

President's Wife Takes 'Ribbing' At Women's Press Club Event

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The tall, dark-haired lady in the evening gown stood on the stage and sang: "London says my smile is warm. Vienna went wild about my form. I've taken the whole wild world by storm."

"Monotonous!" She went on like that for a while to the tune of "Monotonous," looking for all the world like the lady she was singing about — the First Lady of the United States. But the First Lady of the United States was sitting in the audience, watching her with a small smile. It was Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's first exposure to the ribbing of the Women's National Press Club, and it was a comparatively mild one. She weathered it with apparent good humor, as she did similar barbs at her husband and her daughter. Three-year-old Caroline Kenedy, played by petite Bonnie Angelo of Long Island's Newsday, trotted about the stage and spotted Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, played by Helen Thomas of United Press International. "Hello, Mr. Vice President," she piped. "Thank you for the poison darts." After the dinner and musical satire ended, Mrs. Kennedy got up and told the women that the President was "so sorry" he couldn't attend because of his strained back. But she said "it was belated justice that there is only me here tonight," because rules prevented her from going to the all-male dinner of the Gridiron Dinner, which presented a similar spoof earlier this year. She went to the dinner in a melon colored chiffon gown, escorted by Johnson. Deena Clark of Diplomat Magazine took the part of the First Lady, and Betty Beale of the Washington Evening Star and Hall

Syndicate played the President, who sang: "I used to think golf was a crime. The White House on weekends divine. But now that I'm in, with all of my kin, 'It ain't necessarily so.'"

Castro Given Until Friday Noon To Accept Yank Tractor Offer

Group Is Ready To Provide 500 Farm Machines

DETROIT (UPI) — The tractors for Freedom Committee stood fast today on its offer of 500 agricultural type tractors in exchange for 1,214 Cuban prisoners and gave Fidel Castro until noon Friday to accept the offer.

The committee reaffirmed its offer to Castro Monday night, four days after a group of four agriculture experts named by the committee returned from discussing the proposed exchange with the bearded Cuban dictator.

In its cable to Castro the committee said he had changed his original offer to trade prisoners of the unsuccessful April invasion of Cuba for tractors.

"Our offer to provide 500 agricultural tractors in consideration for the release of prisoners was in response to your address before the National Association of Small Farmers on May 17," the committee cable said. "You asked for 500 tractors to increase food production. You have now changed to a proposal of $28 million in cash or credits or its equivalent," the committee said.

The committee is headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, honorary chairman; Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, brother of the former President, co-chairman; Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers (UAW) Union, co-chairman; and Joseph M. Dodge, board chairman of Detroit Bank and Trust, treasurer. All four signed the cable to Castro, sent from UAW headquarters here.

"We, therefore, earnestly hope that you do accept our proposal in order to achieve our two humanitarian purposes of freeing prisoners and increasing Cuban agricultural output," the committee told Castro. "However, unless we have received your clear, positive acceptance of our offer by noon, Eastern Standard Time, on Friday, June 23, our committee will consider that the purposes for which it was established are not possible of realization because of your failure to comply with the terms of your own original proposal."

The committee said it would then dissolve and return the "voluntary contributions we hold in trust from the many thousands of individuals throughout all of the Americas who have contributed to our fund."

Kennedy Annuls More Dates Due To Ailing Back

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy, according to the White House, is getting better but cancelling more dates lest undue exertion impede recovery from his back ailment.

The chief executive in the past 24 hours:

—Dropped tentative plans to dedicate the Los Angeles International Airport next Sunday and fly on to Hawaii for a June 27 speech to the National Governors Conference. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will take his place.

—Cancelled out on the Women's National Press Club annual stunt night here Monday night after the White House had listed the traditional party on his regular engagement schedule Monday morning. Mrs. Kennedy and Johnson represented him.

—Decided not to have a news conference this week. His last question-and-answer session with Washington reporters was May 5.

According to press secretary Pierre Salinger, Kennedy had been thinking for several weeks of dropping plans for the Hawaiian trip. He conceded, however, that Kennedy's back condition was a factor in the final decision. "A trip of that length at this time would pose some problems," Salinger said.

Dr. Janet Travell, the White House physician, gave the President another ultra-sonic radiation treatment Monday in addition to his twice-a-day hot packs. The doctor will decide by Wednesday whether the radiation treatments should continue.

Federal Tie In Pampa's Growth Plans Opposed

Federal participation in Pampa's comprehensive plan for projected growth during the next 20 years was under fire today by Mayor E. C. Sidwell and city commissioners today.

The mayor and commissioners late this forenoon still were plying Charles Spivey, director of planning for Koch, Fowler and Graef, Inc., Dallas planning engineers, with questions about the cost of the two-year survey and the part the federal government would play in supervising Pampa's growth under the long-range program.

Mayor Sidwell wanted to know why it was necessary to have a concentration of power away from

Court Ties Legal Tag On Evidence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawyers said today that criminal prosecutions must be radically revised in many states now that the Supreme Court has barred illegally seized evidence from state trials.

New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and numerous other states have been using evidence that was seized in violation of federal law for many years.

Other states, like California and Illinois, have changed their procedures to conform to the federal pattern. Under Supreme Court decisions, illegally seized evidence is not used in federal courts.

Monday's 5-3 ruling overturned one of the court's own landmark decisions, handed down in 1948. In so doing, the court reversed the conviction in Cleveland of Dolly Mapp, against whom the state used evidence which the court found to have been illegally seized.

The decision raised the question whether thousands of state prison inmates, convicted in similar circumstances, might not cite Monday's opinion by Justice Tom C. Clark in a try for freedom.

The Fourth Amendment to the Constitution provides that "the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized."

In the Mapp case, Clark pointed out that no search warrant was produced at the trial and that police, looking for obscene books and pictures, forced open the door of Miss Mapp's house when she refused to admit them. Later, they handcuffed her.

In important actions, the court struck down Maryland's law requiring office holders to affirm a belief in God.

—Dismissed an attack on Connecticut's 1879 anti-contraceptive law.

—Ruled that a state may compel all practicing lawyers to join their official bar association, but refused to decide whether a lawyer's free speech rights are violated if his dues are used for causes he opposes.

LATINIST — Robert F. Woodward, above, has been appointed by the President as Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs. He is a career diplomat, recently ambassador to Chile.

School Measure Caught In Trap, Solon Declares

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A chief supporter of President Kennedy's program to aid public schools said today that only swift White House action will keep the bill alive this year.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N. Y., said the $2.5 billion bill is caught in a deadlock in the House between backers of aid to public schools and backers of aid to private and parochial schools.

Powell, chairman of the House Education Committee, returned Monday from 10 days in Europe. Without mentioning Kennedy, he made it clear that he believed the President will have to act fast to salvage hopes for action on the bill in this session of Congress.

"Someone's got to blow the whistle," he said. "Someone beyond the committee and beyond the Congress." The bill hasn't even cleared the House Rules Committee.

Other congressional news: Aid: The U.S. Chamber of Commerce urged the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to cut Kennedy's $4.8 billion foreign aid request by about one-fourth. The chamber said the foreign aid proposal was "too high," although it endorsed foreign aid as a "vital instrument of United States foreign policy."

Travel: The Senate was expected to approve Kennedy's proposal to establish U.S. travel bureaus abroad to attract tourists to this country. The bill, passed Monday by the House, will set up a U.S. travel service in the Commerce Department, authorized to spend up to $4.7 million a year.

Saboteur's Letters Led To Arrests

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Two confessed saboteurs, seized in Mexico following a "needle-in-a-haystack" investigation, face arraignment today on charges of blowing up three vital communications towers in Utah and Nevada.

Bernard J. Brous, 51, formerly of Massapequa Park, N.Y., and Dale Chris Jensen, 33, who boasts he did the actual bomb planting, were arrested by Mexico authorities Saturday night aboard their heavily armed schooner anchored in Ensenada, Mexico, harbor.

They were turned over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation at the border Sunday and transported to the federal building here for arraignment, which was continued today.

William G. Simon, special agent in charge of the Los Angeles FBI office, revealed Monday that the two men, members of the "American Republican Army" and opposed to big business, were traced despite almost impossible odds.

Simon said the FBI conducted a successful "needle-in-a-haystack" search for the writer of "John Brown" letters sent to the San Diego Tribune, Salt Lake City Tribune, Detroit News, El Paso Times, Tampa (Fla.) Tribune, Fort Lauderdale (Fla.) News and the Oregon Journal at Portland. "Others also went to several prominent Americans."

Two persons arrested with them on the yacht, Mrs. Minnie Brous, 40, who had to be "subdued" according to Mexico police, and a Nevada card dealer, are not being held, the San Diego FBI said.

The blasts, which disrupted the western United States for several hours, did about $850,000 damage, according to the federal government.

Lufkin AF Base Will Be Turned To State July 7

AUSTIN (UPI)—The federal government has agreed on July 7 as the date to turn over to Texas a former U.S. Air Force base near Lufkin to be used as a state school for the mentally retarded.

French Robertson, chairman of the Texas Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools, said the date was agreed upon by the Lufkin Chamber of Commerce and the Dallas office of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The base is 34 acres in area and has some 57 buildings with a total value of about $1.8 million.

