of Cashway Grocery.

Ranza B. Boggess, Jr., whose parents live at Friona, recently received an early promotion to army pay grade private E-2 on completion of basic combat training at Fort Bliss. The 21 year old soldier, a 1962 graduate of Friona high school, attended Texas Tech. He entered the army last March.

Cecil Davis, chairman of the Bailey County Historical Survey committee, said the organiza-

Muleshoe School district's valuation upped more than a half million during the past year, but increased assessments by the state will result in only a minor gain in funds for school. Superintendent Neal Dillman said Friday.

"Valuation of Muleshoe Independent district rose more than $600,000 from $26,400,000 to $27,000,000.

This increased income, but the state hiked its take by the same token. "And, as a result, delete last line" explained the Superintendent. "We will wind up with only $5000 to $6000 more than we had last year."

The superintendent said that the total tax rate of $1.85, the same as last year, will be maintained again this year, but division will be altered. Last year the tax rate was $1.27 and next year it will be $1.30. But debt service rate was lowered from 58 cents to 55 cents which leaves the total rate unchanged.

Dillman also explained the attendance report which he sent to the Texas Education Agency. The membership, average daily attendance and per cent of attendance as compared with the 1964-65 term were as follows:

Average membership, 20084.23 for 1964-65; 2088.12 for 1965-66.

Average daily attendance for 1964-65 was 1976.71 as compared with 1971.00 for the '65-66 year. Percent of attendance was 94.6 as compared with 94.2 for the year just closed.

Dillman says that the changed farm program accounted for a drop in enrollment early this year.

Tye Young, 63, Gospelaire Singer, Dies Unexpectedly

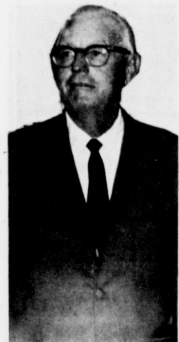

The Gospelaire quartet, a relatively new organization that had become West Texas' most popular singing combo, lost a baritone this past week, and Muleshoe lost a long-time resident.

Tye Young, 63, lay down Wednesday for his customary afternoon nap, complaining of indigestion, and a short time later he was dead.

Tye had led the singing at Lions club (as he had for many years) at noon Wednesday as usual.

Muleshoe-Portales Road Now Open; Paving Slated

A long-time dream of a shortcut between Muleshoe and Portales is rapidly becoming a reality, and what once was billed as only a "please don't rain" highway, may become an all-weather route before too long.

As a matter of fact, when New Mexico gets through with its portion of the road, the only unpaved portion will be a 7 1/2 mile strip on the Texas side of the line.

While neither the Texas highway department nor the Bailey County road program has money in the bank for paving that 7 1/2 mile dirt strip, road enthusiasts here predicted that the route will become an all-paved highway "before very long."

A big boost was given to the highway this past week when Roosevelt county, N.M. turned its 13 mile new road over to the New Mexico highway department. Paving of the route was thus assured, it was reported here.

Since 12 miles of the highway on the Texas side traverses the already paved FM 1760, only 7 1/2 miles is actually dirt route, County Judge Glen Williams explained. A portion of that road, he said, is already a "good dirt road" leading west from the Tom Smith corner 12 west of Muleshoe. At that point, the present FM 1760 turns north.

"Lloyd Stevens, county commissioner for that district, has been greatly interested in the project, and has done a good job of opening and grading the 7 1/2 mile strip to the state line. The road work was delayed for some time by dry weather, but recent rains have made it possible to speed up the project. In fact, even before the rain, Stevens had laid irrigation lines over the route to make it possible to water-down the route," Judge Williams said Stevens

Ring Ceremony Read For Jamie Henderson, Kenneth Cunningham

Miss Jamie Ruth Henderson became the bride of Kenneth Lynn Cunningham in a double ring ceremony read by Rev. Dennis Heard at 8 p.m. Saturday, June 24, in the Three Way Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Elwin B. Julian, Baileyboro, and Mr. and Mrs. Orville W. Cunningham, Lovington, N. M.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her floor length gown was fashioned from satin with an overlay of chiffon and trimmed with pearl-studded embroidered lace. It featured a sweetheart neckline and sleeves extending to petal points over the hands. Her floor-length veil was edged with lace and caught to a tiara of seed pearls.