Boy, 5, Killed In 2-Car Crash

LUBBOCK (UPI)—A two-car crash in a Lubbock residential district Monday night killed Mickey Heffner, 5, and injured eight other persons.

The youngster, a son of airman and Mrs. William J. Heffner, was thrown from one of the automobiles. His father, stationed at Reese Air Force Base, and mother were in fair condition at a Lubbock hospital.

U.S. Injunction Feared As Ship Unions Disagree

NEW YORK (UPI) — Concern over a possible Taft-Hartley injunction, which would send striking maritime workers back to work for an 80-day cooling-off period, touched off an inter-union scuffle today in the four-day nationwide shipping tieup.

Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, accused another union of refusing to clear ships for the transportation of vital military cargo. Curran told his NMU members Monday the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association was giving labor a "black eye" and that it could force the federal government to seek an injunction against the five major unions involved in the strike.

The MEBA, said Curran, had not attended meetings of a clearance committee, set up to rule upon armed forces' requests for cargo shipment. The engineers' union flatly denied the charge and said it made its own arrangements for clearance with the Military Sea Transportation Service.

However, it was reported in Philadelphia and Baltimore that four ships scheduled to carry military supplies have been held up by union activity. In Philadelphia a jurisdictional dispute between unions was blamed for the tieup.

President Kennedy, who would initiate the action in an injunction move, so far has given no indication he plans to invoke provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act. But Kennedy has said he views the strike "with grave concern" and that a prolonged walkout, paralyzing the giant merchant marine industry, "would be in direct violation of the national interest."

Warmer Weather Slated Tomorrow

Cloudy to partly cloudy skies with widely scattered afternoon or evening thundershowers is the forecast for the Pampa area today.

Warmer weather is predicted tonight and tomorrow with the mercury due to climb to 83 degrees. Low tonight will be 57.

The five-day forecast for the Panhandle calls for below normal temperatures. The normal high is 90. Normal low is 61. Scattered showers in the latter part of the week are indicated for the Panhandle area.

750,000-Mile Shot Into Space May Be Attempted Next Month

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—America will open a new campaign to conquer the moon with a 750,000-mile shot into space, probably late next month.

An Atlas-Agena B, the most powerful space rocket ever fired in the free world, will send a 600-pound package of scientific instruments into the skies to study magnetic fields and radiation.

The shot will be known as Ranger 1, the first in a series of five launchings in a federal space agency program to run through 1962. The first two Rangers will be simply probes into space, but will pave the way for attempts with the last three to hit the moon next year.

In Atlanta, Ga., National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) program director Demarquis D. Wyatt said Monday the United States hopes to send a man into orbit for four and one-half hours before the end of 1961.

The Ranger program is the initial step in an ambitious American plan to explore the moon, first with machinery and later with men, during the next decade.

Ranger 1, scheduled for the last week in July, and the second shot expected later this year basically will be attempts to test the satellite system's equipment and batteries, and the ability of the Atlas-Agena to do the job scientists want.

He Didn't Order Jews Slain, Eichmann Says

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann pictured himself to the world today as an obscure Nazi official who had nothing personally to do with the slaughter of six million Jews in World War II.

He said he was an "emigration and transportation specialist" who only carried out his bosses' orders. Gray-faced and haggard, but speaking in a firm, precise voice, Eichmann took the stand to answer the Israeli state's crushing charge that he was the kingpin in the Nazi machine for extermination of the Jews.

His answer was a flat denial. Answering questions for more than two hours from his West German defense attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius, Eichmann asserted that:

He did not come here voluntarily to testify. The statement in which he declared he did so was signed by him under duress after his Jewish kidnapers in Buenos Aires had chained him to a bed. He joined the Nazi party in 1932 because it was pledged to end the 1919 Versailles Treaty restrictions on Germany. He regarded as "a tragedy and no fault of mine" the fact that Adolf Hitler and other top Nazis decided to exterminate European Jewry during World War II.

He tried to learn Hebrew "in order to be something unusual" in the Nazi secret police.

He helped promote Zionism and was all in favor of emigration of the Jews from Europe and creation of a Jewish state which he considered "the Columbus egg" in solving the Jewish problem.

In the security police headquarters in Berlin he could take no independent decisions without the knowledge and approval of Gestapo boss Heinrich Mueller. The Jerusalem courtroom was packed and some 600 spectators nearly the capacity of the court were turned away. The day's session passed without any disturbances.

Legislature May Draw Strings On Lobbyists

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. Price Daniel may try to get the legislature to give him the last victory in his battle with lobbyists by passing laws clamping down on their activities.

Daniel told a statewide radio audience Monday night he felt the lobbyists' report of $60,000 spent in direct contact with legislators in the regular session represented only about 6 per cent of what they really spent to influence legislation.

Daniel said he was "thinking seriously" of asking the special session July 10, perhaps in its very first day, to tighten restrictions on lobbyists.

He said the lobbyists were "bringing a bad name to Texas."

Daniel also had a word of advice for his 19-member interim tax advisory committee—he will ignore its recommendations if they spell out a general sales tax.

He said he did not put limitations on the committee, which has named a subcommittee to work on the job of bringing warring factions together on the tax issue before the special session.

But the governor said he would not accept a "straight-out" general sales tax if the committee thinks that is "Texas' answer to its $350 million two-year financial headache."

Daniel's broadcast was a pre-recorded interview over nearly a

Oilman And Ex-Actress Wife In Battle Again

HOUSTON (UPI)—Millionaire oilman J. Howard Lee went back to court Monday to fight a possible new property settlement suit by his former wife, actress Hedy Lamarr.

He filed a petition in the court of Civil Dist. Judge Bert Tunks asking for an injunction to prevent Miss Lamarr's attorneys from taking statements or depositions from persons who might be witnesses in new proceedings.

Lee called the new move by the movie queen an "illegal fishing expedition" to explore his private Judge Tunks set July 22 as the date for a hearing on the injunction.

Miss Lamarr's lawyers, headed by Jerry Giesler of Los Angeles and Fred Parks of Houston, asked district court for permission to take statements from 13 persons, including Lee and his present wife, actress Gene Tierney.

Lee obtained an uncontested divorce from Miss Lamarr on April 22, 1960. In the divorce settlement, she was given $400 per month for 125 months, $73,145 cash, and one-third interest in Lee's share of the Lee Brothers Gas Co.

Minister Bares Japanese Plans To Hike Income

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda of Japan yesterday briefly outlined plans for his country's 10-year plan to double its national income.

The prime minister arrived this morning en route to Washington for a meeting with President Kennedy. He was welcomed by a civic delegation.

Ikeda spoke of the strong feeling of intimate friendship for Los Angeles by Japan because of the great flow of trade between the two and because of the many thousands of Japanese living in southern California.

In a lunch speech the prime minister told of his nation's progress in the 1950s and of even greater progress during "these first years of what we call in Japan the golden '60s."

"Since the formation of a new government in Japan after last autumn's general election, we have been moving steadily forward with a 10-year plan to double our national income," Ikeda said.

Ikeda said the plan not only would strengthen Japan's economy but also "greatly increase Japan's ability to assist in the economic growth of the developing countries of Asia."

In order to reach the target, Ikeda said, there must be a vast increase in purchases of oil, iron ore, cotton, and other essential raw materials which can only be obtained from foreign countries.

Colombia Next On Stevenson's 10-Nation Tour

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — Ambassador Adlai Stevenson's visit to Ecuador proved today to be one of the most successful of his goodwill tours spreading the message of President Kennedy's "alliance for progress" through South America.

Whether this success is lasting may depend on what the United States does about Ecuador's request for $200 million dollars in credits for a dramatic breakthrough against poverty.

Stevenson, his spirits buoyed by the tremendous reception he found in Ecuador, flies today to Bogota, Colombia, for the final stop on his 10-nation tour.

The chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations conferred with President Jose M. Velasco Ibarra for four hours Monday afternoon in an atmosphere of cordiality that marked a turning point in relations between the United States and Ecuador.

Informed sources said Stevenson and Velasco discussed the question of Cuba's Communist leanings. The sources said they exchanged views on the possibility of a meeting of American governments to consider inviting Cuban Premier Fidel Castro back into the Western Hemisphere bloc.

The cordiality of the talks with the usually reticent and withdrawn Velasco was a good sign that future diplomatic relations between the two countries, which had been clouded in the recent past, would improve immensely.

Officials said the deteriorating relations between the United States and Ecuador were due to a "misunderstanding" by other hemisphere nations of Ecuador's role in the Cuban crisis and receipt "flirting" by Velasco's gov-

Pampa Lad's Sleuth Work Is Effective

Pampa police got two reports about prowlers and a theft in the home of Claude Pullen, 1011 E. Francis St., last night.

The first one came at 6:55 p.m. when Pullen reported that the family had left home between 6 and 6:30 p.m. and when they returned half an hour later the house had been ransacked. Drawers had been pulled out and the place was in general disorder.

The door had been left unlocked during the absence.

Pullen said two $5 bills and a piggy bank containing about $4 were missing.

Ten or 15 minutes later police got another call from the Pullens.

This time the report was that 14-year-old Robert Pullen had turned detective and went looking for the prowlers. A short distance away on Browning St, he observed three youngsters on the sidewalk. One was carrying something in his hand.

Young Pullen got out of his car to investigate and when he approached the youthful trio, one of them threw a piggy bank at him and the three fled.

It was the piggy bank taken from the Pullen home. Police still were investigating today.

Stevenson with the Communist bloc. Despite warnings by Havana Radio that he faced hostility from the Ecuadorian labor student body, Stevenson's visit to Quito was not marred by a single incident. This is significant since Quito is the last capital on Stevenson's tour where the Castroites have any hold and therefore the Communist world's last crack at what the Reds have termed the "messenger of imperialism."

With an area of 8,650,000 square miles, the Soviet Union covers half of Europe and a third of Asia.

way agreement between the city, the consulting engineers and the federal government, through the State Department of Health, acting under a grant from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency under Section 701, of the 1954 Housing Act.)

"I wish we could disengage ourselves from the federal government's participation in this contract and then look at it from the standpoint of just city and state participation," Fort said.

He added that he didn't think we should be taking money from an already "broke" federal government.

Commissioner Leon Holmes, Lloyd Simpson and Newt Sechrist also asked a number of questions of Spivey about the operation of various phases of the proposed plan.

When the commissioners had finished their questions, Mayor Sidwell went into the financial arrangement which the city had with planning engineers and the details of the three-way contract.

The mayor explained that there is only one commissioner left on the city commission now that was serving when the contract originally was made in 1960.

"I understand," the mayor said, "that under this contract the city was to pay $19,780 for the first phase of this two-year survey and that $7,400 was paid at the time the contract was signed in December of 1960."

He added that it was his understanding that by the time the engineering firm's work is 65 per cent complete the city will be obligated to pay $11,370 and for that work will have received some maps and a half dozen reports.

Indications by the line of questioning were that the mayor and one or two of the commissioners, at least, were not in favor of federal government control in any degree over Pampa's growth in the next two decades.

The discussion ended about 11 o'clock and Spivey was thanked for his report. No definite action was taken and the commission

Mississippi Police Await Another 'Rider' Invasion

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Police braced today for another methodical invasion by "Freedom Riders" of Mississippi's capital city.

Fourteen West Coast college students left New Orleans today aboard a passenger train for Jackson, to arrive at 10:10 a.m. CST.

The group, mostly college students from the San Francisco area, includes seven white males, two Negro males, four white girls and a Negro girl.

A Negro spokesman in Atlanta said Monday that a group of at least five bi-racial riders would probably board a bus bound for Jackson today. At New Orleans, another group was reported planning to make a bus trip here sometime this week.

A spokesman for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee said the five persons who recently completed a short course in tactics in Nashville, Tenn., would probably make stops here and in Alabama.

The Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker of Atlanta, executive director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said he and his wife would take part in the ride.

One self-styled "Freedom Rider" was arrested in Jackson Monday afternoon and 13 riders at the state penitentiary at Parchman posted $500 appeal bonds and planned to leave today. Eight more riders were transferred from jail here to the maximum security division of the penitentiary.

Gene Shaffer of Twitty, foreman of the 12 man jury read the verdict last evening at 9:15 p.m. to Lewis M. Goodrich, 31 Judicial District Judge of Gray County who was presiding.

The jury trial lasted only one day.

Texan Appointed To Farm Group

WASHINGTON (Spl) — Congressman Walter Rogers today announced the appointment of Kenneth Kendrick of Stratford, Texas, to the National Agricultural Advisory Committee. Kendrick's term will end December 31, 1964, the congressman said.

Spivey was the main speaker at the monthly Chamber of Commerce luncheon in Coronado Inn this noon. He explained Report No. 2 in lesser detail to the luncheon audience which consisted of city commissioners, other city officials and members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Grain Company's Shop Burglarized

Burglars broke into the tool shop at the Harvest Queen Grain Company in Kingsmill last night and looted several hand tools, welding equipment and an electric drill, according to a report from sheriff's officers.

Ralph Terrell, operator, told investigating officer V. L. Day the burglars gained entrance by breaking the lock off a side door.

Robert R. Jones Taken By Death

Robert R. Jones, 714 E. Kingsmill, retired plumber, died in his home at 3:40 p.m. yesterday. The body will be shipped to Cleburne tonight where funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow from the Crosier-Pierson Funeral Chapel.

Mr. Jones was employed as plumbing inspector for the city of Pampa from 1937-46.

He was born Nov. 22, 1878 in Fedeville, La. and came to Pampa from Shattuck, Okla. He was married in Cleburne on Dec. 11, 1905 to his wife, Ada, who survives.

Other survivors are two sons, Don Wallace of Pampa and Ralph Harold of Henderson, Ky.; one brother, M. T. Jones of Roanoke, and eight grandchildren. Interment will be in Cleburne.

FIRE REUNION — LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Merle W. Anderson, 66, a retired fireman, had a reunion with many of his old buddies Monday when 17 members of the Fire Department showed up at his house.

The occasion was a fire that burned Anderson's garage to the ground.

Pampa Shoe Man Attending School

Duggan Smith of Smith's, Shoe Store in Pampa is in Dallas this week taking a one-week resident course at the regional School Training School in the care of the feet and scientific shoe fitting.

Smith was selected for the specialized training, according to Frank Smith, store owner, because of his ability as a shoe merchant. James Malone of Smith's store also attended the school previously to qualify for competent service in fitting shoes and foot comfort.

The committee said Castro's trimmed down list of prisoners he is willing to trade for the tractors "gives greater urgency" to the need for International Red Cross studying the list and interviewing "all of the 1,214."

Daniel Keeps Five Assistants Busy With Multifarious Tasks

By FLETCHER ROBERTSON
Daily News Austin Correspondent

AUSTIN — The heavy and varied work load in the office of Governor of Texas is much too much for any one man to handle. There are a thousand and one things to do every day. Some of them are in specialized fields and require extensive research and study; others are equally important, but don't sound so big.

For instance: somebody has to remind the governor about a luncheon speech, a date with the dentist, and to pick up a loaf of rye bread, a small jar of dill pickles and some mentholatum on the way home to the Mansion. Yes, these little things are mighty important to the governor and all other family men.

Gov. Price Daniel has surrounded himself with five top assistants on whom rests the responsibility of keeping his office functioning without too many slippings. Their combined salaries add up to $61,000 a year.

Daniel's top aide is George Christian, who is listed on the payroll as the governor's executive assistant. A former newspaperman, Christian serves as a buffer between Daniel and the public. As a matter of fact, he screens practically everything and everybody headed for the governor's office.

Christian also handles most of the correspondence in Daniel's office and assists in naming the thousands of appointments to state boards, commissions and regents that have to be made yearly.

A native of Austin, Christian, 34, attended the University of Texas and worked for the old International News Service until 1956 when he joined Daniel's staff. He makes $15,000 a year.

Another administrative assistant is John Goldsum who takes care of all the legal work connected with the governor's office and assists Daniel on matters of the law on boards and commissions.

Goldsum reads all bills passed by the Legislature and discusses their good and bad features with the governor. He also studies

Florida Summer Tourists Exceed Winter Visitors

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Florida, once regarded as the place to go in winter only, now draws more motorists in the three summer months than in December, January and February.

Visitors have discovered also that there is much more to Florida than Miami Beach and Palm Beach.

Hunting rabbit, fox, raccoon, duck, goose and quail are popular pastimes in the Sunshine State. There even are deer, black bear, wildcat and panther for the shooting in remote areas of a state once regarded as fine for golf and ocean sports only.

The American Automobile Association issues an annual series of four books for various sections of the country. Florida is the only state rating a book all to itself. The volume lists places to stay, eat and see, and includes such vital information as a claim that Florida has more lakes than any other state—an estimated 30,000, most of them in an area called "The Highlands."

A total of more than 3.5 million motorists toured Florida last summer, as compared with 2 million during the three preceding peak winter tourist months.

The main reasons given for this turnaround in tourist taste is the fact that most persons take their vacations-with-pay in the summer, when schools are not in session. There is the added fact that Florida has made an energetic bid for summer travel to make tourism a year-around industry.

Among the attractions appealing to non-swimmers, non-fishermen and non-golfers is Cape Canaveral and its missile test annex. Tourists cluster on the beach to watch missiles rocket into the sky, and motels in the area boast a booming year-around space-age business. For the history-conscious, Florida offers the oldest city in the United States, St. Augustine, where Juan Ponce de Leon landed in his search for the fountain of youth. The town has been sacked twice by pirates and was besieged by the English twice before they finally gave up.

A touch of the Old South is found in White Springs, population 700, which is on the north bank of the Suwannee River. Its main attraction is a park established as a memorial to Stephen Foster, composer of Florida's state song, "Old Folks at Home."

clemency recommendations made by the Board of Pardons and Parole and assists Daniel in his capacity as chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

Goldsum, 33, also is a former newspaperman. He is a native of Victoria and worked as a reporter on the Victoria Advocate in 1948 and 1949. He was an assistant to Congressman Clark W. Thompson in Washington from 1950 to 1953 and while in Washington studied law at American University, obtaining a degree in 1955. His salary is $12,000.