The bridal bouquet, carried atop a white Bible, was a Catelega orchid nestled amid tulle puffs and leaves intermingled with Lily of the Valley. Tulle streamers tied in love knots with dainty flowers entwined cascaded from the center of the bouquet.

Traditional wedding selections were played by Julia Burkett, pianist. Harold Wayne Carpenter was soloist.

The bride presented her mother a long-stemmed white rose as she entered the church and another to the bridegroom's mother as they left the church.

Bette Julian, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jelene Campbell, Hartley, Texas, and Sharon Locke, Maple. They wore identical sheath dresses of red brocaded peau de doise with white accessories. Their hats were of red bows and tulle and each carried a long-stemmed white rose.

Beverly Dupler, Maple, was flower girl. Her dress was styled after the bridesmaids except it was fashioned with a full skirt. She carried a basket of white and red roses.

Stanley Cunningham, Lovington, served as best man. Groomsmen were Marvin Gathright, Carrollton, Texas and Maurice Blackstock, Morton. Candelights were Linda and Gloria Cunningham and Pat and Lonnie Cunningham were ring bearers. Ushers were James Kinde, Maple, and Billy Dewbre, Morton.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The serving table was covered with a silver cloth with an overlay of red net. A bouquet of red roses formed the centerpiece and the table was appointed with cutglass punch bowls, serving trays and silver.

The four tiered column cake of white was trimmed with wedding bells and silver beads.

For a wedding trip to Roswell, the bride chose a white two-piece suit with all white accessories.

The couple are making their home near Lovington where he is engaged in farming.

TEXACO points out: Wages and purchases generated by the average Texas service station provides a cash flow of about $35,000 a year into the station's community economy. O. D. Bridges of Dallas, chairman of the association highway policy committee, said Texas has about 15,000 service stations. The average station pays out some $15,000 a year in wages and spends approximately $20,000 annually for materials and services purchased locally, he added. Local communities also benefit because of the substantial investments stations represent, Bridges said. Cost of buildings and opening a modern station ranges generally from $40,000 to $150,000, he added.

Donald Barnett

Muleshoe Couple's Son Takes Post In California

Editor's Note: Donald Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barnett, Muleshoe, has assumed his new duties as Kings County (California) Economic Development Commission director in Hanford. He had been manager of the Great Bend (Kans.) Chamber of Commerce. The following story appeared last week in the Hanford Evening Sentinel.

Donald Barnett, first director of the new Kings County Economic Development Commission, got his first introduction to city and county leaders yesterday and described himself as "very impressed with the type of people I will be working with."

Not officially due on his new job until today, Barnett and his wife and four children arrived here last Thursday from Great Bend, Kan. The interval, he explained, allowed a tourist trip across country, with stopover in Grand Canyon, plus a few days to get settled in their new home at 1913 Stratford Way.

Yesterday Barnett met with Kings County supervisors, directors of the Chamber of Commerce and city and county planning directors. His first few months, he anticipates, will be spent in meeting with county leaders, setting up good communication between community and preparing information to be ready for possible investors.

A native of Los Angeles, the 36-year-old director said he moved to Texas when he was four, but still has many relatives in California and is familiar with this area.

While acknowledging the stiff competition for any community seeking to attract new industry, Barnett feels Kings County's prospects are good. He particularly cites the proximity to major markets in San Francisco and Los Angeles, excellent rail and other transportation connections and the abundance of trainable labor.

The fact that Kings County already has a major industry - Armstrong Rubber Co., will add a lot of prestige to future industrial development plans, he feels.

He sums up his $13,000 per year job as one working with every agency in the county to do anything that will improve Kings economic situation, whether through manufacturing, agriculture, educational institutions or water resources.