The man who advises Daniel on all money matters is Jess Irwin whose official title is budget director. Irwin, 48, conducts hearings on budgets requests of state agencies and studies transcripts of testimony before making spending recommendations to Daniel. A government career man, Irwin has worked for the state ever since he finished high school and was transferred to Daniel's office from the state auditor's office. He makes $12,000 a year.

The governor's liaison man with the press is Jon Ford, former managing editor of the San Antonio News and later associate editor of the San Antonio Express and News. Ford has the unenviable assignment of keeping correspondents happy — if that's possible. Surprisingly enough, he does a pretty good job of it.

Ford passes around press handouts from the governor's office and assists Daniel in writing speeches. His office also handles most of the routine correspondence and all the details of ceremonial functions in which Daniel participates.

Ford was born in Nacogdoches and moved to Dayton with his family when he was a young boy. He was graduated from the University of Texas in 1942, spent four years in the Army and when the shooting was over joined the Odesa American as managing editor. He left the American in 1948 to go with the San Antonio Express and News. Ford served as Capitol correspondent for the San Antonio papers from 1955 until 1960 when he moved over to Daniel's office. His official title is administrative assistant and his salary is $12,000 a year.

The assistant on whom Daniel leans heavily for a sane and sensible routine is Mrs. Emma Ward, who takes care of the governor's daily schedule. Mrs. Ward is Daniel's oldest employe in point of service. She was the governor's secretary in 1943 when he was a speaker of the House of Representatives and has been on his staff since then.

Mrs. Ward was one of Daniel's right-hand men when he was attorney general from 1947 to 1952 and went with him to Washington when he was in the Senate from 1953 to 1955.

Mrs. Ward presides over the governor's reception room and meets and greets all visitors. She also makes out Daniel's appointment schedule and takes care of such things as travel tickets, room reservations and the like. Mrs. Ward's salary is $10,000 a year.

Court Holds Rail Union Dues Exempt From Political Uses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the dues of a railroad worker required to join a union under a union-shop agreement may not be used for political activities he opposes.

Justice William J. Brennan Jr. wrote the opinion for a five-man majority. The four other justices expressed separate views. The ruling came in the case of six Southern Railway system workers who in 1953 sued the railroad, and 15 unions in state court in Macon, Ga.

Employees were required to join the Brotherhood of Railway

Culligan's Door Prizes Are Awarded

Winners of the door prizes at the grand opening of the Culligan Soft Water Service Co. Saturday and Sunday were A. A. Schuneman, 1816 N. Russell and Mrs. Travis Lively, 521 E. 18th St. Schuneman won the $25 first award and the $15 second prize went to Mrs. Lively.

Mrs. Jack Williams, 2128 N. Dwight, had the best guess on the weight of the stone on display and was awarded a barbecue grill set. The stone weighed 62 pounds. Mrs. Williams' guess was 160 pounds.

Court Backs Navy's Ban Of Waitress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled yesterday that a Navy commander may bar employes of a private contractor from a naval installation without granting a hearing or giving a reason.

In a 5 to 4 vote, the court split into liberal and conservative blocs on the issue. Justice Potter Stewart spoke for the majority.

The case was brought to the high court by Rachel M. Brawner, 39, formerly employed as a short-order cook by the M&M restaurants which operated a cafeteria at the naval weapons plant here.

On Nov. 15, 1956, Mrs. Brawner's identification badge was picked up on grounds she failed to meet the installation's security requirements. No further explanation ever was given.

As a result, she was forced to give up her job. The contract between M&M and naval officials provided that the concessionaire could employ only persons deemed safe by the plant security officer.

M&M offered her employment elsewhere but the Cafeteria and Restaurant Workers Union, with which the company had a collective bargaining agreement, refused the offer on her behalf.

Mrs. Brawner and the union then sued to get her reinstated in her job with back pay. They lost in two lower courts, which were affirmed in Stewart's opinion today.

Campaign Opened For Speakership

AUSTIN (UPI)—State Rep. Franklin Spears of San Antonio began his campaign this week for speaker of the House of Representatives of the 58th Texas Legislature, which will convene in January, 1963.

Several other candidates for the speakership have announced, but state representatives of the current legislature must be re-elected in 1962 in order to vote for speaker.

Spears said in a letter to the members of the House that if elected speaker he would give the office "fair and impartial leadership."

Courts Hold Rail Union Dues Exempt From Political Uses

Clerks under a union shop contract between the union and the railroad. In a union shop, a non-member must join the union within a certain period of time or lose his job.

Collective bargaining agreements containing a union shop provision are permitted under a 1951 amendment to the Railway Labor Act.

The six protesting workers argued that the constitutional right to freedom of expression was impaired by use of their dues money—compelled under the contract—for political activities they opposed.

Dear Abby...

Eastern Men

Are Fire-Eaters!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter just finished her freshman year at a good eastern school. She brought home a habit that her father and I do not approve of. She smokes. Here is her "excuse": She said that when she started dating boys from some of the fine eastern schools, she learned that if she had a cigarette in her mouth, they couldn't kiss her. Now, Abby, please don't think this is a joke. She told us this in all seriousness. We would like your opinion of her explanation.

My in-laws have never used their key, nor have they entered my home without being invited. My parents use the key whenever we are not at home, or when we do not answer the door. My husband has never said anything about it, but I know he is annoyed. I don't blame him. I am annoyed, too. Can you suggest some way to stop this without making a major issue of it? I resent knowing we have so little privacy.

NO-PRIVACY
DEAR NO: Call a Summit Meeting with your parents. There's no need to include your husband. They're YOUR parents — not his. First define "emergency," and then tell them you would appreciate it if they used the key only in case of emergency.

DEFEATED
DEAR DEFEATED: Don't you believe it. She just likes to smoke. A little thing like a lighted cigarette would not discourage some of the men in those "fine eastern schools." They are fire-eaters.

DEAR ABBY: I recently had a baby girl. After three boys, you can imagine our joy. We named her Deborah Susan. She is only a few months old, and people are calling her "Debbie."

If I had wanted her called "Debbie," I would have named her "Debbie." Her name is Deborah Susan and I wish people would call her that. My relatives say that when she starts school, everyone will call her "Debbie," whether I like it or not, so I had better get used to it. Is there any way I can get people to call her by her proper name?

DEBORAH SUSAN'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: You are fighting a losing battle. Deborah Susan is a lovely name, but it is quite a mouthful. Relax and get used to "Debbie" because by the time your daughter is 4, if you call her "Deborah Susan," she will think you are annoyed with her.

DEAR ABBY: My parents and my husband's parents have a key to our home, which we gave them in "case of emergency."

DEAR ABBY: I liked your answer to the girl who felt she was cursed because she was unusually tall. It reminded me of this story:

A friend of mine lost two fingers from his right hand. An awkward defect for a business man who must continually shake hands. This man adjusted to his defect magnificently. I once asked him how he did it. He replied "All persons have defects — it just happens that mine shows."

Post-Nuptial Party Fetes Mrs. Butcher

Mrs. Jimmie Don Butcher, nee Nancy Williams, was honored by a group of friends at a post-nuptial shower held Saturday afternoon in the home of Miss Frances Aftergut, 1615 Williston, with Misses Carolyn Hudson, Karen Wells, Lette Roberts, Sue Guthrie and Mrs. Arthur Aftergut as assisting hostesses.

In the receiving line were Mrs. D. E. Williams, mother of the honoree; Mrs. Jim Butcher, bridegroom's mother; the honoree and her sister, Miss Betty Ann Williams of Dallas.

The honoree was presented with a white split carnation corsage accented with tiny blue love-birds. Other honorees were given white carnation corsages.

The refreshment table was appointed with a white linen cutlery cloth centered with a Cathedral arrangement of white carnations and blue Daisies in a silver and crystal epergne. The arrangement was flanked with white tapers in silver holders.

Miss Lynn Stroble of Amarillo presided at the punch service. A white sheet cake, inscribed with blue and white wedding bells, was served with mints and blue and white divinity squares.

Aproximately 150 guests called during the hours of two and five p.m.

Imagination is a wonderful and refreshing thing.

But don't let it get out of hand so that you waste time in silly dreams. And remember, day-dreams don't always materialize. Maturity brings the knowledge that reality can be much more satisfactory than a dream.

But don't bridle imagination. Rather, let it create beauty and incentive for you. Just keep it from spilling over.

Altrusans To Launch New Plan For Service

Under the theme, "Make Real the Ideal," Altrusa International will launch its new 1961-63 program of service, when this 44-year-old pioneer service organization of some 16,000 key executive and professional women meets in convention at the Denver Hilton, in Denver, Colo., July 23-27.

The Altrusa Club of Pampa will be one of 500 in eight countries (Bermuda, Canada, Guatemala, England, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Republic of Ireland, and the United States) to plan its work in accordance with the new two-year program.

Planning to attend the Denver convention as delegates and representatives of the local club are Mmes. L. L. Harkins, Clyde Vandenberg, Lorene Locke, Floyd Yeager, Irl Smith, Larlar Wilkerson, Ila Pool, Inez Carter and Grant Anderson.

"In program seminars at convention, Altrusans will determine better ways to fit club service to community priority needs," says Dr. Viva Boothe, director, Bureau of Business Research, Ohio State University, and Altrusa International president.

"Through International Relations committees," Dr. Boothe explains, "Altrusa Clubs will be urged to sponsor more person-to-person projects with foreign students and visitors, to invite students to their homes for week-ends and vacations."

"Through Public Affairs committees, Altrusans will be asked to intensify action on safety programs, mental health, programs for youth, and provide more services to help senior citizens help themselves."

"Through Vocational Information committees," Dr. Boothe continues, "Altrusa Clubs will be urged to sponsor more 'Jobs After 40' clinics, arrange more on-the-job training for youth, career conferences in schools, and give occupational materials to school libraries."

Exhibits in the Denver Hilton Display Area will portray Altrusa Club community projects and services to people.

Awards will be made to Altrusa Clubs taking part in and scoring highest in a year-long membership and growth competition.

Among entertainment events at the Altrusa Denver convention, the Koshare-Indian Dancers will present a special show on Monday evening, July 24. The following evening, the entire convention (1,000 are expected) will be transported to the Theatre of the Red Rocks, near Denver, for an outdoor supper and musical program under the stars.

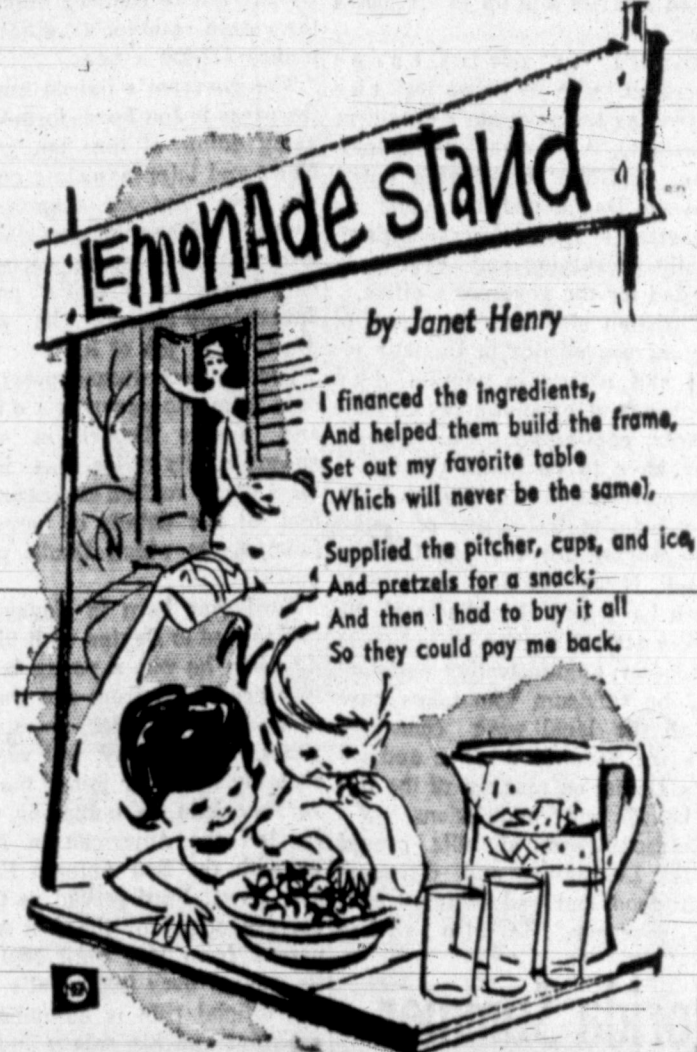

Altrusa will elect international officers for 1961-63 at the Denver convention. Mrs. Manuel DeBusk, attorney, Dallas, Tex., is the single candidate for the office of president-elect.

Other candidates to be voted on at the Altrusa convention are: For first vice-president — Mrs. Lucile

S. Alexander, Jacksonville, Fla., senior reviewer, Audit Division, U.S. Dept. of Internal Revenue, and Dr. Loretta M. Miller, Ellensburg, Wash., professor of Special Education, Central Washington College of Education.

For second vice-president — Miss Marcelle K. Foote, Indianapolis, Ind., head of the Extension Division, Indiana State Library, and Miss Annetta E. James, National City, Calif., director of Guidance and Special Services, National School District.

Mrs. Clyde A. Milner, psychology department head, Guilford College, Greensboro, N.C., Altrusan, now president-elect, will be installed as president of Altrusa International, and be the featured speaker at the president's banquet, the gala final event. Thursday evening, July 27.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

For nearly five years British officials have been pondering a fateful decision. To some it is among the most important in British history, to others merely the most important of the last 100 years and to still others the most important in a generation.

The question is should Britain, after centuries of aloofness from the continent, become a member of the European Common Market.

The pros and cons run a gamut extending from economics and politics to sentiment.

Involved are Britain's close economic and sentimental ties with the British commonwealth and the feelings of such individuals as the woman who wrote to a London newspaper that she did not want her child to grow up a European.

The European Common Market came into being on March 25, 1957, in the treaty of Rome signed by France, Italy, West Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Economically, it was to bind the 170 million people of the six nations into a single unit with no internal tariff barriers and erase national frontiers in the movement of labor and national products.

Potentially it could become a world force greater than either the United States or the Soviet Union.

It also looked toward eventual political union of the six nations, each of which would surrender a certain amount of sovereignty. Not since Charlemagne in the 9th Century had such an ambitious plan for Europe been attempted.

Economically, the common market already has proved itself a spectacular success, benefitting not only the nations directly involved, but others as well.

For example, in 1960 trade jumped 25 per cent to $10 billion and 14 per cent to the rest of the world.

In the same year, U. S. exports to common market countries jumped by $1 billion. British sales also increased.

For Britain, the time for decision is at hand.

It is known to have been a subject of conversation between Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Kennedy during the latter's stopover in London earlier this month.

For Britain to join the common market, it first is essential that satisfactory arrangements be made for the commonwealth nations with whom Britain now conducts business under a series of preferential tariff arrangements.

The common market has agricultural tariff barriers which, for example, could prove disastrous to New Zealand.

Those who feel Britain must join, apparently including Macmillan, feel that the alternative is poverty and loss of all influence on the continent.

Civil War 'Minnie Balls' First

Used By Woman At Clabber Creek

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Certain purists of my acquaintance were offended the other day when I made reference to "minnie balls" in writing about the Civil War centennial.

They said the proper term was "minnie ball" and that by adding an extra "n" I was contributing to the delinquency of the English language.

Well, you'll never catch me admitting to an error when I can weasel out of it, so I took the matter up with a couple of Civil War students.

I don't mean that they were students during the Civil War. I mean that they are students "of" the Civil War.

These authorities assured me that the troops of that period not only pronounced "minnie" as "minnie" but also spelled it that way.

The troops may not have been technically correct, but I feel I was justified in adopting their usage. After all, they were the ones the "minnie balls" were aimed at.

Furthermore, the sticklers who challenged my spelling automatically assumed that I was referring to a type of conical rifle bullet named for its inventor, Capt. C. E. Minnie of France.

That just shows what can happen to people who jump to and-or conclusions.

The "minnie balls" I was alluding to in this instance had nothing to do with Capt. Minnie of France. They were named for Minnie Schwartz of Buttermilk Ridge.

Minnie Schwartz was an old maid schoolteacher, who was known as the best cook in Buttermilk Ridge.

One day in 1862, the Confederate force that had been defending the ridge withdrew to a new position on the south bank of Clabber Creek. Soon the village was swarming with men in blue.

Other villagers watched in stony silence as the Yankee army marched past. But not Minnie. She rushed into her kitchen and whipped up a batch of popcorn balls.

Then she went upstairs, leaned out of the window and began dropping the balls on the heads of the Yankee soldiers.

The Yankee commander was so enraged by this act of defiance that he ordered Minnie to destroy her cookbook. To this, Minnie uttered a reply that is still regarded as a classic in Buttermilk Ridge.

"Shoot, if you must, this old grey head," she said.

And that, according to my great-great-uncle, was the origin of the term "minnie ball" as used by the survivors of the Battle of Clabber Creek.

It might have been the turning point of the war, except that the youth ran short of popcorn.

Students Shown Work Of Courts By Mock Trials

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Students across the nation will soon have the opportunity to participate in "Trial by Jury . . . USA," a project begun in Texas four months ago by the Austin Junior Bar Association.

The project has been endorsed by the Junior Bar Conference of the American Bar Association, which will distribute to all its affiliates in 50 states the 82-page report on how to present the mock murder trial.

The project began when Austin Attorneys Byron Fullerton, Frank Maloney, and B. D. St. Clair discussed the need for a trial demonstration for high school students so they could see how justice works.

School field trips to the courthouse were unsatisfactory, the attorneys felt, because students saw only part of the whole picture.

They decided to capsule an actual murder trial, based on circumstantial evidence, into a one-day trial. The capsule version has all of the elements of a real trial, including testimony, presentation of evidence, final arguments and a verdict by a jury composed of students.

Besides the drama of the trial scene, students hear explanations of every step of the trial so they can understand the procedure.

The mock trial was first presented to 500 Austin High School students last December.

Mrs. Laura Snow, a civics teacher, said her class learned more in one day about the law than former groups had in weeks.

Dean Page Keeton of the University of Texas Law School said the trial was the best thing he had ever seen for high school students.