Capt. Jerry Hicks

Pilot Completes Tour Of Duty In Viet Nam

"First, it's over," this was the first comment made by Capt. Jerry Hicks concerning his year's stay at Bien Hoa, Viet Nam, and these words were spoken with enough zest to give one the impression that he meant all three of those words.

Capt. Hicks, Air Operation Duty Officer and Wing Commander flew 114 missions over Viet Cong territory during his 12 months stay there. "We had one unusual old fellow on our side," Hicks said, "Up in the highland, an old tiger, unable to hunt food in the jungle, would wait along the trails and feast on the unsuspecting Viet Cong forces."

"The most damage to the F-100 --, well, I did myself. We were after a large force of Viet Cong in a rice paddy. Clouds were real low, so we decided to go on down after them to relieve our ground forces. We did, mission complete, but we left a light off the bottom of the plane in the rice field, dented a wing and filled the cannons with mud. "We had one mortar attack while I was at Bien Hoa, Hicks said. Ten injured by the blasts--20 injured running over each other."

Capt. Hicks has been in the Air Force 10 years and will go to Air Command Staff College, Maxwell AFB, Montgomery, Ala. after a 30 day leave.

He will be accompanied by his wife, Shirley, who has been living in Clovis for the past year.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Hicks and Mrs. Hicks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Mathiesen.

Aging? It's Just Mind Over Matter

Growing old is simply a question of mind over matter--you don't mind, it doesn't matter. That is the consensus of researchers in the psychology of aging at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Houston.

Regardless of their age, persons who are effective and productive do not think of themselves as growing old. Apparently they are not aware that they are aging.

In sharp contrast, the researchers observed that individuals who have difficulty in their adaptation to later life tend to occupy themselves with thoughts of growing old even while they are relatively young.

An integral part of the evaluation included assessing the attitudes of different age groups toward getting old. This included exploring the role of the self-image and the attitudes about one's body in the process of aging. The results of this study point to techniques that hopefully will be helpful in motivating persons who have difficulty in facing the problems of aging.

As the average age of American war veterans passes 46 years, the expanding research program in aging and the health problems of senior citizens established by the Veterans Administration has been functioning long enough to begin to report its findings.

Of the 165 VA hospitals, 38 hospitals and a number of out-patient clinics are conducting research programs in this field. Special laboratories for aging research are established in seven VA hospitals. Thirty-two cooperative studies, involving three to 30 hospitals each, are directly related to the research.

A program of "satellite laboratories" nourishes new concepts in the problems of aging. In these the VA is obtaining the cooperation of a distinguished group of scientists and physicians who are not otherwise associated with the agency. To them the VA offers facilities and staff assistance in nearby VA hospitals for the advance of their own ideas for research.

Six of these VA satellite laboratories operate at Bedford, Mass., Baltimore, Md., Downey, Ill., Buffalo, N.Y., and two at Sepulveda, Calif. Ten additional satellite laboratories are planned.

Concerned with the physical aspects of aging, researchers at the Sepulveda VA hospital observed a progressive enlargement of the heart and changes of metabolism during the aging process. They noted a decrease in protein albumin carried to the heart muscle, and a decrease in hyaluronic acid present in organs having and increasing amount of connective tissue.

The loss of hyaluronic acid would account for many of the characteristics associated with aging, they contended. In the animal laboratory they were able to demonstrate an increase in albumin and hyaluronic acid in the vital organs following the administration of the female hormone estrogen.

While an expected increase has occurred in the number of patients suffering from the chronic diseases which affect older persons, the VA hospitals have had an increase of 33 per cent in the number of arteriosclerotic heart disease patients, and an increase of 50 per cent in the number of patients suffering strokes and other brain damage accompanying aging.

Efforts have been intensified in the investigation of heart disease, strokes, emphysema, cancer, diabetes, rheumatism and mental illness, the VA revealed. Emphasis is being placed upon new ideas and new approaches to the multitude of problems presented by aging and the increasing population of senior citizens.