Chisum Vs. Carter; Hickey Vs. Heiskell

Melvin Chisum breathed a sigh of relief after squeaking past Malcolm Douglas Sunday in the second round of the Pampa City Golf Tournament.

Chisum, 20, had just closed out his match on the 16th hole against the defending champion.

"I was real lucky," Chisum declared. "My game was way off."

For the former Odessa Junior College player (he teamed with Les Howard to win the national Junior crown in 1959) the victory was sweet revenge. Douglas had edged him for the championship last year, 2-1.

Chisum's opponent for the semi-final round competition will be Buster Carter, who advanced by eliminating John Hatcher on the 17th hole.

The two were hoping to decide the issue today, along with the other two semi-finalists, Max Hickey and Grover Heiskell.

Hickey, the tourney favorite, advanced Sunday to the semi-finals with a resounding 5-4 win over Jack Foster.

Heiskell, the tourney chairman, gained the third round by taking out Tommy Adkins, one-up.

For Dickey, today's semi-final match could be termed as a "revenge" bout. In the only time they have faced each other — the '59 city tourney — Heiskell defeated the Ex-Oklahoma State par-buster.

"Mex has to be the favorite," declared Heiskell on the even of the showdown. "After all, he's the club's lowest handicapper."

Hickey, 34, is currently Pampa's hottest golfer.

He won the Pampa Country Club tournament in May, and recently copped the Fly-in one day tourney at Lake Texoma.

But Heiskell, 38, figures to give the transplanted Okie (Salpula, Okla.) a run for his money.

An avid linesman since 1945 — when he took up the game while stationed at Kingsville Air Station — Heiskell has made it a habit of being near the top.

He won the Country Club Championship in 1958 and has been a consistent winner in the lower flights.

The winning twosome today will try to play the championship round on Thursday, weather and jobs permitting.

The final rounds in the lower flights will be run off this Saturday and Sunday.

TOUGHEST KIDS ON THE BLOCK

Cage Fixing Mess Grows

NEW YORK (UPI) — A basketball game-fixer became so brazen that he charged out on a gymnasium floor at halftime of a game last season and bawled out a college player for not trying hard enough to lose.

The disclosure was made Monday by New York Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan of New York as the ever-widening basketball bribe scandals implicated a Columbia University player and a reputed gambler from Boston.

Those indicted were: Fred Portnoy, a 19-year-old Columbia sophomore who allegedly received $1,140 to control the point spread of four games played by his school; Philip La Cort of Boston, who Hogan said furnished $10,000 to bribe collegians to "dump" games; and Joseph Green of New York, who previously had been named by Hogan as a payoff man in the bribes.

La Cort and Green both are at large and warrants have been issued for their arrest. They are charged with bribery and conspiracy.

In announcing the indictments, Hogan also described the incident in which Green berated young Portnoy for not trying hard enough to "dump" a game. "According to the district attorney, it happened during an Ivy League game between Columbia and Pennsylvania at Philadelphia last Jan. 7.

Green had agreed to pay Portnoy $1,000 to make sure that Columbia lost by at least 18 points. However, Columbia led at halftime.

It was then that Green ran onto the court as the Columbia team returned to start the second half and scolded Portnoy for the Lions' surprisingly strong showing. Columbia went on to upset Penn, 65-54, and Portnoy was not paid off.

Amarillo Wins Two After 18 Blank Innings

By United Press International — Amarillo swept both ends of a doubleheader from second place San Antonio and moved five full games in front of the Texas League today but it took Joe Peptone's homer after 18 scoreless innings to do it.

The four hour and 59 minute marathon was the longest league game of the year and may be a record for a scoreless extra-inning battle.

Cincinnati and the Dodgers played a scoreless tie at Brooklyn on Sept. 11, 1946 in 19 innings.

Amarillo won the seven-inning opener 2-0 on Bob Lasko's one-hitter and grabbed the nightcap 2-1. In other action around the league, Victoria took a pair from Austin 4-2 and 2-1 while Tulsa tripped Ardmore 3-2.

COACH NAMED DEAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Track coach George Eastment of Manhattan College has been appointed dean of men at the school effective July 1.

New Manager Bauer Impressive In Debut

By United Press International

Hank Bauer has been a major league manager only a day and already he's showing that the switch from the field to the bench isn't going to change his style of play one bit.

The 38-year-old ex-Marine named to succeed Joe Gordon as Kansas City manager Monday, played baseball only one way — all out — and that's the reason why he was picked by General Manager Frank Lane to take over the reins.

Hank showed a hometown crowd of 16,715 Monday night that he has an idea of what managing is all about, as the only strategic move he was called upon to make resulted in a 4-3 A's victory over the New York Yankees.

With the score tied at 3-3 as a result of Norm Siebern's eighth home run — a towering shot that bounced high off the wall in center field — Bauer called on Wes Covington, who hit three of his four previous home runs this year off the Yankees, immediately obliged by rifling reliever Luis Arroyo's first pitch over the right center field fence for the winning hit.

Casey Stengel used to call Bauer "The hustiest ball-player I ever saw. He can beat you a lot a ways, fielding, with the bat and the way he runs the bases. There may be guys who can do somethings better than him, but for doing all the things right together, I'll take Bauer."

Overshadowed by Bauer's debut as a winning manager was Roger Maris' 25th home run — in the top of the ninth — which gave the Yankees a temporary 3-2 lead. Earlier, Bill Skowron belted his 14th, Rookie Roland Sheldon had rammed his homer in the ninth. The victory went to young Jim Archer, his fifth against one loss.

It was the only game played in the major leagues Monday. A scheduled night game between Cleveland Indians and the White Sox at Chicago was postponed because of rain.

Oklahoma Nine Nips Colts, 5-3

The Pampa Colts couldn't stand for their winning quartet of mark-Optimist Park and dropped a 5-3 ers on five hits.

semi-pro exhibition game to Elk City, Okla. before a sparse throng.

Their bats sizzled with authority the first two innings but were cooled off considerably the last seven frames as the Elk City pitching duo of Dudley Savage and Emery Newberry combined to throw a neat seven hitter.

Savage, who started, surrendered three runs on three hits in the first two innings but then hand-cuffed the Colts in the next four he worked.

Newberry mopped up the last three innings and allowed only one base knock, a single to catcher Ray Dean to lead off the ninth. Dean, however, was quickly erased as playing manager Newt Seecrest grounded into a double play.

Nicky Curtis, the Colts' strike-out artist, whiffed nine but weakened in the fifth when the visitors sewed up the ball game with four big runs.

Ivan Wooten, a cagey righthander, finished up and pitched superb baseball, giving up only two hits in the four innings plus he worked.

Wasting little time, the Colts opened scoring with two runs in their first inning with second baseman Ruben Strickland starting the uprising by drawing a life on an error. Kenny Parker sacrificed and first baseman Tommy Snow then sliced a shot to left field to score Strickland. Shortstop Larry Powers then smashed a triple over the hot corner sack to plate Snow.

The Colts final run came in the second as catcher Terry Joe Haralson boomed a double off the left-centerfield wall and then rode home on third baseman Bobby Nutt's two-baser to the same sector of the park.

And that proved to be the ball game as the Colts stickwork became mysteriously inert before the heaves of Savage and Newberry.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

Galaxie styling is inspiring more admiration (and imitation) than any other car on the road!

This is the look that started with Thunderbird — sired the Galaxie — and quickly became the styling success of the Sixties.

Many cars have tried to copy it. No car has succeeded. Incomparably beautiful, the 1961 Galaxie maintains its distinction — as originals always do.

Styling is only part of Galaxie's distinction: this is the car that's beautifully built to take care of itself. The '61 Ford goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications... 4,000 miles between oil changes. Brakes adjust automatically. The muffler is built to last three times as long as ordinary ones. The body is specially treated to resist rust and corrosion. The finish never needs waxing.

Wouldn't it make sense to STOP spending money on an old car that can never do for you what a new Ford can do?

SWAP right now while your Ford Dealer's sales are booming — and the swapping is easier than it's ever been before.

SAVE with the Ford that makes saving fun!

Today is the day to STOP... SWAP... SAVE

The Pampa Daily News

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Picket Line Property

During the 1959 steel strike, 130 East Chicago bricklayers were hired to repair Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company property. The United Steel Workers local offered to permit them to cross its picket line for $2 a head per day. The bricklayers refused and a, claiming that they had lost $100,000 in wages rather than submit to charges of illegal labor practices before the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB).

Now, get this. The NLRB ruled that a union may charge a "reasonable" fee and issue a daily pass to the person who pays that fee, thus enabling him to cross the picket line.

This ruling turns a picket line into an item of property! A union can erect a line, claim it as a possession, and then make earnings on it.

But note that the picket line is maintained in such a way as to damage property belonging to others. And surely there must be a great moral issue involved here, as it is always involved where violence ensues and where one man or group operates in an effort to injure another man or another group.

Unions have claimed that the establishment of a picket line is a "right" and that no one has a right to cross it. If a picket line is morally correct, then regardless of any fee charged, it would be immoral to cross it.

But if a picket line is morally incorrect, then the payment of a fee cannot make it correct. Morals cannot be purchased for $2.00. If one examines the entire union issue, one can readily discern the immorality which constantly emerges from this type of operation.