Certain complex body sugars called mucopolysaccharides (MPS) always decrease with age, according to research workers at the VA hospital in West Roxbury, Mass. They also found an increased resistance to drying by the MPS while the water content decreased with age.

Three major studies now under way represent the scope of the VA research in aging. A long term study of the aging process in healthy men was launched by the VA out-patient clinic at Boston. It will delineate selective anatomic, biochemical, physiologic, and psychosocial aspects of aging in 1500 initially healthy men ranging in age from 25 to 65 years. The subjects volunteer to return for periodical examinations for the rest of their lives.

This study is expected to provide descriptions of the normal aging processes, prediction of later outcomes, and correlation of variables. The subjects are screened for normality and will return for extensive examinations at intervals of three to five years. Each test series comprises about 15 hours of examination.

The Spanish-American War veterans study is a collaborative effort by trained teams from Brandeis University of Chicago. Surviving veterans of some of the 14,000 Spanish-American War veterans who have been receiving treatment at VA hospitals across the country are interviewed by these teams. The object is to attempt to learn what factors have influenced the survival of this group of veterans who now average 87 years of age.

The Domiciliary Diet Fat Study at the VA center in Los Angeles, is an observation of 400 domiciliary members who have had their diets altered so that normal fat has been mostly replaced by unsaturated fats. This experiment is doubled blind which means that neither the patient nor their doctors know which patients are receiving experimental diets and which get their regular diets.

The six surviving veterans of the Indian Wars and the Spanish-American War veterans are the oldest surviving U. S. war veterans. They are followed by more than 2 million veterans of World War I, who now average 71 years of age.

The 21.5 million World War II veterans average 46 years old and the 5.7 million veterans of the Korean Conflict who had some service in World War II average 36 years. An additional 4.5 million Korean Conflict veterans who had no service in World War II average two years younger.

The need for intensive study of the problems of aging is pointed out by the fact that census estimates indicate that 28 million Americans will have passed the age of 60 by the year 1970, an increase of 4 million above the total which had reached that age in 1960, the VA said.

Knowledge gained from the VA research program in aging will be used to provide better treatment for illnesses which beset senior citizens and will be used to make their lives more comfortable and more productive.

ENGAGED--The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Jackie Jean Kemp to George S. Whitley is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kemp. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. Whitley. The wedding date has been set for July 24, Rev. J. M. Farmer will officiate for the 4 p.m. service. The bride-elect is a graduate of Muleshoe High School. Whitley served three years with the navy.

Shower Honors The Mike Beans

By Mrs. C. A. Watson

LAZBUDDIE---A wedding shower honoring Mr. and Mrs. Mike Bean was held in the dining hall of the Oklahoma Lane Community Center Thursday afternoon, June 16. The bride's chosen colors of pink and white decorated the room. The serving table was laid with white lace over pink, centered with a floral arrangement of pink roses and grapes. Joyce McGhee served the refreshments of pink fruit punch, home made assorted cookies and mints and nuts.

Elfreda McGhee registered the guests. The brides table was laid with pink cloth and the table for the opened gifts was laid with white. A lovely pink net bag was fastened to the brides table to hold the bows taken from the packages. The bride was assisted in opening the gifts by her mother, Mrs. Killough, and the rooms available to FU.

The schedule is not taken too seriously. Womack called off his Viet Nam FU seminar one night to hear visiting speaker Dr. Bernard Fall, a Howard University professor of international relations.

And the U.S.S.R. class was canceled the night Ed Clark, a professor Marxist and an editor of the Progressive Labor Party's national magazine, spoke on campus.

Other subjects found on FU schedules include the Persian language, Shakespeare, American social movement, experimental drama, international economics and guitar for beginners.

It is an FU principle that in the quest for knowledge, a student can be as good a teacher as a professor. Nonetheless, three regular University of Texas professors have spent some of their off hours teaching FU classes.

One, Dr. Robert Montgomery of the English Department, says FU is "a reaction to the current philosophy that the educational aim is to get a good job or to train people for business and society."