Let us concede at once that men have a right to associate with others freely and without duress. They have a right to form a union. Clearly, they have a right, also, not to form one, if they do not happen to wish to belong to a union. For ALL rights must always operate on a two-way basis. If men have the right to join a union, they have a right not to join. The one must follow the other.

Do men have a right to join a union which will oppose the policies of management? Certainly, they have such a right. They do not have to agree with management. But, they have a right to agree with management just as they have a right to disagree with management just as they have a right to agree with a union, just as it has a right to disagree with a union.

Does a union have a right to picket a place of business? Well, let us see. If, by picket, is meant that someone can stand outside of a place of business and argue, carry a sign, or urge people not to go into the place of business, we would have to sustain that activity as a right. This would not follow if picketing occurred on the owner's property. But has a picket a right to PREVENT someone from going in? Not for a minute. Freedom of speech entails the right of the picket to speak or not to speak. There is no such thing as a freedom or a right to prevent someone else from thinking or acting as he sees fit.

Equally, a picket would have a right to stand outside a place of business to urge people to go into the place, to patronize and so on.

An exchange of ideas, whether the ideas are right or wrong, must always be proper. The damage from unions and the damage from the picket lines they establish does not occur as a result of an exchange of ideas. Were unions to abstain totally from using force and violence, from forcing persons into their unions, from preventing people from working or from patronizing unions as they presently exist, would cease to be.

A man has a right to work, or not to work. He has a right to urge others to work or not to work. He has a right to his point of view. And because he does have this right, he must always grant to each and every other human being, including his employer, the same right.

The modern purpose of all unions is to interfere with the rights of others. The picket line experience in East Chicago is an example.

We could never object to a union which told the truth and which never used violence and coercion or threatened to use them. Can anyone produce such a union?

Something Of Value

Once a political illusion has been erected, enormous difficulties stand in the way of ordinary common sense and further progress.

In this country, for example, we have been taught thru all the years of our youth that the American system of government was so good and so great that if anything went wrong in the country it would be our own fault rather than the fault of the government.

This illusion has been skillfully cherished and nurtured by our school system which, since it is supported by taxes, can find nothing wrong with taxes, nor the processes which engender them. Democracy, carols the NEA, solves all political problems. If governments in the past have been given to tyranny, to excessive taxation and to waste and extravagance, these problems have been cured by the American system. We have only to vote for what we want and as if by magic, any cure at all will be forthcoming.

Do you subscribe to this? If so, you are filled with political superstition and illusion. Nothing could be further from the truth.

But how do we go about awakening the person who is submerged in this type of belief, especially when the devotee of democratic panaceas is probably employed; looks forward to government insurance payments in his declining years; knows that the government will give him money if he goes broke; and finally that the government will protect him at every turn from experiencing the results of his follies?

We know of no way to quickly and directly set aside the myth of governmental goodness and competence. People are prone to believe what they want to believe, and not what is true.

But let us see if we can make a little progress in smashing one of our cherished illusions.

Let us ask this question: Does government have the money to provide for all the things we might want now or in the future?

Many people believe that government has or can get all the money it needs to do anything the people want.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

NEW YORK —There is a letter at hand, and a courteous one, from a gentleman in Richmond, Va., who chides me for a recent column concerning a rather odd and desultory Manhattan Sunday. He suggests in the best possible taste that I might have enjoyed the day more if I had gone to church. How does he know I did not?

To say in print that one has gone to church on Sunday is to me a good deal like saying, "Look, look, I brushed my teeth today." It is a private matter pretty much lying between a person, his faith and Providence or whatever other name one may wish to give a force beyond human management.

For about eight years, as a hobbyist, I kept track each Sunday of the amount of news machine space given to the fact that the President of the United States had gone to church that day. This was true both for Mr. Eisenhower and now for Mr. Kennedy and in all truth I think it is an unnecessary fragment of reportage. It is assumed that the Presidents go to church, they almost habitually do. If anything happens on the way to, in or on the way back from church, then it is legitimate news that the occupant of the White House has gone to church. Otherwise, it is no more a matter for public attention than if I do — or don't.

I would look upon it as both an embarrassment to me and a questionable piece of public information that I had gone to church on any given Sunday. The fact is that I often do and sometimes do not, but it scarcely comes to the level of useful news. It is also a fact that human endurance sometimes prevents me from going. I rise at 5 in the morning five days a week to do some broadcasting at 7:30 a.m. This means that Saturday and Sunday mornings are my only times to catch up on sleep. At my age sleep is a necessity and not an indulgence. Also, I broadcast at an hour on Sunday night that prevents my attending evening services. I see no reason to make a deliberate and public thing of what arrangements I have made for devotion to my faith.

It would not be an answer to the gentleman from Richmond if I avoided saying that in recent years I have come to the reluctant and regretful conclusion that many of today's Christian ministers find sermon themes in events and opinions that are more political than reverential and that if I want a political discussion or speech I'd rather lie to a politician, whose business it is.

The trend toward ministerial dabbling in mundane matters is growing stronger and stronger and I do not believe that a minister is ordained to tell me about Laos or Cuba or Republicans or the John Birch Society. He is ordained to minister to my soul.

If there have been times, and there have, when I did not go to church when I could have without losing essential sleep, they have been times when a chosen minister made it known in advance that he was going to preach on a theme or themes that seemed to me beyond the area of devotion and Christian worship. I do not need nor do I want a minister in a church to flail at the grievous decisions concerning Laos and the weak and ignoble acts concerning Cuba. I'd rather be told I'm a sinner than a woeiferic citizen.

It is very easy for a stranger in utmost sincerity to question one's religious attitudes and observances, and I take it with grace but doubt that there is wisdom in such finger-pointing. If I passed a Sunday outside of a church in what seemed to be theatrical superficialities, it is because I was concerned with the theatricalities I reported, believed that they might be interesting to sons and take it from them. Government can never give to anyone a single thing that it has not taken from someone else.

Thus, when you believe that government aid, benevolences, insurance, employment and so on, are simply items which come in an endless stream from some government cornucopia, you are terribly, terribly mistaken.

Everything that the government hands out to some, it has taken away from others and at a tremendous cost in freedom and lost rights. Thus, every time YOU receive some "benefit" from government, the cost of that "benefit" has been levied against others, usually against their wills, and often at great personal loss and sacrifice and deprivation.

And this is true even when the "benefits" you get from government turn out to be such ordinary things as schools, roads, sewers, golf courses, cemeteries, airports or utilities.

Think of this the next time you accept something government provides. When you are on the receiving end of a government handout, regardless of what it may be, there are countless other human beings who have been oppressed, exploited and injured, just for your benefit.

Do you honestly believe that a system of this kind is moral and can endure?

Speaking of Back Trouble

Allen - Scott Report

73 Federal Judgeships To Be Ratified 5 Democrats to 1 Republican — With Protests

WASHINGTON —Those 73 lifetime federal judgeships Congress voted recently are going to be filled on the basis of five Democrats to one Republican — approximately 58 to 15.

Some Democrats are objecting to even that ratio; vehemently threatening to block the appointment of Republicans to these new judgeships in their states.

Last year, President Eisenhower, after being repeatedly rebuffed by a Democratic-controlled Congress on creating a number of much-needed federal judgeships, offered to divide them equally between the two parties. But this last-year compromise was rejected on two grounds:

Democratic belief they had a good chance to win the presidency; and their contention that only "Eisenhower Democrats" would be appointed.

California, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan and New York already have been selected to get Republicans for these much-sought judicial prizes. New York will probably win three of them.

Of the approximately 15 new judgeships that will go to the GOP, four will be on the circuit bench.

The five-to-one party ratio was formulated by Attorney General Robert Kennedy, who has been grappling with this thorny problem since Congress authorized 63 new district judges and 10 circuit court judges. Working closely with him are White House assistants handling patronage and relations with Congress and party leaders.

In deciding on this percentage, Kennedy turned down pleas for a larger division by Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, M. Kennedy pointed out he was having much trouble persuading Democrats to accept the five-to-one split.

TO THE VICTOR — Cited as a prickly case in point is Senator Patrick McNamara, Mich., who won a second term last year against tough opposition.

He was sounded out about naming a prominent Republican to one of Michigan's two new district judgeships. McNamara's answer was an immediate and emphatic, "Not if I can help it."

"If the Administration wants to appoint Republicans to these jobs," continued McNamara, "it can do so in some other state, but not in mine. You people seem to overlook the very pertinent fact that Michigan voted Democratic for President, Governor and U.S. Senator. Not many other states did that."

"I have no intention of telling the President or the Attorney General who should be appointed to these new judgeships. But I definitely do expect them to fill the two Michigan vacancies from among the many qualified Democrats there."

McNamara concluded this blunt demand with the warning, "I will oppose any Republican from Michigan, regardless of who he is. That's final."

Later, discussing this dilemma with assistants, Attorney General Kennedy remarked ruefully, "But he must know we have to appoint other persons and would present a fact of Manhattan that operates on Sunday as regularly as any other day of the week.

I have no quarrel with the gentleman for suggesting that I might find human joy in a lonely, irrefutable Sunday by going to church. Perhaps I would. Nevertheless, I did go but did not think it a subject of interest to anyone else except myself.