Students are torn between the necessity of getting a degree," he says, "and the desire to do something outside the routine of academic life."

rooms sister, Mrs. Terry Johnson. The three wore corsages of pink roses. The hostesses gift was a crystal pitcher and an electric frying pan.

Hostesses were: Mrs. Dee Brown, Mrs. Calvin Embry, Mrs. C. A. Watson, Mrs. Bert Gordon, Mrs. Raymond McGeehen, Mrs. Lorane Gallman, Mrs. Wesley Barnes, Mrs. R. B. Seaton, Mrs. J. B. Young, Mrs. Dee Chitwood, Mrs. Clarence Mason, Mrs. Quinn Weaver and Mrs. Joe Tarber.

Father's Day guests in the Cloud Watkins home were the Dean Watkins, Lubbock, Glen Watkins, Muleshoe, Coretta Watkins, Lubbock, and R. E. Blankenship, Oklahoma Lane.

The Lazbuddie Honey Suckles did a great performance with their Rock and Roll Band Saturday night at the Jamboree held in the school cafeteria. The band consists of Kirby Burch, Terry Parham, Troy Steinbock and Gary Matthews. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Harris Sr. were as visitors their grandchildren, Karen Jan and Mary Nell Brashear from Carlisle and Sharron and Mark Harris from Farmington.

Marie Cox, accompanied by Mr. Marvin Hammic from Farwell, visited Mrs. Fox's daughter and family, the Gary Shankles, in Portales Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Laux moved to Los Alamos last week where he has accepted a job with the Atomic Energy Department there. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gordon assisted them in the move. She is a daughter of the Gordens.

Mrs. Gula Marr from Dallas is a guest this week in the home of her brother, Bert Gordon. Little Carl Fuquay, accident patient from Lazbuddie is recuperating nicely now in the Friona Community Hospital, Carl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Macy Fuquay received severe burns about two months ago when he attempted to burn trash near his home.

Yale's football team plays only three away games during the 1966 season. The Elis visit Ithaca, N.Y., to play Cornell, meet Penn in Philadelphia and visit Harvard at Cambridge, Mass.

Students Run School within School

EDITORS NOTE: Some University of Texas students, seeking a more meaningful learning in conventional classrooms, have formed Free University and attracted about 100 of the university's 26,000 students to the after-school school-within-a-school.

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — At Free University, you don't get credits for your studies, you don't learn how to earn a living and you certainly won't get a diploma.

But then, you won't have to pay tuition, the curriculum may range from anarchy to Viet Nam to beginning guitar, and you won't have tests and grades.

"The democratic process cannot be effective in a society of technologically produced and maintained morons. We are witnessing its failures today in a semitechnologically oriented society — our own," reads an FU credo.

It was written by Dick Howard, Dallas, one of three men who led in organizing FU late last year. One of the goals set forth by Howard is teaching "how to live our lives as well as possible in a troubled time."

The other two leading organizers were Hal Womack of Fort Worth and George Goss, both 22, belong to Students for a Democratic Society.

Womack, 21, tried to organize a W.E.B. DuBois Club on campus. This was before Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach accused the DuBois clubs of being fronts for the Communist Party.

Womack still laughs about that effort, which drew only two or three of the 26,000 University of Texas students. At the organizational meeting "there were more government photographers there than prospective members," Womack says.

FU has about 100 regulars, but hopes for 10 times that many students in two years. Attendance at FU classes generally falls off at times of peak pressure from the regular university courses.

One of the FU classes, anarchism, failed in just two weeks because of what Howard calls "too much anarchy."

He means that most of the anarchism students were members of Students for a Democratic Society who neglected the course to participate in protest marches against U.S. Viet Nam policy.

A typical FU schedule might call for a seminar on Nietzsche at Hillier or a lecture on "science, philosophy and dogmatism in the U.S.S.R." at the Wesley Foundation.

The religious organizations have buildings which, while actually off-campus, are handy to students and have made meeting