Everybody's Money

By MERYLE STANLEY RUKESER

With the soaring of the Dow Jones stock averages to hitherto untouched historic heights, inexperienced and the unsophisticated persons are likely to be excited into hysterical, get-rich-quick action.

Such ill-fated procedure, instead of fulfilling dreams of financial independence, is destined to bring one to the dead-end street of frustration.

It is a Wall Street axiom that every bull (or upsurging) market starts on a sound premise, but eventually momentum carries price movements to excesses.

More than a month has passed since F. Keith Funston, president, New York Stock Exchange, advised the untutored investor to stop, look and listen.

Each chapter of mass financial excitement tends to have its special and unique characteristics.

This time the wishful thinkers are bidding fancy prices for new promotions which appeal to their imagination. Thus the new miracle, or wonder companies in the electronic, photographic and scientific fields touch off immense popular enthusiasm.

To bring up to date, the phrase of Reverend Charles Mackay, the recorder of the dramatic historical financial crazes in the past, there are interludes of "extraordinary popular delusion." This two-volume history of human folly was brought to my attention many years ago by Bernard M. Baruch, the financier and adviser of presidents, who told me that it had been of greater help to him in building up his personal assets than any other tome.

Referring to the ebb and flow of human emotions in relation to money matters, Mackay wrote: "In reading the history of nations, we find that, like individuals, they have their whims and their peculiarities; their seasons of excitement and recklessness, when they care not what they do. We find that whole communities suddenly fix their minds upon one object, and go mad in its pursuit; that millions of people become simultaneously impressed with one delusion, and run after it, till their attention is caught by some new folly more captivating than the first. . . . Money again has often been a case of delusion of multitudes. Sober nations have all at once become desperate gamblers, and risked almost their existence on pieces of paper. . . . Men, it has been well said, think in herds, while they only recover their senses slowly, and one by one."

The current delusion is that anything with a scientific label is the open sesame to great wealth. Undoubtedly in the expanding Nineteen Sixties there will be quickened growth by the well managed companies strong in research and in creative innovations. But competition will select the efficient from the less efficient even in new and expanding industries. The chief executive of a major national electronics firm told me that he has immense faith in the future of his industry, but that he recognizes that, as in the automobile and older industries, there will be a shaking out period. The less fit will fall by the wayside, even though the industry will grow.

The automatic manner in which the shares of new promotions in the glamor industries are immediately quoted at substantial premiums in over-the-counter markets is evidence that the unthinking are capitalizing their own imagination, rather than the demonstrated values in specific corporate securities.

That the blame is inside the head of the sucker rather than in the machinations of outside exploiters is clear from the nature of disclosures in new prospectuses.

Where a promotion is based on hopes for the future rather than on proved assets or demonstrated earning power, the vendor is required by the federal Securities Exchange Act to put the buyer on notice. In a typical offering prospectus of a new venture, the security underwriter discloses: "The offering price of the securities being offered by this offering circular was arbitrarily determined and bears no relationship to the actual value of the shares."

On the small, or Regulation A, offerings, SEC rules keep insiders' holdings of stock off the market for a given period, and this inhibition artificially limits the supply of stock and makes it easier to bid the price upward arbitrarily.

Apparently, when sucker imagination is running wild, it is impossible to discourage such buying. The only way to protect the can do than to enact an adequate foreign aid measure this year. It's vital if we are to stop the advance of Communism in Latin America, Africa, Asia and other undeveloped areas of the world. If necessary, I will make a number of broadcasts to rally public support for this bill.

"I know that," replied the President, "and I also know there is nothing more important Congress

Behavior Advice Minus For Tourists Abroad

By HENRY MCELMORE

ROME, Italy — For years the State Department has been advising U.S. Americans on how to behave in foreign countries, and what to do to ensure ourselves a warm welcome by peoples of other races, languages, and customs.

Most of the advice has been sound, but it never has covered enough ground. For one thing, the State Department never has mentioned, much less stressed, the importance of handshaking in Europe, especially in Italy and Germany.

We Americans just think we are great handshakers. We aren't even in it with the Europeans. They begin shaking hands where we leave off. The American record for handshakes in a day is held by the late President Calvin Coolidge, I believe. He once shook hands with 2,500 or 3,000 people and it was a front page story. He was congratulated for his stamina and patience.

In Italy, the average man shakes that many hands before lunch, as many again before dinner, and half that many between dinner and bedtime. When he isn't shaking hands, the Italian is looking for someone with a free hand to shake.

He shakes the hands of his family when he gets up, when he leaves the house, and shakes the hand of the taxi driver or bus conductor. He shakes the hand of the driver when he gets off the bus, and the hand of the boy who makes him his cup of coffee at the espresso bar, and the cashier when he pays for it.

He shakes the hand of everyone in the office when he reaches there, and shakes the same hands again when he leaves for lunch, and when he returns.

On the street he shakes hands with everyone he meets and, if he shops in a store, he shakes the hands of the manager and the clerks.

He reshakes the hands of the office force when he leaves, and those of his family when he gets home. Then he strolls about after dinner shaking the hands of everyone he meets.

The German is an even more passionate shaker of hands than the Italian. He even shakes his own hand when there is no one else about. And he shakes hands a bit longer than the Italian. He

ing. Thus one security vendor discloses: "In connection with this offering the underwriter may effect transactions which stabilize or maintain the market price of the shares at a level above that which might otherwise prevail in the open market. If stabilization is engaged in, the underwriter may initially be a dominating influence and thereafter a factor of decreasing importance in the market. Under such circumstances, the market or bid or asked prices of the securities may not be determined solely upon supply and demand, but may be prices in excess thereof, and at the expiration of any stabilization period such market may cease to have the support, if any, theretofore furnished by the underwriter."

Thus, if you get hurt in buying untried securities in spite of such plain revelations, don't call a cop. There is no moral objection to taking fliers with your eyes open, but the prudent investor limits such ventures to a small fraction of his total assets, or savings.

Union And Auto Industry 'Cost' Battle Looming

DETROIT (UPI)—The auto industry's big three has cleared the decks for a battle with the United Auto Workers Union on the cost of living and annual improvement clauses in present contracts.

The UAW has placed a "don't touch" sign on both clauses and warned the industry it will resist any attempt to eliminate them, as has been done elsewhere.

The 145,000 big three salaried employees had followed the lead Reuther says the clauses, first negotiated in 1948, are "essential provisions of all our contracts and at the end of the negotiations they will still be there."

But some industry bargainers had given the improvement factor to raise to salaried workers they would almost have been bound to do the same thing for UAW members; by eliminating the raise for salaried employes the big three strengthened its hand with the UAW.

The cost of living clause has been watered down or eliminated in the past year in negotiations in other industries. According to government figures, 500,000 workers lost the clause in the past year.

The UAW says both clauses have meant a total of $1.12 an hour to union members since 1948. This includes 51 cents because of the higher cost of living, and 61 cents in annual improvement raises.

The improvement factor is supposed to give workers a bigger share as production becomes more automated. The clause now provides an annual pay raise of 2 1/2 per cent or six cents an hour, whichever is greater.

But Reuther claims that because of the "accelerating pace of technological advance" the improvement factor is not yet adequate and should be increased "to a more realistic level."

Reuther also denies industry claims the annual pay raise is inflationary. This isn't so, according to Reuther, because the in-

George H. Bender, Daniel Appeals Ex-Senator, Dies For Safe Fourth

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Former Sen. George H. Bender, 64, one of Ohio's most colorful politicians, died Sunday alone at his suburban Chagrin Falls home, of an apparent heart attack.

Reuther said, "holiday traffic deaths could total twice the average daily traffic death rate for non-holiday periods."

Daniel called on enforcement officers, citizens groups and communications media to "do everything possible to save human life during the long summer holiday season."

AUSTIN (UPI) — Gov. Price Daniel appealed to Texans Saturday to help keep highway deaths from ruining Texas Fourth of July celebrations.

"Unless everyone undertakes a real and conscious effort to prevent it," Daniel said, "holiday traffic deaths could total twice the average daily traffic death rate for non-holiday periods."

Daniel called on enforcement officers, citizens groups and communications media to "do everything possible to save human life during the long summer holiday season."

Liquids Tracing Materials Plant Planned At Bartlesville, Okla.

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (UPI) — Scientists at the Bureau of Mines experiment station in Bartlesville will soon produce their own radioactive materials for tracing the movement of liquids underground.

A neutron generator is included in the equipment to be added during an expansion program which includes a $2.4 million building.

The Senate Appropriations Committee approved a $950,000 appropriation for new equipment for the station earlier this month. The building program is already under way and is expected to be completed in April, 1962.

In addition to a new laboratory building, the program also includes a central utilities building to house a central power, air conditioning and heating system.

The neutron generator is typical of new equipment which will aid researchers in projects ranging from the underground flow of oil and liquids to the sources of smog.

Radioactive materials have long been important tools in experiments in waterflooding and other projects which require a knowledge of liquids in underground formations. A radiochemical laboratory was built at the Bartlesville station in 1947. Until now, researchers have had to obtain their materials from other sources.

The Bartlesville experiment station was established in 1918 in two small buildings on a five-acre tract donated by the city.

The present administration building was built in 1937 on the same tract.

One of the original buildings became a wing of the present administration building.
